About This and That

At Monday night's meeting of the town council there was considerable discussion over the dumping of rubbish at the Racquette — and considerable well-founded criticism over the matter. There is not the least doubt about it that the Racquette at this time of the year is certainly a "mess" — and a frightful one at that. And in the summer time, in spite of the best efforts of the street department to clean things up in that vicinity, the appearance from the road may not be too bad, but the "view" of the bank from the other side of the Racquette, is certainly a disgrace.

But we cannot blame the street department for this condition, for we realize it would be almost an impossibility to hide all the rubbish that goes over this bank without involving a heavy expense. A suggestion was made by Mr. G. W. Connell that might prove a solution to the problem in the future. Admitting that dumping over the bank has its good points (as material is needed for filling), Mr. Connell suggested that in the future a certain area be marked off for dumping, and that this area be moved from year to year, thus simplifying the cleaning-up by the street department when the Racquette is closed for dumping in the spring of the year.

As it is now, rubbish is thrown over the bank from the fish wharves to the head of the tide, much to the discomfort of the residents of that district and of the citizens in general. It is to be hoped that the council will act on the suggestion made by Mr. Connell.

The Racquette, however, is not the only place where rubbish is dumped in an exceedingly careless manner. Other

It's Spring!

(By D. W. Hill, Morris, Conn.)

When pa came in the other day, all loaded down with wood, He smiled his shy and sudden smile, and kissed me where I stood;

I wondered at his doing such an unexpected thing. And, as he went out of the door, he said to me, "It's spring!"

I looked across the frozen fields and at the dry, brown grass. I heard the windows rattle from the March winds as they pass.

I saw the bare trees 'gainst the sky, and thought, 'tis no such thing. "There isn't any sense to it, or any sign of spring."

But as I looked the lilac bush tapped at the window pane, And there I saw a swelling bud pause, and then tap again;

And through the orchard went a patch of living blue on wings. I wondered, "Can it really be, that, may be it is spring."

A calf out in the old barn yard, kicked up, and chased her tail, And I stopped at the hen roost, as I went to get the milk softly started in to sing.

There is no finer place on earth, than our farm in the spring.

Well, I don't live on a farm but it's spring at our house, too. If you don't believe it, ask our old tom cat, "Spinner." He has spring fever so bad, he is now staying in all night, instead of out, and is an awful sight, with his ears all chewed, one eye almost closed, and a scratch across his cunning white nose. I think the old saying, "a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love", must go for tom cats in the spring, as well as men. It's so warm its out of all rhyme or reason. Yesterday, (the 22nd), the thermometer registered 78 degrees and today is just as warm. All sorts of birds are here, including the swamp black birds, with their flashing red and yellow striped wings. The juncos are building their nests as usual, under our big porch roof. And it does make Harry so cross. We have been raking up the yard and white-washing the stones which outline the driveway. Saturday morning the men folks put up a big flag pole which makes me happy. I don't think there is a prettier sight anywhere than our flag blowing in the breeze, against the green trees and blue sky. We have no calf to kick up its heels, but the hens are laying and the old house cleaning blood is stirring so hard in my system that I'm sure it's Spring.

The grocery man brought apples this morning — fifty cents for one peck — and as I looked them over I got to thinking of the kind of apples we used to have years ago, at home, and I wondered if they still have them. Take a Bellevue for instance. I have never heard of them anywhere else, and they were the finest ever, with a flavor like no other apple ever had. A big tree of them grew in our neighbor's field, with branches hanging over our side and I used to feast on them every fall. There were Bishop Pippins, or orange apples, finer to eat than any orange. Do they still exist or are they just a memory. Down in Aunt Ann's orchard grew sweet and sour bough apples; Boston Red Streaks — not much good for eating but they couldn't be beat for pies and sauce. And Gravensteins! who hasn't bitten into a big, juicy Gravenstein apple, that made a crunching noise while you chewed it, and the juice just dripping off your chin, and thought you could never get enough! I had a birthday party years ago and a friend, who came from Nova Scotia, brought me a bag full of them, just to remind me of home. I often think of the Russet apples that grew on the Mildon farm, and of all the boys and girls who visited that place about February or March to get some. We would be coasting or skating and someone would propose a visit to Mr. Mildon's. Off we would all start and what a grand welcome we always got. Everybody loved "the Mildon's", and such big brown doughnuts were offered, along with Russet apples. Probably we were a nuisance lots of times, but we were never made to feel that way, and I just bet that every old Weymouth boy or girl, out in the world today, never saw a set apple without thinking of those grand and wonderful people, "the Mildon family". I wonder how much the Oakes boys and girls would give for a "Penniman" apple. I never knew them to grow in any other place but the field back of the old Oakes' home. That house stood in back of the home that was destroyed many years ago by fire, at the time the Burrell store burned. Those apples were different than any other I have ever known in shape and taste. The girls would bring them to school to eat at recess. They might have another name, but we always called them "Jenniman's". By the way, in front of the Oakes house was a mulberry tree that would be loaded every summer with enormous black berries much like a blackberry, only much sweeter. We never thought of eating them — they were not considered edible. But when I lived in Illinois any one that had a mulberry tree was lucky, and many a dish of them I have eaten there, with cream on, like any fruit. So if you have a mulberry tree don't let the birds have all the fruit; try some yourself and see how good they really are. I seem to have wandered from apples to berries, so I might as well go further and tell about a small garden that we had at my old home. We always called it "the little garden". It had no planted flower beds, but in the spring the perfume from the pear and cherry trees would just fill the air. There were two big pear trees, just loaded with fruit, which all the neighbors shared in the fall. There were rows and rows of old fashioned black currants, a few red currants, and some raspberry bushes. We had a peach tree which always had a few lovely pink blossoms but the peaches never amounted to anything. In one corner of the garden was a bed of sage and "summer savory" for our sausage meat in the fall. And there was one small Red Astrakhan apple tree. It just breaks my heart when I go down home to see that little piece of ground. Now, there are no pear and cherry trees; no currant bushes and no herb bed. There just isn't any garden there at all. Up in our field dad had a grape vine that grew over a small trellis. It was never known to have fruit — just made a lovely place to sit under. Once a travelling nursery man came to our house, and dad showed him the vine and asked why it never had any fruit, when it looked so healthy, and the man said, "because it was a male plant", which was a surprise to every one. The only one that I remember as raising grapes when I was a little girl, was down to my uncle, John Hood's. He had a vine that grew over the back porch and every fall I would go down with a basket, and Aunt Jennifer would give us grapes for winter preserves. I would

WILL ERECT NEW STATION IN MARITIMES

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation proposes to build high-power stations in the Maritime Provinces and Western Canada this year, the House Committee on radio was told recently, by L. W. Brockington, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the CBC, Ottawa.

The corporation also proposed to correct the lack of CBC listening at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Yarmouth, N. S., and Northern British Columbia. Sault Ste. Marie would be made a basis station in the corporation network, and the same would be done at Yarmouth. The high power stations in the Maritimes and Ontario would also help, providing the steps being taken to remove Mexican interference proved successful.

SUPPORT T. B. TEST

Support for the creation of a T. B. free area in Nova Scotia was given at the recent meeting of the Nova Scotia Holstein Breeders' Club, held in Truro.

Budgeting for the year included assistance to R. O. P. Testers and a $10 prize for the best R. O. P. record made by a two or three year old Holstein in Nova Scotia and for four field days. The meeting was unanimously in favor of more action on the T. B. Test and a committee composed of Wm. Murray, Arthur Dickie and E. G. Campbell was appointed to work for the T. B. Area Test in conjunction with the other breed associations.

Film Depicting Porpoise Hunt on Prize List

Dramatizing a form of livelihood that was once general in the regions about Digby, "Porpoise Oil", filmed by Dr. Alexander Leighton, has won honorable mention in the annual selection of the Amateur Cinema League in New York city.

This film, in beautiful natural color, was made in the summer of 1936 by Dr. Leighton. He chose for the location of the picture the country and seaside around Digby, overlooking the Bay of Fundy, and the spearing of the porpoise took place in the Digby Gut.

The story of an industry which once loomed large in the lives of Digby fishermen, but now generally obsolete, was well acted by Indians from Bear River and Lequille. Dr. Leighton, a resident of Philadelphia and now at John Hopkins', Baltimore, Maryland, has spent a number of summers near Digby, where his family have their summer home.

Another successful entry is of interest to Nova Scotians, having been filmed by one of its summer residents. "Voyageur's Trail", depicting the fourth annual canoe race, on the St. Maurice River, from LaTuque, 125 miles to Trois Rivières, is the work of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Little, Eber and Watson Peck, of Bear River, finished fifth in this race.

Mr. and Mrs. Little have spent many summers in the province, first at Deep Brook and later at Smith's Cove, where they have for many years owned a cabin.

Mr. Little's Movie Shows are looked forward to each year in Smith's Cove, not only for their own sakes, but also because the entire proceeds have been given annually to the local Public Library, in which Mr. and Mrs. Little take a great interest.

JUNIOR BOARD'S SUGGESTION

A brief urging unification of the three Prairie Provinces under one Government will be presented to the Rowell Royal Commission by the Young Men's Section, Calgary Board of Trade. Members of the section approved the proposed brief, submitted to them at Calgary.

DOMINION REMAINS ALOOF

The Dominion Government is not being "consulted" by the Government of Great Britain in regard to its foreign policy for the reason that it does not want to be consulted. Consultation implies advice and advice involves, or implies, responsibility. It is not desired to give one or take the other. This summarizes the attitude towards the present situation as broadly outlined in informed quarters.

ANTI-SPY TRAP

A spy-purge has been started in Great Britain's service aircraft industry, the Daily Herald said.

An anti-espionage "net" has been placed around each factory and no one is allowed to visit any of the works without undergoing strict scrutiny by special details watching all doors, it was said. The factory staffs are being investigated and trucks which bring materials to the factories must unload outside the walls.

WHEN YOU RECEIVE A BILL

To receive a bill is an honor. Instead of getting all riled up when the mail brings you a statement of account, you should be genuinely pleased. For the bill is an indication that someone has faith in your honesty.

If you never received a bill (unless you always pay cash) it might indicate that no one is willing to grant you credit.

Credit is one of the most valuable things a person can have. Money may be had by various means, but credit comes only from years of honesty and prompt meeting of bills when due. When you pay a bill, you are merely being honest.

When you receive a bill, then, meet it if you possibly can. If you cannot, frankly tell your creditor the reason immediately. You will find him more ready to meet you half way.

Cherish your credit as you do your health, happiness and other priceless boons rare and elusive.

Wants Street Lighted

To the Editor of the Courier.

Sir:—A short while ago the Town Council decided to discontinue the use of the street light on the corner of Prince William and Victoria Streets. Do they realize, I wonder, that this leaves the entire length of Prince William St., from King to Victoria without any light at all? This is a long, dark, lonely stretch of road, flanked as it is on one side by heavy woods. It is true that there are few families who have to use this road, but those who do sometimes find it necessary to go down town at night as those who live on Queen Street. To go down town now at night from "the Neck Road" is an inconvenient and hazardous undertaking; the road is filled with ruts and puddles and, unless the moon is shining very brightly, it is impossible to see where you are treading. I am sure that if the members of the Council had to use this road they would replace not only the light on the corner of Victoria St., but also place several lights between King Street and the town line.

The people who live on this street pay light bills and taxes the same as other residents of the town. Surely they are entitled to the same service. Today Prince William Street is one of the darkest and loneliest streets in town.

This should not be so. All the streets of our town should be adequately lighted at night, especially those upon which there are few houses. Our police protection does not extend far from Water Street, those living in the extreme parts of the town must depend on the lights at night not only to guard them from the dangers of the rutty roads but also from those who dare not molest where they may be seen and known. So, I say that, if the Council are broadminded enough not to put economy before everything else, even before the comfort and

Tax Rate Raised to 4.60

Tax payers of the Town of Digby will face a .40 cent increase in their rate for this year as the result of the action of the Digby Town Council, who voted Monday night to raise the rate from 4.20 to 4.60, after the estimates for the year were adopted. The outside school rate was raised from 1.25 to 1.50.

The increase is due largely to causes beyond the control of the Council; the increase in the school population and the necessity of hiring extra teachers, and poor expenditures are important factors.

Estimated expenditures for the year were set at $43,558.60, against which there is an estimated income of $7,725.00, leaving a sum of $35,833.60 to be raised by taxation, from the town's assessment of $801,856, from which there are exemptions to the amount of $24,075. Included in the estimated expenditures for the year are $11,650 for schools, and $4,200 for municipal joint expenditure. Grants were made as follows: Children's Aid Society, $250; Victorian Order of Nurses, $300; Digby General Hospital, $650.

H. Gordon, treasurer of the Digby Children's Aid Society, appeared, making a request that the usual grant be made to that body, also making the suggestion that the council pass a resolution (to be passed on to other municipal and town councils, and presented to the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Union of Municipalities), requesting that the provincial government bear the cost of Children's Aid work, Mr. Gordon pointing out that the work of the Children's Aid Societies was purely a government welfare work, and it was unfair that the expenses, such as agent's salary and other incidentals, should be guaranteed by a body of citizens who give freely of their time and effort.

In the case of the Digby Society grants are received from the Municipalities of Digby and Clare and the town of Digby, nevertheless, with these grants, the society has to raise an additional $700 to meet expenses. The council will draft a resolution to be passed at the next session, and also submit the same to the municipal councils at the May sessions, for approval. The council also passed a resolution presented by the municipal council of the Municipality of Halifax in which the government of this province is requested to pay the fees of the registrars of Vital Statistics. The resolution pointed out that as these officials were appointed by the government, and their work is for the government, they should be paid by the government.

Permission was granted to Fred May to erect a two-story business block adjoining his store on Water Street. The assessment roll as revised by the appeal board, was also passed. Personal Property assessment amounted to $192,169.35; real property, $609,086.66; income, $600, making a total of $801,856.00.

While this is a very friendly gesture you are overlooking the possibilities right at your own door, that is, the paving of the Digby Neck and Islands roads, also the ferry system between the passages. HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND ASSOCIATED INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

CHRONIC IRRITATION AND CANCER

The specific cause of cancer is not known. Chronic irritation of all kinds acts as an exciting or predisposing factor in cancer. The detection and elimination of chronic irritation prevent the cancers to which the chronic irritation might give rise.

Certain diseases are peculiar to humans; others are practically limited to animals, seldom, if ever, attacking man. It appears that all human beings are susceptible to cancer, a disease that is also found in birds, animals and fishes.

Cancer on the surface or in the accessible parts of the body should be the easiest to prevent. Cancer of the lip, tongue, or other parts of the mouth is nearly always preceded by some chronic irritation of the part, due to broken teeth, ill-fitting dentures, infected gums, or the germ of syphilis.

Cancer seldom, if ever, develops in a clean healthy mouth. Every year in Canada several hundreds of individuals, mostly men, die from cancer of the mouth and throat. Many of these deaths would have been prevented by the proper treatment of syphilis, and by adequate dental care to keep the teeth and gums healthy. The prompt treatment of any kind of sore which does not heal and stay healed, either on the lip or in the mouth, is essentially a preventive measure because it removes what may be a pre-cancerous condition.

Carelessness and ignorance are responsible for most deaths from cancer of the skin. This form of cancer ordinarily occurs in older persons, but it may be found at an earlier age. Warts which slowly increase in size, sometimes with pigmentation tend to become cancerous. Pigmented moles should be regarded with suspicion. Any skin defect which may have existed for weeks or months and which begins to change its character, should be investigated as it may be changing into a cancerous condition.

The boys were invited to remain and after the regular business meeting a luncheon was served. Later the boys retired and the girls proceeded with their sewing.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ruggles have returned from their visit to North Head. Grand Manan.

Miss Reba Robbins was a passenger to Saint John Monday.

THE ART OF GIVING UP

Every man and every woman, in their self-training and self-culture, should study the art of giving up with a good grace. The charm of polite society is formed by that sort of freedom and facility in all the members of a circle which makes each amenable to the influences of the others, and sympathetic to slide into the moods and tastes of others without a jar into delaying to secure treatment.

Much can be done to prevent and to cure cancer of the mouth and skin. Most of this must be done by the patient himself through keeping his skin and mouth clean and healthy, and by securing medical care without any delay when there is any indication that such care may be needed.

Questions concerning Health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

"SORRY, but the flour must be REGAL. It may seem fussy, when flours all look so much alike, to insist on one particular brand; but REGAL is reliable, always the same, and if you spent as much time baking bread as I do, Mr. Grocer, I think you'd insist on REGAL, too. You'll get it for me? That will be fine."

2. RELIEVES THROAT PAIN RAUWNESS

No family need neglect even minor colds.

Here is what to do: Take two "Aspirin" tablets when you feel a cold coming on—with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The "Aspirin" method of relief is the way many doctors now approve. You take "Aspirin" for relief—then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor.

"Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

51st Anniversary of Corps at Digby

Special services over the week end at the local Salvation Army Citadel marked an important milestone in the history of the corps when the 51st anniversary was observed. Large numbers attended all special services.

Captain Leonard Knight, of Stellarton, N. S., was the special speaker at these services. On Sunday afternoon a service was held at the jail.

On Monday night a musical night and birthday party was held in the Grace United Church hall, when Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson presided, and members of the Baptist Church choir took a very prominent part, and the solos, trombone, vocal, and concertina was one of the outstanding features.

A large cake with fifty-one candles lighted, was cut by the oldest soldier, Envy Bowles.

The motor boat Winnie Flo. John Smith, arrived from Tiverton this week with two new boats, products of J. B. Outhouse's boat shop. The new craft, which were built for lumber operators in Quebec province, were loaded on flat cars here.

William Vidito, treasurer of the famous 110th Cavalry Band, of Boston, whose concerts in Digby two years ago created such a musical sensation, is visiting his parents in Bear River. He tells us that the boys enjoyed their previous visit so much that they would be glad to consider another trip to Digby this summer, if sponsored by the Civic Band as before, and the greater part of their actual expenses assured.

There was a very interesting Masonic gathering at Annapolis Royal Tuesday evening at which Masons from Middleton to Digby were present, to hear addresses from the Grand Master, and other prominent officials. The Grand Historian, R. V. Harris, of Halifax, who is in charge of the arrangements for the big celebration in Annapolis and Digby, this summer, gave an outline of the work done.

The Danish steamer Emilie Amersk, 1326 tone net, R. Lober, master, arrived in port from Liverpool, England, this week to load pulpwood for Belgium. The vessel was to take on 1800 cords, but due to the condition of the roads there has been considerable difficulty in getting the cargo to the ship's side, and it is doubtful if she will clear with a full cargo. Three hundred cords will be taken on at Port Wade. The motor vessel Kafe Maris, C. Melanson, of Gilbert's Cove, has brought four loads of 70 cords each, from Plympton; and the Josephine K., Nelson Melanson, one load. The latter has since cleared to Clark's Harbor to take a cargo of baled kelp to Boston.

Obituary

Mrs. John W. Sproule

The death of Mrs. John W. Sproule occurred at Paradise, N. S., suddenly, on Sunday, at the age of 76 years. Deceased was well known in Digby, where she at one time resided, and was an active worker in the Baptist Church during her residence here, and at Paradise. She is survived by seven children: Arthur, in the West, who visited her last fall; Emdon, of Montreal; Mrs. Dykeman, of Saskatchewan; Mrs. Biglow, of Canso, N. S.; Mrs. Aubrey Sproule, of Paradise and Minnie, at home. Funeral services were held on Tuesday.

At Meteghan, on Friday of last week, Lucius Robichaud died after a lingering illness, aged 71 years, leaving to mourn four sons, John, Saul, nierville, and Alphonse, Louis and Andrew, at home; and three daughters, Estella, (Mrs. Alphonse Maillet), Nellie and Angèle; also six brothers, Armand, Joseph, Jules, Isidore, Hilarion and Paul, and one sister, Mary Elizabeth. Rev. J. D. Robichaud, of Quonam, is a nephew, and Rev. Sisters Noella and Agnes Denis are nieces. The funeral took place Monday morning from Stella Maris church, Rev. Father Bourneuf officiating.

Bertha G., wife of Owen D. Donnelly, died at her home, St. Mary's Street, March 22, after an illness of several weeks. She was formerly Miss Bertha German, and was born in Tiverton 72 years ago, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John German. She leaves her husband, and one son, Bernard; and an adopted son and daughter, George Donnelly, Digby, and Mrs. Harry Dennison, in Boston. The funeral took place on Thursday last and was conducted by Rev. A. G. Robinson, pastor of the Baptist church. Interment was in the Baptist cemetery.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Donnelly, will sympathize with them in the death of their second son, Willard, which took place last Thursday afternoon, after a very brief illness. He was but 19 years of age, a bright boy with many friends. He leaves to mourn, his parents; two brothers, Kenneth and Geo., jr.; and one sister, Marguerite. The funeral took place from the Baptist church on Sunday afternoon, Rev. A. G. Robertson, officiating. Interment was in the Baptist cemetery.

On Friday night, of last week, the death of Mrs. Ida Wright, wife of Wallace Wright, took place at her home in Barton, Mrs. Wright, who was 52 years of age, had not been well for some time, and when she was taken ill with pneumonia the end soon came. The funeral took place from the Baptist church Sunday afternoon, Rev. M. C. Higgins officiating. Interment was in the North Range cemetery.

The death of Norman Warren, aged resident of Acacia-ville, occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Nichols, of that village, with whom he has made his home for several years, on Friday of last week. Funeral services took place Sunday afternoon from Keen's Funeral church, Digby, to the Hillgrove Baptist church, Rev. A. G. Robertson, officiating. Interment was in the Hill Grove cemetery.

Word was received here on Monday of the death of a prominent churchman, in the person of Bishop Philip Cook, fourth bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Delaware, who passed away in the John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., on Friday, at the age of 62 years. He and his family are well known in Digby where he maintained a summer home on the Shore Road, a short distance below the Pines Hotel. He was born in Kansas City, the son of John D. S. and Rosalie (Barlow) Cook, and in 1898 graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., with the degree of B.A. He was elected to succeed Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman, who resigned on his conversion to Catholicism. He was consecrated with full ecclesiastic honors at St. Mark's and All the Angels, Baltimore, on October 14, '20.

Bishop Cook underwent an operation for a brain tumor on January 26th, at the hospital in which he died last Friday. Previously he had been confined in the Church Home and Infirmary at Baltimore, for observation. On two occasions previously he narrowly escaped death. As a Y. M. C. A. secretary he was plunged into the ocean when the transport Orinosa was torpedoed in 1914; and on August 2, 1934, was gravely injured in an automobile accident in which one of his daughters was killed and another seriously injured. The bishop never fully recovered from this accident. In 1902 he graduated from the General Theological Seminary, New York, with a degree of Dr. of Sacred Theology, and was accorded a D. D. in 1922 by St. John's College, Md., in 1922; his alma mater also conferred a D. D., in 1921. Ordained as a deacon and priest in 1902, he spent two years as a missionary in North Dakota returning to New York in 1904 to become first assistant minister and later vicar of the Church of the Incarnation. In June of that year he married Anita Levin, of New York, who died in 1906. In 1911 he became rector of St. Mark's, at San Antonio, Texas, and married for the second time, his bride being Adeline Bassett, of New York. To them seven children were born: Harriet, who was killed in an automobile accident in which the bishop and his daughter.

Josephine, were seriously injured; Phyllis, Adeline, Geo. T., Phillip, jr., and John S. He became rector of St. Marks and All the Angels, in Baltimore, in 1916. He was also a thirty-third degree Mason and chaplain-general of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Miss Marilyn W. Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson M. Spencer, of Malden, Mass., passed away a few days ago, during an operation at the Children's Hospital, in Boston, aged 11. She was born in Cambridge but had lived in Malden for eight years. She attended Maplewood school and was a pupil in the fourth grade. She is survived by her parents, a sister, Janet, and two brothers, Richard and Donald. (Mrs. Spencer, the girl's mother, is a native of Tiverton).

Sheep killing dogs wrought havoc among the flocks of K. P. Denkin and Tuttle Graham, at Centerville, last week. Six of Mr. Denkin's ewes were found torn and bleeding, while Mr. Graham lost two of his best sheep.

The fire department was called out about 3.15 Tuesday morning for a blaze between the ceiling and floor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baxter. The fire was discovered by the family who were awakened by the smoke, and was extinguished before any serious damage was done.

Stanley Magee, of Saint John, spent Sunday in Digby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Wilson, Shore Road.

1938 PLYMOUTH PRAISED BY OWNER

"...I have a 1938 Plymouth and it is greatly improved. I do about 25,000 to 30,000 miles of travelling through the Ottawa and Gatineau river valleys. Some times in the year the roads are very bad—but Plymouth has never let me down. The 1938 Plymouth I'm driving is big and roomy, has lots of comfort, is easy to drive and keeps my mileage costs down."

A WEAVER OF DREAMS

She sits all day in the window: A little old lady, her hair, snow-white. And if you should pass in the morn or noon Her gallant smile will dispel your gloom.

"What does she do?" said a passer-by. As he noticed the lady heave a sigh. "Does she sit all day and work or mend, She must be lonely without a friend?"

But the lady smiled when this she heard, Though she uttered not a single word. How could they know, that she did not need The pity or love of a world of greed.

For into her loom, instead of seams, She gathered together her lovely dreams. It was a pattern rare to see. Traced in and out with memory. On the farther side is a dream, that's old. But in her heart it has ne'er grown cold. It is love's first dream on a summer night. A man and a maid in the pale moonlight.

The pattern was rare but 'twas also sweet. With its tiny shoes for baby's feet. And little toys all laid away. To hide the pain of an empty day.

Yet, still she smiles and pauses there. At the patterned dream of faces fair. Of happy voices, long since stilled In a little mound on the churchyard hill.

So they pity the lady by the win-spots in the town have been—and are—marred by this practice. However, we must admit that with many the disposal of garbage is a real problem. The town only boasts of one official dump, located at the south end and not easily accessible to the majority of the population—and garbage accumulates in every home. *****

Especially during the summer months housewives wish to dispose of this accumulation before enough gathers to attract flies. There does not seem to be enough to hire a truckman to carry it off to the south end, and usually one of the youngsters is delegated to dispose of it—and the disposition is usually over some convenient bank on to the beach. We can see the possibility of some energetic young man making a few dollars during the summer months by contracting with householders to collect their garbage and trucking it to the south end dump at stated periods, for a nominal sum. *****

It almost looked as though we boasted of our spring weather a little too soon. Sunday was everything but a spring day, with the ground covered with snow, but this with the little snow that fell on Tuesday morning, soon disappeared, and we understand, has done much to help draw the frost out of the ground. The roads in the country districts, they tell us, are in pretty bad shape just now.

also have to borrow a contraption, the sight of which would confound a modern housewife. It was made of iron, probably at the blacksmith shop, and was a ring with a long handle. What do you think it was for? Well, to heat red hot, then put down over the neck of a bottle, then tap the bottle and the neck would come off, leaving the only jars we had at that time to put the preserves in. My mother would dull the edges of the glass, fill the jars, then seal them with paper which had been smeared with white of eggs. Very crude, it seems now, but I never remember any spoiled preserves. She would always put up lots of fruit, pears done with ginger and lemon, plums, which were so rich that only a small amount could be eaten; jelly, red as wine and always put up in a big yellow bowl instead of small glasses, like I do now; and blueberry pickles—I wish I knew how to make them. I'm sure no one but a "down-Easter" knows about them! Good old days, gone with our youth! *****

My last piece to the Courier brought me some letters, for which I thank heartily the ones who wrote them. Two of them renewed friendships of childhood. Two of them mentioned having a school picture like the one I spoke of, and one mentioned having known "Rachel" years ago. Speaking of her, reminds me that I forgot to tell you how she would sing for us when she kept house. She had one of those high, thin, sweet voices like so many colored people and we loved to hear her sing. We had two favorite hymns or "Spirituals". I suppose they'd be called now. One was, "Roll, Jordan, Roll" and the other was "I Have a Father In the Promised Land". Poor Rachel must have hated to sing that one, because we would never let her stop until all our relatives—uncles, aunts and cousins—were in the Promised Land, too. My sister tells me that Phebe Falls was not the wife of Thomas Falls, and my brother says "Sarah Joe" was named "Chute", and not "Robert". They both love to trip me up, and correct me, and they both boss me like "nobody's business". Phoo!

The house is scented with corned beef and cabbage, cooking for dinner; "Patch" is having a nap in my rocking chair, and "Spinner" has recovered enough to be up and watching the birds. The men folks are making hot beds in the garden, and my mind is running to apple sauce—I shall have some for supper, and fix it like Phyllis does, with a dash of nutmeg for flavor and a gob of cream for decoration. Just a big busy family, because "It's Spring" M. G. T.

About This and That

So far this season I have done very little driving, but last Saturday afternoon I had occasion to make a trip to Weymouth, and, considering the time of the year, feel I must express my appreciation of the condition of the main highway.

Not more than a year ago, at this season, a motorist felt extremely fortunate if he could get as far as the alms house in Marshall's Town without getting thoroughly stuck in the mud, and it was only the most daring ones, or those who had to go for some emergency who would undertake the twenty-mile trip from Digby to Weymouth during the period when the frost was coming out of the ground.

Now, with a paved highway, the trip can be made in even better time than under the best of conditions during the days of the gravel road.

Nevertheless, people have short memories. Complaints on the condition of the pavements are not unheard of. There are those who curse the occasional bumps where the pavement has been slightly heaved by the frost, almost as much as they cursed the juicy muck holes of a year or two ago.

There are also those who are wailing because the use of heavy vehicles on the highways is forbidden during this critical period.

I do not pretend to be anything of a highway engineer, and perhaps, due to the fact that I am not a truck driver makes it easy for me to say, "the engineers probably know what is best." But, apart from that, it is quite evident that in the case of the gravel roads, the precaution has proved its worth. In almost every district, despite the fact that there was a great depth of frost in the roads this almost snowless winter, they are reported in a better condition than they have ever been before at this season. And it is quite likely they will be good for all traffic in a shorter time than usual on account of the earlier closing of the roads to heavy vehicles.

Don't think for a minute we have become politically minded. The Courier has always endeavored to take an independent stand on all matters that may have a political interpretation—and roads are one of those matters. In our opinion the paved roads are a decided asset to this province, and we don't mind praising them in the least.

Invents Silencer for Planes

A new silencer for airplane motors was pronounced practically perfect, after exhaustive tests under actual flying conditions at St. Hubert Airport, Montreal.

The silencer, a torpedo-shaped metal shell, fits over the exhaust outlet from the motor. Officials at the tests said the instrument eliminated 90 per cent of the motor noise.

It has been tested by the National Council of Defence at Ottawa, and the Canadian Wright Aircraft plant at Montreal.

Alberta's "Social Credit"

"A fantastic jumble of bitter conflicts, fanatic credu-lity, wild unreason, passionate hope and hysterical hatred."

Such is the description applied to Social Credit, Alberta, by W. A. Irwin, Associate Editor of Maclean's, in the December 15 issue of that magazine.

Writing under the title:
"Crisis in Alberta," Mr. Irwin says in part:

Behind a facade of "business as usual," is an emotional tension so foreign to the normal Canadian scene as to be scarcely credible to anyone who has not lived in the midst of it. At one extreme, a fanatic following of a prophetic political economist fumes at each obstacle placed in the way of Pilgrim's Progress; chortles with glee at each discomfiture of "the enemy." It's the kind of following that of psychological necessity must have a personal devil; there's many a back-country Social Crediter to whom the banker or "the big shot" occupies that role.
Theirs is "The Christian Premier" wrestling with the forces of Satan.

Sunday after Sunday the Prophet-Premier, Wm. Aberhart, exhorts, chastises, ca-joles his flock by radio. If it's not the Premier, it's his man Friday, Hon. E. C. Manning, who stepped from the post of secretary of his leader's Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute to that of Provincial Secretary. When one broadcasts from Calgary, the other ditto from Edmonton, and vice versa.

And when his opponents protest the broadcasting of politics on Sunday, the Premier retorts that they can turn off their radios if they don't like it; and adds, "Wouldn't we all be better off if we had more religion in our politics?"

Hysteria and Hatred

Over against this, are fear, hysteria and positive hatred.
Move through the business and professional communities of Calgary and Edmonton, which are almost solidly against the Government, and reaction. The more objectively you will find two types of individual takes things coolly enough, says that too many business men are paying too much attention to Social Credit and not enough to their businesses.

The less objective type of individual, on the other hand, lives in the shadow of a menace. He feels that the very foundations of his economic well-being are threatened.
The Aberhartian appeals to sanctions other than those of the reason drive him frantic, for he is unable to reply in kind. The very incoherence, the fantastic contradictions of Government policy, add fuel to his fury. He's like a man living on the slopes of a volcano which threatens constantly to blow up but never actually erupts. And the strain is beginning to tell.

Doctors in Edmonton have a name for the resulting nervous condition. They call it "social credititis." "There's no doubt," said one, "that the strain has materially shortened the lives of considerable numbers; it's a definite neurosis."

I myself met individuals with obvious symptoms.
"You have no idea what it is like," exclaimed one lawyer.
"For two years we've been living in hell. And I can't stand it any longer. I've got to get out. The voice cracked. "That man is..." The rest is not quotable. One group of wives in Calgary told me that they did their best to keep the morning paper from their husbands, because the reports of what "that man" was doing or saying would send them to the office so wrought up they wouldn't do any work before lunch.

The language used on both sides privately, and in many cases openly, is widely inter-temperate. Threats of physical violence are not uncommon.

Intermittently there appears for open sale on the streets of Calgary and Edmonton an anti-Government paper which for sheer violence of political invective belongs in the class of the near-incredible. Why it hasn't been sued for libel and worse, is a puzzle. A recent issue called on "good citizens" to resist the Government by force. And it is openly supported by the contributors who are men of standing in the province, some of them national figures.

In the Legislature men speak deliberately, bitterly, of "sedition," "treason,"
"cowardice," "dictatorship," fascism and the destruction of democracy," of legalized robbery." "That's untrue," shouts a Minister of the Crown. "You are lying," retorts an Opposition Member, and stands unrebuked by the speaker. "There is only one means of defense for the people who are subjected to such legislation as this and that is to refuse to abide by it." Thus another Opposition member.

Beneath all this runs an undercurrent of fear, fear whose manifestations would suggest melodrama were they not so tragically real. Members of the Government caucus have signed a pledge of secrecy which declares:

"I also realize that the Government of which I am a member is virtually at war, and that in war information which may appear unimportant is often vital. So I promise that I will not reveal to any unauthorized person any information whatever which is imparted to me concerning legislation until it is discussed in the Assembly."

Some members of the House are afraid to be seen talking to a stranger. Even the Premier scarcely knows whom to trust, and with reason, for he has more than a few enemies within his own ranks. His, too, the distrust of the stranger.

"No, I haven't time; and anyway, I've had such terrible treatment from journalists that I don't know whether I ever want to see another one," he said when, on a chance encounter in a hotel cafeteria, I suggested an interview. Later, when formally approached, he pleaded pressure of sessional business; but there was no mistaking his feeling about journalists.

There's also fear of the in-former. An ex-Minister of the Crown is being interviewed. He is seated in a hotel room, near an open window.
Suddenly he bounces to his feet, steps across the room and closes the transom over the door. Afraid of the draught? No. "You'll have to excuse me," he explains,
"but this place is a hotbed of spies."

At lunch in an Edmonton downtown restaurant: "See that woman over there? She's been sitting there every day for six weeks. She's one of Abie's spies."

A friend had occasion to interview one of the highest educational dignitaries in the province. Business concluded, the talk turned to politics. "Yes," said the educationist. "It's silly; excuse me"
—and he, too, got up and closed his door.

The causes of such fear
may be real or imaginary;
but the tragic fact is that the fear exists. And therein lies what is perhaps the most disquieting element in the whole picture. Men driven by fear are not easily swayed by reason, and it will take more than a little reasonableness on both sides of the conflict to solve the fantastic dilemma in which Alberta's democracy now finds itself.

How An "Iron Lung" Breathes

Newspapermen picked an appropriate name when they dubbed the Drinker respirator the "iron lung," for it has proved to be just that. In cases where infantile paralysis has attacked the muscles of the lungs, the respirator has turned out to be a boon in fighting the disease by substituting for the human lungs in such a way as to keep the patient alive.

When our lungs expand, a very slight suction is created in them and fresh air is thereby drawn in from the atmosphere. When the lungs contract again, the pressure inside them returns to normal and the air that was inhaled—now partially changed to carbon dioxide—is returned to the atmosphere.
The "iron lung"—a large steel shell enclosing all but the head of the patient—imitates this process by creating and releasing a slight vacuum, in the same rhythmic timing as the human lung, so that the lung is made to rise and fall without the use of muscles.

Obituary

Irving Doucett

Many friends will regret to hear of the sudden passing of Irving (Erue) Doucett, of New Edinburgh. The late Mr. Doucett was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emeline Doucett, and was 50 years of age. For many years he was a successful farmer. His death was due to a sudden attack of pneumonia. Besides his widow, he is survived by one son, Octave; two sisters, Grace, of Halifax; Hattie, of Boston; and one brother, Gesse, of Bellevue's Cove. The funeral service was held at St. Bernard.

Miss Aimee Comeau

Miss Aimee Comeau passed away on Thursday evening, March 31, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Valary Theriault, Bellevue's Cove. Miss Comeau was ill for a few days only, and was 81 years of age. She is survived by two brothers, Louis and Sifroi; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Theriault, with whom she resided; and Mrs. Marie Theriault, of Hartford, Conn. Funeral took place at St. Bernard.

At the last regular meeting of the Digby town council the matter of the disposal of refuse in the town came up for considerable discussion, with the suggestion that the "dump" at the Racquette be closed earlier than usual this year. W. W. Hayden, superintendent of streets and water, reminded the council that there was only one dump in the town, namely, that at the South End, and that during the winter and spring many people had used the embankment at the Racquette for dumping purposes; and that in other years citizens were forbidden, late in the spring, to dispose of rubbish there, and the place was cleaned and levelled off by the town employees. He also pointed out that due to present conditions of the road it would be impossible to haul to the south end dump at the present time. This matter was disposed of by instructing the clerk to insert an advertisement forbidding dumping at the Racquette as soon as the frost was out of the ground sufficient to permit of dumping at the town's dump in the south end, and the suggestion was made that persons caught disposing of rubbish at the Racquette after the publication of the notice, should be fined for the offence.

Nova Scotians can take particular interest in the gold mining developments on the West Coast of Canada, which have brought about the "founding" of the town of Zeballos, British Columbia, known as the "town that is built on mud". Situated on the west side of Vancouver Island it is at the mouth of the Zeballos River, from which the community has taken its name. One of the four prospectors to discover gold in the timber-clad hills around Zeballos, which started the rush which has developed into a movement reminiscent of the colorful days in the Caribb and Klondike, was Charles Wynne Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith, of Barton.

Wynne Smith, as he is known in this county, has been living in that part of British Columbia for about ten years, and for a number of these years there were only himself and a partner, Alfred Bird, carrying out prospecting in the section, finding both copper and gold. Trapping and fishing also engaged their attentions.

Last summer they were successful in selling a mine they had developed and in the Fall he visited his parents in Barton, his return being his first visit home in fifteen years. His stay was of twelve days duration, being called back to Vancouver in connection with the sale of the mine. In December he sent for his brother, Barry, to join him and together they are carrying out further prospecting operations in the hills.

Zeballos, one population of which is expanding by leaps and bounds, is situated on mud flats in a district which has 200 inches

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and sweat. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and disquiet the head, ache the back, and make the feet swell. Try Dodd's Kidney Pills—few do as well. A century's favorite remedy. 103

CRIPPLED BY PAINS IN THE LEGS

Physical Instructor Loses Use Of Limbs

If rheumatism is crippling your limbs, and making life miserable for you, read how this man obtained relief from the same trouble:—

"I am a swimming and physical instructor. Early this year I had violent, stabbing pains in my legs from the hips to the big toe. In the mornings, I could not walk for three or four hours. Massage oil, pills, etc., did me no good. Someone begged me to take Kruschen Salts. In despair I got a bottle. After I had taken three parts of the contents, I was as fit as ever, except for a little stiffness of the joints, while in general health I was far better. Kruschen has put me on my feet again."—H. L. S.

Rheumatic aches and pains are often caused by the accumulation of too much uric acid in the system. Keep down the excess of uric acid, and it stands to reason you'll get glorious relief. That is just what Kruschen Salts does—brings quick relief from the cutting, stabbing pains of rheumatism, because it actually rids your blood of excess uric acid.

To the Editor of the Courier:

Sir—While I was glad to see that my letter on the Tourist trade was sufficiently interesting to raise a reply, I deeply regret that your correspondent should so far forget himself as to indulge in personalities, and deliberately to mis-quote from my letter. Such action detracts largely from his work in the eyes of the reading public.

He states: "The idea of an industrialized Digby is a canker that must be rooted out." Such a phrase does not appear anywhere in my letter. What I did say was: "While no person in their right mind would deny the benefits which would accrue from year-round employment in local industry, the time and money entailed in the development of such industry, and the uncertainty of its outcome, puts that beyond the realm of practical politics." The canker to which I referred was, clearly, the destructive criticism of a valuable asset, simply on the grounds of a nebulous possibility.

Again, he says, "Digby's only hope for the future lies in the tourist business." No one but a congenial idiot, in which class I trust neither he nor I belong, would put such words in writing, because it is clear to the merest tyro that conditions at present unknown, might, in a very short time, alter the whole problem. Those words did NOT appear in my letter. What did appear was this "... and the real hope of a prosperous future for Digby and district lies in the keen support of a constructive tourist policy." That statement does not close the door to industry, but it does stress upon a point which is of vital importance to most of us in this area.

Your correspondent does this community a serious disservice when he introduces a strong element of "class feeling" into his letter; and his reference to inherited incomes, stocks and bonds, can not fail to offend many of our most valued and worthy citizens.

One wonders what would happen if all those whose incomes, stocks and bonds, can come in part or in full from investments, were to get up and walk out of the town in a body?

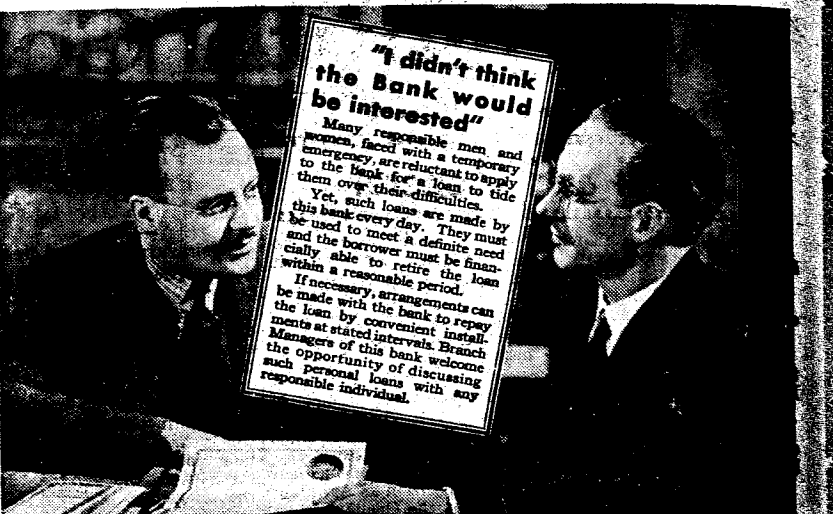

Obviously it is grossly unfair to suggest that such people don't care whether Tom, Dick and Harry get work or starve, and, one might add, the poorhouse population would be greatly increased if we did not have these "battered capitalists" (not quoted from V.C.G.) to help us bear the burden of taxation.

All this tripe about inherited incomes, and poorhouses, and "iron heel" of capitalists grinding the faces of the poor, and so on, is good old stump orator style, and is to be taken at its face value, but his assumption of utter selfishness in others is a very clear indication of the degree of sympathy and understanding one might expect to find in the heart of your correspondent. But to return to our subject.

Our friend makes several sweeping claims for these unknown industries to which he adheres with such violence: it would have been more helpful and constructive had he given us some actual facts and figures to support his claims. The mere statement that "forest, sea and land could produce material useable in many industries," is elementary, but too vague. We want FACTS.

Speaking of labor, he says, "True, it is not skilled, but it is skillful, and can be trained." Elementary again, but he does not tell us how, or by whom they will be trained, or at whose expense, and one is left in doubt as to whether he knows enough about the present state of the skilled labour market, or industrial activities, to make his opinion worthy of consideration.

In support of this contention, I take another example from his letter. He says, "If we were to ask the shonkeep, Digby's future lies in the tourist business I know we would get a negative answer." Taking him at his word, I placed

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

BEAR RIVER BRANCH - R. B. MURRAY, Manager
WEYMOUTH BRANCH - J. W. CONNELL, Manager

that exact question before eleven representative firms in Digby, and received a unanimous verdict against V. G. C.

The tourist trade, with all its disadvantages, is our only large scale established industry. If the C. P. R. have sufficient faith in it as to invest millions in this industry, if the ratepayers of this town have sufficient faith in it to vote thousands for paved roads, surely it is only a short step to an organized enthusiastic Digby, whose people will make a hearty and united effort to win their fair share of that $295,000,000 purse.

"V.G.C." refers to "V. G. C." hoping that things will pick up in the United States. That country is so vast, and its activities so varied, that there will always be enough of its hundred million population with sufficient money to make Digby prosperous once we can attract them here. But apart from the States, what about the ten and a half million Canadians outside the province? What about the people right in the province who vacation each year out of their home towns?

In the opinion of people who have covered the ground, there is not another place on the Maritimes or New England coast to compare with Digby for beauty or location, for tourist possibilities, and it rests with the people of this town to decide whether they will throw themselves with enthusiasm into a constructive money-making tourist campaign, or whether they will continue to dream of unknown industries until poverty chases them from the scene.

There is an old fable, concerning a dog, who, while carrying a large bone in his mouth, chanced to look into a pool of water. Seeing there another dog, with a larger, better bone, he made a vicious snap to seize it, and ended—with an empty mouth!

May I suggest that "V. G. C." has missed entirely the spirit of my previous letter. Far from wanting to discourage industry I am keen to foster it, but that does not blind me to the difficulties confronting us along that path, and, lacking in foresight, narrow-minded though I probably am, I have the welfare of this town and district seriously at heart when I repeat that under existing conditions the real hope of a prosperous future lies in a keen support of a constructive tourist policy.

DEEP BROOK

Mrs. Wallace Beals, Lawrencetown, visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. Myrtle Jackson, several days at the week end. A. N. T. Butler, of the C. S. G. A., Ottawa, was in the village last week in the interest of Dittmars' Swede Seed. He was a guest at the Sea Breeze Hotel while here.

Lower Granville

Mrs. Stanley Farnsworth returned home Saturday, after spending the winter with her children, in Lynn, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Clarke, of Annapolis Royal, are spending a few days at the home of Mr. Clarke's niece, Mrs. Geo. Parker and Mr. Parker.

Despite war and rumors of war Canada will this year clip $1,000,000 from its defense estimates, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, the Minister of National Defense, has announced in the House of Commons. The estimates total just under $35,000,000 which is a drop in the bucket compared with the expenditures of other countries, but, nevertheless, a heavy load for Dominion taxpayers to bear.

BUILDING OPERATIONS
Indications are that Digby is going to have another busy year in the building industry. It is understood that a number of prospective buildings are negotiating for the purchase of lots for new dwellings, and rumor has it that a few lots have already been bought, and building operations will commence shortly.

At the quarterly meeting of the Official Board of Grace United Church, held in the church hall, Monday night, it was definitely decided to go ahead with the proposed addition to the hall, and to make certain repairs to the church and parsonage. The building committee was instructed to make arrangements to have the work begun as early as possible.

About This and That

We commend the idea of continuing the campaign to improve the attractiveness of this Province. Nature has contributed her full share to the beauties of Nova Scotia. But man has, all too often, fallen short of Nature's standard. In connection with the campaign, the Nova Scotia Improvement Committee has, we are advised, issued a booklet replete with suggestions concerning the improvement of private and public premises. In it are to be found recommendations as to the most suitable shrubs, trees, and flowers that may be grown, and the proper methods of planting and growing these, as well as other matters relating to the subject. A letter to the Chairman, Nova Scotia Improvement Committee, Administration Building, Halifax, will bring to anyone a copy of the booklet. A clean-up is a good way to begin. Some towns have already announced a clean-up day or days. But, this should be only a beginning. Plants of all kinds, the improvement of lawns, the straightening of fences, paint and whitewash, all have their places in any improvement scheme. Citizens can do much in a private way on their own properties but organization is necessary for the improvement of streets and roadsides, parks, cemeteries, school grounds and other public properties. All of this is of intrinsic value to ourselves and possesses an additional value at the present time when the tourist industry is assuming so much importance.

Time was when debt was akin to disgrace—it was regarded as abridging one's independence. Later, when individual enterprises gave place to combined effort requiring more capital, debt was classified as a liability. Still later, when great corporations began to do business on other people's money, liabilities became a necessary and more or less boasted consequence. Today debt has lost all connotations—as an old lady said: "What do you care for debts, we've got plenty of them." Or as a popular comedian said: "You're not in fashion if you're not in debt." Still, from a moral viewpoint, is not such attitude toward debt a reflection on our civilization rather than a tribute to it?

Changes Proposed in Electoral Law

Aims to Provide Public Record of Political Contributions and Limit Expenditures.

Sweeping changes in the Canadian electoral laws, possibly the most far-reaching revisions since women were given the vote, were proposed in the House of Commons last week by Health Minister Power.

Designed to provide public record of political contributions, limit electoral expenditures by candidates and generally overhaul the law dealing with the franchise, two government bills were proposed with the immediate blessing of all parties in the House.

Here are some of the features of the bills:

1.—Political expenditures in future will be made only by special corporate bodies, constituted by a mere request and without cost.

2.—Political contributions will be confined to these corporations and must be deposited in a bank with duplicate deposit slips. All payments must be by cheque.

3.—The duplicate slips and cheques must be sent to a new federal officer, the inspector-general of elections.

4.—A limit will be set on the money any candidate may spend in an election, based on the number of voters in his riding. This figure was left blank in the bill, to be inserted later by a special committee. The comparable figure in Great Britain is 10 cents a voter with variations for rural areas.

5.—Money from a central or national campaign fund must be distributed equally among all constituencies.

6.—The system of permanent election lists will be abandoned and new lists prepared for each election after its announcement by the government.

7.—Closed election lists will be retained in urban polling divisions and open lists in rural parts.

8.—The system of absentee voting will be abandoned as costly and ineffective.

9.—A printed copy of the preliminary list of electors for urban polling divisions will be mailed to each household. He may see then if his name is on the list.

