TIME MARCHES ON

Twenty-Five Years Ago

(From Courier files of June 30, 1916.)

Digby "goes into the game" and installs a sporting nine-hole golf course, that "leaves nothing to be desired."

The Provincial Examinations began Monday and ended today. Inspector Foster has charge as Deputy and he is assisted by B. Hovey, of this town. The attendance is much lower than usual, only 52 candidates in all, one in Grade XII, eleven in Grade XI, twenty in Grade IX, and twenty in Grade V.

The Digby Neck Mail Co. has purchased a new auto for their passenger, mail and parcel service between Digby and Westport. The new car is now on the route between Digby and East Ferry, making round trips daily. It is a McLaughlin. The canopy top and seats were manufactured by F. M. Grant in his carriage works at Barton. It accommodates 12 passengers as well as the usual amount of mails. It made its first run from Barton to Digby Saturday noon in less than half an hour. Among those on the trial trip was a Council representative, the guest of Guy Morehouse, the popular driver of the car. The whole outfit is modern in every respect, self starter, electric lights, etc.

Marriages Lottie Crabe, Brighton, to Police Officer Guy C. Mason, Halifax; Etta Chute, Bear River, to Stephen Prime, Weymouth.

Ancient Prophecy Tells Fate Of Nations

(Reprinted by Request)

Although it is the generally accepted belief that one cannot peer into the future and successfully predict what will happen years hence, we here-with publish a copy of a Latin prophecy made in 1600 which is remarkable in its relation to the present war.

The copy was printed years ago and was given to Fred B. True, of Flint, Mich., jeweller, by his brother, before the latter's death. In reading the prophecy, supposedly written by a monk, Brother Johannes, it should be kept in mind that France is represented by a cock, England by a leopard, Russia by a white eagle, Italy, perhaps, by the "other eagle," while the lamb stands for justice, "mercy and truth. It would be assumed in this instance that the Antichrist is Adolph Hitler.

Says this prophecy: "Toward the year 2,000 the Antichrist will manifest himself. His army will surpass in numbers all that can be imagined. There will be Christians among his legions and there will be Mohammedans and savage soldiers among the defenders of the lamb.

"For the first time the lamb will be all red. There will not be a single spot in the Christian world that will not be red, and red will be the heavens, the earth and waters and even the air, for blood will flow in the domain of the four elements at once.

"The black eagle will throw himself on the cock, who will lose many feathers but who will strike back heroically with his spurs. He soon would be crushed were it not for the help of the leopard and his claws.

"The black eagle will come from the country of Luther, will surprise the cock from another side and will invade the country of the cock up to the middle of it.

"The white eagle, coming from the north, will surprise the black eagle and the 'other eagle' and will invade the country of the Antichrist from one end to another. The black eagle will see himself forced to fight the white eagle, and the cock will pursue the black eagle into the country of the Antichrist to help the white eagle.

"The battles fought up to then will be as nothing compared to those which will take place in the country of Luther. For the seven angels will together pour in the fire of their censers on the impious earth, which signifies that the lamb will order the extermination of the Antichrist.

"When the black eagle sees that he is lost, he will become furious and for many months the beak of the white eagle, the claws of the leopard and the spurs of the cock will furiously strike at him.

"The bodies of dead men will in places change the course of the rivers. They will bury the men of noble families, the leading commandants, and the princes only, to the carnage made by the armies, will be joined the wholesale death of those who will die of hunger or the pest.

"The Antichrist will ask many times for peace, but the seven angels who walk in front of the three animals defending the lamb have declared that victory will only be granted on the condition that the Antichrist be crushed like straw on the barn floor.

"The executors of the justice of the lamb cannot stop fighting as long as the Antichrist possesses soldiers to fight against them.

"That which makes the decree of the lamb so implacable is that the Antichrist has pretended to be a follower of Christ and to act in His name, and if he does not perish the fruit of the Redeemer would be lost and the doors of hades would prevail against the Saviour.

"The fight will take place where the Antichrist forges his arms and will not be in any way a humane fight. The three animals defending the lamb exterminate the last army of the Antichrist but they will be forced to erect on the battlefield a pyre as large as a city for the bodies of the dead will change the aspect of the countryside as there will be mounds of the slain.

"The Antichrist will lose his crown and will die in solitude and madness. His empire will be divided into 22 states, but none of them will any longer possess fortresses, armies or vessels.

"The white eagle, by the order of St. Michael, will drive the crescent from Europe and will install himself in Constantinople. Then will begin an era of peace and prosperity for the earth and there will be no more wars, each nation being governed according to its rulers of justice.

"There will no longer be Lutherans or Schismatics. The lamb will reign and the supreme happiness of humanity will begin. Happy will be those who, escaping the perils of the period, will be able to enjoy the fruit of the reign of the spirit and of the purging of humanity, which can only come after the defeat of the Antichrist."

FORMER ALLIES LOCK IN FIGHT IN SYRIA

BRITAIN, "FREE FRENCH" TRY TO BLOCK NAZI OCCUPATION OF COUNTRY

FORCES which just a year ago were allies in the war against Nazi Germany are pitted against one another in the region of the Eastern Mediterranean in what military experts call one of the most crucial phases of the European war.

Armies of Great Britain and the "free French"—soldiers who refused to surrender to the Germans a year ago and have organized under the leadership of Gen. Charles de Gaulle to continue the war—are pitted against French colonial troops in the battle for Syria.

The attack on the French mandated country was begun to prevent occupation by the Germans.

The battle for Syria is important because Syria is the key to control of the Eastern Mediterranean. Syria lies along the extreme eastern shores of that sea, close beside Turkey to the north and not far from Egypt and the Suez Canal to the south.

Obviously, were the Germans to occupy Syria they would have encircled Turkey, the non-belligerent ally of Britain, and be within easy striking distance of Egypt and North Africa and Suez. Domination of this end of the Mediterranean would sever British lifelines to important colonies and would make it extremely difficult for Britain to send aid to its armies defending Egypt and Suez against axis attacks.

Britain and the "free French" acted in the face of reports that German military and aerial units were filtering into Syria, apparently bent on paving the way for German military occupation of the territory.

The French committee to a policy of collaboration with Berlin, denied Nazi occupation of any part of Syria, while high officials in Berlin asserted that the British were guilty of "unprovoked aggression."

The Vichy government of France declared that it would fight to the finish "to resist aggression."

England, still insisting that the Nazis had already taken the first steps toward occupation of Syria, proclaimed its intention to block what its military leaders regarded as a Nazi attempt to cut off the British Isles from Africa and the East, as they have been cut off from Europe by other German conquests.

DESERTED SHIP REACHES DOCK UNDER OWN POWER

Without a crew on board, a ship was found by villagers near London. The craft's motor was still running, and it was berthed safely in a deep water inlet within a short distance of dangerous rocks.

Behind the finding was the amazing story of the ship's homeward journey after it had been abandoned by the crew when fire was discovered. The men had not even waited to take their personal belongings.

With the engines running slowly, the vessel continued on its course until the fire burned itself out. More than 60 miles were covered without the crew.

Europe Awaiting New Crop Yields

No serious distress is threatening the countries of Europe until the crops are harvested in the autumn, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, which suggested that most of Europe will hold out with the hell of rationing.

The same report, however, indicated that there are shortages of some essential foods in some of the occupied countries. Undernourishment has also been acute in some regions.

The report on Europe conditions pointed out that Germany is in the best condition of all the countries, insofar as grain is concerned. The Nazis appear to be better off for food than were the Germans in the World War. Agricultural production has not been seriously curtailed by the war, but there is bound to be some decline due to shortages in labor, draft power, and fertilizers.

Reserves have been drawn from all countries, to meet the restricted food consumption, and further decreases might be necessitated before the new crops are available. Attempts to expand agricultural productivity are becoming increasingly hard. Grain crops on the continent might be somewhat larger than last year, but the root crops will be smaller. Live stock products are also considerably reduced. All in all, the available aggregate food supply for Europe will be no greater than last year.

Britain Awake to War Crisis

Twenty-Five Years In Priesthood Observed

LOSS of important ground taken in Africa during the winter and growing indications that Germany and Italy may win the campaign in Greece have steered Great Britain for the crucial months that lie immediately ahead and which may prove the turning point in the war.

"The present is dark, and the immediate future is not bright," said the Herald, a London newspaper.

The British maintain that the war is not necessarily lost because axis forces have reversed allied victories in Africa and that hope is not to be abandoned even with complete axis victory a prospect in the Balkans.

But the realization is being driven home that, with the axis dominating almost the whole of Europe, the ultimate decision of the conflict probably will be reached on the soil of the British Isles.

For a long time the British have steered themselves to meet the thrust of an attempted German invasion. Home defences today are being made even more alert.

Britain is growing stronger daily. Its air power is increasing. The British navy still dominates the Atlantic and the Mediterranean. British positions in Africa are strong, and even though Italian Libya has been retaken by the axis the English still hold other vast portions of that continent. Turkey, the ally of Britain that guards the vital Dardanelles, still is loyal while rebuffing axis overtures.

In these factors Britain has high hope.

But Britain also faces serious problems at this time. British manpower is being used to the limit in the expanded theaters of war—in Africa, in the Balkans, and at home.

German submarines and air raiders continue to take a heavy toll of British shipping on the North Atlantic.

Britain has not yet been able to match German power in the air. Nor has Britain yet found a way to stop the terrible axis night air raids on its cities.

Britain, also, needs more of all sorts of war supplies.

The task for Britain is to hold its lines through the summer, for the program of help from the United States will be in full swing by next autumn and winter. Upon the United States the forces of Britain are relying for airplanes, tanks, guns, ammunition, ships, and food. Armed with a full flow of these vital weapons and materials, Britain feels that it can defeat Adolf Hitler in the final test of strength in the war.

"We shall not fall or falter; we shall not weaken or tire," said British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a radio broadcast to the United States. Neither the sudden shock of battle nor the long drawn trials of vigilance and exertion will wear us down. Give us the tools, and we will finish the job."

Despite reverses far from home, that still is the war slogan of all the British forces of war.

The British view that setbacks in Africa and the Balkans do not mean the end of the struggle is seconded by Hitler himself.

Once the German dictator promised to win the war this year. The other day he appealed to the German people to make contribution to German Red Cross and declared a year of tremendous battle confronts the nation.

He can see, not weeks, but at least a year more of the conflict. Yugoslavia has been whipped, Greece has fallen, but it's ENGLAND—the British Isles—which he must destroy to win the war.

Germany also needs food and war material, and it has no such powerful ally as the United States to come to her aid. The British blockade on all of Europe—the most important contribution of the Royal Navy to all of the wars of England—still is keeping its grim hold. Not much is being said about it, but that blockade is a terrible weapon operating on the side of Britain.

It can starve Germany into submission, as it did in the World War; it can impose such suffering upon the German people of Nazi-occupied nations that they will rise up in fierce revolt against their tyrannical masters.

The blockade is a weapon slow in operation, military history shows, but if it can be kept intact the day will come when it will turn the tide of battle decisively for the nation that maintains it.

Confident that the British navy will remain supreme on the oceans, relying upon the flow of materials from the United States to make up any deficiencies and ultimately to give them superiority over the enemy, the British feel the Nazis are doomed to lose the war.

Hitler has not yet attempted to invade the British Isles because he "dare" not, London military experts believe. That would be no blitzkrieg on land. An invasion would mean smashing through the royal navy and the growing royal air force and then forcing a landing and storming islands which today are bristling fortresses, the home of at least 4,000,000 soldiers and a people itching for revenge on the foe which has subjected them to terrorism from the skies for almost a year.

Hitler could win the war by taking England by storm, but by the same token he would lose the war should he attack and fail, experts in London have asserted. That is why Britain feels that an invasion attempt would be the crucial point of the war, no matter what has gone before in Europe.

Sobered by the turn of events in Africa and the Balkans, shaken out of any thought of a quick victory, the British today quote often from the historic speech of Churchill when he became prime minister.

"We shall go on to the end," he said. "We shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing strength in the air, we shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be; we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender and even if—which I do not for a moment believe—this island or a large part of it were subjugated and starving, then our empire beyond the seas, armed and guarded by the British fleet, would carry on the struggle, until, in God's good time, the New World, with all its power and might steps forth to the liberation and rescue of the Old."

A Spaniard, an American and a Scotchman were discussing what they would do if they awoke one morning to discover that they were millionaires.

The Spaniard said he would build a bull ring.

The American said he would go travelling all around the country and have a good time.

The Scotchman said he would go to sleep again to see if he could make another million.

FALL OF FRANCE RE-UNITES MAN AND TWO SONS AFTER 15 YEARS

For more than 15 years a thin, wiry former doughboy sent to France after letter to the French war bride, who had divorced him in 1925 and sailed back to her homeland with their two baby boys. In all that time he received no answer. When war broke out in France, the former doughboy, Edwin Earl Dunn, of Tulsa, Okla., frantically tried to trace his sons, but still without success.

The boys, dark-haired and dark-eyed Marvin, and blue-eyed Eustice, were born when the little shoe repairer and his French wife lived in Memphis. Their home life had been happy until Mrs. Dunn's father died. Her mother wrote her to return to France, and Mrs. Dunn was very homesick.

She sailed for France with the young boys, after divorcing Dunn. The shoe repairer, broken-hearted at the sad turn of his war romance, went to Tulsa, and there tried to re-establish contact with his family.

Then one day, the home service secretary of the Tulsa chapter, American Red Cross, called up Dunn and announced that she had received telegrams stating that Marvin Dunn, 19, and Eustice Dunn, 16, had landed from the B. S. Excalibur, at Hoboken, N. J., and were trying to locate their father.

Unable to talk, because of his tears, Dunn waited three days. Then there was a joyous reunion in his modest little home. Marvin and Eustice told him their mother had lost trace of Dunn's whereabouts and that she had married "some time to a Frenchman."

While Dunn acted as interpreter for them, the two boys declared their intention to enlist in the armed forces of the United States as soon as they learned enough English to understand commands. Marvin prefers the army, Eustice the navy.

Freeport-Central

Grove Schools to Amalgamate

At a school meeting held at Central Grove, Long Island, this week, it was unanimously decided to consolidate the school in that village with the larger unit at Freeport. This action was taken as the result of a suggestion made recently by Inspector T. A. M. Kirk. Rupert E. Cann was named as driver of the school bus, who will transport approximately thirty pupils to and from Freeport each day.

It is understood several other schools in the county will take the same step shortly. A resolution urging a number of the rural sections to amalgamate was passed at a recent meeting of the Digby Municipality Board of School Commissioners. One reason for this step is the acute shortage of teachers, and on the other hand, it is felt by all concerned that better educational advantages can be afforded rural pupils by uniting with the larger units.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Eunice Fader

The sudden death of Mrs. Eunice Fader, Sunday morning June 22, at the home of her sister, Agnes E. Lisk, Bear River, was a shock to her many friends and relatives locally, and in the United States, as she had not been previously ill. The late Mrs. Fader was born at Mill Village, N. S., on July 10, 1851, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Fader, and when nineteen years old, married Captain Fader, also of Nova Scotia, after his decease marrying his brother, Capt. George Fader. Accompanying her husbands, she had travelled all over the world, and was a most interesting conversationalist, having many unusual reminiscences of her travels, including those of a four months residence in Russia. In spite of her extreme old age, she retained all her mental faculties to the end of her life. Before coming to Bear River twelve years ago to reside with her sister, she maintained a beautiful home in Brunswick, Georgia, after being widowed residing for several years with a sister, Mrs. Reed Morehouse, in Cambridge, Mass. The immediate surviving relatives are a sister, Miss Agnes Lisk, Bear River; three nieces, Mrs. Roderick MacLeod, of North Tonawanda, N. Y.; Mrs. H.

Bear River Pupils Won Prizes

In a recent contest, sponsored by the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, prizes were won by two of the pupils of Oakdene School, Bear River, the successful contestants being Lois Parker and Agnes Russell.

The contest consisted of writing a story of not more than one hundred words, describing some accident, in which a knowledge of First Aid had proved of great value.

A first prize of $25.00 and a second of $10.00 in War Savings Certificates and ten prizes each of $1.00 worth of War Savings Stamps were offered.

This contest was Dominion-wide and the fact that two of the 12 prizes were won by Bear River pupils, is an honor to our school and community.

The girls are to be congratulated. The prizes were presented to the young ladies at the school closing on Monday.

Presentation Party

The choir of the United Church was entertained on Friday evening June 27, at the home of Mrs. H. E. Harris.

During the evening a presentation gift of a lovely silver basket filled with flowers, was given to Mrs. R. L. Roach by Mrs. H. E. Harris, on behalf of the choir members. Taken entirely by surprise, Mrs. Roach spoke very feelingly of what the choir had meant to her during the years spent here. Mrs. Roach will be greatly missed. Lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Recruiting Campaign

On Thursday evening last, a Recruiting Campaign was put on in Bear River. The men left their army trucks and motor cycles near the government square, and led by the band, paraded to the grounds of Oakdene School, where various manoeuvres were demonstrated before a large gathering of citizens. Following this, a crowded meeting was held in the Assembly Hall, the speaker being George T. Nowlan, of Wolfville, former Conservative member. Thirteen men signed up for service. The original arrangements made by Dr. L. J. Lovett, chairman of the Digby-Annapolis Recruiting Committee had to be changed on account of rain, but in spite of the weather, the evening was a very successful one.

Parading back to their trucks, the men drove to the exhibition dining room, where members of the Bear River Women's Institute served refreshments; and cigarettes were passed to all who wished to smoke. When "fall in" sounded, the visitors departed with hearty appreciation for the good things served to them, and on Saturday night further words of thanks were received.

The Institute wish to thank those non-members who made donations—Messrs. A. B. Marshall, Ralph Purdy, Derby Jack, Bruce Read, Stewart Darres, Dr. L. J. Lovett and Dr. Campbell—and also each Institute member, who did their part in this work.

About This and That

A former Digby County clergyman, Rev. H. C. Mullen, now of Hartland, N. B., writing in the Quincy, Mass., Patriot-Ledger, has this to say: There is much discussion in regard to the proper alignment of the United States to the present conflict now raging. It seems to me there is little room for argument. The issue involved is clear and well defined. It is a struggle between Christianity and paganism, between democracy and totalitarianism, between freedom and slavery, between decency and wholesale gangsterism. This war concerns vitally the United States as well as Great Britain or any other country which loves human freedom and the arts of peace. The Northern States considered it well worth while to shed blood to free a few black men from slavery, men whose condition was Heaven when compared to the Hell to which the Poles and other conquered nations have been subjected by the German hordes. Now, everyone knows well that Hitler's plans include the subjugation of the United States as well as other countries to carry out his mania for world domination. His job would not be at all complete if the United States were left as a first class nation, and a commercial and military rival to Germany. The boast, and could I not almost say 'brag' of the United States of America has ever been 'Liberty'. If she really prizes that liberty she will have to fight for it. It makes little difference because the United States happens to be located on the western side of the Atlantic. She has her part to play in the world drama, and in no way can she play it better than in the defence of human liberty. Destiny may have called her for that particular purpose. If the mighty United States of America can stand quietly by and watch the strangulation of Liberty; then, there are several other things that for the sake of consistency, she will just have to do, namely: Blow up the Statue of Liberty, finish the crack in the Liberty bell; strike off the word 'Liberty', and the symbol of Liberty from American coins; eliminate the words 'Land of the free and the Home of the Brave' from one of her national songs and forevermore keep silent in press and song and spoken word in respect to the glorious theme of Liberty.

POWER BOARD

Digby, N. S.

To the Editor of the Courier.

My, how time flies, and how quickly a man grows old. A quarter of a century we veterans were like the boys whom we've seen so much of during the last week. We were young, tanned, hardened, and went to a war to keep Canada free and now probably every one of us realize he is too old to do the same thing again and so the torch must be carried, not by us, but by those who appear to us to be little more than boys.

This struck me most forcibly last Sunday, when, at the dedication service on the golf links, a line of veterans, middle aged or even old men, gray headed, some lean, some fat, who fought in a war that now seems a dream, and coming behind, stood opposite to a line of youth; youth that is offering its life for just the same cause for which the old times offered theirs.

I guess it made us all feel a little queer. I know it did me. We're all as eager to play our part as we ever were before, even the part these boys are playing now, and yet we can't, for the years stand between.

Oh well, what's the use of repining. On Monday recruiting took place in Digby, and whether those that enlisted ever get to the place where actual conflict rages, or not, the people of Digby saw heroic youth glorified, when it offered to sacrifice itself once more for the old cause of freedom. I may be mistaken, but it seemed to me the majority of those that enlisted were colored boys from Acadiaville.

Heroes all, we salute you. We old fellows stood around with our mouths watering wishing we could be with them, but knowing quite well it was impossible. Two or three did ask what chance they had, but on being asked their ages, were told "Oh you'll be all right for the next war," and that was all there was to it. Perhaps we'll be made use of some day.

Digby, July 1, 1941.

Miss Marion Roop, sister of the bride was bridesmaid and was lovely in a gown of queen's blue chiffon with matching jacket, blue picture hat, trimmed with navy and navy blue lace mitts. She carried a bouquet of soap-dragon and sweet peas. Capt. Percy B. Kennedy, of Headquarters Staff, Halifax Fortress, was groomsmen. The bride's mother wore a gown of printed chiffon and wore a corsage of roses and sweet peas. The groom's mother wore a gown of black silk crepe and a corsage of pansies and fern. The Bridal March from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's Wedding March were played by Miss Ena Robinson, church organist. Appropriate music was rendered by the choir under the direction of Miss Robinson. During the signing of the register, Robert Taylor, Smith's Cove, sang "O Promise Me". Ushers were Dr. T. L. Rogers and Chester Levy. The church was resplendent in a profusion of early summer blooms, white peonies predominating with white nosegays of syringa marking the guest pews. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Queen Street, attended by over fifty guests, relatives, and close friends. The home was appropriately decorated with early summer flowers; the drawing room in pink and mauve lupin and syringa; the dining room was tastefully decorated in yellow and white with a three tier wedding cake gracing the centre of the table. Lighted yellow tapers were placed at each end of the dining table. Miss Clara Sullivan, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. F. B. Gaskill, poured. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Gordon Burnham, Mrs. Chester Levy, Mrs. Kenneth Beckwith, and Mrs. Sam Mansfield of Maryland, Va. Following the reception Lieut. and Mrs. Kennedy left on a brief motor trip to provincial points. For going away the bride wore a rending dress of luggage tan, beige coat with hat and accessories to match. The bride's gifts to the bridesmaid and organist were compact. The groom's gift to the bride was a three strand necklace of pearls; to the groomsmen, a cigarette lighter, and to the ushers and soloists, billfolds. Prior to her marriage, the bride was a valued member of the staff of the Provincial Department of Publicity and officer of the Princess Louise Industry. The groom is an Fusiliers (MG) A. F.

Twelve Good Resolutions

Take time to live. That is what time is for. Killing time is suicide.

Take time to work. It is the price of success.

Take time to think. It is the source of power.

Take time to play. It is the secret of youth.

Take time to read. It is the fountain of wisdom.

Take time to be friendly. It is the road to happiness.

Take time to dream. It is hitching your wagon to a star.

Take time to love and be loved. It is the privilege of the gods.

Take time to look around. It is to short a day to be selfish.

Take time to laugh. It is the music of the soul.

Take time to play with children. It is the joy of joys.

Take time to be courteous. It is the mark of a lady.

A car driven by Denis Joseph 'omeau, Conway, turned over on its side in a ditch, just beyond the town limits on Warwick Street yesterday afternoon. The car was quite badly damaged, but no one was injured. It is understood that Mr. 'omeau, who was driving out of town, ran his machine too close to the ditch as he net another car. His car was pointing toward Digby when brought to a stop.

British Films Run The Blockade

British films are still finding their way into the cinemas of blockaded Europe. Thanks to co-operation between the authorities and the British film distributors, audiences in Scandinavia continue to enjoy the films of British comedians like George Formby and "Big-hearted" Arthur Askey. Formby, who has just completed a deal for showing his films in the United States, is also a great favourite in Europe, despite his extremely localised Lancashire humour, and it is one of the oddities of the entertainment world that he should export so successfully. The strong demand for his films, however, both now and before the war, leaves no doubt of his popularity in European countries.

Other countries in the war zone to which British pictures are going include Switzerland (via Lisbon), Turkey, Greece, Egypt, Malta and Palestine.

Empire countries are also showing a keener interest in British films especially those with a war interest. "Convoy" the Clive Brook film, which brought to Empire screens the hazard and thrills of the submarine war, has been doing tremendous business, having already netted over £50,000 from overseas markets alone. In Australia it broke all records, with an eighteen-weeks' run at the Majestic Theatre, Melbourne.

The "Outsider", another British success both in the Empire and the United States, was truly an Empire production, for its star was the Australian beauty Mary Maguire. Another girl from "down under" Judy Kelly, has been seen all over the Empire in "Over She Goes", "At the Villa Rose" and "Dead Men's Shoes".

British films now showing in the Empire or on the way there, include "Ships with Wings", made with the co-operation of the British Fleet Air Arm; "Sailors Three", with Tommy Trinder and Claude Hulbert, a light-hearted story of three British bluejackets on board a Nazi battleship; new George Formby films like "Spare a Copper" and "It's Turned Out Nice Again!"; "The Farmer's Wife"; "Spring Meeting"; Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara"; "Neutral Port"; and Arthur Askey's "The Ghost Train" and "Charley's Bighearted Aunt".

India, always a good market for British films, will soon be seeing such films as "Neutral Port", "Gasbags" (a "Crazy Gang" film) and "The Ghost Train", while Canada is also asking for more war films from Britain.

The British film distributors are also breaking fresh ground in some of the Colonies. A new contract for eighteen programmes for Trinidad represents the first direct sale of British films to that Colony for some years past.

In Jamaica, trial programmes are being shown, and upon the success of these depends contracts for two films monthly. It is also hoped to arrange a circuit for several of the West Indian Islands.

Tons of Odd Sweetmeat

A curious Yorkshire sweetmeat, Pontefract "cakes", is growing in popularity overseas. It looks like a black coin for it carries a stamp by which it has been known since the days of George III.

These tiny "cakes" are made from liquorice, a plant brought to the South Yorkshire town in the 16th century. A hundred years later, one George Dunhill made the first Pontefract "cakes" by mixing the extract from boiled liquorice roots with sugar and other ingredients.

Since then the number of these round black sweets sent overseas has reached an astronomical total. The United States and Canada in particular are taking even more of them than they did before the war; a huge consignment weighing five tons has recently been shipped to Canada.

Charles—I say, I can't take this suit like this. There aren't any pockets in it!

Tailor—I know, but I thought from the length of time you've owned me for the last one, that you never had anything to put in them.

Men are needed for Active Service—what about YOU?

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

MAKE THEM "DIFFERENT"

Shots such as this—with an individual, "different" touch—lend life to your album. Try some, as a change from ordinary, routine poses.

EVERYBODY has his preferences—in pictures, in reading matter, in victuals, and other things. Abraham Lincoln summed it up neatly when he said, "You will like this story, if this is the kind of story you like."

However, despite differences of taste, most people agree on one point. They feel that something individual—something a little bit out of the ordinary—is better. It is the "different" treatment—the "individual touch"—that counts.

That's especially true in snapshots. A clever idea—a different pose—a little individuality in the lighting or arrangement—these give you pictures that make people sit up and take notice. And they're more interesting to you, too—they give you more satisfaction.

Consider one concrete case—snapshots of children. You know that most of them are "too much alike." As a rule, they tell no story —the child simply stands or sits and looks at the camera. Yet every child has a personality of its own. He—or she—has personal mannerisms, and personal activities. These are picture material, and will lend that necessary touch of truth and individuality to your pictures.

Trouble? None at all. Shots of Junior curled up on the couch in some absurd pose while he reads the Sunday comics—shots of your little girl lecturing her doll on proper behavior—shots of them both trying to teach the puppy to do tricks—these are just as easy to get as the old, routine shots. Easier, sometimes—because children are natural actors, and take readily to an idea if it seems like play.

And this is just one field. The same rule applies to all other snapshots. Seek the individual touch—the "different" flavor—and you'll build an album that is much more interesting.

Optimistic Note in N. S. Agriculture

Market conditions for farm products in Nova Scotia have changed within the past year very much for the better, and prospects now are for good returns to the farmers for almost all farm products for some time, possibly for the duration of the war. This was the strongly optimistic note struck by Hon. John A. McDonald, minister of agriculture, in his addresses to those attending various livestock field days in the province during the past week.

Completely reversing the situation as it existed in most of 1940, when farm prices were still low while costs of production were rising, the situation now is that there has been a substantial advance in prices of many products, under changing market conditions, with the result, pointed out, Mr. McDonald, that farmers were getting more like what they should be for their products. Price for butter was 40 per cent better than the price at this time last year, eggs were at least 25 per cent higher, in the price to the producer, and hogs were very substantially higher.

Under these conditions, said the minister, there should be every reason for spurring production to the limit. Even the apple growers were assured of better prices this year under the federal government agreement, and provided the growers kept their trees well sprayed and produced quality apples, they should do very well this fall.

Field Days Are Held

Field days held last week included the annual meet of the Hereford breeders, this time at the Mont Vista estate of E. H. Horne, at Enfield; the western Nova Scotia short-horn breeders, gathered at the Chase farm at Canard; the "Valley" Holstein breeders at R. F. Newcombe's farm at Port Williams; and the Central Nova Scotia short-horn men at the farm of Weldon Dickie, Middle Stewarke.

High Record of N. S. Poultry Quality

The public of Nova Scotia has become fairly well acquainted with the advance that has been made in the volume and quality of poultry within the past few years through the operation of various policies carrying educational work through from production to marketing. Last year 80 per cent of the chicken and 56 per cent of the turkey marketed through co-operative pools graded into the top grades.

Now comes a further evidence of the high standing of graded poultry marketed in the province, with figures released from Ottawa showing the results of official inspections of packed dressed poultry for the domestic trade.

As a result of these inspections, made by federal government officials on certain lots of graded poultry destined for market, Nova Scotia was shown to have had 81.2 per cent of the chicken inspected to this province in the milk-fed grades, while 54.1 per cent of the turkey was in Grade A. This compares very favorably with the general Canadian percentage, which was only 62.82 in milk-fed chicken and 34 per cent in Grade A turkey. In the inspection of provinces, Nova Scotia stood second only to P. E. I., the percentage of top graded poultry Ontario was third, Quebec 4th, Saskatchewan 5th, Alberta 6th, and Manitoba 7th in percentage of top grade chicken.

Practical Use of Short Course Instruction

One student at the herdsmen's short course given by the department of agriculture and federal department of labor at the Agricultural College last year was Vance Jackson, of Clarence, in Annapolis County. Among other things he learned the operation of electric shearing equipment, for sheep. This spring he has been doing a big job in shearing among the sheep in his native county, and reports having been able to give this service to most flock owners in his district. The use of electric shearing equipment is growing in the sheep districts.

Junior Club Camps

Annual camps for junior farm club members are in progress this week, some 60 or more boys in camp at the Agricultural College, at Truro, and members of girls' clubs in western Nova Scotia being in camp at the Kiwanis camp at Yarmouth. The camps are under direction of the extension division of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, and the club members are selected for the annual camp on the basis of their year's work and similar methods. Both instruction and recreation are provided at the camps.

College, Guernsey Makes Fine Record

Some years ago the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture bought the purebred Guernsey cow, Princess Patricia 4th, from G. M. Magee, Berwick, N. S. Recent advice from the records office at Ottawa is to the effect that this cow has just completed another exceptionally fine record, producing as a mature cow in the 305 Day Class of R.O.P. 12,080 lbs. of milk, and 29 lbs. of fat. The cow is with the Guernsey herd at the Agricultural College at Truro.

In addition to being an excellent producer, Princess Patricia 4th is also a cow of exceptionally fine dairy type. She comes honestly by both, being sired by a son of the noted Princess Patricia, and in the maternal side is also a grand daughter of that noted old cow, whose production of 767 lbs. of fat in the mature class of the 305 day division made almost 14 years ago, still stands at the top of the Honor Roll of this class among Canadian Guernseys.

Good Progress in Poultry Flock

C. E. Benoit, provincial poultry promoter, reports excellent results obtained by a flock owner in Cumberland County. This producer has 100 barred rock chickens hatched April 1st. He has a good brooder house. The chickens have plenty of room. From the first day to the sixth or seventh week, the chicks were fed a commercial chicken starter. Since then they have been fed on a home-mixed ration of grain and mash of which about 75 per cent was home-grown barley and oats. Plenty of sour skim milk is kept before the chickens all the time, and they are also on a good clover and grass range. At 2½ months some of his capons were tipping the scales at 4½ lbs. with the average just over four lbs. for the capons. There has been no mortality in the flock so far.

New Ice Age

Science Comes Forward With Frozen Fruit, Vegetables, Coffee, and Cooky Dough—New Cold Era Also Welcomes Frozen Blood, Cricken Feed, Flowers, and Light.

By Emily C. Davis, in "Grit"

MAYBE you haven't quite realized it, but we are rushing into a new "Ice Age." Frozen fruit and vegetables, certainly. They started it. But now, thick and fast come these:

Frozen grass, for chicken feed, and for humans too.

Frozen blood, used in life-saving transfusions.

Frozen mother's milk to bring nourishment to weak babies.

Frozen coffee, just patented.

Frozen light, which might be stored for spectacular scientific tests, probably not for household emergencies.

Frozen cooky dough and batter that can wait until cook is ready, even if weeks elapse.

Frozen flowers, still very much in the experimental state.

And next? Well, you guess. Almost anything can happen, judging by perishables that have proved amenable to freezing and defrosting, if the right process is found for them.

Sign of Progress

Whether the earth is heading slowly toward another great ice age is sometimes fearfully debated, with shivers and mistrust for the fate of future man. Nobody wants to be as cold and miserable from the icy blasts sent down by advancing glaciers as our Stone Age ancestors were at times. But here we are launched into a frozen age of our own making. And very satisfactory it turns out to be. It is a cheerful note of modern progress.

Speaking of progress, imagine buying frozen batter that can be baked to provide fresh cake quickly when the family gets cake-hungry. Imagine being able to make cooky dough that will keep for a year if Junior doesn't hear about it. Or, imagine mother making mince pie at Thanksgiving from pastry dough that was prepared "way back in early spring."

These things can happen now, because three home economists at Purdue University have tried out just such products from dated samples of frozen batter and dough stored for months and even a full year. The three—Professor Gertrude L. Sanderlin, Opal D. Collins, and Marjorie Acheson—recently reported successful baking with many types of frozen dough and batter.

Dough Kept for Many Weeks

In one test, roll dough that had risen once, was packed, sealed and quick-frozen at ten degrees below zero, then kept at zero in a frozen food locker. As long as six weeks, samples of this dough kept nicely and made tasty rolls. Kept longer, the dough produced rolls that competent judges could not approve.

The experimenters tried keeping cake batter for a year, with the verdict that frozen batter made good cake up to four months. Pie pastry is especially adapted to freezing, they found, because it can be rolled, shaped and frozen as a pie shell, all ready to fill with apples, lemon custard, or what have you, when a pie emergency arises. Nine months seems to be a time limit for keeping this type of pastry.

Meanwhile frozen grass for man and chickens is launched on the market by a Kansas City company. Leaves of cereal grasses are the material they report using. Grass for frozen food and feed is harvested at the time when the company's experiments rate it at its peak of nutritive value, just before the first joint forms. Quickly dried and powdered to make a green flour, the grasses are stored at near zero cold to preserve the vitamin content.

Vitamin Cocktail

Served up to human beings, frozen grass takes the form of a vitamin drink, a sort of grass cocktail. For chickens, frozen grasses are dissolved with hot water and added to dry mixtures to form a mash. Finding a way to speed mother's milk, frozen to save the lives of undernourished babies is one of the beneficial achievements of our new frozen age. The Medical Society of Milwaukee County, in Wisconsin, has made a success of this.

Frozen mother's milk has already been rushed to many hungry babies in distress, by aid of the feeding and nursing bureau which the medical society operates for premature infants in its district. The frozen milk is especially used in emergencies for babies too far away from city hospitals.

For freezing, mothers milk that is known to come from contagion-free sources is bought. It is prepared in the form of little frozen cakes which can be shipped to the babies and thawed out and fed to them at correct temperature.

Frozen Blood Saves Lives

Also a lifesaver is the freezing process applied to human blood, for use in transfusions and other emergencies. Dried and frozen human blood plasma is now believed by medical scientists to be the one best remedy for soldiers of civilian patients in a state of shock. This plasma is the liquid part of blood after red and white corpuscles are removed. It is proving invaluable in war surgery, and quantities have already been shipped to England by the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross explains that confused conditions in the wake of battle or disaster make it virtually impossible to obtain instantly quantities of whole fresh blood, properly typed, for emergency use. But with success in processing blood plasma, it is possible to keep the dry plasma vacuum-sealed several years and transport it more readily without damage and administer it by injection. New transfusion can be brought to the patient.

Starting its campaign to obtain volunteers to donate blood for the important "blood banks," the American Red Cross has worked thus far only in New York. Hundreds of volunteers a day came to give blood for this purpose, to send to England, until the British set up adequate arrangements in their country.

Now the project continues with an eye to America's defense program, and the dry plasma is to be delivered to the army and navy for storage at military stations and aboard ships. In time, the program will be extended to Red Cross Chapters within 24-hour shipping radius of Philadelphia, where the only commercial laboratories fitted to produce dry plasma on a large scale in the United States now are in operation.

Frozen light is one of the intriguing and spectacular developments of the frozen age. What it is good for, in everyday life, remains to be seen.

To freeze light, physicists set up equipment to bombard fluorescent material with cathode rays. While thus "blitz-ripped" the material glows. After bombardment stops, the material continues to glow. Now—if the bombardment material is immersed in liquid air at the intense cold of several hundred degrees below zero, the glow disappears. It is stored on ice, so to speak. It waits, until it is "thawed" out, and then it resumes its luminescent look.

Pressed for an idea as to how this might be useful, one physicist pondered and came up with the suggestion that you could collect sunlight in the day and freeze it to light your home at night. But he doesn't recommend it. Impractical and inefficient, he said—and too expensive for general use.

Rosy Promises of the Future
Frozen flowers are still experimental, according to latest reports from the laboratory front. But they are one of the very pleasant future prospects.

Easter lilies normally blossom about June where they grow in the open, and it is only by trouble and expense of forcing that we have these delicately scented blooms at Easter. If quick-freezing can preserve the lilies, then our Easter lilies may be blooms harvested the previous summer.

Frozen coffee kept in compressed blocks is one of the latest inventions from the frozen food world. The idea is that flavor in coffee can be preserved by freezing the beans as soon as they are roasted, then ground and compressed.

Applying very low temperature, not more than ten degrees Fahrenheit, and even as low as 100 below zero, is this method of freezing.

Frozen red cherries for cherry pie are fairly new in the market and even yet are being sold mainly in large quantities for hotels and bakeries, not in small cartons for the housewife.

Frozen fruit juices are a line of food products that some home economists believe could be developed.

LISTEN TO THIS!

Because many people do not know the difference between commercial and military explosives, we list below some of those most generally in use, also their principal characteristics and uses.

Commercial Explosives

Dynamite is essentially a commercial or peace-time explosive and finds its greatest usefulness in blasting rock formations in mines and road construction work. While it can be detonated safely at a distance by experts using a length of safety fuse and blasting cap or an electric detonator, it cannot be used in a gun barrel because its velocity of detonation is too great. It would blow the gun to bits and kill the gun crew.

Black Powder is the oldest explosive. It has a low order of explosion and has now been largely superseded by dynamite. It has few uses today as a propellant and, as a blasting agent, is used only where relatively slow explosive effects are desired. It is interesting to recall that it was black powder which aided in the laying of our railways through the Rockies and that today it is used in the safety fuse which is inserted in the detonator that causes the dynamite to explode.

Military Explosives

Cordite is the propellant charge used in the breech of a gun to hurl the shell through the air. It burns without smoke at a moderately low speed, setting up uniformly increasing pressure which makes it an effective and safe propellant.

TNT (trinitrotoluol) is used in the bursting charge in a shell. It will withstand the shock of the cordite charge in the gun barrel and explodes when set off by the percussion cap or time fuse in the nose of the shell.

Tenderfoot—How come you always smoke quarter cigars?

Sniffer—Somebody else always smokes the other three-fourths.

Lieut. Harold P. Theriault, U.S.N.R., has been appointed as commanding officer of the new U. S. Navy mine sweeper Dominant, now being built in Jacksonville, Florida. Lt. Theriault, who is but 27 years of age, is married, and lives in Gloucester, Mass., with his father, Capt. Simon P. Theriault, a native of East Ferry in Digby County, and a son of the late Cutler Theriault.

A further honor was conferred on the lieutenant on Friday of last week when he obtained an unlimited master's license in New York City. He is attending school at the Navy yard in Boston studying mine sweeping at present and is also taking a course at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in mathematics for the next month. As soon as he has completed his studies he will report to his new command in Jacksonville.

Lieut. Theriault graduated from the Massachusetts Nautical Training Ship Nantucket and afterward served in the merchant marine, passing through the various ratings to first mate aboard the S.S. William Luchenbach. At the beginning of the national emergency, he was called into active service in the navy.

Kent Is Still Making Cricket Bats

Golf balls and clubs, tennis balls and racquets, cricket balls and bats, hockey sticks and footballs are the main items among the £700,000 worth of sports goods sent out from Great Britain overseas last year.

The biggest buyer is South Africa where cricket, Rugby and hockey are played everywhere. India, the Argentine, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Eeylon, Egypt, United States, Chile and the Far East follow in that order.

Canada takes 120,000 golf balls a year and 30,000 tennis balls; and the Dominion is a steady purchaser of tennis racquets. The United States buys thousands of pounds worth of golf balls and clubs. Australia and South Africa are the biggest customers for cricket bats.

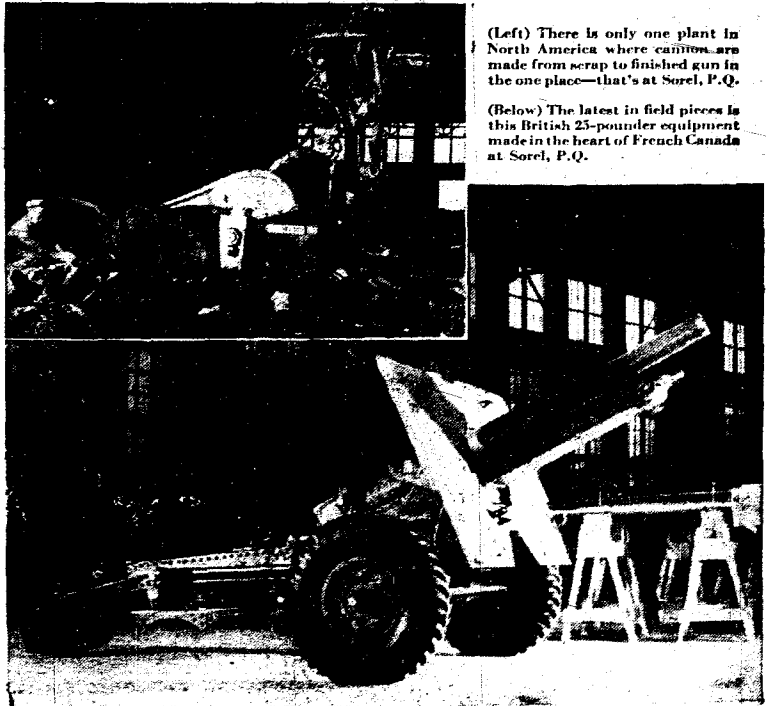

The making of English cricket bats and balls are both skilled handicrafts passed on from father to son. The famous cricket balls come from a group of craftsmen settled in Kent for generations. There is no truth at all in the canard that Nazi airmen have destroyed England's store of bar willow. Stocks are safe and ample to meet the demand for war-time cricketers at home and overseas.

Weight for weight, bread contains three times as much starch as potatoes.

"My Harry seems so happy over there—when the announcer said 'would you like to say a few words to the little woman back home'—he just laughed and laughed—"

An Appreciation

At the regular meeting of the Digby Board of Trade a motion expressing appreciation and the thanks of the Board to all citizens of the Town, who assisted with trucks by labour and in donating earth to cover over the North End Dump. Owing to the advanced season this work could not be completed this year, but it is hoped a job of it can be made later.

G. W. Connell, Chairman of Committee.

HAY CROP FAIR

Haymaking has started in a few sections of the country, and from indications, the crop will be generally up to that of last year.

The hay crop had a poor start this season. Dry weather early in the spring hindered growth. Later, when the rains came, the grass grew rapidly and farmers were greatly encouraged and looked forward to a bumper crop. However, this wet spell was followed by another dry spell during which the crop has only made light gains.

Nevertheless, on the average, the crop is fair and is not expected to be below that of last year which was considered normal. In a few fields the growth is particularly scarce, but in speaking with one farmer on the matter, the Courier was told that in these instances the scant growth was not a result of the weather, but the result of neglect—hay crops need to be fertilized, and nourished as well as field crops.

On the whole, root crops appear to be prospering; some of the earlier potato fields are in blossom and the plants appear in excellent condition; new green peas will soon be on the market, and a few have already been picked by farmers for use on their own tables. Shortly after blossom time it was feared the strawberry crop suffered from late frosts and that the yield would be below normal. Nevertheless, with most farmers in this area they have been exceptionally plentiful.

At the Church of All Saints, Claverley, in Shropshire, England, is a unique pew. It is a seat carved out in the church pillars, where the sitter is visible from all parts of the church. But nobody sits there! The reason is that it is a Seat of Penance where, over 70 years ago, nagging wives were made to park themselves in full view of the remainder of the congregation at the Sunday morning service.

About This and That

Pronouncing a requiem over a lost France soon after the downfall of that nation before the armed might of Nazi Germany, aged Marshal Petain said: "Our spirit of enjoyment was stronger than our spirit of sacrifice. We wanted to have more than we wanted to give. We tried to spare effort, and we met disaster." No truer words ever were spoken. They can be applied to other nations, even our own, as well as to France. They comprise a warning that so many Canadians, apathetic, easy-going, listless—may well take to heart. For, like France, we cannot spare effort except at the price of disaster. Patriotism with too many Canadians begins and ends with a bit of flag waving or the singing of the national anthem. We rely too much on mere words to prove our love for our land, forgetting the biblical injunction that "faith without works is dead." Too many of us think of serving Canada only in terms of romantic martyrdom. Sure, we are willing to die for our country, if need be. But most of us aren't willing to live for it, or to take the trouble to learn how to go about living for it if we did desire to do so. The real test of patriotism lies not in some dramatic sacrifice, but in the simple things we do or fail to do, each day. There is probably not one of us who, if he tried, could not find some small way to serve the cause of national defence. But, no, it isn't the little things that interest us. We must do something big, or we sit back and do nothing. A manufacturer producing engine parts for ships felt called upon recently to compliment his stenographer for the improvement shown in her work. She replied: "Well, to tell the truth, when I saw everybody around me working so hard on defence production, I felt it would be mean of me not to contribute my two cents' worth." Are you contributing your two cents' worth in this crisis?

Two keen-minded members of the Canadian House of Commons had a very silly discussion at the beginning of the Victory Loan campaign. Mr. H. R. Jackman asked the Minister of Finance if all the money subscribed for Victory Bonds was going into the war effort, and Mr. Isley explained that it was. Actually, as everyone who gives it a moment's thought knows, it doesn't matter a tinker's dam whether the Victory Bond money goes into the war effort or whether it is used to pay other costs of government. If Victory Bond proceeds were used to buy coal to heat postoffices, money now to be used to buy coal to heat postoffices would be available for war purposes. It would be something else again if Mr. Jackman intended to ask Mr. Isley if the Government was making every possible economy in non-war expenditure in order that the maximum amount available from taxation and the sale of Victory Bonds would go into the war effort. But Mr. Jackman did not ask that. He should have.—Printed Word.

The Nazi invasion of Russia at a time when there was no reason to fear that country, boils down to the simple fact, admitted frankly by the invaders, that "Russia has what Germany needs." Or more accurately, that "Russia has what Germany wants." Present-day Germany could have done, of course, what Germany did in her years of peaceful prosperity—she could have got what she needed from her neighbors by trading goods and services for it instead of adopting a predatory "war economy." The moral and logical weakness in Germany's position is the curious principle, invented to justify the last war, and now used to justify this one, that Germany is a "master nation" and such a nation has a right to take from its neighbors what it needs to fulfill its destiny. If any of us preached such principles in our private and business affairs, we would be considered crazy. And if we practised them, we would promptly land in jail.

William L. Shirer, who was a Berlin correspondent for seven years ending last December, has written a book, just out, in which he says that Germany contemplates war with both the United States and Russia, and will attack the latter first. It is an interesting coincidence that Hitler marched into Russia immediately after this book appeared. From that it may be concluded that the author "knows his stuff." If he does, we may naturally expect the Nazi attack on the United States to come when Hitler has cleaned up Russia. There is no telling how soon that will be. The Germans are said to expect victory over Russia in a month. In any case, America has no time to waste. In preparing their own self-defence and in helping other free-souled countries in a crusade to put down the greatest menace ever faced by modern civilization, they must work hard and move fast.

MARRIAGES

Gibson - Morehouse

A very pretty wedding took place in Bethel United Church, in Centerville, on Wednesday of last week, when Norma Edwina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morehouse, became the bride of Robert Oliver Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibson, of Round Hill, Annapolis County. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. H. Gibson, matron of honor, was Barker, pastor of the church, groomed in blue brocade tail-coat with a large number of relatives and friends, the church being decorated for the occasion. Mrs. Eugene Bowe, sister of the bride, played the wedding marches. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organdy with short train. She wore a long veil and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, baby's breath and lily-of-the-valley. Mrs. James Barker, pastor of the church, groomed in blue brocade tail-feta with blue flower turban and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Fred Browne and Miss Edith Morehouse, sisters of the bride, acted as bridesmaids. The groom was supported by his brother, James Gibson. The ushers were Fred Browne, of Sussex, and Eugene Bowe, of Digby. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, attended by over fifty guests. Immediately after, the happy couple left on a short motor trip through the province. Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibson, parents of the groom. Mr. Gibson is a recent graduate of Mount Allison University, holding a degree of B.Sc. The bride is popular among the younger set and previous to her marriage was given a shower at the home of Mrs. Charles Shaw.

Hutchinson - Amberman

The home of the Misses Stark, Granville Ferry, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday morning, June 28th, when Miss Inez Marie Amberman, became the bride of Helmer Hutchinson, teacher of the preparatory department of Annapolis Royal Academy. The bride was dressed in Queen's blue French crepe with corsage of pink and white sweet peas. Rev. C. G. Quigley of the United Church, performed the ceremony, which took place beneath an arch of lovely summer flowers. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. H. P. Patterson, of Annapolis Royal. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served which was presided over by Mrs. Fletcher Stark, of Machias, Maine, and Mrs. Charles Whitaker, of Toronto. On their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson will visit the former's mother in Amherst, and will also visit Mrs. Hutchinson's sister (Dorothy) Mrs. Glendon Brown, in Montreal.

Handspiker - Herman

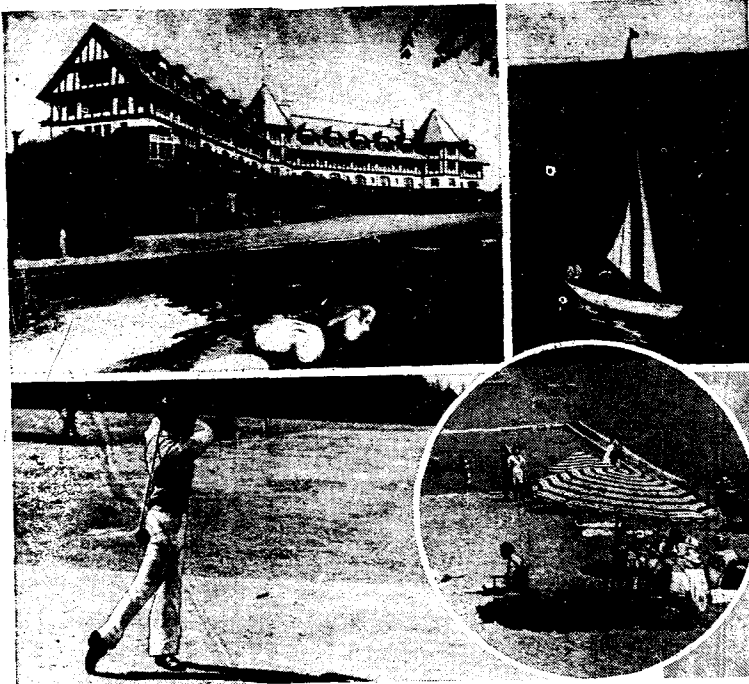

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Friday evening, June 27, when Rev. M. C. Munn, pastor of the Digby Baptist Church, united in marriage Freda Herman, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robie Herman, of Italy Cross, Lunenburg County, to Hartford Holland Handspiker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Handspiker, of Culloden. The bride was dressed in a street-length dress of blue crepe with matching accessories. They were attended by Lane-Cpl. and Mrs. William A. Betts, of Saint John. The couple left for the bride's home.

Harris - Savary

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening, July 5, at 8.30 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Balsor, (the groom's mother), when Miss Georgina May Savary, daughter of Charles Savary and the late Mrs. Savary, was united in marriage to Roland Arthur Harris, son of Mrs. Mildred (Harris) Balsor and the late William Harris, all of Bear River. Rev. G. D. Brydon performed the ceremony. The bride wore a wine suit with blue accessories with corsage of roses. Following the ceremony a reception was held for a number of near relatives and friends. The bride received many lovely wedding gifts.

Where Fairways Meet the Sea

The golfer who occasionally substitutes his clubs for fishing tackle, who enjoys a brisk work-out on the tennis courts, an invigorating Atlantic plunge or scorching sun-bath, who likes scudding before salt-laden breezes in a sailing craft, and has a weakness for sea-food, can satisfy all these urges, and other vacation whims as well, at the famed Algonquin Hotel at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea in old New Brunswick.

Open this year from June 28 to September 2 the charming Canadian Pacific hotel is enjoying one of the most successful seasons in its history. Tourists who formerly visited Europe in quest of vacation pleasures have found parts of the New Brunswick countryside a worthy reproduction of the Old Country, the sea-girt St. Andrews golf course as thrilling as its famous Scottish namesake, and sheltered Fundy waters as inviting as the Riviera! Summer life at the Algonquin is a continual round of pleasure from the first dip in Katy's Cove to the final strains of the last water in the hotel ballroom. Its sun-drenched beaches are thronged continually with happy bathers and bronzed sun-worshippers, while the more skillful race out to diving rafts, show off their newest swim dive or indulge in other forms of "aquatics." Shivers are practically unknown at Katy's Cove, its sands absorbing the sun's heat and releasing it at high tide for the bather's benefit.

No golfer who takes his game seriously would tour the Maritimes without a visit to St. Andrews. Inspired by the bracing tang of the sea, velvety greens, sea-girt fairways, and unusually springy turf, the golfer usually finds the 18th hole arrives all too soon and his score card shows surprising results! Many an international tourney is contested on Algonquin links, at which time the hotel guest register reads like a "Who's Who in Golfing."

Deep-sea fishing for cod, mackerel and haddock is available literally at the hotel's doorstep, while scrappy trout, bass and land-locked salmon inhabit the St. Croix Valley lakes a few miles distant. Other attractions include hiking, motoring, cycling and boat excursions to nearby Campobello Island, site of President Roosevelt's summer home.

St. Andrews is easily accessible over Canadian Pacific lines from large centres in Eastern Canada and connecting lines in the United States.

Suez Canal Axis Objective

The Suez Canal has been described by Mr. Eden as a "main arterial road" for the British Empire. Since its construction in the latter half of the nineteenth century it has served as the main route from Britain to her empire in the East. It has reduced the distance to Bombay from 10,500 to 6,200 miles, to Singapore from 11,400 to 8,100 miles, and to Sydney from 122,300 to 11,200 miles. Since the development on a large scale of war in the Mediterranean almost all shipping to the east has, however, been diverted to the old route round the Cape. Nevertheless, the Suez Canal is a vital channel through which war and other supplies pass from all parts of the Empire and lately from the United States to Egypt and Palestine. Control of the Canal is essential to the carrying on of naval and military campaigns in the Middle East. Its seizure by the Axis would not only force the Allies to abandon the Mediterranean, but it would also give the enemy a sea route to India and the east coast of Africa, and a break through the British blockade.

The Canal runs 101 miles through Egyptian territory from Port Said on the Mediterranean to Suez on the Gulf of Suez which connects with the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean. Unlike the Panama Canal which was cut through uneven country and depends on highly vulnerable locks, the Suez is simply a channel dredged through the Egyptian sands. Since improvements were completed in 1933 the Canal will permit passage of vessels up to 45,000 tons with a draught of 36 feet. Its surface width varies from 400 to 500 feet. The largest vessel to use the Canal was the Empress of Britain (42,000 tons). Of great importance is the fact that it may be traversed by any ship of the British navy. Even the Hood, which had a displacement of 42,100 tons, a beam of 108½ feet, and a draught of 28½ feet, could have passed through Suez. The usual length of time necessary to pass from one end to the other is somewhat over 11 hours.

