About This and That

In this column last week considerable space was taken up with regard to speeding and keeping the highways safe for all concerned. It is a topic worth taking up again—and again—and again! When one realizes it is impossible to scan the pages of our local and daily papers without reading some item concerning a highway accident, and realizes that too frequently lives are lost through these accidents, he must realize the importance of making every possible effort to educate the public to safer driving—and safer walking.

A recent editorial "Walk Against the Current of Traffic" brought out a point we heard discussed in a local barber shop the other day when night driving on paved highways was the chief subject of conversation. The difficulty of seeing persons walking on the pavement until the car was too close for comfort, was one of the matters brought up. One customer made the suggestion that if pedestrians used the left side of the road, and walked facing traffic, much of the danger to foot travellers would be eliminated. That is just the point the Monitor stressed in its editorial, which read in part as follows:

"The temptation to use a nicely paved road in preference to rough ground or a rough path by the side of the highway by pedestrians, is often too great to resist. People will go where the walking is best, even if most dangerous. The time undoubtedly will come when the pedestrian will have his innings and there will be good sidewalks along at least one side of main highways, but that time is some distance in the future, and the work even when accomplished, will necessarily give much narrower surfaces than the highway, which will still be used by adventurous foot travellers to some extent.

"The person who walks with traffic will often not hear it approaching and thus on occasion lives are lost. A risk taken by bicyclists and motor cyclists is the riding of two persons on the one vehicle. This is risky in the present state of motor traffic, and we are somewhat doubtful as to its legality. Education in schools and homes on matters of safety, will be helpful, but cannot by any means accomplish all, perhaps not half the results desired. Some reinforcements to verbal suasion and advice are needed."

Continuing to this subject it might be well to make mention of a campaign being conducted in the District of Columbia. Here, the sale of gasoline to drivers "visibly intoxicated" has been ordered stopped by officials, one of whom says "It is high time to remove the drunken driver from our streets. There is no better way to halt this traffic criminal than by refusing him the right to drive." Under proposed regulations gas station at

Leader Touring Maritimes

Rev. Dr. Frank Langford, Secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the United Church of Canada, will visit the Maritimes from October 13 to 21.

During his trip, he will attend the Annual Convention of the Maritime Religious Education Council at Kentville, and deliver a series of lectures at Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax, and will give leadership at a series of Coaching Conferences for United Church workers in religious education. The complete Maritime tour as tentatively planned for Dr. Langford is as follows:—Bathurst, Oct. 13, 14; North Sydney, Oct. 15; Truro, Oct. 18; Kentville, Oct. 19, 20, 21; M. R. E. C. Convention: Liverpool, Oct. 22, 23; Halifax, Oct. 24, 25, 26; Pine Hill; Sackville, Oct. 27; Fredericton, Oct. 28.

QUICK CHANGE FROM TREE TO NEWSPAPER

A trial was recently made in Australia says "Pitman's Phonetic Journal" to decide in how short a space of time living trees could be converted into newspapers. At 7.35 in the morning three trees were sawn down, at 9.34, the wood having been stripped of bark, cut up and converted into pulp, became paper and passed from the factory to the press whence the first printed and folded copy was issued at 10 o'clock. So that in 145 minutes the trees had become newspapers.

Globe Trotter Visits Town

M. Jean DeVaundrieu, Brussels, Belgium, was an interesting visitor at our office on Saturday morning. M. DeVaundrieu left Brussels, May 21, 1929 on his hike around the world, and since then up until the time of his visit at our office has covered 48,406 miles, which took him through England, France, Russia, Germany, Italy, China, Japan, and 46 states of the union in addition to other countries. After leaving the Maritime Provinces, his intention is to double up on some of his hike through the United States and continue to Mexico and Central America.

Born May 26, 1867, he does not show his age, and despite the loss of his right arm, appeared exceedingly cheerful. Pinned to his breast were military medals of every description, which he has collected on his travels. He says he has shipped back several boxes of these medals he has collected from all parts of the world back to his native Belgium. He also carried with him a scrap book in which was pasted letters from town and government officials, whom he has visited. From Digby he collected letters from the Mayor, the Town Clerk, the Postmaster, the Chief of Police, Stipendiary Magistrate, and from ourselves. We wish our friend every success on his travels.

EARNINGS LOWER

The gross revenues of the all-inclusive Canadian National Railways System for the week ending September 21, 1937, were $1,164,141 as compared with $4,286,069 for the corresponding period of 1936, a decrease of $71,928.

Shipping at Belliveau's Cove.

The schooner St. Clair Theriault, F. Boudreau, master, from Yarmouth, is completing a cargo of lumber at White's Cove.

The Nepsya, Capt. Zinch, Las sailed for Boston with lumber. The schooner Enid Hazel, Capt. Morse, is here having repairs made to the vessel. August Gaudet has charge of the work.

ASSISTS ENDOWMENT

Last year, E. John Jordan, who graduated from Dalhousie University in 1891, and who had held one of the famous Munro Bursaries, wrote to President Stanley that he intended to leave his estate to Dalhousie University in order to assist the endowment of scholarships and thus make a return for the benefits he had received. Mr. Jordan stated at the same time that he intended, while living, to do something in the same direction. The University has received recently two cheques from Mr. Jordan, a first instalment of his assistance. Mr. Jordan is now living in Vancouver, but hopes to visit Eastern Canada and his native province, Prince Edward Island, in the coming year.

Here From Somerville—Mr. and Mrs. Avon C. Chisholm and daughter, of Somerville, Mass., accompanied by the Misses Chisholm, of Digby, visited Mr. Chisholm's brother, G. H. Chisholm, of Kentville, on Wednesday. It was the first time the two brothers had been together for 35 years. They last met in Digby, when Mr. Chisholm went to the United States. He is engineer with the New England Telephone Company. Mrs. G. H. Chisholm is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Harriett Claypool and Miss Bessie Higgins, of Middle Musquodoboit. — Kentville Advertiser.

DEMOLISHING SCHOOL.

The old central school building, Yarmouth, is in the hands of workmen engaged in demolishing the structure. Interior fittings are rapidly being removed, and the work of removing the roof and walls will proceed immediately. E. L. Babine has the contract for razing the building. There are many in Digby, who are familiar with Yarmouth's old "Centre Town School."

Appointed Assistant to Regional Vice-President C. N. R.

The appointment of Harvey Morton as assistant to the Vice-President and General Manager of the Atlantic Region of the Canadian National Railways at Moncton is announced in a circular issued by W. J. Appleton, regional Vice-President and General Manager.

Mr. Morton, who was born at Moncton, entered the railway service as messenger in the accounting department, December 15, 1891, and was promoted to clerk two years later. On May 1, 1912, he was promoted to chief clerk to the chief engineer and seven months later chief clerk to the operating general manager. On January 1, 1916 was appointed chief clerk to the general manager, and in September of the same year, car service agent, which position he retained until March 20, 1917, when he again became chief clerk to the general manager. On April 15, 1924, he was appointed office assistant, which position he retained up to his present appointment.

Scallop Prospects

To mention the word "scallop" in the columns of this paper, has, in the past, been to some of our short-sighted readers an unpardonable sin and in some instances has met with about as much approval as shaking a red flag at a bull. To these critics we would like to say that our sole ambition in mentioning the scalloping industry in the past has always been in the interest of the fishermen and in the hopes of dropping a seed somewhere, within the circulation of this paper, that when properly cultivated, would develop into a new outlet or market for the product of our most valuable industry.

Probably the same critics would like to blame the Courier for the blue prospects facing the 1937-38 scallop fishing season, but we feel certain that it is impossible for anyone to blame this paper for the enormous development that has taken place in the scallop fishing industry in the United States during the past eighteen months, it has developed to such an extent that during the past summer the cold storages along the American Atlantic seaboard are holding thousands of pounds of American caught scallops.

These fish were not landed in two and three hundred pound lots, but they were landed in two and three thousand gallon lots, at prices that are impossible for the majority of our fishermen to operate at, namely, from .90c., to $1.15 per gallon, the consequence is, that the American fishermen have slowly but surely closed the door to what was once the Bay of Fundy fishermen's largest and most profitable market.

Therefore today on the eve of the open season he is faced with a glutted market and an extremely low price. Is it any wonder that the Digby fishermen are blue and discouraged, but what have they done to offset the loss of this valuable market? Have they advertised their product in hopes of finding new markets, or are they willing to "except the pittance, which, under the prevailing condition, can only be expected from the American markets?"

Where would large concerns such as Eaton's and Simpson's fit, if they did not advertise their merchandise, as fast as they lose a market in one section of the country they immediately start an advertising campaign in another; publicity and advertising is the main artery of every commercial organization.

The closing of the American market for our fishermen through glut and low prices, simply means that we must look for new outlets or markets for the Bay of Fundy production markets that cannot be influenced by the American catch. The Department of Fisheries have already loaned a willing hand by shortening the present season and regulating the pack. Why not request the Department to go further, and ask them to spend some of the money that has already been allotted for the advertising of Canada's fish, in educating the people of Upper and Central Canada the value of our Bay of Fundy scallops as a sea food. This district alone represents a population and an area larger equal in size to that part of Boston and vicinity that is served by our fresh scallops.

We will acknowledge that the present situation looks rather gloomy for the fishermen, but it must be remembered that every line of business is compelled, sooner or later, to meet up with and go through a reorganization, probably that is what is taking place at present, if so, it is only reasonable to presume that the industry will be better for it. The same thing happened to our wheat mines and lumbering industries, they stood the gauntlet of reorganization and hard winter weather, should be now on firmer footing than ever. If these industries were

APPLE DAY, OCTOBER 16

October 16, has been set aside as "Apple Day" by the Canadian Boy Scouts. This year the Digby troop will take part in the movement, and on that day, the boys will go from house to house selling apples. Apples will also be sold from the streets. Permission for the "Apple Day" was granted at the last meeting of the Town Council.

Apple Day has a two fold purpose—to promote Canadian apples, and to aid the Boy Scouts in raising necessary funds to "carry on." When you buy apples from the boys on October 16, remember, you are giving your help to this great movement, one of the finest and best known. Since the Boy Scout movement first began in Digby, a great amount of work has been done for our boys—all of whom, ex-scouts and present scouts are a credit to our town.

Summing up the Scout objectives briefly, one can truthfully say the great purpose of the organization is "to teach boys to be men." Local scout leaders, past and present, who have given and are giving, of their time and energy to continue this work among the boys deserve the praise and support of the townspeople.

Show your appreciation by your support.

CLEMENTSPORT HEIGHTS

Chipman Wright, of Leominster, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. F. Miller, of Annapolis Royal, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bartheaux and family, and Burpee Gilliat, of Upper Granville, were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Durling.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morrell and Warren Knox attended the exhibition at Caledonia, Wednesday of last week.

Miss Harriett Banks, of Waltham, Mass., has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Everett Pyne.

R. W. Long, of the Lincoln Pulp Co., Moose River, Cumberland County, spent Sunday at his home here. Miss Ethel Long, of Wilmot, and Miss Verna, of Annapolis Royal, were also at home for the week end.

Clyde Long left for Round Hill last week, where he has employment for a time.

able to stage a comeback, we feel certain that there are still greater possibilities ahead for the scalloping industry, especially if all hands put their shoulder behind the wheel and show more of a co-operative spirit.

One might think that the horse is starving while the grain is growing, this is not the case, as we understand that the fishermen have ways and means, as their disposal at the present time providing they care to take advantage of it, whereby they can still control to a large extent, their largest American market. As long as this market is glutted, the price will naturally keep very low, but if the fishermen can realize the necessity of keeping as much of their production as possible from the glutted markets, until such time as the surplus stock is consumed, we feel that by December 1st, the price of scallops on the Boston market would compare favourably with last year.

From present appearance we believe that there are things that can greatly assist in raising the price of scallops this winter, namely: keep as much as possible of the fleet's production away from the American markets until their surplus is used up and the price artificially advanced, make every possible use of your present Canadian markets, providing you can get the same returns as from the American markets; these, together with plenty of hard winter weather, should be the best friends of the scallop fishermen this winter.

Truck Driver is Injured

Jimmie Tupper, 20, of Clementsport is in a serious condition at his home, suffering from severe chest bruises, acid burns and shock, resulting from an accident on Saturday last. Mr. Tupper, driver of a St. George Construction Company truck hauling hot asphalt to Annapolis Royal, was returning to the crusher at Clementsport, when the truck struck a newly surfaced soft shoulder of road, and crushed the railing of a bridge near the home of Fletcher Sproul, Upper Clements. The truck turned over three times and landed a complete wreck upside down in a gully twenty feet below. There were no eye witnesses. Dr. I. R. Sutherland, of Annapolis Royal is in attendance.

C. N. R. RUNNING TIME REDUCED

A marked reduction in running time between Halifax and Montreal and general adjustments in train schedules for the greater convenience of travellers will be the feature of train services of the Canadian National Railways with the transition by the general public from daylight saving time to standard time one minute after midnight Saturday, according to C. W. Johnston, General Passenger Traffic Manager of the Company.

The Maritime Express leaving Bonaventure station, Montreal, daily except Sunday, for Halifax at 12.25 p. m., will clip off 1 hour and 40 minutes in its running time, arriving in Halifax at 6.10 p. m. The Ocean Limited, daily morning train from Halifax to Montreal, will reduce its running time by 45 minutes, leaving Halifax at 8.30 a. m. The Ocean Limited, east-bound, will leave Bonaventure station at 8.05 p. m., arriving in Halifax at 9.50 the following night, same time as at present.

In the Maritime Provinces, between Halifax and Sydney the night train from Halifax will leave at 7.00 p. m., daily except Sunday instead of 5.30 p. m., Truro 9.20 p. m., arriving Sydney 7.15 a. m. In the opposite direction, the night train will leave Sydney at 8.00 p. m., daily except Saturday instead of 7.00 p. m., Truro 6.00 a. m., arriving Halifax at 8.45 a. m. In the case of the day service, train will leave Halifax at 6.40 a. m., daily except Sunday instead of 7.45 a. m., Truro 9.20 a. m., arriving Sydney 7.25 p. m. Time of departure from Sydney remains the same as at present, viz., 6.45 a. m., daily except Sunday, leave Truro 5.55 p. m., arriving Halifax 7.20 p. m.

The double train service to and from Prince Edward Island, daily except Sunday, providing a morning and afternoon connection from and to the mainland is withdrawn. Service to Prince Edward Island will be by train leaving Moncton at 10.50 a. m., daily except Sunday, connecting with the Maritime Express from Montreal, with arrival in Charlottetown at 6.20 p. m. The service from Prince Edward Island will be by train leaving Charlottetown at 7.30 a. m., daily except Sunday, arriving Moncton 1.50 p. m., where connection will be made with the Ocean Limited west-bound for Montreal and points east and with the Ocean Limited east-bound for Halifax and points east in addition to train No. 13 leaving Moncton at 3.30 p. m., for Saint John and Boston.

Mrs. W. J. Parks and son, Ramsey, of Halifax, were the week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Wilson, Shore Road.

Barn Destroyed By Fire

The Digby Fire Department was called out about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning to a spectacular fire which destroyed the barn of Leonard Raymond, Church Street. The blaze was discovered by a neighbor, Norris Collins, who rang in the alarm from the fire station. The blaze was a spectacular one, and in spite of the driving rain storm, the reflection could be seen for miles. Contents of the barn were destroyed, although the cow was saved.

Second Typhoid Victim Succumbs

The death of Norman Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Elliott, Central Grove, occurred in the Digby General Hospital, Friday afternoon, last week. The death of this young man, the second typhoid victim in the family, was a great loss to the family. Mr. Elliott, who was 20 years old, had been suffering from the disease for several weeks. He was a patient in the Digby Hospital, is reported making recovery.

The trio were among those employed on the construction of a dam at Fifth Lake for the Digby County Power Board, and of the thirty labourers employed, these three were the only ones stricken with the dread disease.

Unlike the others, Elliott, Melanson and Lewis were not constantly at the construction camp. It was their duty to bring supplies in from Grand Lake, to serve as guides for company officials, and to serve as a connecting link between the Fifth Lake camp and Grand Lake. It is felt they must have come in contact with contaminated water while on their travels between these two points.

Norman Elliott, the second victim, is well known in Digby where he resided for some time. He, with his wife and two children, have been making their home at Doucetville for the past few months. Funeral services took place at Central Grove on Sunday last.

MENTAL HOSPITALS

There exists a general misunderstanding regarding the activities of mental hospitals. The idea persists that such institutions are maintained to provide for the shutting-up therein of those who are suffering from mental disease. The mental hospital is thought of as a place where restraint is commonly practised and where freedom is almost unknown.

That such was the case in the past merely means that, in those days, mental diseases were not understood. They were viewed as the result of heredity, were considered as inevitable and incurable, and in addition, were looked upon in the light of a disgrace, as they supposedly indicated some defect, of an undesirable nature, in the family.

We know now that mental disease is chiefly the result of faulty environment. The children's surroundings, his early training, the development of his emotional life, are the determining factors as to whether or not he secures mental health and avoids mental disease. Mental hygiene is now considered a part of preventive medicine and is based upon the understanding that mental health can be attained just as can physical health by proper care during the early developmental years.

If mental disease does develop, and the patient comes under the care of a mental hospital, he receives treatment. There are curative methods for mental disease just as there are for physical disease. Modern medicine does not neglect the mental health at the expense of the physical. Modern medicine treats mental disease, and the mental hospital is an institution where curative methods are applied, with the result that a return to normal mental health is secured in a large number of cases.

As in other fields of medicine, it is preferable to prevent mental disease than to await its appearance and then attempt to cure it. The future of mental hygiene is full of promise, and its development will go far towards making life happier. There is no reason for misconceptions concerning mental disease and the work of mental hospitals. A better public understanding will help to secure even better facilities for those suffering from mental disease.

Questions concerning Mental Health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

"J. J." AND PARTY REACH VANCOUVER

Unfortunately, something has happened to "J. J.'s" last letter, which arrived the day following the letter published in last week's Courier. We have turned the office upside down in search of it, but all in vain. The best we can do is to tell something from memory of its contents.

Mr. Wallis told of some of the difficulties encountered while enroute to Havre (he told of running out of gas while making that part of the journey in his letter last week). At every little pothole and bump, he said, the car would stall "for no apparent reason." On examination of the car at the station, they discovered the mudguards to be so stuck up with "gumbo" there was only half an inch clearance of the wheels, and thus they acted as a break at every little bump. The "gumbo" had to be taken off mostly by hand, and it was estimated 250 pounds were stuck to the under part of the mudguards.

He also told of an experience he had posting a letter to Digby, Nova Scotia, at one of the small Post Offices in the state of Washington. On reading the address the village postmaster called his wife, and consulted with her on the matter of how much postage to charge—he wouldn't take "J. J.'s" word that Canadian rates would apply, but finally decided in his favor, and told him they had sent letters from that Post Office to Manitoba, Alberta, and other provinces, but that was the first one they had ever sent to Nova Scotia, and the first they had ever heard of such a place.

At Seattle they visited Rev. D. E. Hatt, who is well remembered in Digby and Hill Grove as a former pastor of the Baptist Churches of those places. At Bellingham they paid a visit to Wal. Hayden's brother, who lives in that city. At Vancouver they spent several hours with Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Torrie. He described their trip through the National Glacier Park, but cannot recall enough of his description to write it properly.

They reached Vancouver on the 14th. We have since had letters and post cards from Mrs. Wallis and Eleanor, which tell us they arrived in Kamloops on the 20th, and that they plan to return to Digby by way of San Francisco and New York.

Comeau Acquitted; Amero Gets Five Years

At the fall session of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, which opened at the Court House, Little Brook, on Tuesday, Phillip Comeau, of New York, formerly of Concession, was acquitted on the manslaughter charge which arose out of the death of Leance Melanson, of Concession. Melanson died in the Yarmouth Hospital last July as the result of injuries received when he was knocked from his bicycle by a car driven by Comeau.

Harvey Amero, whose case was heard Tuesday, was sentenced to five years in Dorchester penitentiary by Mr. Justice Doull, who presided over the session. Amero was charged with an indecent assault on an elderly Plympton woman. The offence took place November 2, 1935.

Frank Gates, Jr., charged with receiving money under false pretenses, was sentenced to serve two months in the county jail.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Wright, Robert and Norman Wright, and Miss Norma MacKinnon were visitors to Halifax during the week.

Dr. S. B. MacGregor Passes

Death claimed another of Digby town and county's prominent citizens in the person of Dr. Stanley B. MacGregor, who died at his home, Smith's Cove, following a short illness with pneumonia, at an early hour Tuesday morning.

Dr. MacGregor was a graduate of the Baltimore Dental College, Baltimore, Md., and for more than thirty years carried on his practise of dentistry in his office over the Bank of Nova Scotia building, here, first as a partner with the late Dr. Shafner, and for more than a quarter of a century by himself. He was very popular in his profession, and among his clients were patients from Digby and Western Annapolis Counties, as well as a number of our American visitors.

He was born at Smith's Cove, 61 years ago last January, the son of the late Rev. J. Wells MacGregor, a Baptist clergyman. In politics, Dr. MacGregor was a staunch conservative, and in religion, a member of the Smith's Cove Baptist Church. He was Immediate Past Master of King Solomon Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Digby, and was affiliated with several agricultural organizations and societies, conducting a farm at Smith's Cove. His flower garden at his home, was one of the show places of the community. A keen sportsman, he was one of the executives of the Digby and Annapolis Counties Fish and Game Protective Association.

He was a man who made many friends, and will be generally missed in this portion of the province, particularly in Digby and Smith's Cove, where he took an active part in the affairs of both communities.

Surviving are: his wife, the former Miss Emma MacGuire, of Smith's Cove; three daughters, Helen (Mrs. Edward Bryers, of Weymouth, Mass.), Gretel and Annie at home; one son, William, also at home. Funeral services took place at Smith's Cove, yesterday afternoon, under Masonic auspices.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

At the regular monthly meeting of the Digby Town Council, Curtis Cook, of the Lighthouse Road, applied for an extension of the water service from the residence of W. W. Hayden to his dwelling, a distance of 315 feet. The matter was placed in the hands of the water commissioners for decision.

H. M. Warne made application to remove the Surette house across St. George Street to a new location next to the residence of Mrs. James Purdy. The application was granted.

Another application came from residents of the south end of the town, who asked that a street light be placed at the corner of First Avenue and St. Mary's Streets. This matter was referred to the electric light committee.

W. W. Hayden, superintendent of streets and water, in his report, told of work done on the sprayed surfaced streets in preparation for the dressing recently applied, and also work on the sidewalks in preparation for the first coat. This department also reported a portion of the wooden curbwork on the south side of the Racquette Bridge had decayed, and some of this had been replaced with stone.

Permission was granted the Boy Scout Troop to set up an "Apple Day" October 16. A license of $10.00 was charged W. Ramsay & Son to conduct an undertaking business in the town.

Local and General

Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 11.
A proclamation has been published in the "Canada Gazette," setting aside Monday, October 11th, "as a day of General Thanksgiving to Almighty God for bountiful crops and other blessings which Canada has been favored this year."

Purchase Building.—William Ramsay, undertaker, of Clements, N. S., has purchased the W. A. Sullivan property on Warwick Street, for an undertaking establishment. Mr. Ramsay, in partnership with his son, has for several years been affiliated with Short & Williamson, well known Boston undertaking firm, intend to open up business in town shortly.

According to the annual report of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, issued recently, there are in Canada 8,681 blind persons. Of these 657 are in British Columbia, 387 in Alberta, 559 in Saskatchewan, 527 in Manitoba, 2,926 in Ontario, 2,330 in Quebec, 444 in New Brunswick, 757 in Nova Scotia, and 97 in Prince Edward Island. There are 220 in Newfoundland. The figures given are from the register of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Although every effort has been made to register every blind person in the Dominion, there are some who undoubtedly have not been reported and the exact number of blind in Canada may be two or three hundred in excess of the figure given.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

HOW UNUSUAL!

A picture snapped from inside the house and through a window often proves to be a fascinating bit of work.

IT'S almost unbelievable but it is true that many amateur snapshot takers have the notion that it is only the unusual that is worthwhile snapping. When they travel, a camera is taken along to get pictures of new scenes and new faces, but they use it around their homes only on special occasions.

But, you may say, "I've already made a few snapshots around the house. What else is there to shoot?" Nobody can answer that question for you directly. But it's dollars in doughnuts that there are dozens of untouched picture possibilities. And all of them are as interesting as the ones already in your album.

The secret of finding them is simply a matter of keeping your eyes open. Get the habit of looking at everything—as though you had never seen them before. It's amazing the way this habit will sharpen your interest and add to your family—even the most commonplace things. Some of the finest pieces of photographic art have been results of appreciative eyes in the heads of stay-at-homes. The pattern of sun and shade on the front steps, the fascinating interplay of roof lines, tree trunks—are a myriad of pictures that may be made at home—unusual pictures of usual subjects. Don't be afraid of doing things differently. It's a tonic to tackle old subjects from new points of view. It's to get a shot that appeals to you, you have to upset the "laws" of safe-and-sane snapshotting, don't hesitate. If your eyes enjoy the scene, snap it. It is the pictures that your camera will enjoy it too.

With such help as the inexpensive photo-flood bulbs (for which efficient reflectors are available) you can do your snapshotting indoors as well as out. Present-day cameras, films and lights give you unlimited scope for your snapshotting. Today almost any picture is possible—and at any time.

Of all words of praise for the snapshotter, the sweetest are these, spoken by a friend:—"Well, would you look at that! I've seen that spot every day for the last fifteen years and I never dreamed it had the making of a picture like this." Maybe you've heard these words already! Congratulations! John van Guider

Ladies' Aid—The Ladies' Aid of the United Church of Canada was held at the home of Mrs. Mary Hubbard on Tuesday evening.

Illustrated Lecture—Rev. A. B. Higgins, of Middleton, gave an illustrated lecture on the Holy Land, with personal reminiscences, on Thursday evening of last week, in the United Church, under the auspices of the W. M. S.

M. R. E. C. CONVENTION

On Monday afternoon and evening in the United Church of Canada, Bear River, meetings were held in connection with M. R. E. C. work. The afternoon session dealt chiefly with problems met by Sunday School workers, and while the attendance was not large, a great deal of good was accomplished, and many problems considered. Supper was served in the vestry by ladies of the United Church, and the evening session began at 7:30. This session was open to the public and there was a good attendance. The devotional period was in charge of the Young People's Society of Clements, under the leadership of Rev. Wilfred Howard, of the Baptist Church, Clements, and was indeed full of inspiration, as well as being of an unusual character—each member of the team testifying to the value of Christ in their lives. Following a short witness period, Rev. Mr. Gibson, the speaker of the evening, addressed the congregation, bringing home most forcibly the message of Religious Education, and stressing the need of Church and Sunday School attendance by adults as a most important means of leading the young. Mr. Gibson's message received rapt attention, and as a result of this convention there should be a revival of interest in all lines of Religious Education. Mr. Gibson was introduced to the people by Rev. Mr. Roache, of the United Church, and the Benediction was pronounced by Rev. F. C. Burnett, of Clements, Vale.

The Bear River Exhibition held on the 23rd and 24th inst. was well attended. The exhibits were of good quality and the whole affair proved the value of this annual event to the community at large. Support your Agricultural Society in their endeavour to make this a bigger and better show each year. Join the Society now. 2:11c Baptist Circle—The ladies' circle of the Baptist Church met with Mrs. R. J. Anthony on Tuesday afternoon.

P. R. Saunders, O. D. Sight Specialist, is now at his office over Dillon's Shoe Store, Digby, and will be there until next Thursday, Oct. 7. Eyes tested. Glasses fitted.

Harvest Festival—The annual Harvest Festival of Lansdowne, will take place in their church next Tuesday evening, Oct. 5th, at 8 p. m. Rev. A. W. L. Smith in charge. It is hoped that the other clergymen of the Bear River churches, also Dr. A. B. Campbell, will assist in this service. Special music from Bear River. A large attendance is expected.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Bear River Women's Institute will be held in the Masonic Reading Room, Monday, October 4, at three o'clock. Will the Convenors of all Committees please bring their reports in writing, as these must be forwarded to Provincial Convenors. A large attendance is expected, as election of officers for the coming year is an important item.

Dislocated Elbow Led To Neuritis

Could Not Straighten Her Arm

Four months ago, this woman dislocated her left elbow. Although the elbow was properly set, she developed neuritis and could not straighten her arm. She was ordered to take Kruschen—with the happy result described in this letter:—"I had an accident four months ago, and my elbow was seriously dislocated. Fortunately, it was set right there and then, but afterwards, I could not straighten the arm to its full extent. It was X-rayed, and the surgeon told me I was inclined to be rheumatic. I was ordered to take Kruschen Salts—one teaspoonful in a glass of hot water on waking. Now I am getting along famously. The pain in my elbow is better, and, daily, I am able to extend the arm more easily." (Mrs.) P.

Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Fogg, of Brookton, Mass., who have been visiting Mrs. Fogg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Handsaker, Culloden, have returned home.

Obituary

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE BOOTH

The booth conducted by the local Institute was somewhat different this year, the display consisting of handworked handkerchiefs, and a "Friendship" square in needlepoint that attracted a great deal of attention and favorable comment. The handkerchiefs were of linen and silk, showing beautifully executed embroidery and finely made lace and batenburg-work, as well as drawn work, done in the past by members of our organization. The centre portion of the "Friendship" square was done by a member, then a number of friends each did a motif around it, the filling-in stitches remaining yet to be done. We hope Mrs. H. R. Kinney, to whom the square belongs, may complete the work and show it in its completed state at the booth next year. A sale of candy, bottled fruit and pickles, cookies, etc., donated by members, was the means of revenue.

Hung around the booth were posters, each telling of some activity carried on, and a Digby-Annapolis Institute Directory, with the colors of each named, our distinguishing color being used on badges at Conventions and Rallies. Four donation boxes were placed beneath posters for work in which we were hoping the general public would feel inclined to share, but no soliciting was done—each box received some small amount.

The total receipts were $13.19, from which it has been our custom to make a donation to the Agricultural Society toward their funds. We wish to thank those, who, by their interest, assisted us in the work.

Mrs. Rose Ford spent the week end at Kempt.

Mrs. Lewis Banks returned from Milford the past week. H. E. Chisholm is attending the Halifax Exhibition this week.

Mrs. Benjamin Robbins is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Otis Rice and Mr. Rice.

Marriages

Haley—Outhouse

Miss Utah Lauretta Outhouse, youngest daughter of Mrs. Joseph Ossinger and the late Willard E. Outhouse, of Tiverton, was united in marriage to William Lawrence Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Haley, of Cohasset, Mass., at a double wedding ceremony, at St. Anthony's rectory, in Cohasset, on Saturday, Sept. 25, at 1:30 p. m.

Miss Myrtle Morrison, Cambridge, Mass., was maid of honor, and James Haley, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride was gowned in royal blue velvet, with hat to match with a pale blue net veil. She wore a corsage of pink sweet heart roses and boncords. After a reception to friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Haley, the happy couple sailed for a honeymoon trip to New York. On their return they will reside at Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Robicheaud—MacCormick

On Tuesday morning St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Rev. Father D. McLaughlin united in marriage Dorothy, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry MacCormick, of New Edinburgh, to Stanley Robicheaud, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robicheaud, Weymouth Mills.

The bride was attired in white with accessories to match. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents to a number of the relatives and friends. In the evening a reception was held in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. Robicheaud will reside at Weymouth Mills.

REGULATIONS FOR HANDLING AND INSPECTION OF SCALLOPS

By order in Council of the 22nd day of September, 1937, P. C. 2295, and under the authority of Section 2 of the Fish Inspection Act, the following regulations for the inspection and supervision of shucking, handling and shipping scallop meat were made and established:

1. Scallops shall be shucked, handled and shipped under such sanitary conditions as will meet with the approval of the Department of Pensions and National Health.
2. Metal containers only shall be used to receive and hold shucked scallops and, when scallops are being shucked, the tops of such containers shall be high enough above the deck on which the shucker stands to prevent the scallops from being contaminated by waste portions of scallop meat or other material.
3. Scallop meat shall be washed in metal containers only. Metal containers may be of tin plate, monel-metal or aluminum.
4. Each scallop fishing boat shall be equipped with suitable tanks or containers for carrying salt water from approved sea areas for washing purposes. If scallops are washed on shore, such washing shall be done only in three per cent brine made with water from approved sources and with the permission of the Inspector, Harbour or dock water shall not be used for washing scallop meat.
5. Metal containers only shall be used for shipping fresh scallop meat. Such containers shall not be over five gallon capacity and shall be of such a shape that the meat may be chilled throughout. The metal containers shall be packed in ice within a larger wooden container. The wooden containers shall be perfectly water tight so that water from the melting ice cannot enter them. The wooden and metal containers shall be marked with the name and address of the shipper and the number of his certificate. The shipper shall keep a record of each shipment together with the names and license number of the producers from whom he purchased the scallops, provided that this section shall not become effective until after February 1st, 1938.
6. All shucking and packing shall be done on the fishing boats or in licensed premises on land that may comply with the requirements of the Department of Pensions and National Health, and no scallop meat shall be permitted to come into contact with fresh water at any time.
7. Scallop boats shall fully discharge their catches of scallops each trip before returning to the fishing grounds.
8. A duly authorized inspecting officer shall take such steps as may be necessary to satisfy himself that the foregoing regulations are being complied with, and the producer, packer or shipper who is found shucking, handling and shipping scallop meat not in accordance with the regulations shall be liable to the penalty provided in subsection 2 of section 14 of the Fish Inspection Act.

Lord Tweedsmuir Inducted As Grand Master

Another chapter in the history of Annapolis Royal was written yesterday, morning when His Excellency, Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada, was inducted, with impressive ceremony as Grand Master of the Order of Good Time. His Excellency was invested into office by the Hon. Robert Irwin, Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia, who acted as master of ceremonies for the installation.

An outline of the history of the order was given by the Hon. Angus L. MacDonald, Prime Minister of the province. The Hon. J. Willis Comeau, M. L. A. for Digby County, followed with a five minute address in French. Following the address the actual installation ceremony was proceeded with.

The Governor-General was first invested with the official cloak of office and then, in token of his consent "to assume the office of Grand Master of the Order of the Good Time", with the official collar of office. The latter is a rich gold medalion composed of massive links on which are imprinted in relief the Coat of Arms of Nova Scotia and other emblems. The collar was made under the direction of the Provincial Government.

A fanfare of trumpets accompanied the master of ceremonies' announcement:

"Your Excellency, as Lieutenant Governor of this province and on behalf of the members of this Order, I declare you duly installed as Grand Master of the Order of the Good Time until such time as your successor may be chosen and installed."

His Excellency responded in an address, ten minutes of which was spoken in English and five in French. He then received the first member of the re-established Order, Hon. A. S. MacMillan, who spoke as follows:

"Sir, in the name of the entire membership of our Order resident in the principal counties throughout the world, I thank you for honoring us by accepting the office of Grand Master, and pledge to you our wholehearted loyalty."

The Grand Master then received six men representative of the racial elements of Nova Scotia, English, French, Scottish, German, Irish and Welsh. Grand Chief, Gabriel Silliboy, was presented to His Excellency as representative of the Micmac Indians and with him the Grand Master smoked the pipe of peace lighted from a live coal. The whole ceremony of invest-

Lucky and Unlucky Days Recorded by Astrologers

The ancient astrologers kept a record of events which occurred on certain days. They definitely stated that certain days were lucky and others were unlucky. This list of lucky and unlucky days existed long before the calendar. It was used by the Babylonians to 200 B. C. according to a writer in Pearson's London Weekly.

The Egyptians also had a list of lucky and unlucky days. These lists were handed down until they reached the astrologers of the Middle Ages, who changed them to fit our calendar.

Monday represented peace, Wednesday success, Thursday courage and Sunday rest and happiness. These were lucky. Tuesday, the day of Mars, Friday, the day of Venus, and Saturday, the day of Saturn, were unlucky.

The Arabs disagreed, insisting that Friday was lucky, as it was the day of marriage.

The modern astrologers disregard the calculations of their ancient forefathers and also the decisions of the astrologers of the Middle Ages. Modern astrologers claim that the signs under which one is born decide one's lucky day.

Formosa Famous for Fence

Ceded to Japan by China in 1895, Formosa is famous for one of the most unusual fences in the world. Called the Aiyu-Sen, or guard line, it extends for more than 360 miles, of which 220 are electrified. Its purpose is to keep back the Chin-wan, or "wild savages," who live in the interior and raid the civilized communities which cling precariously to a narrow belt of coastline. The savages number more than 100,000 and are divided into 146 tribes. They practice headhunting. For currency, salt is used. Instead of priests they have priestesses. These women act as "rain destroyers." It rains so much in Formosa that the crops are ruined. Among primitives of dry climates, gives way to savage incantations to prevent rainfall.—Washington Post.

Town Clerk, Alfred Boden, is spending a few weeks in Ontario.

His name was indelibly engraved for the information of future generations, in records made through courtesy of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. They will be stored for safe-keeping in the Public Archives of Nova Scotia.

Chrysanthemum Held Sacred

In China the chrysanthemum is revered as a sacred thing, and pilgrimages are made yearly to the River Kai where natives drink of the petals-strewn waters in the hope of gaining long life. The type of chrysanthemum which grows there is a tiny plant or bush, with blossoms larger than a "bachelor button." It is called chrysanthemum indicum and is a far cry from the giant daisy-like feather types we grow in the United States. Whereas we wear our flowers and decorate our homes with them, the ancients worshipped them. In Japan a yearly festival is held in their honor, at which time a festive drink is made from the petals. The imperial emblem of Japan represents a sixteen petalled chrysanthemum.

Ozone Form of Oxygen

Ozone is a form of oxygen. The molecules of the ordinary oxygen of the air are built of two oxygen atoms. The molecules of ozone contain three of these atoms. As a result of this difference of structure ozone contains considerably more chemical energy than does oxygen and is far less stable. It is a gas with a faint blue color and is formed when oxygen or its compounds are acted upon by certain sources of intense energy, such as a silent electric discharge, or fluorine gas, or certain wave lengths of ultraviolet light. It is an excellent absorbent for ultraviolet light, under the influence of which it is ionized, or partly broken down into electrically charged particles.

The Violoncello

The violoncello, tuned an octave below the viola, has longer, thicker strings. The generous size of the sound box with its ample room for air vibrations makes a dark and sonorous tone. In the mass of orchestral tone, the cello is an effective instrument due to its warmth, its range of more than three octaves and the singing quality that makes it an outstanding favorite. It has a short, heavy bow and the left hand technique is entirely different from that of either violin or viola.

The Goose Flower

The malodorous goose flower takes its name from its shape. The flower's scientific name is aristolochia grandifolia. Another popular name for it is carrion flower—because of its odor, which serves as a lure to certain pollen bearing insects. The flower has one huge petal about one foot wide and fourteen inches long with a slender tail, its outline being in the form of a goose with spread wings. Its plant is about eight feet high and is imported from the tropics.

Better Light!

Better Sight!

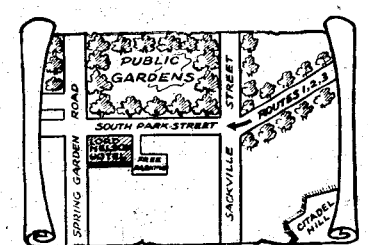

Some Facts About Light and Seeing

That the pupil of the eye becomes smaller with age. The older you grow the more light your eyes need. Poor lighting is one of the causes of near sightedness. That hand writing in pencil requires nearly five times as much light to be readable as handwriting in ink.

Act now and see that your child has proper light for studying and that you have proper light for reading and sewing. Good light costs no more than poor light. Allow us to demonstrate the I. E. S. Lamps—see for yourself the difference good lighting makes.

Obituary

Frederick B. Roop
There passed away Monday of last week, at his home, Joggin Bridge, after a lingering illness, Frederick Bragg Roop, aged 73 years, lacking a few days. The deceased, who was well and favorably known, was a son of the late Christopher Roop, and was twice married. His first wife, who was Miss Grace Hayter, died many years ago. The surviving widow was Miss Alberta Cossett, daughter of the late William Cossett, of Joggin Bridge. Mr. Roop was of a kindly disposition, and a good neighbor, will be much missed. The family left to mourn are: Mrs. Darcy Roop, of Hill Grove; the Misses Freda and Ida Roop, and William and Clyde Roop, at home; and one sister, Mrs. Joseph Berry, Deep Brook. The funeral services were held at his home on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. A. G. Robertson, pastor of the Digby and Hill Grove Baptist churches officiating, with interment at the Cossett cemetery.

WHAT IS CANCER?
Cancer is a disease due to disorders of the cells of one's body. Everyone knows that the human is composed of cells, hundreds of millions of them. The individual cell is extremely small. If a body cell were magnified 500 times it would appear to be about the size of a small pin's head.

Each of these cells, so infinitely small, is a living thing; it is composed of a semi-solid material, has a sort of wall and a nucleus in its midst. The nucleus is the most important part of the cell. Each individual cell is able to move; it is able to gain nourishment from its surroundings; it is able to breathe. What is still more remarkable, each and every one of the hundred reds of millions of cells in our bodies is able to reproduce itself.

Reproduction of cells takes place by division. In the division of a cell the operation begins in the nucleus. The nucleus divides in two and, in the course of from three to twelve hours, the entire cell divides. In their subsequent life the divisions of the cell mature. When matured, they too, divide just as the parent cell divided.

What is the purpose of this division of cells? The purpose is growth. It is by division of cells that the various organs of the body develop and grow. It is in this way that we have development of bones and teeth, of the skin and brain, of the heart and nerves and of all parts of one's body.

A cancer begins as a single cell. At first it looks exactly like one of the normal cells just described. It takes an expert with the microscope to detect any difference between a cancer cell and a normal cell. The cancer cell, like the normal cell, divides for the purpose of growth. So far, the cancer cell and the normal cell are almost alike. The growth manifested by division of the normal cell is a regular controlled process. There is certainly some force in one's body which controls ordinary cell division. It starts it when necessary, stops it when division is unnecessary. This control in healthy persons is maintained throughout life.

The growth of a cancer cell is uncontrolled. Its growth is riotous. A cancer cell is a sort of bolshevist. Instead of dividing, like the normal cell, in the course of from three to twelve hours, there may be many divisions of the cancer cell in that period. It is this rapid, uncontrolled division of the cell that constitutes the main difference between normal growth and cancer growth. If the lever of control in cell growth were discovered we might therein have a solution of the cancer problem. Some investigators have come pretty close to the solution. One day it will be found.

first argument. Unfortunately it is now shut off because most of the gasoline tax monies have been grabbed for other purposes.

Witness the words of legislators of New York State in May in support of a 1-cent increase in the gasoline tax in that state. There was a series of whitewashing platitudes as a polled vote saddled on motorists a budget burden of more than $20,000,000.

When a tax of more than $20,000,000 falls on one-sixth of the population solely because they own automobiles, surely there is not much answer to the charge it is rank discrimination.

tendants will refrain from giving any service to car drivers who appear intoxicated. More than 600 gasoline distributors have offered to support the campaign, and placards quoting the regulation are to be posted in their filling stations.

There may be a lot of truth in a saying that the cause of the majority of highway accidents can be attributed to "the three H's"—Hootch, Haste and Hugging, but, in any event, reckless drivers have killed thousands, maimed and injured thousands, and destroyed property of incalculable value—yet, the reckless driver, drunk or sober, is allowed to menace our highways and by-ways. Caught, he gets off with a small fine, perhaps a short term of imprisonment, and possibly his license suspended for not too long a period. Yet, should it be proven that as the result of reckless driving a life was forfeited, the reckless driver should get off no easier than should someone die by some other means as the result of his gross carelessness.

Of course we acknowledge the driver is not always to blame. The most careful drivers are frequently involved in accidents through no fault of their own.

About This and That

It appears as though I made a bad start on this series of editorials by mistaking the age of some of our valley contemporaries in the weekly newspaper field. To them I offer my apologies with the assurance that it was not done intentionally. The only excuse I can offer is that I must have been careless in reading Roman numerals.

Drawing attention to the error, the Wolfville "Acadian" has the following to say:

"Our contemporary, the Digby Courier, began its sixty-fourth year of publication with its last issue, and marked the occasion by initiating some changes in its appearance and layout. The Acadian extends congratulations and best wishes for future prosperity."

Suggestion is made that the Courier is the oldest newspaper in the valley and we have no desire to question the validity of the claim. However, because of certain other inaccuracies that occur in historical newspaper data there is the possibility that the assertion is open to question. According to our information the Bridgetown Monitor began publication a year earlier and has completed its sixty-fourth year.

"The Acadian was founded ten years later, and upon its advent into the field of Valley journalism found both the Monitor and the Courier going strong. The Annapolis Spectator is a year older than the Wolfville Acadian and the Middleton Outlook recently began its forty-fourth volume."

In this county the Wolfville Acadian is the oldest newspaper still carrying on. In other days there were other publications including the Acadian at Wolfville, the Western Chronicle at Kentville, and the Star at Berwick. There was also a small paper called the Commercial Advertiser that was published for a time at Canning, and the News, which was published at Berwick, prior to the advent of the Register. The Wolfville Acadian was established in the spring of 1883 and is thus in its fifty-fifth year. It has been continuously in the hands of one family.

"The Advertiser was started as the New Star, at Wolfville, a year or so later. Its name was changed to the present in 1892 when it was taken over by the late F. H. Eaton. Thus instead of being at the end of its fortieth year as claimed by the Digby journal, it is about fifty-three years old. While there may have been a number of other journalistic ventures made in the valley, we recall that a predecessor to the Annapolis Spectator, the Annapolis Journal, was published for a time, and that a paper called the Valley Scribe, was also published for a time at Middleton."

The Bridgetown "Monitor" also took us to task editorially, and concluded with the following remark:

VOLUME LXIV, NO. 3

Across the Continent by Car

Kelowna, B. C., Sept. 24

In my last letter I told you of going down through the Coeur d'Alene mountains and of the numerous mines — small and large — along the river of the same name. The next big centre of population we came to was Spokane, just across the state line between Idaho and Washington. It is quite a large city and exceptionally well laid out. Beautiful wide streets, attractive homes and splendid business blocks on every hand. The approach to it from the east is on a fine four-track concrete road, and when we went through it was just lined with wonderful fruit stands. We did not linger long in this city as we were anxious to get along to the coast and still had quite a distance to travel. That night we stayed in Davenport, about 30 miles from Spokane, and had really the best cabin we had been in to date. Leaving Davenport the next morning we continued west. Not long after leaving Davenport we passed the road leading to the Grand Coulee Dam, now under construction, said to be the second largest dam ever built. It was 24 miles off the road and we didn't go in — and we have regretted it ever since. Continuing we came to the great Dry Falls, a wonderful exhibition of bygone ages, when all this immense valley was under water. The "falls" (over which no water now runs) was about thirty times as large as Niagara. Even yet, although probably no water has flowed over it for tens of thousands of years, it shows water erosion. The main highway runs quite close to it and is so high above it that it can be plainly seen. This highway has been ascending for some miles and still goes higher and higher until one feels a ringing in the ears and the voices of those in the car sound some distance away. At the top there is a sign "Moses Coulee" and we begin to descend — down, down, down — until we reach the bottom of the coulee probably 3000 feet from the elevation. Across this coulee, which is quite wide between two precipitous ranges and up another long climb. Here we continue for some miles until we strike Waterville, a pretty little town on the eastern range of mountains overlooking the Wenatchee Valley. Three miles further on is "Pine Canyon". The signs just as we commence to go down read "Eleven Miles Down Grade" and "Six Miles Curving Road", and there curves! We finally get down and find ourselves in the Wenatchee Valley proper. It is said that this Valley produces one-quarter of all the apples grown in the world — and we can well believe it. Our Annapolis Valley, beautiful as it is, is nothing in comparison. Miles upon miles of orchards — apples, pear, plum and peach. Thousands engaged in picking and hundreds of trucks moving the crop. Then we arrive at the city of Wenatchee, one of the prettiest of the cities we have seen on our trip. The whole city is devoted to fruit. Miles of sidewalk fruit stands — wholesale principally, but there are hundreds of retail stands. Tomatoes selling at 5 cents a basket; peaches at 10 cents; watermelon, half a cent a pound; grapes at almost any price you want to give; muskmelons and cantaloupes 2 for 5 cents. Such fruit! Then over the Cascade Mountains, through two passes, the Relevert, at an elevation of 6000 feet, and the Snoqualmie at 4000 feet, and this put us through the Rockies and on to the Pacific slope. We had been three days going through the Rockies at various elevations from 3000 to 9000 feet, on the edge of precipices looking down from a few hundred feet to almost a mile, through canyons and coulees, but the roads are so well constructed and the grades are so easy that we did not find it necessary to change gear once — we did the whole distance in "high". We found the Pacific slope covered with mist and smoke and did not catch a glimpse of the Pacific Ocean until the next day. We reached Seattle about 5 o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, the 7th, and spent the night there as guests of Rev. D. E. Hatt and family. And were they delighted to see us! Mr. Hatt told me that only that afternoon he had been thinking of Hillgrove, of Duncan Mackay, "Billie" Bacon, Mrs. Minard and all the rest of them and had thought of the many trips he and I had enjoyed together, on the brooks of Digby County. Digby holds a warm place in Mr. Hatt's heart, and he speaks very fondly of it. I have known Mr. Hatt for many years. It was in 1883 I met him when as a young man I was in Shelburne and organized "Protection" Lodge, of the Independent Order of Good Templars, installing Mr. Hatt as its first Chief Templar. He was then on his first pastorate — Shelburne — and had only been ordained a year. We spent a splendid evening reviewing the past.

Next morning we left Seattle for Vancouver. On the way we passed through Bellingham and took the opportunity of calling on James Hayden, brother of W. W. and J. W. Hayden. He and his family certainly made us welcome. They insisted that we stay for lunch and in the few hours we were there they showed us over the city — and we fell in love with it. It is a delightful little city. Mr. Hayden took me to meet G. W. Mullen, a New Tuskett boy, who is carrying on a thriving grocery and provision business. Probably many in Digby will be interested to learn that Mrs. Hayden, who was so seriously ill when W. W. was visiting them a year ago, has almost completely recovered, although she is still a little lame. Their son, Walter, was badly hurt a few weeks ago in an automobile accident. He was unconscious for four weeks. The lesions of his brain were torn, making his recovery very slow and affecting his sight. Everything he looks at he sees double, as the eyes are not focussed right, but the opticians say he will grow out of that in time. He is cheerful, but still quite weak.

In coming down the Snoqualmie Pass a car passed us and "honked" several times, pausing at the side of the road a little ahead of us. We continued on our way, when the action was repeated. It bore a Washington plate and, thinking we had unwittingly violated some state law, we stopped. The driver came up and said he couldn't help hailing us as he was a Nova Scotian and ours was the first Nova Scotia car he had seen in years. He told us his name — I forgot it now — but he hailed from Torbrook. His mother is a Mrs. Reid, who lives at 240 South Street, Halifax.

LOWER GRANVILLE

Victor Porter returned on Thursday of last week from Halifax, where he had accompanied Mrs. Porter, who was successfully operated on at the Victoria General Hospital on Tuesday.

A number from here motored to Halifax on Friday last, where they attended the Exhibition. Miss Pearl Melanson and Iris Shaffner left on Friday to visit friends in the United States.

Dr. John R. Mott Coming

Canada is to be favored this fall by a visit from that internationally known Christian leader and statesman of the Kingdom of God, Dr. John R. Mott, who for the past generation has been a foremost leader in foreign missionary enterprises and student activities. In his work on behalf of the Y. M. C. A., and in the interest of the World Mission of Christianity, he has travelled many times round the world. For 25 years he was general secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation. At present, while past three score and ten, Dr. Mott is president of the World's Alliance of Y. M. C. A.'s and chairman of the International Missionary Council.

Dr. Mott's Maritime itinerary includes St. John, Wolfville, Halifax, and Sackville. Wolfville is the point chosen in the Annapolis Valley for his visit, and the date is Oct. 12th. There will be two meetings in University Hall of Acadia, one a conference for ministers and interested laymen of all Protestant communions at 3.30 p. m., and an evening mass meeting, more especially for students, but open to the general public, at 8.00 p. m.

Dr. Mott has recently returned from a trip to India, where he had opportunity to gather first hand information regarding the experiment in India self-government, which Viceroy Linlithgow says "for breadth of conception and boldness of design is without a parallel in history". He has also investigated the phenomenal movement of 60,000,000, or more, Untouchables who are attempting to follow the advice of their leader, Dr. Ambedkar, to break with Hinduism and seek some other religion that will give social equality and economic opportunity both of which are now denied by their Hindu religion. He will also bring inspiring information about the mass movements toward Christianity in India at the present time. This Christian leader, who for a decade has been thinking internationally, will present the challenge of the present world situation to the Christian church. The Annapolis Valley is being given the great privilege of hearing Dr. Mott, one of the world's outstanding Christian leaders and most eminent statesmen of the Christian church.

Micmac Brave Has a Long, Useful Life

October 16th is Boy Scout Apple Day

In many cities you will find old ladies on the corners waiting for someone to buy an apple and making their living in this way. The Boy Scouts are a different type of salesmen, they go after the business and will call at the door or solicit you on the street to make a purchase of a delicious Nova Scotia Apple. When you buy one of these apples you are helping along one of the finest of the youth building programs and have done your deed that will not only apply to today but for years to come. Buy an apple, October 16th.

Mount Allison Institutions Open

With one of the largest enrolments in their history, the Mount Allison Institutions have completed registration and resumed classes. 286 new students entered this year, 185 of whom registered with the University, 70 with the Academy and Commercial College, and 31 with the School for Girls. The geographical distribution of the new students was, as usual, very wide, every province in the Dominion and several states of the Union being represented. Nova Scotia sent the largest group of students to the campus, 128 coming from that province. There are 114 students from New Brunswick, 18 students from Prince Edward Island and 12 students from Newfoundland. The remaining students came from districts scattered from Seattle to South America. Included in the new group were many class leaders and other outstanding students of the various schools.

The official programme, for new students lasted from Monday until Thursday and included social activities, conferences with Faculty Advisers, Aptitude Tests, and brief addresses given by staff members and students on each of the phases of University life.

Several changes were evident with the opening of the University. The Departments of the University had been divided into a Faculty of Arts and a Faculty of Science, with Professor McKel as Dean of Science, and President Trueman as acting Dean of Arts. Each Dean did the registering for the students in his Faculty being assisted by the Professors of the different departments.

The system of Tutors in Residences has been established this year in both men's and women's residences. The appointments of the tutors have been made and the students have been assigned to the tutor who will act as their adviser during the year.

New faculty members whose appointments were announced during the spring and summer have taken up their duties. Dr. Gustav Hubener will be Professor of German Languages and Literature. Mr. Pearson Gundy, M. A., will be Assistant Professor of English. Mr. Norman Laidlaw, B. A., former student of Mount Allison and Rhodes Scholar, will be lecturer in Romance Languages. Dr. Donald MacLaughlan, also a former student of Mount Allison, will be Lecturer in Chemistry. Dr. Jean Hamilton will be Tutor in Modern Languages.

Mr. and Mrs. George Murray, of Halifax, and their son David, of Toronto, were guests at the Sea Breeze Hotel, Deep Brook, on Saturday; also Mr. and Mrs. Rufus G. Poole, of Washington, D. C.

The full blooded Micmacs with their interesting history are rapidly disappearing from this province. Their picturesque language is spoken by a smaller number each year, while few remain who can write it. The wigwags have vanished as the regular abode of the tribe and are only seen as summer camps for temporary use. Frame houses and comfortable homes on the reservations now provide shelter for the Micmacs of today.

It is therefore worthy of note that Malu Pictou, of the Bear River reservation, who was born on Oct. 16th, 1887, is still alive and able to relieve again those days of long ago. Although feeble, he is able to walk to Bear River and back, a distance of about three miles and one-half, all hilly country. He lives with his son-in-law, Louis Harlow, and is the only one left of a large family. A great and mighty hunter, the porpoise shooting on the Bay of Fundy, when that was a thriving business and the oil much sought after at ninety cents a gallon. In those days faring forth in his birch bark canoe with his muzzle loader and his spear, he is reported to have shot fifteen porpoise in one day. He was a close friend of the late William Gilpin of Digby, and accompanied him on his hunting trips. He is a true child of his church, and was baptized in Church Point. He reports that some hymns and portions of the New Testament, filling a good sized volume with the neat hieroglyphics. On two occasions he served his time as chief and is today the Nestor of the reservation. Some of his descendants live on "The Hill" and among them his great great grand child.

It would be a fitting recognition of a long and useful Micmac life if some who are interested would take the time to drop a line to the venerable Malu, care of Louis Harlow, Bear River, to reach him on or before the 16th, inst., when he celebrates his 100th anniversary.

49 In County Borrow Under Home Improvement Plan

In Digby County 49 have borrowed under the Home Improvement Plan which was inaugurated this year, whereby loans were advanced to home owners wishing to improve their properties by a federal financing scheme with the banks, at a reasonable rate of interest. Through the arrangement, many improvements and property repairs have been made, and thus employment has been given, and the labor situation materially assisted. Borrowings in Digby County under this plan, to August 31, amounted to $17,563.06. Borrowings throughout the province have been, for the same period, as follows:

Cape Breton Co.	730	$256,643.07
Halifax Co.	296	104,258.41
Pictou Co.	126	39,343.25
Inverness Co.	138	34,083.59
Kings Co.	93	32,202.56
Colchester Co.	96	29,850.79
Annapolis Co.	112	27,183.47
Hants Co.	73	21,047.57
Lunenburg Co.	74	20,473.48
Comberland Co.	62	18,033.62
Quebec Co.	49	15,853.06
Shelburne Co.	34	7,696.49
Georgetown Co.	36	7,685.16
Antigonish Co.	34	7,164.65
Queens Co.	26	5,945.00
Victoria Co.	5	2,700.60
Yarmouth Co.	23	5,461.76
Richmond Co.	12	2,278.85
Total	2,921	$639,141.01

The average loan for the province is $111.30, with Victoria County leading with an average of $540; Digby County second with an average of $358.42, and Halifax County third with an average of $352.22.

New Band For Digby, Beginners Wanted

The Civic Band will be hard hit by the loss of valuable players most of whom have left town, and a new Junior Band must be started as soon as twenty names are enrolled. The Bandmaster will be glad to interview anyone interested in learning music. It will be hard to fill the places of such players as Syd. Smith, Clarinet; Lloyd Hersey, Clarinet; Ken. MacInnis, Mellophone; Billy Christie, Euphonium; John Moulaison, Bass Trombone; Bobby Weir, Bass; and Syd. Hall, Drum. Everybody interested in keeping a Band in Digby is urged to help find new material. Dozens of young people of both sexes would like to learn to play an instrument, and this is a fine opportunity.

Marshall's Town Boy Dies Of Infantile Paralysis

The death of 18 year old Bryant Comeau, Jr., occurred at his home, Marshall's Town, a few miles from town, shortly after one o'clock Tuesday afternoon, from infantile paralysis.

For several days he had been suffering with a heavy cold, and on Sunday, was taken very ill. A physician, Dr. J. R. McCleave, of Digby, was not called until Monday evening. The disease attacked his lungs, and the young man died early Tuesday afternoon.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Comeau, of Marshall's Town, and is survived by his parents, one brother, Chester, and a sister, Thelma, both at home. He was well known in town, and was at one time an employee of H. T. Warne, Ltd.

This case is only the second of the dread disease to be reported in this area. Schools within a radius of Conway, (including Digby and Marshall's Town) were re-opened a few days ago, after being closed on account of a case at Conway. The young lady stricken in that village is reported as making favorable progress.

and family, of Saint John, were the week end guests of Mrs. S. E. Darcy.

Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Weir, Mrs. Geo. Winchester and Mrs. Gertrude Petrie motored to Milton one day last week, where they called on relatives and friends.

Miss Lizzie MacGregor, Digby, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Rice.

Miss Leonie Doucette was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Adolphe Doucette, recently.

Alphie Doucette, Dennis Doucette and James Stanton were visitors to Little Brook on Tuesday.

Municipal Nominations

Progress Being Made On Construction Work

Excellent progress is being made on the various construction jobs (chiefly dwellings) in town. The new homes of Alan Pyne, Birch Street; C. R. Syphre, at the corner of Prince William and Queen Streets, and of Captain Charles Lewis, Prince William Street, are nearing completion, as well as the dwelling built by M. C. Denton, on Victoria Street. The other of Mr. Denton's houses is completed.

Also, rapid progress is being made on the extension to the Spur Pier. This extension will afford a greater protection for the scallop fleet this winter, and will also increase the shipping facilities of the port. It has been needed for years, and is regarded as one of the most progressive steps taken on the water front for some time.

From the point of view of construction, this year has been one of the best Digby has seen since the "boom" days of 1928 and 1929. In all, probably a score or more buildings of one type or another have been erected, or are under construction. Chief among these, in addition to those already mentioned, have been the new business block at the corner of Prince William and Birch Streets, which houses the Scotia Restaurant and hotel, and the store of Jack Rosenthal; six new bungalows at the Pines Hotel, the new residence of Donald Young; the modern lumber mill which replaced the mill of H. T. Warne, Ltd., destroyed by fire in June; the little shop on Water Street between the store of Doris Webber and Henry Hum's laundry; and the home of Harold Mount, on Maiden Lane.

In addition, a number of smaller buildings for various purposes, have been built, and many of the older places in town completely remodelled.

There has also been considerable construction and repair work in the communities surrounding the town.

Five contests are seen in the Municipal Elections for the Municipality of Digby as the result of Nomination Day proceedings on Tuesday. Outstanding among these contests will be a three cornered "fight" at Weymouth, where Councillor E. P. Hanksin is being opposed by Church Gates and Israel Melanson. At Plympton Warden Andrews has also met with opposition, Ernest L. Ring having been nominated to oppose him in that district. Both at Weymouth North and Westport, former councillors have been nominated to contest for seats of present councillors. It is understood that Councillor Morrell of Freeport, will have to contest his seat, although official papers from Freeport had not been filed at the Municipal Clerk's office yesterday.

Brighton: Samuel E. Woodman, by acclamation. Sandy Cove: Henry W. Cossaboom, by acclamation.

Freeport: Blanchard Morrell, E. Thurber.

Plympton: J. Vian Andrews, Ernest L. Ring.

Weymouth North: Amos Hill, Capt. Harvey B. Fitzgerald.

Tiverton: William Cossaboom, by acclamation.

Rossway: Clarence W. Cornwall, by acclamation.

Smith's Cove: William Woodman, by acclamation.

Culoden: Guy D. Dunn, by acclamation.

Weymouth: E. F. Hanksin, Church Gates, Israel Melanson. With the exception of William Cossaboom, Tiverton, all councillors elected by acclamation, are at present representing those districts. Mr. Cossaboom will succeed C. G. Altohouse.

Municipal Election day is set for Tuesday, October 19.

FIRE AT WOLFVILLE

Fire of unknown origin which broke out in the building owned by C. C. Westcott, in the centre of the Wolfville business district Monday night caused damage estimated at $5,000 to the structure and its contents. The blaze was first discovered about 8 p. m., by H. D. Hirtle, who ran a dry cleaning establishment in the building and lived with his family in an apartment on the second floor.

Firemen were successful in preventing complete destruction of the building. The blaze was confined chiefly to partitions. Heaviest damage was caused by smoke and water.

Heaviest loser is Mr. Hirtle, who estimates the damage to his dry clothing and pressing equipment and household effects at $2,800, partly covered by insurance. Loss to Mr. Westcott, owner of the building, will probably run to $2,000, also partly covered by insurance. Mr. and Mrs. Hirtle were former residents of Smith's Cove.

E. B. Pugh, of Westport, was in town this week.

Roy Sypher spent a few days in Saint John this week.

Church service was held in Lansdowne by Rev. P. C. Henderson, last Sunday.

W. M. S.—The W. M. S. of the United Church met on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Geo. Croscup.

Baptist Circle—The ladies' circle of the Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. W. W. Clarke, on Tuesday afternoon.

The Harvest Festival Service held usually in the hall, at Lansdowne, was on Tuesday evening of this week, and a more detailed report will be given later.

Ladies' Aid—The Ladies' Aid of the United Church met on Tuesday evening with Miss Blanche Purdy.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The annual meeting of the Bear River Women's Institute was held on Monday afternoon in the Masonic Reading Room. Owing to illness and to members absent from the village, the attendance was not as large as usual, but a considerable amount of business was transacted. It was decided to vote payment of a portion of the expenses of the car which carried members to the Institute School at Yarmouth, in September, also to hand the Agricultural Society an amount from that taken in at our Exhibition Booth. The following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. W. M. Roman; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. L. J. Lovett; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. J. H. Cunningham; Sec'y., Mrs. L. V. Harris; Treasurer, Mrs. Charles MacDonland. The executive and conveners of committees were also elected, and Mrs. Harry Woodgate appointed as our delegate to the Convention at Truro, in November.

Full reports will be found in the Digby Courier covering the past year's work. New work was discussed, to be more fully dealt with at a later date. We look forward to a year of helpful activity under our new officers, each and every member being expected to give loyal support at all times.

PENSIONED OFF A FIT MAN

Rigours of Police Life Did Not Harm Him

At 50 years of age he was presumed to be beyond the arduous demands of public duties. But was he? Read what he says now—five years after he was pensioned:—
"I am a man of 55 years. It is now five years since I was pensioned off from the Police. I went through thick and thin, day and night in all weathers, while I was on the Force, and am to-day as fit as any man still serving on the Force. People often ask me 'How do you keep so young?' and my answer is 'Kruschen Salts.' I have used Kruschen now for the last 13 years, and I will certainly use these Salts for the rest of my days."—W. J.
The numerous salts in Kruschen provide just that genus which aid your internal organs, require to enable them to perform their work properly. These vital salts keep your liver and kidneys in top-notch efficiency, so that they help to free your system of poisonous waste matter. The result is a feeling of youthful health and vigor—"that Kruschen feeling!"

THE HOLY LAND

On Thursday of last week, Rev. A. B. Higgins, of Middleton, gave an illustrated lecture covering part of his visit to Palestine; which was under the auspices of the W. M. S. of the United Church. Rev. R. L. Roach introduced the speaker, who, throughout his talk, received rapt attention. Higgins' personal reminiscences, with a witty story here and there to hold the attention of the small children in the audience gave all present a pleasant evening and a greater appreciation of what such a visit can mean to the traveller. A large number of school children were present, as to them we feel sure, this lecture brought a clear picture of the country about which they read so much at the present time. The proceeds were for Home Mission work.

AUCTION SALE OF REAL ESTATE

TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION by the undersigned on the premises at Mayflower, in the County of Digby, on Saturday, the sixth day of November, A. D. 1937, at the age of 24 years of age, under the provisions contained in a certain mortgage, dated April 1st, A. D. 1911, and duly recorded in the office of the Registrar of Deeds at Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, on April 15th, A. D. 1914, in Book 110, Page 118, and given by Henry Musse, then of the County of Digby, now of Tewkesbury, Massachusetts, to Capt. Musse of Mayflower, aforesaid, Farmer, and Caroline Musse his wife, to provide for the maintenance of said Capt. Musse and Caroline Musse; the consideration of said mortgage being $1200.00. The said Henry Musse, having neglected to comply with the terms contained in said mortgage, and the said Henry Musse having absolutely abandoned the said premises, with no intention of returning, and without making any provision for the carrying out of the provisions or covenants contained in said mortgage—notice of the intention of said Capt. Musse to sell the said property under the terms and conditions contained in said mortgage having been given to the Registrar of Deeds by personal service on him in the Tewkesbury Hospital at Tewkesbury, Massachusetts, and by placing a copy of said notice on the said mortgage premises at Mayflower aforesaid, thirty days previous to the date hereof.

All the estate, real, title, interest and equity of redemption of the above named Henry Musse, and all persons claiming or entitled to from or under the said Henry Musse, at the date of the said mortgage hereinbefore referred to, and to any time since, of, in, to and out of all that certain tract, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being at Mayflower, aforesaid, and second division, and bounded and situated as follows: In the Northwest by the Gaspereaux Brook, so called, Northerly; by land of the Heirs of the late Theodore Thibault, deceased; Southwesterly by land of the Heirs of said Theodore Thibault, deceased; and on the Southeast by the base line.

Together with all and singular the buildings, woods, ways, waters, easements and appurtenances to the same belonging in anywise appertaining, and the reversions, remainders, rents, issues and profits thereof.

TERMS:—10%; deposit at time of sale; remainder on tender or delivery of deed.

Weddings

Mahoney—Landry
At eight o'clock Saturday morning, St. Patrick's Church, Digby, was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Rev. Father Leo Murphy joined in matrimony, Ruby Evangeline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Landry, of this town, and Russell Ralph Mahoney, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Russell R. Mahoney, of Annapolis Royal.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dress of navy blue crepe with cortege of yellow roses and carried a white prayer book. The young couple were attended by Miss Margaret Landry, of Yarmouth, a cousin of the bride, and Max Campbell, of Digby.

Following the ceremony, a reception, attended by immediate friends of the bride and groom, was given at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney will reside in Digby.

Crocker—Finigan
A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Freeport Baptist church when Miss Evelyn Odell, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Finigan, became the bride of Egbert Robertson Crocker, of the firm of Crocker Bros.

The bride was dressed in an imported gown of white lace over white satin, with veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and ferns. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. G. Wakeling. The couple were unattended.

After a reception the bride and groom left by motor on a wedding tour of the province. They will reside at Freeport.

Hicks—Purdy
A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, Digby, Tuesday, when Dorothy Marie Purdy, youngest daughter of Mrs. Minnie Purdy and the late Melbourne Purdy, of Clementsport, was united in marriage to Harry Hoyt Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hicks, Round Hill. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. G. Robertson, in the presence of immediate relatives, the double ring service being used.

The bride looked very attractive, attired in a gown and hat of black silk, chiffon velvet, with silver fox fur and corresponding accessories. Following the ceremony the happy couple left for Boston, Mass., where they will visit the bride's mother, at the New England Deaconess Hospital, then on to New York.

The bride and groom are very popular and have been the recipients of many beautiful gifts. They will reside in Digby.

Bean—Baxter
A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Digby Baptist Church parsonage on Saturday morning by Rev. A. G. Robertson, when Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baxter, of Digby, became the bride of Douglas Bean, of Halifax. Mr. and Mrs. Bean will reside at Halifax.

Miss Agatha Stewart, who spent the summer at her home here, has returned to New York. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Worcester and daughters, Mrs. Beal and Mrs. Kelley, of Jonesport, Maine, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lent, of Weymouth's North, one day recently, while touring Nova Scotia.

Meets Instant Death in Crash

Former Bear River Man En-Route from Michigan is Victim

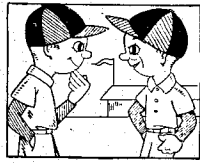

En-route to Bear River on a motor tour, Solon Purdy, of Michigan, met instant death when his car was wrecked in a collision with another automobile. He was accompanied by his wife, having only recently been married a second time. Mr. Purdy was born at Bear River 75 years ago, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Purdy. He spent the early part of his life in Bear River, marrying Miss Florence Goodere, who predeceased him by a few years.

After moving to Michigan he was engaged in the teaching of penmanship, in which he was an expert. He recently retired on a pension.