In addition to these electoral law changes forecast in the two bills, the government gave notice it intended to add others when the bills are in committee stage. One of them would restore the ballot to Doukhobors, who were disfranchised in 1934.

The more important of these suggested changes would make it illegal for a candidate to promise expenditure of money by a government in his constituency or promise to advocate spending money by the government on particular projects.

Through accident, a road which resounded under the martial tread of Roman legions, has been unearthed near Chissey-les-Macon, France. It is in perfect condition, the 10 by 12 stone blocks being as well preserved as 16 centuries ago. For nearly a mile this highway, a valuable discovery for France, runs between two pavements.

"SLEEPING BEAUTY" A GREAT SUCCESS

On Friday evening last a capacity house witnessed the beautiful fairy tale play, "Sleeping Beauty" as presented in Trinity Parish hall by a group of little Digby girls, arrayed in beautiful and original costumes, and each whom proved to be a regular little troupier.

The presentation was one of the most pleasing and delightful ever witnessed by a Digby audience, and for the untiring work and patience much praise is due Mrs. J. W. Merkel and Miss Lillian MacRae, who so successfully directed the little actresses.

Outstanding in this presentation were the costumes—exquisitely dainty creations a fairy would be expected to wear. Between the acts special numbers in which singing and dancing were prominent, were presented. Of the specialties the reading of "Christopher Robin Says His Prayers" was outstanding. The reading in this number was done by Miss June Campbell, while Roland Theriault took the part of Christopher Robin. Those taking part in the programme were:

King	Dorothy Cook
Queen	Olive Munro
Prince	Shirley Snow
Princess, (Sleeping Beauty)	Lillian Theriault
King's Attendant	Ruby Donnelly
Queen's Attendant	Rose Wade
Jester	Esther Rosenthal
Old Witch	Florence Thibault
Spindle Woman	Beth Harvey
Love Fairy	Ruth Lent
Music Fairy	Vivian Melanson
Beauty Fairy	Eleanor Hanson
Wealth Fairy	Olo Winchester
Herald	Helen May
Spirits—Marilyn Campbell, Elizabeth Turnbull, Betty Turnbull, Dolores Turnbull, Patsy Cowan, Annette Mulse, Donna Harvey, Alice Surette, Yvonne Theriault, Frances Halliday, Betty Webber, Doris Webber, Dickie Winfield, Frances Winchester, Mrs. Arnold Turnbull was pianist.

It is understood the play will be repeated on Tuesday evening next to give those who were unable to witness the first presentation an opportunity of seeing it. Admission prices on that date will be 25 cents and 15 cents.

The executive of the Children's Aid Society wish to take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to Mrs. Merkel, Miss MacRae, the members of the cast, and all who, in any way, contributed to the success of the play.

NO BASEBALL FAN

Nothing perhaps has engaged less of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett's attention and interest during his lifetime than athletics. It is one of the few subjects on which he does not speak with authority, and it is seldom that he ventures a comment on any branch of sports. He tried it recently, however, with rather disastrous results.

A flurry of interruptions during his speech on the want of confidence motion had died down, and Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance, remarked that it was now Mr. Bennett's time to come to bat. The Conservative leader attempted to carry the metaphor further.

"Yes!" he remarked, "and I think I shall take a base on a strike."
"A base on balls," smilingly corrected Mr. Dunning, and Mr. Bennett, in some confusion, accepted the amendment.

NEW CHEMICAL PRODUCTION MAY PROLONG SPAN OF HUMAN LIFE

British scientists are experimenting with the world's most expensive, and as yet, most mysterious liquid, heavy water.

As yet only a curiosity, but believed to have countless uses in industry, agriculture and medicine, about six thimblefuls are being manufactured daily, at the Billingham-on-Tees (England) factories of the Imperial chemical industries.

Scientists who are at present experimenting with the liquid are Professor James Kendall, of Edinburgh University; and Professor G. R. Clemon, of Newcastle.

Also the Imperial College of Science and Technology, Kensington, are making research into the heavy water. One theory is, that it's an "elixir of youth," capable of prolonging the span of human life.

Believing that an excess or deficiency of heavy water on the blood-stream may be responsible for certain diseases, research is being made to ascertain the proportion of heavy water in human blood, it being known that the blood of aged people contains a high proportion of it.

Slaps Face

Emmanuel Shinwell, Laborite member of the British House of Commons, made history recently when he rushed across the floor of the House and struck Commander Robert Tatton Bower across the face. It was the first time in living memory that one member struck another. The blow, followed by taunting remarks by Bower, who is quoted as having shouted across the floor of the House, at Shinwell, "Go back to Poland."

Gives Grape Twigs for World Amity

(By Bernard Peterson)

Fifty wild grape twigs just cut from some vine at Stage Harbor, near Chatham, on Cape Cod, will figure in an exchange of international amity between the United States, France and Canada, and at the same time complete a horticultural experiment that was started by Samuel de Champlain in 1606.

Some of these scions of pre-Colonial vineyards in Massachusetts will be sent shortly by the Associates of Port Royal, headquartered in Boston, to the Port Royal gardens at Lower Granville, Annapolis County, N. S.

There the Massachusetts gifts, and seeds out of a garden in France, and also seeds from Virginia, will be received by Colonel E. K. Eaton, superintendent of Port Ann, and president of the Historical Association of Annapolis Royal, who will plant them on the recently discovered site of the gardens worked by Champlain and Lescarbot in 1606.

Nearly 330 years ago Captain Champlain took an expedition from Port Royal in Nova Scotia, for exploration of the New England coast, and was so impressed by the wild grapes he found growing at Stage Harbor, that he gathered cuttings to be transplanted at the Nova Scotia fort. But history written by Lescarbot at that time reveals that the bundle containing Champlain's cuttings was left behind at Stage Harbor.

To complete the Champlain experiment the Associates of Port Royal are now sending the twigs from the same spot where Champlain cut the first, thus tying the life of Cape Cod into the history of Nova Scotia's earliest colony.

Equally historical will be the seeds coming from France, through Mrs. Frederick A. Richardson of Boston, and the wife of Professor Pierre Noailles, curator of the museum at Vervins, France. Mme. Noailles informs Mrs. Richardson that she has collected seeds from the birthplace of Lescarbot, who was Champlain's associate and historian on the 1606 expedition, and is forwarding them for the Port Royal gardens.

Virginia has much to atone for, and is accepting the opportunity to participate in his goodwill gesture, because it was Captain Argall of Jamestown, Va., who sailed up to Nova Scotia in 1613 and burned the habitation built by Champlain and Lescarbot. Virginians have become associates with Massachusetts people in the formation of the Associates of Port Royal and will contribute seeds or plants for the great international garden celebration now being planned for Lower Granville, Nova Scotia, this spring.

Good habits of thinking demand early development. Dr. Henry C. McComas, instructor at John Hopkins and Princeton Universities, at Montreal, told the Montreal Women's Club recently. Strength or weakness of character, the speaker said in striking his main theme, depends upon thought habits.

Most of us know that cats are extremely fond of the common weed known as catnip. Scientists have now discovered that tigers, lynxes, panthers and many other wild animals also like catnip and that they can be lured into traps by the use of catnip oil.

SUCCESS IS IN REACH

I believe success in life is within the reach of all who set before them an aim, and an ambition that is not beyond the talents and ability which God has bestowed upon them. We should all begin life with a determination to do well whatever we take in hand, and if that determination is adhered to with the pluck for which Englishmen are renowned, success, according to the nature and quality of our brain power, is, I think, a certainty. The first step on the ladder that leads to success is the firm determination to succeed; the next is the possession of that moral and physical courage which will enable one to mount up, rung after rung, until the top is reached.—Cardinal Wolsey

Theman, who died a few minutes later, was identified as Bernard H. Hirshkowitz, interpreter on the C. P. S. Montrose. Mrs. Louise Keans

The community of Port Wade was saddened Thursday morning of last week to learn of the death of Mrs. Louise Keans, a highly respected and beloved resident of that village. The deceased, who had been in failing health for some time, passed away at the home of her son, Captain Edward Keans. Left to mourn are the son referred to, and two daughters, Mrs. Ella Spencer and Mrs. O. T. Haynes, both of Everett, Mass.; five grandchildren, among whom is Miss Lena Keans, of Narravapet, India, serving as a missionary under the American Baptist Missionary Union, and seven great grandchildren. Her husband predeceased her four years. The funeral was conducted on Friday by Rev. N. Cole, assisted by Rev. W. B. Crowell, with interment in the United church cemetery.

Travel Made Him Constipated

Salesman Says Kruschen Keeps Him "On His Toes"

"I am a commercial traveler," writes a correspondent, "and due to endless travelling by train and automobile I find that I become constipated if I do not keep myself internally clean. Kruschen Salts is the only thing that will do this effectively and not interfere with my work. I take a large dose of Kruschen every Saturday night and on Sunday, when I have no work to do, the Salts act on me. On week-riding. It is necessary that I take a small dose on the 'on my toes' all through the day, and this is the only way that it possibly can be done."—V.L.

Kruschen Salts is an excellent recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your inside is thus kept clear of those impurities which, when allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system.

COLLECT FOR FIRE PURPOSES

Collections for the month of March for the Fire Department equipment fund were completed last week by the Boy Scouts, the total amount collected and passed into the treasurer—Dr. Lovet—being $36.05. These collections will be made each month by the older Boy Scouts and the community is much indebted to them for undertaking this important work. It is essential that the fire equipment be kept in good condition and repair. The value and importance of this equipment to our community has been demonstrated on a great many occasions, having been the means whereby much property has been saved from destruction.

At a recent meeting of the fire squad and trustees it was decided that when the fire truck is called outside the district where the collections are being made each month, that a charge of not less than $3 will be made to the party owning the property serviced by the equipment. Inside the district no charge will be made.

Mrs. (Dr.) Kendall. Windsor; Mrs. Jack Waterbury, Wolfville, and the Misses Jean Spidelle and Winnifred Scott, of the teaching staff of "Edgehill," were in Bear River on Monday, calling on friends. They were guests of Rev. T. W. and Mrs. Howard at the tea hour, and remained to attend a meeting there during the evening, leaving later for Clarence.

HONORED FOR SERVICE IN SCOUTING

Scoutmaster J. H. Cunningham, of Bear River, was honored by the presentation of a medal of merit of the Boy Scouts' Association, at Bear River, on Thursday of last week. The presentation took place in the afternoon at his residence and was made by George E. Graham, of Kentville, member of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association, in the presence of Scoutmaster Edward McDormand, Scoutmaster L. V. Harris, president of the local Scouts' Council, Dr. L. J. Lovett, and other members of the local council.

In presenting the medal Mr. Graham cited the following as the basis of the award:

"Scoutmaster J. H. Cunningham became interested in Scout work in the year 1923 at Bear River, and has been an active scoutmaster up until the time he was taken ill. In 1926 he was directly instrumental in securing a scout reservation from the Provincial Lands and Forest Department, for the Scouts of Annapolis and Digby Counties—a site of 500 acres about fifteen miles from Bear River. Through the efforts of Mr. Cunningham a large log cabin was erected in 1927 as a second camp and a large dining room have been assembled. Each year the Scoutmaster has personally conducted the camping party to their annual summer camp on this reservation.

"Through Mr. Cunningham's efforts the following 'firsts' are credited to the Bear River scout troop:

"1—One of the first gilt crosses awarded for life-saving to Scout Clayton Robbins.
"2—The first seven proficiency badges granted in forestry;
"3—The first troop in Nova Scotia to have a full group of Wolf Cubs, Scouts and Rovers, all functioning at the same time.

"It is because of the unselfish service and splendid record of work in scouting that the Provincial Medal Board have recommended to the Dominion Medal Board that you, Mr. Cunningham, be awarded the Boy Scout Medal of Merit and His Excellency, Lord Tweedmuir, Chief Scout for Canada, has given his approval of this award."

Mr. Graham also read the following personal letter from Sir Edward W. Beatty, President of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts' Association:

"Dear Mr. Cunningham:
"I should like to offer you my warm congratulations upon having been awarded the Medal of Merit of the Boy Scouts Association. Your splendid record shows a very fine, unselfish service on behalf of the Boy Scout movement for many years. It is due to your efforts that scouting has made great progress in your district.

"May I take this opportunity of thanking you and offering you my best wishes for the future.

"Yours sincerely,
(Signed) "E. W. BEATTY"

After being decorated with the medal Mr. Cunningham expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred on him, and asked Mr. Graham to convey to the Headquarters of the Provincial Scout Council his thanks for their kindly representations made to the Chief Scout for Canada, and, concluded by saying: "My greatest wish for scouting is that 1938 may be a banner year for the movement in Canada and that the 100,000 objective may be brought this year appreciably nearer."

Miss Anne Harrow, R.N., who has been spending a few weeks at her home here, will leave on Monday for Saint John. Miss Harrow came here from Halifax where she had been for many weeks on a case.

MET WITH SERIOUS ACCIDENT

C. S. Clarke, Morganville, met with a serious accident on Thursday of last week, when in some way he lost his balance and, putting out his right hand to save himself from falling, came in contact with a wood saw he was operating. The hand was badly injured and Mr. Clarke had to walk half a mile to the nearest home for help. Surgical aid was arranged for with a Bear River doctor and a car brought the injured man to the village, where he was joined by his son, who had been in the village on business at the time of the accident. Mr. Clarke was taken to the Hospital and the hand attended to. He suffered the loss of three fingers and the partial loss of the other. In spite of the shock and the fact that Mr. Clarke is getting well on in years, he is recovering rapidly, and on Tuesday returned to his home, where he resides with his unmarried son, Charles. Great credit should be given Mr. Rafuse, who, with Murray Smith, rendered first aid and accompanied Mr. Clarke to the village and to the hospital, and whose help no doubt, has been a large factor in the patient's present satisfactory condition.

MEASURING PARTY

Through the courtesy of Rev. and Mrs. G. D. Brydon a "Measuring Party", under the auspices of the Ladies' Circle, was held in the Baptist parsonage, on Tuesday evening of last week. Nearly sixty guests were present and the following musical and literary programme was rendered, with Mrs. Fred Rice as

"THE BEAUTIFUL CITY"
A cantata, "The Beautiful City," was presented to a capacity congregation in the Baptist church, on Sunday evening last.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN MINK COVE ASSAULT CASE

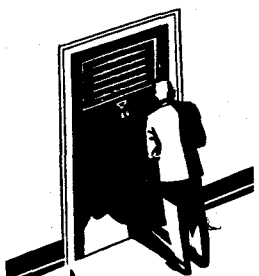

Decision was reserved Saturday for one week by Stipendiary Magistrate G. H. Peters, in the case of the King vs. Conrad Gidney, of Mink Cove, charged with assault, information being laid by Philip Romain, school teacher in that village. The hearing was held in the Court House.

It is alleged that Romain administered corporal punishment to Gidney's son by strapping him 42 strokes on each hand. On being informed of the incident Gidney sent word for the teacher to call on him.

At this meeting it is alleged there were words between the teacher and parent, and during the argument Gidney states that Romain "made a pass at him". He struck Romain in self defence, he says, and contends he repelled force with force.

The prosecution was conducted by the R. C. M. P. and M. S. Leonard, of Digby, as counsel for the defence.

It is understood that Romain has been re-engaged for another year by the school trustees of the village, and at the present time a petition is being circulated in Mink Cove requesting his re-appointment be reconsidered.

Blanc Digby County loses one of its most worthy citizens, and the Acadians of Western Nova Scotia one of their most zealous advocates in all that pertained to their advancement. A descendant of the pioneer settlers of the county, he, as a youth, attended the public school of his native village, then with one year at the Normal College at Truro and two years at St. Joseph's College, in New Brunswick, he graduated with honors. He taught school for ten years and after that he devoted his time in improving his large property, on which he had a large acreage of fine timber land. He took a lively interest in the problems of everyday life, and was an active member of the Clare Co-Operative Association. As a magistrate there are many young men today who are thankful to him for the indomitable temper.

IN THE MATTER OF THE EXPROPRIATION ACT

IN THE MATTER OF THE EXPROPRIATION OF THE LAND HEREIN DESCRIBED AND SITUATE IN THE REGISTRATION DISTRICT OF THE COUNTY OF DIGBY

To the Owner or Owners of the Land Herein Described and All Others Whom It May Concern:

F. Laurence, Provincial Land Surveyor, or the said description of the said land being as follows:

E. Woodman and Alice Keene; thence southeasterly along said boundary line between the lands of S. E. Woodman and Alice Keene to a point which is thirty-three (33) feet perpendicularly distant from said centre line of highway diversion; thence southerly and parallel to said centre line of highway diversion to a point which is forty (40) feet perpendicularly distant from the northern boundary of the Annapolis-Yarmouth Highway and on the north side thereof; thence southeasterly and in a straight line to a point on the said northern boundary of the Annapolis-Yarmouth Highway which is seventy-three (73) feet distant from its intersection with the said centre line of highway diversion measuring along said northern boundary of the Annapolis-Yarmouth Highway; thence northeasterly along said northern boundary of the Annapolis-Yarmouth Highway, a distance of one hundred and forty-six (146) feet to a point; thence northeasterly in a straight line to a point which is forty (40) feet perpendicularly distant from said northern boundary of the Annapolis-Yarmouth Highway and also thirty-three (33) feet perpendicularly distant from the said centre line of highway diversion; thence northerly and parallel to said centre line of highway diversion to the aforesaid eastern boundary of the highway leading from Woodman's Corner to the Town of Digby; thence northeasterly along said last mentioned boundary line to the place of beginning; Containing 0.98 acre, a little more or less, as shown in red outline on the attached plan.

That the said land has been taken and expropriated under the provisions of the said Act as aforesaid, namely for a right-of-way of a diversion of the Annapolis-Yarmouth Highway at Conway, Digby County.

THE UNITED BAPTIST CHURCHES

Roll Call Service at Tiverton.—On Thursday evening of last week the United Baptist church at Tiverton held roll call service, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Wakefield. After a short song service prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Cholerton, pastor of the Westport United Baptist church, who also delivered a very inspiring message from "The Good Samaritan", Luke X. A solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," was rendered by Mr. Wakeling, accompanied by Mrs. Wakeling. Then followed a roll call of members, those present responding with a verse of scripture; also many interesting letters were read from non-residents. Short addresses were given by Rev. J. W. Derby, of Westport; Amos Outhouse, of Sandy Cove, and Wm. Cossaboom, of Tiverton. Visitors were present from Westport, Central Grove, Freeport and East Ferry. The service was closed with prayer offered by Rev. J. W. Derby. The offering amounted to $54.00.

County Residents Get Lower Rates.

The Nova Scotia Board of Public Utilities, at Halifax, gave approval on April 8th, of a new schedule of rates and charges of electrical energy to the Municipality of Digby. This reduction is considerably greater than that at first considered and is due in part to the fact that the system is growing rapidly and also to the fact that the Digby County Power Board has recently made substantial reduction on the energy sold to the Municipalities of Digby and Clare, Village of Weymouth and the town of Digby.

The new rate for the Municipal Hydro System shows a reduction also in the service charge to the domestic lighting customers. The former service charge was on floor area basis ranging from 30 to 90 cents. The new service charge will be 30 cents per month for all houses of 1500 square feet or less and 45 cents per month for all houses over 1500 square feet. The energy charge has been reduced on the first step from 8 cents per kw.hr. to 6 cents per kw.hr. and has also been made to apply equally to every customer and now reads as follows:

DOMESTIC SERVICE

Service Charge.—Residences up to and including 1500 square feet of floor area, 30 cents per month; residences over 1500 square feet of floor area, 45 cents per month.

Energy Charge.—6 cents per kw. hr. for the first 30 kw.hr. per month; 4 cents per kw.hr. for the next 60 kw.hr. per month; 2 cents per kw. hr. for all additional consumption.

Minimum Bill.—$1.50 per month.—($2.00 per month where an electric range is installed).

The commercial lighting rate has also been reduced from 8 cents per kw. hr. to 6 cents per kw.hr. on the first step and from 4 cents per kw. hr. to 3 cents per kw. hr. on the second step, and now reads as follows:

COMMERCIAL LIGHTING

Service Charge.—$1.00 per month per kilowatt of connected load, or when a demand meter is installed $1.50 per month per kilowatt of maximum demand.

Energy Charge.—6 cents per kw. hr. for the first 100 kw.hr. per month per kilowatt of connected load or per kilowatt of maximum demand, whichever is the basis of the service charge; 3 cents per kw. hr. for all additional consumption. (By mistake this was printed last week at 5 cents per kw. hr. for the first step).

Minimum Bill.—$1.50 per month or the service charge, whichever is the greater.

The Alternating Current Power, General Use, has been reduced from 4 cents per kw. hr. to 3 cents per kw. hr.

ALTERNATING CURRENT POWER—GENERAL USE

Service Charge.—50 cents per month per horse power of connected load.

Energy Charge.—3 cents per kw. hr.

Minimum Bill.—$2.00 per month or the service charge, whichever is the greater.

This represents a reduction to the electric light users of Digby County of close to $3,000.00.

An Easter Message

"Risen Jesu, Thee we greet, Falling at Thy pierced feet,
For our joys made complete;
Hear us, Holy Jesu."

"Grant that we may live to Thee
In all grace and purity,
So for ever Thine to be;
Hear us, Holy Jesu."

To the Readers of the Courier

The words of Christ "I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth in Me though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth on Me shall never die," bring hope and joy to the hearts of all Christians. On Easter Day we commemorate the resurrection of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. It is a happy, joyous season and one that should be kept by all Christians. In a world of sorrow and doubt, of distrust and suspicion, of insecurity and death, the hope of a life beyond serves to keep us steadfast and enables us to carry on and to make the very best of what this world has to offer. In the sunshine of the spring season with the song of birds and the promise of life in the budding flowers, let us come together on this Easter Day in glad Thanksgiving and in response to our Lord's request, "This do in remembrance of Me", partake of the Broken Body and Shed Blood, and thank God for the gift of eternal life through His Son, Jesus Christ. There is a church somewhere near you where you will be most welcome. You know that every Sunday is a commemoration of the resurrection, but perhaps you have forgotten, so come on Easter Sunday.

Wishing you God's blessing for a Happy Easter,

Yours for Service,

How Much FERTILIZER?

What FORMULA should be used with the various crops, and HOW MUCH to apply per ACRE, depends largely on:

The NATURE of the SOIL; possible soil DEFICIENCIES; the KIND of crop grown; and the AMOUNT of BARN MANURE used.

Under AVERAGE conditions, one may apply:—

For POTATOES—1200 to 2000 lbs. 4-8-13; 4-8-10; 4-6-10 or 5-8-12 (with or without magnesia), or their equivalent in home mixed chemicals. On certain heavy soils, 5-9-8 seems quite satisfactory.

For TURNIPS—600 to 1200 lbs. per acre 2-12-6 (with or without Borax) or its equivalent in home-mixed chemicals. Where extra Nitrogen is required 5-10-5 could be used or extra Nitrogen applied over the 2-12-6.

For GRAIN—Seeded to clover and timothy, 400 to 600 lbs. 2-12-6. On extremely poor soils, if no manure has been used on the hoed crop preceding it, a fertilizer sufficiently high in nitrogen such as 5-10-5 could be substituted at rates from 300 to 400 lbs. per acre.

For PERMANENT PASTURES—On LIGHT SOILS or for EARLY GRAZING, 500 to 700 lbs. per acre 5-9-8.

On HEAVY CLAYS or LOW INTERVAL LANDS, 500 to 700 lbs. per acre 2-12-6.

For PERMANENT HAY LANDS—400 to 600 lbs. 5-9-8 per acre.

EASTER MORN

Be still your noise, ye boastful throng.
Be still ye bugle, ye shrilling horn;
Keep solemn stillness, hushed and strong.
Do ye not know, 'tis Easter morn?

Be glad today, ye strong of heart,
Be glad, ye wore that crown of thorns;
That sin from sinners might depart,
On days like this; on Easter morn.

Be thankful, oh ye thankless knave
Be thankful that in spite of scorn
He rose triumphant from the grave.
To sanctify on Easter morn.

Be pure as lilies petalled white,
And may a love within be born
For Him who conquered death and night,
To rise, in glory, Easter morn.

MISSION LARGELY ATTENDED

(New Freeman, St. John)

The renewal of the mission in Holy Trinity church, conducted by the Jesuit Fathers, is being largely attended. Last week the mission for the women of the parish was held and this week is for the men. The mission is being conducted by Rev. J. Edward Flaherty, S.J., and Rev. George Bradley, S.J.

Father Flaherty, a native of Saint John, was cordially welcomed to his home city. He is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Flaherty. His father was killed in action during the Great War and his mother died in 1922.

Father Flaherty left Saint John in 1925 to follow his studies for the priesthood. He entered the novitiate at Guelph, Ont., and following courses of study at different centres in Upper Canada was sent to Rome to complete his studies. He was transferred to Dublin, Ireland, where he completed his course and was ordained to the priesthood a year ago last July. He then returned to Canada.

The present occasion is his first visit to Saint John in many years.

Since the death of his mother he had resided with his aunt, Mrs. A. N. Peterson, 23 Exmouth Street, up to the time he entered upon his studies for the church. Miss Ruth Flaherty of the main office staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Saint John, and Miss Eileen Flaherty, of the civil service, Ottawa, are sisters of the visiting priest, and Roy Flaherty, of Montreal, is a brother.

Rev. Father Flaherty is a grandson of Mrs. Alex. H. Ross, Chapel Lodge, Digby. Mrs. Ross and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. (Capt.) Wiley Ross, went to Saint John to meet him, returning last week.

MT. PLEASANT

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Banks, of West Ingilville, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Stillman Handspiker.

Mrs. Walter Johnson spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson Waterford.

Mrs. Francis Lent has returned to her home in Westport, after spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Handspiker.

Mrs. Alice Handspiker, of Digby, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Handspiker.

Mrs. Ray Taylor and Mrs. Harold Trimmer, of Greenland, spent a few days recently with Mrs. Frank Handspiker.

There has been considerable criticism throughout the country over the Corporation's request to raise the radio licence fee from $2.00 to $2.50 on each radio set. Canada charges this fee in order to curb the amount of advertising on the air.

"Here it is," said Mr. Mooney, gently advising him to be more careful in future. Back went the dollar into the mitt.

It's the only flour for me!

"When you put the bread you've just baked on the table and folks keep asking for more—that's the real test of your baking ability, and of the flour you used. I've been using REGAL ever since I was a girl and it's never let me down yet. Now you see why I always insist on having it."

Six Cylinder Lead

The six-cylinder engine is the most popular power plant in the eyes of motorists according to the result of a survey recently made by Chevrolet research experts.

The survey revealed that 63.6% of all cars sold during 1937 were six-cylinder models. "The 6-cylinder engine has shown substantial increase in popularity since 1934 when 59.5% of total cars sold were powered by that type of engine," read the report. In 1934, eight-cylinder cars represented 39.8% of sales and this figure dropped in 1937 to 34.1%.

"In the four-year period," concluded the report "Chevrolet has delivered more passenger cars than any other manufacturer, leading the entire industry in three out of four years."

Battle of the Brakes

A battle unique in Canadian automotive history is being waged in Ontario at the present time—the battle of the two-wheel brake motor car.

Based on the death of a pedestrian under the wheels of an old style motor car in Toronto, early in the New Year, the controversy is becoming increasingly bitter, even to the extent that some authorities have actually advocated the abolition of two-wheel brake cars from the highways of Ontario.

Brake experts have been enlisted on both sides of the debate, to testify to the comparative efficiency of four-wheel and two-wheel brakes, and a survey has revealed that thousands of these old style cars are still operating in the rural areas and small towns of the province, while a few are also still to be seen in the cities. Changes in the Motor Vehicles Act Section dealing with brake tests are being freely predicted. This would consist of a rigid tightening up of the present brake test regulations, and in effect would outlaw any two-wheel brake motor car in which the brakes were not at the absolute peak of efficiency.

Violent opposition to the proposed changes has come from drivers in the less settled areas, who point out that the financial loss to the owners of cars more than twelve years old would be disastrous if their cars were ruled off the road unless some method of reimbursement by the Government was adopted.

Economy By Car

How four persons could make a 5,000 mile trip of Western Europe at a total transportation expense of only $106.25 apiece was recently demonstrated by Cyretta Morford President of the Michigan Association of Teachers of Speech.

Miss Morford and three companions covered France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany, and Belgium, taking time to explore the districts well off the beaten tourist track, and report that their holiday possessed attractions and interest which could not have been duplicated by a railway itinerary.

Miss Morford's 1937 Chevrolet was driven from Detroit to Quebec, and the expense quoted included this trip, boat passage for the car, foreign license plates, three drivers' licenses, foreign insurance, garage rent almost every night on the Continent, gasoline and oil, and transportation on the return trip from Montreal to Detroit.

This method of touring Europe, Miss Morford declares, is superior to the use of the established travel facilities, insofar as that motor conditions on the Continent are vastly better than most

About This and That

"Buy at Home"—it's a splendid slogan for the consumer—and an excellent one for the merchant.

There are times when all of us are of the opinion we can do a little better by sending out of town for our needs—and often we do manage to save a penny or two or a dollar or so—it all depends on the nature of the purchase. Sometimes, too, when freight charges and other incidentals are added, we discover we might have fared better had we given our patronage locally.

Often, too, there are other reasons why people send out of town for their needs. They adopt the policy of "patronize those who patronize you". They have good customers out of town, and feel it is only right to share some of their business with them. We do believe this is quite justifiable.

"Patronize those who patronize you" may sound like a selfish slogan; nevertheless, it is as practical as the one quoted at the beginning of this article—"Buy at Home".

Many individuals, firms and tradesmen are strongly tempted to send out of town for certain of their needs because local merchants to whom they have given their business week in and week out throughout the years send out of town for labor and necessities that could be secured locally.

Thus "Buy at Home" business works both ways. A merchant who gives what business he can to local tradesmen

Ramblings of a Rolling Stone

You have doubtless read the saying attributed to an aged Quaker, who, when in conversation with a friend, said:
"All the world is queer except thee and me—and thee's a bit queer." Whether any one of the followers of George Fox was the originator of the pointed bit of wisdom or not,
does not affect the well-developed germs of truth contained therein; neither is it limited in its application to any one person or group of persons.
"Thee's a bit queer" is as doubt-acting as the shuttle of a busy weaver, and as the weaver's thread builds up the predetermined pattern of the cloth, so is this truth woven into the vari-colored fabric of our lives.

Of course, as you see yourself, there is not a shred of inconsistency in your make-up! You, beyond all others, are capable of thinking along the only lines of reason and truth and therefore your conclusions are pre-eminently the logical ones. In your contacts with those about you, you are kindly; and in your dealings with them you are never in the slightest degree, selfish or unjust! Your decisions are based on all the known facts and are fair and unbiased judgments! There is not the slightest hint of boorishness or awkwardness in your actions; always the polished courtier or the grande dame! Hokey! Bost!
Poppy-cock! You may feel that way about yourself, but do others see as perfect a picture as the one you see as you bask in the rosy tinted spotlight of your own self-conceit? "Thee's a bit queer!"

Do you ever indulge in a quiet laugh when you recall something a friend or acquaintance has said or done which to you seemed an ill-chosen expression or an uncouth action? Wink a grin!
"Thee's a bit queer."
Has your sense of justice been so outraged by the doings of others that you have felt like rising up in a sort of wrathful righteousness demanding that the wrong be righted? Cool off a little!
"Thee's a bit queer!"

If, by any chance, you have read this far I have a word of comfort for you. Do not be discouraged, cheer up! "Every cloud has a silver lining" though why this thought should dispell the gloom is beyond my comprehension.
To me the silver lining of the cloud has not one iota more value than the "pot of gold at the end of the rainbow."
"The jewel in the toad's eye"
—and this only to the toad, personally. I have not yet looked into the lapidarian aspects of the case as thoroughly as I might have done—may be dealing all too lightly with a subject of weight.

Now, I may be "a bit queer"
—the threadbare, witless witticism, "cheer up, the worst is yet to come," has for me, a stabilizing ingredient combined with some needed grains of comfort. The thought that "the climax has not yet been capped" nor "the end if the rope reached"; that there is still a "fighting chance" with "one more shot in the locker" seems to me should give almost any one, except a confirmed pessimist, sufficient courage to spend a little time looking for "the last straw" before "going down for the third time".

In one of the installments of his interesting travelogue, the genial editor of the Courier told us of a certain post office official who shied away from the letter to Nova Scotia—an attitude quite in keeping with a number of experi-

A PROSPEROUS summer for the Maritime Provinces is forecast by R. M. Ellis, manager of Nova Scotia out that the number of inquiries received by the Company concerning Cortellis Inn at Kentville, The Pines indicate a prosperous tourist season for Canada Looks Within

(By Lloyd Roberts, in Christian Science Monitor)

Canada is at peace with all the visible world. The goodwill that Premier Mackenzie King stressed in his pre-election campaign as of paramount importance in the Dominion's economy, is reflected in diplomatic circles and ever-increasing trade. What personal differences exist in regard to systems of government abroad and methods of expansion are not officially registered in the national ledgers marked, "Japan," "Germany," "Italy".

This does not mean, of course, that Canada is escaping the repercussions from storms beyond the horizon and is not having to strive valiantly to nullify their ill-effects. Not a speech of a Mussolini, a Roosevelt or a Chamberlain, but has a direct bearing on the ten governments of Canada, causing them to trim their sails to the changing wind and take full advantage of storm signals.
The ship of state moves on an even keel and its officers intend, if humanly possible, to keep it so, despite minor groups who would change its course to follow new lights into strange and perhaps perilous seas.

Amateur pilots clamor for recognition. Their demands for a chance to "save the ship" are loud and persistent.
They gather a few malcontents, "reformers" and innocent bystanders and sometimes succeed in causing a stir out of all proportion to their numbers. One day Fascism seems to be a menace to democracy, another day Bolshevism. But both speak in the name of Better Government and Higher Standards of Living and make their appeal to racial, religious, sectional or economic prejudices.

In Quebec, Joseph Maurice Scott dons a black shirt and harangues a small but ardent band of Fascists or Nazis on the approaching Day when he will dictate the destiny of Canada. In other provinces, particularly Ontario and Manitoba, Communists, in small but irrespressible groups, prepare for the reign of the proletariat and endeavor to incite labor troubles into starting "the revolution".

In Alberta, William Aber-hardt leads a milder type of revolution under a Social Credit banner, seeking to overthrow the monetary and credit system with appeals based on both religious and financial arguments. Recently his government went so far as to pass provincial statutes that would have given it power to curtail the freedom of the press, tax the banks and control credit institutions, but which were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Other provincial governments have threatened to exceed their authority. In Quebec, Premier Duplessis has passed the so-called "Padlock Law" by which the Administration assumes the right to quarantine the premises of any person suspected of spreading Communistic propaganda or any other ideas unpopular with the authorities. Although there has been widespread criticism of the act and some agitation in Parliament for the application of the power of disallowance (as in the case of Alberta), the Padlock Law still continues to be applied. Quebec is touchy in regard to any outside "interference" and its sixty-one Liberal members at Ottawa are a force to reckon with in Mr. King's Liberal ranks.

Even in the "English" pro-

V. O. N. WELL BABY CLINICS DOING GOOD WORK

the sick in the home, at a moderate cost. Supervision of the health of mother and baby is giv-

At the Well Baby Conference babies are weighed and directions given for proper feeding and care of the child. These Conferences are held every Friday afternoon

WOULD TRY SYSTEM IF BENEFIT SHOWN

Wars and rumors of wars are forcing Canadians to face the question of military responsibility and widening the breach between those who believe in sharing the cost and consequences of Empire defence and those whose sense of duty stops at the three-mile limit and even opposes increasing of defence estimates. Nationalist Quebec is strongly isolationist, has small concern for either Great Britain or France, and is still bitter over conscription measures of the last war. Its young men, because of such convictions, recently withdrew from membership in the Canadian Youth Congress. It is generally conceded, however, that Great Britain at war would be Canada at war, as it was in 1914, before Parliament could be assembled to decide the issue.

Most of these internal bickerings are the direct result of world-wide political, social

"ROSE OF THE RIO GRANDE" ON LOCAL SCREEN

Monogram's latest production, "Rose of the Rio Grande," opens its first showing in Eastern Canada at the Bijou Theatre tonight. A romantic drama of a Mexican bandit who saves an aristocratic beauty from the hands of rebels, the picture is one replete with every essential of fine entertainment. SPRING IS BACKWARD

Although in Digby and vicinity crocuses, snowdrops and daffodils are brave enough to poke their heads through the ground, and the grass on the lawns and in the fields is turning green, farmers complain of a "backward spring". To date, on account of weather conditions, few of them have made any progress with their spring ploughing, and with the exception of a few peas, none of the crops are in the ground, whereas last year at this time, the farmers were well along with their planting schedule, and many of the root crops and other hardy crops had been sown. Even in the earliest sections it will be some time before any material progress is made with spring planting.

RAND NOTES

The largest audience of the season greeted the Digby Civic Band at their 5th "Pop" concert and showed its appreciation by heartily applauding every number and calling for several encores. Harry Johnson, with his professional performance on the orchestra bells, seemed to be the star of the concert, while Bernard and Eddie Baxter did some fine work with their guitars. David Daley and Churchill Turnbull played "Mignonne", a sparkling cornet duet, and "The Palms" was rendered in a stately and impressive manner by Billy Christie and Ross Turnbull, on euphonium and trombone, accompanied by the band. "The Best Loved Irish Melodies", a fine medley was heard for the first time in Digby and was much enjoyed. Karl King's Oriental waltz, "Moonlight on the Nile", with its suggestions of mystery, was performed in delightful style. Sousa's "Semper Fidelis" and Lieut. Benter's "The Submarine Force" were included with the marches, and two humorous medleys full of "pop" made a hit. In addition to the bell solos Harry Johnson played snare drum all through the programme, in place of Raymond Lent, who was sick, undertaking that difficult job without a moment's preparation. Mr. Johnson is a professional musician of wide experience. He is a skilful performer on a dozen instruments, including many of his own make. It is hoped that he can be persuaded to exhibit some of his musical stunts at the next "POP" concert, May 5th.

A very attractive scheme of stage background and decorations—which gave the band an unusually imposing appearance—was the unaided work of Mr. Charles Wilde, one of the band's most valued friends, who not only spent several hours on the work, but also paid for the materials himself.

Mrs. A. E. Dickson's handsome gift to the Band was awarded to Mrs. J. W. Christie. Ten prize winners to the next concert, which will be the last of the series, were also awarded and will be sent to the winners before May 5th. The Band will appreciate any other suitable gifts to be disposed of in the same manner. More money is realized from this source and the sale of candies than from admission tickets.

Last Fall the Band contracted for the use of the Community Hall on the first Thursday night of each month from December to May, and the dates were continuously advertised. But in spite of the advertising it seems that those same dates were unusually attractive to numerous organizations. Other events were held on the same nights as the band concerts, or on adjacent nights, and both organizations suffered from the conflict. It would seem that a little friendly co-operation in such matters would be both profitable—and courteous.

THE CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN AND THE TOWN DUMP

The Digby Town Council is taking part in the government's Property Improvement and Clean-up Campaign, and has issued notices urging all citizens to make a special effort to clean up their premises during the last week of April and the first week of May. Notice has also been issued forbidding the dumping of rubbish at any other location than the town dump at the Joggins, after May 1st.

For many years Digby's north end citizens have been in the habit of disposing of their refuse by dumping it over the bank that runs along the south side of the Racquette. In the spring dumping at this location has always been forbidden by the council.

This year it is understood a sharp look-out will be kept for offenders, and any caught will be prosecuted. There have been many complaints already over the appearance of the Racquette bank, which is directly opposite the Pines Hotel.

Street employees have been put to work each spring to clean up this unofficial dump, and have succeeded very well in making it presentable from the street which edges the bank, but, in the past, the dumping has been spread over such a large area it has been impossible to do a thorough job of cleaning up below the street level, and although filling is needed in this area, it is quite likely that during another year dumping will be restricted to a specified area along the bank.

Certified Seed Potatoes Increase Production.

Farmers of Digby County are advised to plant none other than the best of certified seed potatoes. Not only will their crops be increased, but wider markets will open for them. It has been definitely proven that potato crops grown from best certified seed are superior in every way. Furthermore, the demand for Nova Scotian grown potatoes in the Argentine alone is growing by leaps and bounds but only crops grown from certified seed are accepted.

H. T. Warne Ltd., of Digby, have just received a shipment of the finest certified seed potatoes, which are highly recommended. To date there has been a surprisingly big demand for them, and local farmers who wish to take advantage of this high grade seed, should do so now while there is a good supply on hand. (adv't.)

Miss Ina O'Brien and Miss Vera Mason, of the teaching staff, spent the holidays at their homes in Noel and Mahone Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sollows returned home on Wednesday after spending part of the winter in Florida. En route home they stopped in several New England cities.

A CASE OF SUSPENSION

This comedy, "A Case of Suspension", is being presented at the United Church Hall on Thursday evening next, by the C. G. I. T. and Anti-Cant Class. The scene is laid in a college and opens with the girls getting ready for a "sneeze" in the evening. Finding ways and means of getting the boys into the room will surely call for lots of laughter—but when they start pulling one in at the window and find he is the Professor—well, that is a case of suspension. Then there is the serenade, and, as an extra special, "Bluebeard" is being presented with all his wives—both headed and beheaded. It's bound to be good—don't miss it! Thursday night, April 28th. See advt.

SMITH'S COVE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The April meeting of the Women's Institute was held with Miss J. M. Cornwell, the president, presiding. It was a most interesting meeting and the attendance large. Mrs. Oakley Smith, the delegate to the District Exhibition at Bridgetown last week, gave her report announcing one programme for the Rally which is to be held in Paradise, June 3. Another important thing, the meeting voted to heartily endorse the petition circulated by Council William Woodman, in which the residents and near residents of Smith's Cove ask the D. A. Railway and Provincial Government to place wig-wag and bell signals at the two dangerous railway crossings in their section.

Letters were read from sick and "shut-ins" who appreciated "cheer" sent them by the W. I.

The programme was in charge of the agriculture committee, Mrs. C. Robbins and Mrs. Geo. Laramore, who had invited Miss H. Chisholm to give a "Travel Talk" on the subject. Miss Chisholm took them on a most interesting imaginary trip from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, during which they visited all the important agricultural centres and returning to Nova Scotia took up the subject of "lawn making and decorating".

The roll call for the day was an exchange of seeds, plants or bulbs. The refreshment committee, Miss Thomas and Mrs. Laramore, assisted Miss Cornwell, and the "cup that cheers" was much enjoyed during the social half-hour.

The May meeting will be with Mrs. John Smith.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Considerable progress is being made of the framework for the new store of Boyd Milberry, now being built on the triangular lot at the corner of Carleton Street and First Avenue. On Water Street the basement for the new addition to F. J. May's store is pretty well advanced and the present store, which will form part of the new block, has been lowered nineteen inches to bring it to the level of the sidewalk in order that a more modern front may be installed. Workmen started this week to finish the brick veneering on the new theatre. This work was commenced last fall but discontinued when the cold weather set in. On Queen Street the foundation is being laid for the new home to be erected for K. L. Porter, on the lot immediately north of the Keen residence.

He Suffered Agony in Wet Weather

Rheumatism Attacked Limbs and Body

He had been bothered with rheumatism for years. The pain in wet weather—to use his own expression—was "indescribable. But all that is gone now—thanks to Kruschen. Read this letter:—
"I suffered with rheumatism for years. I dreaded wet weather, for during such periods the pain was continuous and indescribable. To begin with, it was confined to my limbs, but in time I began to suffer as much agony in my body as I did in my limbs. When I began to take Kruschen Salts, I found it did me more good than all the other medicines I had taken put together. Today, I have peace and freedom from pain, even during wet weather, and can heartily recommend Kruschen Salts to anyone who suffers from rheumatism."—N.M.
Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients in Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients in these Salts assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

No other bread I've ever tasted is so satisfying, and believe me that's very important when a man's doing heavy work. My wife says it's because REGAL has more solid nourishment in it than ordinary flour. Believe me, REGAL makes bread that tastes better, too."

MARRIAGES

Blinn—Comeau

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends throughout the province was solemnized at St. Croix Roman Catholic church, in Gilbert's Cove, on Easter Sunday morning, when Rev. Father Luke Gaudet, parish priest, united in marriage Alice Comeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Comeau, of Plympton, and William Blinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Blinn, of the same place. The bride looked charming in her bridal gown of white satin and lace, slightly en train, with conventional veil of embroidered silk net in cap effect, with coronet of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of lilies. Her only attendant was her niece, Miss Cecelia Amoro, of Plympton, who was becomingly attired in pink flowered crepe with white hat and accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. James Comeau, brother of the bride, acted as groomsmen. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents, after which the happy couple went to mouth for the day. A supper and reception in their honor was held at the home of the bride's parents in the evening and was large attended. The young couple will reside in Plympton where they have their home all furnished and ready to move into. The bride is a graduate of the Provincial Normal College and has been a successful school teacher. For the past two years she has taught in Plympton. A shower was held in their honor one evening last week, which was largely attended.

THOUGHT TO BE LOST IN WOODS

Edward D'Eon, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D'Eon, of Weymouth North, who is employed by Douglas Raymond at Havelock, arrived back at that place on Wednesday morning allaying fears that he had been drowned in the lake, after search parties had scoured the woods all night without finding any trace of him. Young D'Eon in company with Douglas Raymond and Adelbert Prime of Weymouth North, by whom they were employed, had been driving logs down the lake. D'Eon's clothing was wet and as night was coming on he was sent home to change his clothes and do the barn work. The men finishing the drive, when they arrived to the house at a much later hour, they discovered that he had never been to the house, and fearing that he was lost in the woods or had possibly been drowned in the lake, a search party was immediately formed headed by the R. C. M. P. officers, who scoured the woods in that vicinity in search of him. Meanwhile, D'Eon, who had become lost in the woods owing to the heavy fog and with night coming on, had chanced upon a camp where he spent the night and when daylight came he was able to make his way to the searchers and the community, none the worse for his experience.

LETTER FROM THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND PASTOR

Beginning Monday of this week the press contained for at least three days, reports of religious services throughout the province on Easter Day. The reports tell of swelled choirs, large offerings and capacity congregations. Evidently both clergymen and laymen are much impressed by "the bumper crop of souls" attending "the Queen of the Festivals". Some see in the Easter Church parade, wholesome evidences of a return to vital Christianity. Personally, one of the most disheartening phases of the Christian ministry is this very thing that gives so many people high hopes about the religious life of our generation. To think that in a Christian land where every Sunday is an anniversary of the Resurrection of Our Blessed Lord, that so many attend the services of the church only once a year, gives me pain, rather than gratification. I do not wish to be pessimistic about my age and generation but it is always wise to face the facts just as they are. We are living in a time when indifference and apathy are stifling the life of religion. Countless hundreds of our citizens live under the wholesome and beneficial influences of the Church of God. They would be loathe to see the Christian Institution removed from their midst. Yet they wash their hands of the Church quite entirely. Save for once a year they utterly disregard her services and the great work she is trying to do. Only a faithful few are left to bear responsibility. The greatest danger confronting the Church today is the carelessness on the part of so many of its members, and adherents. The Church has always grown by reason of hostility and cruel opposition from without. But her days of weakened vision, her days of impaired spiritual vigour have been conditioned by apathy within. Even our Lord Himself cannot cope with indifference. "I would thou wert cold or hot but because thou art lukewarm I will spew thee out of my mouth." I call to mind the words of Sir Geo. Adam Smith, "The great causes of God and humanity are not defeated by the hot assaults of the devil but by the slow crushing glacier of thousands of indifferent nobodies. God's causes are never destroyed by being blown up but by being sat upon." We need not question the veracity of these remarks. Their truth is glaring.

I fear one day the Gallios, "who care for none of these things" but go on without a thought of God or religion or the Church from one Easter to another, will eventually bring a sorry plight on Society. The stock of piety sooner or later, is bound to run out unless resumed and replenished in the hearts of our people. As the Prime of All Canada reminded Canadians a few weeks ago, "For a while all will be well, we are living off the religious heritage of our fathers. But what are we passing on to posterity in the form of great faith or great ideals?" Something tells me we shall not pass on very much. The tragedy of so much of our modern life is not the tragedy of Bluebeard, but of Old Mother Hubbard. "There's nothing there to pass on." Personally, I'm very optimistic about Christianity in the 20th century. The Festival of Triumph we celebrated on Easter Day is an assured victory. Let us never forget it! But because we have large congregations turn out only once a year it isn't necessary to consider that as evidence of a whole-hearted return to Religion. Let us not be unduly elated about it. Let us always be ready to face facts as they are. However, for many Anglican readers I would like them to ponder this anonymous bit of verse:

Is it I?
Only one service on Sunday.
Yet there are services three;
There'd be no one at all at the other two
If every one did like me.
A little jaunt to another church.
Something different to see.
But our own dear church would be empty quite
If everyone did like me.
What of the holy-day services?
Sunday's my only day;
Where'd be the worship God listens for
If every one stayed away?
How much alms do I give to the church
Whose blessings to me are free?
Only a few cents once a week—
(Does everyone do like me?)
Do I ever an honest sacrifice make?
Of pleasure or dress? Put by This money for alms? Is any one else
As selfish and mean as I?
Do I give five cents when I should give ten?
One dollar that then should be?
I don't give half what I really ought,
What if every one gave like me!
How much work do I do for the church?
How would its work rooms be?
Empty and covered with months of dust
If everyone worked like me.
Are my communions regular?
Our Lord His table would find Often deserted and empty of guests
If others were rare as mine.
And do I criticise church? and priest?
If only myself could see I'd know his task would seem hopeless quite
If others were just like me.
What of my prayers for church and priest?
And the private prayers I say?
How many such would ascend to God
If every one prayed that way.
Neglect of others concern us not
'Tis our own we have to see,
Let us ask ourselves with an honest heart
"Suppose they were all like me?"
What with my cold indifference

NOTICE

The regular semi annual meeting of the Council for the Municipality of the District of Digby will be held on Tuesday, May 3rd, 1938 at the Court House at Digby at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

MARGARET STEWART
Municipal Clerk

Totally Destroyed by Fire

In an early morning fire this morning, the grocery store of E. George Hinman, on Warwick Street, just outside the town limits, was totally destroyed. None of the contents of the store, which included a complete stock of groceries, some of which only arrived yesterday afternoon, and had not been taken from the cartons; quantity of Frost & Wood farm machinery, and Mr. Hinman's account books were salvaged. When discovered shortly before one o'clock the roof of the building was in flames and before the firemen arrived it was impossible to make any attempt to save any of the stock or fittings. Mr. Hinman, who resides in town, locked up his store shortly after 10:00 o'clock last evening. There was no sign of a blaze shortly before midnight, according to persons who had passed the building at that hour. Although the proprietor could not give any estimate of his loss when interviewed at the scene this morning, it is thought to exceed $3,500, part of which is covered by insurance. The building is practically new, having been built only a few years ago by the late James Franklin. Since its construction a warehouse was added, and only this spring another ell was built as an office.