Contrary to frequent assumption, Britain never has "owned" the Suez Canal. In normal times, it is governed by a company with 19 French, 10 British, 1 Dutch and 2 Egyptian members. The offices are in Cairo and Port Said with the administration centered in Paris. The British government appoints three of the ten British directors and has 44 per cent of the Company's shares. The Company is an Egyptian company, and since the collapse of France the local officials have been running the enterprise to a large extent on their own authority.

Because the Canal is so vital to the strategy of nations, its international status is pre-empted by a Convention of 1888 signed by Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Holland, Russia, Spain and Turkey, according to which the Canal is to be free in time of war as in peace and never subjected to the exercise of the right of blockade. This provision became of considerable importance during the Italo-Abyssinian war when there was discussion of closing the Canal to Italy which had no other route of supply for her aggression in East Africa. In actual fact, although no Axis ships can now pass through Suez, this situation is due not to the closing of the Canal to them by Britain but by the fact that the British Navy is able to prevent enemy ships from approaching the entrance to the Canal. According to the Convention of 1888 the Sultan of Turkey was given special powers relating to the defence of Egypt and Suez, but after the last war these powers were transferred to Britain which has the right to close the Canal for the defence of Egypt or the Canal itself.

With Germany now able to bomb the Suez Canal region from bases in Crete or Rhodes the question of the Canal's vulnerability has arisen. To the west of Suez is the Army of the Nile and the great Egyptian desert. To the east is the desert of Sinai and the armies in Palestine. By treaty with Egypt, Britain has for some time had the right to maintain air forces and armies in the Canal zone, and one may assume that anti-aircraft and other defences have long been in place. It is questionable if a canal like the Suez could actually be put out of commission by bombings. But its shipping is open to attack, and the Germans are reported to have attempted to lay mines in the Canal from airplanes. The entire Canal is regularly swept for the prevention of this serious menace. The most scrupulous care is taken to prevent suspicious ships of any kind from using the channel, for their is the constant danger of deliberate scuttling. The blocking of the channel which might be caused by such scutting has possibly been exaggerated, for a very close watch is kept on all shipping and tugs are constantly ready to push a sinking vessel to the bank and keep the main passage clear. At Ismailia, half way along the Canal, a co-ordinating force of all three services maintains a defence patrol.

party of Oddfellows from George Lodge, Digby, accompanied the District Deputy Grand Master, Kenneth Beckwith to Annapolis Royal Monday, to install the officers of Western Star Lodge. Following were installed: G. R. E. Berry, S. A. Rice, S. F. B. Balcom, S. I. E. Randall, Treas.—J. A. Cleaves, L.S.N.G.—O. P. Goldsmith, Varden—J. A. Millett, L.S.V.G.—J. E. Lindgren, S.V.G.—Merrill Bartheaux, G. H. C. Munro, Chap.—H. C. Gormley. At the last regular meeting St. George Lodge, on Friday evening, Mr. Beckwith, after talking to the officers, informed the lodge that would probably be his last evening to be present. This took the lodge by surprise. However, they knew that a number of the members would accompany him to Annapolis on his last official visit, so they prepared for it. After the installation by District Deputy Grand Master, J. J. Wallis, asked for the privilege of the platform and A. R. Turnbull formally presented Mr. Beckwith to him. After congratulating him on his faithfulness to the lodge during the six years he has been a member Mr. Wallis, on behalf of St. George Lodge, presented him with a beautiful Parker's pen and pencil set. He was completely taken by surprise—as were the members of Western Star, who at first did not realize what was happening. Other speakers were Rev. W. J. Wright of Sunbeam Lodge, Middleton; A. R. Turnbull, S. A. Aymar, Burton Meek and Lloyd Wright, of St. George Lodge. A social hour was spent after lodge.

A Real Fire Brigade

When it comes to answering a fire alarm, we doubt if any fire department in the Maritime Provinces can hold a candle alongside the Digby Volunteer Fire Department. An instance of this was seen last Saturday afternoon when an alarm was rung in for a roof blaze on a shed in the rear of Art's Spa. Our job printing department (in a separate building from the Courier Office) is next door to the town hall and fire station. We were reading proofs when the siren sounded, and stopped to count the blasts in order that we might know to what part of the town the firemen were being called. The first wail sounded in full—the second blast had not ended when the fire truck went by our door, and before the third had got a start, the truck had reached its destination, and preparations for fighting the fire had already commenced.

It was all too quick to time, but, we'll wager a stream of water from the truck's auxiliary tank was playing on the flames within seven minutes of the first blast of the siren! Freddy Mulse (fire truck driver) can sure get that truck out in a hurry. The blaze had apparently been started by the main. Other than a few shingles burned off no damage was done.

His speed on this occasion reminds us of the time of the T. Warne mill fire in the summer of 1937—one of Digby's largest blazes in recent years. It was just before the provincial election, and our job plant was running 24 hours a day getting out voters' lists. The alarm was rung in at 2:15 a.m. Stan Spray (now bmdr. Spray) and Mac were on the night shift of the job plant. Stan was a member of the fire department.

Both hustled over to the fire. Stan got the truck started, while Mac called the telephone office to learn where the fire was located. Freddy Mulse, who then lived across the street from the town hall, was hustling across the road on his trousers arched over his shoulders, and the truck got away in good time.

Next day Freddy asked Stan to explain a mystery that had puzzled him all the time they were fighting the fire—he wanted to know how it was that the boys from our shop, who lived at the other end of the town, managed to get to the fire hall "fully dressed, with their ties on" before he could get across the street in a half dressed condition.

"BUY BRITISH"

The Digby Board of Trade is to sponsor a "Buy British" week in the near future. Plans are well under way, and the committee in charge is able to report progress. The idea of "Buy British" appeals to all of us these days, for by "Buying British" we are aiding the mother country in her terrific struggle for the liberties of all mankind—every cent's worth of British made products sold in this country gives the old country that much more in our currency with which to buy planes and munitions to permanently put Hitler out of business.

One of the objects of the Board of Trade's "Buy British" campaign is to convince the general public that British goods are still to be had, and can still be bought—there is surprisingly little change in the prices asked for these products now than in the days before the war, and, believe it or not, the most of these products are more easily obtained in this country than they were in pre war days.

In spite of this, we hear many remark when speaking of British products "I don't suppose we can get those now."

British firms are still soliciting business in this country—their representatives are taking orders every day, and Britain, who still has command of the seas, is delivering the goods, and in addition to products for which England has long been famous, she is introducing for world markets goods that were previously manufactured in other European countries now under the Nazi heel.

The "Made in England" label is more common these days than ever before. Support the mother country and "Buy British".

British made is best made.

New Course In

Practical Farming

(Special Despatch to Courier)

Halifax, July 8.—Announcement of a new one-term course in practical farming at the Agricultural College at Truro for the coming Fall and Winter months was made this week by the executive council at Province House. The new course, which will be of five months' duration, is a consolidation of the two-year course in practical farming which has been in effect in recent years. The new course is intended to appeal to farm boys from 16 to 18 years of age and those of older age who are disqualified for military service who wish to obtain this special training in practical agriculture as a means of fitting them for a life of farming and rural leadership.

Announcement was also made of the appointment of C. E. Foulton, provincial animal husbandman, to be principal of the Agriculture College, with Kenneth Cox, provincial agronomist, as vice-principal and farm director at the college. Mr. Foulton takes the post vacated last Autumn by L. T. Chapman, principal, who resigned to enter active service with the R.C.A.F. He has been an official of the department for a number of years and has been in agricultural work most of his life. Mr. Cox, before joining the provincial department, was in charge of field work at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Nappan.

Referring to the special one-term course in practical agriculture Hon. John A. McDonald, Minister of Agriculture, said: "We believe that such a course will appeal to a large number of farm boys in Nova Scotia who might not be in a position to take a full two-year course at the College but would like to have one term of training in all the practical phases of the science of agriculture as applied to every day farming. The new course is intended for those boys not yet of age for military service and for others from the farms who cannot enter military service but who would like to have the advantage of this special training in farm practices."

The course will be short of all unnecessary subjects so far as practical farming is concerned but will retain all those subjects of a practical nature that will help the boys not only to become good farmers but also to become good citizens and leaders in their own communities.

We recognize the immediate needs of the nation's war efforts but we also feel that some provision must be made for the future and that we should in the meantime be offering such training as we can give in a practical way to fit the young boys of the farm to take their proper part in the building of our farming districts after the war has been won. Even though these same boys in the course of events will be needed for a time in the ranks of the armed forces, there is every reason why we should, in the intervening period, make use of our facilities at the college to provide them with valuable instruction.

WOODEN SHIPS vs. Steel Ships

There were several discussions in the last parliament over ship building. Our Maritime members urged the building of more wooden vessels, and pointed out that it was not so many years ago that wooden vessels carried all the ocean commerce of the world and that the Maritimes had a very large share in it. But they were over-ruled by farmers, lawyers, merchants and other business members of parliament many of whom probably had never seen the sea, who claimed that the days of wooden ships were over and that, in any event, a wooden vessel would not last as long as a steel vessel. In view of this the following paragraph from the last issue of the North Sydney Herald, is interesting:

"One of the oldest of the wooden ships in active service on this side of the Atlantic at least, was in port this week. The craft is the sealer Terra Nora and is over sixty years old. She loaded coal at the Scotia pier and cleared for the Ancient colony."

Just imagine! A wooden ship sixty years old and still going strong; one that has butted Arctic ice floes in the seal fishing, and even now carrying coal.

How many steel ships of that age can we find now?

Hog Shipments Increase

Hog shipments from co-operative shipping clubs in Nova Scotia totalled 677 head for the month of May, or about double those of May of last year. Over 66 per cent of the shipments graded into the two top grades, about equally divided between the two grades. There is, however, this year, a big shift from Grade B1 into the top grade. Last May only 21 per cent of the hogs shipped by the co-ops were top grade, or selects, but the per cent for May of this year was 33. This is significant of the improvement shown in the grading of hogs being marketed this year. Benefits of this are shown not only in increased returns on the actual basis of improved grades, but also with the bonus offered by the Nova Scotia department of $1 hog on selects and 50 cents hog on B1 grade hogs. Hog producers who ship through recognized organizations are eligible for this bonus, which for the month of May was paid on two-thirds of the hogs shipped through the co-operative shipping clubs. Total of all hogs shipped through these clubs to the end of May this year was 2191 head compared with 1871 for the first five months of the previous year.

N. S. Hatcheries Doing Well

It was revealed at the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Hatchery Association recently that the approved hatcheries of the province have created another record in total hatchings. This season, the total saleable chicks will reach close to the 650,000 mark when all figures are completed. The highest total hatchings previously recorded in the province was in 1940, when there was a total of 517,000 saleable chicks. Geo. Nelson, well known hatcheryman of Stewiacke, was elected president of the association for the coming year, with Russel Eagles, of Gasperaux, as vice-president, and John Proudfoot, of Salt-springs, was elected to the directorate. Norman Clarke, of Gerwick, continues as secretary-treasurer.

The association is planning to hold a field day at the experimental farm at Kentville in the near future.

Junior Club Tours

Junior farm club tours are the order of the day now. Last week, club members from Han's county, with their agricultural representative, Chas. Douglas, toured the Noel shore district and saw some good livestock and good farms, and had some judging classes. The club members of Colchester, Pictou and Halifax counties joined forces in a visit to the agricultural college at Truro where some 200 club members took part, with their agricultural representative, Gordon Campbell, of Halifax county. George Cook, of Colchester and Percy Archibald, assistant representative in Pictou county. The club members also visited the farm of J. P. Morris, and the Indian school at Shubenacadie, and the Colchester county farm. Judging demonstrations were also held.

There were some 4,000 girls in the garment clubs organized under the Nova Scotia department of agriculture. This method of showing some of the work is one that has been greatly appreciated. The reception of the members of the Home and School Association was particularly pleasing, indicating not only the attractive manner and pleasing personality of the girls taking part, but also the excellent work which is being done. The announcer for the fashion show was Thelma Aker, Bible Hill, while others modelling garments were: Jean Stevens, Malagash Station; Dorothy Anderson and Doris Anderson, Lower Gasperaux; Marion McCully, Olive MacPhee, Joan Fisher and Marie Parker, of Bible Hill.

Annual Meeting of C. L. C.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Livestock Co-operative, Maritimes, wholesale trading organization for various co-operatives throughout the Maritimes, was held during the past week at Moncton. Total annual turnover of this organization is now in the vicinity of $1,500,000.

Annual Club Camps

Annual summer camps for junior farm club groups have been in progress the past two weeks at the camp for boys being held at Truro, and that for the girl club members of western Nova Scotia at Yarmouth. Some 72 boys were in camp at Truro, on the agricultural college grounds in charge of officials of the extension division of the Nova Scotia department of agriculture. The camp program included instruction in field crops, animal husbandry, farm mechanics, etc., with provision for recreation. The girls' camp members receive instruction in garment club work, and kindred subjects, and at both camps physical training was given. The present week the annual camp for girls' club members for Eastern Nova Scotia is being held at the agricultural college grounds at Truro. Club members attending these camps are drawn from all parts of the province.

Agricultural Instruction for Teachers

For the second year in succession rural school teachers in Nova Scotia will receive special training in subjects concerning agriculture and rural life, when they will attend a summer course of four weeks to be held at Truro, commencing on July 14. Members of the staffs of the provincial agricultural college and the normal school will give instruction. The giving of instruction in agricultural subjects was inaugurated last year when teachers attending the annual summer school were given an opportunity of spending some time at the agricultural college at Truro, under the auspices of the departments of agriculture and education. The object is to give teachers who serve rural schools a better knowledge of rural life and farm problems.

Fashion Show by Girls' Clubs

The modelling of garments, made by members of girls' garment clubs in Nova Scotia, featured a fashion show stage at the opening session of the Home and School Association held at Acadia University on July 2nd.

British Engineers' Mountain Triumph In Northern India.

Blasting their way up a mountain track under the shadow of the snow-capped Himalayas, British engineers have just succeeded in installing in Chamba, Northern India, a complete hydro-electric station from Great Britain. Chamba, 200 miles from the borders of Tibet, is 3,000 feet up among the mountains and the transportation of the plant especially over the last twenty five miles of track, has been a triumph for the engineers and their native carriers.

Great boulders had to be dynamited, bridges strengthened, retaining walls made secure. Gangs of native workers worked continuously on road repairs throughout the journey. Turbine casing, pipe lines and other heavy pieces were constructed to make light loads and a fleet of wooden trolleys built to ease the hazards of carriage; yet the transport rate of the heavier machinery was three miles a day.

When You Receive a Bill

To receive a bill is an honor. Instead of getting all riled up when the mail brings you a statement of account, you should be genuinely pleased. For the bill is an indication that someone has faith in your honesty. If you never receive a bill (unless you always pay cash) it might indicate that no one is willing to grant you credit. Credit is one of the most valuable things a person can have. Money may be had by various means, but credit comes only from years of honesty and prompt meeting of bills when due. When you pay a bill, you are merely being honest.

When you receive a bill, then, meet it if you possibly can. If you cannot, frankly tell your creditor the reason immediately. You will find him more ready to meet you half way. Cherish your credit as you do your health, happiness and other priceless boons rare and elusive.

DESERTS OF HATRED

By Alma S. Wittlin
Since the outbreak of war the Nazis have occupied territories greater in area than that of Germany itself. Several million Germans are living in those occupied countries—soldiers with their officers and officials, sometimes with their families. It has been estimated that in Holland alone about one million German soldiers are concentrated. Let us see how these "conquerors" live.

When the Germans invaded Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark, Norway, the Netherlands and France, they turned their attention first to food and drink. Then they bought up soap, silk stockings, and all sorts of little comforts practically denied them for many years under the Nazi regime of preparation for the assault on the world.

Now, the stores are depleted and there is less loot left in the occupied lands. But still at every meal the Germans act as overlords. Their food rations are greater than those of the local people. In addition, they receive commodities such as coffee, chocolates, rice and white bread which in many places are denied to the conquered.

A German officer or official is free to take the best house whether it be vacant or occupied. Certain hotels, restaurants and theatres are reserved exclusively for Germans.

Yet there are many things which trouble the German conqueror; which make his days, and still more his nights, filled with anxiety.

After the black-out no German in Amsterdam cares to walk alone by the canals that intersect the largest Dutch city. There are many drowning "accidents" by night.

In Poland, in the city of Poznan, six Poles have been sentenced to death for organizing several hundred armed attacks on German cars and on houses inhabited by Germans.

Instead of the humble submission and admiration due to conquerors which they had expected these Germans are discovering that they are ostracized—"iced". They find themselves in a desert of hatred.

The spectre of England hantus and challenges the men of the Swastika throughout their "Empire". Posters appear in the streets and invite: "Listen to the broadcasts from England." Norwegian women embroider the letters "R.A.F." on their hats. In Holland the schoolboys have been threatened with imprisonment if they went on whistling the British anthem. A German controlled newspaper in Brussels, Le Pave Reel, writes: "Certain cures are much more concerned on Sunday mornings with the proclamations of Mr. Churchill, rather than with the Gospel. The atmosphere of rebellion is absolutely intolerable."

The hatred against the Germans in the countries under their domination strikes secretly in a hundred ways. It whistles and whispers in the breeze. It appears as "the writing on the wall".

Nazi Brutality

Goebbels has used all the resources of his very efficient propaganda machine to persuade the world that German rule in Poland was severe but just. The combination of the two ideas was rather clever. You were to picture the naturally kindly German forced by circumstances to be somewhat severe, but never unjust—oh, never unjust.

Here are some of the facts of German justice—facts gathered in Poland by a devoted patriot at the constant risk of her life, and confirmed by evidence in the hands of the authorities of the Vatican. These facts are confined to one phase of German justice, the movement of Poles from their homes to places of exile.

A woman of Jarocin, seventy years old, feeble, sick, begged that she might take a blanket with her, as she must lie on the floor of a cattle truck in sub-zero weather. The blanket was taken from her.

In the middle of December, a cattle train stopped at Skierniewice. The trucks were packed with Poles evicted from Poznan. They had been locked in the cars for 28 hours, with neither food nor drink. Even water was refused them. In one truck there were twenty-three women, twelve men and ten children. One bundle of straw was the only bedding. Every rug and every overcoat had been taken from the refugees by the German soldiers. This train was but one of many.

About the same time, in bitter midwinter weather, a train, unheated, without even the most primitive facilities for sitting or lying down, stopped in Siedlce. For four days and five nights a large number of men, women and children had been locked in the cars, without food or drink. When the cars were finally opened six persons were found dead. One unfortunate child had been born. The German authorities refused to let any help be given to the mother. When an old railway porter on the Siedlce platform tried to give the Poles a drink of water, German guards shot at him. And when a woman, whose child was dying of hunger, tried to get off the train to hunt for food, she was killed.

At Otwock, in the first days of February, when the temperature was very low, another freight train came to a stop. Those on the platform heard an agonized cry from the crowded cars: "Help! help! our children are dead or dying. For nights and days we have been without food. Help!" In this train sixty children were found frozen to death. Women on the platform, who tried to give the tortured Poles some hot tea, were beaten and driven away by German soldiers. As the train slowly moved out of the Otwock station, heart-breaking cries of "Help!" echoed among the trees of the forest. About the same time a train arrived at the ancient Polish capital, Cracow. It had been crowded with refugees. When the doors of the cattle trucks were opened, nobody came out. Not one remained alive.

VISITING RAF FLYERS ARE SHOCKED AT MOVIE HAZARDS

Four youthful members of the RAF, in New York recently to fly bombers to England, visited Anna Neagle recently on the Hollywood set of RKO Radio's "Sunny."

They were just in time to see Ray Bolger perform his difficult antics in one of his difficult dances. When the scene was completed one of the fliers, a young fellow who has participated in numerous bombing raids over Germany, and was recently shot down and drifted four hours in the English Channel before being rescued, talked to Bolger about the latter's work in pictures.

"Doesn't it hurt, taking those falls?" asked the flier. "Not much when you fall right," Ray told him. "That was my fifth fall today. We rehearsed it four times before the take."

The young aviator, who later left to fly a bomber across the Atlantic, shook his head. "I wouldn't want your job," he smiled.

THOUSANDS LIVE "HELL ON EARTH" UNDER RULE OF NAZI CONQUERORS

Statements in the following article are based on reports given to the State Department, Washington, by Jan Ciechanowski, Polish ambassador to the United States, and on information from Cardinal Hlond, the Catholic primate of Poland.

SEVENTY thousand civilians, including women and children, have been executed and half a million carried into virtual slavery in Germany and Russia as Nazi and Soviet masters of the former republic of Poland go about a cold-blooded program to exterminate the Polish race.

Since Russia and Germany divided Poland, in September, 1939, a reign of terror almost beyond description has taken place—and today, even while the masters of Poland are at war against each other, they continue to grind under foot a nation of 35,000,000 people.

All the axioms of decency and all the clauses of international law are being ignored. Acts of "unprecedented terrorism and of refined cruelty quite openly aim at the extermination of the Polish nation," says a report given to the State Department, in Washington, by Jan Ciechanowski, Polish ambassador to the United States.

Conquerors, Masters
"We are the masters," said the German mayor of Lodz, a man named Uedelhoer. "We must then act as masters. The Pole is a slave and must serve us. Our backbone must be made of steel and we must never admit that Poland can ever be reborn."

"In ten years there will not be here (in German Western Poland) a single clod of earth which is not German and not a farm which will belong to any other than our own colonists," declared Herr Greiser, governor of Posnan province. "If God exists it is He who has chosen Adolf Hitler to chase the Poles out of here." Already the Germans have driven a million and a half Poles from Western Poland, forcing them to seek refuge in a small section of the country not occupied by either the Nazis or Soviets.

Rules Govern Poles

The German secret police have issued special regulations for the conduct of the Poles. They must "step aside and give way" to the Germans in all public places; Polish men are forced to tip their hats to Germans; in markets and stores Germans must be served first; wearing of Polish school uniforms and caps with emblems is forbidden; and Polish women who "insult" Germans are sent to houses of vice.

"The streets belong to the victors, not to the vanquished," say these regulations. "The Poles who have not yet understood that they are conquered and that we are the conquerors and who agitate against the foregoing orders will be liable to the most severe punishment."

Such regulations, however, are very mild in comparison to what actually is happening to Poland today. From each city and town the Germans seized hostages to guarantee the good behaviour of the rest of the Polish population. Stefan Starzynski, heroic mayor of Warsaw, is reported to have been slain in a German concentration camp because of disobedience of some of his townsmen.

All businesses and industries have passed out of Polish hands. Private property is seized whenever it "serves the public interest." Museums and schools have been stripped of works of art and also of their equipment.

Churches have been closed or destroyed; teaching of the Polish language in the schools is forbidden, and the only papers or books that may be printed and sold are propaganda leaflets dictated by the conquerors.

Intellectuals Destroyed

The Germans and Russians have embarked on a campaign to wipe out the intellectuals of Poland—the men who might some day lead the nation in revolt. Professional men and women, clergymen, scientists and others have either been taken to concentration camps or murdered.

At least 100,000 Polish civilians have been taken into Germany to work in factories and on farms, and around 400,000 more have been forced into virtual slavery in Russia. Polish prisoners of war, in violation of international law, are forced to do work of military importance and suffer from harsh treatment. The International Red is not permitted to operate in Poland.

Starvation and poverty are rife in Poland, and Poles doing forced labor in Germany and Russia are fed just sufficient to keep them alive.

Secret Police Busy

Nazi and Soviet secret police are everywhere. They act as policemen, judges and executioners. In the forests of Poland never a day passes without the clang of the rifles of German and Russian firing squads. If any village balks at the harsh hand of the masters, the secret police move in, round up a group of civilians, and execute them in the public square, relying on such acts of terrorism to break any spirit of resistance.

In the city of Bromberg, which before the war was only six per cent German in population, the secret police killed 10,000 persons. In portions of Poland controlled by Russia conditions were easier at first, but the oppression and terrorism there now are no less than in the territory occupied by the Germans.

Capt. D. L. Matthews
Capt. David L. Matthews, 72, died at his home in Philadelphia, on July 4, from heart attack. Capt. Matthews was born in Annapolis, the son of Mrs. Nancy Matthews, and had followed the water for a livelihood all his life. He served the Philadelphia and Reading R. R. as master of their harbor fleet, and was pensioned off just four years to the day he died. He is survived by his widow, Emma, and two daughters and one son, who is serving Uncle Sam in Porto Rico in the Army. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon with interment in a local cemetery beside his mother. A brother, Howard, is believed to be living somewhere in New England. A cousin, John G. Sullivan, and two freemason friends, Robert J. and Joseph Moran, of Philadelphia, were pall bearers.

John A. Walker

The death of John A. Walker, 73, husband of Mrs. Annie (Fenwick) Walker, Belmont, Mass., (formerly of Digby) occurred on Sunday, June 29th, the day marking his 49th wedding anniversary. He had lived in Belmont for two years having formerly resided for many years in Arlington. He had been ill for about six months during which time he received treatment at the Massachusetts General Hospital, in Boston. He had been connected with R. H. White Company for 17 years. News of his death was radioed to his son, Harvey Walker, a radio operator on a liner of the Yarmouth lines now bound back to Boston from Trinidad. Mr. Walker also leaves two other sons, Ralph Walker, of Belmont, and Clifford Walker, of Wellesey; a brother, William Walker, of Belmont, and two sisters, Mrs. Helen B. Malone and Miss Susie Walker, both missionaries in Shanghai, China. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, July 1st, in Waverley, and was conducted by Rev. Dr. W. R. Leslie, of St. Martin Church, Brookline, and Rev. Denton J. Nerly, of Nashua, N. H. Mrs. Walker was Annie F. Fenwick, formerly of Digby.

FIND BODY OF MAN

Body Found in Sissiboo River Unidentified

The secret police were at work. Some, who were too slow, were shot down in cold blood. Others died when the Nazis set fire to humble homes which they refused to leave. German police slugged any Pole who spoke above a whisper in the crowd of evacuees. Then squads of Gestapo men descended on the Poles. The younger, stronger men were herded together and marched into a train of box cars patrolled by German soldiers. The older men and women and children were crowded into other waiting trains. The men went to forced labor in Germany; the others were sent to the small unoccupied section of their country.

Death Ended Suffering

Not all the men kidnapped out of Poland for labor service in Germany and Russia have reached their destination, however. There is documentary proof that one train bound for Germany travelled for three days and nights before the doors of the box cars were opened. Hundreds of men had died of suffocation. The rest had not been given food or water during the entire trip and were in a pitiful condition.

Others who have gone into Nazi and Soviet factories and farms have lived only a little while under the harsh treatment of their masters and a lack of proper food and living quarters.

They have died without knowing what became of their wives and children and their families back in Poland. Even those who have gone from occupied sections to the still "free" portion of Poland have found no ease for their

The body of a man was found in the Sissiboo River at Weymouth at about noon last Thursday. No identification papers were found. The body was dressed in navy trousers and sweater, with no shoes or socks. It was found by Louis Amoro, of Weymouth.

Dr. H. J. Pothier said he believed that the body had been in the water for several months. The local detachment of the R.C.M.P. are investigating the matter. The body is badly decomposed. It was taken to Caird Nichols' funeral home and was later buried in the Church of England cemetery.

suffering. The unoccupied areas are terribly over-crowded; food is scarce and housing hopelessly inadequate. And even here the secret police are always watchful and completely dominate Polish life.

The Jews in Poland have to live in special sections of the unoccupied zone and are forbidden to appear in public at all. Their food supplies are even more slim than that of the hungry Poles who live around them.

"In all of Poland," says Ambassador Ciechanowski, "there is not a single principle of the rights of man nor a single stipulation of positive international law which has not been trampled underfoot by the occupying powers."

PAUSE DURING MANOEUVRES

Sgt. Harry Morganson, of Calgary, points out the spot to Gunners George Isaac of Acme, Alberta, Norman Withey, of Blackie, Alberta, Bill Siweill, of Montreal and Rod Stratton, of Westbourne, Man.

One of the more pleasant jobs of the men at the Landsdowne Park Army Camp was showing the visitors the use of the equipment. R. T. Patterson is seen here instructing an interested visitor on the use of a Lee-Enfield Rifle.

DESCRIBE NAZI INVASION PRACTISES

Descriptions of the preparations made by large concentrations of Nazi troops for invasion tactics have been given to the U. S. War Department by American business men who returned to this country recently after being detained in occupied countries.

The maneuvers are practised in all kinds of weather, with rivers being crossed time after time for the skill that comes with the repetition of the same act. Traffic on the crowded waterways of conquered countries is interrupted for invasion practise.

Hundreds of the airplane motors that power barges along the Dutch coast make such a racket that residents of Antwerp are unable to sleep.

The American citizen-reporters are convinced that the Germans are taking no pains to hide their intentions, for they seem to feel that watching the maneuvers is something of entertainment for the natives.

The motorized barges are relatively fast, many of them having been built in Belgium and Holland. The prow of an invasion barge is equipped with a draw-bridge mechanism that acts as a shield when raised and as a landing bridge when lowered.

An estimated 500,000 German troops are engaged in the regular exercises along the invasion ports, one man reported. Another reported that many Nazi troops are trained to swim ashore from barges.

Hiring Dresses for Copying Brings Dollars to Britain

Hiring out dresses for copying is the latest scheme for bringing American dollars to Britain. It is the idea of Miss Raymond Rahvis, a leading London fashion designer, who has left for New York with fifty dress models and forty coats, together with hats and other accessories, all autumn designs, for day and evening wear.

Miss Rahvis will exhibit her dresses in New York and charge American designers $100 entrance fee, which will enable them to copy one dress. Afterwards, she will take the dresses to Chicago, Hollywood, New Orleans and Kansas City.

This "Hire to Copy" scheme will be an ideal form of export for Britain, for it entails very little use of materials; it is, in effect, an export of British ideas.

The models emphasize the dropped shoulder, achieved with trimming placed down the sleeves, yokes and insets of contrasting colours. Collars have incrustations in the shape of labels and considerable attention has been given to embroidery. The tweed ensembles feature unusual contrasts like grey herringbone for the skirt and brown herringbone for the jacket.

playing in eastern Canada. Indeed, only one compares with it, and that is a band of 15 players, while the P. L. F. has only 23—the same number as the 110th Massachusetts Cavalry Band, under Chester Whiting, which drew an estimated 5000 people to its two concerts in Digby several years ago. The P. L. F. is equal, if not superior, to Mr. Whiting's 110th.

The Bandmaster, Russel T. Ward, W. O., is a most dynamic conductor, reminding us of the notable Creator, who, with his great band from Italy, made a sensation in the early 1900's throughout America. Mr. Ward is a most exacting leader and only the best musicians can take a permanent place in his band. His concert programmes cover the field from popular music to the highest classics. The concert on the 28th will probably begin about 7.30 p. m., at the Digby Band Stand, and those who miss it will miss the grandest music heard in Digby since Whiting's time.

Remember the musician's rule: "Never judge a band by its music on parade"—you must hear it in concert to know its real merit.

Let us all help the Red Cross and the Board of Trade by broadcasting the news of this great musical event throughout the country and further.

Buried Gold Lures to Eastern Sands

Buried treasure beacons to adventurous individuals and there are several spots along the lines of the Canadian National Railways in the Maritime Provinces where tradition has it that gold lies awaiting the fortune seeker.

Sometime around 1760, the story goes, three French frigates were sunk in the Richibucto River and each vessel had a consignment of gold. There is now a proposal to seek the buried treasure in many spots in Nova Scotia, one popular place being on Oak Island in Mahone Bay. Digging has been frequent but the results measured in actual gold have been meagre.

Who Remembers Rev. J. K. Tooker?

The COURIER had a very interesting caller—or rather two callers—on Monday in the persons of Mrs. Evangeline (Tooker) Crane, of Clarmont, Cal., and Rev. Helen Tooker, pastor of the Methodist Church in Springvale, Cal.

Mrs. Crane is a daughter of Rev. John F. Tooker, who in 1866 and 1867 was pastor of the Digby Baptist Church, and Rev. Helen Tooker is a grand-daughter. They travelled by car, which was driven by Donald Tooker, a grandson of Rev. J. F. Tooker. The party were on their way to Yarmouth where they expected to visit some members of the Eldridge family, who are relatives. Mrs. Crane is a niece of the late Capt. Joseph Tooker, of Yarmouth, one of that town's well-known master mariners of the past century. From Yarmouth the party will continue along the South Shore, as they would like to see Middlefield and Medway, where Mr. Tooker preached in 1869. They will likely go to Halifax and return to Digby via the Valley. Although quite a long time has elapsed it is quite possible there may be one or two in the county who remember Mr. Tooker, and if there are Mrs. Crane and Miss Tooker would like to meet them.

About This and That

An editorial in the current issue of The United Church Observer calls attention to the fact that the Dominion Government sought the support of the churches in connection with the recent loan campaign, but when the major denominations to the government last July and asked that restrictions be placed on the sale of alcoholic beverages during war-time, "the government completely ignored the request of the churches". The editorial continues: "The government needs money with which to carry on its war effort and yet takes no steps to reduce the $200,000,000, which will this year be spent in Canada on intoxicating liquor. Heavy taxes are imposed on luxuries and on many necessities, but in the latest budget no additional taxes were imposed on spirits, and only ten cents extra on a dozen bottles of beer. If the government is sincere in its demand for an all out war effort, if it means what it says when it pleads for national economy and efficiency, it has yet to demonstrate that to the decent, patriotic, religious people in this country by acting upon the Church's suggestion for restricting the liquor traffic."

There was a certain actor who had the dubious pleasure of reading his own obituary, owing to a mistake. Imagine his feelings as he read: "Blank was not a great actor, but he was invaluable in small parts." Most of us will have to be content with that kind of tribute. We look back over the years and see how pathetically few are the instances of great or direct good we have done. We look ahead and realize that in all probability we shall do no better than our best to date. We follow the headline celebrities and muse on the fact that it is not likely that we shall receive even that cheap tinsel of fame. Yet we have played small parts well, and perhaps that is quite as important as the heavier roles. It takes more than a general or two to make an army. On every side there are men and women whose accomplishments are modest, unspectacular, unobtrusive. But there is a connection between what these people do in their patient loyalty and the great movements which advance mankind to higher planes.

In talking with an officer recently we learned that one of the hardest things for the boys is to take orders from superior officers. This can easily be traced to the attitude taken by so many people in the last few years, that children are little individuals and should not be corrected. What a false ideal! No one ever becomes infallibly wise. No one ever will. Therefore it is up to parents, teachers, and educators to start at once handing out the much-needed discipline that has dropped so noticeably with the present generation. Our sympathy goes to the boys who for the first time in their lives are learning the value that comes from obeying just orders.

Some men are like sky-rockets. They attract attention by the rush and roar of their rapid life above us, the brilliancy of their thought, the dazzling explosion of ideas and acts, then disappear. In every way they are quite in contrast to ordinary mortals, who for the moment are fascinated by them, but who still remain after they have disappeared. But the contrast does not end here. Human sky-rockets accomplish little or nothing that benefits mankind, while ordinary mortals, less brilliant and dazzling, live on to accomplish and achieve what the world needs and must have.

The old ideal family life can be revived, and houses can be changed into homes, says a writer in the Kiwanis Magazine, only when the people who live in them have their roots deep in the ground and are working toward a lifetime of happiness in living in that home, planting it, adding on to it, changing it and making it more to heart's desire. A pretty home in a well tended garden, not only improves the value of all the property in the block, but adds to the attractiveness of the town as a whole, and is an incentive to other people to have a house and a garden they can call home.

The St. Lawrence Development

OWA in the course of the next few months, may be called upon to make a decision of very considerable importance, and one which will affect this country for many years to come. This decision must be made if the Congress of the United States approves U. S. participation in the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power project. Upon Canada's parliament will then rest the duty of deciding whether Canada can join with the United States in this undertaking at this time. Opinion in Canada is quite definitely against taking on the St. Lawrence development while the demands of war are so heavy and so imperative. At the same time, however, we feel under obligation to President Roosevelt and acquiesce with his desires for the St. Lawrence, regardless of how numerous they may be for us, might seem to be expedient. In view of the feeling in Canada, the strong sectional opposition that has been voiced in the United States and the fact that the St. Lawrence development will require large quantities of labor and materials over a period of five years and will therefore hinder the war effort of both the United States and Canada, it would seem that the entire project should well be postponed. Such action if it were initiated by President Roosevelt would raise him even higher in our estimation if possible and, what is even more to the point, would en-

LeBlanc - Gaudet

A pretty wedding took place at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Monday morning, July 7, when Rev. Father R. Gaudet, parish priest of Plympton, united in marriage his niece, Frances Gaudet, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emile Gaudet, of Concession, and Adrien LeBlanc, son of the late Philip and Mrs. Florence LeBlanc, also of Concession. The bride was charming in her long white satin gown with conventional veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She was attended by Anna Theriault and Benedict Gaudet, supported the groom. As the bride was a member of the Sodality of the Children of Mary, the marriage took place within the sanctuary. The other members assisted in a group. Following nuptial High Mass, a wedding breakfast was served to immediate relatives at the home of the bride and in the evening supper at the home of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. LeBlanc will reside in Concession and have the best wishes of relatives and friends.

Your wife is very broad-minded, isn't she?"

"Oh wonderfully! She believes there are always two sides to a question—her own and her mother's."

Grouch—Do you believe in clubs for women?

Grouchier—Well, but—why not try kindness first?

Regulations

New Gasoline

New regulations with respect to the sale of gasoline and oil have been made, and are expected to be put in force within a few days. These regulations, aimed to conserve gasoline and oil, will be effective throughout Canada in an effort to reduce ordinary consumption by 15,000,000 barrels annually.

Under the plan gasoline and oil will only be allowed to be sold between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. week days, and no sale whatever on Sundays. Credit cards will be discontinued, and all gas and oil must be purchased on a "cash and carry" basis. The price of gasoline has also been advanced one cent a gallon as part of the plan.

"Flattened" Fish Means More Food for Britain.

Fish which has been flattened and dried so that it looks like a piece of cardboard is Britain's latest device for economising in shipping space.

It is a modern version of stock-fish, which in Tudor times was exported in huge quantities from Scotland to the Catholic countries of Europe. The Spanish Armada, sailing in 1588 on its abortive attempt to invade England, carried 8,000 quintals of stock-fish to feed its crews.

By the modern method, which is applied to ling and cod, much of it from Newfoundland, the fish is sliced open and the water is drained until the fish is only one-third its original bulk. Packed in salt it will then keep for many weeks.

Although it does not look particularly appetizing in this form, a soaking in warm water brings it back to its original freshness. It is then boiled, fried, or grilled, according to taste.

Cigars in Spain, we are informed, are being made of straw, bark, leaves, cork, and a dash of nicotine. They ought to be fine for curing one of the tobacco habit.

He is a graduate of the Digby High School and of the Modern Business College, Saint John, and, we in common with the people of this Municipality take this opportunity of extending our wishes for his success. Knowing Mr. Handspiker we believe the council made a wise choice, on the other hand, we, in common with all who have occasion to visit the Municipal Clerk's office, will miss Miss Stewart—and to her we extend our best wishes for health and happiness.

Duncan Little to Make Films

of Quebec

Duncan MacD. Little, New York, and summer visitor to Smith's Cove for many years, is one of the nine amateur motion picture photographers, who have been asked to take shots at various activities in Canada in connection with the War Effort and other matters of interest to the people of the United States.

Each province of Canada is to be represented, and Mr. Little has been assigned the province of Quebec where he has done much work in this connection, particularly in respect to the St. Maurice Valley Canoe Race (his film "Voyageurs Trail", on this subject, has been shown in various parts of the Maritimes).

His wife, and father, Frederick G. Little, are now at their summer home at the Harbor View Colony, Smith's Cove, and although Mr. Little expects to be too busy this summer to take his usual summer vacation, he is managing to make week end trips to the province of Quebec to work on his assignment.

Chicken to be used for salads is much easier to cut and dice if it has first been chilled in the refrigerator.

Summer Visitors Are Arriving

There are evidences of a steady increase in the number of summer visitors to this section of the province, and from all we are able to learn the season is well in advance of that of last year for the same period. Cars from every province in Canada and from most of the states in the Union are seen on Digby's streets these days. During the past two years there has been a marked increase in the number of cars from the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, and we in Digby are proud to say that those from the sister provinces who paid their first visit to Nova Scotia within the past few years, are planning to make their Nova Scotia trip an annual event.

From Americans and Canadian alike, our highways receive highest praise; all speak well of our people, our homes, our towns and villages. They tell us our scenery cannot be excelled.

PROVINCE

Changes at Agricultural College

In accordance with the announcement made through the press last week by the provincial cabinet, C. E. Boulden, provincial animal husbandman, becomes principal of the agricultural college at Truro, and Kenneth Cox, provincial agronomist, will also act as vice-principal and director of the college farm.

A. B. Banks, who since his return from Newfoundland where for three years he was director of agriculture for the Newfoundland government, has been assistant director of extension for the provincial department of agriculture, now takes over the work of supervision of agricultural associations, and of the dairy herd improvement associations. He will also continue his work as director of the farm management project which now gives direction in farm planning and farm management to a considerable number of farms in the province. He will also continue as acting supervisor of exhibitions in the absence of Major A. W. Mackenzie, on active service.

Mr. Boulden takes the place vacated by L. T. Chapman, who last fall left the position of principal to take an administrative post in the R. C. A. F.

New One-Term Course

The new one-term course at the agricultural college in practical agriculture, which was also announced, will, it is felt, have an appeal to many farm boys in the province who are not yet military age, and who could spend five months during the winter in a profitable way by gaining practical instruction in various branches of farming at the college. The course will be for five months starting in November. It will be a consolidation of the present two-year general course. The two-year degree course will be given as usual.

Creamery Butter Production

Creamery butter production during June in the creameries of Nova Scotia totaled 867,783 lbs. compared with 862,716 lbs. in June of last year, an increase of .59 per cent. There is a total increase of 4.8 per cent. in the butter make for the first half of this year compared to the same period of last year.

Average Montreal price during June was 31.41 cents compared with 22.1 cents in June of last year. Price of butter in Halifax for the week of July 7 this year was quoted at 35.2 cents wholesale, compared with 23 cents in the same week last year, an increase of almost 60 percent to the producer.

Higher Cream Checks

Cream producers are enjoying the benefits of the much improved price situation in the dairy industry in Nova Scotia. Reports come in of dairymen having cream checks as high as $240 and $280 in a month, and one prominent dairymen reported a check as high as $325.

Early Market Lambs

On May 21st the Dominion experimental farm at Nappan shipped two lambs to the Canadian Livestock Co-operative, Moncton. These lambs were twins and 79 days of age weighing 70 and 67 pounds each. The dressed warm weights were 38 and 35 pounds and they graded A1 and B1 respectively. The net returns were $9.35 per lamb.

On June 18, fifteen more were marketed. These averaged 73 pounds live weight at an average age of 95 days. The average dressing percentage was 49 percent, and the net returns per lamb were $9.34. The full grading of these lambs was 7A1, 4B1, 4C1, this grade indicating that lambs should be 75-80

Shorthorn Field Day

The second annual field day of the central N. S. shorthorn club was held June 27 at the farm of Weldon Dickie, Middle Stewiacke. Some 75 head were shown from herds in the district. The first field day of the shorthorn club of the district was also held, reports J. A. Steels, of the Dominion department of agriculture, who states 14 calves were shown to advantage. The usual judging classes were held.

Excellent Strawberry Crops

Strawberry areas of the province report excellent crops this year. The areas in the "Valley" have now concluded the season, and report a good average crop with good prices. The Masstown area, near Truro, largest producing area in the province, is now in the midst of its season and has already had one or two shipments to Montreal as well as supplying local markets. The price situation has been fairly satisfactory, and the crop large. Manager Johnston of the Masstown Growers' Association, anticipates the season will be one of the largest in point of crop in the association's record of 15 years. Needed rains last week aided the crop. Last year the association of 65 growers harvested a total crop of over 7000 crates, or about 170,000 quarts.

Credit Union League Meeting

The 8th annual convention of the Nova Scotia Credit Union League will be held at the agricultural college at Truro July 18 and 19. Special convention speakers will include Hon. John A. McDonald, minister of agriculture, Edwin J. Bath, Ohio farm bureau federation, Rev. Dan McCormick, St. Francis Xavier University, A. S. Barnstead, deputy provincial secretary, and George Weidon of the Dartmouth credit union.

Annual Girls' Club Camp

Some 71 girls, members of "unior girls' clubs in the eastern and central parts of the province, were privileged to enjoy the annual club camp at the agricultural college grounds at Truro during the past week. The club members for three days are guests of the Nova Scotia department of agriculture, the camp being under the direction of Miss Jean Munro, director of girls' clubs for eastern Nova Scotia in charge. The camp members underwent the usual program of instruction, physical training and recreation. This included instruction in handicraft, and kindred subjects, as well as some instruction in poultry raising, bee keeping and similar farm topics. Demonstrations were also given in home nursing.

Fertilized Pastures Show Up Well

Fertilized pastures are showing up to a practically good advantage this year, at the experimental station at Kentville, states Arthur Kelsall, superintendent of the farm. While the total yields will not be known till the end of the season, nevertheless from appearance increased yields due to the fertilizer appear to be more marked than usual. At this station there are a number of one-acre fields which have been fertilized with certain treatments during a period of years. There are others which were only commenced this year, and even these latter show outstanding results.

On the old fields at Kentville all three of the major fertilizer elements show definite economic returns. During the past few years an acre which was unfertilized has averaged 3,500 pounds of grass per year. But this is getting less each year and an average of the last few years only, would be much less than this. The addition of 600 pounds of acid phosphate applied every third year has increased the yield to somewhat over 8,000 pounds of grass per acre. A still further addition of potash at the rate of 100 pounds per acre, applied every three years has increased the yield of grass to 1350 pounds. The addition of nitrate of soda applied at the rate of 100 pounds annually to the area receiving both minerals, has again increased the yield to 16,500 pounds of grass.

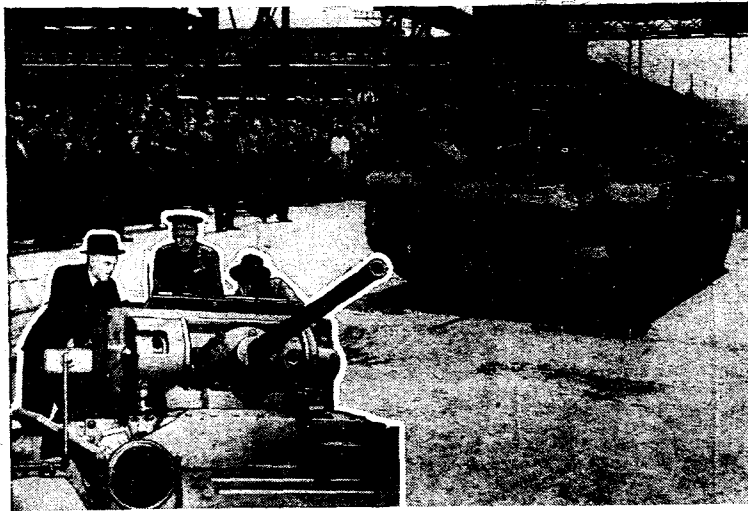

If, for the purpose of calculation, it is assumed that the grass on fertilized pastures has a value of one-tenth cent per pound, then extra grass is produced to the value of $4.50 annually from the addition of an expenditure of $2.00 for acid phosphate. A still further increase of grass valued at $5.50 is obtained for an annual expenditure of 70 cents in potash. A still further increase of grass is produced at a value of $3.00 from an annual expenditure of $1.50 for nitrate of soda. In other words, where a complete fertilizer is used a total increase of grass valued at $13.00 was produced at an expenditure of $4.20 for fertilizer. But this is not the whole story, for such calculations are based on a uniform valuation of the grass produced, whereas the grass on the fertilized areas is of much higher quality than that on the unfertilized area. Also, while the arbitrary value of one-tenth cent per pound which is placed on grass may be approximately a fair price in considering the gains of young stock on pasture, a higher valuation than this is probably indicated when used by milking cows. There is still much to be learned about the more efficient use of fertilizers on pastures, both with reference to ratios of the major elements and as to the quantities which give the economic returns. Probably the additional fields established at Kentville will give an answer to some of these problems. The area to which nitrogen was applied in addition to the minerals not only produces the largest total amount of grass, but is ready for pasturing considerably earlier than the other areas. The area to which just the minerals are applied, namely acid phosphate and muriate of potash, carries the largest stand of white clover, and gives good summer pasture. There is a suggestion that it might prove economical to have two differently treated areas on a pasture, namely with one complete fertilizer containing nitrogen as well as the minerals in order to get early pasture, and the other with minerals alone in order to get more white clover and a pasture which continues good into late summer.

First Tank in Canada Produced by Canadian Pacific Railway

Gratefully accepted by the Government for use by the Canadian Army, the first of thousands of tanks to be produced at the Angus Shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Montreal, rolled off the assembly line and gave an impressive test performance before a large group of government and company officials, newspaper men and shop workers. It was a new note in Canada's war history when this mighty war machine rumbled out of the shops, to be turned over to the Government by D. C. Coleman, vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway, who said: "This machine is the child of sweat and tears. It will be followed by hundreds and thousands of others to help the Empire to its victory."

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, praised Mr. Coleman, H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock of the railway, and the workers who had done the job. He said that the armor plate on the tank is equal to that to be found anywhere. Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, spoke of the great need for all these machines as fast as they can be produced and thanked the railway and the workers for doing such a fine job. He revealed that 300 of the tanks being made at Angus will be for the British Purchasing Commission. Sir Clive Baillieu, head of the British Purchasing Commission in the United States, said this first tank was "a symbol of Canada's war effort and a portent of Hitler's doom."

TIME MARCHES ON

Twenty-Five Years Ago

(From Courier files of July 21, 1916.)

Shows advertised for the Bijou Dream Theatre were: "The Lost Bridegroom," "Out of the D-Flats."

Capt. Edward Kearns, the popular and obliging master of the ferry boat Port Wade, picked up a purse in Dakin Bros' store last week containing $59.59. He immediately put forth every effort to find the owner, which proved to be John Purdy, Deep Brook's well known boat builder.

J. F. Trask, who is repairing his country home at Marshallow, was already aware that he owned one of the oldest residences in that village, but is now convinced of the date of its erection. While it was undergoing repairs he found a coin deposited under a corner post bearing the date of 1792, probably put there to denote the age of the building.

A letter to the editor signed George E. Dittmars, Deep Brook, complains that a car driven at a rapid rate of speed, passed two young ladies near the Post Office where the road was quite wet and muddy, the result, therefore, was, "one of the young ladies was plastered with mud and water from head to foot. Now Mr. Editor," writes Mr. Dittmars, "we think that such carelessness, or shall we say, recklessness, should be thoroughly exposed if not punished. It looks as though when a person gets an auto he thinks that all persons should give way to him, that he is lord of the highway and that no other has any right upon the road."

Marriages—Emma Arnold Turnbull, Digby, to Hubert Robertson Haines, formerly of England; Rita Manzer, Ashmore, to Anson LeRoy Warner, Plympton; Anna Belle Halliday, Granville Ferry, to Edward Everett, Victoria Beach; Lennie Bunker, to Kingsley Rose Walker, both of Centreville.

Deaths—Capt. Wm. Crowley, Boston, formerly of Plympton; Thomas Gilbert Ruggles, Bear River; Angus Stewart, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marshall, Marshallow.

safety of the fishing boat, Gerald D., Capt. Oswald Banks, of Centreville, Digby Co. With a crew of five she left Yarmouth on Wednesday of last week for the Seal Island fishing grounds. On Saturday morning when about 25 miles southwest of that island, she developed engine trouble and three of the crew were put in a dory to row to Seal Island for help. They arrived safely and help was sent, but the boat has not been seen since.

Gordon Porter, with his wife and seven children, were rendered homeless, when their home at Waterford was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning.

The old bell tower and fog alarm that guarded the east side of the Digby Gut, at Victoria Beach, fell prey to flames on Monday morning. It is understood the structure will be replaced.

A letter was recently received in Digby from Greece, which relates a rather interesting story. The writer was a Valley man, who has been engaged in archeological work in that country. The ancient city on which they are working is situated a few miles from Athens, and dates back in early history. He speaks of watching a laborer dig out a very fragile vase. He was handling it with great care, and when he removed it, the writer goes on to say, "Imagine my astonishment when the man reached out for a piece of paper in which to wrap his find, to see him take up a copy of the Digby Courier. It was quite a late copy, too."

Married—Hattie Marge Melanson, Meteghan River, to Melbourne Moise Pothier, of Wedgeport.

Deaths—Mrs. Bernard Marshall, Marshallow; Mrs. H. Clifford Rice, Kentville; Garret McGrath, Port Wade; Mae Saulnier, Wodvale.

Britain Delivers the Goods

Twenty-Two Locomotives Shipped Safely

Britain's locomotive works are still keeping overseas railways supplied with equipment despite the fact that they are also turning out vast quantities of such war equipment as tanks, torpedoes, shells, bombs, gun mountings and carriages, and even morning buoys and anchors.

Twenty-seven locomotives, having a total value of over $300,000, were shipped from Britain in the first three months of this year to Turkey, Egypt, Iraq, South Africa and the Straits of Settlement.

Shipments are still going on and despite war hazards in the Mediterranean, further deliveries have been made to Turkey since the end of the first quarter, making a total of 22 this year.

Where new locomotives cannot be supplied Britain is sending boilers for re-equipping existing engines. A total of 38 was exported during the March quarter, to India, South Africa, Peru and Uruguay.

These have an average value of $2,000 each.

Britain's locomotive works now employ over 10,000 men.

Ten Miles of Carpets From Yorkshire

Ten miles of Axminster carpets in two novel designs have been shipped from Yorkshire to the United States during the past year.

The designs were created from flowers picked by the manufacturer from his own garden in the midst of moorland made familiar to the world by "Wuthering Heights."

The flowers were sketched and incorporated in two patterns named after the home of the manufacturer and that of a fellow director. In design and coloring they were so successful that a group of prominent American carpet manufacturers asked to see them displayed in New York.

During last year, trade with the United States was so good that the makers of these carpets sold more than four times as many Axminster piece goods and Broadloom plain Wilton as in 1939.

The flowers of Yorkshire are now being arranged in other designs. Their success in the United States has already been repeated in Australia and New Zealand.

World Record in Mine Equipment

In two minutes a load of 8 tons can be brought up from a mine 6,000 feet down by an electric winder sent out from Great Britain to one of the City Deep mines in South Africa.

Two similar equipments completed for South Africa carry drums 36 feet across, believed to be the biggest ever made for electric winders. Forty tons is the weight of the single piece flywheel in cast steel included in each motor generator set for equalisation purposes.

The same engineering shops have turned out many overseas jobs during the past year, including large turbo-alternators for India, Canada and Australia.

They are now building four additional rectifiers for the Natal section of the South African Railways similar to those supplied a few years ago for the main line electrification between Durban and Volksrust—the largest system in the world operating with inverted rectifiers.

New Principal of Agricultural College

C. E. BOULDEN

Appointment was announced recently of C. E. Boulden, provincial animal husbandman of the Nova Scotia department of agriculture, to be principal of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College.

Mr. Boulden, who for some years has been an official of the Nova Scotia department, was born in Ontario, but educated in Nova Scotia, at Windsor, where his father, Rev. C. J. Boulden, was for many years principal of the famous King's College. Following his academic education, Mr. Boulden attended the Nova Scotia agricultural college and went on to Macdonald college, Quebec, where he was graduated with the degree of B.S.A.

For a time he was on the staff of Macdonald college, lecturing in animal husbandry and was also for a time attached to the soldier's civil re-establishment organization following the great war. He was also at one time at the experimental station at Kentville. He joined the Nova Scotia department of agriculture, some years ago, first doing extension work in Hants and Kings counties. He later went to the agricultural college at Truro, where he was superintendent of exhibitions, agricultural societies, and in the dairy herd improvement work and eventually became provincial animal husbandryman which position he filled at the time of his appointment to the principalship.

Mr. Boulden is a practical farmer, having some years ago purchased an outstanding farm in the Windsor district, and the operation of which he actively superintends, with a capable farm manager in charge.

Romance lasted much longer in the old days, probably because a bride looked much the same after washing her face.

The registration for the evening netted the Queen's Fund $18.00.

Digby Rifle Men Are Good Shots

Three marksmen from Nova Scotia, all members of the Digby Rifle Club, Digby, became proud holders of one of the highest distinctions in sporting rifle marksmanship in Canada when they recently won the coveted Dominion Marksmen expert shield award it is announced from the headquarters of the Dominion Marksmen organization in Montreal. They are Basil Porter, Roy Peters and Charles McBride.

In winning this prize the Nova Scotia rifleman posted scores of 5952, 5926 and 5953 respectively out of the possible 6000 points. It requires outstanding marksmanship to post a score better than the necessary minimum of 5860 points of the possible 6000 in this competition in which each marksman must shoot 20 targets from each of the standing, sitting and prone positions. To gain the shield the rifleman must shoot twenty possibles, that is a perfect score in the prone position, twenty 98's or better in the kneeling or sitting position and twenty 95's or better in the standing off-hand stance.

An unusual evening of fun was enjoyed by about fifty Bay View residents and guests—both Canadian and American—on Wednesday evening of last week, at the Bay View Life Saving Station. The entertainment was in the form of a day from the life of a college student at the "Far View Dunstons." Classes in Etiquette, Laboratory Research, Drama and Design were tactically conducted—the class in Design being particularly successful. Costumes were created from newspapers with pins and scissors the only aids. The result was a dinosaur, a little Dutch girl, Raveedy Ann, a Hula Dancer, and the prize-winning Napoleon—sword and all.