At the time of the tragedy Mr. Purdy was on a motor trip to Bear River where he intended visiting his boyhood home, on a pension. News of the accident was received at Bear River on Wednesday.

He is survived by one son, Lawrence, of Michigan and one sister, Mrs. Alvin Vroom, Exeter, N. H.

SILLY QUESTION

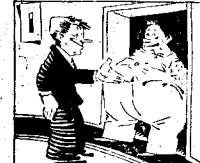

"Where do you suppose baseball umpires go when they die?"
"It depends largely on whether they follow the advice of the bleachers."

IN FASHION

"You say Daniel has hydrophobia?"
"Yes, he was bitten by a mad dog."

REAL LUCK

"Hello, Doodle! Any luck yet?"
"Yes, I was fishing?"
"Great! I was away when six bill collectors called."

P'S AND Q'S

"The Smiths are happily married."

"What makes you think so?"
"He talks back just enough to keep their arguments interesting."

"The telephone has always more than paid for itself on my place"

"A telephone on the farm is worth much more than it costs". I can't see how any farmer can get along without it... The telephone has always more than paid for itself on my place, and during a recent fire help was called by telephone which could not have been done in sufficient time by any other means... Yes—a telephone on the farm is necessary for every-day calls and comfort and security in times of emergency.

A telephone more than pays for itself on the farm for business alone, and in an emergency, such as fire, thieves, accident or sickness, one call may be worth more than service costs for a lifetime.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

"The age of a paper, however, is not by any means an important factor, but early establishment is a stamp of enterprise on the parts of the founders, and enterprise also on the part of citizens of towns which have recognized the need of a paper and have given it loyal support, as soon as conditions warranted the establishment of a public press."

Quite so.

One thing certain about the newspaper game is that when a mistake is made, everybody knows about it. Newspaper publishers are not like other professions. . . . We have to make our mistakes public once they appear in print. "The other fellows" have various ways and means of hiding theirs.

For several years it has been our custom to call on our local merchants once a week to solicit their advertising. This summer, which has been the busiest we have had for twelve years, we have had to practically discontinue this practise because none seemed to be able to spare the time to make the necessary calls.

Last week I made the rounds again and was told by one merchant that when business was good I was conspicuous by my absence, and now that it has slackened off, I am again on the scene soliciting advertising.

I admit he told the truth—but, I ask you all, when should an advertiser use the most space, when business is good—or when it has "slackened off"? One of the chief functions of advertising is to wake up business, and when sales commence to fall, to my mind, the logical thing should be to use more advertising. We need the doctor most when we are ill.

Mrs. Clarence Gray and two children, and Miss Dorothy Molten and Miss Hamilton, Kentville, spent Sunday with relatives in New Tusk.

INDIGESTION

Indigestion is a much-abused term and has no definite meaning. It is a word in general use to describe any uncomfortable feeling which the sufferer attributes to the stomach or some other part of the digestive system. The true condition may be an ulcer of the stomach, inflammation of the gall-bladder, chronic constipation, chronic appendicitis, or some one or other of the many conditions which cause what is popularly known as indigestion.

Unfortunately because indigestion is a common complaint, it is very often treated lightly, and the general tendency is for the sufferer to dose himself with laxatives or to try one of the many types of diet which his well-meaning, but medically ignorant friends will offer as a cure. Soda is often taken in large amounts, regularly or frequently, by numbers of persons with the idea that their trouble lies in the presence of too much acid in their stomachs. If digestion is to take place in the stomach, acid must be present, and large doses of soda merely interfere with normal digestion.

In certain cases, bran and roughage in the diet are desirable in order to overcome constipation. If the digestive organs are irritable, it is most likely that a smooth, soft diet is what is required.

These points are mentioned in order to make clear that the proper treatment of indigestion depends, first of all, upon finding out the cause. If this is not done, actual harm results, and the condition tends to become chronic and increasingly difficult to treat.

The whole trouble may be due to bad habits of eating. Eating too quickly, washing down food with fluid instead of chewing it properly, swallowing of air as a result of gulping of food. In such cases, the trouble will be corrected by establishing proper eating habits. If there is inflammation or ulceration of some part of the digestive system this, of course, requires suitable treatment, and constipation is dealt with by regulation of diet and habits, not by drugs.

GOVERNMENT RESTRICTS PRODUCTION

A recently prepared price index, compiled from government data, shows that petroleum products, in relation to other commodity price indices from September 1933, kept more uniform than any of them. From this date until January 9th, 1936, crude oil prices had been established on a basis that remained unchanged.

The index illustrates that in uniformity of price level oil products made a substantially better showing than hides and leather, building materials, textiles, foods, or farm products. It shows also that prices for oil products, compared with their 1926 level, remained relatively lower than for all other commodities.

Government authorities in oil producing areas, and not the oil companies, determine regularly how much oil shall be taken from the ground to meet current demand. In the United States the federal government has a hand in it too. Oil producers may appear before these agencies and state their case for increasing the amount of their production. It may be granted and it may not. State regulatory commissions then translate into public policy the technical knowledge of the oil industry.

Limited in this way, there have been times when there was not enough surplus crude oil for the refineries. For some months preceding the 1936 price raise, some refineries had actually been paying premiums over the price posted by leading buyers of crude oil.

About This and That

"Questionable magazines in lurid covers appeal to our young people," says an advertisement which appeared recently in one of the publications of the United Church Publishing House.

There is more truth than poetry in that statement. All one has to do to prove the statement is to visit any newsstand in the country, and look over some of the periodicals on sale. Should he purchase one or two of them, and examine their contents, the statement is more than proven.

Yet, these magazines enjoy an enormous circulation, and "newcomers" seem to indicate that sex and crime stories are increasing in their popularity.

The field is not only limited to magazines. Included in the list of "questionables" should be many of the so called funny papers, most of which come from the other side of the line. It is true that few of us can resist a "funny paper" nevertheless, when one analyzes the modern comics, one cannot help but wonder just why they are called "funny". There are only a few left worthy of that name. Mostly the humor comprises one good juicy murder a week.

The generation before us sought a secluded corner of the wood shed to read of the adventures of Jesse James and other dime novel heroes. To be caught reading these yarns usually resulted in another trip to the wood shed. Yet, Jesse James stories were almost effeminate in comparison with some of the present day funny papers parents bring home to their children each week, yes, and in comparison with a few of the radio stories "tuned in" practically every day, including Sundays.

Still, the comic sections of these so called funny papers are not in reality the worst sections of these "sheets". Most of their news and feature pages are packed with more dirt and slime and crime than the average city dump.

And, yet, we wonder why good literature is not appreciated among the young people as it was a generation or so ago.

This article does not, by any stretch of the imagination, condemn all magazines "comics" on sale in the news-stands today. Among the magazines are many splendid periodicals of high literary value; magazines with the best of fiction, and with articles and comments on current affairs; there are "funny papers" that are really wholesome. Care should be taken in their selection.

There is an old proverb "A man is known by the company he keeps"—the word "company" does not necessarily only apply to human company. "Friends" made through good and bad reading have a marked influence on character and moral.

In Blossom for Second Time—
One of the most unusual sights in this district for the time of the year is the horse chestnut tree, near the Birch Street railroad crossing. This tree, after having grown a second crop of leaves for the season, is now in blossom for the second time in 1937. Railway men have told us this is always one of the first trees to leaf out and blossom along their run. This year it will be the first and the last.

VOLUME LXIV, NO. 4

Across the Continent by Car

Hanna, Wyoming, Oct. 7

One of the things which has stuck us most on this trip is the very excellent way in which the American roads are marked and the painstaking care to avoid accidents. The highway numbers are very distinct and can be read at quite a distance. In a land covered with highways such as this junctions must necessarily be quite frequent and notice is given the driver by a very legible sign at least 500 feet away and the junctions themselves have a complete directory of the important points on the route, with the mileage. It is almost impossible to go astray if you follow your route map and check carefully. On many of the roads under construction, passenger cars and trucks are held up for five or ten minutes and then sent through with a pilot car. My first experience with a pilot car was rather humorous. We were in Idaho just entering the mountains on our westward trip, when we were stopped and told that a pilot car would be along in a few minutes to take us through the next mile as the dust menace was bad. The pilot came and we started on a fairly long procession. About a quarter of a mile along we met a tractor hauling a circular brush, brushing the dirt which had worked up from the shoulder, off the road. We kept looking for the danger, but saw nothing. Finally the pilot car hauled to one side to allow us to pass. On enquiring we found that this "awful dust menace" was the small amount stirred up by the rear wheel brush mentioned—and I have seen just as much made in sweeping the sidewalks in Digby. It was so funny we merely looked at one another and laughed.

In my last letter we were in Bellingham, Wash. We left that city early Saturday afternoon and a short time afterwards crossed the border into Canada, and at Clondara, the first village inside the Canadian border, we spent Saturday night and part of Sunday. On Sunday we drove into New Westminster—a suburb of Vancouver, to visit Mrs. Wallis' sister, Mrs. L. H. Beanish, whom she had not seen for over thirty years. On Monday morning the three of us drove into East Vancouver and called on Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Torrie. We found them very pleasantly located. They were delighted to see us. We took lunch with them and in the afternoon the ladies went on a shopping expedition, while Mr. Torrie and I went to Stanley Park and a few other places of interest. Our visit with them was very pleasant and I would like to have seen more of them, but there were so many people I wanted to see and so many places to visit that the week we had allotted Vancouver went by with my visits only half made. I tried twice to get in touch with Dr. DuVernet to "make a date" to see him but the line was busy both times, and I did not get to his office.

On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 19, we left for Kamloops, to visit another sister of Mrs. Wallis—Mrs. Andrew Noble—also for the first time in over thirty years. The distance between Vancouver and Kamloops is only 284 miles but we were strongly advised to take two days as the route—along the Fraser canyon, was particularly trying on the nerves and very difficult to negotiate. The first night we made Yale—one of the "ghost towns" of the province. In the 90's it was a town of over 2000. It was the head of navigation and the meeting place of hundreds of soundings who made the Cariboo trail in those years. Now it is a mere handful of people. It is located in a little valley surrounded by snow-capped peaks and is a delightfully pretty place. The next morning we started up the trail and found the trip to be one wonder after another. Around the mountains, with curves so sharp it would almost seem that the car could negotiate them better if it were hinged in the middle; through gorges and canyons, sometimes down alongside the river, at other times up 6000 and 7000 feet looking down into the river. At a gas station on the way up we were told it was doubtful if we could get through as higher had been a cloudburst up there causing a landslide which had affected over a mile of the road. We reached the little shortly before noon and found that a small army of men had just cleared enough to allow our car to pass at a time, and we got through with very little delay. I will admit I was a little nervous at times—I never did like looking down from a high place—but I was only really scared once. Just outside Spence's Bridge—a small village well up and beyond the hard surfaced portion—we were passing along a precipice on our right, several hundred feet high. The road was narrow and winding. Approaching one of the curves a truck suddenly came around. I was driving and looked for a place to turn further out, when, to my horror, I saw there had been a small slide on my side making a v-shape opening in the road extending about four feet back from the edge—and I was right on it. The only thing to do was to stop and the truck edged over as far as possible to the cliff and got by. But I was expecting to feel that edge drop away at any moment—and the feeling wasn't any too pleasant!

The last hundred miles of the trip to Kamloops was very interesting. Bare prairies and desert with an occasional garden and ranch house. We did not see the town until rounding a hill a mile and a half from it, and our view all at once. And was it a pretty sight! Beautifully laid out at the junction of the North and South Thompson Rivers, streets lined with fine large trees and numerous flower gardens, it seemed to us one of the prettiest towns we had seen. We spent a very pleasant four days there and left on Friday afternoon down the Okanagan Valley, for the United States, passing through a number of very pretty towns. We broke the journey at Oliver, where we spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. MacNaughton. On this visit I am going to devote practically a whole letter, next week.

Home From Vacation—Rev. A. N. McNinch is enjoying his third pastorate with the Clark's Harbour Church, where large congregations assemble in the spacious house of worship. September was his vacation month in which he visited old haunts and old friends in Grand Manan and Carleton County, N. B. He also spent some time with his two sons in Clonsmont. During his absence the pulpit was supplied by Rev. I. D. Lytle, of Port Maitland, and Rev. Earle Ekridge, of Yarmouth.—Yarmouth Telegraph.

Municipal Elections on Tuesday

Tuesday, October 19, is Municipal Election Day. On that date, the electors of five districts in the Municipality of Digby will go to the polls to mark their ballot for the candidate of their choice. In seven districts councillors were elected by acclamation on Tuesday of last week.

The divisions where elections will be held are: Plympton, Weymouth North, Freeport, Weymouth and Westport. At Plympton, J. Vian Andrews, Warden of the Municipality since the death of the late Warden Ingram Saunders, of Sandy Cove, is being opposed by Ernest L. Ring, of Barton.

Three candidates have been named for the Weymouth district, where E. F. Hankinson, present chairman of the committee on Tenders and Public Property in the present council, is being opposed by Church Gates; of Weymouth Mills, and Israel Melanson, of Weymouth.

Two of the Island districts, Westport and Freeport, will also elect councillors on Tuesday. At Westport, E. B. Pugh, for many years a member of the council, is running against D. B. Kenney, member since 1934. Blanchard Morrell, of Freeport, also member since 1934, is meeting opposition from Reuben Haines. In our report of the nominations published last week, we gave the name of Councillor Morrell's opponent unofficially as E. Thurber. Freeport, Nomination Returns, were late in reaching Digby, and the name published in last week's Courier was as given us by the Municipal Clerk at that time, and was the name she understood over the phone.

Former Deputy Warden, Capt. H. B. FitzGerald, and for many years Councillor for that district, and Amos Hill, present councillor, are running. Councillor Hill succeeded Capt. FitzGerald in the 1934 Municipal Election.

Members of the Municipal Council are elected for terms of three years, and elect their own Warden at the first January session of the new term.

TOURISTS BUY MORE HOOKED RUGS

A considerable industry has arisen in the Maritime Provinces in connection with the sale of hooked rugs to tourists. Some of these rugs command a high price and are veritable works of art. All three provinces, and Prince Edward Island, contribute to the industry. In Nova Scotia rugs to the value of some $9,000 have been sold during the past season with the Cheticamp area in Cape Breton the heaviest producing section in the province, according to a report received from the tourist bureau of the Canadian National Railways.

HOME IMPROVEMENT PLAN

A door is the gateway to your home and the keynote of the decoration should be found there. Just a door is no longer enough to satisfy the particular homeowner.

Architects pay particular attention to this feature of home building and distinctive examples may be found to suit any style of house. By changing the doorway to your home you might achieve an entirely new effect. This change could be made with funds obtained under the Home Improvement Plan.

Blue doors are gaining in popularity and a number of white houses are to be seen with orange doors edged in black.

Agriculture Began Early in Nova Scotia

Agriculture in Nova Scotia began soon after the first settlement in 1605 and early records show that apple trees were planted at Port Royal, now Annapolis Royal, in 1633. By 1671 the settlers numbered 423 and each had an average of one "arpen" or less than an acre of cleared land, two horned cattle and one sheep. The passing years have seen steady development of the farming enterprise and today agriculture is the leading industry of the province. The thriftiness of the early settlers is reflected in the fact that Nova Scotia leads all the other provinces in the percentage of farms owned by the operators.

Of the total area of the province only 61 per cent is classed as possible farm land and a little more than half the total, amounting to 4,300,000 acres, is occupied. This is divided into some 40,000 farms with an average of 21 acres of improved land per farm.

Hay is the principal crop grown and accounts for more than half the total value of the field crops. Potatoes, oats and roots are the other leading field crops. A most interesting feature of the Nova Scotian farm picture is the dyked land where the high tides of the Bay of Fundy region have built up large areas of fertile soil, which is now reclaimed from the sea and grows splendid crops of hay and grain.

Dairy cattle and sheep are the most important farm animals in Nova Scotia. A reputation for the high quality of Nova Scotia lamb extends beyond the confines of the province.

In the minds of most people, however, the highlight of Nova Scotia's agriculture is the apple crop of the famed Annapolis Valley. Despite its small size, the province exceeds all others, save Ontario, in the amount of land devoted to fruit growing.

Sheltered by the high hills which flank the valleys of the tidal rivers flowing into the Annapolis and Minas Basins, thousands of acres of apple orchards produce each year a crop which is measured in millions of barrels. This fruit finds its way largely to the markets of the Old Country, where it has justly earned a splendid reputation, according to the Agricultural Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Department of Trade and Commerce.

New York Biggest Market For Canadian Potatoes

New York is the big market in the United States for Canadian potatoes, both seed and table stock, accounting for about 65 per cent of the total imports. Maine and New Hampshire take about a 13 per cent average. Virginia and Philadelphia alternate as the next largest consumer. Canadian table potatoes enter the New York market usually in April, May or June, when supplies from Maine, the principal domestic source of supply slack off, while Canadian seed is in demand as early as October and November as many farmers like to hold their seed over the winter to ensure that supplies are available in the spring and that they receive the best supplies free from frost or storage injury. Other states supplying the New York market include Florida, with early new potatoes, principally in March, April and May, followed by Virginia in June and July. Idaho specializes in a large potato for baking, which comes on the market about July and August from Maine. Last year Canada exported to the United States 729,218 bushels of seed potato and 469,976 bushels of other kinds.

Compensation Board May Increase Rate on Lumbering

A circular letter recently from the Workmen's Compensation Board of Nova Scotia states that the Board will have to consider an increase in the rate for Lumbering effective January 1, 1938.

At the last session of the Legislature, Amendments were made to the Workmen's Compensation Act providing for increased benefits to workmen. In view of this it may be necessary to increase the rate of assessment in the industries to which these Amendments apply.

For the year 1936 in the Lumbering industry, there was quite a large deficit, approximately $25,000 and a rate of $8.70 should have been charged to take care of the losses in that year. At the close of 1936 the deficit for all years in the Lumbering industry was approximately $160,000.

C. N. R. WEEKLY REVENUES

The gross revenue of the all-inclusive Canadian National Railways System for the 9-day period ending September 30, 1937, were $5,877,384, as compared with $5,916,339 for the corresponding period of 1936, a decrease of $38,955.

Crowded Out—A last minute rush has made it necessary to condense several news items, and to crowd out a few of the village notes. Correspondents that reaches us not later than Tuesday is seldom crowded out.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Matthews spent the week end in Yarmouth. On Friday night a shower was given.

A Real Farm

J. M. Nichols, of Deep Brook, has a farm that is a farm.

During the last week he has been enjoying the best quality of string beans, planted on the ground where he dug his early potatoes, now where he has choice endives now where earlier in the summer he had his green peas.

From one-tenth of an acre he has raised 450 bushels of mangolds, some weighing 19 pounds a piece. (Incidentally it is worth noting that these were pulled and topped in eight hours by "Al" Young.) He took first prize for heavy turnips at the Digby County Exhibition, five of them weighing 57 pounds. He also won many other first prizes at the Exhibition in vegetables, fruit and poultry. Special mention should be made of his grapes, he has five or six large vines bearing several different varieties of grapes, which are equal in size and flavor to those produced anywhere else in Canada. These ripen beautifully and are to be found in many of the local stores.

This beautiful old farm is one of the most attractive in the valley, overlooking the entire Annapolis Basin, makes one feel that a farm is a pretty good place after all.

Scallop Season Opens Today

With the opening of the scallop season today, Digby's busiest season of the year begins, since scallop fishing became an industry in Digby, our town is no longer "dead" industrially during the winter months.

During the past dozen or so years much of Digby's progress has been due to the large fleet operating out of this port, and district. Hundreds have been given employment, and scallops valued at thousands of dollars are landed annually. The Bay of Fundy scallop beds have made Digby one of the most important fishing towns in the western end of the province, and probably the most important winter fishing port in the province.

Employment has been found for a great many who would otherwise be unemployed. New families have made Digby their home town. Merchants and tradesmen have benefited. In our opinion the scallop fisheries now represent Digby's most important industry.

Mrs. C. Y. Young spent last week in Saint John, N. B., she was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Ernest Thorne, of Granville Ferry.

National Fish Week

"Eat More Fish" is the slogan of Canadian people during the coming week—National Fish Week—a week set aside to make a special effort to educate the people of the Dominion in the value of sea foods.

Every week of the year should be something of a "National Fish Week." We, who reside in the sea-bounded provinces, give fish an important place on our menus, but the education of those in the interior provinces has merely begun. In these days, with rapid transportation and modern refrigeration methods, sea foods can reach the interior practically "as fresh."

Annapolis Deanery Men's Association

The annual meeting of the Annapolis Deanery Men's Association was held 6.30 p. m., Tuesday evening, in St. Luke's Hall, Annapolis Royal, with a chicken dinner furnished by St. Luke's Sanctuary Guild. After dinner the President, L. V. Harris, called the meeting to order; the minutes were read. Every parish in the deanery was represented and seventy-eight men were in attendance. Stanley A. Keen, the secretary-treasurer, since the formation of the association, read during the year. Fitting tributes were made to his work and a resolution of sympathy passed on the death of Rev. Mr. J. H. Gaskin, former pastor of the deanery, who died recently.

The church, filled to capacity, was beautifully decorated with potted plants, gladioli, asters and dahlias, the work being done by friends of the deanery.

Both bride and groom were unattended and entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's bridal chorus, met at the altar under an arch of autumn leaves, from which were suspended white bells, tied with white satin ribbon. The wedding music was rendered by the organist, Miss Stella Elaine Small, of Tiverton, who was presented with a cameo ring. Rev. J. G. Wakefield, pastor of the church, officiated. The single ring service was used.

The bride was gown in an imported gown of white net embroidered with lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses and fern. The long veil was of white bridal net, turban style, held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms, also sprays of orange blossoms decorated ends of the veil.

Graduates of Provincial Normal College, Truro, since their graduation, have been in the deanery for a number of years. An efficient teacher on the Freeport teaching staff; she has also filled the position of church organist and chorist of St. Luke's Church, Truro. The organist is a member of the firm of Crocker Bros.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom left on a short motor trip to Halifax and Truro, the bride traveling in a dark green coat trimmed with mink collar, given dress, hat and other matching accessories. They will reside in Freeport.

Weddings

Hubley—Dukeshire

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dukeshire, Bear River, was the scene of a very interesting ceremony at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Oct. 9th, when the marriage of their elder daughter, Bertha Orietta, to Lawrence Gilbert Hubley, son of Mrs. Gilbert Hubley and the late Mr. Hubley, was solemnized, Rev. S. F. Steeves officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a dress of flowered crepe with brown accessories, her bouquet was of madame butterfly roses, gypsophila and fern. She was attended as bridesmaid by Miss Grace Hubley, sister of the groom, wearing a brown sheer gown with matching accessories, and carrying a bouquet of pink asters and maidenhair fern. Little Florence Hubley, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a dress of flowered crepe and scattered rose petals and forgot-me-nots before the bride, who, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Louise Harris, entered the large living room on the arm of her father, and took her place beneath an arch beautifully decorated with greenery and autumn leaves and centered with a lovely silver bell. The room was banked with autumn leaves, with white and silver streamers, and a profusion of autumn flowers, gifts from the many friends of the bride. The groom was supported by Cleveland Dukeshire, brother of the bride.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding luncheon was served to about thirty guests, after which the happy couple left for a motor trip through Cape Breton Island. On their return they will reside in Saint John, N. B., where the groom is head accountant in the Maritime Office of the Maple Leaf Milling Company, Ltd.

Mrs. Gilbert Hubley, mother of the groom, was given in black crepe with corsage of roses; Mrs. Dukeshire, mother of the bride, wearing brown crepe also with corsage of roses. The bride was the recipient of numerous, beautiful and useful gifts.

Harvest Festival At Lansdowne

The annual Harvest Festival was held on Tuesday, Oct. 5th. The hall was filled to capacity, with practically everyone from the community present, as well as those from Bear River, Smith's Cove, Digby, and a large number from Milford Corner.

The soft light from gleaming oil lamps shone on the product of woods, orchard and farm, used in beautifying the hall, one was reminded of the wonderful autumn colors of the trees all about us by the soft hues of carrot, beet, squash and pumpkin, the polished crimson of apples, lovely maple leaves, feathery tops of carrots, combined with golden grain to form a picture worth traveling a long way to see.

A spirit of great thankfulness pervaded the gathering, each one present coming to testify their gratefulness to the Giver of every perfect thing; and, moreover, to share their blessings with others. All the fruit and garden produce was a gift to the Digby General Hospital from the people of Lansdowne, who realize what a wonderful work is being carried out in that institution.

Rev. A. W. L. Smith, of the Church of England, conducted the service, giving the main address of the evening. He was assisted by Rev. C. P. Henderson, of the Advent Church, and Rev. R. Roache, of the United Church, Bear River, who led in prayer and the psalms, and who each gave a short talk.

The music was in charge of Mrs. Lottie Roop, who also was organist, and who takes such an interest in this annual service. Mrs. Waldo Chute sang a solo, "Sunrise To-morrow"; Mrs. Burton Harris and Miss Forbes sang a duet, and the united choir rendered a special number as an offertory.

Mr. Smith, on behalf of the people, then asked Dr. A. B. Campbell, representing the Hospital, to receive the gifts gathered before him, and in reply, Dr. Campbell expressed the sincere thanks of the Hospital for the generosity of the people of this district, calling attention to the fact that only in Christian countries are hospitals erected, with their doors ever open to receive the sick and need—where help is given to all who knock, regardless of their financial condition. Such organizations are worthy of our best thoughts and assistance, and the people of Lansdowne show in a very tangible way, their desire to assist in this work which is, after all, the work Christ has set before all his followers.

After singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and the benediction by Rev. Mr. Smith, there followed a short period of silent prayer, after which the congregation was dismissed, feeling that "it was good for us to be here."

The ladies of the community worked hard all afternoon to bring into the hall the spirit of Harvest Festival, and succeeded beyond all thought. In this as in their giving, there was no limit to their effort and they deserve the thanks and appreciation of all who saw the results of their work.

WIFE WHO WAS CROSS AND TOUCHY

Put Herself Right With Kruschen

"I am 39 years of age," a woman writes, "Yet some days I have been feeling 100 years old. I would get fits of exhaustion for no good reason at all. I was not fit to live with because I would be so cross and touchy. I did not seem to have any ambition to do my housework, and I was tired all the time."

"Two years ago I had sciatic all down my left side from the hip. My doctor says all this is caused through my nerves. I took Kruschen and found it helped me very much. Since I started taking it I am a different person. My work seems a lot easier and I have a lot more energy."—(Mrs.) G. M.

The "little daily dose" of Kruschen puts an end to tiredness and depression, because it restores the eliminating organs to proper activity by providing them with the daily reminder and daily aid that they require. Cleaned and invigorated blood is sent circulating all over the system, carrying new vitality to every nerve and new vigour to every limb.

"SCALLOP PROSPECTS"

To the Editor of the Courier.
Dear Sir:—In a recent issue of the Courier, there appeared an article, entitled "Scallop Prospects", dealing with the outlook for Digby scallops and the American market. Digby scallops shipped to the United States must of necessity compete with American caught scallops. The cost of production, including transportation and other prime costs, have no bearing or influence on the selling price which is determined by the law of supply and demand and the quality of the product. A glutted market means low prices, a well stocked market means fair prices, and a scarce market means high prices. In many instances when the market has been over-supplied with scallops of inferior quality, those of high quality have been sold at considerably higher prices. Another important angle to marketing is the distributing centre to which the products are sent.

New York is the largest consuming market in America, it draws on every section of the United States and Canada for its supplies. It is a discriminating market, it demands quality products and pays higher prices therefor than other large consuming areas. Here is a market that your scallop fishermen would do well to investigate. The people of the New York metropolitan area annually consume half a billion pounds of fish and fishery products and there is no doubt that a very large percentage of the scallops taken in the Bay of Fundy and shipped to Boston or to other markets, eventually find their way to New York tables. The lowest wholesale price recorded for scallops in New York this season was $1.00 per gallon, while on comparable dates the prices in eastern markets ranged from 75 cents to 90 cents per gallon. With approaching cold weather, the demand will increase with corresponding enhancement in price. The scallops that command the highest prices are those that are shucked immediately after being caught and given scrupulous care to prevent soaking. They should not be packed in such manner as will permit ice to come in direct contact with them. The United States pure food laws penalize food products that are adulterated with water or any other substance and prohibit their sale.

Scallops for this market should be packed in double-headed kegs containing about 15 gallons. They should be shipped as soon as possible after being shucked and kegs should be conspicuously marked "Keep in a cool place".

This Association will be very glad to supply any inquiries with the names and addresses of reputable New York dealers who specialize in the marketing of scallops.

Yours very truly,

Middle Atlantic Fisheries Association,
J. H. Matthews,
Executive Secretary.

New York City, Oct. 7, 1937.

Maritime Sunday School Convention

Well directed arrangements are being made towards the completion of the programme for the annual Maritime Sunday School Convention to be held in Kentville, N. S., Oct. 19-21. The subject matter of the addresses by the different speakers, points to discussions at the same time vital, comprehensive and practical. Rev. Dr. W. N. Hutchins, of the Baptist Church, Wolfville, will strike the keynote of the Convention in his opening presidential address. "The Making of a Christian". Three evening addresses by Rev. Dr. Frank Langford of Toronto, will be of great interest and value to all Sunday School workers, as he speaks in turn of "The Task of the Modern Sunday School", "The Rewards of the Sunday School Worker", and "Adult Education in the Church". Dr. Langford is the General Secretary of Religious Education for the United Church of Canada and is directing the latter half of October to the work of his department in various centres of the Maritimes.

Rev. Alexander Gibson, Religious Education Secretary of the Baptist Church in the Maritimes, will on Wednesday evening conduct a forum on "Leadership Training", and Rev. Arthur Organ of Centenary United Church, Saint John, N. B., will strike a challenging note in his address, "Wanted! A Message". At the banquet hour, earlier the same evening, Rev. R. C. Chalmers of Halifax, will speak on the somewhat intriguing subject, "Youth Affaire".

The Thursday evening programme will feature dramatization and pageantry, led by a group from the Kentville Baptist Church, who have specialized in this field. Dr. E. A. Betts of New Brandon, N. B., will on Thursday afternoon report for the committee on Adult Education. The daily specialization groups will be led in their discussions by such leaders as Miss Luriei Laurence, Revs. A. Gibson, W. S. Godfrey, J. J. Levey and Dr. Langford. Rev. Judson Levy of Sackville, N. B., will conduct the series of half hour devotions. President G. J. Trueman of Mt. Allison University, is chairman of the General Board of the Maritime Religious Education Council, which holds its business sessions morning and afternoon of Tuesday, prior to the opening of the public Convention that same evening.

GULF STREAM NOT CHANGING COURSE

With the approach of winter in the North American continent, the usual prognostications will be in order as to whether it will be a mild or an old-fashioned winter, depending upon the thickness of the breasting of fowl, the nut-gathering propensities of squirrels, the thickness of the skins of onions, feathered pants on partridge, etc., the more scientific dragging in the Gulf Stream. Last winter, which was unusually mild, gave rise to the theory that the Gulf Stream was changing its course, moving more northerly than was its custom heretofore. Much as we would like to believe that the old Gulf Stream had decided to shift its usual quarters and shed its beneficent warmth on the shivering northern latitudes, thus giving us some scientific basis for hoping that we could cut down on the heating bill and let up on the snow shovelling exercise, it would seem, according to the observations of oceanographers as reported in the latest bulletin of the Atlantic Biological Station of the Biological Board of Canada at St. Andrews, N. B., such benign thoughts are groundless. With the co-operation of the Canadian National Steamships in placing thermographs in the "Lucky" liners of the company plying between Halifax, Bermuda, the British West Indies, and British Guiana, a continuous record of surface water temperature has been made available. These records indicate that the northern edge of the Gulf Stream is, on the average, about 300 miles from the coast south of Halifax, the minimum distance being 240 miles.

KEEN CONTESTS AT CLARE EXHIBITION

The Clare Exhibition opened Oct. 5, with good ventance. Livestock showed marked progress with a fine herd of milk cows and oxen. A limited number of draft horses was exhibited, good working horses from 1300 to 1600 pounds, first prize taken by Leon Gaudet of Concession, with a black gelding of 1600 pounds.

The Women's Institute had a fine display.

On Oct. 6, the pulling contest was keenly contested; Leon Gaudet's black gelding, 1600 pounds, pulled 4200 pounds; St. Anne College bay gelding, 1500, pulled 3400; Edmund Thibault's bay gelding, 1300, pulled 3600; G. Comeau's white gelding, 1399, pulled 3000.

In the oxen competition Willy Boudreau's pair of 3000 pounds, pulled 5000, and J. Doucet's pair of 2800 pulled 4600. The hatchery of Hebron had an interesting aquarium, rainbow trout, salmon and speckled trout.

SCARLET FEVER

Scarlet fever is a disease common to children, and is caused by a virus (living organism) finding its way into the body. It occurs most frequently in the autumn and is usually epidemic in character because it is highly communicable.

As a rule the period of incubation is sharp and acute lasting from three to twenty-four hours. The patient complains of feeling sick all over, with headache, sore throat, vomiting and a burning up feeling due to a temperature which may range from 103 degrees to 105 degrees Fahrenheit. On the second or third day of illness red spots appear first on the neck and chest and then spread rapidly over the body. The chin and an area round the mouth and the scalp usually escape. The skin may be swollen and tender to such an extent that it makes movements of joints painful. The tongue is covered at first with a whitish fur but this disappears on or about the fourth day revealing a bright red tongue dotted with bright red spots popularly called the red strawberry tongue.

During the period that the red spots are coming out the throat remains sore, there is pain in swallowing, the voice is altered, and unremoved tonsils are markedly prominent, generally covered by yellowish membranes.

The temperature remains high from 103 degrees to 105 degrees Fahrenheit until the rash begins to fade, which it does in three to ten days.

Then comes the stage of convalescence. As the rash disappears the skin begins to shed itself (disquamation the scientists call it) beginning on the face, neck and chest and this lasts from one to three weeks, sometimes longer.

As disquamation is probably the period of greatest infection, great care should be exercised then as throughout the disease to protect other persons from contagion.

The patient should be kept in bed for two or three weeks depending upon the severity of the case and isolated for five to six weeks until all danger of infecting others has passed.

It should be emphasized that scarlet fever is one disease that is frequently associated with complications involving other parts and organs of the body. It is most important therefore that proper treatment be commenced at the onset of the disease.

And a word to mothers. If your child complains of feeling unwell and shows symptoms in whole or in part as described in

About This and That

By the time this article appears in print, the big game hunting season will be in full swing. It is our sincere hope that the season will come to a close without tragedy, but, that, we fear is a vain hope. Every hunting season brings its tragedies, most of them through utter carelessness, and it still appears to be a more serious offence to kill a cow moose or a doe deer.

Nevertheless, we wish all the local nimrods the best of success, and almost wish we were cruising the forests with them, and trust that many of them will remember us with the usual moose meat and venison.

Incidentally, we have heard of a number of woodcock being taken this season, but so far, have not had any proof.

We received at our desk this week a copy of the 50th anniversary number of the King's County Record, printed in Sussex, N. B. The number, crammed full of interesting articles which relates much of the history of that section of our sister province, is certainly a credit to the publishers, and to the editor. We extend our congratulations, and wish them many more anniversaries.

It looks very much as though the mushroom season for this year is over. A visit to our favorite haunts on Saturday produced but few of these delicious morsels, scarcely enough for a fry, still, we found them plentiful while they lasted, and pitted those poor chaps who got up before the sun many days this fall in order to be on the golf course ahead of the other fellow. It's just a case of knowing where to go—on one of our excursions, I got one eight inches across; on another trip Dr. Hodgson and I found several from four to six inches across.

We regret the first day of the scallop dragging season was marred by an accident. Scallop dragging, at its best, is a risky business, and since this branch of the fisheries became Digby's principal winter industry, several lives have been lost, and others maimed by loss of limbs. The fisherman's life, regardless of what branch of the occupation they pursue, is not an easy one, and is always a dangerous one.

Bitten by Dog—Little Llewellyn Wentzell, 8 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wentzell, of Rossway, was badly bitten about the face Oct. 14, by a dog, allegedly owned by Charles Robt. Wentzell, of Rossway. Fourteen stitches were required to close the wound. Much sympathy is felt for the little boy, and we wish him a speedy recovery. Accident Mars First Day of Scallop Season

As the result of an accident which occurred the first day of the scallop fishing season which opened last Friday morning, "Jack" Dellivar, a patient in the Digby General Hospital with a badly mutilated hand.

The accident occurred well out in the Bay of Fundy shortly before noon. Dellivar was in the act of attaching the nets to the hook on the end of the hoisting cable, he missed, and the hook caught the back of his glove, piercing his right hand. The unfortunate man was hauled clear of the deck, and over the rail, and dropped into the sea. He was hauled safely on board by members of the crew of the daggier, which was in charge of Gordon MacDonald, and one of the fleet owned by Floyd Snow.

As soon as possible, the boat made its return to town, but some two hours were required to make the trip. Dr. W. R. Dickie was summoned to attend the injured man, who was taken to the Digby General Hospital. Examination revealed no bones were broken, although the hand is badly mutilated; the skin torn all the way back, muscles and ligaments badly torn.

THE TREND OF BUSINESS—CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

(The United States Indices are of the Federal Reserve Board; the Canadian Indices are based upon data from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Each series has been corrected for seasonal variation and placed upon a base 100—monthly averages of the period 1925-1929.)

Employment in Manufactures:
Canada, (1937 figures): Aug. 110.9; July, 110.1; June, 111.0; May, 111.6; Apr., 110.2; Mar., 107.0; Aug., 1936, 97.9.

United States: Aug., 101.7; July, 102.1; June, 100.8; May, 101.6; Apr., 101.1; Mar., 100.2; Aug., 1936, 92.7.

Industrial Production:
Canada: Aug., 117.7; July, 121.1; June, 120.8; May, 116.7; Apr., 119.2; Mar., 113.2; Aug., 1936, 107.1.

United States: Aug., 106.8; July, 104.1; June, 104.1; May, 107.7; Apr., 107.7; Mar., 107.7; Aug., 1936, 99.5.

Revenue Caroladings:
Canada: Aug., 84.0; July, 81.7; June, 79.4; May, 77.4; Apr., 77.5; Mar., 76.8; Aug., 1936, 78.9.

United States: Aug., 75.7; July, 76.6; June, 74.7; May, 76.6; Apr., 80.5; Mar., 79.5; Aug., 1936, 72.8.

Viewed as a whole business, conditions showed no significant change during August either in the United States or in Canada. Movements of the indices were moderate in extent and conflicting in direction, thereby conveying the impression of stability.

In the United States, the indices of Employment in Manufactures and of Revenue Caroladings showed modest declines, while that of Industrial Production rose by some 2 1/2%.

The expansion in production reflects increases in the seasonally corrected sub-indices of textiles, automobile and petroleum products, meat packing and iron ore shipments.

In Canada, Industrial Production declined by about 3% in response to recessions in some of the highly variable export and import series and in the indices of pig iron and automobile production. The indices of Employment and Caroladings, however, were appreciably higher; the former advanced by nearly 1% and the latter by 2 1/2%.

More Women's Hats Are Being Left On Tracks

By leaving their implements on trains, a few gardeners have solved the problem of what to do with old garden tools now that the summer is over, at least that is the impression given to the lost and found department at the Bonaventure Station of the Canadian National Railways in Montreal, Que., who report receiving another set recently.

T. P. Mooney, who has charge of the lost articles bureau at the Canadian National depot, also reports that whereas it was common place to receive gentlemen's hats, the men are becoming more careful of their property.

Ladies' hats, however, are becoming more numerous, and Mr. Mooney suggests the fair sex would do well to bring hat pins back into style, for at one time it was a rare occurrence to have a ladies' hat turned in as lost property.

LOWER GRANVILLE

Fire Destroys Old Landmark

The house, wood shed and barn, farm owned by George R. Nichols, Shelburne Road, Acadiaville, and occupied and operated by himself and son, John R. Nichols, was destroyed by fire Saturday morning. The blaze was discovered by John, as he returned from the barn, some distance from the house, after attending to his barn chores, early Saturday morning.

Flames spread rapidly through the old structure, built nearly a century ago. Practically all furniture was destroyed, as well as all the root crops that had been harvested and stored in the cellar.

A heavy piano was removed from the building, but the heat was so intense, it was impossible to get it beyond the reach of the scorching flames, and it too was destroyed.

Occupying the farm are Mr. and Mrs. George R. Nichols, an elderly couple, Mr. Nichols being practically blind, and another elderly couple, Norman Warren, who has made his home with the Nichols' for years.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Nichols, and their niece, Alma Warren. The farm is located about seven miles from Digby. The Nichols' homestead has always been one of the best known farms on the Shelburne Road to generations of school boys.

There are few Digby youngsters who have gone fishing on the Acadia Valley Brook who have not stopped there for a glass of milk or a meal, and gone away with a "tummyfull" of cherries, or a pocket full of apples.

John, who operated a farm on the Acadia Valley Road, has been looking after the farm for his aged parents for a number of years. It is understood his own farm has been leased for a term of years.

As far as can be learned, the loss to the aged couple, and their son was not covered by insurance. The blaze is thought to have caught from a defective flue. The dwelling was just being re-shingled, and it is thought some of the old shingles torn off, became lodged around the chimney and ignited.

Several of the crew are still aboard the vessel, Dawson Keizer and Louis Romain, of Meteghan, who were aboard the ship returned to their homes last week.

TELLS OF ADVENTUROUS ARCTIC TRIP

Returning from the Hudson Straits where he established a number of trading posts with the Eskimos, Terence Rutler, manager and director of the North Canadian Fur Trading Company, and an official of the Ungava Trading Company, related an interesting story of his voyage to the northern regions in the 53-ton motor vessel Bearcat, in which he and his companions travelled from Meteghan to the Straits.

"We left Meteghan with a heavy cargo," said he, "including much lumber on deck, and everything went smoothly until here we suddenly ran into a rip tide which gave us an anxious time. Our little craft was tossed about like a cork and for awhile we lost all track of where we were going. Roaring gales blew against the tide and we were powerless in our heavily loaded vessel."

"I was frankly scared," said Rutler, "but I think also that the sailors were none to happy about it. Things looked pretty bad for a time and we could see jagged reefs jutting out in the fishing water several feet from our boat. The craft finally succeeded in passing through the storm, and from then on, little ice was seen."

"Several large icebergs had been encountered, however, but luckily, they were at a distance," he stated. The Bearcat, which is 83 feet long, was equipped with a Morse Diesel 120 h. p. engine was left in the Straits in charge of veteran Captain Jean Barthe, who has 29 years experience in that region.

Several of the crew are still aboard the vessel, Dawson Keizer and Louis Romain, of Meteghan, who were aboard the ship returned to their homes last week.

Noiles Hearing Set for Oct. 29

The arrest of Arthur R. Noiles was made by the Bridgetown detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Lawrenceton, Annapolis County, on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Noiles, after eluding Digby police for several weeks, was brought to Digby early Sunday morning, by Chief of Police, Fred Thibault, and lodged in jail here.

Monday morning he was arraigned before Deputy Stipendiary Magistrate, Alfred Boden, and remanded for preliminary hearing on Oct. 29.

Information charging Noiles with bigamy was laid here by Mrs. Charice (Boileau) Noiles a little more than a month ago, when Noiles, who was a relief agent with the Dominion Atlantic Railway, and his bride of a few months were absent on a trip to Ontario. They returned to Digby later, but Noiles succeeded in eluding police up until Saturday.

Shortly after information was laid, Mrs. (Boileau) Noiles inserted the following notice in the Digby Courier:

"To Whom It May Concern:—As London, England, March 30, 1919, a marriage certificate was issued, certifying to the marriage at the Church of St. Mary, Newington, by Rev. C. Coleridge Harper, rector, after publication of banns, of Arthur Rufus Noiles, of the 26th Canadian Battalion, son of Rufus Noiles, to Claire Boileau, spinster, of 8 D'Ente Road, London, daughter of Ferdinand Boileau."

The marriage of Arthur Robert Noiles to Dorothy Ann Cowan, of Digby, took place here the latter part of June of this year. Although the name on the certificate mentioned above is "Arthur Rufus Noiles", there appears to be no doubt that Arthur Rufus Noiles and Arthur Robert Noiles are the same person.

Several of the crew are still aboard the vessel, Dawson Keizer and Louis Romain, of Meteghan, who were aboard the ship returned to their homes last week.

DIGBY SHERIFF ARRESTS SHIP

The voyage to Halifax of the new Canadian training ship, Venture, was made "in custody," and within the next few days the status and standing of the Venture, which sailed proudly up Halifax harbor, goose-winged in the light airs, will probably be decided in the Admiralty Courts.

The Venture, latest addition to the defence forces of Canada, has already attained some fame. At present she is apparently "nobly's child" for she has not been officially taken over by the navy, although she lies at the naval dockyard.

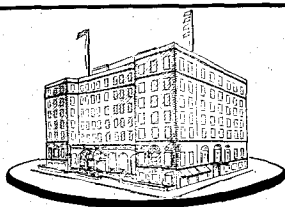

Down in Meteghan, where she was built in the shipyard of John F. Deveau, Sheriff H. R. Bishop, of Digby, arrested her on the claim of Bentley and Flemming, spar makers, who have a claim against the ship for necessities, namely: the spars, which were made in Halifax, carried by truck to Windfall, and floated down to Meteghan.

If the ship is officially taken over by the Navy and is thus the property of the Crown, it is stated, she cannot be attached, and the case which will be heard in the Admiralty Court, will be full of interest. The Venture was launched at Meteghan, after being redesigned. William J. Rous, designer of the famed Bluenose and many other vessels, supplied the new plans.

Rev. Father Robichaud, P. P. of Quinlan, Yarmouth Co., visited Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Post, of Colborne, on Friday of last week. He was accompanied by John Griffin and family, to visit his mother, Mrs. Post and Mr. Post.

Walter Deveau, who has been employed as a carpenter at Deep Brook, returned home last week.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

DO'S AND DON'TS

Give your camera a chance and you'll get good snapshots.

It's really quite surprising the number of amateurs who are taking snapshots without giving any thought as to why their snapshots appear somewhat smudgy or cloudy.

If your snapshots can be classed with the above the chances are the trouble can be attributed to your own neglect and not to faulty construction of the camera.

A dirty lens, for example, will cause smudgy prints. A lens is the eye of your camera. Can you wonder if your pictures are smudged by finger prints?

Cleaning a lens is a very simple operation. All you need is a soft, unscratched linen handkerchief and perhaps a match or pencil. If the lens is quite small, the rear surface of the lens can easily be reached by removing the back of the camera.

If the camera has a double lens, one behind and one in front of the shutter diaphragm, the front combination may be removed by turning to the left, which will allow you to work through the shutter opening when set for "focusing" with the handkerchief over the end of the shutter or lead pencil. If the lens is quite dirty breathe on it and then rub quickly with the handkerchief. Be sure, when replacing the front lens, to screw it back into the shutter as far as it will go.

The suggestion to work through the shutter opening also applies to cleaning the front surface of single lenses fitted to box cameras and certain folding models. Work carefully and don't exert too much pressure.

It isn't necessary and might scratch the surface.

Taking it for granted that you have a clean lens and that your camera is in good mechanical condition let's discuss some "do's" and "don'ts."

With the familiar box type camera it is so easy unknowingly to have your finger extend slightly over the lens—over the lens. The result is obvious. You will have an unattractive black smudge over part of your picture. So keep your fingers away from the front of the lens.

Another error is a double exposure caused by failing to turn the film roll to the next number after snapping a picture. If you fail to turn it you may find, when your prints are returned, that quite miraculously grandma is sitting in her favorite chair out in the middle of a lake.

When using a focusing type camera be sure to set the lens at the correct distance mark. For if you don't the chances are that your pictures will be out of focus and blurred.

Here's another one. Unless you have an extremely fast lens and shutter don't try to take roadside snaps of fast-moving subjects. Moving objects can, however, be caught with an ordinary camera. If taken from an angle of about 45 degrees and not too close up.

Amateur snapshotting is really anything but difficult and it is quite safe to say that the majority of picture failures are the result of carelessness or lack of thought on the part of the snapshotter.

Popular Bank Manager to be Transferred

Many friends in Digby will regret to learn that Clifford L. Bowley, for the past eight years manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia branch at Digby, is soon to be transferred to Brockville, Ontario, where he has been appointed manager of the bank's branch in that city. Mr. and Mrs. Bowley and family expect to leave for their new home early next month.

It was eight years, ago yesterday that Mr. Bowley came to Digby from Canning, where he had been stationed as manager for a number of years. At Digby, Mr. Bowley succeeded C. B. Simmonds as manager of the Digby branch.

He was also previously on the staff of the local branch, coming here in August 1916, and remaining until February 1920, when he was transferred to Saint John as accountant in the Charlotte Street branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in that city. He returned to Digby again for special duty in December 1920, and remained until October 1921.

During their residence in Digby, Mr. and Mrs. Bowley have made a host of friends, and both will be greatly missed from the community, but will have the best wishes of all for success in their new home.

At the annual meeting of the Digby Board of Trade, in January of this year, Mr. Bowley was elected President of that body, resigning that post last week. He was also secretary-treasurer of the Digby Music Council. Mrs. Bowley, during their residence in Digby, served as organist at Holy Trinity Church, and is treasurer of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bowley took an active interest in the affairs of the community, and willingly gave of their time and effort in various civic-welfare and social activities.

Mr. Bowley entered the employ of the bank in his home town, Aylofsford, on June 2nd, 1913. His transfer will be the first outside the Maritime Provinces. He is to be succeeded in Digby by G. B. Clarkson, who will come here from Stellarton.

Miss Bessie Whitman spent the week end with friends in Weymouth.

Mexico's Orchids Weigh

Twenty to Thirty Pounds
Orchids in Mexico usually grow three to six feet, from the ground, on a variety of rough barked trees, such as the palm and mesquite. Their position on the tree varies, the favored place being on the large branches. The roots of the orchid adhere closely to the bark of the tree.

Some of the plants bear from 20 to 50 blooms, each flower about four inches across. The climate of this region is very favorable for orchids, and plants weighing 20 to 30 pounds are not uncommon, according to a writer in the New York Times.

The orchids of Guatemala are among the most beautiful of the entire orchid family. The various specimens found are large and unusually vigorous.

The western slope of Honduras yields a small yellow orchid with white and brown dots. There are several flowers on each stalk. Here also is found a delicate lavender orchid. These lovely plants are said to be in the zone of the eastern slope of Honduras.

The orchids of Salvador usually grow to a larger size, possibly because of the greater humidity.

Orchids are not hard to grow, though one must forget everything he has learned about ordinary gardening, particularly when it comes to the use of water. Orchids live a long time dry but rot quickly when wet.

THEY SAVED THE CAT

Piteous moaning caused several workers at the Transcanadian National Railway shops to turn their eyes toward a freight car which they had just repaired. The howls came from the boiler at the end of the car. Confident that some amateur ventriloquist was pulling a fast one, the shopmen nevertheless looked into the box through a small hole at the end. Sure enough a cat was imprisoned inside. How it got there no one knew as the box had been open for only a short time before its sides had been riveted on. Cussing the cat but working quickly for its salvation at the same time, the men after considerable effort, broke the rivets, tore away the wood and made a hole large enough for it to escape. With her tail proudly arched, she marched Tabby and with her three little kittens down within the boiler. From C.N.R. Magazine.

A GOOD CREED

The Kitchener Record published a sportsman's creed, as issued by an association which aims to preserve wild life and the denizens of the woods:

1. Never in sport endanger human life.
2. Never kill wantonly, or needlessly, or brutally.
3. Obey the laws, work for better laws, and uphold and enforce authorities.
4. Respect the rights of farmers and property owners and their feelings.
5. Always leave seed birds and game in cover.
6. Never be a fish-seed.
7. Discourage the killing of game for commercial purposes by refusing to purchase trophies.
8. Study and record the natural history of game species in the interest of science.
9. Never throw down a lighted match or cigarette. Put out your camp fire.
10. Love nature and its denizens and be a gentleman.

FLOWERS FROM MOUNTAINS
Flowers are being sought in the Himalayas for the Royal gardens of England, rare poppies and lilies having been found at 10,000 feet altitude, and others are being searched for in Bhutan at 13,500 feet.

Fire Does Damage at Racquette

Extensive damage was done to the workshop, ice house and a poultry shed on the property of the Green Point Poultry Farm, at the Racquette, on Tuesday afternoon, by a fire of unknown origin, which started in the upper portion of the workshop.

The blaze was first discovered by Laurie Anderson, at work about his property, some distance away. Mr. Anderson saw smoke rising, but paid little attention to it, thinking the smoke from a bonfire. It was some little time before he realized it was a building on fire. Telephoning an alarm, the Digby Fire Department responded quickly, but the blaze had gained considerable headway.

The workshop, and some $200 worth of carpenter's tools, was practically destroyed; the ice house badly damaged, and the poultry shed damaged to a considerable extent. All buildings were semi-attached.

At the time, Mr. Wilde, of the Green Point Poultry Farm, and his family were away, spending the day at Bear River. Mrs. Annie Jefferson, whose home is directly across a narrow driveway, from the burned buildings, was also absent from her home.

There was some insurance on the burned buildings.

Large Barn Destroyed By Fire at Smith's Cove

A fire discovered about 6.30 last evening, destroyed a large barn on the farm of Harry Smith, at Smith's Cove. The origin of the blaze is unknown. For a time the residence of Mr. Smith was threatened by the thousands of sparks and embers, driven by the wind and heat, which alighted on the roof of the building. However, through the good work of a bucket brigade, formed by willing neighbors, this building was saved.

The barn which was destroyed was used solely for the storage of hay. Mr. Smith kept his livestock in another barn on the property.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Beck with have returned from a vacation spent at Lawrenceton and Halifax.

Loses Car By Fire—While hunting deer early this morning near Rossway, George Ryan, well known grocer of this town, had the misfortune to lose his car (a '37 Chev. Coupe) by fire. A fault in the ignition is thought to be the cause.

Baptist Roll Call—At the annual Roll Call Service of the Digby Baptist Church, held Wednesday evening, a sum of $156 was realized for church purposes. Before the calling of the roll a delightful supper was served by the ladies of the church. Then came the roll call, with a great many responses from members and friends of the congregation. This was followed by a musical programme.

Robert Adam Styles
Among the most distinguished designers during the latter part of the Eighteenth century was Robert Adam, favorite of George III, bachelor king of England. Son of an architect, he and his brother James gained considerable fame as architects under the partnership legend of the "Adelphi." Most of Adam's furniture shows his architectural leanings, the pieces being well balanced and comparatively severe in outline. Some of the loveliest furniture Adam made was of mahogany with delicate carvings and dainty inlays. He originally introduced the "cane back chair," but abandoned it in favor of the wheel back chair.

Remembrance Day November 11

Remembrance Day is here again—the day of all days in the year when the peoples of the civilized world pay tributes of respect to the men and women, who, by their great sacrifice at home and abroad, were able to stem the forces of evil on the battle fields of Europe.

But to remember the dead and pay respects to the living for a brief moment is not enough. What more can we do? We cannot help those who perished in the war; they are beyond human aid. By their sacrifice our safety was assured; so also were preserved Right, Freedom, and Home. We can and should, assist the living in a more tangible manner than respect and reverence. We can remember the dead by caring for the living.

The Poppy, which will be offered for sale in connection with the observance of Remembrance Day, will be a mute and significant reminder of those men and women who fought, bled and died, and of those who, enduring untold hardships and suffering, returned maimed in mind and body to take their places among us. The very colour of this mute token is expressive, reminding us of the blood so freely shed for Freedom, Right and Home. Its beauty reminds us of the type of manhood represented in that horrible conflict — truly the flower of the countryside. Its very bloom is an appeal to all to consider the rights of those who sacrificed and suffered, those who mourned and those who returned, broken in health, yet seeking a chance to earn a livelihood.

No one who served in this time of peril should be in need in the midst of plenty. The Poppy which you will wear will be the same as the Poppy which marks the resting place of Father or Brother, Mother or Sister, in Flanders Fields. The Poppy itself is a story of anguish fashioned by the hands of men, crippled in battle, men who must not be forgotten and who sorely need the assistance which we can give to ease their suffering.

Former Freepoint Pastor Dies

Rev. Edwin Hunt Howe, the oldest Baptist minister in the Maritimes, and last surviving member of his family, passed away on Thursday of last week in Moncton City Hospital, at the age of 88 years. He retired about ten years ago from regular pastorate, but nevertheless, did yeoman service in Home Mission fields in the summer, lastly in his old home at Hillside in Moncton with his niece, Miss Myrtle Thompson.

During a pastorate of more than fifty years, he baptized over a thousand persons and served in several churches, among them in Nova Scotia being: Freepoint, Parrsboro and Kings-ton. A ready speaker with a more than usual evangelistic ability, a genial companion with a keen sense of humour, a splendid raconteur, he was a welcome addition to any gathering. Only three years ago he assisted his son in revival services in Palmer, Mass., and this summer attended Convention at Wolfville.

Some years ago he purchased a property at Greenwood, Kings County, and there he resided several years till after the death of his wife, formerly Miss Charlotte Keith, a highly esteemed and cultured Christian woman. She passed away ten years ago and was buried in the little cemetery at Greenwood, and beside her Mr. Howe was laid at rest on Saturday afternoon.

Services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Cook, assisted by Rev. J. M. Armstrong of Middleton, while the address was given by Rev. E. S. Mason, of Wolfville, Superintendent of the Home Mission Board of the Baptist Church in the Maritimes. He paid a feeling tribute to the deceased clergyman.

The services were quite largely attended and many floral offerings testified to the esteem in which Mr. Howe was held.

His two sons predeceased him, the elder, Rev. Alvah Howe, pastor of the Baptist Church in Palmer, Mass., died some two years ago; the younger, Emory, was buried sixteen years to the day before his father.

H. M. Mullen, of Weymouth, was in town yesterday, en route home from a visit to Montreal.

"But he can do things only with your co-operation. To get his help you must seek it. The better he knows you, the more he can do for you. That is why it is short-sighted and wasteful to wait until an emergency compels you to see him. Regular health examinations are not costly, they are economical. They reveal—to the one man who can help you—the weak spots in your health armour which need strengthening. See your doctor before he has to see you."

Self diagnosis and self medication gambles with health and maybe with life. When our watch needs attention or our car or our furnace we call skilled mechanics to our service. So why tarry with our greatest possession—the human body. Fortunate indeed is the man who has a family physician whom he trusts and to whom he and his family may go regularly to seek advice and counsel on how to maintain that most priceless of all possessions—good health.

COMPLIMENT TO NOVA SCOTIANS

Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Minister of Highways, has received the following letter from the Secretary of the American Association of Railroad Ticket Agents, dated at Chicago, recently, which has reference to the recent tour of Nova Scotia of members of the Association under the auspices of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., the Government of Nova Scotia, the Railway Systems of the Province and various Boards of Trades and Tourist Organizations.

"On behalf of the officers and members of this National Organization I take pleasure in expressing our sincere appreciation for the very wonderful time shown our people in connection with the educational tour recently made of the Province of Nova Scotia. In all my travels from Mexico to Canada never have I found better hospitality than that of the people of Nova Scotia. Each person is an individual salesman. Their enthusiasm in what Nova Scotia offers the traveller hastens a return for a longer visit."

"With the privilege of seeing what we have sold for many years, we are in a better position to sell more travel to your Province and express our appreciation in a more valuable way."

BILLY'S PRAYER

Does God always hear when any one prays? Billy asked his mother one day: "Yes dear. He always listens. To what, one has to say."

That night, Billy, in his nightgown, And ready to tumble in bed; Kneaded down by his mother's knee, And this is what he said:

Dear God, I am awfully lonesome, No one to play with, you see; So if you have a wee baby boy, Could you please spare him to me.

And every night little Billy prayed, But no baby came to the door; Said Billy, I guess God has none, So it's useless to pray any more.

But one day when Billy returned from school, He was astonished and puzzled too; To find there, a nurse, and near her lay Well Billy, a grand surprise awaits you.

She gently lifted the coverlet, And Billy exclaimed, on joy! God has really answered my prayers, Is it—yes Billy, it's a boy.

The nurse then removed the blanket From where the other wee one was laid; Another one, nurse? any more? Gee, I'm glad I stopped praying when I did.

About This and That

Several persons have told me last week's edition of the Courier was a particularly "newsy" number. I thank them for the compliment, but nevertheless, am thankful that the news featured in our paper each week is not of the same type that filled our columns last Friday—fires, serious accidents and police court matters.

Naturally, we have to give such matters good coverage, but, if as many similar stories appeared each week as did last week, many of us might be thinking of moving to safer communities.

It is difficult to estimate just to what extent a news-story, either published in the local press, or in the daily press, reflects the community from which it originates. Our readers are inclined to judge a village or town by the news items they read that come from that town or village. Some items rebound as brickbats, others as bouquets.

However, no honest reporter is going to cover up the "brickbats" on the ground that it will "hurt the community"—news is news, whether brickbat or bouquet.

There are also some reporters who cannot see a news-story unless it involves an accident, a fire, or some person's hard luck, and for that reason stories of that nature are the only kind we are given the opportunity to read. Yet, in all probability, there are enough of the other kind of story to fill a good quantity of space in every edition of the paper he or she writes for.

To my mind one of the best stories which appeared in last Friday's Courier was hidden in the Karsdale notes, and for the benefit of those who may have missed it, I am reprinting it in this column. It reads:

"The Granville Fireside Industries held its ninth annual. Continued on last page

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1937

VOLUME LXIV, NO. 6

Across the Continent by Car

By J. J. Wallis
Waban, Mass., Oct. 28

As I remarked before, our visit to Oliver—although only over a week end—was so interesting that it actually deserves a letter by itself. It is situated in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia, about fifteen miles north of the international boundary, and in the heart of Canada's most fertile fruit development. Here we were the guests of Beverly MacNaughton, a cousin of Mrs. Wallis. "Bev," as he is known, was a former railway man, a native of New Brunswick. As a young man he went to Winnipeg where he lived for about twenty years—but he never liked city life. About sixteen years ago he learned that the federal government was considering an irrigation development in the Okanagan and he went West to spy out the ground. Then the entire region where Oliver now stands, was desert, overgrown with sage brush. He picked out a site and returned to Winnipeg. The next year he took his family out to make his home there. His furniture was dumped on the open plain amid the sage brush and the family lived in a tent until he had built a small shack, the start of what is now a spacious and attractive bungalow. He had taken ten acres of land, and from a nursery he obtained apple, pear, peach and plum trees, and set them out, depending for a living for the first few years on ground crops, raised among the young trees—tomatoes, melons, etc. The third year after being planted the trees yielded enough fruit to pay their original cost and from the fourth year on they commenced to show a profit. The trees are now large and very productive. Of course this would not have been possible without irrigation. A few miles above Oliver the Okanagan River was dammed, right at the foot of an outstanding precipice where there is a sheer drop of a thousand feet, about which an interesting legend is told, that in the middle of the last century when Indians roamed in their wild state, two warring tribes met on top of the precipice. The smaller body, seeing defeat inevitable and not wanting to become prisoners, jumped over the precipice to a man and were killed. The legend is probably true judging from the large number of arrow heads, battle axes and even skulls, which have been found there.

The main irrigation ditch is built of concrete and carries off or raves on or trestles. It is about twelve feet wide and carries about four feet of water, which is led off to the various orchards by smaller ditches in such quantities as desired. I understand a man can have the water turned on for about five hours every two days or for two and a half hours every day during the dry season. For this service he pays $6 per acre per year. This has converted the desert into an orchard and much of the finest fruit in the world is being raised there. At Oliver we revelled in fruit. Six or seven varieties were on the table at every meal and I actually measured peaches that were 10 1/2 inches around, one way and 8 1/2 the other. I don't think the apples can beat our Valley apples for flavor but they are more highly colored. As for productivity, well, Bev's son, who does most of the work on the ranch while his father, who has charge of the irrigation for Oliver, is attending to that, has an acre of peaches of his own, and this year raised eight tons. Unlike the Nova Scotia orchards there are no "lean and fat" years for the apple trees, but they produce uniformly every year. All the fruit raised in the Valley is utilized as the large trusts have not secured control. Most of the marketing is done on the co-operative basis. I had the pleasure of going through one of the largest co-operative freezing and packing plants, and that is an experience by itself. The fruit as it comes from the orchards is cleaned, polished and sorted by machinery. A small army of girls—all experts—take them up as they drop on soft surfaces and wrap them individually in tissue, placing them gently in boxes, specially prepared with pads at top and bottom to prevent bruising. The boxes are carried by an endless belt to a "topping" machine where the covers are put on and wire-bound. Then another endless chain carries them into the cold storage where each fruit ranch has a certain allotment of space. The day I was there they were packing the pick of the fruit in special boxes containing only 18 or 20 apples, for shipment to the International Fruit Show in London. And were they inspected? The fruit had to be perfect in shape and color, and even the stems had to be a certain length. A crooked stem was sufficient to throw an apple out. When the shipment was complete they had about a box left and they gave me about half a dozen. I am trying to get them home so that I can show them to my Digby friends. When, in the grading, they reach the smaller sizes which we know as "Domestics" they put them aside to sell to stock raisers for feed. So far the Okanagan has no way of utilizing by-products; they have no cider or vinegar factories and no evaporators. Of course an individual here and there has a small press for his and his neighbour's use, but none of any size.

I consider our week end in Oliver one of the most interesting of the trip. From Oliver we continued on down through the Valley and re-entered the United States, still running along the Okanagan. This entire valley is between two large ranges of the Rockies, and has snow-capped peaks on both sides. It merges with the Wenatchee Valley in the United States, and these two valleys produce much of the fruit raised in the United States and Canada. There are a large number of towns and cities throughout the territory, all more or less dependent on fruit. We kept going south until we reached Wenatchee—our second visit to that city, once from the east and once from the north. At Wenatchee we were somewhat at a loss what to do. I wanted to go through the Cascade Mountains again to go to the Pacific Coast and down to San Francisco. This would have given me an opportunity to see my old friend Leslie Sabine, in Raymond, Washington, but the other members of my party I think were feeling just a little homesick and urged that we cut out the San Francisco trip and go southeast to Salt Lake City and from there strike across country to New York. Curate Presented With Purse

Following the exercises of the month of the Holy Rosary, at Stella Maris Church, Meteghan, on Thursday evening of last week, Dr. P. E. Bellevue, presented an address to Rev. Father d'Entremont, curate, on his departure for West Chazetook. A purse containing $100 was also presented from the parish by Boy Scouts Gustave Robichaud and Adelbert Lombard. Father d'Entremont expressed his thanks for the address and the purse in well chosen words. He left Friday morning for his new parish, where he will be assistant to Rt. Rev. Mgr. Daly, newly appointed rector at West Chazetook.

New Curate Welcomed—Rev. Father L. Comeau, new curate at Stella Maris Parish, Meteghan, arrived at that place on Friday, and on Saturday morning celebrated High Mass at Sacred Heart Convent, where a reception was given him by the Sisters and students. On Sunday Father Comeau celebrated High Mass at the 10 o'clock service at Stella Maris Church.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

To the Editor of the Courier, Dear Sir:—In the last issue of the Courier, a Mrs. Morehouse, of Centerville, thought it her duty to write an article about my dog.

When a person living at that distance from my dog goes to the trouble of writing the Courier for publication of an article such as was submitted, it can be for no other reason than spite. Now, since the dog has reached such prominence from the press, I will give a few facts for the benefit of the public who do not know under what circumstances the boy was bitten. My dog is nine years old, I have always kept him chained on my own property, except when he accompanies me.

The distance from my house to the nearest approach the dog could make to me was going to the rear of the house was eighteen feet; now it is twenty-three feet.

More than two years ago the boy was told to always come to the front door when he had business here (he usually did) then he would avoid all contact whatever, with the dog. But on this occasion he came in the driveway to the house, and then started to run out again. He had to go by the dog as the dog could not come to him.

As soon as the accident occurred I telephoned immediately to Dr. Harris and explained the case and asked him to come at once. He responded promptly, being here in twenty minutes. After he had attended the boy, the doctor and I took him home in his car. And on every occasion I have inquired of the doctor how the boy was, he has replied "that he was doing well."

But from now on, I warn any person or persons who bother my dog, go to their own risk. My dog is a watch dog, he attends to his own business—this is more than I can say for some people.

Popular Girl Showered—A shower in the honor of Miss Marguerite Geddy, of Meteghan Station, was given last Friday evening by her aunt, Mrs. Roy Allen, at Yarmouth. The bride-elect was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Following a delightful evening, refreshments were served. The marriage of Miss Geddy to Edward E. Saulnier, of Meteghan, took place on Wednesday.

reluctantly—because I would have liked to see Leslie—I agreed and we left Wenatchee for Yakima, which we thought we could make that night—and we did. But of that trip between Wenatchee and Yakima I have got to give a whole letter, as it was one of the most interesting days of our travels.

Obituary

Miss Nellie Sarty, whose passing occurred in Bridgetown, on Oct. 17, was keenly felt at Parker's Cove, that being her home place. The remains were taken to Parker's Cove and interred beside her parents. Much sympathy is felt for the two brothers, Joseph and Leamon, who are left to mourn their loss of their only sister. Rev. Mr. Cole conducted the service in the United Church and at the grave.

Israel Outhouse

There passed away at Tiverton, on Wednesday of last week, Israel Outhouse, at the age of 76 years. He had been ill for many months, suffering much at times.

He was a member of the Baptist Church. Left to mourn are: his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Louie Delaney, of Central Grove; Mrs. Hubert Ossinger, Tiverton; two sons, George and Earle, of Tiverton.

Funeral took place Friday at 2 p. m., at the Baptist Church, Rev. J. W. Derby officiating.

George Austin Elliott

The death of George Austin, son of the late Norman Elliott and Mrs. Elliott, occurred at the home of his grandparents, in Doucetteville, on Oct. 15, at the early age of 2 years and 3 months, of spinal meningitis. He leaves to mourn his loss, his mother and an infant sister.

The Sewing Club of the Tiverton school gave an exhibition of its work in the I. O. O. F. Hall, Tuesday evening, Oct. 19. Miss Armstrong and Miss O'Brien were present to judge the work, all of which was of a high quality. Much credit is due Miss Ena Outhouse, who has proved to be a very efficient sewing teacher.

1st prize was awarded to Helena Small; 2nd prize to Ellen Outhouse; 3rd prize to Joyce Small, who also received 2nd prize for an exhibit at the Bear River Exhibition. After Miss Armstrong had made the presentations, pies were sold for the benefit of the club, and games were enjoyed.

Is everyone aware that the Victorian Order Nurse examines every child in the school each month, and any suspect of tuberculosis is immediately sent to a physician for diagnosis. If found to be suffering from this dread disease the child is excluded from the school and other children are thus protected. If assistance is needed to send a patient to the Sanatorium help is given by the Tuberculosis Association from funds provided by the sale of Christmas Seals. It is your privilege to assist in this important work by purchasing as many seals as possible when they are sent to you the latter part of November.

Municipal Elections In Clare

Former councillors in the Municipality of Clare were nearly all returned by acclamation, with the exception of Warden Leo LeBlanc, who was elected with a majority of 34 over his opponents, Simeon Comeau and Antoine Comeau, of Concession. John F. Deveau of Meteghan had 66 majority on Desires M. Comeau. Deputy Warden, Charles Deveau, resigned in favor of Norman Mallett of Salmon River.