And general disloyalty
I can't imagine how things would go on
If others were just like me.
Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this space in your paper,

GRACE UNITED CHURCH

Brotherhood Entertains Ladies
Upwards of eighty persons sat down at the supper tables at the last meeting of the season of the Brotherhood of Grace United Church, on Tuesday night, in the Church hall. As in other years, this meeting was observed at "Ladies' Night".

The programme was in charge of G. B. Clarkson, and consisted of a sing-song, spelling bee, games and stunts of all kinds, and concluded with selections by the Brotherhood Choir, and "The King". During the meeting readings from Drummond were given by W. E. VanBlarcom.

Brotherhood meetings, which will be discontinued until fall, were most successful this season, both from the standpoint of attendance and programmes. On Tuesday the members of the Brotherhood will be the guests of the St. Andrew's Men's Club of Holy Trinity church, who have challenged the United Church Brotherhood to a spelling match.

DEEP BROOK

Sometime between 1.30 and 4.30 Easter Sunday morning, the home of Walter A. Dittmars was entered by means of the pantry window and food and $54 in cash were stolen. The money was in clothing of Mr. Dittmars and it would appear that after the thief satisfied his hunger he went prowling through the rooms on the ground floor where he discovered the clothing containing the cash. When the break was discovered at breakfast time, the R. C. M. P. of Digby were notified and are now following up suspects. Miss Addie Dittmars, mother of Mr. Dittmars, occupying a downstairs bedroom, had not yet gone to sleep at one o'clock and awakened before five, which gives rise to the approximate time of entry. and local firms, even if he could get his work done a little cheaper by "sending out of town", finds he gets more business from these same local tradesmen and firms, who might also be able to buy a little cheaper by sending out of town, but prefer to "patronize those who patronize them."

We are not accusing our merchants of sending out of town for their needs, but we do know that travelling salesmen do a good business taking orders in Digby for products that could be secured locally, sometimes at the same price, sometimes a little higher, or a little cheaper; and we do know that men are employed in town for jobs that could be given to local labor.

However, perhaps this is none of our business, but we would like to emphasize the fact that this "buy at home" business works two ways, and for the good of the community it is just as important for the merchant to "buy at home" whenever he can, as it is for the consumer to do his or her buying at home.

Let "Patronize Local Industry" be our slogan, and thereby combine the two: "Buy at Home," and "Patronize those who patronize you".

Adriana yelled into an extension phone "Me, me; how about me?" Artists also used her features for Snow White's facial expressions.

NOVA SCOTIANS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

BIG AND LITTLE -- BUT ALL DEADLY

Despite announcements of the resumption of Anglo-Italian friendship, and a hands-off policy in Central Europe, England is still continuing her armament speed-up program. Young members of the Royal Air Force are shown in a workshop, at Hulton Camp, Wendover, receiving instructions in different types of bombs—big and little—but all deadly.

The following was taken from the columns of the Truro Weekly News—a contribution from one of its many correspondents:

"How easily and completely we can be transported through many years and much space to the scenes and experiences of our early life! There is in Vancouver, a Nova Scotia Association which meets every two weeks in the fall and winter months at the various homes of its members, and holds a picnic once at least, during the summers. Non members, especially if their noses are blue enough, are always welcome and sometimes invited by the host to such gatherings, as special guests; for how- ever lengthy has been their exile, the wander lust has not lessened, but apparently increased the proverbial hospitality of the Mar- itimers.

"Recently at a social gathering of the clans at a home where the host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Torrie who had come from their former home in Digby less than three years ago after 29 or 30 years' residence there, and my late wife and I having spent the first two years of our married life there, I at once felt myself completely at home with them; and people and events of 64 years ago came rushing back and anni- hilated time and space. Please pardon a digression here: If my memory is not faulty, the steamer Princess, plying between St. John and Digby every week day, went to Annapolis three times a week while Mr. Stalling, of the Stalling Hotel, ran a stage carrying mails and passengers on the alternate days. On one of those homeward trips in the height of the cherry season of 1874 the Rev. John Am- brose, D.D., Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Digby, and I were the only passengers, and when we came to Bear River, via the lower bridge, Mr. Stalling got permis- sion for the three of us to help ourselves to all the cherries we could eat. But any who remem- ber the Rev. D.D. will readily be- lieve that he did not climb high or venture far out on the bran- ches; but as none of us was in a hurry we kept on the job until all were satisfied.

"One globe-trotter had declared that Bear River is the prettiest spot in British North America, seeing it under certain conditions it is easy to believe that he is prob- ably right. If ever you have stood on or near the upper bridge where you could see the river and cher- ry tree covered slopes on both sides and the brightly painted houses nestling among them when the cherry blossoms were fully out and especially at night when the lamps in the houses were lighted and perhaps millions of fireflies flitting like fairy lamps, every- where, and the river far below winding like a silver ribbon, did you ever see a more enchanting sight? And when the cherries are ripe the scene is not far behind that of the blossom season.

"Mr. Torrie was born in Kent County, New Brunswick, but crossed in early life to Nova Scotia. He married a Miss Lawren- ce of Hantsport, N. S. They lived for a time in Yarmouth, going from there with their family to Digby about the year 1904 where Mr. Torrie was fisheries inspector for that county until his retire- ment in 1929. They came to Van- couver in 1935 and are pleasantly located at 1829 2nd Ave., in what is known as the Grandview dis- trict. From their front porch can be seen the Interurban B. C. E. trams, connecting Vancouver, New Westminster and Chilliwack, which pass each way every half hour during the day. Chilliwack, the scene of a cherry festival each summer, is 70 miles from Van- couver. Also about 200 yards from their door a street car runs past the Kitsilano bathing beach and picnic grounds and from this line transfers are issued to all parts of greater Vancouver, with its nu- merous churches, places of amuse- ment, pleasure grounds, business places, etc., and so, taking all things into consideration with their two daughters, Mrs. McEae and Mrs. McKinnon, not far away and St. Saviour's Anglican church within easy reach, they seem to have taken kindly to their new environment. But I wonder, did I detect a longing lingering look behind as they exhibited the pic- ture of their home in Digby, which they still own? And there are other pictures, as well, about their living room all of which tend to keep that home and town fresh

HEADS PARTY

Sergeant J. E. I. Roberts of the Saskatoon subdivision, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, will head the party of four members of the force to attend the British Em- pire exhibition this summer. The party sailed for England April 23.

LEAVE ROCKERS TO YOUNG FOLK

If you are one who remembers grandma as a sweetly-wrinkled old lady in lace cap who sat by the fire and knitted on winter evenings and rocked and fanned herself on the porch in summer, you're just an old-timer, says the New York World-Telegram.

The activities of a grandmother's club recently organized in Chicago, will give you an idea what a streamlined person the contemporary grandma is.

Like younger folks, these grand- mas play as well as work. Listed among their recreations are horseback riding, swimming, bowling, fishing, hiking and gar- dening. Rocking chairs? Why, bless your soul, leave them for the tired and decrepit younger gen- erations!

This club boasts 39 grandmo- thers. One is a candidate for mayor. Another employs 300 peo- ple in her candy factory. A third heads a railway women's depart- ment. A fourth manages a $2- 000,000 estate. A fifth (with 13 grandchildren) manages a grave- pit. A sixth, 72 has sold insur- ance for a living since she was 54. And so on.

PHILANTHROPIST HONORED

Lord Nuffield, well-known British philanthropist, is pictured after receiving an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Sydney University, during his recent visit to Australia.

in the memory, and if an occa- sional sigh does escape, why not? for if after a lapse of 63 years and a stay of only two the writer still must plead guilty, at times of the same weakness—if it is a weakness—what would you expect of those who have been so recent- ly uprooted from so pleasant a home and transplanted to dif- ferent surroundings? Doubtless they miss the dulse and lobsters and mayflowers of the Atlantic coast, for they are three luxuries that cannot be coaxed to thrive out here! Still there are found some compensations in other lines; for although the climate has its drawbacks, there are no extremes of heat or cold. During my experiences of 51 winters and 50 summers there have only been two days when the mercury dropped to zero and one or two when it climbed to 90 above. It seems to be an ideal place in which to grow old without aging. So, we pio- neers hope for our tenderfoot neighbors many comfortable and happy years to come.

"We are hoping that this sketch may also find its way to the col- umns of the Digby Courier and even, perhaps, to those of the Yarmouth Herald."

200th Anniversary of First Masonic Lodge in Canada

Plans are rapidly taking shape for the celebration in July next of the 200th anniversary of the founding of the first Masonic Lodge on Canadian soil. An announcement made recently gives a long list of guests who have accepted the invitation of the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia and the list is far from complete. Among those who will be present representing the Grand Lodges of the British Isles will be:

General Sir Francis J. Davies, K. C. B., K. C. M. G., K. C. V. O., Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England. General Davies served with great distinction in all of Britain's wars since 1884, and was military Sec- retary to the Secretary of State for War in 1916.

Viscount de Vesci, a member of the House of Lords in England, and a distinguished soldier.

Rev. Thomas T. Blockley, Past Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of England.

Lieut.-Col. Lord Farnham, D. S. O., an Irish peer in the British House of Lords, and Lady Farn- ham.

Dr. William E. Thrift, Provost of Trinity College, University of Ireland, Dublin, and Mrs. Thrift.

In addition, the majority of the 49 Grand Jurisdictions in the United States will be represented by their Grand Masters and the other delegates. Among the more prominent of these representa- tives will be:

James T. Fraser, Grand Master of California, a native of Guy- sboro County.

Leonard P. Stewart, Grand Master of Washington, D. C., who visited Halifax a few years ago as Imperial Potentate of the Shrine.

William B. Clarke, Past Grand Master of Georgia.

Rev. Dr. Harold L. Reader, Grand Master of Missouri, an outstanding divine in the Baptist Church.

Dana B. Hillings of Buffalo, Grand Master, New York; Chas. H. Johnson, P. M. M., Grand Sec- retary; Joseph Earl Perry, Grand Master; and Melvin M. Johnson, P. G. M., of Boston.

The nine Grand Lodges in Can- ada will all be well represented by their leading Craftsmen. Dr. Henry J. Cody, President of Tor- onto University of Toronto and N. R. Craig, K. C., Moose Jaw, a former Nova Scotian, are among those who will be present during the three day programme.

Features of the celebration will be a service in St. Paul's Church, Halifax, Sunday, July 10. It was in this church that the first Mas- onic Church Service was held in Canada, June 24, 1751.

A religious musicale open to the public in the Capitol Theatre, with a choir of 100 voices.

A Grand Lodge meeting at which the guests will be formally received.

About This and That

Our Hectanooga correspondent sends us the following: "Thomas L. Saulnier was at Ernest Thibault's recently making an ox yoke". This seems to be a trivial matter, but when he goes on to say: "This is the twenty-seventh hundred yoke he has made since he began the work," it becomes REAL news, and incidentally it shows us that trucks and tractors have by no means replaced the oxen in the estimation of our French fellow citizens. Another matter he refers to is also worthy of special mention, as follows: "Joseph B. Deveau has some potatoes ready to hoe for the first time. They were planted in his garden about the third week in March and are now three and four inches high."

Digby's "clean-up" campaign is forging ahead. Already there has been a marked improvement in the appearance of properties about town. Keep up the good work!

We still think it would be a good idea to give the paved streets a good flushing-down with the fire hose.

In spite of "hard times" it is good to see so much build- ing activity in Digby and vicinity at the present time. New homes and new stores are sure indications that our town is making progress, and the fact that houses for rental are almost impossible to find is proof that Digby's population keeps increasing. In addition to the buildings already under con- struction, there are rumors of others to be erected this sum- mer.

On Sunday the 1937-38 scallop season will come to a close. The season will be remembered as one of the most un- profitable in years. Weather conditions generally were against the fishermen; catches were only fair and the prices very poor. Fortunately there has been no loss of life in the fleet this season, although there have been several very nar- row escapes; two boats went to the bottom, and others met heavy losses in gear and mechanical trouble.

We understand the lobster fishermen are now getting a

CONCERT BY ST. JOHN'S

Programme
Sketch—Mock Trial.
Pigeon Song—Sunday School Scholars.
Orchestral Number—Lansdowne Orchestra.
Tableau—Sunday School Scholars.
Wallis Sisters—One of Your Old Favorites.
Sketch—Captain Forrester and Major Simons (as Charlie McCarthy).
Intermission.
Sketch—The Priceless Ingredient Solo—Mr. Harry, of Annapolis Royal.
Tableau—Sunday School Scholars.
Wallis Sisters—Song and Dance.
God Save the King.

This programme was received with much applause by a large audience in Oakdene Hall last Tuesday night, with gross receipts of over $50. The Tableau Vivants, under the direction of Mrs. E. W. Robinson, were very cleverly interpreted by the Sunday School scholars. The ever popular Wallis children added to their laurels, particularly Diana in the skipping rope dance, and as Charlie McCarthy Major Simons was quite too funny! After the concert a number remained to dance for an hour.

GOOD FRIDAY PICTURES

On the afternoon of Good Friday, very beautiful pictures commemorating the season, were shown in Sanford's hall. Both pictures and hall being provided by Saint John's Sunday School as a free treat to the children of the community.

The lantern was operated by John and Charlie Jefferson, while the staff of the Sunday School, L. V. Harris, Mrs. H. F. Hatheway and Miss Mollie Robinson, took charge of the children with Mrs. E. W. Robinson reading the story as depicted by the pictures. The attendance and reverence of the children was very marked, over a hundred of them being present and they sang with gusto the hymns shown on the screen. The pictures were exceptionally beautiful and the pity was that more adults did not avail themselves of the seats remaining vacant.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sanford and children spent Sunday at Mattand, with Mrs. Charles Merry.

Mrs. Alton Brown and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Bishop, of Lawrencetown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Chute, the past week.

Mrs. B. C. Clarke, who has spent the winter in Newton Centre, Mass., has returned, much improved in health, and is at present visiting her sister, Mrs. Geo. Rice, at Annapolis Royal before opening her own home.

HEADACHE AFTER HEADACHE

Now She's Free From Them.

A woman writes:—"I would like everyone who suffers from headaches to try Kruschen Salts. Before taking Kruschen Salts, I was free from a headache. But since I have been taking it regularly I have hardly had a headache, for which I am very thankful. I have been taking a small dose of Kruschen every morning in a glass of warm water, before my breakfast, and I feel so well."

(Mrs.) A. E. D.

How do you deal with headaches? Do you just take something to deaden the pain, without getting rid of the trouble which causes the pain? Headaches can generally be traced to a disordered stomach and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons—prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more from that cause. And that is just how Kruschen Salts bring swift and lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen aids Nature to cleanse your body completely of clogged waste matter.

Bernard Harris, a former resident of Bear River, died at the home of his son, in Seattle, a few days ago, after a short illness. He was born in Bear River 83 years ago, the son of the late William Henry Harris and Rachel (Beals) Harris, and lived the greater part of his life in this town. A few years ago, with his family, he moved to Seattle where he has since made his home. His wife, who before her marriage was Miss Ida Roop, predeceased him several years. In religion he was a strong adherent of the United Church of Canada. He is survived by two sons, Joseph, with whom he made his home in Seattle; F. R., residing in Bear River; and two daughters, Cora and Eleanor, both living in Seattle; also two sisters, Mrs. Laleah Dunn and Miss Ambrozine Harris, both of Bear River. Interment was at Seattle.

Worst peak-hour power stoppage in Sydney, New South Wales for years occurred when a cat jumped on a high-tension bar, causing 500 pounds (2,000) damage in the switch room. The cat died.

SMITH'S COVE HOSPITAL AND SOCIETY REPORT

Following is the report of the Smith's Cove Hospital Aid Society since assuming the responsibility of the upkeep of the Smith's Cove room in the Digby General Hospital.

At the quarterly business meeting of the Society on January 20, 1937, it was voted that instead of contributing to the general hospital fund as had previously been done, it would take over the upkeep of one room in the Hospital, to be known as the Smith's Cove room. (The president and a committee had already interviewed the matron regarding the matter and it was known that a room with two beds was available.)

At that time there was the sum of one dollar in the treasury, out a minstrel show was being prepared, which when presented, netted the sum of $23.74, and the work was begun in earnest. With the help of interested friends it has been carried on successfully as the following report will show: Donations were received as follows:

1 pr. Pillows, 1 Bed Lamp—Mrs. E. Winchester and "Puss"; 2 prs. Curtains—Mrs. Charles Burt and Mrs. Stanley Weir; 2 Curtain Rods—Mrs. Charles Green; 6 Bath Towels—Mrs. Anthony Hubley; Pillow Cases—2 prs. Mrs. Donald Cossaboom; 1 pr. Mrs. Geo. Wightman; 1 pr. Mrs. Ralph Cossitt; 1 pr. Mrs. E. B. Taylor; 1 pr. Mrs. E. B. Weir.

Name Plate for Door—Ralph E. Cossitt.

From Contribution Box at St. Ann's Church, $6.90; from Mrs. E. W. Bryant, $5.00; from St. Ann's church, $5.00.

A quilt was made by the ladies and sold by tickets, which realized the sum of $36.75.

Collections and Membership Fees, $10.78; Calendars, $12.80.

The following articles have been bought by the Society:—1 Beauty Rest Mattress; 1 Mattress; $27.13; 1 Dresser, $14.50; 4 Woolen Blankets, $13.60; 4 pr. Sheets, 6 Draw Sheets, 6 Stand Covers, $17.90; Cost of redecorating room, $13.10. Collection of jams, jellies and pickles have been made each year for the Hospital.

The committee wish to take this opportunity to publicly thank a those who have helped in any way, by donations or otherwise, and to remind the many friends that further donations will be gratefully received at any time.

Wm. C. Woodman
Secretary.

Tourist versus Industry

To the Editor of the Courier.

Dear Sir:—Mr. Wilde, in his letter of April 8, states that he is keen to foster industry in Digby. He is certainly using a most peculiar method. Consider his statements in his previous letter—"Digby has no outstanding features to attract the industrialist, the time and money entailed in the development of such industry, and the uncertainty of its outcome, puts that beyond the realm of practical politics." Beautiful phrasing but hardly conducive to the fostering of industry in our town.

It is very evident from Mr. Wilde's letters on the subject of the tourist trade in Digby that he is not very familiar with his subject matter. He states, "We have never tried to develop the tourist industry." (Mar. 18.) Does he really believe that? If he does he is laboring under a misapprehension. In the past quarter century or more Digby and the citizens of our town have spent considerable amounts of money on projects and schemes designed to promote tourist business. What of our local golf course, the clearing of our waterfront, and the building of the boulevard along Water Street? Money has also been spent on advertising space, has been taken in various tourist booklets and papers having wide spread circulation. The Courier, too, has done its part through articles on the scenic beauty of Digby and other means of promoting interest in our town. May be, in Mr. Wilde's opinion, these were not steps to promote the tourist business? Perhaps, Mr. Editor, after Mr. Wilde has lived here longer and acquired deeper insight into conditions and a more thorough knowledge of past developments in our town, he would be more qualified to speak.

Mr. Wilde in his letter of the 8th, says:—"It rests with the people of this town to decide whether they will throw themselves with enthusiasm into a constructive tourist campaign, or whether they will continue to dream of unknown industries until poverty drives them from the scene." Mr. Wilde is very kind in letting us make that choice but may I suggest that there is another alternative? We could perhaps cease dreaming about industry and adopt a constructive industrial campaign. The town of Canning, N. S., has awakened to the value of industry. In a recent issue of a Halifax paper we find a large advertisement signed by the town clerk of Canning, and headed, "Home Building Sites and Industrial Opportunity." Sentences from that ad read:—"Canning is a port of call for the Saint John-Minas Basin shipping route, and both rail and water facilities are available for industrial output. We call particular attention to those interested in the canning industry. We are in the centre of the finest fruit and vegetable growing district in the Annapolis Valley with labour available. We invite interested parties to communicate with us or come and see." Surely, Mr. Editor, it is not beyond the realm of practical politics for Digby to do something like that. At least I think it is a better method of fostering industry than that adopted by Mr. Wilde.

From his letters, Mr. Wilde seems to think that there must be a clean cut choice between tourists and industry. I don't think that is so. We can have both. Industrial development need have no detrimental effect on our tourist business. All of the visitors to Digby are not so sensitive that the sight of a factory or the sound of a whistle mortally offends them. As a matter of fact, if there were factories in Digby the tourists would visit them and thus while away some of the time of their stay here. From experience, I know that the tourists, or most of them, are very interested in what goes on here. Every summer we have numerous visitors to our plant who show great interest in the work done and invariably buy some of our product to take home as a souvenir, something actually made in Digby.

In his letter, Mr. Wilde questions my knowledge of labour and industrial activities. He asks who will train our labour and who bear the cost of that training? Has he never heard of vocational schools and the apprentice system? I may not be so thoroughly versed in the labour question as to make my opinions worth considering, but may I suggest that Mr. Wilde certainly does not show proof of his ability to be taken as an authority on the subject.

Mr. Wilde seems to have a great deal of time on his hands to canvass the merchants of our town on their views of the tourist business. There are a few other questions the answers to which I should like to see. Perhaps Mr. Wilde could do some more canvassing. These questions are:—

(1) How many of our young men and women get their living directly from the tourist business? (2) How many families, especially of the working classes, does the tourist industry support in Digby? (3) Is it possible for a population of 1400 to exist for 12 months on the profits from our tourist season of some 6 weeks? May I ask Mr. Wilde, in making that canvass, merely ask the questions stated and not bring personalities, and golden voiced argument into play.

One day last week I had occasion to go on business to an industrial establishment in our town. In the office of that plant I found ten people working. I asked if this was a year round staff and was told it was. Can Mr. Wilde point out any tourist activity that gives year round employment to ten people in our town? Ten, you know, was the number in the office alone; I know there were a great many more in the manufacturing part of the plant.

I am accused in Mr. Wilde's letter of trying to foster "class feeling" in my article. If being interested in the welfare of our town and its working people: if trying with what poor abilities I have to help them, is fostering "class feeling" then I am guilty. Does Mr. Wilde know that one out of fourteen of our town population is living in dire need the year round? Does he know that children in some of the so-called homes in our town are not as well cared for as the ordinary farmer's cattle, having none of the comforts of bed clothing and usual home utensils? These, Mr. Editor, are facts. Mr. Wilde need not take my word for this but can approach the welfare organizations or perhaps, as I have done, visit some of these homes.

In closing my letter I should like to state clearly my position with regard to the subject under discussion. I, as I stated in my first letter, am firmly convinced that Digby cannot prosper if she depends solely on the tourist business, she must have industries to take care of the major portion of the year when the tourist business is idle. Tourist business should only be a sideline, industry our main object. Conditions such as I stated in my previous paragraph do not speak well of what the tourist business is doing for our town, we need something to balance this industry which benefits only a few.

V. G. C.
Victor G. Cardozo.

To the Editor of the Courier.

Dear Sir:—It is a sad commentary upon the interest and enthusiasm of our citizens, that the only word in support of my drive for increased tourist activity should have to come from Lynn, Mass., U. S. A. ! ! !

The writer of the enclosed précis is clearly a reader of the Courier, and equally clearly quite familiar with conditions in Digby. Perhaps where my sincere efforts have failed, our distant friend may strike the chord which will act as a clarion call to the citizens of Digby, and lead them from mere words of action.

"As the winter population of Nova Scotia has decreased, it would have to have industries very superior to those of Maine, New Brunswick and Upper Canada to bring back the workers for Digby plants. Generally speaking, those who seek employment in Digby are not Digbyites by birth, but people from Yarmouth County or the remote country settlements. These employees are constantly changing as the low wages cannot satisfy them excepting for a short period. They become a problem to the town of Digby in many cases and neither they nor their low wages are a help or a source of pride to the stable population. Very few Digbyites are employed by or are financially interested in any local industry. Of course, every informed person knows that geographically Digby is unsuited to develop industries that would benefit more than a handful of people. It should do as the State of Maine did two or three generations ago, concede the fact that the tourist business could be made a tremendous asset, hold its young people to a certain extent, and at any rate be a first-class vacation-ground and not a deserted, dismal region, trying to fool itself that it could ever compete with the growing industrial centers. What people want increasingly for their holidays are places away from such centers. Maine has grown rich by her fore-sight. Nova Scotia will do so too, eventually, but it seems to take longer to open the eyes of her people. Anyone from Upper Canada or New England sees the situation in a proper perspective. Only the far-seeing Nova Scotians, especially those who have moved away and return for visits to their old home will agree with this point of view."

"Ain't it the truth? Well, Digby, Lynn's pitching them right up to you, what are you going to do about it?"

And in conclusion, thank you very much Lynn for your very helpful ammunition. I hope that one of these days I may have the pleasure of meeting you in person.

Yours very truly,
C. N. G. Wilde

Mother's Day has long been observed, but you probably never celebrated Father's Day, although it would seem that a father occupies a rather important place in the world. Realizing that a Father's Day has just as much reason for being observed as has Mother's Day, manufacturers and retailers have decided upon June 19th as the date for Father's Day.

DAFOE FIGHTS DIONNE SUIT

A fight for possession of the Dionne quintuplets and control of their fortune of $600,000 recently found Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, country doctor-saviour of the babies' lives, opposing Olivia Dionne, their dissatisfied farmer father.

Announcement Dionne sought judicial investigation of guardianship set up by the Ontario Legislature brought from the Calander babies' famous physician a change that outside interests are "trying to get control" of the girls. They will be four years old May 28.

Consideration by Attorney General Conant of Ontario of Dionne's request for the probe was deferred until Mr. Conant studies a report of a recent investigation by Percy D. Wilson, official guardian of minor children in Ontario. Mr. Wilson is a quint guardian with Dr. Dafoe, Judge J. A. Vail of North Bay, Ont., and Olivia Dionne.

Reunion of Annette, Cecilia, Yvonne, Emilie and Marie with their family is the motive of the request for the probe, Henri St. Jacques, K. C., of Ottawa, Dionne counsel said.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

fair price for their catches—but the catches are too small to bring in much. Lobstering today is quite different to what it must have been in the memory of some of the old timers who tell us that in their day they used to go to the grounds and bring in whole dory loads, whereas now they are fortunate if they get twenty-five or thirty after a day of hauling their pots. Others have told us of placing bait under rocks in the Racquette and getting lobsters in that manner—but "their days is gone forever".

To date we have had no reports on shore fishing for this season along Digby Neck and the Islands—but there is seldom much doing until after May 1st.

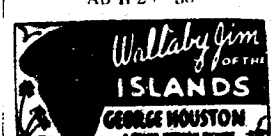

Local disciples of Isak Walton have been trying their luck on the local trout streams since the season opened and their luck has been varied. Some met with little luck; others came back with tall stories, and a few with "tall" fish.

We have received from the Government Bureau of Information, Halifax, copy of the pamphlet issued by the Provincial Improvement Weeks Committee, entitled "Let Us Make Nova Scotia More Attractive". There are definite and timely suggestions here covering suitable flowers to plant and shrubs and trees to set out. The care of home and school grounds and of church, cemetery and other public premises touched on—all definite things that can be done. The committee report a wider response throughout the Province this year than ever before to their suggestions in respect to improvements.

About This and That

What about parking in front of sections on Water Street where the sidewalk is fenced off for new construction?

"No Parking" signs erected in front of the new theatre appear to be respected, but, at the time of writing no such signs had been placed on the fenced-off sidewalk in front of May's Block.

While the construction work is in progress citizens have no serious objections to the inconvenience of stepping off the sidewalk and on to the street—but it certainly is not fair that they should be compelled to squeeze between parked cars and step blindly into the middle of the paved street. It is not only unfair—it is also unsafe.

Sidewalks are built especially for pedestrians, and when it becomes necessary to fence off a portion of the sidewalk, a section of the street should be reserved for their benefit, and the street committee or police should see to it that this section is not used for parking space.

And at any rate, a motorist with a grain of thoughtfulness in his head, would park elsewhere.

The following letter from a Mahone Bay student appeared in the Halifax Chronicle on Monday, and we think it is worthy of reprinting in our columns. The letter speaks for itself—our comments are not necessary.

"Sir:—The provincial examinations will soon have to be written by the students of the high schools of Nova Scotia. We sincerely hope that the persons to whom the task of making out these examinations is given will take their job seriously. They have not done so in the past. The system is none too perfect but it is made more imperfect by persons who set examination papers which do not test the ability of the student but merely try to find out how much he was able to commit to memory.

"The English course in Grade XII is excellent yet the examination on that splendid book 'Canada Book of Prose and Verse' was disgraceful. The majority of the questions tested ability to

The U. S. Department of Commerce estimates there are more than 9,300,000 miles of highways in the world.

Rich in scenic beauty and historic lore—a veritable "Town of First Things"—Annapolis Royal, the oldest town in Canada, claims the attention of the tourists, who, as the realization of paved roads and freedom from dust is brought home to them, come in still larger numbers to the fair shores of Nova Scotia.

Nestling between the North and South Mountains, and almost surrounded by the wide Annapolis and French basins, with the winding Allian River to the South, the old town has a superb location. A long straight street, bordered with fine old trees, neat residences and well-kept lawns, runs through the centre of the town, with well-stocked shops, gasoline stations and all necessities of modern travel, situated at the lower end.

Founded by DeMonts in 1605, Port Royal, as it was then called, had a stirring history. For years it was the "shuttlecock" between the French and English, and many sanguinary encounters have taken place in the town now so quiet and peaceful. The English finally gained possession in 1710, and the name was changed to Annapolis Royal in honor of Queen Anne.

With this historic background naturally there is much to interest the tourists, and crowds every year flock to the museum at Fort Anne, a treasure-house of relics connected with the past. At the neighboring village of Lequille, Poutincourt erected the first grist mills, and from the head of the river, glided the first vessels built in Nova Scotia. Here, too, is the MicMac settlement, where the Indians still make baskets in demand among the visitors.

Another spot of rare interest is the site of Champlain's Habitation on the Granville side of the river, where a fine monument was unveiled by the late Mrs. J. M. Owen, then President of the Historical Association of Annapolis Royal, in August, 1924. At this spot considerable research, under the leadership of Mrs. F. A. Richardson, of Cambridge, Mass., has been carried on, and various stones and sites discovered, notably that of Champlain's Garden, where a vine and vines from New England are to be planted this year. Mrs. Richardson was also the translator of Les Caribou's play "Neptunes Theatre", the first dramatic performance in North America, enacted on the sparkling waters of the Basin on November 14, 1606, to welcome Poutincourt on his return from a discouraging trip of exploration. She is also deeply interested in a plan to restore the original Habitation, from maps left by Champlain and already money has been collected for this purpose by the "Associates of Port Royal".

Probably the spot most visited by tourists is the old Garrison, now Fort Anne Park, taken over by the Canadian Government in 1917 and set aside as a National Park. With travel tours, buses and individual cars, thousands annually inspect the beautiful, well kept grounds, and stroll around the ramparts with its ever-changing panorama of colour on woodside, mountains and river.

Hours might be spent in exploring the grounds, before the treasures of the Museum are inspected, as the statue of DeMonts, erected for the Tercentenary celebration in 1904; the old underground chamber, commonly called the "Black Hole"; the powder-magazine of Caen stone in 1708; the sun dial, unveiled on July 1, 1918; the monuments to Samuel Vetch and Paul Mascarene; the old Millstone, brought from France about 1610 and various other memorials hold a charm which inclines one to linger.

Within the Administration Building, once the Officers Quarters, the visitor finds an up-to-date, fire-proof building, thoroughly re-constructed in 1935, and filled with a collection of rare and valuable antiques and relics, which it is impossible in this space to enumerate. Much has been written of the "Acadian Room", a fac-simile of French living-room, with its hand made furniture, curious paintings, utensils and bric-a-brac. The Library, too, is a fascinating spot, with pictures, maps and books of great value, and a large scrap book filled with old photographs of the town and autographs and letters of famous men.

Adjacent to the Fort is the old Cemetery, with quaint and ancient grave stones, some dated as early as 1720, and adjoining that is the fine Court House, with its neat "Square".

The oldest Church in town is St. Luke's Episcopal Church, which celebrated its centenary on May 21, 1922, and which contains many memorials of marble and brass, several stained glass windows and the beautiful prayer book sent by the late King George V, and conveyed by the Bishop of London, when he visited Annapolis Royal in 1910. The Catholic Church of St. Thomas also contains valuable memorials, among them a bronze tablet to commemorate the baptism of the Indian Chief Memberton, the first in the New World, and here may be seen a quaintly carved altar, brought from France a century ago. The old Missal used by the Acadians before the Expulsion, was formerly kept here, but has been removed to Halifax. The Baptist Church celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on September 7, 1924, and the newest church in town is the United Church of St. George and St. Andrew, dedicated on December 31, 1911.

The town has three public hotels, with many "over-night houses", where guests can be comfortably accommodated. The Hillsdale House and bungalows are used exclusively for the summer trade, and are situated in extensive grounds, with numerous trees of different varieties and gorgeous flower beds. The house itself is noted for its antique furniture, and in his book "To Nova Scotia", Morris Longstrech speaks of the "Duncan Phylle Table" and the "Napoleon Sofa", as well as the "Royal" bed, on which the late King George V slept when he visited here in 1884.

The Queen Hotel also situated in attractive, tree-shaded grounds, is open all the year around and entertains a large number of transient as well as permanent boarders. The Annapolis Royal Hotel is situated in the business part of the town and is well patronized.

The first Social Club in the New World, "L'Ordre de Bon Temps", was established by Champlain at Port Royal in the winter of 1606-07. This club has been the subject of a poem written by William McLennan and has been illustrated by Charles W. Jefferys in one of his best known drawings, now hanging in the museum at Fort Anne. It is also commemorated locally by the monthly community gathering "The Order of Good Cheer".

The Memorial Town Hall is well worth a visit, as it houses many interesting pictures, and contains the bronze Memorial tablet, with the names of the town boys, who were enlisted in the Great War. Hanging beside this tablet, with its wreath of scarlet poppies are autographed photographs of the late King George and Queen Mary. In the auditorium upstairs, a wonderful collection of mounted game heads presented by Dr. A. C. Fales is of especial interest to sportsmen.

The principal summer sports are golf and tennis, and one of the largest skating rinks in the Province adds to the enjoyment of winter months. The golf course is situated a short distance from town, with an attractive club house and magnificent view of the river and surrounding country side. The tennis Club House adjoins the attractive courts, which are located near the Academy grounds.

Good telephone service and numerous taxis within call, make motoring a pleasure and many interesting drives are possible. A favorite is the wood lined road to Krdgemakookee and Milford, where splendid summer hotels cater to lovers of nature, or one may cross to Granville, over the big Bridge, and visit Victoria Beach, where the North Mountain ends, or many of the fishing villages along the Bay of Fundy shore. There are also charming drives to Clementsport, Bear River and many places on the road to Yarmouth.

Always there is some different, something of peace and restfulness in the atmosphere of the place, and strangers speak of the gracious hospitality of the people, and the allure that seems to call back those who have once lived here.

A visit in June can never be forgotten, for then the town is like a huge flower garden, with the fragrant white and purple lilacs, the scarlet japonicas, the apple blossoms and many chestnut trees covered with their tiny lighted "Christmas trees", while lawns are gay with tulips and buttercups, and wild iris make bright the fields.

All these charms make of little old Annapolis a spot not to be passed by in haste, but to linger awhile and enjoy.

The first court in Canada was held in Annapolis Royal, on Thursday, April 20, 1721.

The first Sheriff for the County of Annapolis, of whom there is any definite record, was Phineas Lovett, Jr., who served from April to June, 1782.

The first farmer in Canada was Louis Hebert, in whose memory a tablet was unveiled at Annapolis Royal, in 1930, by a direct descendant of the distinguished pioneer of "New France".

The first Protestant service held in Canada, was solemnized at the chapel of St. Anne, Port Royal, on October 10, 1710. The service was read by Rev. John Harrison, and a sermon preached by Rev. Samuel Heskier.

The first train of passenger cars equipped with Westinghouse Automatic Air Brakes, made the run on the W. V. A. R., on May 5, 1884, with engineer driver Daniel Copeland in charge. Mr. Copeland died here a few years ago.

The first regular Roman Catholic Priest at Port Royal, now Annapolis Royal, was Rev. Jesse Fleische, who accompanied Poutincourt from France in 1610. He was he who performed the first baptism in Canada, on St. John's Day, June 24, 1610. A portrait of Father Fleische hangs in the vestibule of St. Thomas' Church.

The first Masonic Lodge on Canadian soil was established at Annapolis Royal, in 1783, by Erasmus James Phillips—an officer of the famous Fighting Fortieth regiment—who was made Grand Master of Nova Scotia. The building where this meeting took place, then known as Sinclair's Inn, is still standing under the name of the Annapolis Royal Hotel, and a big celebration is to be held in Halifax this summer to mark the two hundredth anniversary of this event.

A NEW FLAG

To the Editor of the Courier.

Dear Sir:—In your last issue under the caption "A New Flag" you state that "the only definite proposals made have been urged by single voices" and you give the names of Hugh Savage, of Dunbar, B. C., and Cameron McIntosh, M. P., for North Battleford, Sask. It often happens that we know more about matters across the continent than we know at our own front door. I would like to add the name of L. V. Shaw of Clementsport to those you mentioned. Mr. Shaw has for years been urging upon the government the adoption of a distinctive Canadian flag. He has kept this before the public by frequent letters in the Halifax Press. The thousands who have visited the Old Church have seen one design he suggested to the Department. If your reporter could interview Mr. Shaw he could obtain some interesting matter on this subject. The East has its interested and up-to-date thinkers and designers as well as the West and it is only fair that it should be known. I know that this is your attitude.

Yours for Service,
Rev. A. W. L. Smith,
Clementsport, N. S.

WHERE CATHOLICS MEET IN MAY

Catholics the world over, with the reading of papal bulls, converge on Budapest, capital city of Hungary, May 23-30, for the 34th International Eucharistic congress. With Cardinal Seredi, Archbishop of Hungary, welcoming the visiting thousands, the congress will get under way Monday, May 30.

Scallop Fishing Season Closed

Officially, the scallop fishing season for 1937-1938 came to an end at midnight Saturday last—but the weather, having no respect for persons or official seasons, put an end to scallop fishing early in the week.

After Wednesday night's storm of last week, most of the skippers decided they were through—some plan to operate next year—others have not decided just what steps they will take, they may give up scalloping altogether, and if prospects look even a little brighter, they may be with the fleet when the 1938-39 season opens in the fall.

Most of the South Shore boats which have been operating out of Digby for a number of years have left. Capt. Frank Strum left Friday of last week with his Diesel powered sloop "Little Roy", for his home port at Liverpool. The writer did not see Capt. Strum before he left but some weeks ago in conversation with him he was told the "Little Roy" would likely go sword-fishing again this summer.

The "Violetta G.", Capt. Almon Parks' craft, one of the first of the South Shore boats to "scallop fish" out of Digby, has also left for his home port at East LaHave. The "Violetta G." was accompanied by Capt. Aubrey Backman's scallop which was headed for Lunenburg. Capt. J. A. MacKenzie has also sailed for Halifax with his craft.

With the local boats some will engage in coastal trade during the summer; others will fit up for "the tourist business". During the past year or two several of the local scallop boats have not done badly by catering to the tourists during the summer months with excursions, moonlight sails, and deep sea fishing parties; others will try their luck at fresh fishing, more or less a new venture with many of the

HOPE DAWNS FOR PARALYZED GIRL

Here is a picture which may mark the most important milestone in the life of 20-year-old Sylvia Davis, of Kansas City, Mo. Municipal Council in Semi-Annual Session

Convening on Tuesday afternoon for its semi-annual meeting the Municipal Council for the District of Digby, is now in session at the Court House. On Tuesday afternoon the report of the committee on unemployment relief was heard, and it was indicated that unemployment conditions throughout the municipality have shown some improvement since last year, and that conditions in that respect are nearing normal.

The committee, which composed of Councilors B. S. Morrell, Guy D. Dunn and Warden J. V. Andrews, recently went to Halifax to interview officials in that city with respect to the expired unemployment relief agreement, which was not renewed. The $1,600 of unemployment relief funds on hand will be applied to sinking fund and unemployment relief debentures.

It was decided also that the proposed addition to the Alms House at Marshall's Town, would not be erected this year. The addition, planned for the housing of insane patients of the Municipality, has been discussed at various sessions. Owing to lack of accommodation, it has been necessary in the past to board a number of these patients at other institutions in the province, principally at the Lunenburg County Home at Day's Spring. The Digby Council has received notice from the Lunenburg Council that board in that institution will be reduced to $4.50 per week.

The committee on Tenders and Public Property received fifteen applications for the position of janitor at the Court House. Delbert Forrest, of Mount Pleasant, was engaged. He was also appointed Court Constable.

On Wednesday afternoon the Council made its annual inspection of the Alms House at Marshall's Town. The morning session was mostly devoted to committee work in regards to assessment matters.

It has been decided no repairs will be made to the Court House this year.

Those attending the session include: Warden J. V. Andrews, North Range; Councilors B. S. Morrell, Freeport; D. B. Kenney, Westport; Wm. Cossaboom, Tiverton; H. W. Cossaboom, Lake Midway; Clarence Cornwall, Rossaway; Guy D. Dunn, Culloden; Wm. Woodman Smith's Cove; S. E. Woodman, Marshall's Town; H. E. Chisholm, Bear River; H. B. A Frenchman was relating his experience in studying the English language. He said: "When I first discovered that if I was quick, I was fast; that if I was tied, I was fast; if I spent too freely, I was fast; and that not to eat was to fast. I was discouraged. But when I came across the sentence, 'The first one won one-dollar prize,' I gave up trying."

WHAT TO EAT TO BE HEALTHY

No less than twelve minerals are required for an adequate diet, but from a practical standpoint we need only be concerned with a supply of three of them, because if our diet is at all reasonable one, it will contain adequate amounts of the other nine. The three minerals that we must watch are:

Calcium, the lack of which causes defective bones and teeth.

Iron, the lack of which causes anaemia.

Iodine, the lack of which causes goitre.

There is a constant storage and use of calcium in the bones, and a person may appear in the best of health, yet his bones may not contain as much calcium as they should. In time, this deficiency will interfere with the health. For example, a pregnant woman is likely to suffer from tooth decay because there is a tremendous drain on her calcium resources. If she does not have an adequate amount in her diet, nature takes it out of her bones and teeth.

Our greatest sources of calcium are milk and milk products. To get an adequate supply, adults should consume each day, close to a pint of milk, while the growing child who is forming new bones should take a pint and a half of milk. Cheese is an excellent source of calcium, too.

Iron is obtained largely from vegetables and fruits. Other sources are eggs, liver and kidney.

Iodine is obtained largely in sea foods. People who live remote from the sea have to depend largely upon iodized salt as their source of this mineral food.

The following foods give you minerals: Milk and cheese, eggs, liver and kidney, leafy vegetables such as celery, lettuce and cabbage, also fruits and iodized salt.

Remember—milk and cheese for calcium; eggs, liver, kidney, vegetables and fruits for iron; and iodized salt for iodine.

MARRIAGES

Leonard—Watkins

Grace United Church, Digby, was the scene of a beautiful wedding at 1.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when Lillian Aileen, daughter of Mrs. Watkins and the late A. G. Watkins, of this town, and Malcolm Stewart Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robie Leonard, of Paradise, were united in marriage by Rev. T. W. Hodgson, Ph.D., pastor of the church. The church was beautifully decorated with mayflowers and greenery by members of the Flamingo C. G. I. T. group, the bridal couple taking their place beneath a floral arch for the ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Howard Watkins, wore a gown of white satin with conventional veil, and carried a bouquet of calla lilies and white carnations. She was attended by Miss Eleanor Wallis, who wore a long powder blue taffeta dress and picture hat, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and Easter lilies. Little Miss Dorothy York, niece of the bride, was train bearer, and wore a dress of dotted white organdy. Victor Thorpe, of Kentville, was groom's man, and nuptial music was rendered by Miss Dorothy Dunn. Ushers were Keith Potter of Plympton and Harold A. Nichols, town clerk. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Leonard left on a short wedding trip to Saint John. The bride's travelling costume was navy blue suit with white fur collar and navy accessories. On their return they will reside in Digby, where Mr. Leonard opened a law office some few months ago.

Cormack—Dunnet

A wedding of Glasgow-Cathness interest took place recently, in Partick Congregational Church at Glasgow, Scotland, when Stanley C. Cormack, M. A., Ph.D., A. I. C., was married to Miss Clara D. Dunnet, B. Sc. The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. K. Smith, M. A., and the church, which was beautifully decorated with flowers, held a large congregation of guests and interested friends. (The bride's father is a brother of Mrs. Alex. Banks of Smith's Cove, and uncle to Mrs. Reg. Weir and John Banks, of Digby.)

Seek Amendment to School Assessment of Church Point

Inspector L. A. d'Entremont convened the annual meeting of the School Commissioners at Clare's Court House on May 3. According to a recommendation of commissioners at the 1937 meeting the Inspector had four new members of the Board appointed: The Rev. Fathers Bourneuf, Maillat, Doucet and Gastonguay.

Upon a motion of Commissioner Hache, of Meteghan, to the effect that the mode of assessment for school taxes be changed to permit the school sections to collect rates on all properties in each section for the better support of the schools in general, the Board appeared before the Municipal Council. Inspector d'Entremont voiced the Board's demand that the Council present to the N. S. Government a resolution for the repeal of the 1918 statute respecting the school assessment.

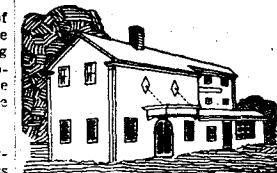

The interim committee for the ensuing year was elected as follows: Rev. Fathers Gastonguay, Maillat, Major Stehelin, Alexandre Deveau, Leo Thibault and Felix Gaudet.

There were present: Commissioners Hache, of Meteghan; Antime Doucet, Belliveau's Cove; Gastonguay, Concessions; Maillat, of Salmon River; Doucet, of Saultnierville; Stehelin, of Church Point; Thibault, of Mayflower, and Alexandre Deveau, of Salmon River.

Ajt. Barker, who last week paid a visit to the local Salvation Army, enjoyed a splendid attendance during the four days of his campaign in Digby. His illustrated pictures on "Pilgrim's Progress" were greatly appreciated, and enjoyed, and his dramatization of the Biblical story of "Abraham's Sacrifice", presented in the Salvation Army Citadel on Sunday evening was especially well done. During the campaign nine young people and thirteen adults consecrated themselves to God.

STORE BEING REBUILT
Carpenters are at work rebuilding the grocery store of E. George Hinman, of Conway, destroyed by fire two weeks ago this morning. Already considerable progress has been made in erecting the frame.

In four years Lincolnshire, England, has become as famous for early spring flowers as the Scilly Isles. Since 1931 cut flowers bought from foreign countries have been reduced to less than a quarter, and at the height of the season Lincolnshire sends a hundred tons a day of tulips and narcissis to market. A 6,000-ton crop is gathered in the Spalding market alone.

A preacher at the close of his services said: "Let all in the house, who are paying their debts, stand up." Presently, every man, woman and child with one exception, rose to their feet. After they had been seated, the preacher then said: "Now let every man not paying, stand up." The exception, a care-worn, hungry-looking individual, clothed in a last summer's suit, slowly assumed perpendicular position. "How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "that you are the only one not able to meet his obligations?" "I run a newspaper," he answered meekly, "and the brethren here who stood up are my subscribers." "Let us pray," exclaimed the minister.

LODGES ATTEND CHURCH SERVICE

At the United Church of Canada on Sunday evening the Oddfellows and Rebekah's Lodge marched in a body to this service. It being a very impressive service, the pastor, Rev. R. L. Roach, spoke from 1st Samuel, chapter 18, 1st verse, based on "Friendship". A ladies' trio, "Wonderful Place Called Calvary", was rendered by Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. R. L. Roach, Mrs. H. E. Harris.

Our School Commissioners have re-engaged our Oakdene staff for the year 1938-39, as follows:—Principal, M. S. Oakes; Vice-Principal, Miss Pearl Campbell; Intermediate, Miss Doris Sanford; Second Primary, Miss Lillie Forbes, (grades 3 and 4); Primary, Miss June Schmitt.

At the morning service in the Baptist Church on Sunday last, a quartette composed of Rev. G. D. Brydon, A. B. Locke, C. R. Cann and G. E. Rose rendered very acceptably two beautiful selections, the first being "Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken", later they gave a fine rendition of "Somebody is Knocking at Your Door".

In the afternoon these same quartette members visited Mrs. Annie Bogart at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller, where they delighted her with their musical selections. Mrs. Bogart, who is lovingly styled "Bear River's young lady," will celebrate her 97th birthday in June 2nd.

At Home 20 Weeks With Rheumatism

Wife Feared Husband Would Never Work Again

When her husband had been at home 20 weeks with rheumatism in his back this woman began to think he would never work again. At last, she said to him: "Let's try Kruschen," and the chance that took place was, in her own words, "like a miracle." Here is her letter:

"My husband is subject to rheumatism and suffered terribly with his back. Some time ago I had him in the house 20 weeks with it. I really didn't think he would ever work again. We tried all the different kinds of salts you could mention, but none of them did him any good. Then I said, 'Let's try Kruschen.' Since then, we have proved Kruschen Salts to be worth its weight in gold. My husband is back at his job, thanks to Kruschen. The change it made is like a miracle."—(Mrs.) B.

Two of the salts in Kruschen are the most effectual solvents of uric acid crystals known to science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals and convert them into a harmless solution, which is then expelled through the natural channels.

The Farmer's Son Has His Say:---

"What about that Agricultural College Course, Dad?"

"A little early to talk about it, isn't it? Besides where are we going to get the money?"

"Now is the time to start planning, Dad. If we could grow more of our own feed, fertilize some pasture to keep the cows milking full time, and raise a few more hogs and more poultry, that would help produce the extra cash. We could make a start anyway this season."

"That sounds good, son. Should have done it before. I'm with you on it. Let's try it out."

"Besides, Dad, it doesn't take much money. No tuition fees. Just enough for room and board and books. And two years at Truro is sure going to mean a lot to me because I want to be a good farmer and a good citizen."

Two Injured in Auto Accident

Two cars were badly damaged, and a passenger from each injured, in a collision which occurred yesterday afternoon, near the corner of the main Yarmouth-Halifax highway and the middle cross road to Digby Neck.