Each student was pledged to a fraternity upon registration and credit cards were kept for each group. At the end of the evening prizes were awarded the two fraternities with the highest scores. They were given their choice of two family wrapped boxes said to contain cigarette lighters (two matches) and coat hangers (two nails).

The registration for the evening netted the Queen's Fund $18.00.

Nazi Plan For Britain

(Extracted from London Daily Express.)

I have told you how the Germans intended to make us slaves if they conquered us. Some foolish people who do not understand the Germans doubt that.

Let them ponder over this. It was sent to me recently by a British general. It is a note of what was said to him not so very long ago by an active Nazi agent operating in a country which has since fallen to Germany.

"As soon as we beat England we shall make an end of you English once and for all. Able-bodied men and women will be exported as slaves to the continent. The old and weak will be exterminated."

"All men remaining in Britain—as slaves—will be sterilized. A million or two of the young women of the Nordic type will be segregated in a number of stud farms, where, with the assistance of picked German sires, they will during a period of ten or twelve years produce nearly annually a series of Nordic infants."

to be brought up as Germans. "The infants will form the future population of Britain. They will be partially educated in Germany and only those who fully satisfy Nazi requirements will be allowed to return to Britain and take up permanent residence. The rest will be sterilized and sent to join the slave gangs in Germany. Thus in a generation or two the British will disappear."

You may think no nation would do this—not even Germany. But remember it is being done in Poland today.

Every German you leave alive if an invasion comes, brings you a shade nearer such a Nazi paradise.

Please 'Have a Heart'

We are anxious to serve our public. We invite all of you to send, bring or telephone your personal items and other news for publication, and of course, we are highly pleased when you drop in to pay your subscription accounts. We don't want to write anything that will discourage your doing any of these things, but, at the same time, we do ask you to "have a heart".

Our office staff is perfectly capable of attending to your personals or classified ads, and Miss Burrell knows more about your subscription account than anyone else connected with the Courier. Keeping track and checking these accounts is one of the most important phases of her work. When you want to pay your subscription, leave a "personal" or classified ad, it is not necessary to ask for Mr. Wallis or Mac any more than it is necessary to have the manager wait on you when you wish to deposit a few dollars in the bank.

No, Mr. Wallis and Mac are not "kicking", but, much of their time is spent in the First Avenue plant, where the commercial printing and linotype work is done, and to say the least, they do find it annoying at times to have their work interrupted to attend to matters the office staff could handle with less fuss or bother than they can.

Frolics Help Hay Making

Haying has become a real problem due to a spell of wet weather, and farmers are having difficulty in curing and storing their crops. Recent fine days have found women and children working in the fields with the men, and hundreds of tons of upland hay was stored in barns of Digby County on Sunday, by those who took advantage of the fine day.

Not only has the weather been against the majority of farmers, but there is an acute labor shortage in the hay fields; many of the farm boys have been absorbed by the army, navy and air force, and there is very little transient labor to be had. Furthermore, due to labor conditions in larger centres, a number of farmers who are skilled in other trades, have taken other employment, working their farms "before and after hours".

At Deep Brook, a few miles from Digby, where farmers are employed at the Gypsum Plant, they have solved the problem to some extent by "frolics". Every evening after work at the plant, to go together to one of the farms and "pitch in" with the haying; weeding; turnip thinning; or whatever farm work requires their attention. Each evening they visit another farm until they complete the rounds, and then go the rounds all over again. The women folk provide the supper, and the plan is proving highly successful.

Beautiful Structure Nearing Completion

The new St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church is nearing completion—boarding in the new edifice is completed, and the first coat of paint being applied.

The new church will be an imposing and beautiful structure, a place of worship of which the parishioners will be justly proud, and a credit to the whole community.

The church property extends through from First Avenue to Queen Street, fronting Queen Street about opposite the Digby Academy. Actual construction of the building began several years ago when the basement was built and roofed over. For a time the basement was used as a Community Hall, and later, has served as the church home of the congregation of St. Patrick's, the original church at the top of Chapel Hill, having out-grown its congregation.

While construction is being completed on the new edifice, the old theatre is serving as a temporary St. Patrick's Church. The new church will be completed and opened next month.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Payant, of Massachusetts, arrived recently, and are spending their vacation in their summer home in Acacia Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. William Graves, of Saint John, are spending a week with her brother, Bert. Fleet and Mrs. Fleet.

About This and That

If some newspaper readers think there is too much attention paid to the war in news and editorials, and would like to see more attention to normal, peaceful, domestic affairs, it can only be answered that we'll all get back to normal in due time if we're lucky. Just now modern civilization seems to be approaching a climax of some kind, and we're all involved in it, whether we're conscious of the fact or not. The greatest destructive forces of modern times are engaged in a supreme effort to overthrow our humane civilization and master the world. They would throw us back into a period of scientific barbarism that might last for ages. The liberal and humane are struggling to preserve the kindly, progressive ways of life that we have known. This year, even this month, might tell the story and give the decision. The question is whether life is to go forward or backward, up or down whether we are all to be bond or free—whether America is to fulfill the peaceful destiny we have always assumed, or is to live as an armed camp, a besieged fortress, in a hostile world. Most of us see this, or think we see it. Some of us don't. In either case it is hard for realistic and intelligent people not to talk about it.

Would the women give us peace if they had control of things? The Rev. Francis Bartsch, Marquette University biologist, says no, taking issue with some feminine leaders who think their sex could make a better world. "Just imagine the local bridge club operating on a national or international scope," he says. "There would be nothing but intrigue and war. War is a human trait, and women are just as susceptible as men." The family, he insists, is "really the basic unit of successful government," and "all prospering civilization have been founded on healthy family conditions." There is where women find their main jobs. "If women collectively forsake their homes for professions the healthy family would disappear and with it would go civilization." "Men," he adds, "don't respect masculine women." He doesn't want to bar women from government and industry. In advisory capacities, he grants, their judgement is often superior to that of men. And we have "women who are both leaders and mothers." But such examples, he thinks, are not the rule. And in general, he thinks women can serve the world best by maintaining peace in the home. They have a gift for that.

Our congratulations to the Liverpool Advance on its new format. We like the tabloid form of paper and decided some months ago to change the Courier over beginning with our next volume in September, and so, Brother Day, you need not think we are copying you—you only beat us to it. But we think Mr. Day is in error when he says the Advance is the first paper to adopt the style. The Annapolis Spectator has been in that form for years. The Mining Record, of Stellarton, now out of business, was owned by Hon. Robert Drummond and was always tabloid, as was the Springhill News, owned and published by Harry McNight. The Yarmouth Daily News, under the editorship of the late P. St. C. Hamilton, was also in tabloid form, similar to the Summerside Journal of today.

Mayors in many sections of the Maritimes are quietly wondering how greatly the recent reading of the proclamation, announcing a call to arms, stimulated recruiting. They reflect, over the pump and ceremony and secrecy of it all. They think of the spending of the money, as well. And they cannot but recall that on July 2, the day before the mysterious proclamation was to be officially released, the pesky radio put it on the air, anyway.

Not so long ago, Iceland's precise location was not common knowledge. Some folks had it mixed with Greenland. Anyway, it was far off, and insufferably cold. There is a difference today. Iceland has made the front page. Iceland is in the news. Most of us know where Iceland is. The frosty sounding island has verdant summers, good sized towns, shops and people and politics and all that, and Iceland, be it known, is considerably larger than Ireland.

DO YOU TAKE SALTS?

Here's a pinch that is as good as a pound

Kruschen Salts consist of several important mineral salts blended carefully in exactly the right proportions. These salts are highly refined and their quality is the highest obtainable anywhere in the world. Maybe we sacrifice something by giving you the pure mineral salts without adding any flavouring ingredients, but we believe you prefer to have your medicine concentrated in small, compact and easily absorbed doses. That's why you only need take enough Kruschen to cover a dime. It's the economical way of taking salts, too.

Another thing to remember about Kruschen—it doesn't achieve its result by irritating or inflaming the colon. It attracts to the colon the moisture which is absolutely essential if you wish to avoid constipation and achieve easy evacuation. You can get Kruschen from all druggists, 75c, and 25c.

Democracies Use War as Smoke Screen

Kaiser Wilhelm has gone to his reward. History will record that he was a good man, and loyal to his friends and allies. And, that is a lot in a world where so few are dependable. The old time German was a good citizen and welcome in every quarter of the globe. Later generations brought up under the tutelage of Hitler and his cohorts with little regard for human life and suffering, are just a tribe of savage snarling tomcats. The little Austrian house-painter has put it over the political bigwigs of fifteen nations, which shows what one man can do with vision and determined purpose. Let no one suppose that it cannot happen again. It has happened all through the ages and will happen again.

A number of older generals have been shelved in favor of younger men who are supposed to have more steam. Steam is all right in places but it will never replace experience and mature judgment. The so-called mystery of Rudolf Hess has not been cleared up—if mystery there be. He probably could no longer stomach the atrocities of Hitler and his gangsters, and fled before he became the victim of a blood purge. Rudolf Hess might well be employed to give instruction to the powers that be in military strategy and how to make war, which is not always in evidence in our operations abroad. Narvik, Dunkerque, Dakar, Greece, Crete and Libya follow each other in monotonous sequence. Notwithstanding all setbacks we shall muddle through somehow—painful though it be.

A nation at war should conserve its resources, practice rigid economy and avoid fantastic schemes, for, an economic break will lead to military disaster. That fact is as plain as a pikestaff, that he who runs may read.

It is characteristic of a democracy that it starts a war as though it were to last six months. Democracies are prone to use war as a smoke screen for all sorts of fantastic and diabolical schemes.

Each side of the present conflict promises a new order for Europe and the world. But it will be the same old world but more of it. There will be the same old political rackets and more of them—the same old agitation for less work and more pay—the same old conspiracy to rob the man who works and saves his money—the same old political promises and squandermania—the same old gang riding on the taxpayer.

Democracies are mostly interested in the maintenance of a high standard of living. If they were equally interested in a higher standard of morals, it would be of inestimable benefit to the whole world. The clogs in the gear of democratic nations are wastage, inefficiency, favoritism and red tape, which makes one wish for a benevolent dictator.

Bolshevism and Nazism are in a head-on collision on the eastern front. Let us hope that they will cut each other's throats good and plenty. By the time the curtain falls on that conflict we may be ready to mop up the remains. As the sun goes down on an embattled world, there appears on the horizon the word "Retribution".

Local & Personal

A noted fashion expert says every woman should own a double mirror, so she can view her gown from the back as well as from the front. That would certainly slow up the sale of slacks.

Rev. and Mrs. L. Weldon Mosher, of Woodside, Dartmouth, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spurr, Deep Brook. While there, arrangements were completed with Sea Breeze Hotel for week end Convention, August 30-September 1, of the A. Y. P. A. of which Mr. Mosher is provincial organizer.

A car owned and operated by Louis Melanson, of Weymouth, was badly damaged on Sunday afternoon, when it overturned on the Weymouth Point road. Melanson failed to make the corner, and rolled the car into the ditch, the car landing upside down. None of the three occupants of the car was hurt. It was later towed into Weymouth for repairs.

Red Cross Garden Party

A garden party was held on Thursday afternoon of last week, on the lawn of the Robert Austin Home. Hostesses were Miss Austin and Mrs. Mark Longworth assisted by the members of the local Red Cross Auxiliary. Miss Edith Wightman and Mrs. Frank Wightman presided at the daintily arranged tea table. Other tables were the home cooking, candy, and novelty table. The "art" booth held exhibits of the paintings of W. B. Snow. All of these things were well patronized and the sum of $46.50 was realized clear of any expense. The weather man was not as kind as he might have been, but the rain held off until the finish.

Another $10 for The Queen's Fund

Since printing the story of the merry party at the Bay View Life Saving Station, which raised $18 for the Queen's Canadian Fund, the Courier is pleased to acknowledge an additional $10 this week—this money was raised from the proceeds of a quilt donated by Mrs. Howard Cosman, of Plympton.

Although the two donations acknowledged this week total $28, we regret the total for the month to date is not what we feel it should be—we have only been able to forward $30.50 this month, and we had hoped to raise at least $100 for the month of July.

Any effort of yours will be appreciated—the fund, as you know is for the relief of Air Raid Victims—and is sponsored by the newspapers of Canada. Your contribution left at the COURIER OFFICE, DIGBY, will be acknowledged.

Gasoline Law Taken In Good Part

People in Digby and summer visitors appear to be taking kindly to the new gasoline regulations, and have shown their desire to co-operate in the government's drive to conserve gasoline and oil.

From the "natives" we have not heard one serious complaint over the regulations.

several of the visitors from the United States with whom we have talked, through some misunderstandings, appeared a bit alarmed at first, but after looking further into the regulations, decided they should have no trouble in getting sufficient gas to carry them over the border when the time comes for them to make their return trip.

Others simply said they expected to be faced with similar regulations, and possibly rationings, when they return to the United States.

Frankly, we have not discussed the matter with one person who did not consider the measure a necessary one. The opinion is that in these days of mechanized warfare gasoline is fully as necessary as bullets and bombs if Hitler is to be licked—without it planes and tanks would be useless. The general hope is that the public will actually conserve gas, and not merely hoard it up for week end and evening use.

It is possible for motorists to conserve gasoline without any serious personal sacrifice—and if they are sincere in their expressed desire to conserve, there will be less insane driving, and fewer accidents on the highways.

Chute's Brook Bridge Collapses

The centre span of the Chute's Brook bridge went down on Thursday of last week, under the weight of a truck loaded with pulpwood. The truck was driven by Donald Rice, Bear River, who was accompanied by Chesley Robbins, Smith's Cove. Other than a few minor body scratches suffered by Robbins, neither were injured.

The bridge is the familiar three-span white wooden structure on the Acadia Valley Road, and spanned the brook, which empties into the Big Joggin, near its mouth. The bridge is visible from the Joggin Bridge on the main highway.

Rice was driving east (toward the village of Joggin Bridge) when the accident occurred. Before driving on the bridge approach, he stopped the truck while he and Robbins helped themselves to a few cherries, which grow wild in that vicinity, and therefore they crossed the bridge at slow speed.

The forward portion of the truck had moved far enough beyond the middle span, so that when the span collapsed the truck did not fall into the portion which remained standing, and the rear end hanging in mid air. A wrecking, with the aid of block and tackle pulled the truck, which was badly damaged, off the bridge. Boats salvaged the pulpwood, which fell into the Joggin.

Work at repairing the bridge (which was not an old structure) has begun, and it is understood the structure will be widened.

Red Cross Tea

A well patronized afternoon tea, under the auspices of the Digby Branch of the Red Cross Society, was held on Friday, at the home of Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch. Receipts, amounting to $29.50 were devoted to the Layette Fund.

Tea was poured by Mrs. W. E. Tupper and Mrs. Gaskill; those serving were Mrs. Worley, Mrs. J. W. Merkel, Mrs. G. W. Connell, Mrs. Plow, Miss Edith Shreve and Miss Edith Lynch. Mrs. G. V. Turnbull was cashier and the exhibit was presided over by Mrs. H. M. Warne.

The centre of interest in the drawing room was a group of tables surmounted by a sign "Red Cross Layettes for British Babies". Here was displayed one complete layette, ready to be sewed into a compact bundle for shipment to England. Each bundle, the wrapper of which is a crib sheet, contains everything an infant requires from soap and safety pins to a wool shawl. There were also on display a large assortment of beautiful as well as useful jackets, bonnets, booties and shawls, giving evidence of the time and care which are being lavished on this phase of our war work.

Digby Has New Industry

The International Shellfish Company, a subsidiary of Sofron Bros., Inc., Ipswich, Mass., is doing a big business on Anderson's Wharf, near the head of the long wharf, Jew Cove, in the export of shucked clams. Since operations commenced thousands of gallons of clams have been exported from Digby.

At the present time some sixty men and girls are employed in the new building constructed on the wharf this summer, shucking, cleaning and packing clams for export. Others are employed digging in the clam beds found along the shores of Annapolis Basin, St. Mary's Bay, and various sections of the coast of Annapolis and Digby Counties.

HOSPITAL FAIR

Potato Acreages Lower.

All indications point to a lighter crop of potatoes in both Canada and the United States, according to information provided by the market branch of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture. Estimate of the crop in the United States for this season placed at 367,650,000 bushels, by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, as compared with the 1940 final of 397,722,000 bushels, and the ten-year average of 370,000,000 bushels.

The latest estimate of the Canadian crop places the percentage at 93 at this time, as against 94 at this time last year, (100 being the figure for the long-time average). Nova Scotia's percentage just now is 955 compared with 97 last year; New Brunswick, 96 as against 95 last year, and P. E. I., 92 against 100 last year. Ontario is substantially down from last year.

Shortage of Farm Labor.

With the haying season at hand and requests for farm help pouring into the offices of the agricultural representatives in the various counties, and with the apple picking season looming up in the not too distant future, the farm labor situation is rapidly taking on a serious aspect according to information at hand in the Halifax offices of the Nova Scotia Department of Labor.

Discussing the situation on Thursday last, Hon. John A. McDonald, minister of agriculture, stated the situation was being closely followed by the department and everything possible done to assist farmers in finding needed help. Furthermore, Ottawa authorities are having the matter drawn strongly to their attention, with the suggestion that some definite arrangements be made to release trainees and other members of the armed forces in the various camps who might not be engaged on work of immediate necessity, for temporary work on the farms.

Having is the immediate concern of the farmers just now. While the hay crop will not be more than average this year, the full value of what crop there is will be lost unless the hay can be "made" within the next week or so. Many farmers are now making what effort they can to get the hay cut while its full proving value can be realized. Haying is progressing in most counties now, but the shortage of farm help has seriously retarded operations in districts like Cumberland, Colchester, Pictou, and certain of the Valley areas, where the hay crop every year is considerable and requires much extra help to handle.

As one method of helping to meet the situation a move on foot to form local committees in county centers working with the county agricultural representatives, so that a closer touch can be kept with the farm help situation and means devised of making help available.

Jersey Field Day.

Jersey breeders in Nova Scotia had an excellent demonstration of the qualities of the breed at a field day held July 16 at the large farm estate of J. P. Norris, near Truro. Here some 50 high-bred Jerseys were shown to the breeders and a number of animals brought out for demonstration. The demonstration was done by Alex. Ness, professor of animal husbandry at MacDonald College, who has been paying his first visit to Nova Scotia in some years, and by W. H. Hunter, secretary of the Jersey Breeders Association of Canada. Details for the day were arranged by J. A. Steele, federal livestock representative.

T. B. Test in Kings County.

The official test for T.B. in cattle, comprising the second general test for the county, is now under way under the direction of Dr. O'Brien, of the federal government service, assisted by Dr. Wheatley, Pasco, Macdonald and Rushon. Up to Friday, July 11, between 4000 and 5000 head of cattle had been tested, with only 13 reactors found. This is less than one-half of one per cent—a very low rate.

Champion Berry Pickers.

Champion strawberry pickers in the Masstown area, Nova Scotia's largest strawberry producing area, were this year Elizabeth Upham, of the Masstown district, who picked 116 boxes in less than four hours and a total of 216 boxes for the day, and Elwood MacNeil, of New Glasgow, who was only one box behind Miss Upham. The champion of the district last year was Eunice Upham, sister of this year's champion, who picked 120 quarts in less than four hours.

Farmer M. P. Visits Province.

A visitor to Nova Scotia the past week was Geo. E. Wood, one of the "dirt farmer" members of the House of Commons, who represented Brant in the house, and operates a farm at Cainsville, Ont., near Brantford. He was greatly interested in various phases of Nova Scotia agriculture, particularly in the progress being made in the hog, poultry and sheep industries under grading and organized marketing.

Importance of the Farm Woodlot.

The increasing importance of the farm woodlot, its proper management, to the future of the forestry industry of the Maritime provinces was emphasized at the recent sessions of the Maritime section of the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers, July 7 and 8, at Fredericton, and attended by forestry officials and representatives of the forest products industry from all three Maritimes.

Discussions dealt largely with the general state of the farm wood lot situation, and indicated the extent to which foresters are realizing that the future of the woodlot on the farms of the Maritimes is more or less basic to the future of the entire forestry industry. Forestry officials of the three provinces are giving considerable attention to educational programs among the farm owners of woodlots, as to proper methods of management and conservation.

The convention this year was held at the forestry building of the University of New Brunswick, and the delegates paid visits to the University woodlot, the Fredericton city woodlot, and the Acadia forest experiment station.

Groups were formed to consider each area from the standpoint of protection, silviculture, utilization and public relations.

During the meeting a demonstration was given of the new model hose roller. An experimental simplified fire-hazard indicator was also shown and discussed.

Record Salmon

A record salmon was taken from the Saint John River in New Brunswick recently by a resident fly fisherman according to information furnished to Ernie Poole, fish and game expert of the Canadian National Railways, by the New Brunswick Government Bureau of Information and Tourist Travel. The big silver salmon weighed 30 pounds, was 44 inches in length and had a girth measurement of 23 inches. It is believed to be the largest salmon ever taken from this river. The previous record was a 28-pounder taken from Hart's Island Pool in 1923. The next largest was a 27-pounder caught in the same pool ten years later by Lionel "Hitch" Hitchman, former Boston Bruins hockey star. The largest record fish, despite its weight, was a keen fighter, running out twice with 100 yards of line, and leaped from the water four times before it was landed.

Ice Cream from Seaweed.

Wall boats from Ceylon coconuts, macaroons from New Zealand apricot, peach and cherry stones, building blocks from the coral mud of British Honduras and canned chicken from India are among the investigations reviewed in its new report by Britain's Imperial Institute.

The Institute has carried out experiments on the production from Malayan seaweed of agar-agar, a substance used for such diverse purposes as cheap American ice cream, Chinese birds' nest soup, electro-plating, and a laxative. Malayan tonka beans, which impart to tobacco the scent of new-mown hay have been examined, as have Australian substitutes for Swedish and Spanish welding rod coating materials.

There are reports on rubymica from India, South African chicory seed and New Zealand pigs' hair; sheepskins from Tanganyika and banana stems from Palestine; Antiguan cotton seed, Nyasaland tung oil and Nigerian ginger; soap from Burma, seneciveria fibre from East Africa, raisins from Cyprus, cashew nuts from Sierra Leone and medicinal plants from Southern Rhodesia.

Under war conditions, much of the Institute's work is secret, but it may be stated that the Plant and Animals Department made reports on 312 samples and dealt with 1,000 other inquiries from thirty-three Empire countries, while the Mineral Resources Department examined 1,000 samples and dealt with 1,710 inquiries.

Each army camp, post, or supply depot keeps 90 different sizes of shoes in stock to fit recruits.

It takes about 45 gallons of water to fill a bathtub of average size.

"CALLING ALL CARS"

Save Gasoline

A NATIONAL EMERGENCY

Canada is right up against an acute shortage of gasoline and fuel oil. Tankers that normally supply our country have been commandeered for vitally important overseas service.

The Commonwealth Air Training Plan, the rapid development of Canada's mechanized army units and the great work carried on by our corvettes make the demand for fuel urgent.

Our crude oil intake is limited. There is just one thing to do if our fighting forces are to carry on with a "full tank". Every Canadian motorist is asked to cut his daily gas consumption in half!

There are many ways by which this 50% saving can be made... ways and means to give you more mileage per gallon. You can drive slower so that you will use less gasoline. You can go fifty-fifty with your neighbours, inviting each other to share cars... for business, and for pleasure. People can readily go to and from work together, using one car instead of four... using one gallon of gasoline instead of several. Women as well as men can make these savings.

The amount of gasoline used in Canada for business, social and non-essential activities is amazingly high in proportion to that used by our fighting forces. One look at the figures would convince you that this situation must be reversed.

17 easy ways towards a 50% GASOLINE SAVING

(Approved by Automobile Experts)

- Reduce driving speed from 60 to 40 on the open road.
- Avoid jack-rabbit starts.
- Avoid useless or non-essential driving.
- Turn motor off when not in use, do not leave idling.
- Don't race your engine; let it warm up slowly.
- Don't strain your engine; change gears.
- Keep carburetor cleaned and properly adjusted.
- Tune up motor, timing, etc.
- Keep spark plugs and valves clean.
- Check cooling system; overheating wastes gasoline.
- Maintain tires at right pressure.
- Lubricate efficiently; worn engines waste gasoline.
- Drive in groups to and from work, using cars alternate days.
- For golf, picnics and other outings, use one car instead of four.
- Take those short shopping trips ON FOOT and carry parcels home.
- Walk to and from the movies.
- Boat owners, too, can help by reducing speed.

Your regular service station man will gladly explain these and other ways of saving gasoline. Consult him.

GO 50 50 WITH OUR FIGHTING FORCES
The Government of the DOMINION OF CANADA
ACTING THROUGH:

THE HONOURABLE C. D. HOWE, Minister of Munitions and Supply

G. R. COTTRELL, O4 Controller for Canada

Spare and Share your Gasoline for VICTORY!

Canada does not ask or request you to put your car up. She merely asks for your help... asks that you walk sometimes when the distance isn't too great...

that you take a shorter drive on Sunday afternoon... that you look after your car and keep it in good condition... that you say to your neighbour: "Let's use my car today, Jim; we'll use yours tomorrow."

Every day, in greater and greater quantity, we must release gasoline and oil by the thousands of gallons to our throbbing munitions plants... to our tanks and armoured cars... to our fighting planes and bombers... to our corvettes and merchant ships that ply the vital sea-lanes... so that the day of victory may sooner be at hand.

Will YOU help?

It is also vitally important that you reduce the use of domestic and commercial fuel oil.

TIME

The citizens of Digby are planning on a big day next Friday, August 4th. Mayor Hayden has declared a public holiday in Digby. A meeting of the citizens was held in the Council Chamber last Monday morning at which Col. Bullock and Couns. Dunham and Nichols were appointed a management committee. Hundreds of visitors are expected in Digby for the purpose of solemnly observing the second anniversary of the great war.

The latest addition to the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club is the sloop yacht, Delta, owned by Charles Power, of Montclair, N. J., and built by Wm. E. Dunn, of Digby.

George P. P. Bonnell arrived here Monday afternoon in his open launch, Old Glory III. He was accompanied by William Washburn Nutting, whose interesting stories in Motor Boat and other yachting magazines have become popular all over the United States and Canada.

One of the most serious accidents which ever occurred on the Dominion Atlantic Railway took place on the west end of the Weymouth Bridge about four o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The westbound Yarmouth-Middleton accommodation train had taken on water at the tank and as it got under way from the Weymouth station, two cars, one loaded with lumber and another with scrap iron, left the rails, going over an embankment many feet high, partially derailling the locomotive which fortunately did not leave the bridge. The passengers, all of whom were in the rear coach, were uninjured. Trainmen and other two who went over the embankment were severely injured. They were: Leslie Pitman, Melvin Woodman and Stanley Burill.

Married—Bertha M. Hines, Digby, to Roy M. Johnson, Arisaig, Alta.

Deaths—Mrs. Frank Saunders, Sandy Cove; Mrs. Elizabeth M. Reid, Hill Grove.

Digby Nurse
For Overseas

The 6th Casualty Clearing Station, R.C.A.M.C., has been mobilized for active service with Lt. Col. Clifford S. Thompson, of the staff of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, as officer commanding. It was announced last week. It is the first casualty clearing station from that district.

The eight nursing sisters who will comprise the nursing staff have gone to Kingston where they will begin their military training at the military hospital. They are headed by NS Margaret Amelia Smith, sister in charge.

All of them with special qualifications, the nurses have had considerable hospital experience in civilian life. Miss Smith, whose home in Campbellton, N. B., graduated from the Royal Victoria in 1932 and for the past seven years has been surgical head nurse at the hospital. The others, with their places of residence, are: Margaret B. Hawksworth, of Digby; Emma Jean Blenkhorn, Canning; Kathleen Isabella MacLeod, Kinross, P.E.I.; Jean Irvine Rayworth, Upper Cape, N. B.; Delia Ann Ouellet, Montreal; Erna Margaret Murray, Stellarton; and Wilhelmina Pine Bell, Guphe, Ont.

They will spend five to six weeks at Kingston and then will be allotted to various hospitals in Canada till the unit is ready to go overseas. In the field the station has an establishment of 50 beds and 250 stretchers, but it might grow much larger, depending on action at the front. Patients are received from the main dressing station and where necessary sent back to the base hospital.

A hospital clearing station is really a small hospital in itself. It takes 22 lorries or 8 freight cars to carry its full equipment. The unit includes 106 persons of all ranks. There are nine officers, three chaplains, one dental officer, dispensers, nursing orderlies, transport men and other routine staff, such as cooks.

Is Success

"Peter Rabbit," a children's operetta, was presented in the Trinity Hall last Thursday and Friday evenings, under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Merkel, and proved an outstanding success. A large number attended the performance both evenings, and the net proceeds of $75 will be used for Red Cross purposes.

Peter Rabbit was played by Marilyn Campbell; Flopsy, Connie Lin Kirkpatrick; Mopsy, Sheila Ray Woodman; Cotton Tail, Antoinette Richards; Mother Rabbit, Alena Winchester; Farmer McGregor, Eileen Woodman; Miss Lettuce, Elizabeth Turnbull; Bumble Bees, Janice Winchester and Nancy Kirkpatrick. The settings were excellent, and in the second of the three-act performance, thirty tiny voices blended musically to give the effect of wind drifting lazily through a vegetable garden, the "vegetables" all having appropriate costumes.

Pianist was Mrs. Roy Peters. Soloists were Miss Bernice Comeau, of Meteghan, and Master Clifford Fickle, who is visiting in Digby, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Channing Lefebvre.

A special feature of the evening was a song written by Mrs. Merkel, to the tune of "Mother," entitled "Victory". The words of the song are as follows:

"V" is for the valor of our soldiers,
"I" is for the Island of brave and free,
"C" is for the courage of the British,
"T" means "truth" and true they'll always be;
"O" is overseas our boys are serving,
"R's" for right to live in liberty,
"Y"ield them to the enemy we'll never;
And we shall gain our Victory.

Mrs. Frank Smith

The death of Mrs. Mabel (Selby) Smith, 61, wife of Rev. Frank Smith, St. George, N. B., occurred at her summer cottage in Deep Brook, at 5.30 Wednesday afternoon of last week, following a long illness. Mrs. Smith was born in London, England, was married in Orpington in 1920, and came to Canada as a bride, settling first in the West. About eighteen years ago, Rev. and Mrs. Smith went to Deep Brook to reside, when Mr. Smith became pastor of the Clementsport, Deep Brook and Smith's Cove Baptist Churches. Here they endeared themselves to all, irrespective of denomination, and sincere regrets were expressed when they were called to Aylesford churches. However, ties, formed during their pastorate there, continued, and Rev. and Mrs. Smith built a summer home in Deep Brook, in which to enjoy holidays each year, and it was to this cottage that Mrs. Smith was brought less than a month ago.

Twenty Stitches Required To Close Wounds, But No
Grudge Held

While suffering from dog bites which required over twenty stitches to close, Geo. Milner, of Bear River, nevertheless thinks he owes his life to the same dog. It appears that Milner, on Sunday afternoon, attempted to walk across the broken span in the Chute Bridge on the Acadia Valley road, on a plank placed there for the convenience of the workmen. When almost half way over he lost his footing and fell into the Basin. The tide was almost at its height and he was unable to swim. A bull dog, owned by Guy Thomas, the watchman on the bridge, jumped in and went to the rescue. Naturally excited, he seized Milner by the arm and again over an eye before finally catching hold of the man's clothing. The arm and face were quite badly torn, but the dog succeeded in holding Milner—who could not swim a stroke—until his owner Thomas, could get a long pole and extend it to the imperilled man, finally getting him ashore. In his struggles Milner lost almost $100 out of his pocket. He was brought to the Digby Hospital where his injuries were attended to. The midspan of the Chute Bridge collapsed under a truck on July 17 and is now under repairs.

50 yard free style swimming race connected with their entry, 1st prize was captured by A. Caggman, and 2nd by flight sergeant Jacobson. Their portion of the program provided added interest to the afternoon's entertainment, and was greatly appreciated by all.

To the girls of Camp Arcadia, Sandy Cove, and the boys of Camp Aldercliff, Weymouth North, go most of the credit for the success of the track events—without their help these events would have had but little interest. These races were run under the direction of Mr. Hanson, sports director, Camp Aldercliff.

Prize List for track events:
Girls' 50-yd. three legged race—1st, Margaret Forsythe and Betty Dyke; 2nd, Alice Smith and Kit Jefferson.
Boys' 50 yd. Dash (under 12 years)—1st, Robert Hallock; 2nd, John Robinson.

Girls' 50 yd. Dash (under 12)—1st, Barbara Hanson; 2nd, Patsy Morehouse.

Boys' 100 yd. Dash (16 and under)—1st, Lawrence Henshaw; 2nd, Everett McCormick.

Girls' 100 yd.—1st heat, Barbara Rawding, Alice Smith, Margaret Forsythe; 2nd heat, Eleanor McLeur, Edith Dyke, Betsy Bennett; finals, 1st, Barbara Rawding; 2nd, Margaret Forsythe.

Boys' 100 yd. Dash, free for all—1st, David Traggasser; 2nd, Everett McCormick.

Special 50 yard Dash—1st, Earl Turnbull; 2nd, William Yorke.

The crowning event of the day was the beautifully rendered band concert presented by the Princess Louise Fusiliers Band, which took place at the band stand during the early part of the evening. Popular opinion is that this band was one of the finest bands of any sort ever heard in Digby, and for the occasion the town streets were lined with hundreds of cars and thousands of people. The program lasted for one and a half hours. The townspeople and the visitors were loud in their expressions of appreciation to Bandmaster Ward and his players and it is hoped the occasion when they will again be heard in Digby is not far distant.

R. B. Murray, president of the Board of Trade, expressed the thanks of the large audience to Warrant Officer Ward and the band; Brigadier Connolly, of Military District No. 6; Colonel C. C. Mitchell and officers of the Princess Louise Fusiliers, by whose kind permission the band was allowed to come to Digby; to the management of the Pines Hotel who allowed the band the free use of the swimming pool during their stay in Digby; to Mrs. A. S. Woodbury, of the Myrtle Hotel, who entertained the band at luncheon after the concert, and to all who contributed toward the success of the day.

The street dance which followed the concert was largely attended, and attracted crowds until late in the evening.

FATAL ACCIDENT

OSCAR SNOW DIES IN HOSPITAL
AFTER BEING STRUCK BY BICYCLE

Oscar Snow, 68 year old canteen operator at Smith's Cove, died in the Digby General Hospital, early Tuesday morning as the result of injuries received when struck by a bicycle driven by Roney Warren, Bear River, shortly before 11 o'clock Monday evening.

Warren, who was returning to Bear River by bicycle, after spending the day in Digby, where he attended the celebration, saw Snow on the highway and sounded his bike horn. Snow, apparently kept coming toward him, and Warren went to his left as far as he dared in order to avoid hitting about on the white line in the centre of the pavement when he struck Snow with the handlebar of his bicycle, knocking him to the pavement.

It is stated that because of automobile traffic on the highway, Warren could not have safely gone any further to his left. His bicycle was equipped with light and bike horn.

Snow was rushed to the Digby General Hospital where he was found to be suffering with a broken arm and skull fracture.

The late Oscar Snow was born at Smith's Cove, and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Layfayette Snow, of that village. His wife was fatally stricken with a heart attack on a Lynn Mass., street in June of this year. Surviving are three sons, Edward O., of Vallejo, California; Joseph, of Washington, D. C.; and William B., at home; two daughters, Madeline, in Massachusetts, and Mildred, in Florida.

He had spent most of his life in the United States in Lynn and Medway, Mass., where he followed his trade engaged in the hat and shoe business. He returned to Smith's Cove, where he operated a canteen, about ten years ago. Mr. Snow had just closed his canteen the day amounted to $765.40, and are classified as follows. Donations, $40.35; Tickets, $565.59; Hot Dogs, $51.35; Dance, $12.10; Candy, $3.63; Ice Cream, $39.05; Drinks, $35.00; Peanuts, $17.73.

Approximate expenses of $250 will leave a net of $515.40 to be divided equally between the Digby Board of Trade and the Red Cross. There is a possibility of a slight change in the gross receipts and expenses, as when this was written for the press the expense accounts from all booths had not been received.

Herbert W. Redden, of Waltham, Mass., and Ben. Redden, of Somerville, Mass., were in Digby last Friday.

Storm Does Damage At Freeport

This district was visited by one of the worst electrical storms in years, the storm breaking late Friday afternoon and continuing until after dawn on Saturday. No damage was reported in Digby or nearby centres but several properties were struck and damaged at Freeport. Fortunately no persons were injured and no fires were started.

The barn and house of Arch. Israel were struck, with the result that the barn was badly damaged and all the electrical fixtures in the house destroyed. At the home of Capt. Ge. Crocker the telephone was torn from the wall and destroyed. Another bolt of lightning entered the home of Romaine Perry and his radio was damaged beyond repair. Electrical fixtures in the homes of Alton McNeill, Ralph Israel and Gilbert Bates were also badly damaged. The hydro line was put out of commission and residents of that section of Long Island were without power all day Saturday until late in the evening.

and was walking home when the accident occurred.

Dr. W. R. Harris of Barton, presided over an inquest conducted in Ramsay's Funeral Parlor, Tuesday morning. The jury, with A. J. Dillon as foreman, returned a verdict of accidental death caused by a fractured skull as the result of a fall to the pavement. Serving on the jury were the following: A. J. Dillon, foreman; Frank W. Robinson, Owen Irving, Sypher Morrell, Carl Saulnier, Fred Parker, Charles Letteney, Loran Hayden, Charles Mount, Loran Handspiker, Wallace Wright.

The jury further exonerated Roney Warren of any blame in the matter.

Mrs. L. F. Robinson, Springfield, who was called home by the serious illness of her mother, the late Mrs. Robichaud, and who has since been visiting her sisters, Mrs. Dominic Melanson and Mrs. James Purdy, returned to Springfield on Saturday.

Herbert W. Redden, of Waltham, Mass., and Ben. Redden, of Somerville, Mass., were in Digby last Friday.

Yates and Digby Band Sergeant F. W. Robinson, being their guests. Bandmaster Ward was the guest of Paul Yates during the day and after the concert.

The evening concert was probably the finest musical event here in many years. Nearly 3,000 people stood throughout the two hour performance keenly interested in every selection. Mr. Ward is a most dynamic conductor, and the music was marked by the utmost precision, expression, and all the fine points that make perfect music.

Some outstanding numbers were the cornet solo by Corporal Love and his ensemble "The Rosary" which made some of us keep our hats off. The old favorite "Hunting Scene" was played by request, but the climax came in the descriptive piece "Firestorm to the Battle Field" depicting scenes in the Civil War, and played as a special feature for our American guests. Mr. Ward paid a high compliment to the five Digby boys in his band, and the audience gave them a rousing "hand". The boys are Max Bailey, Ernie Dakin, Ross Turnbull, Robert Weir, and Paul Yates, Jr.

Memorial Service

On Sunday afternoon, July 27th, a short Memorial Service was held in Mt. Hope Cemetery for the late Deacon Orrin W. Moore. Mr. Moore passed away at his home in Cambridge, Mass., in May 1941, and it was his request that his body be cremated and the ashes laid to rest in the family lot at Bear River where he was born. The service was conducted by Rev. G. D. Brydon, pastor of the Bear River Baptist Church, of which the late Mr. Moore was a deacon.

Mr. Moore spent all of his summers in Bear River, and was greatly loved by all who knew him. He is especially missed in the church where he was a very faithful and active member during the summer months. His widow and daughter, Miss Winnifred Moore, were present at the service. Another daughter, Isabelle, was not able to be present.

Brydon united in marriage Margaret Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnston, of Clarence, and Wilfred Atwood, son of Mrs. Oradell and the late Atwood Miller, of Lansdowne. The double ring ceremony was used. The bride looked attractive in a street-length dress of Queen's blue crepe with white accessories. They were attended by the groom's sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Beals, of Margaretsville. Only immediate relatives were present. Previous to her marriage the bride was given a shower by her friends at Clarence, receiving many beautiful and useful gifts. For the past six years she has been a successful school teacher. At the close of the school year at Tremont, Kings County, a party was given in her honor, and she was presented with pyrex and dishes from her school and the community. They left on a camping trip to Crescent Beach. On their return they will reside at Lansdowne, where the groom is a popular young man in the community.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized Friday, July 25th, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Gerta Rice, of Conway, when her only daughter, Dorothy Muriel, became the bride of Hugh Theodore, R.C.N. son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller, Bear River. The bride was becomingly attired in a floor length pale blue gown of organza, and carried a bouquet of roses, sweet peas and snapdragons. Rev. G. D. Brydon, pastor of the Bear River United Baptist church, performed the ceremony in the presence of only immediate relatives and intimate friends. The room was tastefully decorated in blue and white and further coloring of vases of lilies and roses. The bride's mother was attired in a navy blue gown with white accessories; the groom's mother wore renigate sheer ensemble of black and white with matching accessories. The groom, a member of the R. C. A., has just recently returned from several months at sea. Cameron Quigley, of Annapolis Royal, taking part in the service, which will be followed by a reception to be held in the Vestry of the church. About This and That

It is not often that someone else does an editor's work for him, but occasionally the miracle happens. It did recently to a fellow editor in British Columbia, when the provincial publicity director, Canadian Red Cross Society, gave delegates to the provincial annual meeting several hints about editors and news. Without comment the paper publishes her excellent summary of things to be remembered when dealing with an editor:—First, the editor is publishing a newspaper to make his living. He wants his paper to be read, and if he prints your story he wants it to be news which is written in a style his readers will enjoy. The editor is a busy man—so take well prepared news copy to him. He is usually racing against time and he wants news when it is new today, and not a week later. He doesn't want to write a story at the last minute or rewrite one you have written wrongly. He wants to be treated fairly. He doesn't want to publish your news and then have you knock the paper. He wants to run his own business in his own way and he doesn't want you to tell him how to run his business, where to place your story, and how to write the headline. The editor has a passion for accuracy. He doesn't want to have to apologize later for mistakes, to have people complaining about mis-spelled names and inaccurate stories. He doesn't want people saying: "You never can believe what you read in that paper."

Our versatile speech stands with open arms to new words. Their entry into English may be a matter of years or days. The word "blitzkrieg" blitzkrieged right into English as suddenly as the blitzkrieg struck France last year with consternation. The word is a German compound and means lightning war. The first part, "blitz", means lightning; the second, "krieg", signifies war. The rapidity with which the word has found a place in common speech is almost as astounding as the blitzkrieg itself. Not long did the word wait on the waiting list before common usage turned the noun into both verb and adjective. Soon the longer form was clipped to "blitz" and Anglicized into "blitzed" as both verb and adjective. Anything sudden and devastating is generally designated by this expressive word. No doubt we shall go on applying the word in some adapted sense with a sudden newflash of its historical background.

Take with reservation, the suggestions sometimes heard that Germans are praying for the overthrow of the Nazi regime. The chances are, its chiefly eyewash. As a matter of fact, thousands of Germans holding down jobs in occupied countries are better off than they have ever been. Men who have been poorly paid clerks in Germany, blossom out as departmental heads, managers or even owners, in stores in Czechoslovakia or Poland. Bank clerks in the fatherland, become managers in Holland or Belgium. They become privileged persons. They "nail" property belonging to someone else, at prices and under conditions which give them about 95% of all the advantage. In fact, it's a profitable war for some folks.

Every summer there are a number of drownings and the reason is usually the same: "He stepped in a hole." Last summer, while getting one of these victims out of the water, an old river-man gave some simple advice to those around him. If waders would walk up-stream, not down, he said, they would not suddenly step off into deep water. The action of running water on the bed of a stream is much the same as wind blowing snow into drifts, leaving hollowed out places here and there in the stream. If one steps into water holes going up-stream the slope is gradual, down-stream it drops off abruptly. Children like to wade in the stream near their homes, and by using caution they may do this safely, by wading up instead of down-stream.

A commonly accepted definition of "opinion" is what men think about a given subject. Hence we have such phrases as "personal opinion" "public opinion", etc. The phrase "personal opinion" leaves no question about what it is, but "public opinion" is a more doubtful phrase. No two men have the same mental capabilities because of difference in natural endowments, education, experience, and vision. Consequently, no two men think alike and thereby cannot have exactly the same opinion. But there are few men who do not think to some extent, and therefore have some opinion. For public welfare, it would be fortunate if proper consideration could be given the opinion of the humblest citizens that all could understand one another better.

With rapidly advancing costs of almost everything, Canadians again face the tough problem of deciding what necessities they must give up in order to continue to buy luxuries to which they are accustomed.

Extracts From Soldiers' Letters

"I have just unpacked the parcel just one month from the date on the note of greeting inside. Good going! What a grand lot you are to do this in spite of disappointment. Thank you all for a grand parcel that could not be beaten. It was my first mail for over two weeks, so you can imagine what a reception it got. Everything is in grand condition — nothing worked loose or came unput — somebody knows how. Bless you all for kindness."

"I received your gift parcel this afternoon and was very grateful for your kindness and consideration. Everything was simply great, especially the salted nuts, that's something that can't be obtained here, at least, not to my knowledge. The tea bags are handy too—that's an "old English custom" which I have fallen into—drinking tea any time of day or night. Every body does it."

"Yesterday I received a most wonderful parcel from you people, everything in it was useful and most appreciated. Thanks a million for it. Every article you send in these wonderful parcels certainly is appreciated by every soldier receiving one, especially the razor blades, shaving cream candy and chocolate. These are almost out of the question over here at present time, so for that reason candy is a very tasty treat. Three of us wharf fellows are still together, Jim Robinson, Gille Winchester and myself. Winchester had your parcel the day before I did."

"A few lines of thanks for the parcel. I was very pleased with all it contained. I am well and in A1 condition and trying to do my duty with a smile. I hope you will keep smiling as we are. With my best wishes and thanks."

Red Cross Helped By Travelogue

Net proceeds of a benefit motion picture travelogue (in color), shown in the Capitol Theatre, Digby, Sunday evening, by George Sack, well-known summer visitor to Weymouth North, for the Digby Red Cross, amounted to $14.66. The entire receipts were from a collection taken at the door, and because of the low amount raised, the management of the theatre kindly withdrew their charge of $15, for the use of the auditorium.

The pictures shown were of the Grand Canyon in winter; Arizona in the fall and Nova Scotia in summer, and were the second travelogue Mr. Sack has shown in Digby for the benefit of the local Red Cross. The pictures were entirely different from those shown last summer.

Rev. F. B. Gaskill expressed the thanks of the Red Cross and audience to Mr. Sack for his wonderful co-operation.

Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Vian Andrews, North Range. Accompanied by the strains of Lohengrin wedding march, played by Miss Elsie Marshall, of Bear River, cousin of the groom, the bride, on the arm of her father, attired in white silk crepe with veil and wreath of orange blossoms, carrying a bouquet of pale pink roses and maiden hair fern, took her place beneath an arch of white and pink crepe paper, ornamented with wedding bells and flowers. She was attended by her sister, Ruby Jean, who was dressed in pink sheer crepe and carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphiniums. The groom was attended by his brother Dean. The double ring service was performed by Rev. F. E. Roop in the presence of many relatives and friends. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and drinks were served. SCHOOL BOYS FOR WORK ON N.S. FARMS

Due to heavy enlistments in the Armed Forces, Nova Scotia Farmers are badly in need of help during harvesting of the various crops.

Here is an opportunity for School Boys to do something of real value during the holidays in the war effort of their own province and country.

Special Arrangement

Special arrangements have now been made jointly by the N. S. Dept. of Agriculture and the N. S. Dept. of Education whereby school boys will have this opportunity. This is the Plan:

- 1.—School boys of 14 years and over who agree to put in eight weeks of work on a farm other than his own, will be permitted to remain out of school until October 20th.
- 2.—Every such boy, who secures from his County Agricultural Representative a Certificate that he has fulfilled his eight weeks of farm work, will be given special consideration in his school work, when he commences his term not later than October 20.
- 3.—Every School boy who is willing and able to do such work should give his name at once to his County Agricultural Representative.

Agricultural Rep. for Digby-R. LeBlanc, Meteghan.

Special Notice to Farmers

Farmers who could use School boys at fair wages under the above plan should give their name at once to the County Agricultural Representative.

Appeal is made to both Boys and Farmers to Make this Plan a Success.

HOSPITAL FAIR

The Feed Situation

Rising cost of mill feed has been checked to some extent by the order of the wartime prices and trade board at Ottawa in arranging a reduction in these feeds. The wholesale price to dealers on the Montreal freight basis should now be as follows: Bran $25, shorts $26, middlings $29. The furtherrance rate to Halifax over Montreal is 17 cents, which applies also to New Glasgow and intermediate points. This adds to the Montreal price $3.40 and $4.00 respectively.

Although the millers have agreed to the prices just quoted, being $3.00 per ton reduction, and also to depart from their standard practice of keeping mill feeds tied to flour in their sale to dealers, a check-up by the Provincial Department of Agriculture recently has shown that there is evidently a shortage of mill feeds and our buyers are finding some difficulty in purchasing the feeds at all.

In a wire from the Agricultural Supplies Board, in reply to one sent to Mr. McKinnon, Chairman of the Board, acquainting him of this fact, they report that the export quota was reduced to 50% for the week ending June 28 compared with 70% the previous week. This should result in more plentiful supplies immediately. The wartime prices and trade board also is taking up with the mills concerned specific complaints which the Department has made.

Unsold Lumber in Farmers' Hands

There should be no cause for alarm in the present situation with respect to the lumber market, among those farmers and other operators who still have unsold logs or rough sawn lumber on their hands. Although sales may be slower than last year, the domestic market remains strong, and as planning mill facilities expand there is every probability that outstanding supplies of raw material will be cleaned up at the prevailing prices.

This re-assuring conclusion is arrived at by officials who are in close touch with the situation. They feel this conclusion is quite justified by present market conditions. There has been some uneasiness among farmers and others who still have quantities of unsold lumber on their hands.

There is a fairly large movement of lumber of varied specifications to Montreal, with increasing quantities of high-grade lumber moving to the U.S. Any break in prices is more likely to be brought about by precipitate action by the producers themselves who may be uneasy because of unsold lumber, than by any general lack of demand. No one knows what the next few months may bring to any market, but lumber is still a much sought after commodity, and it would be unfortunate, state officials if producers brought upon themselves a reduction in the schedule of prices through any short-sighted interpretation of temporary fluctuations in demand.

Poultry Pools Being Planned

Late summer poultry marketing pools by co-operative groups are being planned, as follows: New Germany July 30, Musquodoboit August 5. Poultry to be marketed in these pools will be largely fowl and capon. These pools will signalize the opening of the Nova Scotia poultry marketing season which continues to the Christmas season. Last year some 270,000 lbs. of dressed poultry were marketed on the basis of the grade, of which 205,000 lbs. were marketed by co-operative marketing groups. Added to the above pools are the following: Aylesford August 6, Cornwallis club August 13.

Successful Co-Operative

Brooklyn agricultural society which for years has operated as a co-operative buying and selling organization for the farmer members in the Brooklyn district, recently held its semi-annual meeting, and recorded a total business for 28 months of $55,700.

Hay Crops Better

There has been considerable improvement in the hay crop of the province in the past week or two, and the prospects are now for a good average crop or somewhat better than that. Much hay has already been cut, evidence of some farmers making good the oft-repeated adage "cut hay early", thereby gaining the full protein value of the hay as feed. However, much still remains to be cut, although the labor situation is difficult, farmers are urged to make every possible effort to get their hay crop cut while the fine weather lasts.

Farm Labor Contribute to

Wherever there is a man, young or old, willing and able to do some farm work, these should place their names with the agricultural representative of the county in which they reside. The agricultural representatives are in close touch with the labor situation, and are able very quickly to place all the farm help available. All those who can possibly do farm work, are asked to help out in the present situation, which is rather serious in many parts of the Province.

Contribute to Queen's Fund chicks by artificial methods, says B. F. Tinney, Dominion Experimental Station, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Lack of uniformity in brooder house temperatures is a frequent source of trouble. Chicks react very quickly to chilling, with many of the symptoms resembling those of an outbreak of white diarrhoea caused by pullorum.

If the house is too hot, chicks will crowd to the outer walls in an effort to cool off. Under such circumstances, the birds frequently pile up in the corners of the brooder house. Apart from the physical injury caused by piling the chicks at the bottom of the pile become over-heated. This may be followed by a chill, after the pile is dispersed, and will eventually be followed by the same outward symptoms that were produced by chilling.

Baby chicks may also be chilled or overheated while transit from hatchery to brooder house with consequent trouble for the hatcheryman and dissatisfaction to the purchaser.

Every effort should be made to see that chicks are delivered to the brooder house without having been chilled or overheated, that proper and uniform temperatures are maintained while brooding, and that all corners of the house are rounded off with boards or netting so that piling may be prevented.

Another source of trouble sometimes, is that of using mouldy feed. In at least one case under observation, a quantity of starter mash stored from the previous season had heated and was found to be quite mouldy. The chick flock in this particular instance was decidedly unthrifty in appearance, and mortality was high.

A third point frequently overlooked by the beginner, is that one of over crowding. Carefully following the best advice, brooding facilities are provided for, say, two hundred day-old chicks. Too often it is apparent the amateur has lost sight of the fact that space adequate for two hundred chicks weighing around one and one half ounces each, is not sufficient for the same birds when they reach a weight of one and one-half pounds each.

These are but a few of the lesser difficulties in the pathway of the beginner who desires to grow healthy chicks.

Unusually, this invention contained so many contrivances and accessories that each mousetrap would have cost over $500 — an impossible handicap, of course.

Recently the United States army was offered a "liquid cement" which the inventor claimed could be shot at an enemy detachment and it would harden quickly, freezing the enemy troops in their tracks. The invention was declined!

Thousands of new patents are taken out every year, yet they represent only a fraction of the fantastic devices and gadgets that are put forward by hopeful inventors. In wartime, especially, there is a continual stream of imaginative ideas and notions offered to the authorities.

When the Zeppelin raids over England were causing such anxiety during the last War, one imaginative fellow outlined the plan for freezing the clouds so that machine guns could be perched on them to fight the Zepps!

Another enthusiast conceived the idea of attaching a number of giant magnetic balloons which would be put out over the enemy's trenches. The magnets would then pick up the enemy's rifles. Any soldier wearing their hats would, presumably, be lifted also!

During the Dardanelles campaign, the War Office offered a gun which would fire square bullets at Turks and round ones at Christians. The inventor never explained nor did he suggest how soldiers were to differentiate between Turks and Christians.

Unusual Inventions

Ideas for special guns and shells were legion, one of the quaintest being to replace shells by snakes which were to be scattered by pneumatic compulsion into the enemy's trenches.

While war increases the number of ideas and gadgets, hopeful inventors pursue their plans unwearingly in peace days, too. A few years ago, one inventor claimed to have made an infallible mousetrap. And he was as good as his word. If a mouse so much as protruded his nose into a room which held the trap, his doom was sealed. Unhappily, this invention contained so many contrivances and accessories that each mousetrap would have cost over $500 — an impossible handicap, of course.

TIME MARCHES ON

Twenty-Five Years Ago

(From the Courier files of August 4, 1916)

Digby's summer tourist trade has rapidly increased during the last few days and our most popular hotels are doing a rushing business. It is true of the hotels as well as of the merchants, that the biggest advertiser gets the biggest business.

Sunday, July 30th, 1916, will be remembered as "Dark Sunday." This was evidently caused by smoke from Ontario fires making the sky present a weird look. Although weather changes, many skippers left their vessels to safe anchorage. Those which kept going experienced no difficulty.

The Yarmouth tug Hugh D. Macdonald, arrived here Sunday morning leaving the ship Mule at the bottom of the Bay between Point Prim and Gulliver's Cove. The Mule was loaded with coal from Yarmouth. The crew were taken off the Mule before she filled and sank. Skippers dragging in those waters still occasionally bring up coal from the wrecked Mule.

Freeport now feels honored by having one of the most up-to-date barber shops in the Maritimes, which was opened on Saturday, July 22, 1916, by Alton MacNeill, one of Freeport's most enterprising young men.

Married—Helen T. Pickup, Granville Ferry, to Lance-Cpl. Richard H. Hardwick, of the 88th Battalion.

Sabbath Gives Strength to Face Week's Work

Saturday night brings the week to a close in a whirl of activity in most homes.

"Thank goodness, tomorrow is Sunday!" you say fervently. "I'd like to sit down in a comfortable chair after breakfast and sit there until bedtime!"

"And not go to church, mother?" cries your scandalized young daughter.

"Don't worry," her father reassures sister, "your mother's sit-down strike won't be strong enough to keep her home from church!"

How better could one begin another busy week than by going to church? Inside your old church it is cool and the light is softly tempered. Quiet, too, with a cheerful murmur outside where neighbors are congregating. You close your eyes and see again the church of your early recollection. Green cushions then softened the hard pews, but you remember grandma relating that old uncle John, who found the uncushioned pews uncomfortable before the end of the hour-long sermon, used to march in bearing a huge goose-feather cushion and seat himself in the front pew where he could clearly, and comfortably, hear the stern discourse. You remember the imposing high back walnut pulpit and the new piano that had replaced the little organ.

Families occupied the pews together, children wisely distributed between father and mother according to age and general conduct. Mr. and Mrs. "Deacon" Brown and their six children reached from side to side to centre aisle. Poor Mrs. Grey sat alone with her four girls. Mr. Grey wasn't a "believer." Mr. Bender divided his attention between the service and five young Benders, while Mrs. Bender presided at the piano.