Move to Yarmouth—Mrs. Josie Patton and Miss Lillian Bohaker, of Granville Ferry, left for Yarmouth on Sunday, where they will make their new home. A number of the ladies of the Anglican Church Guild met at the home of Mrs. Arthur East on one evening recently in honor of Miss Bohaker, and presented her with a nice boudoir lamp. On Friday evening Mrs. Patton was guest of honor at the home of Capt. and Mrs. C. W. Croscup, when the members of the Baptist choir and Ladies' Aid met to spend a social evening and to present Mrs. Patton with a parting gift. Both ladies will be much missed in the community.

WITH THE REBEKAHS

Mrs. Bessie Lohnes, Vice-President of the Rebekah Assembly of the Maritime Provinces, paid an official visit to Zelma Rebekah Lodge on Wednesday, Oct. 20th. While here she was the guest of Mrs. G. H. Peters, at whose home an afternoon tea was held, before which a pleasant drive was enjoyed through the courtesy of Miss Margaret Syda.

At the evening meeting four candidates were initiated into the Rebekah Degree. A most interesting address was given by the visiting Vice-President, followed by the presentation of a gift from the lodge. The evening closed with refreshments and a social hour.

The annual Roll Call of Zelma Rebekah Lodge was held on Monday evening. About sixty members attended and a delectable supper was enjoyed by all followed by the regular meeting of the lodge.

BAD BREATH

A bad breath is altogether undesirable and, for that reason, consideration should be given by everyone to the causes of the condition in order to avoid its occurrence.

The fermentation of food particles in the mouth will almost certainly cause a bad breath. This commonly occurs when food is held in a decaying tooth cavity. Proper care of the teeth, by brushing them regularly after meals and—most important time of all—at bedtime, in order to get rid of food particles, and by the securing of regular dental care will prevent bad breath from a source that is now common.

When there is actual disease of the mouth, such as pyorrhoea, or of the adjoining parts, bad breath may result either from the condition itself or from the fermentation of food particles which the condition favours. A healthy throat and a mouth kept clean by regular use of the tooth-brush are the first considerations in preserving an inoffensive breath.

In addition to the local conditions, which act as a cause of bad breath, there are general conditions which bring it about. We think, first, of the digestive tract because in our minds a bad taste in the mouth is frequently associated with digestive upsets. Bad breath does occur quite often among those who overeat, or whose elimination is faulty. The bad breath, in such cases, is really a symptom of an abnormal condition of the digestive tract and is regarded as such by the individual's physician.

Under such conditions, the remedy lies in altering the mode of living. A proper diet, avoidance of over-eating or of over-indulgence in one or more articles of diet, regular elimination, increased intake of water, and exercise are the points which should first be dealt with.

The correction of any unpleasant odour should always be thought of along the lines of the removal of the cause. It is much preferable to overcome body odours by regular bathing than by attempting to overpower them by using perfumes. In some way, the logical manner of dealing with bad breath is to remove its cause.

A treatment of symptoms is necessary, but their cure and the prevention of their recurrence depend upon the treatment of the cause, the root of the condition. It never pays to temporize; it is always satisfactory to get to grips with the cause.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Sale of Beautiful Fur Coats In Digby

On Nov. 1st, and 2nd, inclusive, at Carty & Davis, the ladies of Digby will have the pleasure of inspecting the gorgeous showing of fur coats being staged by the Charles Brown Furriers Limited, a firm well known for the reliability of its furs as well as for the long experience and expertness of its principals.

This year more than any other, the firm of Charles Brown Furriers Limited promise very unusual and exclusively smart styles as well as keen savings on the purchase of the coats. Mr. Austen Gough, a young man well versed in the furriers craft, will be in personal charge of the showing and sale in Digby.

During the sale and showing in Digby, the ladies will have the opportunity to view fur coat models such as will be the vogue in the larger cities of the United States and Canada during the 1938 season. The Charles Brown Furriers Limited are in the position to bring the furs of such undisputed quality and smartness right to the very door of the Digby customers and extend a cordial invitation to call and see the beautiful fur garments which are now all the vogue in the larger cities.

"Uncle Elmer's Song Circle" returned to the air over WEEI Boston, beginning on Sunday morning, Oct. 24th, 8.30 to 9 o'clock. It has been a regular Sunday morning radio feature for the past five years—formerly heard over W H D H.

The "Song Circle" is comprised of fifteen young singers of different denominations, who work at their regular tasks every day, but give up their Sundays in an effort to radiate good cheer to those who are numbered among the sick and shut-ins and listeners seeking spiritual comfort.

In addition to visiting hospitals and homes for the aged, with their "Song Circle" programme of favorite hymns, they have appeared in some 300 churches throughout New England and Nova Scotia.

GASOLINE CONSUMPTION HIGHER
More evidence of the importance the oil industry has assumed in the transportation industry of the nation, is seen in the periodic reports of the Dominion bureau of statistics. Gasoline consumption in Canada during February was 7,000,000 imperial gallons or 28.9 per cent higher, and in January 6,100,000 gallons, or 21.9 per cent higher than during corresponding months of last year. Some of the provinces this year showed increases in consumption several times over the consumption last year. Prince Edward Island increased nearly 150 per cent in February and in January nearly 400 per cent over corresponding months of last year. New Brunswick increased 92 per cent in February and 112.6 per cent in January. Ontario, the largest gasoline consuming province, increased 26 per cent in February and 23.5 per cent in January.

TRAVEL MADE HIM CONSTIPATED
Saesman Says Kruschen Keeps Him "On His Toes"

"I am a commercial traveller," writes a correspondent, "and due to endless travelling by train and automobile I find that I become constipated if I do not keep myself internally clean. Kruschen Salts is the only thing that will do this effectively and not interfere with my work. I take a large dose of Kruschen every Saturday night and on Sunday, when I have no work to do, I take a small dose on rising. It is necessary that I be 'on my toes' all through the day, and this is the only way that it possibly can be done."—V. L.

Kruschen Salts is an excellent recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your inside is thus kept clean of those impurities which, when allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system.

BASEMENTS IMPROVED UNDER PLAN
It used to be that when you went into the basement you knew pretty much what you would find. There would be a furnace, the coal-bin, storeroom and probably dusty piles of broken furniture. But today you never know. When you reach what should be the basement you might find an Italian street scene, the deck of an ocean liner or an African jungle. Many home-owners have discovered that this space can be converted into pleasant rooms. Modernization funds for this purpose may now be obtained from any Canadian bank under the generous terms of the Dominion Government's Home Improvement Plan.

The basement of one home in which there were several children, was converted into a playroom for rainy days. There was a sand-pile, a slide, see-saw, a table for ping-pong and other games. Gay pictures decorated the white walls.

Mr. and Mrs. Robie Tibert, of Freeport, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin O. Tibert, Central Grove.

THE REASON HEADACHES ARE RELIEVED SO FAST
"ASPIRIN" WORKS SO FAST
Drop an "Aspirin" tablet into a tumbler of water. By 15 minutes it hits the bottom of the glass and is dissolving. This speed of dissolution enables "Aspirin" tablets to start "taking hold" of headaches and similar pain a few minutes after taking.

All people who suffer occasionally from headaches ought to know this way to quick relief.

At the first sign of such pain, take two "Aspirin" tablets with a half glass of water. Sometimes if the pain is more severe, another dose is necessary later, according to directions.

If headaches keep coming back we advise you to see your own physician. He will look for the cause in order to correct it.

"Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada by the Bayer Company, Limited.

ARMISTICE DAY ACTIVITIES

A united Armistice Day Service will be held in the Oddfellow's Hall, Bear River, on Armistice morning at 10:30 o'clock. Heretofore this service has been held on the Sunday nearest to Nov. 11th, but this year it was decided to hold it on Armistice morning.

All ex-service men are requested to parade at Legion Hall at 10:15 a. m. Dress, civilian clothes, with decorations to be worn. Please attend.

Following the service the War Memorial in Bear River will be decorated after which ex-service men and others so wishing will proceed to Clements-ville for placing a wreath in the cemetery there.

The Armistice Day dinner for ex-service men will be held in Oddfellow's Hall, Bear River, at 6:30 p. m., this to be followed by a "smoker social" in Legion Hall. Regardless of membership to Legion all ex-service men of Bear River and surrounding villages are cordially invited to attend.

The next Legion meeting of Bear River Branch will be held at Legion Hall, Bear River, at 8 p. m., Friday Nov. 5. Please come along (membership does not matter) and advise us regarding your attending the Armistice Day activities.

Let's Rally—make it a "Gathering of the Clans."

Legion Committee for Armistice Day

SPECIAL SERVICES AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

On Thursday evening of last week, a special service of Thanksgiving was held in St. John's Church, which was very effectively decorated with autumn foliage, fruits and vegetables, and on Sunday afternoon a Children's Service was held in the decorated church. There were over thirty Sunday School children in attendance, some of whom occupied the choir stalls and Miss Barbara Rice was organist.

A special form of service was used to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the consecration of Bishop Inglis, first Bishop of Nova Scotia and of the Church of England in Canada. This had special significance for St. John's Church is a part, as the one of the early churches consecrated by Bishop Inglis.

A large white banner was prominent on the chancel steps, and during the singing of the second hymn, the children placed gifts in it to be forwarded to the drought stricken west.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Next Monday being the first Monday in November, the Women's Institute will meet in the Masonic Building, and it is necessary that every member should attend, if possible; as there are several matters of importance that must be arranged for.

This is the first meeting of the new Institute year with the new officers and convenors in office and a large attendance, wholehearted support and much enthusiasm is expected. Visitors are always welcome at the meetings and new members are doubly welcome.

SECRETARY'S REPORT OF SMITH'S COVE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Our 17th annual meeting finds us in better standing, particularly financially, than for some time. The past three and a half years Miss Louise McHugh has served faithfully as Librarian, and with her removal to Saint John last December, we were glad to have the help of Miss Florence Berry during last winter. Miss Isabel Cossitt, and Miss Kay Weir assisted occasionally, as did Miss Madeleine Dexter for a few weeks in the spring. During a few weeks in mid-summer Mrs. Sybil MacPherson very kindly took over the work, and in July Miss Doris Dexter of Milton, who is carrying it at present.

A play, "Listen Ladies", was put on by members of the executive committee, assisted by interested friends. This play, with the proceeds from three teas, held, one in July, Miss Cummings, one in August, Miss Jaggard, and one on Oct. 14, Mrs. George Weir, at Mrs. Payson's, made it possible to pay our rent all but $5.00. We hope to close the year with our debts paid.

Upon receiving a request from the Plympton Library, we exchanged 24 books with them. The 24 were sent over duplicates of ours on our shelves.

Several books were donated by different friends, among them: Miss Simpson and Mrs. MacPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Little gave several copies of the New Geographic, and a collection of other magazines. They also gave us the year's subscription (four copies, as they are sent quarterly), last year to "Echoes", the I. O. D. E. Magazine, one copy of which contained Mr. Little's article on Canadian Homespun. A copy of "The Canoe Race at Gaspe" illustrated, was also sent us by Mr. Little.

The Canadian Year Book was sent us by the Federal Government, as well as several volumes of the latest Census; and the Northern Electric Company sent a book, "These Be Your Kings", a valuable reference book, which we appreciate.

Miss Bessie Sulis has given over to each month copies of MacLean's Magazine, Ladies' Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post.

Dr. D. L. Turner offered to renew our subscription to the Cosmopolitan for another year; but the committee voted to request him, if willing, to change to another magazine, such as "Mechanics and Handicraft", which he consented to do. This will be pleasing to our young people, who often ask for such a magazine.

In one of the National Geographic Magazines, donated by Mr. Little, is an article by Dr. Alexander Leighton, "The Porpoise Hunt", scenes of which are from our Bay of Fundy and our own vicinity. One picture shows Mrs. Rosie Paul busy making breakfast. We are all interested in Dr. Leighton's work along these lines as we recall his kindness in giving "movie shows" for the benefit of our little library.

Two special meetings were held beside our regular quarterly meetings. Our head Librarian, Miss Jaggard, has been more than faithful in time and work. Our new record books were practically made by her. She has kept the books repaired, and managed our funds so new labels could be bought for books that had none. When our library was available, she has come here on a short distance in the warm summer days, from her home at Jaggard Point—and taken over the care of the library on Friday afternoons.

Through determined efforts, Miss Cummings, too, has kept up an interest, and solicited some small donations to swell our funds, in order that we might finish our year with all debts paid.

On Oct. 2nd, we had a special meeting, called very hurriedly, to meet Miss Bateson, of the American Library Association, who is being employed by the Nova Scotia Government to make a survey of the Library situation in this province. The Department of Education asked that everything be done to make her visit successful. She was accompanied by M. C. Foster, Inspector of Schools for Annapolis-Kings, and met here by Mr. Kirk, Inspector for Digby-Yarmouth District. She told us that Regional Libraries have

When a cold strikes . . . don't take needless risks

Treat Colds This PROVED Way

Why experiment? Vicks VapoRub has been doubly proved for you . . . proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medicine of its kind; further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds (see full details in each VapoRub package). Only Vicks give you such proof.

VapoRub is the direct, external treatment. No "dosing"—no risk of stomach upset. Simply massage it on the throat, chest, and back (as illustrated). Relief starts almost at once, you begin to feel warm and comfortable.

Repeat treatment at bedtime. After restful sleep comes VapoRub keeps right on working, hour after hour.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break local congestion.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable, draggish, low in vitality—lower in spirit. She hadn't thought of her kidneys until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear-headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared.

been established in Prince Edward Island; and now Cape Breton is working for one to be established here. If it shall be our good fortune in this end on Nova Scotia to have one, remains to be seen.

Meantime we are hoping to carry on our own, and to have the support of our entire community.

Respectfully submitted,
S. B. Longworth,
Secretary.

Former Digby County Man Drowned

News of the death by drowning, of George Deveau, has been received by his sister, Mrs. Peter LeBlanc, of Salmon River, Digby County.

He was the son of the late Archange M. Deveau and Caroline Martin Deveau, and was born at Salmon River, about 64 years ago.

At the age of 16, in company with Alfred Deveau, also of Salmon River, he shipped aboard the barque Neophyte of Yarmouth, and made the trip to India.

On his return he settled near New York, where he has lived ever since. His last visit to his native place was about 40 years ago. He was unmarried.

Surviving him are: one brother, Henry Deveau, of Jersey City; and four sisters, Mrs. Peter LeBlanc, of Salmon River; Mrs. Frank Richard, of Mystic Conn.; Mrs. Arcade J. Deveau, of Mavilleto and Mrs. Leonard Maillet, of New London, Conn.

The body was recovered a few hours after the accident.

BAND NOTES

Ending its two weeks vacation, the Civic Band, with several changes in the "line-up", will resume regular practice next Monday, and the new Junior Band meet to organize Friday night, Nov. 5.

The Civic Band will escort the Veterans to church service on Sunday the 7th, and will take an important part in the exercises on Armistice Day. A series of winter concerts beginning in December, at the Scout Hall, is under consideration.

The departure of Mr. Bowly will be keenly felt by the bandmen. As a Director of the Music Council and as a warm friend of the Band, his sound judgment and progressive ideas have had much to do with the success of the Band. His duties as Secretary-Treasurer will be taken over for the present by the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, Ted Dakin.

Some Carrots—John A. H. Nichols presented the editor with a large, perfectly formed, carrot, grown on his farm at Acaciaville. The root weighed two pounds and six ounces. Mr. Nichols says he grew other big ones on his farm this year, one weighing four pounds, and another slightly over three. However, they were not perfect in shape.

POPPY DAY

Last year, Canada remembered her war dead in so inspiring a fashion at Vimy—the Memorial itself, the Pilgrimage of Veterans, mothers and wives, the participation of the King, the President of the French Republic, the Prime Minister—that every Canadian must feel proud in a duty so wholly and beautifully done.

Some expression of that feeling is very likely to be made by Canadians when, with the appeal of the Poppy Campaign, the opportunity is given to render some measure of gratitude to those who, it might be said, fell in the war but did not die. For that, in effect, is what happened to many thousands of Canadian young men. Wounded, damaged in body and spirit, these multitudes of our fellow men have suffered the agonies of pain and handicap of distress, frustration, and disappointment in the daily race of life, regardless of all the help which governments and municipalities can devise for them.

On the base of the beautiful Memorial on Vimy Ridge, there are carved in the solid stone, the names of over seven thousand Canadian soldiers whose bodies have never been found, whose names do not appear on a headstone in any of the numerous Canadian cemeteries scattered over France and Flanders. Thus, no man is forgotten. The Canadian Legion, insofar as the funds it can raise permit, has attempted to see that no man of those living be forgotten. Food, fuel, clothing, the simple comforts of a home, are the routine provisions of the Poppy Fund. It also meets certain kinds of emergencies, medical and domestic. It tries to be, on behalf of the countless contributors on Poppy Day, the good Samaritan to the needy and distressed veterans.

The Canadian Legion which conducts the Campaign in Canada, is only one unit of the British Empire Service League which, in its associations throughout the whole of the British Empire, is offering provisions to fellow Britishers in every corner of the globe. The British peoples have their various national holidays, and red letter days, but in the contribution you make on Poppy Day, you are sharing in a duty universally British.

Wedding

Elliot—Haines
A quiet wedding took place at the Baptist parsonage, at Digby, on Oct. 21, at 2:00 p. m., when Rev. A. G. Robertson officiated in marriage. Miss Mildred Ellen Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Elliott, of Yarmouth, and Earle Linton Haines, son of the late Edward Haines, of Mrs. Haines, Freeport. The bride wore a brown tulle suit with accessories to match. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Haines left for a short wedding trip through the province. On their return they will reside at Freeport.

Morgan—Tibert
A wedding of interest to many took place on Saturday, Oct. 9, at Milton, Mass., when Mildred Emilie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tibert, of Central Grove, N. S., became the bride of Lloyd L. Morgan, of Milton, Mass.

Personal Mention

DIGBY BIDS FAREWELL TO POPULAR FAMILY

The Digby Board of Trade bid farewell to Clifford L. Bowly for the past eight years, manager of the local branch of the Digby branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, at a farewell banquet given in his honor at the Bay of Fundy House, Culloden, on Wednesday evening, Mr. Bowly, with his wife and family, leave next week for Brockville, Ont., where he will manage the bank's branch in that city.

One of the principal features of the evening was the presentation of a beautiful silver casket, given to the members of the Digby Board of Trade. The presentation was made by Capt. G. M. Morrell, who succeeded Mr. Bowly as president of that body, which office he held since the annual meeting last January, and from which he resigned a few weeks ago.

In accepting the gift, Mr. Bowly was plainly moved, and expressed his thanks to the members and to the people of Digby as a whole for the many kindnesses that had been shown him and his family during their residence here. He said he regarded Digby as "home", not only had he been manager of the bank here for eight years, but, on two previous occasions, had been one of the bank's staff in Digby, first coming to the town twenty-one years ago. In all, he has spent thirteen years in Digby.

Before the presentation, offered dinner speeches in which sincere regret of Mr. Bowly's departure, and every good wish for the future, were expressed, were made by Mayor M. C. Denton, T. E. G. Lynch, Town Clerk Alfred Boden, Postmaster J. W. Merkel, H. A. Nichols, A. C. Hutchinson, manager of the Digby branch of the Royal Bank of Canada; Dr. W. C. Harris, A. R. Turnbull, Geo. Wightman, E. C. Sollows, Fritz Dakin, Frank L. Anderson and H. Gordon, the latter speaking in behalf of the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Digby.

Harry L. Y. Beaman presided at the piano during the evening. The banquet was brought to a close by the company joining hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Mr. and Mrs. Bowly will be greatly missed in this community; they have taken an active part in most of its activities, and have been a great asset to the town. The best wishes of Digby people will follow them wherever they go.

G. C. Clarkson, who succeeds Mr. Bowly, as manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, here, arrived from Stellarton this week.

On Tuesday evening Miss Phyllis Bowly was guest at a farewell party given by her friends in the Community Hall, Tuesday evening, and was presented with a week end travelling bag as a parting gift.

On Wednesday evening the choir of Trinity Church met at the rectory in a surprise and farewell party for Mrs. C. L. Bowly, who for the past three years has been the organist of the church. She was presented with a beautiful Rogers silver platter of the "well and tree" pattern, the presentation being made by Mrs. J. W. Merkel, who also read an appropriate "parting address" in the form of rhyme. The Misses Phyllis and Patricia, also members of the choir, were presented with gift boxes of candy. (Berwick Register please copy.)

G. B. Clarkson, who has been manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Stellarton for the past eight years, and who left this week for Digby, where he has been transferred with Mrs. Clarkson, was honored recently when more than 300 citizens joined in a farewell party in their honor, at the I. O. O. F. Hall, Stellarton. Mayor G. R. Saunders read an address expressive of the esteem and affection with which they are remembered, and T. J. Reid presented a very fine coffee table, and a vase and Audrey, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanBuskirk, presented a beautiful chest of flat silver and a bouquet of yellow and pink roses to Mrs. Clarkson. Present at the enjoyable function also were G. M. Schurman, who succeeds Mr. Clarkson, and Mrs. Schurman, who were introduced by Mayor Saunders to the gathering.

The Misses Marjory, Helen and Hazel Clarkson were also guests of honor at farewell party.

Mrs. Lydia Haynes, of Digby, visiting her mother, Mrs. Rachel Haynes, at Victoria Beach.

Mrs. Harry Hershey has returned from a visit with friends at Pubnico.

Miss Louise Daley and A. D. Daley spent the week end in Amherst.

Mrs. Eber Turnbull, of Montreal, is spending several days in town, at the Elms.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Warner returned home from New York and Boston on Friday last.

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Dickie and A. J. Dillon were visitors to Halifax during the week.

Miss D. L. Oliver, who has been visiting at her home here, has returned to Hartford, Conn.

Mrs. Eva Baxter spent the week end in Saint John with her daughter, Mary Baxter.

Mrs. Oakley Turnbull and little son are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burpee Frost.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ryan and daughter Dixie, accompanied by Ralph Baxter, were visitors to Halifax last week.

P. R. Saunders, O. D. Sight Specialist, eyes tested, glasses fitted, at Digby, Nov. 1 to 6, both dates inclusive. Office in Shreve Block over Dillon's Shoe Store.

Mrs. Stanley Ball, of Caladonia, Queens Co., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Vernon L. Bent.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Barnes of Digby, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Kelly.

E. J. Warner motored to Halifax on Tuesday to attend the Hudson Motor Show, at the Lord Nelson Hotel.

The Digby Civic Band must get new players. Will you help us? If you can't join yourself, please send in the name of a likely candidate.

TELL OF INTERESTING TRIP

Mrs. Edward MacKay, Mrs. Hugh Morehouse, Mrs. Conrad Gidney and Clifton Banks enjoyed a motor trip through Nova Scotia recently.

Leaving Sandy Cove shortly after 9 o'clock on Friday morning, we stopped in Digby to shop a while, from there we took the road to Annapolis Royal, thence out by Milford and so on through to Liverpool and reached Italy Cross by lunch time. The scenery from Annapolis through was wonderful, the deep, deep blue of the sky and the vivid colors of the autumn foliage made a picture long to be remembered. After lunch we "took to the road again", continuing on route number 3 to Halifax, where we "explored" the city from end to end, then drove on to Dartmouth and from there took route number seven to Musquodoboit Harbour, reaching there shortly after 7 o'clock. The night was spent here at "Hedge Inn", a delightful place to stop.

After breakfast next morning we drove on, keeping to route number seven—and that is a road full of surprises, sharp turns, etc., and wonderful scenery! At Liscomb it leaves the coast and goes through beautiful wooded country. We reached Still Water at lunch time—after lunch we drove on to Antigonish, where we reached at about 2 o'clock. We had the car serviced here and then drove on, taking route number four to New Glasgow, which we thought seemed busier and more "civilized" than Halifax. From here we went on to Trenton, where we took route number six to Pictou and up along the coast where we could look across and see Prince Edward Island in the distance. We followed this route to Pictou in Cumberland County, where we took route number four through the beautiful Wentworth Valley and so on into Truro, where we spent that night.

Leaving Truro before 9 o'clock Sunday morning, we took route number two as far as Stewiacke, from there across the county to Elderbank. It was on this road that we saw the one and only deer it was our privilege to see during the entire trip. From here we went on to Musquodoboit Harbour and Dartmouth, taking this time the Waverley Road by the beautiful Dartmouth lakes and had lunch at Bedford. From there we took route number one to Windsor, drove through the grounds of "Clifton", the home of Sam Slick. The recent storm had played havoc with a number of the large trees, but there are still many fine ones left.

From Windsor we took route number one to Grand Pré, where we stopped to visit the Memorial Chapel, etc., and then followed along this route to Bridgetown, drove to Clarence to say "hello" to some friends there, back to Bridgetown and down to Belle Isle for the same purpose, from there back to Bridgetown and down to Round Hill, which being the former home of one of our party, we decided to stay overnight.

Leaving Round Hill late next morning we stopped at Annapolis Royal a while and then drove on to Digby, where we had Thanksgiving dinner, and then on home, all agreeing that "see Nova Scotia first" is a fine idea. There are so many beautiful and interesting things to see!

On this trip we had visited every county but Yarmouth and Shelburne—these we had visited on a former trip—and found excellent roads all the way. Now we would like to travel Cape Breton Island via the Cabot trail. Will any reader of the Courier, who has made this trip, let us know about it—I am sure many Courier readers will be interested.

OFFERS $1,000 IN GOLD TO SHIP UNITED CHURCH CATTLE

Trusted friend of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, Rev. Frank Dickinson, a United Church missionary and Professor of Agriculture in the West China Union University, who is in Canada on furlough, has been thrilling Presbyteries, laymen's conferences, young people's societies, and Sunday Schools, with his exciting story of how he increased milk production in China, introduced the first lemons and grapefruits into Szechwan, improved agriculture and poultry developments, and established friendly relations between Chinese people and the work of the missionaries. The West China Union University is supported by five denominations.

Professor Dickinson is touring Canada for the purpose of interesting agriculturists and churches in his work in West China. He came to Canada with the avowed purpose of securing heifers, bulls, poultry and seed to take back with him to China. Young people's societies of the United Church in the Maritimes have promised Professor Dickinson that by the end of October they will raise $1,500 toward equipping the model dairy barns in Szechwan. This gift is over and above the young young people's societies regular grants to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the United Church.

Word has recently been received by Professor Dickinson from Madame Chiang Kai-Shek that she will pay $1,000 in gold toward the cost of transportation of any cattle and poultry Dr. Dickinson secures in Canada to send to China.

"Unless the church can bring salvation to the hearts and lives of the Chinese people, the Anglo-saxon world will have a miserable time in the future," Professor Dickinson said in a recent interview. He pointed out that 85 per cent of the population in Szechwan Province, which has 55 millions of people, are agriculturists or related to agriculturists. "Canadian farmers have giant farms compared to the microscopic farms of the Chinese," Professor Dickinson pointed out.

As a result of Professor Dickinson's improving Chinese cattle stock, Chinese cows which previously yielded 14 teacups full of milk a day now yielded 40 to 60 cups a day. Professor Dickinson introduced the first pure-bred holstein bull in West China in 1924.

Not only has Professor Dickinson established friendly relationship between the Chinese authorities and the work of the church in China, but his department has been instrumental in teaching many Chinese ministers in scientific agricultural methods.

NEW TUSKET

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hudson have gone to Somerville, Mass., for the winter.

Mrs. Ellsworth Greene has returned to Dorchester, Mass., after spending six weeks with relatives and friends here.

Elwyn Hudson, of Somerville, Mass., spent two weeks recently at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hudson. It was his first visit home in fourteen years.

versary meeting at the home of Mrs. Hattie Morrison, on Saturday afternoon. An interesting history of the institute was read by Mrs. MacPherson and the financial statement showed that as a body of women, they were over $10,000 richer than when they organized on November 17, 1923—an average of over $1,000 paid in for work each year.

I would say the Granville Fireside Industries was an organization to be proud of. That brief paragraph tells something of how much the women of that community have benefited, and it certainly speaks well for them, and for their village. We would like to have a few more items about the Granville Fireside Industries, and of other similar organizations in Digby and Annapolis Counties.

Well, Christmas is "just around the corner". To many the mention of Christmas at this time seems perhaps a bit premature. Still, I notice the mail order houses have already distributed their Christmas advertising, and that, I believe, should be a suggestion to our local merchants. They urge their customers to "do their Christmas shopping early". We are going to start right now in urging our advertisers to "do their Christmas advertising early", and suggest they start as soon as possible before prospective buyers select too many of their Christmas gifts from the catalogues that are already in their hands.

A little more light in the vicinity of the D. A. R. station, especially on Sunday nights, would not be a miss. Several years ago the station was built across one of our principal streets, and those who have to use that street at night time do not find walking across the tracks in the darkness any too pleasant. A narrow board walk (usually freight cars are left practically hanging over the tracks) has been provided—but it is a dark and spooky spot to many timid souls—and frequently, not as safe as it should be.

About This and That

Right away I want to offer my apologies to Tupper Warne for omitting his name in the list of speakers who spoke at the farewell banquet given Clifford L. Bowley by the Digby Board of Trade at the Bay of Fundy House, last Wednesday evening. I want to assure the whole world the omission was quite unintentional—and just how it happened, I don't know. It is just one of those things that are bound to happen.

It wasn't forgetfulness, for Mr. Warne's name was among the speakers listed on my notes, but it was omitted from the manuscript set up for the paper—and I wrote that manuscript, therefore, no one else is to blame but myself—and all I can say is that it was merely an unfortunate accident.

All of us who attended that banquet admit Mr. Warne's address was one of the best of the evening, and from it, and from the interesting old edition of the "Courier" which he had passed around the banquet table, of the business life of Digby in days gone by.

Thursday, November 11, has been set apart as "Remembrance Day"—and on this day, the nineteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, we will pay our respects to those who lie "in Flanders Fields," and honor others who made sacrifices for King and Country during the Great War; to pay our respects to the returned men, many of whom came back to suffer the effects of war throughout their lifetime—crippled and maimed physically, or with their mental vigor shattered.

Across the seas "in Flanders Fields" sleep thousands of boys who, but for the war, might have been with us to-day, sharing the joys and responsibilities of men. They were sacrificed on the altar of the world's stupidity and greed. They paid the toll of their lives that no other generation may suffer as they suffered—was their sacrifice in vain?

It was, unless—this generation remembers and covenants with themselves that, as far as in their power war shall not again devastate this earth, and that our Empire shall be made worthy of their sacrifice.

Let us revere the memory of those who live forevermore in the hearts of those they left behind—but as we observe the

Across the Continent by Car

(By J. J. Wallis)

Last week we were on our way to Salt Lake City from Wenatchee. It took us almost three days to reach Salt Lake. The first night we stopped at Yakima, Washington, the second night at Ontario, Oregon, and the third at Snowville. We reached Salt Lake about 10 o'clock in the morning of the fourth day. All four days were full of interest. The scenery between Wenatchee and Yakima is varied. First fruit lands for miles and miles, then farms, interspersed with prairie, plains and mountains. On this stretch we passed through the deepest canyon on the trip, so far down between the hills that the sun only shone there a few hours a day. The highway, a small river, and a railroad occupied almost the full width of the bottom, but here and there it widened out and we would go through some range land, occupied, it seemed to us, principally by horses. Possibly there were cattle but if so they were out of sight. The roads were good but the sides were steep and warnings here and there bade us watch out for slides. The side of the canyon are constantly on the move. Pebbles and even larger rocks are constantly rolling down and the roads are patrolled at all hours to keep them clear. We would pass through a canyon or ravine then would come a long stretch of prairie or desert and sometimes we would go for miles without seeing an occupied house, although there are quite a number of abandoned ranches. Wild life—during the day time at least—is very scarce, but the large number of dead rabbits, skunks, squirrels, etc., on the road testifies that they come out at night in large numbers. Magpies and crows are plentiful and they find a good living off these dead animals flying up from the road as the car approaches and settling down again immediately it has passed.

Yakima is quite a large city. It is quite a distance from Wenatchee and you pass through quite a number of small towns and cities on the way, prosperous looking places, clean and well kept. In fact, you find pretty nearly all the Western cities and towns that way. At Yakima we were quite close to the snow capped Mount Rainier and the national park of the same name and we got a fine view of it. It is 14,408 feet high and seems to stand out all alone.

Leaving Yakima early the next morning we passed through a prosperous farming country and a few very large turkey ranches on which were thousands of turkeys. The first fairly large town we then passed was Pendleton. Although our elevation was pretty well up—and had been ever since we left Oliver—with the exception of a few passes and canyons—we commenced to climb again a few miles out of Pendleton and made steep ascent of over 3,000 feet in a short distance. It was the most spectacular of the climbs we had so far. The road was first a series of hair pin curves ascending in steps. At the top of the mountain we stopped the car and looked down over the road we had just come over and we could see it in a series of steps right down to the bottom. We stopped for lunch and then continued entering the National Park known as the Emigrant Spring Park. The drive through this park was very pretty and the grades were fine. We made good time and apparently seemed to be going down although we passed a freight train going in the same direction which had three engines and seemed to be making a lot of fuss. Then an opening in the trees revealed a small forest ahead and we could look right over the tops of the trees on a level stretch probably a mile across. I remarked "We must be pretty well down." We passed through this forest and what was our surprise to find on the other side, the sign "Blue Mountain Pass, Elevation 4,335 feet." We had been going up all the time we thought we had been going down. From here on, the country was much more interesting, although there were bad stretches here and there. We were apparently running on a table land, partly cultivated and partly grazing land. We were surrounded by mountains as far as the eye could see, in fact, we were right in the very heart of the Rockies and had been for some hundreds of miles. High ranges with snow-capped peaks away to the east and west of us and lower ranges close at hand. We were now in a region a little better watered, in fact we were approaching one of the celebrated hot spring sections. Small rivers and springs were more plentiful and an occasional lake. Then we suddenly came on two very high but narrow waterfalls. The water apparently came from nowhere—they were just two streams pouring over the edge of a precipice hundreds of feet above us and we could not see beyond that edge. A little further we came to "the hill of a thousand springs." That was a pretty sight and we stopped to admire it. It was across a valley from us and we could see it real well. Dozens of waterfalls—mostly small—seemed to come out of the hill, perhaps 200 or 300 feet from the top. One was quite large and had been "harnessed" for power as a dam and flume testified. What struck me at once was that all the falls came out of the mountains at the same height. Perhaps I can illustrate. Build a six-inch solid cover for your bath tub which just fits all the way around. Take a file or knife and gouge it on the under side around the edges with irregular holes placed haphazard. Stop up the drain pipes of the bath and put this cover on. Then turn on the water and in a few minutes it will be spouting out of these holes all around. I read a guide book that a same evening in which it is stated that these falls are fed from an immense underground lake, fed by underground rivers and streams. And why not? The Rockies from the Canadian North to Mexico are full of streams which appear mysteriously and disappear just as mysteriously. Leaving the falls we commenced to ascend again and in about an hour had got well above the "hill of a thousand springs" and could look over it. We saw it was a fertile table land covered with farms and ranches and extending apparently hundreds of square miles. At LeGrande, a little further on, we passed the "Hot Lake." The water was steaming hot, the steam forming quite a cloud. There are numerous hot springs but they have about all been commercialized. The towns in this section are heated by them, the hot

Remembrance Day, November 11th

The symbolism of the Poppy, the sorrowful appropriateness of its blood red bloom, takes on a deeper significance with each succeeding year. The Great War is passing almost into legend; a generation is bequeathed the duty of carrying into the years that have yet to come, the work and the ideals of those whom the Poppy commemorates.

Canada, along with the whole Empire, has adopted the Poppy as a symbol of Remembrance Day, because of the 60,000 graves in France and Belgium in which lie the dead of the preceding generation; because of the 170,000 Canadians to whom the conflict brought disablement of one kind or another. The crosses in the cemeteries of Flanders are garlanded with Poppies—dolorous emblems of a Nation's youth consumed in the "Wrath-red forge of war."

On Poppy Day this Dominion pauses in its normal activities to recall the sacrifices of its young men, to pay tribute to their heroism, their hardihood and the uncomplaining fortitude with which they bore their privations and sufferings. At the same time, Canada strives to liquidate in some small measure, an obligation to those disabled men employed in the Vetrac Industries of the Country, whose only means of livelihood is the making of these simple emblems.

The Dominion-wide ramifications of the great Canadian Legion, with its tens of thousands of workers on Poppy Day, take care of the distribution of those Poppies throughout Canada. There is thus ensured to their disabled comrades in these Vetrac Shops a loyal performance of a sorrowful yet praiseworthy task. All Canadians of every age and degree should wear a symbol on Poppy Day. For that is surely a day of re-consecration and of rededication to the work on hand, of continuing the structure of civilization where the workers of a previous generation left off.

As the time for our Annual Poppy Fund Campaign draws near, we once more make our appeal to you for your most generous and ready help. There are two things we would like to place before you:—

1. That the administration of the money entrusted to us last year has been well and ably performed. Not one cent has been misused, and not one deserving ex-service man or his family has been overlooked.
2. The need this year is as great as ever. Our men are older. Less work is obtainable for them throughout the year—consequently our ex-service man finds himself in a more hopeless condition than ever, through

Reduced Rail Fares For Remembrance Day

The observance of Remembrance Day throughout Canada on Thursday, November 11, will include ceremonies at important points across Canada, and to facilitate economical travel for this occasion the railways of Canada will place in effect reduced fares, according to C. P. R. Riddell, Chairman, of Canadian Passenger Association.

These fares will consist of single fare and one-quarter for the round trip, good in coaches, or in sleepers or parlor cars on payment of regular charge for such accommodation. Tickets will be good going from noon Wednesday, Nov. 10, up to 2.00 p. m., of Thursday, Nov. 11, with return movement good to leave destination up to midnight of Friday, Nov. 12.

"Since many people will desire to travel in order to join their relatives and friends in observing these ceremonies in some favorite centre, it is expected that a considerable volume of passenger traffic will develop during this period, which may be taken to greater advantage by the reduced fares offered by the railways," stated Mr. Riddell.

being unable to supply the bare necessities of life for his family. We appeal to you on their behalf. They gave in 1914-1918 their all in defence of the ideals of the Empire, Justice, Liberty, Love of Home and Love of God. They suffered. They are now suffering more than the ordinary citizen in these post depression days because the war took out of them what ordinarily would have kept them fit for many years to come. Will you in grateful acknowledgement of their service give and give liberally to our Poppy Day Fund, in order that we may be able to help them over the times of difficulty and want which seem to be increasing every day? We know our appeal will not be in vain.

On behalf of the Publicity Committee of the Digby Branch B. E. S. L. I wish to take this opportunity to thank most heartily the Courier for their generosity and assistance during this Poppy Campaign, for which the Legion is most grateful.

J. W. Merkel,
Chairman Publicity Com.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICE

A fitting program for Armistice Day Sunday and for the annual Remembrance Day Service at the Soldiers' Memorial on November 11, has been arranged by the members of the Digby Legion.

On Sunday morning the legion will attend Divine Service at St. Patrick's Church, where Rev. Father Leo Murphy, P. P., will be the preacher. They will parade to the church, led by the Digby Civic Band, from the Town Hall.

The Band will also lead them for their Remembrance Day Service at the Monument, where they will arrive at 10:50 a. m. Here the service will be opened with a prayer, followed by two minutes of silence, after which the "Last Post" will be sounded, and wreaths placed on the monument. A reveille, and the singing of "O Canada".

Mayor M. C. Denton, a legion comrade, will be the speaker at this service. Following his address, a hymn will be sung, and Benediction pronounced, then, the National Anthem.

In the evening, members of the Legion and other returned men will go to Colliodon for the annual Remembrance Day Banquet, which will be held this year at the Bay of Fundy House.

All returned men will be the guests of the management of Bijou Theatre on Wednesday night, where the picture, "They Gave Him a Gun" will be shown.

Feted on Eve Of Departure

Members of the staff of the Digby exchange of the Maritime Telegraph & Telephone, paid homage on Thursday evening at last week to Audrey E. Hawkins of the plant department, on the eve of his transfer to Kentville, by tendering him a banquet in the telephone exchange building.

At this function, Ken Margeson presided over the mouse steak, while the lady members of the staff cooked the vegetables and other tidbits. Before partaking of the meal, Mr. Margeson, in behalf of the staff, expressed regrets to Mr. Hawkins for his departure, and extended best wishes for the future. A suitable parting gift was presented from the staff.

Mr. Hawkins thanked Mr. Margeson and the staff for the nice things that had been said, and for the gift, and expressed his regrets in leaving such a "coachable family".

"The Citadel", by A. J. Cronin; "Life With Mother", by Clarence Day; and other new books at the Lending Library.

Post Office Will Be Closed—The Digby Post Office will be closed on Nov. 11, it being a public holiday.

Announcement Engagement—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fride, of Conway, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rena Kathleen, to Harold Irving Sully, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sully, of Digby. Marriage to take place in the near future.

Editor Returns—Mr. and Mrs. James J. Wallis and daughter Eleanor, returned home yesterday from a motor tour of the North American continent. Leaving Digby August 16, they motored to Vancouver, then down to San Francisco, and across to New York and Boston, covering approximately 15,000 miles in all.

Marriages

Collins—Adams

Bowman P. Collins, of Little River, and Mrs. Charlotte M. Adams, formerly of Port Maitland, were quietly married at Little River, 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Rev. C. L. Clute officiating. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Collins left on a motor trip through the province.

Height—Wolf

A very pretty wedding took place Friday evening Oct. 29, at 8:00 o'clock, in Holy Trinity Church of Digby, when Marie-Orle, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wolf of Conway, was united in marriage to Austin, second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Height of South Range. The bride was beautifully dressed in a gown of blue transparent velvet with accessories to match and carried a shower bouquet of roses, lilies and fern. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. William Warren, and also the groom's sister, Miss Hazel Height, and Lawrence Savory acted as groom's man.

After the wedding a buffet lunch was served at the home of the bride's parents, and many beautiful gifts were received. Rev. E. M. Caldwell, rector of the church, officiated.

The happy couple left for a trip around the South Shore by motor.

Forrest—Bremner

The marriage of Elizabeth Iona Bremner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bremner, of Lighthouse Road, Digby, County, to Lawrence Avon Forrest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Forrest, of Mt. Pleasant, took place in the United Church parsonage, Digby, on Saturday evening, Oct. 23, Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson officiating.

Mrs. J. F. Milberry left on Friday last for Huntington, West Virginia, to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Jack Uhl and Mr. Uhl. She was accompanied by Mrs. Loran Hayden, who will be a guest at the same home for several weeks.

Losses Left Hand in Mill Accident

Charles Melanson, of Plympton, met with a painful accident while at work in the stove mill of the plant of H. T. Warne, Ltd., on Friday morning of last week. Mr. Melanson's sleeve, in some manner became caught in some of the machinery, and his left hand drawn into the saw. The hand was practically severed. He was removed to the Digby General Hospital, where it was amputated by Drs. J. R. McCleave and W. R. Dickie.

Victoria Beach Home Destroyed By Fire

The small home of Edward Jefferson, Victoria Beach, was destroyed by fire early Wednesday evening, with all its furnishings. The blaze was discovered about 6:45 p. m., and the cause of the fire unknown. Mr. Jefferson lived alone.

The reflection of the fire as seen across the Basin at Digby caused a great deal of concern among the people of the town. The blaze appeared on the water, and it was feared for some time that one of the scallop boats had caught fire and was making for the port.

Teachers' Institute Meets at Digby

While school pupils of the English speaking section of Digby County, celebrated a holiday on Tuesday, their teachers met at Digby for the first Teachers' Institute meeting to be held since the Inspectorate of Digby and Annapolis became separated, and Digby became part of the Yarmouth Inspectorate.

The session was opened by F. C. Purdy, Principal of the Digby Academy, Mayor M. C. Denton, in behalf of the town extended a welcome to T. A. M. Kirk, new School Inspector for Yarmouth-Digby, fifty-six of whom were in attendance. Mr. Kirk introduced Professor DeWolf, of the Provincial Normal College, who delivered an address on "Health, Skills and Attitudes of Education". Activity programs for schools were discussed by Miss Dora Baker.

The matter of a School Exhibition and Field Day for all of Digby County was brought up, and a committee appointed to interview the teachers of the Clare district to discuss the proposal.

F. C. Purdy, Digby; Miss Comeau, Weymouth; Miss Speight, North Range; Miss Crocker, Freeport; and Miss O'Brien, Digby, were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the next Institute Meeting.

Members of the Digby Academy staff were "at home" to the visitors during the afternoon recess, at a luncheon. Tea was poured by Mrs. P. W. Holdsworth and Mrs. F. L. Anderson. School and Community Clubs were also discussed at this meeting, and teachers and parents from parts of the county where such organizations exist, expressed their views on the matter, and told of the benefits that have been derived.

The following were elected as officers of the Digby County Teachers' Union, which met with the Teachers' Institute, at Digby, Tuesday: President, G. Berie, Weymouth. Vice-Pres., F. C. Purdy, Digby. Secy., Treas., Miss Crowell, Weymouth.

Noles Case Dismissed On Technicalities

The case of Arthur R. Noles, which was heard by Stipendiary Magistrate, Alfred Boden, in the local Police Court, on Friday afternoon last, was dismissed on technicalities.

Noles was charged by Mrs. Clarice Noles of having married another woman, to wit: Dorothy Cowan, on or about the 30th day of June, 1937, his wife, Clarice Noles, being still alive. Only two witnesses were heard, namely, Clarice Noles and Rev. T. W. Hodgson. The crown was not represented by counsel. Kenneth Smith of Annapolis Royal, represented the accused. The court did not admit the wedding certificate of Mrs. Clarice Noles as evidence, because it was issued in London, England, and not in Canada. Because Clarice Noles did not actually point out Noles as the man she married in London (she was not asked to point him out) and because in his evidence relating to the marriage of Arthur R. Noles and Dorothy Cowan, the court record did not state the ceremony took place in Digby, the case was dismissed.

Crushed by Falling Tree

Crushed between a tree and a pile of pulpwood, Milford Height, 38, of Bloomfield, Digby Co., father of six children, met a painful death Thursday morning.

Particulars of the accident can only be surmised. Height, who was employed by Joseph Comeau, of Bloomfield, went back on the road leading to North Range, early Thursday morning to "finish up" a pile of pulp wood that was taken out of the woods Wednesday. They wished the pile to measure three cords, but when coming at the roadside, was slightly short. It was Height's intention yesterday morning to cut a few trees in the vicinity of the pulpwood pile and bring it up to the required amount.

His body, crushed against the pile, by a spruce tree that had fallen against him, was found shortly before noon yesterday morning, by Hantford Foster and his son Charles, also of Bloomfield, who were returning home to dinner.

The Fosters tell of taking their ox team along that road early that morning, evidently before Height, for they did not see him. On returning, they saw the tree fallen against the pile, and the elder Foster remarked, "Surely the wind hasn't been strong enough to blow that tree down this morning."

Coming closer, they saw a man's head and shoulders against the woodpile, and realized someone was pinned against it by the fallen tree. Investigation proved it to be Height. He was dead when his body was discovered.

Height was evidently standing back to the tree which had fallen across his back, crushing the left side of his chest against the wood pile. His hands were also pinned against the pile in such a manner he could not use them to help free himself. The tree was not much more than two feet away from the pulpwood pile, and was about seven inches across the butt, and approximately twenty-five feet tall.

It is thought that Height, who was an experienced woodcutter, had cut partly through the tree, and attempted to push it over with his shoulder, judging the force of the wind which sent the tree crashing toward him; or else he made a miscalculation, and the tree fell in the wrong direction, and he was attempting to get clear as it crashed.

Mounted Police at Digby and Dr. H. J. Pothier of Weymouth, were notified, and went directly to the scene of the accident. Dr. Pothier decided an inquest unnecessary.

Milford Height is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Becham Height, of North Range, and is survived by his wife and six children, Earl, Ray, Ethel, Ellery, Iris and Audrey, all at home; his parents at North Range; four sisters, Mrs. Eli Marshall, Mrs. Frank Height, Mrs. Charles Cosman, all of North Range; Mrs. Guy Brant, Port Lorne, Annapolis Co.; four brothers, Warren, of South Range; Roland, of Lawrence, Mass.; Cleveland and Clyde of North Range; two half-brothers, Herman, of South Range, and Byron, of Hill Grove.

The road where the accident occurred is little used, and connects the Ridge Road with the main Halifax and Yarmouth highway, coming out on the Ridge near North Range.

It is quite possible Height may have lived for some time after the accident.

SCALLOP PRICES LOW

So far this season, scallop prices have been so low, fishermen are becoming discouraged and claim, especially for gasoline powered craft, that it does not pay to go out in the Bay to drag. One or two have even hinted that should there not be an improvement in price shortly, they withdraw from the fleet.

Prices received have been as low as 91 cents per pound, and seldom has the price gone over 11 cents. There have been times when quotations have been higher, but these quotations, as usual, have followed stormy days, or days when the catch was very small, and but few have been able to take advantage of the higher prices.

In spite of the size of the fleet, scallops are still found in fairly large quantities in the Bay, but it is quite evident the great Bay of Fundy beds off the shores of Digby and Annapolis Counties are diminishing and are feeling the effects of constant winter dragging for the past fifteen years.

It is felt by many that should the size of the fleet be decreased, there would still remain a profitable industry for those who continued operations, but, with a fleet as large as at the present time, dumping great quantities of scallops on the markets at Boston and New York, prices must naturally remain low. Some feel the season of 1937-38 will mark the last season for a big Digby scallop fleet.

He Suffered Agony in Wet Weather

Rheumatism Attacked Limbs and Body

He had been bothered with rheumatism for years. The pain in wet weather—to use his own expression—was "index-cribable." But all that is gone now—thanks to Kruschen.

"I suffered with rheumatism for years. I dreaded wet weather, for during such periods the pain was continuous and indescribable. To begin with, it was confined to my limbs, but in time I began to suffer as much agony in my body as I did in my limbs. When I began to take Kruschen Salts, I found it did me more good than all the other medicine I had taken put together. To-day, I have peace and freedom from pain, even during wet weather, and can heartily recommend Kruschen Salts to anyone who suffers from rheumatism."

Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients in Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients in these Salts assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

UNDISTRIBUTED PROFITS ASSAILED

The undistributed profits' tax of the Roosevelt administration in the United States has been assailed by thousands of independent oil jobbers as a measure to throttle and kill small business.

Without trying to see a devil behind every stump, there is occasion for some thought on the much-talked-of question of profits, particularly profits of established business industries.

All businesses grow and should grow, out of profits. Most small businesses start on a shoe string and grow entirely out of profits. It is true that for the dollars invested in the first place most small businesses that get anywhere make what the reformers condemn as "inordinate" percentage of profits. But what of it?

No intelligent investor would even think of "investing" in a small business. So where is a small business man going to get the capital that he needs in which to grow and improve, except out of his own profits? And if these profits are a normal "six per cent" on the "investment," how is he ever going to get anywhere because of the small amount in dollars involved?

Weddings

Hows—FitzGerald

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends throughout the Maritime Provinces and Ontario, was solemnized in St. Peter's Anglican Church, at high noon on Saturday, Oct. 30, when the rector, Rev. Frisby Smith, united in marriage Mary Fitzgerald (Gerry), elder daughter of Capt. H. B. and the late Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, of Weymouth North, and Harry Wendle Howse, son of Mr. Louis and the late Mac Howse, of Arriss, Ontario. The church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns, autumn flowers and potted plants, by members of the Altar Guild under the direction of Mrs. A. W. Carr and Mrs. H. B. Marshall. The guest lists were marked with white nosegays.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was preceded by the aisle by the vested choir, under the direction of A. W. Carr, to the strains of the hymn, "We Lift Our Hearts On Faithful Gown." She was attired in a beautiful gown of white La France angel skin lace and chiffon over tulle. The bride carried a long length of white lace, with tiny covered buttons extending from neck to hip line. The skirt was on Princess lines, slightly in train. A veil of bridal net in cap effect with halo of orange blossoms, silk lace mitts and white pumps completed her costume. She carried an arm sheaf bouquet of calla lilies, which were later placed on her mother's grave.

The bride was attended by her only sister, Miss Kathleen (Kaye) FitzGerald, who was becomingly gowned in pale blue with short bolero jacket, pink hat, shoes and gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink and yellow Columbia roses. The groom was attended by Stuart Day, of Saint John, N. B.

During the signing of the register, "Because" was played by Mrs. H. R. Marshall, organist of the church. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. M. Mullen. The house was decorated for the occasion, the bride and groom receiving under an arch of white crepe paper from which were suspended white bells. The bride's table looked most attractive with its cloth of hand made Irish chunly lace, 3-tiered wedding cake, and pink and white banners in silver holders.

The bride travelled in a dress of blue satin stripe crepe, navy coat with squirrel collar, navy and grey accessories. After a wedding trip to Boston and New York the young couple will reside at 14 Cliff Street, Saint John, N. B., where the groom is employed in the Body Department of the General Motors.

Halloween Party—At the conclusion of the semi-monthly meeting of Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge, held in the lodge rooms on Monday evening, an enjoyable Halloween Party was held. The rooms were decorated for the occasion. Games were played, under the direction of Miss Clara Hankinson. Prize winners were: Mrs. H. A. Blackadar, Mrs. P. A. Gates and the Misses Barbara Crowell and Kaye FitzGerald.

Buss Ditched—En route from Yarmouth to Halifax on Tuesday morning, one of the large Wagner Busses went into the ditch at Weymouth North, in front of the residence of Edward Grenier, to avoid striking two ox teams which were opposite each other, one proceeding each way up and down the hill. The occupants escaped uninjured but the bus was badly damaged on one side. Busses came from Digby and Yarmouth and took the passengers on.

ment of the Universal Sales. The bride, a graduate of the Saint John Business College, has been a valued member of the Saint John Branch of the Maritime Dental Supply Company, who presented her with a walnut gateleg table and silver tea service. Previous to the wedding the bride was the guest of honour at many pre-nuptial showers and presentations, both at Saint John and Weymouth. A large and costly array of gifts attested to the high esteem in which both the bride and groom are held by their many friends.

Jones—Davis

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fream, of Yarmouth, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, on Saturday evening, Oct. 23, when Lance Corporal Thomas Jones, of Ottawa, was united in marriage to Anna Louise Davis, R. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis of Bear River, Rev. R. M. Rattie, of Central United Church, officiated. The bride was attired in a gown of white satin striped crepe and carried an old fashioned nosegay of white roses and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. R. Fream was matron of honour. The bride was given in marriage by Dr. H. McLeod. The groom, attired in full dress of an officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was supported by R. Fream. Present were a group of thirty close friends of the couple, including several officers in full dress, providing a colourful atmosphere. The wedding march was played by Miss Eula Gardner. The home was decorated with autumn flowers. The newly-weds left for Ottawa on a short honeymoon trip. On their return they will reside on Willow Street, Yarmouth. Corporal Jones has been with the Yarmouth detachment since last January, after three years service in Meteghan. After the ceremony a luncheon was served.

Amero—O'Connell On Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock, Oct. 26, a quiet wedding took place at Saint-John's Catholic Church, when Mrs. Rosalie O'Connell, of Saint-John's, became the bride of George Amero, of Plympton. Miss Vera Amero was bridesmaid and O. Wagner acted as best man. After the ceremony they motored to Plympton, where a dinner was served by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Ambrose Amero, and later motored to Digby and were the guests of the groom's daughters, Mrs. John O'Connell and Miss Agnes Amero, who served as a supper. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Amero motored to Plympton where they will reside for a short time.

Obituary

Mrs. Caroline Dakin Mrs. Caroline Dakin, of Centerville, Digby Co., passed away at the home of her brother, Eber Potter, at Bear River East, on Oct. 20. She was 85 years of age, and had made her home with her brother for the past twelve years. She leaves to mourn one daughter, Modena (Mrs. Leander Potter) of Tupperville; one brother, Eber Potter, one sister, Mrs. S. K. Mack, of Upper Granville. The deceased was a daughter of the late Aaron and Rebecca Potter, and died at the old homestead where she was born.

The funeral was held from her late home on Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. T. W. Howard, of Clementsvalle Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. F. C. Burnett. The choir sang "The Old Rugged Cross," a favorite hymn: "When My Life's Work is Ended," and "Abide With Me." Interment was in the Clementsvalle cemetery.

NOT DEAD

Somewhat I never think of you as dead
And lying still and white.
But see you gay and living there instead.
In some vast place of night.
A glad new kingdom where the dead renew
Their outgrown selves, and find fresh work to do.

Wherever you might be, I truly know
Your soul goes marching on.
Finishing tasks you started here before
Facing a grander dawn.
I could not think of you as dead
These days are such small roads to measure by.

And when I go to join the vast unknown,
I know I'll find you there.
In some sweet garden place of smiles
The sunshine on your hair.
And we shall talk and laugh, remembering
Old pasture fields, and rooms in the apartment.

Trying Out Potatoes as Feed for Horses, Poultry

Germany is experimenting with potatoes as a substitute feed for horses and poultry. They have been used in Germany for a considerable number of years as feed for pigs, being regarded as a fat producer in mashes which consist of 75 per cent potatoes and 25 per cent barley. Potatoes mixed with fresh skimmed milk, Germany's estimated total yield of potatoes this year is 50,000,000 tons as compared with 46,000,000 tons last year and 40,000,000 tons in 1935. It is planned to utilize the potato surplus largely as animal feed. Restrictions have been placed on the use of cereals as a feed for livestock.

Stamp Out Tuberculosis

Every good citizen is vitally interested in the health of this community. Ill health may come from ignorance, carelessness, contagion or undernourishment and tuberculosis may be contracted from any of these causes. To combat this we have the Nova Scotia Tuberculosis Commission Specialists hold free Clinics in the different towns for examining patients who are suspects of the disease and we recommend treatment. The Victorian Order Nurse is always in attendance at these Clinics. In her duties as Nurse in the schools, any child having symptoms is referred to a physician and many cases have thus been cured by an early diagnosis. Children infected are excluded from school and thus the health of the public is protected. Town patients are sent to the sanatorium, while others remain at home taking the rest cure and are visited frequently by the Victorian Order Nurse.

But this work needs funds to carry on. Will you not do your share in stamping out this evil of tuberculosis by buying a generous supply of these Christmas Seals?

HOSPITAL DONATION DAY

Next Thursday, Nov. 11, has been set aside by the Digby General Hospital as Hospital Donation Day. Donations of all kinds, bedding, fruits, vegetables, preserves, etc., will be greatly appreciated by that worthy institution.

To say that since its incorporation the Digby General Hospital has done a great work in Digby, would be putting it mild. It is to be wondered how we ever got along without the hospital.

We have had several visitors speak about it in our office, and among them, many who have had considerable experience in larger hospitals, both in the United States and Canada, almost without exception they tell us that as a community, Digby should be proud of her hospital.

They tell us that it is well equipped for an institution of its size, and all speak in glowing terms of the supervising and nursing staff, and the medical staff.

We are proud of our hospital, its staff and medical men. Digby could never do without a hospital now, and it is up to us to do our part to maintain it.

Let's not any of us forget Hospital Donation Day, Thursday, November 11.

Plane Used in Search of Russian Flyers

When H. Hollick-Kenyon, Canadian flyer, who piloted Admiral Byrd on his South Pole flight, took Sir Robert Wilkins north in search of the five lost Soviet airmen, he flew a plane equipped with skis loaned by the Trans-Canada Air Lines. These skis, all-metal and developed especially for Electra 10-A planes, were the only pair of their kind available in North America.

While Wilkins waited in New York, the pilot made his way to Winnipeg to pick up the skis. The loan was made at the request of the Dominion Government and the Winnipeg branch of the air lines was instructed to have them ready. Continuation of their efforts depended on getting the right kind of skis. In Montreal, recently, Hollick-Kenyon expressed the hope that the Russians are still alive. Weak wireless signals had been heard, and unless they crashed badly, the men could keep alive for three months on emergency rations.

—and a challenge:—
“Our working men and women must have more than the bare necessities of life,” he said. “And grant them we have not even these. They must have effective ownership of property and the self-respect and sense of security which accompany it. They must own their own instruments of production, distribution and finance. They must become their own masters in economic, social and political life. The simplest and most effective way of accomplishing this is through the medium of study clubs and co-operatives. If study helps men to think and learn and co-operation is the poor man's ticket to the economic show. If Nova Scotia continues to be satisfied with a read and molasses culture for the majority of its workers, then we may expect to lose whatever gains our pioneering fathers made.”
“That is all better thinking or seriously?”

Across the Continent by Car

(By J. J. Wallis)

After leaving Snowville, we ran through a fine section of farming country and through several towns and cities including Ogden and Brigham. This section of the state of Utah is quite thickly settled. We were in sight of the great Salt Lake for quite a distance and saw a train crossing it. The track runs for miles over the lake. We reached Salt Lake City shortly after ten o'clock, and drove around some of the principal streets, and saw the Federal building and a number of other prominent structures. We finally reached the Temple grounds—the mecca of thousands of tourists every week—and parked near one of the gates. A "one-hour parking" sign was right in front of us, so we put the car where we could come out of the grounds and move it if necessary, but one of the guides said not to apply to out of state cars and we could park as long as we wanted to. This relieved our minds and we devoted all our time to sight-seeing. And we saw plenty! There is enough of interest inside the Temple grounds to keep a tourist for a week and then he would not see it all. They have one of the most interesting museums you will wish to see. It is not quite so large as some of the big National museums but never theless it contains enough to keep one busy. The buildings are not ornate but are dignified and impressive, and the grounds are parklike and full of beauty. A few souvenirs are sold but for the most part everything is open to the public except the great Mormon Temple itself into which no Gentile is allowed to look. The guides of which there are quite a number—most of the officers of the church and of course, well versed in the history and doctrines of "The Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints"—(the official name of the Mormon church) Tipping is not allowed. A lady in our party asked the guide why they were not allowed to accept tips, and he replied, "Lad, this is a work of love; we do it and take pleasure in doing it for the sake of the Church and for the glory of God." The huge Tabernacle in which the public services are held and in which the organ, so many Courier readers have heard over the radio, is located, is a wonderful building. Although designed by a common carpenter—Brigham Young—built a hundred years ago without a nail being used, has not settled or warped a particle and the acoustics are so good that if you are in one end you can hear a pin drop at the other end 230 feet away. We had the pleasure of listening to one of the noon organ recitals which lasts almost an hour, and to a lover of music that is a delight. It is surprising to see how a large city can be so dominated by a church. The principal department store and many other stores, the principal hotel and restaurants, garages, tourist camps are all owned by the church; some of the largest mines in the world and immense ranches, orchards and farms are church owned. No wonder the Mormon denomination—800,000 members—is the wealthiest denomination in the world.

possibility I could not get to Kamloops from Vancouver Let's go to San Francisco." We were about eight miles out of the city on our way home, but I don't think I ever stopped the car and made such a quick turn as I did then. Returning to the city we stopped at a service station to fill up and I made a few inquiries. I found San Francisco was 784 miles away and that the lands we passed through were mostly desert. There are two routes out of Salt Lake going west—40 and 50. They run separately about 30 miles out of Salt Lake City then come together for about 100 miles. Then 40 bends north and 50 south, coming together again near the California boundary. The first 129 miles carried us across the Great Salt Desert and we made that distance between 3.30 and 5.45 o'clock, when we went into camp at Wendover, on the Nevada state line. The next morning we started and on the advice of a traffic cop located on the boundary, we took Route 40. He said both roads were desolate and uninteresting, but 40 was about 25 miles shorter than 50, and passed through more towns and villages, but even at that they were twenty to thirty miles apart. But the roads were excellent—good surface, straight as a die and no grades except through a few ranges of comparatively low mountains which crossed the plains. The largest city on the route before reaching California was Reno and Mrs. Wallis would not let me tarry very long in that city. We were stopped just inside the California line by special officers in search of fruit. They apologized for intruding but told us that California was free of fruit pests and that they were trying to keep it that way. Any fruit in the car was supposed to be confiscated. They found a few apples I was carrying from Oliver and the reasons. They subjected them to a thorough examination and finally allowed them through. A few miles further we had to stop to register our entering into the state, and as there was a camp there we stopped for the night.

HIGHWAY TAXES FOR HIGHWAYS

The earmarking of $5,000,000 by the Michigan legislature from the current general revenue fund for highway improvement, probably marks the first instance in which a state has arranged a continuing appropriation from its general revenue for this purpose.

The $5,000,000 bill was passed June 19 and had earlier been passed by the Senate. There was also a bill before the legislature to appropriate $2,000,000 from the general revenue fund each year to go to the counties, to be used exclusively in highway improvement, and a bill of $600,000 for snow removal.

The theory back of these appropriations bills was that a good share of receipts of the state's sales tax, which go into the general revenue fund, comes from the sale of cars, tires and accessories, and should go to keeping up the roads.

Total receipts from Michigan's gasoline tax and auto license fees go to the highway departments, there being no diversion. Net total receipts from the state motor fuel tax in 1936 were $25,739,000.

Elected President.—On Wednesday last the student body of Mount St. Vincent College elected Miss Jennie MacMahon, of Digby, as president and director of the Dramatic Society of the College which is very well known for its well-produced presentations. Miss MacMahon is very familiar to Mount audiences and will graduate in Elocution and Dramatics next May with a public recital.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The mail will soon bring to you a packet of cheery little Christmas seals, accompanied by a request that you purchase the seals and thereby assist in the war against mankind's ancient enemy—tuberculosis.

The Christmas seal has become an annual institution, affording an opportunity for rich and poor alike to assist in the fight against tuberculosis.

The seal this year is very attractive—Three Wise Men following the Star in colors of blue and white, in the upper left hand corner, the double-barred cross in red; on the bottom "Greetings" in white letters on red; the whole seal having a border of green. Use these on your Christmas letters and parcels and make your outgoing mail more attractive as well as helping the cause of tuberculosis by buying the seals.

Weddings

DeArmond - Prince
A pretty wedding took place at New London, Conn., recently, at the Methodist Episcopal church, Miss Mildred Elizabeth Prince, of that city, becoming the bride of Robert Grant DeArmond, of Westboro, Mass. Miss Prince was given in marriage by her father, Edward Prince, and the wedding was performed by the Rev. Oliver W. Bell. The bride wore a white lace dress princess style, with Juliet cap and veil. She carried a prayer book, with orchids and lilies of the valley. She also wore a necklace of spun silver, a family heirloom given the bride by her cousin, Miss Harriet A. E. Prince, of New London. Miss Emma Connelley was the maid of honor and wore an aquamarine gown, with hat to match, and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were Miss Eva Slater and Miss Ethel DeArmond, sister of the groom. Norman DeArmond was his brother's best man. The bride's mother wore a blue velvet gown with accessories to match, and a groom's mother wore a blue velvet gown with accessories and corsage of American Beauty roses. The bride and bridegroom left on an unannounced auto trip. On their return they will reside in Westboro. (The groom is a grandson of Mrs. J. H. Berry, of Bear River).

LeBlanc - Dugas
Robichaux - LeBlanc
Stella Marie church, Meteghan, was the scene of two pretty weddings on Tuesday morning of last week, when, at 7.00 o'clock Rev. Father Bourneuf united in marriage Charles Dugas, of St. Martin de Clare, and Miss Stella LeBlanc, of Meteghan Centre, and at 8.00 o'clock Rev. Father Comeau officiated at the marriage of Edna LeBlanc and Miss Dorothea Robichaud, of Meteghan. Mr. and Mrs. Dugas went to Philadelphia on their wedding trip, and Mr. and Mrs. LeBlanc went to New York.

GIFT TO DALHOUSIE UNIVERSITY

Dalhousie University has just received from London two large and handsome photographs of King George and Queen Elizabeth, which have been graciously signed by Their Majesties. The photographs were made by Dorothy Wilding, London.

Shortly before his death, the late Dr. Dougald MacGillivray undertook to secure these photographs. This was the last of his many gifts to Dalhousie University. The photographs were hung in the hall of the Macdonald Library Building, with many other autographed photographs given the University by Dr. MacGillivray.

Had a Surprise.—One of the customers of John Nichols got the surprise of her life last week when she found eight out of a dozen eggs which she had purchased from him, double-yolked.

Miss Catherine E. Gehue, of Bear River, left last Friday to enter the Success Business College, in Truro.

Why is Religion Losing Ground?

(Contributed)

There are many answers to the above question—the main answer, I think, is that people as a whole, do not realize the seriousness of the situation they are creating.

While listening to a news broadcast recently from one of the popular American stations, the statement came over the air that "Religion is losing ground in the United States". Now I am not a resident of the United States, nor a person who has lived a long, religious life, being only in my 20's and am not a religious fanatic, but I felt that I would certainly not wish to live in a world with religion and God cast aside. That surely is not God's plan for this world of ours. Immediately after the news broadcast just mentioned, an advertiser took the microphone, followed by a very silly entertainment for developed minds to listen to on a Sunday evening, instead of being able to enjoy some very fine music, some of those beautiful old hymns which most every one loves, or a really worthwhile and instructive program.

I understand that today the religious programmes we have enjoyed in the past are being "shoved off" the air in order to make room for advertising on Sundays, and amusing entertainment or football games. I fear that is where the Money God is being worshipped.

Why does the government of any country, supposedly civilized, allow such sacrilege? How can people be so blind? When God, in the beginning, gave man six days in which to labor and take care of the pleasures and business of today, He asked that one day, the Sabbath, should be His, for man to use for moral advantage. I don't think He asked very much of us, but that did not limit His generosity. How grossly we are betraying Him! Can we expect Him to guide the world from destruction through war which is now threatening us and allow to live peaceful and happy lives when we are doing nothing for Him? Even though God still loves us—His patience must be very nearly exhausted by our foolish and stubbornly blind ways.

Do you want religion to lose ground? If you don't, then you must act! If you do, then you are already acting!

"Oh God, our help in ages past, Our hope for years to come."

MAP OF CANADA IN GREAT DEMAND

The Department of Mines and Resources has issued a third edition of the new map of Canada. This 100-mile-to-the-inch sheet has proved very popular and since it was first published about two years ago over 20,000 copies have been distributed to applicants in all parts of the Dominion and abroad. The new issue of 10,000 copies is to meet the continued demand for this map. The map shows the provinces, districts, railway lines, cities, towns, main rivers, and principal lakes and islands. It is 25 inches by 36 inches in size and is suitable for ready reference for general information.

about Canada's 3,694,863 square miles of territory:

Copies of the map may be obtained from the Surveyor General, Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, at 25 cents per copy. A copy will be furnished free to any school upon the application of the principal or school board.

Alma Graham, aged 7, on going home from school at Lake Midway, Wednesday of last week, found a strawberry blossom in bloom.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. MacMahon spent the week end in Halifax with their daughter, Jennie, who is a student at Mt. St. Vincent.

Local and General

Realized $31.00.—The Waterford school is richer by $31 as the result of a pie sale held in the school house on Friday evening last.

Sale Next Week.—A Rumage and Pantry Sale will be held at the old Scotia Restaurant, Saturday, November 20th. Doors open at 1.00 o'clock, p.m.

Another Quiet Week.—Activities of the scallop fleet have been very quiet this week. Most of the time the boats have been tied up at the wharves on account of adverse weather conditions.