The injured are: Mrs. Bernard Seeley, of Marshalltown, and Mrs. H. L. Woodman, of Digby.

Mr. Woodman, local Dodge dealer, in company with his wife, was driving out of town in the direction of Yarmouth. Between the Alms House and the cross road he swung out in the highway to pass a truck parked on the side of the main highway. His view of the cross road corner on the Marshalltown side was obstructed by a small building and a clump of alders. He claims he did not see the Seeley car coming from Marshalltown and approaching the main highway, coming down the hill on his left. The collision occurred when Seeley attempted to cross the paved road and continue to his home on the crossroad.

As a result of the impact, the Woodman car was ditched, and the Seeley car turned over on its side in the middle of the main road. Mr. Seeley was accompanied by his wife and small child. Both were closed cars.

When the Woodman car came to a stop, Mrs. Seeley, who had been thrown in some manner from her husband's vehicle, was lying under the exhaust pipe of the Woodman car. She suffered cuts and bruises, and was badly burned somewhat about the legs by the exhaust. She was taken to her home.

Mrs. Woodman, whose head was thrown with considerable force against the windshield, also suffered from severe bruises. Injuries to the other parties were slight.

Both cars were badly damaged, although the Woodman car returned to town late yesterday afternoon under its own power.

CAN 'CANNED MUSIC' BE TINED? MUSICIANS SAY IT CUTS JOBS

"Canned music," says the American Federation of Musicians, has got to stay in the can.

It's music, all right. But its wide use in the movies is prolonging the depression for several hundred artists, the A. F. of M. complains.

Hollywood's canned music, on sound tracks, is played over and over again in picture after picture, somewhat like the next-door neighbor's daughter plays "Thanks for the Memory."

A producer making a film on a very limited budget telephones a musical library, probably Abe Meyer's, and says:

"I need 100 feet of some march for the main title, 38 feet of sob stuff for the funeral, 22 feet of assorted barnyard noises and 337 feet of 'something sweet' for the love scenes."

Mr. Meyer sells music by the foot, or the rod, if anybody likes it that way. He may sell one symphony orchestra recording to a half dozen film makers, or snatches of a jazz band's rumba to 20. It's the same music all the time, which he had recorded, but it sounds different in different settings.

The musicians have formally protested the use of such music, demanding that producers hire an orchestra for every recording. Musicians get $10 an hour, with a three-hour minimum, for movie work. That explains why the smaller producers keep Abe Meyer in business.

Conferences to consider the demand are being held now between Musicians and Producers representatives.

The Londonderry Corporation has decided that jazz music has a bad effect on the organ. Playing of such music on the famous Guildhall organ has now been banned.

Hints On Fashion

Play Clothes Are Stunning This Season

Play clothes grow more and more important in the modern woman's scheme of living. They are the first thing she thinks of when planning her vacation wardrobe at any season of the year in any place. And to be smartly—if not expensively—dressed for her particular type of recreation is the height of her ambition, and even more important than that she shall be chic for her formal hours.

Florence George, blonde young screen player, shows what is the correct thing in play clothes in southern California.

She is modelling a two-piece linen creation which includes shorts with a halter top attached, and a coat dress with a short, flared skirt.

Red and blue bias tape is used for color contrast, and at the waist, not to miss the armhole, note which seems this season to be an integral part of fashion, are two bunches of firecrackers fashioned from the tape for a waist-line accent.

The beach soled shoes Miss George is wearing are the new cork soled raffia sandals that have been so successful at the southern beaches this winter.

Style Whimsies

Manishly tailored pyjamas of silk crepe or silk shirtings are again to appear on the beaches, or on the terrace or yacht. In fact, they will be seen wherever milady lounges.

Exaggerated shoulder emphasis is out definitely, but shoulder padding continues in use.

A new color in spring hosiery is "Zinnia."

Crosses are still very popular jewelry. They can be had in silver, gold or black, set with stones or plain—both large and small.

Sailors of straw, small and medium, are leading millinery selections.

Florence George

tailored sports dresses are being worn with fussy feminine hats.

Park to Be Built at 'Cannon Bank'

Ground was broken yesterday for the park to be built on the Cannon Bank property at the north end of the town near the C. P. R. wharf. Flowers, trees and shrubs will be set out, and the grounds, which command a wonderful view of the Annapolis Basin and Digby Gut, will soon become one of the beauty spots of Digby.

Already one hundred and fifty pine trees have been received from George E. Graham, Vice-President and General Manager of the Dominion Atlantic Railway. These trees will be set out on the grounds.

During the past few years the railway has done much to beautify the property, which is owned by them. A few years ago they re-opened the old Admiral Digby Well, at the south western corner of the grounds. The well was presented to the early loyalist settlers by Admiral Robert Digby, whose flag-ship, the "Atlanta," was conveyed to these pioneers who settled on the shores of the Annapolis Basin after the Revolutionary War in order they might still remain under British rule and protection. Over the well was built a roof and stone covering, and a suitable tablet placed. It has attracted the interest of many of our summer visitors.

Also, the portion of the property which borders the railway, has been graded and considerably improved during the past few years.

The "Cannon Bank" has always been somewhat of a playground for Digby children, and a favorite spot of townspeople and visitors. By converting it into a park, the town will be greatly benefited. This matter was one of the matters which received discussion at the annual meeting of the Digby Board of Trade, who are sponsors of the work now in progress.

"No news is good news." This saying has been reversed too often by newspaper editors who seem to feel that good news is no news. The result is the sort of front page that tells us how abnormal, subnormal, uncertain and evil is our existence, but which forgets to inform us of the more than balancing amount of normality, security and good which human beings are able to make manifest in their daily living. But for a change, the other day, a British newspaper editor headlined his paper with "No Bad News." He could see that an absence of evil might be news. And recognizing that the presence of people are that much nearer to god is news—and "good" news in more senses than one.—Christian Science Monitor.

HITLER CELEBRATES HIS 49TH BIRTHDAY

Picked units of the German army paraded before Adolf Hitler Wednesday of last week, as the German people celebrated the Fuehrer's 49th birthday.

Unparalleled scenes of nationwide rejoicing occurred as the German people still mindful of Hitler's triumphs in accomplishing Austrian union, acclaimed their leader. For the first time Austrian soldiers marched in the birthday parade in Berlin.

The Fuehrer, wearing the simple brown uniform of a Nazi storm trooper, with nothing to indicate his rank as commander-in-chief except the gold oak leaf in his cap, reviewed the parade from a stand before Berlin university's main building.

Especially joyful was the celebration in newly-acquired Austria, cities, towns and villages were profusely beflagged and decorated with "Hitler's oak saplings" freshly painted. Bonfires were to be lighted in the evening on mountainsides. Gala performances of Wagner opera were billed in Vienna.

Max Schmeling, the boxer, was invited to see Hitler and explain to the Fuehrer just how he overwhelms his opponents in the ring. The day also was chosen for the first official showing of the Olympic games film which Hitler planned to attend and to which all German and Austrian Olympic medallists were invited.

CUT IS RESTORED

Without discussion, Premier Duplessis, of Quebec, put through in all stages a measure to restore to the members of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly the 10 per cent reduction in their indemnities which had been put into effect in 1936, the first season of the Duplessis Government. This means each member of both Houses will benefit to the extent of $250 each session.

The cuts in the salaries of the Premier and Ministers, which, in the first instance was $2,000 a year, and $1,000 a year respectively, is not affected.

Citizens nerves are a bit on edge in the little Sussex village of Northam, near Rye. Two people have received letters signed "The Black Hand Gang," threatening "death within a week." Police are on the watch—but the main theory is that a schoolboy is the menace.

MORE GRAIN AND ROOT CROPS NEEDED

"Production of more grain and root crops is an absolute essential on Nova Scotia farms if our dairy herds are to accomplish what is expected of them in the way of meeting requirements in dairy production, and at this time of the year, on the verge of a new crop season, when seeding operations are about to start, I would strongly urge all our farmers to give thought to this very important factor," said Hon. John A. McDonald, minister of agriculture, in a statement issued this week.

It is true that we have made definite and substantial progress in a number of branches of farming, particularly in our dairying, hog and poultry production. Our production of creamery butter in 1934, 5,800,000 lbs. was one of the largest totals in the history of the province. Our hog production was more than doubled in 1934 over the previous year, and the quantity of graded poultry marketed through co-operatives in 1934 has shown an increase of nearly 1000 per cent in four years. More important still, through grading of products and better marketing organization, the quality of product has been greatly improved, as well as marketing conditions.

"But the basis of success in farming in any country is the production of crops to the greatest possible extent and on as high a standard as possible. Nova Scotia's weakness in farming rests in the low production of feed crops, and the high amount of money that is being spent in purchase of feed which might be grown at home on our own farms.

"On many occasions I have urged our farmers to make even a moderate increase in their acreages of grain and root crops. I doubt if it is realized how much could be accomplished if this advice were carried out. It is not a very great matter to increase the acreage of grain on the average farm of Nova Scotia by one acre and the acreage of roots by a quarter of an acre. This would not mean that every single farm would grow an extra acre and a quarter. Some of the larger farmers might readily increase two or three times that acre and, undoubtedly, some of the smaller farms could make little contribution. But if all the farmers in the province were to aggregate one acre more oats and if this acre would produce the average yield of the past five years, there would be added to the grain production of the province 1,333,207 bushels of oats. If a quarter of an acre of roots were likewise added to the crop of each farm, there would be an additional production of 5,305,183 bushels of roots. This quantity of roots, according to experiments, would have the same feed value for livestock as 780,167 bushels of oats. If barley or some other grain were substituted for part of the oats, the results would be practically the same. According to the findings of the Jones Economic Commission, there was imported into the province, in the year 1932, 601,940 bushels of oats. The suggested increase is more than three times this quantity. The total value of the extra oats and grains imported into the province in 1932 was $2,207,669.00. The total value of the extra oats and grain that would be produced if farmers were to increase their croppings by one acre of oats and a quarter of an acre of roots would be worth, if oats were selling at 50 cents a bushel, $1,056,887, or almost one-half of the total importation of mill feeds and coarse grains. It is hardly necessary to press the point further, except to re-state that there is a very reasonable possibility of bridging the gap between the consumption and importation of livestock feeds in the province of Nova Scotia.

"The use of good seed and the seeding of crops just as early as possible are two things we have continually urged upon the farmers. In a test made over a period of six years in the seeding of oats in Nova Scotia at intervals of two weeks, it has been established that the earliest seeded oats produced approximately twice as great a yield as those planted latest in the season. In this experiment, the first seeded oats required 106 days to mature but yielded 73 bushels to the acre; the second seeding produced 64.9 bushels per acre; while the third seeding produced 59.9 bushels, and the sixth seeding only 26.2 bushels per acre. Oats should be seeded just as early as the land is fit to be worked. Delays in seeding are costly, as can be seen by the above figures."

PERRY TO COACH ONLY IF HE CAN FIND TIME

Fred Perry said he would help coach Canada's Davis Cup tennis team this year only if he could "find time." Referring to an announcement recently that he definitely accepted an offer to coach the team, Perry said there had been some "misunderstanding."

"I will be happy to come to Toronto and do all I can to assist the team," he said, "but it must be understood that I am unable at this time to oblige myself definitely. If I do come I will accept no money for whatever I do."

"We study history so that we may be able to find out how our country added to, or hindered, the rise of a civilization. We study mistakes made by a country which brought about its downfall and the efforts made towards the advancement of mankind. Our question in the history examination last year tested the pupils' knowledge of these facts. A great many pupils failed because they made forty-nine on English. The examiner who marked these papers must have had or thought he had a great deal of ability to be able to determine the difference between a mark of forty-nine and one of fifty. Can a man sleep with that on his conscience?"

PAIR OF QUEENS TAKE LAKE FOR VIRGINIA

This year, the famous Shenandoah Valley Apple Blossom Festival, under the supervision of the Anna-Polis Valley Apple Blossom Festival Queen of Nova Scotia, the section over which she reigns: supreme this year being the greatest apple growing belt in the entire British Empire.

Miss Gladys Harris, of Wolfville, N. S., the Acadian Queen, arrived recently in New York with her aunt, Mrs. Gladys Kennedy, aboard the S. S. "New York" of the Eastern Steamship Lines. Miss Harris, a pretty and wholesome 19 year old girl who stands 5 feet 9 inches, is being thrilled on her first visit to Gotham. Having been royally received by City officials, she is to be the guest of Rockefeller City and will visit the Radio City Music Hall, having expressed a wish to go "backstage" and meet the famous "Rockettes".

The visiting Queen and her aunt will leave Newark on the Eastern Airline, for Washington accompanied by Miss Adelaide Moffatt, the equally attractive Virginia Queen, who recently has been doing commercial posing in New York and entertaining in the more exclusive night clubs. The party will be met at the Washington airport by the Governor's motorcycle escort and be taken to Winchester, Va., the scene of the Shenandoah Festival, which was scheduled for April 28th and 29th.

The Virginia Queen will be the guest of the Nova Scotia Government and Queen during the Acadian Festival scheduled at Kentville, N. S., May 28, 29, 30, exactly a month later due to the difference in the blossoming period. Miss Harris is a third year student at Acadia University, taking her B. Sc. where she has been outstanding in varsity activities. She is athletically prominent, was captain of the Varsity Basketball team, a member of the College tennis squad in sophomore year. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harris, Wolfville, N. S.

An electrical device designed to dinner speaking to ten minutes has been installed in Kent, England. It consists of a large face with a protruding tongue which, when the speaker begins, starts moving. After eight minutes, one of the eyes winks, warning; and if the speaker overruns ten minutes the apparatus throws the whole room into darkness, giving listeners an opportunity to sneak out quietly without embarrassment. —Vancouver Sun.

'Why Worry' Total Loss

On the beach at Gulliver's Cove near the breakwater, lies what is left of the motor boat "Why Worry," destroyed by fire Saturday morning, en route from Tiverton to Digby. The "Why Worry," under command of Capt. Shirley Tidd, had discharged a cargo of salt at Tiverton and was returning to Digby. On Friday evening she ran into Centreville for the night and left that port at 7.30 Saturday morning. Shortly after leaving engine trouble developed, and the boat was set on fire apparently by a short circuit. When off Gulliver's the boat was a mass of flames. Her crew, comprising Captain Tidd, Lloyd Denton and Ernest Denton had already abandoned her and were rowing toward the village two miles away, in a leaky dory, when their plight was seen from the shore.

The first of the Gulliver's Cove boats to go to the rescue was operated by George Height and John Gidney; taking the three men out of the dory they proceeded toward the burning boat, where they were soon joined by two other boats, one operated by Joe McDormand and Elmer Lewis, the other by Chester Height and Max Robbins. The pilot house of the "Why Worry" had been completely destroyed when they reached the craft. Taken in tow by the three boats the burning craft was beached at Gulliver's Cove, where it was hoped the flames could be extinguished and part of the boat salvaged, but in spite of all efforts she became a total loss.

The "Why Worry" is owned by F. L. Anderson, of Digby, and as engaged in scallop fishing until the close of the season a few days ago.

Another of Mr. Anderson's boats—the "Jessie May"—also narrowly escaped going to the bottom near the same spot where the "Why Worry" met her fate. In command of Capt. Donald Tidd (brother of Capt. Shirley Tidd), the "Jessie May" was bound from Digby to Tiverton with 500 bushels of salt, when she commenced to leak badly off Gulliver's. Attempting to get into the Cove the plight of the boat, rapidly filling with water, was seen by Harry Dugas, "Billie" Baker and Joe McDormand, who joined Capt. Tidd and Stanley Vidito, the only other member of the crew, and between them they managed to get the boat into safety. She has since been towed to Digby by the life boat from the Bay View Life Saving Station.

Movies of Angling To Be Made

Salmon and trout resources of Nova Scotia will be an American news feature within a few weeks. Screen pictures will show anglers fishing Nova Scotia streams and the story of their adventures will reach listeners across America. All this will be brought about by a motion picture and radio expedition that is being arranged for the last week in May or the first two weeks of June, according to an announcement made by Hon. A.

S. MacMillan, Minister of Highways. The date of the arrival of the expedition will depend on weather and fishing conditions. The party will be headed by Bob Edge, well-known WOR sports commentator. It is expected that he will be accompanied by Neil Sullivan, motion picture cameraman of Pathe, together with other professional assistants. Both still and motion pictures will be taken of trout and salmon fishing, with particular attention being given to the latter sport. It is expected that the party will commence fishing in the western part of Nova Scotia, moving gradually to the Medway and LaHave district, but it is probable that the expedition will be guided largely by fishing reports they receive from the different sections of the Province.

About This and That

We are glad to see that work on the new park at the Cannon Bank is making such favorable progress. The location of this park is one of the finest that could possibly be chosen—near the centre of the town; a splendid view and beautiful grounds that can be made into one of the beauty spots of Western Nova Scotia, and at the same time provide a much needed playground for the children, and a restful spot for townspeople and visitors.

Although at this time we are not passing it along as a suggestion, we hope that in not too many years to come, steps will be taken to provide something in the way of a bathing beach at the foot of the bank, as one of the attractions of the new park.

We know well that the town and the Board of Trade—the latter body are also sponsors for the new park—have done much to better facilities for bathing at the Racquette, and know, too, that as time goes on they will make further improvements. Like in the case of every other public benefit scheme, we have heard some severe criticisms of the Racquette bathing beach, but in that respect the people of Digby are like the people of any other town: there are those citizens who are continually complaining because the town fathers are spending too much public money for civic improvements, and when they do spend a little money on a much needed utility, such as the bathing beach, the same people howl because they did not spend more. They can do nothing but howl.

Any sensible person realizes it would take several years to make a real good bathing beach at the Racquette. Nevertheless, we all know the efforts of the town and Board of Trade have been appreciated by the crowds of young and old who use this beach during the summer months.

Still, a town catering to the tourist traffic cannot have too many bathing beaches, and that is why we hope at some future time it will be possible to provide a beach at the foot of the "cannon bank", which, for years, has been used to some extent for this purpose. However, we realize that much

J. Ralph Warrington, of Wolfville, for the past fifteen years local agent for Imperial Oil Ltd., retired from the company's staff last Saturday on pension. Mr. Warrington had been in the employ of the company for twenty-four years, having entered the service at Digby, in 1914. In 1919 he was transferred to become manager of the Yarmouth station, and in 1922 he went to Wolfville to take charge of the new branch just opened there. Succeeding him in the management of the local bulk station is Robert Longard, of Halifax.

Digby is faced with a serious housing problem. At the present time a number of families are under notice, and practically no homes are available. Every rentable house, regardless of its condition, is tenanted, or spoken for. Yet, during the past few years many new homes have been erected in the town and on its outskirts—while other homes have been converted into tenements. The scarcity of rentable houses, coupled with the number of new homes that have been erected within the past five or six years, is an indication of Digby's growth.

Flames Destroy Boat

Somewhere along the Bay of Fundy shore of Digby Neck the 48-foot Centreville scallop boat "Regasay" is drifting. When last sighted between Sandy Cove and Mink Cove, she was burning fiercely. The three members of her crew were taken to Centreville late yesterday afternoon, after a harrowing experience. Two of the three are suffering from severe burns about the face and body.

The craft was operated by three young Centreville fishermen: Henry Lewis, 22, master and owner; Garfield Dukeshire, 19, and Arnold Banks, 17. Lewis and Dukeshire are suffering from burns, the former being quite severely burned about the face, neck, arms and hands.

At the close of the scallop season the craft was fitted out for handling, and yesterday's trip was their first venture along that line.

About three o'clock in the afternoon they were on the deck preparing to take in their anchor and return home. Lewis and Dukeshire were hauling in the lines when suddenly there was a terrific explosion coming from the engine room. So fierce was the blast the two mentioned were blown overboard. The boat was soon a mass of flames.

Dukeshire, unable to swim, was assisted by the young skipper to the boat's side, and with the help of Banks, they were pulled on deck. As the boat burned a small punt being towed, was hoisted on board and emptied of water. In this punt the three made their escape and rowed to Sandy Cove. At this place the injured men were attended to by Dr. Rice, who later drove them to their homes in Centreville, five miles distant. The doctor does not regard their condition as serious although the burns were severe.

First it was reported the Regasay sank, but early in the evening she was reported off Mink Cove, still burning. Fishing boats from the vicinity have left in search of her, hoping to tow what is left of the hull ashore.

The Regasay was purchased by young Lewis two years ago, and has operated in the scallop fishery during the past two seasons. Arnold Banks was a member of her crew during the season just closed.

This craft is the second of the fleet to be burned within a week, the first being the "Wh. Worry" particulars of which will be found in another column.

MUCH INTEREST CENTRES AROUND CASE IN DIGBY SUPREME COURT

(Halifax Chronicle) One of the most unusual civil cases on record, which is entered on the docket for the forthcoming term of Supreme Court at Digby, the latter part of this month, is attracting much interest throughout the Valley.

H. T. Warne Limited, have for years conducted a large mill in Digby and at seasonal periods it gives employment to between two hundred and three hundred men. About a year ago the Warne mill was destroyed by fire and a new mill built at a cost of between $60,000 and $70,000. This mill is now at Lour Lodge, one of the larger of the summer resorts in Digby.

An action has been brought by Messrs. Stewart, Smith MacKen and Rogers of Halifax, to have it declared that the Warne mill is being operated as a nuisance because of smoke and the noise that it makes. It is understood that the plaintiffs allege that on account of the smoke nuisance being so bad painting operations in the vicinity have to be suspended and that the noise at night prevents people in the vicinity from sleeping.

The plaintiffs in the action are Lila A. Eldridge, who is the proprietress of Lour Lodge, and Helen O. Cox, who is one of the many American summer residents who are located in that vicinity. The action, it is anticipated, will be strenuously contested and long drawn out. Both sides are prepared to go to trial with numerous witnesses to advance their various contentions. Daniel Owen, K. C., of Annapolis Royal, will appear for H. T. Warne Limited.

Another case, although of lesser importance, is that of the Receiver of the First National Bank of Toledo, Ohio, against H. T. Warne. Some years ago Mr. Warne was the Nova Scotia representative of DeLancey Motors and in connection with his operations as gave certain notes to the Century Motor Truck Company, who are the makers of DeLancey motors. Subsequently these notes were assigned to the First National Bank of Toledo, which later went into receivership and an action is now being brought upon them.

The amount involved is between $8,000 and $9,000 and it is understood that the defence is that the notes were given as accommodation notes and that in any event the consideration for them has failed. Evidence is to be taken under commission in Toledo to clear up some of the points. E. J. Theriault of Digby, is acting for the plaintiff and Daniel Owen, K. C., of Annapolis Royal, for the defendant.

TOWN WILL COLLECT ARREARS

At the present time the Digby Town Council does not see its way clear to take part in the Apple Blossom Festival, at Kentville. It was decided at a special meeting of the council.

At this same special meeting there was a discussion of arrears in water rates, taxes, and other amounts due the town, and resolutions were passed whereby water services will be shut off to all who have not paid their arrears by June 1 of this year. Taxes in arrears will be placed in warranty after June 10, and collected in that manner.

NEW BUILDINGS MAKING PROGRESS

The brick facing completed, workmen commenced yesterday to remove the staging from in front of the new Capitol Theatre, which has been erected on the site of the old Warne Block, destroyed by fire early in January 1935. With the exception of putting in the glass fronts the exterior of the splendid new building is now completed, although there still remains work to be done on the inside.

Construction of the new store of B. F. Milberry, at the corner of Carleton Street and First Avenue, is about completed, where the glass front and facing material are now going on the May Block on Water Street—the addition on this block, which is to be occupied by Carty & Davis, having already been glassed in and faced, while work on the older portion will likely be completed this week.

On Queen Street the framework of the residence of K. L. Porter is now being boarded in, and at Conway, the grocery store of E. George Hinman, to replace the one destroyed by fire last month, is nearing completion.

SENATOR GRAHAM AND THE VICTORIAN ORDER

The annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held on April 6th, at Government House, Ottawa.

The annual meeting of Board of Governors of the Victorian Order of Nurses brought, as it always does, reports of continuing and expanding useful effort. Almost as much a matter of routine was the election of that cheery helpful soul, Senator George P. Graham, as President, for the twelfth term.

The Victorian Order is happy in its president, and Senator Graham is equally blessed in so splendid an outlet for his kindness, his shrewdness, his desire to leave the world better because of his living. Those who best know it realize most fully that the Victorian Order is doing a wonderful work for Canada. And those who best know its President understand that this work probably is closer to his heart than any other public duties he has performed in a long and distinguished career—Ottawa Journal

He was a member of the Baptist Church, Tiverton, also of the I. O. O. F. He is survived by a widow and three daughters, namely: Mrs. Hattie Roop, of Alberta; Mrs. Jack Parker, and Mrs. Roy Cobham, of Saint John; one brother, Hiram Outhouse, of Tiverton. Funeral took place from the Tiverton, Baptist Church at 2:30 Monday. Rev. Mr. Wakeling officiating.

Ralph Barr H. T. Warne received word yesterday of the death at Long Beach, California, of Ralph Barr, a native of Weymouth, who was adopted by Mr. Warne at 10 years of age. He leaves a widow and several children, as well as a number of relatives here. Frank Barr is a brother. Mr. Barr was about 60 years of age.

Yesterday we had occasion to go to H. T. Warne's mill on business in connection with the Courier. We were surprised to see it such a hive of industry. Every department seemed to be busy and cars were going and coming constantly. In conversation with Mr. Warne he told us of the seed potatoes he had been selling this year, and incidentally that they had made thousands of cases in which potatoes were to be shipped to the Argentine, which country, by the way, will only take certified potatoes. He says in selling these potatoes to the farmer he asks them to grow them in parallel rows with their own seed and if the certified seed does not yield a fifth larger crop he will refund the money.

The Trinity W. A. will meet at the rectory on Thursday 19, at 8 p. m.

BOUNDARY LINE SET

B. W. Waugh, Ottawa, Dominion land surveyor, has just returned from the north shore of Lake Athabasca, where he was in charge of a party of 10 that ran a boundary line from the south shore of the lake to the north side. His party is establishing the line between Saskatchewan and Alberta in the Far North under an agreement entered into between the two provinces and the Federal Government. Continuation of the line, which had only been established to the south shore of Lake Athabasca, was found necessary as the result of the intensive mining development in the district the line will cut.

The line that was run across the winter ice came to north shore at a point about 40 miles west of Goldfields, about 400 miles north of Prince Albert. It will be continued north by Mr. Waugh and party in June.

DAYS WHEN BALLS OPENED AT 5 P. M.

In the 41st anniversary number of the Sherbrooks Record, (Que.) the romance of Luke Knowlton, Vermont jurist of the 18th century is told, taken from a Brattleboro, Vt. record book. Luke Knowlton, born in 1738, went in for the study of law and, like his father, became a judge.

There is a record of his ready replies to Deacon Moses Kennedy whose daughter Charlotte (under 16 years of age) was quite willing to marry Luke at once. Her father objected on three grounds. As follows: First, she is too young. Second, I cannot spare her. Third, I can give her no dower.

The young advocate answered: First she will grow older every day and as fast in my hands as in yours. Second, you have a wife and other daughters and can do without her better than I can. Third, it is your daughter I want and not a dower. These answers were successful, and the deacon's objections were withdrawn.

In the course of years their family numbered four sons and eight daughters. Abigail, the youngest, appears to have been quite a belle judging from notes and invitations still in existence. An invitation to a ball is interesting compared with hours kept now-a-days, says M. J. Sanborn in the Record. Not that it began "in the evening at 5 p. m." There was no thought of keeping up "the entertainment till breakfast time at a restaurant in the good old days.

BAND NOTES

Again a good friend of the Digby Civic Band, living in Detroit, Mich., has shown his regard for his former home, and his good opinion of its present Band by sending his second ten dollar contribution to help the Band keep up its fine work. George C. Cossa, boom, who once played in a Digby Band, sent his first gift of $10.00 last winter, and another has just been received.

Another fine gift to the Band from a distant city has just arrived from Toronto, with the best wishes of Mrs. George R. Weir and Miss Estherine Weir, through Mrs. Reg. Weir, of Digby. It consists of a pair of beautiful "cut work" pillow slips, the embroidery being exquisitely done. They will be placed on sale very soon. So again the Band has the pleasure of thanking the ladies for their thoughtfulness and generosity.

The Band is very glad to welcome the return for the summer of two valued players—Syd Smith, Clarinetist, and Bobby Weir, whose skillful bass playing has won him permanent membership in the well known Princess Louise Fusiliers Band of Halifax. Two other players are expected to join, and the Band will number thirty-six or more.

KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENT

The death occurred in the Digby General Hospital, early Wednesday morning of Mrs. Harris Cosman, 76 year old, Brighton. Digby County woman, struck down by a car operated by Harvey Thibodeau, of Digby, shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Taken to the residence of Price Williams, in front of whose home the accident occurred, an ambulance was called and Mrs. Cosman was rushed to the Digby General Hospital.

Rendered unconscious by the blow she received when her head struck the pavement, the unfortunate woman never regained consciousness. At the time of the accident she was returning to her home from the Post Office, and was walking along the highway with her niece.

According to the people of Brighton when they saw the car approaching them, one crossed to the left side of the road, and the other to the right. The driver of the car is said to have made every effort to avoid striking her. No inquest will be held.

The late Mrs. Cosman was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ring, of Barton, Digby County, and is survived by five sons, Samuel, William, and Harry, all of Brighton; Earl, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada's branch at Mabou, Nova Scotia; and Vernon, of Boston; also two daughters, Mrs. Grace Hatch, of Boston, and Mrs. James John, of Port Wade, Annapolis County; and another son, Kenneth.

She was a valued member of the United Church of Canada at Brighton. Funeral services will be conducted from her home at 2 o'clock, this afternoon (Friday), with Rev. C. U. MacNevin, pastor of the United Church, and Rev. M. C. Higgins of the Barton-Brighton Baptist Church, officiating.

FRIENDSHIPS AT SEA

One of the attractions, one would almost say romantic associations, connected with ocean travel is the ever-present possibility for the creation of new interests and friendships. There is a certain something about a ship which draws out the personality and tends to create a

When my sis turns over a new leaf it just means she is starting another page in her diary charm which always hovers about friendships formed in an atmosphere of congeniality.

This cherry atmosphere of friendliness is always very apparent on the "Lady" liners of the Canadian National Steamships sailing between Canada and the British West Indies. They carry just about the right number of passengers for this purpose and invariably in a very short time from port they are handed together like a large happy family.

FOR MEAT EATERS

Much money is wasted on the wrong kinds of meat. Cheap cuts of muscle meat, shin, scrag, etc., are three-parts gristle, which is very deficient in nutriment, and are wasteful of both time and fuel in the cooking.

But when such delicious meat dishes as minced heart, minced liver and beef kidney (for a stew) cost as little as they do, they should be used generously since they are rich in nutriment. When served with potatoes, vegetables, rice, macaroni, barley and bread, they form substantial and satisfying meals.

Corned beef is highly nutritious, and can be made up into cheap and tasty meals with the aid of onions, canned or fresh tomatoes and potatoes.

BARTON

Miss Minnie Lamberton, of Boston, is visiting her mother, Mrs. John Lamberton.

Miss Hattie M. Perry, who spent the winter in the United States, has returned home for the summer.

Mrs. Grace Hatch and Vernon Cosman arrived from Boston on Monday, and Earl Cosman, of Mabou, N. S., on Tuesday, called by the serious illness of their mother, Mrs. Harris Cosman, who has since passed away.

A FEW FIGURES FROM LONDON

London is a great city. Londoners have always thought so. Now they have statistics, provided by the London County Council, to prove it.

They have 120 weddings every day. Each year London imports goods to the value of £321,000,000, which represents nearly half the trade of the entire Kingdom. Exports reach the figure of £145,000,000.

But London does not think merely about money. It has 41 fogs a year. On 197 days it rains; and each day it enjoys, on an average, three hours and twelve minutes of sunshine. Every man, woman and child uses 37 gallons of water a day, and they could, if ever the wish seized them, walk on 2,325 miles of streets without going outside the confines of Greater London.

While engaged on this ambitious promenade they might employ themselves with the reflection that it costs £1,450 to keep each mile of these streets in order for 12 months. Each day 66,000 vehicles whirl round Trafalgar Square, and 60,000 circle the Marble Arch. London costs the authorities £40,000,000 a year to run.

There are quite a lot of Londoners to be proud of London: 8,203,842, in fact, which is claimed to be a million more than the population of New York.—Christian Science Monitor.

Club-Root Disease

(Experimental Farms Note)

Club-root disease is especially destructive to turnips. Because of the prevalence of the disease in the Maritime Provinces, and the importance of the swede turnip crop in this area, it is essential that every effort should be made to reduce the loss from this cause to a minimum.

Club-root is caused by an organism known as Plasmodiophora brassicae (Wor.) Investigations have shown that this organism attacks not only turnips but also other related plants such as cabbages, cauliflowers, and certain weeds. Therefore, any attempt to eradicate the disease must be extended to include these crops in addition to turnips.

While liming of the soil has been recommended to control club-root, the results obtained have not been uniform in either Europe or America. Other chemicals such as basic slag, mercuric and mercurous chloride, calcium cyanamide, nitro-chalk, formalin, etc., have been used with varying degrees of success.

In areas where club-root has been a limiting factor in the production of swede turnips, the most effective control has come from the growing of strains resistant to the disease. Extensive investigations have been conducted by the Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, in which a great many varieties and strains representing different types of swedes have been tested in areas known to be heavily infested with the club-root organism.

As a result of these investigations the Wilhelmsburger variety was found to possess the greatest resistance to the disease. The Hartmann strain of this variety has been the most outstanding in this respect for the past four years. It has been observed, however, that the same strain imported in different years showed different degrees of resistance. Certain strains of the Bangholm variety were also found to be highly resistant to club-root. Differences in resistance between the strains of this variety were more pronounced than between strains of Wilhelmsburger. The Bangholm-Herning (D. L. F.) strain was definitely the best of the Bangholm variety, followed by Bangholm-Herning (Hartmann).

From the varieties mentioned above, originated two highly resistant strains, Wilhelmsburger (D. E. F.) and Bangholm-Herning (D. E. F.). Seed of these strains is now available and has been acceptable for registration by the Canadian Seed Growers Association. Foundation stocks are being maintained and are continuously selected by the Division of Forage Plants. The use of these resistant strains is strongly recommended in those areas where club-root is a factor in turnip production.

ENLARGEMENTS

Trimming and enlarging improve a picture. Both small and large pictures here were made from the same negative. Any picture can be enlarged.

camera, and showed up too large in the finished picture. The negative was "masked" in making the enlargement so that only the head showed. Result: a much better picture.

When you get a good picture, enlarge it! Any good snap is better when it's big. Enlarging "opens up" the details—lets you see interesting things you didn't see before. And a large picture just naturally has more appeal to the eye. Give a person two pictures, equally good, and he will automatically look at the larger one first. Moreover, he will look at it longer.

Don't let small size or surplus material handicap your pictures. Any snapshot can be enlarged somewhat, and some, especially those made on fine-grained film, can be increased many times in size. Very likely you have pictures in your album right now, that, if enlarged, would be worth framing and hanging in the home. Try it. You may discover you're a better snapshotter than you thought!

John van Gulder

DO SOME of your pictures include too much—a lot of surplus background and material at top, bottom and sides that has little or nothing to do with the subject, and injures the picture effect?

Don't despair. Such pictures can be retrieved. Here's how: pick out the part you want, and have just that enlarged—to the size of the original print, or even larger.

For example, look at the picture of the little girl above. The head was the interesting part. Besides, her hands were too close to the

From 1929 to 1936, Canadians ate 106,000 tons of peanuts. The amount of peanuts imported in 1936 was 15,000 tons; in 1935 practically a similar amount, and 17,000 tons in 1934. Also known as ground nuts and earth nuts, peanuts are used for human food, for feeding live stock, and as an oilseed, yielding oil for culinary and industrial purposes, and oilcake for stockfeeding, and fertilizers. The bulk of peanuts in world trade is made into oil. Canada imports a small amount of peanut oil for soapmaking and canning fish. India and China are the chief peanut growing countries.

HEALTH
A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

WHAT TO EAT TO BE HEALTHY

In addition to vitamins and minerals, the value of which we have already discussed in this series of articles on 'What to Eat to be Healthy', we must now consider the three important food essentials known as proteins, fats and carbohydrates.

The following foods give you proteins:
Meat, fish and poultry, milk, eggs, peas, beans and lentils and flour.

The list above indicates that there are animal, vegetable and grain proteins. The most effective tissue builders are the animal proteins.

The following foods give you fats:
Butter and cream, bacon and other fat meats, lard and vegetable oil, shortening and yolk of egg.

Fats are used chiefly to supply heat or energy. They are also essential for the normal metabolism or working of the body. If some of the fatty acids contained in fats are withheld, the health of the individual will be seriously impaired. The proper amount of fat will be furnished if one consumes two ounces of fat per day. Butter is one of the best forms of fat.

The following foods give you carbohydrates:
Sugar, molasses, candy, jam, marmalade, etc., bread and pastry, macaroni and potatoes.

Our chief source of energy in foods is carbohydrate, and if we did not have this chief source of energy in the form of flours and sugars, with their wonderful keeping qualities, our modern civilization, with its huge consumption of food, could not exist. However, one must be careful, that due to their use in tasty products such as cakes, pastries, jams, candies, etc., and their easy accessibility, one does not consume an excess of these and thus crowd out the other food elements.

And we now conclude this series of articles on 'What to Eat to be Healthy' by repeating what we said at the outset.

Every day of our life, except during illness, aim to have a pint of pasteurized milk, which includes that used in cooking, some meat, an egg, two cooked vegetables besides potatoes, and some raw fruit or vegetables. In addition, during the winter months, take a teaspoonful of cod liver oil daily, or some other source of Vitamin D.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

The herring industry in Britain, depressed for years, will be worse than ever before next season. 171,000 barrels of last year's cure remain unsold. In the past 100,000 unsold barrels have been reckoned to be a serious handicap on the following season.

THE GOLDEN AUTOMOBILE

Nobody has ever seen an automobile of gold, but judging by the way that taxes are heaped upon thirtieth century byrers of burdens a good many legislative bodies seem to think that cars are made of the precious metal. It is, in truth, the bird that lays the golden egg in these days. In Canada the federal government steps right in as soon as a car rolls off the assembly line and adds to the ed on it an excise tax and a heap-price the manufacturer has place sales tax; when the car is sold just once but once every year, with an added impost for the year the car makes its debut; then the city or town or municipality steps in and takes its cut by way of taxes; and finally, the car is no practical use unless it is used and to use it takes gasoline of which nearly one-fourth of the retail price is tax. These taxes apply to a car sold in New Brunswick, but elsewhere throughout the country the procedure varies little.

The point is that the car bears more taxes than any other manufactured article, and a generous share of the money derived from it goes for other things besides highway construction and maintenance. It is a miracle that the old bird goes on producing golden eggs, but still greater miracle that car owners have allowed politicians to make the most of the bills for all kinds of silly expenditures. —St. Croix, (N. B.) Courier.

Hiram walked four miles over the hills to call on a girl of his dreams. For a long time they sat silent on a bench by the side of her log cabin; but after a while Hiram sidled closer to her.

"Mary," he began, "I've got a good clearin' over that an' a team an' wagon, and some 'laws and cows, an' I cal-late on buildin' a house an'—"

Here he was interrupted by Mary's mother, who had awakened.

"Mary," she called in a loud voice, "Is that your young man 'thar yet?"

Back came the answer: "No, Ma, but he's gittin' 'thar."

Graveyard of The Atlantic

Sable Island, a low-lying piece of ground, lies 118 miles southeast of Halifax, and is familiarly known as the "Graveyard of the Atlantic". It consists of two parallel sand ridges with a lagoon between them. The sand bars extend several miles from each end of the island.

Since 1873, the Canadian government has built three lighthouses on Sable Island, two of which have been swept away and the third undermined, as the island is gradually sinking. Less than a century ago, its length time it is 18 miles long with sand was 40 miles, but at the present hills reaching a height of 100 feet. In 1901, over 8000 trees were planted to check the shifting of the sands.

In addition to two first-class lighthouses, watch-towers and life saving stations are maintained along this dangerous section of the Atlantic. In clear weather the entire coastline is under observation from the lighthouses and watch towers and in fog or thick weather, mounted men patrol every mile of the island.

Another, well-known lighthouse is the one at Cape Race, on the coast of Newfoundland. It towers 180 feet above the ground and its flashing light of over one million candle power has been seen a distance of 78 miles. The optical apparatus and lantern weigh 42 tons. The electricity for the light is generated on the premises and the fog signal, which has been heard 45 miles away, is operated by compressed air. Four light-keepers keep continuous watch day and night throughout the year.

There are thirteen lighthouses maintained on the coasts of Newfoundland and Newfoundland-Labrador by the Canadian government to aid trans-Atlantic shipping.

With approximately 50,000 miles of coastline along the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans, the Great Lakes and other lakes within the boundaries of the Dominion, extensive lighthouse service is necessary. It requires, during the season of navigation, 2,000 lights, 400 fog signals, 600 gas and signal buoys, 12

RACE INTOLERANCE

The ancient Jewish race is being singled out for persecution in Europe. Even the Poles hysterically excited by their victory over little Lithuania, began to attack the Jews in Warsaw. That final assault on the unfortunate Jews was enough to convince us that hatred of the Jews has become a hysterical disease in Europe. It is a decadent phase of civilization, a modern neurosis. As the ignorant proletariat of one country hears about Jewish persecutions in other capitals it becomes obsessed in mind to do the same thing. Probably outside of England today there is not a country in Europe where the Jews would not be attacked if protection were withdrawn from them by the authorities.

In Canada and the United States this senseless persecution excites only wonder and pity. The Jews do not deserve such treatment. Hatred of the Jews or of any other race is the result of ignorance. All races have their merits and their faults. They are all human and they are brethren.

The greatest religious and moral authority in the world has taught us this. Only in great cosmopolitan cities like Montreal or New York can one learn this lesson. In smaller cities racial groups can better keep their identity. You cannot live in Montreal or New York without coming in contact with a score of races. You find them honest, courteous, kind and well-intentioned. You may employ a Scotch carpenter, a Jewish painter and glazier, an English engineer, a Swedish builder. You may eat at a French restaurant, have your shoes shined by a Greek. You find that members of all these races are both good and bad, both honest and dishonest, strong and weak, law-abiding and criminal. In fact, they are just like our own races. You begin to realize that all men are brethren, and that acquaintance leads to liking, while ignorance and non-intercourse lead to hatred.

The Jews are hated by the ignorant of other races because they have such a large share of brains and business ability. But even they are not all financial wizards. They fail in business just like other people. They have their virtues and their faults. They are less addicted to drunkenness than other races which are tremendously proud of themselves. In Canada we cultivate this friendly relation between the races. In Europe races glare at one another across artificial borders and little racial groups are buried in dense populations of other racial origins. All of which makes us suspect that even in the twentieth century we have not really tried the Christian religion which teaches us that all men are brethren. Ignorance is the mother of intolerance.

While the majority of London brides are keeping to all white in their bridal gowns, one smart Mayfair bride wore a bois de rose draped chiffon wedding gown with a brown dress, also brown shoes.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

more work would be required for proper facilities at that point than at the Racquette, therefore we do not suggest that immediate steps be taken.

An upper province newspaper makes the complaint that certain citizens and institutions which are boosted by the paper sent their printing to those who are not in a position to do any boosting because they are job printers only. The same thing applies to other places as well as the upper provinces. It is a mental attitude that will continue just so long as the newspapers stand for it. After all why should a newspaper be asked to give free "boosts" any more than a shoe dealer is asked to give away free shoes. And yet organizations which would hesitate to ask the woodman for free fuel or the shoemaker for free shoes expect the papers to give them free advertising.

IS AUSTRIA DEAD?

Hitler has seized Austria, the historic East Kingdom which for many centuries stood as a bulwark against the advancing Slav. Apparently historic Austria is to take the subordinate place of a German province. But it is hard to imagine that the historic feeling of Austrian independence has died over night, although Austrian Nazis have betrayed their country and their fellow citizens. Poland was once dismembered and divided between three nations, yet today she is an independent and powerful nation. Is it possible that the national spirit of Austria has expired and that once proud nation will henceforth be content to take orders from Berlin? One finds this hard to believe.

While savage Nazis trample over Austrian independence and reduce the remains of a proud empire to the status of a German province, there are unalterable elements in the situation which will forever move toward a future independence. Germany was once composed of discordant states which were not finally molded into one nation till Bismarck crowned the King of Prussia as Emperor of united Germany in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles after Sedan. Austria from time immemorial protected Germany from the attacks of savage Slavs from the East. Standing on the border of the territory of other races Austria has always contained many men of other than German blood. In Austria today are Czechs, Ruthenians, Poles, Slovaks, Croats and Italians. These men are not enthusiastic at German union. Hitler allowed only "German men and women" to vote at his mock plebiscite, so these other races had no voice in the betrayal of Austria, but it has been their native land for generations and they resent it.

The history of Europe would be barren indeed without Austria and the great empire of Austro-Hungary. Its kings were Roman emperors. Metternich built up its fortunes by his skilled diplomacy. Napoleon married as his second wife an Austrian princess. Remember that monarchs of Austria had to be Roman Catholics. The country is overwhelmingly Catholic and yet is expected to be passive in the grasp of a pagan anti-Catholic. The stars in their courses fight against the tyranny of Hitler. It may well be that in the end this forced seizure of Austria will result in ferment and rebellion which will bring Hitler to destruction. The mills of the gods grind slowly but they grind exceedingly fine. The world asks us to believe that an independent nation with a great history can die over night. We cannot believe it.

About This and That

This summer the Board of Trade will erect large signs at Woodman's (Keen's Bridge) Corner, and at Taylor's Corner. These signs will point the way to Digby. Such signs have been needed for years. In the past many visitors, intending to visit our town, have missed us, merely because they failed to notice the little arrows erected by the Department of Highways. They have made enquiries as to directions after travelling several miles, and in too many cases decided they had travelled too far to turn back.

It is to be hoped the new direction signs will point more of the transient tourists to our beautiful town; in fact we feel sure the signs will pay for themselves many times.

A few years ago the Bear River Board of Trade erected a road map direction sign at Victoria Bridge, showing the way to that town, and, we understand, Bear River has had more visitors as a result. Nevertheless, only last year we had a visitor say to us: "I thought Bear River was a much larger place". He saw Bear River Station and thought he was in Bear River itself. The majority of the motoring public are travelling at too fast a pace to study road maps, signs, or read lengthy sign board descriptions.

However, when the new act respecting signboards is enforced many signs will have to come down, for, under the new regulations, we understand all roadside advertising will be banned, and signs will be merely to indicate direction.

If you should pass on today, what would your town or community say about you? It is likely that the newspapers would say kind things about you, how you had labored faithfully and how much you would be missed. But what I would like to know is what people will really think of you, asks a writer in the Sackville Tribune, who says: Your contribution to your community, village, town or city has been good, bad or indifferent. Have you been utterly selfish or have you thought of the other fellow occasionally? I have seen people, who complained of the selfishness of others, act like pigs themselves. It is so hard to see ourselves as others see us, to realize that what you do may give offence. What you consider a virtue in yourself may be esteemed a "bad habit" by your associates. We'll be remembered by our contribution—

The Book of Books

"A nation would be truly blessed if it were governed by no other laws than this blessed Book. It is so complete a system that nothing need be added to it, or taken from it. It contains most things needful to be known or done. It affords a copy for a king, and a rule for a subject. It gives instruction and counsel to a senate, authority and direction to a magistrate. It cautions a witness, requires an impartial verdict from the jury, and furnishes the judge with his sentence. It sets the husband as lord of the household, and the wife as mistress of the table; tells him how to rule, and her how to manage. It entails honour to parents and enjoins obedience in children. It prescribes and limits the sway of the sovereign, the rule of the ruler and the authority of the master; commands the subject to honour, and the servants to obey; and promises the blessing and protection of its Author to all who walk by its rules. It promises food and raiment, and limits the use of both. It points out a faithful and eternal Guardian to the negligent husband and father, tells us with whom to leave his fatherless children, and in whom his widow is to trust and promises to be a Father to the former and a husband to the latter. It defends the rights of all, and reveals vengeance to every defrauder, over-reacher and oppressor. It is the first Book and the best Book and the oldest Book in the world. It contains the choicest matter, gives the best instruction and affords the greatest pleasure and satisfaction that can be revealed. It contains the best laws and the profoundest mysteries that ever were perused. It brings the best of tidings and affords the best of comfort to the inquiring and disconsolate. It exhibits life and immortality and shows the way to everlasting glory. It is a brief recapitulation of all that is past and is certain prediction of what is to come. It settles all matters in debate, resolves all doubt and eases the mind and conscience of their scruples. It reveals the only and true God, shows the way to Him, sets aside all other gods and describes the vanity of them and all who trust in them.

Book of Life that shows the way from everlasting death. It is the most compendious Book in the world, the most authentic and the most entertaining history that ever was published. It contains the most antiquities and heroic deeds. It describes the celestial, terrestrial and infernal worlds, human tribes and angelic myriads. It will instruct the most accomplished mechanic and the profoundest artist. It teaches the best rhetorician. It puzzles the wisest anatomist and finds employment for the nicest critic. It corrects the vain philosopher and guides the wise astronomer. It exposes the subtle sophist, and makes diviners mad. It is the best evidence that ever was produced, the best deed that ever was sealed, the best will that ever was made and the best testament that ever was signed. To understand it is to be wise indeed, but to be ignorant of it is to be destitute of wisdom. It is a complete code of laws, a perfect body of divinity, an unequalled narrative, a Book of lives, of travels and voyages. It is the king's best copy, the housewife's best guide, the servant's best directory, the young man's best companion, the schoolboy's spelling Book and the learned man's masterpiece. It affords knowledge of witty inventions for the ingenious and dark sayings for the grave. It encourages the wise, the warrior, and promises an eternal reward to the conqueror. And that which crowns it all is—the Author is One in Whom is no variableness nor the shadow of turning."

PASSED STOP SIGN

A Liverpool motorist was fined over eight dollars in Lockport this week, because he passed a stop sign. There was no warning to the "stranger within the gate"—he was hailed before the Cadi and a fine slapped on with a vengeance. Better give Lockport a wide berth unless you know your stop signs. Probably a little common sense and courtesy is intended in the administering of justice, but evidently it doesn't work every where.—Liverpool Advertiser.

Ramblings of a Rolling Stone

There are a number of things which provoke in me, feelings of the most profound sympathy; and holding a position well toward the top of the list is the discovery that some person with whom I have become acquainted has few, if any, cherished memories of the place where the days of their childhood and youth were spent or of the activities in which they must have taken a part when life was in its joyous springtime and the unsophisticated eye was held enthralled by the many tinted bow with which the rising sun of youth haloed the mists which hid the coming years.