Your great-grandfather was one of the founders and your dad's great grand - father help build this church. Beverly Nichols, the English author, says: "Practical religion is the one and only answer to each and every problem with which the world is confronted." And 100 years before his Thoreau wrote: "Goodness is the only virtue that never fails."

Joy transcending any weariness floods your heart. A feeling of sustained permanence steadies your faltering spirits as you look about the familiar place. The edifice shows signs of loving care and attention. Pews are more than half filled. Hymns rise sweetly on the quiet air. The minister brings a message of strength and confidence. Miraculously clean children gather for Sunday school. So friendly, this little congregation of relatives, neighbors, and summer residents. How happy the old church looks.

Persia—British Gateway to Russia

Undoubtedly a subject of earnest discussion between the British and Russian military authorities is Iran, the Middle Eastern country known before 1935 as Persia. It is the one country where there are possibilities of a junction between the forces of the new allies. Iran is bounded on the north by Russia and the Caspian Sea. On the west lie Turkey and British-controlled Iraq, and on the east Afghanistan and British-controlled Baluchistan, the western outpost of India. On the south is the Persian Gulf and other arms of the Indian Ocean. Already there have been rumours of British-Russian pressure on Iran to allow British forces from India and recently released Allied forces from Syria and Iraq to undertake a protective occupation welcome of Iran. The Russians would welcome such a means of forestalling the increase of German influence here on the flank of her Caucasian oil fields, and the British want to make sure that a successful German drive into Russia would be stopped short of the Indian Ocean and the borders of India. German control of Iran would drive a land wedge between British forces in India and the Middle East and present a serious threat to the British defence of the Eastern Mediterranean. How much aid Britain might ship to Russia over the difficult communication systems of Iran is uncertain, but there would be at least a moral value in maintaining this means of contact with her ally.

Iran is no longer the weak country of 1914-18 when it was a battle-ground of the same powers now fighting. Riza Khan, who became Shah in 1925, has brought about many changes; he has fostered national spirit, westernized the customs, repressed tribal feuds, built up a moderately effective defence organization and a sound financial system, and carried out considerable industrialization. A Trans-Iranian railway has been recently completed from the Persian Gulf to the Caspian Sea. Border disputes, particularly with Iraq, have been settled, and in 1937 a Four Power Middle Eastern Pact of Non-aggression was signed at the Iranian capital, Tehran, with Turkey, Iraq, and Afghanistan.

Relations with Britain and Russia have had their ups and downs. The Soviets started off well with a Treaty of Friendship in 1921 with Iran, and Moscow backed Riza Khan in his rise to power against the former dynasty. Several trade treaties increased commercial relations between the two countries, and in April, 1940, a new agreement gave Iran substantial concessions which alleviated her difficult position caused by the war. Britain, since early in the present century, has been the rival of Russia for influence in Persia. Chief British interest is, of course, in the oil fields in the south-west, controlled by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, of which the British Government is the largest stockholder. Iran is now the world's fourth largest producer of oil with a production in 1938 of 10 million tons. This oil is an important source of supply for the British forces in the East, and it would be a great source of strength to the Germans. Although a substantial share of the government's revenue comes from this source, the Iranians have been jealous of too great British influence in their country. They have obstructed British efforts to use bases on the Persian Gulf for Imperial Airways flights to

Leland G. Trask Appointed District Supervisor of the Maritime Life

A. R. FRASER, C. L. U.

A. R. Fraser, C. L. U., manager of the Nova Scotia Branch of the Maritime Life Assurance Company, with Head Offices at Halifax, N. S., has announced the appointment of Mr. Leland G. Trask as District Supervisor for the Maritime Life Assurance Company in Western Nova Scotia.

Mr. Trask joined the Maritime Life in November, 1937, and since that date has devoted his full time to the business of insurance. Mr. Trask is fully qualified to look after the requirements of those desiring Life Insurance whether it be for the purpose of protection or for the purpose of investment or whether it be a matter of service in connection with insurance—already in existence.

Associated with Mr. Trask are Messrs. Mathurin Pothier, of Wedgeport, N. S., Ernest G. Côté, of Meteghan River, F. Alfred Kenney, of Shelburne, and Denton C. Ford, of Sheffield Mills, N. S.

Mr. Trask is looking forward to an outstanding year in 1941, his business for the first six months being equal to that for the whole year of 1940. Mr. Trask was also very successful in his work in the recent Victory Loan campaign. The Maritime Life has the distinction of being the only Life Assurance Company with Head Offices in the Maritimes, giving clients the opportunity of patronizing "Home Industry." All policies issued by the Company are on a definitely guaranteed basis.

Economics, Music, Fine Arts. Certificate courses are given in engineering, teacher training, commerce, home economics, and secretarial. There are also courses preparatory to law, medicine, theology and dentistry.

L. Ross Glenn, acting headmaster of the Mount Allison Academy and Commercial College, reports that the graduating classes in his department last May were the largest in the century-old history of the institution. He also states that positions were found by all graduates of the Commercial College last term. There is every indication that the enrolment this fall will be equal to, if not greater than that of last year chiefly because of the need for trained stenographers, bookkeepers, secretaries and matriculating students.

Miss Constance I. Young, Principal of the Mount Allison School for Girls, anticipates a slight increase of girl students of High School age from many of the industrial and military centres of the Maritimes. The School for Girls offers progressive education leading to University matriculation, dramatics, physical education, arts and crafts, are all included in the educational programme.

Mount Allison Prepared to Train Men and Women

Dr. G. J. Trueman, president of Mount Allison University, Sackville, has announced that he expected all departments of Mount Allison to open without serious curtailment on September 25th. Dr. Trueman stated that the general shortage of trained men and women in Canada should be realized by High School boys and girls and their parents, and that every effort should be made to afford our youth an opportunity to continue their education and thus become more capable of carrying on Canada's increasing responsibilities.

A shortage of engineers, dentists, doctors, physicists, chemists, linguists, mathematicians, and specialized teachers has been found by many government departments. This shortage of trained men and women will become still greater in the future unless immediate steps are taken to meet this need. During the last century Mt. Allison has been developing in such a way as to enable her to do a worthwhile part in meeting this need for trained men and women. She has a residential campus with modern up-to-date science laboratories and departments and highly trained arts and science faculties. Degree courses are given in Arts, Science, Home

Why Be Afraid?

You get from the world what you give it, therefore, fear nothing—except yourself.

Some people are overpowered by their fears. They fear life itself. They cannot meet people because they never conquered timidity. They cannot accomplish a big task because they never taught themselves to tackle anything but what they knew they could do. They never welcome a job unless it is as small as themselves.

They are afraid of new ideas and new technique. They have never learned to adventure. They never explore new fields. Other always do their planning. They get into ruts and stay there.

The individual who fears nothing also despises nothing. He soon learns to know merit when he sees it. He has a certain amount of confidence in himself, confidence that he can excel. And he does excel because he is afraid of nothing. He knows there is nothing to be afraid of.

He teaches himself to make a big task a small one. He resolves to find a way and, however aggravating his problem, he stays with it, makes it a real problem, and wins.

People respect him because he is independent. He has an idea and a mind of his own. He does not ape the tactics of another. He can walk with the crowd when they are right, and he can beat his solitary path alone when he feels they are wrong.

What an inspiration to see these people as they go up and down the world. They get about what they want, or, if they lose an occasional skirmish they can come out stronger for the next battle.

Look at them, and then look at your self. What are you afraid of? Why be afraid? Nobody can harm you but yourself. Almost without exception we get from the world what we give the world. Our attitude determines what we are.

The world applauds the one who can laugh at disaster, who spends no time explaining his reverses, but who comes back from every defeat a stronger and better individual.

Finds Arrow Head

in Garden

Bernard Lent, 79 year old farmer, Puffer Road, Maynard Mass., recently found a flint arrow head in a garden he had cultivated 35 years. The arrow head is in good condition and has probably been in the ground since Philip of Spain and his Indians made war on the white settlers in that district in 1676. The land on which Mr. Lent found the arrow head was a battle field of that war.

Mr. Lent, active for his age, has lived on the farm for about 42 years. He has four sons and two daughters. (Mrs. Emdon MacKay, of Digby, is a daughter, and Mr. Lent was formerly a teacher on Digby Neck.) Many Tiverton and Central Grove residents will probably remember him as he lived and taught school there.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. March and son, Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. Omer M. Farnsworth of Springfield, Mass., were in Digby on Thursday last, en route home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Outhouse, Tiverton. Mr. and Mrs. March recently returned from Manila, Philippine Islands, where Mr. March was employed with the Fisk Tire Co.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Skinner and chauffeur, of Windsor, Vermont, spent the week end with Mrs. Skinner's niece, Mrs. George Turnbull, Lighthouse Road.

Fine Art for War Chest

America is a steady and increasing buyer of British fine art reproductions: mezzotints, wood - cuts, etchings, drypoints, colour-colotypes, lithographs and four-color process work.

In the first three months of the present year one British publisher alone sent across the Atlantic 70,000 dollars worth of reproductions. Most of these went to buyers in New York, Boston, Chicago and Washington.

The total value of this luxury trade, the survival of which in war time, without any actual increase at all, would have been astonishing is today in the neighbourhood of half a million dollars a year.

Into the workshops of British publishers, in steady stream, are coming for reproduction by the colotype process works from outstanding American artists like Hovsep Pushman, Ethelyn Stewart, R. E. Bishop and Wayne Davis. Before the war Ger-

The young couple received many useful gifts including dishes, electrical appliances, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Woodworth are making their home at 34 Harvard St., Brockton, Mass. This will be of particular interest to friends in Bear River, as the groom at one time resided there and had a number of friends.

Banks - Rowley

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Matthew's Church, Northampton, England, on July 26, when Miss Sybil Rowley was united in marriage to Pte. Arnold LeRoy Banks, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Banks, of Bear River. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, and wore a gown of ice blue crepe with matching accessories and carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations. A cousin of the bride was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of blue sheer and carrying a bouquet of sweet peas. Corporal Richard Ellis, of Bear River, supported the groom. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Later Mr. and Mrs. Banks left on a short motor trip to Stratford-on-Avon.

Military Appointment

A recent item in the American Daily News, announces the establishment in that town of "a complete Supply and Ordnance Corps, for the purpose of supplying all Military encampments in the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland", having a complement of fifty men, including officers and soldiers, with Major K. R. Forrester (formerly Capt. Forrester before promotion since leaving Bear River), as the commanding officer of this important unit.

This announcement is of interest to the many friends of Major Forrester in Bear River, as his home has been here for a number of years, and his two daughters are residing here during his absence on military duty.

Two dollars and ten cents went to the Queen's Fund from their efforts.

Dr. Myers, during his short stay, has endeared himself to this congregation.

In Aid of Red Cross

On Wednesday evening, July 30, a show and dance was put on in the Goat Island Hall by the "Michigan Harmonizers" assisted by local talent, for the benefit of the Karsdale and Goat Island Red Cross. The orchestra consisted of Murray Apt, violinist; Eric Baine on the guitar; Mrs. William Shaffner and Mrs. E. R. Prince at the piano; E. R. Prince, Jew's harp and drum; and Herman Everett, harmonica.

A very pleasing feature on the programme was a song and tap-dance by little Barbara Robinson, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. George Robinson, the former Mary Farnsworth, of Goat Island. Following this a negro skit was given by Dr. Cutup and his patient 'Hunk'.

At the end of the programme the National Anthem was sung and dancing started and continued until 12 o'clock.

The proceeds of the evening amounted to $45.00. Mrs. E. R. Price referred to, is the former Miss Ella Shaffner of Karsdale, and Mr. Price, a native of Michigan, is an ardent Red Cross worker. Dr. Cutup is also a native of Karsdale.

About This and That

One of the surprises of this Russo-German war has been that the Russian reports often are more accurate than the Germans. From the different mentalities of the two races the opposite was expected. The Russians have never been trained to accuracy and precision like the Germans. They are very imaginative, and their mental processes, even among the educated, often seem like those of children. There are similar differences of temperament. The Nazi war reports from Russia were especially wild and imaginative at first, telling of slaughter and progress on an impossible scale, whereas the Russians, while indulging in some exaggerations, painted a truer picture. The same characteristics seem to continue, although there is seldom now such enormous variance in the reports from Berlin and Moscow as there was at first. Hitler has long proved himself a master of military psychology, but he seems to be losing his touch. The outer world, at least, is getting onto him and his propaganda machine, and their claims are taken less and less seriously.

There seems to be almost an epidemic of "peptic" or stomach ulcers. It shows notably in the examination of army recruits in the United States and Canada. Recent Canadian reports show nearly seven per cent of serious illness among troops from this cause. If the trouble is so prevalent in men called for army service it is probably more so in other population groups. What is the cause? It hasn't been clearly explained. Presumably the main cause is in the food; there must be serious and widespread mistakes in diet. But perhaps a good deal of such trouble comes under the old formula, "work and worry". Both interfere with digestion, but the worry is usually worse than the work.

In future, the lifeboats of British vessels will be equipped with radio sets, larger water tanks, food, having greater variety and nutrition, and oils for the massaging of sun blisters and sores. It seems surprising that these precautions have not been taken before. Today, no ship may venture far, without risking sudden destruction. There is danger from above and below. Some of the most harrowing stories of the war have been told by survivors of nightmare experiences in lifeboats drifting about in mid ocean—insanity, death and long drawn out suffering.

This remarkable "V" drive on the part of the free nations and those that want to regain their freedom is serious business. It might prove to be the turning point of the war by providing, at the same time, a symbol of liberty and an appealing method of propaganda. Here is a crusade that anybody can join. It also suggests a sort of mystic masonry. Its possibilities for expression and unification are boundless. At the very least, it gives an outlet and a breath of hope to hundreds of millions of people who otherwise might sink in despair.

MINARD'S LINIMENT

Annapolis Valley Summer School for Young People

On Wednesday morning seventy-four certificates were presented to the thirty-six young people who attended the fifth Leadership Training camp held on the camp grounds at Berwick.

Ideal weather prevailed, and surrounded by the beautiful grove of trees made sacred by the 69 years of camp meetings all enjoyed a full program for the eight days.

Rev. J. P. C. Fraser gave the theme course on "How to use the Bible"; Dr. S. R. Prince led a course on, "Young People's Interests"; and Rev. A. A. MacLeod gave a course on "Church Worship". Rev. J. W. Barbour was leader of recreation and kept both students and leaders busy with soft ball, volley ball and other games. Rev. A. R. Wallis conducted the morning worship in the W. M. S. chapel and also assisted the director, Rev. J. A. Jardine. Mrs. A. R. Wallis filled to the satisfaction of all the important office of Camp Mother.

A pleasing feature of the camp was the arrival of Miss Norma Brougham, of London, Ont., who is at present on a tour of the Maritime Summer Schools for Young People in the interests of Leadership Training. Miss Brougham taught the school several new folk games and a number of songs, and also gave valuable suggestions at the council meetings.

On Monday evening Dr. Morash, of Berwick, gave an interesting talk on "First Aid." Two outings were enjoyed, one to Hantsport beach and the other to Lake George.

Before the school closed plans were outlined for next year's work. A committee consisting of Dr. S. R. Price, Rev. J. W. Barbour (Convenors of religious education for the Annapolis and Windsor presbyteries) Miss Betty MacMahon and Stuart Morse, president and secretary of the school nominated Rev. A. A. MacLeod for dean and Rev. J. A. Jardine for director for 1942. This was unanimously agreed to by the school. It was further agreed that the dean and the director; the convenors of religious education for the two presbyteries, together with four students act as camp committee to make all necessary arrangements for next year's school, the young people on this committee to be as follows: The camp president and one to be appointed by each of the young people's presbyteries—Windsor, Annapolis East and Annapolis West.

As the young people left for their respective homes one thought prevailed above all others, "I hope I can come again next year." Students attending from Digby vicinity were: Maxine Rice, Bear River, and Florence Ford, Granville Ferry.

DEEP BROOK

The Misses Messenger, of Lynn, Mass., are visiting their brother-in-law, S. A. Spurr, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Purdy, Alliston, Mass., arrived by motor Monday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Purdy and other relatives in the village.

Miss Roberta Dittmars had as guest last week Miss Mary Marshall, of Brighton, England, now on the teaching staff of Edgely School, in Windsor.

Recent hostesses to the Spitfire Bridge Club were Mrs. W. H. Vroom, Mrs. B. Comeau and Miss Ethel F. Purdy. Lt. William Rhind, R.C.N. V.R., Halifax, visited his aunts—Mrs. E. R. Pinkney and Mrs. W. E. Vroom—last week end.

Miss Marjorie Vroom is spending some time with her aunt, Mrs. Walter A. Dittmars, who is vacationing in Marquisville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. MacLaren and the latter's brother, Capt. Frank H. Spurr, left for New Hampshire Saturday, after several weeks at their summer home here.

This is just a venture to keep people posted with events as they affect our county and our villages. It is so easy to imagine that because there are calamitous happenings some 3,000 or 6,000 miles away we live in another world. Unfortunately for those of us who like complacency there is but one—and that a very small—world these days.

It is such a small world that here with such huge quantities of food and oil products we are facing such acute shortages of bacon and gasoline. These are petty inconveniences but they are pointers which show that this is in truth "our war". How we respond to small sacrifices will show too the extent to which we have the cause at heart. As a matter of fact the whole economy of the Dominion is rapidly approaching a new phase. There is so much more money about and those who were underprivileged and were denied so much now feel that they should buy many things both wisely and unwisely. In fact this has an effect on all classes now having an increase in income. But men are being taken not only for the armed forces but to swell the ranks of the essential war industries and this means that less of the non-essentials are being produced. Not to speak of increased pressure on railways and ships. And so we take our choice. Spend less or prices will rise. This would hit very badly the fixed income classes and the farmers. So to spend less and save more is true patriotism and also true fellowship. In the period after the war, industry will be in a state of re-organization and will need all our support. That is the time to spend money—when the boys come home again.

Housewives may find certain canned goods both scarce and high in price this winter. Can now—can everything you can. This is not just a play on words but a mighty serious matter. Did you ever hear the story of the squirrel and the rabbit. The former spent his summer storing food for the winter and the other played around. And then? Well, the moral of the story is "Don't be a rabbit".

This week which includes August 4th, as the English "Bank Holiday Monday", reminds us that twenty-seven years ago the first world war broke out. Many memories of that week end are awakened. What a by-gone age it seems. Do you remember what women wore in those days? The big hats and the tight frocks. Do you remember how women were clamouring for emancipation and how much we worried over the Irish Question? Wars didn't seem to belong to our civilization until then. All the Victorian wars were on the other side of the world. War really broke out in 1914—in 1939 we just drifted into it!

It seems that our part of the province is about to experience a shortage of teachers. Men of this calling are going into the services and into war-work and now it seems many women are following their example.

I wonder if this it not just what we deserve? Teachers have been so much at the mercy of village fractions and badly organized sections for a long time, (and there is always politics) and now that opportunity arises to get away from it all we are left behind with no regrets.

It is a pity that such a noble vocation should receive shabby treatment. Yet no matter how many schemes are tabled they will never succeed if the good-will and co-operation of the people is lacking.

The Bear River Exhibition is to be as usual this year. Which should remind farmers and housewives and school children to be thinking about it.

This is our own county show and it deserves more general support than has been given in the past.

are no cases in Nova Scotia.

I have before me the very fine pamphlet published by the Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa. In non-technical language a brief idea is given of the symptoms, precautions and ways of spreading.

It would do no harm if such a publication were in every home. One re-assuring sentence states that the disease is not so high in death rate as is generally assumed, that relatively few cases are accompanied by paralysis.

What is needed more than anything else is the intelligent co-operation of the home with the medical profession. Do write for this free publication and at the same time ask for "Health Axioms". Write "Department of Pensions and Health, Ottawa", asking for "Facts concerning Infantile Paralysis."

"The Dream We Lost", (by Freda Utley, an English girl, who drifted into Communism from a good family and afterwards made Russia her home, marrying an official of the U.S.S.R.), is a most confusing chapter of biography. Three months ago we might have read and agreed with most of it. To-day after such a stout resistance by the Russians and a show of solidarity we feel she has over-stated her case. In this book she asserts that Stalin has deserted all ideals of the original revolution and the aims of Marx & Lenin, also that he is naturally brutal and takes a delight in periodic liquidations. Moreover the "Five Year" plans were all such a failure as far as the peasants and agriculture were concerned, that more was produced under the Czar than after the Soviet had organized and planned for twenty years!

So disillusioned was she with U.S.S.R., and so impressed with the might of Hitler she now proposes a negotiated peace for the benefit of Europe. The book was written exactly one year ago and while her experiences make good reading, her conclusions and summing up of the political situation are by this time almost antiquated.

OBITUARY

Charles E. Nichols

Many friends will regret to learn of the passing of Charles E. Nichols, third son of the late Charles and Hannah (Grafton) Nichols, of Rossway. Mr. Nichols passed away on Aug. 4th, at the age of 72 years, after being stricken with a serious heart attack the day before. He came to Rossway on July 7th to spend the summer months with his sister, Mrs. Cora Marr. He lived on a farm as a boy and went to sea at the age of 16, sailing on a square-rigger to ports in England, South America, Sicily, the West Indies and along the Atlantic coast. When he was 21 he gave up sailing and went to Waltham, Mass., where he has lived ever since. He served 41 years as janitor, first in the North Grammar and later in the Junior High School, Waltham, and retired four years ago. He leaves to mourn the loss of a loving Christian father, five sons, Albert E., Horace O., Charles W., and Arthur E., all of Waltham, and Stanley L., of Connecticut; four daughters, Mrs. David Joffe, New Hampshire; Mrs. Harold Seaborn, of Waltham (with whom he has made his home since the death of his wife); Edith Rae, also at home, and Mrs. Clifford Taylor, of Worcester; one sister, Mrs. Cora Marr, of Rossway; also 12 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Shortly after going to Waltham he became a member of the Bethel Eden Baptist church. A gentleman of Christian character, seeking after the hidden things of the Word of God, the kindest of fathers, always living on the sunny side of life, he made many friends. Remains will go to Waltham to be interred in the Mount Peake cemetery beside his wife who predeceased him five years.

Importance of Conserving Egg Supplies

Canada has suddenly become extremely important to the British Ministry of food as a source of supply for eggs. Before the war this dominion did not have much success in competing in Britain for her egg trade, largely because of costs of production. In spite of the fact that Canada was one of the largest producers and largest consumers of eggs of any country in the world. Now the necessities of war are bringing increasing demands from Britain for egg supplies from Canada. During the current year more eggs will be exported to Britain than the dominion ever dreamed of being able to supply in previous years. Many millions of dozen are being sent over this year, and now it becomes apparent that in the third year of the war commencing September 1, Britain is going to require every exportable egg that it can get.

This news has great interest for Nova Scotia because of the great progress the poultry industry has made in recent years in this province. Increasing poultry production is indicated by the fact that an increase of nearly 150,000 chicks is reported in the hatchings this season at the approved hatcheries in the province. Egg production and more egg production is the keynote of the situation now, in the face of Britain's needs. So the world goes forth to poultry producers to step up production by every proper method, and particularly to study the efficiency of their flocks in producing eggs and increase that efficiency as greatly as possible. Dr. Barton, in his letter, points out that this is important not only because of present demands, but because Canada after the war must be prepared to share in world trade and can only do that through much greater efficiency back on the poultry farms.

Producers are advised to carry over as many of their yearling layers as are suitable, and arrange to get them into production as early as possible in the fall. Great care should be taken in the growing of the young stock to insure that these birds go into laying quarters early and in good condition. Last fall many pullet flocks did not produce commercially until almost Christmas, because they did not go into winter quarters in condition to pay. There is also heavy mortality in places in mature pullets and laying stock. Overcrowding in growing quarters is one cause of this. More range shelter or other accommodation is a possible remedy. To avoid heavy expenditures in buildings, existing buildings can be adapted in many cases.

Let efficiency in the laying flock be the watch-word on every poultry farm in Nova Scotia. In that way egg production can be increased, the farmer get better returns, and the needs of the empire in wartime taken care of.

Farm Labor Situation

The efforts of the provincial department of agriculture to enlist the aid of school boys over 14 for help in farm work, has met with considerable response thus far. The plan was announced last week, and many school boys in the various parts of the province have already registered their willingness to take up farm work. Lists of these boys are being supplied farmers and an effort made to find suitable locations for the boys. School boys who secure work and are able to complete eight weeks of work on a farm will be permitted to remain out of school as late as October 20, if necessary, and will be given special consideration in their studies.

In this way it is hoped that some of the needed help on farms may be supplied. The farm labor situation is most serious in the counties where extensive farming operations are carried on. Agricultural agents in the various counties are handling arrangements.

Acres in Crops

Latest estimate of acres in various crops in the province is supplied in a recent survey made by the extension division of the provincial department of agriculture.

This survey indicates that grain crops, particularly oats and barley, have been increased in acreage over last year. Nine counties report increase in acreages of both oats and barley, while three report decrease in oats. Wheat acreages are about the same as 1940. Although the seeding of grain crops was quite late this season, good growth is now being made by these crops.

Acres in potatoes and root crops are substantially down from last year. In the heavier potato producing counties, reduction is considerable. In root crops one county reports only 60 per cent of last year's acreage, but most counties range from 75 to 95 per cent of last year.

Hay acreage is about the same, but the harvest will be somewhat less, especially in clover, than last year.

An encouraging feature is the increase in fertilized pasture acreage. All counties reporting show an increase. Antigonish county, estimating 100 per cent increase over 1940, with other counties ranging from 15 to 25 points of percentage higher than last year.

There is a definite increase in the number of sheep and hogs and a marked increase in poultry, with a slight increase also shown in most counties in milk cows.

New Food Council Is Active

Newly-organized Maritime food council, which included representatives of primary producers and wholesale food dealers, has named a manager to head up the work of the council, which is to co-ordinate the marketing of Maritime primary products in such a way as to encourage production, and to gain a better distribution and more orderly marketing of the products. The new manager is C. T. FitzRandolph, well-known fruit grower of Bridgetown, N. S. Mr. FitzRandolph has now assumed his duties. He was appointed at a meeting of the council held recently in Moncton, N. B.

Short Courses Well Attended

Five short courses of two to three weeks' duration each have now been held this summer, under direction of the Women's Institute division of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, for rural girls in home economics. The courses have been well attended, each class having from 15 to 30 in attendance for the full period. Courses have now been held at Canim, Meteghan, Barrington Passage, Brooklyn, and Milton in Queens County, and courses are now planned for New Germany, August 14 to 28, and at Middle Musquodobit, August 12 to 22, as well as at South Ingonish and Mabou, for which dates are not yet announced.

London's Farmer

Boys

The heart of London is now getting from its own farms hundreds of tons of meat and vegetables a year for the hospitals and other institutions of the Metropolis.

London's citizens are the farmers of 4,000 acres, mostly within the Green Belt, and in the midst of the 'blitz' area. They own 1,500 head of pedigree cattle, 3,000 pigs, 7,000 head of poultry and 550 sheep.

In the year of the 'blitz' these farms, run by the London County Council, produced more than ever before: 360,000 eggs, 550,000 gallons of milk, 351 tons of meat, 1,668 tons of vegetables and 81 tons of fruit.

They are even "digging for victory' in London's famous parks. Two hundred acres are being worked by borough councils for food growing. Sheep graze on 600 acres.

Save Gasoline

Let Your Car Wear Proudly This Patriotic Sticker!

Go to your friendly neighbourhood service station or your local garageman today. A surprise awaits you. He has changed. He will be as courteous and thoughtful as ever—glad to see you—eager to do anything and everything he can to help you. But he is no longer a gasoline salesman. He is a gasoline SAVER. He will urge you to buy less instead of more. He will point out ways and means of saving gasoline.

He will tell you all about the "50/50" Pledge to cut your gas consumption by fifty per cent. He will invite you to sign. This proud and patriotic sticker for your car will mark you as a member of the wise and thoughtful band of car owners co-operating with the Government to save gasoline.

This is entirely a voluntary movement. It is not rationing. This the Government hopes to avert. But we are faced with a critical shortage of gasoline due to the diversion of tankers for overseas service and to the growing needs of our Fighting Forces.

There is no call for panic—no need for alarm—but this war is being fought with gasoline and we are fighting for our very lives. Sign the Pledge today and continue to save fifty per cent of your gasoline consumption.

It is also vitally important that you reduce the use of domestic and commercial fuel oil.

REMEMBER: The slower you drive, the more you save!

"Courage and Patience" Is Watchword of War Weary Britishers

Here is the first of a series of letters written specially for the Digby Courier and the Midland (Ont.) Free Press-Herald by Margaret Butcher, English journalist, author of "Comet's Hair" and other novels. Miss Butcher is at present living in Reading, a short distance up the Thames from London, and in her letters gives us an intimate glimpse into the lives of the ordinary, every day men and women of Britain whose determination to see the war through to victory has not been shaken by the horrors of the Hun blitzes.

(By Margaret Butcher)

READING, ENGLAND—I met my Boss on the stairs this morning. A nice woman, but she was feeling Monday-ish. One so often feels Monday-ish nowadays.

There are lots of Mondays in a week. Perhaps that's the best way to describe it. You know: back to the same faces; the same old round—one can get rather tired of faces, even with the best will in the world. And nowadays there doesn't seem to be any getting away from them. Along comes fire-watching night (when one really ought to be at home and in bed, miles away) and there are the Faces again. You shut yourself away in one of the offices and—if it's your lucky night—get a bit of sleep, you tumble out of the bumpy concave bed and go to the bathroom to get a cat-lick of a wash . . . to find the Faces cluttering up the place; and you know that you've got to go on looking at them for the rest of the day.

And if that isn't the quintessence of Mondayishness well, what is?

My Boss sighed, "I feel awful!" she said. "You know, I was almost in tears this morning. And I was talking to a man who said, 'You must have courage and patience.' I know he's right."

"Of course he is," I agreed. "It's the only sort of show we can put up when we feel like this. I believe it would be easier to make a sudden spurt of courage, in a way." And that time she agreed with me. Then I told her what I think; that when one feels this everlasting Monday, the best thing is to sit at one's desk, work hard and say nothing at all. If folks don't speak they can't say the wrong thing.

"You help me a lot, you know," I said—and she does. She is not only nice, but she looks nice. Her hair is carefully done; she doesn't always turn up in the same clothes. She speaks pleasantly—even if she has to say something not too pleasant—and she's human. It heartened her to think that she was helping somebody else along, and she smiled.

"We shall get through this patch, of course," she said. "But when I look around at the lovely fields and think, it all get me down for a moment. You understand?" I did. Spring here: summer coming . . . and it's all one vast Monday. But as she went up the stairs I called out:

"Don't let's forget 'C and P.'"

Our Private Motto
So that's our private motto now; and not a bad one. We have only to look across the room at each other and it's like a shout. Privately, it's my belief that we're all just getting our second wind. A bit puffed and cross at the moment, but it will pass. One is sorry for the Young Things, though; but I don't worry over them. They'll grasp the C-and-P idea in less than no time. After all, it's so much easier for me than it is for them. I've had grand times, and I've accumulated enough dogged philosophy to expect some more; but kids can't feel that way about it. They just feel cheated, I imagine, down underneath. They're game enough, though. There's no mistake about that. Life goes on pulsing away beneath their skins.

COMMODORE G. C. JONES, R.C.N.
Commanding Officer, Atlantic Coast.

And that reminds me of a little anecdote I heard last week. That stubborn something which goes on and on—and not only in the young folks. The teller of the story was a man I used to know some years ago: the son of a well-known writer. He lives in London—that sorely punished but unpunishable city—and he saw five men with pneumatic drills working on a road during a bad blitz. Bombs were falling all around and a fire was blazing not far away; and the steady noise of the drills never stopped, for they were trying to get at a broken gas-main. Bombs fell nearer; men were knocked out, but as one went down he would be carried quickly away and another stepped forward into his place. No delay, no fuss. They mended that main.

"And they were all whiskered old chaps," said my friend. "No hot young blood there. Just cold determination to get the job done. Grand old grandpas!"

Queer Streak of Humor
The Newspaper Man also told me a story, this time with a queer streak of humor in it. An old fellow who work at his office-building came along the other morning looking peevish and flustered. It transpired, upon questioning, that a 1250 lb.

NEW ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH DEDICATED SUNDAY BY HIS GRACE ARCHBISHOP McNALLY

Many Witness Impressive Ceremony

For ten years, since the purchase of a lot of land facing Queen Street and First Avenue, Roman Catholics of Digby town have looked forward to this day—the day when their prayers were answered by the dedication of their new church, and thereby for Divine Worship. The impressive ceremony began at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and was performed by His Grace Archbishop McNally, of Halifax, assisted by Rev. William Penney, of Yarmouth, as Deacon and Rev. Arcade Theriault, of Eel Brook, as Sub Deacon.

Other priests who attended the ceremony were Rev. Leo Murphy, and Rev. William M. Pepper, pastor and curate of the Parish; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Emile Bourneuf, Meteghan; Rev. Fathers F. J. Mathieu, Sackville, N. S.; Peter Comeau, Alphonse Comeau, Weymouth; J. L. Quinan, Father Skinner, Father Peter Burns and Father Keats, Halifax; D. C. Melanson, Weymouth; Elie LeBlanc, St. Bernard; Luc Gaudet, Plympton; J. Doucet, Saulnierville; Father Beryson, Plympton; Father Castonguay, Church Point; and Leo Louis LeBlanc, Comeau's Hill.

His Grace and assistants came to the main door of the church and blessed its exterior; this was followed by the intoning of a short prayer, after which the chanters took up the singing of the 50th Psalm, the Miserere, during which the Archbishop and his assistants went around the exterior of the church, blessing it with Holy Water.

A prayer followed this portion of the ceremony, and when finished the chanters began the Litany while the Archbishop and clergy entered the church and proceeded directly to the main altar. When the portion of the Litany "That Thou wouldst deign to bless and purify this church and altar erected to Thy honor and glory and the name of St. Patrick" was sung, His Grace Blessed the altar, and another prayer was intoned, and the altar again blessed. This was followed by the blessing of the interior of the church.

Due to a heavy down-pour of rain, the large congregation, which filled the auditorium and gallery, was admitted to the church. Usually, the congregation is not admitted until after the exterior is blessed.

Rev. Father Leo Murphy, pastor of the church, welcomed His Excellency, priests, townspeople and friends of St. Patrick's Church. He spoke of to-day as a day that marked the realization of a dream in the fulfillment of Christian thought and undertaking that resulted in the erection of a Parish Church in the town of Digby. He referred to these times as days of spiritual fifth columns, days when people are ready and anxious to give everything for the success of the conflict, but neglecting the church, and forgetting the preservation of Christianity and civilization. He thanked all members of his own parish, non-Catholics and Jews who had contributed money and materials to make possible the erection of this monument to Almighty God. He concluded his remarks by reminding the congregation that to-day in Europe some churches would be bombed; some towns and villages would feel the tragedy of war. "We ask Almighty God to accept this Church to replace some edifice in Europe, and to bless all creeds and classes which gave us this church."

Following Father Murphy's address, an address of welcome and homage to His Grace the Archbishop, was presented by E. J. Theriault, Mayor of Digby, who was accompanied by Thomas Deveau, builder of the Church.

The address called attention to the fact this parish was part of the oldest parish in Canada, where Mass was celebrated at Port Royal in 1604. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Father J. L. Quinan, pastor of St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Halifax, and chancellor of the archdiocese. (Father Murphy labored with Father Quinan as curate, before coming to this parish eleven years ago.)

Father Quinan, who read the lesson from the 8th chapter of Leviticus, deplored the greed of a mere handful who possess too much; God's gifts are intended for all. He spoke of the dedication of this church as of equal significance as that of a cathedral in a large city, and also drew attention to the fact that Digby was part of the oldest parish in Canada, pointing out that at only in St. Augustine, Fla., was Mass celebrated at an earlier date on the continent than at Port Royal, and expressed the hope a day will come when a suitable shrine will be erected to commemorate Canada's first Mass.

His Grace the Archbishop, then congratulated Father Murphy and his parishioners on the completion of the new church that had been offered to God for His worship. There is nothing better you could do than to offer to God the means of worship, and making use of that means," said His Grace. "All our sufficiency is from God, and we need God at all times."

He spoke of the slaughter of millions of fellow citizens; of property and monuments being wiped out for worldly ambitions, and added "We pray that God's work will continue, and from it will come forth the triumph of the past."

"Our Church is to teach all things He commands; to in- still in human souls all things He demands of us. Make such use of the church as will be of untold blessing to yourselves and those who do not see religion as you do. What you believe, and what you learn from God's Holy Church is ennobling—the noblest thing that can come upon your mind and soul; share in the blessing of your church, profit by blessings received in the church, and go through life joyfully looking up to God."

The new St. Patrick's church is located on Queen Street, directly opposite the high school and court house. The building is of Gothic design with twin towers, and is set in spacious grounds and lawns. It is of wooden construction, set on a solid foundation of concrete, the walls being fifteen inches thick. The entire exterior is done with British Columbia cedar shingles of the wide variety, and painted white.

The church itself is 118 feet long and 35 feet wide, and can accommodate approximately 500. It has additions on each side of the sanctuary, each eighteen feet wide, which makes the building cruciform. One of the additions is used for a vestry; the other is a Sunday School room and winter chapel. In addition to the building proper there is directly beneath the main auditorium, a large parish hall capable of seating 400, and equipped with stage, kitchen, store rooms, etc. Beneath the Parish Hall are the furnace room and cellar.

The interior also reflects the Gothic note, with paneled and open-beamed ceilings over oak panelling and Donnacorn board walls. Though there are many churches in the province designed according to ancient Liturgical usage, St. Patrick's is perhaps the only one in this particular part of the province in which the same principal has been attempted so far as limited means would permit. This Liturgical spirit is reflected in the plain table which serves as an altar with its veiled tabernacle; in the simple sanctuary rail; pulpit, etc., all done in dark oak, and in the green silk hangings back of the altar, on which is mounted the large crucifix of natural wood, the corpus being old burnished silver. The same material was used for the Stations of the Cross.

The large amber window over the choir and window over the sanctuary are new; the remaining windows were taken from the old church where they were placed in memory of the pioneers. The Baptismal font (the gift of the non-Catholic doctors of Digby County) is modelled Caen stone surmounted by a top of chromed bronze, with a medallion of St. John the Baptist; the Holy Water font in the vestibule is the corner stone of the first church—a piece of granite fashioned by some early steeler, with the date 1834 plainly visible. The light- ing fixtures consist of large wooden lanterns of frosted glass, and were made from native woods by local workmen.

Plans for the construction of this new edifice were made early in 1931, shortly after Father Murphy came to the Parish; the lot was purchased in that year, and plans for the construction of the new St. Patrick's Church to replace the church built in 1834 to fill the spiritual needs of Irish settlers and recently arrived Roman Catholic Loyalists. This church, with its small seating capacity, had outgrown its usefulness as the congregation in Digby had greatly increased.

Actual construction of the new church was begun in the summer of 1934, 100 years after the old church was completed. In that year a concrete basement was built, and this basement, roofed over, served as a church for seven years. Work on the completion of the new structure was begun April 28, of this year. The building was designed by Charles Killenbeck, A.I.A.A. of Kentville. Thomas Deveau, of Digby, and a parishioner, was the builder.

Earlier in the year Father Murphy had personally visited the lumber mills in the Acadian—districts of the province, asking for donations of lumber for the construction of the new edifice. They, with their non-Catholic competitors responded gladly to his appeal, and gave promises of practically enough lumber to complete the church. Other materials were donated by paint dealers, roofing companies, nail dealers, plumbing supply houses and others; contributions of building materials came from Roman Catholics, Protestants and Jews, all of whom were only too glad to assist Father Murphy in his work; fixtures and money were also pledged. Loyal parishioners, who for years had laboured to raise funds for the completion of their new church home, rose splendidly to the occasion, and each pledged to the best of his ability, certain sums to be pledged or earned in time to pay workmen's wages.

How to Save Gasoline

For the Canadian motorist who sincerely desires to save gasoline and oil in the operation of his car or truck, thus co-operating in the Dominion Government fuel economy campaign, certain simple rules are available.

The following list of driving tips has been compiled by C. E. McTavish, Director of Parts and Service, General Motors Products of Canada Limited, after consultation with General Motors engineers and service experts. These hints are offered by Mr. McTavish to the Canadian motoring public, with Mr. McTavish's comment that a maximum of economy is built in the modern automobile but that there are certain things that the motorist himself must do to eliminate avoidable waste of gasoline and oil. Here is Mr. McTavish's list:

1. Accelerate gently. A fast get-away may be spectacular, but it wastes gasoline.
2. Do not stay in second gear beyond 20 m.p.h. Roaring second gear speeds devour large quantities of fuel.
3. Start to decelerate—a sufficient distance from your stopping point to allow the momentum of the car to carry you along with a minimum use of gasoline.
4. Drive at moderate speeds. Remember the best economy is obtained at speeds 25 to 35 m.p.h. The faster you drive above this speed the greater the requirements of fuel and oil per mile.
5. Keep your engine tuned up for the best efficiency. Dirty spark plugs can waste one gallon of gas for every ten used. Tightly adjusted valves not only cause burned valves, but result in poor fuel economy. Ignition points properly adjusted, and ignition properly timed, will give you the best performance and greater fuel economy.
6. Keep your car well lubricated. Keep the tires inflated to the proper pressure. Make sure the parking brake is in the completely released position. In other words, let your car roll freely.
7. Don't let your engine idle more than is necessary. Even an idling engine consumes gasoline.
8. Do not postpone a necessary engine overhaul. Worn rings drastically reduce engine power, and result in more oil and gasoline being consumed.
9. Watch the choke, especially if it is manually operated. Don't forget to push it to the "off" position as quickly as possible after starting a cold engine.
10. Avoid pumping the accelerator up and down. This pumps a slug of gasoline out of the carburetor every time you make a downward motion.

In conclusion, Mr. McTavish draws attention to another fuel waster. Don't overfill the gasoline tank. The gas station attendant naturally wants to put all the gasoline he possibly can in your tank, but quite often he will spill some (for which you pay) in trying to get that last quart in. And remember that gasoline expands with heat, and if you park your car in the sun with the tank full, that expanding gasoline has got to go somewhere and that will be out of the gas tank vent.

The work of tearing down the old St. Patrick's Church on the hill—a landmark for over a hundred years—has commenced. The building has been taken over by Reg. Accept Resignation of V. O. Nurse

The resignation of Miss Thelma Steeves, Victorian Order Nurse since August of last year, was submitted at the monthly meeting of the Board of the Digby Branch of the order, Tuesday afternoon, and accepted with regret on motion of Mrs. G. D. Turnbull, seconded by Mrs. G. W. Connell. In tendering her resignation Miss Steeves thanked the Board for the interest and co-operation they have shown her during her stay in Digby. Following the acceptance of the resignation, (effective September 1) expressions of regret were expressed by Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, President of the Board, and other members who, spoke highly of the splendid work Miss Steeves had carried on in this community and extended to her best wishes in her new sphere of life.

Correspondence from the acting chief superintendent of the Order recommending the appointment of Miss Margaret Adams, graduate of City Hospital, Sydney, N. S., and in Public Health, McGill University, was read, and after discussion it was decided to carry out the appointment as recommended, at a salary of $120 per month.

Publicity for the month of July was in the form of a V. O. N. Float in the Water Sports Parade on July 28. This float won a prize of a case of two dozen cans of vegetables and fruits which were left with the nurse for distribution as she saw fit. The secretary was instructed to write letters of thanks to Oscar VanTassel for the use of his truck, and to F. R. Eisener for the use of his garage for decorating the float.

The Nurse's report for the month revealed 192 visits made; thirteen new cases, and three school children visited at their homes. Forty-eight babies were weighed at clinics and 44-visited in their homes.

The Supply Committee reported a gift of $3.90 from the Men's Bridge Club and two bed sheets donated by Mrs. G. D. Turnbull.

Printing Office Catastrophe

In spite of everything last week's Courier came out on time! Work went smoothly all the week until putting the last forms to press before leaving the office on Wednesday afternoon. It was then the terrible (to us) thing happened. The form for page two was being carried to the press room by our apprentice. He struck the corner of the door and the contents of the page—every linotype slug—every advertisement—every letter of hand set type—fell to the floor in a hopeless heap. All we were able to salvage was one classified ad.

There was only one thing to do, and that was to come back after supper and reset the whole page—ads and all. We finished about 1.30 a.m., and discovered when we had everything together again we were half a column short, but found other material in type to make up the shortage. Apparently some of the copy for that page was lost or misplaced, and therefore, if you sent us an item of news that did not appear last week, you know the reason.

Such an accident could have happened to anyone carrying the form, and it is one every publisher dreads and feels sure will happen to him some time or another. We have heard of it happening in other offices, but, to our knowledge it was the first time the Courier has experienced such a mishap, and we hope it will be the last.

OBITUARY

Mrs. William Burns
Sandy Cove was deeply shocked and grieved last Thursday when it was learned that Caroline, the wife of Capt. William Burns, had died suddenly while on her way to visit her brother, Frank Saunders. She had stopped to talk with a friend and suddenly remarked "I can't breathe", and collapsed, dying immediately. She was almost 77 years old; a wonderful neighbor, interested in all good works and a friend to all. Besides her husband, there are left to mourn one daughter, Mrs. Louis Henshaw, and one son Clyde, both in Massachusetts; and the brother referred to above. The funeral took place on Sunday and was conducted by Rev. R. H. H. Barker, assisted by Rev. Mr. Kearns.

Chas. E. Turnbull
The death of Charles Edward Turnbull, a life-long resident of Light House Road, occurred on Monday, at the age of 88 years. He was the last member of the family of the late George Thompson and Harriett Elmina Turnbull, and is survived by one son, J. Oakley, and two grandsons. For many years the deceased was mail carrier between Digby, Bay View and Culloden, as well as performing the duties of tax collector for the district of Culloden. He was the oldest living member of St. George Lodge, I. O. O. F. The funeral will be held from his late home at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. T. W. Hodgson, pastor of the United Church officiating. The pall bearers will be four nephews, A. R. Turnbull, Wm. A. Turnbull, Harry O. Turnbull and C. Y. Young. Interment will be in Fairview cemetery where the Oddfellows' service will be conducted.

Youth Dies; Was Hit by Automobile

Thrown from his bicycle, when struck by a truck early on Tuesday morning, Robert Robinson, 11, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Robinson, of Upper Clements, passed away in hospital at noon the same day.

Robinson was driving his bike from his home to a nearby garage. It is believed his attention was attracted by a passing train and he failed to hear the honk of a truck driven by Sydney Kelly of Bridge-town.

As the truck reached the bicycle the boy swerved his wheel. The truck turned towards the ditch but the lad was struck by the side of the vehicle and badly crushed.

An unusually bright little chap, his untimely death has cast a shadow on the whole community. He is survived by his parents; an older sister, Irene, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mailman, also of Upper Clements.

The ladies of South Range East Patriotic Club held a supper and ice cream sale at Porter's Lake, on Tuesday of last week at which the sum of $56.34 was realized. $20 was passed in for the Queen's Canadian Fund, $20 for the Red Cross and the balance was held for use in purchasing material for the club work. The ladies wish to thank all who helped to make this affair such a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Hule returned to Halifax on Sunday, after spending a vacation with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blackadar, Weymouth.

Address Soldiers' Mail in Ink

Postmaster General William P. Mulock, has always shown a keen personal interest in providing a safe and expeditious service for mail to our overseas troops. One frequent cause of delay a direct fault of the sender is illegibility on mail matter.

It has frequently been found that pencil written addresses become smudged and unreadable during course of transmission, with the result that it is very difficult for the Canadian Postal Corps to effect delivery.

When ink is used there is less danger of the address fading or becoming obliterated and persons sending letters and parcels to soldiers overseas can help ensure their safe and speedy delivery by always having care taken to see that the address is written in a clear and legible manner in INK.

All mail should be fully prepaid and a return address given in the upper left-hand corner. Letters, parcels and newspapers for our troops overseas should be addressed in INK as follows:

Regimental Number, Rank and Name.
Name and Details of Unit (i.e. Company, Section, Squadron, Battery, Holding Unit, etc.).

Canadian Army Overseas.
If the soldier is still in Canada, mail should be addressed to him giving the:

Regimental Number, Rank and Name.

Name of Regiment or Branch of Service.
Name of the Place in Canada where the Unit is stationed.

French Policy Creates Crisis

Growing intensity of the war in Africa and in the Middle East is shaping into a crisis for both Great Britain and the United States.

In both London and Washington there is no hiding the concern with which officials view the decision of the Petain government in France to undertake a program of collaboration with Germany. The extent to which conquered France co-operates with the nazis is expected to be a determining factor in both British and American movements in the immediate future.

Threat for British

Should France permit Germany to set up war bases in the Middle East, the interests of French territory in Africa and of Britain would be seriously threatened. Should the same privileges be given the nazis in French territory in the Western Hemisphere, the U. S. and other American republics would be put to the test.

German aviation units already are operating in Syria, the French-mandated territory in the Middle East lying neighbor to the rich oil fields of Iraq, where Britain has been struggling for weeks to maintain its control of supply lines.

The British are worried lest the French collaboration policy may include the granting of bases to Germany in French African territory. With Germany in control of Europe, the nazis would be able to use posts in Africa to set up a pincer attack against Suez and the Eastern Mediterranean, thus threatening British shipping lines to the East.

The British already have been driven out of Libya, in North Africa, and German and Italian forces have penetrated a short way into Egypt. In fact, the only strong British possessions in the African zone are in Ethiopia, where the last large Italian army, a force of some 31,000 men, has just accepted British terms and surrendered.

Some members of congress in the United States are urging the administration to a more strong policy toward France than mere seizure of all French merchant vessels in United States ports, a step already taken.

Some senators declare the United States should take over all French possessions in the Western Hemisphere to keep them from falling into German hands.

American experts fear that France may permit German entry into Dakar, along the African coast within striking distance of South American shipping lanes, a point often discussed as a "jumping off" place for a foreign thrust against South America.

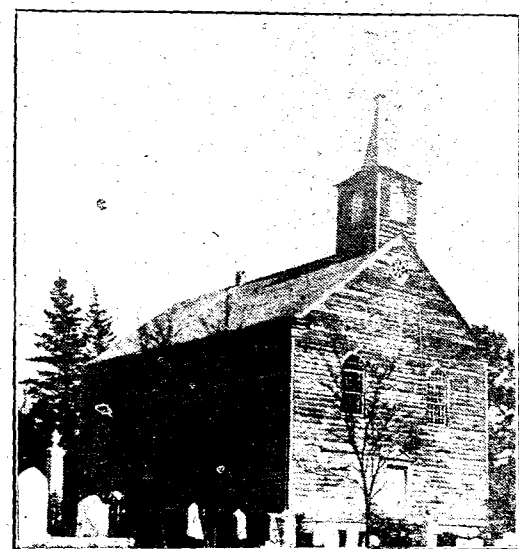

The gravity of the situation was well emphasized in the act of Mr. Roosevelt in issuing a statement in which he appealed, in effect, to the French people not to support the Petain collaboration policy announced in Vichy.

About This and That

The Journal of the American Medical Association says, the highest rate of pay given appears to be that for a bricklayer who is a skilled foreman. He receives $1.79 an hour. It comes an iron and steel worker, who gets $1.65 an hour. After that an ordinary bricklayer who gets $1.62 per hour. There are still some other occupations which are more remunerative than that of the physician such as marble setter and polisher at $1.60 an hour and plasterer at $1.55 an hour. The next group come the doctors. Amongst those who are allowed $1.51 an hour are the air-compressor operator, the power-shovel operator, the dredge-operator, the pump and roller operator, the architect, the statistician, the lawyer and the physician. All of the foregoing reminds us of a friend who worked in New York during the summer season as a carver to gain sufficient money to allow him to attend the medical school in autumn and winter. He was no great carpenter but he drew $11.00 a day all through the season. Finally he was graduated, spent a year in Bellevue as intern and then put up his shingle. He was barely able to live on his income during the first year, so he went back to carpentering until he had saved enough money to enable him to carry on until practice improved. Under present circumstances it takes six years of college and from three to five years more of post-graduate study before a young man or woman feels sufficiently qualified to begin the practice of medicine. Then he or she has to find the practice. Why not be a bricklayer foreman.

An American exchange says: Too high a tribute cannot be paid Canada, our neighbor to the north, for the tremendous part she has played in aiding the war effort of England, the mother country. Canada has been "at war" a matter of only 18 months, but her contribution has been nothing short of phenomenal. The Canadian Army before the war numbered fewer than 5,000 officers and men. It now consists of 200,000 officers and men, 70,000 of whom are serving abroad, with a trained reserve of 175,000 additional men. A year and a half ago there were 4,500 officers and men in Royal Canadian Air Force. Today this force has 3,500 officers, 43,000 air-men, and in another six months this number will be doubled. The Canadian navy to date has conveyed 3,700 ships across the Atlantic, including troop-ships to Britain without the loss of a single man. In the last 18 months our Canadian neighbours have built from the ground up an airplane industry which now employs 25,000 men. It has developed the shipbuilding industry from 1,500 to 20,000 men, now constructing nearly 500 ships of all kinds. This is a tremendous effort indeed for a nation of but 11,500,000 people, and it has been made without stint or grumbling. Just suppose, if you can, that the United States had made in the last 18 months the same effort and obtained the same results that Canada has done. So vast would have been the results that Hitler might have been ready to call it quits by this time.

"In haste," said the psalmist, "all men are liars." We today can say more deliberately very much the same thing. Some like artists, some like fools, and some by not saying what they could say if they would tell the truth. The European war communicates well illustrate this statement, and it's a wonder the rest of the world has time to go on reading them. In his epistle to the Romans, St. Paul wished every man might "be justified in his sayings," so does the world today. Then we would better know what to expect on this side of the Atlantic.

Exclusive of Yukon, gold to the extent of $26,178,000 came out of the north last year. This is what the U. S. Department of the Interior says. The total was greater than any except the four years of the great war period. And in 1867, Russia sold Alaska to the United States for $7,200,000.

Smoke Alarmed Church Janitor

Robert Muise received a bad scare Sunday night. Early in the evening he entered the new St. Patrick's Church, which had been dedicated that afternoon, to close the building for the night. He found the church filled with smoke. Investigating, Mr. Muise discovered someone had touched a match to a quantity of shavings and paper that had been stuffed into the stove in the basement by cleaners when they finished cleaning up the auditorium of the newly completed church late Saturday night. The stove had not yet been connected with the chimney. No fire damage was done, and the church was ventilated before the smoke could cause any harm.

The story of what happened to a pair of Canadian silk stockings, sent as a present to England, is told in a letter from Suffolk, received by Miss B. J. Johnstone of Swift Current, recently. Canadian women who read it may appreciate their sheer stockings a little more.

Here's the letter from Miss Johnstone's sister: "You will be interested in hearing the latest chapter regarding those silk stockings you sent me. I happened to be in a shop last week where the saleswoman showed me a pair of awful looking 'lisle' stockings that had just come in at 3 1/2 (about 88 cents). I mentioned my present that I had thought of giving away. 'Oh! don't do it!' said the saleswoman, they are worth a goldmine now!"

"I explain that mine came from Canada, as all silk are not to be obtained over here. It gave me an idea. Every town and village throughout England has its 'War Weapons Week' as you have probably read, with whist drives, dances, raffles, etc. This happened to be our week, so I offered the silk stockings for a raffle to be held in the school. They were very gladly accepted. The woman who won them was not the 'silk stocking' type but the school-master's wife, having examined them previously (being a member of the committee) had set her heart on them. Her husband had won a War Savings Certificate for 7 1/2 (about $1.70) for a prize at the whist drive, so he gave the thrifty woman that in exchange for the luxurious silk stockings his wife so desired. Wasn't she delighted as she was down to her last pair! "I know you will be proud to think a gift from you—and a real Canadian article—played a little part in a village 'War Weapons Week' and will be glad I passed them on to this cause." It's a strange kind of war, this, with everything topsy-turvy and women playing as important a part as the soldiers at the front. In England they're giving up luxuries like silk stockings—an item which might seem unimportant to a mere man, but is an invaluable asset to femininity. Here in Canada women are helping by wearing sheer stockings, just as attractive and flattering as ever, but made of new materials and manufactured as part of the national war plan.

AROUND THE COUNTY

There are many successful Boys' and Girls' Clubs in the county and this calls for a word in close season. Dr. Sexton who is most interested in any vocational side-lines warned in a conversation a few weeks ago that it was futile to build any sort of scheme around a teacher. In areas where teachers are changed annually it is obvious that there can be no continuity of work. Hence the duty falls on members of the community to further the "Club" movement.

It is encouraging to see splendid reports from Church Point, Bear River, Cape St. Mary, Centreville, Weymouth North, Comeauville, Concession and Freeport Girls' Clubs. The department representative, Mr. Raymond LeBlanc, has a good number of Boys' Clubs, Garden, Calif. Poultry, and they are doing very good work in many quarters. This movement could be developed everywhere if public-spirited citizens would co-operate with the department and the teachers. Womens' Institutes and Home and School Associations who have not fostered the formation of such clubs would hardly seem to be fulfilling their objective.