Flag Symbols.—A blood-red flag has always been a symbol of mutiny or revolution. A black flag was the symbol of the pirate. Now flown only after an execution to show the law has been carried out. All over the world a yellow flag signals infectious disease, and a white flag is universally a flag of truce. At sea, striking of the flag means surrender. When the flag of one country is played over that of another the victory of the former is denoted. In time of peace, this is an insult and if done, even by mistake, an apology would have to be made. In the old days, it was customary to trail the flag of a vanquished foe behind the ship.

Piano Lessons.—Miss Eleanor Wallis is now ready to receive new pupils for pianoforte lessons. For particulars, call, or phone 37, Digby.

Oxford Store Entered.—Some time last Friday night the Rexall drug store at Oxford was broken into and some cash and a quantity of stock taken. This store is owned and operated by R. D. Russell, son of Mrs. John Russell, of Digby.

Reception Held.—A reception was held recently in the Baptist vestry, Caledonia, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Harper, the latter formerly Georgina Hill, of Bear River. Rev. Mr. DeWolfe delivered a short address and they received many useful gifts, including silver, china, glass and linen. Mr. Harper responded on behalf of himself and bride, after which refreshments were served by the ladies.

Dr. H. W. Kirkpatrick, of Halifax, will be at his office in Middleton, for treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, on Tuesday, Nov. 16th, and on Wednesday, Nov. 17th. Glasses fitted.

FIRST BOAT DOCKS AT DORCHESTER IN 25 YEARS

The steamer Lilemor arrived at Dorchester, N. B., on Wednesday from Bucksport, Maine, to load a cargo of pulpwood for the same port. It has been 25 years since a boat docked at that wharf and many citizens visited the scene. Years ago it was the scene of much shipping business. Railway sidings connected the wharf with the main track, and a shunter was kept on duty shunting cars from the yard at the station to the wharf.

SEES TERRIBLE WINTER

The winter of 1937-1938 will be the most terrible the drought stricken areas of southern Saskatchewan have yet seen, Clarence Stork, member of the Saskatchewan legislature for Shaunavon, said in an address recently delivered in Windsor. He asked support for the Saskatchewan Red Cross in its relief work in the barren areas—once known as the "Granary of the Empire." There are 9,000,000 acres in southern Saskatchewan that will not produce a crop. Half the total Saskatchewan population of 960,000 will be receiving relief by Christmas, he predicted.

Obituary

Mrs. Harry W. Bain died at Marshalls town early Monday morning, after a lingering illness. She was born in Lunenburg on May 26th, 1862. She leaves to mourn their loss her husband and six children, three sons and three daughters: Mrs. Oscar Stork, Culloden; Joseph Marshalls town; Marlin, St. John; Bessie, Mt. Pleasant; Mrs. Lillyard Barnes, Digby; Edmund, Port Wade. There are also ten grandchildren. She was buried at Culloden Wednesday afternoon in the Baptist cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. A. G. Robertson.

Meets Next Week.—The W. A. of Trinity Parish will meet with Mrs. J. W. Merkel, on Thursday next, at 8.00 o'clock, p.m.

Weddings

Jones - Davis

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pream, Yarmouth, was recently the scene of a wedding when Lance-Corporal Thomas Jones, Ottawa, was united in marriage with Anna Louise Davis, of Bear River. Rev. R. M. Ratee, of the Central United Church, officiated. The bride, a graduate of the Yarmouth Hospital, is well known in Digby and Yarmouth Counties. She was attired in a gown of white satin striped crepe and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of white roses and small white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Russell Pream was matron of honor and the bride was given in marriage by Dr. Herbert McLeod. The groom was attired in the full dress of an officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and was supported by Mr. Frenn. About 30 close friends of the couple, including several officers in full dress, attended the ceremony. Following a honeymoon trip to Ottawa the couple will make their home in Yarmouth, on Willow Street. Corporal Jones has been stationed in Yarmouth since January.

Stoddart - Brown

A quiet wedding took place at the Baptist parsonage, Clements vale, on Wednesday afternoon, November 3, when Ethel Marie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Chapman Brown, became the bride of Howard LeRoy Stoddart, of Lawrence town. Rev. T. W. Howard officiated. The parents of the bride and groom were present, and the bride wore blue crepe with accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. Stoddart left on Thursday morning for a motor trip to Halifax. They will reside at Lawrence town, where the groom is a prosperous farmer.

G. B. CLARKSON

whose appointment as manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia Branch in Digby, was recently announced. Mr. Clarkson entered the service of the bank some years ago and served as clerk at various branches until he was appointed accountant at Moncton, N. B. Later on he served for three years as accountant at San Juan, Porto Rico. Later he was appointed manager at Montague, P. E. I. In 1930 he became manager at Stellarton and after seven years comes to Digby. A seasoned banker with knowledge of world wide finance Mr. Clarkson will be welcomed in local business circles.

SMITH'S COVE

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Morgan, accompanied by Mrs. M. Longworth and son, Donald, and Miss Frances Austin, were guests on Sunday of Mrs. Frances Boutin, at Centreville.

Arthur Sulis had the misfortune to receive a bad cut in the leg, while chopping wood, last Thursday. He is confined to his home.

Miss Sproule spent the week end at her home, Delap's Cove. Miss Barbara Payson attended the meetings of the Teachers' Institute, held at Annapolis Royal, on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mrs. Anthony Hubley spent a few days this week with friends at Round Hill.

Mrs. Edward Bryant, sr., and Miss Ida Bryant, who have spent the past few months at their summer home here, returned to Massachusetts today.

THEATRE CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN AT ONCE

Construction of the new theatre to be built on the site of the old Warne Block, will begin at once. Materials for the new building have already commenced to arrive, and actual work will, in all probability, begin before this edition comes off the press.

The building contract has been awarded to J. H. Hicks & Son, Bridgetown, Plumbing and heating contracts will be separately awarded. Insofar as possible, we understand, local labour will be employed.

The building will house two stores on the ground floor and have five offices for rental overhead. The street frontage will be 72 feet and 86 in the rear; the average depth will be in the vicinity of 70 feet. In frame of the new building will be of wood, with brick front, faced with vitrolite. The approximate cost will be $30,000.

Seating room in the auditorium will be provided for five hundred persons. Digby's new theatre will be one of the most modern in this section of the province. The work will be carried on under the supervision of the architect, Charles A. Killingbeck, of Kentville.

TRINITY MEN'S CLUB ORGANIZED

The organization meeting of the Trinity Men's Club was held on Tuesday. The officers elected are as follows:

President—Charles Walker
Vice-President—V. L. Bent
Sec'y-Treas.—Harry Turnbull

It was decided that the club will meet once a month—on the second Friday, and the place of meeting is to be the Parish hall. A tentative programme for the coming winter was prepared, to be filled in each month for the following meeting.

The next meeting will be held December 10th and it is hoped there will be a good attendance.

Chimney Fire.—The fire department was called out yesterday morning for a slight chimney fire in the residence of Kenneth Turnbull.

Entertains at Bridge.—Mrs. H. M. Warne entertained at five tables of bridge on Tuesday evening, the feature of the evening being a visit to "the country store" after each table.

Personal Mention

H. J. Campbell was a visitor to Halifax this week.

The Misses MacMullen left last week to spend the winter in Florida, stopping a few weeks in New York before proceeding south.

Alfred Dickie, who was taken ill while at Dalhousie University, Halifax, is convalescing at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Dickie.

Mrs. A. C. Hawkesworth left on Tuesday to spend the winter with her daughters, Mrs. H. S. Goodwin, Marblehead, Mass., and Mrs. W. L. Cropley, Summit, N. J.

J. Martin Bain, of Saint John, was a passenger on the Princess Helene Tuesday, to attend the funeral of his mother, the late Mrs. Harry W. Bain. He returned on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. VanBlarcom returned home last week, after a visit with their daughter Mrs. Carl Brooks, in Truro. En route home they stopped off for a few days at Annapolis Royal to visit another daughter, Mrs. Frank Ruddock.

"LAZY" MAN GETS JOB

Desperate because he could not land a job, 21-year-old Karl Stanzinger, of Vienna, Austria, inserted this advertisement in a newspaper: "Young man, lazy, superficial, forgetful and stupid, would like to try his luck as clerk." The manager of a large industrial concern in Bohemia read the advertisement, liked it, invited Karl to call, talked to him for fifteen minutes and gave him a job as secretary.

Mrs. Ruel Outhouse, of Tiverton, was in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Harris, of Bear River, has been visiting Mrs. Minnie Keen for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Leigh A. Beck, of the Paris Beauty Salon, have just returned from New York, where they attended the hair dressing convention, at the Pennsylvania Hotel. They also visited in Boston and Montreal.

Capt. and Mrs. F. A. Robinson, A. L. Robinson and Miss Turnbull, who have been on a visit to Boston and vicinity, returned home on Wednesday. While in Boston the members of the family enjoyed a reunion, all being present for the first time in some years.

THE TREK TO ENGLAND

An idea of the number of Canadians who have gone to live in England is given by the statement that 9,000 Canadian war pensioners are residing in Great Britain. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, says the pensions department of Canada House is kept busy looking after the inquiries of these pensioners. Some of the 9,000 are actual veterans on pension, and some are dependents of soldiers who have died.

Sons of Temperance.—The semi-annual meeting of Digby County District Division will be held next Wednesday—afternoon and evening—with Home Division, Smith's Cove.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

A picture like this will become a most cherished possession a few years hence. Begin your picture record now.

CHRISTMAS comes and Christmas goes, year after year, each so much like the other, as we look back on them, that, unless we are children, none seems to stand out in our memory.

We know that there was a Christmas tree and that, under and around it, were piled a miscellaneous lot of packages and that the children had a joyful time opening them. But any details of the scene are usually too elusive to give us any particular pleasure—that is, unless we are among those who do not let Christmas go by without taking pictures of the celebration.

Those who customarily do this possess a precious reminder of scenes that are so vividly different each year, because the children, the actors in them, the children, grow and change. Ten years ago Baby Willie was delighted with a jack-in-the-box but now it is young Master Willie, enthralled by his first electric train. The picture captures a son of Willie on these two Christmas mornings is a joy to behold and, as the years go by, these pictures become more and more precious.

Take a few pictures, then, and your Christmas will soon be here. Why not take some of these pictures? The possibilities are endless. 116 JOHN VAN GUILDER.

"WORN OUT" AND WORRIED

Dragging around each day, unable to do housework—cranky with the children—feeling miserable, blaming it on "nerves" when the kidneys may be out of order. When kidneys fail the system clogs with impurities. Kidneys—backache, frequently follow. Dodd's Kidney Pills help clear the system, giving nature a chance to restore health and energy. Easy to take. The victim of headache who knows that his headache has resulted from obvious causes from previous experience has no reason to seek medical aid. If it is exercise or fresh air he needs, then he knows where to get these; he can look after his diet and elimination if they are at fault.

There is another group of persons who, in spite of taking reasonable care of their bodies, suffer from persistent, severe or repeated headaches. Such a person is very foolish to rely upon self-medication. These forms of headache are so often a symptom of abnormal states inside the body that he should seek the cause rather than merely treat the headache.

One of the most common causes of headache is eye-strain, which can be relieved by properly-fitted glasses and in no other way. It is obvious that if a particular headache is a symptom of anaemia or nephritis, or if it is due to emotional causes, if the treatment is to be successful it must be directed towards the responsible cause.

Do not overlook the possible seriousness of headache. Attend to it promptly and properly, and save yourself trouble. Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

RAILROADS FAR AFIELD

Railroads travel in India and other foreign lands have thrills unknown to Canadians, declares Gordon Sinclair, globe-trotting reporter, in an article appearing in the current issue of Canadian National Railways Magazine now in the mails. Elephants and tigers are among the hazards which railroad maintenance crews face in some countries, but the problems of travel, while less hazardous, are no less interesting for the traveler. Trains which stop for all on board to indulge in the luxury of a bath, and other trains, notably the famous Khyber Pass, where conductors are the only unarmed riders on the train and therefore do not dare to press their demands for "tickets" too strongly, are among those which Mr. Sinclair has ridden and of which he tells.

Marriages

Saulnier - Geddy

Holy Heart church at Saulnierville was the scene of a pretty wedding on the morning of Wednesday, October 27th, when Marguerite Geddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Geddy, of Meteghan Station, became the bride of Edward E. Saulnier, son of Mrs. Cora Saulnier, of Meteghan. Rev. Father Doucet officiated. Miss Zita Doucet was bridesmaid and Gustave Geddy best man. The organist was the father of the bride and the choir was directed by A. F. Hache, grandfather of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Saulnier left on a wedding tour to Annapolis, Kentville, Grand Pré and Halifax. They will make their home at the Royal Hotel, in Meteghan.

HEADACHE AFTER HEADACHE

Now She's Free From Them

A woman writes:—"I would like everyone who suffers from headaches to try Kruschen Salts. Before taking Kruschen Salts, I was seldom free from a headache. But since I have been taking it regularly I have hardly had a headache, for which I am very thankful. I have been taking a small dose of Kruschen every morning in a glass of warm water, before my breakfast, and I feel so well!"

(Mrs. A. E. D.)

How do you deal with headaches? Do you just take something to deaden the pain, without getting rid of the trouble which causes the pain?

Headaches can generally be traced to a disordered stomach and to the unsuppressed retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons—prevent them from forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more—from that cause. And that is just how Kruschen Salts bring swift and lasting relief from headaches.

Kruschen aids Nature to cleanse your body completely of clogging waste matter.

J. F. Blagdon

Many in Digby County learned with regret of the death in Halifax, of John F. Blagdon, 82, well known retired banker. Mr. Blagdon served as manager for the Royal Bank at several places in the Maritimes prior to retiring 21 years ago. For some years he has made his home during the summer in Weymouth. His winters were spent in Halifax or the United States, as a young man after completing his studies at business college in Halifax, he became associated with the Merchants' Bank, continuing with the Royal Bank when it took over the former.

For some time he resided in Halifax as a member of the inspection department of the Bank, leaving to become manager in Summerside, P. E. I., for five years; at Antigonish five years, and at Arichat four years. During his long banking career he gained a gratifying reputation, and by his personal characteristics won a wide circle of friends. Born at Halifax on Sept. 24, 1855, he was a son of John S. Blagdon, well known contractor. He married Miss Augusta Rive, of Weymouth, who predeceased him. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Grace Blagdon, and two sisters, Mother the Sacred Heart, Halifax, and Miss Catharine Blagdon, Halifax; and one brother, Charles, of Dartmouth. The remains were taken to Weymouth where the funeral was held.

READY TO BRING YOU RELIEF IN MINUTES

THE REASON "ASPIRIN" WORKS SO FAST

Drop an "Aspirin" tablet into a tumbler of water. In five minutes it hits the bottom of the glass it is dissolving.

This speed of dissolution enables "Aspirin" tablets to start "hot" relief of headache and similar pain a few minutes after taking.

You can pay as high as you want for remedies claimed to relieve the pain of Headache, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, etc. But the medicine so many doctors generally approve the one used by thousands of families daily—is "Aspirin."

Simply take 2 "Aspirin" tablets with a half glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions. Usually this will ease such pain in a remarkably short time.

For quick relief from such pain which exhausts you and keeps you awake at night—ask for "Aspirin."

"Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Wuppertal, Germany. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

RAMSAY MacDONALD DIES ON BOARD LINER

J. Ramsay MacDonald, who rose from poverty in Scotland to become thrice the premier of Great Britain, died suddenly on Tuesday evening aboard the cruise ship, "Reina de Pacifico," en route for South America where the former British premier had hoped to seek rest and recuperate his health. In company with his daughter he sailed on Thursday last for South America.

During the summer of 1934 Mr. MacDonald and his daughter spent several weeks in Nova Scotia making their headquarters at the Pines Hotel, Digby. During this visit they took trips to various parts of the county and province, meeting everyday citizens in an every-day manner, winning their respect and friendships.

From Poverty

Mr. MacDonald rose from abject poverty to high office. In his closing years his life was saddened by the break with many old associates caused when they declined to follow him into the National Government and accused him of betraying Labor.

He fought to power with his party from practical obscurity in the pre-war years. He bitter opposed the war and resigned leadership of the Labor Party in the House of Commons to the late Arthur Henderson when the group decided to support it.

Mr. MacDonald was born Oct. 12, 1896, in a two-room thatched roof cottage in the little Scottish fishing village of Lossiemouth. At the age of 12 he had to quit school to earn his living in the fields.

As an adolescent his first job was addressing envelopes, and his next that of a warehouse laborer at 12 shillings a week. At lunch-time he read in free libraries and at night devoted to borrowed books, later taking correspondence courses and at times attending lectures.

Armistice Day in Digby

Yesterday, the nineteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, which brought to a close the Great War of 1914-1918, Digby citizens, at the annual Remembrance Day service, again paid tribute to their sons and to those who returned from the struggle and slaughter of those tragic war-torn years.

Promptly, at eleven o'clock, the two minutes of silence was reverently observed; the "Last Post" was sounded by Bandman, David Daley. This was followed by the placing of wreaths at the base of the monument.

The speaker was Major Maynard C. Denton, past president of the Digby Legion and Mayor of the Town of Digby. His worship, after paying tribute to those whose names are inscribed on the monument, and to 60,000 Canadian boys who paid the supreme sacrifice, spoke particularly to the children, telling them of the meaning of Remembrance Day; the significance of the two minutes of silence and of the red poppies they wore.

The service was opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Hodgson, pastor of Grace United Church. "O Canada" was played by the band before Major Denton's address, and this was followed by the beautiful hymn, "Abide with Me," by the band. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. Ernest M. Caldwell, rector of Holy Trinity Church. With the rendering of "God Save the King," the service was brought to an end.

The annual Armistice Day church service, attended by the members of the Legion, was observed last Sunday morning at St. Patrick's church. Rev. Father Murphy, P. P., delivering the address. The parade was headed by the band.

Last evening the annual Remembrance Day banquet of the Legion was held at the Bay of Fundy House, Cluloden. On Wednesday all returned men were guests of the Bijou theatre for the picture, "They Gave Him a Gun," especially procured by the management of the theatre for this occasion.

Yesterday morning members of the Legion, with other returned men, and town officials "fell in" at the Town Hall at 10:30 o'clock, and, shortly before 11:00 proceeded to the monument, where the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Brownies and school children had already taken their positions. Music was furnished by the Digby Civic Band under the leadership of Bandmaster Yates.

Mrs. Guy Brown, of Arlington, Annapolis County, was called here last week by the death of her brother, Milford Height.

The funeral service of the late Milford Height was held last Sunday afternoon from the United Church. Rev. C. U. Macnevin officiated. A very large number were present to pay their last respects to one who came to his death under such tragic circumstances.

"Campbellite" Refers to the Disciples of Christ

The term "Campbellite" refers to a member of the denomination called Disciples of Christ, so-called from Alexander Campbell (1788-1868), of Virginia, the founder of the sect, which, however, repudiates the name "Campbellites."

Alexander Campbell, a native of Antrim, Ireland, was educated at Glasgow University. He emigrated to the United States in 1809, and in 1811 received a license to preach from the Christian association, a religious organization founded by his father, Thomas Campbell, at Washington, Pa. In 1812, according to a writer in the Indianapolis News, he formed a connection with the Baptists and labored as an itinerant preacher principally in Pennsylvania, Virginia and Ohio. In 1826 he published a translation of the New Testament in which the words "baptism" and "baptist" gave place to "immersion" and "immerser." By his discussions and by the "Millennial Harbinger," Campbell gradually formed a large party, which about 1828 organized the Protestant sect known as Christians or Disciples of Christ. In 1841 he founded Bethany college in West Virginia, and never again returned to his native land. Others of his works are the Christian Messenger and Reformer, the Christian System, and Christian Baptism.

Ira Davis is a patient in the Digby General Hospital, suffering from gunshot wounds caused by the accidental discharge of his gun while at camp at Nigger Hill.

THE CLARE POULTRY POOL

A few weeks ago the Courier carried a paragraph telling of a recent large shipment of chickens from Meteghan Station to Halifax, by the Clare Poultry Pool.

About a year ago a senior poultry club, was formed in Clare, known as the "Clare Poultry Club, Urban Bellevue, of Bellevue's Cove, was elected president and A. L. Robicheau, of Meteghan, secretary. Members of this club purchased during the year in the vicinity of 1500 chicks. A junior club was also organized in the spring of this year.

During the tourist season members of both clubs sold cockerels in small lots locally.

and to dealers in Halifax; but after the season was over, little poultry was consumed in Digby and Yarmouth counties, and the members of the clubs decided to hold a pool in October to dispose of their surplus cockerels.

Proper methods of feeding and care were outlined to the members and poultry was killed and dressed by each individual; then taken to a central point, (Meteghan Station), for inspection and shipment. At Meteghan Station birds were graded by government inspectors.

Bids were received from several packing houses in Halifax, but one house, whose bid was slightly higher than the others, received the birds.

The pool was organized through the Marketing Branch, Halifax, with the co-operation of the Federal Poultry Branch, Truro, and sold through the Live Stock Co-operative, Moncton. Approximately 3,500 pounds of poultry were sold.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Higgins and family of Middleton, spent a few days last week with Miss Edith Letteney.

Editor's Vision To Be Realized on World Cruise

The above picture showing the Empress of Britain and Sydney's great harbor bridge reminds the dream of an Australian editor, who in making the composite picture from separate photographs at the time the bridge was opened could not have ever visualized the port "down under," captioned "Splendid Achievements" the picture showed the greatest single-span bridge ever built within the Empire and the ocean liner which, launched a year previously was, at the time, the largest ship built in the Empire since the war.

Now comes the announcement that the Empress of Britain will visit Sydney during her 1937 round-the-world cruise, and with it the realization that, when the ship is there next April at least, one editor's dream will have come true.

Not only Sydney will be visited while the big white liner is in the Antipodes; she will also take her cruise members to Melbourne and to the New Zealand ports of Wellington and Auckland. Her cruise starts from New York January 8 and will end there May 16. Until heading for Australia she will follow the usual world cruise course—Mozambique, Gibraltar, Algiers, Naples, Athens, Palestine, Egypt, India, Ceylon, the Straits Settlements, Siam and Hong Kong. Leaving New Zealand she will go to the Fiji Islands, also new territory for her. World Cruise, Honolulu, San Francisco, Los Angeles and the Panama Canal Zone.

cial traveller, whose territory covers the whole of Nova Scotia. A merchant in New Glasgow, he told me, had asked him, when he arrived in Digby, to try and get him (the merchant) three barrels of Digby scallops.

I don't know whether the traveller got the scallops or not, when I was talking with him he was on his way down to the wharf. But, he told me that was not the first time he had ordered for Digby scallops—and that he believed should he do any canvassing for them, he could sell at least one barrel in every town he calls.

I know myself that out of town friends whom I have taken scallops occasionally, appreciate them and consider them a "hard to get luxury". No doubt you have friends of your own who have asked that you "bring along a mess" of scallops when you come our way.

Of course I may be wrong, but, in my opinion, there is a fair market right here in Nova Scotia for Digby scallops for somebody with the initiative to go out and seek small orders for one, two or three barrels from retail markets in this province, he could build up a fair market right in this province, make a dollar for himself, and at the same time give the fishermen a little better price. Similar markets might be created in New Brunswick and other places.

As I say, of course I may be wrong—but, that's my idea.

DEER STRUCK BY CAR

On Friday evening of last week, while driving on the Lansdowne Road, William MacGregor, accompanied by Miss Aileen Seamone, of Bear River, noticed a deer feeding under an apple tree a short distance from the road. Attracted by the car lights the deer jumped into the path of the car and was struck down. It was badly injured and Mr. MacGregor summoned the game warden at Bear River who shot the animal. The car sustained slight damage.

HEALTH

Coughing is almost invariably a reflex act. It may occasionally be a neurotic or wilful act. In the vast majority of cases, the stimulus which originates the cough is situated in some region of the respiratory passages between the vocal cords and the tiny little terminal air cells in the lungs which are found at the end of the branches coming off the windpipe. This is called the bronchial tree.

The cause of the irritation in the respiratory passages is in the majority of cases either an inflamed or congested condition of the mucous membrane lining the passage or an excessive quantity of mucous secretion brought about by invading enemies called germs. Less frequent causes are haemorrhage in the lungs, inflammation in the larynx, pressure upon the windpipe by an enlarged thyroid gland situated like a horse shoe around the air passage in the neck, or foreign bodies in the throat or windpipe such as dust or particles of food.

The character of the cough varies with the cause and to some extent with the general state of health. The most obvious distinction in the quality of the cough is that between the moist or loose cough and the dry or hard cough. The loose cough indicates the successful removal of mucus from the air passages which in adults results in expectoration. Children usually swallow secretions which they cough up. The dry cough indicates the presence of an irritant which the cough is unable to remove from the air passages. The hard cough of the early stages of bronchial catarrh is usually followed by a loose cough consequent upon the production of mucus which is secreted by the inflamed membrane. It is most important that persons suffering from a dry hard cough be kept warm and free from chills or exposure in order that the inflammation which is present may not be permitted to progress to the point of invading the lung tissue and thus produce pneumonia.

A short, weak, frequently repeated dry cough is known as a hacking cough. It is due to a mild irritation in the upper air passage, a condition which if untreated, may become chronic. Inflammation of the larynx and vocal chords causes a barking cough which is usually ineffectual in removing any mucus.

Coughing is much more prevalent in winter than in summer because disease germs which are so frequently present in the mouth and nose flourish when the body is subjected to lower temperatures. It is, therefore, most important that in winter every effort be made to keep the body free from undue exposure to cold and wet. When a cough does develop stay indoors if at all possible, until all danger of developing a serious infection has passed. A neglected cough or cold accounts for a great many serious illnesses and a great many deaths. It doesn't pay to ignore a troublesome cough.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

1938 DODGE BEAUTIFUL! LAST WORD IN COMFORT

Says W. W. COLE, 4013 Dundas St., W., TORONTO

NEW 1938 DODGE CARS SAVE YOU MONEY AND PROVIDE GREATER SAFETY

W. W. COLE

Mr. Cole says: "I have driven 27 different cars in my day—the last five of them Dodge. . . Now my 1938 Dodge surpasses even the other great Dodges. . . the whole appearance of the car lends quality to the owner everywhere he drives. . . I am impressed with its even greater comfort . . . added response in steering and parking."

EASIER TO STEER

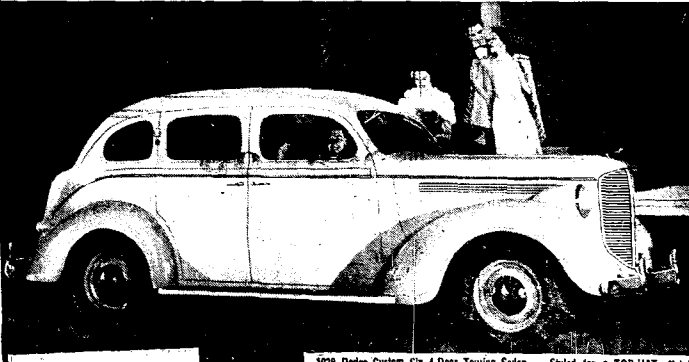

And here's what Mr. Eber Wright, who operates a taxi service in London, Ontario, says: "After purchasing three 1938 models, I find new improvements that make driving for a living an actual pleasure. The new Dodge is a lot easier to steer . . . sway on curves and corners completely eliminated. . . floats easily over bumps and rough country roads . . ."

RELAXED DRIVING CONTROL

Owners have found, however, that Dodge engineering research never ends and that the new 1938 Dodge cars are easier riding, quieter. . . About This and That Everybody is delighted to see that actual construction on the new theatre building, to be erected on the site of the Warner Block, destroyed by the disastrous fire of January 5, 1935, has commenced. Not only will this work give employment at a time when it is most needed, but it will add a modern block to the business section, filling in the gap that has been more or less of an eyesore ever since the fire.

From all I am able to learn the new building will be a decided credit to the town—a structure any town or city would be proud to have in the heart of its business section.

It has been many years since two business blocks have gone up in the town of Digby. The new Scotia Restaurant building, at the corner of Prince William and Birch Streets, built this spring and opened for business early this summer, has added much to the appearance of that section of the town—and now the new theatre building is under construction.

Building has been a lively business in Digby this year. In addition to the two blocks mentioned, numerous dwellings have been erected, the majority of them in town and several on the outskirts; six new bungalows were added to the "Pines" colony this spring, and at the present time a $50,000 addition is being put on the hotel proper; a large addition has been built on the wharf, and a great many buildings have been completely remodelled.

In our last edition a contributed article "Why Is Religion Losing Ground?" appeared. The following comment on this article has been received and we are giving it space in this column.

"In last week's issue of the Courier an article appeared under the title, 'Why Is Religion Losing Ground?' It is not my purpose here to criticize this article, but I do think the title is misleading. It reminds one of an answer that was given to a similar question many centuries ago. It is found in Ecclesiastes 7:10: 'Say not thou, What is the cause that the former days are better than these? for thou wilt not inquire wisely concerning this.' He did not inquire wisely because he was heaping the question. Instead of asking 'Why are they better?' he might very well

Across the Continent by Car

(By J. J. Wallis)

Early the next morning we started on our last leg to San Francisco. We were now on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada range and the ascent on this side of the mountain was quite steep. Every few miles we would come on an altitude sign indicating that we were a thousand feet higher than at the last sign, until we reached an altitude of 7,117 feet over, highest we had yet gone over. We had been on higher mountains but had gone around and through a wide variety of scenery in the temperate zone, and then we went right over the top. The peak had been excavated a few feet for the construction of the road and the only higher than us was a government building—an observatory, I think, on one side of the road. We now commenced to descend the Pacific slope. On this side the grade was so steep, it seemed to me, although I did not "clock" them, to be ten or twelve miles between signs. This slope was very interesting and carried us through a wide variety of scenery. At the peak there was not much vegetation; then came the evergreens and conifers, followed on the lower slopes by fruit and ornamental trees, common in the temperate zone, and then the palms, eucalyptus and others of the semi-tropical region. We were continually passing bungalows, small villages, tourist camps and trailer camp sites, many of the bungalows being summer residences of the city dwellers on the coast. The drive was very interesting, although the fact that it was one of the three rainy days we encountered on the trip limited our vision somewhat. The first large city we passed through was Sacramento. Here it was raining in torrents and we did not get a chance to see much of it. After leaving Sacramento and before reaching Oakland we were through several quite large cities—almost all with Spanish names—and quite a number of large ranches and stock farms between them.

We reached Oakland at noon and located my brother's home with very little trouble. Here we were disappointed to find the family—with the exception of my niece, who I saw for the first time—were at their summer home at Clear Lake Park, well over a hundred miles away. We got in touch with them by telephone—much to their surprise—and they urged us to continue. We left Oakland about three, after making a call on Capt. and Mrs. Irving Durkee, formerly of Yarmouth—old time friends. We crossed the Oakland Bridge into San Francisco, and, then the Golden Gate Bridge out of that city. Both bridges have been opened but a few months and they are the largest and finest bridges in the world. As I said before, it was about three o'clock—and it was Saturday afternoon. I knew it would be useless to hunt up "Bobby" Nichols at that time of the week, much as I wanted to, and as we knew we had some distance to go, much of it over mountains, we wanted to get along and get to Clear Lake as early as possible. The drive to Clear Lake was one of the most interesting on our trip. There were miles and miles of fruit lands, much of it vineyards. At Napa and St. Helena we were in possibly the largest wine-producing centre of America. At both places there are immense wineries or cellars, capable of holding millions of gallons of wine. I understand that originally this section was settled by wine producers of the European wine countries and much of the architecture follows the European style, especially as regards the big manufacturing plants and storage cellars. The grounds are all landscaped and the whole section is parklike in appearance. The highest mountain on this drive was the St. Helena Mountain. It is not more than 4,000 feet but its curves and grades are very sharp and abrupt. As long as we could see the scenery was splendid and we saw an exceptionally beautiful sunset. But there is very little twilight in these regions, and darkness overtook us before we got over the mountains. However, we kept on and eventually came to a village. Enquiring at a service station we found we still had about fifteen miles to go to reach Lower Lake. We continued and a short distance further on saw two deer (the first we had seen) cross the road a few feet ahead of us. We reached Lower Lake shortly before seven o'clock. I got out to ask how I could reach my brother's place—he owns a large summer hotel with almost forty cabins—and, attracted by a very savory smell of cooking, went into what I thought was a restaurant. It was, instead, a saloon, with a hot dog stand. The young lady behind the counter or bar, was preparing hot dogs, but there were three men at the bar and I addressed my enquiry to them. They were all pretty well "lit" and they all tried to tell me at once. After about five minutes I knew how to find my brother's place just about as good as when I went in, and finding I was getting nowhere, went back to the car. (I mention this incident because of something that happened some hours later). Going a little farther I went into a grocery store, and the clerk, after remarking that Capt. Wallis had been in the town only half an hour previously looking for a car he was expecting from San Francisco, told me it was too late to see, started to give me directions, when a customer who had been listening, came up to say he was going by Capt. Wallis', which was about six miles farther on, and he would lead us by the place. We gladly availed ourselves of his kindness.

We had a right royal reception, and after dinner Eleanor's cousin, a young man about her own age, asked her how she would like to take in a typical western dance, at Lower Lake. Of course she would, and so he and his wife and Eleanor went to town. And here's why I related the story of my enquiry at the saloon to such an extent. It seems that a young man had been drinking quite heavily—and from the description I think it was one of the three I had been talking to, and had been making a nuisance of himself in a number of places. At last a "bouncer" in one of them, put him out. He picked himself up swearing to get even, left for his home. Here he armed himself with a gun and returned to the place from which he had been expelled. The "bouncer" was playing a game of pool and was bent over the table when the drunk fired at him, the bullet entering his forehead and coming out the side of his face. He was badly hurt and fell. In the excitement of looking after the wounded man, his assailant fled and went to another resort. After the wounded man had been looked after and started on his journey to the hospital in San Francisco, the gunmen were taken to arrest where he was found out where he was and entered the place through a back door, with the command "Hands Up!" The gunman had laid his gun on the piano and was standing close to it. He seized it and fired at the deputy, hitting one of the gunman's wrists. Then both men fired a second shot simultaneously, each getting the other through the heart, both falling dead a few feet from each other. This all happened within a short distance of the hall where the dance was in progress, and Eleanor has been

APPLE DAY CAMPAIGN NETS GOOD PROFIT

Digby Boy Scouts and Cubs celebrated their success in the recent "apple day" campaign with a bean supper in the United Church hall, on Friday evening. It was the privilege of each scout to take another boy on this occasion.

Scoutmaster Raymond (Bud) Winchester presided over the gathering at which the local clergy, the press and others interested in scout work, were invited guests. It was announced that the scouts and cubs realized a profit of approximately $33 as the result of the campaign, this money to be divided equally between the scouts and cubs for camping purposes.

Prize winners for the campaign were announced: Prizes of $1.00 each were awarded to Bobby Winchester, of the Cubs, and Charles MacAulay, of the scouts, for the best sales of the day, and another prize of $1.00 to "Dutchy" Comeau, for selling the "mystery man."

Brief talks were given by Fritz Dakin, Rev. E. M. Caldwell and Rev. Dr. Hodgson. Mr. Dakin spoke on opportunities that are made for boys and opportunities boys make for themselves; Mr. Caldwell, in his address, urged the boys to "play the game according to the rules" and Dr. Hodgson advised the boys to live according to the Scout law.

Scoutmaster Winchester, with his assistants Kenneth Marjesson and Ralph Wright, and Cubmaster C. V. Turnbull, are doing a splendid work with the boys of this town.

REV. A. S. PAYZANT ACCEPTS NEW POST

Rev. Arthur S. Payzant, a summer resident of Joggin Bridge, who, for more than nine years was rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Beverly, Mass., announced his resignation to his parishioners last week. He will become associate rector of Boston's wealthy Emmanuel Church, Newbury St., late this month.

"Rev. and Mrs. Payzant have won the genuine affection of those who worshipped in St. Peter's church during his rectorship," declared the Beverly Evening Times.

Rev. Mr. Payzant attended King's College, St. Andrews, Scotland, and Dalhousie University, where he graduated as Master of Arts. In 1906 he entered the Episcopal school, at Cambridge, Mass., and received his divinity degree.

He was ordained to the deaconate in old St. Paul's, Halifax, and was on the staff of St. George's church, then the Trinity Memorial church, Erie, Pa. He married Miss Mary P. Payson, also a Dalhousie University graduate, and was rector of St. Paul's parish, in Cleveland, O., before going to Beverly.

VETERANS GATHER AT CHURCH POINT

On the evening of Remembrance Day a banquet was held at Riverside Inn for the ex-service men of Clare and Weymouth, about sixty attending. The toasts on the programme were: "Our Fallen Comrades," proposed by Comrade Denys Theriault, of Weymouth, and responded by Dr. Belliveau, of Meteghan; "the Legion," proposed by Pius LeBlanc, of Little Brook, and responded by E. J. Stehelin, of Church Point; "Our Allies," proposed by Fred Belliveau and responded by Capt. Paul H. Stehelin, of the Annapolis Royal regiment. Lieut. Col. Stanley Hallett addressed meeting which was presided over by Elie Comeau, of Meteghan.

How to Kill Your Town

Always cultivate the idea that you can do better in some other town.

Denounce your merchants because they are trying to make a living here.

Glory in the downfall of any man who has done much to improve your own town.

Get all you can out of the town and the merchants, but spend your money somewhere else.

Tell your merchants that you can buy elsewhere cheaper; you probably can't but charge them with being extortioners anyway.

Always believe everything that peddlers and specialty agents tell you and buy from them. You could no doubt, do better at your own stores but don't ever, ever do that.

If a stranger stops in town tell him to go on to the next place.

Call your merchants and the place where you live, as the meanest on earth.

Always have your mind firmly made up before you go into any of your home stores, that you simply can't get anything to suit you there.

And now after having religiously done all of the above, you ought to have the satisfaction of very shortly seeing your town reduced to a small burg with possibly a general store, a service station or two, and a post office.

All this may not have enhanced the value of your property any or improved your own living conditions, but you don't care.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT SAULNIERVILLE

Clare honored its war dead on Armistice Day with a special requiem High Mass, in the sacred Heart Church, at Saulnierville. Rev. J. Doucet officiating, with Rev. M. J. LeBlanc, of St. Alphonse, as deacon, and Rev. Fr. Hebert, of Church Point, as sub-deacon. Rev. A. Maillet, of Salmon River, and Rev. Fr. Gaudet, of Concession, were in the Sanctuary. The sermon was given by the pastor. The veterans occupied the front seats in the church.

In placing the wreaths on the monument in front of the church Rev. Father LeBlanc delivered the address.

CALLED TO WESTPORT

Rev. M. Charlton, now in St. John, has received and accepted a call to the Westport United Baptist church, to succeed Rev. H. C. Morgan, who resigned to take charge of the Baptist church at Waterville. Mr. Charlton will enter upon his duties in a few days. He is a returned missionary from the Congo and had to give up that work because the climate did not agree with his wife.

Survivor of the retreat from Mons and never left a day in his life, Percy Layzell, of Sudbury England, died within ten minutes after being attacked by a swarm of wasps.

Child Welfare Conferences are held each Friday afternoon in the Victorian Order Nurses' office at the Court House. All mothers, with children from infant to school age, are invited to bring them. It has been proven that supervision during this age does much to eliminate sickness and faulty habits during school life. Time, from 2 p.m. to 5.30 p.m.

The Victorian Order Nurse may be procured at Mrs. George Peters'—telephone 22.

ORDER OF GOOD CHEER

The executive of the Order of Good Cheer, of Annapolis Royal, are pleased to announce that they have secured the services of Reginald V. Harris, K. C., to speak to the Order at the November meeting. Mr. Harris was unable to come for the regular night, namely, Thursday, the 18th, but has agreed to speak on November 26, in the Town Hall, at Annapolis Royal. Mr. Harris is well and favourably known as an after dinner speaker, and has chosen as his subject one that should be of interest to the citizens of Annapolis and the surrounding vicinity, his subject being, "Oak Island and Captain Kidd's Treasure."

It is the earnest wish of the Order of Good Cheer that as many of the men of the community as can, take advantage of this opportunity of hearing Mr. Harris.

BROTHERHOOD DECIDES TO SPONSOR XMAS CHEER

At their first supper meeting of the season, members of the Brotherhood of Grace, United church, on Tuesday evening, decided unanimously to sponsor Christmas Cheer in Digby again this season. Officers of the Brotherhood were appointed a committee to interview members of other organizations to seek their co-operation. Last Christmas the Brotherhood sponsored the Christmas Cheer for the first time at the request of officials of the town, and enjoyed the whole-hearted support of all the churches and charitable organizations.

Officers elected were:

President—H. Milton Turnbull
Vice-President—Kenneth Margeison
Secretary-Treasurer—Kenneth Beckwith

Following the supper and brief musical program at which Harry Beaman was "master of ceremonies", the meeting was turned over to James J. Wallis, editor of the Digby Courier, who delivered an illustrated address on his recent motor trip across the continent. Mr. Wallis stated he would only be able to touch the "high spots", and spoke principally on conditions in the drought areas of Saskatchewan as he saw them, and on his visit to Salt Lake City.

With reference to Saskatchewan he said that unless one has seen the country it is impossible to realize the conditions. The appeals that come from Saskatchewan are by no means exaggerated.

He told of a farmer who this year sowed 500 bushels of seed wheat, and harvested 100 bushels; of farms where there had been practically no crops for nine years; of once fertile prairies that have now turned to deserts; of abandoned farms and schools. One thing, he said, the people living in the dried-out areas expressed a wish for "a good mess of Nova Scotia dried fish."

(We trust our friends in the fishing sections of the county will remember that when next they pack a bale to send to Saskatchewan.—Editor Courier.)

Old-Fashioned Party—Come to the Old-Fashioned Party in an old-fashioned costume, on Friday, the 26th, at the Court House, for the benefit of the Victorian Order of Nurses. If you're not old-fashioned minded put on your best bib and tucker and come away.—Mrs. J. R. McCleave and Mrs. H. M. Warne, convenors.—Tickets, 35 cents.

Narrow Escape from Death

Suffering terribly from pressure, water and shock, Earl Casey, 30-year-old Port Wade fisherman and temporary master of Capt. Ansel Casey's scallop boat Odessa L., was admitted to the Digby General Hospital shortly after noon on Tuesday, after going down 120 feet in the waters of the Bay of Fundy, some ten miles off Digby Gut.

In some manner, just as the heavy drags were being dropped over the side of the boat, the chain of the drag wrapped itself around Casey's ankle, taking him over with it.

Fellow shipmates did not see Casey go over, but one of them—Clifford McGrath—missed him immediately, and called out "Earl's gone; haul in the drags."

Immediately the hoisting engine was reversed, but not until 20 fathoms of cable to which the drags were attached, had been paid out. When the drags came to the surface, Casey, held fast by the chain, came up with them. He was taken on board and rolled over a barrel to get the water out of his lungs. The boat then turned about and headed for Digby, where Dr. McCleave was summoned and the victim rushed to the hospital.

He escaped physical injury but suffered considerable pain due to the pressure of the water at so great a depth. He also took in considerable water as the result of his immersion.

Due to ill health of the owner, Capt. Ansel Casey, Earl Casey has been in command of the Odessa L. all this season. On Tuesday, the craft, which usually carries a crew of four, left Port Wade, short-handled, one of the regular crew being ill. The crew comprised Earl Casey, Maurice Haynes and Clifford McGrath.

Earl Casey's Own Story

"The chaps on the boat say the chain wrapped around my foot, and I went over the side with the drags," he said. "They don't know just what happened, and I'm not positive myself, but the accident was not caused by any chain around my ankle, although something must have tripped me and as I fell over the side of the boat I grabbed the bar across the nets just as they struck the water and held fast until I was brought to the surface again."

"It is hard to say what I thought about as I went down, but I know I thought plenty. I wasn't afraid—things happened too quick to be scared—that is, I wasn't afraid while under the water, but I was plenty scared when I got back on the boat again."

"I knew when the driving engine was thrown out of gear, and I could hear the churning of the propellers right above me. I knew, too, when the hoisting engine was reversed to haul in the drags. I knew when the drags came above water, but haven't the slightest idea when or how they got me aboard the boat again—the next thing I knew I was being rolled over a barrel. I just 'passed out' when I came to the surface again, and guess another half-minute would have finished me."

"The boys told me I was under the water about four minutes but it seemed much longer than that to me."

Asked about the depth he sank with the drags, Casey had "no idea how deep, but it was deep enough."

It is said twenty fathoms of cable, (which, in landsman's language is 120 feet), had been paid out before the hoisting was reversed to haul in the drags. Of course, that would not mean the drags attached to the cable went straight down 120 feet; the drags are dropped over the stern and towed along by the boat; but as they weigh several hundred pounds they would sink rapidly in spite of this.

Casey said he had a "death grip" on the bar and didn't believe he could be pried loose at any time while under water. He said he "felt squeezed by the pressure and could feel it loosening as he came up to the surface."

As a result of his experience Casey was "slightly hard of hearing" Wednesday morning but that has since worn off to a great extent. When taken on board the boat he was bleeding from several parts of his body.

HOME FROM BOSTON

Alfred A. Shortliffe, well known Digby merchant and former mayor of the town, is convalescing here. Accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. George Abramson, and Mr. Abrahamson, he returned to Digby from Boston on Tuesday, after having been a patient in the Deaconess Hospital, Brookline, for some weeks. He had been in ill health for many months and went to Boston early in the summer, where, due to the nature of his illness, it was found necessary to amputate his right leg just above the knee. He is progressing nicely and hopes to soon be around again.

Personal Mention

Little "Bobby" Woolaver was admitted to the Digby General Hospital early this week and underwent a serious operation for appendicitis. The little chap's appendix had ruptured.

A. D. Sulis, of Smith's Cove, is making a good recovery from the serious accident sustained by him on the 4th, when, while helping a man he had employed cutting down a tree, he was struck in the leg by the man's axe, which flew off the handle. It will be remembered that he walked home and reached there almost at the point of death through loss of blood. He will be confined to his home for some time yet.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Anderson spent a few days this week in Saint John.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Kirkpatrick were visitors to Halifax during the week.

Dr. Dickie, who was called to Steviacke by the death of his mother, has returned.

George Bailey, of Saint John, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Syda.

Miss Eva G. Haynes, of the Courier staff, is spending her vacation in Saint John.

James Wamback, of the crew of the East LaHave scalloper, Violetta G., fishing out of this port, is a patient in the Digby General Hospital.

BAND NOTES

James "Ted" Dakin, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Digby Music Council, has taken over the duties of C. L. Bowditch, until the directors meet to appoint a new executive. Mr. Rowley has been secretary-treasurer since organization in 1932.

Twenty Digby people attended the Minstrel Show and Band Concert given by the Princess Louise Fusiliers, at Bridgetown, Armistice night. This is perhaps the finest band in eastern Canada. Glen Bailey played with them all last summer and Bobbie Weir is now a member.

Extraordinary expenses, for uniforms and other equipment, during the year, have put the band "on the spot" to secure funds enough to carry on, but it is hoped that the series of "POP" concerts planned for the first Thursday night in each month will be "popular" in every sense, and will receive well-merited support. Popular concerts, known everywhere as "POPS" have been presented for years at certain seasons by the great orchestras and bands in the States. Programs are carefully arranged to please everybody, with a mixture of music and variety, and the prices are popular also—about half the usual rate. The Civic Band is diligently rehearsing a subdued volume of tone so that sensitive ears will be delighted with their music. See advertisement.

Sale Tomorrow—A Rummage and Pantry Sale will be held at the old Scotia Restaurant, tomorrow afternoon, the doors opening at 1.00 o'clock. The proceeds are for the benefit of the United Baptist church.

It must be REGAL

"SORRY, but the flour must be REGAL. It may seem fussy, when flours all look so much alike, to insist on one particular brand; but REGAL is reliable, always the same, and if you spent as much time baking bread as I do, Mr. Grocer, I think you'd insist on REGAL, too. You'll get it for me? That will be fine."

SILVER FOX PELTS

Why not market your Silver Fox Pelts through your own Provincial Organization? It was organized, is owned, operated and controlled solely by fox ranchers in this Province.
It markets on the consignment plan, all pelts being carefully graded and letted by experienced fur men to suit the markets to which they are shipped, and all these pelts are carefully DRUM-CLEANED before shipment is made. All this service is given and all carriage and insurance paid and is covered by one small handling charge, no extra separate charges.

In addition to these advantages, this Association gives advice to its members, along all lines of Fox Ranching, and gives Ranch Field Service free for the asking.
You can also obtain your fox feeds at a more reasonable rate by ordering carload lots through us than by buying through the regular channels.

Local and General

Sewing Session — The Bear River Women's Institute held a sewing session at the home of Mrs. Fred R. Harris yesterday afternoon.

Clothing for Saskatchewan — A box of much needed clothing for Saskatchewan was packed in the Baptist vestry on Wednesday and shipped on Thursday.

CALL TO BEAR RIVER

The Maritime Baptist says: Rev. George D. Bryden, now of Springfield, N. S., has been called to the Bear River Church, whose pastorate has been made vacant by the retirement of Rev. S. F. Slattery a few months ago. Mr. Bryden will find ample scope for his energies in the Bear River field which has been extended to include adjoining areas in which there are great possibilities.

SUNBEAM BAND SALE

The Sunbeam Mission Band of the United Church held a very successful pantry sale and sale of fancy work, etc., on Saturday afternoon last at the home of the superintendent, Mrs. H. Harris. Dorothy Rice and Alice Haslam had charge of the food table; Linda Banks and Betty Smith, the fancy work booth; Margaret Roach and Maxine Rice the candy booth; Louise and Mary Barbara Woodworth, Florence Davis, Marjorie Cress, Shirley Kraut had charge of the tea tables. The proceeds were for foreign missions.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE SERVES BANQUET

The Bear River Women's Institute were privileged, on Armistice Day to cater to the banquet served to the members and friends of the Veterans of the Great War. This is the first time for some years that the banquet has been held in Bear River; for the past few years the members have gone to Annapolis Royal or Digby joining with other branches of the Legion in those towns. The banquet held here was an unqualified success, there being a good attendance and an atmosphere of happy jollity throughout the evening. The funds of the Women's Institute will benefit largely through this activity as each and every member, as well as a number of interested friends, donated very generously so that the actual outlay was very moderate. To all those who helped in any way, the Women's Institute extends sincere thanks. The head committee was under the competent chairmanship of Mrs. W. M. Romans, president of the Institute.

Guild Meeting — St. John's Guild met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Harrow.

Ladies' Circle — The Ladies' Circle of the Baptist church met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Chester Kaubach.

Badminton Club — Badminton Club opened for play on Tuesday afternoon of this week, with the first business meeting last evening.

Taken Over Store — Lloyd Sanford has taken over the general store on Main Street, formerly operated by Floyd Rice, and will continue the business at the same stand.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Women's Missionary Society of the Bear River United Baptist church, was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. Clarke on Thursday afternoon of last week with a large number attending and the president, Mrs. R. A. Harris, presiding. A short devotional service was held, several hymns sung, minutes read and roll called, after which the following programme was rendered:

Vocal Duet — Mrs. R. H. Purdy and Mrs. Laura Litchfield.
Vocal Quartette — Mrs. Litchfield, Miss Forbes, Mrs. R. Purdy and Mrs. Burton Harris.
Duet — "Lead Kindly Light" — Mrs. Purdy and Mrs. B. Harris.

A committee with Mrs. Roop as convener, was appointed to look after packing a box of clothing to send to the needy in the West.

It was also decided to send a box of Christmas Cheer to a family in Princeville.

The meeting closed with the "Mizpah Benediction".

THE OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

The Older Boys' Conference for the counties of Annapolis and Digby was held in Clements-ville over the week end and was attended by over fifty boys and leaders. The Conference was under the direction of Rev. E. V. Forbes, of Shubenacadie, who was assisted by Rev. R. C. Eaton, of Bridgetown; Rev. J. A. Armstrong, of Middleton; Rev. M. R. Ewing, of Lawrencetown, and Whitney Dalrymple, of Bridgetown.

Rev. T. W. Howarth, of Clements-ville, was registrar, assisted by Otis Sanford.

The sessions were held from Friday evening until Sunday evening, the Saturday evening program being a banquet provided by the ladies of the Baptist church, at which a fine toast list was carried through by the boys. The Sunday evening service was closed by an impressive Fellowship Circle. The officers were: Grand Preter — John Redden, Deputy Grand Preter — Ronald Hutchinson.

Grand Scriptor — Gerald Phinney, Grand Comptroller — Russell Bishop.

Those in attendance were: Francis Marshall, John Hamilton, Franklin Hicks, Gerald Davis, Robert Leslie, Geo. Kennedy, Reginald Burns, Ronald Hutchinson, James Hardy, of Bridgetown; Enslay Gavel, Alfred Shoghliffe, Scott Haight, Dean Anderson, of North Bay, Gordon Long and Douglas Rockingham, of Deep Brook; Dennis Benson and Clarence Miner, of Paradise; Buddy Whitman, Russell Bishop, Willy Whitman, Russell Ewing and Robert Bishop, of Lawrencetown; Harold Morehouse, of Centreville; John Redden, Gerald Phinney, Gerald Goddard, Millard Wright and Clarence Black, of Middleton; Elwood Stephens and Lawrence Henshaw, of Bear River; Lawson Oickle, Robert Potter, Carl Potter, Vernon Porter, Donald Robbins, Jack Berry and Alfred Berry, of Clements-ville; Wendell Jeffery, of Digby; Harry Crowell, Alton Williams, Ralph Sheehy and Donald Smith, of Shubenacadie.

Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Lovett returned from Lockport on Wednesday.

Dr. A. B. Campbell attended the meeting of the Valley Medical Society, at Bridgetown, on Friday last, at which Dr. Morse, recently returned from China, gave a most interesting talk on the conditions of practice in that country. Dr. Morse is a brother of Dr. L. R. Morse, of Lawrence, town.

At Home 20 Weeks With Rheumatism

Wife Feared Husband Would Never Work Again

When her husband had been at home 20 weeks with rheumatism in his back, this woman began to think he would never work again. At last, she said to him: "Let's try Kruschen," and the change that took place was in her own words, "like a miracle." Here is her letter: "My husband is subject to rheumatism and suffered terribly with his back. Some time ago I had him in the house 20 weeks with it. I really didn't think he would ever work again. We tried all the different kinds of salts you could mention but none of them did him any good. Then I said, 'Let's try Kruschen.' Since then, we have proved Kruschen Salts to be worth its weight in gold. My husband is back at his job, thanks to Kruschen. The change it made is like a miracle." (Mrs. B.)

One of the most effective solvents of uric acid crystals known to science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals and convert them into a harmless solution, which is then expelled through the natural channels.

PHILATHEA CLASS

The monthly meeting of the Philathea Class of the United Baptist church, was held in the vestry of the church on Tuesday evening of last week, the president, Mrs. Vernon McCormick, presiding. After the devotional and business periods a very pleasing program was rendered:

Hymn — Onward, Christian Soldiers.
Class Poem — Miss Doris Sanford.
Chorus — "Forward!"

Reading — "The Martyred Mother" — Miss Alice Forbes.

Reading — "The Accident" — Mrs. L. E. Roop.

Temperance Play — "The Pact"

Myrna — Mrs. Carl Parker.
Ruth — Miss Alice Forbes.
Boys — Miss Louise Harris.

Ann — Mrs. Waldo Chute.
Alex — Mrs. Vernon McCormick.
Dick — Mrs. Russell Harris.
Burr — Mrs. Burton Harris.

After the program delicious refreshments were served. The meeting closed with "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

ENGLISH TOLERANCE

An example of broadminded outlook is seen in the architectural arrangements of Liverpool's two big cathedrals.

The Anglican cathedral, begun in 1901, will take another 20 years to finish. More than five million dollars has already been spent on it and it will cost ten million altogether.

The Roman Catholic cathedral will cost fifteen million dollars to complete and will be the biggest cathedral in the world.

But here is the interesting point: The architect of the Anglican cathedral, Sir Giles Scott, is a Roman Catholic; that of the Roman Catholic cathedral, Sir Edwin Lutyens, is a Protestant.

Mrs. Clarence Mason spent Saturday in Digby.

Mrs. Evelyn Mosher, principal of the school, was at her home in Waterville over the week end.

Miss Ethel Spurr, R. N., returned to Lynn recently, after spending several months with her father, S. A. Spurr.

John Rand, King's College, visited his father, Rev. C. C. Rand, over the week end.

Mrs. Frank Bishop entertained the W. M. A. S. of the Baptist church, at their regular meeting on Thursday afternoon of last week.

Mrs. W. D. Rice, Nictaux, with her little son, spent a recent week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Adams.

Inspector L. W. Black, Truro, is here this week sealing Dittmars Swede Seed for R. V. Dittmars & Son, and the Spurr group. This year's crop will total more than eight tons, of which the greater part is put up in pound packages.

Mrs. A. G. Sully, Miss Mary Sully and H. E. Sully attended the marriage of the former's grandson, Harold Sully, Digby, to Miss Rena K. Frude, Conway, last week.

Ladies' Aid — The Ladies' Aid of the United Church met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Earl McCormick.

Malcolm Tibert, Little River, was in town on Sunday. On his return home he was accompanied by his sister, Ray, who has been spending several weeks at the Commercial House.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dunlap have recently returned from a delightful trip around the South Shore, particularly at Sable River, where they visited old friends and renewed acquaintances.

Mrs. H. R. Kinney went to Middleton on Thursday last, where she visited her cousin, O. P. Goucher, then going to Digby on Monday to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Mae Morse, returning home the latter part of this week.

Obituary

Mrs. John Peck
The death of Mrs. Ella S. widow of the late John Peck, of Greenland, took place at her home in Bear River, on Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Peck was born 77 years ago in Clements-ville, the daughter of the late Ephraim and Jane Long. She is survived by nine children: Louise, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Harry Beeler, Tate, Saskatchewan; Mrs. Doris Jack, Bear River; Homer, North Wapole, New Hampshire; Willard, Buzzard's Bay, Mass.; Vernon, Orland and Enoch, at home; also Ira Grey, Arlington, Oregon, by a previous marriage; and one sister, Mrs. Effie Cook, Sharon, Mass. Following prayers at the home the service was conducted by Rev. C. P. Henderson, in the Baptist church, of which she had been a member for many years. Burial was in the family lot at Clements-ville.

WISH I'D KNOWN OF THIS EASY QUAKER METHOD OF BAKING 20 YEARS AGO... I'D HAVE SAVED MYSELF A LOT OF TIME AND TROUBLE

To-day, thanks to Quaker Flour and the Quaker Method, you can make the softest bread—twice as easily and in half the time.

There's no need to knead with the Quaker Method, and it's not necessary to set the sponge overnight. It's economical too, as it prevents expensive failures. Send the coupon below for all particulars.

Quaker Flour is not just ordinary flour. It is made by the makers of Quaker Oats from carefully selected grain, blended and milled for better baking results. It is an all-purpose flour—equally as good for cakes and pastries as for bread.

ROOM AT THE TOP

Joos may be short these days in the professions as well as the trades, but there is still an unfiled need for men and women of outstanding ability and training, so says William R. White, New York state superintendent of banks in an address before Bucknell College students.

This, of course, is simply another way of phrasing the old saying that "there's always room at the top," and the old saying is just as true now as it always was. The really superior person can always make a place for himself.

But only a few of us, unfortunately, are really superior persons. It is the opening for the average person that we are interested in; and unless there is some assurance that an ordinary intelligence and skillful youth can have an ordinarily good chance of finding a job for himself when he starts out, young colleagues—and other youngsters—as well—may eye the future with misgiving.

SMITH'S COVE

Miss Cenith Thomas is visiting in Annapolis Royal.

Mrs. W. Nesbitt, of Rossway, was a guest of her aunt, Miss Janet M. Cornwell, on Friday.

Mrs. Lewis Cattle, of Truro, is spending some time at the home of her brother, Arthur Cornwell.

Sadie Kerr, of Lansdowne, was in the village on Friday.

Arthur Sully is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Rice, of Lansdowne, spent Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Clifford Robbins.

"Remembrance Day" was fittingly observed in Temperance Hall. Rev. C. E. Rockingham was chairman of the meeting, which opened with "O Canada" followed by the Flag salute and pledge. Prayer by Mr. Rockingham was followed by scripture reading and prayer by Rev. F. E. Bishop, and an address to the school children as future citizens by Rev. A. W. L. Smith.

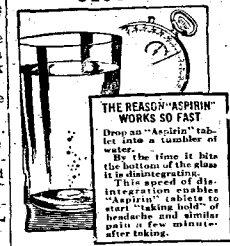

A wreath was placed on the temporary altar by Veteran James Barton, which after the service, was taken to the lower Cossitt cemetery and placed on the monument of the D'Arcy family.

The singing of a couple of hymns, followed by the benediction and the National Anthem, brought the meeting to a close. The music was in charge of Miss F. Austin.

The November meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Miss Cenith Thomas, with the president, Mrs. E. Payson, in the chair. Routine business was followed by the appointment of new conveners of committees for the ensuing year. The reply to the roll call

HEADACHE REMEDY

STARTS WORKING IN SECONDS

All people who suffer occasionally from headaches ought to know this way to quick relief.

At the first sign of such pain, take two "Aspirin" tablets with a half glass of water. Sometimes if the pain is unusually severe, one more tablet is necessary later, according to directions.

If headaches keep coming back we advise you to see your own physician. He will look for the cause in order to correct it.

"Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Obituary

Mrs. Alice A. Dickie

Throughout the province there will be sincere sorrow at the news of the passing, in Stewiacke, on Saturday last, of Alice A. Dickie, widow of Alfred Dickie, in her 78th year. Death occurred at the home of her son, Rufus E. At many places in Nova Scotia will there be regrets at the passing of a lady, who, by her many fine qualities, drew a large circle of friends. Deeply interested in every work of the United Church, the activities of the Sunday School were particularly close to her heart, and she was also identified with the work of the W. M. S. Her interest was of a practical nature and included willingness to take an active part in the work. Born at Canard, Kings County, she was the daughter of the late Edwin and Rachael Dickie. It was a matter of deep regret to her immediate family, and many friends, that for the past two years she had been in failing health. Surviving her are two sons, Rufus E., of Stewiacke, and Dr. W. R. Dickie, of Digby; and one daughter, Ethel, (Mrs. Roy H. Foss), of Montreal. There are four brothers, Arthur and Fred, of Canard; Harry, of Truro, and Frank, of Winnipeg.

MASONIC

Last Monday evening a Re-Dedication service for the Free, Masons of Digby and Bear River was held with King Solomon Lodge, of Digby. A like service was held at many points in the jurisdiction every year on the registry of Nova Scotia taking part. In Digby there was a large attendance of members of King Solomon and The Keith lodges, with a number of visitors from other lodges. The service was presided over by Joshua Height, Master of King Solomon Lodge and he was assisted by several past grand officers. After the closing of the lodge a banquet was served.

HOCKEY

A hockey meeting to establish a junior league in Western Nova Scotia, was held in Bear River on Monday, at the Grand Central Hotel. The towns of Digby, Annapolis Royal and Bear River were represented and the Junior League of Western Nova Scotia was formed. Bridgetown, the other prospect, is yet to be consulted and it is hoped that this team will also be in the League. L. A. Hayden was elected president. The schedule has yet to be drawn up.

The Digby Ravens have a much stronger team this season having a number of new players. Those expected to turn out for practice are:

Goal—A. Golden
Defence—B. Baxter, P. Wilson, G. Sanford, R. Trimper, B. Sanford.
Centres—L. Theriault, M. Perkins.
Left Wing—F. Raymond, M. Sanford.
Right Wing—K. Raymond, C. Sanford.

The Ravens elected Bernet Baxter as manager; Lon. Theriault, captain; Clyde Sanford, president, and Bill Eldridge, coach.

Marriages

MacKay - Nichols

An interesting wedding took place at Deep Brook, on Wednesday last week, when Alice Woodman, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Godey G. H. Nichols, of Acadiaville, was united in marriage to Arthur S. MacKay, son of Mrs. Percy MacKay, of the same place. The officiating clergyman was Rev. F. R. Bishop, late pastor of the Hill Grove United Baptist church of which the contracting parties are members. The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. Bishop and was witnessed by only the near relatives of the couple. The bride, who was unattended, was becomingly attired in a gown of rust flat silk crepe with matching accessories. After the ceremony the happy couple returned to the bride's home where supper was served, after which they left on a honeymoon trip to Halifax and other points of interest.

Crusade Meeting.—The annual crusade meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society, will be held in the United Baptist church, Weymouth North, on Thursday evening, November 25th, at 7.45 o'clock. The program will consist of several missionary dialogues and a missionary reading. Rev. C. U. MacNevin will show lantern slides on the Life of Christ and also some views of China. A silver offering will be taken.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SELF-TIMERS

You can take a picture of the family picnic and be in it yourself by using a self timer.

THE question is often asked, "Is there any way that I can take a snapshot of my friends and include myself in the picture?"

There certainly is a way and a simple one. Use a self timer.

A self timer is a most fascinating little gadget and almost human in its operation. It is an inexpensive accessory that fits over the metal button, or plunger, at the end of the cable release, which you press to take a snapshot with a folding camera. It cannot, however, be used unless the camera is fitted with a cable release.

Here is how it works. First you locate your subject in the finder and at the same time plan the space you will occupy when you step into the picture.

Suppose you want to take a picture of a group on a picnic or at the beach. You will have to have the camera on a tripod, table or something solid. Locate the group in the finder—and be sure you can see the spot you will occupy or you may be among those missing when the prints are returned.

When the lens aperture is set at the proper opening with the correct shutter speed, the same as if you were going to snap the picture yourself, get the self timer for the length of time it would take you to get to your place in the group. Slip the self timer over the button at the end of the cable release and press the little release lever on the timer. It starts buzzing away, you rejoin the group and then—click—it has taken the picture and you're in it!

You can purchase a self timer attachment from almost any store that sells photographic supplies. They are not expensive and last a lifetime.

Some cameras have self timers incorporated in the shutter construction, so if you have this type of camera and have never used the self timer you have missed a lot of fun and picture taking opportunities.

have asked "Are they better?" That these days are worse than the former days is by no means a foregone conclusion.

Before we consider the question, "Why Is Religion Losing Ground?" we should ask ourselves, "Is Religion Losing Ground?" There are always a few prophets of doom who are ready to herald the advent of evil over good, and to inform us that religion is slowly but surely dying out. Some of us, however, are not in the least impressed by such statements. In the meantime, the great tides of religion surge on. We are not fighting a losing battle. That would offer little encouragement to the younger generation, many of whom are ready to give their support to some religious program. We are not calling upon people to link up with a dying cause. The heaven has not yet spent itself, nor is it at all likely to do so. "He hath sounded forth His trumpet that shall never sound retreat . . . our God is marching on!"

METEGHAN

Rev. Father Bellefontaine, P. of East Pubnico, was a guest at the Glebe house one day last week.

Raymond Comeau, of West Pubnico, visited his niece, Mrs. Patrick P. Gaudet, on Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Edward E. Saulnier spent several days last week at her old home in Meteghan Station, while her mother, Mrs. James Geddy, was visiting Mrs. Moise LeBlanc, of Church Point, who was seriously ill.

Mrs. Lionel Melanson and her daughter, Leona, of Meteghan River, left last week for Miami, Florida, to spend the winter with Mr. Melanson, who has been employed there for some years. They will also visit on their way relatives and friends in Boston and Mystic, Conn., where twin sisters of Mrs. Melanson reside.

L. N. Seaman was registered at the Royal recently.

Rev. Father Comeau, the curate, is organizing a boys' choir for the Christmas music.

The marriage of Fred A. Le-

Blanc, son of the late Alphé M. LeBlanc, of Meteghan Centre, to Miss Elizabeth Gaudet, a daughter of Lewis Gaudet, was announced by banns publication on Sunday.

Miss Corinne Deveau spent a couple of weeks recently with her brother, Thomas, in Digby.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry d'Entremont were visiting relatives and friends in West Pubnico recently.

Last Friday was the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Basil B. Robichoud, and a large gathering of relatives and friends spent a pleasant evening with them.

Valery Comeau died quite suddenly at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ben. H. LeBlanc, on Saturday night.

Bernard German, who has been confined to his bed with typhoid fever for some weeks, is improving slowly.

Mrs. Ambrose M. LeBlanc who is over 80 years of age, was quite seriously hurt in a fall recently.

around newspapers enough to be quite a newspaper woman, and she got a big thrill out of getting the news to bring home. I naturally expected to see great headlines in the San Francisco papers the next morning—but although I went through them carefully, not only that morning but every day I could get them for a week, I did not find a word about it. I have read many Western fiction stories in which there has been much bloodshed, and have smiled inwardly at what I thought were impossible situations in regard to gunplay, but now I think the writers must have known the western mind better than I did.

On our way to Clear Lake we passed prune orchard after prune orchard where the ground was covered with prunes. In the stores at Clear Lake—typical country stores—I mentioned this and was told that the fruit was shaken off and left to rot deliberately. The "big interest" had stocked all the fruit they wanted for the season. There had been a big crop and if the whole crop were placed on the market the price would drop, so they sent men out to offer the grower so much for his crop as it stood on the trees. On the acceptance of the offer men were sent into the orchards and the fruit was shaken from the trees and left to rot. "Well," I asked, suppose the grower does not accept the offer? "That would be just too bad for him," I was told. "because that night or in a night or two at least, a truckload of men would arrive, shake down his trees, trample the fruit so that it could not be used, and he would get nothing for it. If he resisted he would likely get a beating thrown in." Talk about racketeering!

Probably that is one of the reasons for the growth of Communism and Socialism in the Western States.

Another enjoyable experience we had at Clear Lake was a motor boat trip on the lake during which we landed on an island where we picked ripe figs and pomegranates and saw many varieties of cacti.

CLEAN HANDS

To keep the hands clean by regular washing, and not to touch foods without having given the hands a good washing with plenty of good soap and warm water and using a nail-brush, is one of the most practical means whereby we may protect ourselves and others against communicable disease.

The whole purpose of hand-washing is often defeated by the wash-basin. The only sanitary way to wash is in running water. Most wash-basins, however, are constructed with two taps—hot and cold—each with a separate spout. This makes it practically impossible to wash in running water as the water which comes out of the taps is either very hot or very cold.

Strange to say, most baths are equipped with a common spout, so that, by adjusting the flow of two taps, the right temperature is secured. It is, however, rather awkward to use the bath when washing the hands. Why put the type of equipment on the bath which is really needed on the basin, not on the bath?

Wash-basins are provided with stoppers in order that hot and cold water may be mixed. The objection to this is that you not only wash in the dirt which comes off your hands, but also in what may have been left by previous washers. It is quite possible that your hands, after such washing, may not be as free from germs as they were before you started.

The mouth, from the point of view of disease germs, is the dirtiest and most dangerous part of the body. The wash-basin, which receives the rinsings from the mouths of the family as they clean their teeth, is more than likely to be badly soiled with any and all of the germs present in the mouths of each member of the family. The wash-basin that is used for teeth-cleaning is not safe to wash in until it has been disinfected.