Perhaps my sympathies are in a measure misplaced. These people are not called upon to bear the sort of loneliness which, because of their inability to understand, I can lay claim to as my very own.

The sun shines brighter and the flowers bloom more fair; friendships were sweeter and grim Time himself revealed a kinder aspect in that dear home land, the Province by the Sea. I long to see those well-remembered faces once again; and yet, perhaps fate, has been kind to me in that I see them now just as I saw them in the long ago. Time's hand has written there no record of the passing years; neither anxiety nor pain have left their traces there; the vanished hope has not yet dimmed the eye, nor care nor sorrow blanched the rosy tinted cheek.

Those voices come to me, as in the past they came, vibrant with laughter, full of life and joy. If well may be that passing years have brought a grating harshness there, and none may hear again the music that is mine alone to hear.

A few weeks ago I was made the recipient of a beautiful Easter Greeting; best of all it was accompanied by a kindly missive from one whom it was my privilege to call friend; Postmarked "Rossby, N. S." it took considerable "Sherlocking" to deduce the sender, the initial letter of the given name being my only clue to the identity of the writer. With the solving of the mystery came a veritable flood of memories of the early nineteen hundreds. Thanks, Bertha! May your Easter Day have proven to be as glad and as joyous a one as that you wished for me.

"Time's glory is to calm contenting kings" and one may be permitted to hope that the "Bard of Avon" knew whereof he wrote. The contentious "Kings of Labor" are certainly making an awful mess of things in general on this Western coast. Strikes, boycotts, closed harbours, arson, mayhem, sabotage, hunger and unrest follow low fast in those places where their feet have been.

By the way, I am wondering if that gold had to be "sterilized" because it was "Tainted Money?" L. H. S.

PHARMACY PASS LIST ANNOUNCED

Five former officials of the Georgian Institute for Research in Animal Husbandry, including the one-time director, Shalva Dadiani, a prince before the revolution, were reported sentenced to death at Moscow. A Tiflis newspaper, telling of the convictions, said the five confessed membership in a seditious rightist organization. The accused wreckers of scientific research were said to have admitted they had sent inactive sperm to farms for artificial fertilization and failed by improper experiments to improve forage crops.

Locomotives Cannot Swerve

Railway engineers are carefully trained in the laws of safety, says an editorial in the Canadian National Magazine. They do everything in their power to avoid accidents. They cannot, however, swerve their engine from the steel rails on which it must operate, and this fact the motorist seems at times to overlook. Warning bells and lights, watchman's flags and crossing gates give notice of approaching trains, yet there are far more accidents caused by automobiles crashing into the side of trains than by trains striking automobiles. It is here that the co-operation of the motorist is required.

In one province—Quebec—the law requires that every vehicle come to a full stop before crossing a railway track. The observance of that law would prevent many accidents. It would decrease the crop of grey hairs in the heads of many railroad engineers and in some cases, would probably increase their working days. But it is a law which can only be successful through the co-operation of the motorist and if one is to judge by actual experiences on the highway, such co-operation is the exception rather than the rule.

With another motoring season getting well under way it is perhaps timely to stress the importance of "safety first" at all times. Time is important, but the attempt to save a few seconds in elapsed time, when one is driving a motor car, may be a matter of life and death in more ways than one. Beating the train may seem like thrilling sport to some drivers. But it is the cause of most crossing accidents with their attendant wastage of human life and property.

The railways preach and practice safety at all times and train their employees along these lines. They cannot train the motorist to whom the highway is the free and open road. They can and do, however, ask his co-operation in their attempt to reduce the accident toll as far as possible. The careful motorist exercises special caution whenever he approaches a railroad crossing. May his tribe increase!

From Flanders in Northern Ontario comes this story of a hitchhiking St. Bernard dog which became a regular passenger on the C. N. R. train between Flanders and LaReine, eight miles down the line. The big St. Bernard, having discovered that School Car No. 3 was stationed at LaReine, made a habit of taking the train out of Flanders every day so that he might join the children in their play at recess.

DUKE DIES

The Duke of Devonshire, governor-general of Canada, who visited Digby in 1919, died at his home in England two weeks ago. He had been in failing health for several months.

THE WAY OF SMALL TOWN INDUSTRIES

(Annapolis Spectator)
Quite an extensive cannery in Bridgewater was sold the other day for taxes. Now Bridgewater is a thriving town and canneries are supposed to be profitable business propositions. Exactly what was wrong would be interesting to people who don't know. In fact a study of conditions might be profitable for people elsewhere.

(We would not mind betting that should a tour be made of the Bridgewater stores the canned goods put up by this concern would be conspicuous by its absence; and as to finding it on the pantry shelves in the homes one might as well look for a needle in a haystack. People in small towns will not patronize their local concerns. Possibly jealousy has something to do with it—they might be afraid their neighbor would make a dollar at their expense.)

CHURCHGOING WAS ONCE COMPULSORY

In gay and balmy Bermuda, life was once a sober business indeed during the reign of Cromwell. Stage plays, playing with dice, swearing and even the singing of merry songs were all prohibited. Swearing cost one shilling per oath, however mild.

In those days Bermuda churchwardens, "upright, honest and sober in their carriage, were instructed to look into the lives and conversations of the people and to search the worst and most suspected places with a view to forcing people to attend divine service."

Today Bermuda is a land of liberty, where thousands of tourists, many of them arriving by "Lady" liners of the Canadian National Steamships from Montreal, Halifax and Boston, make merry or live quietly, according to their inclinations.

This section of the county has been experiencing a spell of exceptionally chilly weather for this season of the year; several districts reporting snow flurries over the week end. The weather has moderated somewhat since Tuesday, and although still somewhat chilly, the sun makes it pleasant. In spite of cool weather, vegetation appears to be making good progress. There is ample bloom in the flower beds, and in all sections grass is reported as doing well, and prospects are for a fair hay crop. Fruit blossoms appear to be a little behind. To date only the bravest of the cherry trees have any blossoms at all, and none are in full bloom.

ECLIPSE OF OLD APPLE FAVORITES

In the change from the old-time family orchard to the larger commercial orchard much has been gained in the way of money returns, says the Family Herald and Weekly Star. The districts which specialize in apples now have their methods pretty well standardized from the first selection of varieties for planting to the final sale on the market. While orchards of ten, twenty or even fifty acres are limited to half a dozen sorts. Cultivation, pruning, spraying and thinning follow well recognized rules with a view to producing high quality apples uniform in size and color. The great majority of people call for McIntosh, Delicious or Spy. These varieties have color and flavor and so command the highest prices.

APPLE BLOSSOM FESTIVAL

The programme of the sixth annual Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival which appears in our issue today, gives every indication of being of a high standard.

The Queen's Ball

The annual Apple Blossom Festival Ball, known as the Queen's Ball, is to be held at the Cornwallis Inn, on Monday night, May 30. This colorful affair, which draws its patronage from the Maritime Provinces and New England States, is attended by the Queen and Princesses, and as a special feature this year will include an exhibition of tap and toe dancing by two outstanding local artists.

Outstanding Concert

The Lunenburg Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. G. O. Baker, which has won an enviable position for itself in musical circles of the province, has arranged one of the finest programmes in its history, to be presented in the auditorium of Acadia University, Monday night, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Sacred Concert

On Sunday evening massed choirs from the various churches will render an ensemble program, under the direction of B. C. Silver.

Coronation Singers

An outstanding feature of the Sunday evening programme will be the rendering of duets by Mrs. B. G. Oxner, Lunenburg, and Miss Ruth Blaisdell MacDonald, Wolfville, two ladies who represented Nova Scotia at the Coronation of King George VI in Westminster Abbey, London. Mrs. Oxner and Miss MacDonald will appear in the costumes they wore at the coronation. An electrical transcription of outstanding features of the coronation in Westminster Abbey will be given at the conclusion of the programme.

Street Parade and Parade of the Blossoms

Indications are that the grand street parade in Kentville, Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, will be one of the finest yet staged by the Festival Committee. New and unique entries have been received. Five brass bands, military and naval units, and cadets will give color and atmosphere to this annual parade.

Pupils from the Valley schools will have a prominent place in the programme at Memorial Park, Kentville, where they will stage their annual parade depicting the months and seasons of the year. In addition to this, arrangements are being made for other attractive features for the afternoon's programme.

Ball Games

The Kentville ball team, which has been greatly strengthened this year, will meet two outstanding provincial teams, possibly Halifax and Hantsport, at the Memorial Park in Kentville, the first game at 3.30 p. m. Saturday, the second game on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Doll Carriage Parade

Responding to many requests, the committee has decided to add a doll carriage to the programme this year. This attractive feature will be held on the grounds of the Cornwallis Inn, Monday morning at 10.30.

Bands will be used more generally throughout the Festival period this year. Concerts will be staged in Wolfville and Kentville, so that there will be a continuous programme and no idle moments.

Menu Hint

Sirloin Steak
Mashed Potatoes, Creamed Onions
Mixed Green Salad
Brown Sugar Pudding
Coffee or Tea

This brown sugar pudding is so delicious that I am suggesting it to top off this "soothsome meal."

Brown Sugar Pudding

Sauce—Two cups brown sugar, one third cup water, three tablespoons butter, one-fourth cup raisins. Pudding—two tablespoons butter, one-half cup brown sugar, one cup flour, sifted before measuring; two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup milk, one-fourth cup raisins, nuts if desired. Place all ingredients for sauce in pan in which pudding is to be baked—a circular pan about 10 inches in diameter and two inches deep gives best results—and boil slowly while batter is being mixed. Cream together butter and brown sugar. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt and add to creamed mixture. Add milk gradually while beating, then add raisins. Remove sauce from burner, pour batter over it and bake in 350-degree oven from 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot or cold, directly from pan but each serving should be inverted.

THE C. G. I. T. CONFERENCE

On Friday afternoon Gwen Abramson, Hazel Clarkson, Phyllis King, Asaph Hazleton, Geraldine Syda, Helen Hazleton, Charlotte and Mary Elizabeth MacKay and their leader, Eleanor Wallis, left for Yarmouth to attend the annual Conference for Canadian Girls in Training, directed by Miss Muriel Lawrence (Helen and Eileen Melanson joined the group on Saturday).

During the evening session, after introductions and instructions a Springtime cantata was presented by one of the Yarmouth groups.

Saturday morning opened with devotions in Zion Baptist Church, after which the girls were divided in three groups—singing, games and handicrafts. New songs were learned, new games played and, with the older girls—folk dancing was learned. The handicraft groups started to make little wooden plaques with nails and paint. The afternoon was spent in handicrafts until 2.30, when Miss Sinclair gave an address on the benefits of dramatics, and a play was presented by the Yarmouth group. At 5 o'clock the banquet was held in Wesley United Hall, after which several ministers gave short talks, and the Flamingo group of Digby, presented "Bluebeard". One of the Yarmouth groups acted "The Keys of Canterbury".

On Sunday morning devotions were held in Zion Baptist Church by Miss Hilda Allen, after which the girls went to church with their hostesses.

The closing session was held at 4 o'clock, when Miss Lawrence addressed the girls, after a worship service.

The group especially, with a thank Mr. Clarkson for the trip to Yarmouth.

BEAR RIVER ENJOYS DIGBY PLAY

On Tuesday night of last week the C. G. I. T. of Grace United Church, Digby, presented two very pretty plays to a Bear River audience in Oakdene Hall, under the auspices of the Bear River Women's Institute. It was regrettable that due to many rival activities the hall was little more than half filled, but the young players were well received, and during the intermission Institute members sold home-made candy which defrayed the rent of the hall. So that both the C. G. I. T. and the Institute were well pleased with the financial results.

SPECIAL SPEAKER AT UNITED BAPTIST CHURCH

Mrs. Vernon L. Miller, of Halifax, was the guest speaker at the service in the United Baptist Church on Sunday evening last to a very appreciative audience.

Mrs. Miller prefaced her remarks with very tender memories of her late husband, Dr. Vernon Miller, who was a Bear River boy, and spent his early manhood days here, where he was greatly beloved.

Mrs. Miller proved a clear forceful speaker, basing her splendid address on the verse found in 2nd Chron. 7:14, stressing well the "Power of God in our daily lives".

Her present campaign is the "Save Canada Crusade", which she is carrying now through every county in Nova Scotia, earnestly endeavouring to instill into all hearts and minds the principles of "Total Abstinence", especially urging the parents and grand-parents to fulfill God's law and try to influence the youth of our land by being at the "Cross-Road" and showing them "which way to go".

The pastor, Rev. G. D. Brydon, graciously thanked Mrs. Miller for her inspiring address, "Save Canada Crusade".

The BOSS of THE FAMILY

HE has just reached the age where he's allowed bread crumbs to eat, and does he love them. And they're good for him, too, especially when the bread is made from REGAL FLOUR. Bread made from REGAL has extra wholesomeness and nutritive value that builds sturdy, healthy bodies in children, and its delicious flavour makes them clamor for it. You'll nourish your children better if you use REGAL in all your baking.

MEASURING THE BRIDE

Little known customs concerning brides' dowries are observed in various parts of the world—some in England.

A quaint dowry ceremony in one Norfolk village entails the measuring of the bride. More than three centuries ago the lord of the manor bequeathed £1,000, the interest from which was to be voted every year to provide dowries for four brides—the youngest, the eldest, the tallest, and the shortest, wedded during the year at the parish church.

So, after signing the register, the bride is measured!

She removes her shoes so that her correct height can be ascertained. In the days when long hair was fashionable, brides had to let it down while being measured.

At the end of the year the marriage registers are carefully inspected and the awards made.

Free From Sciatica For 35 Years

In Perfect Health at 75—Thanks to Kruschen.

Thirty-five years ago this septuagenarian was helpless with sciatica. Then he heard of Kruschen. Since that day, he has enjoyed perfect health. Here is his remarkable story:

"Thirty-five years ago, I had a severe attack of sciatica, and could scarcely move for about six weeks. Then I started taking Kruschen—about half-a-teaspoonful every morning in hot water. In a few weeks I got rid of the awful pain in my hips. I have never had to consult a doctor since, and am still in perfect health at 73 years of age, which I can only attribute to taking Kruschen Salts every morning."—T. A.

Most people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital need of health—the need of internal cleanliness. Eventually, they start the healthy Kruschen habit. Then, probably for the first time in their lives, they start getting rid, every day, of all waste matter in their system. The result is renewed health and vigor. Ailments due to clogged systems vanish, youth returns, and life becomes really worth living.

at the Lord Nelson Hotel, in Halifax, was here Saturday to visit his aged father, Peter J. Doucet. He was accompanied by Fred Comeau, Charles Doucet, Miss Marie Maillet, who visited friends and relatives in Clare.

Social problem has arisen and is being studied at Albany, N. Y. Stepping into the field of etiquette, New York's Legislature sought to solve the question of what to do with a mixed jury that is locked up for the night. The state's Criminal Code, drawn before women were given the right to sit on juries, provides that officers in charge of a jury must be sworn to keep the jurors together. Assemblyman, George B. Parsons' solution presented in a bill would simply provide that "men and women be kept in separate quarters with a woman marshal in charge of the women and a man in charge of the men."

Ramblings of a Rolling Stone

It would seem, judging from the editorial comments and the views expressed by a number of Courier correspondents, that somewhere in the minds of interested individuals there is a growing consciousness of the fact that the many things which Digby and vicinity have to offer the vacation-minded public have not been as widely made known nor kept in as conspicuous a place in the public eye as they should have been.

When other vacationists, which have not the quiet restful charm nor the added advantage of easy accessibility which Digby possesses, have as a result of continuous, consistent advertising, reaped rich returns, I cannot conceive of any insurmountable difficulties which might bar the way to a like success on the part of Digby.

It is true that the advent of the automobile, together with the improved highways, have almost wholly changed the complexion of the tourist traffic; but I fail to understand just why it would not be possible to meet change with change. Other vacation areas have made the necessary readjustments and have profited largely in so doing and surely one would be loath to admit that one's own people are so lacking in enterprise or so wedded to the things of a vanished day that they find the following of newly-blazed trails too onerous a task or the breaking of a precedent too iconoclastic a proceeding to merit serious consideration.

Digby is ideally located for, and seems to me should be advertised as, a centre from which the tourist could easily find that vacation enjoyment which he is seeking. The belief that the ideal tourist is one who spends his whole vacation period in some one chosen spot must be put aside and an effort made to convince him that Digby is the hub and from it radiate many roads leading to the very things which that visitor has in mind as most necessary for the fullest enjoyment of the vacation period.

Is it scenery? There are many, many trips to be taken where nature is riotous in her beauty! Is it romance? It is here! History? Why, almost the beginnings of North American history are here! Is it fishing? The lakes, the rivers, the sea offer a more varied opportunity to the disciples of Isaac Walton than any other land! Is it hunting? The timid deer and the lordly moose make a combination to thrill the heart of any lover of the great outdoors! Boating or canoe trips? Why, the waterways of Digby County offer vacation trips the like of which are not to be found anywhere else! For a few weeks I was with a couple of people from Boston on such a trip and at the end of the cruise the lady said: "I have travelled quite a bit on both sides of the Atlantic but I have never seen anything nearly so beautiful as this."

PRESIDENT'S ATTACK

President Roosevelt declared at Gainesville, Georgia, that progress and prosperity in the United States "are being held back chiefly because of selfishness on the part of a few." In an address replete with fresh attacks on "special privilege" and the "feudal system," which he ranked with Fascism, the chief executive also bluntly told Georgia and the Lower South that their wages were "far too low." He called for "co-operation along the line" to rebuild the United States on sounder lines.

"We propose to go forward and not back," he said.

Stopping at Gainesville en route from Washington to Warm Springs, Ga., for a ten-day rest, the President dedicated Roosevelt Square, centre of Gainesville's resurrection from a disastrous tornado two years ago. The Federal Government aided in the rebuilding. More than 200 persons were killed and property damage amounting to $8,000,000 was caused by the swift striking storm on April 6, 1936.

Mr. Roosevelt declared prosperity was being retarded by a "selfish" minority who believe in a "different theory of Government," give little thought to the "one-third ill fed, ill clad and ill housed," and regard balancing the budget as more important than appropriating for relief.

"But this nation," he said in taking his audience back to the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover regimes, "will never permanently get on the road to recovery if we leave the methods and the processes of recovery to those who owned the Government of the United States from 1921 to 1933."

He said that the "selfish" few had the "same type of mind" as those who "vote against legislation to help social and economic conditions, proclaiming loudly that they are for the objectives but do not like the methods and then fail utterly to offer a better method of their own."

Fighting Game Fish Across Canada

HOLIDAY opportunities in the thousands of lakes, rivers and streams of Canada afford fishing opportunities which are unequalled anywhere in the world. The wide stretches of the Dominion are liberally supplied with forest and lake-land, abounding with game fish and animals, where lovers of the great outdoors can find a sports district to suit their every whim.

Fishing conditions are so varied in Canada and the species of game fish so numerous that a small booklet is required merely to list all the fish and regulations of the different sections. Deep-sea fishing is found on both ocean coasts, for half-ton tuna off Nova Scotia and equally large sharks near Vancouver Island; five-pound small-mouth bass at the Devil's Gap Camp, Lake of the Woods district, and in hundreds of lakes in Eastern Canada, vie for popularity with 40-pound maskinonge at such favored resorts as the French River camp in Ontario; fighting trout of several species are found everywhere in Canada, most popular regions among anglers being the Laurentian Mountains north of Montreal, or the mid-North lakes surrounding Banff and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies; and mighty salmon bring joy to the hearts of anglers in the Maritimes.

These few highlights of Canada's many fishing opportunities illustrate why Canadian sportsmen fishing in their home waters are joined every year by so many thousands of anglers from the United States and overseas. Conditions, possibilities and regulations vary so widely in different sections that anglers planning to visit strange districts would do well to find out all about them in advance from A. O. Seymour, general tourist agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, or from fishing booklets obtainable at all Canadian Pacific offices.

YOU can make interesting indoor snapshots by using regular photo lights to imitate firelight, candlelight or lamp-light. It is necessary merely to conceal the actual nature or source of the light.

You must give long exposures if only candle-light or ordinary lamp light is available but if you use enough flood bulbs, you can take snapshots with a box camera.

For a "fireside picture," tuck away a photo bulb in the corner of the fireplace, using an extension cord (see Diagram 1). Don't let the cord show. In your picture, all the light seems to come from a fire. Use three large flood bulbs, in cardboard reflectors, for a box camera snapshot.

Suppose

"Suppose" says Col. Campbell Turner, who was for many years in the United States diplomatic service, and who has just returned from Spain. "In New York, leading clubs and organizations to which you belonged were surrounded by mobs throwing stones and shooting at windows. Suppose you telephoned the police and got no response, whereupon the mob invaded the building.

"Suppose that afterward when you protested you were told that 'we mustn't inflame the people!'

"Suppose that in New York a mob surrounded the office of the Herald Tribune and when the paper called on the government for help none was sent. Suppose thereupon the buildings was destroyed and the next day the government forbade publication of the paper because it had 'provoked the people.'

"Suppose a mob gathered at the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine and that Bishop Manning called for civil protection. Suppose none came and the cathedral was set on fire and gutted. Suppose also that several of the bishop's clergy were killed, but the civil authorities did nothing, arrested no one.

"Then suppose that in our Congress Senator Vandenberg arose and read a long list of outrages, burnings, killings and other atrocious happenings. Thereupon— I refrain from having any one impersonate this individual— some Senator arose and said: 'That is the last speech you will make.' Suppose that two days later G-men went to Senator Vandenberg's house and took him away and the next thing heard of him was that his body was found two miles out of Washington, shot to death.

"This, he concludes, 'is the kind of 'constituted authority' against which Franco and his companions and the great part of the people of Spain arose. Fit it to our own case and ask yourself what you would do.'

Better artificial light is being sought says the Journal of Franklin Institute at Philadelphia and it reports the discovery of a method to change an odor resembling garlic into a brilliant, sunshinelike light. The discovery was made by three research engineers, J. W. Marden, N. C. Beese and George Meister, who said they had demonstrated that tellurium, a semimetallic element which produces a "garlic breath" if inhaled, gives off a continuous spectrum like sunlight instead of a line spectrum ordinarily found in metallic vapor lamps. "I don't know what its possibilities are," Dr. Marden said, "but the idea of duplicating sunlight is a gorgeous thing to dream about."

English have the best sense of humor with the Danish people next, said Trudi Schoop, famed dancing comedienne, during a Winnipeg visit.

"Oh, yes, I think the English have the most profound sense of humor," she said. She refused an opportunity to go into the movies at Hollywood, because she "did not like the unnaturalness. I like to act from every day life."

Real comedians, she confided, are rather sad people, like herself. "And we certainly are no fun at all at parties. We certainly are not the life of the party."

Four centuries ago a great marble obelisk was being raised in Rome. The Pope had enjoined silence on the spectators on pain of execution. The pulleys were fixed. The oxen bent to the task, moved forward, then stopped, prevented from advancing by the presence of a wall. Engineers, forgetting that rope stretches, had allowed length just sufficient to reach the wall. There the obelisk wavered, ready to fall. Out in the crowd a single voice shouted: "Water!" The engineers understood. Water was applied to the rope. The rope shrunk. The obelisk moved into place. One word! Ah but a word courageously spoken, intelligently concise, appropriately timed! Watch the word; for it has potentialities inconceivably great. Let it be kind; let it be wise; let it be helpful. For with such words a world is blessed. —Christian Science Monitor.

not necessarily cash—to the life of the community. Let us make that contribution a rich worthy one.

When you were young you played that timeless game, "Pin the tail on the donkey". Blindfolded you weaved your way to the painted donkey on the wall, and tried to pin his paper tail in approximately the right position. You hit his nose, his ear, his leg—or you missed completely, and your blind stab landed on the empty wall. Do you still "pin the tail on the donkey" when you go shopping? Do you make your purchases "blindfolded" leaving your choice to chance? That is literally the "unenlightened" method. It wastes your time, your energy, your patience—and your money. Don't buy haphazardly. Know beforehand what to buy, and where to buy it, and how much to pay for it. Read the newspaper advertisements! Scan the shopping columns; compare prices, compare values—decide upon your bargain. Then go directly to the store which advertises it; make your purchase—and be content! No more hit-and-miss buying when you follow the advertisements. They lift the blindfold; they make it easier to find the best values.

Leading Journals Rap Alberta's Securities Tax

Leading journals in Montreal and Toronto have united in a powerful attack on the recent Alberta mortgage legislation, with the Montreal Gazette and the Financial Post, Toronto, both demanding federal disallowance of the Aberhart acts by June 1st.

The Gazette, in an editorial, charged the Aberhart government with legalizing theft.

"The whole program purports to make lawful what under other conditions would be sheer theft," the Gazette asserted. "Even if the Aberhart government has failed in the main object for which it was elected, that of applying the Social Credit theory, it might still have retained the respect of Canadians. Unfortunately, it has not been content to acknowledge the futility of its main policy and to govern the province in justice and good faith, but has now run amok through a field of radical legislation that is without precedent in any country, civilized or savage."

"Having attempted to exploit the banks, to muzzle the press, and to tie the hands of the courts and having been frustrated in these efforts, it has proceeded to the enactment of laws which are equally, if not more vicious."

Referring to the Securities Tax Act, which levies two per cent on the principal of all mortgages, payable only by the lender, the Gazette pointed out that the penalty for non-payment was 60 per cent yearly. In addition, the mortgage holders were obliged to furnish elaborate particulars regarding all mortgages by June 1 of this year. Failure to make returns entailed a fine of 10 per day per mortgage—or $3650 fine for each mortgage in Alberta.

"To get them in by the first of June becomes physically impossible of success," said the Gazette, adding that the Aberhart government's reputation for integrity and decency was not so high as to preclude suspicion of a "deliberate design" to place lenders in default for the sake of collecting the tax.

"One of the most serious features of this situation is that a large amount of money borrowed on mortgages in Alberta is the property of life insurance companies, or rather, of policy holders throughout the Dominion," the Montreal paper observed.

Wellington Jeffers, financial editor of the Globe and Mail, Toronto, labelled the Aberhart government "financial flimflammers in their policy of wholesale cancellation and repudiation".

It was extraordinary stated Mr. Jeffers, to see Hon. Solon Low, Alberta's provincial treasurer, "going these acts of war against the rest of Canada and yet insisting that their policy is to lift some of the load of taxation from land and property."

Alberta's action was hurting individuals as well as institutions, said the Globe and Mail financial editor.

"In the aggregate, the people who lend money are as numerous as those to whom the money is lent. The institutions are really the agents acting for the host of individuals throughout Canada who want to see their money put out to work to aid production and commerce, or to forward some ownership."

"What individual anywhere in the world would lend money in the face of the Alberta government's present proposals?" he demanded.

The Financial Post branded the Aberhart acts "the most monstrous outburst of private property and contract that has ever been attempted in Canada". They threw aside all compromise and reason in matters of debt and provided, in effect, "a preposterous debt-cancellation scheme," the Post asserted.

"Approach of June 1 brings to a head the crisis that has been developing rapidly between the Alberta government and all investors who have loaned money in that province. On that date, the new Alberta Securities Tax becomes payable unless the Federal government takes steps meanwhile to disallow it. This act is one of a series of statutes passed last month by the Legislature and which seeks to destroy investments in that province."

It had been apparent for some time that Social Credit and $25-a-month dividend were at best a disguise for repudiation and debt cancellation on a scale which Emancipation of women in France from their centuries-old obligation to "obey" their husbands became effective with publication of the new civil rights bill for women in the official Law Journal. The law still acknowledges the husband as "chief of the family," but drops the obligation of the wife to promise to obey and rules that "a married woman has full exercise of her civil capacity." Under the old Code a married woman, like a child or an insane person, was denied civil rights.

Unfortunately, this form of rest is not sufficient to allow for healing in all cases. It was for the cases who did not improve under bed rest that surgical therapy was first suggested. Surgery is now widely used to collapse the diseased lung, for when it is collapsed, it is given complete rest with the best chance for healing.

Today, collapse therapy, or surgical treatment of one kind or another, is recognized as one of the great advances of our age in the treatment of tuberculosis. No longer is surgery the last resort, but rather an early choice. Its value depends upon a proper selection of cases suitable for such treatment. It is not a cure-all. SURGERY PROVIDES BEST FOR TUBERCULAR LUNG

A pimple on the skin is a good example of inflammation due to a germ. Pain, redness and swelling are the typical symptoms of inflammation, to be followed, in some cases, by the formation of pus.

Inside the body, the various disease germs set up inflammation which have much in common, but with distinctive characteristics depending upon which germ is responsible.

The inflammation of the lungs which we know as tuberculosis, is caused by the action of the tubercle bacillus; it tends to break down the lung structure so that cavities, small and large, are formed.

We recover from an inflammation, tuberculous or other, when healing takes place. It may be said that all treatment of the tuberculous is planned to place the diseased or inflamed part at rest. Why? Because rest is one of the trinity of the healing graces. Without sufficient rest, healing is impossible.

A broken leg can be splinted in a plaster cast, and so placed at rest until the bones heal. But the lungs must move in order that we may live and breathe. Rest in bed may so limit the demand made on the lungs as to enable them to

"Such action, to be effective, should be immediate. It should be taken without an hesitation as to possible political consequences in Saskatchewan."

"Such action would constitute no rebuff to the principle of debt adjustment already worked out in a spirit of generous compromise in Manitoba and Saskatchewan."

It is action demanded by public conscience against methods of cutlary and repudiation which cannot with impunity be counteracted in this country," the Post stated.

About This and That

Well meaning folk protest against pictures of the effect of war being printed in the papers and periodicals.
Why? There is no objection to views of smart parades, ceremonial events and all that. Print the horror pictures. Send them broadcast. Let all ages contemplate its filth, butchery, hospital beds, asylum wards, ruins! Give everybody an eyeful. For war has only one meaning. You can't make war appear to be something that it is not.

One in every four is said to be on relief in the city of Cleveland, Ohio, with a population of 1,200,000. Cleveland is the fifth largest city in the United States and one of the nation's important manufacturing centres. The opposition will have something to point at when the opportunity arrives to make an appeal to the electorate.

One touch of nature that makes the whole world kin is the lively interest that every person takes in the doings of his or her home town. News of that close circle never fails to win attention, and this localized, intimate news, is always freshly available in newspapers. . . . for only newspapers, with their sharply defined distributions, can cater intimately to given areas, and at the same time bring them all the store news of importance. This close-to-home touch is a valuable asset to advertisers.

The universities of Canada are turning out hundreds of young men and women. Presumably, they plan on being self-supporting or in other words, finding something to do. It is certain they will discover thousands of

Here and There With G.R.T.

Hello, Folks! Just dropped in to inquire of the Weymouth disciples of Izaak Walton about the fishing out on Old "Rosin and Bow" and adjacent streams and rivers of Weymouth's hinterland.
Open season for trout fishing here in "cloudy" California began Sunday, May 1st, and some two hundred thousand trout fishermen
—so said the papers—took to the open road Saturday evening and very early Sunday morning bound for the mountain streams and lakes in the High Sierra mountains, but most of them came home early, after a few hours of tramping, wading and paddling the skiff, and complaining of the proverbial "fisherman's luck", and wishing that they had gone over to Noah Beery's trout farm, where they could have caught a fine mess of speckled beauties at twenty-five cents per fish, small, but quite tasty. Old Noah—not an Ark builder—but Noah of the Movies, now operates a huge dude ranch in the hill country north of Los Angeles which he calls "Paradise" and where paying guests can fish, hunt and ride to their hearts content, and will find Noah a most charming host, agreeable, soft spoken and most anxious to make the stranger within his gates, feel strictly at home, and quite the opposite to the hard boiled characters that he so well portrayed in his moving picture parts. Fishermen returning from their May Day outing reported that the fishing was not what it should be, floods and high water having just about ruined the sport for this season. Others said the fishing was very good at some of the lakes where lake fish hatcheries are located.

Old Rosin the Bow, as it was known when I was a youngster, was a favorite trout fishing spot for such old time experts of the rod and reel as Dr. C. H. Morse, Jimmy Brown, Major Daley, William Moore and Ernest Brooks.
The catch they usually brought home—two pounders and such—were really "sumpin'" to admire and arouse a craving, overcome only by starting out on a fishing trip by yourself. How well I remember, such jaunts to Delap's Lake or to the headwaters of Journey's Lake and up the streams that fed that old basin of blue water. No fancy fishing equipment had we, but young birch poles, a hank or two of trout line and half a dozen trout hooks and a can of garden worms made us feel equal to the best of our home town anglers. Setting forth gaily on foot in the morning with a couple of sandwiches wrapped in last week's copy of the Courier —food for the body and mind as well—we felt fully prepared to give the trout a run for their buck. But what a difference in the evening, footsore and weary and disgusted, with one perch and one of two young nibblers hardly large enough to make a decent spitter in the old frying pan, to show for our day's work, we decided to leave trout fishing to the experts and do ours thereafter fishing for harbor pollock off Charlie Burrill's wharf, or borrow Capt. Water's boat—Capt. Waters of river pile driving fame—and go drifting down Sissiboo River to the flounder banks off Mike McCormick's farm, where one was always sure to hook a nice string of baby halibut for the evening meal—much easier work and the results more satisfying.

And that reminds me that we are now getting some mighty nice fish here in the markets, all the way from Digby, Nova Scotia, fresh fillet of haddock, delivered in refrigerator cars and quick freezing process. It is just about the best fish carried in the markets here today. My folks, who are from Missouri, say that it is the best that they have ever eaten.

I guess that we will have to admit that our Sunny California is not always sunny. At least, we cannot claim a full 365 days of sunshine this year. March was pretty bad, with torrential rains, floods and disaster which ruined many living on the lowlands and took the lives of two hundred people in the vicinity of Los Angeles. April was cold and cloudy, putting vegetable crops three to four weeks behind regular spring schedule. Easter Sunday was the one bright spot of the month, being all that could be desired for that eventful day. Those who turned out for the sun-se service

if some did go out to the Hollywood Bowl at midnight and roll up in a blanket to be sure of a seat in the Bowl at sunrise. About 30,000 people attended that service and were not disappointed
—it was a beautiful clear morning and in addition to the musical numbers presented, the birds, as usual set up a symphony of their own, which, I imagine, was something of a novelty to most of the listeners.

In spite of the cold backward weather the wild flowers, both on the mountain sides and desert stretches, are most abundant and beautiful this year. In the country about fifty miles north of Los Angeles, there are acres and acres of blossoms covering the ground which at a distance resembles a huge versicolored carpet. And, did the city folks drive out to view that sight? Believe me, the human ways to these places were so packed with cars that traffic was slow down to about fifteen miles an hour and to a speed demon like myself who likes to roll along at from 45 to 55 miles per, such slow traveling was anything but enjoyable. The cool weather did not seem to affect our orange trees much; they were in full bloom as usual, in April, filling the air almost to the point of intoxication with their delightful perfume, making you think that if you only had a trailer car you would be willing to move into some orange grove and stay there from now on.

The winter crop of oranges—Washington navel—was very large and the fruit plump and juicy, due largely to the rains during the winter. There was no frost this season so the grower was benefited in two ways—no irrigation needed and no smudging to do—both expensive items in the orange growers' budget. Shipments for this season approximately 20,000 carloads, with about 5,000 yet to be marketed. I wonder if Bobb's Nichols would object to a correction? Some weeks ago he mentioned the "tangerine" as being a cross between a prune and a peach. I think he meant to say "nectarine". The tangerine is a small orange of the Mandarin or Chinese variety. It is highly colored, with a loose skin, and rather tart to the taste, but quite satisfactory eating. The nectarine is a delicious fruit and eaten when fully ripe or even evaporated creates a desire for more and more.

What about mayflowers? They must be in full bloom by this time, but I haven't seen any press notices thanking some one for the beautiful bouquet of these lovely spring flowers being placed on the editor's desk. Page Mrs. M. G. T.
I'll bet she knows where the may-flowers bloom. Up the river, in the pasture of the old Mickey Montague farm, if I remember correctly.

What's in the news? Well, outside of what all of the daily papers here report about the doings of Hitler and Mussolini, and what the Chinese are doing to the Japanese, our local papers are full of a story about a certain poker game played in a certain Long Beach, Cal., swanky apartment hotel. I could call the name of that certain hotel inasmuch as there is only one such in the beach city, but what's the use?
Anyway, a certain English gentleman, a very rich Englishman, one Squire Harry Talbot, De Vere Clifton, owner of several banks, one hundred stores and five thousand houses over in England, if the reporters have been correctly informed, engaged in a friendly game of poker, with some other gentlemen of the green cloth, professional gambling gentlemen, so to speak, and to whom the Englishman lost a mere thirty thousand pounds, or one hundred and fifty thousand smackers in Roosevelt money, and whereupon, after detecting the odor of something reminding of a stale joke or lack of a joke, hours later, as Englishmen are wont to do, he stopped payment on his checks—or cheques as you like—and told his suspicions to the District Attorney who promptly proceeded to investigate the matter. And now Squire Clifton is getting much publicity, undesirable or otherwise, without paying the papers a cent for it, getting a scent without a cent, so to speak. Anyway, he is now wondering whether, if he had had the bull-headed luck to have won,

WIN SCHOLARSHIPS IN MUSICAL COMPETITION

Winning first prize for original musical compositions in a contest held by the Canadian Performing Right Society, Eldon Rathburn, (left), 21, of Saint John, N. B., will receive a scholarship covering a year's tuition and maintenance at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, from Lord Tweedsmuir.

Second place in the competition was won by Leonard Basham, (right), 20, of Vancouver, B. C.

Clermont Pepin, (Centre), 11-year-old French-Canadian boy from County Beauce, Que., was awarded a special juvenile prize to encourage him in following his musical education.

could the other gent have been able to pay his winnings? Seems to me I have read a moral somewhere: "Don't play poker with strangers". Latest reports are that Squire Clifton got all of his money back, and that there was a celebration mid roses and champagne.

This event recalls a similar case that happened several years ago when I lived in Salt Lake City.
Three young Englishmen en route to San Francisco, where they intended to engage in the bakery business, stopped over to enjoy the scenery and other sights of the beautiful Mormon capital, and to float awhile in the salty waters—22 per cent salt—of Utah's great inland sea. While at the lake resort they fell in with a couple of gentlemen, one of whom claimed to be a doctor and the other a lawyer, who invited the Britons to have dinner with them. Later in the evening a poker game was suggested, and one of the boys from home, who considered that what he did not know about poker was not worth knowing, agreed to sit in a game with the Salt Lakers.
Result: the Salt Lakers took twenty thousand dollars from the Britishers. Next morning after having studied the events of the previous evening and a lengthy discussion of the various plays with his brothers, decided that they had been up against a colddecked or brace game—meaning marked cards or something—and then made a complaint to the Chief of Police, who did not seem to take much interest in their complaint, and asked:

"How come you boys were playing cards for money? That's gambling you know, and gambling is a crime in this saintly city. Maybe I ought to arrest you." This talk did not scare the Englishmen very much, made them a trifle more stubborn if such a thing is possible. Then they decided to take the hotel clerk into their confidence and told him what had happened to their bank roll. "Well," said the clerk, "you won't get much help from the city police department, but you might go up to the offices of the Mormon Church and tell the presiding elder of your troubles. You see this city is now governed by non-Mormons or Gentiles. The mayor city council and chief of police are all Gentiles and the "church" does not like that outfit a little bit, and would be only too glad to get something on the chief, with such a case as you.

The Gentiles caught the Mormons napping in the election of 1906 and gained control of the city government for a two-year term, something that had never happened before or since.

The presiding elder and one of the bishops listened to the En-glishmen's story and when they had finished, Bishop Goddard, a former Englishman, remarked:
"Boys, we believe your story and we think that we can do something for you; we will try it anyway." The church sleuths were instructed to get busy on the case. The names of the alleged doctor and attorney were unknown to them being, of course, fictitious, but that they were nothing more than professional gamblers was quite evident, and by that time were, no doubt, in hiding, perhaps having been warned by the police department to lay low for a while. Then something unusual happened, when one of the church sleuths ran into a clue furnished by a Mormon boy, who had been a waiter in one of the city's better

TRAVEL EVOLUTION

In the early sixties things were slow.
Stage coaches those days were all the go.
They were an improvement, really
'swank'
Over the saddle that lost first rank;
Yarmouth to Halifax in three days
Was said by all to be a speed craze.
In time, was built a mighty railway
That rolled the miles in a single day.
So the coach had to go out of business—
'Twas the survival of the fittest;
But when the coach faded from the scene
To hold sway again it set to scheme.

The railway improved from time to time,
And hopes of the coach were on the decline;
What took a whole day was cut in half
And this worked to the railway's behalf.
The engine seemed king, forever
more,
So the coach was dead—but mighty sore.

There lived in Detroit, a man named Ford
Who set to work with a clever horde;
He blew new breath in the old wagon
And sold them wholesale, at a bargain;
The people proclaimed them far
the best,
And the railways soon became depressed.

But then, came the airship on the scene
To set back once more the fairy queen;
The coach is feeling like a wet hen
That has been ducked and ducked
again;
Once more she's going for want of speed.
For faster, yet faster, is the creed.
—John Max.

THE GOSPEL OF HAPPINESS

The gospel of happiness is one which all should lay at heart. Set out in life with the invincible, and grim determination that you will bear burdens, and not impose them on others.
When the sun shines on you, or the days grow darker, show a bright face to your friends. Smile, for their benefit, for if you do fall in life's battle, you can at least go down with a smile on your face.
Never tell your troubles, for the ones you are telling yours to, may have far more than you ever dreamed of, and the gospel of true happiness is to make others happy.
You cannot do that, if you impose your burdens upon others' shoulders.
"Learn to smile!" It is the Royal Road, and takes you nearer God.
Smiling is like the sun shining,
after a long spell of dull weather.
Smile often. —(Elizabeth Hamilton.)

Hardy, of Dublin Shore, who had her on the southern passage, to resume command.

Have you an error of refraction? A new device has been invented by P. R. Saunders, O. D., a life member of the Chartered Institute of American Inventors, Washington, D. C., that will positively show if a person is farsighted, near-sighted or astigmatic. This device will be demonstrated at my office, Digby, May 30 to June 4. It is not an examination of the eyes and will not take five minutes time. There will be no charge to look through this device, and it will give positive information regarding refraction. Come and See.—P. R. Saunders, O. D., Sight Specialist.

The many friends of Capt. Chas. TRAINMAN IS BADLY HURT
While at his night duty at the D. A. R. engine shed, at Annapolis Royal on Saturday, Thomas Murray received severe injuries to his face, which necessitated his removal to the Digby Hospital for treatment. It was found that his jaw was broken in two or three places, and he was operated on Monday morning. It is not known exactly how the accident occurred. He was found with his mouth bleeding profusely, by Eugene Cummings, who arrived to relieve him at the usual time but was able to walk to his home, where medical aid was secured. It is generally supposed that he was struck in shifting a lever on the coal car.

COMMISSIONER HONORED

A BUSY BAKERY

One of the busiest spots in the Valley today is at the plant of the Berwick Bakery, whose products are so well known in this town and who have recently contracted for a generous space in the Courier in the effort to extend their business. We have been able to gather the following facts regarding Mr. Bezonson and his business:

Mr. Bezonson has served the customers in the Valley for the past 13 years. He is operating five modern bread delivery trucks. He is covering the Annapolis Valley as far as Yarmouth, and also the South Shore.

His bakery is equipped with the most modern type of bread machinery and the plant is manned by experienced bakers of long standing.

He is also using the best of ingredients in the manufacture of all his products, bread, cakes and pastry.

He employs three girls, seven bakers, five salesmen and one machinist to maintain systematic operation of his business.

Mr. Bezonson, we would say, is a factor in industry in the Valley, from an employment standpoint as well as supplying the population of the Valley with high quality food products.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETS

At a meeting of the Valley Medical Society held in the Court House here a few days ago, interesting and instructive papers were read by Dr. A. B. Campbell, Bear River, on "Psychotherapy Practice," and by Dr. T. A. Lebbetter, Yarmouth, on "Hypertensive Heart Disease." A discussion on case reports, dealing principally with Infantile Paralysis, was led by Dr. H. E. Kelley, of Middleton. Dr. F. F. Chute, Canning, president of the Association, presided. The visiting medicos enjoyed a lobster supper at Excel Inn in the evening.

MUSICAL REVUE A SUCCESS

The Musical Revue, presented in Trinity Parish Hall, on Monday evening, was a success in every way. The splendid program was greatly appreciated by a large audience, and a sum of $33 realized for the benefit of the Annapolis Young People's Association. The program was staged under the direction of Miss Lois Walker and Victor Cardozo.

Specialty numbers included solos by the Misses Aileen and Helen Melanson and Gloria Cunningham, supported by a chorus of girls, to the accompaniment of Bernie and Eddie Baxter and their ukeleles; Miss Marjorie Snow played the ukelele and sang with Miss Fern Stark. They were also supported by the chorus.

Miss Marie Fleming's number "The Stenog Talks Back" got a great many laughs from the audience, nevertheless, it is generally agreed the big event of the evening was left until last—the impersonation of Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy by Rev. E. M. Caldwell and Victor Cardozo—the latter looked and acted the part of Charlie so well, that we might have taken him for the real Charlie but for the fact he found such a difficult task in keeping his monocle in place.

JUNIOR RAVENS BASEBALL GAME

Sparked by Frank Raymond's 5 hit pitching, also by Golden's and VanTassel's big bats, the Junior Ravens chalked up a decisive win over Ashmore in an exhibition game, at Ashmore, on Sunday.

This started the baseball campaign for the Junior Ravens, who, several weeks ago, wound up a successful hockey season, getting into the Western Nova Scotia Junior finals.

Digby was leading 7-0 in the fifth, when Ashmore scored their lone tally. The final score came out: Digby, 11; Ashmore, 1.

Louis Savary had to retire in the fifth with what was feared was a broken nose. He was replaced by "Squid" Baxter.

This game, with no previous practice, calls for a bright season for the Ravens, who are putting Digby up where it should be in relation to sports. Last summer the Ravens made a name for themselves by losing only one game in twelve played. They have practically the same team as last year's, with Clarkson and B. Baxter being the only additions.

Gerald Muise, who is expected to return from Toronto the middle of next month, was capably replaced at the initial sack by Joe Turnbull.

The lineups were as follows:—
Digby:—VanTassel, R. F.; K. Raymond, 2 b.; Collins, S. S.; L. Savary, 2 g.; Baxter, 1 f.; B. Baxter, c. f.; J. Turnbull, 1st; A. Golden, c.; C. Davidson, 3rd; F. Raymond, p.

Ashmore:—L. Tebo, c.; A. Melanson, S. S.; E. Melanson, 2 b.; E. Morrissey, 1st; E. Amoro, p.; J. Blinn, 3rd; F. Thibideau, c. f.; R. Amoro, 1 f.; V. Sweeney, r. f.

OPEN AIR BAND CONCERT

An open air concert will be given at the Digby Band Stand, Sunday afternoon, June 12, if weather permits. This will be the first out-door performance of the Digby Civic Band this season, and the announcement will be read with interest by all music lovers, and especially by those who had the pleasure of attending the monthly "Pop" concerts during the past winter. The steady progress of the Band, and its increasing repertoire of fine music were fully demonstrated, although the concerts were far from profitable to the Band financially.

The proposed Sunday concert is offered by the Band for your entertainment without remuneration except from anticipated generous contributions by the audience.

FISHERMEN'S RACE IN OCTOBER

Postponement until October 9, of the International fishermen's races off Boston, was announced recently by the American race committee.

The series for the sailing championship of the North Atlantic originally was scheduled to begin Aug. 21, but the committee explained, so much pressure had been brought for a date late enough to insure "real fishermen's weather" that the postponement was decided upon.

SENT UP FOR TRIAL ON THREE CHARGES

H. P. Newcombe, well known Halifax barrister, was committed to stand trial by a higher court, by Stipendiary Magistrate, G. H. Peters, at a preliminary hearing, which concluded here on Monday.

The Newcombe case was begun on August 16, of last year, with E. J. Theriault, Digby, solicitor for the crown, and J. E. Rutledge, Halifax, counsel for defence. On that occasion evidence was on three counts preferred against him, and the hearing further adjourned until September 1, when the crown completed its evidence. A further adjournment was made until September 9, on which occasion evidence was to have been offered by the defence, but on account of the illness of the accused, the case was indefinitely postponed and it was not until Monday the hearings were completed, and Newcombe sent up for trial.

Information against Newcombe was laid by Corp. J. A. Wrubalski, of the R. C. M. P. Mr. Newcombe was charged with stealing 50 shares of preferred stock in the Founders' Investment Ltd., from James A. Robbins, of Rossway, "that he did on or about the 2nd day of December 1935; at Smith's Cove in the County of Digby, with intent to defraud by false pretenses, obtain from Spurgeon Weir the sum of $1,000; and "H. P. Newcombe, of Halifax, in the County of Halifax on or about the 20th day of November, 1935, at Rossway, in the County of Digby, having therefore received from Douglas Andrews the sum of $100 with a direction from him, the said Douglas Andrews to said H. P. Newcombe, that said money be applied to purchase of safe securities, did then and there in violation of good faith and contrary to the terms of said direction fraudulently commit to his own use, and thereby steal the said sum of money."

According to evidence taken on August 16, of last year, the Robbins transaction involved $510.

At the earlier hearings counsel for the accused objected to the information on the ground that it did not set out any information and belief on the part of the informant. The informant was not an eye witness and had no knowledge of his own of any offence said to have been committed.

At Monday's hearing, K. L. Crowell, of Bridgetown, was counsel for the accused.

On Wednesday the accused elected to be tried at the Supreme Court session, and was released on bail.

MT. PLEASANT MAN MISSING

Considerable concern is felt regarding the whereabouts of Lloyd Jefferson, 36 year old Mt. Pleasant farmer, missing from his home in that village since Wednesday evening, last week.

Mr. Jefferson was driven to the store of S. E. Woodman, Conway, by his hired man, Lindsay Long. Jefferson claimed to have an appointment to meet Genos Sanford, Clements, at the Woodman store, and to go with Sanford to inspect some cattle, from which Jefferson hoped to select a team of oxen.

When he left home Wednesday evening he explained to his wife that it might be the cattle Sanford was to show him that evening would not be what he wanted, in such an event, he would stay with Sanford over night, and drive with him the next morning to Maitland, where he would look at other animals. Should that be the case he would not return home until Friday or Saturday as he would drive the oxen back.