Our largest coloured section, Weymouth Falls, seems to be going steadily ahead. Their church life flourishes and Red Cross Work goes on unceasingly. The men are out to improve agricultural conditions and I hear they are providing for the winter by going in for community canning on quite a scale. One day they will have a co-operative. Almost all the able-bodied young men have now joined the active army and from what we see they make real smart soldiers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sack have done a great service in showing movies around for war-time charities. These pictures are skilful and artistic and have been well worth seeing. At the moment Mr. Sack is in the Country Hospital. We wish him a speedy return to health and hope for more movies next year.

At last our youths and maidens in the high schools know best and worst about examinations. The results are out. No use crying over the usual lost opportunities and wasted hours or stupid mistakes. Nor is it any use distracted parents getting all worked up. From time immemorial there have been those who gathered rose-buds -- and those who didn't. If one may indulge in metaphor, it may also be said that as rose buds are not gathered without thorns neither is a successful education unaccompanied by sweat and tears.

Reading "A Great Experiment" by Lord Cecil, was in many ways very stimulating. He calls his book "An Autobiography" but he might have called it "The Story of the League", having given twenty years of his life to some very hard work on that great idea.

Lord Cecil is noble in every sense of the term and has so much modesty that he almost misses himself out of his autobiography however, when he does lapse into personal details he is delightful. This sample is worthy of quoting. "In 1888 I was lucky enough to persuade Lady Eleanor Lambton to marry me -- it was certainly the most fortunate thing that has happened to me."

His story of the League is in reality an indictment of the British Empire and France, who weakened and eventually sabotaged the League Covenant. Time and again they had the power (before Hitler grabbed any) to use the weapon of collective security for the preservation of peace and the fear of aggressors. Manchuria--Abyssinia Munich! The snow-ball of Mars which ended in the avalanche which we call World War II. Lord Cecil is a noble Briton and a true patriot and if we would be true patriots we too should learn the lessons of the League failure. In spite of all the heart-breaking disappointments he is still of the opinion that the League in a modified way would be the best solution for international problems after the war.

He throws much light on the conduct of affairs at Geneva and this helps to construct in perspective a sketch of the years between the wars. As most of us have short memories he does a great service for it has been the fashion to hurl brick-bats at the League. The great work of the I. L. O. is mentioned, as also the attempt to put down such pernicious evils as drugs, slavery, and traffic in women. He is appreciative of the assistance the U. S. A. gave and would have given, had they been permitted, to the cause of world peace, and his trip through the States was one of his great joys.

Always above politics, fearless and undismayed this book gives us a picture of a modern prophet. Noblesse oblige!

Wild Fruit In Abundance.

The blueberry crop in Digby county is reported as being the largest in the memory of many of Digby's oldest residents. Although these berries are not gathered commercially except in a few scattered districts, large quantities are being sold from door to door in town, and several farmers who have blueberries growing on their properties have invited friends from town to pick all they require. "It is a pity to let them go to waste," they say. Near Digby the berries are reported as most plentiful in the North Range and the Bloomfield areas.

On the whole 1941 seems to be a good year for small fruits in this district. The strawberry crop was the heaviest for several years, while cherries were fully as plentiful as in 1940 when the crop was regarded as exceptionally heavy. In spite of prophecies that the raspberry crop would be a slim one, this fruit, especially the wild variety, is quite plentiful.

Relief on Feed Costs Hoped For

Farmers of Nova Scotia have reason to feel confident that there will shortly be some action at Ottawa to support the provincial government's efforts to obtain lower rates for grain feeds shipped into the Maritime Provinces, as a result of the visit of Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, to the province during the week end of August 2. Mr. Gardiner met groups of representative farmers and farm organizations both at Pictou and at Kentville, farmers from four counties coming into Pictou and from the valley counties into Kentville. Mr. Gardiner also addressed a public gathering, mostly of farmers, Monday, August 4, at Kentville.

With respect to farming in general, farmers asked lower freight rates on feed grains, something which they have been fighting for, in company with the provincial government, for two years. In the alternative, it was suggested to Mr. Gardiner that the federal government might well join with the province in erecting grain storages at some point where water transportation is available so that competitive rates might be established against the high railway rate, and that the federal government might undertake management of these facilities. Mr. Gardiner gave no definite answer on these, holding out little hope for inducing the railways to bring the rates on feed grains down to the export level, but at the close of his tour in Nova Scotia, he spoke most reassuringly, giving the farmers to understand that he saw the seriousness of their problem in this respect, and encouraging them in the belief some action would be taken.

During his meetings with the farmers, Mr. Gardiner went fully into the progress of the agreements with the British ministry of food, indicating that in the third year of the war, Britain is prepared to take far more volume of bacon, eggs and cheese from Canada than in the last two years.

Queried respecting butter price pegging, the federal minister declared that the butter price was pegged at a maximum last winter because the government did not want dealers to be making a lot of money out of the product. He declared such a course might again be adopted next winter, but he felt safe in answering the farmers that if so, the price would not be below what it was now.

Mr. Gardiner told the fruit growers at Kentville that there was a possibility of Britain opening up the fresh apple market there again for N. S. apples, though nothing definite had been decided. He held out some hope that the project of a central cold storage plant for the apple areas, a project felt vitally necessary to the future success of the industry, might be undertaken by the federal government.

Three Factories Canning Peas

Three canning plants in Nova Scotia are processing field peas this season. The Magee plant at Pictou is in its fourth season, with some 200 acres under contract. At Middleton the Canadian Cannery are processing the crop from about 175 acres under contract, while the Graves plant at Berwick commenced this year to process peas, with about 75 acres under contract. Price being paid the pea producers this year is $50 ton. The crop generally averages about one and a half tons to the acre. Some individual crops have been known to go as high as two and a half and three tons to the acre. The yield from first reports appears to be fairly heavy this year.

Some Fall Plowing Already Done

Farmers who have their farm operations well in hand have been able to get some fall plowing done already this season. On dull days when haying weather is not good, but it is possible to do some work on the land, forehanded farmers get the plow out and turn over a little acreage for next year's crops. Motoring along the Pictou highway on August 2, departmental officials noticed one plot neatly plowed on a recent day. This was on the farm of Fred Sotchel at Saltsprings. Reports came in of other parts of the province in which fall plowing has been done. After haying is over, there is generally a little time when fall plowing could profitably be done. Such things are indicative of good farm management.

Former N. S. Student Trade Commissioner

A visitor to the province the past week has been W. B. McCullough, one of New Brunswick's graduates from the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, who has been appointed assistant trade commissioner for Canada in the Argentine. Mr. McCullough came from a farm in N. B., to go to the agricultural college at Truro some years ago.

Co-operative Hog Shipments

Total shipments of hogs through co-operative shipping clubs in the province totalled 2525 head in the first six months of 1941 compared with 2450 head in the same period of 1940. Over 70 per cent of these graded into the two top grades.

R.O.P. Work in Poultry Declining

Word comes from Ottawa that while in recent years Nova Scotia has been making remarkable progress in production and organized marketing of poultry on grade, thus establishing an enviable reputation for quality, yet R.O.P. work in breeding has fallen off seriously, thereby endangering the excellent reputation for quality flocks now established.

Federal poultry officials draw attention to the fact that this phase of poultry production is vital if Nova Scotia is to continue to produce high bred breeders for the commercial hatcheries and thus maintain the high standard now set among Nova Scotia flocks. Far more entries in record of performance tests are needed from N. S. breeders, and federal authorities point out that here is a field in which many more poultrymen might well increase their activities. Entries for R.O.P. tests should be in the hands of federal officials as soon as possible. R. O. P. is simply a means of establishing productive capacity and quality of breeding birds, and maintaining high standards in breeding flocks. The work provides the basis for all quality poultry production. Full information regarding R. O. P. can be had by writing J. F. Haggerty, senior poultry products representative for the federal government, at Halifax.

Strawberry Production

Estimates from Ottawa sources quote the total strawberry production in Nova Scotia this season at 1,404,700 quarts, compared with 1,254,000 quarts in 1940. While production was up throughout the province, Masstown, the province's largest single area, reports a slight drop in production from last year due to slightly decreased acreage, although the average yield per acre was good. The area produced this season about 6300 crates, or 170,000 quarts.

Garment Club Demonstrate Season's Work

Nova Scotia girls can dress well and have many articles of apparel both attractive and practical in garment made entirely from flour sacks, suitably bleached and dyed, and designed and made up by the girls themselves. This rather remarkable fact has been demonstrated time and again in various exhibits put on by garment club girls from all parts of the province, but never more so than in the annual exhibit of articles on display in the annual garment club contest at the agricultural college at Truro the past week.

More than 800 articles were shown in this display, held during the sessions of the rural teacher's summer school, which was brought to a close at the college Friday last. The work was judged by the Misses Jean Munro and Kay MacNeil, in charge of girls' garment clubs in Eastern and Western Nova Scotia respectively, and their assistants the Misses Gunn and Grant.

All counties save one were represented in this remarkable exhibit, in which the lowly flour sack, bleached and colored, was featured prominently in the many articles to which the sacks had been miraculously converted by the artistry and workmanship of the girls. These articles included such garments as dresses, slacks, boleros, skirts, jumper dresses, pyjamas, slips, luncheon sets, pillow cases, runners, cushion tops, cup towels, and aprons of every variety.

Another interesting feature was the display of articles made from feed bags. In this class the Carleton Corner club, Annapolis County, showed up well with their unusually beautiful designing and distinctive color harmonies. Other clubs exhibiting in this class were Coldbrook, Kings Co.; Gillisdale, Inverness; Upper Musquodoboit, Halifax Co.; New Ross, Lunenburg Co.; and Little Flower Institute at Little Bras d'or, Cape Breton.

The weaving classes were deserving of special mention. Clubs contributing to this exhibit included Bible Hill, Colchester; Lantz Siding, Hants; Arichat, in Richmond; Upper Whitehead in Guysboro; Newton, Guysboro; Torbrook, Annapolis; Upper Nine Mile River, Hants.

The work of the Lake Ram-say club stood up well as to quantity and quality of exhibits.

As one of the closing features of the summer school girls of garment clubs gave a fashion show with some of the dresses and garments made from flour sacks by various clubs during the past season. The work of the garment clubs is part of the boys' and girls' junior clubs of the province, under direction of the extension division of the Nova Scotia department of agriculture. There are now nearly 4000 girls in this work in the province.

Good Crop Conditions

Generally speaking, excellent growing weather was experienced during the month of July throughout the province, although haying was interfered with once or twice by heavy rains. The hay crop generally will be much better than at first expected, and will yield a good average crop. Pastures continue excellent. Grain crops, though late, have been able to pick up some lost time the past month because of the excellent growing conditions. Though potato acreage is down, yields are expected to be good. Poultry prospects are good, and egg prices have advanced during the month.

"Courage and Patience" Watchword of British

time bomb had been dropped in his back garden, and he and the neighbours had been engaged in watching the Squad dig it out and cart it away to Hackney Marshes. As the lorry bumped off, it seems the crowd raised loud cheers. "Well, you were lucky it didn't explode, if you ask me," observed the Newspaper Man. "I know," replied the old chap a little testily. "But what a hole it's made! Ruined the best bed of lettuce and carrots you could ever hope to see!"

That's something I can begin to understand, too. I was almost in tears myself yesterday, for I went across the allotment—having been away from it for two days, owing to fire-duty—and found, in place of my two baby marrow plants, two brown and dead sprouts. A bitter frost in the night had slain them. I sat down on the mound, utterly crushed; and along came the Gardening Partner. In face of his six feet of bluff masculinity I tried to cheer up, fearing harsh ridicule.

"I was only just mourning the marrows," I explained. "They're dead." His face clouded and he sat down beside me.

"I know," he said. "I saw it yesterday and it depressed me for the whole evening."

Tragedy in Miniature
Crazy, isn't it. But I think one puts so much into this allotment business: so much hard work and hope. The little sprouting things seem so brave and jolly, and it's like a tragedy in miniature when they perish. Anyway, my respect for the Gardening Partner increased marvelously in those few seconds of mutual grief.

How odd this account of our lives must seem to you over there! Perhaps War seems a long way off—as it once did to us. In that distant and almost mythical time of four or five years ago we used to hear about wars: news on the radio, perhaps about China. Then about some corner of Europe; and still it was almost as distant as the moon. One felt sorry for the folk concerned, of course, but in a detached kind of way. (Perhaps we even had a suspicion that, bad as it was, they didn't feel quite so intensely as we might feel if it happened to us. But that was one thing which just couldn't happen, of course. These were the things which—like crimes in the ed to Other People.

And it has happened to us, strange though it seems; and pain and discomfort and grief (and that Mondayishness for the luckier ones) have come right home. It's an extraordinary experience. We shall never get that Moonfolk feeling again. I'm sure. How could we? Of course, there are still a few people, even over here, who kid themselves along, but they're liable to wake up any day. Just a few who help themselves to somebody else's butter and then sit in a comfortable chair and tell the world how they'd run this old war—you know the type. The intolerant speculative happily on what may happen to them before long; the tolerant regard them as a scourge inseparable from all human communities and go out to do a bit of digging to wrok it off.

Ludicrous Incongruity
The other night, on fire-duty, I went out into the garden during an Alert, just to have a look round and make sure that no chink of light was showing anywhere. It was a beautiful night and the sky was thick with stars. I could hear planes droning overhead, and I stared upwards, expecting their shapes to blot out the starlight for a moment. Great beams of searchlights crawled across the sky; I could hear distant booms, in the intervals, the voices of Wardens talking quietly near at hand. I stood on the steps of the ugly Victorian villa which is now our headquarters, and I marvelled at the incongruousness of it all; that house built for smug security—and now filled with typewriters and bustle all day, and fire-watchers all night.

There was nothing Mondayish about that, believe me. It was one of those sharp, half-ironical, half-ludicrous impressions which remain as long as anything can be remembered. The iron gate and the Victorian hedge outlined in black against the paler shade of the road; the pointed fir-trees . . . and above them those beams of light and those zooming machines trailing across the quiet of the night. And somewhere there were people standing up to it all with incredible courage—and patience. Little ants of human performance miracles of endurance and bravery not so many miles away; and this great jump of rock and earth spinning round toward the light—and another Monday.

So perhaps we're quite wrong, after all, to feel like that about another new day. It's never quite like yesterday; not when you look at it like that, is it?

'Blitzed' Royal Autographs
Signatures of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra in a book reduced to ashes by Nazi incendiary bombs have been made legible again by a new chemical process discovered by research chemists of London's Metropolitan Police Laboratory.

The autographs were written in 1883, when the Royal pair were Prince and Princesses of Wales, in the visitors' book of the City of London College, which since 1848 has been giving business training to young men and women employed in the City of London, many of whom have emigrated to the Dominions and Colonies. Razed to the ground one night by incendiary bombs, the College lost all its possessions, yet resumed work next day in loaned premises without even a sheet of note paper. The blackened remains of the treasured visitors' book were sent to the Police Laboratory where the page bearing the Royal signatures was treated with chloral hydrate in a 25 per cent alcoholic solution and dried at 60 degrees Centigrade. After repeating this several times, a mass of chloral hydrate crystals formed on the surface, and at this stage a similar solution, containing 10 per cent glycerine, was applied and the paper dried as before. It was then photographed, and the result was excellent. The process, which needs no special apparatus, is proving of great value where important documents in ink, typescript or print, are burned by enemy action.

TIME MARCHES ON

Twenty-Five Years Ago

(From the Courier Files of
August 18, 1916)

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Burpee Greene, New Tuskett, was saddened when they received a telegram with the news that their eldest son, Pioneer Henry Arnold Greene, 23, had been killed at the front, on June 14, 1916.

Digby has another murder case. There is, however, little excitement, and no mystery surrounds it. From the evidence brought out at the coroner's inquest and at the preliminary examination it appears that Charles Robert, colored, came from Yarmouth to Digby, hired an auto, drove to Westville where his wife, Kitty Robert, colored, was visiting. Without any warning, he drew a revolver and shot her through the shoulder, killing her almost instantly. He then returned to Digby and gave himself up to Chief of Police Peck, at the same time handing him the revolver. "She fooled me long enough," Robert said. "Broke up my home, sold my stuff, and I made up my mind she would never do it again. I have fixed her, I think, and I am willing to take the consequences." He is now in Digby jail awaiting trial at Supreme Court.

Ten Years Ago

August 21, 1931)

A daring rescue was carried out in the waters of the Annapolis Basin near Digby, on Sunday afternoon, when Howard Spriggs rescued a nine-year-old lad, Douglas Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, of Joggins Bridge. The little fellow had been paddling on a log, a short distance from his home, and before he realized his position he had drifted out into the deep waters of the basin. Spriggs swam a mile to rescue the lad.

The Digby Hospital Fair was held Wednesday afternoon and evening, and the gross receipts were $2,582.

Oydessey of "Ta Kung Pao"

(News Week)

Ta Kung Pao, often referred to as the Manchester Guardian of China, one of the country's most respected and best edited papers, was founded 39 years ago in the North-east sea port of Tientsin. Under its founder-publisher, Hu Chengchi, the newspaper spread to the vast reaches of China. In Tientsin circulation topped 100,000 and editions were printed in Shanghai and other large cities.

Then with the beginning of the war with Japan in the summer of 1937, Ta Kung Pao started on what may well be the longest trek in journalistic history. When the Japanese troops occupied Tientsin the newspaper pulled up its roots for Shanghai. But its independence there was short lived, for in November it followed the retreating Chinese government inland to Hankow, establishing two new editions in Hankow and Hong Kong.

Within a year the Japanese were knocking at the gates of Hankow, and Ta Kung Pao was on the march again, this time to Chungking, its present home.

The 4,000 mile pilgrimage from Tientsin, one leg of which was negotiated by 500 coolies carrying 200 tons of rotary press parts and 500,000 Chinese type characters through a gap in the Japanese lines, failed to cripple Ta Kung Pao or weaken its editorial potency. In the mountain city, the newspaper, along with some half a dozen other refugee dailies, literally dug in its feet to withstand the invaders. Press-room machinery was set up in caves of the granite hills, with the Tientsin staff, from business manager to doorman, largely intact. To its Chungking and Hong Kong issues were added a third at Kweilin, an important Chinese transportation centre.

In Chungking to-day Ta Kung Pao has two major worries: bombs and shortage of newsprint. The Chungking edition appears on varicolored paper of the poorest quality—red, yellow, gray, green or even pink. On July 19 a bomb wrecked its suburban business office, and on July 30 it suffered additional damage during the bombing which crippled the United States gunboat Tutulla, but the liberal, independent daily, which last May received a medal of honor from the University of Missouri School of Journalism, of which many of its students are alumni, shrugged off its latest misfortunes. The newspaper is still in the fight, and shows alarm over Japan's southward advance and the threat to Thailand. Ta Kung Pao declared editorially that the only course open to Thailand was to refuse Japanese bait and seek protection from the United States and Great Britain.

A "New" Courier

On September 16, The Digby Courier will begin its 68th year of continuous publication, and will observe its birthday by appearing in an altogether new form. Our pages will be smaller, and there will be more of them. Our front page will be entirely free of advertising, for, after September 16, no paid advertising matter whatever will appear on page 1 of The Digby Courier.

We feel confident the "new" Courier will be appreciated by our readers and advertisers. The smaller pages will be easier to handle, and through these smaller pages we will be enabled to present our news matter and feature articles in an altogether different manner. Fewer advertisements will appear on each page, thus giving better display and better value to our advertisers.

Furthermore, we intend to make changes in our methods of handling subscription and advertising accounts; all advertising rates will be revised and display advertising will thereafter be charged on the "agate line" rather than inch basis. The "agate line" is a printers' measurement, fourteen agate lines equaling one inch.

Other announcements with regard to proposed changes will be made in the near future, and advertisers will be advised shortly of our revised advertising rate schedules.

Travel 1,000 Miles on Bicycles.

Digby was visited on Friday last by a group of nine young American cyclists, members of the American Youth Hostel Association, Northfield, Mass., who have ridden through the states of Maine and New Hampshire, thro' New Brunswick, crossing to Prince Edward Island from Pictou and touring the Island; back to the Nova Scotia mainland and through Cape Breton. Here seven of the party embarked to Newfoundland. Returning to Nova Scotia they toured thro' the Annapolis Valley on their way to Yarmouth. Those interviewed say they have enjoyed every mile of their trip, and are particularly impressed with the Valley.

Since leaving Northfield on June 30, they have covered more than 1,000 miles on their bicycles, making from 40 to 45 miles daily, with a record day of 62 miles.

They are under the leadership of Miss Betty Darling, of Blue Hill, Me. Canvass Realizes $150
The final results of the annual V. O. N. Canvass have been delayed, however, the press was advised yesterday that the total receipts amounted to exactly $150. This amount is approximately $40 more than was realized by the 1940 canvass.

Such increases are encouraging, especially in these days when there are so many demands for money for the support of war services—and in war times these services are essential and must be supported on the other hand, our own public services, such as the V. O. N., the Hospital, and others, are essential in peace times, and even more so in days of war—they too, must be supported.

Red Cross News

The monthly meeting of the Digby Red Cross Society was held at the Court House on Thursday evening Aug. 14th, with Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson in the chair.

R. B. Murray submitted a financial report from the Board of Trade Sports Day. Gratitude was expressed to all those who assisted with the booths on that day.

The convenor of the Work Committee, Mrs. H. M. Warne, who was absent through illness, submitted a report which was read by Mrs. Fred Thibault. She expressed disappointment in the quite definite drop in the amount of work accomplished during the month and expressed the hope that this drop is only temporary, as the need is now greater than ever, as with winter so near knitted garments and warm clothing for the victims of air raids are urgently needed. Mrs. Warne reported the formation of a new group of workers—The Patriotic Club—of South Range East. This group recently raised nearly $60 at a supper. They gave the Digby Red Cross branch $20; the Queen's Fund, $20, and the remainder is to be used for quilt material which will go to the Red Cross later for shipment overseas. (The first quilt actually arrived soon after the donation).

During the last quarter the Auxiliary branches have provided a decided financial asset in addition to the work they have accomplished. The work committee acknowledges with thanks the following donations received during July: 6 quilts, Rebekah Lodge; 5 quilts, Service Wives; 33 quilts each, Marshalltown Red Cross group, the Baptist Guild, Trinity Church; 2 quilts each, Acaciaville Club, Warne "Victory Club", Community Quilters; 1 quilt each, Culloden Auxiliary, Rossway Auxiliary, Conway Club, Mt. MARRIAGES

Wade-Wood

The Annapolis Royal United Church was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Monday, Aug. 11, at noon, when Phyllis Evangeline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood, of Annapolis Royal, became the bride of Donald Ernest Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wade, of Granville Centre. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. B. Wright assisted by Dr. Hancock, of New York, in the absence of the regular pastor of the church. The wedding march was played by Minnie Gates, the bride's aunt. The bride was becomingly attractive in a light grey tailored suit of tropical cloth with white and navy blouse, hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas, carnations and baby's breath. The bride's mother was wearing a green silk dress with black and white hat, and the groom's mother wore a navy and white sheer packet dress with hat to match. Following the ceremony a lunch was served at the home of the bride, which was decorated for the occasion. Only immediate relatives and friends were present. Previous to the wedding, the bride was the recipient of nice gifts at a shower held in her honor, also from girl friends of the staff of the Robert Simpson Co., Halifax. After a honeymoon spent in Saint John and other places, the couple will reside in Halifax, where the groom is a representative of the Tuckett Tobacco Company.

Ring-Johns

The Baptist Church, Port Wade, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday afternoon, August 12th, at 3 o'clock, when Lillian Wava Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Johns, of Port Wade, became the bride of Allen Reid Ring, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ring, of Victoria Beach. To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Bertha Carty, the bride, gowned in white satin and with long veil, and carrying an arm bouquet of orange blossoms, white asters, snapdragon, stock and fern, entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was attended by her aunt, Mrs. Robert H. McGrath as matron of honor, and by little Miss Marina MacWinnie, as flower girl. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. W. Mills, pastor of the Lower Granville Baptist Church. The ushers were Mildred Carty and Helen Snow. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, where seventy guests gathered to extend congratulations and best wishes. The couple left for a short honeymoon, and on their return they will reside in Victoria Beach.

About This and That

Visiting Baxter's grocery store Saturday evening, the writer half expected a "calling down" when Mr. Baxter said he had a "kick" to make about his big "Victory V" ad which appeared in our last issue. The ad was a fairly large one, larger than Mr. Baxter had anticipated, but the best we could do with his layout. However, the "kick" was one of the kind we appreciate. Mr. Baxter complained (?) that it was the busiest day he had had in weeks, in fact, they were so busy in the store that during the afternoon it was impossible to wait upon all the customers! This is in spite of the fact that it rained a sea all day Saturday. Other merchants who didn't advertise blamed the weather for poor business. Those who know will tell you that well planned advertisements placed in the columns of the Digby Courier bring results.

Recruits in Canada's Army have every opportunity of being promoted from the ranks. This point is strongly emphasized by recruiting officials in the campaigns this year. Canada needs men, skilled and unskilled, for all branches of the service; young men with ambition, to learn a trade, or to become a professional soldier. These recruits will have every chance of attaining high positions, such as those held by the leaders of Canada's Army today. The late Sir Arthur Currie started in the ranks in Victoria. Major General Victor Odium, D.S.O., was once a recruit in the ranks. Major General Pearkes, V.C., joined as a private in the last war. Brigadier H. F. G. Lesten, M.C., military attaché at Washington, went overseas in the last war in the ranks of the 196th Battalion. —British Columbian.

So long as the United States remained not an active participant in the war, there was a reasonable excuse for Germany refraining from trying to raid Canadian cities. To have done so, might easily have meant hostilities by Washington; aroused because of a demonstration of her own vulnerability. Commenting on this, the Financial News of Vancouver says that under the changed circumstances, Germany would have an incentive she did not possess before. In fact, there would be a double reason why her bombers might try trans-Atlantic destruction. If Canadians have not yet fully realized that there is a war on, they would know it then.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Weekly notes on various matters, conducted by Rev. A. S. Hart.

The momentous meeting of Premier and President last week still occupies first place in our minds. To bring Anglo-American relations down to our humble selves we must all feel that something of this sort had to happen because the ordinary people so willed it. We feel too, that there is a sincere friendship between Union and Empire, an improved friendship perhaps. It is gratifying to note that Canadian opinion appreciates American aid without making the mistake of cynically hinting that they should be fighting. Colonel Knox made mention of that point too, and with so many visitors here from across the border we do assure them that we can mind our own business. There is not the least doubt that Mr. Churchill went to the meeting in the same spirit. In the days that he ahead the leadership given by these statesmen will be epoch-making if there is sufficient give and take to ensure the welfare of both peoples, not forgetting that even two great institutions such as Union and Empire cannot prosper if the remainder of the world is destitute. It is not so much treaty or character but understanding which in the long run makes for lasting friendship. Wall St., Threadneedle St., and other streets over the world where merchants congregate must also meet in mid-Atlantic.

Perhaps the best we can do is to treat all our friends from War-poetry seems to be left to our 'spare-time' poets or to the ordinary man and woman. John Masefield, the Laureate, might have written a thundering epic about Dunkirk but instead he wrote a prose account. Our greater Canadian poets are as yet silent. Following on the "White Cliffs" we have Walter O'Hearne's stirring lines "The Little People" which has had two radio performances, (they were with music but I'm not sure that the team work was too good). This poem seems to have the quality of permanence about it and it would be no surprise to find it in a period anthology in a few years from now.

With the approach of the Fall and longer nights our thoughts turn to questions of Air Raids and we may have to do a job of work on A.R.P. here in Digby County before very long. It is no question of panic or official foolishness any more than coast defences and patrols are. Precautions are not a matter of routine, they are two-fold. They guard and they make it less worth while for the enemy. The city of Saint John is forty miles from Digby. Saint John is prepared for blackouts and has an A. R. P. organization while Digby if surprised would not be a target but a guide. This of course applies to other towns and villages.

The Red Cross of the Province is undertaking the A. R. P. work with the active co-operation of other bodies. Dr. Prince of King's College is in charge and has already visited Digby with a view to beginning the A. R. P. training shortly.

Recent newspapers from England announce the publication of two important books dealing with the Belgian surrender under King Leopold. They are "The Prisoner at Laeken" by Emile Cammaerts and "Was Leopold a Traitor?" by Robert Goffin. Both decri the King's policy of playing into the hands of Hitler as a neutral but both also exonerate the King from cowardice and betrayal.

Hundreds of thousands have read "Out of the Night" by Jan Valtin. The author is now in the U. S. A. fighting against extradition. (The title is taken from Henley's famous lines "Invictus".)

There are times when the story becomes so dramatic and terrible that one instinctively says "Fiction—such adventures don't happen to one man in a lifetime." But in retrospect one realizes that this is truth, stark and real. Jan Valtin is a German Communist agent for most of the story in his own country under the Hitler rule. He moves about Germany like a ghost in another world of shadows. The book shows how men do endure torture, privations and death for a cause and often the wrong cause. Pastors and priests suffered for their religion alongside men who believed in a cause almost, if not as bad, as Nazism and practised a terrorism which was almost identical. Here with every justification and factual lacking both Nazism and Communism stand condemned. Those of us who feel dissatisfied with our system and hanker after the stream-lined efficiency of the dictators may take this recipe which might have been culled from "Out of the Night".

"Take one leader and make an idol of him, add lots of fanaticism and propaganda. Sift out all Christian principles and individualism and the right of free speech. Apply executions, concentration camps, secret police, rubber truncheons, whips and chains, ersatz food and a generous sprinkling of machine gun bullets. Heat up by mob enthusiasm and at boiling point plunge into war."

And so if anyone should feel tempted to make a Canadian Totalitarian Pie —

Tibert - MacNeill

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, Barton, on Monday, August 18th, at 4 p.m., when Miss Norma Mildred MacNeill, daughter of H. C. MacNeill, of North Range, was united in marriage to Earle Nelson Tibert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tibert, of Central Grove, by Rev. F. E. Roope. The bride was tastefully attired in a navy tailored suit and wore a corsage of pink roses and maiden hair fern. The bride and groom were attended by the immediate relatives of the bride. After the ceremony they returned to the home of the bride's father, where in the evening a reception was held and seventy guests entertained. On Tuesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Tibert left on a motor trip to Wolfville and Halifax, and on their return they will reside in Central Grove. Their many friends wish them many years of happiness.

Rural and Village Schools Open Monday

With the opening of the rural and village schools in Digby County on Monday, pupils of the Central Grove School will be conveyed to Freeport, six miles away, to attend school there. We believe this to be a great step forward, and hope that next year we will see several more of the small schools united with the larger units.

While we know that teachers have labored hard in these smaller communities, and in many cases the results of their labors have been proven by successful men and women who have gone out from these schools to take prominent places in affairs of state and business, or have shown exceptional ability along other lines, we are firmly convinced the larger and better equipped schools offer better educational facilities.

No teacher, regardless of how clever or how capable he or she may be, can give pupils the attention they need and

We would like to see the consolidation of Mount Pleasant and Digby schools. Mount Pleasant is only a short distance out of town limits; many of its citizens work in town, and in the past, a large number of the children of that village have trudged to Digby school for their intermediate and high school education.

Emergency Preparedness Committee.

H. M. Warne was appointed chairman; Mrs. Humpherson, secretary; Dr. Hodgson, Mr. Murray and Mrs. Humpherson, to represent the Red Cross Society.

The Boy Scouts have distributed the Volunteer Emergency Enrolment forms and all able-bodied, permanent residents of the town are asked to fill them in and have them ready for collection by the Scouts, when called for (not later than Saturday morning) so that they may be classified in time for the next meeting of the committee, to be held on Wednesday evening of next week.

This matter is of the utmost and urgent importance. Most and townspeople are asked to co-operate to the fullest extent.

per is to be alertly casual.

One manufacturer of a hair tonic has a representative making the rounds of barber shops, getting shaves and massages. He is fussy about his hair, always demanding a hair tonic. His job is to recognize substitutes for his boss' product, and he can tell a suprious tonic a yard away, his employer admits.

There are men who make their business in asking other persons what time it is. When the stranger glances at his watch, the inquiring sleuth alertly notes the kind of time-piece that is carried, and whether it is accurate.

One of the most relictish assignments in the field of business investigation was given the person who made a coast-to-coast trip—patronizing soda fountains exclusively. His job was to order the usual fountain orders maybe 25 times a day—getting coffee, a sandwich, or a milk shake. At each stop he would converse with the clerks and watch what the other customers were ordering. He found out for manufacturers what soda fountains were neglecting. It was soup. Most fountains carry a line of soups on their menus now.

EARLY MORNING FIRE

The Digby Fire Department was called out at 2 o'clock this morning for a fire at Digby Garage Ltd. in which a car and twin gasoline pumps were totally destroyed in a short but spectacular blaze. The car, operated by Eric Armstrong, backing into one of the tanks, knocking it to the sidewalk, caused the blaze. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were returning from a dance. According to Mr. Armstrong he was turning his car in the road, and was about to straighten the machine when the hydraulic brakes failed, with the result the car slipped backward against the pump, knocking it to the sidewalk. The exhaust from the auto mobile set fire to the gas fumes; there was an immediate burst of flame, and Mr.

and Mrs. Armstrong leaped from the car.

In addition to the pumps and car destroyed, a large plate glass window in the garage waiting room was broken by the heat, and smaller window in the door leading to Wm. Webber's apartment over the Royal Store, cracked. Both the garage and the adjoining Royal Store building were scorched.

In spite of weather conditions yesterday the annual Digby Hospital Fair was well patronized and there appeared to be as much activity on the grounds as in previous years. Proceeds of the day are not known as we go to press. A detailed account will be published in our next issue.

Mrs. Helen Bell was hostess to the August meeting of the Women's Missionary Aid Society of the Hill Grove United Baptist church. The usual routine and a pleasant social hour were enjoyed.

Chick Hatchings Greatly Increased

Indicating the strong upward trend in the poultry industry in Nova Scotia, the final report on the results of the 1941 hatching season in the various commercial hatcheries of the province shows a total of 927,225 eggs set and 673,662 chicks hatched, or a hatchability of 72.5 per cent.

A total of 34 commercial hatcheries operated this season, compared with only 6 in 1932 and 13 in 1935. Of the 34 hatcheries this year, 25 had a hatchability percentage of 65 and over, 17 were 70 per cent and over, and three reached as high as 80 per cent. Average number of chicks hatched per hatchery in 1940 was 13,500, and this year the average per hatchery was 20,000.

Poultry Pools Held

A total of six co-operative marketing pools for dressed poultry have already been held in August. A total of approximately 25,000 lbs. dressed capon, chicken and fowl have been marketed with good results. The most recent pool was that held at Grand Pre, August 14, when 7500 lbs. of poultry was marketed by the Cornwallis poultry club. Of this volume, 3000 lbs. were chicken, 2500 were capon and the balance fowl. Most of the poultry graded high in quality and brought top market price to the producers.

Creamery Butter Production

Production of creamery butter in the province continues to maintain a steady increase over last year. For the month of August the production was 945,437 lbs. compared with 876,639 lbs. in July of 1940, an increase of 7.8 per cent. The total for the seven months of the year has been 3,915,210 lbs. compared with 3,712,429 lbs. an increase of 5.5 per cent over last year. Average Montreal wholesale price for butter during July was 35.1 cents, compared with 22.1 cents in July last year. The price this July was the highest July price in twelve years.

Heavy Sales of Dairy Stock

Some heavy sales of dairy cows are reported in various parts of the province. From Pictou County recently eight carloads of stock went out of the province, taking 175 head of Guernseys, mostly grades, but with a few purebreds. Prices received by the farmers ranged from $35 to $65 head for grades. Farmers are again urged to make all possible enquiries regarding prices of good dairy stock before selling off good cows. While $65 appears a good price for good grade milk cows, some farmers have been taking much less than this, and with prices for dairy products at present the highest in ten or twelve years, are losing out accordingly.

T. B. Test

Progressing

Test for T. B. in cattle under federal government jurisdiction is proceeding at present in Kings County, following petitions obtained under the auspices of the county farmers' association. The test has now been undertaken in six other important farming counties of the province, namely: Yarmouth, Cumberland, Pictou, Antigonish, Colchester and Hants. Following Kings, it is expected that the test will proceed in Annapolis and Digby Counties. Petitions are also being circulated in still other counties.

Flour Mill Project

Considerable interest has been created by the announcement made the past week by the provincial department of agriculture that the establishment of a flour mill of 3600 barrels capacity in Nova Scotia is now being considered. The project is being promoted by the provincial government as one means of reducing cost of mill feeds to farmers in the Maritimes, as well as taking advantage of the markets for flour not only in the Maritimes, but also in Newfoundland, the West Indies, and other export trade. Reduction in cost of flour to the general public is also a consideration.

The government has been in touch with a prominent milling man with whom the details are being worked out, and an effort is being made to interest local capital in the project.

Nova Scotia's Maple Syrup

Figures released, at Ottawa show that Nova Scotia's production of maple syrup this season was 5300 gallons, with 36,100 lbs. of maple sugar manufactured.

PICTURE OPPORTUNITIES

Keeping the camera ready for the unexpected resulted in this unusual snapshot. Picture opportunities are abundant, so have your camera with you wherever you go.

IT ISN'T very often that you'll find a dog looking inquisitively around a corner at a cat, but if you do, it will be an occasion well worth photographing. You've probably seen similar oddities, and often expressed the desire to take pictures which really capture such situations. Many opportunities like this occur but once, and by having your camera with you at all times, you can take advantage of these incidents to make a number of interesting snapshots.

Besides the unusual, there are many other things that afford excellent subject material for the camera hobbyist. For example, activities of general interest offer an abundant source of picture opportunities. Hiking, motoring, swimming, boating—in fact, any sport will yield a number of good snapshots. Or, wherever you go—to the mountains, seashore, or inland lake—you'll have the chance to picture the scenic beauty as well as the interesting happenings on a memorable vacation, a week-end trip or just a day's jaunt.

There's no single formula to follow when you take your camera with you, but there are some good points well worth remembering.

First, always look for scenes that are characteristic of the place you are visiting, whether you are out for just a short drive, or a trip to some distant section of the country.

Second, try to organize your shooting so that the pictures tell a reasonably well ordered story. Not just a lot of shots of one thing, but a step-by-step account of what you did and what went on.

Third, always be on the look out. Watch for unusual or "different" pictures such as the one illustrated above. They add a great deal of interest and variety to your album.

In scenic shooting, don't let broad, breath-taking views mislead you. They're good subjects—but in include a foreground object or "frame" when possible, to give them depth and creative feeling of distance.

In picturing the things you do always try to include some action—not necessarily rapid motion, but people doing something. In brief make each picture tell a story.

Chances to get excellent snapshots are everywhere, and it's easy to build a fine collection. Keep your camera with you constantly, and bring back a permanent record of your experiences.

Ten Years Ago

(From the Courier Files of August 28, 1931)

The falling of a window frightened away a would-be burglar from the store of B. J. Hoop the other evening. In the morning when Mr. and Mrs. Hoop entered their place of business, they found in a neat pile, sweaters, neckties, socks, etc. The pile had been placed ready to take away by someone who came into the store to help himself, but left when the window fell.

Two colored men attempted to hold up Mrs. Chisholm, county clinic nurse, Yarmouth, near Clementsport, on Sunday. She came upon an auto crosswise of the highway, and when she stopped two colored men jumped on the side of her car. Fortunately at Mrs. Chisholm's feet was a massive monkey wrench, which, with great presence of mind, she quickly brought into action, and one of her assailants received a smashing blow which knocked him clear of the car. Stepping on the gas, Mrs. Chisholm started her auto and the second al-

Seaman Falls Off Cliff at Point Prim

Abbie Wilson, West Saint John, seaman on the G. G. S. Dollard, was admitted to the Digby General Hospital early last Friday afternoon, as the result of a fall "off the brink" at Point Prim Lighthouse, Bay View, about five miles from Digby, where Wilson was in charge of the guy line hoisting coal and other supplies for the lighthouse. His injuries were not reported as serious, and his condition was regarded good, although witnesses to the accident regard it a miracle that Wilson lived through the ordeal. Dr. W. R. Dickie, of Digby, who attended him, states he was suffering from a bad scalp wound, and his body and back were covered with bruises and abrasions.

It is believed Wilson tripped over the guy rope and toppled backward over the cliff, which, except for sharp rocks which jut out here and there, is perfectly perpendicular. In his fall he tumbled approximately 35 feet before striking the water, striking his head and body on the jutting rocks several times. Just before hitting the water, the back of his neck struck a sharp rock, causing an ugly puncture just below the base of his skull.

During his fall Wilson managed to keep a firm hold on the guy rope, and continued to grasp it when he bobbed up to the surface (he says he believes he went down 20 feet). It was his grip on the rope that held him above water until his shipmates in the tender below the cliff, succeeded in reaching him.

Taken safely to the top of the cliff, Wilson, in spite of his pain, stood up, but was carried to the lighthouse by lightkeeper Frank Wilson, and others. In the lighthouse Mrs. Wilson attended to his injuries, and summoned Dr. W. R.

leged robber was violently thrown into the ditch. Mrs. Chisholm's car nearly overturned when she passed the obstructing car.

Shows at Bijou Theatre: Jack Mulhall in "In the Next Room"; Tom Moore and Blanche Sweet, in "The Woman Racket"; "The Golden Dawn".

Fire destroyed the residence of Capt. Bernard Melanson, Gilbert's Cove, on Saturday afternoon. The furniture was saved, but the home was gutted and is almost a total loss.

Dickie, who took the injured man to the Digby Hospital. "The Brink" at Point Prim, at the entrance of Digby Gut, is a perpendicular drop ranging from forty to eighty feet at low tide. The low tide height where the accident occurred was approximately sixty feet. The accident is believed to be the first of its kind in the story of the lighthouse, although thousands have stood on the edge of the cliff and scanned its dizzy heights. Had the tide been out when Wilson had his fall, his body would have been crushed like an egg shell.

Prices Good—Fish Scarce

Although the price paid for certain species of shore fish caught in the Island districts off Digby Neck, have doubled and in some instances nearly trebled that paid before the outbreak of the war, many fishermen are barely holding their own, while others are still in debt for supplies purchased this spring, the reason being the increased cost of living and equipment, plus a scarcity of fish.

One fisherman states that he is taking from three to six hundred pounds of fish (with an occasional run of a thousand pounds or more) on the same grounds where a year ago he would take from eighteen hundred to four thousand pounds in a night's set; while another claims that for the past few weeks his week's catch does not equal that taken in a single slack last year.

The majority are not making serious complaints over the scarcity and say that even under present conditions they are able to make "a week's wages" and hope to end the season ahead of the game. They hope, too, the scarcity is only temporary and that, in a short time, large schools of fish will make their appearance on the shoals where they operate.

The present prices paid for their catches are higher than they have been in some years—but operating costs are also the highest in many years.

Hospital Fair Proceeds Exceed 1940 Receipts

Gross receipts from Wednesday's annual Digby Hospital Fair were $1,371, slightly more than that realized by the 1940 fair. The committees in charge who worked so hard for the success of this event are naturally pleased over the results, especially when the weather is taken into consideration. Most of them felt pretty well discouraged Tuesday night. Rain fell while the finishing touches were being made at the fair grounds and the prospects for clear weather on Wednesday looked slim. Before the morning vivid flashes of lightning, along with the distant roll of thunder, were seen and heard in the sky. Thick fog and over-cast weather on Wednesday did not renew their hopes.

By noon the weather cleared to some extent for the annual Hospital Fair, which has been one of the outstanding annual events in Digby for the past ten years. Perhaps dull weather was to the advantage of the fair committee after all, for we know that through it several farmers who have been cursing the impossible haying weather were able to leave their fields to attend.

Throughout the afternoon and evening the attendance was large, and the crowds appeared to enjoy themselves immensely. Other than the weather and the usual complaint "I never have any luck on tickets or bingo" the only complaint we heard on the grounds was that the booths might have been better arranged—but that, of course, is a matter of opinion.

One of the most interesting features of the Digby Hospital Fair in our opinion is the splendid support given it by our summer visitors—the "regulars" and the "transients". They were everywhere on the grounds and helping out in a great many different ways. It is wonderful to realize what a friendly interest these folk have in our town and its institutions.

It is hardly necessary for us to make any comment on the interest shown by the townspeople and those from the vicinity of Digby who have done much for the welfare of the Digby General Hospital. They are always doing their part and are deserving of the thanks of the whole community. We could not help but note that some of the workers appeared to look very weary before the evening was over, but along with their tired looks there was a certain expression of happiness and satisfaction—their job was well done.

Conyenors in charge of the booths were as follows:—

Fancy Work—Mrs. Forrester, Eisener. Apron—Mrs. E. DuVernet. Mystery—Miss Margaret Stewart. Ice Cream—Mrs. C. V. Young. Soft Drinks—Mrs. Webster Dunn. Hot Dogs—Mrs. G. A. Winfield. Vegetables—Mrs. D'Arcy Roope. Delicatessen—Bear River Ladies. Afternoon Teas—Mrs. H.

Old St Edward's Memorial Service

100th Anniversary of St. Clement's Parish

The old church at the top of the hill overlooking the Basin and dominating the landscape, was the ideal site for the Loyalist church of 1797. Our pioneer forefathers were of a tough stock and hardly conceived of weaker limbs wanting a church in the valley. This seemed to be the chief thought among the large gathering in the old church last week who saw in glorious sunshine that Clementsport countryside looking at its very best.

One hundred and forty-four years ago the church was built and this year is the one hundredth anniversary of the Parish of St. Clements. We are reminded that the flower girls' church in London is now a heap of debris and the bells of the famous nursery rhyme are silent.

Oranges and lemons The bells of St. Clements... but the Parish of St. Clements goes on here in Nova Scotia. Great credit is due to the Rector and Rural Dean, Rev. A. W. L. Smith, for the magnificent restoration and preservation work which he has performed.

Present in the chancel with the Rector were Rev. A. S. Hart, of Weymouth, who read the office; Rev. E. B. Gabriel, of Annapolis Royal and Rev. Frank B. Gaskill, of Digby, who read the lessons.

A tribute was paid to the late daughter of the Rector, Anna Leonora Smith, who died last year under tragic circumstances. The memorial tablet in brass was unveiled by her sister Leslie (Mrs. R. Wright) after dedication by Rev. F. B. Gaskill.

The special preacher was Rev. Edmund J. Cleveland, of Fall River, Mass., who occupied the pulpit following in the train of a lengthy line of distinguished clergy since Archdeacon Vroom initiated the sermons in 1921. Rev. E. J. Cleveland is associated with Digby County over a long period of years. He has spent his vacation in Weymouth for almost forty years and is very well known to a wide circle of friends.

Taking a text from St. Paul's words to the Corinthians: "Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty", he made many happy references to the common love of liberty and Christian principles shared by the English-speaking democracies. Quoting the president he regretted the fact that the happy and fertile oases of liberty were now fewer in number while the cruel deserts of dictatorship have grown and are spreading on every side.

He related the grave responsibility of war not only to the ambitions of dictators but to a sinful and selfish conception of liberty by most of us who thought only in terms of freedom as an individual matter and not likely to interfere with our pursuits and pleasures. Shocked as we now are into our senses we must realize that liberty has no playground for a dwelling place, but holy ground. He was pleased that the many thousands who visited the Statue of Liberty did so in these days with more reverence and awe and respect for the great symbol France, the home of the statue, was no longer the dwelling place of liberty.

The Spirit of the Lord is a spirit of independence and self respect but it is, for, only in tolerance and goodwill can we learn the art of living together. Benjamin Franklin had said many years ago that we must either hang together or hang separately.

Mr. Cleveland recalled how the dinner he gave a very interesting inspirational address, congratulating the Yarmouth district on its splendid work and urging them to still greater efforts. He was followed by Mr. Jenkins, Mr. McGilivray and Mr. McDonald, after which he presented special $75,000 pins to the three agents who had, during the past year, written policies in excess of $75,000: Eric G. Bent (formerly of Digby); T. A. Cann, Yarmouth, and J. A. Grant, Digby.

Driver Uninjured in Train-Truck Crash

Richard (Dick) Sabine escaped without injury from a level crossing accident in the South end of Digby, about 5.30 Monday afternoon. The truck which he was driving, one of the fleet of H. T. Warne Ltd., was not seriously damaged, and was struck by a D. A. R. freight train.

The engine of the train struck the tail of the truck just as it was about clear of the crossing. The force of the blow swung the vehicle around, and bent out the left rear wheel at an angle of more than 45 degrees.

The accident occurred on the level crossing south of the Warne plant. This crossing was the scene of a fatal accident a few years ago when Ralph Mullen, (also operating one of the Warne trucks) was killed when the machine was hit by a Halifax bound D. A. R. Express train.

They Sow Seeds As Well as Fly

Between spells of strafing Nazi bases in Europe, Britain's airmen are growing vegetables for their own messes. And they are using American seeds, for a quarter of the consignment of vegetable seeds sent to Britain under the 'Bundles for Britain' plan was allocated to the R.A.F.

One Fighter Command station near London, nest of Spitfire and Hurricane raiders, has ten acres of "waste" land under cultivation and another three or four acres are being sown with winter vegetables. The men there have planted 30,000 lettuce, 2,500 tomato plants, 5,000 cabbages, 2,000 brussels sprouts, as well as acres of peas, beans and potatoes. This station is meeting Britain's onion shortage with half an acre of onions.

The gardening movement is part of a plan by which R.A.F. stations throughout Britain will have fresh vegetables for their messes from spare corners of their airfields. The Air Council has appointed a gardening expert, A. H. Whyte, Horticultural Adviser to the Air Ministry, and it is his job to work in liaison with catering officers and County Agricultural Officers. He supervises questions of implements, seeds and fertilisers, and gives advice on cropping in relation to differing conditions of soil and climate.

The gardening work carried out by the airmen in quite voluntary, but as the average Britisher is a keen gardener, there is no shortage of willing hands. The vegetables grown are normally sold to stations' messes at current prices.

About This and That

At a recent session of the World Congress on Education for Democracy, a committee of five persons, headed by Judge Tiffany, was named to submit a report which should contain a definition of democracy. This committee labored several days, and finally submitted its report. The Definition of Democracy is a document which should be read by every Canadian, then clipped and filed for future reference. Here it is: read it and study it: Democracy is a way of life and social organization which above all others is sensitive to the dignity and worth of the individual human personality, affirming the fundamental moral and political equality of all men, and recognizing no barriers of race, religion, or circumstance. A democracy affirms the educability of all men, the ability of common people to rule themselves, and the necessity of providing equality, though not identity, of opportunity for growth and development to all its children. A democracy recognizes the dynamic nature of society and culture, cherishes minority opinion as a creative force in the social order, has faith in reason and the method of intelligence in adjusting differences and meeting situations, and deliberately provides a process of government through which all men may share in the shaping of their common purposes and policies.

Great wrongs have a way of correcting themselves, but under very peculiar circumstances at times. We have had an example of this in Europe within the last few weeks, an example which constitutes one of the most encouraging developments of the war on that continent. This is the agreement whereby Russia consents to the restoration of Poland as a nation. It may be remembered that when Germany and Russia over-ran and divided Poland between them, the statement was made in both Berlin and Moscow that Poland as a nation had ceased to exist. The Poles were to be serfs, their lands occupied by their conquerors. But circumstances alter cases. So now, but little more than a year after the scrapping of the Polish state, one of its conquerors promises to do its part in the eventual restoration of that unfortunate nation. The accord between Russia and Poland means more, too, than a new Polish state. It suggests that Moscow is prepared to accept a policy of collaboration with Western Europe in the event of Hitler's overthrow in the present struggle. And this points to a sounder post-war settlement for the troubled continent across the Atlantic.

Last week we published a report on the annual Victorian Order of Nurses collection in the town of Digby, and were pleased to record the collection was considerably in excess of last year, and the largest realized by the local order in several years. This week we published an item stating the annual Hospital Fair receipts exceeded those of 1940. Such reports are highly encouraging these days, and are an indication of the fact that, in spite of the many additional financial demands brought about by the war, the people of Digby have not forgotten their public welfare institutions are absolutely essential and must be supported. Our war effort drives have all reached their objectives and more... our V. O. N., our hospital, our churches and other worthy institutions have all gone over the top in any canvass made since the outbreak of the war. This is as it should be. We must do all in our power for the comfort of our boys serving with His Majesty's forces in the air, on the land, and on the sea. We must continue to give our whole-hearted support to our welfare organizations and our churches.

Too many writers and publishers who supply the sensational and pornographic publications that crowd out clean newspapers and magazines on numerous news-stands offer the specious excuse that readers demand such frankness. Well, what if such demand does exist? Would it be sensible to locate stations at convenient places where the world-weary could find the necessary means to make a desired exit from their troubles? A high percentage of youthful delinquency and adult crime is due to this so-called frankness. But champions of sex-mad raving and profanity on the printed page say: "There's the sex and sordid element in life, and writers can't dodge the facts." Although sewers criss-cross our towns, we dodge such facts by keeping them underground. There is no proper place in any literature for decadent realism.

Shakespeare said, "All the world's a stage"—and it was never more so than now. And there were never more players leaving the stage than now. This is true in our own country as well as in Europe. They have played their parts, some well, some poorly, and disappeared. Some have disappeared amidst applause, others with hisses ringing in their ears. World crises test all men, great and small. The circumstances attending their exits show the worth to humanity of the parts they played.

Matthews Again Senior Golf Champion

J. M. Matthews, of Chester, N. S., won the Maritime senior golf championship Tuesday, for the fifth time as he wound up two days of steady medal play to card a 36-hole total of 156 for an eight-stroke advantage over Dr. L. M. Morton, of Yarmouth, N. S.

Matthews toured the Pines layout Tuesday in 79 strokes, two over his score Monday on the par 71 course. He was out in 39 and came back in 40.

Dr. Morton, six points behind at the end of Tuesday's opening play, put together a 42 and a 39 for a total of 164. He wound up two strokes ahead of John Ryan of the Pines course, who was tied with him for second place Monday.

The victory was the 55-year-old winner's fifth in the event. He finished in third place a year ago when Dr. J. C. Jarboe, Chester, won the crown. Dr. Jarboe did not defend his title this year.

Outside of the winner and runner-up all the leaders found the going tough over a soggy course. Only the first three players managed to remain under 90.

Officers Named—Norman C. Rodger, of the Amherst Golf Club, was elected president of the Association at the annual meeting at the Pines on Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were: First Vice-President—Judge K. L. Crowell, of the Eden Golf and Country Club, Paradise; Second Vice-President—Gerard Lawson, Riverside Golf and Country Club, Saint John; Secretary—Charles E. Jubien, of the Gorsebrook Golf Club, Halifax; Assistant Secretary, Frank N. Robertson, Riverside Golf and Country Club, Saint John.

The executive named, Frank L. Lewis, Truro; F. L. Bain, Liverpool; P. E. Fownes, Westfield; John Gillis, Riverside; R. C. Holman, Summerside; A. H. Hood, Yarmouth; L. A. Lovett, Halifax.

The matter of next year's tournament was undecided. Invitations were received from the Algonquin Golf Club, St. Andrews; The Pines Golf Club, Digby; and Keltie Lodge, of Cape Breton. It was decided that the choice of venue for the 1942 annual be left in the hands of the incoming executive, and an announcement will be made later where the tournament will be held.

Passed 90 Years

The Courier extends congratulations to Mrs. Josephine Russell, of Digby, who, on Sunday, entered her 93rd year; and also to Mrs. Margaret Cosaboom, of Tiverton, on her 95th birthday.

R. H. Lockward, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, Liverpool, and Mrs. Lockward were Sunday guests of Capt. G. M. Morrell. Mr. Lockward was manager of the local branch of the Royal Bank before being transferred to Liverpool.

100 Nails in 100 Feet of Street

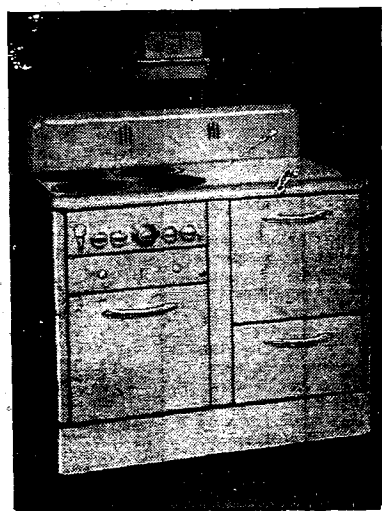

The other afternoon we asked Frank Robinson if he had lost something. We saw him searching the street in back of our office. Frank informed us he was merely hunting for nails—he had picked up several at "Keer's Corner" (Sydney Street and First Ave.), and was curious to learn how many he could find. We counted what he had picked up in a distance of approximately 100 feet—there were 89 nails of every shape and description. Afterward Frank picked up another 11 to bring the number up to a even 100. We wonder if this street is typical of others in the town of Digby, or just an exception to avoid. The exhibit of nails is at the Courier office.

Mrs. Louis Henshaw, of Beverly, Mass., accompanied by her father, Capt. Wm. Burns, of her father, Capt. Wm. Burns, of Sandy Cove, were guests of last week of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Morehouse, sr.

Much Land Broken Up

More than 2600 acres of new or unused land has been broken up during the past two seasons up to this summer, under the policy of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, inaugurated at the beginning of the war, in granting assistance to farmers to get such land under feed crops. Much of this land is now in crops of various kinds, chiefly oats or other grain crop. These figures are shown in a survey of the work done under this and other policies of the department, compiled recently by the extension division of the department.

Under the land breaking policy, the provincial department of highways co-operated with the department of agriculture in providing tractors for use with heavy breaking plows, which were provided at nominal cost to farmers for the breaking up of land overgrown with heavy brush, and which might be suitable for the raising of much-needed crops. Work was also done by owners of private equipment under this policy.