Bad as the wash-basin may be in the home, the public wash-basin is infinitely worse because it is used by greater numbers of persons. Also, many public wash-basins, in order to save water and overflowing, have spring taps that resist any effort the individual may make to wash or rise his hands in running water. Trains, at least, do provide a separate basin for brushing the teeth.

The dirt we can see is, generally speaking, not dangerous. The real danger lies in the invisible dirt—secretions of the body—which carries with it the germs of disease; for example, the saliva deposited on the common drinking-cup. It would seem reasonable, from all we know, to say that hands should be washed in running water—the way the surgeon prepares his hands before an operation—and that all wash basins should be equipped to make this possible.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

PETROLEUM INDUSTRY OVERTAXED

The petroleum industry, along with other industries, has always been willing to support both a reasonable and equitable tax program. But when discriminatory taxation reaches the point when the taxes paid annually by a single industry equal the total annual payroll, it is time that effective steps were taken to combat a situation that soon only end in economic disaster.

As collectors of the gasoline tax, filling station operators, large and small, may labor under the delusion the public is paying the tax bill and the vendor himself is not losing any money in the operation. That is not the case. When one-third of the amount the customer pays goes to the government, a good portion of that third would otherwise go into the purchase price of more petroleum products.

No one disputes that governments must levy taxes. But in recent years there has been a tendency either to make it too much or to shift more of the load on the back of industry.

Unfortunately political reasons have sometimes been back of such policies. Letting George run the government has opened the door for politics and closed it to statesmanship.

Shirley Smith is visiting her mother, Mrs. Don Smith, in Digby.

Merville Patterson, who was the delegate sent from Granville Division to attend the Grand Division held in Halifax last week has returned home.

Mrs. Jones, of Hampton, is now at the home of Mrs. Florence Pigott to care for the latter's sister, Mrs. Burns, during the winter months.

Dean Leavoy, Bournemouth, England, asked anonymously to join a protest against Sunday tennis, said "I would rather play tennis on Sunday, than write anonymous letters."

Many New Features in The New 1938 Plymouth

HERE ARE A FEW—NEW RICHNESS OUTSIDE AND INSIDE . . . NEW COMFORTS AND DRIVING EASE . . . MORE VISION . . . AMAZING VALUE!

CLIMAXING 10 YEARS OF GREAT CARS

It's on display right now . . . the brilliant, new 1938 Plymouth. It celebrates the most outstanding record in automotive history.

10 years ago Plymouth was introduced. People found it had more beauty, safety, economy. They bought by the thousands.

No car has ever made friends so fast!

The 10th-year Plymouth is here . . . the greatest car we've built. Be sure to see it!

1 Step Up Close and Look at this beautiful, new 1938 Plymouth! The radiator is new in contour . . . look at that long hood—it's wider, more massive looking! Fenders are deeper.

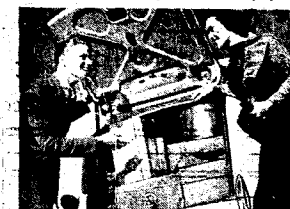

2 New Step In and See How Easy it is to adjust the front seat. It rises as it moves forward—for easier vision.

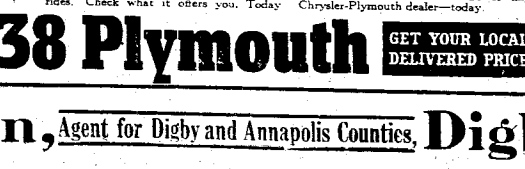

3 This is News, too! Instruments are easier to read . . . and the handbrake is located under the panel.

4 Try the Back Seat—it's "chair-height"—comfortable, richly upholstered.

5 Stretch Out! Enjoy the greater elbow room, head room and leg room. The whole car "floats" on Amola steel springs with airplane-type shock absorbers. Live rubber body mountings block out road vibration.

6 Hear a Watch—Plymouth is five-way insulated against noise, heat, cold.

7 Say—These Engineers Have Thought of Everything! Besides 27% more room, this baggage compartment is fabric-lined to protect your luggage. It's a BIC trunk!

8 Celebrating 10 Years of Great Cars! Look at this big, beautiful new Plymouth. Get in one and drive. Find out how it rides. Check what it offers you. Today thousands of Plymouth owners sum it up when they say, "Plymouth is built to last and costs less to run." Go to any Chrysler-Plymouth dealer—today.

About This and That

This is our last issue for November. Christmas advertising has already commenced, and next week we expect the rush to begin in earnest.

Our plan is a more or less limited one, and, every year the Christmas season means many hours of night work on the part of our staff, and, to cut down on this night work, which is often unnecessary, we are asking as much co-operation as possible from our advertisers and correspondents during these next few weeks—not only for our sakes but for theirs.

When everything is left until the last minute, it is impossible to give our best attention to all details, and it is certainly our desire to give our readers, advertisers and correspondents the best service possible, at all times—rush, or no rush.

Therefore, we make the request that, during the next few weeks, all copy be furnished us as early as possible during the week, in order that we may be able to give the best service possible.

Although the writer of this column is one of the younger generation of journalists he knows that "getting out the Christmas papers" is not what it was a few years ago—even in his time. It wasn't so many years ago that newspapers such as ours had a dozen or so Christmas gals, which they flew away from year to year to be made use of every Christmas season, but, in the words of modern slang, "them days is gone forever."

VOLUME LXIV, NO. 10

Across the Continent by Car

(By J. J. Walls)

We left Clear Lake on Tuesday morning, October 4, and started back to Salt Lake City through the interior of the state. The leaves had commenced to turn in this section and the drive was as pretty a drive as one could wish. There are a number of small towns and cities, such as Williams, Yuba City, etc. We passed along and over a number of rivers and were surprised to note the large number of people—men, women and children—who were panning gold. They were all along the water's edge, in camps, autos, trailers and shacks. They were, of course, mostly "out-of-workmen," seeking a living. A few of them had been fairly lucky in striking a "pocket" or something of that kind, and I have since been told that these "panners" will average from $2.00 to $3.00 a day each. We would like to have tried a pan or two, just for the experience, but we did not have a pan suitable and did not feel like borrowing one—but it would have been fun to have tried it.

Part of the road through the interior—we were running southeast to reach the main highway again—is through a beautiful national forest. The United States is doing a great deal in the preservation of its forests, although they were almost too late when they started. Operators had ruined many of the most beautiful forest lands in the world, and practically all of the world's largest trees had been destroyed. Had they been allowed to continue the United States would have been denuded in a few years, but fortunately the authorities awoke to the situation while there were still great untouched areas, and clamped down on the operators. Now they are being logged scientifically and expert conservation men are in charge. We travelled through dozens of such forests, which are now really national parks. We reached the highway shortly after noon, at Emigrant Pass, and a little later were again crossing the Sierra Nevada, this time from west to east. Although we had only crossed these mountains in the other direction a week before there was already a difference in the atmosphere. Then it was rainy, but muggy. The heat made it a little uncomfortable. This time we struck snow at about the 4,000 foot level. It had all gone off the road, but there was still quite a quantity in the ditches and woods along the road, and it stayed with us until we reached the summit, but there was none on the eastern side. At Truckee, where we had camped a week before, we left the highway and turned south towards Lake Tahoe, one of California's finest summer resorts. We skirted the lake, which is a beautiful sheet of water, literally surrounded with tourist camps although most of them were closed, the season being practically over. Swinging back again to get on our proper route home, we got to Route 50, just west of Carson City, the state capital of Nevada, and the smallest state capital in the United States. Just what its population is I do not know, but it did not strike me as being more than 5,000. They have some fine federal buildings, and although located in a desert, is rather a pretty city. But like all the desert and prairie towns through which we had passed, it has no suburbs. We entered it from the desert abruptly and left it just as abruptly. Route 50, through Nevada, is a good road to travel on, but lonesome. There was not much traffic and the towns and cities were from 60 to 117 miles apart—nice looking places when you got to them, mostly mining and ranching towns, but the same unending vista of sage bush and desert in between—only broken occasionally by a range of hills—was monotonous. The second day after leaving Clear Lake we did 505 miles on our best day's run on the trip. A part of this mileage was made on the Great Salt Desert, on the race track where Sir Malcolm Campbell broke the world's record. We did not try to beat his mark but we had the pleasure of running over the track and back again, and saw one of Col. Easson's speed cars having a "try-out". But that little side trip kept us from reaching Salt Lake City that night, and we camped about thirty miles west of it. Believe me, we were tired. 505 miles over desert—the hottest of driving—in twelve hours—is pretty fair going for drivers, who, as a general rule, do not drive fast. However, we were on the road again before sunrise the next morning, and had the pleasure of seeing "Old Sol" come up over the mountains east of Salt Lake City, and I can assure you, that is one sunrise we will never forget. If we even hinted at the many colors you would think we were exaggerating. From the time the glow of the sun first appeared over the snow-capped peaks until it was fully risen, the mountains changed color every few seconds from pitch black to the full glow of the day. An early morning mist added to the ever changing colors. We saw many beautiful sunsets and quite a few sunrises, but this one is outstanding among them all. We were in Salt Lake City before the regular business hours, but on the way we met several hundred cars, presumably taking the employees of the salt and other mines, located within 30 miles of the city, to work. We tried several service stations before we found one open to "take up," and finally got one, then went through the city on our way to the Lincoln Highway—No. 30—which was still some miles away. Although Salt Lake City itself is at an elevation of over 4,000 feet we had to climb considerably higher, through a narrow pass, to get on our road. After passing this range the country became more settled for quite a distance. Considerable mining and farming is carried on and the towns have quite an air of prosperity. About a hundred miles out of Salt Lake City we commenced to go through those wonderful colored rock formations which make the scenery of Utah and Idaho so different from that of any other state. Towering cliffs of colored rock, ranging from brown to red, with patches of yellow and green; sometimes looking like cathedrals, sometimes like castles and battlements. There is a constant kaleidoscopic change—always interesting and unique. There are some pretty towns along this route. One of the most outstanding in my memory is Green River. We stopped here to get our grease checked and while the car was in the service station, I took a walk around. There are several of these peculiar rock formations—one of them, known as "The Pulpit"—which overlook the town. Nearby are petrified forests and many of the corner posts on the streets are petrified stumps, duly labeled for the benefit of the tourist. Nice wide streets, parked sidewalks and boulevards mark many of the towns, which are all models of neatness. Along towards dusk we reached the town of Parko. This is a mining town—entirely company-owned—and one of the prettiest towns we saw on our entire trip. The houses are company houses but not the usual row of grab buildings, all alike, that we find in our

NEW BRANCH GETS CHARTER

The recently formed "The Islands" Branch, Canadian Legion, Westport, were hosts to a delegation from the Annapolis Royal Branch, on Tuesday evening of last week, in the Odd Fellows' Hall. The branch charter was officially presented by zone representative, S. E. Cochran, and accepted by the local president, Dr. A. F. Weir. The former spoke at length on Legion matters. He was followed by the president of the Annapolis Royal Branch, Mayor Arthur Kelsall, who, in an impressive address, particularly stressed the need of world peace. The other member of the visiting delegation, Comrade Miller, touched on the service by all members of the Legion. The appreciation of the branch was expressed by President Weir. After the meeting closed, all sat down to refreshments provided and served by the Westport members of the Branch. The evening was brought to a close by singing many of the old familiar songs and was voted a huge success by all present. A return visit by "The Islands" Branch is anticipated at some future date.

BEFORE HITLER

The World War left both victors and vanquished in pretty bad shape in many respects. Some interesting comparisons of subsequent recovery in England and Germany have been assembled by a writer in the New York Times.

Germany's merchant fleet at the outbreak of the war in 1914, amounted to 5,500,000 gross tons. By 1917 that tonnage was down to 717,000. In June, 1932, Germany had regained nearly 80 per cent of her lost shipping and had a gross tonnage of 4,164,000. England, at the same time, had regained 95 per cent of her former fleet and was not much ahead of Germany.

In the years between the Armistice and Hitler's arrival on the German scene—but before his rise to power—nearly 1,350,000 new homes had been built in Germany. This work continued right up to the fall of the German Republic in 1933. England and Wales in the same period had built only 1,000,000 new homes.

As for the admittedly ban Versailles Treaty, modification of its worst features began early and was gaining headway some time before the Nazis took over Germany. Under Gustave Stresemann, Germany's able foreign minister from 1923 to 1929, Germany won many concessions from her conquerors, including entry into the League of Nations on equal terms with the Allied nations. The heavy reparations first demanded were pared down under the Dawes Plan and the Young Plan. There was a decidedly friendly and helpful attitude toward Germany on the part of both France and England.

These are details the present spokesmen of Germany forget when they recite their country's wrongs and sufferings. They destroy Hitler's claim that he saved a dying nation from the ruthless cruelty of its foreign enemies. All he saved it from was an internal plague of ineffectual political parties.

Pirate captains of olden days held their authority directly from their crews, and might be deposed by a vote of the majority, and it needed a man of blood and iron to rule a pirate crew. With some captains it was a deliberate practice to maltreat their men that there might be no doubt as to who was the master of the ship.

If we may credit a very singular story told in the Jesuits' Letters, the Chinese have now lost a very curious secret. They once knew how to paint their porcelains with fishes and other animals in such a way that these figures never appeared to the eye till the porcelain vases were filled with liquor.

The Art of Getting Along

(Brookville Rotary Bulletin)

Sooner or later, a man, if he is wise, discovers that business life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take. He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul—that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back. He learns that he who loses his temper easily loses. He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast now and then and that he should not take the other fellow's grouches too seriously. He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight. He learns that the quickest way to become unpopular is to carry tales and gossip about others. He learns that even the janitor is human and it doesn't do any harm to smile and say "good morning," not even if it is raining. He learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, that they have brains that are as good or better and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success. He learns that it doesn't matter so much who gets the credit so long as the business shows a profit. He comes to realize that the business could run perfectly well without him. He learns to sympathize with the youngster coming into the business, because he remembers how bewildered he was when he first started out. He learns not to worry when he loses an order because experience has shown that if he always gives his best his average will break pretty well. He learns that no man ever got to first base alone, and that it is only through co-operative effort that we move on to better things. He learns that the folks are not harder to get along with in one place than another and that "getting along" depends about 98 per cent on his own behavior.

RECEPTION

On Tuesday evening of last week a reception was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur MacKay (nee Nichols) at their home in Acaciaville. About eighty guests were present. The popular couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, including furniture, linen, china, cheques, silver, etc. The gift table was in charge of Miss Susie Nichols and Mrs. Chester Keen.

Those who assisted in the serving were Miss Blanche Woodman, Irene and Mary Marshall, Mrs. B. D. Franklin, Wade Woodman, James Marshall and Chester Keen. Mrs. D. C. MacKay were in charge of the refreshments and Mrs. Stephen Marshall and Mrs. Ralph Marshall poured.

The bride has a host of friends in Digby, where she has been in the employ of A. J. Dillon for a number of years.

Mrs. Warren Colp, of Lunenburg, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Richard Ellis.

A NEW BRAND OF COFFEE

The firm of J. E. Morse & Co., which has specialized on tea since 1870, has entered the coffee business as well, and now Morse's Coffee is being introduced to consumers. The firm have installed the latest equipment for roasting, grinding, blending and packing, and instead of tins are using special parchment-lined bags, which, while retaining the flavour, eliminate about 5 cents of the cost of putting coffee up in tins. They are therefore pricing the coffee to retail at 37 cents per one-pound bag. As Morse's Teas have held a high place in the esteem of Maritime tea drinkers, the public will no doubt be ready to give the new coffee a trial. The firm believe that Morse's Coffee will stand on its merits as have Morse's Teas during all these years. They are exercising the same care in selecting their coffee that they have exercised in selecting their teas and are well pleased with the reception already tendered their new offering.

ACACIAVILLE - HILL GROVE

Mrs. Hannah Bell was a passenger to Boston on Tuesday en route to California where she will make a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Charlie Robertson.

Miss Mary Creenan has gone to Middleboro, Mass., to spend the winter with Mrs. Philip Ager.

George Bailey, formerly of the Princess Helene, is spending a short time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bacon—Hilton Refuse, of Young's Cove, Annapolis County, is also a visitor at the same home.

The Amateur Hour, put on by the Home and School Association, in the hall on Friday evening, was a decided success, as the program was much enjoyed. The sum of $20 was realized.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cosman, of Weymouth North, were the over Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gates.

Second Burglary.—For the second time in two weeks, the drug store of R. Douglas Russel, in Oxford, was broken into on Monday night or Tuesday morning. Entry was made through a cellar window. A thorough search of the store was made and a lot of goods, valued at over $400 was taken.

AGRICULTURAL CLUBS IN DIGBY COUNTY

Junior Agricultural Clubs in Digby County have now reached a membership of approximately 200 and include in their numbers eight garden clubs; one poultry club and one root club, and calf clubs. Members chosen to represent Digby County Calf Clubs at the Provincial Exhibition in Halifax, were given second place while one member, Frank Juvis, of Millville, received the highest score for agricultural knowledge.

This fall, in connection with the garden clubs, a series of talks have been given, beginning with a talk on soils with demonstrations of different kinds; this was followed by a practical discussion of the elements of fertilizers, in which was explained how fertilizers are known by their trade names and their real value to the farmer. These talks are to be followed by others until seeding time.

POPPY SALE RETURNS

The sum of $125.80 was realized in the recent poppy sale campaign of the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, B. E. S.L., in the town of Digby. Final returns from outside school districts are not complete. Poppies sold are purchased by the local branch of the legion from the Vet Craft shops, where they are manufactured by disabled soldiers; profits from the sale are deposited in a local bank by the legion and set aside for the sole purpose of aiding any returned man who may fall in need. Poppy sales in the town for 1936 amounted to $27.11. The legion again wishes to express its thanks to the public for their generous support.

HERE IS THE LAW!

In view of the increased use of bicycles on our streets and highways the Motor Vehicle Department is asking that more attention be given by officials to regulations governing their use. The following gives briefly the principal regulations bearing on the use of bicycles on public highways:

- 1.—A bicyclist or motor cyclist shall carry no other person on any part of the machine.
- 2.—No person on a bicycle, motor cycle, sled coaster, roller skates or skis shall attach himself or his vehicle to any other moving vehicle and so be drawn along the highway.
- 3.—No person shall coast, remove both hands from the handle bars or do any trick riding on a public highway.
- 4.—No person shall ride a bicycle on a sidewalk.
- 5.—Every bicycle shall be equipped with a good light and horn, but not a siren or whistle.

Marriages

Comeau - Deveau

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Ambrose church, Salmon River, on November 21, when Rev. Father Mallette united in marriage Anna Deveau and Emile Comeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arcade Deveau, and Emile Comeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nancie Comeau, of Saultnierville Station. The bride was attired in white with matching accessories, and was attended by Miss Sarah Comeau. The groom was supported by Felix Comeau. The happy couple will reside at Saultnierville Station.

Mallet - Saulnier

Mary Madeline Saulnier, daughter of Mrs. Rose Saulnier, of Meteghan Station, was united in marriage November 16, to Raymond Mallet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Mallet, of St. Alphonse de Clare. The Rev. J. M. Doucet performed the ceremony and celebrated nuptial mass at Sacred Heart church, Saultnierville. The bride was dressed in navy blue. Miss Emma Saulnier acted as bridesmaid while Leonard Mallet, brother of the groom, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Mallet will make their home in St. Alphonse de Clare.

BIGGER POLICE JOB

When police officials from several nations met at the convention of the International World Police in Montreal recently, they took up many matters not directly connected with catching and arresting criminals. They endorsed a resolution on the promotion of world peace and international good will. They agreed to co-operate in fighting illegal manufacture and sale of narcotics. They urged a world-wide system of radio police communication. They pledged themselves to work with each other and other organizations in crime prevention by "caring for and salvaging the delinquent and pre-delinquent youth" and checking "the constant flow of youthful offenders into penal institutions."

It is important to increase police efficiency in catching criminals. It is perhaps more important to society to find out what makes criminals, in order to check or reverse the process.

Though there are 455,000 words in the English language, a few thousands do for most people. In illustration you could, if you liked, when the biscuits burn, exclaim, "What a maledorous effluvia" or "what a concentrated malarious miasma," or "what a surcharged atmosphere," or "what an uncanny odor!" Instead, most of us let it go at, "What the heck's that smell?"

Personal Mention

Mrs. Mae Morse has gone to Toronto on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Morrell, of Freeport, were in town this week.

E. B. Pugh, of Westport, has been spending a few days in town this week.

Mrs. Thamer, who has been spending several months with her sister, Mrs. P. W. Holdsworth, has returned to Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wallis and daughter, Janet Louise, Miss Jean Corkum and Aubrey Corkum, spent the week end at Middle LaHave.

TEACHERS ORGANIZE A STUDY CLUB

The teachers of Deep Brook, East Walpole, West Walpole, Clementsvalle and Clements Heights recently met in Clements Heights for the purpose of organizing a Study Club. Officers are:

President—Boyd Bishop.
Vice-President—Evelyn Mosher.
Secretary—Treasure—Edna Tuppe.
Committee—Reading, Alice Henshaw; Program, Emma Parker; Barbara Payson, Margaret Carmichael.

The next meeting will be held at Deep Brook on January 15th.

Tea and Sale.—Reserve Wednesday, December 2nd, for the Trinity Church Afternoon Tea and Sale of Fancy Articles.

Leon Myra spent the week end at his home in Riverport.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Ganong are spending a few weeks in Massachusetts.

Mrs. A. J. Trohon was a visitor to Halifax last week and was registered at the Acadia.

Mrs. T. R. Morehouse and Mrs. Alexander MacKay, of Sandy Cove, are visiting Mrs. Carl Eldridge.

Miss Myrtle Morehouse, of Sandy Cove, has been visiting Mrs. Walter MacKay for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Beckwith and daughter Ruth, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Beckwith.

Victor Holmes, of Middle LaHave, has joined the crew of the scalloper, Violetta G. succeeding James Wambach, who is on sick leave.

Stanley Magee, who has been on the staff of the Digby branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, has been transferred to Saint John and left to take up his new position last Friday.

Mrs. Hensley, Mrs. Tilley and children, who have made their home in Barton for some time, will leave Halifax on December 15, by the steamer Duchess of Richmond, en route to Jersey, one of the Channel Islds., where they will in future make their home. They expect to be in Havre, France, on the 22nd, and to spend Christmas Day in St. Malo, reaching their destination on the 26th.

Kruschen Salts Brought Lasting Relief

Ordinary headaches are bad enough, but they are as nothing compared to the awful pains of neuritis in the head. I spent sleepless nights tossing with pain. I began taking Kruschen Salts, and after some months of the treatment I have effected lasting relief."—(Mrs.) L. M.

Neuritis, like rheumatism and sciatica, frequently has its roots in intestinal stasis (delay)—the unsuspected accumulation in the system of harmful waste matter, which leads to the formation of excess uric acid.

33-YEAR-OLD VESSEL PREPARES FOR SEAL HUNT

After 33 years of pounding the ice floes of the Arctic and Antarctic, the sturdy wooden sealing ship, Terra Nova, one of the famous Newfoundland fleet, will have a new stem when she sails away next March. The 18-inch oak hull that saw such valiant service for more than half a century, is now being replaced, at the ship's home port, St. John's.
Among the most famous of all the "Wooden Walls of Newfoundland," the 753-ton combined sail and steam-driven ship, showed her qualities when she was chosen for Scott's last Antarctic expedition in 1919, after she had already survived many a battering since she entered the sealing industry a year after her launching in 1884.

Scott and four companions died eleven miles from a food depot as they returned after a successful dash to the South Pole from their supply ship, but Scott's diary, found on his body, paid tribute to the Terra Nova and gave her preference over the vessels used in his expedition of 1904 and that of Shackleton in 1908.

"The ship behaved splendidly," wrote Scott, in describing the hard fight through Southern ice floes. "No other ship, not even the Discovery, would have come through so well. Certainly the Nimrod would never have reached the south water had she been caught in such a pack. As a result I have grown strangely attached to the Terra Nova."

"As she bumped the floes with mighty shocks, crushing and grinding a way through some, twisting and turning to avoid others, she seemed like a living thing, fighting a great fight. I only she had more economical engines she would be suitable in all respects."

Scott seems to have voiced the opinion of all who have known the Terra Nova—her greatness and her weaknesses. She made heavy going in a rough sea, shipped plenty of water, had a roll that was demoralizing to all but good sailors, and was a hog on coal. But once she was crunching against an ice-pack, she became an indomitable fighter, revelling in the work for which she was designed.

By no stretch of the imagination could the Terra Nova be called a speedy ship on the open sea. Her log on the run from England to New Zealand to start the Antarctic trip, showed that, even with the help of her engines, she could be outlasted two feet to one by the famous clipper ships that had just been run off the seas by steam vessels at the time of her launch.

Once in the ice, however, and the Terra Nova would yield first place to no vessel. Displaying a unique ability to butt through where other apparently more powerful vessels were brought up short, she has returned "logged" from many a sealing trip, her battered sides gouged and scarred from pressure of the ice-pack, but always triumphant.

Obituary

Mrs. Margaret Sollows

Many in Digby County learned with regret of the death in Tiverton, Wednesday, Nov. 17, of Mrs. Margaret Sollows, widow of the late Capt. John Sollows. Death followed an illness of some months at which time she was tenderly cared for by Mrs. Nelson Prime. Mrs. Sollows was known by all to be quiet, peaceable and highly respected. The deceased passed away at her late home at the age of 81 years. She was a faithful member of the Christian Church, being baptised many years ago. In her late home, which Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Prime have occupied with her for some time, she will be sadly missed, as well as by neighbors, relatives and friends. They will always cherish tender memories of one who spent many years in her Master's service. Funeral took place from the Christian church and was largely attended by those who wished to show their love and respect for the deceased. Rev. J. W. Derby officiated, assisted by Dr. J. S. Timpany, of Digby. Music was rendered by Mrs. Norman Perry, Mrs. Bernad Blackford, Leonard Haines, of Freeport; and Walter Oudhouse, Tiverton, with Mrs. Egbert Crocker as organist. The hymns were: "The Old Rugged Cross," "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," and "Safe In the Arms of Jesus." In a beautiful casket, banked with flowers from her son, E. C. Sollows, and Mrs. Sollows, and Mrs. M. Walker, she was taken to Pleasant Hill cemetery to rest beside her husband and two sons, who predeceased her many years. Thus surrounded by loved ones and friends she was laid away to await the coming of Him who hath said: "Come unto Me and I will give you rest." Deceased is survived by one son, E. C. Sollows, of Digby, who during her years of health, illness and death did his best to comfort and make life happy for her. To this son and friends we extend our sympathy.

Mrs. Balthie Theriault
There passed away recently, at her home in Meteghan Station, Mrs. Balthie Theriault, 73, with whom she resided, and one after a lingering illness. She is survived by one son, Archie, daughter, Nemrise LeBlanc, of Chelsea, Mass.

THE FIRST "POP" CONCERT

A season of monthly "POP" concerts by the Civic Band will open next Thursday night at Scout Hall, with a program that will delight both old and young with a mingling of fine music and nonsense. To deserve the name "POPS," these concerts must be POPULAR in every sense—they must entertain and please everybody. It is hoped that a glance at the following program will persuade you to form the "POP" habit at the start:

Overture—"Ecumpe", Rubenstein's "Melody in F", March—"Our Glorious Flag". Selections from the Opera "Raust", Novelty—"The Cuckoo Clock", "Every Man for Himself"—a "sim-lunny" of "old timers". Intermission.
A Surprise—the New Hawaiian Swing-timers, playing "Blue Hawaii".
Short Extracts from "Poet and Peasant" and "Light Cavalry".
"Dream Boat"—Vocal Solo, Chorus and Band.
Next Number will be announced. Reprise—"Golden Sunset".
"Yankee Rhythm"—a lively medley.

In Tunisia, a French protectorate in North Africa, there are three distinct legal codes in operation, the Islamic, the Jewish and the French, each with its own courts administering justice. There is surprisingly little disorder or lawlessness in the country, justice is quick and sure, and travellers are amazed by the absence of police.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

Advertisers demand illustrated advertisements; they are not satisfied with having a few words thrown together in type, surrounded by a holly border, plus a list of articles and prices—and no blame to them. They have bettered their business by demanding advertisements that are not merely a price list but an invitation to shop at their stores.

To satisfy their demands even the smaller papers have had to subscribe to "cut" services, and the average small town weekly is now prepared to give their advertisers as good a service (in proportion) as the largest city daily. The Courier's 1937 Christmas cuts arrived this week.

And now a word or so to our correspondents. It is a difficult matter to handle all the copy sent us during these days, and in a few weeks accounts of Sunday School, Church and School Christmas concerts will be pouring into our office. We recognize these accounts as "news" but each year there are so many of them we are compelled to condense them, and sometimes leave them out altogether. We want you to send us these stories, but, PLEASE, BE BRIEF, and please do not ask that we publish the entire programme.

Nova Scotia mining towns. They are mostly bungalow of different styles and construction, some frame, some stucco, some brick, each with its own garden and grounds. The streets are wide and boulevarded with flowers and ornamental shrubbery in profusion. But pretty as it is I would not care about making my home there, because, although it is not over 6,000 in size, there are over fifty different nationalities, each with its own customs and habits, and more than half the inhabitants cannot speak English. We went on to Hanna, a few miles further—another mining town with a polyglot population—and camped there. Our rest was much disturbed, however, by the immense amount of railway traffic there. Trains—mostly freight—came from anywhere from 100 to 150 cars each—were arriving and departing all night, and the tracks were not very far away from the camp.

Leaving there the next morning, a few hours later, we crossed the "Continental Divide," a part of the main watershed of North America. On the other side of the divide the prairie is rolling, some running east and some running west. We were now getting out of the mountainous although there was still another stiff climb ahead—the highest point on the Lincoln Highway, where we went up 8,835 feet. And was it cold that morning! This was the highest recorded point we reached on our trip. I say "recorded" because I am convinced that we were higher in British Columbia, but in Canada the elevations are not marked so we can't be sure of that. From here it was a long but easy descent, which, early in the afternoon, landed us on the prairies of Wyoming, where, for several hundred miles the road was level and straight. It is a rich farming state, with towns and villages every few miles. I liked the way they marked their towns. On entering it there would be a signboard, giving the name of the place and its population; and on leaving it there would be a sign board with three names, that of the next town or village and the number of miles away; then of the nearest larger shopping centre, I presume, with its mileage, and the third would be the next largest city, and its mileage. It was useful information and should be universally adopted. Leaving Wyoming we entered Nebraska, where the prairies are of the "rolling" type—a succession of small hills and grades for miles and miles, giving you the feeling of riding on a scenic railway.

NORWAY'S FOX FUR BUSINESS THREAT TO CANADIAN FUR TRADE

Norway threatens to become a very serious competitor of Canada in the fox fur markets. Both from the standpoint of the quantities of skins offered on the market and from the standpoint of their quality, Reginald A. Murray, president of the New Brunswick Fox Dealers' Association, said recently in a general discussion of the industry.

Recent reports reveal that Norwegian buyers will place over 300,000 skins on the market this season, a tremendous increase over past years. Quality of the Norwegian fur has proven to be very high, due to several facts. Norwegian ranches are all comparatively small, enabling the ranchers to devote special care to the production of pelts of high market value; there is close co-operation among the various ranchers, and the business is government-subsidized, enabling greater expense in its development. The Norwegian fur is of a particularly good color and texture of fur is also on a high level.

The past year has not been a particularly good one for the fox breeders of New Brunswick. Adverse weather conditions during the breeding period resulted in a small curtailment of the pup yield. Heavy rains during the last few weeks threaten the color and texture of fur of those animals which have not been housed in sheds. Foxes open to the rain will be found to have pelts of considerable inferior quality, Mr. Murray said.

Market prospects are not especially bright at present, although there is no reason to expect a slump. Anticipated increase in prices has not arrived, however, due to unsettled economic conditions everywhere. It is expected that higher quality furs will roughly hold their own with last year's market, while poorer pelts will be down from five to ten per cent in price.

There is little prospect at present for increase in fox-raising during the coming year. There is no reason to believe, however, that there will be any decrease in production, and the total output will likely be somewhat higher. Canada and Norway are the two chief fox-raising countries at the present time, although the United States and Sweden also produce considerable num-

MORE ECONOMICAL DISTRIBUTION

The enterprise of industry in seeking economies for its own operation is often beset by unusual barriers.

Because the Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced its intention to build a pipeline, the Interstate Commerce Commission of the United States, on application of the railroads, has authorized a slash of almost 50 per cent in railway freight rates from Superior, Wis., to Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.

The rate cut granted was from 17.5 cents per 100 pounds to 9 cents per 100 pounds, without corresponding reduction to intermediate points. Standard of Indiana hauls gasoline from its Whitin, Ind., refinery to Superior in its own tankers. At Superior it has large storage facilities, from which it distributes gasoline and other petroleum products in the northwest.

Recently it decided it would be more economical to distribute to much of this territory by moving the commodity by pipeline to a central point and by rail and other means beyond. The rail carriers resisted building of the pipeline. During 1935 they said, they carried 55,041,000 gallons of gasoline from Superior to destinations in the northwest, about one-third to Minneapolis and St. Paul. For this transportation they were paid $777,000.

If the pipeline were constructed and the same tonnage distributed from a pipeline terminal, their revenue would be $300,000 a year less.

THE WILL TO BE WELL

Are you a person who enjoys poor health? There are many such. At least they seem to take certain satisfaction out of telling their friends and neighbours just how poorly they are. Such an attitude of mind is not likely to help one to be well. People should will to be well and adopt an outlook on life which refuses to accept poor health as something inevitable or a subject to talk about as if it were an asset. Telling yourself and others about your physical or mental ailments may appear to enlist a certain amount of sympathy but that is really poor comfort. It is not likely to produce in you a feeling of well being. Don't make the most of your ills. Crowd them out of your brain if you possibly can. The way to harbor ills and make the most of them is to keep on talking about them. If you are determined to be well you must adopt an optimistic cheerful outlook—minimise your troubles—laugh at them—will to be well—and see what a help it can be to you and your happiness.

About This and That

We regret there was no representative from our paper at the annual meeting of the Digby and Annapolis Fish and Game Protective Association, held at the court house here last Wednesday evening. The truth is, we were not notified, and knew nothing of the meeting until we heard some talk on the street next day. Since then we have learned of others, not members of the Association, who wished—and planned—to attend this annual meeting, to "join up", but were not among those present last Wednesday night for the simple reason: the date of the meeting was not made public, as usual.

Judging from the looks of the Digby stores these days, the Christmas of 1937 should be a real "buy in Digby" Christmas. The stores are already looking very "Christmassy".

For another year the Men's Brotherhood of Grace United Church have voted to supervise Christmas cheer in the town of Digby. For a number of years this work was carried on by the Digby Kiwanis Club, which unfortunately, is now non-existent. The Brotherhood took up the work, by request, last Christmas, and received the whole-hearted support of every church and organization in town. It is their ambition to see that every child in the town of Digby enjoys a "Merry Christmas." Do your bit and help the Brotherhood. Contributions of cash, groceries, fruits and candy; toys and clothing are solicited and may be left with Kenneth Beckwith, at the Power Board office, or at the Courier office.

WARNING!

Scrub Bull Owners

Agricultural Societies which have trouble with scrub bulls are apparently not fully aware of the Act covering scrub bulls. Where a society is bounded it is illegal for anyone to offer or permit to be used for outside service any unregistered bull, and all bulls, purebred or grade, over eight months of age, are prohibited from running at large. Penalties for breaking the regulations of the Act may be fines up to $100. The R. C. M. P. are provided to see our laws are enforced.

VOLUME LXIV, NO. 11

Across the Continent by Car

(By J. J. Wallis)

This two-days' trip through the prairie provinces was full of interest. The cities, towns and villages were quite close together and in between were agricultural and pastoral lands—very little left in its natural state, in fact, looking back, I do not recall seeing any original prairie. Of course, there were some wild lands but they were in the mountainous sections. There was a hustle and bustle in all the towns and it looked as though there was considerable business—and possibly there was, as it was harvest time or immediately following it. Sheep and swine are raised in great numbers and there are a large number of turkey farms. But other than turkeys we did not see much poultry, no geese at all that I can remember, and comparatively few ducks and hens. We passed through quite a number of important cities such as Council Bluffs, Des Moines, Cheyenne and many others.

On Sunday, October 10—the only Sunday we spent on the road, we passed into Indiana. It rained all day and was one of the three bad days we had on the trip. We passed by Chicago—through Chicago Heights—quite late in the afternoon and that night we put up at one of the poorest camps we had encountered on the trip—just a stove and beds, with a couple of broken down chairs and rough table, but the beds were comfortable. We had no choice as the tourist season had closed and it was only the occasional camp that was open.

A day's drive through Ohio on Monday carried us quite a distance along the shores of Lake Erie and through Cleveland. Cleveland was quite a city to get through. The route carried us along the principal business and the traffic was heavy. We did not stay on the lake route many miles after leaving Cleveland, as this would have carried us on the direct route to Boston, and we wanted first to go to New York. So we started in a more southerly direction through the centre of the state, which took us into Pennsylvania, the city of Scranton being the first large city in that state we passed through. Our route now became one of the deepest interest. Almost every village we went through had some historic interest. At the entrance to every town and village was a sign-board telling when it was founded and how it received its name—and almost all of them were historic in origin. We passed through almost the entire length of the Allegheny Mountains and a lot of the Blue Ridge range—and the scenery was wonderful. The ranges extended for miles and the road went in and around, up and down, similar to our Rocky Mountain drives only in miniature. The elevations ran from 1,000 to 1,500 feet and the mountains themselves could not have been more than about 3,000 feet at their highest. They were clothed in verdure right over the tops and as it was the time of year when the trees are taking on their fall colors the sight was one long to be remembered. It was a beautiful drive and we passed through many prosperous towns. For the first time on our trip we could not find a cabin when the day's drive was over. We put up at a "tourist home" in a small village where there were no hotels. The rooms were very nice but we could not get meals. We had some things in the car and managed to make a partial supper. We got an early start so that we could get breakfast somewhere. The first two towns we passed through had restaurants—but they were not yet open for business—it was too early. Finally, about thirty miles from where we started, we found a service station where we managed to get a splendid meal. Another car drove up while we were there, caught the same way we had been, and the passengers, seeing us at the table, came in too. With the camaraderie of travellers we got quite friendly and they were much interested in our travels. They were New Yorkers and had been on a long tour, too. Finding that our next stop was to be in Elizabeth, New Jersey, they gave us very explicit directions for reaching that city, at the same time through a route that would give us the best scenery. We were soon on the way again and early in the afternoon we were halted by another car which pulled in ahead of us and crowded us to the curb. The driver came over to us and apologized, and then remarked: "I had to stop you, my wife made me. I have never been in Nova Scotia myself, but this little woman was born in Sydney and wanted to speak to you." Of course we were delighted, and when I mentioned the names of half-a-dozen of my Sydney friends she knew them all, and we had quite a pleasant talk. While this was going on another car stopped, and we saw it was our acquaintances of breakfast time. They saw us talking with these other people and thought we might have got into difficulties—mistook our way or something like that—and that maybe they could be of some help to us. That's just a sample of the friendliness we met with all the way over and back.

We reached Elizabeth about 3:00 o'clock and started to look for my sister. We found that she had moved from the address we had. We made enquiries but could not locate her. Finally we telephoned another sister, in Brooklyn and got her new address, which was on Floral Avenue, they having bought a home there only a short time before. Unknown to us there is another avenue in that city called Flora Avenue. Half the people we asked would direct us to drive a certain way and we would do so. On arriving at or near the place we had been directed we would again ask and this time we would be sent in another direction entirely. Some were sending us to Flora Avenue and some to Floral Avenue. Finally we found a delivery truck going the right way and we followed it, arriving at my sister's about 6:00 o'clock—and the reception we received made up for our disappointments.

We spent nine days in Elizabeth and Brooklyn and certainly saw a lot of New York, as we were on the go continually, sometimes in our car and sometimes with my brother. We saw about all the high spots although we could not give them the time we should have, but Digby people know New York better than I do so it is not necessary to go into details. While there we enjoyed a family reunion at the home of my brother in Brooklyn when two brothers and four sisters, with their wives and husbands sat down to dinner together for the first time in many years, the only absentees being a brother in California and our youngest sister, in Australia. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wallis and daughter, Miss Eleanor, of Digby; Miss Theodosia Wallis, Brooklyn; Capt. and Mrs. John F. Welsh, Brooklyn, and their son, John; (Capt. Welsh hails from Yarmouth but his folks all came from Westport, where he has numerous relatives); Mr. and Mrs. Clyde West (Mr. West's former home was in Wolfville); Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wallis and son "Bobby", of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sanders, of Elizabeth, and daughter, "Dixie", of Elizabeth, N. J. (Mr. Sanders formerly lived in Port Maitland).

Annual Meeting of Agricultural Men Held

Scrub bulls, located in various agricultural districts in Digby County, were discussed at the annual meeting of the Digby County Farmers' Association, held at the Court House, on Saturday afternoon last. Prior to the discussion reports were received from various local organizations. The Gilbert's Cove Society, formerly one of the most flourishing in the county, attributed its "being in the red" to scrub bulls.

A resolution was passed that a warning to scrub bull owners be inserted in the local paper, telling them they are liable to a fine of $100, and that the R. C. M. P. has authority to act on cases reported to them.

Frank Gates, Hill Grove, was elected president of the Association for the ensuing year; other officers elected were: Vice-President, Antoine Comeau, Concession; Secretary-Treasurer, Harold A. Nichols, Digby; Winfred Gidney, Mink Cove; Joseph R. Deveau, Mavillette, and J. Oakley Turnbull, Digby, were appointed delegates to attend the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association, and Stewart Carty, Sandy Cove; Antoine Comeau, Concession, and Joseph Spechts, Barton as alternate delegates.

Raymond LeBlanc, agricultural agent for Digby County, gave a report on the various competitions held in the county last year, paying particular tribute to the farmers of the Acadiaville or "Ridge" district on their grain fields.

In these contests prizes were awarded as follows:

First Group—Grain
1st Prize—Frank Gates, Hillgrove
2nd Prize—James Roop, Hillgrove
3rd Prize—Lloyd MacNeill, Marshalltown
Second Group—Swedes
1st Prize—Alfred Maillet, Mavillette
2nd Prize—Alfred Comeau, Meteghan River
3rd Prize—Albert Gidney, Mink Cove
Third Group—Mangels
1st Prize—Leo Thibodeau, Meteghan
2nd Prize—Alfred Comeau, Meteghan Centre
3rd Prize—Antoine Comeau, Concession

The matter of contests for '38 was discussed and the secretary was instructed to seek further information, the final arrangements to be made by the directors.

Besides the reports received from the various agricultural societies in the county, reports on the exhibitions held at Bear River and Little Brook were received, as well as a report on a farmers' picnic at the experimental farm, Kentville, last summer and the reports of the delegates to the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association.

On retiring in favor of the newly elected president, a hearty vote of thanks and appreciation was extended to J. Oakley Turnbull, the retiring president.

No discussion was taken on the matter of Bovine T. B. tests, other than that a resolution was passed that the Association approve the resolution passed last year, favoring the test.

Touching on the subject of

Weddings

LeBlanc - Gaudet

At Meteghan, on Wednesday of last week, in the Stella Maris church, Very Rev. Father Bourneau united in matrimony Alfred A. LeBlanc and Elizabeth Gaudet, having for witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deveau. Breakfast was served at the home of the bride, after which Mr. and Mrs. LeBlanc left for Yarmouth and Halifax on their wedding tour. For the past few years the bride has been book-keeper and stenographer in the office of the Meteghan Ship-building Company.

A census report says that the average family pays $75 a year to the doctor. That's going to be news to a lot of doctors.

drainage, it was pointed out that there are many acres of swamp and marsh lands in the county, that, through proper drainage and dykes, could be reclaimed. Raymond LeBlanc, agricultural agent, stated a drainage engineer had been appointed and he intended making a tour of the swamp and wet lands of this county in the near future.

The subject of Agricultural

Education in the rural schools took up considerable time at this meeting, and it was urged that efforts be made to give rural pupils instruction along agricultural lines, and that a catalogue from the Nova Scotia Agricultural College be placed in the hands of every rural teacher, to encourage boys to higher education, and to try and induce greater study along these lines.

President—Dr. L. J. Lovett, Bear River.
Vice-President—C. N. Reagh, Middleton.
Secretary-Treasurer—Capt. K. R. Forrester, Bear River.
Directors—A. Kelsall, Annapolis Royal; R. S. Hallett, Weymouth; T. E. G. Lynch, Digby; A. J. Burns, Bridgetown; R. E. Cessitt, Smith's Cove.
Delegate to Provincial Association—Dr. L. Lovett.
Alternate Delegate—T. E. G. Lynch

An interesting report of the last annual meeting of the Provincial Association was given by Dr. Lovett, who stated that he had presented the main recommendations arrived at in the 1936 session of the County Association, and was pleased to say that they had been adopted with the view of representation being made to the government on the various points involved. The president, Rev. A. W. L. Smith, and other members referred in moving terms to the death of two of the most valued members, Dr. S. B. McGregor of Smith's Cove, and C. Wilson Jefferson, of Bear River, and the members present stood and bowed their heads as a tribute to their memories. The Association, in 1937, acquired additional membership, enabling the clearing off of outstanding financial liabilities and leaving a small balance on hand. One of the major achievements of the year was the successful re-stocking with trout of Sixth Lake stream and adjoining waters.

In conclusion the president and directors unite in an appeal for an increased membership, pointing out that only by this means is the Association able to present the views of the sportsmen in the two counties to the Provincial association, and thus secure collective representation to the government.

TEACHERS' STUDY CLUB

A Teachers' Study Club was held on Saturday last at the Plympton Library, a large number of teachers being present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, R. O. Gibson, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, R. Specht.

The program committee was appointed as follows: Miss Comeau, Weymouth; Miss A. Payson and Miss Crowell; the reading committee, Mr. Gibson.

The afternoon was occupied by a discussion on Primary Reading, Information on Weaving, Raffia Work and Book Binding, by Miss A. Comeau and R. Specht, and a talk on High School English by R. O. Gibson. Suggestions for the next meeting were given. The next meeting will be held the last Saturday in January at the Weymouth school house.

It is requested that all teachers attend to make the meeting a success.

Mrs. J. Collins and Miss Joyce Stark, of Digby, visited Mrs. Sadie Stark one day last week.

Obituary

Mrs. Charlotte Robicheau
Mrs. Charlotte Robicheau passed away at her home in Ashmore on Sunday afternoon, after a short illness. She was 80 years of age and was a daughter of the late Cyril and Mary Comeau. Her husband predeceased her fifteen years. She leaves to mourn their loss, six children—Ernest Robicheau, Weymouth Mills; Lillian (Mrs. T. Watt), Salem, Mass.; Mrs. Mary Thibault, at home; Abel, Salem, Mass.; Herbert and John, at home. Mrs. Robicheau will be greatly missed in the community as a very kind neighbor and friend. She was buried Tuesday morning in the St. Croix cemetery, at Plympton, with Father Gaudett officiating.

CULLODEN

Miss Bessie Bain and Miss Eleanor Hazleton, of Mt. Pleasant, were guests of their uncle, Milton Bain, on Sunday. Mrs. J. Wiley Ross and Mrs.

Otis Middleton spent Monday evening in Digby, the guests of Mrs. Alex. Ross, Chapel Lodge, it being the anniversary of her birth.

Douglas Forrest, of Mt. Pleasant, visited friends here on Sunday.

Mrs. Etta McKay and Mrs. Charity Morhouse, of Sandy Cove, and Mrs. Lillian Weir, of Digby, spent Wednesday of last week with Mrs. Annie Hand-spiker.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. Halton Hayden and Miss Vivian Hayden, of Digby, were guests on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Middleton. Miss Bertha M. Fraser, of Prinsedale, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Otis Middleton.

The first railroads in England had more than one obstacle to contend with. In the year 1818 a proposal to construct a tram road or railway was actually rejected by the great Duke of Cleveland because it would have disturbed one of his fox covers Blood Poisoning.—John Comeau and Robert Bartlett are suffering from blood poisoning contracted while working tying up Christmas trees for the American market.

The Y. P. U.—Miss Agnes Payson, culture convenor, had charge of the programme at the last week's meeting of the Y. P. U. of the United Church, and gave an interesting talk on "Davies, the Tramp Poet." Tonight the members of the Union are holding a mock trial. J. M. Sabine will act as judge; G. R. Pierce as defending lawyer, and Rev. C. U. MacNevin as prosecuting lawyer. The young people will take the various other parts of witnesses and jury. A ten-cent clipping party will be held after the meeting to help toward the Dickenson Missionary project.

The Mission Band.—The Sunbeam Mission Band met on Wednesday afternoon in the vestry. They are preparing for a Christmas concert.

Lost.—November 21, in Weymouth North or Barton, Man's Fur-Lined Kid Glove. Finder please return to Howard Journeay, Weymouth.

Crusade Meeting.—The W. M. A. S. of the United Baptist church, held their annual crusade meeting in the Riverside church on Thursday evening. Mrs. William Lent presided, assisted by Mrs. Fred Hankinson. A programme of recitations by members of the Mission Band, a missionary exercise and singing by the young ladies of the church and a missionary story by Miss Kathleen FitzGerald was presented. Mrs. F. H. Lent was organist. Rev. C. U. MacNevin, of the United Church, presented a number of beautiful lantern slides on the "Life of Christ", and on "Life in China."

92 YEARS OLD AND FIT AS A FIDDLE

Takes Kruschen Every Morning

"I feel in duty bound," writes Mrs. A. J. W., "to express my gratitude for the marvellous results my father has obtained from Kruschen Salts. He is ninety-two years old, and is as fit as a fiddle. He can get around easily, and even run up and down stairs. His friends marvel why it is he is always alert, and never feels listless. He always tells them the reason: 'my regular daily dose of Kruschen Salts in my first cup of tea every morning.'—(Mrs.) A. J. W.

Most people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital need of health—the need for internal cleanliness.

Eventually they start the healthy Kruschen habit. Then, probably for the first time in their lives, they start getting rid every day of all waste matter from the system. Instead of being clogged the intestines are clean and clear. Instead of liver and kidneys being sluggish they are active and efficient. New, healthy blood goes coursing through the veins—carrying health and strength and energy to every part of the body.

Christmas Carols

By Katherine Edelman

WARREN ELMORE was mad—angry, through and through. For the first time in his business career he had had a quarrel with his partner. Of course it had been all Peter's fault, but even that thought didn't help so very much. The old saying, "It takes two to make a quarrel" kept bothering him.

What was it that his wife had told him to get at Grant's? He asked himself the question as he entered the big department store. Here for Muriel, that was it! Both Christmas shopping, anyway; why didn't he Beverly tend to things herself?

As he walked down the crowded aisles, he was conscious of music from the balcony. An orchestra was up there playing Christmas carols. Warren Elmore forgot his bee against the world; he hurried up and joined the happy crowd. His voice joined in "O Little Town of Bethlehem." It was followed by the glorious "Adeste Fideles." Then came "Silent Night." As its beautiful strains filled the store Warren Elmore was conscious that all anger was disappearing from his heart. He wanted to get back to the office, to slap old Peter on the back and tell him they were a pair of fools for letting such a small thing interfere with their friendship.

And man-like, he purchased six pairs of hose for Muriel instead of three on the way out. A store that took time and thought for Christmas carols should be rewarded a little bit, he believed.

KEEPING TREE FRESH

IF A Christmas tree is set in water when it first comes into the house and is kept in water while it is part of the Christmas decoration, it will remain fresh and green for at least a week longer. Water should be replaced as it evaporates. If the base of a Christmas tree is trimmed with a sharp knife just before it is mounted, the pores will be left open, allowing water to rise in the stem to the living cells which are still trying to provide the tree with food and moisture. Spruce and fir retain their needles longer than most other Christmas trees.

Popcorn Ball Decorations
Popcorn balls, wrapped in red and green tissue paper, silver paper or glistening cellophane, and piled in a decorated basket, make attractive centerpieces for Christmas dinner or party tables. A small favor may be placed in each ball, to add interest at a party. Hung on the Christmas tree, these balls make pretty ornaments for the strong lower branches that always seem to be neglected when the tree is decorated.

Christmas Birthday
A child born on Christmas day simplifies the problem of what to buy for a birthday present.

Save Toys for Junior
Careful parents will not wear out the Christmas toys before Junior gets a chance at them.

Stuart Campbell, of Halifax, arrived home last week.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

THE carol was originally a joyous dance, a sign of liberation from the religious austerity of the Puritan era. Percy Dearmer, writing in "The Oxford Book of Carols," says: "The carol, by forsaking the timeless contemplative melodies of the church, began the era of modern music, which throughout has been based on the dance."

Cheese Kind for Birds

In a recent discussion of the best way of feeding birds in the garden, one experimenter put forward the kind of a Stilton cheese as the supreme Christmas fare! Birds of many sorts, especially the robin, are greedily fond of it. They have a desire for fat and the cheese provides this in association with other virtues. If we feed birds for the sake of watching them as well as comforting them, the kind, if preserved in more or less unbroken form, has the advantage that it cannot be carried away and attracts five or six species of bird if no more—London Spectator.

A Colorful Set of Bowls

No modern kitchen is complete without a set of bowls in a color corresponding to the color scheme of the kitchen. If you know of a person without this delightful kitchen help, it might be a suggestion for a Christmas or birthday gift.

HOLLAND'S SANTA

CHILDREN of Holland believe that St. Nicholas was a kind-hearted Spanish bishop who had heard about their land of dikes, windmills and tulips and decided to pay it a visit, says Johan Hart in "Picture Tales from Holland." He arrived there long years ago on December 5, and began giving children presents. Since then he has always returned on that night to fill the wooden shoes of Dutch children with gifts. The children in turn leave out some carrots or hay for his horse.

Italian Christmas Industry

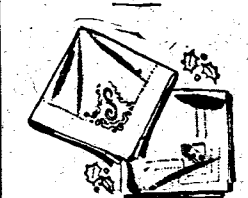

Naples was the center of the Italian Christmas industry during the fifteenth century and had whole bands of artists, "figurali" as they were called, who did nothing but make dolls for Christmas.

THE LETTER S A Christmas Story

"WELL, if there isn't Jean Ellyory!" Jean had been an old sweetheart of Salina's and she had not seen him for years; but she would know him in a million for she had always loved him. He was busy cutting fancy figures on the ice. She stood watching him, her heart skipping beats as she did so.

The ice had been especially prepared for the Christmas holidays and Salina, in her pretty white wool sports outfit was gliding along, swan-like, still watching Jean, Ellyory out of the corner of her eye.

He must have felt the strong contact of her thought for suddenly he looked in her direction, but she quickly turned the other way. Then he skated more fiercely than ever, cutting a huge letter "S." She skated about, pretending not to notice, but when he started off toward the far end of the lagoon she glided over to where he had cut the figures. There was the old-fashioned letter "S" and another and still another. There were "S"s all over. How she wondered if they represented the regular ice cutter.

"S" or if she really dared hope that they might be any chance stand for "Salina."

The snow was becoming heavier and more cumbersome and she noticed that most of the skaters had already left for home and celebrations.

All the way home-ward she was thinking about Jean Ellyory and stopping at intervals to trace his name in the snow. She must have written it a dozen times or more. The gifts she had been expecting for Christmas suddenly appeared insignificant and useless in comparison to the one vital gift—the love of Jean.

Only with a mighty struggle was Salina endeavoring to join in the Christmas celebrations, for her heart was nearly breaking.

"What is the matter, Salina?" questioned mother, as Salina almost choked with the lump in her throat.

"Nothing, Mother dear, only the Christmas spirit," answered Salina, bravely.

At this very moment Jean was hurrying home whistling merrily, his skates swinging over his shoulders. Suddenly he stopped short at seeing his own name displayed all over the snow, here, there and everywhere. "What on earth could that mean?" It was beautifully lettered and in a girl's handwriting!

Jean, stooping, carefully noted the letters in their every detail. He was determined to learn who the girl could be, who had so thought of him on Christmas eve that she had scrawled his name all over the snow.

Jean, quickening his pace, reached home, luckily before the celebrations had begun and skipped up the staircase two steps at a time to his own room. Most excitedly he dug through his belongings in search of a box of old valentines from school days. It was missing! Where could it be?

"Mother, have you seen my valentines?" shouted Jean.

"What on earth do you want with valentines on Christmas, Jean?"

"They are decorating the walls of my room and have been, for some time, my dear brother!" taunted Clara-Bell.

The next moment Jean was tearing down the valentines regardless of his sister's protestations and began frantically examining their contents, still leaving mother and sister stupefied.

"Here it is! I knew it! This is the one!"

Crushed in the hand of Jean was a small red, lace-trimmed heart with the words, "To Jean, from Salina." 'Twas an exact duplicate of the letters in the snow. Now he knew!

Dear old Salina! His childhood sweetheart!

The doorbell at Salina's rang with a loud peal right in the midst of the Christmas celebration.

"Who could be calling on Christmas eve?" they all wondered.

"You had better go, Salina," said Mother, sweetly.

Salina went, brushing aside a tear, as she did so.

She opened the door, as if in a dream scene. She had apparently lost all sense of reality for the moment. "Salina!" said Jean.

"Jean, dear," replied Salina. The "dear" just slipping out from her heart before she knew it.

"My name in the snow," said Jean. "The letter 'S,'" whispered Salina. "Merry Christmas!" shouted the whole family.

Rev. I. D. Lyttle, Port Maitland, was in town one day recently.

SILVER FOX PELTS

Why not market your Silver Fox Pelts through your own Provincial Organization? It was organized, is owned, operated and controlled solely by fox ranchers in this Province.

It markets on the consignment plan, all pelts being carefully graded and lotted by experienced fur men to suit the markets to which they are shipped, and all these pelts are carefully DRUM-CLEANED before shipment is made. All this service is given and all carriage and insurance paid and is covered by one small handling charge, no extra separate charges.

In addition to these advantages, this Association gives advice to its members along all lines of Fox Ranching, and gives Ranch Field Service free for the asking.

You can also obtain your fox feeds at a more reasonable rate by ordering carload lots through us than by buying through the regular channels.

Annual Meeting of Children's Aid—The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society, of Digby, will be held in the court house on Friday evening, December 10 at 8.00 o'clock. A good attendance is requested.

Christmas Tea and Sale—The United Baptist Christmas Tea and Sale will be held on Tuesday, December 7th.

New Store Opens—The Digby Co-Operative Store opens tomorrow, in the Troop building, on Water Street. An advertisement announcing the opening appears elsewhere in this issue of the Courier.

Some Cabbage Stalk—One cabbage stalk on the farm of J. M. Nichols, Deep Brook, grew a large head, surrounded by twelve perfect small heads. Mr. Nichols also told us he picked the last mass of string beans from his garden on November 1st, and on the first day of December picked and ate endives from his garden.

Skin, Perhaps—A Milwaukee jeweler suggests that a badge be given a person when he pays his taxes. In a way, the idea has merit, but after a taxpayer paid his taxes, what would he have left to pin his badge to?

Players Wanted—The Beginners' Band must have more Cornet and Clarinet players. Last chance for music lessons almost free.

Christmas Tree—The annual Christmas tree and concert of the Baptist Sunday School, will be held in the church hall, on Thursday evening, December 23 at 7.30 o'clock.

Don't forget the Baptist Christmas Supper and Sale on Tuesday next, (Dec. 7). Supper, from 5.00 to 7.00.

The Young People's Society of Grace United Church are presenting a Christmas Pageant on Sunday evening, December 19, at the 7.00 o'clock service.

Marriages

Buckley-VanTassel
The United Church parsonage was the scene of a quiet wedding Monday evening, when Myrna M. VanTassel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen VanTassel, of Digby, was united in marriage to Willard West Buckley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Buckley, of Saint John. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Hodgson, pastor of the church.

Ontario's New Governor—Albert Matthews, Toronto financier and philanthropist, will be Ontario's next Lieutenant-Governor, succeeding Hon. Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, but he plans to maintain an active interest in business while acting as the representative of the king in the province.

Christmas Shopping—Don't put off that Christmas shopping. The stores are displaying beautiful lines for Christmas and you will enjoy making your selections now. Read the advertisements in this issue and see how easy it is to shop right at home. Make out your lists from the ads.—then step out and buy.

"For Pete's Sake" don't miss the Hospital Play, December 9 and 10, in Trinity Hall.

Surprise Party—Friends of Mrs. Alex. Ross gave her a pleasant surprise at her home, Chapel Lodge, on Monday evening the occasion being her birthday. Tea was served and a pleasant evening spent at cards and games. One of the features of the evening was the presentation of a large birthday cake from Otis Middleton. Mrs. Ross received a number of gifts, telegrams and messages from relatives and friends.

THE TOWN COUNCIL

Little business was before the monthly meeting of the town council, on Monday night. The mayor and all the councillors, with the exception of Councillor Morrell, were present. Fred Barr addressed the council, with a complaint that the fire siren could not be heard in all parts of the town and asked that some change be made. Mayor Denton was appointed to interview H. D. Cossaboom re. the erection of a steel tower for the siren.

The appointment of Dr. J. S. Timpany, as Digby's representative on the Health League of Canada, was made. Rev. H. H. MacNeill, who was asked to act with Dr. Timpany, declined by letter.

In the report of the superintendent of streets and water, Mr. Hayden reported his men had patched several holes in the hard-surfaced road on Water Street; had hauled considerable gravel from DeLong's pit for patching streets and filling in corners. Repairs had also been made to the Racquet Bridge, damaged by the recent high tides.

WEST VICTORY

The teacher, Miss Ruth Abbott, spent the week end at her home in Marshall's Town.

A pie social was held in the school house recently and the sum of $16 was realized.

Rev. A. W. L. Smith held his monthly service in St. Andrew's church on Sunday.

The roads are getting badly rutted by the heavily laden trucks.

Rev. T. W. and Mrs. Howard were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Simpson on Wednesday.

"For Pete's Sake" don't miss the Hospital Play, December 9 and 10, in Trinity Hall.

A UNIQUE PARTY

A very unique social event, an "Old Fashioned Party," was held on Friday evening last, in the Court House, for the benefit of the Victorian Order of Nurses. Many costumes, both beautiful and historical, were worn by the guests, one lovely dress having appeared at the Court of Denmark in 1850. Harry Beaman was master of ceremonies and led the songs and games of "long ago," which provided a very merry evening. The refreshments served were in keeping with the period. Dr. Hodgson, president of the V. O. N., in a very genial manner, presented the prizes, which were as follows: For the most attractive costume, Mrs. Caldwell; for the most humorous, Mrs. Edgar Cowan and Mr. Merkel; for the highest scores in games, Mrs. Victor Turnbull, Mr. Hutchinson, Mrs. Morrell, Mrs. Theriault, Miss Mason, Mr. Ramsay and the lowest scores, Miss Daley and Mr. Clarkson. The receipts amounted to $57.47. The convenors, Mrs. Hubert Warne and Mrs. MacCleave, are to be congratulated on their very successful evening. To all those who so kindly assisted the thanks of the committee are extended and individual personal acknowledgments are being made.

"FOR PETE'S SAKE"

The three-act farce comedy, "For Pete's Sake," will be put on in Trinity Parish hall, on Thursday and Friday of next week, for the benefit of the hospital. Following is the cast of characters:

Miss Sarah Pepperdine, Dorothy Dunn
Jasmine Jackson, Harriet Campbell
Cicero Muglethorpe, Reg. Turnbull
Peter Pepperdine, Rev. E. M. Caldwell

INJURED MAN HAD LONG TREK FOR AID

Louis Burke, of Deep Brook employed with J. H. Hamlin & Son, at Tobie Lake, had the palm of his right hand badly gashed a few days ago. Following the cutting of a partly uprooted tree, the stump sprang back to place, throwing him violently to the ground, so that his hand struck the blade of his axe which he had thrown aside as he was falling. Burke walked 10 miles to Lake Rossignol on Monday and on Tuesday walked the remaining twelve miles to Caledonia where his injury was attended to.

Mrs. Almon Parks, of East LaHave, spent the week end in Digby, with her husband, Capt. Almon Parks, of the scallop boat Violetta G.

Personal Mention

Mrs. H. T. Warne was a passenger to Saint John this week. Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Moriarty are spending a few days with friends in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weber, of Lynn, Mass., have moved into the "Green" house, until recently occupied by Harry Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Potter and children, of New Glasgow, and Mr. and Mrs. John Potter, of Middleton, were recent guests of their aunt, Mrs. Jonas Rice, Smith's Cove.

Mrs. Boone, of St. Andrew's, who has been visiting of the United Church parsonage since the accident which befell her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Hodgson, has returned home. Mrs. Hodgson's condition is slowly but steadily improving.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

The weekly Boy Scout meeting was held last Friday. The patrols tied in points, so the scoutmaster chose games on observation and physical training, followed by a study period and closing at 10.20. The patrol leaders and seconders held a court of honor. Ted Thibeau and Paul Morehouse had passed their tenderfoot tests successfully, and Buss Winchester, Donald Humphrey and Phillip Woolaver were entered into the troop on six weeks' probation. Ted Walker was appointed scribe and the court of honor closed at 10.45.

Mrs. G. N. C. Wilde and son, John, sailed on Saturday from Halifax, on the steamer Nova Scotian, for England, where she will spend several weeks at her old home in Leicester.

JOGGIN BRIDGE

A miscellaneous shower was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thomas, on Monday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gilliat. A large number of friends were present and music was enjoyed, after which the young couple opened their many and useful gifts. At the close of the evening delicious refreshments were served by some of the ladies present and Mr. Thomas thanked those present for their many tokens of friendship. Mrs. Thomas was formerly Miss Ida Roop, of this village.

Miss Morguerite Cossitt, who has been employed in Deep Brook, has returned to her home here.

James Casswell left last week for New Brunswick to remain indefinitely.

Ruby and Clayton Woodman, accompanied by Miss Wild Winchester, went to Kentville on Sunday. En route they called on Miss Dorothy Winchester, the Kingston Bible College.

Digby County Boy in Hold-up

Twenty-seven year old Harry Dwyer, arrested and charged with banditry and murder as the result of an attempted hold-up of a Southern Pacific Railway train in New Mexico last week, is the son of Mrs. Joseph Thibault, of Concession, in this county. He was born in Haverhill, Mass. His mother was a Digby county woman who worked in her early girlhood in Massachusetts where she married Harry's father, an American, who died when the boy was a baby. Later Mrs. Dwyer married Joseph Thibault, of Concession, and went to that village to live. Here the red-headed lad and his sister grew up and attended school.

When he was fifteen years old he joined the Digby fishing fleet. He was well known all through the central section of the county, especially in Weymouth where he had worked at the plumbing business. Frequently he went to Massachusetts where he would stay a few months and then return. About two years ago he went to Brooklyn, New York. His folks heard from him regularly until several months ago, when he wrote that he was going west.

Seeks Death Penalty

District Attorney Threet, at Las Cruces, New Mexico, has begun his fight to exact the death penalty for Dwyer and his pal, Henry Lorenz. They are to be arraigned on charges of train robbery and murder, each of which carries a death penalty. Both men have confessed to the robbery but neither will take the responsibility for the shot which killed the brakeman, W. L. Smith.

FORETELLS HARD WINTER

John T. Benson, proprietor of the famous wild animal farm at Hudson, New Hampshire, has been prevailed upon to make his annual winter weather prediction. After studying the animals in his charge he came out with the statement that we are to have a good old winter with plenty of ice and snow. There will be mild weather through December because the squirrels, muskrats and beavers have not begun yet to get ready for the frigid season. Benson says that the way most of the animals are digging now to make larger dens which will hold more food, indicates that in January and February we will have plenty of ice and snow and it may extend into March.

Tiger's Trainer—Says a Yarmouth sport writer: Henry Clements, who fights here next Wednesday, learned his fighting from Cal Jordan (formerly of Digby), the man who gave Tiger Warrington his first pugilistic lesson.

BIRTHS

Obituary

Mrs. John Milton

Word was received here on Sunday of the passing of Mrs. John Milton, of Vancouver, B. C. The late Mrs. Milton was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Young, and was born at Ayr, Ontario, 60 years ago. The funeral services took place at Vancouver on Tuesday; interment was in Edmonton, Alberta. Deceased is a sister of Mrs. P. W. Holdsworth, of this town. Another sister, Mrs. Thamer, who has been spending several months in Digby, left recently to return to Vancouver.

Dr. W. J. Robbins

Dr. Walter J. Robbins, of New Britain, Conn., died recently in that city, at the age of 63 years. He had been in continuous practice there for 37 years. His wife, who was Miss Charlotte Maude Marshall, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marshall, of Digby, is his only survivor.

William S. MacKinnon

William S. MacKinnon, who had been in failing health for several months, died in Saint John a few days ago. He was born in Whycomagh in 1881. At the age of 18 he enlisted as a bugler and saw service in the Boer war. Returning he went into ranching in the West, but at the outbreak of the World War he again enlisted and went overseas with the 5th Battalion. At the front he was gassed and disabled. He moved to New Brunswick about three years ago. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Alice Geneva Teed, of Freeport; two stepsons and a stepdaughter.

The United Church Christmas Tree and Sale will be held on Thursday, December 16th.

Weddings

Thomas - Roop
A very quiet but pretty wedding took place at the Advent parsonage, on Monday evening, November 22nd, when Rev. C. Pearl Henderson united in marriage, Robert Earle, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Thomas, of Bear River, to Miss Ida Louise, youngest daughter of Mr. Fred Roop, Joggin Bridge. The bride looked lovely in a gown of wine flat crepe, with accessories to match. Only immediate relatives attended the ceremony. The happy couple will reside in Bear River.

PRESENTATION BY CHOIR

The choir of the United Church of Canada met on November 19th, at the home of H. W. Purdy, it being the anniversary of his birth. F. R. Harris, on behalf of the choir, presented him with two late books. At the close of the evening luncheon, was served in the dining room by Mrs. Purdy, which included a fine birthday cake. (Mr. Purdy has been housed through illness, all summer).

CHICKEN SUPPER

The Ladies' Aid of the United church held their annual chicken supper on Thursday of last week, in the church hall. The room was beautiful in green, red and silver. Christmas Presents to Suit Individual Tastes

BERTHA NEVINS and her best friend, Mary Parks, were discussing Christmas. "It's absurd, Mary," Bertha was saying, "for two grown women to spend quite a lot of money, as we do each year, for foolish presents."

"But, Bertha, we have no families, and it wouldn't seem like Christmas at all."

"Oh, we'll exchange gifts, of course, darling. Only I think since we have been good friends for so long, we should be perfectly frank about what we want."

"You have something in mind," Mary smiled, and as Bertha agreed—"Well," she continued—"I have it. Something I've wanted for ever so long."

"What?" asked Bertha.

"Guess. It is to put in my living room, near the window. The main part is small, and the outside doesn't be large."

"What is it made of?"

"Wood, usually, and metal. Metal wires, anyway. And it will be company for me."

"To have sweet melody floating on the air. Am I right? And the color doesn't matter so long as it has a clear tone?"

"Why, yes, but how did you guess so quickly?"

"Because I wanted exactly the same thing for just such. I'll give you one and you give me one!"

But what Christmas brought to Bertha was a radio, while Mary got a cage and canary.—Helen Galsford.

Christmas Is Ireland's Greatest of All Feasts

IN NO country is Christmas looked forward to with greater anticipation than in Ireland. For centuries the coming of the Christ Child has been hailed with unbounded joy by the people of the Emerald Isle.