It is reported Jefferson remained at the Woodman store until Mr. Woodman closed for the night, and was last seen by Mr. Woodman climbing the railway embankment near the overhead (Keen's) bridge.

Mr. Sanford did not meet him at the store, and it has been learned since he (Sanford) had no appointment to meet him on that evening. At the request of Mrs. Jefferson, the Digby detachment of the R. C. M. P. are now seeking the missing farmer.

Jefferson is of a short stocky build about five feet four inches in height, and when he left home a week ago Wednesday evening, was wearing a pair of dark trousers with grey stripe, blue coat, low black shoes and rubbers, a grey coat sweater trimmed with blue and a brown pullover sweater.

SAVE 3 WAYS with a GENERAL ELECTRIC Triple-Thrift REFRIGERATOR

MANY owners say a new G-E Refrigerator saves enough money month by month to pay its own cost. They calculate it saves up to 20% on perishable food bills. Figure out what that would mean to you. By keeping food fresh a G-E Refrigerator enables you to buy in quantities at week-end bargain prices. It prevents waste by preserving "left-overs". It uses so little current and the upkeep cost is almost nothing. Don't think you're being economical by doing without a G-E Refrigerator. It's much more thrifty to have one.

Knees Went Stiff in His Sleep

Agony to Move Them When He Awoke

"For three years," writes this City man, "I suffered with pains across the lower part of my back. In the morning I awoke with knees so stiff that it was agony to move them. Special treatment would make the pain a little easier—but that was all. Then a friend recommended Kruschen, which my doctor said I might take. I began with about a coffee-spoonful first thing in the morning. To my surprise I found my rheumatic aches and pains disappearing. I kept on with Kruschen, and although I am more than middle-aged, I have been free from pain for two years, and able to go to my office every day."—A. W.

Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

BAN IS PLACED ON HIGHWAY SIGNS

Strict limitation of the number of advertising signs on Nova Scotia's highways is ordered by the Provincial Department of Highways. The ruling states that "the numerous signs advertising soft drinks, tobaccos and other merchandise" must be removed before June 10, or be destroyed. The ban applies to signs within 300 feet of the highway.

Hotels and overnight cabins will be allowed only two signs on the premises where the business is conducted, and may in addition by license be permitted one sign on each main highway approach to the premises of the town where the premises are located.

Stores, canteens, service stations, etc., are allowed only two signs on the premises.

The license for additional signs on each highway approach, which is permitted only keepers of hotels and other accommodations, must be procured by forwarding an application to the office of the Department of Highways before signs are erected. No license is required for the two signs on the place of business.

All advertising signs or devices not permitted according to these rulings must be removed before June 10, 1938. The announcement reads: "Otherwise the department will assume the signs have no value to the owners and will remove and destroy the signs. Application forms for the sign license may be obtained, with other information required, by writing the county engineer."

The proceeds amounted to $33.00, which amount they are using to pay the Social Service portion of the church's budget, and to purchase a new bursar and veil for the Communion Vessels.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew's held their last meeting of the season Tuesday evening in the Parish Hall. Nearly all the members were present and a very profitable evening was enjoyed by the brethren. During the meeting the rector spoke at some length on "The Spiritual Foundation of the Brotherhood", and urged the men to diligently follow their Patron Saint in bringing others within the wholesome influences of the church and the church's Lord. The Secretary, H. O. Turnbull, reported having received from Toronto the Charter for the Digby branch of the Brotherhood. It was duly framed and hung on the wall of the Parish Hall, where it presents a pleasing appearance. Plans were also made for the members picnic on July 1st at Evangeline Beach, with the A. Y. P. A. After the business session, the Director, George Cardoza, conducted a programme among the men consisting of questions and answers. This was greatly enjoyed. Garfield Hayden led in a number of parts.

Confirmation classes were held at the Rectory on Wednesday evening, the juniors from 7 until 8 p. m., the seniors from 8.30 to 10.30. His Lordship the Bishop, comes to our Parish for the Holy Rite, on the 20th of June. Already a goodly number are being prepared for His Lordship's coming.

After the business was finished a social evening was held in honor of Victor Cardoza, Vice-President, for the splendid leadership he has given the young people since the society was begun in the Parish. This was Mr. Cardoza's birthday, and the evening's celebration was appropriate to the occasion.

The services last Sunday were conducted by Rev. Frisby Smith, of the Parish of Weymouth. Fair congregations were in attendance. The rector conducted the services at Weymouth. This being the Sunday after Diocesan Synod, the exchange was affected by both clergymen.

"THE LITTLE BLACK BAG"

Those who attended the theatre on Monday or Tuesday evening of this week were given a wonderful insight on the vast work of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada, a reel entitled "The Little Black Bag" illustrating the everyday work of Victorian Nurses from the Atlantic to the Pacific, among all classes and races of people in rural and city communities. Such a picture should promote an even greater appreciation of the work of the V. O. N. in our own community—we believe that should a newsreel camera man follow our nurse on her daily rounds, his camera would record many scenes that would be practically a parallel to those shown in "The Little Black Bag".

By a coincidence the feature picture on the programme on Monday and Tuesday was "Between Two Women", one of the most remarkable and fascinating hospital pictures we have seen. We are glad these pictures coincided, for in the past we have heard in Digby more than one person express opinions there was not need of both the Victorian Order and the Hospital in this town. The two films showed a remarkable contrast in the work of these two great institutions, and left us with the feeling both were worthy of every bit of support that could be given—even although our General Hospital is on a much smaller scale than that pictured in "Between Two Women".

The V. O. N. and the Digby General Hospital have made Digby a better place in which to live and we hope both will continue in their good work for many years to come.

The 'Great Sea'

The Mediterranean, the sea noted above all others for the beauty and fascination of its shores and islands, the largest of all inland seas, is also by far the most famous historically, none other having played so brilliant a part in the history of mankind.

To the writers of sacred story, the sea on which the argosies of ancient Tyre traded to the limits of the known world was the "Great Sea", for to them the greater seas which we call oceans were practically unknown. To the Apostol Paul, who crossed it so many times, the Mediterranean was "The Sea", for no other was of importance in comparison with it. And in modern times, looking back over many centuries from his viewpoint in the eighteenth century, Dr. Johnson summed up its glory and man's indebtedness thus:

"The grand object of travelling is to see the shores of the Mediterranean. On these shores were the four great empires of the world—the Assyrian, the Persian, the Grecian, and the Roman. All our religion, almost all our law, almost all our arts, almost all that sets us above savages, has come to us from the shores of the Mediterranean."

On or near these shores in truth, are to be found the scenes of all the greatest events in sacred and classic history, for the Mediterranean, as its name implies, was in the very heart and middle of the earth in the days when civilization was confined to South Western Asia, South Eastern Europe and Northern Africa.

For ages the known world was essentially the "World of the Mediterranean." On its borders nations prospered and advanced, while away from it were to be found generally only ancient decayed civilisations or backward, more or less primitive tribes not yet stimulated to mental activity or inspired by corporate ideals. "Like frogs around a swamp, so have we settled down on the shores of this sea," said Plato; and so it was.

Tyre, Sidon and Carthage

In the earliest times of which we have definite knowledge, Tyre and Sidon, in the Eastern Mediterranean, were great cities of the Phoenicians, the most enterprising and wealthy traders of ancient days. Phoenician merchant adventurers were probably the first people to sail beyond the Pillars of Hercules (Gibraltar Rock and that of Ceuta on the African side), and trade with un-civilised Britain and Gaul, and islands far away to the north. Along the coast of Northern Africa they had founded colonies—Carthage the most famous and splendid—and they and their ancient Greeks, their great rivals, had established themselves on all the borders of the great sea, and on its many beautiful islands. In the meantime Rome had been founded by the union of two or three settlements, and gradually (during about 300 years B. C.) by conquest it grew from a dominant city to a great Empire, including all the Mediterranean lands, European, Asiatic and African, all the civilised world of the day. To the Romans the Mediterranean became "Mare Nostrum" (Our Sea), for no other people could claim supremacy along any part of its shores.

Even when the old Roman Empire crumbled to pieces, during the fifth and the eighth centuries, and new states arose in which had been the wilds of Central and Western Europe, the Mediterranean an lost none of its importance as the world's chief sea. Later the Crusaders helped to maintain its supremacy by the impetus they gave to trade with the East. "The growing demand for Oriental produce which the Crusaders had introduced to their home countries led to the opening of many new land routes. European and Asiatic, and as all these terminated on the Mediterranean, its crises retained the monopoly of the commerce of the world. Venice, which had played a great part in the business of transporting the soldiers of the Cross to the Holy Land; became a chief centre for the distribution of Eastern produce through Western Europe, and in time rose to be not only the "Queen of the Adriatic", but one of the great Maritime Powers of the Middle Ages, Genoa being the next in importance of the Italian maritime states.

The Middle Sea's Decline

The last decade of the 15th century saw the beginning of the end of the Mediterranean's pre-eminence. Portugal, anxious to find a sea route to the East for trade purposes, sent Vasco da Gama round the Cape of Good Hope, which Diaz (also a Portuguese), had discovered in 1486, to search for such, and he reached India in 1497. Meanwhile Columbus, working for Spain and thinking that Portugal was not taking the best way to attain what was the great ambition of both countries, started boldly westward to find India, and so discovered a new world.

The changes brought about by these discoveries were among the greatest ever known, and their effects were very far-reaching. The chief trading enterprise of Europe was gradually transferred from the Mediterranean to the Atlantic and Western Asia and Italy, which had been the great intermediaries between the Orient and the West, lost their international importance. Their day was passing to sunset, and the new day of the States of Western Europe was dawning.

Other factors contributed to the change. The Ottoman Turks had swept into Eastern Europe, and their conquest of Constantinople (1453), and gradual annexations of the Balkan Peninsula and islands, Syria and Egypt—all the Eastern Mediterranean lands—brought a blight upon these countries. At the same time the Reformation was breaking up the old religious tyranny in Western, Central and Northern Europe; the Revival of Learning widened the whole field of thought and knowledge, made men realise their own powers, and taught them how to use these powers to advantage; and the Continental States that remained unaffected by the Ottoman conquest or threats of conquest awakened to a new and vigorous life.

Spain and Portugal, France the Netherlands and England rose rapidly as maritime powers, and struggled for supremacy. Sea-trade was extended to Guinea, India and Brazil along Atlantic routes, and it is interesting to note that to lessen England's dependence on foreign vessels, Henry VIII. gave special encouragement to shipbuilding, and brought the English navy into being in the 16th century.

Thus trade and power marched westward. New centres—Lisbon, Cadiz, Bordeaux, Nantes, Amsterdam, London, Bristol—arose as time passed in connection with the new routes. The difficult and dangerous land routes through Western Asia to the Orient were abandoned and the Mediterranean, instead of being as it had for so long been, the world's main thoroughfare became a sort of cul de sac, leading only to its own ports. The old proud supremacy of the "Great Sea" was a thing of the past.

ture of Gibraltar for Britain in 1704, was regarded as of no importance whatever and Sir George Rooke was displaced for having failed in other attacks which now appear as trifling compared with his splendid achievement at the old Pillars of Hercules Gibraltar has proved an invaluable possession to Britain, giving command of the entrance to the Mediterranean, helping to protect trade therein, serving as an outfitting and sheltering port for warships when necessary, and a coaling station for these and for merchant and passenger ships in modern times. But this is a digression, and has carried us beyond the point as regards Mediterranean history.

With the discovery of new lands and new routes came the extension of European empires by the acquisition of possessions abroad, and through this, together with the great commercial and social progress which accompanied it, the new Maritime Powers soon left the old states of Continental Europe far behind.

Then followed an era of struggle for colonial supremacy, in which Spain and Portugal were soon superseded, and Britain finally won the first place, holding sway over the newest lands of the New World and the oldest civilizations of the Old.

As commercial and political relations with the East grew more and more important, attention was focussed increasingly on the 70-mile isthmus of Suez, which separated the navigable waters of the Eastern Mediterranean from those of the Red Sea, thus preventing direct sea communication by the shortest route with Oriental countries. In 1837 an attempt was made to overcome this natural disadvantage by the construction of a road from Alexandria through Cairo to Suez the original "overland route". This solved the difficulty for passenger traffic bringing Bombay 5,000 miles or more nearer to England as compared with the Cape route, but it was too expensive for merchandise. Napoleon had formed the project of a ship canal during his Egyptian campaign, reviving an idea which had been frequently considered in ancient and mediaeval times, but his defeat prevented further developments. Not until 1856 was the present canal begun, and thirteen years were required for the undertaking. In 1869 the Suez Canal was opened for navigation, and the land barrier which had made the Mediterranean a blind alley, so far as shipping was concerned, was thus swept away.

Once more the world-importance of the Great Sea of the Ancients was acknowledged, for again as in the past it became a great highway, the most expeditious and the most interesting route to the luxuriant East. But its beautiful cities can never again claim the monopoly of world-commerce that they retained for long centuries. Civilization and commerce have spread in the meantime to the uttermost parts of the earth, and the days when men and nations flourished only on the shores of the Mediterranean belong to the remote past.—Glasgow Herald.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY STAFF FOUNDATION LIBRARY

Something new in group education for adults is to be found in the newly published Staff Foundation Library of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a set of which the Courier extends its thanks. The ten books comprising this library, cover all phases of the company's operations in addition to encouraging study designed to make Canadian Pacific employees better citizens. The volumes were arranged and edited by John Murray Gibbon, general publicity agent of the Company.

It was significant that the cap-

ed the requests of many employees for a reading guide and source of information on matters affecting good citizenship, such as Canadian history, geography and economics. The name "Foundation Library" has been aptly chosen, because it is hoped that reading of the books will encourage company employees to further study, to aid which a list of other books on similar subjects has been printed in the back of each volume.

In dealing with the distribution problem the Company's Educational Committee wisely decided that in addition to presenting information on a wide variety of serious subjects, the cost must be low to appeal to the largest number of employees possible. Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D., chairman and president, made the cheapness possible by ruling that the company should absorb more than half the cost of the books.

Only two of the books deal specifically with the railway, its problems and its history. These are "Canadian Pacific Facts and Figures" and "Factors in Railway and Steamship Operation." They contain a brief history of the Canadian Pacific as well as facts and figures illustrating the many activities and accomplishments of the various services of the company, on land and sea. These are supplemented by interesting features such as an analysis of the organization of the company into its various departments with a breakdown of personnel showing the astonishing variety of work done by Canadian Pacific employees. Biographies are given of Canadian Pacific directors. Diagrams show how the Canadian Pacific dollar is earned and spent. There are numerous articles dealing with such subjects as Atlantic and Pacific fleets, cruises, coastal and inland lake service, docks, terminals and yards, shops, streamlined trains as well as special chapters on different departments.

Other books are: "Speaking in Public", revised and enlarged for use of study groups and debating clubs, by Frank Homo Kirkpatrick, special lecturer in public reading and speaking in McMaster University; the University of Toronto Extension Courses, etc. Included in the book are specimen addresses by great Canadians.

"Correspondence and Salesmanship" in three parts. Part I is "Better Letters" by A. M. Kennedy, Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons; Part II, "The Personality of the Salesman", by William F. Gregory, B.A., instructor in salesmanship and vocational adviser, Western High School of Commerce, Toronto; Part III, "Salesmanship as Applied to Railway Traffic", by Charles E. Parks.

"A Dictionary of Correct English", by M. Alderton Pink, M.A., Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons. This is a manual of information and advice concerning grammar, idiom, use of words, points of style, punctuation, pronunciation and other practical matters.

"French Self-Taught", the Thimm's System by J. Lafitte, B. Es. L., principal French master City of London school. Of interest to Canadian Pacific people is a list of conversational phrases adapted to requirements of rail passenger traffic telegraph business.

restaurants and who related a story about a well known gambler, who had ordered breakfast that morning in the restaurant where the waiter had been working, and when the waiter brought in the food he was amazed to find the gambler wearing a napkin made of five hundred dollar bills, pinned together across his waistcoat, and so surprised was the waiter at the sight of so much currency of such large denomination that he dropped most of the breakfast into the gambler's lap, which naturally aroused the gambler's ire to such a pitch that he rose up from his chair and smacked the poor waiter to the floor, causing him to lose his job and to be turned loose upon the street to hunt another one, in the process of which he met up with the church detective, who was, of course, much interested in the story. The fact of that particular gambler having twenty-five hundred dollars in five hundred dollar bills was certainly most unusual.

Reporting back to Mormon headquarters and checking on kind of money that had been lost in the game, there remained no doubt that the right man had been spotted and there was no delay in getting a warrant from the County Attorney for the gambler's arrest, the county officials being strictly hand picked at that time as even unto this day of Lord 1938. In the meantime the Chief of Police having mulled the matter over in his mind, thought it might be a good plan to make a deal with the Englishmen if they were willing to listen to reason. If they would leave town at once he might be able to get part of their twenty thousand back for them. How much did they need? Fifteen thousand is the very least that they could start their bakery with in San Francisco.

"Nonsense," said the Chief, "Five thousand is the most that I can get for you, see me tomorrow if you decide to accept that amount."

LIQUOR COMES HIGH

If the experience of Los Angeles is a criterion, the cities of the United States are paying a much larger bill for the prosecution and care of publicly intoxicated persons than before the repeal of prohibition. Roy Knox, director of the Los Angeles Bureau of Budget and Efficiency, reports: Arrests for drunkenness increased from a total of 93,438 in the six years prior to repeal to 156,326 in the three years following repeal.

Cost of handling these cases increased from an average of $886,002 per year before repeal to a present average of $2,360,898.

Whenever the police ambulance or patrol siren sounds, one out of three times it is answering a call for which a drunken person is responsible, and the average cost per call is $45.

The city's total bill includes the cost of one-third of the police department; of trials; feeding, housing and clothing prisoners awaiting trial and after conviction; treatment of alcoholics and inebriates in public hospitals and clinics; damage to property and person; only a small part of which is footed by the taxpayers, and in certain cases maintenance of wives and children of jailed fathers.

Higher taxes on liquor will not alone solve such a problem, even though they make it more difficult for the family pay envelope to satisfy the drinker's appetite. Neither the cost nor the quality of liquor have a decisive bearing on the social results of its abuse. Obviously, from Los Angeles's experience, the degree of its availability is the controlling factor.—Christian Science Monitor.

Winner of more golf championships than any other Canadian, George S. Lyon, grand old man of the links, died in Toronto in his 80th year. Among the titles he took were the Canadian amateur eight times, Canadian senior 10 times, and North American senior four times. This picture of Mr. Lyon was taken last July as he celebrated his 79th birthday.

things began to happen, the County Attorney and the County Sheriff acting swiftly upon the urgent request of the church officials, soon had the gamblers behind the bars of the county jail and a warrant sworn out for the arrest of the Chief of Police, charging neglect of duty accessory after the crime and other things unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, in other words, being in cahoots with the gambling element of the city. Net result—the gamblers went to jail for a term, the Chief of Police lost his job, the Mormon church officials were quite happy and the boys from Jolly Old London got most of their money back and left at once for San Francisco to start their bakery business, vowing that never again would they play poker with strangers or bet a shilling on any kind of a poker hand, not even a cookie would they bet.

Well, I'll bet a thin dime that you all will say that this was just a yarn to prove that there were some five hundred dollar bills in circulation back in 1906, but I can prove it. I was at the gambler's trial and saw some of that currency which was used as "Exhibit A" by the County Attorney.

Thoughts while riding the trolley car to work—Monday morning—sunny but cool and delightful—good looking car conductor—pleasant smile and a cheerful howdy-do—very attentive to the ladies, especially the young and good looking ones. The lake in Westlake Park smooth and beautiful—ducks and swans out hunting breakfast—fat carp here and there popping up with a splash to strike at early grasshoppers, 'twas ever thus—it's the early worm or bug that gets caught.

HEALTH

ANAEMIA

Twelve years ago, liver could be bought for a few cents, and was used to feed the cat or the dog. Today, so many people are eating liver that the price has advanced until it is only the indulged at which gets an occasional taste.

It was no longer ago than 1926 when it was observed that patients suffering from pernicious anaemia were much improved when they used a half-pound of liver each day.

Anaemia is a general term which means that the blood is deficient in quantity or quality. There are several kinds of anaemia, such as that which follows upon a haemorrhage, or the anaemia which usually develops as a part of such chronic diseases as tuberculosis, cancer, malaria and lead poisoning.

Then there are the anaemias which occur because of the failure of the organs which manufacture the red blood cells. We cannot live without oxygen, and if there are not enough red blood cells, or if there is a lack of the haemoglobin which should be in these cells to carry oxygen, then the body tissues are starved of the oxygen which they need.

The red cells are manufactured by the red marrow at the ends of the long bones, ribs and vertebrae. Pernicious anaemia was, until recent times, almost always fatal. The red cells were so rapidly destroyed that the bone marrow could not meet the demand, this, in the end, meant death as the blood could not carry enough oxygen to all the tissues to maintain life.

Liver contains something which brings back the blood of pernicious anaemia patients to normal and so gives them back their health. No longer is the victim of pernicious anaemia doomed to die; health and strength are his through the continued proper use of liver or liver extract.

The fame of liver spread, and many people began to eat it on the general principle that what is good for one ailment is good for others, which is, of course, absurd.

Liver is not even of value in the treatment of all anaemias. The chlorosis, or "green sickness" of young girls, a form of anaemia, disappears with improved habits of living; other forms of anaemia respond to iron therapy. In all cases a blood examination is required to determine what form of anaemia is present; this must be known before proper treatment can be prescribed.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

HULLS HARMFUL TO YOUNG PIGS

(Experimental Farms Note)

Unthriftiness and high mortality of suckling and weanling pigs increases the cost of producing market hogs, states R. M. Hopper of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Brandon. Suitable feeds and sanitary environment are the two prime factors that influence the health of young pigs. It is during the early stages of development that the market pig is capable of making the most economical gains, and all practical precautionary measures that will safeguard the health of the young pigs and permit them to make maximum growth at this time will prove well worth while, and will have an important influence upon production costs.

One precautionary measure that every swine raiser should take is to avoid permitting suckling or weanling pigs to consume a meal mixture that contains a large percentage of fibre in the form of oat or barley hulls. Such material causes injury to the delicate membranes of the stomach and intestines, and these injuries in turn give rise to intestinal disorders which may result in death or in reduced vitality that will predispose the young pig to other ailments. The condition almost invariably results in unthriftiness and unthrifty young pigs rarely prove profitable to the producer.

An efficient ration for young pigs is one that is easily digested, contains a minimum amount of crude fibre in the form of hulls, and supplies an adequate amount of protein. The young pig first shows interest in solid feed when about four weeks old, at which time he begins eating from the mother's trough. Feeds supplied the brood sow are usually much too coarse for young pigs, and it is therefore advisable to provide a creep or barricade in the pen and to supply suitable feeds in a separate trough for the litter. This practice has two advantages: the young pigs become accustomed to eating from a trough before they are weaned and the shock or setback at this time is reduced to a minimum. The second advantage is that the young pigs will consume less of the harmful coarse feed from the mother's trough.

The hulls of oats and barley should be looked upon as definitely harmful and necessary precautions taken to prevent young pigs from eating them. At the Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon, the plan has been followed for a number of years of using either ground hullless oats, or common oat chop that has been sifted through mosquito netting, in the meal mixture for creep feeding and for weanling pigs. Ground barley when used for very young pigs is also sifted. Ordinary oats contain from four to five times as much crude fibre as hullless varieties. In yield, hullless varieties compare favourably with the ordinary varieties, when the kernel only is considered. The growing of sufficient hullless oats to supply the young pigs with a suitable creep and weaning ration is recommended.

others engaged in doing precisely that. Speaking in the Dominion parliament the other day a member said:

"Here we are in the year 1938, attending the third session of this parliament, in fact getting on towards the end of the session, and all we have before us is a bill saying that we must continue to assist the provinces in providing relief and in endeavoring to train our youth. Yet everywhere we have trained men and partly trained men seeking jobs. As a former teacher of youth may I say that, in my opinion probably the greatest tragedy we are witnessing in Canada is the frustration of these hundreds of thousands of young people all across Canada. In order to better their condition they are ready to turn to almost anything.

Most of us have rather vague impressions of how the average member of parliament at Ottawa spends his time—what he does and where he goes. The Financial Post appears to have studied the matter, and comes forward with a summary of the day's routine in the life of a parliamentarian. It goes like this—visiting departments, 45 minutes; listening to speeches, 5 hours; talking, 10 minutes; writing and reading letters, 2 hours; committees and caucuses, 1 hour; receiving visitors, 30 minutes; dealing with job seekers, 15 minutes.

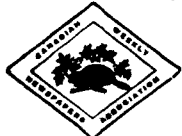

The six wars in which the United States has engaged, added together, make just 15 years of warfare. In those 15 years the number of American soldiers killed in action or died of wounds was 244,357. But in the last 15 years there have been killed on the highways of America by automobile accidents, 441,912. The two principal causes for the high way slaughter are speed and liquor.

About This and That

Probably never before in the history of Digby has so many changes taken place in the business life of the town as are taking place at the present time. New and rebuilt business blocks have given the town an entirely new appearance. The new Capitol Theatre and May's Block—right in the heart of the business centre—are very attractive buildings, and contain some of the most up-to-date small shops in the province. Boyd Milberry's store, the MacDonald Motors Building, the rebuilt "Jersey Farms" (summer hotel) are also fine buildings but being a little outside of the real centre

SHOWER GIVEN

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Harland Trimper, of Clements, on Saturday evening, May 28, in honor of the newly-weds,
Mr. and Mrs. Denton Trimper.

About one hundred guests were present. A pleasant evening was spent, after which a buffet luncheon was served. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, including silverware, linen, etc., also a purse of money. At a late hour the party dispersed, wishing the popular couple all good wishes for the future.

SCHOOL LIGHTING

Within the last few years great advancements have been made in ways of lighting, both artificially and naturally. homes, churches, stores, factories, theatres, schools and other buildings.

Today, in planning a new building, lighting is a vital consideration and new school houses are consequently well arranged for the children who, while in them, must continually use their eyes.

But what of the school buildings, with which our province is dotted, which are thirty, forty,
and many cases over fifty years old? Their worst features are insufficient light, cross light, and short chalk boards placed between the windows (forcing pupils to look towards the source of light and at glaring chalk boards). How many children in such buildings should this year be fitted with glasses? How many of the older generation are now wearing glasses as a result of attending these same schools?

Through experiment, scientific measurement, and observation by specialists and laymen, it has been found that it is comparatively easy and not too expensive to remove the causes of eyestrain by modernizing old buildings.

School buildings should be placed,
if possible, with their lengths north and south. The best side for the windows is the east, failing that the west, and failing that the south. North lighting should never be used.

Windows should be on one side only, and reach nearly to the ceiling; they should be wide and set close together. Pupils should be seated so that the light comes from the left (or left and rear if necessary). Light-colored, translucent shades should be used, drawn part way on bright days but raised on dull days. The window area should be about one-fifth of the floor area.

All other available light should be utilized. Upper walls and ceilings should be tinted in light shades of cream or buff; the wainscoting or lower walls in light shades of tan. If the room is inclined to be dark, chalk boards should be covered with light curtains when not in use.

Chalk boards should be placed on the wall opposite the windows, and in no circumstances should the surface be glossy. Black is not a desirable color for chalk boards, as this color absorbs light.

In some communities advantage has been taken of this definite information and hence the children are working under more favorable conditions, and are being taught how to protect and preserve their eyesight. Surely a few dollars spent in correcting the lighting in our schools is money well invested.

Digby County Power Board

SUPREME COURT

At the spring sittings of the Supreme Court, in session at Digby since Tuesday, with Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll presiding, true bills were returned by the grand jury in each of the three charges against H. P. Newcombe, Halifax lawyer. One of the charges "that H. P. Newcombe, of Halifax, in the county of Halifax, on or about the 20th day of November, 1935, at Rossway, in the county of Digby, having therefore received from Douglas Andrews, the sum of $100, with direction from him the said Douglas Andrews to said H. P. Newcombe that said money be applied to safe securities, did, then and there in violation of good faith and contrary to the terms of said direction, fraudulently commit to his own use, and thereby steal the said sum of money.

In this case the crown was represented by E. J. Theriault, of Digby, and the defence by D. Owen, Annapolis Royal.

Several witnesses, including Mr. Andrews, told of the transaction and identified the receipt from the Founders' Investment Ltd., signed by the accused, H. P. Newcombe, as president of the company, and letters written by himself to the Founders' Investment Ltd., asking the return of his money, as well as letters he had received from the company and from Mr. Newcombe. He also admitted signing a letter written by Rev. A. A. MacLeod and addressed to E. J. Theriault, asking that prosecution not be gone ahead with. He did this, he explained, at MacLeod's suggestion to give Newcombe a chance.

Other witnesses were A. E. Titus, Bridgewater, secretary of the Founders' Investment during 1930 and 1931; Miss Doris Douthine, stenographer for Mr. Newcombe for four years, who stated she wrote certain letters in evidence, at Mr. Newcombe's dictation, and initiated them; Corp. J. A. Wrubliski, R.C.M.P., Halifax, who identified items as those seized by him from the office of the prisoner and from the office of H. J. Egan, registrar under the Nova Scotia Securities Act, and Mr. Egan, who identified books, etc., left with him by Newcombe, and delivered to him at a later date by Mr. Newcombe's attorney. He had examined the books, but found no record of any transaction between Douglas Andrews and Founders' Investment Ltd.

The defence offered no evidence. The jury out for one hour returned with a verdict of "Guilty". Hearing the jury's verdict, Mr. Newcombe asked permission to address the court, which was granted him. He stated he was laboring under a great affliction of health, and was therefore unable to give proper instruction to his council, which might have thrown an altogether different light on the evidence.

A certificate from Dr. O. R. Keddy, Windsor, declaring the accused mentally and physically unfit, was also read.

Wednesday morning, when court resumed, Mrs. Newcombe addressed His Lordship, stressing Mr. Newcombe's condition, declaring her husband had been forced to trial by the crown.

His Lordship explained that had the certificate of Dr. Keddy been produced at the proper time on Tuesday, he might have postponed the "Andrews" trial, as it was, he was quite willing to postpone the other two charges in the "Robbins" and "Weir" cases. However, he explained, this placed himself and the prisoner in embarrassing positions, as there was no alternative for him, but to pass sentence on the prisoner, who would, at a later date, have to stand trial on the other two charges. Should he have been tried and found guilty, the sentence would not be for a longer

Local and Personal

Mrs. F. W. Nichols, Mrs. Harold Nichols and Mrs. Jas. Franklin were passengers to Boston on Friday.

B. L. Thurber, of Johannesburg, South Africa, will show his pictures at the Baptist Church, on Tuesday evening, at 8 p. m.

Mrs. S. J. Abbott entertained a number of her friends at afternoon tea at her Queen Street residence, on Wednesday.

The Women's Auxiliary of Trinity Church will meet on Wednesday evening next at 8 p. m. at the residence of Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch. A full attendance is requested.

Earl Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Anderson, of Digby, graduated from McGill University, Montreal, last week, winning his degrees of M. D. C. M. Earl will spend the month of July at Camp Aldercliff, Weymouth Nth. and leave later for Montreal to begin as intern in the Montreal General Hospital.

period of time on all three charges than for the one on which he now stood convicted.

Council for the defence asked that permission be given the accused to plead on the other charges. Newcombe pleaded "guilty" on both counts and was sentenced two years in Dorchester penitentiary for each crime, sentences to run concurrently.

His Lordship explained ample opportunity would be given the prisoner for medical examination to determine whether or not he was fit to undergo penal servitude, and if found unfit, he would doubtless be released on parole.

The jury of nine for the civil suit of Helen O. Coxie and Mrs. Lila Eldridge vs. H. T. Warne, Ltd., was picked Wednesday morning and court adjourned until 2.30 in the afternoon.

In this action, Mrs. Coxie, of Salem, Mass., a summer resident of Digby for forty-five years, and Mrs. Eldridge, proprietress of Lour Lodge, declare the mill of H. T. Warne, Ltd., located in the vicinity of their properties a "nuisance" on account of smoke and noise.

Mrs. Eldridge on the stand, spoke of the smoke and noise being especially bad during 1936 and declared that guests were forced off her lawn when the wind was blowing in certain quarters, and that with a south east or south west, and that windows on that side of the hotel, annex or hotel cottages could not be left open when the wind was in that direction. Mrs. Coxie also complained of smoke and noise from the mill.

Both witnesses declared it peaceful last summer (the mill having been destroyed by fire in June 1937) but saw little improvement since the new mill was put in operation. Perhaps it might have been a little better in some respects since the action was begun. Nevertheless, they stated there were noises from the new plant they did not get from the old mill. Other witnesses on Wednesday were: F. G. Morehouse, supervisor of schools for the City of Halifax, who assisted his sister, Mrs. Eldridge, in the operation of Lour Lodge during the summers of 1934 and 1935 and was at the hotel as a guest for brief periods in 1936. He declared the smoke situation "as bad as it could be" when he visited the hotel during the later mentioned summer; Douglas Raymond and Maurice Raymond, home owners in the vicinity, also gave evidence as to smoke and noise.

In this action the plaintiffs are being represented by Mr. MacKeen and Frank Covert, of Halifax, while the defence battery comprises P. Robertson, Halifax; D. Owen, Annapolis Royal; and M. L. Leonard, Digby.

It is understood many witnesses are to be heard from both sides.

Miss Gladys Trask, of Little River, went to Saint John yesterday.

W. C. Moir, C. N. R. Passenger Agent, was in town this week, a guest of G. E. Torrie.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, Digby, Wednesday evening, at 7 o'clock, when Edith Geraldine Germain was united in marriage to James A. Gibson, son of John Gibson and the late Mrs. Gibson, of Brighton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. G. Robertson. The marriage was witnessed by Miss Ida Germain and Lawrence Copeland. The couple will reside in Digby.

The death of Mrs. Bessie Mullen, of Weaver Settlement, came as a great shock to her family and friends. She leaves to mourn four daughters and two sons: (Katherine) Mrs. H. R. NOVA SCOTIA

Where first I saw the light of day

And all my life have dwelt. To leave its bounds for other lands

That way I've never felt.

I love its rugged coast-line view Its rivers, lakes, each stream Its hills and dales, low mountains too,

With valleys in between.

Its fertile farms, rich orchard land

An Eden, all its own.

With bounteous wealth on every hand

A paradise, each home.

The cattle grazing peacefully Its meadows doth adorn,

And dew upon the clover fields Gives fragrance to the morn.

Its woodland and its forests too

A secret charm doth hold.

And happy are the hours spent By many a hunter bold.

Its game and wild-life are enjoyed As the seasons roll around.

And camp-fire stories are retold On many a hunting-ground.

The fisher with his rod and reel

Doth whip each stream he knows.

And every story of his catch The fish, much longer grows.

With camping sites by moonlit lakes

Or cottage by the sea.

Where peace, contentment doth abide,

This is the land for me.

If you are reducing, take care not to rob your body of energy food. Many reducing diets leave out bread—the best energy food you can eat.

And bread itself is not fattening. Science has proved it is a combination of protein and energy-giving carbohydrates. This combination actually helps to burn up fat.

So follow the bread diet. Enjoy all slices every day. Feel splendidly energetic while you reduce—not weak, tired, irritable.

ROLL CALL SERVICE AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

On Sunday, May 29, there was featured in the Bear River Baptist Church their annual Roll Call and Thank Offering Service. The large congregation present at this service consisted of members of the church, adherents, friends from the local United Church of Canada and visitors from several other localities. On the platform were the Rev. G. D. Brydon, pastor of the church; Rev. P. M. Hamilton, special speaker for the evening; Rev. R. L. Roach, pastor of the Bear River United Church.

The Scripture lesson, Timothy 2, chapter 2, was read by Rev. R. L. Roach; Lic. D. F. MacDormand led the congregation in prayer, while throughout the entire service the pastor of the church revealed capable leadership. Credit is also due to the choir of the church, who enriched the service by singing the anthem "Now the Day is Over".

It was the privilege of those present to enjoy two musical selections of a sacred nature by the Yarmouth Men's Quartette. These were "Sweet Sabbath Eve" and "We Are Going Home". That this service was greatly enjoyed by those present was evidenced by the great number of comments of appreciation exchanged in their behalf at the conclusion of the service. We trust that another visit from them is forthcoming.

The message, interesting and inspiring, was delivered by Rev. P. M. Hamilton, of Nictaux Baptist Church. Mr. Hamilton spoke on the subject of "Building", finding his text in Timothy 2, verse 15. "Study to show thyself approved of God a workman that needeth not to be ashamed". For clearness and convenience his thoughts were arranged under the following titles: "Think Your Own Thoughts"; "Fight Your Own Battles"; "Be Your Own Self"; "Mind Your Own Business"; "Pay Your Own Debts".

This proved to be a helpful and an appropriate message and one that promises to result in ultimate good. The church feels indebted to Mr. Hamilton for his helpful service.

The Roll Call itself was a total success. Many responded to their names as called. It was indeed gratifying to witness the calling of the church roll, to be reminded once again of those who go to make up the communion of this old established church. The financial returns of the evening somewhat exceeded the expectations of the members present. From many points of view it may be said that the Roll Call was a decided success.

The quartette members were: Rev. G. D. Brydon, Messrs C. E. Rose, R. C. Cann, B. F. Locke. The offering was over $217.00.

TEACHERS' STUDY CLUB

The Teachers' Study Club held its closing meeting of the year at the Church Hall, Gilbert's Cove, on Saturday. The following teachers were in attendance: Miss Ruth Specht, North Range; R. Oliver Gibson and Miss June Barclay, Barton-Brighton; Mrs. Blain, Plympton; Ernest Morrissey, Gilbert's Cove; Miss Agnes Payson, Weymouth Point; R. Baden Powell, Miss Barbara Crowell, Weymouth North; G. R. Pierre, Madeline Comeau, Weymouth. Inspector T. A. M. Kirk, of Yarmouth, was also in Attendance.

The meeting was presided over by R. Oliver Gibson, president. A vote of appreciation was extended to Inspector Kirk for the helpful changes being introduced. Plans were made to hold the first meeting of the 1938-39 term on September 10th. A committee, comprised of Messrs. Morrissey, Pierre and Gibson, was appointed to make arrangements for this meeting.

A list of free material available to the teachers was given by Miss Comeau and a book review by the president. Final details were arranged for the examinations, and an outline of work prepared for the district for the coming year.

The keen interest taken by the teachers in the club this year has resulted in real accomplishments. It is planned that next year a careful study will be made of certain courses.

Miss Bertha Eldridge, who spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Wendie Howse, in Saint John, is a guest at the home of Capt. H. B. FitzGerald.

NORTH RANGE

Mrs. Chas. Ford, of Darling's Lake, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Sherman Thurber and other relatives and friends.

The Minstrel Show, presented May 24, by the Home and School Club, was of striking success. A large number were present. The proceeds are for the benefit of the school improvement, etc.

Preparation for Roll Call in the St. Mary's Bay Baptist Church is assisted by many members of this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Andrews and family, of Rossway, were Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Andrews.

METEGHAN

The first Communion of about forty children, took place on Ascension Day, Thursday of last week, at the 7 o'clock Mass, Rev. Father L. J. Comeau officiating. The Sisters of Charity had charge of the ceremony and of the choir of young boys and girls, who rendered beautiful hymns and canticles for the occasion.

Rev. Father Comeau accompanied by Hubert Robichaud, went to Freeport Thursday afternoon and Friday morning and held a Communion Mass for the Easter duties of his parishioners there. The latter supper will be on

Feed Good Cows Well

and They Will Feed You

The Dairy Cow is the unit of production on the Dairy farm. If the dairy cow is well selected, well cared for, well fed, it will earn profit for the farmer. A plentiful supply of feed for every season of the year is all important if the milk flow is to be kept up and the farm revenue maintained.

Still time to sow some additional feed crops.

Most farmers have their oats, pea and vetch already in the ground. A second planting would not be amiss. Plan for plenty of green feed. There is time yet to plant a little patch of corn for maturity in September, and some white turnips and rape for October and November.

The May Block

This new block replaces the small store formerly known as May's Book Shop, and takes up all the ground between the Shreve Block and Maurice Webber's store. It contains two very attractive stores with residence above. The store occupied by Mr. May has been enlarged, and now measures 18x29 feet with centre door and double windows; the second store, now occupied by Carty & Davis, measures 36x14½ feet, and is undoubtedly the prettiest little store in this part of the province. It, too, has a centre door with double windows, with the walls of natural tentest, with sun-tan trim. The entrance to the residence is now from the street, instead of from the rear, and the residence has been improved by the addition of three very spacious and attractive rooms. The work was done by days' work under the management of Thomas Deveau, of Digby; the electrical work is by Harold Mount; the plumbing by Wm. Wilson; painting by Bert Wilkins; excavating and lowering the original building by Reg. Jefferson; the foundation blocks by Geo. Graves; the hardware by Dakin Bros.; the paint was supplied by G. W. Connell, and the store fronts were supplied and installed by Pillington Bros. Ltd., Halifax.

THE BIBLE

Always stand up for the Bible.
It's the word of God and true;
Prayerfully read its pages,
And a blessing will come to you.

Always stand up for the Bible,
It's a lamp unto your feet;
Go by the Bible's teaching,
If the Saviour you would meet.

Always stand up for the Bible.
Its message grip the soul;
"Daughter, be of good comfort, Thy faith hath made thee whole."

Always stand up for the Bible.
No matter what others say;
Always stand firm for the Bible,
And walk in the Narrow Way.

There's no book like the Bible,
Pointing to Yonder Land,
And when passing through death's valley,
Jesus will hold your hand.

It's the Book that none can equal
It has always stood the test;
I don't care what books you read,
You'll find the Bible best.

So always cherish the Bible.
Search the scriptures every day;
Don't ever neglect to read it,
And always take time to pray.

MacDonald Motors in New Quarters

This building was built a few years ago by the late Jesse V. Jefferson, as a dance hall and restaurant. After his death it passed into the possession of Dunn, who a few weeks ago, sold it to the MacDonald Motors. Since it came into their possession it has been completely changed. Two offices and a show room now occupy the space formerly occupied by the restaurant. The stock room is in the rear and a very roomy repair shop occupies the rest of the ground floor. A road has been built in from the Lighthouse Road, which will allow of cars being driven in on the second floor, which is now the main show room, in which about fourteen cars can be displayed. The carpenter work called for in the many changes was done by Eddie Comeau, of Meteghan River, and the painting and decorating, as well as the electrical work, was done by Ray Bishop.

Congratulations and Best Wishes

We extend to the owners of the new buildings, and to all their tenants our sincere congratulations and best wishes for their success.

North End Grocery

This new building—owned by Boyd Milberry—is quite an addition to the north end. It is on the corner of First Avenue and Carleton Streets. It is 30x38 in size, two storeys high. The northeast corner is occupied by an attractive grocery store, arranged in grocery style and has two large display windows. There is a spacious back shop for heavy groceries and reserve stocks. The second floor will be a tenement. The carpenter work was done by William Turnbull; the painting by Jack MacDonald, and the electrical work by Leslie Goss.

We Are Now in Our New Quarters

Our new building, situated at the Racquette, is ideal for display purposes and repair work. We are carrying

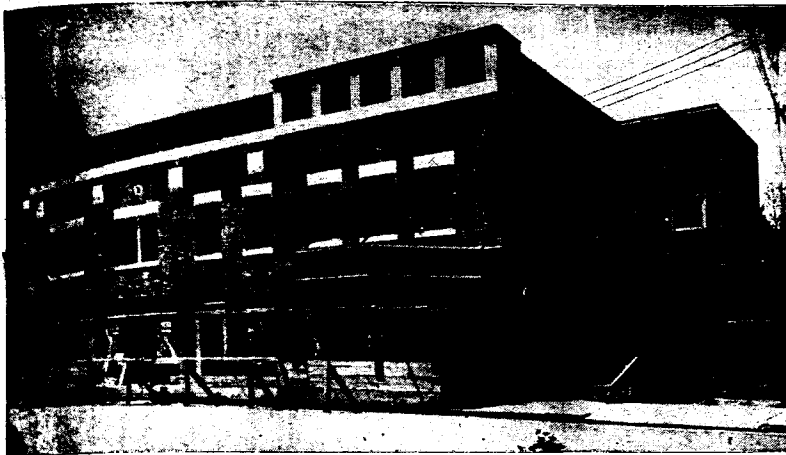

Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Buick Cars

and are ready to demonstrate at any time and we usually have a good line of used cars.

We join with others in extending our congratulations to the new Capitol Theatre and others who are building and opening new premises at this time.

One of Most Modern Theatres in Maritimes

This very fine building is erected on the site of the Warner Block, destroyed by fire, some years ago. The site was acquired by the Valley Amusement Company last summer and operations started on the foundation of the new building at once. The walls were up before the winter storms came on, and work was carried on with a small staff all through the cold weather. The building is two stories high. On the Water Street front it consists of the entrance lobby and ticket booth, two stores and main exit on the ground floor and six offices on the second floor. The rear of the building is the theatre proper, which seats 500. The theatre is the very latest in theatre equipment in the Maritime Provinces and contains many features which are unusual. It is furnished in tentest, trimmed in light oak and masonite, the walls being of a newly invented material, designed to do away with all "echoes" and to improve the acoustics of the building. The front of the building is of brick, trimmed with black vitrolite, touched up with red and orange. The two stores have centre doors with double windows, installed in metallic frames. They are finished in hard wood, as is the building throughout. One store is being occupied by L. M. Saunders, the Jeweler; the other is not yet rented although a number have applied for it. The entrance lobby has what is known as an "ice-cream ceiling" with craftex walls. Large folding doors and two attractive display windows make a fine front, which is surmounted by a canopy extending over the sidewalk. In the lobby are two toilets, ticket office and ladies' waiting room. The six rooms on the second floor will be occupied as follows: No. 1, by the theatre's private office; Nos. 2 and 3, by Dr. C. K. Fuller, of Yarmouth, eye, ear and nose specialist, who will be in Digby two days a week; No.

4, is vacant; Nos. 5 and 6 by the Duchess Beauty Parlor.

The projectors are two of the new Super Simplex machines, made by the Simplex Manufacturing Company and installed by the Theatre Supply Company; the sound equipment is the Northern Electric Mirrophonic Sound System, installed by the Dominion Sound Equipment Co. The architect for the building was Charles Killingbeck, of Kentville, and the contractors were J. H. Hicks & Sons, Bridgetown, who had as foreman of construction, Frank Saulnier; the tentest walls and ceiling were designed and installed by the International Fibre Company; the plumbing was by B. H. Ruggles; the heating by Geo. Bailey; the vitrolite and store fronts by Pilkington Bros., Ltd., Halifax; the brick work and masonry by L. G. Morgan, Annapolis Royal; the blacksmith work by A. J. Trohon, Digby; the seats by the Globe Furniture Company, Waterloo, Ont.; the painting by Harry Sancton, Bridgetown; the electrical fixtures by Electrical Supplies, Ltd., Saint John, the installation being superintended by Thomas A. Dowie.

Silver Tip
FOX RANCHERS

Have you excess milk on your farm which you would like to use up on your foxes? If you have you will want to use it with the proper fox feed, one that will actually absorb the milk—and not too sloppy—which would cause stomach trouble.

There is a porous fox feed for this purpose called S. T. BREAD MEAT.

Contains 7 ingredients and registers 19.0 protein. It is a mixture of ingredients specially prepared and balanced. The most common way to feed is by soaking in warm milk or water until it becomes quite soft and milk is well taken up.

Hard Lumps Came on Her Legs

Ankles and Feet Swollen with Rheumatism

Rheumatism sent this woman to bed with lumps, swellings, and inflammation. Yet these symptoms soon disappeared, as they always will do when the root cause is removed. This letter tells you the method she used:—

"I was taken ill with terrible rheumatic pains in my legs. They were badly inflamed, swollen, and they were partly covered with red hard lumps. To put my foot down to the ground was agony. After I had been in bed for 16 days, suffering agony all the time, my husband said, 'You can't go on suffering like this, let us try Kruschen Salts.' He got a bottle, and almost from the first I felt benefit. Before long, I was completely relieved—swellings, inflammation, and lumps all gone—and I am up again and doing my housework."—(Mrs.) E. L.

Do you realize what causes a good deal of rheumatic pain? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system.

HOW WELL DOES YOUR DOCTOR KNOW YOU?

The difference between a locomotive engine and a pile of scrap iron is that one is highly organized while the other is not. At least that is one very real difference. The engine requires great care and attention. It has to be gone over by experts regularly and it must rest from its labors at intervals. If any important part fails to function the engine will fail to deliver the power it is rated to deliver. But despite all efforts made to the contrary, the engine in time does wear out and become the pile of scrap iron one may see in various railroad graveyards.

The human body is much like an engine. It is highly organized with many parts that must function in perfect harmony if normal power is to be delivered. Like the engine, too, the human body wears out.

But during the span of life proper care and regular rest will keep the mechanism functioning normally while careful inspection by an expert will reveal those parts which show signs of wear or are in need of rest or treatment.

Fortunately for mankind, the human body unlike the engine, possesses marvellous regenerative powers. If given a chance to function and perhaps a helping hand by the aid of scientific skill.

It is sound common sense to have your body, yourself, carefully gone over by an expert at least once a year—and if you are driving yourself at top speed—often more than once a year.

A splendid birthday present and one that is paying real health dividends to many a wise man is a complete check up by his physician.

Moreover, from year to year the results of such examinations may be compared. You can note whether you are losing or gaining weight, how your arteries are behaving, the condition of your various organs and all in all get an intelligent opinion about what should be for you one of the most interesting and important things in your life—your health.

But this is not all the value which will accrue to you by any means. By allowing your physician to go over you regularly you are adding materially to his accurate knowledge of you. Then if an illness comes or you feel off color and consult him he is much better equipped to judge exactly what changes, if any, have taken place in you, all of which is an advantage to him (and to you) in applying the correct treatment.

Thousands of lives are literally thrown on the scrap heap of disease and misery each year because of neglect to be examined and treated at the proper time.

Finally, do not think you are a super-human and say that this advice does not apply to you because you are always well. The wearing out process is going on just the same. And strangely to many, but not to your doctor, mental and bodily crashes often do come where they are least expected.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

BENEFIT BRIDGE FOR THE K. C. S.

Five tables were in play and at the end of six rounds the prizes given by the hostesses were won by Mrs. Fred Harris, R. B. Murray and Miss Blanche Purdy.

At 11 o'clock the guests were ushered to the dining room and a very happy social hour was spent with Mrs. Harris presiding over the coffee cups.

After the novelty of his fortune wore off he enrolled unobtrusively at the university again and completed his course. He is shown here receiving his bachelor of arts degree from Registrar Stanley Matthews.