For the first season in which the policy was in operation a total of about 1100 acres was broken up, and in 1940 a total of approximately 1500 acres was broken up. In addition to this work, ditching work has been done to the extent of about 21,800 rods.

Under the policy providing tractors for the pulling of old and undesirable apple trees in the orchard areas, a total of 57,700 trees have been pulled in the two seasons, with a considerable program still to be completed this fall after the apple picking season is over.

Prices for Dairy Cattle

Indication that Nova Scotia dairymen have been sacrificing some of their good cows at low prices to dealers from other parts of Canada and from the United States, is given in the reports of sales recently received in the Nova Scotia department of agriculture from various parts of Nova Scotia and from Ontario.

Yarmouth County recently sold 32 grade Guernseys (springers) of good quality at an average price of $75 to a Massachusetts purchaser.

Dairy herd owners in Colchester recently sold 22 good Holstein, Guernsey and Ayrshire grades (springers) to Massachusetts at from $55 to $95 head.

In Pictou County, recently, Ontario buyers took 170 grade Guernsey cows (springers) at a price range of $35 to $70, and ten purebreds to the same buyers at $60 to $100.

More Short Courses For Rural Girls

Further short courses of two to three weeks have been arranged for young women of the rural districts under direction of the Women's Institute division of the provincial department of agriculture, in connection with the provincial federal youth training program. These will be at the following points: Milford, Sept. 2 to 12; South Ingonish, Sept. 16-26; Mabou, Oct. 1 to 10; Heatherton, Oct. 14-24. Eight such courses have already been held at various points in the province, the most recent being at Middle Musquodoboit, where 22 young women were given training in all phases of home economics. The total of 12 courses being held this year compares with ten held last year.

Plan Livestock Field Day

Livestock breeders in all parts of the province are being invited to participate in a field day for all breeds, to be held at Truro, September 26. It is estimated already that from 300 to 400 head of cattle will be available for this field day. Walter S. Dickie, prominent Holstein breeder near Truro, has agreed to donate a purebred Holstein bull calf to be auctioned off at the field day for the benefit of the Queen's fund.

Heavy Summer Rainfall

Nova Scotia has experienced one of the heaviest summer rainfalls in many years, according to records of the weather station at the Agriculture College, Truro. At this station, a total precipitation was recorded in July of 4.01 inches, and for the period of August 1 to 20, a total of 7.19 inches, or a total for the entire seven weeks of 11.2 inches. This compares with a 31-year average for months of July and Aug. of 6.29 inches. In other words, this situation records five inches more rainfall in this period in 1941 than for the previous 31 years. During one hour of August 2nd, at Truro, a total of 2.3 inches fell, this being one of the heaviest rainstorms ever experienced at Truro.

Junior Club Teams for National Contests

Plans are at present being made to prepare junior club teams from the Nova Scotia junior farm clubs to participate in the national contests at Toronto to be held once more this fall, under the auspices of the Canadian council on boys' and girls' clubs. Nova Scotia is eligible to send teams in dairy cattle, swine, poultry, and potato judging contests. Since the war started provincial elimination contests for these teams have not been held, but the policy has been to pay expenses of teams to attend short courses during the previous winter at the Agricultural College at Truro, under the auspices of the provincial department of agriculture.

Honor for Provincial Botanist

Special honor has been given Nova Scotia's provincial botanist, A. E. Roland, of Truro, by "Rhodora" the journal of the New England Botany Club, in the publication of Mr. Roland's article, "Notes on the Flora of Nova Scotia". During the past year or two, Mr. Roland has been engaged during the summer months in collecting and classifying specimens of the plant life of the province, for the purpose of making as complete as possible the herbarium he has now established at the agricultural college at Truro. This is the first time that an effort has been made to gather complete information and specimens of the various plants of the province, and to establish the herbarium.

racial groups among the Loyalists had worshipped together. How the Dutch people had sung in their own language at the beginning of the service and the Hessians and Waldeckians had burst into the singing of the great hymn, "Ein Feste Burg" at the close. And in between, three racial groups had worshipped in the glorious language of the English liturgy. This was an inspiring example for today.

Democracy, he continued, is of the same spirit out while providing a field for the good life is not in itself the good life. The Spirit of the Lord alone can protect the dwelling places of liberty. Many were going today as had in a previous generation to take up the sword of the Spirit and it was our constant prayer that their labour would not be in vain. "Never before have so many owed so much to so few," was said by Britain's Prime Minister, and he concluded, "if we fully appreciate the dwelling place of liberty we will share in their experience."

Archdeacon Vroom and Cannon Morris sent regrets at not being able to attend. Both have long been associated with the parish and the annual service at St. Edward's.

For one hundred years the parish has carried on in good times and bad, radiating a greater influence than ever can be known throughout the countryside. The Digby Courier is but the voice of the surrounding district when it salutes the Parish of Clements upon reaching her centenary and wishing God-speed and many happy returns.

Reception by Mrs. Morse After the Memorial Service at Old St. Edward's. Mrs. Morse entertained the clergy, their wives and friends at her home in Clementsport.

Among the clergy present were a number of visitors including Dr. Kinsolving, Rev. and Mrs. G. Payzant, Rev. Walter Harris and Rev. Andrew Pitcairns.

A. Y. P. Association Meet at Deep Brook

Members of the Anglican Young People's Association from all points in Nova Scotia will gather at Deep Brook, for the Sixth Diocesan Conference Saturday, and begin a three day programme of business meetings, religious services and discussion groups scheduled to end Sept. 3.

About 48 delegates from Halifax and vicinity are expected to attend sessions while total registration from all over the province is expected to exceed 100.

Scene of the conference will be the Sea Breeze Bungalow Colony and plans have been largely completed and an interesting programme issued.

Model Fruit Farm At Deep Brook

A hobby, proving both interesting and remunerative, is that property at Deep Brook, known as "The Cherry Farm", owned by A. D. Pickett, officer in charge of the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, at Annapolis Royal, and under the management of C. M. Lingley, brother of Mrs. Pickett.

It is here that Mr. Pickett and family spend most of their spare time and holidays. This orchard of 400 cherry trees was started in 1929 by the late P. C. Gilliat, of the staff of the Annapolis Laboratory since its establishment in 1915, and after his death four years ago, was purchased by Mr. Pickett. Here you will find many popular varieties—Seneca (early), Black Tartarian, Napoleon (White Heart), Bing, Schmidt-Big-gareau and Windsor.

During the season just closing between six and seven thousand and quarts were picked by the 30 boys and girls employed there for the month. Mr. Pickett states that the area around the Annapolis Basin is very favorable for growing sweet cherries, due to relatively mild winter and moderate summer temperatures. Sweet cherries, he said, do not thrive where there is much sub-zero temperature or excessively hot summers.

In addition to cherries, there are on this farm three hundred young peach trees, many of which have been producing quality fruit three or four years; two hundred plum; one hundred pear and fifty apple trees.

Mr. Pickett came to Nova Scotia from King's County, New Brunswick; and at the time of the appointment of Arthur Kelsall as Superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Kentville moved to Annapolis Royal to take the position at the Laboratory vacated by Mr. Kelsall.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Weekly notes on various matters, conducted by Rev. A. S. Hart.

Along the back roads by Acaciaville and Doucetteville a few years ago I realized that in the county are the clear cut lines of progress and development. Away stretching to the horizon are the forests full of wild life almost untouched. Here was Nova Scotia when the Indians owned it. Then on the quaint back roads degrees of rustic prosperity. There are black spots on the back roads but this country has many settlements with well built neat houses and well tended farms, where the farmer happy among his horses and cattle smiles a welcome. Good honest devout folks these, and the butter of these busy farmers' wives is unequalled. There are few boys around these days and there is no need to ask because they are so proud that one is soon told of some son of the house overseas or in the camp.

But all this is the high water mark of fifty years ago. Then we have the pavement the third stage of development. Here the merchants and the sea-captains and the doctors and others who wanted easy access and were hardly interested in farms or fish or lumber, made their homes and today municipal life springs up as a township grows into being. But ribbon building and the many eyesores along the pavement are spoiling the countryside and one feels that the soul of the country is on the back roads.

Come what may we have a stability which will not easily be shaken. Perhaps next year with the gas shortage cramping vacations our guides and travel bureaus will work out specimen walking tours along the roads—the pavement would scorch the feet but at this time of the year the shade trees give the by-roads a friendliness which almost equals that of the people who live there.

Bumping into Harvey Chisholm last week we had a bite together and we talked exhibition. They hope to engage the P. L. F. band for the second day which is to be a county children's day. The dates September 24th and 25 should be borne in mind all around the county. All roads should lead to Bear River.

There may be some who feel that the Red Cross parcels are not being received in Germany by prisoners of war. Some time ago we had a newspaper from South Wales. Apparently the gallant regiment which made such a name at Roorke's Drift (The South Wales Borderers) had the honour to be in the rear-guard at Dunkirk, which means of course—nearest the enemy. As a result many were captured after the last boat had left. They were writing home some of them and mentioning their chums too. And so the editor of the local paper asked for extracts from prisoners letters which would be of interest to many in the district. In the issue I read there were a whole column of extracts. In most letters they thanked whoever was responsible for parcels received regularly and untouched. And if any facetious reader would breathe coercion regarding what was written in those letters I can only reply that to repeat such a statement in South Wales would provoke rather more than verbal retort.

"Blood and Sand" the movie which was in Digby this week has had a most vivid career. Written as a novel and first translated under the title of "The Matador" it had no great success until the author wrote "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse". This made Matheson Lang dig out the book and turn it into a play for the London stage. It had previously been filmed on the continent and there were French and Italian versions in silent reels. Then the book was published under the present title and has since been regarded as a classic and Hollywood has now produced it twice. Almost the rival of East Lynne and Uncle Tom's Cabin! But what a bygone age it seems when we remember Ibanez being exiled from Spain for his "Alphonso XIII Unmasked".

Montreal firms are buying Irish Moss in quantities at a good price. I doubt if Digby County has enough to commercialize this seaweed but it certainly has enough for housewives to collect it and use for the making of puddings in the winter. The favourite delicacy made from the moss is blanc-mange.

You take a piece of the moss about the size of a lemon and dissolve in sweetened milk using a gentle heat and afterwards taking out the moss which has not been absorbed. I am assured that this makes the most tempting dishes. But don't expect a mere man to talk like a cook book, find out from some enterprising housewife who uses Irish Moss as this is the best time of the year to collect from the beaches.

Those of us who read Dumas and Scott and swashbuckle as youths with D'Artagnan, the Count of Monte Cristo and the Black Knight are usually spoiled for historical fiction in later life. But for once I found a novel with a setting which gave the same kind of thrill as the classic romances. It was "A Tale of Three Cities" by the historian D. L. Murray. It is the story of a Franciscan brother in Rome, who being a founding has no known parentage, and much of the book is the quest to discover his origins. From the first chapter he finds himself allied to the beautiful Ludovica, who became Duchess of Smolensk, and had the cause of Italian Nationalism at heart about the time of Garibaldi and Cavour. Her brother losing an arm in a thwarted conspiracy was made public enemy number one but the Franciscan who bore the name Deodatus rescues the conspirator and himself at the same time, eventually going to London (the second city) to seek his parents. London in the 1860's is well described. Deodatus finds himself employed as a monumental mason and spends his time chipping out seraphs and miniature Cleopatra's Needles when he wanted to carve after the pattern of Italian classic sculpture. He finds his father in the third city, Paris, and that too at the court of the Second Empire where Louis Napoleon and Eugenie are at the head of the gayest court of modern days. Here again is Ludovica. There is the 1870 war with details which read uncommonly like 1940 and the siege of Paris during which Deodatus and Ludovica are married and she becomes the Joan of Arc of the barricades at the revolution of the commune and eventually loses her life. There are many exciting moments in the book and those who once for all had decided that Victorian times were dull, might revise such an opinion after "Tale of Three Cities".

15 Years Old, Gets Grade XII Certificate

When a boy 15½-years-old receives his diploma with average of 70.7 from Grade XII examinations, he is the envy of all his pals, and the fact is likely to be mentioned in the next school magazine. Dale Young did just this. Dale, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Young, of Deep Brook, attended school in that village from April 1932 until he completed Grade XI in June 1940, and this year was enrolled at Annapolis Royal Consolidated School. Then too, he has found time to continue pianoforte lessons through the school years and last spring took Mt. Allison exams in Grade V on the subject, winning 80 points. Dale expects to take a Commercial course in Halifax next winter.

The R. C. A. F. mobile recruits will be in Yarmouth on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week for the purpose of interviewing and medically examining applicants for the Air Force.

Mrs. Vernon Bent, Digby, has received from Pte. Geo. Crimen two napkin rings, manufactured from German shells. They contain a coat of arms on which appears the word "Ypres". Mrs. Bent has a right to be proud of this valuable gift, which is attracting much attention among her many friends.

Launching at Weymouth

Hitch-Hiking Taught in Texas University

Without a misce the first patrol vessel of its type ever built in the Maritimes slid off the ways at Weymouth on Thursday afternoon last before a huge throng of people. The craft was the work of John LeBlanc, formerly of Wedgeport, and was described by naval experts as a perfect example.

Some weeks ago Mr. LeBlanc began work on the boat after many other boat builders on the Atlantic coast turned down the government offers to construct that type of ship on the grounds that it was too difficult.

The vessel was christened by Mrs. J. Willie Comeau, Digby County's representative in the Legislature. By her side was her husband, the premier, Hon. A. S. MacMillan, and Commander Randall, of the dockyard at Halifax.

The ship slid into the water with flags waving and was such a thrilling sight that the crowd burst into long and prolonged cheers.

Previous to the launching Rev. A. S. Hart, Anglican rector at Weymouth, blessed the craft.

After the launching a reception was held in the Red Cross rooms. There were no addresses but many took the opportunity of congratulating Mr. LeBlanc on the excellence of his workmanship. The craft is ideal for use in shallow coastal waters.

6th Diocesan Conference at Deep Brook

The sixth Diocesan Conference of the Anglican Young People's Association was held at Deep Brook over the week end. The conference, which opened on Friday and closed Monday, was under the direction of Rev. L. Weldon Mosher, rector of Woodside (and former rector of Weymouth), a provincial organizer and camp chief. Attendance was the largest in the history of the association, with 82 delegates registered—more than twice the number originally expected to attend.

Other conference officers in attendance were Verner Bradley, Halifax; Gerald P. Meyers, R. C. N., Woodside; Sherman Bowers, Prince's Lodge; Edith Nauss, Halifax, secretary, and Violet Woodman, of Digby, camp registrar.

The annual banquet was held in the hotel dining room following Saturday's business session. The toast to the Church was proposed by Miss Helen Sanders, Halifax, and the response by Rev. A. W. L. Smith, rector of St. Clements, Clementsport, and St. Matthew's, Deep Brook. Rev. K. V. Wainwright, Conquerall, proposed the toast to the A. Y. P. A. and the response was made by William Anthony, of Tuft's Cove.

Rev. W. W. Judd, of Toronto, secretary of the Church of England Council for Social Service, in Canada, was speaker at the banquet. Dr. Judd, in his address, challenged the young people to see the implications of Christian Faith in Social Service and Social Reform, and to find ways of applying the principles of the Christian Gospel.

Sunday morning's session opened with Holy Communion in St. Matthew's church, Deep Brook, with Rev. Robert Neish, Seaford, Halifax county, as celebrant. The first discussion group on "The Faith" was led by Rev. L. W. Mosher. This was followed almost immediately by another discussion group, "The Faith—a Witness" led by William Anthony, of Tuft's Cove. The third group gathered at 2:45 in the afternoon to consider their topic, "The Faith—a Fellowship" under the leadership of Gerald Myers, R. C. N., Woodside.

The convention attended service in St. Matthew's in the evening on which occasion the lessons were read by Verner Bradley, the president.

The newly-elected officers were installed by Rev. R. A. Neish, diocesan chaplain, assisted by Rev. L. W. Mosher, as follows:

President—Bernie Bradley, Halifax.
First Vice-President—Pauline Veinott, Chester.
Second Vice-President—Ger-

A Gas Shortage Over the Week End.

Noticeably fewer cars were on the road in this vicinity over the week end, due to the shortage of gasoline in this section of Nova Scotia. On Friday one Digby service station was rationing out two gallons to a customer, regardless of what amount they asked for, in the hope they could make their storage tanks hold out over the week end; others filled customers' requirements until their supplies were exhausted, although on Saturday afternoon one station operating four pumps was down to the last tank; another was "sold out" early on Saturday morning. A few had sufficient to fill all requirements until closing time—7 o'clock Saturday evening.

ald Meyers, R. C. N.
Secretary—Edith Nauss, Halifax.

Treasurer—Lawrence Coldwell, Cornwallis.
Corresponding Secretary—Margaret Vaughn, Cornwallis.

Chaplain—Rev. G. A. Hatton, Kentville.

Provincial Organizer—Rev. L. Weldon Mosher, Woodside.

His Grace, the Archbishop of Nova Scotia, was named patron.

Rev. W. W. Judd was speaker at this service. He stressed the particular responsibility of the on-coming generation within the Church of Christ. Their responsibility, he said, was two-fold: to further the spirit of industrial goodwill and co-operation among the various commissions, stating that the modern economical movement had in it the possibility of stemming the tide of paganism.

Secondly, he said, the duty of this generation of youth will be to bring the light of revelancy of Christ's Gospel to the affairs of the world to industry, economics and international good will.

A gift of $317 to the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid victims has been presented by summer guests at the Pines Hotel, in this town. This amount was handed to James J. Wallis, managing editor of the Digby Courier by the management of the hotel, and the money has been forwarded to the Fund headquarters.

Of this amount $46.50 was from the "sale" of cigars donated by Harry Hillman, of New York; $80 was the outright donation of Arthur Rogow, of Boston, and in addition there were other smaller donations. The balance was raised by bingo sponsored by the hotel guests throughout the season.

Our American friends have been most enthusiastic over the Queen's Canadian Fund, and through their kindness and sympathy have done much to swell the proceeds. The gift from the Pines guests is most welcome, and is the largest single donation made through the Courier since this newspaper has taken an active part in the campaign. This newspaper is also grateful to the management of the Pines for their splendid co-operation.

Digby County Exhibition

V. O. Nurse Farewelled

The Victorian Order of Nurses' Committee met at the home of Mrs. C. E. Walker on Thursday afternoon last, and afternoon tea was served in honor of Miss Thelma Steeves, V.O.N. (Miss Steeves' resignation as Digby nurse took effect on Monday).

After refreshments were served Rev. T. W. Hodgson, president of the Digby Branch of the Order, presented Miss Steeves with a lovely silver entree dish from the committee, and expressed regret that Miss Steeves' stay in Digby had been so short. In her reply she thanked the committee for their gift and for many kindnesses shown her, and stated that her stay in Digby had been one of her most delightful experiences.

It was also announced at this gathering that Miss Adams, who had been named to succeed Miss Steeves here, was now unable to come, and that Miss Brydon, a former V. O. nurse here, would fill the vacancy for two months.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Walker for opening her home on this occasion.

This exhibition has shown a marked improvement in every way during the past few years. The quality of all exhibits has improved and improvements to the building and grounds made in recent years have made it possible to present the entries in a better manner.

This year's prize list, with $1400 in cash prizes, as well as a number of special prizes, has just been released by the exhibition secretary, H. E. Chisholm.

Trade journals tell of what is being paid for fresh fish in the British Isles. It is mentioned for example, that skate which in normal times sells for a few pence per pound, now brings over a shilling, on an average. Similar fish, usually bought at a small price, all bring more. In some cases the figure is indeed a fancy one.

V is for Victory, we're going to get and keep;
V is for Vigilance, and Victory we'll reap.
V is for Vanquished hosts of Hitler's body guard—
And we'll all sing the song of Victory.

Cho.—V V V—it is for Victory
Shout, shout, shout it long and loud;
If you want to do your stuff,
Treat the Germans good and rough.
And we'll all march on to Victory.

V is for Virtue, that we all hold very dear;
V is for Vision of Victory—very near;
V is for Voices, shouting out our Victory song—
As we all go marching along.

Repeat Chorus.
Sing to tune of John Brown's Body.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Weekly notes on various matters, conducted by Rev. A. S. Hart.

A launching is always a thrilling moment even to old hands of the Navy and builders of experience such as John LeBlanc. It was a very happy ceremony at Weymouth last week when the Provincial Premier, Hon. A. S. McMillan and Hon. J. W. Comeau were present to see the ship go off the slipway. Mrs. Comeau who named the ship seemed very puzzled at giving the ship a mere identification number, "Q. O. 64". No doubt many thought "Marie Louise" or "City of Weymouth" would have been more appropriate. But at least the "Q" has a good tradition in His Majesty's Navies. Does anyone ever forget the name of Captain (Q-Ship) Campbell who roamed the seas in mystery ships pledged to line Davy Jones' Locker with U-boats? I once spent an evening with a man who had sailed with Campbell in 1918 and my hair began to stand on end at the adventures of these submarine hunters. May these Q.O. ships follow in the countless Q-ships.

It was good to hear the praise of the naval Commander who spoke in glowing terms of the team-work of the experts who supplement the job of the local builders. Expert efficiency, blended with tact and fellowship goes a long way. If only we could transfer that spirit to other walks of life!

Tom Amoro looked very grim as the boat slipped off to a perfect launch. Two minutes later he was back on the job. (He is the foreman at this yard.) But later on he did relax under more gentle influences.

This was a great day for Weymouth and many of the older folks thought sadly of the days that used to be along their shore, when launchings of the old wooden ships were regular features of community life.

Place names in the County are largely after people or families. But one cannot stop association of ideas. For instance going along the highway—Gilbert's Cove—Plympton—Barton. Plympton reminds one of Drake, Hawkins and the sea dogs who lived near to Plympton, Devon, Barton, the birthplace of Sir Walter Raleigh, another great adventurer. Boys are always impressed by the "Boyhood of Raleigh" in their schoolbooks; the picture of the boy clapping his knees and being thrilled by the stories of an old salt who sailed the Spanish Main when Spanish ships were as dangerous as U-boats. And then Raleigh's cousin, Gilbert, one of the pioneers of colonisation. Sir Humphrey Gilbert was a brave man and a gallant gentleman. The death of Captain Warner at a great age recalls that this area also has its tradition in producing sea-captains and many who went down to the sea in ships.

It was interesting to meet two brothers who had been ordained to the priesthood recently, on the same day. There are lots of brothers in the priesthood but to obtain that objective on the same day is almost unique. This must certainly have been a proud day in the Comeau household.

News from War Savings Headquarters speaks of "stirring up a somewhat lagging interest in our War Savings Organizations". The slogan would seem to be "Spend less and Save More". It is very gratifying to note that some areas of the County are maintaining their pledge 100%. Even during the various drives, War Bond sales, and school vacations, certificates and stamps were bought just the same. There are many outlying rural areas where it is impossible for local chairmen to organize efficiently. Perhaps the teachers could help in this way, not by encouraging the children but by personal contact with parents. Local postmasters, too, can be effective agents, and best of all every store-keeper should have stamps on sale.

The ever growing interest in War-Peace Aims since the conference in the Atlantic makes the publication of Commander King-Hall's book of the utmost importance. Stephen King-Hall who fought at Jutland and later a BBC Commentator has the happy device of appearing as the plain man in the street rather than the expert. His book, "Total Victory" is an exposition of common sense and is patriotic in every respect, at the same time ruling out jingoism and racialism. The author argues that "Total defeated enemy is persuaded Victory" is achieved when the to co-operate in the resulting settlement. Hence whatever aims we may have will have a great effect on the enemy when the tide begins to turn. Military victory may be hastened, he asserts, by political victories. He has every faith in the eventual military victory and gives an outline of our prospects which seems very sound. "Without the help of the U.S.A. we can neither win the war nor secure the peace". As this was written months before the Atlantic meeting it is worthy of note that the commander foresees an Anglo-American Peace Front intended to secure the peace of the world for a limited period, during which long term and permanent peace plans and organizations can be built up. He goes so far as to set out the suggested outline of the "Proclamation to Mankind" from the President of the U.S.A. and His Majesty King George VI. They proclaim that the strength of the peace front air force will be four times as great as the next largest fleet. His conference boundaries would be pre-Munich. "War as a means of settling disputes between sovereign states shall no longer be tolerated in any part of the globe." The importance of this book is not that President and Premier seem to be in full agreement but that Commander King-Hall is expressing the public opinion of England's man in the street and also to some extent that of the U.S.A. The great task now is to stem the forces of re-action who with red, white, and blue streamers and studied half-truths may attempt to play 1919 tricks with a tired world.

V. O. N. Delegation Meets Town Council

A delegation from the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses comprising Mrs. H. S. Humpherson, Mrs. G. W. Connell and Mrs. H. R. Bishop, met the Digby Town Council at their regular monthly session Tuesday evening, to request a supplementary grant from that body. Mrs. Humpherson, addressing the Council, asked for further financial help on the ground that it was now necessary to pay higher salaries to nurses, and stating the income from the Order's trust fund does not balance the increase in cost of operation.

All speakers spoke of the Order's financial difficulties in meeting its budget, and made references to the splendid work the Victorian Order Nurse is doing in the town of Digby, particularly in the schools.

Mayor Theriault thanked the ladies for their information, and informed them he quite appreciated their difficulties, and assured them their request would be dealt with later in the session.

Taking up the matter later, Councillor Denton expressed his opinion that if it were not for the work of the Victorian Order the town's poor expenditures would be considerable higher. Other members of the Council praised the Order and its nurse, and a motion was made to the effect that the treasurer of the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses submit to the Council a comparative financial statement for 1940 and 1941 showing receipts and expenditures up to September 1, for the Council's consideration at its October meeting.

A letter from the secretary of the Digby Board of Trade with regard to mowing the grass on the Cannon Bank Park was read. It was stated this matter had been taken care of and no further action was taken.

Other letters were read re National Salvage and Gasoline Conservation. With respect to the first Councillor Cardoza and Councillor Hersey were named a committee to interview the Digby Boy Scout Troop, who have been conducting the salvage campaign, and to consider possible methods of making the drive more active in this vicinity.

It was also voted to publish a proclamation in the local press with respect to the conservation of gasoline and oil.

Yacht Club Banquet

Last Thursday evening the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club held their closing banquet at Jersey Farms, with nineteen members present.

After the banquet, routine business of the club was carried out. It was decided to present the Halifax Herald Trophy for the Sports' Day race on July 28th, to the Milo Club of Yarmouth, as they were ahead when the race was called off because of the weather.

Crews were chosen for the Labour Day regatta in Yarmouth, to race in the Milo 14 foot dinghies. Those appointed to make the trip were Roy Peters, "Billy" Ganong, John Rogers, Dr. T. L. Rogers, Commodore James Merkel and Wilmut Christie.

Commodore James Merkel thanked the members for their co-operation during the summer and pointed out that the Sunday races had been hampered by bad weather. Moreover, rainy week-ends had forced the club to cancel two of their picnics.

Dr. Lefebvre, vice-commodore, spoke highly of Mr. Merkel's work in trying to keep the club together when so many members had joined the services.

The cups for racing could not be presented at this time, as the racing schedule was to be finished on Sunday, Aug. 31st.

Red Cross Emergency

Under the auspices of the Red Cross Emergency Committee and under direction of Dr. McCleave, first aid classes for both men and women are being organized. Mrs. J. W. Merkel and Mrs. Earle Anderson will assist. The preliminary meeting for explanation and enrolment will be held in the United Church hall on Monday evening, September 8th, at 8 o'clock. All interested are asked to be present. The course will be explained and the classes arranged. All ex- and older Guides and Scouts are especially asked to take the course which will be held on Monday and Thursday evenings in the same hall. It is important that all those desirous of taking this course be present on Monday evening. Any who are unable to be present may send in their names to Mrs. Humpherson or Mrs. Ken Margeson. As the number in each class must be limited, it is important that as much of the business as possible may be concluded on Monday, so that the classes may start the next week and the number of classes be arranged.

Blight Affects Potato Crop

Digby County has a large potato crop this year, but, according to reports received from several farming areas, there will be a scarcity, and it is quite possible there will not be enough potatoes on hand to supply local markets. The reason is due to the development of a potato blight, the result of frequent wet weather, with the consequence that much of the crop is rotting in the ground.

However, the situation is not thought to be as serious as in 1938 when almost continuous wet weather that summer created a situation so acute that not only were there insufficient potatoes for local demand, but a number of farmers found it necessary to buy potatoes for their own table use.

On the whole, the general crops are good. Rain has hindered most farming operations, and because of this there is still some of the hay crop to be gathered into barns. Harvesting of hay began in late June.

Service Wives'

Bridge and Dance

The Service Wives' Association sponsored an evening party on Friday evening, at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Channing Lefebvre, who very kindly offered their home to help with the Soldiers' Comfort Fund of the Association. Dr. Lefebvre decorated the garden with Chinese lanterns giving a gay and festive air to the scene. The large living room, which was used for dancing, was illuminated by candle light and flames from the open fire—the result being most effective.

The gallery and music room were used for bridge, while the game room was used for ping-pong. After refreshments, most of the bridge players joined the dancers. It was a delightful and enjoyable party. The music, provided gratuitously by Miss Ena Robinson, Mrs. Viola Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Arnold, was most inviting, and the players were indefatigable.

Dr. and Mrs. Lefebvre, with Miss Edith Clayton, their guest, did everything they could to make the evening the big success that it was, and their generosity and help were greatly appreciated by the sponsors. The net proceeds were $67.16.

Emergency Organization

Digby is the latest coastal town to effect emergency organization to cope with any war contingency or sudden calamity which may arise. At a meeting held last evening at the Court House, civic officials and leading citizens finalized preparations for the care of those who may need food, clothing, shelter or medical relief should disaster occur.

The meeting was addressed by Dr. S. H. Prince, of Halifax, Provincial Chairman of the Red Cross Civilian Emergency Organization, who pointed out that the National Red Cross had been officially asked early in the war to set up preparedness committees. Such emergency committees had already been effected in several provincial centres particularly the coastal towns. The Digby area was exposed to no inconsiderable hazard, and even should Digby itself escape depopulation by enemy action a strong emergency organization here would be invaluable in providing a contingent of trained workers or other relief services to Saint John, Halifax or other vital population centres stricken by attack, epidemic or destructive sabotage.

B. A. Brown, Red Cross Commissioner, announced that through the Red Cross first aid supplies, blankets and other equipment would be stored in Digby to be used only in emergency.

The Digby organization which will be responsible for Provincial area No. 11, comprising Digby County, will be headed by H. M. Warne. Other Committee Chairmen are:

Information and Registrar: Wm. Gates and family recently arrived by motor from Texas and visited his brother, Frank Gates, after which they visited relatives in other parts of the province.

tion: Miss Jean Anderson. Finance: R. B. Murray. Shelter: J. W. Merkel. Canteen: Mrs. T. J. Harris. Clothing: Miss Margaret Stewart. Medical: Dr. J. R. McCleave. Mortuary: C. Ramsay. Transportation: H. M. Warne. Mrs. Humpherson is secretary of the organization.

Wm. Gates and family recently arrived by motor from Texas and visited his brother, Frank Gates, after which they visited relatives in other parts of the province.

TOWN OF DIGBY PROCLAMATION

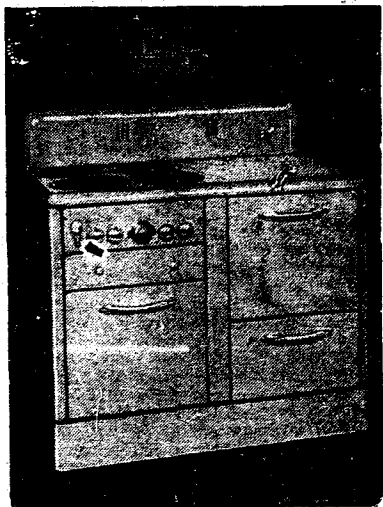

UNDER THE AUTHORITY and by direction of the Dominion Oil Controller, the attention of all citizens concerned is directed to a suddenly developed and serious shortage in the supplies of petroleum and petroleum distillates available in this Dominion by reason of the diversion of ocean tankers from Canadian and North American ports to overseas service to meet the loss of British tankers through enemy action and the vastly increased requirements of our fighting forces.

YOU ARE THEREFORE URGED and it is incumbent upon you to wholeheartedly support the national campaign for the voluntary conservation of oil and gasoline in every possible way and particularly by reducing their use of gasoline and oil for pleasure and unnecessary purposes by at least 50 per cent. Driving speed on highways outside the Town limits should be reduced to at most forty miles per hour and store-keepers are requested to reduce their hours for motor-truck deliveries.

Assistance to Sheep Breeders in 1941

The Provincial and Dominion departments of agriculture have a combination of policies for assisting sheep breeders to secure purebred rams. The Dominion department of agriculture provide a grading service, under which lambs and shearing rams are graded into XX and XX grades of purebred rams. The rams graded must all weigh 100 lbs. or more and be of good type. Those graded XX are or sufficiently good type and quality to head purebred flocks, while the XX grade contains the useful purebred rams which may have some small imperfections but make good rams for grade flocks.

The Ram Club policy, another Dominion Department of Agriculture policy, is designed to assist grade breeders to secure purebred rams at a reasonable price. Clubs of ten or more members may be formed to secure rams of the same breed, and rams are provided according to grade and the deposits of members. Owing to the short time available for organizing it is usual for members to send in deposits and the clubs are formed by the Dominion Department of Agriculture after all deposits are in. This year the deposits are: $12 for an XX ram lamb, $15 for an XX ram lamb, $17 for an XX shearing ram, and $20 for an XX shearing ram. The demand for rams is very keen and membership will be accepted in the order in which deposits are received at the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Truro, N. S.

Assistance in transportation is furnished under a provincial policy. Breeders will receive assistance toward pre-paying shipping costs on rams to the extent of 50c, for the first 50 miles, $1.00 for mileage from 51 to 100 miles, $1.50 up to 1150 miles, $2.00 up to 200 miles and $2.50 for over 200 miles.

The provincial department of agriculture is also giving assistance to purebred breeders entered under the Approved Flock Policy to the extent of 40 per cent of cost of ram and transportation costs up to a maximum of $15 per ram. Copies of these policies and application forms may be secured from agricultural representatives, the provincial animal husbandman, Truro, and live stock and poultry division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Truro, N. S.

Sheep Raising on Increase

Sheep breeders gathering at a very successful field day at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Nappan, on Thursday, August 21, expressed optimism over the situation in the sheep industry in Nova Scotia, with prices for both carcasses and wool showing better returns than a year ago. The sheep men were guests of Supt. W. W. Baird and his assistant in charge of livestock work at the farm. Smith Hilton, who has selected classes of purebred Shropshire ewes and ram lambs and a market class, for judging purposes. At the suggestion of C. E. Boulden breeders were arranged in committees to do the placing in the various classes and much good discussion came out of this.

J. A. Steele, secretary of the sheep breeders' association for the province estimates that from enquiries already received there is likely to be a demand for some 200 purebred rams this year. Since the local supply is likely to be far short of requirements it was suggested that purebred breeders with flocks entered in the Provincial-Dominion approved stock policy, who want outstanding rams for flock headers, should order through the provincial ram bonus policy. This policy provides a bonus of 40 per cent of the cost of purebred rams up to $15. Breeders not already in this plan are urged to obtain details from Mr. Steele.

A. A. MacMillan, in charge of sheep work in Canada for the federal department of agriculture, was present at the field day, and suggested that the best procedure might be to get all orders from the purebred breeders in before ram grading opens in Ontario, September 15. Breeders decided to ask that Mr. Steele go to Ontario to represent them in securing good rams. The cost of extra good rams, stated Mr. MacMillan, would range from $25 to $50, while top purebred ewes would likely range from $12 to $40, according to age and quality. The freight charges on a car of fifty sheep from Toronto to Truro, would be $83, plus feeding and handling charges and other shipping costs at the other end were considered.

While importation of new top quality stock is desirable from the standpoint of introducing new blood into Nova Scotia flocks, nevertheless, Nova Scotia breeders have some good quality sheep, and newcomers in the sheep industry often can secure good quality sheep at cheaper rates than by sending outside.

Heavier Movement of Lime

Farmers in various districts in the province are taking advantage of the recent move by the provincial department of agriculture to lower the cost of lime for farm soils during the summer months from the already low-fixed price of $1.50 ton which has prevailed since the outbreak of war. The summer rate will remain in effect until October when the former rate of $1.50 goes back into effect, while an additional ten cents ton will be charged between April 15 and June 15 next spring. The low summer price of $1.40 ton was granted to encourage shipments of lime during the slackest season. To date 12 carloads have been ordered under the special price by farmers throughout the province. An interesting feature of the new orders is that a considerable quantity of the lime is going into districts in Shelburne and Queens counties, and to Lower West Pubnico, districts where little lime was used before. In Cumberland county, district agriculturist, D. E. MacPhee, reports considerably early fall plowing done, and this will mean additional lime movement this fall. Some of the smaller lime quarries report considerable movement by trucks. Farmers are urged to place their orders now as much as possible, in order to get the lime at the lowest rate, and to avoid a rush of orders next spring when deliveries will be more difficult.

Assistance for College Students

Announcement made recently that students who register for the five months course at the agricultural college at Truro this fall and who meet certain other requirements, will receive certain financial assistance, will provide the opportunity to many young farm boys to take the course who otherwise might not find it possible. The financial assistance will be given to deserving students on a joint basis between the federal and provincial governments in accordance with the terms of the youth training plan. It will provide transportation to Truro and assistance in payment of the costs of board and room. Students applying for this assistance will be required to show that such assistance is necessary to make it possible for them to take the course. The short five months' course is being provided at the college this coming winter as a means of giving farm boys not yet of military age, and others who for various reasons are not able to enlist, an opportunity of obtaining practical training in the science of agriculture.

New Departmental Pamphlets

New pamphlets have recently been issued by the soils and fertilizer division of the provincial department of agriculture, on the subjects of lime and its uses, humus for the soil and seaweed as a fertilizer. The pamphlets were prepared by Prof. L. C. Harlow, provincial chemist.

New Club Project

For the first time in Canada club projects have been started in Nova Scotia for the promotion of production of pork for home consumption. Four clubs have started in this work under the farm club program of the extension division of the provincial department of agriculture, in co-operation with the Dominion livestock branch. These clubs are at Main-a-Dieu, Louisdale, and North River, in Cape Breton, and Canso-Dover in Guysboro County. The objective is the production of pork sufficient for the family of the club member, in districts where formerly pork requirements of the family had to be purchased. It is hoped later to conduct demonstrations in killing and home curing of the pork for members of the clubs.

Fertilizer Recommendations the Same

Fertilizer recommendations for Maritime farmers will be the same as those for 1941, it was decided at the annual meeting of the Maritime fertilizer council held at Nappan on Friday last. Sufficient supplies of the various elements for mixed fertilizers are in sight for the coming year, it was reported, those speaking in this connection being B. L. Emslie, of the C.I.L., Montreal, and E. K. Hampson, of the Potash Institute, Hamilton, Ont. C. F. Bailey, of Fredericton, was named chairman of the council for the coming year, and Nova Scotia directors are Malcolm MacCharles, agricultural representative in Pictou county, and L. A. Murphy, of the C.I.L., Halifax. J. E. MacIntyre, eastern agricultural representative of the Canadian National Railways, remains as secretary of the council.

Praises Nova Scotia Club Work

S. C. Bolly, in charge of livestock club promotion work for the federal department of agriculture, was a recent visitor to the province, touring a number of districts for the purpose of inspecting junior livestock clubs and visiting club shows. He saw a number of club shows in Pictou county and also visited other counties. He had high praise for the junior club work being done in the province, stating that one most encouraging feature was the manner in which the adults were supporting the work among the junior farmers, and he also mentioned the fact that junior livestock work had been effective in improving the breeding of livestock in a number of communities.

Mink Breeders' Show

Mink breeders in all parts of the Maritimes are invited to participate in the annual mink show of the Nova Scotia Mink Breeders' Association to be held in Middleton, in November. Decision to hold the show was made at the annual meeting held recently in Lawrencetown, when R. S. MacKay, of New Albany, was elected president; Wilfred Baker, of Spa Springs, vice-president; S. U. Messinger, of Centreville, 2nd vice-president, and Donald White, of Lawrencetown, secretary.

Prominent Visitor

Hon. J. G. Taggart, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, and a member of the Canadian bacon board, was visitor to the province the past week. Hon. Mr. Taggart is a former student of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, graduating in 1908. He is a native of Parrsboro.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE YOU TO EAT?

In these busy days, many of us have to satisfy our hunger with a sandwich, often bolted hurriedly. We know we're playing fast and loose with our insides, but the job must take first place. Irregular meals, irregular sleep, and new ways of living are all causes of constipation.

How to Get Gentle Relief

Constipation, as you know, is caused mainly by the disappearance of moisture from the large intestine. Therefore, that moisture must be returned. This is done by the action of the several mineral salts which are present in Kruschen. At the same time Kruschen, by its diuretic action helps to flush the kidneys, thus ridding your bloodstream of its accumulated toxic poisons. It stands to reason that the size of dose for relieving constipation depends on the individual. But once this initial constipation has been relieved, a small daily dose—just enough to cover a dime—will help to keep you regular and cheerful. Start today to remedy the mischief wrought by irregular meals and hours. You can get Kruschen from any druggist—25c, and 75c.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Married fifty years ago by the Rev. Dr. Coult, a Presbyterian minister, of Lowell, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mutch, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, on their thirty-five acre farm at Conway, a short distance from Digby town.

Mr. and Mrs. Mutch, who are both hale and hearty, and in the best of health, were "at home" to a host of friends during the afternoon, and were the recipients of many gifts, cards and telegrams of congratulations from many parts of Canada and the United States.

Given a prominent place in the beautifully decorated reception room, was a beautiful wedding cake, made by their daughter, Mrs. Raymond Lent, of Digby, and decorated by Mrs. Ralph Berwick, Assistant Mr. and Mrs. Mutch at their reception Sunday afternoon were Mrs. Freeman Wilson and Mrs. Inness Munro, who waited on the guests; Mrs. James Woodman, who poured, and Miss Ruth Lent, granddaughter of the bride and groom of fifty years ago, who attended the door.

In spite of the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Mutch have been living on this side of the Atlantic since childhood, both are still "quite English." They were born in Lancashire, England. Mr. Mutch at Ashton Underline, and Mrs. Mutch (formerly Mary Alice Dunkerley) at Oldham. Their birthplaces in the old country were less than two miles apart, but they met each other in Newburyport, Mass.

In his younger days Mr. Mutch was a well known landscape gardener in Newburyport, and in 1889 he entered the employ of the Y. M. C. A., serving for 35 years as janitor of the Newburyport Y. M. C. A., and one year as janitor at the Y. M. C. A. in Cambridge, Mass. They were also janitor and matron in the home for aged men at Newburyport for seven years.

While at Newburyport Mr. Mutch, in addition to his other work, was supervisor of the beautiful Atkinson Park in that city, and much of the park was laid out by him or under his supervision.

On their retirement ten years ago, they moved to Conway in order to be near their only daughter, Mrs. Raymond B. Lent, who resides in Digby.

Why Go to Church?

By IVAN A. SHORTLIFFE

"Why do you go to church?" a friend of mine asked me the other day.

"I go to church," I replied, "because I like to go to church; because I believe in churches."

My questioner, a fellow about my own age, disliked to go to church and only went on very rare occasions. I had heard him say that he was a non-churchgoer because he had been "driven" there when a boy, and now that he was on his own, as he put it, he was not going to punish himself by listening to dry, dull sermons. Nevertheless, I had seen him in church once or twice, so I decided to put him to the test in the same manner that he had put me. I turned on him suddenly and shot at him with the same weapon: "Why do you go to church?"

He was unshaken by the interrogation. "Why, I always go to church when there is a 'Billy Sunday' or a 'Dr. Fossdick' in town. I would go out of my way to hear any important and interesting person in any role, in any place. I always did like a good show."

I have done a lot of thinking on the subject since then. Dozens of times I have cross-examined myself as to why I really go to church.

I can remember taking my mother's hand and going to church every Sunday and every Thursday evening when the churchgoers of the little community would gather themselves together for prayer meeting. I can remember them singing the good old gospel hymns and listening to the old fashioned minister preaching of the beauties of heaven and the terrible tortures of hell. I have heard men and women rise when the minister opened the meeting for testimonies to tell others how much the church meant to them. Gradually the church and all it stands for grew to be a real thing in my life.

I can say emphatically that I never went to church because I was compelled to go, or because I was afraid that if I did not I would some day writhe and sing in the "fire of hell." I don't go to church when my mind is on a motor trip or anything else. I go to church when I feel like going and only when I feel like going. I cannot worship God in church with my mind miles away on a subject far remote from religion. When I go to church I go to worship God—not for amusement or to make a good impression.

Some people might say they can find more religion out among the trees and hills, or casting a fly on a stream, than they can in God's house. I don't doubt that God may be found wherever He is sought. Jesus almost invariably sought the out-of-doors for inspiration. The greatest sermon in the history of religion was preached by Him on a mountain. But I wonder how many of us think of religion or worshipping God when we go on an outing on the Sabbath Day.

Death is hovering over a family of non-churchgoers. The pastor of a nearby church is summoned to speak a word of cheer to the dying. The mother of the family meets the minister in the hall. "We are not churchgoers," she sobs, "but we thought you would speak a word of prayer." The minister heeds the plea made by perfect strangers, who, only yesterday, had no use for him or his church and had not contributed to its support. Today they need it more than anything else in the world.

I cannot say I need the church today, but someday I am going to need it, and need it badly. When that time comes I do not want to feel that I must meet the church with apologies. True, an un-

Reconsecration Week, September 10-17

This is Reconsecration Week.

Yesterday marked the opening of the third year of the war; and the Government of Canada has proclaimed the week of September 10-17 as "a week of reconsecration of the Canadian people to the democratic cause against Nazi tyranny."

Inspiring the nation to even higher resolve and even greater sacrifice is Canada's war record. Two years ago, Canada's soldiers, sailors and airmen, including reserves, totalled 68,000; today they number 490,000. In the Canadian Active Army are 230,000 volunteers; in the Canadian Army (Reserve), 170,000 volunteers and trainees; and single men between 21 and 24 are being drafted for the Canadian Active Army on Home Defence. The Royal Canadian Navy now has 250 vessels and 23,000 officers and ratings. The Royal Canadian Air Force numbers 67,000 of all classifications.

In the British Isles are more than 100,000 Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen. Troops include the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Divisions with auxiliary units. Canadian coastal batteries guard vital shore areas. Canadian divisions are posted to an honor sector and would form the spearhead of British defence in case of invasion. Canadian airmen have won undying glory over Britain, Germany, France, Dunkirk, Nazi-occupied territories, the Middle East, Greece and Libya, and off Norway. The Royal Canadian Navy has, with the Royal Navy, convoyed freighters carrying over 30,000,000 tons of supplies; has sunk U-boats, captured enemy vessels and compelled scuttling of others; aided in the evacuation from France, rescued many from bombed and torpedoed ships. Over 1,200 Canadians have figured in casualty lists; of them, 736 killed, 195 missing. Mechanized Units Go Soon. Training for overseas is the 4th Division. The 5th (Armoured) Division will be transferred to Britain this year. A 6th Division has been authorized. Home defences along Atlantic and Pacific coasts are constantly being tightened.

The Canadian Active Army is calling for 7,000 volunteers per month. The Royal Canadian Navy aims at 400 ships and 27,000 men by next March. The Royal Canadian Air Force is sending more and more pilots and ground crews overseas. Due to go to Britain this year are 2,500 radio locator specialists, who warn of approaching enemy raiders; in addition to the 1,000 already there. Women are being enlisted in auxiliaries of both Army and Air Force, to release men for front-line service.

Canada is spending between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 a day on war; two years ago, the arms bill was less than a million. By March 31 next, the war bill will have passed $2,000,000,000, including well over half a billion to finance purchases from Britain.

In addition to assuming heavier taxes, Canadians have bought war bonds and savings certificates worth $1,480,000,000; they have contributed about $20,000,000 to auxiliary war services, and word of it, for I have noticed many times since that the children attend church and Sunday School regularly and that he contributes to its support.

Many people say they do not believe in the church, yet I wonder how many of them would want their children to grow up to be non-believers. Through the centuries the church has been scoffed at and criticized and its leaders have been reviled and judged, yes, even put to death. Still the church remains.

The church was founded on Peter's great confession: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." The church is the symbol of the love of God for a sin-filled world. It is there we partake of the body of Christ and drink his blood and find strength to overcome temptation and to meet disappointment and disaster. True, all people who attend church are not flawless. These need the church. Even church leaders and those great people who gave us the church have at times stood condemn-

Legion Urges Justice for Fighting Forces

Responding to a toast "to the men serving in this war" at a dinner held under auspices of the Annapolis Valley Zone of the Canadian Legion, at the Digby Pines Hotel, Thursday evening, Lieut. William Graham, of Windsor, assured the 76 ex-service men in attendance that "No man that served in the last war has a thing to worry about so far as the men of this war's forces are concerned."

The toast was proposed by Comrade Alphonse MacDonald, vice-president of the Canadian Legion, who said that the men of the Canadian Legion have not betrayed their comrades left in Flanders Fields during the war of 1914-1918. "The legion is being perpetuated," he said, "by the sons of those who fought for their country in those years." He went on to say that they fought for democracy—that they have been told they fought in vain, but "We won a war for democracy, it was the short-sighted politicians who betrayed our comrades in Flanders Fields."

We fought for a cause—and there are still 320,000 veterans fighting for the same cause, fighting to see that the 400,000 who have volunteered for Canada's armed forces get justice when the war is over."

He continued by stating the new soldier goes overseas with more protection and more benefits than we ever had, and we still think they are not getting enough." Concluding his remarks he stated "our boys are still in England—they are there on the records of their forefathers who fought in the last war 25 years ago—they are there to defend the lifeline of that great democratic country."

Guest speaker of the evening was Comrade Claire Gillis, M. P., who opened his address with the remark "We must protect the new forces from a repetition of what we went through ourselves." He charged the same people who, during the last war, wrote the slogans that this is a fight for democracy and freedom, are writing the slogans for this war, and agreed with Comrade MacDonald that the soldier won the last war, but the politician wrote the peace.

Mr. Gillis said that a large number of those who are serving their country today are the boys, who, in peace time, rode the rails in search of work, and further charged "no effort is being made in Canada today to guarantee to these boys who have gone overseas that they will come back to anything different. With reference to those who have not joined the forces, he said, "When seeking employment they are asked to produce a certificate stating they are unfit for military service, and when hired are told they are employed 'for the duration only.'"

He went on to say that the Canadian Legion was an organization that can put pressure on the government. Reference was made by Mr. Gillis to Bill 17 in its committee stage. As a member of the committee he charged the bill in its original form was "terrible," and provided practically no protection to the dependants of men in uniform who met with accidents resulting in their death, while in training. In referring ample protection was afforded, furthermore, the dependants sailing on any ship of Canadian registry in convoy service, are protected, but the dependants of Canadians sailing on ships of foreign registry in convoy service are unprotected. A supplementary report of the committee provides for their protection, but, although written, the report has not yet become law.

He also made reference to laws written, but unsigned to provide for the protection of destitute widows of war veterans and for the protection and comfort of nursing sisters who served overseas in 1914 to 1918, and urged the legion to do its part to see that these laws are put into force.

Legislation has been passed in England, he said, that provided that after the war every man in uniform stays in uniform until some gainful employment is found for him. Canada has compromised by allowing every man who return from this war to remain in uniform for six months, and during that time he will receive training for gainful employment. He should receive training until he receives gainful employment, the speaker asserted, adding that if Canada cannot find billions to fight a war, it is equally important that she find billions to care for her warriors when war is over.

The toast to the Legion, which followed the toast to the King, was proposed by Oscar Miles, Sydney Mnes, and the response by James MacIntosh, Halifax, both stressing the responsibilities of the organization in providing for the comforts of the men "who are fighting in a greater battle than that in which we ever fought" and to do all in their power to make conditions better for them when they returned. Stanley Cochrane, Annapolis Royal, president of the Annapolis Valley Zone of the Canadian Legion, was chairman.

His many friends through the district have been calling to extend congratulations, and had the blessings of his pastor, Right Rev. Mgr. Bourneuf.

Primary Department of Digby Academy Overcrowded

F. C. Purdy, supervisor of Digby Schools, has written letters to parents of pupils registered in the first grade of Digby Academy, advising them that due to overcrowded conditions, the class would be divided into two groups, one wholly of boys and the other wholly of girls.

Commencing Monday, the boys will attend school in the mornings and the girls in the afternoons; the procedure will continue throughout the year, alternating each week between boys and girls. Over fifty pupils are registered in the first grade, and 425 for the whole Academy.

It is felt the arrangement made in Grade I will result in improved health as well as improved instruction for the children, and that it is better to avoid overcrowding at a time when there is a tendency to increase in the number of contagious diseases.

Hotels Close After Successful Season

The Digby Pines Hotel closed Saturday morning last, after one of the most successful summer seasons in a number of years. Opening during the later part of June, the "Pines" has been well patronized since the beginning of the season, and particularly during the middle of July throughout August, when the big hotel was filled to capacity on several occasions.

Another well known hotel closing in this area is the Harbor View House at Smith's Cove. The closing dance was held in the Casino Friday evening, with music furnished by Harry Cochrane's Pines Hotel Orchestra.

Other of the summer hotels will close during the month, and the majority will be closed by October 1.

Dr. C. C. Archibald

Word was received here Sunday of the death of Dr. C. C. Archibald, 64, of Truro, and once of Bear River, and well known eye and ear specialist throughout the Maritimes, in Montreal General Hospital on Saturday. Dr. Archibald's death came suddenly although he had been in hospital about two weeks and ill several months. Born in Musquodoboit, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Archibald, Dr. Archibald was a graduate of Dalhousie Medical School. He first practiced in Bear River, but when war broke out in 1914, went to Halifax to join the Army Medical Service. Following the war, Dr. Archibald set up practice in Charlottetown and seven years ago moved to Truro. Very active in church circles, Dr. Archibald was a church elder and was superintendent of Sunday Schools in both Charlottetown and in Truro at the First United Church. A member of the Masonic Lodge, he was a Past High Priest of the Scottish Rite and was Worshipful Past Master of the Blue Lodge. He was also a member of the Kiwanis Club, an ardent curler and at one time also played golf. He is survived by his widow, (formerly Minnie Harris, of Bear River); a daughter, Muriel Archibald, R. Entertained Troops

On Thursday afternoon, Aug. 28, a number of English soldiers arrived at Port Wade and vicinity and were entertained at various homes. Later in the evening refreshments were served by the ladies of Victoria Beach and Port

Wade. Friday evening the troops were entertained at another dance held at Port Wade, in a bungalow down by the sea-shore. When the guests arrived a large bon-fire was blazing, which added to the very cheerful atmosphere. Refreshments were served late in the evening. Saturday evening the soldiers were guests at a dance in the Masonic Hall at Annapolis Royal.

Sunday evening a song service was held in the Baptist Church at Port Wade, for the troops, under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. Lewis Mills. Hymns sung were selected by the soldiers. After church they were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hayden, of Port Wade, where the ladies, this time, served them with ice cream and cake (and plenty of it). The troops left for Aldershot Monday, and it is felt they will have many pleasant memories of the five days spent in this community.

Thrifty BUILDS TANKS

Never before has individual thrift been so vital a factor in our country's history. Every dollar we can save counts in the conduct of this war.

To overwhelm the enemy and hasten a victorious peace the Empire must have a modern, smooth running, hard hitting, fighting machine. But such a machine cannot be built without individual sacrifice—self denial—thrift.

Until this war is won make personal thrift your watchword. Watch your spending. Build up a reserve of fighting dollars out of current earnings. Save for victory.

WEEK OF RECONSECRATION

On the morning of Wednesday, September ten, 1941, the people of Canada will stand upon the threshold of the third year of our Country's participation in the present war.

The Government of Canada, in recognition of this fact and of the constant need for our people to reaffirm their loyalty and devotion to the Cause, have issued a solemn proclamation setting aside the period from September ten to seventeen inclusive as a Week of Reconsecration, and in honour of those who on land, on the seas, and in the air are defenders of our Country.

The Government of Nova Scotia joins with the Government of Canada in urging upon our people an earnest and sincere observance of this Week of Reconsecration, and calls on each and every citizen to participate wholeheartedly in whatever programme of observance may be arranged by local authorities during this period.

About This and That

"The Second Great War" has now entered its third year. It is the same war that less than two years ago much of the world called "a phoney war", yet, no war in the history of the world has been responsible of so many innocents; no war in the history of the world has been responsible for so great a destruction of property; no other war has witnessed the downfall of so many independent nations in as short a period of time. To be frank, the outcome to date has seemingly favored our enemies. Comparatively speaking the success of Britain and her allies have been few and far between. Facing the real facts we must admit that Hitler and his Nazi hordes have had things pretty much in their own way. Their time tables have been upset on occasions, nevertheless, the blitzkrieg machine has, on the continent of Europe, proven itself almost invincible. We are not writing this in a critical or down hearted mood the facts are too apparent to write otherwise, but, we believe the seeming successes of the blitzkrieg machine have caught Hitler in his own trap. He is now in a position where he cannot stop. He must strike and continue to strike, for the moment he stops, his machine and his power will collapse—he must conquer not Britain, not Russia, but the whole world, or perish. He knows it too well. He knew in 1939 his only chance of success was a quick victory. There is now no chance of this, for, in spite of the successes of his machine, as far as Hitler is concerned, the war as it enters its third year, has already passed the "quick victory" stage. He must strike or perish, and with every blow he is spending more and more of his own strength, while, in the meantime, Great Britain on the defensive, is gathering strength in men and materials, preparing to do some serious striking of her own—striking with "rights and lefts" that will mean "lights out" for Hitler.