Many stories associated with Christmas are repeated year after year around Irish firesides. An old legend tells that sometimes on Christmas eve Mary and the Christ Child wander abroad seeking shelter. Fearful lest they might seek in vain, as they did in Bethlehem long ago, a lighted candle is placed in every window to guide them to a place of refuge. These are left burning through the night, gleaming into the darkness, guiding any wanderer that might be abroad; for the legend also tells that the "Mother and Child" may come to almost any guise.

All the world remembers Ireland at Christmas, for her children are scattered in every land. A steady stream of gifts and good wishes come pouring into her gates. Families divided by stretching seas are reunited in spirit, as the bridge of time and space is broken by the old happy greeting, "A Merry Christmas and a Bright New Year."—Katherine Edelman.

THE EARLY BIRD

"Mabel's afraid I wasn't going to give anything to her."

"How do you know?"

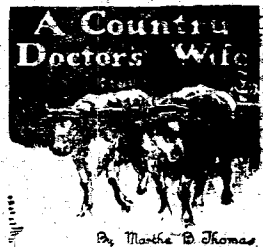

"She sent her Christmas gift to me last week."

Mistletoe a Parasite
The mistletoe, traditional Christmas decoration much more in favor in earlier days, when the ardent swains were not so forward and the maidens were more reserved, is found most abundantly in the tropics, although it is widely distributed throughout the world. The mistletoe is a parasite, living on the sap of the trees around which it entwines itself. On the Atlantic seaboard of the United States the mistletoe is found as far North as the Jersey coast, but is more abundant farther South.

Living Christmas Trees
Longer life for Christmas trees is advocated by the United States forest service, in a note suggesting that a living tree with roots properly balled and packed in a box may be used indoors and later set out to beautify the grounds.

The Genuine Christmas
Poets write beautiful Christmas carols, but a child's laugh is Christmas itself.

Professor Morse, of Annapolis Royal, spent the week end here, the guest of Mrs. W. A. Chute.

CADDY lighted the fire in the fireplace. She switched on the Christmas lights for the tree. She pulled down the shades, and pushed an easy chair towards the fire. Halsy would be home any time now, cold and weary from his round of calls on sick people. This was their first Christmas eve together since they had been married.

Halsy had started out on his rounds at noon. At three he had telephoned to say he was obliged to abandon his car. The snow was too deep. He had borrowed a pair of snowshoes and a fur cap, and with bag in hand, as about to walk a road leading through the woods to a small shack where a sick woman lay waiting his ministrations. At Caddy's worried inquiries he said "I would take him a couple of hours. Then he had a three-mile walk further on the main turnpike, to a child suffering with a quincy sore throat. After that, he would retrace his steps, get his car, and drive home."

Caddy gazed into the flames. This country practice covered miles and miles. Halsy was conscientious. He never failed to reach his patients somehow, but he was tired and worn out. And Caddy herself was often lonely. Her plans for fun, for little parties at home, usually ended in trying to get someone to fill Halsy's place. She knew it would be like this. Halsy had warned her. She was sensible and patient. Yet tonight...

Christmas eve, and Halsy's birthday. She sighed. She simply couldn't bear to have anything go wrong.

The telephone rang. "That you, Caddy? I'm stuck again. The drifts are so deep I can't walk through. I'm out of the wood and all safe, and within two miles of that sick child. But none of the farmers near here has a team of horses. I really need oxen to pull me through. It's tough going."

"Oh," breathed Caddy, trying not to sound dismal.

"Caddy, I wonder," he hesitated. She could tell he was tired by the drag in his voice. "If you could possibly get Lem Salter's team of oxen and drive here for me, I simply can't ask him to do it himself. He has his daughter home for the holidays and her family."

Caddy could not speak. She knew what this meant. Hours of being out in the storm. Heaven alone knew when they would get home. She glanced about the friendly, inviting room.

"Won't you, darling... to help me out?"

Then she remembered something her father had said to her on her wedding day.

"You will never be allowed to forget you are the wife of a country doctor. But I think he's worth it."

So now over the telephone she said "All right. Stay where you are. Get warm and rested, and I'll be there by Shanghai Express."

The tedious drive behind the oxen seemed endless. The snow sifted down inside her collar. It blinded her. She was not actually suffering, but she was pretty uncomfortable. On and on... and on. The whirling curtains swept before her. The snow drifted across the broad backs of the patient beasts. They took their own way in their own plodding time. Caddy sat on a box wrapped round with a bear rug.

On and on... and on. Creak, creak... the swaying of the beasts was like some grotesque nightmarish rhythm. She almost fell asleep.

Then out of the whiteness ahead she heard a shout. "Hey... bless your heart, darling!" And Halsy jumped aboard.

CHRISTMAS BUCKLES

By Lucia B. Lyons

TIMOTHY BROWN knew not a soul in Harleburg, well enough to merit an invitation to a Christmas dinner, for he had opened the little shoe repairing cubby hole in the postoffice building only ten days previous to the holiday. And the little restaurant served no turkey either; for they had probably figured everyone would be eating elsewhere.

Rather blue and unhappy, Timothy slipped back to his workbench, there to get caught up on the avalanche of work that had poured in upon him. The first pair of slippers—yes, he remembered—the pale, thin little girl that had brought them in. "My aunt bought them for 25 cents at an auction of second-hand things in the city and sent them to me, but they do need repairing before I can wear them. But I've only 25 cents to my name—could you repair them for that amount, Mr. Brown?" Of course, he assured her that it wouldn't cost that—not to her, of the sad and wistful eyes!

"Why, I may be a shoe rebuild-er, but if those buckles aren't worth a fortune then I'd better get out of this business," he shouted to the empty little room as he suddenly discovered the winking little buckles were not of the dime store variety.

Luck was with him when he sent a messenger for the poor girl owner of the second-hand slippers, and at the jeweler's home the pair were in luck—the expert in gems told them that the buckles would positively remove the girl out of the pauper class, for they were really worth a fortune.

Happy and merry Christmases may come and go, but Timothy will never be lonely again, for the lucky little girl later said, "yes" to Timothy, not out of gratitude but because of love at first sight.

FAIR WARNING

CHEST COLDS

Relieve Their Misery
This Proved Way

WHEN there's a cold to treat—especially if it's a chest cold—there's no time to experiment. Relieve the misery with the treatment that has been doubly proved for you.

What To Do: It's best to stay in bed and get lots of rest. Eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and keep elimination regular. And use your dependable Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no stomach upsets. Just massage it on throat, chest, and back. Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warm cloth.

No Long Waiting for Relief to Begin...

Almost before you finish rubbing, you begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps on working.

case of tuberculosis that unsuspected cases are found most frequently. It is for this reason that the examination of contacts is urged.

At this season of the year, all over Canada, Christmas Seals are being sold. The proceeds of the sale go to support the war that is being successfully waged against our enemy, tuberculosis. The army which fights for us not only takes care of those who fall victims to the disease, but also safeguards our lives, day by day, as we go about our work.

MOTORISTS MUST PAY BIG TAX BILLS

The oil industry will be forced to collect another $500,000,000 during the next two years from the motoring public to pour into the United States federal treasury.

The president has signed a bill extending for two years the federal taxes on gasoline and lubricating oils, as well as the tax on transportation by pipeline and the import taxes on virtually all petroleum products.

It was estimated that the income from the gasoline tax of one cent a gallon would produce $204,000,000 during the current fiscal year, and revenue from the tax for the next fiscal year in all likelihood will surpass that.

The levy of four cents a gallon on lubricating oil is estimated at $33,300,000 each of the two years it has been collected.

On top of these taxes on petroleum products, the tax was extended on tires and tubes, a large part of the revenue from which will be collected at the service stations.

These are big bills for the motorists to pay. In the first 4½ years of its existence, up to December 31, 1936, the federal gasoline tax produced revenue of $772,639,010.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The most effective appeal which can be made to Canadians is through their sense of responsibility to their fellow-men. This humanitarian appeal is not forgotten when it is urged that tuberculosis be fought on economic grounds.

Tuberculosis strikes and kills at all ages. Neither the infant nor aged is spared. The young adult bears the brunt of the attack. Tuberculosis more than any other disease, is most prevalent among the poor, that group which is least able to bear the expense of illness.

Most of the beds in sanatoria are public beds. There are but few families which can carry the financial burden of a disease when the time required for treatment must be measured in years and months rather than weeks and days.

Among the young adults who fall victims to tuberculosis are many who are parents of young children. If it be a mother, then the home life will be disrupted if it be the bread-winner, the family will likely collapse under an intolerable economic burden.

This is enough to make it clear that we should combat tuberculosis, if on no higher ground than that of saving our own pocket-books. Directly or indirectly we all pay a share of the heavy cost of tuberculosis.

There is only one way in which we can lighten the burden, and that is through bringing about a reduction in the incidence of tuberculosis. Surprising as it may seem, there are thousands of Canadians who are suffering from tuberculosis, who are not aware of their condition. Their ignorance not only endangers their own lives, but makes them a menace to others.

The first step in the campaign against tuberculosis is to find the cases. It is among the members of the family, young and old, where there is or has been a

Leaving New York on October 29 for Boston we reached there the same night—or rather we reached Waban, a few miles out of Boston, where Mrs. Wallis has a sister. The next day we went into Allston where our daughter, Mrs. Gordon A. Robinson, resides, and then for ten days we alternated between the two places and had a very enjoyable visit. I saw more of Massachusetts in those few days than I ever saw before. My brother-in-law is a doctor and I accompanied him on his professional calls in the mornings and spent the afternoons in the city. We spent an evening with "Tom" Farnham, who used to live in Digby and is well known here, and had the pleasure of a lunch in the Boston City Club as the guest of Arthur Cronin, son-in-law of Capt. and Mrs. F. A. Robinson, Digby.

And now our trip was drawing to a close. We left Boston on November 1st and stopped that night at Searsport, Maine. On Highway No. 1, en route to Calais, we passed several signs drawing our attention to the "Desert of Maine". That aroused our curiosity as we did not know Maine was a desert state. We drove in to see this desert—and it was well worth while. This desert sixty years ago was a fertile farm. For some reason—some say sheep, which cropped the grass too close—the vegetation was destroyed, exposing the bottom of some prehistoric lake. The wind got to it and it commenced to drift like snow. Eventually it covered the orchard, then the spring house, then

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

I drove down as far as East Ferry on Sunday, the first time I have driven any distance down the "Neck" in months, and I noticed that in that section, as well as others in the county, things appear to be going ahead. A number of small buildings had been erected since my last visit, and many of the older ones remodelled.

Facts are stubborn things. They can not be changed whether we like them or not. They can not be successfully ignored, though we do our best to try to avoid them. Ultimately facts are bound to disprove our contentions, ruin our arguments, disabuse us of our beliefs, unless we reckon with them in the first place. Consequently, it is always best to face facts, appraise them, stick to them, and get on the right side of them, for, if we don't, the other fellow will. Facts are truths, and with truth with us our worst adversaries can not long prevail against us.

There are a lot of gullible people in the world. And it is this fact that makes it possible for the dictators of Europe to foist their one-man programmes on those they rule. Give back to us your liberty of action, they say, and we will promise you security. Permit us to rule you as we see fit, and we shall take care of you. The proposition sounds plausible, but the results are what we see in Germany, in Italy, in Russia today. There is no liberty, and very little security. This swapping of personal liberty for professed security is the greatest swindle in existence. Trading liberty for security is a very bad bargain in the first place. For, next to life, liberty is the most precious thing in the world today. And when the peoples of the world sign away their liberties and get only insecurity in return, then the bargain is so much worse. A democracy differs from a dictatorship in that it tries to achieve both liberty and security. It never sacrifices one for the other. It cannot do so, for it realizes that to lose one is to lose the other. The majority of Canadians are shrewd enough to realize this fact. This is why we are content to perfect our system of democratic government.

part of the nearby woods, and now it covers over 400 acres and is growing at the rate of several acres a year. The original owner, thinking his farm was ruined, sold out. The new owner, evidently a man with a vision, built a high fence in front of it, and charges 25 cents admission. He puts up souvenirs principally bottles showing the vari-colored sands, booklets and postcards—and has a large south-western store where the tourist store through which one must go to gain access to the "desert". Last summer eighteen guides were required to show the people around, and the daily admissions ran from 800 to 1200. The guides are paid no salary—they depend entirely on tips. This must be one of the best paying farms in the world—but its worth paying a quarter (and a tip to the guide) to see. Although we had been through hundreds of miles of desert this was the most "desert-looking desert" we had seen.

Two days later saw us in Digby, glad to be home but with the memories of a trip which will last the rest of our lives. We made a little better than 14,000 miles. Of course we learned a number of things which we would not repeat were we to make the trip again. But we could not ask anything better for such a trip than our Plymouth car. She carried us over hill and dale, over mountains thousands of feet high and down into deep coulees and canyons; over desert and plain; through mud and sand, and the even purr of her motor remained the same throughout. No matter how steep the climb she was there with all the power required. The car itself never delayed us one second. Of course we had tire trouble—who wouldn't in a trip of 14,000 miles, but the car could not be blamed for that. Her easy riding qualities made the trip more thoroughly enjoyable than it otherwise would have been. Naturally, as everything depended on our car, we took pains to keep her as nearly 100 per cent perfect as possible and we had her checked at least every 1500 miles, but outside of the usual greasing and lubrication generally she required very little attention. I doubt if any car could have suited us so well on that trip as the Plymouth. Although in her second year she was easy to drive, easy on gas and oil, and above all, restful to the passengers—what more could one ask of a car. The Plymouth just made our pleasure 100 per cent.

FOIBLES OF MOTOR CARS PROVIDED BY MAKERS

The manufacture of automobiles is probably the most standardized of all industries, yet the automobile manufacturers satisfy many foibles of prospective owners of their machines. Their files are filled with unusual orders which they have successfully filled.

A New York contract bridge expert recently ordered a car which, instead of rear seats, has an arrangement whereby four persons can sit around a small table and play cards.

Another man ordered a car with an especially high top because he is tall and likes to wear a silk hat.

A factory turned out for a woman in Seattle, Wash., a car with a built-in invalid's chair.

One manufacturer of low-priced cars still turns out a certain number of special high-wheel cars for farmers, rural mail carriers and others who have to travel dirt roads which often become rutted. Another manufacturer solves this same problem by equipping standard cars with wheels and tires of larger sizes.

One of the most unusual orders received by an American company was from one of the princes of a state in India. He ordered the car painted the same color as the slippers of his favorite dancer. The order was filled through one of the European branches of the company.

But special orders of paints are least of the problems.

It is usually the lessons we learn from hard luck that are labelled "experience".

THE GAME THAT CAN'T BE BEATEN

Life is more or less a battle of wits, but there are other elements that enter into the incessant fight. Chief among these are patience, grit, tact, ability that is either natural or acquired, and, always, integrity. The fight on a hundred battle-fronts never ceases. It never should cease. It is a fight against contending odds, handicaps, adversities, trouble in one form or another. Happy and wise is he who never gives up. He only is defeated who admits defeat.

There is a tendency, particularly in recent years, to feel that the old game can be beaten by artificial means, by methods that men good and true know are unsafe, pernicious and wrong. Men good and true do not try to beat the game in that manner. They know there is no substitute for hard work and fair play.

If some of the fantastic methods adopted by men were not tragic, they would be amusing. But they are too crude, too dangerous, to be funny. Inflation, for instance, has been resorted to by constituted authorities to bridge over some serious economic ills. Inflation is getting something for nothing, expanding the currency beyond natural and reasonable limits. It works for a while, but nature will have its way in the end and will demand that we produce the equivalent in work for what is expended.

Gambling devices are advocated and resorted to as a means of raising public revenue or increasing individual resources. If gambling is wrong, it is wrong because the natural laws of supply and demand are interfered with, character is undermined, thrift and diligence are abrogated, and the easy way that leads to destruction is adopted. Whenever one plays with chance, disregards the fundamental laws of honesty and proper living, mortgages the uncertainties of the present and future, and somehow feels that he can succeed where others have failed is playing a losing game.

One may live a lie for years, but that lie will some time be bared. Truth may be slow, but it is certain in its executions in the long run. Office-seekers often win by every means but legitimate means, and stay before the public for years in this dishonorable way. But the sham falls under its own weight in time.

There are those who lack culture or financial means or prestige. This is not wrong, but it is wrong to be so ashamed that pretenses are resorted to in endeavor to keep up with the Joneses. Every social art and device is resorted to in order to make a showing before the community. But people aren't moved by such hypocrisy. They are not impressed. They know black from white and the honest-to-goodness from insincerity.

The world asks much of people, and it asks little. It is a good world, if people take the attitude that is logical, practical and sound. The weakness of society lies in the futile attempt to beat the game of life. Its strength lies in compliance with the rules.

The toughest job of a politician is to find some way to correct a mistake without admitting he made one.

About This and That

The results of the first quarter's examinations—or tests, as I believe they call them now—appear in this week's paper. Somehow, these results remind me of the days when we used to sit down at our school desks and write answers to examination questions in order that our teachers could determine by a percentage, just how much we could remember. Yes, it was memory and not knowledge that counted in those days, or, at least, it appears that way when I look back on them now.

A MODEL COMMUNITY

The little town of Greenbelt, in Maryland, intended as a "model community", has had plenty of publicity and is going to have a great deal more, for three excellent reasons.

It has been one of the most controversial New Deal enterprises. It was planned by Professor Tugwell, long regarded as the leading "brain-truster" at Washington and now making molasses for a private concern. And the dominating spirit of the venture was a wealthy store-keeper, the late E. A. Filene, of Boston, who gave $1,000,000 to carry out some of his economic ideas.

Greenbelt is to be operated as the first American community on a co-operative basis. Every business in this town of 900 families will be owned and operated by its customers. If there is any profit, it will come to them in lower prices. If there is loss they will bear it. They will pay rent to the government for its investment.

They will have the advantage of an entirely fresh start, impossible in an established community. There is no town till they move in and start operating in the triple capacity of producers, distributors and consumers.

There were various co-operative communities, mostly religious, in the United States in the last century. They were naturally far more primitive than Greenbelt. Some of them succeeded for a considerable time, eventually dying out with the people who established them, for lack of new members.

IMPROVEMENT IN TRANSPORTATION

The biggest improvement in oil industry transportation has come since the war, as yet not 20 years ago.

In that time there has been a great abandonment of railroad transportation, partly because the railroads refused to see the demand of the times for better and more efficient transportation. While under force of government orders and war circumstances they adopted some of the oil industry's ideas, for the most part they turned deaf ears to its pleas. The oil business had to go on without the railroads and the latter have since paid a tremendous penalty.

In these last 20 years the motor truck has become a low cost high speed carrier for long and short hauls. The gasoline pipeline has developed. And in the last dozen years there has developed a third big transportation facility, namely, by water, in tanker and cargo, for the most part a big company development.

All of this without government aid or interference. On the other hand the railroads stood by helpless under government control, and confident, seemingly, that somehow the all-embracing government regulations would protect them. High rates and old fashioned methods continued. Today oil is pretty much off the rails and is running its own privately owned and operated transportation system.

The Provincial Council of Women, of Ontario, wants the liquor question removed from politics, and approved a resolution at the recent annual meeting in Toronto to ask the government to carry out its "election promise" to have the liquor control made non-partisan.

POPE WEARS FISHERMAN'S RING

The pope wears what is known as the Fisherman's ring. How did the name originate? Up to the sixth century the official ring of the pope bore the images of St. Peter, who was a humble fisherman and the founder of the Catholic church, and St. Paul. After that it was changed and bore the arms of the pope and his name. Few people know that on the death of the pope his ring is broken and a new one made for his successor. The ring is not set with stones, though, apart from the name and the arms of the wearer it usually has some design of a personal nature minutely inscribed on it.

A Letter From "Guess Who"

Howdy do Folks—How be Yeh?

I have been trying to break in on the columns of the Courier during the past six months, but the Junior Editor tells me that apart from the advertising columns, the Senior Editor has the space all reserved for details of his trip through Western Canada, California and what was left of the United States—including Watertown, Mass.

All through life I had a desire to become a country newspaper editor. In fact when Will Craig and Tupper Warner walked three miles to school—morning and night—at Digby, for an education, I was plugging away at my studies in the little red school house on the Ridge Road seeking literary knowledge. I acknowledge I would not think of much else than the little school ma'am, although she finally deserted me through no fault of mine.

I know father and all my uncles used to lay aside the largest pumpkins, squash, apples, etc., to present to the editor of the Courier in the fall—part of their thanksgiving offering. Mother wanted to send a pumpkin and mince pie, but father sort of frowned on the idea. You know women used to wear hoops and long skirts in those days and had no vote. They were kind of in the background. Nowadays one doesn't know whether it is grandma tripping along the sidewalk or some budding debutante out for a stroll.

By the way—I gave up my Back Bay apartments and am now residing in Watertown. Easier to find me. I chose this city from its name. I recently received a consignment of Black Diamond from "down east"—it being so far above proof that Watertown gave me the idea of town-water for diluting purposes.

That reminds me of a story Rudyard Kipling once wrote of a man who used to drink to excess. It became a habit with him. Finally he had hallucinations—used to see things. He always carried a revolver and slept with it under his pillow. After his rounds of galeety he would retire to his room—late at night—get in bed and listen and watch for things to happen.

One night he heard a commotion at the foot of his bed. Turning on the light he observed a green monkey sitting on the foot of his bed. After asking the monkey several questions about his "monkey business" he reached for his revolver. Pointing it at the monkey he said: "If you are a monkey you are in a h—l of a fix; if you are not a monkey I am in a h—l of a fix. Think it over, folks!"

I wonder if the Senior Editor called on Bobby Nichols while in California. He must need some inspiration. Have not seen any of his letters in the Courier of late. Why not send an appeal to Sisters E. H. N. and M. G. T.; also R. G. T. and L. H. S. and others for a series of articles for the winter months, now that the Senior Editor has returned home. May their subjects be a little bit of everything from down home.

Some months ago I had a narrow escape from being detected, discussed or guessed. At that time I had a number of subjects to write on. "Colored Meeting House," "Aymar's Corner," "Honey Pots In the Juggin'," "Buried Treasure of Matilda Harris," "My Interviews with Charlie Bacon," etc. Perhaps Bobby Nichols can write on some of the above subjects.

Charlie Bacon was the greatest comic sketch and impersonator I ever heard. His negro dialect was perfect. You should have heard him impersonate El-"GRAND'THER, isn't that the most beautiful doll you ever saw?" The little hand tugged at the hand of the tall man. He looked down at the childish figure beside him. "I wish I had one like her," the child said in a low tone.

The man mused with a tender smile. "It is very beautiful, dear,—but I thought I heard you say that you had all of the dolls you could care for."

"Well—I did," came the faltering answer "but"—as though an inspiration had presented itself—"I could give some away I s'pose." The man's clasp tightened on the child's hand, and then he reminded her gently that they must hurry on if they were to be home in time for luncheon. Although there were many other interesting toys in the department of the great store, the child showed little interest in them, and managed to work their way back to the object of her affection, and stood enraptured before it until her grandfather again reminded her that they really must be on their way home.

As the child reluctantly followed, the man recalled another dark eyed Marcia standing before just such a doll and heard again almost the same words this Marcia had used today. "Isn't," she had said, "that doll in pink just beautiful? I wish I had one like it." And he heard the man beside her reply: "You have more dolls now than you know what to do with," and he had added, "That is too expensive, anyway." "Oh is it?" the child had asked in surprise. "Yes, everything in this store is." He hadn't known whether it was or not, but he had led the child away. Later he asked himself many times why he hadn't given the doll to the child, and he resolved that never again would he be the cause of a hurt look such as he had seen in the little one's eyes that day. From then on, he determined to grant her every wish that he possibly could and so atone for the unnecessary suffering he had caused.

Christmas night John Grant sat alone before the fire, his head against the back of the chair, his eyes closed and a smile of content upon his face. The door opened and a young woman's voice called softly—"Father."

"Yes, my dear," he answered as he turned toward her.

"Mother wants to know if you aren't coming to bed," the young woman said as she came into the room.

"Tell your mother I'll be there in just a minute," the man replied with a laugh.

"Do you know, father, I think that you have made Marcia the happiest little girl in the world tonight," Marcia Field said as she went and sat on the arm of her father's chair.

Her father put his arm around her. "I'm glad if I did," he told her.

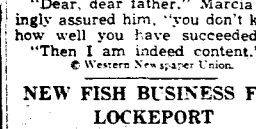

"Do you know that doll reminds me of one I wanted many years ago. I thought that I never would be happy if I didn't have that doll," Marcia laughed at the memory.

"And I wouldn't buy it for you," her father frowned.

"Why father, do you remember that?" the daughter asked in surprise.

"I have never forgotten it, and I resolved never to be the cause of hurting you or anyone as I had you that day."

"Why, you old dear," Marcia laughed as she hugged him. "I haven't thought of it for years." And then she said suddenly as a light of understanding broke upon her, "That is why you always have done so much for me, and why you gave Marcia that doll today, isn't it?" John Grant's smile was the only answer he gave for a moment, and then he said: "If I have succeeded in making both or either of you happy, I shall be happy, too, for I shall feel that I have at least in part paid a Christmas debt long overdue."

"Dear, dear father," Marcia lovingly assured him, "you don't know how well you have succeeded."

"Then I am indeed content,"

DUNCAN DEE woke, grunted and relaxed once more into a morning nap. Somewhere in his mind were two ideas. One was of complete satisfaction after an enjoyable two days in New York. The second pricked at him uncomfortably. Something he should remember, but couldn't. Oh well! He sank gently back into full slumber.

At eleven o'clock, after breakfast in the house of his friends where he was staying, he became electrified. He had forgotten something. Something very important. A Christmas night dance. That evening. He had been invited by Rosamond Tone, a girl he was quite mad about. How could he have forgotten? It seemed impossible. But Rosamond had telephoned him two evenings ago, exactly one minute before a hasty departure for New York. He had been delighted, charmed to take her. Then . . . that long freezing ride . . . finding a place to stay which did not cost too much, dressing, getting to a late party which was big and brisk, and went on and on until morning and breakfast. Then a few scant hours of sleep, another afternoon party outside the city . . . a sleet storm, and the sensible decision that he would not drive back in town for his evening clothes . . . but keep on going to the second informal engagement for the evening . . . a hundred and thirty miles in another direction, where he would stay all night.

So, here he was at eleven the next morning, a hundred and thirty miles from his evening clothes . . . and due in a few hours at a party . . . miles in quite an opposite direction. This was the manner in which Duncan was wont to spend out of his week-ends. Bedlam raged in his brain.

It wasn't the party so much; it was the girl. Rosamond Tone was more than lovely—she was lovable. She was also the daughter of old Taurus Tone, the head of the company in which Duncan held a responsible but not impressive position. And there was that guy named Frank Nester. He, too, held a responsible but not impressive position in the same place. He, too, loved Rosamond, or at least paid her conspicuous attention. Mr. Tone glared at both of them. It was old Taurus' way; and you could like it or leave it. No one wished to leave it, certainly not Duncan Dee nor that Frank Nester fellow.

At noon Duncan called up Rosamond long-distance, to assure her he had not forgotten and would be there immediately then he began scouring the town for dress clothes. All the people he knew were going to dances that night. They needed their own. He began to feel silly and a little sick. He had contrived in the course of three hours to collect one pair of dress suspenders, a white tie, and proper waistcoat. Another hour yielded a dress-shirt and pair of trousers. This was sheer triumph of personality. Somebody let him have studs and a collar. He'd be able to wear his ordinary black shoes and socks. He still required a coat. He could not get a coat!

Duncan went to the dinner dance. He looked exceptionally happy and well groomed. Frank Nester was there. He also looked well groomed but far from happy. Rosamond, if not unkind, had been frugal in giving dances to him.

Old Taurus was there, snorting and suspicious. Once he grabbed Duncan's elbow. "See here, young man," he growled, "that coat of yours looks darned familiar, and a little large. Could it be by any chance, be one of mine?"

"Yes, sir!" said Duncan, looking Rosamond's father straight in the eye. That was the best way with old Taurus. "My own is in New York. I collected all the other things from friends. I came anyway. And Rosamond . . ."

"I thought so!" Taurus glared at him. "Well, it appears you have courage, and that you keep your wits about you. It should help you get along. Report to me tomorrow morning. We'll talk over that . . . or opening I mentioned."

"Oh, sir . . . I'll tell Rosamond right away."

"You'll do no such thing!" Taurus roared.

But Duncan told her. Rosamond, said she had already selected a sweeter apartment and an egg-beater. "In case you asked me, you know."

Duncan kissed her and stated he must be very careful not to spill anything on her father's coat . . . and they kissed again.

MOCK TRIAL

The members of the Young People's Union held a Mock Trial in the church on Friday evening. Mr. Alcohol being tried on a charge that during the past one thousand years he had done great injury to those who had called him friend. He was found guilty and sentenced to the full penalty of the law.

Magistrate J. M. Sabine acted as Judge; Rev. C. U. MacNevin as Prosecuting Lawyer and G. R. Pierce as Defending Lawyer. The parts of court officials, witnesses and jury were taken by various members of the Union. At the conclusion a clipping party was held in the Young People's room. Proceeds being for the Dickenson project.

CHILD PLAYS WITH GUN, EYES BLOWN OUT

Feared fatally wounded on Thursday of last week, as he joyfully celebrated his second birthday, little Walter Joseph Saulnier, of Weymouth, is still in the Yarmouth Hospital. Upon his entrance there, hospital authorities did not think that he could possibly live more than a day or two but late reports show that he is holding his own. His brothers played with Walter in an upstairs room of their home about 11 o'clock Thursday morning. Mrs. Gerald Saulnier, the mother, heard a loud shot and ran upstairs, terror-stricken. She found William, three, with the smoking weapon in his hands.

Walter lay bloody and still.

both eyes shot out and half his face torn away. The eldest boy, four years old, stared uncomprehending. Mrs. Saulnier summoned a doctor, who first gave first aid and ordered the child to the hospital in Yarmouth.

Unaware of the tragedy they caused, Walter's tiny brothers have played on unconcerned by the accident. They had discovered their father's shot gun, loaded it with a blank cartridge, and played with it. The childish game spelled tragedy for their parents. Walter, if he lives, will forever carry the horrible scars of his birthday frolic, totally blind. Fired from close quarters the cartridge powder burned his eyes out in a flash.

COWBOY BANDIT ASKS FOR MOTHER

Harry Dwyer, one of the two "dude cowboys" who attempted a fantastic train hold-up, and who is in jail at Las Cruces, New Mexico, last week had a spell of homesickness and asked that his mother, Mrs. Joseph Thibault, of Concession, Digby County, be sent for. This homesickness followed a visit of the father and sister of Henry Lorenz, his companion in the attempted robbery. Mrs. Thibault left for New Mexico last week.

R. J. M. Taylor was in Kentville on business on Friday.

Mrs. W. R. Harris and daughter, Anna Ruth, recently visited her mother, Mrs. W. F. Journeay, at Annapolis Royal.

Weddings

Sabine - Grant

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in the presence of a small party of relatives and friends in the Christian church parsonage, Weymouth North, on Monday evening last. Rev. Donald Stockford officiating, when Margaret Annis, daughter of Mrs. Albert Grant, was united in marriage to Leigh Arnold Sabine, of Riverdale, son of Harold F. Sabine. The bride was dressed in wine transparent velvet, with cut crystal trimmings and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and baby "mums". She was attended by Miss Doris Lefis, of Danvers, who wore Burgundy crepe and satin, and her flowers were of snapdragons and "mums". The groom was attended by his cousin, Fred A. Sabine, of Riverdale. A reception was held at the home of the bride, Weymouth North. The bridal party received under an archway of silver and white. Mrs. John Sabine, grandmother of the groom, poured; those assisting in serving were Mrs. Fred Shinner, Mrs. Gordon Prime, the Misses Bessie Sabine, Avis and Treva Cosman, Ruth Hobbs and June Prime. The many beautiful gifts showed the esteem in which the happy couple was held. Mr. and Mrs. Sabine will reside in Riverdale.

Out of town guests attending the Sabine-Grant reception were Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sabine and son, Burgess; Mrs. Hobbs, Ruth Hobbs, George Sabine, New Tusket; Mrs. John Sabine, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sabine and family, Riverdale; Miss Bessie Wagner, Southville; Miss Doris Lewis, Frank Lewis, Danvers; Mr. and Mrs. Harley Brooks, Ashmore; Mr. and Mrs. Chipman Marshall, Miss Lillian Nichol and Donald Marshall, Marshalltown; Mrs. Fred Shinner, Halifax; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Prime, Kemptville.

Mrs. Margaret Tooker, who spent the past five months in Halifax, has returned home.

Mrs. Adelaide Moore, of Yarmouth, spent last week with Mrs. H. S. Hoyt.

The Sewing Bee met with Mrs. R. B. Powell last week.

Rev. I. D. Lytle, of Port Maitland, preached in the Baptist Churches here on Sunday.

A shower in honor of Miss Margaret Grant was held at her home on Monday evening of last week, a large number being present from Danvers, Riverdale, Southville and Weymouth. Miss Grant was the recipient of a large array of beautiful and useful gifts.

Mrs. Fred Shinner, of Halifax, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Albert Grant.

At a meeting of the Cumberland County Teacher's Union, held in Springhill last week, the banquet was presided over by Gerald Tingley, of the Amherst teaching staff, a former principal of the Weymouth High School.

Lobster and smelt fishermen started at their work on December 1st and thus far are reporting very good catches. The smelt fishermen hauled 150 lbs. of smelts the first of the season. Another of the smelt fishermen caught an unusual fish in his net. It was about 18 inches long, resembling a trout and had bright red spots on it. Local parties called it a deep sea trout but upon sending it to Digby it was identified as a salt water speckled salmon. Lobster fishermen have also reported good catches thus far. Several boats selling over $20.00 worth the first day of the season.

CHRISTMAS TREES FROM WEYMOUTH

Deeply loaded with a cargo which it is anticipated will bring happiness into nearly 18,000 homes, the motor vessel Accuracy, Capt. Crouse, sailed Friday morning last from Weymouth for Bridgeport, Conn., with a fragrant cargo of 17,908 fir Christmas trees. The trees which equal about seven cord loads were shipped by M. Hartford Company, of Los Angeles, California.

Y. P. S. TAKES SERVICE

In the absence of the minister, Rev. C. U. MacNevin, the services at the Barton, North Range and Weymouth United Churches were taken Sunday by members of the Young People's Society of the Weymouth Church. Miss Kathleen Fitzgerald, president, conducted the service and the address was given by Galen R. Pierce, principal of the high school. At the Weymouth service they were assisted by Miss Joyce Gidney, who read the scripture.

The motor vessel, Jean Kathleen, Capt. Charles Morrell, of Freeport, is in port at Weymouth loading a cargo of hardwood for Freeport. The Government Patrol Boat, Capelin, was in port this week. Capt. Albert Moore, of Westport, is master.

TEACHERS ORGANIZE IN CLARE DISTRICT

An organizing meeting was recently held in the Meteghan River hall for the purpose of introducing a local of the Teachers' Union in Clare. Out of the 67 teachers in Clare, 40 attended. Miss Laura LeBlanc presided and Miss Lucille Comeau was secretary.

The speakers were L. d'Entremont, M.A., Inspector of Schools, and Mr. Wetmore, M.A., B.Paed., Supervisor of Schools for Yarmouth. The latter, who is a very active member in the Yarmouth local, discussed aims and work. The officers are:

President — Alphonse Comeau, M.A.
1st Vice-President — Miss Amelia Belliveau.
2nd Vice-President — Miss Catherine Melanson.
Secretary — Miss Lucille Comeau

Near Platteville, Wis., Frank Raney, 56, and his son, Malford, 29, uncovered the only Mexican onyx mine in the state. For three months they mined the stone, a back breaking job, and finally had dug up 60 tons of the onyx. Then they couldn't find a buyer for it.

Obituary

There passed away at her home in Concession, on Friday of last week, Lorette Boudreau, 24, after a lingering illness. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Telesphore Boudreau; one sister, Mrs. Peter Gaudet; six brothers, Siffroi and Wilfred, in Boston; Ulysses, Alphonse, Clarence and Louis, at home. The deceased was a member of the Sodality of the Children of Mary, the members of which took part in the ceremonies in the church. Requiem High Mass and funeral services were directed by Rev. Father Gaston-quay, P. P., Monday morning.

The death occurred at his home in Westport a few days ago of Frank Cousins, at the age of 62. Surviving are his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Donald Bill, of Billtown; one son, Donald, in Saint John; one step-sister, Mrs.

Darcy Spinney, Yarmouth; and a stepbrother, Dalton Peters, of Westport. He was a member of the Christian church and Ju-nita Lodge, I. O. O. F. Mr. Cousins sailed for many years out of Halifax on the steamer Kin-burn as purser, and was a member of her crew when she was lost.

The death of Mrs. St. C. Theriault took place at her home in Bellevue's Cove, on Wednesday of last week, after a long illness, at the age of 71 years. Mrs. Theriault taught school for many years and for a time was organist at St. Bernard church. She is survived by her husband; one brother, Ignace Saulnier, Saul-nierville; an adopted daughter Miss Catherine Doucet, R. N., who attended her during her illness. The funeral took place on Saturday morning.

The United Church Christmas Tree and Sale will be held on Thursday, December 16th.

Children's Aid Society to Hold Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society, of Digby, is to be held in the Court House, here, at 8 o'clock this evening. At this meeting, along with other business, the report of Austin L. Robbins, the society's agent, will be heard. Mr. Robbins' report is always worthwhile, and states briefly the vast amount of child welfare work that is accomplished by this society each year.

A large attendance at this meeting is urged. The society would like to see more and more people of Digby town and county become actively interested in its work and efforts. It is the only organization in the county striving to protect and care for children—and to better family relations.

Remember the Children's Aid Annual Meeting at the Court House, this evening.

AN EXCELLENT SUGGESTION

A letter received this week from a subscriber carries an excellent suggestion, especially for this time of the year. He points out that aside from those who will receive direct contributions at Christmas time from various organizations, there are a large number of persons who will find it a difficult task to finance a real Christmas treat for their families.

His letter gives the suggestion that those in town who are able to adopt as a slogan "Give a job before Christmas" and asks that an appeal be made to supply some man or woman with work for a day or so—or even a week—in order that they might earn a few dollars with which to brighten their homes at Christmas time—and at the same time, give them a certain feeling of independence.

We like the spirit in which this letter was written, and may we pass along a hint to all those who are able to look for some little work they could pass along to someone who needs it. Perhaps you have some wood that needs splitting or piling; perhaps you have some work about the home or shop for some man or woman. Look around—and find the job—and some one to do it—and if we can be of any assistance in finding that someone, we will be glad to do our part.

CHRISTMAS TREES LINE STREET

Yesterday morning the town placed a number of small spruce trees along both sides of the business section of Water St. A large tree has been erected on the east side of the street on the vacant frontage between the stores of A. McPhee and A. R. Turnbull.

Those responsible are to be congratulated. The community Christmas tree, started several years ago, has been discontinued for the past few years. We welcome it back for the season of 1937. It, with the smaller trees along the sidewalks, make the Christmas spirit more apparent.

Knees Went Stiff in His Sleep

Agony to Move Them When He Awoke

"For three years," writes this City man, "I suffered with pains across the lower part of my back. In the morning, I awoke with knees so stiff that it was agony to move them. Special treatment would make the pain a little easier—but that was all. Then a friend recommended Kruschen, which my doctor said I might take. I began with about a coffee-spoonful first thing in the morning. To my surprise I found my rheumatic aches and pains disappearing. I kept on with Kruschen, and although I am more than middle-aged, I have been free from pain for two years, and able to go to my office every day."—A. W.

Rheumatic conditions are of ten the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

THE W. M. S.

The W. M. S. of the Grace United church met at the home of Mrs. Abbott, Queen Street, on Tuesday. Besides the regular business and devotional periods of the meeting two special matters, namely, the opening of the mite boxes and the election of officers were attended to. The new officers are as follows:

President—Mrs. J. J. Wallis
sa Vice-President—Mrs. Minnie Appleby
2nd Vice-President—Miss Minnie Campbell
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Charles Carty
Treasurer—Mrs. James Warrington
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. England
Christian Stewardship—Miss Minnie Campbell
Mite Box Secretary—Miss Bessie Chisholm
Press Secretary—Mrs. J. M. Wallis
Supply Committee—Mrs. H. H. MacNeill
Temperance Secretary—Mrs. Budrow
Community Friendship Secretary—Mrs. Charles Carty
Associate Helpers' Secretary—Mrs. Hodgson

Dr. H. J. Kirkpatrick, of Halifax, will be at his office in Middleton, for treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, on Tuesday, December 14th, and Wednesday, December 15th, until noon. Glasses fitted.

"FOR PETE'S SAKE" The comedy, "For Pete's Sake," which was presented under the auspices of the Hospital Aid Society, in Trinity Hall, last evening, was a great success. The humorous situations were well brought out by the local cast of players, and the director, Victor Cardoza, deserves credit for the production.

If you want a hilarious evening there's still an opportunity to see "For Pete's Sake," which is being put on a second time tonight. Miss Dorothy Driffield, of Toronto, is visiting friends in Digby.

ENTERTAINMENT

On Thursday evening, Dec. 2nd, the Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies of Bear River, presented a programme of delightful entertainment in Oakdene Hall, to a capacity house of admiring friends and supporters.

L. V. Harris, chairman of the Scout Council, acted as announcer for the evening, and after welcoming the large audience and the singing of "O Canada" by a massed chorus of the four groups, he invited the District Commissioner, Mrs. E. K. Eaton, of Annapolis Royal, to the stage.

Mrs. Eaton voiced her appreciation of the good work being done by the four groups in Bear River. The Cubs then sang French songs; followed by a Drill of Scouts, remarkable for splendid timing and precision.

Then came the high light of the evening, "Ellen Hill", a charming fantasy in two acts, directed by Capt. E. K. Foster, special mention should be made of the Misses Joyce Benson and Kit Jefferson in the principal roles while the command of English of young Hoyt Purdy was amazing. The entertainment closed after camp fire choruses by the massed groups, and candy was sold during the intermission.

An incident of interest was the presentation of stars to the Cubs and Cub Master's badge to Mrs. Harold Hatheway, assistant Cub Master's badge to Bob Woodgate, and to Edward MacDormand his Scout Master's permit and also a woods badge.

The program reflected great credit on performers and directors alike and realized about $40.00 for the work of the four groups in Bear River.

Lewis Jack, of Kentville, was called home last week owing to the death of his mother, Mrs. Scott Chute.

Henry M. Romans arrived home from Wolfville on Tuesday and will remain over the Christmas season with his mother, Mrs. Walter M. Romans.

Among the recent guests at the Grand Central were M. C. Foster, of Bridgetown, Inspector of schools; and Thomas Hancock and wife, accompanied by friends.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Tilley, of Barton, who leaves very soon to make her future home in the Island of Jersey, was a guest of Mrs. C. W. Jefferson on Tuesday of this week.

when you've found a way to ease the pains of

and do it the inexpensive way, too.

You can pay as high as you want for remedies claimed to relieve the pain of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, etc. But the medicine so many doctors generally approve—the one used by thousands of families daily—is "Aspirin". Simply take 2 "Aspirin" tablets with a half glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions. Usually this will ease such pain in a remarkably short time. For quick relief from such pain which exhausts you and keeps you awake at night, ask for "Aspirin". "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

BOY HIT BY TRUCK

With small hope held for his recovery, Jackie Redmond, 11, of Kentville, struck by a motor truck and dragged a considerable distance at Kentville Friday afternoon, is in Eastern Kings Hospital. He is suffering from concussion of the brain a broken hip, a punctured bladder, broken pelvis and a fractured leg.

Jackie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Redmond, was with his sister Doris and other children on West Main Street when he ran from in front of a parked truck. He made close to the centre of the highway when another truck driven by Mrs. Harold Weaver, of Kentville, struck him. Mrs. Weaver immediately called Dr. T. A. Kirkpatrick. Jackie Redmond is a grandson of Capt. and Mrs. John Woodworth, of Bear River.

GRANVILLE FERRY

Mrs. Harry Reed is leaving soon to visit relatives in Halifax and the United States.

P. V. Doyle is a patient at Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax, Charles Messick, who has also been a patient at Camp Hill, has returned to his home.

Mrs. George F. Parker (nee Velzyn Crowe) held her post-nuptial reception at her home on Wednesday afternoon of last week from 3 to 6, when a large number of ladies from Annapolis Royal and Granville called. She was in her wedding gown of white satin and was assisted in receiving by her mother-in-law, Mrs. A. E. Parker, and her aunt, Miss Bernice Crowe, of Annapolis Royal, little Elizabeth McMurtry opened the door. The dining table was centered with pink and yellow chrysanthemums.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The December meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Masonic room on Monday, the 6th.

Owing to illness, only fourteen members and two guests were present. One new member joined at this meeting.

Business was transacted as rapidly as possible in order to hear Mrs. Woodgate's report of the annual meeting held in Truro. This report was most interesting and gave a good idea of the great work being accomplished by the Institutes of the Province.

During the meeting the members worked on the stockings which are to contain cheer for the Christmas Boxes.

A tea was served by Mrs. Harry Harris, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Roop and Mrs. MacDormand and the sum of $2.45 was realized for Institute purposes.

Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Campbell returned from Halifax on Sunday. Mrs. Maurice Williams, of Boston, was a guest recently of Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Roach.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

REACTION TIME
Persons wishing to be aviators are subjected to a most thorough medical examination, and rightly so, as flying requires both physical fitness and mental alertness of a high order. One of the main tests to which the candidate is subjected is called the "reaction time" to determine fitness for the exacting responsibility of controlling an aeroplane.

Scientific instruments are used to measure accurately just how long it takes the individual under test to do certain things under varying conditions. In other words these instruments indicate clearly to what degree mental alertness and physical action are in harmony. In any group of persons so tested it is observed that some are slow, others are jumpy while others again are on the hair trigger of precision and accuracy of control.

But unfortunately there are a great many persons whose reaction time is not normal. And in this fast moving age of motor traffic when split second decisions are often called for, serious accidents occur because at least one of the individuals concerned was not capable of responding quickly enough to the demands. His reaction time was too slow.

To all motorists, mechanics and to everybody who handles movable objects which if out of control can injure or destroy life we would issue a word of caution.

Take stock of your reaction time. Try and be perfectly honest about it, too. By doing a little thinking on the subject you can likely determine whether or not your reaction time is normal. Then when you are faced with the responsibility of putting your reaction time to the test—play safe—by leaving yourself a wide margin beyond your normal.

This year in Canada 20,000 people will be injured in automobile accidents many of which will be due to the fact that drivers were not equal to the exigencies of the moment. They couldn't do the right thing quickly enough. Their reaction time was faulty. Put an honest rating upon your own reaction time and play safe.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St. Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

SMITH'S COVE

Mrs. Gordon Ruggles, of Bear River East, visited friends here on Monday.

Arthur Sulis has returned to his regular duties, after having been laid aside some weeks by the accidental cutting of a leg.

Lloyd Derby, who has been in the employ of E. B. Weir for several months, will return to his home in Westport this week. He has been a great help in the Baptist choir and local musical circles while here.

Joyce Payson spent Friday last with her sister, Miss Barbara Payson, teacher at Waldec.

Mrs. George Larramore and children, Lloyd, Lillian and Florence, are spending several days with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Forman Wright, Princedale.

A "class" of knitters from the Women's Institute, met at the home of Mrs. John Smith, Wednesday last, and received instructions in several new stitches from delegates who attended the Leader School Group.

Mrs. Ralph Cossitt has received word of the death of a cousin — Lawrence Winchester — which occurred quite suddenly at his home in Melrose, Mass. He was a grandson of the late Capt. Jacob Winchester, a native and resident of Smith's Cove, who sailed in the days of "Wooden Ships and Iron Men" to many parts of the world.

Ira Davis is home from the Digby General Hospital, greatly improved from his accident. Clarence Cornwell, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nesbitt and Jared Banks, of Rossway, were guests of Arthur Cornwell and Miss Jaten Cornwell on Sunday.

Mrs. Lewis Cattle, of Truro, visited her brother, Clarence Cornwell, at Rossway, last week.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor:—I was present at the first Pop Concert in the Community Hall, on Thursday evening of last week, and thoroughly enjoyed a feast of fine music.

Music hath charms and to anyone who enjoys good music, I would urge them to participate in the concerts yet to be given by the Digby Band. In doing so, they will serve two purposes. First, they will be satisfying a natural longing of their own souls—for music is good for the soul, and secondly, they will be encouraging the boys of the band, who devote so many hours practicing to prepare themselves to entertain those who listen.

The type of music played was such as to meet the taste of any mixed audience. Some like the classical or semi-classical, and others the lighter music.

At last week's concert both tests were met, and I personally wish to congratulate the Band and its leader for the excellent manner in which they played each number. I would especially congratulate the horn section. The smoothness and quality on the horns was really delightful. Good work boys!

One thing, however, the Band as a whole, must bear in mind and that is they are playing in an enclosure—a limited space—and they must regulate the volume of their music to the place and occasion. The Hall is small but with this correction made the objection of many will be removed, and I'm sure the band can look forward to larger audiences in the future.

BAYER COMPANY PROTECTS ITS TRADE MARK "ASPIRIN"

The Bayer Company Limited, having brought actions to restrain infringement of its registered trade mark "Aspirin" the Exchequer Court of Canada has given judgment against its five defendants. In each case the Exchequer Court perpetually restrains the defendants Ivan Lambert, Joseph Nozick, Standard Bottlers and Packers Ltd., B. Neuman and Joe Beckman from using the trade mark "Aspirin" on preparations put out by themselves and awards the Bayer Company costs and damages.

The defendants were marketing the infringing product under various names including Pioneer Sales Co., Western Sales Co., Western Distributing Co., Advance Specialty Co. and Acme Specialty Company. The tablets labelled "Aspirin" were not of Bayer manufacture and were packed in small envelopes, each containing three or four tablets, and mounted on cards.

It is the intention of The Bayer Company Limited to take every legal method to uphold its trade mark.

"Aspirin" is the trade mark of The Bayer Company, Limited, Windsor, Ontario.

NO ONE CAN BLAME HER

The more she tried to figure out her sales and social security taxes the more befuddled became Mrs. Bertha Mae Vaughn, owner of cafe in Topeka, Kansas. Finally she decided it would be easier to go out of business and burn her restaurant, which she did, at a loss of $1,800. Officials of the state fire inspection department later revealed she had told them she didn't have a good education and couldn't compute her tax obligations.

IN THEIR BAKING!

PICTOU Exhibition

"To assure perfect success in every baking and to avoid expensive baking failures, I always use Quaker Flour. And to make baking much easier, I recommend The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking. This new and simple method assures me delicious bread and rolls every time."

Miss Belle Morash,
Pictou, N.S.

STEWIACKE Exhibition

"Using Quaker Flour, I find that I can get consistently bread and rolls of perfect flavour, even texture, ideal colour, lightness and shape. The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking reduces the work to one-quarter of that required for ordinary baking methods."

Mrs. M. J. Barkhouse, Stewiacke, N.S.

PORT ELGIN Exhibition

"I credit Quaker Flour with helping me to win First Prize at the Port Elgin Exhibition at the baking contest. No other flour can give my bread such superior flavour, even texture, good colour, shape, etc. The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking is the greatest work I have ever done. It's so simple I'm sure anyone using it can make 'prize-winning' bread every time."

Mrs. Adelbert A. Allen, Melrose, N.B.

KESWICK Exhibition

"Using Quaker Flour and following The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking assisted me greatly in winning first prize in the bread baking contest at the Keswick Exhibition. It is my firm belief that any woman can have perfect baking results and always avoid expensive failures if she will only use Quaker Flour and follow The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking."

Mrs. Roy Holyoke,
Keswick, N.B.

WOODSTOCK Exhibition

"My advice to every woman if she wants to get perfect results every time in her baking is to use Quaker Flour. The bread which I won first prize at the Woodstock Exhibition was made with Quaker Flour. And the greatest time and labour saver I know of is The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking. It also is assurance against expensive baking failures."

Mrs. Wilbur Kidney,
Weston Settlement, N.B.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY Exhibition

"Prize-winning bread can be a regular habit of any woman if she follows my practice of using Quaker Flour and The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking. This method eliminates kneading and overnight setting. Simple and quick, it is a great work and time-saver. What's more, it saves me money because I never have a failure."

Mrs. E. Lamming,
Pugwash, N.S.

Time after time, place after place, Quaker Flour has played its important part in helping winners to first awards in bread baking contests. And these winners are enthusiastic in their praise of Quaker Flour and the new Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking. Never before has a flour demonstrated so conclusively its superiority as has Quaker Flour.

Using Quaker Flour these winners can look back on expensive baking failures as things of the past. They are sure of constant baking success . . . of bread and rolls with new and perfect flavour and goodness.

...YOU, TOO, CAN BAKE "PRIZE-WINNING" BREAD AND ROLLS EVERY DAY!

What's more, you can do it in half the time, one-quarter the work. Just follow this amazing new and easy way.

FREE This famous book "The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking" reveals marvellous new method that saves time and work. Send for your free copy today.

Increased activity in the logging industry kept the normal autumn decline in employment down this year the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. A slight slackening in employment took place during October but it was smaller than the average decline in the last ten years.

According to reports from Boston buyers of lobsters in that city have set up a new cull. The minimum back measure for chitons lobsters is to be increased from 3 1-16 to 3 1-8 inches. Selects to include only those whose back measurements are within the limits 3 3/8 to 4 1/4 in.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

But of all the examination questions we ever had, the most ridiculous was one given in the final examinations of grade VIII. At that time Grade VIII—or high school entrance exams—were conducted on the same lines as the provincial examinations of today. The question I have in mind was the writing (from memory) of the music for "God Save the King". This was one of the compulsory questions.

Of course our teacher prepared us for this question, and for several weeks during the last quarter of the year, the musical score was written on the blackboard. It was up to us to copy it—and learn it off by heart. Of the whole class, I doubt if there were half a dozen who had the slightest idea of how to read the music we had learned to draw, and, in so far as the good it did for us, we might just as well have learned to "draw" the music of "Casey Jones". None of us, perhaps including our teacher, with the exception of a mere half dozen or so who were taking music lessons, would have known the difference. Music was not taught in the school in those days—the only students who knew how to read music were those who took lessons at home; yet we had to "write the music to God Save the King".

And then there was homework. I'll wager most of our school work was supposed to have been done at home. It seems to me we were given lessons to learn at night, and went back to school the next day to recite them: In the lower grades our parents did much of the "teaching", while the teachers heard us recite.

Those days weren't so long ago; nevertheless there appears to be a great change in the old system. The present tendency is to lessen or entirely do away with homework in the lower grades. The only criticism which most adults would offer to this revolutionary development is that it should have been put into practice a sufficient number of decades ago to have saved them from unnecessary turmoil of the mind when they were students. But this criticism would not be justified because in those former days there was no radio to occupy the youthful attention; in fact, looking back, it is difficult to see what there was to do at all. Homework was needed in those times lest the devil find employment for the idle little people. Today a child's time is fully occupied without the added encumbrance of homework. From the hour when school is out until ten or eleven o'clock at night there are radio programmes that need listening to. One of the beauties of the radio is that there are few programmes too difficult for the most backward child to comprehend.

Many of us read with interest the reports of progress science has made in lengthening our life span by combating disease. Since 1900 the life expectancy of a child has been increased from 49 years to 61 years. For what? So that 3,000 lives may be lost in Canada and the United States every month through carelessness and criminal negligence! So that the efforts of those great men of science shall be destroyed. Most of us shudder at the wholesale murder in China and Spain. It is horrible! But right under our own noses an average of 100 persons lose their lives every single day through the careless driving of automobiles. "Nothing is certain in this world but death and taxes!" But while taxes are inescapable, death might be postponed if we used normal intelligence.

THE BOY SCOUTS

The weekly Boy Scout meeting was held as usual last Friday evening. Two games were played and after some signal practice the meeting closed at 9.30. Charles McAulay, Paul Winchester and Ted Walker received their Ambulance badges for the tests they had passed.

The latter two had also passed their signalling tests. A short court of honor was held and then some work in the toy shop, which is fairly busy. The scouts have opened a shop in which to repair old toys for those in need this Christmas. If notified they will gladly call at your home for any contribution of old toys.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1937

VOLUME LXIV, NO. 13

MASONS PLAN CELEBRATIONS NEXT YEAR

Freemasonry in Nova Scotia approaches the year 1938 with anticipation of a year that will be memorable in the annals of the Craft in this province. It will be an anniversary year of more than ordinary significance, and in several centres ambitious plans are under consideration for appropriate functions to mark the beginning and progress of the order in Nova Scotia.

Suggestions are under discussion for the celebration next June of the 200th anniversary of the first Masonic Lodge in Canada, founded at Annapolis Royal, in June, 1738. Invitations have been sent to the Grand Lodge of England, the Grand Lodges in Canada, the District Grand Lodges in Newfoundland, and the forty-nine Grand Lodges in the United States. Many acceptances have already been received.

As is to be expected Annapolis Royal, Bear River and Digby will figure prominently in these events and the three local lodges will have their hands full in carrying out the details incident to such a big undertaking. The celebrations will centre around Halifax, Annapolis Royal and Digby. The principal meetings will be held in Halifax and Annapolis Royal but Digby is to be the scene of a big banquet to all the distinguished Masonic visitors in the Pines Hotel on the evening of July 10th—or at least that is the tentative programme. Full details have not yet been arranged.

The $10,000 worth of clothes given to the Saskatchewan Voluntary Relief Committee by a Regina department store, will help clothe 2000 children in the drought areas of Saskatchewan, the committee has decided.

LINDSAY KIRKPATRICK TO RETIRE

Lindsay Kirkpatrick, station agent at Digby for the past eighteen years, and one of the most popular on the Dominion Atlantic Railway, having attained the retirement age, will take his pension at the end of the present month. He entered railway service in 1890 as an operator at Annapolis Royal and in 1894 was transferred to the audit office in Kentville, where he remained for six years. His ability was early recognized and in 1900 he was elevated to the position of city agent at Halifax and in 1903 was selected to fill the dual position of travelling passenger agent and travelling auditor. In 1905 he went back as city agent and in 1917 was appointed chief clerk to the general freight agent. After two years in the traffic office he resumed station work at Annapolis Royal where he was employed at the time of bidding in the Digby agency. The completion of eighteen years at Digby—a joint Dominion Atlantic-Canadian Pacific terminal—on December 31st, closes a railway career of 47 years of outstanding service. It is the sincere wish of fellow employees and friends that he will be spared to enjoy many years of good health and happiness.

Will correspondents who frequently mix up advertising with news, kindly refrain from this practice. All items referring in advance to socials, pantry sales, annual meetings of societies, and the like constitute paid advertising. News is news after such meetings are held, not before. And do not overlook the fact that financial statements, reports of officers, etc., at annual meetings must be paid for. All the facts contained in such reports have been given to the public before in the news items covering the monthly meetings, and if the society wants such facts repeated in the news of the annual meeting they must be paid for.

Weddings

Ells - Pineo

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Harris, Barton, on Thursday of last week, when Miss Verna Marie Pineo, only daughter of John L. Pineo, of Kentville, was married to Ivan Webster Ells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ells, of Upper Canard. The bride was dressed in black and white satin, and was attended by Miss Bessie Harris, formerly of Upper Canard. The groom was supported by Dr. Harris, of Barton. Rev. C. U. MacNevin, of the United Church, performed the ceremony. After a lunch Mr. and Mrs. Ells left for Kentville.

Three Act Comedy—Members of the Young People's Society of Centreville, presented a three act comedy, "Jupiter Smiles" to an appreciative audience in the community hall Friday evening. The cast included: Minnie Farnsworth, Helen Morehouse, Edna Shaw, Norma Morehouse, Esther Titus, Willie Dakin, Keith Parker and Oscar Morehouse. During intermission piano duets were played by Helen and Norma Morehouse. Proceeds were for the Dickenson project in China.

Obituary

Mrs. Emma S. Aptt

Mrs. Emma Sophia (Ryan), wife of Edward B. Aptt, died at her home in Gloucester, Mass., last Thursday, aged 72 years. She was born in Digby County—a daughter of the late Capt. John and Sarah A. (Hines) Ryan. She went to Gloucester as a young woman and has made her home in that city ever since. Besides her husband she leaves five sons and four daughters; also three brothers, two of whom, Fred and John, still live in Nova Scotia; and of her five sisters, Mrs. Jennie Rice, is the only one in this province. The funeral took place at Gloucester on Sunday.

ACQUITTED OF BIGAMY CHARGE

County Court Judge, W. A. Livingstone, of Annapolis Royal, on Saturday acquitted Arthur R. Noiles, of a charge of bigamy on the ground the alleged first marriage was not sufficiently proven. Information against Noiles was laid several weeks ago at Digby, by Clarice Boileau Noiles. He was later arrested at Lawrencetown and given a preliminary hearing at Digby, when the case was dismissed. Later he was arrested and sent up for trial by Stipendiary J. M. Sabine, at Weymouth.

The case was heard by Judge Livingstone last week, who adjourned his court until Saturday for decision. Kenneth Smith, of Annapolis Royal, was counsel for the defence, and the prosecution was conducted by E. J. Thriault, of Digby.

These are the shortest days of the year, but at least in a few days, we pass the meridian. From then on the days will start to grow longer. That fact brings a pleasant feeling even if it is well into January or February before we can begin to get the marked evidence of it.

Turnip Seed Wins First

Nova Scotia headed all entries for swede turnip seed at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto this year when swedes produced from local seed won in both the Laurentian purple top and Ditmars classes. Until a year ago, Ditmars swede seed, which originated in Nova Scotia, was the only swede seed registered by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association but Laurentian purple top is now also included among the few accepted for registration by the association.

The Windsor Tribune says: "Friends of Wm. Howard, of the Royal Bank staff, Windsor, who left for Digby on Monday, gathered at Livingston's Hall on Friday evening of last week and tendered him a farewell dance. Music was supplied by the Windsor Orchestra and refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Mr. Howard was presented with a leather travelling bag."

nier, Mrs. Cora Saulnier and Mrs. Charles P. Deveau were on a business trip to Yarmouth on Thursday.

James Aymar returned home last week after having spent the summer in the Annapolis Valley.

Lobster fishing proved very good the first two days of the season but the high winds later in the week did some damage to the traps.

Hon. J. L. P. Robichaud, of Maxwellton; H. C. Price, Halifax; A. J. Moore and George Le-Blanc, Yarmouth, were at the Royal Hotel last week.

The article, "Across the Continent by Car", by J. J. Wallis, is certainly worth reading and many are of the same opinion as your correspondent. It would certainly make a nice book. Mr.
Wallis deserves congratulations and much credit in writing such an interesting account of his trip.

SANDY COVE

(Held Over From Last Week)
Mrs. Charity Morehouse returned home on Sunday from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Lila Eldridge, Digby.

Ralph and James Marshall, of Marshalltown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Jeffrey a few days last week.

spending some time with Mrs.
Edna Crowell, who is much improved in health.

Miss Joyce Sabine, of Waterford, is staying with Mrs. H.
A. Browne.

Arnold Morehouse is at present employed in Digby.

Mrs. Ralph Morehouse and daughter Laura, returned home from Mt. Hanley recently, accompanied by the former's brother, Alton Barteaux.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingram Neily and family: Mr. and Mrs. A. J.
Mitchell, Middleton; and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Eldridge and daughter, Ruth, were Sunday visitors of their mother, Mrs. C. M.
Mitchell.

Scott Sypher, of the government patrol boat, Capelin, spent the week end with his family.

T. Mayne, Saint John, was a guest of Mrs. C. M. Mitchell Friday and Saturday of last week.

spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Ross Walsh.

Mrs. Robert McGrath spent a few days recently with Mrs.
Stewart Mills, in Annapolis
Royal.

Weddings

Mailman—VanBuskirk

A pretty wedding took place at the bride's home, Bear River
East, on Friday evening, Nov.
19, when Rev. A. W. L. Smith, of Clementsport, united in marriage Elizabeth Horiata Van-Buskirk, daughter of Mrs. Alice and the late Richard Van-Buskirk, to Henry Mailman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mailman, of Upper Clements. The bride was dressed in navy sheer and carried an arm bouquet of pink, yellow and white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern.
She was given in marriage by her uncle, Col. Garnet Harris, and was attended by her sister,
Miss Garnett VanBuskirk, dressed in wine crepe and carrying a bouquet of garnet and white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern. The bride and groom left for a short honeymoon trip spent in Halifax.

THE SCOUT HALL AND THE CIVIC BAND

If everybody in Digby knew what a fine place the remodelled Scout Hall has proved to be for concerts or any kind of entertainment, we believe it would be in constant demand. Many events now held at the Court House, or the various church halls, or in other places not so well adapted to the purpose, would undoubtedly draw larger patronage if held in a more public Community Hall. All organizations, and all groups of entertainers giving shows of any kind should co-operate in making the fullest use of this hall because better patronage will result in further improvements—extension in the rear, larger stage, and dressing rooms which seem to be the only things needed to give Digby one of the finest Community halls in the province—the seating capacity being ample for any ordinary occasion. The sponsors whose public spirit and individual expenditures have made the present hall a reality cannot be expected to make any further outlay unless the public gives its support and shows
"community spirit". At the recent "POP" concert the band found the acoustics surprisingly excellent. The room was well heated and lighted and the general appearance decidedly attractive.

DEEP BROOK

(Held Over From Last Week)
The ladies of the Dorcas Society of the Baptist church held a very successful supper in the NOVEL MOCK TRIAL HELD AT WEYMOUTH

The Young People's Society of the United Church here held a mock trial recently, at which "Mr. Alcohol" was tried and found guilty. Those taking part were J. M. Sabine, Galen Pierce, Rev. C. M. MacNevin, Judson and Victor Nickerson, Kathleen Fitzgerald, Audrey Blackadar, Teresa Granville, George Taylor Jack McNeil, Richard Gates, Richard Brittain, Peter O'Connell and James Dunkley. After the trial a chipping party was held in the vestry of the church. The proceeds were for the Dickinson project, in which each union is asked to contribute $6 in order to help Rev. Frank Dickinson in China raise $1500 to equip in part, a model barn.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD CHECK UP ON YOURSELF

Do your summer prints show the care this one does—the deft framing of foliage, judicious placing of figures, strong shadows against brilliant highlights and full exposure for shadow detail? Will trimming them help, as trimming on the white line helps balance this picture? When you make a mistake, do you note it down, so you can avoid it in the future? It's a helpful idea.

FALL is a season for taking stock in many businesses. It is also a good time for the amateur camera man, after a busy summer, to take stock of himself and his work.

Are you improving? Are you taking better pictures now than you were six months or a year ago? And if not, why not?

If, perchance, you aren't improving as rapidly and steadily as you think you should, I'll venture this is the reason—you aren't studying your mistakes.

The first spare hour you have, why don't you collect all your summer prints and single out those that are bad—the portraits made in harsh sunlight with no provision for the shaded side of the face, the landscapes with dead foregrounds and no "framing" of trees or foliage, the prints that show blank white skies, without clouds or tone.

Recall the scene and then write down on the back of each print what you should have done to make the picture good.

If you have a blank sky or very thin clouds, note down that you should have used a filter.

If a portrait has no detail on the shady side, note that you should have used a reflector near the face on that side, even if it was only a sheet of cardboard or a white picnic cloth spread in the sun. If a landscape is dead, analyze it and recall the scene. Maybe by backing up a little or moving to one side, you could have included a gracefully curving tree branch fairly close to the camera, to give the picture depth and a natural frame. Maybe by a change of position you could have included a path or a hedge that would lead the eye gradually across and into the picture. Write on the back of the print what you should have done.

Maybe you have child pictures in which backgrounds are mottled and confused, sticking up in meaningless fashion behind the subject. Another background, a change of viewpoint, might have made each picture perfect. Write down what you should have done.

After you have noted these mistakes, don't just stick the prints away and forget them. Use them as a reference file. Take a few out on your picture-making jaunts and be mindful of them when new picture chances arise.

Learn what you do wrong—decide how to do it right—think before you shoot. Here is one of the secrets of picture-making success.

John van Guilder.

The Mistletoe Hunt

By FRANCES GRINSTEAD

"Bye-O Baby Bunting, Daddy's gone a-hunting!"

WHEN the mothers of young children in the east Oklahoma countryside sing this nursery song to their little ones they may out of loyalty to Mother Goose add the next two lines:

"For to find a rabbit skin,
To wrap the Baby Bunting in."

But that isn't exactly what daddy does down there. When it comes the time of year that the baby needs warmer covering, daddy takes his gun and goes out to shoot down mistletoe! This he sells for the Christmas trade and buys Baby Bunting a different kind of raiment. For mistletoe, with its well-known holiday meaning, grows in abundance there and is always found high among the bare winter branches of the native elm. Little boys climb for it, of course, but the quickest way to gather it for commercial use is to shoot it down. "Open season" for mistletoe hunting begins about the last of November and the demand increases steadily until Christmas. Truck loads of the green sprigs with their wax-white berries are driven to the cities of the north for the holiday trade. As the mistletoe is not always uniformly ripe at the time it is wanted, much "hunting" is required to find sprigs whose berries are at a stage to suit the demands of the buyers. At such times the roadsides may be strewn with discarded mistletoe, for the condition of the berries cannot be seen until the sprig has been shot down. But such waste is not lamented, for mistletoe is a parasite that reappears in abundance each year, however ruthlessly it may be treated.

CHRISTMAS IN THE HOME

CHRISTMAS festivities are likely to be much more fun when the whole family helps, says the New York state college of home economics.

The older children are always eager to trim the Christmas tree, collect Christmas greens, and make wreaths. Often they have good ideas on how to arrange these holiday decorations. Because these tasks are unusual they have a special appeal, but with the right encouragement from father or mother even the more routine work may seem a part of the general family-sharing at Christmas.

Big brother and sister can be a help if they show their small brother or sister how to help in odd car-entering jobs that come with Christmas. If mother is busy, older brothers or sisters can help the youngsters to dress or get ready for bed.

What can the small members of the family do? Little Johnny or tin, Mary can cut out gingerbread men and other fancy shaped cookies which mother will lift onto the baking sheet. Father will also be pleased to know how well his small son or daughter can find his tool cut the string used to wind the Christmas wreath when both of father's hands are busy, or help with other preparations.

One thing father and mother should remember is to watch for signs of fatigue or nervous strain in the younger children. They should not ask the children to do too many or too difficult tasks.

Spirit of Christmas

By Katherine Edelman

SURRENDER yourself to the Spirit of Christmas! Let its joy thrill you—let its peace steal softly across your heart! Open your ears to the magic of its message—open your eyes to the miracles it accomplishes!

Read again Dickens' Christmas Carol, the best known and most inspiring of all the Christmas stories. And don't feel ashamed, if at the end, as Tiny Tim whispers, "God bless us, every one," you find your own eyes wet with tears.

Open the Book of Books, and let Luke tell you about that first Christmas—of the long journey to Bethlehem, of the birth in the humble manger, of the shepherds keeping watch over their flocks. Listen to the heavenly music that was heard upon the hills, to the thrilling words of the angel, "Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." Bow your head and give thanks for the Prince of Peace who came, saying with the angels, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Let Matthew tell you of the coming of the Wise Men from the East, with their gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh, which they presented to the Christ Child.