LOSES BOAT

The Digby scallop sloop "Edith and Shirley", Davy Jones' locker, was cheated out of two victims in an accident which occurred on the Snow Bank, some eight miles off Digby Gut, early Tuesday morning, and resulted in sending her skipper, Capt. Roy Snow, of Digby, to the Digby General Hospital, where he is suffering from injuries received when he slipped and fell across the engine of his craft.

Like many of the Digby scallop fleet, the "Edith and Shirley" has been engaged in fresh fishing since the close of the scallop season, and lately in the salmon fishing industry. Tuesday morning, shortly before 4 o'clock, while Capt. Snow and his helper, Vincent Peters, of DeLap's Cove, were hauling in their salmon net, the craft apparently struck a submerged log.

A gaping hole was torn in the side of the craft which began immediately to fill with water. It was only a matter of a short time before the engine room became flooded, and the engine stalled by water. In a fruitless attempt to start the engine, Capt. Snow slipped and fell over the motor, injuring his stomach.

For nearly two hours the two men struggled to keep their boat afloat, but it was a losing fight, the water gained steadily on them, and they were compelled to take to their dory, and row ten miles to the Life Saving Station at Bay View, just inside the Gut.

From here a call was put through to Dr. W. R. Dickie at Digby, and the men taken to town in the lifeboat "Deering". At the pier Dr. Dickie made a hasty examination of the skipper, and ordered an ambulance to take him to the Hospital.

BOARD OF TRADE

A meeting of the Digby Board of Trade was held on Wednesday evening in the Council Chamber. Despite the fact that every member was notified and that it was known that the "rink Committee" was to report, less than a dozen were present. Not one of the younger members who were so anxious for a rink last winter—full of enthusiasm and anxious to start things—was present. In consequence, although the report was an excellent one and showed that the committee had gone into the matter thoroughly, it was laid on the table for further consideration. The discussion was taken part in by all present and during its progress it was brought out incidentally that a manual training department was to be opened in the school this fall.

The committee on road signs reported on the progress being made and that the signs would be completed in a few days.

The work on the park on the Cannon Bank was received and the consensus of opinion was that the park would be a credit to the town and to the D. A. R.

It was pointed out by one of the members that the Board had not been very enthusiastic in backing up the requests of the residents of dered an ambulance to take him to the Hospital.

Although Capt. Snow's condition is painful, it is not regarded as serious. The doctor states that no bones were broken, nor was he burned when he fell over the engine.

When the "Edith and Shirley" went down in the Bay of Fundy, all her valuable salmon fishing gear went to the bottom with her.

Digby Neck and the Islands for better roads and increased ferryage facilities and a resolution by P. W. Holdsworth and J. J. Wallis that the Board get in touch with interested parties on the Neck and the Islands assuring them that the Digby Board of Trade would back up and support any effort made by them to improve transportation facilities, and would also sponsor any attempt to organize a separate Board for the Islands.

C. G. I. T.

The regular meeting of the Flamingo C. G. I. T. group was held in the United Church Hall last Friday evening. Charlotte MacKay lead the worship period. As the meeting was open to visitors, there were two present. The new officers, who had been appointed at the last meeting were installed in office, each one receiving advice from the older officer. They are as follows: President: Eileen Melanson, Vice-Pres.: Phyllis King, Secty.: Lillian Jefferson, Treas.: Asaphene Hazelton, Librarian: Geraldine Syda. The reports from the Yarmouth Conference were heard. Some new songs were learned and folk dances started. The meeting closed with Tape.

TOWN COUNCIL

At the regular monthly meeting of the Digby Town Council, on Monday evening, most of the business was of regular routine nature. It was decided to pay the auditors $130 per year, with the understanding the books would be gone over quarterly. The town will "advertise" with eight band concerts to be held during the summer months.

The superintendent of streets and water was instructed to place a "stop" sign at the top of Sydney street, facing Queen.

BAND NOTES

Bandmaster Yates, has prepared a fine programme for the first open air concert at the Pavilion, Sunday afternoon, June 12. If the weather is favorable, it will include such outstanding numbers as "Selections from Tannhauser", a sparkling new Overture by Dwight McCaughey, Schumann's "Traumerei", Handel's "Largo", a Euphonium solo with variations by Billy Christie, and numerous favorite compositions that everybody likes. No definite announcement can be made concerning the regular summer evening concerts until action is taken by the Town Council.

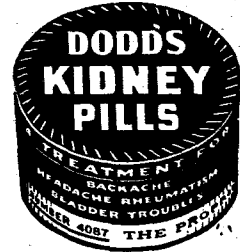

The unfortunate long illness of Raymond Lent, whose faithful work as drummer, has been most praiseworthy, is deeply regretted by the bandmen, but fortunately Harry Johnson has consented to take over the drums for all engagements, and now the band can boast of an exceptionally fine drum section, Charlie McBride and Harry Johnson, like the drums they play, are hard to beat.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Titus have returned, after spending the winter with their daughter, Mrs. (Capt.) Oscar Lane, at Hammond, Indiana.

C. L. Bowby, former manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and now of Brockville, Ont., is spending a few days in town.

Mrs. James Burgess and two children, of Halifax, were recent guests of her parents, Capt. and Mrs. William Snow, King Street, Miss Ethyl Snow, of the Clark's Harbour teaching staff, was also a recent guest of her parents, at the same home.

of things do not loom up quite so large in the public eye. And the new store of George Hinxman, built to replace the one destroyed by fire a few weeks ago, although small and unpretentious, is still an improvement over the old one. To the proprietors of all these establishments the Courier extends its heartiest congratulations, and hopes that their enterprise will be crowned with the success it deserves.

And it is not only business blocks which are improving the town. During the past two or three years very attractive bungalows and houses have been erected and several more are under construction now. In fact, at the present time, building and rebuilding operations are going on in every direction, and quite a number of men are engaged in painting and decorating. The town is "dolling up" to a greater degree than for many years past, and it certainly looks good to see all these evidences of progress.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

goodly portion of it in the gambling houses of that rip roaring gold mining camp. He built a fine residence at Long Beach, California, decorated it with works of art, fine marbles, paintings, tapestries and so forth, purchased in Europe. The door knobs and hinges were made of gold, the chandeliers of cut glass and the windows were of the finest French plate. He entertained his friends there on a lavish scale that made the winter tourists from Iowa gasp for breath. "When he even orders his cook to fry the bacon in butter," said one old lady from that state where the tall corn grows.

The first time that I came in contact with Al was on the train from Goldfield to Los Angeles. He had a party of friends with him, and swelled the receipts of the dining car that evening to quite a nice figure. After dinner he made arrangements with the conductor for the rest of the evening so that his friends could play poker, drink and be merry without disturbing the rest of the passengers. Next morning I was informed by the conductor that the Meyers party ate and drank up all the food and beverages on the car leaving only three pints of mineral water in the lockers, which on leaving Goldfield had been fully stocked with the spirits and malt liquors so much in demand by the travelling public in and out of Nevada in those hectic days of Nevada's gold rush.

Two or three months later I happened to be in Goldfield, and one evening drifted into Tex Rickard's place, a famous institution of chance and speculation, and what not. The place was crowded with miners and sight-seers from other walks of life and business was good around the various tables and at the bar, suddenly someone shouted "There comes Al. Meyers, he'll show 'em how to do it". It seems that on the previous evening Al had taken away from the house something over five thousand dollars, and most of the customers thought that he had a system for beating the game. So they made way for Al, who was soon seated at a Faro table placing bets of five hundred dollars on various cards. After winning a few rounds, his luck turned, he began to lose quite steadily until he owed the house about twenty thousand dollars, for which he promptly wrote a check, had a drink on the house and said "good night". Did Al complain of having been robbed? No, Sir, not a peep from him. He knew that Tex Rickard ran as straight a game as any gambling game could be run, and if he lost his money there it must have been due to his own lack of judgment or bad luck. Al does not own the fine house at Long Beach now, and we wonder whether he does not wish that he had some of that money back that went to maintain some of the Goldfield gambling houses.

To you bridge player, who like to wager small amounts during an evening's play, here is one that might interest you about a bridge game, during which a little over fifty thousand dollars changed hands, a game between a Jewish restaurant owner and head of a Greek gambling syndicate here in Los Angeles. I had been engaged to audit the books of the restaurant company and upon getting down to work one morning I was requested to wait a few minutes until some changes could be made with the office furniture. "We had a little game in the office last night," explained the book-keeper, "it is still in progress we will have to move the boys into the next room". Well, the game that started at ten on the previous evening, continued through until three of that afternoon. There was very little conversation during the game, but such as it was, I could easily overhear through lowstone, which so irked that peevish official, that he put 'Gov' under arrest and placed him in the guard house to sober up. This sobering process proved to be too much for poor old 'Gov', who had been accustomed to his forty or fifty drinks per day for years and years, and when released his next and final trip was to a sanatorium, where he ended his days and rode away, quietly and peacefully, to the happy land where good gamblers go.

Another rather famous character that I met in my travels through western mining camps was Al Meyers, Father of Goldfield Nevada, and discoverer of the Red Top and Jumbo mines, famous producers of gold ore in 1905 and 06, Al's occupation was that of miner and prospector, his diversion, playing Faro Bank and draw poker, he made a fortune in his Goldfield mines, and lost a the very thin walls of the room. Each player had his own observing to see that the game was strictly "on the level". About three in the afternoon I heard the Jewish gentleman say to the Greek philosopher "Are you satisfied?" and the Greek replied "Yes, satisfied" and he had no complaint to make either, but his Greek companions had plenty to say to him about his getting into a game with the best bridge player in Los Angeles.

Some how, most of the Los Angeles gamblers are Jews, then come the Greeks. "When Greek meets Greek then comes the tug-of-war" but when Greek meets Jew then comes the pay-off. The Chinamen are inveterate gamblers but they play only among themselves. The police raid the Chinese games regularly but we do not hear very much about their raiding any of the white men's games unless some victim makes a complaint. I guess there must be something to the talk we hear about "police protection".

At the present time our District Attorney is more or less interested in sinking the gambling ships that are anchored a few miles off the coast near Santa Monica and Long Beach. These are large steamers that have been refitted and converted into floating Monte Carlo. Water taxis take the people to and from the ships for twenty-five cents the round trip and there is plenty of business for these boats. The ships furnish free meals to the customers and provide a wide variety of games of chance for those who crave to get action on their money; but lucky indeed is the man or woman who takes away any winnings worth telling about. The operators of these ships are not in the gambling business for their health. The federal officials do not bother them, and being outside the 12-mile limit they thumb their noses at the county and state officers, and if a sucker should intimate that he has not had a square deal they simply drop him into a speed boat and give him a swift little sea voyage back to town.

About This and That

The Courier joins with the people of Digby County, and of the Province of Nova Scotia in general in expressing sympathy to Father Luc Gaudet and his parishioners at Plympton, in their loss of their valuable church properties by fire on Friday of last week. We know the loss of their beloved church is a severe blow to them, and as we watched the destruction, we could scarcely restrain from weeping with them.

We are proud to say that we know something of the spirit of our Roman Catholic friends of St. Croix Parish, Plympton, and although they may feel downhearted at the present, we believe, in spite of all the difficulties they know will confront them, plans and work for an even more beautiful edifice than old St. Croix Church, will soon be under way... that each and every member of the parish, with the help of their friends from near and far, will give of their toil and means to raise a new church over the ashes of the old.

So, while we join with others in extending our sympathy to the parishioners of St. Croix, we, at the same time extend to them every good wish for their success in the future.

We are pleased to see so many strangers in town for the time of the year. It seems to us there are more than we usually expect at this season, and the proprietor of one of our summer homes informs us they entertained thirty-five guests during the month of May.

On Monday night we attended the opening of the

I desire to express my sincere thanks to all those who contributed to the fund to help me buy a leg. Here and There With G.R.T.

Jumpin' Bullfrogs: Have you ever read the Mark Twain story of "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras"? If not, you should. It is quite a story about a gentleman of sporting proclivities, named Smiley, who owned a frog that he called Daniel Webster, and was willing to bet money that he could outjump any frog in the county, but when the owner was looking at something else, some one slipped an ounce or two of bird shot down Daniel's gullet, and when time came to enter a contest with an ordinary horse pond frog, Daniel, to the owner's dismay, was hardly able to get his feet off the ground. This, more or less historical event, happened in the mining town of Angels Camp, Calaveras County, California, in the days of "49" or thereabouts, when Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) was a young man earning a living as part time miner and newspaper man.

Four or five years ago the leading citizens of Angels Camp thought it would be a good idea to have a celebration in commemoration of the old gold rush days. The programme featured such things as early day modes of transportation, including a 20 yoke ox team, a 16 mule jerk line team, stage coaches, covered wagons, cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, and old time gambling casinos, containing all of the games dear to the heart of the bewickered, red shirted miners of those thrilling times. It was thought that such a celebration would bring as many as five or six thousand people for a few days to the old mining district and perhaps might have a tendency to revive interest in the mining industry of that old camp which had been slumbering for many years. Anyway, it would bring a lot of people into camp for an outing and that would be a good thing for the stores, restaurants and hotels. The business men arranged their programme in accordance with their ideas of good showmanship, but it remained for a minister to suggest the feature that has been the chief drawing card since these celebrations were started. Said the minister, why not have a frog jumping contest? Many people have read Mark Twain's story written on this very spot, and this event would draw lots of people who would be interested from that angle alone. So, the frog jumping contest was added to the programme, and has been the main feature of the programme ever since. May 18 is the big day. The first year's celebration brought about 10,000 people into camp, this year the attendance was about 35,000. Frog trainers brought their entries from remote parts of the nation, from as far east and south as Florida, Louisiana and Missouri, from as far north as Montana, Washington and Oregon. The best jumpers, however, seem to come from the cat tail marshes around Stockton, California. This year's winner was a pop-eyed, tailless, webfooted amphibian from that town, named "Zip" who zipped across the line in a jump of fifteen feet five inches, beating the record of thirteen feet ten inches, set by the winner of last year's contest. There used to be a lot of bullfrogs in the Journey lake, at Weymouth, N. S., years ago. I wonder if there are any now. Maybe a record breaker could be found there that would put Weymouth in the Movie News Reels "among the highlights in the world of sports".

Here's what happened to a couple of Los Angeles boys, who attended the frog jumping contest, and wanted to see more of northern California's mining camps. They wanted to see the old placer diggings, so after leaving Angels Camp they drove over into the Marysville country. Coming to a creek that looked as if it had placer mining possibilities, they decided to do a little panning, maybe the gravel would give up a nugget or two. Leaving their car parked a couple of miles from the creek they walked over the rocky ground to the stream to find that the water was high and running swiftly and that the only gold panning dirt was on the opposite side, nothing daunted they decided to swim the short distance across. They took off their clothes, and shoes, tied them into a neat bundle and tossed it toward the opposite shore, but instead of striking dry land, the bundle fell with a splash into the swiftly running stream, and down stream it went so fast that it was soon lost to view. So back to their car they barefooted it over rocks and boulders partly covered with snow, but when they reached it they found the car locked, just as they had left it, but as they then remembered, the key was in one of their trousers pockets and the trousers then were drifting gaily down the brook to join the brimming river. Well, it was three miles to the nearest habitation and nothing but their 'birthday' clothes to travel in. Covering their nakedness with a branch of sage brush, down the road they trudged, tenderfoot, sure enough, pretty chilly too, with some snow still on the ground. Suddenly a car drove in sight and just as suddenly it hove out of sight, the driver was a woman, evidently she had no time to talk with a couple of nudists, another mile along that cold and lonely road and then came a good samaritan, a farmer driving a truck to town for supplies. He picked the boys up, tossed them a blanket to roll up in, then slipped into the back door of the village store and had the boys fitted out with a pair of coveralls and tennis shoes, then he hunted up a mechanic and sent him back with the boys to unlock their car, and there on the seat of the car lay a wallet belonging to one of the boys, containing ample funds to repay the farmer and send them home in fair respectability. Some people might say that those fellows were lucky after all, others might say 'cast thy bread upon the waters' if you want to, but don't go throwing your old clothes into the creek without first removing your automobile key, put the key on a string and hang it around your neck.

And now, a short jump from bullfrogs to bull dogs. The annual dog show of the Los Angeles Kennel Club is in session—Saturday, May 21, and tomorrow, May 22, at the Ambassador Hotel. The show itself is in the ornate gardens of that famous hostelry—which is no dog house, I can assure you. Everything in dogdom from diminutive Chihuahuas and Pomeranians to huge Newfoundland and Great Danes are there. Everything but my little black and white dog "Patsy". She has no pedigree so could not mingle with these aristocrats of the canine world, even if I had the entrance fee, but she can bark just as loud and fast as any of them, part wire hair spaniel, part cocker, part English setter, she has inherited all of the good qualities of her forbears intelligent, kind, understanding and obedient, a beautiful lovable creature that I would hate to lose.

At the present time a quarantine on dogs in Los Angeles city and county is in force, much to the disgust and irritation of dog owners. It seems that here and there in this great city a dog suffering from rabies has been found, so the health authorities have decided that all dogs must be tied up. If you have no back yard enclosed with a tight fence your dog must be chained to something that he cannot move, if taken out on the street or in an automobile the dog must be on leash. A group of dog owners, known as The Tailwaggers Society, have tried to have the quarantine lifted on licensed dogs, and took the matter into court.

FIRE DESTROYS VALUABLE CHURCH PROPERTIES AT PLYMPTON

Flames imposed a heavy toll at Plympton, early Friday afternoon of last week, leaving in their wake nothing but piles of ruins where once stood the handsome St. Croix Roman Catholic Church, its glebe house, barn and parish hall. It is estimated that damage will be at least $40,000 with only $6,000 insurance.

The blaze was discovered in the wooden church and soon spread to the glebe and then to other buildings. Within an hour they had accomplished their destruction. That the fire did not impose its toll of death is only a miracle, as Roy Melanson and several others engaged in fighting the flames and in salvage were trapped in the blazing hall, and with difficulty made their escape through a window.

A children's service had been held in the church early in the morning, but from that time the edifice had not been used. The blaze was discovered at about 12.30, after it had gained considerable headway.

Father Luc Gaudet, parish priest, told the press he was eating his dinner when he was told the church was on fire. Entering the building he found the flames coming through the floor from the basement, and were breaking out in all sections.

By great effort he succeeded in saving the Host and vestments. All furnishings in the beautiful church fell prey to the flames. These included the magnificent altar, statues, and other valuable fixtures.

Fanned by high winds, flying sparks and embers soon set fire to other buildings on the church property. By one o'clock each of the four structures were enveloped in flames and inside of half an hour after the fire was discovered in the church, the tall spire toppled. Within an hour three of the four buildings were levelled, and the hall about ready to fall in.

St. Croix was the largest church and one of the most beautiful and imposing structures in the Municipality of Digby (there are larger churches in the county, but in the Municipality of Clare). It was in all probability the most valuable. The church and glebe house were erected about 50 years ago. The hall was completed about four years ago.

Most of the furnishings, and records kept in the glebe house were salvaged in the short space of time volunteer workers had to work. They also succeeded in saving some of the furnishings from the church hall.

From the start it was a hopeless task to undertake to save any of the buildings, so intense were the flames, which, driven by high winds, could be heard roaring considerable distance away. A call was sent to Digby for help but owing to the town by-laws, it is not permissible to send the pumper outside of town limits, and had it gone to Plympton it could have done nothing to prevent the destruction, Weymouth firemen

Declaring he would "welcome particulars" of charges made by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett that agents of the Nazi government were in Canada urging young German-Canadians to form a Nazi party, Erich Windels, (above), chief German consul in Canada, denied any knowledge of the alleged presence of German emissaries in the Dominion.

MINISTER WILL ACCEPT NEW CHARGE

Rev. Byron G. Manzer of North River, P. E. I. (a native of Ashmore, Digby County) has accepted a call to the pastorate of Calvary Baptist Church, North Sydney, and will enter upon his new duties early in August. Rev. Mr. Manzer was guest speaker in Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday, May 15, and his sermons were greatly appreciated by the congregation. A call was extended to the young minister and he accepted. He will be married in July to Miss Henrietta Grant, of New Glasgow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Grant, of that town.

The Rev. Mr. Manzer is a pleasing and forceful speaker and has proven his ability to convey his ideas and thoughts in a plain and convincing manner which has been greatly appreciated by his congregations. He replaces Rev. G. W. Schurman, who resigned some time ago, and has been supplying there until a competent minister should be selected.

FAVOR DEFENDANT IN "SMOKE" CASE

One of the most interesting actions to be tried by any jury in any session of the Supreme Court at Digby, was brought to a close on Friday, when H. E.igner, foreman of the jury sitting on the case of Mrs. Helen O'Ke and Mr. Lila Eldridge vs. T. Warne, Ltd., announced to the court "We find for the defendant." The jury being polled by the nine members answer in the affirmative.

The action was brought by plaintiff, Smith, MacKee and Sons, Halifax, who declared the use of H. T. Warne, Ltd., was operated as a nuisance because of smoke, cinders and noise, and that the plaintiffs were damaged by the same.

Hearing of the case began Wednesday afternoon of last week, when several plaintiffs' witnesses were heard. They rested their case before the noon adjournment on Thursday. In the afternoon, T. Robertson, Halifax, in behalf of the defendants, represented by Mr. Robertson, D. Owen, Annapolis Royal, and M. S. Leonard, represented the jury. Three of the defence witnesses, H. M. Varne, H. T. Warne and Dora Varne were heard that afternoon.

Resuming Friday morning other defence witnesses were heard, including Mrs. Kalem, Eva Baxter, Alfred Cossaboom, Elvin Sabine, George Small, Harry Lewis, Chas. Knowlton and R. L. Cole. W. I. Oliver was called by the plaintiff to rebut the evidence of Mrs. Dora Varne and Freda Millbury, plaintiffs witness was recalled and stated in no uncertain terms the smoke blackened curtains she produced in court were not blackened by smoke of passing D. A. R. trains.

Taking of evidence was concluded before the noon recess. Resuming in the afternoon, the jury was addressed by Mr. MacKee in behalf of the plaintiffs, and by D. Owen for the defendants. After receiving His Lordship's instructions, the jury retired about 4 o'clock returning with their verdict for the defendant a few minutes before six.

The conclusion of the nuisance case brought to a close the spring session of the Supreme Court at Digby, the non jury case of Haney vs. Hainey being settled out of court.

Mr. Armstrong and Miss MacDonald are both graduates of Acadia University, the former getting his B. A. degree in 1936, and B. E. D. degree in 1937. Miss MacDonald won her B. A. in 1937.

R. C. M. P. ENGINEERS MAKE INSPECTION

R. C. M. P. engineers on Monday made an inspection of the Meteghan-Westport ferry boat "Javelin" at the breakwater at Westport, Brier Island, Digby County, and condemned the craft as a total wreck.

On Friday of last week the "Javelin", Capt. Richard Welch of Westport, was lying at the dock in that port when the R. C. M. P. cutter "Ellsworth" rounded the pier. Signals were sent to the engine room of the cutter to reverse, but for some reason the motors refused to function properly.

The "Ellsworth" crashed into the ferry boat, practically splitting the craft in twain.

U. S. CHAMPION LOG ROLLERS WILL COMPETE

A challenge to Nova Scotia's woodsmen was issued at North Lake, Washington State, very recently, by the Swanson Brothers, Elmer and Walter, who will compete in a Wood's Meet to be held at Molega Park near Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, from July 13th to 16th inclusive.

The Swansons acknowledged champion log rollers of the United States, who, in addition to regular log rolling, feature rolling with roller skates and other oddities, are willing to take on the Nova Scotian woodsmen in any form of woodcraft, but ask particularly that log rolling events be featured.

Losses to Brother: Elmer Swanson, the older, won what he claims to be the world's championship at log rolling, in Minnesota, in 1934. Last year he was dethroned by his 17 year old brother, Walter, said by experts to be the cleverest human at the log rolling events ever to compete in the United States. Between them the brothers are confident they will be able to handle any Nova Scotian competition.

The Molega Park Meet will feature, in addition to the Swansons, some of Nova Scotia's guides, a fine programme of juvenile entertainment as well as Scout attractions, which should be particularly attractive.

DIGBY GOLF COURSE OPENS MONDAY

Clayton D. Snow announces the Digby Golf Course will open to the public on Monday. The course has been put in excellent condition during the spring, and the greens are now in splendid shape for playing. Mr. Snow, who has managed the course for the past several years, has again taken over the management for the 1933 season, and will also be course professional.

It is understood that to date four tournaments have been scheduled for this nine hole course this season, the tournaments to take place during July and August for cups donated by local merchants. These cups are to be competed for annually, but will become permanent property of the person winning them three times.

The nine-hole Digby Course has always enjoyed a splendid reputation. Its velvet greens, situated at the crest of a hill overlooking 60 square miles of the landlocked Annapolis Basin, have for years been a favoured recreation spot for American visitors, and townspeople.

During later years the larger eighteen-hole Pines Course has been built, to become one of the best known tournament courses in the Maritimes, nevertheless, the smaller Digby Course, which opens Monday, still maintains its reputation as one of the best nine-hole courses in this section.

Mr. Snow is looking forward to a good season, and says present indications are that his town membership will be the largest in the history of the course this season.

BAND NOTES

G. B. Clarkson, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, has been elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Digby Music Council in place of C. L. Bowly. Mayor M. C. Denton takes the place of Fritz Dakin, and the directorate now consists of the above named and the following former members: Paul Yates, President; E. C. Sollows, Vice-President; Jas. D. Dakin, Asst. Secy.-Treas.; P. W. Holdsworth, J. W. Markel, G. M. Morrell, Chas. McBride, and H. O. Turnbull. Such a representative body of citizens in control of all Band affairs is an assurance that it will be managed on sound business principles, and is a guarantee of the Band's permanence as a town asset.

Open-air concerts will be given every Thursday night during the summer at the Pavilion, beginning June 30. A special concert will be played Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

Efforts to secure a special engagement of the famous 110th Cavalry Band of Boston, have not been successful, much to the regret of all concerned, but other special attractions are being considered, and the Civic Band will play an important part in summer entertainment for the public with its excellent concerts.

The re-modelled Pavilion deserves mention among the recent town improvements. It has been raised to the proper height and the present structure is of excellent design, it is roomy and well lighted, the acoustics are fine, and when the painting, now in progress, is completed, moss green with white trimmings, it will be an ornamental feature of the little park where it is located, on the water front.

NEW ADDITION TO DIGBY ACADEMY

Salmon Marked

Thousands of salmon swimming about in Maritime Province waters have certain fins missing and they're worth more money—a dollar more each—because of that.

They're guides to salmon travel, these fish of the missing fins. Guides to the travel routes followed by members of their family on setting out to see life. Or perhaps a better description of them is that they are animate counters in a new test check of salmon characteristics.

They take on a dollar's extra value because the Dominion Department of Fisheries wants to know the story they have to tell. The Department will pay the money for particulars as to the capture of each one of these marked fish that makes the mistake of wandering into a fisherman's net or grabbing at the fly that conceals the angler's hook.

These salmon didn't lose fins by accident but through man's design. That is how it is that the department's fish culture people can read the story that the captured fish will tell. The fish culturists reared these fish at departmental hatcheries in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia in the past few years and then set them free as fingerlings in different salmon streams. Before the little fish were freed, however, certain fins were clipped off each one of them—a painless piece of business, by the way. Different sets of fins were taken off in different cases. The adipose or back fin and the right pectoral, or the fin from the right hand side of the body, came off in some instances, the adipose and left pectoral in others, the adipose and right ventral in still other cases, and some fingerlings lost the adipose and left ventral. The ventrals are the fins on the under side of the body.

With differences in markings identifying the different groups it is possible for the Fish Culture Branch of the department to say when and where any of the marked fish which may now be caught had been distributed as fingerlings. Of course, the records as to the distribution and recapture of only a few of the salmon would not tell the fish culture people very much, but if a substantial number are caught an analysis of the data of time and place of liberation and time and place of recapture should throw useful additional light upon the problem of the salmon's migratory habits, since the ways of the marked fish will be no different from the ways of other members of their family. Knowledge of the salmon's behaviour and customary routes of travel is valuable, of course, from the standpoint of both the commercial fisherman and the sportsman, and valuable, too, for the authorities who must see to the proper conservation of fish stocks.

Information on three specific points is hoped for from the check on these marked fish. One object of the study is to ascertain the areas frequented by salmon from the several rivers in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick when they go to sea. Another is to add to existing data bearing on the question as to what proportion of salmon from a particular stream return to the same river when they come back from the sea. The third point upon which further light is sought is what proportion of salmon from a river where the fish are of the "early run" type will retain the "early" characteristic if distributed in a "late run" river as fingerlings.

Fishermen reporting the capture of any of these marked fish should give the date and place where the catch was made. Each report must be accompanied by about three dozen scales from the left middle side of the body of the fish and pieces of skin showing the scars left by the removal of the fins. A dollar a piece will be paid by the department for complete reports.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Merkel and son Arthur, of Halifax, spent the week end with Mr. Merkel's mother, Mrs. Margaret Merkel.

Great Tract of Desert Lands Unexplored

Arabia has been a lodestone for Western exploration recently because back on its burning plateaux, in the scorching heat of hidden wadies (dry river beds) have been found strange tribesmen in cities of "setback skyscrapers," eight to ten stories high. Obsolete warriors for centuries have entrenched themselves in these lofty forts that at a distance, resemble modern New York apartment houses, from their imposing doorways to "pent houses" and roof gardens.

Farther inland lie great areas of desolate desert, with "singing sands" such as Marco Polo heard in the Gobi, and traces of a caravan trails that pre-date the era when Solomon derived gold and frankincense from Biblical Ophir. Two notable crossings of the huge Rub al Khali desert were made recently by Englishmen—one by Bertram Thomas and the other by H. St. John B. Philby.

While the Americas were being discovered and explored, while the Poles were being attained and the Polar regions visited again and again, the Arabian Peninsula, lying in the heart of the oldest known civilizations, has remained almost unseen by white men. About 300,000 square miles of territory, equal to the combined areas of Germany and Italy, is blank or but vaguely sketched on modern maps. Yet some of the border lands and surrounding seas of this huge ellipse hum with activity.

That Arabia has been able to guard its mysteries so long against the inquisitive Westerner is due partly to the physical features of the country and partly to the religious fanaticism of its sparse population. Southern Arabia, now a desert, was probably fertile and well watered when Europe and large parts of Asia were still in the Ice Age, and it may well have been one of the earliest homes of civilized man. Climatic changes at a later date brought extreme dryness and a drift of sands from the north.

The Arabian Peninsula is dotted with ancient ruins, some of which have been seen only in passing. Only a few of these have been studied by scientists. Undoubtedly there are other ruins yet unfound, some of them buried in the sand. One of the highroads of the Old World, the overland trade route from India, Persia to Egypt and Syria, and to other countries around the Mediterranean, began in Arabia, and wound through the plateau

SAFEGUARD HEALTH

WITH A G-E TRIPLE THRIFT

Refrigerator

The only safe way to keep food is in a temperature always below 50 degrees. Harmful bacteria multiply rapidly above 50 degrees, and you can't always tell by the look of food or even by the smell or taste, when it is fit for your family to eat. Food properly served in a G-E Refrigerator brings better health and increased nourishment to your table. And consider the triple economy—the saving on food bills—the saving on operating costs—and the saving on upkeep. You're paying for a G-E Refrigerator anyway—why not have one. See the new models—and get the facts.

"I sure work better after a good lunch"

"WHEN I have to carry my lunch to work I am always thankful my wife bakes bread with REGAL Flour. No other bread I've ever tasted is so satisfying, and believe me that's very important when a man's doing heavy work. My wife says it's because REGAL has more solid nourishment in it than ordinary flour. Believe me, REGAL makes bread that tastes better, too."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Emily E. Chalmers

The sudden death, from a heart attack, of Mrs. Emily E. Chalmers, proprietress of the "Commercial House", Bear River, on Saturday night, June 4, was a great shock to this town and to her wide circle of friends and acquaintances in all parts of Nova Scotia and the United States. Born here, 65 years ago, the daughter of the late Seth and Cynthia (Troop) Wade, the late Mrs. Chalmers had resided all her life in Bear River, with the exception of a few years spent in the United States, after her marriage to the late Fred Chalmers of New Brunswick. For over thirty years Mrs. Chalmers has been widely known to the "traveling public" as the genial, courteous, and obliging proprietress of the "Commercial House", and her death will be greatly regretted by the vast number she had served in this capacity. In her large circle of home-town intimates, she will be sincerely mourned as a kind and thoughtful neighbour, and a true and faithful friend, as well as an active and prominent citizen, whose assistance could always be counted on in every community undertaking. With the exception of one brother, George Wade, of Bear River, no immediate relatives survive, her only daughter, Mildred, dying twenty-five years ago, and her husband, the late Fred Chalmers, five years ago. Two brothers, Obediah and Harry Wade, and an unmarried sister, Annie, also predeceased her. The funeral, attended by many friends and acquaintances, from out-of-town, was held from the Chalmers residence Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. D. Brydon, pastor of the United Baptist Church, of which the late Mrs. Chalmers was a life-long member, assisted by Rev. R. L. Roach, of the United Church of Canada. The following favorite musical numbers of the deceased, were beautifully rendered by the United Church of Canada choir: Mrs. L. Litchfield, leader; Duet, "Waiting at the Portal"; Mrs. Litchfield and Mrs. Ralph Purdy; trio, "The Place Called Calvary"; Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. Harry Harris and Mrs. Roach. A wreath of lovely flowers were tributes of respect and affection from intimate friends and associates. Interment was in the Chalmers family lot in Mount Hope Cemetery.

Her Finger Joints Began to Swell

Perfectly Straight at 63 - - Thanks to Kruschen

Nearly twenty years ago, this woman was attacked by severe rheumatism. Now 63, she tells how Kruschen restored her to health, and has kept her free from rheumatism all these years:

"In 1918, an attack of 'flu' left me with severe rheumatism, and I was in bed three months. When I got up I could only hobble around with difficulty and pain. My finger joints were beginning to swell, and were very painful. I was told that nothing could be done for the swelling. A friend recommended me to try Kruschen Salts, which I did with very satisfactory results. To-day, at 63, my fingers are perfectly straight, I am free from rheumatism, and can do all my own housework."—(Mrs.) M. W.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen have the power of dissolving the needle-pointed crystals of uric acid which settle in your joints, causing them to swell, ache and inflame. Other ingredients of Kruschen assist Nature to flush out these dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

Finigan motored to Kentville on Sunday, returning Monday.

Miss Phyllis Crocker entertained her pupils recently, the occasion being the monthly meeting of their music club.

REBUKED BY PREMIER

Baron Shu Tomii, newly appointed Japanese ambassador to Canada, was rebuked by Premier Mackenzie King in the House of Commons for remarks, made during a newspaper interview in Niagara Falls, concerning China. Baron Tomii was quoted as having predicted an early defeat for China in its present struggle with Japan.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT?

Among a number of fine specimens of birds, shells, and insects on show at a recent exhibition was one which seemed at first glance to have nothing to do with the rest. It was a short piece of telephone cable. The explanation of its presence is interesting.

The telephone in a house at Preston, broke down. The Post Office engineers were called in, and they discovered that a fault had developed in the cable on the wall of the house, and that a small black knob had grown at one point. The section was removed, and the black knob was discovered to be a cocoon from which shortly afterwards, a large and beautiful puss-moth emerged. The toothmarks of the larva which had inhabited the cocoon could be seen in the lead, and the fragile cocoon casing was found to be composed of minute particles of the lead and hessian cable covering and of the inner insulating material.

A moth which bites through a telephone cable seems a tall story, and so does the next one on the list—the story of a flock of starlings which stopped the passage of telegrams in New South Wales. The birds wanted a rest and found the telegraph wires most convenient for that purpose. But their numbers were so great that the lines sagged to an extent which seriously interrupted traffic. The birds were eventually persuaded to move on, and run by bullfighters in the bullrings of Spain, but the spectators have been in the comfortable habit of regarding themselves as entirely safe. Two years ago, this feeling of assurance was rudely shattered when a matador's sword flung from the arena by a frenzied bull killed an onlooker. As the sword was entering the bull's body, the animal, madly tossing its head, hurled it into the fifth row of the grand stand, where it penetrated a spectator's heart.

Fishermen don't carry swords, but there are fish which do, on the Gold Coast. The risk of death from a thrust of the swordfish's two-foot weapon is well known but the actuality is rare. Nevertheless, a Gold Coast fisherman died last May from a deep stab delivered by a swordfish. It is not much consolation to know that in delivering the stroke, the swordfish is committing suicide, for it lacks the strength to withdraw its sword after a thrust, though the thrust itself has been known to penetrate up to nine inches of solid wood.

Anglers catch queer fish sometimes, but none odder than that hooked by a fisherman in the river Main, at Frankfurt. An 18-year-old girl was swimming by as he cast his line into the water. The hook landed neatly in the girl's body, and she was forced to swim to the bank, where the fisherman extracted his hook. An odd happening for a disciple of the peaceful Izak Walton!

The dredges and other plant which are intended to be employed on this work, shall have been duly registered in Canada on or before the thirty-first day of December, 1929, or shall have been constructed and registered in Canada since the said date.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works equal to 5% of the amount of the tender, or Bearer Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent Companies unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada, or the aforementioned bonds and a certified cheque if required to make up an odd amount. In no case shall the security deposit be less than $500.00.

By order,
J. M. Somerville, Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, June 3, 1938.

New South Wales resumed the conveniences of civilisation.

Have you any blackberry bushes in your garden? If you have, you may one of these days run the risk of finding your house entangled by the plant. It is not a very urgent risk, in this country at any rate, but in New Zealand it has happened. A neglected house of considerable size was attacked by a blackberry shoot, which climbed up one side, let itself down the other, and then planted the tips of its immense shoots so that the house became as safely roped down as was Gulliver by the Lilliputians and as unapproachable as a strong point in a barbed wire entanglement!

Accidents happen to people as well as things, and some people are peculiarly unfortunate in this regard. Mr. Nathan Brown, of Carrollton, Georgia, is one of them. He was stung by a bee last July, and dashed to the house for first aid. On the way he ran across a green snake, which bit him on the foot. This time he made for the town to get a doctor, but before he arrived a bulldog rushed up and bit him in the leg. Knowing that these things always run in threes, Mr. Brown was able to draw a breath of relief and nurse his two bites and one sting in comparative peace.

Here is the story of a medical man and a broken thermometer. A doctor from Lausanne, presented himself at the booking office of the railway station, asked for a ticket and put down a five-franc piece.

"It's bad," said the clerk. The doctor had not enough additional money on him. Wondering what he should do, he wandered out of the station and stopped to buy some cigarettes with his last coin—a franc.

Then he felt a tap on his shoulder. "Come along," said a policeman. "I've been watching you. Let me see those coins." And the doctor was led to the police station, where he had to spend the night until the inspector arrived in the morning.

The inspector, in the course of the usual routine, searched his prisoner, and found among other things a broken clinical thermometer in the doctor's pocket. The mercury from this had leaked out and coated the coins, making them into very shady-looking counterfeits!

There are plenty of risks run by bullfighters in the bullrings of Spain, but the spectators have been in the comfortable habit of regarding themselves as entirely safe. Two years ago, this feeling of assurance was rudely shattered when a matador's sword flung from the arena by a frenzied bull killed an onlooker. As the sword was entering the bull's body, the animal, madly tossing its head, hurled it into the fifth row of the grand stand, where it penetrated a spectator's heart.

"Big Top" Sisters Adopt Motherless Lion Cub Trio

High flyers, daring aerial performers who swing from trapeze to trapeze in the dome of "The Big Top," are Sonya and Jerry Carroll with the great Robbins Brothers Circus. But on terra firma they are thoroughly domesticated and, as the ordinary young women of their ages, are overly fond of pets.

Several weeks ago three lion cubs were born with the circus. The mother lion died and a menagerie superintendent was placed in a quandary he had never before faced. Jungle beasts will not adopt the young of another animal as will often domesticated animals like dogs and cats. To raise the cubs was a problem.

Along came Sonya and Jerry Carroll. The petite, young artists adopted the three little lions.

began a course of bottle feeding and solved the harassed superintendent's worries. Under care of these world famous high flyers, the motherless cubs began to grow rapidly, gained weight in so a fashion that animal trainers marvelled. Now at several weeks of age they are as gentle as house kittens.

The Robbins Brothers Circus is coming to Digby, on Thursday, June 23, for two performances, at 2 and 8 p. m. Doors to the menagerie will open at 1 and 7 p. m. An immense street parade will be seen on the downtown streets at 11 a. m. There will be hundreds of horses, rumbling wagons of red and gold, tooting calliopes, trumpeting bands, 20 elephants and two caravans of camels from Asia and Siberia.

UNITED BAPTIST CHURCHES
Roll Call at St. Mary's Bay

The annual Roll Call services of the St. Mary's Bay Baptist Church was held in the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, June 1st. The guest speakers were: Rev. G. D. Brydon, of Bear River, and Rev. I. D. Lytle, of Weymouth.

The afternoon service was preceded by an enthusiastic song service, which was very helpful and inspiring. Rev. I. D. Lytle gave the address of the afternoon, from Luke 5:4: "Launch out into the deep." It was a clarion call for a deepening of the spiritual life and could not fail to make a deep and lasting impression upon the listening and deeply interested congregation.

At the close of the afternoon service the church re-union and supper in the vestry, was participated in by a number of visiting guests, as well as by the members of the church.

Rev. G. D. Brydon was the speaker at the evening service. His message was based on Galatians 6:1: "If a man be overtaken in a fault". This earnest appeal was both timely and heart-searching and must result in a higher altitude of heart and life in the membership of the church, as well as being an impetus to "every good word and work".

Rev. Mr. Lytle also spoke briefly at the evening service. The church feels deeply indebted to both of the visiting ministers for their appropriate and inspirational addresses.

The music by the united choirs of the pastorate was of a very high order and added greatly to the helpfulness of the services. The solos of Rev. Mr. Brydon in the afternoon, and Mrs. Harold Marshall in the evening, were greatly appreciated.

Good congregations were present at both services. The letters sent out to all the members of the church elicited a gratifying response to the call of the home church.

The offering was an excellent one. On the whole, as in former years, the Roll Call services were very helpful and inspiring and trust are an earnest of good things to come.

Roll Call at Clementsvale

Three impressive services marked the annual Roll Call of Clementsvale Baptist Church. Large congregations were in attendance and listened with rapt attention to appropriate addresses for the auspicious occasion, rendered by the pastor, Rev. T. W. Howard, Dr. G. C. Warren, Professor at Acadia University, and Rev. A. G. Robertson, pastor of Digby Baptist Church. Miss Allie Forbes, of Bear River, was soloist for the day, which was Sunday, June 5.

At 11 o'clock Rev. T. W. Howard conducted the morning service, his address, based on Phil. 3:14, "Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before", was directed mainly to those who had publicly taken their stand for Christ, and a plea to church members to live that their lives might be a shining example to those about to enter into church membership. Immediately following the address the congregation proceeded from the church to the baptismal waters, where Mr. Howard conducted the very impressive baptism of Miss Edna Potter and Miss Marjorie Pierce. During the baptism the choir rendered "Oh Happy Day".

Dr. Warren pronounced the closing benediction. The afternoon service began at 3 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Howard conducted. After the reading of Scripture by Dr. Warren and prayer by Mr. Allen, assistant summer pastor of Clementsvale, Rev. Mr. Howard received the two young members into church fellowship. Miss Forbes rendered "Living For Jesus". A large number responded to the Church Roll Call. The Roll Call offering was a splendid response of the consecration of the church members.

Dr. G. C. Warren gave an eloquent and thought-provoking Roll Call address taking as his text Galatians 2:20: "I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless, I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me". After the address the Church Covenant was read in unison by the congregation. Following the reading of the Covenant, Communion service was held. Deacons, Dondale and Banks officiating at the table.

At 7 p. m., the third service of the day was held, with Mr. Allen conducting in the absence of pastor Howard, who exchanged pulpits for the evening with Rev. A. G. Robertson, of Digby, Miss Forbes and Mr. Allen sang the duet, "Drifting".

Rev. Mr. Robertson spoke a challenging evening message, taking as his subject "What is the worth of man", based on the text "So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God" Romans 14:12. After the address Mr. Allen sang "The Evening Prayer". The service ended with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Mr. Robertson.

All in attendance expressed joy at the true spirit of fellowship and worship experienced throughout the services of the day, the success of which is due in large part to the earnest and consistent endeavour of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Howard.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PROPER EXPOSURE

Brilliantly lighted beach subjects, with no harsh shadows, take less exposure. For this, 1/25 at f.16 (or the large lens opening on a box camera). If subject faces sun, or for a "long-shot" beach view, use f.22 or the small lens opening on a box camera).

MANY writers make a great to-do about exposure, so that it seems complicated. As a matter of fact, for most ordinary subjects out of doors, it is simple.

Light in very early morning or late afternoon is quite weak, but from an hour or so after sunrise to about an hour before sunset, it is fairly constant in its intensity. During the middle daylight hours, camera loaded with chrome type or "pan" type film, set your lens and shutter as follows:

BRILLIANT DAY
Average subject, 1/25 second and f.11 lens opening.
Open landscape, 1/25, f.16.
Water or beach scenes, 1/25, f.22.

CLOUDY BRIGHT DAY
Average subject, 1/25, f.8.
Open landscape, 1/25, f.11.
Water or beach scenes, 1/25, f.16.

DULL DAY
Average subject, 1/25, f.6.3.

Open landscape, 1/25, f.8.
Water or beach scenes, 1/25, f.8.

When you must use a high shutter speed, use a larger lens opening. Remember that 1/25 second at f.11 is the same as 1/50 at f.8, and about the same as 1/100 at f.6.3 or 1/200 at f.4.5.

Follow these exposures this spring and summer, and you won't go wrong. If you use a box camera, take snapshots on bright days only. On a dull day, place the box camera on a firm support and give a very short time exposure (one-half to one second, or about as fast as you can work the shutter when on "Time") using the small lens opening.

With any camera, when you are taking pictures shortly after sunrise or before sunset, you must use a larger lens opening, or a slower shutter speed. At such times, light tends to be yellow and the "pan" type film will be best as it is definitely faster in such light.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Reginald B. Mount

The death of Mrs. Reginald B. Mount, occurred at her home, Warwick Street, Digby, on Tuesday morning, May 31, after only a few days' illness of flu, which developed into plural pneumonia. She was 25 years of age. Besides her husband, she leaves four small children, Earle, 2 years; Paul, 4; Eddie, 5½; and Betty, 7; a sorrowing mother, five brothers and two sisters. The funeral was held from her mother's home in Centreville, services being conducted by Rev. J. T. Dimock, assisted by Rev. H. A. Brown and Mr. W. Chandler, student of the Baptist Church circuit. Interment was in Lakeside Cemetery, at Centreville, beside her father, who predeceased her about a year and a half ago. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Word has been received in Digby of the death of Miss E. C. Ogdon, which occurred in Boston, Mass. on Monday. The late Miss Ogdon was well known in Digby and vicinity, having been a regular summer visitor to Harbor View House, Smith's Cove, for many seasons. She spent the winter at the Hotel Puritan, Boston. Funeral services took place in that city Wednesday.

Evelyn Sias has rented a place at Gilbert's Cove, for the summer months.

STE. MAURICE VALLEY CANOE RACE

For the third consecutive year Nova Scotia will be represented in the annual Ste. Maurice Valley Canoe Race, July 29, 30 and 31. This year's race will be the fifth in the series, which is one of the most gruelling of its kind. The course, 125 miles in length, is over the Ste. Maurice River, P. Q., a stream of many rapids and long carries, and a course over which only those well versed in canoe craft would attempt.

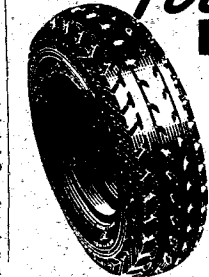

Nova Scotia's representatives this year will be Alan Hunt of Greenfield, Queens County, and Eber Peck, Bear River. Both these well known woodsmen entered the race three years ago, finishing in eighth place. Last summer Eber and his brother, Watson, entered the competition, finishing fifth.

Both of the 1938 team have now had experience over the course, and both are recognized as the best canoeists in this Province of Nova Scotia. We believe this year, with their skill and experience, they will be able to show the boys from Quebec Province a thing or two, and we wouldn't be at all surprised to see Eber and Alan come home with 1938 championship.

On Tuesday evening, next week, Campbell Carroll will tell of this famous race over a coast to coast hook up. He will be on the air from 7.45 to 8.00 p. m.—be sure and tune in.

Plans are now being made to show motion pictures in color in Digby, on the night of June 25. These pictures were taken by Duncan MacD. Little, who will show them and are of both the 1936 and 1937 races. Plan to see them. This will be your opportunity to see actual pictures of

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

NOTICE!

The Instalment Payment Contracts Act

To all persons, firms or corporations who sell or let to hire goods, wares or merchandise by a conditional sale:

The Instalment Payment Contracts Act being Chapter 8 of the Acts of Nova Scotia for 1938 will come into force on June 30th, A.D. 1938, and from and after that date no dealer, as defined in the said Act, shall, within the Province, sell or let to hire any goods, wares or merchandise under a conditional sale without first having obtained a license therefor.

Every person who violates any of the provisions of The Instalment Payment Contracts Act shall be liable for each such offence to the penalties therein provided.

Application for a license under the said Act must be made on a form provided for the purpose.

Such forms may be obtained on application to the Office of the Inspector under The Instalment Payment Contracts Act, Department of the Attorney General, Provincial Administration Building, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

THE INSTALMENT PAYMENT CONTRACTS ACT

It has been announced that forms of application for a license under The Instalment Payment Contracts Act, passed at the recent session of the Legislature, are now available at the office of the Inspector under the Instalment Payment Contracts Act, Securities Division, Department of the Attorney General, Halifax.

This Act, in effect, provided that from and after the 30th of June every person, who in the ordinary course of business sells goods on the Instalment Payment plan must have a license in order to conduct this type of business. The application for a license must be made on the form provided by the Department for that purpose. This form requires the disclosure of certain essential features of the type of business being conducted by the dealer, and if abuses of the Conditional Sales Act are found to exist the Attorney General is empowered to cancel or suspend a license.

It is announced that for the time being in any event the individual salesman of a dealer conducting an Instalment Payment business need not be registered, provided the dealer himself is licensed under the Act and that the conditional sales negotiated by such a salesman are made directly between the consumer and the dealer.

There are penalties provided in the Act for violation of any of its provisions and it is understood that these penalty provisions will be strictly enforced. There is a registration fee of $2.00.

new Capitol Theatre, and although we have "inspected" the new building during the course of its construction, we must say we were more than delighted with the finished job, which, in the opinion of all, is a wonderful asset to Digby. Again we say, the proprietors are to be congratulated.