We hear too much these days about what is wrong with democracy. There is nothing wrong with it. The wrong, if there is any, is with those who criticize our way of life. We may not have a perfect democracy. There are few things perfect in this life. But what we do have is so much better than that which any other country has. It is something to be proud of, to glory in and to protect with our lives. We have the right to be individuals, the supreme right to worship God according to the dictates of our own conscience, and that is something worth fighting for. Religion will not be sacrificed because of this war. It will emerge stronger than ever, because we need reassurance from something outside ourselves, something stronger than ourselves. The obligation of every true Canadian is to make democracy work here in Canada.

"In times of war prepare for peace" is reversing the advice attributed to Washington. Nevertheless, it is just as sound and just as timely a piece of advice, for the problems that follow every war are as filled with entanglements and peril as is the war itself. Now is the time for our government to begin to make some plans for the after-effects of the war and to brace itself for the jolt. Whether the war lasts for years or ends soon, there will be many problems to solve when it is all over unemployment, taxes, finances, replacing draftees in their old jobs, and a hundred and one other problems just as complex. Planning for these things in advance will help to prevent much grief.

"Everything is proceeding according to plan." A statement, favored by the German High Command, and which, in aggravated form, says precisely nothing. What is meant by "everything"? And what, pray, does the word "plan" convey? It is just another of the senseless and blandly stupid expressions meant to increase gray hairs in the war correspondents' thatch, and irritate newspaper offices and the reading public.

Why all the changing of names? Once upon a time, Leningrad was St. Petersburg. Ireland got along for centuries without being termed Eire. Persia was Persia for a mighty long time, but now that alluring land is known as Iran. Perhaps, within a few years, Germany will be recognized as Alsoran.

No man ever lived who was fully satisfied with his life. The more he knew the more he found there was to know. The more he accomplished the more he saw to do. The higher his aspirations the more conscious he became that perfection was beyond human reach. His only source of satisfaction was the knowledge that he honestly tried to live as a man should live.

No richer blessing can come to any man than the consciousness that his generosity has lighted a fire on some darkened hearth, has provided food for some empty table. Bread cast upon the waters returns to you not as bread, but as joy and happiness.

Most of us get knocked down some time or other in the hurly-burly rush of this life's activities. Mark well that man who comes back up smiling, for there is one who will go places. Grin in the face of troubles, it's far better than to groan.

Your Town--and Mine

(A Contributed Column)

The chief topic of conversation around town these days seems to be the forthcoming visit of the contingent of British troops to Digby. It is hoped the people of our town will open their hearts and their homes to these men. Perhaps by doing so we may be able, in some small measure, to repay British kindness to our boys "somewhere in England."

Another tourist season is rapidly drawing to a close. From all reports it has been a fairly successful one. Now, at the close of one tourist season, is the time to begin preparations for another. The Board of Trade has always been very active in tourist promotion work. Let us hope they will continue their splendid effort. Perhaps they might take over the idea of writing personal letters to friends and acquaintances in the U. S., inviting them to spend their next vacation here. This idea was fostered, as a means of helping in the war effort, by the War Service Club. It would be well to revive it again.

From the paper it appears that the Council and the Board of Trade have not yet reached any definite solution to the Cannon Bank Park question. It is about time that the town adopted a definite policy in this matter. The Board, by valiant effort, has created a lovely little park at the seaward approach to our town. Surely the town has enough pride in its appearance to take over the maintenance and upkeep of this beauty spot. During the past year the Town has only spent about ten dollars that can really be charged to "Town beautification." At present, the Town expends nothing for care and upkeep of any bathing beach, park or other beauty and recreation spot. The only expenditure that the Town makes along this line is for the care of the two or four garden at the Mer.orial. Is this a record to be proud of in a so-called "tourist" town?

Someone deserves congratulations for the splendid clean-up job done along the front street. The business section of our town has not looked so spick-and-span for some time. Let us hope that those responsible will see fit to repeat the job in the spring. Perhaps, then, Main Street will not look like a street cleaner's nightmare all next summer.

No mention was made in the press of Councillor Cardozo's unsuccessful attempt to have the Town Council go on record as favoring gas rationing. From all reports voluntary reduction of gas usage is not bringing the desired results. How long will it be before the government realizes that half-measures are not enough? Total war requires total effort.

What will be the Town's response to the V. O. N. plea for extra funds? While it is true that the town cannot make any large supplementary grant, it is hoped the request will not be turned down entirely. In the midst of all the war demands we must not forget the needs of such an organization as the V. O. N. The service this body renders to the community is invaluable and must be maintained. Donations from individuals would undoubtedly be gratefully received by the Treasurer.

Will the appointment of a committee from the Council be enough to revive the Salvage Campaign in Digby? To be successful such an effort requires the complete cooperation of the whole community. Is Digby going to let this national appeal down? Unthinkable! So, "up the Butts and at 'em."

Board of Trade Has Possibilities

A very interesting luncheon meeting of the Board of Trade was held at the Jersey Farms, on Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance, the president, R. B. Murray, in the chair. At the business session the principal matter discussed was the coming visitation of the Empire soldiers, due here tomorrow, and the civic observance of Re-Dedication on Sunday. The president outlined the steps being taken to entertain the visitors while here. Mayor Ther-ault asked that the Board appoint a committee to co-operate with him in arranging for a special service of re-dedication. It was decided that this should take the form of a public service at the Monument, the Veterans, Scouts and others participating, to meet there at 10.30 for a short service afterwards marching to Trinity Church where a special service has been arranged.

The guest speaker was Frank J. Burns, president of the Kentville Board of Trade, who told of the activities of that body and outlined the duties of Boards of Trade in general. An active Board performs a valuable service—far reaching and lasting in the community served by it. Properly organized it represents every interest and is constantly in touch with every phase of business life. It should be the national leader in thought and in action in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the community. Such a body needs exceptional leadership, which should be well-informed, tactful and aggressive. The directors particularly should be well in advance in thought and action. Working in harmony with the Town Council it becomes a powerful influence for good. It is a voluntary organization entirely, non-political, non-sectarian and as free from bias and selfishness as any organization can possibly be.

Here in Digby, which is one of the gateways to the province, there appears to be a maximum opportunity of publicizing the town.

He also told of the work the Kentville Board is doing. At the close he was tendered a hearty vote of thanks.

Beam Trawler Built at Meteghan

Without a mishap the first beam trawler of its type ever built in the Maritimes slid off the ways at Meteghan about 1.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, before a large crowd of people. This beam trawler, Le Cap Blue is the work of the Clare Shipbuilding Company and was built for parties in St. Pierre, Miquelon.

The construction was superintended by August Derouet, who arrived last winter from St. Pierre. The furniture and interior fittings were installed by Capt. Charles Lemerle, who has been doing this work for 27 years. The tricolor and the Canadian flags were flying gaily and the traditional bottle was broken by Miss Florence Deveau, a daughter of the builder. Right Rev. Mgr. Bourneuf, P. P., blessed the vessel and there were also present, Rev. L. Comeau, and Rev. L. Murphy. T. J. Rossier, of Halifax; F. G. J. Forces, president of the Acadian Society; Capt. After the launching a reception was held in the office of the company and many congratulating the workmen and directors. Mr. Derouet returned to St. Pierre yesterday and Capt. Lemesle took charge of the vessel.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Weekly notes on various matters, conducted by Rev. A. S. Hart.

"Reconsecration Week" began Wednesday 10, the anniversary of Canada's entry into the war, by Royal Proclamation. At the moment of writing it is difficult to know what is meant by the term as no details are yet to hand. Detached from the war as we are here, apathy and wishful thinking grow upon us like fungus. Last Sunday night a speaker said that the need for recruits for the armed forces was "grave." Not only must we have quality but quantities of man-power to be ready for the great clash which is still to come. Financial experts are saying that unless we spend less, before long inflation will raise its head. Those who count upon U. S. A. man-power had better think again or read the editorials in the New York pro-British press the morning after Mr. Mackenzie King's speech!

No, much depends upon the Motherland and the Commonwealth to stem the tide and provide the fighting men. Reconsecration week should be used for all of us to think hard. The danger is we shall see what the other man or woman ought to be doing and forget ourselves. It is an individual matter entirely.

The legion dinner last week was quite a surprise. For a long time we had waited for some force to hoist the banner of re-construction after the war. This is a vital issue especially in recruiting and gearing up the national effort. It is not enough to make promises of what will be done after the war in a general way. Unless plans are prepared, a scheme ready, a definite spending program to beat the "big bad wolf" of depression we shall have a repetition of the last world war. Mr. Gillis, the member for Cape Breton, made a good case for separating war jills from chronic economic causes. It is hoped that a strong force like the legion will fight now for preparation of peace. The cry "Let's get on with the war," is about as useless a slogan as "No scandal about Queen Bess," and means exactly the same—Don't Criticize.

Cullodch is a pretty spot as I found last week visiting there for the first time. Fisher folk are very proud of the Bay of Fundy and the choice catch which it produces. Of course I made my usual mistake in thinking that the place was named after the famous battle in Scotland—but strangely enough a wrecked ship off the coast gave name to the village. It is refreshing to meet grace and charm combined with virility. One lady who could have given points to many a city dweller said she often walked into Digby on a Sunday morning which meant seven miles and back.

They tell me that a great sight is the Bay by night when the fishing boats are out. In the distance are the lights of Saint John and Grand Manan. Dotted about the Bay, the lights of the fishing boats—and with the surf lapping the beach and the moon overhead here is combination of poetry and music and painting.

September 25th is the County Children's Day at the Bear River Exhibition. Particulars have been circulated to all teachers and it is hoped to have a great rally of children. An interesting program has been arranged and with the military band to add to the scene the occasion should be memorable and one to be repeated each year.

Being reminded of "Amazons" by the recruitment of a Women's Corps in the Canadian Forces one recalls the best Amazon story on record. Hannah Snell, who had been deserted by her husband, enlisted about the year 1747 in the Marines, then part of the Army. She went to India and saw active service, being wounded on more than one occasion and more incredibly still the record says she flogged for insubordination. She, however, was able to keep her secret and treat her own wounds even to extracting a musket ball. Because of wounds she came back to England and was given an honourable discharge. Drinking with her comrades the night before she left the marines, she mounted a table and said, "Boys, I give you a toast! Drink to one who is as good a woman as your mother and my name is Hannah Snell."

She set up home in a tavern which was named "The Female Marine" and it has a most lurid sign board depicting Hannah fighting in one of her battles. She did a roaring trade and was never tired of telling old soldier stories.

She received a pension of thirty pounds a year for life on a petition to H. R. H. The Duke of Cumberland.

MARRIAGE

Deveau - d'Eon. St. Thomas Church, Annapolis Royal, was the scene of a fashionable wedding on Monday, Sept. 1, when Adolphe Deveau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elisee C. attendant. Entombment was in Cranston R. C. Cemetery. Service in Digby was conducted by Rev. Father L. Murphy assisted by Rev. Father Pepper. Mrs. Daly leaves to mourn one daughter, Mrs. Teresa M. Simms, of Toronto, Ont.; two brothers, James, of Conway, and Edward, of Essex, Mass.; three grandchildren, Mrs. P. H. Judd, Hubert and Malcolm Simms, and two great grandchildren, of Toronto.

Arrive Safely

"Arrived safely and well" were the words of a cablegram received in Digby Tuesday morning from Lee H. Thurber, formerly of Freeport, Digby County, and now of Johannesburg, South Africa. Mr. and Mrs. Thurber left Digby several weeks ago for their South African home. Mr. Thurber returned to Freeport just before the outbreak of the war, because of the serious illness and death of his aunt, the late Mrs. Adelia Sollows. Unable to return, he was joined by Mrs. Thurber some months later, who made the journey from South Africa via South America and New York on an Egyptian steamship.

Plan Entertainment For Visiting Soldiers

Empire soldiers will be guests in many Digby homes over the week end. Nearly 100 of them will arrive on the 2.15 train-to-morrow (Friday) afternoon, and will be met at the station by cars and taken to the homes of their hosts. On Friday evening they will be the guests of the Service Wives at a party given in Trinity Parish Hall, where ping pong, darts and cards will be enjoyed. Weather permitting, the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club will be their hosts at a corn boil to be held on the beach near the Yacht Club wharf.

Special services will be held Sunday morning in Trinity Church, for the visiting troops; in the evening special services will be held in Grace United Church, followed by a sing song in the church hall. It is hoped that on Sunday afternoon hosts with cars will provide entertainment for their guests. Drivers are being arranged for those soldiers whose hosts have not cars.

A dance will be held in the Community Hall, Monday evening at 9.00 p. m. Arrangements have been made with the management of the Capitol Theatre for free admission of visiting soldiers to any performance other than the Saturday night show.

Large Egg

An egg weighing 6 ounces and measuring 8½ by 7½ inches was found in one of the nests on the farm of Fred Graham, Digby, on Monday. The egg which was four times the weight of a "Grade A Large" was laid by a spring pullet.

Mrs. G. W. Connell, who presided at the regular meeting of the V. O. N. on Tuesday welcomed back a former nurse—Miss Harriet Brydon. Miss Brydon is relieving until a permanent nurse can be secured for the district. The nurse's report for the month of August showed 218 visits made, 142 bedside. 63 babies were weighed and supervised at the clinic. Many of the school pupils were checked up at their homes and their general health is considered good. Fees collected, $38.00.

High Quality In Hogs

Co-operative hog shipping clubs in Nova Scotia shipped a total of 251 head of market hogs during the month of July, according to reports just released. Of this number, nearly 82 per cent were in the two top grades, which is the highest percentage yet reached by co-operative shipping clubs in the province. It compares with 72.4 per cent in the two top grades in June shipments. Over 48 per cent of the July hogs were in the "select" grade. Thus many of the shippers who are shipping through the co-operative groups are qualifying for both federal and provincial bonuses by the high quality of hogs they are sending forward. The provincial department of agriculture pays $1 bonus on top grade and 50 cents on B1, the second grade, while there is a bonus at packing plants in addition of $1 for selects. To qualify for the provincial bonus, hog shippers must ship through a recognized marketing organization.

Total number of hogs shipped this year through shipping clubs in the province to the end of July is 2776 head compared with 2370 head for the same period last year.

Federal Assistance In Cattle Breeding

The dominion department of agriculture has a policy for loaning advanced registry dairy bulls or high quality beef bulls to assist a district in their livestock improvement policy. Should a district decide on a program of livestock improvement and include a system of pasture and crop improvement, application for the loan of a high quality purebred sire will be considered. At least three farmers must combine to form an association, and there should be sufficient cows to warrant paying the caretaker for keeping the bull in good condition and in a suitable paddock.

The allotment of bulls each year is quite limited, but groups organized this fall will receive preference in securing bulls next spring, or in some cases may be supplied this fall.

Details with regard to this policy may be secured from J. A. Steels, dominion department of agriculture, Truro, F. J. MacCharles, dominion department of agriculture, for the county agricultural representative.

Extensive Drainage Plans

Farmers of Annapolis County have signed contracts for a total of 23,000 feet of tile drainage for their farms under the policies of the provincial department of agriculture which provide assistance for farmers desiring to install such drainage.

Push Plans for Livestock Field Day

Those in charge of arrangements for the livestock field day for the province, to be held at the Bible Hill race track, Truro, on Sept. 28, are laying plans to make this the biggest livestock field day ever held in the province. Every breeder of cattle is invited to join in the field day and show cattle in the various classes.

Classes will be in Holsteins, Ayrshires, Guernseys, Jerseys, Shorthorns and Herefords, as well as in heavy horses, both grade and purebred. In each class $70 will be given in prizes supplemented by whatever the breed associations wish to do. It is expected that these associations will give each from $40 to $100 for special prizes.

Nova Scotia Animal Is Grand Champion

Grand champion in the female Hereford classes at the Canadian National exhibition at Toronto, this year, was awarded to an entry from the famous Hereford herd of E. H. Horne, at Mont Vista farms at Enfield, N. S. Mr. Horne's entry also won the championship in the junior female classes and a bull from his herd won the championship in the senior classes.

Pictou United Farmers do Big Business

Nearly $70,000 worth of business was done during the financial year of the Pictou and North Shore United Farmers, Ltd., co-operative, according to reports submitted at the annual meeting recently, at which R. F. MacWilliams, of Plymouth, was re-elected president, and Alex. D. MacKay, manager. During 1941 over 2100 tons of fertilizer and 2000 tons of lime were handled for the farmer members.

Weather and Crop Conditions

For the most part the month of August in Nova Scotia was fairly cold and quite wet. Heavy rainfalls retarded hay-making rather seriously in many districts, with the result that there is much over-ripe hay garnered late. Generally speaking, the hay crop in the province has been fairly good with respect to volume. Much early grain is cut and promises to yield well. Heavy rains lodged many fields of heavy grain crops, with some loss. Root crops have been developing well, but lack of feed and the rains have left the fields very weedy in many places.

Pastures have kept up well and milk production has been well maintained. Butter, hogs and eggs are all bringing good prices, with much improvement in this respect over recent years. There is greater production noted in all these lines. In the areas surrounding military camps where garbage is available, hog production has been stimulated. In the Debert area alone about 1000 hogs are being kept on this basis.

Weather Report

At the Agricultural College at Truro, a total of 7.66 inches of rainfall was recorded for the month. All of this fell on 14 days, and the total compares with 2.06 inches last August and an average of 3.18 inches over 31 years.

Maximum temperature for the month at Truro was 82 degrees on the 9th, with only three days of over 80 degrees and only 18 over 70. Minimum was 38 degrees on the 14th.

At Kentville Experimental Station total rainfall recorded was 3.80 inches, the maximum temperature was 86 on the 9th, and the lowest was 39 on the 14th.

At Nappan Experimental Farm a total of 4.62 inches of rainfall was recorded. Maximum temperature was 83 degrees on the 9th and minimum was 41 on the 22nd and 25th.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons build up in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

ANNOUNCING A VITAL MEASURE TO HELP CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

THE DUNLOP WAR SAVING PLAN FOR TIRES

TO CONSERVE RUBBER To Aid Our Armed Forces and To Save You Money By Making Your Tires Last Longer!

Rubber is vital to Victory... an essential material for all our ARMED FORCES. Their requirements... and the requirements of our War Industries... must come first.

It is the duty of every Canadian motorist to see that they do come first... to conserve rubber by making tires last as long as possible, consistent with safety, during this emergency.

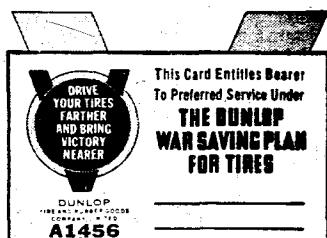

To help Canadian motorists to carry out this patriotic duty... and at the same time save money by making their tires last longer... Dunlop-Canada has initiated this War Saving Plan for Tires. Under this plan Dunlop Dealers throughout Canada place themselves... and all the skill and experience of their organizations... at the service of motorists. Simply by presenting your Service Card at your nearest Dunlop Dealer you will be entitled to preferred service on every tire check-up listed here, at minimum labour cost.

Think what this Dunlop plan means to you: the opportunity to serve Canada in yet another useful way; the chance to save money by getting more mileage than you ever enjoyed before from your tires; the increased driving safety that will be yours by having your tires regularly inspected and maintained in perfect running order.

Drive in today to your nearest Dunlop Dealer. Ask him for your Preferred Service Card and have your first tire check-up under the Dunlop War Saving Plan for Tires.

A 7-Point Service to Help Canada and Save Money For Motorists

1 A regular inflation check will be made on all your tires, and your tires, including the spare, will be changed over regularly to balance tread wear, which should increase your tire life about 20%.

This Card Entitles Bearer To Preferred Service Under THE DUNLOP WAR SAVING PLAN FOR TIRES

2 You will be informed about any uneven tread wear that indicates wrong alignment or defective brakes.

3 Your tires will be regularly checked for dangerous hidden cuts and bruises. The inside fabric of your tires will also be checked at necessary intervals.

4 You will be advised when your non-skid treads are losing their effectiveness.

5 Your tubes will be inspected for signs of pinching or chafing.

6 The purchase of a new tire will be recommended only when it is absolutely needed for your safety.

7 You will be given a Preferred Service Card entitling you to special call on your Dunlop Dealer's time and service facilities. No dealer will issue more cards than he can service efficiently.

VOLUME LXVIII, NO. 1

Reconsecration Service Held

An impressive service of Reconsecration was held in Trinity Church, Sunday morning. The congregation was one of the largest to worship in that edifice for some years. On this occasion the service was conducted by Rev. A. S. Hart, rector of Weymouth, in the absence of the rector, Rev. F. B. Gaskill, who is on vacation.

Attending the service were the visiting troops who spent the week end in Digby. These, with members of the Legion and ex-service men, the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Brownies and Cubs, met at the Memorial shortly after 10.00 o'clock, where the proclamation was read by Mayor Theriault, and a re-dedication prayer by Rev. M. C. Munn, pastor of the Digby Baptist church. Following this service, they paraded in a body to Trinity church.

The litany of reconsecration was used at this service, along with hymns written specially for the occasion. The first lesson was read by Victor Cardoza. In his impressive address Mr. Hart told his congregation that we who live in safety on this side of the Atlantic should be ashamed to call any war effort of ours, "sacrifice". It is only those who live in countries fighting for their lives or live in countries overrun by the enemy who know the real meaning of the word "sacrifice".

Catholic Club Organized

The Catholic Young People's Club was organized on Sunday evening at St. Patrick's Hall. Meetings are to be held every Friday evening. The officers elected were as follows:

Pres.—Miss Marie Moriarty.
Vice-Pres.—Miss Bernadette Thibault.
Secty.—Miss Edith Hersey.
Treas.—Frank Raymond.

Patriotic Trout

On Monday we were shown a good sized trout, caught by Benny Webber. It is quite evident this fish had kept a-breast with the times before Benny "blitzed" him out of the stream, for a large black "V" was plainly visible on both sides of the white under portion of the fish.

After making several trips from Yarmouth with lumber for discharge at United States ports, the tern schooner Albert H. Willis, Capt. Ralph Ogilvie, went to another port this time to load. She was at Belliveau's Cove last week taking on lumber. The Willis was laid up in Yarmouth last winter and was the first large sailing vessel to load there this year, the firm of Boutilier, Prosser & Prosser supplying the cargo of lumber on each trip.

MARINE NEWS

The tern schooner Evelene Wilkie, of Middle LaHave, and recently sold to southern parties, has been reported at Jamaica.

Shipments of lobster bait for next season's operations in the Yarmouth-Sheburne district, have started from Grand Manan and Campbell. The first load arrived recently by the motor vessel Vidgema, and was discharged at stations among the Tusket Islands.

Purchased by Henry Clements, of Burgeo, Nfld., the fishing schooner Beatrice Beck, has sailed from Lunenburg for her new home port in command of Capt. A. Matthews. Built at Lunenburg in 1923, the vessel is 124.5 feet long, beam 26.1 feet and 9.4 feet depth of hold, and has been operated by W. C. Smith & Co.

The war has had its effect on allowing motor carriers and large schooners for carrying lumber from the provinces to Gloucester, Mass. A 70-foot schooner, a two-master, arrived there last week with a venerable skipper in command. The boat had 80,000 square feet of spruce for the Gloucester Coal & Lumber Co., and docking at the company's wharf.

The keel of the new fishing schooner to be built for Zwicker & Co., to replace the ill-fated John H. McKay, lost off the Newfoundland coast when she was struck by a freighter, is now being prepared in the yards of Smith & Rhuland, at Lunenburg. The vessel will be 145 feet long, 26.5 beam, and 11.5 depth of hold. She will be commanded by Capt. Moyle Crouse, skipper of the McKay, and formerly of the Halgonian.

The Nellie A. Cluett, a 300-ton 2-masted auxiliary schooner to be used by the Grenfell Association as a relief ship for its work in Labrador, is at New York, loading 250 tons of supplies, medicine, clothing and building material. The ship will proceed to St. Anthony, the association's supply port in northern Newfoundland. The vessel was launched at Lunenburg, on May 27.

Several clam factories are operating on the coast of the South Shore, at Wedgeport and in Digby, and the results of the activity, including the shipment of bivalves in the shell, may be seen at the Eastern Steamship Co., docks. Hundreds of barrels of clams are arriving almost daily by the truckload, purchased by agents operating for a Massachusetts Company who market the bivalves in Boston.

Celebrates Her 99th Birthday

Mrs. John S. MacNeill, of Barton, one of Digby County's best-loved and highly respected ladies, celebrated her 99th birthday on Monday. As usual, she was "at home" to her numerous friends. A high light of the day was a visit from a former Barton resident who was accompanied by two guest soldiers from Aldershot. Mrs. MacNeill was delighted with the visit and her conversation showed that she kept up to date on the problems of the day.

The newly weds received many useful gifts. They will reside at Grosses Coques.

This week the Courier acknowledges the receipt of $28 for the Queen's Canadian Fund. This splendid donation was the offering of the Mount Pleasant War Service club and was realized by the "sale" of a quilt made by the women of that community.

Harvey Chisholm, secretary-treasurer of the Digby County Exhibition, has brought us the good news that any surplus from this year's Exhibition will be turned over to the Queen's Fund for air raid victims.

On Tuesday night Digby bade farewell to the visiting troops from the Aldershot Military Camp, who have been guests at more than half a hundred Digby homes since Friday afternoon. In leaving they took with them memories of a happy week end that will never be forgotten by themselves, their hosts and the entire population of the town. From the moment of their arrival until their departure no effort was spared to give the boys a "jolly time". On their arrival they were met at the station by members of the Board of Trade, the Red Cross and the Service Wives' Club. When they departed on Tuesday night one of the largest crowds ever to gather at the D.A.R. station platform at Digby, was there to bid them farewell. "Good-byes" and "Cheerio's" echoed and reechoed even after the train pulled out of sight.

Among entertainments provided for the visiting troops were a party in Trinity Parish Hall, sponsored by the Service Wives on Friday evening where games, contests and dancing were enjoyed. Of course, refreshments were served. Saturday's entertainment was in the form of a corn ball on the beach at the Joggins, near the Yacht Club slip. This was sponsored by the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club, of Digby, and, like Friday night's party, it was a complete success. For many of the visitors it was their first experience with corn. In addition to the fire on which the pots of corn were boiled, the beach was illuminated by large 'V' torches made with "cat-tails".

On Sunday they attended the re-consecration service in Trinity church in the morning, a number were present and took part in the "sing-song" in Grace United church hall, after the service. Most of the boys were taken on drives through the country on Sunday afternoon.

A dance in the scout hall on Monday evening was largely attended. During intermission the ladies of St. Patrick's church served refreshments in their hall, next door. These ladies also provided entertainment in the form of cards and games for those who did not dance.

The management of the Capitol Theatre admitted visiting soldiers without charge to all shows other than the Saturday performances during their stay here.

The visitors expressed in many ways their appreciation to their hosts and the people of Digby generally. A number of the boys have told us they plan on making Digby their "home town" while stationed at Aldershot and hope to have an occasional week end pass to Digby.

The fishing schooner Richard and Arnold, was towed into New Bedford Saturday morning by the coastguard cutter, Ewin, after being crippled by engine trouble 120 miles east of Boston.

About This and That

It is fitting at this time as we enter our 68th year of continuous publication that we heartily thank our readers, our correspondents, our local and national advertisers, and the many advertising agencies with whom we have contact, for the loyal support they have given our paper in the past. We trust we will always be worthy of their support and co-operation.

While, in writing this birthday editorial we do not intend to delve into historical matters, we do state Digby has witnessed a great many changes since the first COURIER rolled off the press in September, 1873. Looking over our files we cannot help but be aware of these changes, and, at the same time, take pride in the fact that through these years the COURIER has faithfully recorded the history of Digby from that day to the present.

To our knowledge there are none of the COURIER's original subscribers living today. The late William Cossaboom, of Gulliver's Cove, and the late George Johnson, of Waterford, both of whom have died in recent years, were, to the best of our belief, the last two. The late Mrs. Emma Robicheau, whose death occurred a few weeks ago, told us on several occasions her family had taken the COURIER since the first issue.

We are lacking a record of our correspondents, but know several of them have given us a long record of faithful service. Mrs. Irene Denton, of Little River, has been the COURIER's correspondent in that village for more than thirty years. At Tiverton Mrs. Ruel Outhouse has an even longer record, although she (in her own words) can scarcely be classed as a "correspondent". She informed us some time ago that she took the job "temporarily" until we found another correspondent for Tiverton. We are in no hurry to give up our "temporary correspondent" in that village.

During the past 67 years the COURIER itself has seen many changes, the most revolutionary perhaps, being the change of form adopted this issue. Some twenty years ago the press room was moved from the basement of the present building to another building in the rear, and the old water power motor replaced by a gasoline engine. A passageway was built to connect the two buildings.

Later, under the management of Robert Mills, an electric motor was installed to turn the press. This motor is still in use, and was the first to be installed when 24-hour electric service was inaugurated in Digby.

In 1930, under its present management, the COURIER graduated from a hand-set newspaper to a linotype-set paper. The following year a mat-casting equipment was installed, and today practically all illustrations in the COURIER are cast in our own plant. Since then a powerful electric metal saw has been installed, as well as other smaller equipment.

However, up until this issue, the COURIER has been folded by hand. This week's edition is machine-folded. True, our "new" folder is second hand, but we trust it will serve our purpose for some years to come.

Perhaps some day we will replace the faithful old Cranstons press which during the past half-century of service has printed approximately 5,000,000 copies of the DIGBY COURIER! In spite of the age of this grand old machine, we have never been ashamed of its work—but we cannot expect it to last forever.

In closing we invite any of our subscribers and readers to inspect our plant in operation. We realize that even in

Your Town--and Mine

(A Contributed Column)

Those who were fortunate enough to hear Mr. Frank Burns' address at the recent Board of Trade meeting, must have been greatly impressed by the list of achievements accomplished by the Kentville Board of Trade. Mr. Burns' talk gave some idea of just what can be accomplished through united effort. Co-operation was the great keynote of his address. From his talk it was evident there is a great spirit of co-operation in Kentville, co-operation between the business men and between the Council and Board of Trade. Would that such a feeling existed here. In Digby there seems to be a sad lack of public spirit and co-operation. The Board of Trade and Council, instead of co-operating, seem to regard each other, as the Good Book says, as "stones of stumbling and subjects of offense continually." If Digby is to progress some effort must be made to develop a spirit of co-operation between the various organizations. In doing this, however, it must be remembered that there is a vast difference in "co-operation" and unnecessary interference, no matter how well intentioned, in the well organized project or smoothly running affairs of any town organization. There are those who would do well to bear this in mind.

An appeal was made on Sunday by the Red Cross for additional volunteers to do sewing and knitting for war relief purposes. It is hoped the response will be large. There is a great need for this work, a need that must be met. Digby should try to establish herself as a "100%" these days there is scarcely one in a thousand who has the slightest idea of how a newspaper is produced. Our plant is not a large one, but we feel you will find it interesting and worth your inspection.

town, every resident, young and old doing his or her utmost to assist the war effort by all the means at their disposal.

Those who attended the Re-consecration services on Sunday must have been deeply moved by the beauty and dignity of the service. What a splendid appearance the body of troops made! There is no doubt that "There'll Always be an England" after seeing these fine young lads. Every one in Digby wishes them God speed as they leave us after a far too brief visit.

At last the town is "getting on to itself" in the matter of road construction. In the past week great work has been done on St. Mary's Street in the South end. It is hoped the good work will be continued, then perhaps we won't have the annual "washouts" that are so costly.

From last week's COURIER it appears that the rivalry between Digby and Annapolis is going to be resumed. This rivalry had rather lapsed in late years since the hockey team has been disbanded. Friendly rivalry between towns is rather a good thing for it keeps the towns right on their mettle. Come on Digby, let's show Annapolis what we're made of!

A closing remark—Man is supposed to be the noblest work of God, but many of our girls think the job can be improved by the addition of a uniform.

Social Evening At Doucetteville

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Robichaud, on Thursday, Sept. 11, the guest of honour being Mrs. Robichaud's youngest brother, Benjamin Amero, on the occasion of the latter's birthday. Mr. Amero is a resident of Providence, R. I., and has been visiting friends and relatives at Doucetteville for the past month. Among those present were four of his sisters and three brothers, also his aged father, Freeman Amero.

Games were played and refreshments served.

The Todd-Bath Iron Shipbuilding Corporation at South Portland, Me., has thirty steam cargo vessels, 416 feet in length and 6,800 tons each for the U. S. Maritime Commission under construction.

Appreciate Kindness

To the Editor of the Courier.
Sir:—Would you, through the medium of your paper please convey the grateful thanks of troops who have thoroughly enjoyed themselves here and have most pleasant memories of the wonderful kindness shown them by the people of Digby, especially the folks who entertained and found homes for the boys during their stay here, also to lots of the tradespeople and shop-keepers who gave freely of their goods and service to the troops during that time, also for the wonderful runs out into the country and woods enabling we chaps to see the beauty and glorious scenery of which abound so near to what I think is one of the most pretty resorts in Canada the town of Digby.

Thanking you in anticipation, I am,

Yours truly,
Private E. Seaton.

The deceased had been in failing health for several years, with heart trouble, and during his last illness endured great suffering. He leaves to mourn his wife, formerly Eugenie Belle Cosman, of Riverdale; a daughter, Muriel, at home; three sons, Harold, of Wolfville; Curtis, of Northbridge, Mass.; and Welcome, of Whitinsville, Mass.; also two sisters, Nettie (Mrs. Young) of Johnston of Milton, in the Disciple Church at South Range, of which Mr. Marshall was a life-long member. Hymns sung were: "When the Mists Have Cleared Away", "Meet Me There", and "Abide With Me". and a solo "Does Jesus Care" was rendered by Rev. Mr. Johnston. Interment was in South Range Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Miller, Carleton, Yarmouth County, are on a motor trip to Upper Canadian cities, leaving last week by way of Digby and Saint John. They were accompanied by their daughters Anna and Gertrude. Miss Anna will remain in Montreal where she will enter McGill Medical College after a pre-medical degree from Acadia University.

A NEW HYDRO SERVICE

Which means progress and efficiency have been brought to another home and farm. Is your home the next to receive these benefits?

Farmers are learning their chores are made easier and their profits greater when they farm by electricity. Surveys show the number of farmers using electricity has increased tremendously during the past ten years. This increase in electrification means one thing—the farmer is beginning to realize the importance of this utility on his farm.

Consider the many ways in which electricity can help your farm. Milking, feed grinding, water pumping, lighting all of your inside work. In the home electric refrigeration and correct lighting safeguard your family's health. Washers, sewing machines and kitchen tools lighten your wife's work. Make full use of this economical and obedient servant.

Perhaps you already have electricity installed. If so, let us show you how you can put it to more profitable use... in any event, call us to-day, and we will send a man around to-morrow.

BRITISH KEEP SMILING

(By Margaret Butcher)

Here is another of those wonderfully bright and cheery letters from Margaret Butcher, English novelist, who gives us an intimate glimpse into the way in which the ordinary, everyday folks of the Old Land are standing up to the war. There is nothing better coming out of England than those letters of Miss Butcher's which are written specially for the Courier and the Midland (Ont.) Free Press-Herald.

Reading, England—Here is the rain—at last; and on Sunday we were all tremendously excited about it, after weeks of tremendously hot, dry weather. We all talked about rain—and hardly a word about the war. It just goes to show what happens when one becomes allotment-minded. Till now I have always thought of rain as just something that has to happen sometimes, but is principally conspicuous for leaking through ceilings and shoes: a tiresome manifestation altogether. But not now. Since this started the edibles have actually beaten the weeds to it—a thing I should hardly have thought possible a fortnight ago!

Only one thing is disappointing about it: there is no present need to use our Musical Tank, which is a pity. The Tank added much to the gaiety of nations—and we can do with a bit of that nowadays.

The first time I saw it I gave way to hysteria, and the symptoms recurred whenever it reappeared. I heard — on that opening occasion—a loud rattling noise which was exceedingly puzzling; and one feels a trifle jumpy, in these times, about loud rattling noises. I looked out of the window and there, trundling conspicuously down the road, was the Gardening Partner, propelling the Tank before them. Its component parts are interesting, consisting, as they do, of (a) a ten-gallon petrol tin salvaged from the local dump; (b) a pair of moirbund perambulator wheels; (c) several yards of assorted rope, string and wire; (d) a pair of handles which—owing to the timber shortage—resembles nothing so much as a couple of Harry Lauders walking sticks; (e) a pendant watering can and attached garden fork, and (f) a varied selection of nuts, bolts, screws and unspecified gadgets. And behind it all the Gardening Partner wearing a lamentable hat, the world's worst shirt, coat and pants and a furtively tickled grin.

It Did Its Job

Nevertheless, the Tank did its job. With every dusk it came along to the waterless allotment and justified its remarkable existence; and who can ask more? This shortage of materials has certainly pepped up loud ingenuity. When all this is over the Musical Tank should take its place among our honored relics. Even before it started it had the makings of a museum piece.

There are other things happening, too. The other morning as I pattered along to the bus I observed two of a swanky localities most uppity residents, in their shirt sleeves, busy cutting the hedge at the side of the road—and making a fair job at it. Indeed, I'm inclined to suspect them of private hedge-trimming in less communal days. Unlikely folk, in fact, are to be met doing all manner of unlikely things. Most of us, for instance, now go about without stockings; and our underpinnings are no longer the pallid, unclad-looking affairs they once were.

Leather Patches

Nobody minds wearing clothing that is a bit shabby. Men who used to be dandies are to be seen in coats with leather binding around the cuffs, and even leather patches at the elbows. And it's a very curious thing, but in my office—where one might have expected to find young persons almost exclusively interested in clothes—I have not heard one single moan about the new clothes coupon system. We shall manage. Folk still look neat, and it's a careful, satisfying sort of neatness. Hats may still be bought without coupons, but many women and girls have given up wearing hats—in this part of the world, at least. Instead, lots of them have broken out in new places and one is a trifle startled to see parti-colored hair; a bright golden streak in the front. I suppose it is the feminine wish for a bit of variety, though it isn't always as successful as the wearer (doubtless) imagines it to be. But what matter as long as it feels dressy? There are few things more cheering than that dressy feeling, after all; and—bless their little hearts—they deserve a spot of fun.

People, in this uncertain lull, are popping back to bombed areas for week-ends. You can't stop them, as Churchill says. They go off to London or Portsmouth as joyously as if they were bound for the most peaceful spot on earth. They have to sleep in a shelter; there may be no gas for the time being, but what do they care? They're going home; and home is home even with no window-glass and a hole in the roof. Even with the prospect of more bother when they get there. One might fancy that nothing would persuade them to put nose in the place again, after some of their experiences, but—as somebody predicted months ago—they now look on the blitz as "one of those things".

Not a Sweet Song

After all, an evacuee's life isn't one long, sweet song. It's no joke, often enough, to live in somebody's else's house; especially when the householder hasn't had her imagination livened up by a personal dose of blitzing. We're still human.

I heard of one landlady last week, who must be moving now in a state of pained and cautious wonder since her evacuee observed to her: "Well, I'm going back to London in a fortnight, and the night before I go... you just look out for yourself!" I shall await developments with considerable interest. Maybe these Londoners can give as well as 'take it'.

One woman said to me: "It's quite different, you know, where the folks have had a really bad time. Their kindness is simply amazing." Speaking for myself, I have found kindness everywhere, so I've no personal complaint. And it's not very difficult to realize how trying it must be, at moments, to have a stranger in the kitchen. The kitchen is the Supreme Test—as every woman knows. If you can stand somebody else washing dishes at your sink and cooking at your stove—usually when you want to do a bit of washing and cooking yourself—you can stand practically anything.

Fire Watching Troubles

We have our trials and another friend has just been confiding to me her particular fire-watching trouble. She was bombed out of her home, but we don't hear a lot about that. The worry of the moment is the elderly gentleman with whom she frequently shares fire-watching duty. He has travelled extensively, that elderly gentleman, and in real life I fancy he must occupy the position of Club Bore, for she complains that he stands in the doorway for interminable periods—neither coming nor going, and how maddening that can be!—and relates his various adventures at great length and with a wealth of detail. Plans may be buzzing overhead, but he is still in Poona or Ladysmith or somewhere equally irrelevant. I met her the other morning, looking haggard and trotting around the block for a breath of air after her night on duty. "Had a bad time last night?" I asked.

"Awful!" she answered. "But there wasn't a local raid," I objected. "What happened?"

"Old G. hung round me for hours," she moaned, "talking about camels. Of all things—camels. It's more than I can bear!"

She is not what you would call a fussy woman, either. That time when she emerged from the London shelter to find her home in ruins she took it as philosophically as one may. "But I look terrible," she said. "It was pouring with rain and my hair was like nothing on earth. We were going off by train to some friends—we had to find a home somewhere—and I said to the family, 'Bombs or no bombs, you'll have to wait till I'm ready.' And I went to the nearest hairdresser's and had nine pennyworth of curls. After that I felt better."

But alas! The camels got her down, or soul.

It Has Its Points

On our office wall hangs a little notice which may be of interest, if you haven't already seen it. I have no idea who perpetrated it, but it has its points. It has helped to brighten many a fire-watcher's life. I only wish the Censor (a kindly creature, admittedly, but with limitations) would allow me to illustrate it for you; but he won't, so you must supply your own mental picture. Here it is:

Equipment for Fire-Watchers

1. Belt to go around waist with ten hooks to support six full sandbags and four buckets of water.
2. One axe stuck in belt.
3. One stirrup-pump to be carried over left shoulder.
4. One whistle carried in mouth.
5. One extending ladder to be carried over left shoulder.
6. One long-handled shovel to be tucked under right arm.
7. Two wet blankets to be carried on head.
8. One tin hat with turned-up brim to carry spare water.
9. Spare sand to be carried in all pockets.
10. One box of matches to light any incendiary that fails to ignite.

All I can tell you about this masterpiece is that it came originally from London—and I think that speaks for itself.

More Than Courage

What brave, cheery people they are! Yet I have thought, just lately that perhaps we may be overaccenting the bravery. It's there; no need to worry about that. However, all this takes something more than courage, so why not face it? There was a time when bravery won wars, but it isn't so any more. Bravery oils the machinery—but you've got to have the machinery. Bravery alone isn't much use against a machinegun; you've got to have a gun as good as the other fellows', and better if you can get it. In other words, this is a business of hard work and hard cash. Scientific investigation, shipping, armaments: it's all a question of dollars. So what does it matter if we're taxed up to the eyebrows, if we're shabby, a little bored by the sameness of our rations, if we can't rush about in cars and go here and there for our holidays.

Good For One Purpose

Money isn't much use now except for the one purpose. We can't even make a guess at what it will be worth when all this is over. The one thing we do know is how useful it can be at the moment. I think every sane, logical, decent citizen sees it that way. It's as near a "cert" as anything can be; the folk who are trying to profiteer, the few who are sitting on their cash—well, they're just taking a crazy chance, in my opinion. I'm no financial genius; I have not much money in the world, but I've put what I have into War Savings because it seems the best prospect of still having a bit to go on with when the war is over; and what's the good of it, anyhow, until that happens? So roll on the day.

How are things going with you folk over there? I expect that, like us, you are getting up to all sorts of dodges to get money out of all sorts of pockets; but once it strikes one that it all takes cash as well as courage... well, the pockets open up all right. You'll see. There are thousands of us who wouldn't know one end of a machine-gun from the other; there are crowds of us who couldn't even lift a heavy sandbag; hundreds more who suspect (either rightly or wrongly) that we'd have our work cut out to stand up to a real blitz. But there aren't many of us who haven't got a spare dollar we can hand over. More power to your elbows!

Alarms Prepared By Britain's Clockmakers

British clockmakers are the latest witnesses against Nazi sea claims. With a loss as low as from one-half to two per cent, they are continuing to send their clocks to Canada, Australia, India, South Africa and the South American Republics. They are shipping to-day half as many again as they were before the war. At first that was because the ocean lanes are barred to Germany, but now Britain is not only holding these new markets but increasing them on merit. Such at the moment is the flood of orders from overseas that her clockmakers are booked right into 1942; some of them are indeed doing export business only, so big is the demand.

And they are adapting themselves readily to their new customers. Clocks for hot countries no longer go in wooden mountings but in plastics to resist the attacks of insects. Another line is in stainless steel with tile face, enamelled by hand. India is taking wall clocks, electric and spring, in large quantities. Canada and Australia are big buyers of these and of travellers' clocks in leather cases.

Since the days of Tompion, who developed the craftsmanship of clockmaking to such perfection that to-day specimens of his workmanship have fetched as much as £4,000, and Harrison, the inventor of the chronometer, Britain has been known for design and workmanship wherever clocks tick. It was cheapness that let Germany in, and here Britain is now working out a campaign to sell cheap

BETTER CHANCES NOW TO LIVE TO BE 100

All of us are interested in long life, and many are the recipes for it. A daily pint of beer—no beer—smoking—no smoking—hefty beefsteaks—no meat—every centenarian has a different tale to tell. There is, however, just one point on which all doctors agree—that no man or woman ever reached extreme old age without a healthy colon.

It is impossible to have a healthy colon if you are the victim of constipation. Waste matter stagnating in the intestines sets up toxic poisons, which seep into your bloodstream, and cause lingering ill-health. The main cause of constipation is lack of moisture in your large bowel. Relief comes only when that moisture can be induced to return.

What Kruschen does

Kruschen contains several mineral salts, which are blended in exactly the right proportion, to bring back moisture to the large bowel. They stimulate the organs of evacuation to smooth, gentle action. At the same time, Kruschen has a diuretic action which helps to flush your kidneys and liver, and assists in ridding your bloodstream of the poisons which previous constipation left behind.

Naturally, the amount of Kruschen required to clear up a stubborn case of constipation depends on the individual. But once health and spirits have been regained, the dose should be reduced to just enough to cover a dime, first thing every morning.

You can buy Kruschen from any drug store—for 25c and 75c. Give it a trial. Start today.

Air Power vs. Sea Power in the Far East

Last winter Japan was moving her naval and air forces to bases in Indo-China and nearby Hainan Island, pushing her influence in Thailand and preparing, it seemed, for an immediate blow at British and Dutch possessions in South-East Asia. So critical did the situation seem that British and Australian reinforcements were rushed to Singapore and American troops and planes to the Philippines. But Japan did not seize her opportunity to strike, and even withdrew her naval and other forces from southern Indo-China. During the past several months there have been only verbal threats from Tokyo, combined with occasional hints that Japan might consider coming to terms with the United States. This hesitation forms one of the many enigmas of the present situation.

One important reason may be that the strengthening of British, Dutch and American forces in the Far East has made an easy victory impossible. Yet the combined naval strength of these three powers in Far Eastern waters is no match for the Japanese navy. The main American fleet is, of course, stationed at Hawaii, but the Japanese might reasonably assume that it would not be risked farther east while the battle of the Atlantic is in so crucial a state. There have been recent unconfirmed reports that certain units of the United States fleet were being shifted from Hawaii to the Atlantic where the small Atlantic fleet is being faced with greatly expanded duties of patrol.

Certain authorities are offering another explanation. They point to what they consider a shift in the whole balance of power in the Far East because of British-Dutch-American air superiority. The British, realizing that they cannot spare important units of the fleet for Far Eastern duties, have significantly broken precedents by placing an Air Chief Marshall, Sir Robert Brooks Popham, in charge of the defence of the Far East. The Dutch have boldly expanded their plans of defence. Originally they felt that they could defend only the important islands of Java and Sumatra in the East Indies, but now they announce that they will defend even the remotest islands in the group. American bombers have been flying to the Philippines, to Malaya and to the Dutch Indies. Pan-American Airways has recently established passenger service from the United States to Singapore. The number of planes now available to the three powers has been placed at 2,000, most of which would be modern. An important advantage also is the fact that if Japan moved against Singapore or Dutch Islands her naval expedition would be operating in territory surrounded by enemy air bases.

What of Japanese air strength? The Japanese air force has had almost no experience against modern defences, her successes in China having been achieved against undefended places and no aerial resistance. Japan's current output of military airplanes of all types, including training planes, has been estimated at 250 per month—an amount not equal to the production of Canada and Australia. As late as 1939 the Japanese were using Italian airplanes of a type proved obsolete in the Mediterranean. No doubt German collaboration since has meant a considerable improvement in the planes and the training of aviators. But Japanese industry is incapable of maintaining an aircraft production could begin to compare with that of the United States or the British Empire. In 1940 her supply of new machine tools amounted to less than one tenth the present American annual supply, and she is now cut off from American supply of these essentials to modern aircraft production. Japanese inability to secure aviation gasoline from the Dutch Indies or in large quantities from the United States should hamper her aerial activity. Recently a Japanese naval spokesman asserted that the Japanese navy had 4,000 warplanes, but if the country's annual output is 3,000, one might assume that a large part of this force is obsolete. Whether the Russians have as yet been willing to allow passage of German planes to Japan is questionable, as the Russians count on their air strength at Vladivostok as their chief weapon against Japan.

It would be unwise to assume that increased aerial strength at Singapore and elsewhere had caused Japan to forego all her dreams of a "New Order in East Asia" while her large navy still remains untried in strength. She may simply be holding off in hope of favorable developments in Europe, or she may be preparing for the new threat by re-arming her ships against air attack. Nevertheless, the possibility of building up joint British and American air strength in the Far East to such a point that the threat of the Japanese navy might be somewhat nullified would have a very great influence on the balance of power throughout the world.

Presidents' Foot- shapes in a Lon- don Basement

Wooden models of the feet of many of the most prominent citizens of the British Empire lie in a London basement as yet unharmed by Nazi raids. Bombs have fallen all around, but these 20,000 boot and shoe lasts, from which footwear continues to be shipped to the world beyond Europe, remain a unique library of the feet of the great and wealthy.

The craftsmen who have built up this collection of footshapes, founded exactly 150 years ago, have been sending their representatives overseas since 1899. Almost every year since then these pioneering bootmakers have visited the United States and studied the footwear idiosyncrasies of three Presidents, as well as of such noted characters as the late Price Collier, Payne Whitney, August Belmont, Gouverneur Morris (who referred to the makers in his writings) John Drew and the Barrymores, Foxhall Keene, Governor Beechman, General Pershing, Clarence Moore, Jay Gould, General Andre Brewster and many others. Every graduate from West Point during the last 20 years has been interviewed for the supply of his boots.

Although Kings, Princes and Presidents do visit headquarters, many clients have never even seen England. They rely upon the reputation for workmanship and the good opinion of the great. One single order from an Indian prince was for 167 pairs of boots and shoes, each pair different and provided with a leather box. The invoice was just sent along in the usual way.

Creamery Butter Production

An increase of over 11 per cent in the production of creamery butter in the province was recorded in August, as compared with August of last year, according to the monthly report of W. J. Bird, dairy superintendent, of the province. Total production was 742,368 lbs. in August against 665,159 lbs. in August, 1940. Total production to date during this year has been 4,657,578 lbs. compared with 4,377,588 lbs. to Sept. 1st, last year, an increase of 6.4 per cent. Average Montreal wholesale price during August was 36.4 cents, compared with 22.1 cents lb. in August last year.

Poultry Pool Marketing Grows

To Sept. 10, of this year 12 poultry marketing pools had been held at various points in the province, in which a total of about 44,000 lbs. of poultry, including chicken, capon and fowl, had been marketed. Of capon there has been 10,000 lbs., of chicken 16,000 lbs., and of fowl about 18,000. This marks a considerable increase in volume over the same period of last year. Poultry marketing pools will be the order of the day now until the Christmas season, and it is expected that the total volume of 200,000 lbs. of dressed poultry marketed through co-operative pools and plants last year will be considerably exceeded this year. However, the demand is keen and a ready market will be available for all that is produced, according to present indications.

Fifteen Years Later

During the organization of boys' and girls' clubs many people give little thought to the development of leadership amongst the members. Probably a glance at the records of the old Riverside Guernsey Club of Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, which flourished fifteen years ago, might be of interest. There were thirteen members in the original club. Today of these not on active service all except three are either on farms of their own or working in co-operation with their parents. One of these was drowned, one not on a farm is an agricultural representative, and the third is trucking farm produce.

Two members of the club won first place in cattle judging at the Royal Winter Fair; today one is a Major and the other a Captain in the army. Two other members of the thirteen are in the army, one as a Lieutenant Instructor, the other a Quartermaster Sergeant. Three former members are managers of co-operative apple warehouses, two secretaries of agricultural societies. One has been president of the Annapolis County Exhibition, while another has been president of the Annapolis County Farmers' Association. One is a dominion department of agriculture fruit inspector.

It would appear that clubs are excellent for developing leadership and an interest in agriculture.

Orders for Lime

The Eastern Lime Company, Windsor, shipped out 252 tons during the month of August. The quarries at Admiral Rock, Pugwash and Churchville are all moving considerable quantities.

Much Fall Plowing Done

Due to the wet season and excellent condition of the soil for plowing, also the urge for increased production, a large amount of fall plowing has been done; in fact there is more land turned over at this date this season than for many years. This early plowing will tend to develop fall application of lime. Many will endeavor to get their orders in for shipment previous to October 6, when the price will go back to $1.50 per ton. The reduction during the summer months has had the very definite effect of stepping up sales during this period.

Maritime Hay for Newfoundland

Notice comes from the agricultural supplies board at Ottawa that it will now be necessary to have an export license for the export of hay out of Canada. However, it is stated by Dr. A. M. Shaw, chairman of the agricultural supplies board that it is the intention of the federal department of agriculture to see that as far as possible all orders from Newfoundland for livestock feeds be filled. At the same time, it is the opinion of the department and of the supplies board that supplies of hay for Newfoundland might be secured this year in the Maritime Provinces where hay is relatively plentiful. No permits for export of hay from Ontario and Quebec are being issued at present. Permits for export of hay to Newfoundland from the Maritimes will, however, be recommended by the federal department of agriculture.

Dairy Cattle Prices

Reports of sales of dairy cattle during August show that in Yarmouth County sales of 68 grade Jersey and Guernsey cows to Massachusetts buyers brought an average of $85, and five purebred Guernsey cows brought an average of $130.

From Colchester County, 25 Holstein and Guernsey grades of good quality brought $65 to $85. There were also sales of two grade Ayrshires to Newfoundland at $75 and $85, and a purebred Holstein cow to Maine for $100.

In Pictou County sales of purebreds to New Brunswick brought prices of $75 to $125, and grade cows from $45 to $65.

Information from Ontario is that Holstein heifers have averaged from $125 to $150 with some tops at $170. Grade cows were $80 to $110. In Quebec Ayrshire grades were running from $80 to $110, purebreds $125 to $200.

Dairymen Donate to Queen's Fund

Dairymen of Nova Scotia have contributed a total of over $5,000 to the Queen's fund, made up mostly of $1 contributions from 5,000 dairymen and creamery employees, the fund being handled through the creameries of the province.

Women's Institute Annual Convention

The annual convention of the Nova Scotia Women's Institutes will be held in Halifax November 5 and 6, states Miss Helen Macdougall, superintendent of Institutes. Special features are being arranged for the Convention and it is hoped to have an outstanding speaker for the Convention as has been the case in recent years.

"Why is the little fellow crying?"

Because he can't have a holiday."

"Why can't he have a holiday?"

"Because he don't go to school yet."

"Don't you wish we could shorten the war?"

He: "Well, in a way we can, you know."

She: "But, George, we're not trained to do anything..."

He: "Training doesn't matter for what I'm thinking about. I was wondering whether we couldn't put more of our income into War Savings Certificates."

She: "And why not? We might have to go without one or two pet luxuries—but wouldn't it be worth it to bring back peace again?"

He: "And won't we be glad of the money—and the interest it will have earned—in a world without war restrictions!"

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Poland's Secret Presses

(By Czeslaw Poznanski)

One of the first things the Nazis suppressed in Poland was the Press. Prewar Poland had 2,200 periodical publications, among them 190 daily papers. To-day, in German-occupied Poland, there are only sixteen publications in the Polish language and they are all published by the Nazis. But alongside this Nazi controlled Press there is a network of illegal publications, a network amazing in its richness.

The full number of these illegal publications is not known, but it is probably not less than twenty-eight, and their range is extremely wide.

First of all there are the daily papers; mimeo-typed sheets which give the foreign news on the basis of the B.B.C. broadcasts—one must remember that the Poles had to surrender all their wireless sets—and inside information from Poland.

Then come the weeklies, normally printed. They contain precious inside information from Poland, foreign news, editorials. The standard of these editorials is unusually high. They deal not only with the analysis of the present situation, but also with the construction of the future. A regular feature of these weeklies is the analysis of important articles in the British Press. Some of these papers are illustrated, so that one may find in one of them, say, a photograph of Winston

Rub Out Aches with MINARD'S LINIMENT

Churchill and General Sikorski inspecting the Polish Army.

There exist also monthly and quarterly reviews which contain synthetic analyses of the war situation. These reviews carry as many as thirty-two pages.

Special papers are produced for the peasants, for the youth, for the children. There is even a humorous paper, with anti-German cartoons and jokes. And in the Warsaw ghetto there is a Yiddish paper.