Then, with the Spirit of Christmas in your heart, go forth and help make Christmas a brighter and a happier day for others!

Booming the urban version of "the little red schoolhouse," New York city prepared on Thursday last to build 38 new schools at a cost of $45,603,500. The program will provide housing for 80,000 pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Sabine, of Riverdale, (formerly Miss Margaret Grant) were week end guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Albert Grant, Weymouth North.

Miss Martha Melanson, Weymouth North, spent the week end with friends at New Tusk.

Thanks!—The Digby General Hospital wish to thank Mr. Thornton for his generous gift of vegetables, and also the people of Smith's Cove for jellies and pickles.

Car Skids—Skidding on slippery pavement, a sedan car, operated by Lawrence Savary, failed to make the turn at the corner of Warwick and First Avenue on Monday night, struck the ditch and rolled over. In the back of the car was a quantity of brick, which, in the spill succeeded in breaking every window in the sedan. The operator was uninjured.

JOGGIN BRIDGE

Miss Marguerite Cossitt left Tuesday for the United States where she will spend the winter visiting relatives.

William Warne, who has been employed on the D. A. R. in the Annapolis Valley, has returned home.

Mrs. Robert Taylor, who accompanied her sister, Mrs. S. B. MacGregor on a visit to the United States, has returned to her home here.

United Baptist Church, Digby Circuit, Rev. A. G. Robertson, Pastor—Digby, 1.00 and 7.00, with Sunday School at 12.00; Hill Grove at 3.00. Morning topic, "Our Christmas Gift." Evening topic, "Keeping Christ in Christmas."—The first Christmas message was carried forth on the wings of song, and there is today no more fitting vehicle for the conveyance of its truth. The above services are, therefore, services of song. Ten special numbers, apart from the carols, will be presented by an augmented choir. Let us not fail, at this glad season of the year, to exalt His name together, in the house that has been set apart for worship.—We take this opportunity to wish for you and yours a very pleasant and profitable Christmas season.

United Church of Canada, Bear River Circuit, Rev. R. L. Roach, Pastor—Bear River, 10.30 and 7.30; Princetown, 3.00.—Special Christmas music is being presented by the choir.

Sunday School, 10.00; Evensong, 3.00.—Bear River, Matins and Holy Communion, 10.30.—Upper Clements, Evensong, Thursday, 7.30.

Saturday, the 25th inst., the Nativity of Christ is one of the great and joyous festivals of the Christian Church. Every Communicant is to make a special effort to obey the divine injunction: "Do this in remembrance of Me." The following services will be held Christmas Day, in this Parish: Clementsport, 7.30; Deep Brook, 9.00; Bear River, 11.00. We wish the editor and staff of the Courier, and all its many readers a Happy, Holy Christmas-tide.

NORTH RANGE GIRL HURT WHILE AT PLAY

Joyce Robichaud, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Robichaud, North Range, met with an unfortunate accident this week, which resulted in the fourth finger of her right hand being almost completely severed. The little girl was playing in the yard with her four-year-old brother. Finding an axe she held a stick for her brother to cut. The blow fell on her hand.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATED

On Monday of this week, Mr. and Mrs. Forman Wright, of Princetown, Annapolis County, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They were married in 1887 at South Lyndeboro, N. H., by Rev. D. Donavon. Mr. and Mrs. Wright have four children living: Lloyd Wright, Plymouth; Rev. L. B. Wright, Andover, N. B.; Loran Wright, Deep Brook, and Violet (Mrs. George Larramore), Smith's Cove. During the day relatives and friends called to offer their congratulations and wish them many more years of happiness. They received anniversary cards, gifts of money, etc. Mrs. Wright was the recipient of a beautiful bouquet of flowers from her son, Rev. L. B. Wright. She was also presented with two large cakes. Mr. Wright was postmaster at Princetown for 36 years, retiring two years ago.

Mrs. G. H. Peters leaves today for Boston to spend the holiday season with relatives in Marblehead, Mass.; Summit, N. J., and New York city.

"THANK goodness," said Martha Goodwin, bustling about her kitchen, "Christmas comes but once a year." She wiped back a loose wisp of gray hair with a weary gesture. "But it will be fine seeing you again, Lad," she murmured, thinking of her distant son. "Now, let's see. Those star cookies you're so fond of—" She glanced at the hurrying clock.

Loud shrieks of laughter under her window interrupted her thoughts. Those new neighbor children again. If they were dirtying up her freshly swept walk! She strode grimly to the porch. There was a path in the snow from their yard, around hers, and back again to their own, where all four of them had apparently trudged, pushing a snow ball, across her walk in two places. A tussel started suddenly, and they were all tumbling about in the snow, shrieking at the top of their voices.

Martha scolded shrilly at them, and they stood up, an abashed little line of stair steps. "The ideal!

On Christmas, too!" Martha chided. "Whatever is the matter with your ma, that she lets you make such a racket?"

"She's sick," answered the oldest girl.

"Sick! Then all the more reason why you should keep still. Shame on you." The little group stood like statues.

Martha tucked in the wisp of hair. "You children come in here and sit still while I work, and I'll tell you a story," she invited. "Mind you wipe your feet."

"I suppose it should be a Christmas story," Martha began. "Do you know about the shepherds and the wise men?"

"Yes'm," they chorused. "We go to Sunday school," added the oldest girl.

"Then," Martha asked her, "shall I tell you about Santa Claus?"

Her face clouded a little. "Mother told us that," she answered soberly.

"Oh," said Martha. She dusted the flour from her hands and turned to baste the turkey. Four pairs of eager eyes watched her.

SASKATCHEWAN THANKS ANNAPOLIS

R. D. Caldwell Stewart, Annapolis Royal, N. S.

Dear Sir:—Your donated carload of provisions duly arrived at Storhocks, Sask., from Annapolis Royal, N. S., and was distributed by the local committee at its destination. We as the central committee, well realize the sacrifice and energy as well as the organized effort entailed in assembling each car and we are anxious that a sincere message of gratitude reach everyone concerned. We trust that the recipients themselves have already acknowledged this gift, but it is barely possible they may not yet have had the necessary information to make this possible.

The residents of our drought area have much to be thankful for this season. The Sister Provinces have been most generous, and many of our people have now been better provided for than they have been for several years. We sincerely trust that this may be the last year such help is necessary. Many expressions of appreciation have been received in this office. We only hope the true feeling may be conveyed to everyone who assisted in any way to make these wonderful gifts possible.

Yours very sincerely, (Sgd.) J. W. Hedley.

Miss Hazel Perkins spent the week end at her home here.

Adney Wagner is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Rosencrantz.

Mrs. Cereno Milner, who has been sick for some time, is much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Putty, of Deep Brook, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wheelhouse.

Miss Ruby Buckler spent the week end at her home here.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mansford Buckler were: Mr. and Mrs. Willis Buckler and son Adrian; Truman Wright and Clayton Buckler, Bridgetown.

Mrs. Brunswick Tobin, Digby, visited friends here last Thursday.

Many expressions of appreciation have been received in this office.

We only hope the true feeling may be conveyed to everyone who assisted in any way to make these wonderful gifts possible.

Yours very sincerely, (Sgd.) J. W. Hedley.

the mince pie—careful, it's hot—and you," to the eldest, "take the vegetables. I think I can manage the turkey."

"But where are we going?" "Over to your house. Weren't you about to miss out on Christmas dinner?"

"Dinner first, then presents," she suggested, and when, having eaten all they could hold, they gathered about the table, she found a crudely wrapped present for herself. It was a picture scrapbook, somewhat smudged.

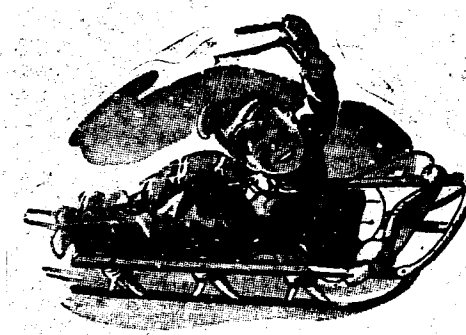

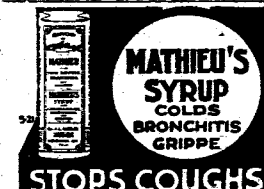

Were those tears in Martha Goodwin's eyes? Surely not, for she was smiling.

"Why, thank you," she exclaimed. "Such a lovely surprise. My," she added, "I do wish Christmas came more than once a year."

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

On Friday evening of last week the home of Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson was the scene of a delightful shower held in honor of Mrs. Willard Buckley, (formerly Miss Myrna VanTassel). The bride was the recipient of many lovely gifts, given by her friends. One of the features of the evening was a phone call from Amherst, from the Misses Virginia B. Brown and Florence Hayden, of Highland View Hospital, who attended to the bride's best wishes for a happy future. Mrs. Buckley, who is well known in Digby, has the sincere wishes of her many friends.

Sell Large Number Of Acadian Dolls

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute at Meteghan recently, revealed the fact that a total of 850 Evangeline dolls and other Acadian dolls were sold during the past season by members of the Institute in Clare Municipality, according to Miss Helen Macdougall, Superintendent of Women's Institutes for the province. The making of these dolls, typical figures of old Acadia, was undertaken as an experiment a year ago. The idea has attracted much attention across Canada. Tourists are the principal customers.

Hard Lumps Came On Her Legs

Ankles and Feet Swollen With Rheumatism

Rheumatism sent this woman to bed with lumps, swellings and inflammation. Yet these symptoms soon disappeared, as they always will do when the root cause is removed. This letter tells you the method she used:

"I was taken ill with terrible rheumatic pains in my legs. They were badly inflamed, swollen, and they were partly covered with red, hard lumps. To put my foot down to the ground was agony. After I had been in bed for 16 days, suffering agony all the time, my husband said, 'You can't go on suffering like this, let us try Kruschen Salts.' He got a bottle, and almost from the first I felt benefit. Before long, I was completely relieved—swellings, inflammation, and lumps all gone—and I am up again and doing my housework."

—(Mrs.) E. L.

Do you realise what causes a good deal of rheumatic pain? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear painful crystals from the system.

particular series. We feel that already, in this old world of ours, we have too much of war—and rumors of war, to bring to light at this time the adventures of earlier years. For war, as we see it today, is waste in the wake of terror and suffering. Waste of money, of human lives, leaving no profit and no gain—only a suffering humanity.

Some day, before too long, I hope to again recall, with episodes, many more pleasant scenes and happenings in the Acadia Valley, for fifty years ago there was just as much of joy and interest as there is today.

Another wonderful surprise for this year has been the receipt of a number of fine kodak pictures, sent me by my sister, Mrs. Stella Koonz, of Augusta, Maine. Last May, with her husband and son, a visit was made by auto, to many portions of the Digby and adjacent country. Among pictures taken were scenes of my early childhood—the old home where my father, James Albert Nichols, was born, likewise the home where I first "hollered" my approval of my arrival in this fantastic world. Also a fine photo of the Hill Grove Baptist Church, and the school house near by, where as a boy, I learned the three R's. You may well imagine that these pictures are deeply appreciated.

And so, in closing this seasonal letter to the Editor and Courier friends, we can think of nothing better than to wish you—one and all, an Old Fashioned Christmas.

Traditions are treasured at this season, and those who know Nova Scotia and the Acadia Valley, know that it is rich in tradition.

We believe it true, that old wishes—like old wine, are best. For our thoughts are carried back to our childhood, and we find, in spirit at least, our old friends gathered around us. And we lay aside present day thoughts and interests and look beyond ourselves and see those bright, happy times, that glow with the mellowness of the passing years.

So in this spirit we send the wish and hope that all may have a full measure of joy and happiness in an old fashioned Christmas—cherished memories of friends, health and hope—and enduring faith.

Christmas in the Air

By Martha B. Thomas

OLD MR. SADDLER had the most unique and delightful ideas. Unquestionably he was the happiest man in town, though he hadn't much money, and lived in quite a modest way, in quite the smallest house. People loved to drop in for a chat. Old men came for a smoke by his fire-side. Women brought their children to spend the afternoon when they were busy. Mr. Saddler welcomed everyone as if he were a king in a palace.

One snowy day when every footstep crunched underfoot, and the whole world looked buried under white wool, several people on their way here and there dropped in to see Mr. Saddler. A bright fire crackled on the hearth. A green wreath hung above the mantelpiece. There was a distinct smell of a rich pudding having been recently cooked.

"This place has more Christmas about it," declared one guest, "than any place I've seen. How do you do it? After all, there's only one green wreath."

"Well, I hardly know how to tell you," said the host. "I guess it's just that I feel Christmasy and maybe it sort of fills the room like steam from a pudding. I know," he smiled at them, "you think me peculiar at times, but it's what goes on in your heart that makes the outside you live in pleasant. And here's another thing. Laugh if you like, I shan't mind. I like to think that all the happy chimes of church bells at Christmas keep travelling around the world until it's time to ring them again. Why not? And the fine songs and anthems and all the joyous laughter of children. We speak of planets being so many light-years away from the earth, and sound taking thus and thus a time to reach a certain place. Well then," he smiled at them, "I guess I just sort of hear those things. Maybe I have a good receiving-set in my head. And perhaps I sort of, 'broadcast' my happiness here in this room."

The guests nodded. "Maybe you do," they said. "Anyhow we feel chock-full of Christmas."

HOLLAND'S SANTA

CHILDREN of Holland believe that St. Nicholas was a kind-hearted Spanish bishop who had heard about their land of dikes, windmills and tulips and decided to pay it a visit, says Johan Hart in "Picture Tales from Holland." He arrived there long years ago on December 5, and began giving children presents. Since then he has always returned on that night to fill the wooden shoes of Dutch children with gifts. The children in turn leave out some carrots or hay for his horse.

Christmas Boxes

Giving Christmas boxes is said to spring from an old custom of priests putting on board of all our-going ships boxes for alms. These were opened at Christmas time and menses sold for the giving of the alms. The box was called Christ mass box and from this comes the custom of Christmas boxes and gifts.

Reginald Turnbull was a visitor to Halifax this week. Miss Bernice Abramson, of Halifax, spent a few days last week with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. John Abramson.

B. L. Thurber, of Johannesburg, South Africa, was a caller at our office yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Thurber, who have been spending some time at Mr. Thurber's old home at Freeport, arrived in Digby yesterday, returning from a visit to New York. They spent the day as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sollows.

Celebrates 96th Birthday—At Smith's Cove, Wednesday, Mrs. Jonas Rice, the oldest resident of the village, celebrated the 96th anniversary of her birth and was "at home" to many friends during the afternoon and evening. "Aunt Louise" as she is known throughout the community, enjoys wonderful health and is able to attend to her household duties.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT PLAY A SUCCESS

The sum of $90.05 was realized from the recent hospital benefit play "For Pete's Sake". $14.40 of this being raised by the sale of candy between the acts. The Ladies' Hospital Aid Society wish to extend thanks to Trinity Church for the use of the Hall, to Mr. Cardoza, director of the play, and to all the members of the cast. Thanks are also extended to those who donated and sold candy and to the many others who assisted in any way.

The hospital benefit play, "For Pete's Sake," presented by a local cast in Trinity Parish Hall last Thursday and Friday evening, was greatly enjoyed by both audiences. In spite of the inclement weather on Thursday night and numerous other attractions Friday evening, the hall was well filled on both occasions.

Victor Cardoza, who directed the play, and his cast, are to be congratulated on their splendid performance. Each player contributed much toward the success of the presentation and played their parts in a realistic manner. Those taking part were as follows:

Miss Sarah Pepperdine Dorothy Dunn
Jasmine Jackson Harriet Campbell
Cicero Muglethorpe Reg. Turnbull
Peter Pepperdine
Rev. E. M. Caldwell
Bill Bradshaw Max Campbell
Thornoyke Muglethorpe

Marriages

Therault - Lewis

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McClafferty, at East Ferry, a few days ago, when Rev. C. L. Chute, of Little River, united in marriage Winnifred Gwendolyn Lewis, of Bass River, Colchester County, and Gordon Weaver Therault, of East Ferry. The bride is a teacher, at present engaged at Hassett's. Mr. and Mrs. Therault will reside in East Ferry.

DIGBY GIRL IN TRIGAMY CASE

A New York despatch says that Gertrude Therault, dark-haired Digby girl, figures as wife No. 1 in the case of Leo Rosenzweig, Brooklyn shoe salesman, who was arrested on Monday and charged with what the police called "trigamy". Although Gertrude is wife No. 1 she is not his first wife, since Frances Wilcox had already married and divorced the man. Rosenzweig made Jennie Levine, cashier in his store, wife No. 3, while Sylvia Weiss sued for divorce as wife No. 2. Gertrude drew up a divorce complaint with Sylvia, which was served on Rosenzweig on Monday.

Obituary

Mrs. Mary Odell

Word was received here this week of the passing of Mrs. Mary Odell, whose death occurred at Brockton, Mass., on Sunday last. Deceased was a daughter of the late David and Elizabeth Carty, of Sandy Cove, and is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Ella E. Sulis, Everett, Mass. Mrs. Arthur Regan, Roxbury, Mass., and Mrs. W. W. Hayden, Digby.

Mrs. "Ted" Dakin has returned home after spending a short time in Montreal.

The Salvation Army Annual Christmas Tree will be held in the Army Hall, on Thursday, December 23rd. Admission, 15c.

There is a Santa Claus

AS ROSS HUTTON finished telling his little daughter the story of Christmas, of the shepherds and the Christ child, and had as tactfully as possible explained about Santa Claus, Polly heaved a sigh. "Well, I think there's a Santa Claus and I hope he brings me a sheep like the ones in the story."

The day before Christmas, Ross saw a white woolly lamb in the window of a toy shop. He was glad he had walked to his office. Otherwise he might not have seen the lamb. He would stop on his way home and get it. But one of the men in the office offered to drive him home, so the lamb was forgotten until he heard Polly as she was being put to bed tell her mother she hoped "Santa" wouldn't forget about the "sheep." Ross looked at his watch and decided the shop would probably still be open. Anne called to him to ask where he was going, and he answered, "Back in a few minutes."

When he parked his car before the shop, he thought that the lamb might not be there, struck him for the first time. He felt much relieved, therefore, when he saw the lamb in the window.

As he tucked the package under his arm and turned to leave the shop, a little boy came in. Ross heard him ask the proprietor if he still had the lamb that was in the window that morning. He was told the gentleman just leaving had bought it. "Oh," the disappointment he felt showed in his voice. Wasn't there something else he would like? But there didn't seem to be anything else.

As he got into his car Ross caught sight of a small boy standing before the window, his gaze fastened on the place where the lamb had been. He seemed so disappointed, it was too bad there wasn't another lamb for him. Ross thought as he drove away. But probably something else would catch his fancy and he would forget all about the lamb. Children were like that. Ross wondered though if Polly would have forgotten so easily. He scarcely thought so. The poor little thing would have been mightily disappointed. He was glad he had remembered before it was too late.

But try as he would he couldn't get the picture of the little fellow out of his mind. Halfway home he turned his car around and went back to the shop. The boy had left, so Ross asked the proprietor if he could tell him where the boy lived. He lived just around the corner. He often came into the shop. Tonight he had come to buy the little lamb for his small sister, and was so disappointed when he found it gone. The proprietor had tried to interest him in something else, but he hadn't been successful in doing it. Ross interrupted to know in just which house the boy lived. Then in order to have some satisfactory excuse to offer at home, he bought a baby doll for Polly.

When somewhat later he came into the living room where Anne was busy trimming the Christmas tree, she wanted to know where on earth he had been. He shook his head and put his finger to his lips as a warning not to waken Polly. He placed the package under the tree and with a happy smile he began helping with the work of trimming.

The next morning he was awakened by Polly's happy cry that she knew there was a "Santa Claus" because he had brought her a "sheep" and a baby doll just as she asked him to. Ross sprang out of bed and into the living room. Where could the "sheep" have come from? For there was Polly with a lamb under one arm and the doll under the other.

"Where?" Ross asked, pointing to the lamb. Anne whispered that she had bought it.

"There is a Santa Claus, isn't there, Daddy?" Polly's voice implied she was giving information rather than asking it.

Ross heartily agreed with her: "There certainly is a Santa Claus beyond a doubt."

PROPER OBSERVANCE OF CHRISTMAS

We make our annual appeal for the proper observance of the Christmas season. It would be of incalculable benefit to hundreds of homes in the province if for days previous to Christmas the use of liquor was not countenanced. The drinking customs of the past at the Christmas season were surely not in accord with Christian observance of the day on which we should worthily commemorate the birth of our Saviour.

For the sake of victims of drink, for the sake of the youth of our land, for the sake of wives and mothers fearful that husbands and sons and daughters will yield to temptation, let us hope and pray and work for a sober and joyous Christmas so that under the blessing of God we may enter upon a happier New Year.

H. R. Grant
General Secretary Social Service Council and Temperance Alliance.

ACADIAN DOLLS IN DEMAND

A total of 850 Evangeline and other Acadian dolls have been sold during the past season by the Women's Institutes in Clare, according to figures of Miss Helen MacDougall, superintendent of Women's Institutes for the province. The making of these dolls, typical figures of old Acadia, was undertaken as an experiment a year ago. The idea has attracted a great deal of attention in Canada, and tourists are among the principal customers.

Mrs. Frank Ruddock, of Annapolis Royal, was a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. VanBlarcom, on Wednesday.

The Young People's Society of Grace United Church are presenting a Christmas Pageant on Sunday evening, December 19, at the 7.00 o'clock service.

FIRE MEETING

On Monday evening a number of citizens interested in fire protection met in the Masonic building. Vernon Harris was elected fire chief and the directors appointed were Dr. L. J. Lovett, L. V. Harris and H. E. Harris. Ways and means of raising the necessary funds were discussed and the most feasible plan proposed was a house to house canvass for donations once a month details of which will have to be worked out later. This is a matter of vital importance to every household and the support of all is needed.

CHRISTMAS TREE

The Ladies' Aid of the United Church of Canada were entertained at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Petrie, Smith's Cove, on Monday evening. They were met at the gate by Santa Claus. The house was lighted up with red and green lights and was trimmed with fir, silver trimmings, poinsettias, bells, etc. and presented a charming picture. Games were played, after which a programme was given, as follows:

Carols
Reading—"Christmas"—Mrs. Croscup
Solo—"All's Well"—Mrs. Litchfield
Solo—"Santa Claus Is Coming to Town"—Roy Purdy.
Quartet—"Silent Night"—Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. L. Sanford, Mrs. Roach, Mrs. H. E. Harris.
Reading—"Christmas Sprites"—Mrs. Roach.
Carols
Charade—"Merry Christmas"

Then Santa arrived and from the lovely tree distributed gifts, candy and nuts. At midnight the guests were ushered to the dining room where a buffet lunch was served. Another bower of loveliness in Christmas decorations, lit by candles! Mrs. Petrie was assisted in serving by Mrs. F. Burrage and Mrs. (Capt.) Forrester. Over 45 members were present, besides guests.

member those lace curtains, made of Nottingham lace? They were washed spring and fall, whether they needed it or not, and starched so stiffly they hung almost straight out. Trying to grasp a fold was like trying to cuddle "Spinner", my tomcat—and I'll defy anyone to do that. I think that little girls today might turn up their noses at those precious dolls, but to me, there was nothing to equal them, and, please, Santa, I'd like one right now to sit on the corner of my desk. They tell me that this year, the "quintuplet" dolls are submerged by "princess" dolls; very real likenesses of Elizabeth and little Margaret Rose, with Shirley Temples following closely behind. Wouldn't you think, at my age, I'd have more sense than to be talking dolls, but I adore them and always will.

It has been so many weeks since I have written to you, and so much has happened around the old back road, that I hardly know where to start. I think the fishing season was on then, but that's a thing of the past. Now, also the hunting is over, and the pheasant pens so quiet and lonely looking. We raised a lot of beautiful birds this year with such brilliant plumage it would just make me sick when they had to be turned loose. Some fortunately escaped the hunters and no doubt the first deep snow will bring them back looking for food. Hunting does not appeal to me at all, and I haven't much respect for a woman with a gun whether she shoots her husband or a pheasant. You will notice that I'm not mentioning old Mussolini or any of the feathered pets I have told you of so many times. They are not around any more and I miss them so much. They were a lot of company, just watching their antics on days when I'm much alone. They got so noisy and destructive we had to get rid of them. When Mussolini and Madame came home after several days' absence with six baby geese waddling behind them I thought them very cunning! But when they got big enough to pull up all my flowers as soon as they came through the ground and every time I went outside old Mussolini would run me back—well, that was not so cute, so they are all gone. The fishermen thought the ducks on the pond disturbed the fish. Perhaps they did, but I miss them a whole lot.

There have been a lot of changes around the grounds: A new lawn made which comprises the whole back and side yards. The horse shoe shaped pool has been enlarged and deepened and restocked with six thousand three- and five-inch trout. In two years they will be released into the big stream, and in the meantime they are fed over sixty pounds of ground meat and commercial fish feed every week. To me, the artificially fed trout have not the same flavor as the native trout. Often guests will remark that they think we are so lucky to have all the trout to eat that we care for, and are much surprised when I tell them that we don't eat a dozen during the season. Perhaps seeing so many takes away the appetite. Over forty French poplar trees have been set out along both sides of the long drive way. I think they will be beautiful when spring comes again; just now they are rather ghostly, standing like naked sentinels against the wintry sky line. My big window box is a thing of beauty, filled with sturdy pine branches and quantities of the bright red berries from the bushes called American holly, or black alders. In the yard is a nice big pile of white birch logs for the fireplace. They burn so beautifully and when they crackle and the flames shoot up the chimney I will again think of Aunt Anne and her lovely old-fashioned kitchen and the same old lump will come again in my throat for the things that used to be.

We Hear Again From M. G. T.

TEMPUS FUGIT

(By Freida C. Davidson)
When I was small
And time was long,
And Christmas was two years away.
Tomorrow came so very slow,
And long ago was yesterday.

Then I had time to dream and play,
At house, at school, at anything;
I was a queen, a witch, a drudge,
A lady who could dance and sing.

The days were long, the hours full—
So many lovely things to do;
A hill to climb, a stream to wade,
A hide-away I only knew.

But now, alas, I find that time
Is swifter than a bird in flight;
The days so full of many cares,
I save my dreams until the night.

For I am grown, and time is short;
I often long for yesterday.
When I was small and time was long
And Christmas was two years away.

This, my dears, is my Christmas letter, and if I could have my "druthers" just now, I'd "druther" have a rag doll for Christmas than anything else that I know of. My mother used to make them years ago; probably your mother did, also. Mine were made of white cotton cloth, rolled tightly to make a body, with arms sewn on. The cheeks were painted with pink dye, also the lips. Eyes were a bit of blue, eye-brows a dash of ink, and hair a ravelled bit of yarn, sewn carefully on. One time the "hair" was gray and I was so delighted with the "grandmother" doll that I forgot entirely the grey "hair" was only dad's old sock, ravelled out. A bit of old kid glove made very realistic shoes, and the dress was made from an old lace curtain. The bottom was never hemmed, but cut in scallops, and I thought it was lovely. Remember those lace curtains, made of Nottingham lace? They were washed spring and fall, whether they needed it or not, and starched so stiffly they hung almost straight out. Trying to grasp a fold was like trying to cuddle "Spinner", my tomcat—and I'll defy anyone to do that. I think that little girls today might turn up their noses at those precious dolls, but to me, there was nothing to equal them, and, please, Santa, I'd like one right now to sit on the corner of my desk. They tell me that this year, the "quintuplet" dolls are submerged by "princess" dolls; very real likenesses of Elizabeth and little Margaret Rose, with Shirley Temples following closely behind. Wouldn't you think, at my age, I'd have more sense than to be talking dolls, but I adore them and always will.

It has been so many weeks since I have written to you, and so much has happened around the old back road, that I hardly know where to start. I think the fishing season was on then, but that's a thing of the past. Now, also the hunting is over, and the pheasant pens so quiet and lonely looking. We raised a lot of beautiful birds this year with such brilliant plumage it would just make me sick when they had to be turned loose. Some fortunately escaped the hunters and no doubt the first deep snow will bring them back looking for food. Hunting does not appeal to me at all, and I haven't much respect for a woman with a gun whether she shoots her husband or a pheasant. You will notice that I'm not mentioning old Mussolini or any of the feathered pets I have told you of so many times. They are not around any more and I miss them so much. They were a lot of company, just watching their antics on days when I'm much alone. They got so noisy and destructive we had to get rid of them. When Mussolini and Madame came home after several days' absence with six baby geese waddling behind them I thought them very cunning! But when they got big enough to pull up all my flowers as soon as they came through the ground and every time I went outside old Mussolini would run me back—well, that was not so cute, so they are all gone. The fishermen thought the ducks on the pond disturbed the fish. Perhaps they did, but I miss them a whole lot.

I wish some of our old writers would send a Christmas greeting. Where are they all? G. R. T., let's hear from you. Eva Harvey Nichols come along with a poem about the "row of stockings, waiting to be filled"; Leslie, let us hear from you; and Private Bobby Nichols, surely you are back from the wars now, or have you gone to China? E. R. B. might contribute a bit of poetry. I know how well she can compose it. Do join me in a greeting. I'm going to start a new scrap book the first of the year and will welcome contributions. Do please send me a bit of something for it—poetry, a little story or picture. The address is at the bottom of this letter. I hope you will all have a happy Christmas. I don't like to say a "merry" one, because there are many that can find happiness without merriment. I hope the New Year will bring you as much that you have not had this year, in the way of good luck and good health, and as Tiny Tim said: "God bless us, every one."

Good night!

READY TO BRING YOU RELIEF IN MINUTES

THE REASON "ASPIRIN" WORKS SO FAST

Drop an "Aspirin" tablet into a tumbler of water.
By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is dissolving.
This speed of disintegration enables "Aspirin" tablets to start "taking hold" of headache and similar pains a few minutes after taking.

YOU can pay as high as you want for remedies claimed to relieve the pain of Headache, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, etc. But the medicine so many doctors generally approve—the one used by thousands of families daily—is "Aspirin". Simply take 2 "Aspirin" tablets with a half glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions. Usually this will ease such pain in a remarkably short time. For quick relief from such pain which exhausts you and keeps you awake at night—ask for "Aspirin". "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

17,675 Salmon Taken By Anglers

6,508 salmon and 11,167 grilse totalling 97,763 pounds were taken out of the Miramichi and Saint John rivers by anglers during the past season in New Brunswick, according to C. K. Howard, head of the Fish and Game Department of the Canadian National Railways. Of the number the Miramichi accounted for 1,349 salmon and 9,818 grilse, a total of 85,704 pounds, the bulk of which was taken by American anglers. The Tobique is also reported to have had a good season.

The Ashmore school held its Christmas concert and tree in the hall last evening.

A Gift for Santa

By Frances Grunstead

"FELICIA, I forgot to bring anything for your Uncle Hurry!"

Father, mother, and daughter-halfway-through-high-school were in a huddle in the pantry, with the kid brother Ripley ("Rip" for short) hovering curiously beyond the door.

"He won't care, Dad." The pretty brunette girl relieved her father of his bundle. "With his radio act going over in a big way he can buy anything he likes. I hope he remembers a wrist watch with a little diamond is nicer than a wrist watch with none."

"Whatever he gives you, Felicia, act as if it's what you want most," her mother warned. "Horrigan would be appreciated than anything else in the world. He knows I like pretty negligees. I let him know how I enjoy his presents."

"I was trying to land that contract with Davidson," the father explained, "and I spent most of the evening with him at the McAlpin. When I left there was barely an hour to shop. I didn't dare take a late train, knowing we still had to decorate."

"Did you get the new ornaments?" Mother was pulling at a knobby package.

"Here, don't bother that. It's this one." Father tried to take off his muffler while watching the parcels, with eight-year-old Rip calling, "Aren't you even going to say 'Hello, Dad?'"

"Sure, son! I was helping Santa with his pack; that's all."

"Santa, hmph! Did you get my bicycle?"

"We'll see! We'll see!" As he went upstairs, trailed by boyish impudence, the words floated back, "I simply forgot Hurry. There'd have been time if I'd—"

"Felicia can go to the haberdasher's right here," his wife solved the matter. "The important thing is to get the tree finished and the gifts spread under it before Hurry comes. He always admires my tree. Felicia, buy him one gift from your father and me, and one from you and your brother."

"What would Uncle Hurry like, mother?"

"M-m-m. He has everything he needs, and he never mentions anything he wants. Ask the clerk to suggest something."

The silver star was aglow, the last fat Santa Claus clinging to a limb, Felicia's purchases had been hastily wrapped in gold and green tissue, when the door burst open admitting Horrigan Carter of "Hurry and Haste" radio comedy team. His arms were full of red, green, and holly-papered parcels, and behind him came the cheery chauffeur, his arms full, too.

"Drop 'em, James my lad. Now hurry to that girl of yours and make hay while the snow falls. Come for me at eleven. Here, don't you need a little extra? It's Christmas." Uncle Hurry put a bill in the man's hand and clapped the door shut.

"Felicia, what a lovely tree! You always have something original. Sophia, Henry, how's business? And, (looking around) "where's Rip?"

"Rip-pley!" called Felicia, flinging open the dining room door.

In the midst of discarded outer wrappings, a red-faced small boy was struggling with tissue and ribbons.

"Aw, gee, Felice. I wanted to tie it myself. Aw, gee! Why'd you have to go open the door? I spent all the money I earned curtin' lawns at summer and shovelin' snow this week, an'— Aw, gee, it's a fine gift. If I could get it fixed, it would look swell."

Uncle Hurry jumped to close the door. "Go ahead, old fellow. We won't look."

"It's no use. Everybody's saw." Rip came toward them with the gift protruding from its wrappings. It was a salad bowl with a wooden mixing spoon.

"Who's it for, Ripley?" mother asked.

"Uncle Hurry!"

Felicia started to laugh. "What a gift for Uncle Hurry! Why, Rip, you give salad bowls to ladies, not men."

Rip looked disconsolate. "He said he wanted it. We were passing that shop where they sell old things and he said—you did, Uncle Hurry, you said, 'Jove what a quaint salad bowl! I'd like that.'"

"Of course I did. Next day when I went to buy it for my kitchenette they said it had been put aside for someone. It's great to get it this way!"

"I guess even Santa Claus would rather what he wanted was given to him than to buy it for himself," said Rip wisely.

Avoid Mailing Rush

By preparing each Christmas gift for mailing as it is bought or made, much time and hurry is saved at the last moment.

Christmas Boxes

Giving Christmas boxes is said to spring from an old custom of priests putting on board of all out-going ships boxes for alms. These were opened at Christmastime and masses said for the givers of the alms. The box was called Christ mass box and from this comes the custom of Christmas boxes and gifts.

Community Santa Claus

Alice & Palmer

THE gigantic Christmas tree in Fountain square was ablaze with colored lights and decorations.

Christmas eve had arrived and the snowy atmosphere was beautifully depositing the finishing touches to the grand and wonderful community tree. Even though all the celebrations had taken place elsewhere the big tree had never failed to stand in its place of honor in the center of town on Christmas eve.

Mirth, happiness and laughter fairly abounded through the joyous Christmas crowds as they thronged the streets blinking through the snowflakes and hurrying on to celebrations. They seemed to take the community tree for granted until the illustrious sound of sleighbells was heard in the distance. Sleighbells on Christmas eve—how delectable! All eyes were turned in the direction from which they came.

Soon the object of the delightful disturbance came into sight. A bright red sleigh drawn by six horses, cleverly decorated to represent reindeer, turned the corner and headed toward Fountain square. All traffic was stopped instantly as the children made a frantic rush to meet their Santa—the real Santa Claus from the North pole!

"It must be the real one," shouted one little fellow, "for only the really true one has reindeer. I know, 'cause my mother told me so."

"Midst wild shouts of merriment Santa, himself, in his bright red and white costume and long white beard, alighted from the sleigh with a jovial, good-natured, "Merry Christmas, merry Christmas to you all!" The children swarmed about him in uncontrollable confusion as he joyously dragged forth pack after pack bulging with bright colored toys and dolls of all descriptions.

What could it mean? Who was this strange real Santa Claus with sleigh and reindeer from the North pole? The people marvelled! The children were boisterous and completely out of control. Everyone forgot his own particular celebration and lingered on to see what it was all about.

Then Jolly old St. Nick, his beard glowing in the breezes, began digging down into his packs and passing out the toys to the youngsters.

"Oh, boy!" shouted one, "see what I got—an airplane!" Then two little girls cried out, joyously, as they unwrapped golden-haired dolls.

On and on Santa continued as the crowd became greater and greater and the snowstorm grew heavier and heavier. Santa's packs seemed to be endless. Soon gay colored balloons, drums, harmonicas and gold and silver horsies were in evidence on all sides, adding to the gaiety of the Christmas party.

There was a lull as Santa Claus dug down into still another pack. This time he began hurling large oranges and sacks of candy into the crowd and they were catching them 'midst much laughter and excitement.

Santa himself was having the time of his life. Even more so, than the happy crowd about him. For he was chuckling within, because he had been reminded by a Christmas messenger of love to do this very thing and to become the community Santa Claus.

Finally the crowd became impatient to learn who this strange, chuckling Santa really was. Who could it be, who had given so generously and impartially to all? But before they had time to speak, the jolly old fellow was jostling past people, snow and traffic until he scrambled into his sleigh.

"Get up, reindeer," he shouted.

With a jerk the sleigh bounded forward with, San, wildly shouting, "Merry Christmas, folks, merry Christmas to all!"

But he wasn't yet away so easily for the next moment a strong north wind, whistling all the corner, tore off whiskers, mask and all, and Santa Claus stood revealed in all his embarrassment!

A hushed silence first and then a wild shout of joy and surprise rang through the Christmas atmosphere.

'Twas "Indian Pete," the town's most confirmed miser. Ever in all their lives had they seen such a glorious smile on his face, as he gazed out from his Christmas regalia, and offered his hand in friendly greeting to all.

"Indian Pete" (so named because of his love for the Indian life), had given without thought of receiving; and had incidents received more than he ever could have received materially—the respect and adoration of the whole town.

Because fairies are supposed to run away with male children, superstitious parents along the Connemara coast of Ireland dress their boys in red flannel petticoats so that fairies will think they are girls and not molest them.

THE RECENT "POP" CONCERT

The first "POP" concert by the Civic Band was well attended but not as fully patronized as its object merited, and its very interesting programme deserved. It is anticipated—and hoped—that the next concert, Thursday, January 6, will receive the patronage it deserves. The entire proceeds will go toward paying for the uniforms. Noisy children were a nuisance before and will not be tolerated next time. The sale of delicious candy collected by Mrs. Reginald Weir and Mrs. Raymond Lent, and sold by their charming lady assistants, paid for the hall rent. Mr. Wilde, in fitting up the stage, and Mr. Peters in taking care of the door—all received a vote of thanks from the band.

The shipment of 2,600 cords of pulpwood from Saint John to Houston, Texas, will be followed by another to that port.

About This and That

A larger attendance at the annual meeting of the Digby Children's Aid Society, last Friday evening, would have been appreciated. But, in spite of the comparatively small number, the meeting was a good one as those fortunate enough to be among those present, acknowledge.

Within a few weeks others of our charitable societies will be holding their "annuals". We urge that the general public make a special point to be present at as many of these meetings as possible, to show those who are giving of their time and effort for the benefit of these societies, and to learn for themselves, something of the work that is being accomplished.

More than once we have heard complaints regarding the cost of the upkeep of these organizations; more than once we have heard certain folk complain that "every day someone is begging for something" to keep these organizations going. (Please note, the word "begging", which we do not regard as the proper word to use in this connection).

But when we consider all things, what sort of a community would this be if it were not for such societies as the Children's Aid, the V. O. N., the Hospital and others? We need them—and they need our support. Those who are behind these movements cannot be expected to carry on without the aid of the general public, and, in reality, the general public is the chief benefactor.

By giving to these organizations we are doing a little bit of "local missionary work" that may go a long way. And, what is more, we can see with our own eyes (if we are inclined to look) the direct results of our gifts—gifts that in return give us a better and more wholesome community in which to live.

I would like to apologize to our Bear River and Weymouth correspondents for leaving off their "page headings" last week, but, it really couldn't be helped. The explanation is that we were swamped at the last minute with advertising, and in order to locate advertising in as advantageous positions as possible for our customers, we found it impossible to devote a full page to either of these communities. We hope it won't happen again this week but we cannot make any rash promises. This article is written for our first run—and we cannot tell early in the week what will happen before publication day. In any event we do promise it will not happen often. Our readers and correspondents in the places mentioned know we have no intention of slighting them, but owing to plant limitations we must "cut our garment according to our cloth."

The snow over the week end gave the town a real Christmas appearance, and more than one merchant has prophesied that it will stimulate shopping. The town is to be congratulated on its Christmas decorations this year. These, coupled with the decorations of the local stores (better than they have been for years), gives us all a feeling of "Merry Christmas".

The province of Nova Scotia, as well as the province of New Brunswick, imports too much in the way of food and manufactures. It isn't done because we cannot produce or make these articles ourselves in many cases. It is simply due to the fact that we do not ask for Nova Scotia manufactures when we buy, or Nova Scotia food when we seek food stuffs at the store. Here is a fact! If each person in the Maritimes would only spend 17 cents more per day on Maritime made foodstuffs the working population would be doubled inside of five years to meet the demand for foodstuff production alone. Keep that thought in mind, everybody, as you go about your buying each day.

"Is life really worth the living?" is a question frequently asked by the discouraged, the disconsolate, the pessimist. That depends entirely on the living of it. The question to be answered is not why you are here, or how you got here, but what you are good for now that you are here. Far too many people try to get by in this life on their "honorable ancestry," as they call it. They are always pointing with pride to their "family tree". It is a great and good thing to have honorable ancestry. But it is, far more important that we refuse to live off what has been done, and pitch in and do some good work for ourselves today. Remember Lot's wife? She was so staunch in her past that she had no future. Looking backward was to her a fetish—and also her finish. The measure of a man is not his waistband, but his hatband. The world judges not by what the family has been, but what a man is today, what he promises for the future. Don't forget that many men have made a million dollars quite easily, but have failed miserably in attempting to make a man out of a son to care for that million.

SMITH'S COVE

Mrs. Arthur Kelsall, of Annapolis Royal, was a visitor at the Out-of-the-Way Inn Saturday. Fred Rand, of Weymouth, is spending several days in the village as a guest of Donald Longworth.

The Women's Institute convened for their December meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Greene, with the president, Mrs. E. Payson, in the chair. Plans were made for Christmas cheer to the sick and those unable to go out, also for serving hot cocoa to the school children during the colder months. Each also damaged by fire, member present contributed a toy or a game for the Christmas cheer boxes. The refreshment hostesses were Mrs. E. B. Taylor and Miss A. B. Cuming. The January meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Wightman.

A delivery truck was stolen from Francois Comeau, of Concession, on Wednesday of last week, while he was making a call in Grosses Coques. The police were notified and the truck was found on Friday morning down an embankment near Bear River. It was badly smashed and also damaged by fire.

Annual Meeting Children's Aid

The addition of three wards to the Children's Aid Society of Digby during 1937 brought the total number of wards of the society, since organization, up to 101, it was revealed by Austin L. Robbins, the society's agent, at the annual meeting of that organization, held at the Court House, on Friday evening last. Of the wards taken this year two are in boarding homes and one in the Home of the Good Shepherd, in Halifax. Of the 101 wards that have been taken by the society, 27 are in boarding homes and 8 in institutions, making a total of 35 to be maintained by the society; of the remaining 66, 33 are in free homes, 2 have died and the others have become self-supporting or have reached the age of 21, and the society is no longer responsible for them.

Mr. Robbins, in his report, stated that of all the agencies carried on by the government or local societies, he regarded those pertaining to the care and training of children were the most important and most interesting. Referring to the 100 children who have been made wards of the Digby Society, the agent stated the most of them were underprivileged, coming from homes where it would be difficult for a child to develop into anything but a criminal.

He also pointed out that through the work of the society many families that might otherwise become separated, have been kept together. The report of the treasurer showed the society's financial position improved by $54.63 over last year. The cash balance on hand is $78.64. Maintenance of wards during 1937 was $3,905.02, an increase of approximately $640 over 1936. The society's general expense account for the year showed receipts of $792.12 and disbursements of $714.12.

The treasurer pointed out that for the most part the increase in the maintenance account came from the Municipality of Clare, and recommended a committee be appointed to interview the Clare council at their annual meeting in January, and ask for an increase. Later in the meeting T. E. G. Lynch, A. L. Robbins and H. Gordon were appointed such a committee, not only to interview the council at Clare but also the councils of the Municipality of Digby and the Town of Digby.

Rev. A. G. Robertson was re-elected as president. The other officers and executive were named as follows:—

1st Vice-President—Mrs. S. J. Abbott
2nd Vice-President—Dr. J. S. Timpany

Secretary—J. M. Wallis

MOVING PICTURE OF PORPOISE HUNTING WINS CITATION

Porpoise hunting by the Micmac Indians ceased long ago. No more do birch canoes ride the strong tide in the Bay of Fundy, gunwales awash with porpoise shot and speared in the waters of Digby and Annapolis Counties, Nova Scotia.

Discovery of petroleum killed this industry, for oil from Pennsylvania wells was much cheaper than oil boiled from porpoise blubber. That was forty-one years ago, and as Matthew Pictou, active for his 74 years, explained:

"The machine oil come in and we didn't go porpoising no more. This same Matthew Pictou was glad to relieve his hunting days for a young Johns Hopkins' Hospital doctor, whose hobby is amateur motion pictures.

Scenes familiar to no one for forty-one years were photographed by the physician, Dr. Alexander H. Leighton, on color film. His film, it was announced, has been given honorable mention in an international contest conducted by the Amateur Cinema League, which annually selects the ten best non-theatrical amateur motion pictures. Dr. Leighton made the film while he was on vacation in the summer of 1936. It was the first he had entered in a contest, although he has made many other films since he was a boy.

He doesn't get much time to take pictures while in Baltimore so most of this work is done during his vacations, which usually are spent in Nova Scotia. He has, however, snapped many still shots of animals around the Gunpowder River, Baltimore County.

Much credit for the prize-winning picture on porpoises, Dr. Leighton explained, must go to the Micmac Indians, who "were skillful in being natural." They learned their roles well, under the direction of Dr. Leighton and Matthew Pictou, and were indefatigable, going through scenes over and over again until they had them pat.

Pictou's wife, Mary, and another Indian family, the Lewises, planned the film. Pictou made a spear and helped Joseph Lewis build four bark wigwams and a village fireplace. Dr. Leighton secured an old porpoise pot for boiling and a seaworthy hunting boat. The craft was fourteen feet long—a trifle small—but otherwise made in the right style. Matthew took Joseph as his bow partner and while the Indians hunted Dr. Leighton followed in a motor boat and took his pictures.

RACHEL'S CHRISTMAS LIGHT

"WONDER if Harris would care? Shall I do it, then ask him afterward?" Rachel Stanton, the morning of Christmas eve, looked admiringly at the brilliant tree in the pleasant living room, then hurried to brush snow from Harris, who, stamping in from the back porch, panted:

"We cleaned the driveways to barns and road but will have to do it again today. What were you saying?" he was interrupted by Rachel.

"The radio announces that the snow plow from Warnton has stuck at the corner and will have to be dynamited out. No one can get through highways farther than the crossroad's corner," Rachel hurried to the telephone's jingling.

"It was Martha calling. She and Gene and the children started here but are blocked in at a home of kind strangers. I wish we could get food to the Harrison family in the Bottoms. They have no telephone, no near neighbors, and would freeze if they tried to get here through high drifts. Such a wister! It looks as though our Christmas will be 'we two,' she sighed at the color-lighted tree.

"Well, I see I'll have to shovel out the driveways again," Harris announced, pulling on jacket and gloves.

Later when he went inside to warm his fingers he heard Martha humming and was thankful that she was cheerful over the disappointment of Christmas eve without her relatives. Odors of savory food and the attractive table with Christmas colors, were inviting as he stamped in after evening chores were finished.

"Tonight will be the worst so far this winter. The wind is rising and snow blowing. A terrible night. Surely no one would venture on highways—why—where is the tree? Did you dump it outside because our company didn't come?" he looked, to be sure Rachel was sane, then at the empty corner where the tree had stood. "Yes, the radio announced the temperatures will be lowest of season so far." "The tree, Rachel! Did you throw it out?"

"That's exactly what I did—only didn't throw—" a shout from outside sent Harris quickly to the door.

"Come in from the terrible blizzard, you poor frozen—how did you get here?" Rachel helped Harris unwrap five shivering visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison and children.

"Oh, it's been terrible getting here. But it was either to freeze and starve at home or risk getting here," Mr. Harrison wheezed. "But, how did you?" Harris began.

"Outside—see the dogs. We hitched them to the sled. The blessed creatures helped us over drifts which are now frozen."

Steaming food was spon on plates and faithful dogs were lapping milk and broth near the kitchen range. "How did you find the direction—the way in blinding snow?" Harris looked puzzled.

"Well, we got to the top of King's Ridge in the pasture, and came toward the light. The light near your grove, back there," the visitor pointed toward the west. "That light guided us."

"What light?" Harris stammered.

"Harris, dear, will you please carry our Christmas tree back into the house? I carried it outside this morning to the grove and put food on it for birds, wild ducks and any other wild animals that need food and shelter. Then, tonight, I hung that large lantern with the strong light on top of the tree to guide whoever might need it."

Merry laughter rang into the night as nuts were cracked and corn popped. Christmas morning Mr. Harrison helped keep snow from driveways and a path to the grove where the children carried food to a stack of fodder which the men had placed for the wild animals.

"Snow may be drifted high outside. But kindness inside of me needs never be blocked so it can be scattered and be a guide to others," Rachel mused after the happy Christmas of the worst winter.

Three Came Out of the East

IT IS RELATED in a old tale that out of the East came three men to pay splendid homage to the Savior. Some say these were three of the Magi, but another legend says these were three mighty kings.

The first of the three kings was Melchior, King of Nubia, whose gift was gold; the second, Balthazar, King of Chaldea, who offered incense; and the third was Jasper, King of Tarshish, a man of giant stature and 'a black Ethiopie' whose gift was myrrh.

For the gift of gold was in testimony of His royalty as King of the Jews; the incense was a token of his divinity; but the offering of myrrh alluded to the sorrows which in the humiliating condition of a man the Redeemer vouchsafed to take upon Him.

The legend says these three kings rode before a gaily-caparisoned train of mules, camels and horses loaded with rich treasure, and guarded by a mighty retinue of warders, glittering with gold and gems, and armed with bright weapons of Damascus steel.

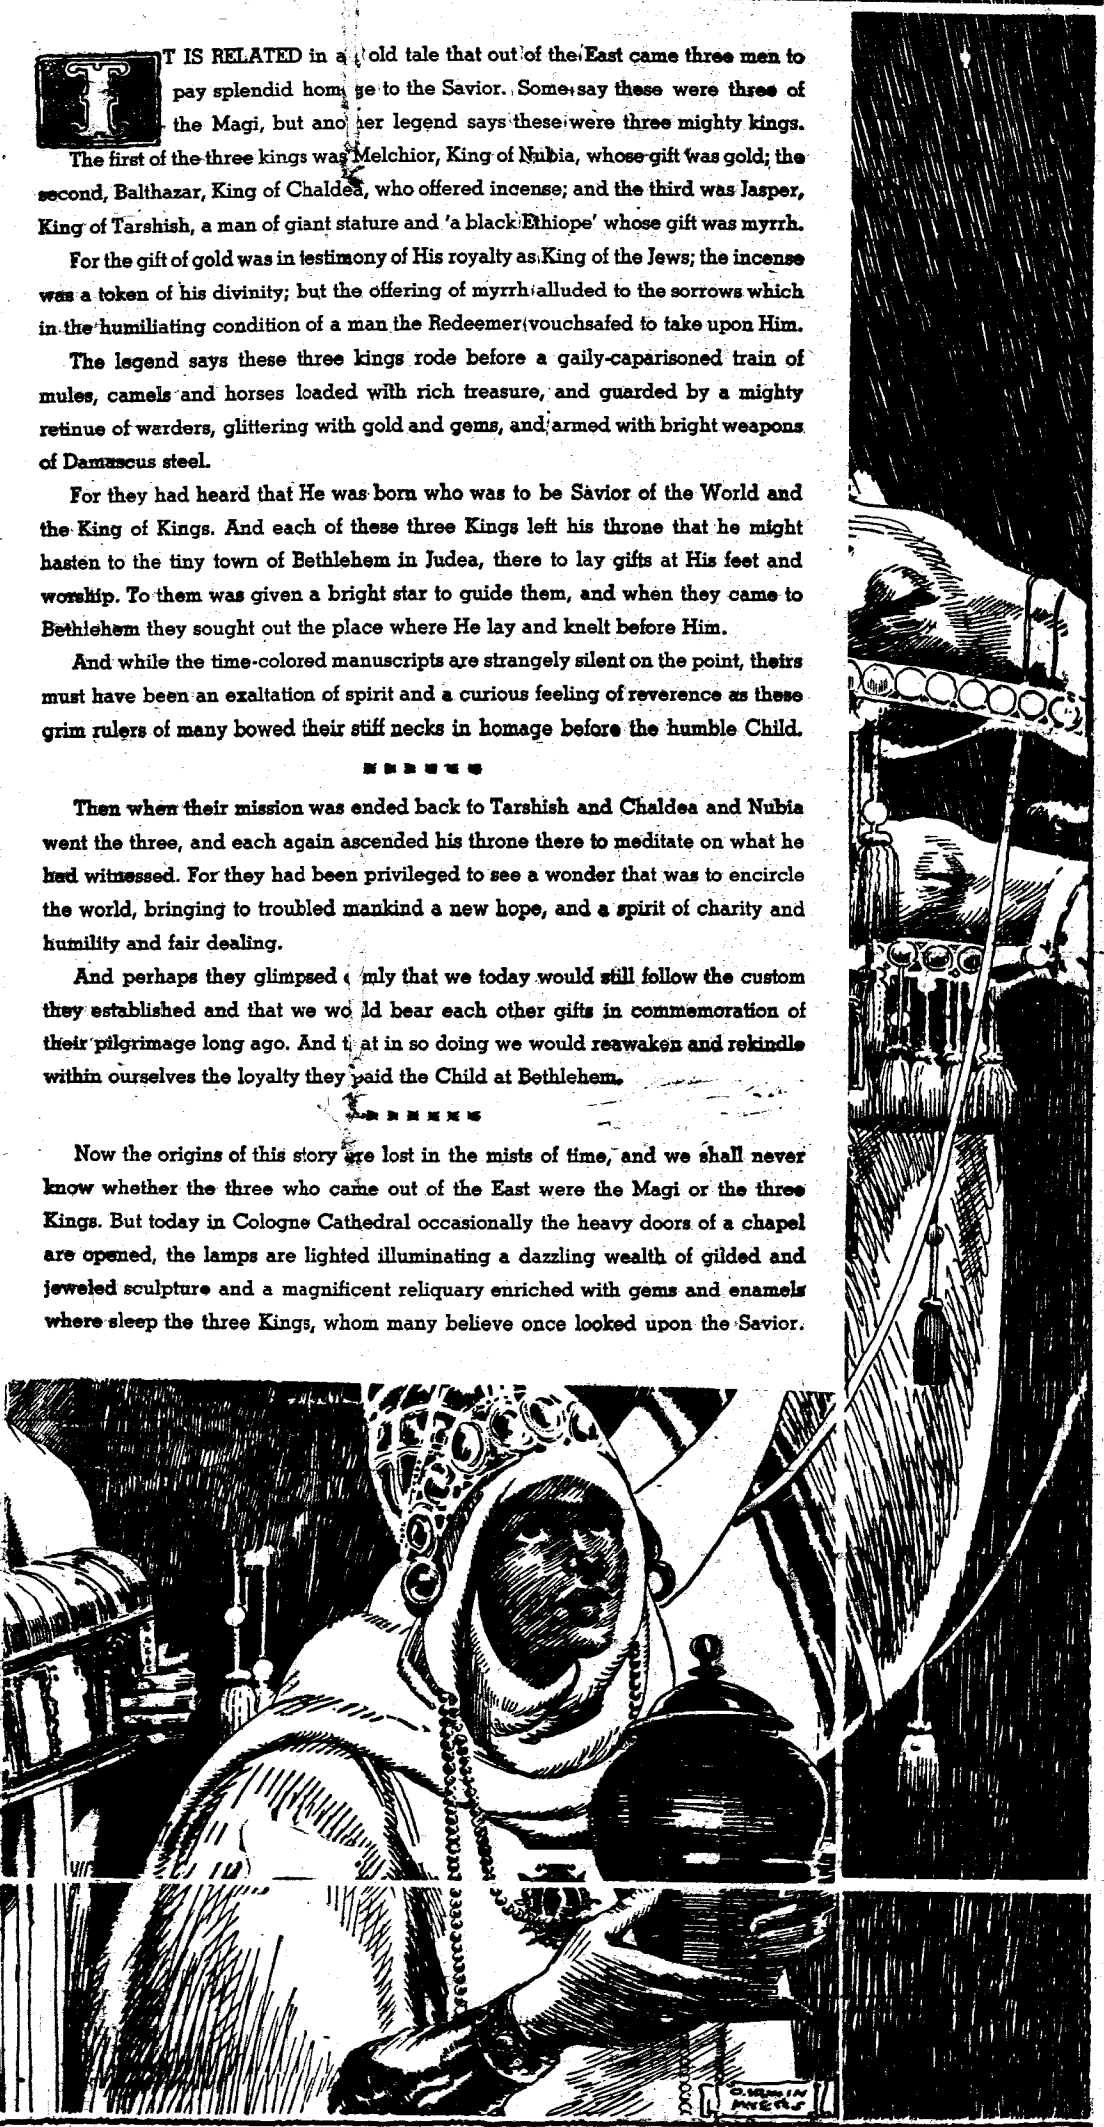

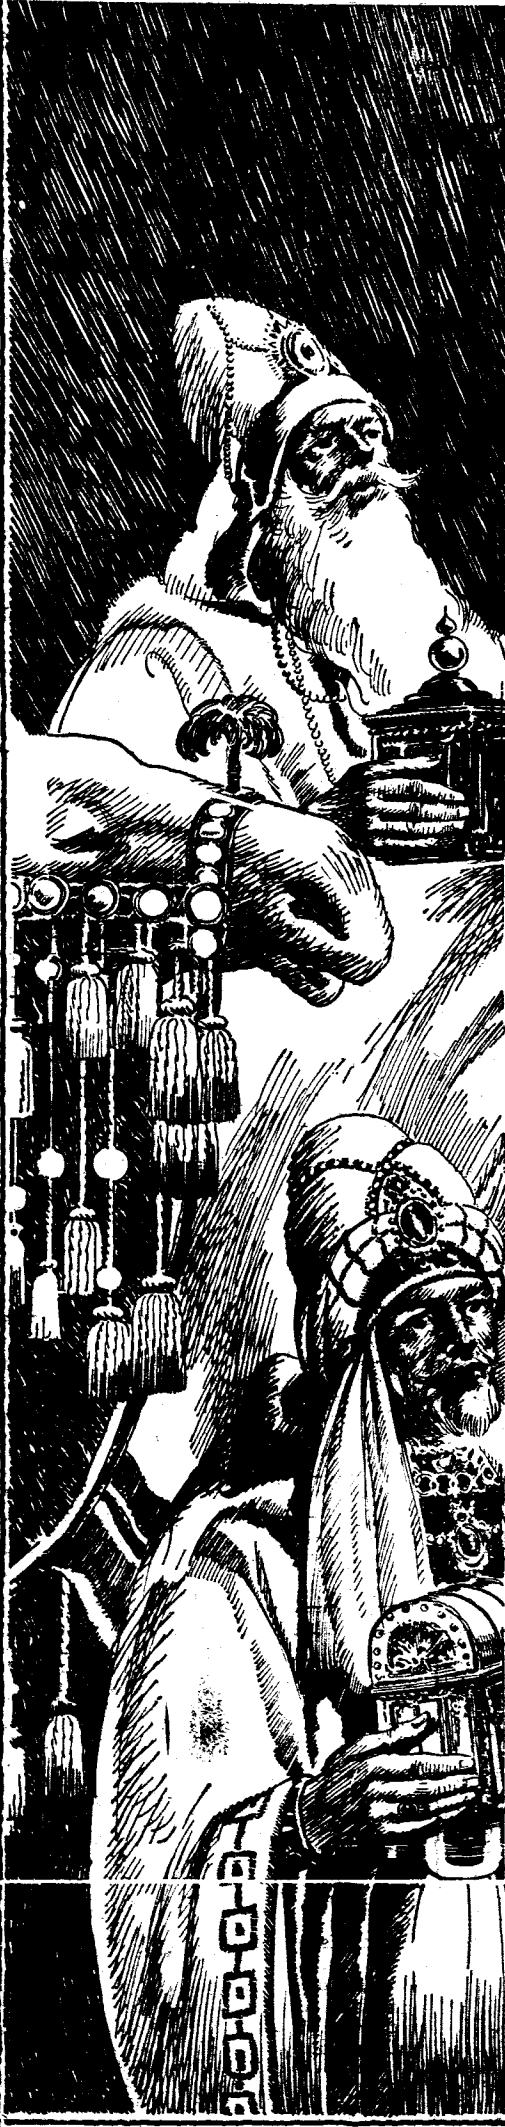

For they had heard that He was born who was to be Savior of the World and the King of Kings. And each of these three Kings left his throne that he might hasten to the tiny town of Bethlehem in Judea, there to lay gifts at His feet and worship. To them was given a bright star to guide them, and when they came to Bethlehem they sought out the place where He lay and knelt before Him.

And while the time-colored manuscripts are strangely silent on the point, theirs must have been an exaltation of spirit and a curious feeling of reverence as these grim rulers of many bowed their stiff necks in homage before the humble Child.

Then when their mission was ended back to Tarshish and Chaldea and Nubia went the three, and each again ascended his throne there to meditate on what he had witnessed. For they had been privileged to see a wonder that was to encircle the world, bringing to troubled mankind a new hope, and a spirit of charity and humility and fair dealing.

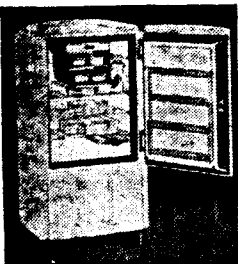

And perhaps they glimpsed only that we today would still follow the custom they established and that we would bear each other gifts in commemoration of their pilgrimage long ago. And that in so doing we would reawaken and rekindle within ourselves the loyalty they paid the Child at Bethlehem.

Now the origins of this story are lost in the mists of time, and we shall never know whether the three who came out of the East were the Magi or the three Kings. But today in Cologne Cathedral occasionally the heavy doors of a chapel are opened, the lamps are lighted illuminating a dazzling wealth of gilded and jeweled sculpture and a magnificent reliquary enriched with gems and enamels where sleep the three Kings, whom many believe once looked upon the Savior.

RUN DOWN

When a clock runs down, it stops. In order to make it go again it is necessary to wind it.
Winding puts energy into a spring and it is this energy that makes the wheels go round permitting the clock to perform its normal functions.

The human body in many respects resembles the clock. It gets run down. Fortunately, for most people, it can be re-energized before it stops, but just like the clock, it will not perform its proper functions unless the springs of energy and power are available within.

Why does the human body become run down? Because the supply of energy and power does not keep pace with the demands. When this balance is upset with expenditure exceeding income it is time to call a halt and look the situation over carefully. To put everything right may not be as simple as winding the clock.

It is important to know two things:

Is the demand on energy excessive due to carrying a load beyond one's normal limitations?

Is food which provides energy being taken and assimilated in sufficient quantity?

A little heart to heart talk with oneself in the majority of instances will answer the first question. You know whether or not you are working too hard.

or too long or working too much. You know whether or not you are burning the candle at both ends. You know the amount of care you are exercising with regard to your body and brain.
If you feel run down—below par —pushing yourself uphill—depressed—do a little plain thinking and ask yourself, what is the cause. It may be that despite your care and conservation of energy that run down feeling persists. Then ask your doctor to find the cause. He is trained for that purpose. You may require a change of diet. Some organ of the body may need toning up. The answer to your problem simply found and just as simply cured. But if the cause of the run down feeling is due to some more serious condition it is greatly to your advantage that the cause be discovered early. A stitch in time saves nine —an old adage that is one hundred per cent applicable to this discussion. Early diagnosis permits of intelligent treatment before too much damage is done.

Thousands of lives are spared because of early treatment.
Thousands of lives are lost because of delay in diagnosis and treatment.

A run down feeling is a danger signal which should cause one to stop and look. You may go by it without a crash but that is taking a chance and there is nothing heroic or sensible about taking foolish chances with human life.

cal Association, 184 College St., sonally by letter.

WORLD'S LARGEST EXPOR- TERS OF APPLES

The United States is easily the world's largest exporter of apples, states The Imperial Economic Committee, while Canada and Australia take second and third places respectively. Prior to 1931, exports from the United States sometimes exceeded those from all other countries combined, but since that year, owing to lighter crops and trade barriers in European countries, they have declined considerably.
The proportion of the United States total crop exported as fresh fruit seldom exceeds 10 per cent and on the average exports account for only about 15 per cent of the commercial crop.

Canada, Australia and New Zealand, on the other hand, export a large proportion of their apple crops, and this applies also to Yugoslavia, Austria and Italy.
Exports from France, which consist mainly of cider fruit, represent only a very small proportion of her heavy production.
Considerable quantities of cider apples are included also in the export figures of Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland and Yugoslavia. The exports of apples from Canada and Australia consist almost entirely of dessert and cooking apples.

According to the 1936 statistics the exports of apples from the principal exporting countries were: United States, 174,000 tons; Canada, 96,000 tons; Australia, 89,000 tons; France, 65, 000 tons of cider apples and 6,000 tons of dessert apples; Italy, 60,000 tons; Roumania, 23, 000 tons; New Zealand, 20,000 tons; Chile, 10,000 tons; Yugoslavia, 9,000 tons; Union of South Africa, 7,000 tons; Belgium, 7,000 tons; Netherlands,

6,000 tons; Japan, 5,000 tons;
Hungary, 5,000 tons; Argentina and Bulgaria, 4,000 tons each.
Although Canada and Australia export a large part of their apple crops, the value of apples exported represents no more than about 1 per cent of the total exports, the exact percentage of apples to the total exports of all domestic products being 1.1 in the case of Australia, and 1.3 in the case of Canada according to the average value of exports 1931-35. In New Zealand the ratio was 1.5 per cent, and in the United States 0.9 per cent.

printing job, paid for it in cash and explained that she had taken the job out of her home town because she had given the printer a good deal of work, always paid cash, yet, when she asked for a little free publicity, he refused the request, and in a huff she decided not to give him any more work.

This woman was in business in her home town and as the Erin editor points out she failed to realize that her home town printer likely bought a good deal of stuff in her store, always paid cash, and that he had just as much right to ask for a free order as she had to make such a request of him. Advertising is what he had to sell just as she sold groceries or whatever it was, but, strange as it may seem, she never batted an eyelash in asking for free publicity but would have been nonplussed if he had asked for a basket of groceries free.

It is an experience that is typical of every weekly newspaper.
We find so many people with the idea that they are helping to fill up the paper when they send in free advance publicity, not realizing that an editor can secure ten columns of news for every column he has to fill. They also fail to realize that advertising is the only thing a newspaper has to sell; that it is the advertising revenue which makes a newspaper possible at such a reasonable subscription rate; and that it is impossible to grant favors to some and deny others.

For this reason we have had to make it a definite rule that publicity for coming events is a charged item.

The annual Ea-Gi Christmas party was held in the United Church hall on Monday night. Every person attending was presented with a gift of a toy. The gifts were later returned to the club to be presented to the Christmas Cheer committee for distribution.

Dr. E. O. DuVernet, wife and two children from Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. F. P. DuVernet of Ottawa, will arrive today to spend the Christmas holidays with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. DuVernet. Their son, Prof. G. S. DuVernet arrived from Halifax on Tuesday.

A. L. Robinson has received from the General Motor Products of Canada, Limited, a beautiful silver hors d'oeuvre dish, with cover, engraved with his name, as a memento of his excellent salesmanship this year he having qualified as "Master Salesman" of the province for General Motors.

With local merchants, the Saturday before Christmas was a disappointing day. The weather was most disagreeable, and prevented many from coming in from out of town to attend to their Christmas shopping, and many of the town's people were inclined to postpone matters over the week end. We understand business has been very good this week.

Nelson Morehouse and son, Oscar, of Centreville, were in town Friday en route to Saint John, where they will visit Mr. Morehouse's daughter, Mrs. Jas. Bazzilian. Mr. Morehouse will later leave for Boston to spend Christmas with another daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacDowell, of Pennfield, N. B., have been visiting at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Haines, Freeport.

The Misses Ruth and Dorothy Cook and Mrs. Donald Young were in Yarmouth on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cossett and daughter Barbara, of Centreville, were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brooks, Freeport.

Mrs. Amasa Eldridge, Mrs. Edw. MacKay, Mrs. Holland Eldridge and Miss Annie Eldridge, of Sandy Cove, were in town on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Thornton, of the Mountain Gap Inn, Smith's Cove, left for Lake Hamilton, Florida, where he will continue to act as advance agent for his hotel and for Digby in general. He is one of the biggest boosters for the tourist trade that we have from this section, and preaches Nova Scotia continually.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES

Beautiful Christmas music was featured at the special Christmas services in both the Digby Baptist and Grace United Churches on Sunday morning and evening. Both services were well attended, and the churches decorated for the occasion.

At the Baptist Church the topic of the morning address of the pastor, Rev. A. G. Robertson, was "Our Christmas Gifts". The subject of Mr. Robertson's sermon in the evening was "Keeping Christ in Christmas". Christmas music—which will be repeated on Sunday—was presented by an augmented choir under the direction of Hedley Dakin with Mrs. Guy Morehouse as organist. Three special numbers were rendered at the morning service, and seven numbers at the evening service.

In the United Church the Junior and Senior Chords were combined, and rendered several beautiful selections at the morning service. The Christmas sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson. In the evening, the Young Peoples' Society, assisted by the Junior Choir, presented the pageant, "When Christ Was Born". Special Christmas music will be rendered at both morning and evening services in this church on Sunday, with the Junior Choir assisting at both services.

Christmas services, commencing with Midnight Communion, on the night of Christmas eve, will be held in Holy Trinity Church on Christmas Day.

MUSIC AT THE COMMUNITY TREE CHRISTMAS EVE

The Civic Band will play a short concert, from 7.30 to 8.00, if the temperature will kindly keep above 25 degrees. The boys have spunk enough to play in any kind of weather, but they can't do it when valves freeze up and pads stick as they always do in freezing weather. Rain and snow are serious troubles.

Not having enough Christmas music for the purpose it was necessary for the director to make his own arrangement of the two carols, "Silent Night" and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear", which will be played by a small ensemble of sixteen instruments.

Weather permitting, the following programme will be given: March—"Our Glorious Flag". Hymn—"Joy to the World". Carol—"Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."

March—"Gloria". Carol—"It Came Upon a Midnight Clear".