Under new regulations, the Digby Neck Bus Service is soon to operate under a license, which, we understand, when all fees are collected, will run well up into three figures (without decimals). To us, this seems like a ridiculous piece of legislation—but, of course, we may be wrong. On Digby Neck there is a large population. There is no railway, and the bus service is their only guaranteed means of transportation. It is quite natural the bus should be operated by the mail contractor.

A bus service on Digby Neck cannot be considered in any way as competitive to the railroads, in fact, the bus is "Digby Neck's Railroad", and like other "railroads" in this age of automobiles, is affected insofar as passenger traffic is concerned, in a larger degree, proportionately, than is the railway's passenger traffic. In spite of this, the management of the Digby Neck Bus Service will have to pay a tax on each and every seat for each trip and return trip, regardless of whether that seat is occupied or not—and this, we understand, is in addition to other taxes that will be imposed under the new regulations.

To us this seems to be unfair. Take away the Digby Neck Bus Service from the people of Digby Neck, important sections of Digby Neck would be practically isolated by the loss of a regular and dependable means of transportation.

We can see justifiable reasons for the licensing of busses and bus routes in sections of the county and province—sections, where, in the past, the busses have in addition to competing with the railways (which we feel deserve some protection), have been slashing prices unmercifully among themselves.

Nevertheless, in the province, there are districts in similar positions to that of Digby Neck—districts where a bus service is the only dependable means of transportation. We feel more leeway should be given operators in those districts.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

EXERCISE AND REST

It appears, to be necessary to remind many persons of the need for daily exercise of the body.

Exercise tends to strengthen the muscles of the body, including the heart, which is a muscular organ. Exercise deepens and increases respiration, produces heat, induces perspiration, and develops the motor and sensory nerve centres of the brain.

If the food which we eat is to be properly digested and used for the nutrition of the body, we must exercise; if the elimination from bowel and kidney is to be kept in proper order, we must exercise. It is perhaps, a good working rule to say that the normal individual should exercise to the point of perspiration once a day. We should walk sometimes in place of riding, play some games and spread them throughout the week, not concentrate them all on Saturday.

On the other hand, we should not forget the need of rest. Perhaps there are more of us in need of rest than of exercise. Children require a great deal of rest, freedom from activity, and long hours of sleep in order that they may grow and develop healthy minds in healthy bodies. The adult needs rest in order to repair the wear and tear of daily life, and to prepare for the days ahead. A quantity of our activities are without any particular interest to us. They are largely a matter of doing something, an evidence of our inability to be still, and to enjoy ourselves, quietly and restfully in relaxation.

We must realize that the possibilities of health depend, in large measure upon ourselves. If we would have health, we must be prepared to make the necessary effort to secure the exercise we need and to establish habits of living, which permit of sufficient rest and sleep. Neglect means less health if not actual disease; it means living our lives below the standard which we are capable of attaining. It means more worry and less happiness. Health is worth the effort but we must make the effort ourselves.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

but the judge decided against them. So, from now on until the last of September, the Fidos and Rovers will have to be kept where the dog catchers will not find them. Dogs found running loose during the quarantine period will be taken to the dog pound and kept there for several days, and then if the owners do not show up to claim them and pay the fine that has been assessed, the dogs will be destroyed—pretty tough for some kid that loves his dog and has no money to pay the fine. The dog division of the Health Department is a hard hearted outfit anyway. Dog hospitals flourish in this part of the country. I have heard that the operators of these canine institutions do a large and profitable business, although from the number of such hospitals that one sees, in a day's ride around the city and suburbs, it would appear that competition must be fairly keen, but, of course, there are many dogs, most of which are kept in places where they get little or no exercise, and as a result have to be taken to the "doctor" now and then. In addition to the hospitals for dogs and cats, Los Angeles has a cemetery for dogs and cats, where dog and cat lovers can have their pets buried, placed in mausoleums, or cremated. Well, there is no telling to what extent the foibles of some dog owners may be carried. One old lady, who died recently, left a trust fund of $10,000 so that her dog would have "proper" care during its lifetime and a "decent" burial when it died. The woman's relatives are now trying to have the courts set aside this provision in her will.

Flash!! The winner in the dog show was movie star, Stewart "Stew" Erwins. Scotch terrier "Champion Craghanen Clinker", a black Scottie with short legs and long whiskers. Hoot mon, I'm thinkin' after lookin' her over that my "Patsy" has a wee droopie O' Scotch blood in her make up—Maybe I should change her name to "Highland Mary".

About This and That

"What's in a name?" Sometimes a lot of trouble. That is certainly the case with a young German bearing the remarkable name of Adolph Feuhrer. This Adolf was formerly manager of a Catholic organization in Cologne. Whenever he had to tell his name to some Nazi official, which was pretty often, the official thought he was mocking the All-Nazist Reichsfuehrer, and he was soon sent to a concentration camp for it. The process continued, and because he was a truthful man he got in worse and worse with the authorities, and was sent from one prison-place to another until finally he managed to escape to Switzerland. In spite of party feeling in Canada it doesn't seem likely that any man would be jailed or shot at sunrise for bearing a name like Mackenzie King.

At a meeting the other evening in New York a columnist was asked from the floor how long he expected this depression to last. About ten years, he answered. He thought the causes were world wide, the condition likewise. The causes were imperfectly understood. It would take at least that long to find them and unroot them and get into a state of real world prosperity. The audience sighed. This was a pretty bitter pill to swallow. Then it laughed and went on to a different question. Later consideration made this seem an answer wise indeed. For isn't the whole world and Canada especially standing around waiting for something to turn up? We watch statistical tables, as if in them lay hope. If steel would just get going, or real estate, or stocks, or building, or something else, then every business man would like to improve and branch out and employ—if, if, if! But take the other "IF"—if this is not really an abnormal state but the actual, factual

Here and There With G.R.T.

May 27th and, it is poppy day again. Early this morning the women folks of the members of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars were on the street corners with baskets of red artificial flowers resembling those of the Flanders fields. "Buy a poppy, buy a poppy, mister; help the needy veterans and their families" was their sales talk. So, poppies blossomed on thousands of dresses and coat lapels in Los Angeles, today. Crippled veterans at the Government hospitals have been making these flowers for weeks past and proceeds of the sale will be used for the assistance of disabled soldiers.

Another sight seen by your writer on his way to work this morning was a new one to him. A mamma swan with two little ones feeding on the grass in Westlake Park. Mamma seemed to be very proud of her babies—what do you call them?—not goslings—nor ducklings. Ah, yes, cygnets. I believe, and from the way she was waddling around, arching her beautiful neck, and flopping her wings she seemed to be saying, "aren't they a pair of beauties? And don't you forget it, the stork had not a single thing to do with these 'twins'." The Park Commission very wisely built a small island in the lake and planted it with reeds and rushes making an ideal breeding ground for the swans and other water fowl living in the park.

How about the swallows? Have they arrived in Weymouth and started building nests under the eaves of the old barns and store buildings. We have had them with us for several weeks. They make their headquarters down at the old mission at San Juan Capistrano, about thirty miles south of Long Beach. They arrive there in great numbers on St. Joseph's day every year and never vary a single day, year after year. No one knows the reason for this but the swallows, and no one knows where they spend the winter but if they have found a better place to winter in than Southern California we would like to know where it is. The old mission buildings of soft adobe brick provide a foundation for nests much to the swallows' liking. It is probably the reason for their locating at Capistrano in the spring and summer months.

Other sights seen on Los Angeles streets—not exactly pleasing to the eye—are the cripples and deformed who make their living in various ways. There are the three men with legs removed through accident or otherwise who seat themselves on a sort of "scooter" with roller skate wheels and make fast time up and down the sidewalks and street crossings without assistance from anyone. One of them is a lead pencil vendor, but he would be surprised if you asked him for a pencil after handing him a dime. I understand that his daily income runs into quite a tidy sum. The second man sells newspapers in front of one of the large department stores; the third is a key maker—no charity for him. He prides himself on being a business man. With both legs gone and his left arm off at the elbow, he gets around with marvelous ease and can duplicate your key for you in a jiffy, and how he can annihilate distance when he closes up his little sidewalk shop for the day and starts for home. With a wooden attachment to the stub of his left arm and a contrivance something like an old-fashioned smoothing iron in his right hand he can push himself along the sidewalks with remarkable speed. Then there is the dwarf who peddles newspapers in the evening at the corner of 7th Street and Olive.

A hideous little creature less than three feet in height, but possesses a voice that can be heard for blocks in the stillness of the night. Another unfortunate is the man who crawls along the sidewalks on his hands and knees with a stock of lead pencils in a container strapped on his back. The charitable minded may drop their nickels and dimes in this box if they desire, otherwise the money would have to be thrown on the walk in front of him, and stopping to remove his heavy glove to pick up the money would, of course, be inconvenient, and would have a tendency to slow up his crawl along the busy lanes of trade.

The saddest sight of all is the man who lies in a sort of wheeled chair with a stock of candies, chewing gum and cigarettes on display in a rack attached to the chair, a paralytic or epileptic, with body and face so twisted out of shape that one wonders how he can possibly attract any customers at all; but he does, and I have been reliably informed that he has quite a comfortable bank account, toward which certain relatives are looking more or less hopefully.

Another individual who made an easy living off the soft-hearted public was a fellow who operated on one of the down town side streets. He was just a plain beggar, and he made the most of his infirmities, which consisted of the loss of part of one leg and a foot. He had no pencils or papers or anything else for sale, but would sit in a vacant store doorway and hold out his hat to the passer-by and with an ingratiating smile ask for a "little silver". Sometimes if the alms were not forthcoming he would hurl an insulting epithet or two. Complaints brought the police down on him and he decided to seek other fields of "moochery". It was found that this man was owner of considerable property, had money in the bank, and was driven to and from his "business" every day in a high-priced automobile.

In a day's stroll along the asphalt lanes of the down town district one will run across blind men—here and there—picking their way through the crowds, earning what they can by singing, playing the banjo or accordion. And a number of old women also will be seen selling newspapers, chewing gum and shoe laces—most notable of whom was a very wrinkled and toothless old woman who the boys called "Old Carrie". She wore a sort of poke bonnet—

Family Reunion at Westport

There was a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Peters, on Thursday of last week, when Mrs. (Dr.) W. D. Whitman and son, Robert, of Honolulu; Capt. and Mrs. Walton Peters, of Hammond, N. J.; Mrs. C. E. Collins, of Pontiac, Mich., gathered for a few days to visit among their old friends and relatives. A delightful picnic was enjoyed at the dinner hour in the "Island Pond Field" on Friday. In the evening there was a "sing-song" at the home of Mrs. Glays Watkins. On Saturday afternoon another brother, Capt. Emery Peters, arrived, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Barbara, also with no ribbons on it—a very old black dress and shawl, and for footwear a pair of men's shoes. A faint trickle of tobacco juice oozed from the corners of her mouth, indicating a more or less lengthy acquaintance with "Lady Nicotine". She loved to discuss politics with her customers and seemed to harbor a long standing dislike for Democrats and Japanese. Of the latter she would shout in a cracked and squeaky voice, "I don't like them little brown devils; we've got too many of them around here". Other newsies claimed that Carrie had a lot of money in one of the banks and that she was putting a granddaughter through college.

Screen Star Travels Canadian Way

Louise Fazenda, of movie fame, and her husband, Hal Wallis, official of Warner Brothers, are seen here on the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Canada" just before sailing to Honolulu for a holiday. They were accompanied by their five-year-old son, Hal Junior, who has never yet faced a camera, either professional or amateur.

Pugh, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bailey, Miss Rita Dakin and Mrs. Gladys Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Morrell and son, Billy, also come over from Freeport for the week end.

On Sunday morning the family attended service in the Christian Church in a body. All were present, except Milton, of Cape Breton, and Clarence, who lives with his mother in Lockport.

The service was much enjoyed as some had not had the privilege of worshipping in their home church for thirty years. Rev. J. W. Derby preached the sermon on "Jacob and Esau", which was very helpful. There were three special musical numbers, a duet by Mrs. C. E. Collins and Gerald Bailey, entitled "Go To Thy Father in Prayer"; a trio, "The Wayside Cross", by Harry Peters, Whitney and Lloyd Derby; "The Church by the Side of the Road", was sung by the choir and congregation, and dedicated to the Peters family.

Immediately after the service they left for Lockport to visit with their mother for a few days before departing for their respective homes. Their mother, Mrs. Martha Ruggles, had long been looking forward to this happy time together.

A FAITHFUL DOG

Visitors to the ruins of the St. Croix Church properties at Plympton, 12 miles from here, are greeted by a huge and friendly St. Bernard dog. The animal is the pet of Rev. Father Gaudet, and since the fire which destroyed the church, glebe, barn and parish hall on June 2, has scarcely left the ruins, although he has been placed in the care of neighbors who reside within sight of the property. It is said that it has only been on one or two occasions that they have succeeded in coaxing the animal away, and Guy Morehouse, Jr., of Digby, and Frank Willoby, Kentville, 135 lb. fighters, will face each other for 4-rounds, but, much interest will be taken in the 5-round grudge fight between Gordon Cowan and Cecil Savary, two husky 140 lb. Digby boys, who will settle their differences in the ring.

PICTURES OF GREAT CANOE RACE

Those who took advantage of listening to Campbell Carroll's radio description of the St. Maurice River Canoe Race, broadcast over a coast to coast hook-up on Tuesday evening, have become greatly enthused over this great Canadian canoe classic, and will welcome the opportunity of seeing actual motion pictures of the race which will be shown in Community Hall, Digby, on the evening of Saturday, June 25.

These pictures were taken by Duncan MacD. Little, New York, who will come to Digby to show them. They will be of both 1936 and 1937 races, and will show them from start to finish, and incidentally, the 1937 pictures will be in actual color.

We have heard favorable comments from those who saw them in New York last winter, and are assured no truer and more exciting scenes could be filmed than those Mr. Little will show here.

Mr. Little, who took the pictures, and who will show them here, is a staunch friend of Digby and Nova Scotia, and is in a large measure responsible for Nova Scotians becoming interested in this great Canadian Canoe Race, one of the most gruelling of its kind on the North American Continent.

This year the race will start on July 29, finishing on the 31st. The course from Le Teque to Three Rivers is a total of 125 miles in all. Sixty miles, from LeTeque to Grand Mere will be covered the first day. Mr. Little's pictures will show Eber Peck and Alan Hunt finishing in 10th place in 1936; Eber and Watson finishing 5th last year—and we hope, should Mr. Little take films in 1938, his pictures will show Eber and Alan, entries this year, finishing in a still better position. We know two better canoe men could not be selected.

Mr. Little will also show pictures at Smith's Cove, on Monday evening, when the proceeds will be for the benefit of the Smith's Cove Public Library. His programme will be entirely different from the one he will show on Saturday, next week. Last winter these same films won honorable mention from the American Society of Cinematographers, Hollywood.

Edward Weir, 15, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Weir, Freeport, has won a scholarship worth $150.00 in an examination given to 11th grade students in Kings, Annapolis and Digby Counties by Dalhousie University, Halifax.

People of Digby enjoyed two musical treats Sunday. A large number attended the first open-air Band Concert of the season to be given by the Digby Civic Band, under the direction of their leader, Paul Yates. In the evening, Grace United Church was filled to its capacity for a concert given by the Middleton male quartette, with P. E. Appleby, soloist, after the regular church service. This group of talented singers were recent winners of the Music Festival at Halifax. The collection from the after-service was for the benefit of the Women's Missionary Society of the Church.

THE BAND CONCERT

Last Sunday's band concert received such a gratifying reception that the band has decided upon another afternoon performance on Sunday, the 26th inst., with an equally fine program. The band presented a fine appearance in the freshly painted pavilion, and its music was heard in many distant parts of the town, and far out in the country, due to the raising of the band stand which was done late in the season last year.

Indicative of the interest taken in these band concerts by our summer guests, and the extent to which the music is enjoyed, the following letter was sent Bandlemaster Yates by an appreciative American visitor:

"Mrs. L. — and I intended and were prevented in giving you, in person, our very hearty congratulations on the splendid showing made by the Digby Band at its first concert. The selections showed a wider range than most amateur organizations are capable of handling. The tempo, the 'attack' and the diminuendos were in most pieces, well handled. We know enough of concerts to realize the weeks and weeks of grilling effort that lay behind the splendid result. You have every right to be proud of your junior and senior musicians and they of you."

"Sincerely yours, Edith C."

LIFE SAVING CERTIFICATE AWARDED

The presentation of a life saving certificate to William (Billie) Ganong, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Ganong, of this town, was made in Community Hall Friday evening, by P. W. Holdsworth, director of the First Digby Boy Scout Troop, during the intermission at an Amateur Conte under the auspices of the Scouts. The incident for which young Ganong received the award, was unknown to the majority of the people of Digby, and took place at the Boy Scout Camp, Porter's Lake (Digby County) on July 4, of last year, when he saved the life of Donald Levy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Levy, recently of Digby, and now of Halifax.

Levy, with other Cub Scouts, under the direction of their patrol leader, William Ganona, were gathering water lilies at the outlet of the lake, when the young lad waded out into deep water, and was being carried away by the current when Ganong discovered his plight. Plunging into the stream, he saved the lad.

Application for the award was made by Dr. G. V. Turnbull, Cub Master. The certificate was received in March but due to the fact Ganong was attending Acadia University, Wolfville, opportunity for a public presentation did not present itself until last Friday evening, Ganong was taken entirely by surprise.

The certificate was personally signed by Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, and Chief Scout of the Dominion.

"It Saves So Much It Practically Costs Me Nothing"

It's thrifty to have a G E Refrigerator. It saves on food upkeep and on operating cost. The sealed-in-steel mechanism operates for an average of three cents per day. It keeps perishable foods fresh for so long that you can save by buying in larger quantities when bargains are offered. Many housewives say these savings mean $10.00 or more a month. Why deny yourself the comfort of a G-E Triple Thrift Refrigerator when it actually saves you money. 10 p.c. of all money spent for food is lost because of food spoilage in the home. So save money—food—health—time, by buying a GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR.

Laid Up For Weeks by Sciatica

At 76 Kruschen Conquered His Complaint

At 86 years of age, this man is still going strong, yet 10 years ago he was laid up for weeks with an attack of sciatica. Read how he keeps fit in spite of his advanced age:

"Ten years ago I was laid up for about a month with a severe attack of sciatica. I was quite unable to sleep and I suffered a great deal. I tried several remedies, but obtained little relief. At last I saw one of your advertisements, and decided to give Kruschen a trial. I stuck to it and took about half-a-teaspoonful every morning in my coffee and my sciatica gradually went. I was 86 last month—still going strong—and my friends ask me how I keep my clear skin and healthy looks. I tell them all it is due to Kruschen Salt."—C. T. L.

Whether you are in your 'teens or past your prime, it is neither too early nor too late to start on the "little daily dose". Just a tiny, tasteless pinch in your morning tea or coffee—that's the Kruschen rule for constant fitness.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD ACTION SNAPS

What action! Must have taken a fast shutter to stop it! Well, no—don't tell anybody, but it was snapped at 1/25 second, approximately box-camera shutter speed. The athlete simply held still for a moment.

PRETTY soon the weather will be opening up, schools will start on their Spring athletic programs, small boys will be knocking battered baseballs around on vacant lots—and your youngster, very likely, will be among them.

These amateur athletics are excellent material for your camera, whether it is a box camera such as most of us have, or one of the new high-speed miniatures.

Of course, with a box camera, you cannot always expect to "stop" rapid action. That is the field of the cameras with high-speed lenses and shutters. But there's no reason why you can't picture action poses—some of them so realistic that people who see them would wonder the pictures were high-speed "stop-action" snaps.

W. I. MEETING

On Monday afternoon the regular June meeting of the Bear River Women's Institute was held in the Masonic building with Mrs. Walter M. Romans, President, presiding. This was the last meeting of the season and considerable business was transacted. The Library will remain open the next two Saturdays, with Miss Mabel Harris in charge, and all books must be brought in on the 25th. The Institute will resume their regular schedule again in September.

W. I. Benevolent Committee

Mrs. H. R. Kinney, convenor, and her committee are appealing for clothing and shoes. Will all friends of the Institute please respond by sending what they have to Mrs. H. E. Harris, where the things can be packed and sent to those in need, including a number of small children.

W. I. Hospital Committee

The Hospital Committee of the Institute convened by Mrs. L. J. Lovett, will very shortly canvass the community for supplies needed for the Bear River Room at the Digby General Hospital. All bed linen, small towels, old linen or donations of money, no matter how small, will be gratefully received. So just greet the canvasser with a smile and a donation.

The "Children's Service" at the Lansdowne church on Sunday last was well attended and the songs by the children were much appreciated, particularly the solo by the little "Billy" Porter, 5 years old.

CHURCHES HOLD 'SUCCESS- FUL ROLL CALLS

The annual roll call service of Lower Granville United Baptist Church was held in the church at Victoria Beach on Sunday afternoon and evening. Both services were well attended and those present listened with great interest to the inspiring sermons delivered by Rev. E. S. Mason, D.D., of Wolfville. Rev. L. F. Wallace led in prayer. The music by the male quartette of the Bridgetown Baptist church was beautiful and much appreciated, as was also the music by the united choirs of the pastorate, a duet by Mrs. Roy Casey and Mrs. Orbin Everett, and solos by Mrs. Everett and Miss Mildred White. The offering for the afternoon and evening was for missions and amounted to $140.31. The success of the services is partly due to the earnest and consistent efforts of the pastor, Rev. W. B. Crowell.

A successful Roll Call was held at the Hill Grove Baptist Church, Acaciaville, on Thursday afternoon and evening of last week, when proceeds to the amount of $160.93 was realized for church and denominational purposes.
Many responses were received from members and adherents of the church, both resident and non-resident, the latter responding by letter. Messages of good will were received from friends of the Hill Grove church from many parts of Canada and the United States, including one from Rev. D. E. Hatt, a former pastor, now at Seattle, Wash. The speaker at the afternoon service was Rev. C. E. Rockingham, pastor of the Deep Brook circuit of Baptist Churches; at the evening service
Rev. G. B. Brydon, pastor of the Bear River Baptist Church. Following the evening service, an evangelistic service, under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. A. G.
Robertson, was conducted.

MARRIAGES

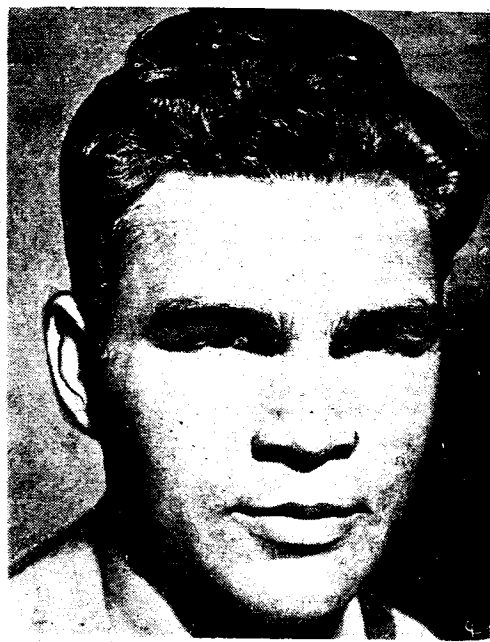

Ritchie - Anderson
A pretty wedding of interest to an exceptionally large circle of friends throughout Nova Scotia and Massachusetts, took place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. G.
Auld, Malden, Mass., on June 9th, when the latter's sister, Mary Brewis Anderson, second daughter of Mrs. and the late Rev.
J. B. Anderson, of Weymouth, N.
S., became the bride of Walter Lorne Ritchie, of Medford, Mass., formerly of Annapolis Royal, N.
S. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas Cate, St. M. B.

A. B. D., assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church, Malden, Mass. The reception room was decorated with palms, roses, peonies, snap dragon, and other seasonal flowers. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, John Clifford Anderson, entered the room to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin.
She was gowned in white satin with a lace bordered train. Her veil had a coronet of Mother of Pearl and orange blossoms. Her only jewellery was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs.
Auld, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and was attired in soft spring green with orchid accessories, and wore a corsage of talisman roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Georgia Ritchie, sister of the groom, whose dress was of acqua net over matching taffeta.
She wore a coronet of pink gar-denias, and carried a bouquet of pink bridal roses and blue del-phiniums. The groom was attended by his brother, Ralph Ritchie. In the receiving line with the bride and groom were: Dr.
and Mrs. Auld, and Mrs. Anderson, the bride's mother, the latter being attired in green lace over taffeta and wore a corsage of talisman roses. Mrs. Auld was assisted in serving by Mrs. Lyle Trenholm, Mrs. Eugene Crawford, Mrs. Alton Lewis, Mrs. Harry Feltham, Mrs. Mabel Shaltuck. The latter, who is a violinist, rendered music throughout the evening.
Miss Margaret Nowlan presided over the guest register. There were many out of town guests at the wedding, and congratulations were received by wire from England and Nova Scotia. The bride, who is a graduate of the Modern Business College, Saint John, was employed for several years with the firm of G. O. Hankinson, of Weymouth, N. S. The groom is a graduate of the Annapolis Royal Academy, and is a contractor for the firm of Koslow & Ritchie, of Somerville, Mass. The bride, who is very popular among the younger set at Weymouth and Malden, has been the guest of honor at many receptions held in her honor both here and in the United States. The happy couple left amid greetings and best wishes on a motor trip to Upper Canadian cities and the White Mountains, and on their return will reside in Malden, Mass. For travelling Mrs. Ritchie wore a navy blue ensemble with touches of lighter blue.

APPENDICITIS IN CHILDREN

It is generally known that appendicitis is a comparatively common disease. It is not so generally known however, that appendicitis is responsible for between 1,300 and 1,400 deaths each year in Canada.

Years of training and experience enable us to render first-class service in all the many details which make up a funeral of the type which leaves an everlasting, comforting memory. There is a casket in every price range but no matter what the selection may be, the same sympathetic personal attention is given in every case.

nada. Particularly is it not known that it is a condition occurring among children. During one year, of the 1,321 deaths due to this cause, 470 were those of children under fifteen years of age.

We have secured recently from the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, some information regarding appendicitis, containing statements which are of great public importance. The experience of this institution shows that appendicitis is a common ailment of children of all ages. When the condition is recognized early and is properly treated, the results are most satisfactory. If, however, there is delay in securing proper treatment, and the condition is allowed to progress until the appendix ruptures, the not infrequent result is the death of the child despite all efforts to save him.

The condition calls for a repetition of what we have so often stated—early proper treatment is necessary if the patient is to be given a fair chance for recovery through the benefit of medical science. The physician cannot help those who do not come for his advice. The cause of delay in securing treatment generally is with the parents who are unaware of the dangers that accompany severe abdominal pain. The "pain in the stomach" is thought but little of, and the child is frequently given a dose of castor oil or some other purgative which sets the digestive tract in motion just at the time when nature wishes it to be at rest. When appendicitis occurs there is pain. Older children say it is a cramp-like and usually point it out as being in the region of the umbilicus. Younger children just point to the abdomen when asked where the pain is, and cry as if in pain. Usually there is nausea and vomiting. There is only one sensible thing to be done for the child with abdominal pain, and that is to call the doctor and refrain from giving any household remedies. This may seem a needless amount of fuss and bother and we are not suggesting that every stomach-ache is appendicitis, but we do say that unless abdominal pain is always regarded seriously, cases of appendicitis will be neglected and children will continue to be sacrificed to procrastination.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

NOVA SCOTIA HAS MARKED SUCCESS

Burton C. Pinigan, a native of Long Island, Digby County, through perseverance, has won success and is now the head of the Shore Line Lobster Co., of Lynn, Mass.

His wide experience in fishing particularly in the lobster field and in the scientific method of eeping them alive for marketing has been a wonderful asset to his business, one of the most extensive of that section of New England.

His slogan "Pick 'Em Out Alive" has made lobster a by-word among his patrons of his restaurant, which has met with a tremendous success. Mrs. Vida M. Crowell, of Lockeport, is hostess.

state the world is in, if this is what we have, and what we are going to have, and what we have to face—what then? Why then we take a pioneering hitch to the trousers, we gird the loins, we roll up the sleeves, we look to the right and to the left and pitch in where we can. We take a small chance if we are small, or a big chance if we are big. We act and stop fussing. We might find—we just might find as we look back in later years—that this "depression" was merely the place we left behind when we fared forth on an adventurous road which led to success.

NEW ORGAN WINS FAVORABLE COMMENT

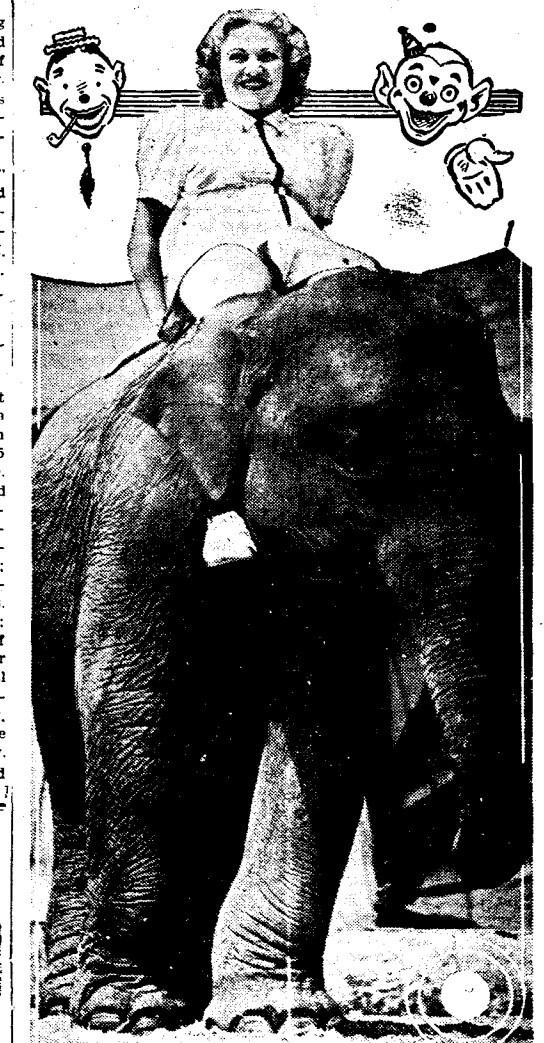

During the annual meeting of the Maritime Conference of the United Church of Canada which began at Sackville, N. B., Tuesday, May 31, and concluded on Sunday, almost universal comment was made by the six hundred delegates on the new North-east-Hammond Electronic Organ in the Charles Fawcett Memorial Hall. The organ installed during the year, was played on various occasions during the annual meeting by Professor Harold S. Hamer, F. R. C. O., Head of the Mount Allison Conservatory of Music. Prof. Hamer attended the Hammond Organ Studios in New York City in January and since then has played in several places in the Maritimes where Electronic Organ have been installed. Special arrangements were made to have Prof. Hamer at Sackville during the annual meeting of the Conference to play during the religious services, and a vote of thanks was tendered to him by the Conference.

The newly installed organ is part of the facilities of the Mt. Allison Conservatory of Music and provides an opportunity for organ students to gain experience in the playing of this instrument.

WOMEN NOW EXCELL IN ELEPHANT TRAINING

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

Miss Josephine Miacco Teaches Elephants to Dance the Carioca and Continental

Of all beasts, the elephant is probably the most sagacious. He never forgets. No one ever thought of anyone training the big fellows except men, until a few years ago. But woman is coming into her own. Lady police women, lady politicians. But the latest are lady elephants' trainers. They are rapidly forging to the front in this line avers Miss Josephine Miacco, famous trainer with the Great Robbins Bros. Circus coming to Digby, Thursday, June 23, for performances at 2 and 8 p. m. "Our circus carries 20 elephants and most of them are trained in all sorts of difficult elephant performances," declared Miss Miacco recently. "A task requiring patience and perseverance, and a close continuous study of the nature of each individual animal. After a lapse of half a century the elephant will conduct this performance as perfectly as if but 24 hours had gone by. "There are two distinct species of elephants, The Asiatic differs from the African not only in its greater size and in the characteristics of the teeth and skull, but also in the comparative small form of the ears. The intelligence of the former class is greater, too, than that of the African brute." Miss Miacco's chief claim to fame as an elephant trainer lies in her telepathic ability of the head she works with surprising and they dance the Carioca and the Continental. "Teach our old friend the elephant, is surely going places,

QUADRUPLETS CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

The famed Keys quadruplets, who visited the Dionne Quintuplets two years ago, recently celebrated their twenty-third birthday at their home in Hollis, Okla. The four sisters are attending Baylor University, and consented to pose for the photographer in celebration of their birthday.

In the many years that I have lived in this City of The Angels I have seen many newboys grow old and grey in their occupation. We often hear of newboys growing up to be bankers and captains of industry, but in this city we have at least a dozen on as many down town corners who are still content to stick with their old business; two or three of them are so old that they use a chair or camp stool during business hours but the rest of them are still able to keep on their feet. These old men never have and probably never will be on the county relief rolls and that is something in these days. And they always say "thank you" when you buy a paper from them, which is also something—something that you do not always get from clerks in the department stores and never at all in the "five and ten" places.

Here is an item that takes my memory back to the old days of The Weymouth Times (look up the date for yourself), when farmers and others paid their subscriptions in fresh pork, butter, eggs and smoked ham, or maybe a basket of lobsters, which the editor in turn, bartered for a board bill or a new-boiled shirt and a pair of socks. Up north in Trinity County, California, which is in the old placer mining country, and a long, long way from the big city of San Francisco, the publisher of the only newspaper in the county was surprised when he received through the mail from one of his subscribers, three gold nuggets to pay for past due and advance subscription. Up in that part of the state old timers still do a little placer mining where they have streams running through their farms and take out enough gold in the late spring and early summer to pay their expenses for the current year, also raise enough fruit, vegetables and poultry for their needs, and then sit in the shade of the old apple tree and let the world go by. Fine hospitable people they are and how they do enjoy talking to the stray traveler who comes through one of those old villages off the regular highway. This old part time miner and farmer evidently believes that gold nuggets are still legal tender in this country, an opinion not shared by the friend, president in Washington who believes in taking all the gold 'the country and burying it in a hole in the ground down in Kentucky.

Monday, May 20th.—This day used to be called Decoration Day, but it is now called Memorial Day. It is the day set apart for the honoring of the heroic older dead of the nation. Scores of observances will be conducted in parks, cemeteries and meeting halls all over the country. The cemeteries in Los Angeles this morning look beautiful, particularly the Forest Lawn Cemetery, which seems to have been covered with a blanket of gorgeous flowers. Today marks the seventy-first memorial day for the old soldiers of the Civil War. Only a handful are now among the living. Out of the several thousand Civil War veterans who have been quartered at the Soldiers' Home at West Los Angeles in the last twenty-five years, only four are living today—old men over 90 years of age. Veterans of later wars have come and gone until there are more than 16,000 graves in the cemetery adjoining the Soldiers' Home. Each grave today is decorated with a tiny American flag, 3,000 or more of them later day veterans now housed at the Home marched to the cemetery to engage in the exercises, which ended with a salute to the dead by the National Military Home firing squad, the sounding of taps, and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner".

Weather today, perfect! Summer is here at last! Cherries are ripe and the apple orchards are in full bloom. Well, that's all. That's all—there isn't any more.

MARRIAGES

Bent—Washington
Eric Garfield, son of B. Vernon Bent, and Rita Alice, daughter of John W. Washington, of Halifax, were married in St. Agnes' in Halifax, on Tuesday. The bride wore a white lacquered satin dress with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white madonna lilies. Her bridesmaid was Alma Henry, and the groom was supported by F. L.
Smith, of Halifax. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony, at the home of the bride. The groom—a former Digby boy—is city sales manager of the Halifax branch of the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

Outhouse—Challoner
A quiet but pretty wedding took place at Tiverton, at the home of the groom's mother, on Thursday afternoon of last week, when Ada Mildred, only daughter of Norman Challoner, of Digby, was united in marriage to Basil Revere, son of Mrs. Joseph Ossinger, of Tiverton. Rev. J. G. Wakeling, pastor of the Baptist church, performing the ceremony. The bride was dressed in a monnet blue suit with matching accessories. Little Gloria Garrison, niece of the groom, was flower girl, wearing a white organdie dress and carrying a pretty basket of mixed flowers.
Immediately after the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The happy couple will reside in Tiverton.

Melanson—Doucett
A pretty wedding was solemnized
at the Roman Catholic Church, St. Bernard's, on Tuesday morning, Rev. Father LeBlanc officiating, when Rosalie Doucett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fidele Doucett, of New Edinburgh, became the bride of Augustus (Gus) Melanson, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Melanson, of Plympton.
The bride was gownned in white satin with conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of American daisies. Miss Evangeline Doucett, of New York, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and was gownned in pink and white satin, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Harley Amoro, of Gilbert's Cove, acted as groomsmen. A wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately after the ceremony. The bridal party then motored to Yarmouth, and on their return, a chicken supper was held at the home of the groom's parents, followed by a dance at the Barton hall, which was largely attended.

Mrs. H. Wendle Howse, of Saint John, (formerly Gerry Fitzgerald, of Weymouth North) entertained on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Gladys Trask, of Little River, N. S. The guests were all former Nova Scotians including Mrs. F. E. Daniels (formerly of Lawrencetown), Mrs. G.
Douglas Denton, of Little River; Mrs. A. W. McIntosh (formerly Helen Frost, of Little River); Mrs. George Cheyne (formerly Ruth Cheney, of Little River); Mrs. T. Barzillon (formerly Muriel Morehouse, of Centreville).

Garnet Taylor has taken a position with the Metropolitan Life mouth. He has been a sousaphone player in the Civic Band and his place there has been taken by

MONDAY'S BOXING BOUTS

After seven years rest boxing came to life with a bang, at the Community Hall, on Monday night. The three hundred spectators present received an exhibition far beyond their expectation, and are clamouring for more. By popular request the Ravens Baseball Team are presented another card within two weeks' time, featuring Henry Clements, Bill Brown, Bill Ryan, Frank Willoughby, John Smith,
Thurston Banks and others.
Watch for the posters.

The Junior Bout, were won by Leighton Savary and 'Frenchy' Comeau.

The grudge fight, one of the main fights of the evening, was won on a close decision by "Bob" Cowan.
Guy Morehouse upset all predictions by knocking out the famous Kentville Basher, Guy's right to the jaw in the middle of the third round brought the Basher down for the count of ten.

The best fight of the evening, between "Bud" Winchester and Thurston Banks, kept the crowd in a roar for five rounds, the judges awarding the decision to Banks, on a very close margin.
The main bout lasted only two rounds, Henry Clements displaying such an advantage over Jene Wamboldt that the towel was wisely thrown in at the beginning of the third round. The crowd saw enough of Clements' ability as a boxer to be anxious to see him against a real match. Three men, all good fighters, have already been found for him. One of these will be picked for the next event.

THE ANNUAL SCHOOL MEET- ING

The annual School Meeting is an event that concerns everyone;
for Education is a matter too important to be left to a few who wish to follow the same routine from year to year. Older people and those without children generally aim to keep taxes down. A saner view would be to strive to secure full returns for the taxes we pay. When we realize what the school could provide in better health, more co-operative attitudes, and better habits of living, we'll be ready to pay for such services.

No longer is the school a place to prepare a few to pass examinations. It is a place where every child acquires interests and forms habits and learns to do the desirable things he'll learn to do anyway. Not all children need to know the same things, for they'll not all do the same kind of work.
They'll all be citizens. Soon they'll have votes at School Meetings. Unless we give them higher standards than those generally existing, they'll be content to support the unsatisfactory type of school that so generally exists today. To improve the present type requires more intelligent interest, not only in the Annual Meeting, but throughout the year.
Home and School Associations are taking that interest.

All adults should have access to the School Law. A copy is always kept in the School Library.
Throughout the year various questions in School Law may arise. In such cases, consult the School Law (the most recent copy is the March 1936 Journal of Education) and read the law
first-hand.

From certain paragraphs of the School Law you will learn that only ratepayers (whether men or women) and wives of ratepayers have a vote on any question involving money. In the election of trustees, poll tax payers also may vote. The only distinction between the rights of men and women is that a man must pay a poll tax. A woman (if not a rate-payer or the wife of a ratepayer) may pay the poll tax if she wishes to vote for a trustee. Note that at least two of the trustees must be ratepayers. (A wife of a rate-payer is considered a ratepayer).
One trustee, however, may be a poll tax payer. In any case, men and women have equal rights to the office of trustee. No one has a vote unless his taxes are paid.
The chairman does not vote, except in the case of a tie.

The Annual School Meeting
should not be a place to air one's grievances in a disagreeable manner. It should be a place, however, for free, frank, good-natured discussion.

(The above is taken from the December, 1937 Home and School Quarterly).

He Was Afraid to Cross a Street

Lost His Nerve After 12 Months' Agony

Suffering from acute rheumatism in both his knee joints—treated in hospital twice without result—so unnerved that he was afraid to cross a street—how readily every rheumatic sufferer will sympathize with this man. Read what he says:

"For 12 months, I suffered pain and misery with acute rheumatism in both my knees. Twice, I was treated in hospital—but it was no use. I could not walk up or down stairs. I was afraid to cross the street, for I had lost all confidence in myself. Fourteen days ago, I started taking Kruschen Salts, and already I am a new man. I can walk with a smart step go up and downstairs with ease, and cross the street with complete confidence. My rheumatism is getting better every day."—D.L.

In a good many cases, rheumatism cannot resist the action of Kruschen Salts, which dissolve the painful crystals of uric acid—often the cause of those aches and pains—and assist the kidneys to eliminate this poison through the natural channels.

TENNIS CLUB REMODELS ITS CLUB HOUSE

While the courts of the Bear River Tennis Club have been in use for play for several weeks, because of extensive repairs and enlargement of the club house, the first tea of the season was not held until Thursday afternoon, when the tea committee—Mrs. L. J. Lovett, Mrs. A. B. Campbell and Mrs. Walter Romans—were hostesses for the afternoon, assisted in serving by the secretary-treasurer, Lenfest Harris.

The ten-foot extension to the house has added much to its appearance and convenience, providing a roomy closet for court equipment, a locker for members' property, as well as a much larger space for general use.

At the annual meeting L. V. Harris was re-elected president, and R. B. Murray, manager of the Royal Bank, vice-president; Lenfest Harris replaces V. L. Dittmars as secretary-treasurer.

The club is in a very flourishing condition and a number of new members have been added to the "playing membership".

Ramblings of a Rolling Stone

Memory has some features which seem to me to be peculiarly her own. How often it happens that a chance remark will call to mind a host of things which had apparently been forgotten.

A letter which came to me a few weeks ago from Mrs. Alice Harris (formerly Alice Journeay), included among other things, several verses which dealt with the days when we worked together in the Free Press office, (Weymouth). In reading her verses I saw again the frowning countenance of the editor when he had caught some or all of us holding a "gab fest" at a time when we should have been busy setting up "Local and General," "Pour Rire" or the copy for any one of the dozen different "departments" into which the columns of the Free Press and "make-up" as unchangeable as the laws of the Medes and Persians are said to have been.

In reading the things Mrs. Harris wrote about, I remembered a number of fierce countenances which looked in upon us at different times and for divers reasons during those somewhat hectic years. The first fiercely scowling face that impressed me was that of George LeBlanc (usually spoken of as "Georgie White") who invaded the all but sacred precincts of the composing room, dripping paste and profanity at every step. George had been busily engaged in painting the rear of the building and the editor had emptied the stale contents of the paste pot on his unprotected head. The roar which heralded his entrance gradually subsided however, and his growling exit was proof that "a soft answer turneth away wrath."

It was in the summer when "Georgie" made his unexpected and unheeded appearance on our little stage, but the next one was more in the nature of a whirlwind, long expected, but catching us totally unprepared.

The short winter day was drawing to a close when there stalked into our midst a tall overcoated figure who, with a flourish of the cane he carried, announced "I am up-stairs and lick Inndy!" Naturally all work ceased in the composing room; nerves tightened and all ears were strained to catch as much as possible of the thrilling drama we might not see. The sound of ascending feet was followed by a few explosive remarks and these in turn by a series of thumps, bangs, grunts and labored breathing. The stairs creaked again, the front door slammed shut and then—silence. About an hour later the editor came into the composing room looking like the personification of rancor—but the nether portion of the black, split-tail coat which served him so faithfully throughout all the years I knew him, was covered with that fine, white ash, which clings to everything in the neighborhood of a base burner—particularly the floor.

Every once in a while I come in contact with some things which are in such sharp contrast the one with the other that they force themselves upon the consciousness of one as dull and unimaginative as myself. A few days ago I was walking across town—that is, my way led across rather than along the main thoroughfares of the city, and on one of the streets I saw a huge truck surrounded by a crowd of old men, of women and children. There were two men giving small parcels into the upraised hands of those who pressed so closely around; some who had received their meager portions were leaving, others were arriving; but among them all I did not see one smiling face. There was no laughter, little talking; just the uneasy "shuffle," "shuffle" of feet as others move closer to take the places of those who had received their allotment.

In the same block on the next street a banquet was taking place. For several blocks both sides of the street were crowded with shiny new cars parked as closely as possible. Here there erg smiles and laughter. Greetings were being called to new arrivals and the whole scene was one where good-fellowship and self-satisfaction seemed to be the keynote. I wondered as I compared the two gatherings just what it all meant. Just what road we were travelling. It presented a prob-

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

CAMERA IN THE CAR

When driving, keep your camera on the seat beside you, loaded and ready. You never know when a picture chance (such as this) will pop up.

DO YOU keep your camera in your automobile when you're driving—all loaded on the seat beside you, lens and shutter set, ready to shoot at a moment's notice?

Try it sometime, and you'll be surprised how it helps you spot picture opportunities.

Hundreds of pictures can be shot without leaving the car. This is especially true in warm weather, when car windows are down, and the top, in some cases, is folded back.

If you are not doing the driving, your hands are free and there are many more picture opportunities for you—as well as a better snapshot position. The car halts at a street intersection, and there may be a popcorn peddler on the corner, a window washer at the office window above, people busily hurrying to and from work. A small boy is struggling with a big bundle; an old lady passes by with her head wrapped in a shawl—chance for a well "character" shot. Indeed, all these can be good pictures—natural, "off-guard," full of life.

Never take a drive in the country without your camera. You see more, enjoy yourself more, notice more interesting things if the camera is along. Try making a connected picture story of a Sunday afternoon drive—and you'll be surprised how entertaining it can be. And here's an idea: picture landscapes and interesting stretches of road through the windshield of your car, from the back seat, using the outline of the windshield as a "frame" for the scene. Such pictures show not only what you saw, but how you saw it—hence, they are twice as effective. Needless to say, the windshield glass must be clear.

em which I will not attempt to solve; but it is one for which a solution must very shortly be found.

That some, at least, of this year's high school graduates have an inkling of the opportunities which are awaiting them is evidenced by the fact that one class in this state rallied around a banner bearing the legend:—"W. P. A. Here We Come!"

A very cordial note came my way a short while ago from Eva H. Nichols. Accompanying it was a memory jogging little poem which dealt in a very impressive manner with one phase of country life as we know it in the days that are past and gone. Perhaps, though, it might apply to some sections of this and other lands, even at this late day.

Suffering from a mild form of amnesia for 22 years, Delaney does not remember much about the money except that it was left him by his father, who was a Nova Scotian, and deposited in a bank in Prince Albert, Sask., "about 1915 or '16". Relief officials are investigating the claim.

CLASS IN PROPHECY

Written by Helen Franklin; Read by Wendell Jeffrey

The time has come for you to see What each of the graduates will be;

So if you will listen to me I will read the prophecy.

An English teacher in McGill, For Geraldine is clever still; Jolly pal, as friendly as ever We'll remember her forever. She is still our old school mate—Our High School leader of '38.

Now in the field of chemistry, Experimenting so brilliantly, Mr. Morehouse is first in the race. As a great chemist he takes his place. Now he's perfecting television, With "Morehouse" skill and natural precision.

In a fashion show I see As it parades in front of me, A popular model displaying clothes: It's Jean Corkum as everyone knows; Miss Jean has got personality plus, And gets around without any fuss.

Thoughts of Ruby come to me As a basket ball I see; Distinguished in the field of sports—

Golfing, swimming and on tennis courts. In athletics our Rube's a star—Along this line she'll progress far.

In a cottage kitchen so clean and neat, I hear the patter of little feet; I see a vision of cookies and pies That'll make you roll your eyes; And here Louise is reigning supreme.

Serene and happy with love it would seem.

I see now a familiar face. As Wendell Jeffrey takes his place, Small in stature, mighty in will, With wit and humour and smiles to kill:

That's our Wendell, who's now a poet, One of the best and we all know it.

Who has chosen the political life? Settling disputes and economic strife?

Why, it's Mr. Snow taking the chair, Or walking the floor, and rump—ling his hair:

Yes, Paul is the prime minister now, And Nova Scotia will be governed somehow.

Among the landscapes, oils and brushes, Marjory Holdsworth paints and blushes:

As a side line she likes tap-dancing, Skating, perhaps, and a little romancing.

Artistic is she, and drives a car, too, She's never at a loss for something to do.

A hockey game and a rink of ice, Is what Mickey thinks is nice; She has no use for a rich young mayor, She's out to marry a hockey player;

And since this is the case, you see

Close by his side she has to be.

If you hear a soft, crooning voice, It must be Marge; there's no other choice;

For Miss Snow's on the radio, And soon to the movies we'll see you go;

Sing she can, but she's an actress beside, May success in Hollywood with her abide.

A matron with a stern and surly face, Keeps hospital patients in their place; This is Helen at middle age Hoarding away her modest wage; For one of these days she expects to retire And travel and travel to her heart's desire.

Each has attained his goal you see, Reached it at last successfully; But memories of the High School always will be As dear to them as they are to me.

IT TAKES A SPECIALIST!

THE administration of estates is a specialized business. Just as one calls a doctor, a dentist or a lawyer—when in need of one—a Trust Company should be retained in the administration of an estate.

The Trust Company is not only skilled in all the varied phases of estate management, but is permanent, financially responsible, and possessed of all the facilities with which to do the work well. Few private executors are fully capable, and many of them would inadvertently cost an estate large sums through errors in judgment, delays and losses.

The Eastern Trust Company has administered a great many estates, both large and small. Such experience should prove of great value to your beneficiaries. We welcome consultation.

"MY mother makes the best bread ever, but she says she couldn't make it nearly so good if she didn't use REGAL Flour. No matter how hungry I get between meals, a good thick slice of mother's bread, with jam or peanut butter on it, always makes me feel good as ever. I'm sure glad she bakes with REGAL Flour.