Hymn—"Adeste Fideles". Carol—"Silent Night". Medley—"Bells on Parade."

God Save the King.

All five of the songs are familiar and everybody can sing them. It would be fine if the audience would gather close to the band and join in singing with the real Christmas spirit.

Digby Boy Honored—Glen MacNutt, of Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. MacNutt, of this town, has received the distinguished honor of having a number of his paintings admitted for exhibition in the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts.

WRIGHT'S

"Kenneth W" Sunk

Capt. Reg. Robinson, Parker's Cove, master of the Digby scallop dragger "Kenneth W.", and his crew arrived safely in Digby on board the dragger Vicie M. Capt. Lawrence Elliott, early Wednesday evening. The "Kenneth W." rests on the bottom of the Bay of Fundy, north east of the buoy, and about four miles off Digby Gut.

Had it not been for the fact that Elliott saw the flares from the sinking dragger, it would have been a sad Christmas season in Digby and vicinity, for, otherwise there would have been little or no possibility of any of the crew being saved.

Just what caused the boat to sink is not known. It is understood she sprung a leak early that day. Returning to port Wednesday evening, she commenced to fill so quickly her pumps could not keep her clear. Experiencing rough weather, it is thought one of her planks came loose, or that the packing came out of the stuffing box.

The boat was one of the fleet owned by Capt. G. M. Morrell, of Digby; she was about 55 feet in length and 15 foot beam, and was built at Port LaTour about eight years ago. Beside her Captain, she carried a crew of four, namely Reginald Jordan, Plympton, Albert Oliver, Parker's Cove; Lester Chute, Young's Cove, and Roy Gregory, of Parker's Cove.

The accident occurred shortly after six o'clock Wednesday evening. The boat was homeward bound with the day's catch of three barrels of scallops. She began to fill rapidly. Flares, made by baking bags in gas, oil and igniting them, were sent up.

Captain Lawrence Elliott, of the Vicie M., also homeward bound, saw the first flare, and thought at first it was flames shooting out from the galley stove chimney, and paid no attention to it. Another flare was sent up, and he saw a man waving to them.

When his boat came alongside the engines of the "Kenneth W.", were then submerged. The crew were taken off, and the boat went down within a few minutes. Like many of the boats of the Digby scallop fleet, the "Kenneth W." carried no dorey.

On board the "Vicie M." Wednesday evening beside her captain, were Eddie Amoro, of Saulnierville; and Herman Muise, of Yarmouth. This is the second rescue to be made by the "Vicie M.", in which Capt. Elliott has taken part. Capt. Elliott was one of the crew in October 1935, when the "Try-Me" went down. In that accident, three lives were lost, another member of the crew of "Try-Me" was rescued by the crew of the "Vicie M."

HEAVY CHRISTMAS MAILS

Christmas mails this season are reported as being the heaviest ever handled in the history of the local Post Office. The staff, working almost to the breaking point, is giving an efficient service to the public in spite of the rush, although, on occasions have had to go without meals in order that mails could be dispatched on time.

In addition to the mails handled at the office, several huge truckloads of mail sacks are being transferred from the Princess Helene to D. A. R. trains, and vice versa each day; busses and teams carrying mails to out of town points are loaded down each trip.

Valued at approximately $260,000 after cutting, a huge diamond has been found by Clarindo de Souza, a prospector in Coronandel, near Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The gem was discovered not far from where the famous Southern Cross was unearthed. De Souza has placed it under guard in Rio de Janeiro.

Japanese colonization in the South Sea Islands has been stopped because subsidies for economic exploitation there have been suspended during the China conflict. This was announced in Tokyo by Overseas Minister Soyu Otani. He admitted that an increase of the pulp output in Saghalien is impossible because of a shortage of wood supply there.

Name Omitted — Through a mistake in copying the name of Mrs. (Dr.) DuVernet was omitted from the list of Children's Aid executive published in last week's Courier.

Richard Lynch, of Dalhousie University, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

A crowded hall greeted the teachers and pupils of Deep Brook school for their annual Christmas concert Tuesday evening, Dec. 21st. Special mention should be made of the hymn "Silent Night, Holy Night" rendered by two little girls, Gloria Steele, soprano, and Shirley Vroom, contralto, both under ten years of age.

About This and That

"Merry Christmas!"

It is a simple phrase, but one that best expresses our wishes during the Yuletide season. It is our wish that you will find among your presents on Christmas morning the priceless gifts of health, happiness and contentment, and you, and all of yours, will rejoice with the entire world in the deep joy of Christmas time—that glorious season, the time of peace and good will, of good cheer and fellowship—the season during which we pause to extend our good wishes and to share in the kindnesses of our friends and neighbors.

The distribution of Christmas baskets from the Christmas Cheer committee will likely have taken place by the time this issue of the Courier is received in your homes. We are pleased to learn that the fund has been successful this year, and that

THE CHRISTMAS GIFT

The angels and the Wise Men
Still loving vigil keep,
When Christmas stars are watching
And skies are hushed and deep.
From out among its fellows
One little star leaped down
And sang above my pillow
Of Jude's little town.
The star moved ever eastward;
I followed in its way,
Until it shone in glory
O'er where the Christ-child lay.
It was a lowly manger,
But, Oh, the Babe was sweet!

And king and kingy stranger
Were kneeling at his feet.

They laid their gifts before Him
While glory shone around;
And I, who would adore Him,
Without a gift was found.
Sweet Mary saw me weeping,
She spake, the Babe smiled
"Your gift is in His keeping,
You gave your heart, my child."

"Japan wants special privileges for Japan, not equality for all."
Japan indeed is looking out for number one and no one else.

Christmas in The Rockies

By Katherine F. DeMan

CHRISTMAS in the Rockies! I felt thrilled, excited, as our train wound its way in and out through the mountains, thundering through the crisp, pine-scented air. Now, we were climbing an almost precipitous grade, now, slowing down for a dangerous curve, while every little while as a stretching plain was reached, the steady band upon the throttle sent the long line of cars speeding like an arrow through the bright December sunshine.

We were on our way to spend Christmas with Uncle Jerry and Aunt Emma. They had sent a hearty invitation for us to come out, and now we were almost there. I held my breath at the sheer beauty of the scene that stretched before our eyes. Mountain peaks that seemed to touch the sky, canyons dropping thousands of feet, lakes covered by glittering ice, vivid green pines, looking like giant Christmas trees. I had never seen, never even visualized anything so beautiful.

A loud shriek from the big whistle, a slow crunching and grinding of brakes, and our train came to a stop. Uncle Jerry, cosy and smiling, stood waiting upon the platform, giving dad, mother, Helen and myself a true western welcome.

"Aunt Emma is all excited about your coming," he beamed. A short drive through a wonderland of beauty, and the big sprawling ranch house came in sight. Aunt Emma stood in the doorway, and a cowboy, who was grooming a pony, looked curiously at us. I wanted to look around before going indoors, but tantalizing odors from the kitchen made me suddenly realize how hungry I was.

All was bustle and excitement, hurry and preparation. Even the horses and ponies in the corral seemed excited, as if they sensed something in the air. The afternoon and evening went by on wings.

Christmas morning dawned upon a world that looked even lovelier than it had yesterday. A million jewels hung on bush and tree, a sky of turquoise stretched itself across the snow-covered mountains and valleys.

Inside the ranch house a fire of crackling logs threw its roddy glow over the living room. The dining table was spread with tempting foods. Breakfast of home-cured ham and sausage, fluffy flapjacks and syrup, steaming hot coffee with thick cream.

Then a short drive to the little church, an inspiring talk by the pastor, and the strains of the old and beautiful Christmas hymns: neighbors and friends stopping Uncle Jerry and Aunt Emma to wish them "Merry Christmas."

Back again through the clear, frosty air, and later the big Christmas dinner. Golden-brown turkey and dressing on a big blue platter, a huge mound of snowy potatoes, native vegetables and relishes, tempting pieces of mince and pumpkin pie. And best of all, an appetite that only the mountains can give.

A hundred things to see during the afternoon, the horses and ponies, the ranch equipment, the silver fox farm that Uncle Jerry had just started, and a special show the cowboys put on for our benefit.

Food again in the evening, and after, a happy time around the fire. The cowboys standing around the piano, where Helen played the old Christmas carols, their lusty voices joining in the beautiful words. I thought of the beautiful setting outside as they sang:

Silent Night, Holy Night!
All is calm, all is bright,
Shepherds quake at the sight,
Round yon Virgin Mother and Child,
Holy Infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace!

I stole outside for a few minutes as they went on to the next lines. A new moon was sending its silvery light down upon the world, a million stars added their smaller gleam. Around me I felt the faint, mysterious noises of night in the open places, the stirring of unseen, unknown things. My lips and heart joined in the words that floated out from the warm, lamp-lit room.

Silent Night, Holy Night!
Shepherds quake at the sight,
Gentles stream from heaven afar,
Heavenly hosts sing Alleluia;
Christ the Saviour is born!

I have spent many a happy and memorable Christmas, but never one as wonderful, as unforgettable, as this Christmas spent in the Rockies.

The Guilty Gift

By Martha B. Thomas

SAM LINCOLN walked slowly along the street gazing into store windows. An icy wind caught him at the corners but he hurried across to the next curb intent on his mental shopping.

He was thinking hard of Cora, too. Though not a word had been spoken between them on the subject, it was quite understood that he should buy her warm gloves, a warm sweater and stockings for Christmas. He'd saved a fair amount for this very purpose. When you gave up your city living for the country, you thought in terms of wool. Cora needed all these things. Her gloves were worn down to thin spots. Her sweater had been mended a good many times and her stockings—well, Cora just laughed about them. Cora would. She had made fun of every hard thing about changing their home, from the dreadful wheezy pump in the kitchen, to the way the floors slanted in the bedrooms, so that no pencil would stay on a table, and books continually slid off on the floor. Cora was a thoroughbred and a good sport.

Sam looked at a green sweater that would be coming to Cora's light curls. Or that cheerful red one. Nice on snowy winter mornings. The very chickadees would sing with pleasure at sight of her in that sweater. He took a few steps toward the shop door when his eye fell on a black and yellow silk kimono.

Of course he would not get it; just inquire the price so that he might look at it.

The moment Sam touched a reverent hand to the exquisite silk he was lost. Thrifty, hard-working Sam! How could he have done such a thing? And so calmly, too. "Please wrap it up," he had said.

The price had been reduced in order to sell quickly. He walked out under his arm, and slunk by windows filled with warm woolen clothes—the kind Cora so sorely needed.

All the way home on the train his heart sank lower and lower. He felt so chilled and miserable at the thought of his weak behavior, that Cora rushed at him as he opened the door, exclaiming, "My dear, what dreadful thing has happened to you?"

"You're So Lovely I Want to Kiss You Very Hard"

They had an excellent if frugal dinner. Cora chattered happily of this and that, looking unusually pretty and gay. Sam tried to meet her laughter, but actually shivered along his spine. Idiot! Fool! Wretched unspeakable lunatic that he was! Would a yellow and black Chinese kimono keep Cora warm? It would not.

Justice demanded that he confess. Cora would be kind, and that would hurt more than anything. Cora would be kind . . . and keep right on feeling cold on the crisp mornings after Christmas. But he must do it . . . muddle through it somehow.

After dinner he came close to Cora muttering something about a gift, and how dained sorry he was . . . and please, please not to look at him so sweetly.

Cora unwrapped the bundle. Sam waited. The lovely shining thing fell to the floor with the lights gleaming on it.

"Oh . . . oh . . . I I never in all my life saw anything so magnificent! For me? Surely, surely not for me, Sam? But how I'd adore it! I'm sure I wouldn't mind anything if I knew such a gorgeous garment were hanging in my closet. But of course you're teasing me . . ."

"No," said Sam heavily, "it's your Christmas present. I feel like a cad. I know you need the warm things . . . don't be so darned sweet about it!" he commanded crossly.

Cora flung on the robe, and threw her arms around Sam's neck. "I don't know why you're acting this silly way . . . but if you're so dead set on warm things . . . a whole box came this afternoon from Uncle Horace."

Sam sank weakly into a chair. "You're so lovely I want to kiss you very hard."

GIFTS TO DALHOUSIE UNIVERSITY

President Stanley announces, as he was able to announce last year at the Christmas period, two very generous gifts to Dalhousie University. Last year he wished that Christmas came oftener than once a year for Dalhousie's sake; at any rate Christmas does come once a year.

On December 16 Dr. William Inglis Morse added to his previous great benefactions a cheque for $3,000; two-thirds of this goes to increase the endowment for the maintenance of the "Morse Collection" which is housed in the Macdonald Library Building, and the remaining $1,000 is to be spent on the University Library.

On December 17 Mr. J. McE. Stewart, chairman of the Board of Governors of the University, received a cheque from an anonymous donor for $50,000 for scholarship purposes. It will be remembered that last Christmas the late Mr. Hector McInnes received a cheque for $10,000 from an anonymous donor to be used for scholarships. This $50,000 is to be capitalised as "The Hector McInnes Memorial Fund" and the proceeds are to be used for scholarships. Not only will friends of Dalhousie University rejoice over these generous gifts—they will be pleased by the establishment of a scholarship fund in memory of Mr. McInnes. Many will remember the speech which Mr. McInnes made, when he laid the corner-stone of the Dalhousie Gymnasium, in which he said that he believed that the most solid part of Dalhousie's reputation rested on the period when the famous Munro Bursaries made it possible for Dalhousie to attract students of high intelligence, especially in mathematics, classics and English. He stated also that this was reflected in the improved teaching in the high schools.

Egypt will kill two birds with one stone in reclaiming its desert land. First it will flood the deserts. This will attract migratory wildfowl on their way to Central Africa. The wildfowl will attract wealthy sportsmen who will spend money in Egypt. After twenty years the water will be drained off, leaving rich agricultural land.

DIGBY

Where the Basin's waters flow,
Where the graceful maples grow,
Where the beauty lovers go—
That's Digby!

Lovely spot at Nature's best,
There when summer's hues are dressed,
Happy place in which to rest—
Is Digby!

Place delightful of retreat.

Where on hill and beckoning street
Glimpses of enchantment greet
In fair Digby.

Town of early history,
Known for its grand scenery,
Long you'll live in memory,
Greetings, Digby!

DIGBY

Town Clerk Alfred Boden desires to extend the Season's Greetings to Everybody.

YOUR AND OUR TOWN

In your case and our case the home town is Digby. We are interested in it, we wish to see it progress, see the people happy and prosperous. There are many who write on this and kindred subjects. Recently a poet wrote:

"Real towns aren't made by men afraid
Lest someone else gets ahead—
When everyone works and no one shirks
You can raise a town from the dead."

All towns are the same, so if there is anything about the one you are living in that displeases you, it won't do you a bit of good to slip your clothes in a grip and take a trip elsewhere. You will find the same thing you left behind, only under a different name. When you stop to think of it there is really nothing new anywhere, and life goes on just the same in the new town as it did in the old. People have the same joys and sorrows, and make the same mistakes—everywhere. They are born, grow up, fall in love, get married, have children and die. The age old cycle of life continues generation after generation, and even if we sometimes stop and wonder if it is worth while to keep going round and round like a monkey in a cage we won't have time to stop and do anything about it.

If you get peeved at your home town, late all your neighbors, and feel that the place is going to the eternal bowwows, it would be far wiser to visit a doctor than to change towns. In practically every case the trouble is not with the town but with you. When you knock the place that is home to you, it is really a knock at yourself, because if the place fails to measure up it is your fault as well as your neighbor's. You have got to put something into that town, a big part of yourself; energy, enthusiasm, progressiveness; you've got to be a substantial, constructive citizen before you can expect the home town to be the kind of a town you'd like it to be. A town can only grow when the co-operation of the people gives it the needed impetus.

PARKER'S COVE

Wishing the Editor and staff and all the readers of the Courier a Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Longmire, of Port Wae, were guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Sophronia Milner, last week.

Miss Grace Bent and scholars held a very successful school concert on Dec. 17th. The sum of $11.80 was taken for school purposes.

Claude Milner visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hudson very recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Magarvie are visiting friends in Boston, Mass., over the Christmas season.

Austin Anderson, of Sackville, N. B., is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson.

DEEP BROOK

W. C. Curphey, Crabtree, Quebec, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curphey.

Augustus Purdy and son, Arnold, left on Tuesday to visit relatives in Massachusetts over the Christmas season.

Mrs. James R. Vroom has closed her home here and gone to Annapolis Royal to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Ord.

Among the arrivals this week for the holidays are Miss Clara M. Sullis and Kathleen Spurr, Edgemoor, Windsor; and Mrs. Claire Eisner, New York.

Miss Mary I. Sullis left on Tuesday for Newton Centre, Mass., accompanied by her sister, Mrs. B. C. Clark.

The idea of keeping the Christmas lights and decorations going till after New Year's is by now a thoroughly established custom. It helps to lengthen the Yuletide season pleasantly, and makes a sort of connection between the two holidays that originally was not there.

Cats of Britain are to have their special pack of fish put in cans for their particular use. One of the largest fish canneries in the Polish port of Gdynia is negotiating with a firm of British importers to supply the large quantities of canned fish intended specially for cats.

All automobile mechanics in Germany have been ordered to take an examination, and those who do not pass will be ordered to give up their jobs. Berlin reports that this is for the purpose of eliminating pseudo-mechanics who bungle repairs, and to increase highway safety.

much will be done to bring a ray of happiness to the underprivileged families — especially to the children — of this town on Christmas. We are happy to learn that this work is being done but it pains to know there is so much to be done, that so many are in stringent circumstances and need help. We hope that no deserving cases will be overlooked.

Not only is the committee doing a great work, but there are private individuals, overflowing with the Christmas spirit, who are doing and will do their share. We know of one man who asked the committee to drop a certain family from their list, with the promise he would provide for all their needs, including Christmas tree, ornaments, turkey and gifts for a large family; we know of a lady who has invited eight poor kiddies to have Christmas dinner at her home with her, and of a good many others who are doing like acts of kindness. Most of these people play "Santa Claus" 365 days of the year, not only during the Christmas season. And yet there are but few who really know of the amount of this kind of work which is being done.

Again let me shout:
"MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!"

Mrs. Frank Cosby is a patient in the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax.

James Campbell, student at Mount Allison, came home Friday for the vacation.

Mrs. E. W. Robinson, who has spent the past three months in Montreal, returned home Monday.

Miss Dorothy Ann Brown, student at Edgemoor School, Windsor, is the guest of Mrs. E. W. Robinson for the holidays.

Rev. Thomas B. McDormand, pastor of the First Baptist Church, in Amherst, spent two days in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller and wee son, David, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller during the Christmas season.

Walton Snell, student at Middleton Academy, is enjoying his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snell, Morganville.

Miss Hazel Oickle, of Truro Normal School, is spending the Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Oickle.

Among the guests recently registered at the Grand Central were H. S. LeBlanc, of the Old Age Pension Board; J. E. Phinney, Middleton, Soldiers' Settlement Board; and Joseph White, of the Lincoln Pulp Company, Parrapora.

Mrs. P. H. Rawding and daughter, Olga, Brooklyn, Queens County, and Merrill Rawding, of Liverpool, were guests of their sister, Mrs. W. D. Chute, while here attending the funeral of their sister-in-law, the late Mrs. Elias Rawding, of Clementsport.

Among the students who have arrived from King's College, in Halifax, to spend their vacations with their parents, are Miss Frances Robinson and Walter Harris.

Lie. Donald McDormand, senior in Arts at Acadia University, is in town for the Christmas recess which he is spending with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McDormand. At the beginning of the school year he received the appointment of debating manager, which, with his other duties keeps him busy. On Sunday evening he was the guest speaker for Rev. T. W. Howard, at Clementsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dunlop left on Thursday for Saint John to spend Christmas.

Alfred Cashman, of Carleton, Yarmouth Co., is spending the holidays with his family here.

Rev. and Mrs. Roach, accompanied by Mrs. Lottie Roop, went to Sandy Cove on Monday where Mr. Roach attended an official board meeting of the Digby Neck Circuit.

Ladies' Aid—The Ladies' Aid met on Monday evening with Mrs. Wm. Vidito.

H. E. Harris has purchased the building where the Post Office is. The upper flat will be made into tenements.

BEAR RIVER WOMEN'S INSTITUTE LIBRARY

Due to the holidays the Bear River Women's Institute Library will be closed the next two Saturdays. Patrons were given the privilege of taking out an extra book last Saturday. It is hoped this was satisfactory to all. The library will be open as usual on Saturday, January 8th.

RATEPAYERS' MEETING

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Bear River Street Light District, as defined by the Act, will be held in the Masonic Room, on the 29th of December, at 8.00 o'clock, p.m. This is an important matter affecting every ratepayer, and this meeting should be attended by all ratepayers, if possible to do so.

BEAR RIVER BADMINTON NOTES

The Bear River Badminton Club is flourishing this year, with a membership of 43. For the ten days, beginning with Wednesday, the 22nd, the club will open for play afternoon and evening, and the house committee are planning on something special, with refreshments, for New Year's eve.

PHILATHEA BIBLE CLASS SOCIAL

The monthly social of the Philathea Bible Class of the United Baptist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Russell Harris, Thursday evening, Dec. 9. The members and guests, about forty in number, gathered around a gaily decorated Christmas tree opening the devotional period by singing Christmas carols. The President, Mrs. Vernon McCormick, took charge of the devotional and business part of the meeting, when arrangements were made for packing the usual Christmas Cheer Boxes.

Mrs. Chester Kaulback, convener of the entertainment committee, had arranged a very appropriate programme consisting of Christmas carols, readings and several games were played. Who knows now what to put in the Christmas pie?

The special feature of the evening was the distributing of gifts from off the tree to all present with a bag of homemade candy to accompany each gift. All voted a jolly Christmas social to close the year of 1937.

Obituary

Mrs. Elias Rawding

The death of Mrs. Elias Rawding occurred at her home Clementsport, on Dec. 17, following a brief illness. A strange coincidence regarding this is, that Mrs. Rawding died on her 72nd birthday, it also being the 47th anniversary of her marriage. The funeral service, held on Sunday, was conducted by Rev. J. C. Stone, pastor of the United Church, assisted by Rev. A. W. L. Smith, of the Anglican Church. The floral offerings were beautiful. Mrs. Rawding is survived by her husband; also three sisters and two brothers, all residing in Portland, Maine. Interment was in the family lot at Clementsport.

Weddings

Parker - Purdy

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph place on Friday evening last, at H. Purdy, when their only daughter, Geraldine Iverna, was united in marriage to Malcolm C. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parker, Bear River. Rev. C. P. Henderson performed the ceremony. They were unattended and took their places in one corner of the spacious living room, which was banked with potted plants, fern and cut flowers, forming an indoor flower garden. The bride, lovely in a smart dress of rust crepe and chic hat to correspond, wore a corsage of pink carnation and fern. After the ceremony dinner was served in the dining room, beautifully decorated with cut flowers, blue and yellow being the color scheme. The table, centered with a silver basket of yellow flowers, was most attractive. The many lovely gifts received show the esteem in which these young people are held. They will reside on Main Street, in Bear River.

AT THE UNITED CHURCH

The services at the United Church of Canada on Sunday were very fine. The morning service opened with a procession, "Joy to the World"; opening chorus, "Christmas Bells are Ringing"; offertory, "The First Song of Christmas", (C. Lane); closing anthem, "The Christmas Glory Song, (Meredith) solo part, Mrs. R. Roach. At the evening service: opening anthem, "It Came Upon"; offertory, "Tell the Daughter of Zion", solo, Mrs. Litchfield; a quartette, "The Christmas Stars", F. R. Harris, M. Benson, Mrs. R. L. Roach, Mrs. H. E. Harris.

The pastor, Rev. R. L. Roach, brought two lovely Christmas messages to a good audience. The church was trimmed in fir trees, poinsettias and lovely cut flowers, yellow and white "mums".

RECEPTION GIVEN PASTOR

A pleasing event of last week was the reception tendered Rev. and Mrs. G. D. Brydon, Thursday evening by the members and congregation of the United Baptist Church.

A large crowd assembled in the beautifully decorated vestry, where the reception committee received the guests, who were ushered in by Fred M.

Rice, to meet Rev. and Mrs. Brydon.

Receiving with Rev. and Mrs. Brydon were: Deacon H. R. Kinney and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rice.

Then followed a splendid programme of Christmas choruses by the choir, a male quartette, reading by Mrs. R. A. Harris and a mixed quartette. Following this pleasing addresses of welcome were given by Revs. R. L. Roach, P. C. Henderson, and T. S. Howard of the Clementsville church, who had been a class mate of Mr. Brydon at Acadia. To all of these, pastor Brydon responded most pleasingly, after which refreshments were served by the committee in charge, assisted by Don McDormand.

The singing of "Blest be the Tie That Binds" brought this delightful evening to a close.

The motor vessel Jean Kathleen, Capt. Charles Morrell, was in port last week loading a cargo of cordwood for Freeport.

The steamer Liverpool Rover, Capt. Ralph Williams, was in port last week loading a cargo of pulpwood for the Mercury Company, Liverpool. The cargo was shipped by H. E. Wagner.

Miss Clara Hankinson has resigned as teacher of the Primary department, and intends leaving for Boston early in January to train for a nurse. Mrs. R. B. Powell, of Weymouth North, has been appointed in her place.

Over twenty of the members of the Young People's Union of the Heart Memorial United Church, Weymouth, went to the Municipal Home, at Marshalltown on Friday evening, where they put on a programme of carols, guitar music, duets, solos, quartettes, stories and readings. At the conclusion they presented each inmate with a gift of candy, nuts and fruit, the treat being made possible through the kindness of the merchants and other interested friends of Weymouth. The members of the Union would like to take this opportunity of thanking all those who in any way, helped toward this treat; also Messrs. Mullen and Farn of New Tusket, whose musical numbers helped so much toward the success of the programme.

BONUS MONEY DISTRIBUTED

A substantial cheque of $1,325.21 has just been received by Captain F. R. Whynacht, manager of the local branch of the Lunenburg Sea Products, and is being distributed among the fishermen who sold their catch of fish to this firm during the past summer and fall.

This cheque represents the amounts of the government bonus received by the Lunenburg Sea Products Company on the hake and pollock caught and dried at Centreville and shipped by the Lunenburg firm for export. These fish were bought fresh from the boats and the expense of processing and shipping was born entirely by the company. The bonus which the company received was however, generously turned over to the fishermen.

Some of the men received substantial sums, the high line boat getting $135 and from that on down to a few cents according to the fish sold. The money, coming as it does at this time of the year, constitutes a generous and welcome Christmas present.

SANTA CLAUS VISITS CENTREVILLE SCHOOL

On Thursday evening last, at Centreville hall, a Christmas tree and concert was held by the pupils of the school, under the direction of the teachers, Keith M. Parker, principal, and Miss Helen Morehouse, primary. An interesting program consisting of dialogues, recitations and music was put on, the parts, being well taken and showing painstaking preparation on the part of both teachers and pupils. Mrs. Morehouse played the accompaniments. Following the program Santa Claus appeared and in a happy vein distributed gifts from a beautifully decorated and well laden tree. The hall was filled to capacity. Proceeds, amounting to 16, will be used for school purposes.

Harry Dwyer, former Nova Scotia fishing youth, and his companion, Henry Lorenz, 22, were bound over without bail at Las Cruces, New Mexico, for trial by district court, on charges of murder and train robbery after they had heard witnesses Thanksgiving Day hold-up of a describe the pair's "wild-west" Southern Pacific flier and fatally shooting one of its employees. Creating a sensation, one of the several witnesses, Brakenham K. C. Moon, as the "cowboy bandit" who fired the pointed out Dwyer in the courtroom shot which brought death to W. L. Smith. All other witnesses testified Lorenz had shot the trainman.

HE WAS ALWAYS TIRED AND ILL

Three Complaints Gave Him a Miserable Time

Suffering from three complaints—disordered kidneys, sciatica, and rheumatism—how could this man be anything else but always tired and ill? This is what he writes:—

"Up to a month or so ago, I had suffered continually from kidney disorder, sciatica, rheumatism, and generally felt off colour. I was constantly tired, and under medical supervision. I tried many remedies, but without effect until I gave Kruschen Salts a trial. In four weeks, Kruschen has brought about a complete transformation. I have a healthy appetite and once more feel that it is good to be alive."

—S. V. N.
The kidneys are the filters of the human machine. If they become sluggish, impurities find their way into the blood-stream, and the seed of half-a-dozen common ailments is sown. The scientific combination of salts in Kruschen quickly coaxes the kidneys back to healthy, normal action. So on your ailments are relieved and life becomes a joy again.

The W. M. A. S. held their annual Christmas sale and missionary meeting in the hall on Tuesday, which was very successful.

THE CHRISTMAS STAR

(By Elizabeth Hamilton)

The brightness of the "Christmas Star"

Above all others, shines afar.

Through every growth of moving time

Its silver radiance, brightly shines; If, on some lonely mountain wide,

We stray from Him, whose sheltering side

Would hold us close within that Fold

Where Love is ever manifold.

The memory of that "Star of Peace"

Restores our soul's deep weariness.

Our yearning heart looks up; "on High

"The Christmas Star" alights the sky—

The Star of Mercy, Hope and Love.

A message goes to God above—

A voice within us calls to Him;

We hear the shepherd's evening hymn:

We see an inn; far o'er the sea,

We see the hills of Old Judea

The mystery of that night's "lone birth"

"Peace and good will to men on earth."

The manger crib, that mother fair,

The wise men, with the shepherds there;

Across the centuries feel the power

Of that one mystic midnight hour.

"O star of Peace! shine on bright star!"

Star of the East, O shine afar.

Light of the World! shine on for me,

My hope leads from Gethsemane;

O star immortal, east and west

Ablaze with love, your light is best.

"Wonder of wonders", may you shine!

Prophetic words—your light divine!

Peace on the earth, good will toward men.

Let nations sing the song again.

We hear it now at Christmas time.

O star of love! your beams shall shine

O'er all the world, a path of light.

Bright as it shone that Christmas night;

Rays of pure love, as known of old.

Yet ever new, the story told.

We can never get it definitely clear in our mind whether London or New York really is the world's largest centre. United States census estimation figures recently released from Washington give the city of London 8,161,818 population and New York City 7,428,188.

But the adjointings of London were included—still remains.

HE WAS a small boy named Tim who had never been more than ten miles from his home in the Ozark hills. His teacher said he couldn't even bound Arkansas, his own state, but what his teacher didn't know was how well he knew the mountain "crick" and the hill slopes circled with green-gold pine trees that bounded his father's tiny farm. He also knew what it took to keep a family of six children and that for as long as he could remember his father's farm had scarcely been able to produce enough to stretch over every need.

It was just before Christmas time that he heard his father tell his mother that if there was to be anything "extra" to give the day its meaning for the children, he'd have to get the ax and hack out a few ties. Her face went white, for she knew what that meant. So often had they been forced to remain on the hacking of a few ties to the railroad for dire necessities that practically all their timber available for that purpose was gone. And trees don't grow overnight. She could tell by the look on her husband's face that he was taking a desperate and back-breaking chance of finding a few logs tough enough for the commission man to buy.

As she looked out of the window and saw the passing cars of winter "tourists" on the new scenic road the government had built through the hills, she wondered by what magic folks could come to own automobiles and take time off like that to go traveling. But she hadn't many moments to spare on such thoughts, for her husband had returned to say that the ax was gone. Could one of the children have taken it?

The father had borrowed an ax from a willing neighbor but on the day before Christmas he was silent as he unhitched his team in the wagon lot. Christmas tomorrow and he had been forced to bring back the load from town. The commission man had been truly sorry for he did need ties; yet none of these were large enough. He crept up to a window, lost in the sense of failure that made him ashamed to walk to his own door. There an odd sight straightened him. Inside were Tim and his mother joyously trimming a Christmas tree. Tim raced to the door to keep the younger children from bursting gleefully into the room and learning its great secret.

When the father entered the house, no one asked him about the ties. "Dad, dad!" Tim shouted. "Do you know those red berry trees that grow way up the crick? That's holly, and then I read about holly and learned that folks will pay for it to have it for Christmas. So I gathered a lot of it and made me a holly stand up on the new road just hopin' they would. And dad, they did buy it! Stopped their cars and said, 'Why it's holly, who would have thought we'd find it here!' They wanted so much I had to work awful hard getting it, but gee, it was fun! I wanted to surprise mom and you, and now I'll tell you both that I made $27.82. There's $20 right now in that bureau drawer left after buying our Christmas. Gee dad, I love this old farm! It's got lots of surprises on it yet. This one ain't the last one."

The father brushed a tear from his eye and kissed his wife. Then he shook hands with Tim. "You're the kind of son a man can be right proud to own," he choked.

"But dad, will you forgive me?" the boy suddenly implored.

"Why Tim, forgive you what?" the father asked in surprise.

The boy led the way to the kitchen. "You see dad, I just had to have it?"

The father pretended to frown as Tim pointed and then he winked. "Well, being as it's just about Christmas for us, as well as the rest of the world, I guess I'll have to overlook it." For there in a far corner of the room stood the ax. It was Tim who had borrowed it.

About This and That

Here we are on the threshold of another year. At the stroke of midnight tonight we bid adieu to 1937 and welcome in the year of 1938 with the shouts of "Happy New Year."

It is natural at this season to make plans and resolutions, and somehow, the most of us at least, look forward to the new year with a feeling of optimism, hopeful that it will have for us a greater share of prosperity and happiness than the year that has just passed into history—and the years and years before that. With some, these hopes will be realized to some extent, but I am afraid that the majority of us will soon forget the new year came to give us a new start, and that we will soon find ourselves in the same old ruts, moving along with very little change in our progress.

Let us, however, look for—and hope for—the best 1938 will have to offer. Let us, during this new year, strive to get the best possible out of life, for our community, for our friends and neighbors, and for ourselves. Whether or not 1938 will be a "good year" or a "bad one" depends largely upon ourselves, keeping in mind that our own prosperity and happiness of our community, of our friends and neighbors.

We have no reason to be ashamed of the year that is now behind us. During 1937 our communities (both town and county) have made marked progress. By the means of hard-surfaced roads, the distances between our towns and villages have been considerably shortened in the matter of time; the employment situation no longer presents the problem it did a few years ago; many new buildings have gone up in the town; additions and improvements made to old buildings, as well as other construction of various kinds. The same conditions, which indicate prosperity of a kind, exist throughout the county; there is scarcely a village where some building has not been done during the year—or some old building made into practically a new one.

Generally, I believe, trades of every description showed improvement during the year. We know that on the whole, the tourist traffic upon which so large a portion of this district depends, showed a big improvement, and we have good reasons to believe that 1938 will be even better in this respect. Yes, we should be proud of 1937—and let us during the year now before us strive for an even better record of progress. We can do it! We will do it!

It is with a feeling of regret we make mention of the resignation of our faithful town clerk and treasurer, Alfred Boden.

VOLUME LXIV, NO. 15

An English Island that Speaks French

Interest has been aroused locally—and particularly in Barton—about the Isle of Jersey, to which a well known resident of this county, Mrs. Sophia Henslev, her daughter, Mrs. Tilley, and the latter's family, have gone to reside. Since the announcement was made in the Courier a few weeks ago that they were sailing on the 15th and that they expected to spend Christmas day in St. Malo, France, we have been asked several times where Jersey is located and what kind of a place it is. The Christian Science Monitor, of a recent date, has the following, written by Sydney M. Clark:

Old Jersey, well within a bay of France, but owing allegiance to the British crown, is one of the strangest anomalies of Europe. The official language of its courts is French and the country people speak an ancient Norman, while the capital, St. Helier, is largely anglicized in language, customs and appearance. Tenaciously this island, and its neighbor, Guernsey, cling to certain historic privileges granted by King John, great-great-grandson of William the Conqueror, because the islanders remained loyal to him when his high-handed actions cost him the rest of Normandy.

General British laws are not applicable here, nor the income tax, nor the British customs duties. His Majesty's government negotiates with the island government called "The States," almost as if it were a sovereign body governing an independent people. It is as Duke of Normandy, a title now shadowy and somewhat obsolete, that King George VI rules over his Channel Island subjects.

Noticing a tugboat in St. Helier's harbor boldly lettered DUKE OF NORMANDY, I asked the florid Cockney landlord of my little hotel in the island capital if such a name had any meaning nowadays. "You don't really think of George VI as the Duke of Normandy, do you?" I queried. "I should say we do, he responded with a heat that surprised me. 'He isn't king to us. He's only the duke.' But the very titles of those who serve this duke in official capacity, Procureur General du Roi, Controleur du Roi and so on, partly refute my innkeeper's assertion.

The use of Norman French by the country folk of Jersey is quite understandable, for these people are true Normans, but it seems odd that modern French should be the language of local government. Jurat and Connetable are regular titles for members of the judicial bench and parish council heads respectively, and all legal notices are posted in French as well as in English.

The capital of Jersey is relatively modern and British, with its Albert Pier and its Londonesque streets and squares with London names such as Cheapside, Charing Cross, Vauxhall Street and Victoria Street. In Royal Square is a shabby gilt statue of George II which drew me more than once to that otherwise dull little clearing in the closely built town. It is one of the most absurd statues I have ever beheld. The monarch wears Roman garb "with admirable composure," as a local guide-book puts it, and on his face sits a beatific expression only to be duplicated by that of Cousin Joshua or Uncle Ephraim in the old family album. Scandal-mongers insist that this statue is no more of George II than of you or me, but was salvaged from a wreck in 1751 and put up to save the expense of making one.

It is a pleasure to roam from St. Helier to the more romantic and more Norman portions of the island. To east and west are miniature railways, separate systems with separate stations running respectively to Mont Orgueil, where "Merraire Walter Raleigh" sometimes stayed when Governor of the island and the bold headland called Corbiere Point. Both termini are delightful. I first took the Chemin de Fer de l'Est to Mont Orgueil whose castle is a semi-ruin arising above the quaint fishing port of Gorey. While I lingered in and about this castle the port of Gorey rapidly disappeared before my very eyes. A forty-foot tide plays around Jersey and causes unending awkwardness. The piers all have to be built with two or even three levels. A channel steamer moored to the upper level of its pier at high tide will sink at the ebb until the top of its funnel is below the former deck level, and smaller craft riding prettily at anchor when the tide is in are often marooned a mile from the water when the tide is out.

The western and northern parts of the island are exceedingly lovely and varied. An old World charm broods over forest, meadows and sleepy hamlets. Passing through the parish of St. Ouen I caught a glimpse of the fine old manor house where members of the old Cartaret family still live, descendants of Sir George who transplanted the name of Jersey to the New World. In this parish and others near it I heard a great deal of the old Norman French. In fact, I heard scarcely anything else. It was only when I returned to "town" and noted that balls of chewing gum were to be had in the sweetshops by demanding "gob stoppers," that I realized, a bit painfully, that I was not in a dream country of the Middle Ages.

GIANT CLAM, MANKILLER

The giant clam, nightmare bivalve of the Australian seas, is one of the queerest man-killers in the world.

The clam is a huge hinged shell, in two parts like an oyster, and museum specimens reveal that it attains a length of anything up to eight feet. Native divers, operating on the sea floor in quest of pearl shells, have often described monsters fourteen feet long. Half the shell of a medium-sized clam about five feet long would make a comfortable bath for a baby.

The weight of an ordinary-sized shell is so great it takes two men to lift its 500 to 600 pounds. Often the shells are shipped away; they are popular with preachers who use them as ornamental holywater basins because of their striking colors.

The giant clam does not fasten itself to coral reef or rocks but remains, ponderous and immovable, in one of the coral pools, where it waits, hinge side down. Day and night it feeds with its great shell open, devouring the tiniest organism in the water despite its great size. And at the least sign of danger the clam exerts its immensely powerful muscle controlling the hinge and swirls shut. This snapping has caused the death of many natives and divers who have been caught by the foot and found themselves unable to wrench free.

PERFECT GIFT

A charitable group that collects and distributes money and gifts to the "hundred neediest cases" in a certain community every winter, received a particularly important contribution the other day. It was a gift of $5.20 from a man who was unable to give anything at all last year. He wrote:

"I decided that next year I would give something. So I started the New Year right by putting aside 10 cents a week for the Neediest."

The result was a gift that "had everything"—thoughtfulness, sacrifice, good will.

Latvia, formerly a Russian province and a Republic since 1917, is one of the oldest nations in Europe, the Latts or Letts being believed to have been in the country since the Iron Age.

One must be something to be able to do something.

Accidents Take Many Lives

In Accidents This Year — July Heat Took 780 Lives.

Accidents that dogged them from birth to old age killed 6,351 Canadians in 1936, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports, drawing attention to a July heat wave that took 780 lives compared with 42 in the previous July.

The Bureau, presenting preliminary figures for accidental deaths in 1936, listed home as life's chief danger zone, public places second and industry last. Home accidents killed 2,761, those in public places, 2,590, industry 980. Unclassified were 21.

The motor vehicle that took 1,313 lives was chief instrument of death, second was water, in which 815 drowned, third, heat, which killed 814 during the year, including those who died in the July heat wave that wiped out 162 lives in a single day, July 12th.

Venomous animals killed 8, poisonous gases 80, food poisoning 15, other poisons 103, fires 176, burns 319, mechanical suffocation 135, firearms 116, cuts 68, falls, crushings and land-slides 3,251 (they included 1,251 motor accidents), animals 89, hunger or thirst 8, excessive cold 60, lightning 14, electricity 42, other accidents 232.

Railways claimed 238 lives, boats 212, machinery 155, mines and quarries 138, street cars 238, aircraft 16.

Of those who died by accident, 4,406 were boys or men, 1,945 girls or women. Most dangerous age was over 70, the group in which 1,674 died by accident. Next in order were the 30-49 ages with 1,253 deaths; 50-69 with 1,250, then 15-29 with 1,054 deaths, 5-14 with 519, 1-4 443, less than 1, 159.

Deaths from food poisoning, gas and other poisoning, fire, other burns, mechanical suffocation, cuts and heat were all more numerous in homes than elsewhere. 38 persons were drowned at home, in bath-tubs, wells and cisterns.

Home accidents were heaviest in the stay-at-home age group, those of 70 and over, killing 1,350 persons, 518 men and 832 women.

Eight boys less than one year old and four little girls rolled on their faces in bed and were suffocated; a small girl was smothered by her mother's breast at nursing time; a little girl was suffocated when a cat slept on her face; twenty children under one year of age were killed sleeping with their parents; sixteen were smothered in bed clothes.

In the age-group, one to four, an insect sting killed a girl; 33 ate pills and other drugs; two ate gopher poison, one rat poison, one was placed in boiling water when she suffered convulsions; a little boy played with matches in a hay loft; another strangled himself in a buggy harness; 84 were drowned.

Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada, was recently elected Chancellor of Edinburgh University, succeeding the late Sir James Barrie. A poll by post of alumni in the British Isles gave him 4802 votes against 2582 for the Marquess of Lothian. His presence in Edinburgh will not be required while he is Governor General.

CHRISTMAS IN DIGBY

Christmas Day was one of the happiest and most joyful Christmas Days that Digby has ever known. There is no doubt of that.

Actually, we should say, Christmas Day commenced on Friday evening, with the playing and singing of beautiful Christmas carols at the community tree. Music was furnished by the Digby Civic Band, under the direction of their leader, Paul Yates. On the same evening, the girls of the Flamingo Group of the C. G. I. T., also went out carolling; the local Salvation Army Corps, moving from corner to corner, told in song of the birth of the Christ Child. The midnight Communion and carol service at Holy Trinity Church was largely attended; on Christmas Day services were held in Holy Trinity (Anglican) and St. Patrick's (Roman Catholic) Churches. Christmas baskets, packed under the supervision of the Christmas Cheer Committee, were distributed on Friday. The baskets, filled with food, clothing, bedding and toys brought joy and happiness into homes, where otherwise, Christmas would have been "just another day".

From all reports, nine out of ten of the youngsters (as well as their parents) were out of their beds hours before their usual rising time, to inspect stockings and beautifully decorated trees and open mysterious packages. The Christmas spirit was everywhere. Yes, it was a joyous and happy Christmas in Digby.

The Digby General Hospital expresses its thanks for the following Christmas gifts: Turkey, from R. B. Lent; pair Chickens from Allen Pynes; pair Chickens from Farmers Market; Fruit, from A. R. Turnbull; G. C. Ryan; Nuts, from B. P. Milberry; Candy, from Royal Store; Chocolates, from H. M. Warne.

Second "POP" Concert, January 6th. Better than the first, if you can't come send a substitute. Tickets, 25c. and 10c.

If this spell of cold weather we have been having since Christmas continues the ice crop should be early and in good condition.

For Winter Sports The Hat Shoppe is showing Soft, Woolly Berets, 75 cents.

The annual Christmas tree for the scholars of the Grace United Church Sunday School was held in the church hall on Wednesday evening.

The Post Office Department announces the weight on parcel post has been raised from 15 to 25 pounds and that rates on parcels weighing more than the former 15-pound limit would be proportionately higher.

King Solomon Lodge, A. F. and A. M., celebrated St. John's day, on Tuesday, by holding a chicken dinner and a social party, at which the ladies were guests, in their hall in the Odd-fellows' Building. Art's Spa did the catering.

To Clear—Balance of Winter Millinery, greatly reduced in price.—Gertrude Oliver, the Hat Shoppe.

Our thanks are due K. T. Hughes, of Victoria, B. C., for a very generous gift of holly—one of the prettiest and best-berried bunches of holly we have ever seen. Mr. Hughes has been sending this gift for years and we appreciate it very much. He may be interested to learn that we distributed it among the aged and shut-ins and friends in several places where we know it brought added pleasure to the Christmas season.

NEWSPAPER ARTICLE TELLS OF RESCUE BY FORMER DIGBY BOY

A newspaper clipping shown us a few days ago tells of the rescue made by Capt. Albert C. Allen, Fall River, Mass., skipper of the oil tanker, Swiftsure, and the part he played in the luckiest marine rescue in years . . . how he looked through his binoculars to check the course of a nearby vessel, and saw in the mist, precisely in line with his casual glance, a half-sunken lifeboat riding atop a swirling acre of Hatteras sea. That chance observation saved six Greek seamen adrift from the lost freighter, Tzeny Chendris. If he had not looked in the right direction at that exact moment; if the sea had not lifted the lifeboat into his view, the six sailors would have been lost. A barrier of language prevented them telling Capt. Allen how thankful they were, but, as they filed down from the deck of the Swiftsure on their way to the Chelsea Marine Hospital, they saluted the captain with a kiss on each cheek—that was the highest tribute they knew.

The newspaper account, which also tells of another rescue supervised by Capt. Allen, that of the crew of the salt-laden Nova Scotia bound three-master, Hiram D. MacLean, back in 1920, at nearly the same spot, says that Capt. Allen is a Dorchester, Mass., boy. It, however, neglects to state he was a former Digby lad, and that his parents, the late Capt. N. B. and Ella Allen, were former residents of this town. He is a nephew of Miss Ruddock, of Digby.

Obituary

John F. Mullen

There passed away at his home in Weaver Settlement, on December 18th, John Frederic Mullen, aged 70 years. His passing was very sudden. He leaves to mourn his wife; four daughters, Eunice, (Mrs. Stephen Ford), Hasset; Katherine (Mrs. Raymond Lavensaller), Augusta, Me.; Dorothy, Augusta, Me.; and Bertha, at home; two sons, Freddie, of Weymouth Mills, and Louis, of Augusta; one sister, Mrs. R. C. Burwell, of Augusta; two brothers, Walter, of Watertown, Mass., and Judson, of Meredith, N. H.

Odbur Rice

Odbur Rice, aged 46, son of Mrs. Alice Rice and the late Omer Rice, passed away Thursday of last week, after an illness of only one day, at his home on First Avenue. He was stricken with a paralytic stroke last spring but had been going about until the day before his passing. He is survived by his mother, and sister, Mrs. Frank Barr, of Digby. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. A. G. Robertson from his late home, on Sunday afternoon. Interment was in the Baptist cemetery. Hymns sung were "The Old Rugged Cross," "Does Jesus Care" and "Nearer My God to Thee," the latter at the grave by his fellow workmen.

gramme was long and varied, consisting of about forty numbers. A good audience was present and the proceeds will be used for school purposes. At the end of the programme Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts to all the children, then oranges and bags of candy, generously donated by B. L. Thurber.

On Christmas Eve the Sunday school treat and tree were held in the vestry. Quite a number were present and after the gifts were given out bags of nuts, candy and oranges were distributed to the children.

In An Hour of Grief . .

Our duty is to lighten your burden of all extra cares and worries. You can trust us to conduct a beautiful, dignified service . . . at any price you wish to pay.

Local and General

The steamer Liverpool Rover, Capt. Ralph Williams, arrived in port at Weymouth North last week to load a cargo of pulp wood for the Mersey plant, at Liverpool. The cargo was shipped by H. E. Wagner.

Both the business and residential sections of the town have presented a very attractive appearance this season, being well decorated with electric lights, wreaths and Christmas trees, all of which have given a gay holiday appearance. G. A. Butler, proprietor of the Village Electric Shop, has had a most attractive lighted Christmas tree outside his store.

The annual Christmas tree and concert of the Sunday school of the Heartz Memorial United church, was held in the church last evening. The Sunday school of the Riverside Baptist church held their's the previous evening. The programmes consisted of solos, carols, recitations, stories and exercises. The annual Christmas party and tree for the Sunday school of St. Peter's Anglican church, which was to have been held on New Year's day, has been postponed owing to an outbreak of measles among the children.

The second of a series of card parties held by the young men of St. Peter's Anglican church, was held in the Guild hall on Tuesday evening. The prizes, which were all chickens, were won as follows: Door prize, Fred Walker; Bridge, Mrs. H. B. Grant and R. S. Hallett; Auction 45s. Miss Queenie Brooks and Andrew Elliott and "Laddie" Jones—the men's being a tie.

PLAY PRESENTED

The four-act play, "Christmas at Deep Coulee", was presented to an appreciative audience at the Community Theatre, Weymouth, last week by the pupils of the Weymouth North school. The play depicted Christmas on a home in the drought stricken area of the Canadian West. The play was both written and directed by R. Baden Powell, principal of the school, who also took one of the leading parts. Mr. Powell was well qualified to write about the Canadian West as he spent a number of years there. Mr. Powell is well known throughout the province, having taken an active part in the Boy Scout work of the province. He has also written two Boy Scout plays and a large number of short stories, many of which have appeared in the Family Herald and other Canadian publications.

SLEEP AND AWAKE REFRESHED

If you don't sleep well at night, are interrupted by restlessness, look to your kidneys. If your kidneys are out of order and failing to cleanse the blood of poisons and waste matter—your rest is likely suffering, too. At the first sign of kidney trouble turn confidently to Dodd's Kidney Pills—for over half a century the favorite kidney remedy. Easy to take.

BADLY INJURED

While passing a car bound towards Yarmouth Saturday afternoon, Casey Jones, relieving station agent of Digby, operator of a new car, had the misfortune to skid on the pavement, which was covered with snow, and strike Marvin Smith, 23, son of Osborne Smith. The victim was walking from his sister's, Mrs. John Comeau, Weymouth North, where he had spent his Christmas, to the home of his brother Kenneth, where he was to visit. The accident occurred about 5:00 o'clock. After striking the young man, Mr. Jones lost control of the car, which shot across the road to the opposite ditch, breaking a window. Mr. Smith was thrown over thirty feet, and getting up, walked about ten feet, then fell. He was immediately taken by Dr. E. A. Fergusson, to the Digby General Hospital, where x-rays were taken. Dr. Fergusson stated that Mr. Smith suffered from concussion, a broken left leg, cuts about the head and body. The extent of internal injuries was not yet determined.

AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS, THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA:

We have examined the above Statement of Liabilities and Assets as at 30th November, 1937, with the books and accounts of The Royal Bank of Canada at Head Office and with the certificates returned from the branches. We have checked the cash and the securities representing the Bank's investments held at the Head Office at the close of the fiscal year, and at various dates during the year have also checked the cash and investment securities at several of the important branches.

We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and in our opinion the transactions of the Bank, which have come under our notice, have been within the powers of the Bank. The above statement is in our opinion properly drawn up so as to disclose the true condition of the Bank as at 30th November, 1937, and it is as shown by the books of the Bank.

It must be REGAL

"SORRY, but the flour must be REGAL. It may seem fussy, when flour all look so much alike, to insist on one particular brand; but REGAL is reliable, always the same, and if you spent as much time baking bread as I do, Mr. Grocer, I think you'd insist on REGAL, too.... You'll get it for me? That will be fine."

Alfred Boden Resigns as Town Clerk

At the regular meeting of the Digby Town Council on Monday night, the resignation of Alfred Boden, Town Clerk and Treasurer of the town of Digby since February 1921, was tendered and accepted by the Mayor and Council. The text of Mr. Boden's resignation addressed to the Mayor and Councillors was as follows:

"I desire to tender my resignation as Town Clerk and Treasurer of the town of Digby, the same to take effect in the near future. I have had nearly seventeen years in the Town Office, and now feel that the work is tiring on me, and reminding me that I am getting old, and should give up, and if possible, enjoy a little relaxation.

"The next few weeks will be busy with the annual audit and returns, which I will of course, attend to, and prepare the year book for the printer. I shall be glad to render any assistance I can to my successor in matters which would be new to him.

"It is not easy to relinquish a position one has held so long, and do so with mingled feelings. I appreciate the many kindnesses that seven Mayors and many more councillors have extended to me during our mutual work, and shall have happy remembrances of hours spent in town matters. I desire to thank the present mayor and councillors for the consideration shown me, and sincerely trust that my successor will have as great success in his work as I can possibly wish. May I extend the compliments of the season to you all.

"Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) Alfred Boden

Other matters to come before this session were a request for street lights on Upper Mount St., from the corner of King street to the corner of Victoria street; (this request came from Burgess Winchester, and was left in the hands of the electric light committee; a request to the Dominion Atlantic Railway that channels be dug under each railway crossing, for the purpose of fire protection, to allow the passage of hose under the track in order that it will not have to be broken in the event of a train going over the crossing. It was also decided to purchase four lengths of hose for the department.

A resolution of thanks from the town to all who helped in the Christmas Cheer work this season, was passed, the resolution to appear in the local paper.

At this meeting the assessment roll for the year was passed, showing a total increase in assessment of $25,420 over last year. Of this amount $17,390 was on real estate and $8,730 on personal property. There was a decrease of $700 on income assessments.

Outside of the regular routine work the report of the superintendent of streets and water told of the cutting of the large community Christmas tree and erecting it on the east side of Water Street, between the Turnbull and MacPhee buildings, and of the cutting and mounting of 42 smaller trees which were placed along the business street.

Alfred Boden has been the faithful town clerk and treasurer for nearly 17 years. During the mayorship of H. T. Warne, in 1921, Mr. Boden, then residing in Kelowna, British Columbia, was invited by the newly-elected council to accept the office of town clerk and treasurer. He presented himself at the February meeting of the council, which then consisted of the following: Dr. W. R. Reid, T. E. G. Lynch, F. L. Anderson, W. S. Troop, S. A. Keen and George Keen. (Of these Mr. Anderson has held office either as mayor or councillor almost continually since then, and Mr. Lynch has served several terms as mayor.)

During the first year of office Mr. Boden called together the first meeting of the ladies who were successful in organizing the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses; he was also the first secretary-treasurer of the Digby Cottage Hospital, prior to the building of the Digby General Hospital; and was the first secretary-treasurer of the Children's Aid Society. He has been secretary of the Digby School Board since his coming to Digby.

Since Mr. Boden's appointment the town secured the electric light plant in 1922 from the late Major John Daley; in 1924 the Lily Lake property was purchased, this purchase giving the town an undisputed source of water supply. In 1926 the hydro power development took place, which enabled a much lower rate for electric current and power.

A new street lighting system, still in operation, was put into effect during the year 1927. In 1931 water front properties were purchased by the town and the south End sewer put in, under the direction of H. W. Doans, engineer, of Halifax. Other developments, including the installation of an up-to-date sewerage system for the town; hard-surfaced streets; the purchase of a modern fire pump; the addition to the school, have all taken place during his term of office.

In the year 1928, as town clerk and treasurer, Mr. Boden was successful in collecting 98 per cent of all taxes due the town, and in the following year, 1929, 97 per cent—a record difficult for any town clerk to better, either in Digby or elsewhere. It can be well said for Mr. Boden that he has dealt as kindly as possible with the ratepayers. During the time he has been in office it is his proud boast that he has not disturbed anybody's furniture for taxes—or sold anybody out.

During the years he has been here he has taken a great interest in music. At the opening of the new organ in the Baptist church he conducted a choir of 60 voices when they gave a rendition of the Hallelujah Chorus from the "Messiah", and "The Heavens are Telling" from Haydn's creation. For some months he played the organ at the United Baptist church and at a later date, for some time, was organist in Grace United church.

THE NEXT "POP" CONCERT

The second in the series of "POP" concerts by the Civic Band will be given next Thursday night at the Community Hall, which has proven to be an admirable place for such events, the acoustics being first-class and the hall attractive and comfortable. The first concert was warmly praised by all who heard it and the second promises to be even better, with some changes in the personnel. Billy Christie will return to the Euphonium. He is recognized as one of the outstanding players in eastern Canada on that great instrument. Peter Humpherson will appear for the first time with us playing that brilliant and beautiful little instrument—the piccolo. Mr. Humpherson, coming from Auburn, has taken up his residence in Digby, and you will hear more of him later. He was formerly a member of one of Britain's famous bands.

A saxophone quartette will be a novelty on the programme, and "Ross and His Gang" will be on hand with up-to-date swing-time music. Other numbers include "Selections from Tannhauser", Wagner's great opera; Brahms' Hungarian Dance No. 7; Arthur Pryor's delightful reverie, "After Sunset", "The Darkies' Jubilee" that keeps the drummers up in the air with the traps, and Carlo Mora's lovely intermezzo, "La Stells" (the Star). And, of course, there will be a "nonsense number" for variety. The entire proceeds will be applied to the Uniform fund, and the boys hope that the public will show its interest in the band by the liberal purchase of tickets. The slogan is "If YOU can't come, send a substitute."

Cities in the old world have grown big within the last century too; Duisburg-Hamborn, on the Rhine, a great German steel centre with a population of nearly half a million, was a village of only 1,000 souls less than a century ago.

The collection of Hospital Calendars will take place the first week in January.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Snow and son spent the holidays at the home of Mrs. Snow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Arnold, of Kentville. Mr. Snow returned this week.

The Annual Meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses will take place on Friday, January 14th, at 8.00 o'clock, p. m., in the Court House.

CHRISTMAS CHEER COMMITTEE'S REPORT

The Christmas Cheer Committee, sponsored by the Brotherhood of the United Church, with Rev. Dr. Hodgson as chairman, gathered the old "stand-by's" together to talk of ways and means, and get the machinery working. The ladies had districts allotted to them and made personal visits into the homes of the needy, with the object of seeing that every family was investigated. A collector was appointed to solicit funds and three days before Christmas the committee met for final arrangements. John Wallis, the collector, came in with a beaming face and a bunch of bills totalling $126.19, and a further subscription of $7.01 brought the amount at the disposal of the committee to $133.20. Who said the spirit of Christmas giving was dying?

It was found that some twenty families needed assistance, and the ladies gave individual attention to the needs of the children, and listed boots, shoes and wearing apparel, and bought and bought and bought. Sixteen families provided with dinners of beef, vegetables, etc.; 20 pairs of boots and shoes were bought as well as 50 sets of underwear, 40 pairs of hose and 24 pairs of rubbers and rainettes. These were all bought NEW, were put in namers, together with nuts, oranges, grapes, candies, given by the town tradesmen; and dozens of toys, supplied mainly by the Boy Scouts, who had evidently done more than one good deed in assembling such an array of toys; there were books, too, for both old and young, and the Scouts with friends in cars, acted the part of St. Nicholas and delivered the packages on Christmas Eve. Nobody was missed, unless accidentally; the town was combed.

Twenty homes were brightened and scores of children supplied with cheer they would have lacked, save for the thought and unselfishness of those who gladly gave money, time and careful supervision, and some of the ladies suffered keenly when they found conditions so bad that they were almost discouraged at the want and misery existing. The children in some of the so-called homes were nothing like so well cared for as the ordinary farmer's cattle, having none of the comforts of bed clothing and usual home utensils. We are sometimes inclined to boast of our town, ignorant as we are of the wretched conditions under which some of our people exist, and complacently go on doing nothing until the Christmas spirit spurs us; we do not seem to realise that about one out of fourteen of our town population is living in dire need the whole year round. This thought tinges our Christmas tide with sadness. Think it over! May 1938 be infinitely better.

(The writer ought to make it clear that John Wallis did not write this.)

Thanks to everybody who gave money or other gifts, time and loving care, and as Tiny Tim said in that incomparable story of Dickens—the Christmas Carol—"God Bless Us Every One".

(J. J. Wallis, the collector for the Christmas Cheer, would like to add his personal thanks for the generous response to his appeal, and especially to Channing Lefebvre, the organist of Trinity Church, Wat Street, New York, and a summer resident of Digby, for his very generous cheque for $15).

THE WEEK OF PRAYER

The following is the programme of services and preachers for the Week of Prayer, beginning Tuesday, January 4th:

Tuesday evening.—Holy Trinity church—Rev. A. G. Robertson.

Wednesday evening—Grace United church—Capt. Mason.

Thursday evening—Salvation Army Hall—Rev. E. M. Caldwell.

Friday evening.—United Baptist church—Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson.

Sunday evening, January 9th, the following exchange of pulpits has been arranged:

Holy Trinity—Rev. Dr. Hodgson.

Baptist—Capt. Mason and Cadet Rogers.

Salvation Army—Rev. A. G. Robertson.

Grace United—Rev. E. M. Caldwell.

The services during the Week of Prayer will commence at 8.00 o'clock and it is hoped that members and adherents of the various churches co-operate to make these services a rich source of blessing to all.

George McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Saint John, were dinner guests of Mr. McConnell's daughter, Mrs. Glen Conrad, on Christmas day. Mr. and Mrs. Brown returned to Saint John in the afternoon.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

which took place at the last meeting of the council. Mr. Boden has served the town as clerk since 1921, and to him goes most of the credit for the efficient way in which the affairs of the town have been managed in those years. Efficiency has been the key note of Mr. Boden's clerkship. It is very doubtful, if, in the history of the Digby schools, there has ever been one who has taken such a keen interest in school affairs and in the pupils and teachers, as has our good friend, Mr. Boden. His weekly talks at the school have always been an inspiration to the scholars. His travels, his knowledge of current affairs, of literature and music, passed on to them by his addresses, have formed lasting places in their memories. We feel that, although resigned from office, Mr. Boden will still maintain his interest in town and school affairs. We extend to him our best wishes and the sincere hope that many happy years are in store for him. In expressing this wish we believe we are expressing the wish of all who have come to know him.

While Digby has much to boast of as it considers past achievements, it would be sheer folly at this stage of its community development to rest content with past laurels and cease striving for further advancement.

Digby's present high standing among centres of equal population has been won by foresight and progressive policies in the past. This generation should be just as eager to assure an enviable future for the community as were those men of former generations who often fought a stiff-up-hill fight to gain those things upon which the town's present prestige rests.

Never before in its history has Digby been in such a good position to go forward in rapid and substantial development as right now. It has all its pristine attractions plus many of relatively recent acquisition.

But to do the things that must be done if the community is to progress along desirable lines of commercial, industrial and residential expansion and betterment there must be no diminution of that spirit of co-operation and willing effort on the part of a considerable number of citizens which has been manifested in all its past accomplishments.

And just as men and women of vision and civic consciousness have always been available in the past, so will they come to the service of the community in future hours of need.

Perhaps, at this time, a good word for the boys of Digby would not be out of place. What I want to say has nothing to do with the season, but, off and on, throughout the year. Many of us have heard of what a "bad bunch they are" with the added assurance of where they are bound if they don't mend their ways.

However, a little trip to a neighborly town, considerably larger than Digby, but not one hundred miles away, convinced me that perhaps our boys have been misjudged.

Walking along one of the streets of that town I saw a large hotel, one that a few years ago was a busy and prosperous looking place. Notices on the building informed me the owner had moved to other quarters.

Practically every window — facing the street — of this building had been broken out (and probably most of the windows that were not in sight). I asked how it happened that so much glass had been broken; the answer was, "Just the boys."

I thought of Digby, and of our summer hotels, the most of them closed eight months of the year — (one has been closed over a year, and another for many years). It is seldom that windows are boarded up during the closed season, and yet, none of the windows are ever deliberately broken, and closed property is usually as safe from vandalism as though watchmen were permanently in charge. Digby boys have a respect for the property of other people.

It would be possible to cite many other instances of the good behaviour of the boys of our town, and when we take into consideration conditions in other places, not only in the town I have referred to, but in towns and villages even nearer, far more praise than condemnation is due our boys. See that they get it!

anything less than six or seven hours sleep cannot be said to be adequate and eight hours is a reasonable period for the average grown-up.

To really enjoy sleep and get the most benefit from it certain essentials are necessary.

The bed, whether soft or hard, should be to one's liking; sufficient covering to be warm but not too warm; fresh air, not necessarily cold air, but air which is renewed during the night through an open window; and above all if possible, a mental attitude which lets go of the day's problems and perplexities and approaches sleep with an easy mind.

A good book, an hour of music, a pleasant walk, these and many other diversions provide splendid preludes to restful sleeping.

The art of sound, undisturbed sleeping may be cultivated and it is an asset beyond price for human happiness.

"TEA TIPS"

A most interesting booklet on the subject of tea has just been published by the well-known tea firm of J. E. Morse & Company, Halifax, N. S. It is called "Tea Tips", is a very fine piece of work typographically and contains many interesting illustrations.

Here one may find in small compass an interesting account of the history of tea, the processes of production and marketing, and at the end a chapter of special interest to people who like to "read the grounds of fate in the grounds of tea". As the booklet has educational value it will doubt be of interest to many school teachers. In fact, in time past the firm of J. E. Morse & Company have had many enquiries from school teachers for literature on tea for use in connection with their work. These enquiries in part suggested the idea of producing the booklet. Copies are being put in the hands of storekeepers, but the firm have a reserve supply and will be glad to mail a copy to anyone who may ask for it. The booklet was written, the artwork done, plates made and production carried out in Halifax, and well demonstrates that one does not need to go out of our own province to obtain fine production in the way of printed matter.

THE ANCIENT EGYPTIANS AND CELERY, TOO

We are not likely to associate celery, that white and crisp vegetable so often on our dinner tables, with the ancient Egyptians. But it had a place in the affairs of man in that dim, buried time as well as today, according to the Ferry-Morse Seed Breeding Institute. Egyptologists found a garland of it on the breast of a mummy of the Twentieth Dynasty discovered at Sheikh-Abd-el Kurneh, near Thebes. Leaves of the garland were positively identified with those of Apium Graveolens — celery to us.

The Twentieth Dynasty came to a close about 1100 B. C., so that it is established that this vegetable which we eat so often in the year 1937 A. D., was known and used by Egyptian rulers more than 30 centuries ago.

TWENTY YEARS' PEACE IN ENGLAND AGAIN

The past December 25 will be the twentieth Christmas Day in succession England has celebrated without being at war.

Not a very long period — but E. D. Burke states in the London Universe that only once before has there been a similar period of peace in that country since the Norman Conquest 871 years ago.

The previous twenty-year span without war occurred in 1720-40.

Happy NEW YEAR

Three Hundred and Sixty-five Days of Happiness, Peace and Prosperity to All of Our Customers in 1938

CONNELL'S

SKATERS AND SKATES

The young people have been doing some skating during the past few weeks. Some of the ponds are a bit rough on account of the frozen snow, but this gives little worry to the skaters who find plenty of fun playing hockey and enjoying other ice frolics.

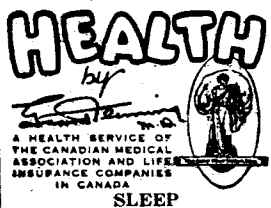

Speaking of skating, it is to be noticed that most of the girl skaters of today wear regular skating costumes, consisting of colorful ski suits with pants, and in some cases, worsted caps.

Others wear the skating costume, but prefer to leave the head bare. They wear mittens of wonderful colors, making in all, a snappy outfit. The boys, as a rule, have no worries about what to wear when they go skating. All they need to make their sport complete is a hockey stick and plenty of pep. Many of the skaters of both sexes wear shoe skates so that upon arrival at the pond, they have only to change their shoes and they are "all set" for skating. While this is convenient in a way, it has a disadvantage. Cases have been known where the shoes left on shore are carried off by thieves, leaving the victims to walk home in their stocking feet.

Older people will recall the days when they used to go skating with no thought of a costume other than their usual winter clothing and warm mittens — and perhaps "wristers". Most of the skates were fastened to the feet with straps that frequently caused no little bother to adjust, and had the irritating habit of working loose at unexpected moments. Later there came the various types of "clamp-on" skates, like the "long reach" "Acme" and a few others, including the key skate. These latter were clamped to the sole and heel of the shoe by the turn of a key. If you lost the key before or after skating you were out of luck, unless some friend had another to fit. Since bare hands were required for adjusting most skates, the operation usually resulted in numbed fingers.

We almost forgot to mention the skate that was fastened to the shoe with a strap while the heel was held in place by a little metal peg that entered a hole in the heel of the shoe. For this type of skate it was necessary to bore a hole in the heel of the shoe and attach a metal plate with a hole to take the peg. Then there was another skate with an inverted screw protruding from the heel. This also required a hole in the shoe heel. To put this skate on you had to sit on a rock, take your foot in your lap, insert the screw in the hole and wind the skate on tight. Fellows who used these hole-in-the-heel skates were obliged to carry a gimlet or other small tool to re-bore the hole in the leather whenever it became plugged.

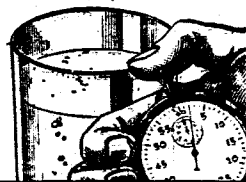

In taking stock of personal assets and liabilities it is unusual to find sleep mentioned in the list. Yet sleep normally represents a quarter to a third of one's life and is very definitely an asset or at least it should be. How long should one sleep? An infant sleeps anything up to eighteen hours out of twenty-four, this amount gradually tapering off until school age is reached. From five to twelve years of age the child should have eleven or twelve hours sleep and between the ages of twelve and twenty never less than nine hours and preferably ten.

Sleep is one of nature's strongest allies in producing and maintaining normal health. Sleep should be regarded and guarded as one of nature's beneficent gifts to mankind. It is doubtful, however, if there is any asset which man treats more casually and sometimes more contemptuously than sleep.

The growing child fights against it. Many an adult boasts that he can get by with very little sleep. But the fact remains that we are all intended to enjoy a reasonable amount of sleep. Just what that amount is varies in adults but certainly

THE REASON "ASPIRIN" WORKS SO FAST
Drop an "Aspirin" tablet into a tumbler of water.
By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is dissolving.
This speed of disintegration enables "Aspirin" tablets to start "taking hold" of headaches and similar pains a few minutes after taking.

All people who suffer occasionally from headaches ought to know this way to quick relief.

At the first sign of such pain, take two "Aspirin" tablets with a half glass of water. Sometimes if the pain is more severe, another dose is necessary later, according to directions.

If headaches keep coming back we advise you to see your own physician. He will look for the cause in order to correct it.