Scores of thousands of copies are thus issued, and it can be asserted that this illegal press reaches practically the entire population. Proof of this statement is provided by the fact that the whole population obeyed the order, conveyed by the papers on September 1, 1940, to stay indoors during the afternoon. It was also by means of the papers that the Polish petty officers were instructed, in order to avoid repression, to take the oath demanded by the German authorities.

Apart from these regular publications there are also occasional leaflets, short pamphlets and quite longish publications, one of which deals with the post-war reconstruction of Europe.

All these publications entail printing presses—probably concealed in the woods of Poland—well over a hundred editors and contributors, and hundreds of thousands of readers. Every person involved risks his life, for death is the penalty not only for working on an illegal paper, but even for reading it.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, allows proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headache, backache, dizzy, dragged out all the time.

For over 35 years thousands have won prompt relief from these miseries—with Fruit-A-Tives. So can you now. Try Fruit-A-Tives—you'll be simply delighted how quickly you'll feel like a new person, happy and well again. 25c, 50c.

Angler (describing a catch)—The trout was this long—I tell you I never saw such a fish!

Listener—No, I don't suppose you did.

Whether fish, being aquatic animals, have the sensibility of land animals, or have the apparent lack of feeling of the plants, is a matter of controversy, says a fishing trade publicity. Legislation seems to incline to the latter view, though the laws lack of emphasis on protection against the abuse of fish.

Friends of these Bear River boys will be interested to know of the following incident, which occurred in England.—The Digby COURIER is sent regularly to Cereno Purdy, who, of course, eagerly scans the Bear River page for news of home, and home folks. While waiting for his bath, reading the COURIER, he saw that Edward MacDormand, of the R.C.A.M.C., was home for the week end on leave. Cereno's thoughts were filled with the ideas of the good time Edward would have at home,—and throwing down the paper, he went inside the building. What was his surprise on coming out to find "someone" reading his paper—and when the paper was put down, his surprise and delight knew no bounds—for there, with the COURIER in one hand, the other outstretched in greeting, was none other than Edward MacDormand, recently arrived from Canada, and on leave to see his old school chum, Cereno.

Clergyman's Wife "At Home"

On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. James Brooks, wife of the recently inducted pastor of the Bear River United Church of Canada, was "at home" for the first time since coming from their former home in the West. Mrs. L. J. Lovett assisted in receiving, and a large number of town ladies called during the afternoon. Autumn flowers decorated the living rooms, and the prettily appointed refreshment table in the dining room was presided over the first hour, by Mrs. Otis Rice, the second, by Mrs. Helen Burrage, the last, by Mrs. Milton Morgan, with the following ladies as assistants: Mrs. C. V. Snow, Mrs. C. B. LeCrow, Mrs. Lloyd Sanford, Miss June Schmidt, and Mrs. H. Cress.

Ernest Davis, of Rose Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meloure Hudson of Victoria Beach, and Eldon Carman Banks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Banks, Bear River. The bride was attired in an ice blue travelling suit was unattended. After the ceremony the bride and groom left on a wedding trip through the Annapolis Valley, returning to Bear River where they will reside.

Bear River Women's Institute

The Bear River Women's Institute held its first autumn meeting on Monday afternoon, Sept. 8th, the President, Mrs. Lovett, presiding.

As this was the first meeting since June, a number of business matters accumulated through the summer, were dealt with by the members. The Hospital Committee reported proceeds (net) of $50.65 from the Bear River Delicatessen Booth conducted at the Digby Hospital Fair in August, and the committee in charge wish to thank the women of the town who so generously responded to solicitations for food. The matter of the Institute Library was discussed, and a committee appointed, Mrs. Romans, convener; Mrs. L. V. Harris, Mrs. Campbell and Miss B. Anthony, to bring in a report at the October meeting. Mrs. W. Morine, convener, and other members of the Agricultural Committee, by vote of the meeting, decided to carry on a Delicatessen Booth at the Digby County Agricultural Exhibition, Bear River, on Sept. 23rd, and 24th, proceeds for the local Red Cross. Members of the Institute alone, are to be solicited for food contributions.

The meeting voted that letters of condolence be sent to Mrs. Harry Harris and C. V. Snow, Institute Auditor, who have been recently bereaved by loss of near relatives.

At close of business, a very successful Red Cross silver tea was served to the large number of members and guests attending, the hostesses for the afternoon being Mrs. W. M. Romans, Mrs. W. Morine, Mrs. Lovett. The proceeds, $7.00, will go to local Red Cross funds.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF DR. ARCHIBALD

The funeral services for Dr. C. C. Archibald, Truro, widely known physician throughout the Maritimes, who died in Montreal Hospital on Saturday, Sept. 6th, were held on Tuesday, afternoon, Sept. 9th, at the First United Church, in Truro, Rev. Mr. Mathews, officiating. Rev. George Christie, formerly of Halifax, and now of Prince Edward Island, offered prayer. The large church was filled with friends and relatives of the late doctor. The many floral offerings paid eloquent tribute to the high esteem in which Dr. Archibald was held. Mr. Baker presided at the organ. Masonic rites were performed at the graveside in the Truro cemetery.

NATURE

Nature in Bear River certainly knows her onions! or should we say squash? as a green hubbard grown on the farm of H. W. Purdy, is marked with a perfect "V-41". This squash is now on exhibit at the Bear River Trading Co. store, and at 5 cents a "look" is realizing a substantial sum for the Queen's Fund.

"Loyal Workers" Stage Dinner

An organization of Bear River women, "The Loyal Workers", gave a very fine dinner on Tuesday evening, the proceeds amounting to $21.75. These ladies have been raising funds since the commencement of war, to send comforts to our local boys who are overseas. The dinner proceeds will be used for Christmas boxes, and if a balance over these, it will be donated to the Queen's Fund.

"Is it true, Miss Lollop, that you're going to be married after Christmas?"

AROUND THE COUNTY

Weekly notes on various matters, conducted by Rev. A. S. Hart.

"Reconsecration" was an unforgettable experience for those who were privileged to make their pledge in the presence of the veterans of the last war, the veterans and soldiers of this war and those who are the promise of hope for the next generation.

Almost overnight the Dominion has awakened to the deeper spiritual issues of the war and many of us who were at first apathetic to the idea of another "drive" have been pleasantly surprised by the remarkable pronouncements made from all quarters regarding the future. Furthermore and of the greatest importance is the continued expression of public opinion on this very point. "Sail on O Ship of State" we say after the momentous week, "but for heaven's sake don't wreck the ship on the rocks of Status Quo."

Over on the Island a few weeks ago (there is only one Island!) we were delighted to find a Farmer's Market. The "we" in this case includes the other half who has to do the shopping. Now I have seen lots of places labelled "Farmer's Market" but this was the first real one. The farmers actually took their produce to the covered market twice weekly, as did also fishermen, and sold it. It was reasonable in price, freshly picked and of the best quality.

Surely Digby has enough population and floating shopping population to sponsor a wholesale and retail farmers' market. There are lots of sites and the town as a whole would benefit.

We owe a deep debt of gratitude to the people of Bear River for maintaining in good years and bad the County exhibition. I remember how last year it was held in the balance until the last possible moment and then they courageously plunged into preparations knowing the risks involved. This year it is up to the county as a whole to support them to the utmost. Bear River folks are renowned not only as banner farmers but as kindly hospitable people with a great deal of vitality. It's a free and easy sort of day. You meet lots and lots of people you know and in these days you have a chance to show your appreciation of the farmers who receive no war bonus and who from the days of Adam have wrested a living from the soil by the sweat of the brow for little thanks and less cash.

We cannot fight a war without food and the humble farmer who tills and sows and reaps contributes to the effort in the same way as those who watch machinery or sail in ships. His problems have always been regarded as his own, but, nevertheless, we drag him in to solve and to pay for the many industrial problems that have arisen in recent years. And we want the children at Bear River this year on the second day. Hundreds of them rallying together and enjoying the day's outing and letting them see what can be done with land and cattle. The Bear River people are expecting you—don't let them down.

Recently a very interesting case came to light regarding prisoners of war. Mrs. Boyd Mullen, who lives in Weymouth North, had sent a pair of socks and enclosed a slip with her name and address. She received a communication from (presumably) a Polish prisoner of war who thanked her for the gift and asked for some cigarettes. Mrs. Mullen, knowing that the International Red Cross handled prisoners' parcels promptly made up a parcel and sent it through them. But it was of no avail. None but the next of kin may send a parcel and then only once in three months! There is one solution, and that is that the Government have given permission for certain firms dealing in tobacco, books, games and sports equipment to despatch such articles direct to enemy countries. Unfortunately on list of dealers is not published, but I expect the Red Cross would supply the information on request.

This then is the only way of helping in kind, letters of course may be written.

Enclosing slips in socks reminds one of the egg collection we had in England during the last war, for the wounded soldiers. The girls in our village who thought it the height of romance to receive a letter from a wounded Tommy used to write name and address on the egg and sometimes this rhyme: "If you're single—send a line
If you're married—never mind."

This week in view of the sacredness of the time I would prefer to write of a devotional book that has come my way. "The Church to Come" by the Swiss writer, Walter Luthi. It is "a voice from the cauldron of Central Europe, faithfully expounding the Book of Daniel in its stark modernity." The Book of Daniel has long been the stock in trade of numerologists who work out signs of the times and dates which have a habit of being postponed. But Luthi does not work on those lines. He takes the story and then shows how it is paralleled by modern conditions. Speaking of the dictators of the ancient world in Daniel's vision the author says: "These Kings and their peoples rise and fall like the waves of a stream. As the waves chase each other, so the one chases the other. And as one wave is like the others, so they are all alike. Money - Violence - Cunning: this is the old, original and yet the new and up-to-date song, that here is sung in a deathly monotone." Which means that the Book of Daniel is right in its modern implications and a certain modern prophetess, Anne Morrow Lindbergh, decidedly wrong. "The Wave of the Future," according to Mrs. Lindbergh, is a kindly gentle sort of dictatorship in a sea where the waves are Faith, Hope and Charity. But we know, and the people of Central Europe will know one day before long, that these waves are the same old Cunning - Violence - Greed: and the Fuehrer, like old King Canute, will have to move from his throne or be engulfed.

A thought provoking book with no attempt at Theology.

In answer to the appeal of the Nova Scotia Red Cross for money to defray cost of sending 40,000 lbs. of apple jelly overseas to civilian victims of war, the Digby Red Cross Society, at its monthly meeting last week, voted the sum of $40 for this purpose. It was decided to ask the Scouts to look after the collection of aluminum. Monetary donations were received as follows:

Digby County Exhibition Going Strong

It is safe to say that the exhibits of farm produce at the Digby County Exhibition, which opened yesterday at Bear River, are among the best in the history of the exhibition, and take second place to none that have been shown in the province.

The vegetable exhibit is perhaps one of the outstanding features of this year's show, and far superior to like exhibits shown at Bear River in recent years, and if the display is typical of Digby County crops this fall, local farmers have certainly done their best.

Although Digby County is outside the Annapolis Valley fruit belt, the fruit exhibits, although small, were remarkably good, and indicated fruit farming is becoming a major industry among the farmers of this section.

School exhibits, displayed on the upper floor of the exhibition building, were not as numerous as last year, but far better in quality. Also, more schools of the county were represented in this year's exhibits.

Household arts were also displayed on the same floor; exquisite needle work and knitted articles were much in evidence. When visiting the exhibition the press was unable to view all the exhibits of tempting jams, jellies, preserves and home cooking, as this section was roped off and in the hands of the judges.

The Bear River Women's Institute conducted their usual attractive booth on this floor, and were doing a fine chore at raising funds for the Red Cross by the sale of home cooking and other items.

The flower show was an exhibition in itself; the long table, filled with gorgeous fall flowers was a sight that is not easily forgotten.

Outside the ox-pulls were in progress yesterday afternoon.

F. H. BEATTIE IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

F. H. Beattie, of the Bridgetown Monitor, was elected president of the Nova Scotia Weekly Newspapers' Association at the annual meeting of the organization held on Friday and Saturday of last week in the Nova Scotian Hotel in Halifax.

Other officers elected were: Vice-President—W. L. Hatfield, Berwick.

Executive—F. J. MacPherson, Bridgewater; G. Cecil Day, Liverpool; and V. Merchant, Oxford.

Deciding upon several new policies, the weekly newspapermen agreed to increase the advertising rates in their papers in view of the "increased costs of publishing resulting from a general increase in wages and living costs, etc."

They also decided to admit in future as members, publishers of daily newspapers who also publish a weekly edition.

Votes of appreciation were given to Ralph Marvin and Major W. C. Borrett, who give weekly comments over CHNS and CBA on the weekly newspapers. Appreciation was also voted H. B. Jefferson, Chief Maritime Press Censor, who arranged a tour of the Halifax Harbor for the pressmen.

In one of the sessions the gathering was addressed by Irving Murray, of the Imperial Publishing Co., Halifax, who gave an interesting account of the relation of newspapers to advertising agencies. Another speaker was Brian Tobin, of the British United Press in Halifax, who accompanied Prime Minister King on his tour to England and back. Mr. Tobin told the pressmen how England is reconstructing her buildings destroyed by Hitler's bombs and planning for the future.

although at the time of going to press we are unable to announce the winners of either horse or ox pulling contests. We didn't see the horses at work, but, when one witnessed some of the loads the oxen snaked over the runway, we could not help but admire the tremendous strength of the beasts. We also felt the men who handled the weights must themselves be "as strong as oxen."

The sheds were well filled with horses and cattle. Poultry and pigs appeared to be scarce this year, although two litters of young porkers stole the show in that section as far as the children were concerned.

Sheep were there in larger numbers than usual, and to the layman, all appeared to be splendid specimens.

The exhibition was formally opened last evening by an address by the Hon. J. A. MacDonald, Provincial Minister of Agriculture. Today will be "Children's Day" at the two-day fair. The Digby Band will be in attendance.

Digby to Get War Contract

Prominent Montreal Surgeon Is Widely Mourned.

Dr. B. Franklin MacNaughton, of Montreal, died last Thursday after an illness of some months' duration. He was born in Salisbury, N. B., the youngest son of the late William and Jessie (MacLachy) MacNaughton, and was educated in the public schools of that province. He entered the faculty of medicine, McGill University, and graduated M.D., C.M., from there in 1915. Immediately after graduation he went overseas as a private with N. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) and later obtained his commission in the Royal Army Medical corps. In the winter of 1915-16 he served with the New Zealand Medical Corps in Salonika and Egypt. He was then sent to East Africa where he was commandant of a Royal Army Medical Corps plague hospital. After the East African campaign he returned to England and served there till the end of the war being demobilized with the rank of captain. On his return to Canada he was appointed assistant superintendent of the Montreal General Hospital a post which he held for a year.

Entering practice he specialized in general surgery and in 1922 was appointed a senior assistant surgeon to the Montreal General Hospital and in 1925 assistant demonstrator in anatomy at McGill. Then followed two years of post graduate study in Vienna, Zurich, Berlin, London and Edinburgh.

Returning to Montreal Dr. MacNaughton joined the staff of the oto-laryngological department at the Montreal General Hospital, and in 1931 was appointed associate surgeon to that department, and a demonstrator in oto-laryngology at McGill.

On the establishment of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada in 1931, Dr. MacNaughton became a Charter Fellow in Surgery and a member of the Society of Ophthalmology and Oto-Laryngology of America in 1932. Just before his illness he accepted an invitation to join the contributing editorial staff of the Journal of Plastic Surgery, the first of its kind in the English-speaking world—this in recognition of his pioneer work in this field of surgery in this country.

He was a member of the Montreal Medico-Chirurgical Society, a charter member of the Lafleur Society and a member of the McGill Reporting Society. He was also a member of the University Lodge of Free Masons.

Dr. MacNaughton was married.

Among the four war contracts announced last Friday, to be awarded in the Province of Nova Scotia, was one to the Toronto Iron Works Ltd., for the erection of oil tanks at Digby. The value of the contract was stated as $18,000, the only clue as to when the tanks would be erected was the word "shortly."

Although the location of the tanks has not been publicly announced, there are indications they will be installed on the Cannon Bank Park. R. B. Murray, president of the Digby Board of Trade, having received a telegram on Tuesday stating the Board's lease of the park had been cancelled and the land expropriated by the government.

Troops to Present Play

"Say When" a production of the Imperial Follies, at Aldershot Camp, will be presented in St. Patrick's Hall, tomorrow (Friday). There will be a matinee performance commencing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The evening performance will begin at 8.00 o'clock.

The cast of fifteen, will be an all star performance, and will include the famous British Comedian, Capt. C. D. Redhead, M.C., and is being presented in Digby under the auspices of the Digby Board of Trade. Proceeds will be shared with the Red Cross, the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses and the Board of Trade.

R. B. Murray, president of the Board of Trade, which body sponsored the visit of troops from Camp Aldershot two weeks ago, received the request from the producers of "Say When" on Thursday afternoon of last week. The boys asked that they be permitted to bring their show to Digby in order that they might, in some way, repay the people of the town for the hospitality extended to their troops.

Among the cast are high ranking professionals from the music halls and film studios of London. Among them are Signman H. S. Meunch, one of the original English Hill Billies; Sgt. A. N. Howlett is the actor who made so great an impression as the father in "George and Margaret"; Sgt. Selford has appeared in a number of Music Halls, including the Cambridge Theatre; Capt. C. Dennis Redhead, M.C., is a noted British Comedian, who has received favorable reception in many English Theatres, including the Coliseum, Prince of Wales Theatre, and the Palladium. He has also participated in BBC Broadcasts.

Mrs. A. D. Cronin and Miss Bushey have returned home after visiting relatives here.

Priest Retires

Right Reverend Monseigneur Desire H. Comeau, Parish Priest at St. Anne-du-Ruisseau, Yarmouth County, N. S., for the past 34 years, entered into retirement on Friday last, by taking up residence in a special apartment including private chapel, fitted up for his use at St. Anne's College, Church Point.

In this chapel the aged priest will be able to celebrate mass without the necessity of ascending or descending stairs, as all rooms are on the one floor.

Monsieur Comeau was born at Lower Saulnierville, Digby County, June 26, 1867, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hilaire Comeau. He graduated from the village school, and later continued his studies at St. Joseph's College, Memramcook, N. B., until St. Anne's College was opened in 1890. He later graduated from that college with a degree of Bachelor of Arts, with his cousin Edward LeBlanc, (who later became Bishop of Saint John), who were the first students to graduate from St. Anne's, and among the first to graduate from Holy Heart Seminary, Halifax, and the first two Acadians to be elevated to priesthood.

He was ordained by the late Archbishop O'Brien, of Halifax, June 29, 1898, and for the next three years was curate of St. Mary's Cathedral, Halifax.

From 1901 until 1907 he was Parish Priest at St. Edward's Church, Bermuda, and in 1907 was appointed Parish Priest at St. Anne-du-Ruisseau. In 1924 he was appointed Papal Chamberlain and in 1933 was created Domestic Prelate by His Holiness Pope Pius XI, which gave him the distinction of wearing the Purple Robe.

Aged Couple Well and Happy

In a modest little cottage down by the sea which has rolled near their doorstep nearly all their lives, lives happily a man and a woman, who are perhaps Nova Scotia's oldest couple.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hainey, of Meteghan—and long has their hair been snow-white for the former is past 95 and his wife only one year younger.

Times has taken its toll about them—their friends have come and gone, they have seen new faces born and seen them die, but Meteghan's grand old couple live on, always looking forward in life instead of back. Most people who reach their age find themselves inactive and ill, but good health has long smiled on Mr. and Mrs. Hainey.

Mr. Hainey was born in nearby Weymouth, the son of an Irish settler, in the house on top of Church Hill, located on the main road between Halifax and Yarmouth. The home is now owned by Capt. Reeves.

Hard work was his lot in life that has given him such longevity. He was formerly a farmer, and also worked in the old shipyards there. Now he can look from his kitchen window down across the Meteghan yards bustling anew to fill ship-building orders for the Empire's war machine. He has never lost his interest in this work.

His wife was born near Bathurst, New Brunswick, a LeClair by maiden name. The two have been married for almost 65 years.

About This and That

Possibly primed by German agents, the isolationists in United States have recently been trying to make trouble by charging that Lease Lend goods sent to Britain were re-exported to South America in competition with regular U. S. business. A recent white paper issued in London, gives the truth of this, and U. S. Lease Lend investigators have supported the white paper's explanation. The report which got abroad in U. S. was due to the fact that up to the establishment of the Lease Lend agreement Britain had been buying under the "cash and carry" system in U. S. Some of these "cash and carry" goods were re-exported, because Britain had to maintain her export trade to get exchange to bring other goods from South America and elsewhere. It was quite understandable that confusion of the two arrangements should arise in the minds of U. S. traders, a confusion which German sympathizers were not slow to fan to a flame. Fortunately Mr. Corell Hull has quickly spiked the whole fuss, and has assured that no Lease Lend goods have been or are being re-exported from Britain.

Eight new War Savings stamps have been designed that feature the armed services and war weapons. As the savings of the Canadian people have enabled the Dominion to go full speed ahead in every department of warfare, these new stamps reflect Canada's war effort. Pictures illustrate the work of the Navy on duty in coastal defence and on the high seas; the Airforce; the Mechanized Army; the first Canadian made tank. Artillery, Coastal defence and anti-aircraft guns, and the Auxiliary Nursing service. It is anticipated that large numbers of citizens will be buying the new stamps not only for War Savings Certificates, but for stamp collections. They are available at each of Canada's 13,000 odd Post Offices and approximately 12,000 other outlets for War Savings Stamps.

The origin of the Swastika is lost in the fogs of antiquity. Wherever the Aryan races lived, and in lands they never lived, the swastika was a symbol of the sun and has some relationship to worship of divinity and to what was good as distinct from what was evil. In most of these primitive religions, the swastika in reverse stood for evil and for the worship of the devil. In whatever form he was conceived by the particular tribe or race using the symbol. The person who selected the reverse swastika as the Nazi emblem may have been playing a grim hoax on the Hitlerite worshippers of evil. The choice was, in any event, significant and appropriate.

One of the greatest mysteries of nature is the narrow path a dollar has to traverse crooked, rough and tortuous to get to you and the wide, well-paved and inviting way that is there awaiting its departure.

Your Town --and Mine

The Rev. Mr. Hart's comments regarding the advisability of establishing a "Farmers' Market" in Digby were very interesting and very thought provoking. Would such a scheme work here? Is the town not too small for the establishment of such a market? Mr. Hart mentions the "floating shopping population." Is that population one which would provide a market for farm produce? Would not such a scheme of marketing deprive our local meat and grocery stores of a valuable source of revenue and impose additional marketing problems on the housewife? Such a "Farmers' Market" would entail complete co-operation among the farmers of the district; can such co-operation be obtained? These are but a few of the questions that would have to be considered when thinking of establishing such a market.

Nova Scotia is to have a Provincial Election. What a foolish piece of business in war time! An actual election could still be avoided if the parties would get together and, by mutual consent, let the sitting member in each constituency regain his seat by acclamation. Such a course of action is, however, very unlikely. Who will be the candidates for our constituency? No doubt "J. Willie" will re-offer for the government. Candidate material seems very scarce on the other side. Perhaps, however, they have a dark horse up their sleeve. This column takes a guess at a certain well known young lumber operator.

Little or nothing has been heard in town of the National Aluminum Salvage Campaign. Is Digby taking part in this campaign or is aluminum an unknown substance in this locality?

Word comes from Ottawa that another campaign is to be launched in aid of the sale of War Savings Certificates. Every one should adopt as their own the new slogan: "Spend Less to Buy More War Savings Certificates".

A closing verse (not original) for the benefit of those who are and have been attempting to get some war development for Digby:—

I hate to be a kicker; I always long for peace,
But the wheel that does the squeaking is the one that gets the grease.
It's nice to be a peaceful soul, and not too hard to please,
But the dog that's always scratching is the one that has the fleas.
The art of softsoap spreading is the thing that palls and pales,
But the guy that wields the hammer is the one who drives the nails.
Let me not put harmful, foolish notions in your head,
But the baby that keeps on yelling is the baby that gets fed.

This might be a good thing to remember, especially now, with an election in the offing.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Weekly notes on various matters, conducted by Rev. A. S. Hart.

On the way to Lawrence-town last week, we made a detour and went up the back road to have a view of the Bear Island. The old road is almost overgrown, and going up and down to re-join the pavement is almost as good a thrill as anything on the Cabot Trail. The view was magnificent, one that was worth going a long way to see. What a pity we don't advertise our scenery more! A few tasteful signboards here and there would guide our visitors to the real beauty spots. I wonder if we are as mundane as one old Cape Breton fisherman who told me he could never see why folk left New York for "scenery". "Scenery" he said, "there's nothing here except trees and rocks and water."

off the beaten track giving an added enjoyment to any vacation. Such a brochure with a few signs as guidance, would be a real investment.

In Bermuda at the time of the Coronation, we were treated to a searchlight display by the Fleet as part of the celebration. The sight was memorable and showed what could be done with these powerful lights. But last week's display by Mother Nature, eclipsed any sky-show in living memory. The Northern Lights were at their brightest fanning out from a corona in mid-sky, searching the heavens in searchlight fashion with a huge silken scarf trailing across the sky almost overhead. Varying colours and rainbow-like effects gave the night a beauty we shall not see for many a day. Being told by one dear lady that the cause was the sun shining on glaciers, I just had to get out an encyclopedia. There was no need to look into any learned tome to know that magnetic storms accompanied the aurora borealis—the radio was blotted out. But from what one could gather (and that wasn't much) the Lights have something to do with sun-spots. In some places telephone and telegraph communications were impossible.

A new Savings Plan for Rural Districts is now in effect. It calls for the co-operation of farmers with creameries, warehouses, etc., in order to deduct a specified sum weekly or monthly out of produce sold. There is a pledge card and a special new type of honour roll for organizations who can enroll more than 75% of their customers. Such a scheme requires good faith and an endeavour to take part in the war effort. It is difficult, in fact undesirable for any one man to tell another what he should save. It is a question for the individual. Furthermore, there are those who believe in minding their own business. However, budgeting for the years after the war is a vitally important matter for agriculture and with improved prices on the way, it is policy to save a little each month. But aside from the mercenary issues there is the most important of all our problems—winning the war. And that needs money. It is hoped that the Digby Farmers will study this plan and give it every measure of support in their power.

Next week is the Feast of St. Michael to those who keep the Christian Calendar. This is perhaps the one Saints Day we might have in common with the Jews. Those who meditate about such matters are year by year becoming more convinced than ever, that forces of good and evil are abroad that we know not of. In the days when such matters were not at all controversial but agreed, upon the Feast of Michaelmas was celebrated with great rejoicing. There were Goose Fairs and lots of dancing and merry-making. In fact, it was the original Thanksgiving Day. But there was always one bitter taste to Michaelmas—it was rent day for the tenant farmers.

In the Bank the other day I saw a folder decrying the habit of making out a budget on an envelope. It so happened that our senior partner had made such a budget on such an envelope as depicted and I was very amused. Now a very obliging Bank has provided a "Family Budget Book" so that one can apportion the income under selected headings such as Food, Taxes, Clothing, Operating, Social and Sundry. There is also a small section for "Savings" which is of course the object of the book. This book can be very useful, and it is just as well to know where the money goes. But I've an idea that next month there will be another envelope.

In this critical week which according to some U. S. Senators "may be the turning point of the war" such a book as "No Other Road to Freedom" by the American journalist Leland Stowe, is well worth reading.

He visited six fronts and has a great knowledge from his association with military men. About one-quarter of the book is a bitter attack upon those appeasers who are still left in his own country. He writes with white hot passion regarding the issues at stake and the spiritual decay of those countries who had little or no heart to resist the Nazi oppression on the grounds that it "was not their war." He knows as all sensible people know, by this time, that Nazism will succeed if it gains a foothold among the upper classes in any country. It is plausible as a doctrine, it has in the abstract all the advantages of getting things done quickly, but it is national suicide and a soul-destroying force. He is most emphatic in saying that the only road to freedom lies in a complete unity, a militant faith and a new awakening to the dangers which confront the world.

These lessons are not for the U. S. A. alone. The whole English speaking world is in need of such continual straight speaking. Leland Stowe lived for many months with men who were in retreat, facing total defeat. He writes on their behalf. One day the veterans of the retreats will be the heroes of the advancing line—if we face up to our tasks and pull together.

Whalley, Dean of Nova Scotia, united in marriage Constance Patricia, daughter of L. Mdr. and Mrs. Thomas Hood, of Halifax, and Vernon Douglas Hewitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hewitt, of Digby. Mrs. Harold Vincent was the soloist; Professor W. A. Montgomery played the wedding music, and the choir was present. The church was decorated with standards of gladioli and the guest pews were tied with nosegays of fall flowers. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of mineral blue chiffon, made with a Peter Pan collar, a shirred bodice with tiny covered buttons in front. It had long bishop sleeves and the skirt was long and flowing. She wore a hat of the same material, halo style, with pale pink and blue flowers, and a short face veil, and carried a shower bouquet of Picardy gladioli bloom. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Hood, who wore a gown of petal pink chiffon made with a long full skirt and shirred jacket, quilted with a silver thread and tiny buttons down the front. Her bouquet was of sweet peas in pastel shades. The best man was Alex Macalder, and the ushers F. W. Hood, brother of the bride, and John Holder. Mrs. Hood, mother of the bride, wore a floor-length gown of moss green with knife pleated skirt. She wore a brown model hat, matching accessories, and a corsage of talisman roses. Tos of Iron Ration Stored Against Invasion

Britain's civilian population has been provided with an Iron Ration for the first time in history. Thousands of tons of it have been stored in depots from one end of the country to the other.

The ration is a dry wheaten biscuit scientifically balanced, and it has been produced against the possibility of an invasion holding up the normal baking of bread.

Bread stales rapidly because of its high moisture content. The Iron Ration biscuit has only 3½ per cent of moisture and it keeps indefinitely.

Its actual ingredients are wholewheat, fat and sugar. Its vitamin content is unimpaired by baking.

The wholewheat gives the biscuit vitamin B1 and it contains proteins, fat, carbohydrates, mineral matter and fibre for an emergency diet.

ies per hundred grammes against bread's 254.

The Iron Ration is also being issued by the Civil Defence forces, to Air Raid Precaution and Auxiliary Fire Service personnel.

The cans, or the tinplates from which they are to be made, are dipped for a few moments in a boiling solution which is both alkaline and oxidizing. The bath leaves an invisible film of oxide which has now been proved to be even better than the older and more costly method of lacquering.

Two batches of corned beef have just arrived in England from South America. The tins of one batch had been oxidized by the new process; the others were untreated.

Both batches were filled fifteen months ago and when all of them were opened on their arrival in England the untreated tinplate had developed black stains. The other was still silvery and bright.

Canada and the Alaska Highway

The possibility of German domination of Russian territory has awakened North Americans to a realization of the threat of aggression from the East as well as from the West. The defence bastion against such aggression would be Alaska which the United States is now rapidly fortifying on an impressive scale. Yet so far as the United States is concerned Alaska resembles an island possession with which communications must be by sea or air. Consequently there have been demands since 1929 for the construction of a highway across Canada to Alaska.

This was at first considered a civilian project, but the military aspect was emphasized shortly after Mr. Roosevelt in 1938 announced at Kingston the American determination to defend Canada, when Mr. King agreed to set up a commission to investigate, in conjunction with a commission from the United States, the feasibility of a highway from the state of Washington to Alaska. Congress had authorized such a commission several months before. The Commission considered the project and presented an interim report in 1939, but outside of circles on the Pacific coast there was little interest shown. The grave situation of last summer and the setting up of the Canadian-American Joint Defence Board gave the project considerable impetus. The original Commission has continued its study of the project, which has also been considered by the new Joint Defence Board, and on May 23 the American section of the Commission issued a report recommending the immediate construction of a $25,000,000 highway, approximately 1600 miles in length.

Although a report of the Canadian members of the Commission was promised in the spring it has not yet appeared. In the meantime Representative Diamond, of Alaska, in the United States Congress, charged on July 4 that the Canadian Government was deliberately "stalling, de-

The SNAPSHOT GUILD BIRTHDAY PICTURES

Easy to take—just a short time exposure with the camera on a firm support—this shot is part of a charming birthday series. Keep your camera busy on birthdays; they're fine for pictures.

SOONER or later, every member of a family has a birthday—and here is one occasion when you can really turn your camera loose for a first-rate story-telling series of pictures.

Of course, the center of a child's birthday is the cake with candles. That's why we picked it for our picture here. But there's a lot more to a birthday—anybody's birthday. The preparations—the presentation of gifts—the party, if there is one—all these make good snapshot material. If it's a child's occasion, with your small son or daughter playing the leading role, you can start taking pictures several days in advance—pictures emphasizing the good behavior that always precedes the big day.

The idea, in making a series of this sort, is to tell a complete story. The more details you can show, the better your story—and it's more satisfying when you look back through your album.

Here's what I mean by "details." Suppose it's Dad's birthday, and you're giving him a new pipe. Then get one picture as he receives the package; another as he begins to unwrap it; a shot of his expression when he sees the gift; another as he loads up for the first time; and a final shot as he contentedly puffs away. This is clearly much better—and far more interesting—than just one shot, or several all alike.

It's quite as simple to take a series as a few "single" shots. Just set up your two photo lights—and as long as your subject stays in the same spot, the exposure won't change. So, all you need do is watch for changes in pose and expression. The photo bulbs and high speed film make snapshots easy. A shot of the cake, lighted only by the candles, will call for a short time exposure—say two to three seconds—with the camera placed on a firm, solid support.

Maybe there isn't a birthday at your house this week, or this month. But tuck this away—and when the day comes, remember your camera, and get a good birthday story. It's perfect material for your "family history" album.

"Imagine it taking a war to set us right"

Husband: "There's one thing we can thank Hitler for. He's got us saving at last."

Wife: "Yes! Imagine! Until it became a positive duty we certainly never managed to put anything by each week."

Husband: "I think it's partly because these War Savings Certificates are so simple to buy."

Wife: "You mean the idea of getting the office to deduct a regular amount each week from your salary?"

Husband: "Yes! And how they're mounting up! Quite a nest-egg when you count the interest they're earning."

Wife: "Well the more the merrier, I say! There are lots of things we'll need the money for, as the years roll by!"

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

laying and procrastinating in the negotiations. This charge was denied by Mr. Mackenzie King, and Canadian papers pointed out that engineering reports had not been completed and that even the United States Commission had not come to any conclusion over the route to be taken. One Canadian newspaper at this time reported that the members of the Joint Defence Board were still considering the project but the Board felt that it would be impracticable because it would employ too many men in an emergency and be of doubtful value when completed. It has been suggested that the chain of air bases which the Canadian Government is now building between Edmonton and White Horse to enable American fighter planes to be transferred rapidly to Alaska may be considered a substitute for the highway. The time necessary to build the road was earlier estimated at about five years, but now there is talk of completing the work in eighteen months. However, on July 11 the Hon. Chas. Stewart, chairman of the Canadian Commission, told the Canadian Press that that body would shortly present to the Government a report on the alternate routes through British Columbia which have been suggested.

The route which, according to Mr. Stewart, the Commission favours is the one known as Route B, running from Prince George in Central British Columbia, through Findlay Forks to Dawson in the Yukon. From Dawson the road would connect with the Alaska border where an American road would run to Fairbanks, the "metropolis of Central Alaska. This is the more easterly of the routes considered. The other would run from Prince George through Hazelton and White Horse to Fairbanks. The western route is believed to encounter more difficulties of terrain. Construction of such a road would mean the building of about 1100 miles of new road and the improvement of the road now linking Prince George with Vancouver and Seattle. The chief advantage of route A is its proximity to the coast from which run feeder roads which would assist in the construction. The final decision, however, still rests with the Government, which will also have to consider two other routes not considered by

Come On Out!

After a very successful camp at Grand Lake, the boys of the First Digby Troop returned to Digby for an eight weeks' holiday before starting school and a new Scouting year.

On the 5th of September, at 8 o'clock the first meeting of the new year of Scouting got under way with the "Breaking of the Jack". Games were played, an instruction period was held and the Hall was cleaned.

On the following Friday it was decided to hold a week of reconsecration. The Scouts appeared in full uniform every day for a week and they were on duty for National service at all times.

The First Digby Troop is planning further activities for the coming days. Among those activities is the Scout Apple Day, which is to be held on October the 11th, and a Dance on October 17th. The funds will go to adding improvements on the Hall and for buying some necessary equipment for the Troop.

On Tuesday evening of last week a number of the young people gathered in the church vestry, where a social time was spent in playing games, later serving refreshments. Rev. and Mrs. Glendenning were presented with $10 from the Sewing Circle and Young People's Society.

"I say," said the novice, who was being given a demonstration in a used car, "what makes it jerk when you first put it into gear?"

"Ah," said the salesman, "that proves it to be a real car—it's anxious to start."

THESE smiling girls in overalls are ready to give Canadian farmers a helping hand during the busy summer months. They are all members of the Ontario Women's Land Army, organized by a group of women who anticipated a shortage of farm labor with so many men being absorbed into war services. During the winter months, Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited provided the girls with a free and thorough course in the care and operation of modern farm tractors and implements and followed up with instruction in practical field work in the spring. More than 100 of

GRAPES

For the next several weeks sun-ripened grapes from Canadian vineyards will be on sale in food stores throughout the country.

Homemakers anxious to make the most of each variety of fruit as it comes in season, will be conserving these grapes in one way or another, for winter months.

Grapes, like apples and currants, are rich in pectin, and may be made into delicious jams and jellies, while the juice may be extracted and stored for future use.

The following recipes have been tested by the Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Spiced Grape Butter

4 pounds grapes
¾ pint cider vinegar
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon salt
1½ pounds sugar
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground allspice
Wash and stem grapes. Place in saucepan with vinegar, and cook for 15 minutes; rub through sieve fine enough to retain the seeds and skins. Boil pulp until thick, add other ingredients and boil half an hour longer. Fill into hot sterilized jars or bottles, and seal.

Grape and Pear Jam

2 pounds pears, shopped (7 cups)
2 cups water
8 cups granulated sugar
Remove skins from grapes. Add 1 cup water to skins and 1 cup water to pulp. Cook separately until tender. Strain seeds from pulp. Combine pulp and skins, add pears and sugar. Cook until thick, about 1 hour. Pour into sterilized jars. When cool, seal with hot paraffin. Yield 7 8-ounce jars. Note—Wild blue grapes may be used in the above recipe.

Grape and Apple Jelly

11 quarts grapes
1 cup water
Sugar
ash apples. Slice thinly without peeling. Wash, stem and mash grapes. Place together in large kettle. Add water. Cover and bring to boil. Cook until very soft and mushy. Press through a coarse sieve. Measure juice and put on to boil for 10 minutes. (Test for pectin.) Add ¾ cup sugar for each cup of juice. Boil 5 minutes longer or until it jells. Test by dipping a cold metal spoon in mixture and if jelly falls in a clot it is ready to bottle. Bottle and seal in sterilized glasses. When cool, seal with hot paraffin.

Grape Jelly

5 pounds grapes
1 cup water
Sugar
Grapes should be well colored, but firm for best consistency and flavour. Over-ripe fruit will give a syrupy jelly, and under-ripe fruit will give a jelly of inferior flavour. Add water to grapes which have been washed and picked over. Cook slowly until grapes are soft. Allow the juice to drip through a jelly bag. Measure juice and to each cup of juice add ¾ cup sugar. Cook the sweetened juice rapidly until jelly test is obtained. Skim and pour into sterilized glasses.

Grape Juice (without sugar)

Crush grapes. Allow 1 pint water to 8 quarts grapes. Place kettle in the oven at 200 degrees F., or over another kettle with boiling water for 15 minutes. Strain through a jelly bag overnight. Let juice stand 3 hours after bag is removed. Pour juice carefully into sterilized jars, being careful not to stir up the sediment. Partially seal. Sterilize 30 minutes in water bath or 35 minutes in the oven at 275 degrees F. Seal.

With Sugar

If sweet juice is desired, allow ¼ cup sugar to 1 cup juice. Add to juice after dripping. Bring to boiling point to dissolve sugar and proceed as above.

In using the above methods a second grade juice may be obtained by adding 2 quarts water to drained pulp, boiling slowly 20 minutes. Drip and sterilize as for first extraction.

Red Cross Working In Britain

You get a distorted idea of this present Britain if you picture in any other way than as Ladysmith in the Boer War, Ypres in the last, and Moscow in this war. Forget it as a self-contained country—it is small enough, anyhow, to drown in Lake Ontario—and only remember that it is a beleaguered city. Think of it only as a largish garrison, surrounded by a usefully wide and deep moat. Then you begin to understand that this little island is completely controlled and conditioned by the strategy of siege. And you realize why, instead of being centralized, its resources and reserves are cached in scores of different places scattered over its hundred thousand square miles. It would be wanton stupidity to have one central basket filled with all the eggs because one well-aimed—or, for that matter,

HOW TO COMBAT Rheumatic Pains

badly aimed—attack would reduce them all to a nasty sticky white-and-yellow mess.

For the administration of assistance to sufferers the two islands have been divided into thirteen regions. Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland are separate regions, England consisting of ten others in a patternwork that matches the Government's regionalisation of the country. With this system the Women's Voluntary Service, who co-operate with the Canadian Red Cross in bomb-victims relief outside the capital as the Charity Organization Society does inside, coincides. This means that there can be neither overlapping nor loopholing between the Canadian Red Cross and its associated organizations in London on the one hand and the Government's emergency control and the Civil Defence system on the other. In a beleaguered city—which is how this island should be regarded—such distribution of resources and rapid mobilisation of reserves are essential.

Hanging Shelves Fill a Need

Hanging wall shelves fill a definite need in rooms where there are no book-cases. These little pieces of furniture give an effect of height to the lower pieces over which they are hung. A drop-front desk, for example, may be made to fill the place of a tall secretary by suspending a wall-shelf above it. In a variety of sizes and shapes, to correspond with every period of furniture, they may be fitted into corners, hung in narrow panels beside window or fireplace, or placed boldly in position on center walls. Filled with colorful china or pottery, they form a gay note on a dark wall. Like mirrors, wall shelves should be hung in composition with a piece of supporting furniture, so that they have a reason for existence.

Debert Man Was Worried

L.A.C. Vincent Barber, stationed at No. 3 O.U.T., Debert, N. S., was worried.

Weeks had passed since he had received any word from his family in England. His letters first, and then his more urgent cables had gone unanswered. Slowly a great fear began to grow within him.

He spoke of this fear one day in late August to the Y. M.C.A. Supervisor at his Station.

The "Y" man wrote at once to the National Headquarters of his Organization, asking them to do something about the situation. By return mail he was advised that the Overseas Office of the "Y" had been cabled.

After that—silence. Day upon day of waiting, nerve-racking nothingness. The sort of waiting, of suspended hope, that can be sheer torture to a sensitive man.

The "Y" Supervisor wrote to his Headquarters again, begging them to hurry any news. His letter has since arrived to the desk of a "Y" official.

By almost unbelievable coincidence not five minutes passed before a Cablegram was delivered to that same desk. It read:

"Y" man saw Barber family and all appear to be in good health and no troubles.—Over."

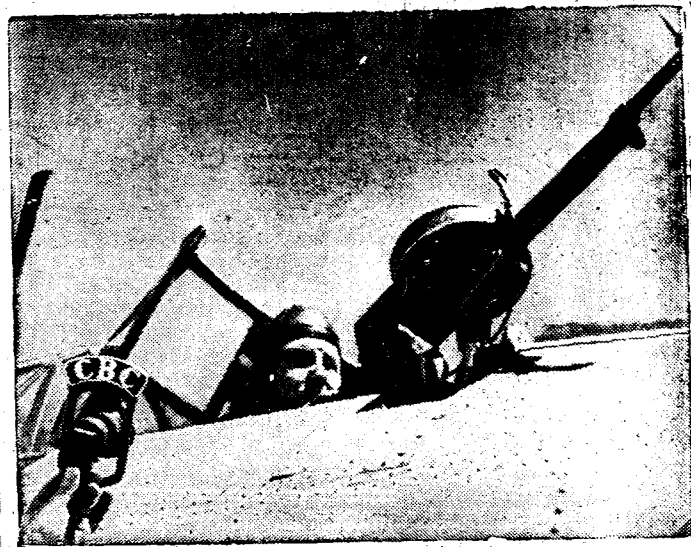

Within another five minutes telegraph wires were flashing the good news to L.A.C. Barber.

"This Is London Calling—"

Two hundred British sailors newly liberated from an Italian concentration camp greeted the first Y.M.C.A. Tea Car to enter Merca. East Africa, with the victorious British Troops.

For two months these men had been out of touch with the world. They had received neither letters nor news of any description. They were starved for news from home.

They clustered about the Tea Car, drinking tea and clamouring for word of what

Dealing with the activities of the men in the sky who have won so important a place in the present war, and of the army of men on the ground whose duty it is to back them up and keep them flying, a new series of programmes was recently launched entitled "They Fly for Freedom". Heard over stations of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, it tells the story behind the Commonwealth Air Training Scheme and of the thousands of young men from all parts of the Empire who are eagerly developing into pilots, observers, gunners and mechanics. Much of the material used in these broadcasts has been gained first hand. CBC Engineers and producers, along with Gerald Noxon, the author, have journeyed to many of the centres where training is going on and have there recorded the actual sounds and voices of the students and instructors on the spot. Listeners who desire knowledge of the training of the airmen and all that goes to make our Royal Canadian Air Force, will find that this programme is extremely interesting. Normally heard on Wednesdays, at 10.30 p.m., the time is to be temporarily changed to Thursday, September 11th, at 8.00 p.m., EDT for this week, and to Tuesday, September 16th, at 10.00 p.m., EDT on the following week, on stations of the CBC's National Network.

Improvement In Quality of Lambs

Steady improvement in the quality of lambs throughout the eastern districts of Nova Scotia has been brought about during the past two or three years under the program of education and organized marketing on grade conducted by the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and the Dominion Department officials. In 1939 when grading of lambs for the commercial market was inaugurated in the province, for the first time in Canada, it was shown that only 47 per cent of the lambs from eastern counties were in the two top grades. By the 1940 season the lambs had so improved in quality that 64 per cent of them were grading into these grades. Preliminary reports this season show that about 80 per cent of the lambs are in the two top grades. Many sheep owners have been following the program set out by the department with respect to better care and management of the flocks, better feeding and more thorough treatment for disease.

Hog Shipping Club Does Well

This spring the hog shippers of western Kings County, were organized into a shipping group for the purpose of marketing their live hog shipments in an organized manner. The organization is known as the Western Kings livestock shipping club, and has between 75 and 80 members. Previous to organization their shipments of hogs were small and the grading average. Shipments have increased this summer, and the quality has improved to the point where about 90 per cent of the live hog shipments are grading into the two top grades, which draw a bonus in addition to commanding the top market prices. The manager of the shipping club is M. S. Horsborough, and the president is Henry Banks.

Apple Marketing Season Opens

With the shipment of some 16 carloads of apples from the valley districts by the apple marketing board at Kentville, most of which were Crimson Gravensteins, the 1941 apple marketing season is now in full swing. The shipment is the first to go forward under the new branding system by which all apples produced in the valley will be marketed under the one brand "Nova Scotia". This is the first time in the history of the industry such a system has been adopted.

Cleaning Grain Separators

Now that the harvest is on, farmers will be thinking about threshing; consequently the grain separator will need some consideration and attention.

states Angus Banting, provincial agricultural engineer. Many farmers have their own machines, or groups of farmers have a machine on shares. In other sections custom machines travel about the community doing the threshing at so much per hour.

Whatever the arrangement, the machine must have an operator who understands it, if it is to give the satisfaction it should. Properly handled, the separator is capable of removing a very high percentage of the grain from the straw, and delivering it, fairly clean, to the bin. To deliver clean grain from a clean crop the separator itself must be kept clean.

The importance of having a realized by most operators. Farmers wishing to save grain grain separator clean is not for seed often do not appreciate the need of a clean separator for threshing the seed until after the seed has been polluted. Yet a grain separator can, and does, spread weeds and mix varieties of seed to a considerable extent. This is particularly true of custom machines, which travel from farm to farm.

Unfortunately the separator is a difficult machine to clean, but with care and attention to the following suggestions, it can be made relatively free from dirt, weed seeds, and grains.

1. Keep machine in good mechanical condition—pulleys and bearings tight, cylinder end-play right, cylinder and concave teeth tight, and so on. Keep belts properly adjusted. A well-kept machine gives most satisfaction.

2. Do not allow tins to lift. Lifted tin is a great place for weed seeds to collect, to be dislodged into seed grain later. Replace broken slats, as cracks, or empty slots where slats have been held, soon fill with dirt.

3. Keep worn and caked grease wiped off.

4. Before moving machine to new field, or changing from one crop to another, run it till it is empty. Before removing any belts sweep off dust from top, wipe dust and dirt from inside pulleys, and cylinder bars, whisk grain out of corners in elevators and augers, and run again at reduced speed for two or three minutes.

5. Before starting at new field or new crop, remove and clean concaves and screens.

6. If special variety of seed is to be threshed, extra careful cleaning followed by air blast from electric blower or bellows may be desirable.

7. Dump the first five or six boxes of seed grain into the feed bin.

Glamour Cow Elsie Makes Hit at C. N. E.

Breaking all records for an unbroken line of visitors to any exhibit in the history of the Canadian National Exhibition, Elsie the Cow, was visited by 254,173 people during the 14 days of the Exhibition at Toronto. Voluntary donations to Elsie's "V" Chest for the aid of British war victims exceed $20,500 as the result of her Canadian visit.

Already famous as an advertising character, Elsie came to the Exhibition in the person of Wonderful Lady, a real Jersey cow who was on the last boat of cattle to leave the Island of Jersey before the German occupation. Appearing in her whimsically-furnished barn boudoir as the goodwill contribution of a large dairy company, Elsie was seen by one out of every seven people attending the Exhibition and attracted as many as 27,547 visitors in a single day.

During her 17-day visit to Canada, Elsie was received by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and the Hon. W. L. Houck, was presented with the keys of Toronto and Niagara Falls and found time to visit the Hospital for Sick Children at Thistletown, and the Christie St. Military Hospital at Toronto.

Russian Guerillas' Pledge of Death

Operating behind the German lines from the Baltic to the Black Sea, Russian guerilla bands have struck blow on blow at Nazi communications—destroying bridges, attacking isolated units, leaving to German columns nothing but the devastation of a scorched earth.

In furtherance of their campaign, members of the guerilla bands, according to Russian papers, have taken their pledge of death before surrender:

"I, a citizen of the great Soviet Union, a faithful son of (name of Republic), swear that I will not lay down my weapons until the last Fascist in our land is destroyed. I swear to obey the orders of my commanders and to keep strict military discipline. I swear to take unmerciful revenge for the destruction of our towns and villages, for the death of our children, for the tortures, violence and humiliation inflicted upon my people. Blood may be repaid by blood and death by death. I swear to assist the Red Army in every possible way, to destroy the enemy without sparing my efforts or even my life. I swear that I would rather die than surrender to the enemy and that I will not let my people be enslaved by the bloodthirsty Fascists. Should I, through weakness, cowardice or evil designs break this solemn oath and betray the interests of my people, may I die a shameful death at the hands of my comrades."

the Commission. These other routes run from Edmonton and are being vigorously recommended by groups in the Prairie Provinces who argue that either of the routes would be more economical, would offer more direct connections with the industrial centres of the continent from which supplies would come, would be less vulnerable to attack from the sea, and that proximity to the oil fields of Alberta would be advantageous to motorized transport. An ardent supporter of the prairie routes has been the noted explorer, Vilhjalmur Stefansson. The recently formed United States-Canada-Prairie-Alaska Highway Association, with headquarters in Regina, has announced its determination to continue urging the Edmonton routes upon the Government.

Discoveries

In 1856, an English school boy spending his Easter vacation trying to duplicate quinine produced a purple powder which he realized might be used as a dye. His father had the courage and means to back him, and thus the great coal-tar dye industry was born.

Out of fertile coal-tar came not only colors, but perfumes, flavors, and medicines. Later were developed the favorite explosives of the last World War—picric acid and TNT.

Ever since 1856 when the making of synthetics was started, chemistry's magicians have been pulling scientific rabbits out of laboratory hats. Today, the chemical industry employs 9,000 scientists and engineers in research projects. Each year, it pays some $50,000,000 for equipment, supplies and services.

Substitutes Vital

For this North America is lucky.

As the national defence program swings into high gear more and more materials now used in the common implements of everyday life, are being requisitioned for the hundreds of things a nation needs to make it strong. In their place North America must use substitutes, and these she has in abundance.

Her substitute products are not necessarily cheap imitations of the real thing. Most of them have a distinct quality in themselves, some of them surpassing the products they were meant to replace.

From the very beginning American synthetics have been in the healthy category of replacements—not in the sorry class of "ersatz" products foisted on a grumbling populace by a "guns-for-butter" government. Those that have appeared and survived have proved their mettle in the give-and-take of a free market. They were able to stand on their own feet.

Bakelite Faced Competition

When that pioneer of American synthetics, Leo Baekeland, first made bakelite, he knew his brain-child was not going into an unoccupied field where everything would be easy. Celluloid, hard rubber, and other products, both nat-ral and artificial, were there before it. Bakelite had to make its way as a superior replacement of other materials, not as an inferior substitute.

The case was similar with synthetic rubber, first launched after duPont chemists had carried to the commercial production stage the brilliant fundamental discoveries of the late Father Julius Nieuwland, of Notre Dame.

The synthetic products were—and still are—considerably more expensive than natural rubber. They would replace it, in certain special uses, only by being more resistant than natural rubber to the action of oils, hot cinders, and other rubber-wrecking things that have to be carried through hoses or by conveyors.

Hundreds of Plastics

The wave of synthetic resins and gums which these two geniuses helped to launch is still rising on this continent and no one can foretell its course of its ultimate crest.

In the last ten years plastic makers have been turning out products like mad. There are 240 trade names for them their articles. Some 123 plants are producing the raw material, and some 285 more are taking it and making the processed article.

It's a marathon of magic for the chemist. None is quite sure he'll wake up in the morning and find his combination on top. Maybe he's been making the perfect substance. Then some one comes along with a better formula.

Those bright table tops you see in the new restaurants are probably plastic. So, perhaps, are your heels, your telephone, the light switch, your fountain pen and radio cabinet.

There's a new window pane that looks like glass—but it can regulate the sunlight that comes in. You just turn a button, and the sunlight pouring in slowly, becomes less bright. It doesn't work like venetian blinds. It's just a peculiar type of plastic.

Simple as Pie (or Cake)

Plastics can start with any number of things. Actually, making them is like cake baking. You begin with cotton, coal, chemicals, soy-beans, sugar, coffee, gas, water and air. Toss some combination of them into a vat. Compress them and you've got a dough to which you can add any color you like. Then pour the dough into a mold—like cupcakes. The mold closes down under terrific pressure and out comes some object—say a chair, or a helmet for an army parachutist.

Some of the most exciting experiments with plastics concern airplane bodies. One company has been molding them long enough to have test planes in the air for two years. The body can be poured, molded, and ready for the assembly line in two hours.

Automobiles are coming in for it, too. One manufacturer is experimenting with the production of automobile bodies from soy bean mush. In tests, axes have been swung against the sides, and they haven't even made a dent.

Light Around Corners

Lucite, a glass-clear plastic that can bend a gleam of light and lead it around corners, is being used to light up nooks and crannies of the human body for the benefit of dentists and surgeons.

Nylon hose, in a few months have established themselves so solidly in the market that they seem always to have been with us.

Chemists have produced textiles that are flame-proof. They speak of new velvets that are absolutely crush-proof and of plush that is water repellent; of canvas that is so heavy and tough that it makes the anti-blow-out tire a reality and so light and tightly woven that it makes a wind-proof, cold-repellent jacket whose buttons weigh more than the cloth. There are fabrics for bathing suits woven with rubber threads and for ball-room gowns of gold and silver threads. Some synthetic fibers are as coarse as binder twine; others are half again as fine as the spider's web. There are fibers that are fire-proof and water-proof; fibers that resist anything from a soft-boiled egg to fuming nitric acid.

Several new chemicals have been introduced into the soap and cleanse industries. They "break" hard water and prevent the formation of that awful "ring" in the bathtub. But most of us just notice that the old favorite brand of soap is "working better" without ever finding why.

A comparatively new man-created substance is neoprene, a kind of rubber made from limestone, coal, salt and water. It is used for kitchen gloves, sink mats and sink strainers. Sheets for babies are being made of neoprene. It is also used instead of natural rubber for the vibrationless blocks on which automobile engines are mounted.

Neoprene has been available for nine years, and demand for it has increased so fast that frequently the duPont company has been forced to begin construction of a new manufacturing unit before the one previously started was finished. By next autumn their capacity will be 12,000,000 lbs. a year, which alone is three times the country's synthetic rubber output in 1939.

Improved finishing materials are of growing importance to the army and navy.

Defective finishes on airplanes, for example, not only increase wear and tear on exposed parts, but they cut down the speed. The chemist has seen to it that the new finishes are effective, just as he has made sure that the spray of salt water, a destructive corrosive refining agent, can't harm the planes aboard the giant aircraft carriers of the navy.

This is only part of the story of chemistry's magic. The story grows as each day passes and a new wonder is born.

A saucy damsel was speeding through traffic. She soon found herself stopped by an officer of the law.

"Look here," growled the cop, "where's the fire?"

"What are you worrying about?" she countered. "You're no fireman!"

Truth Shall Make Us Free

ed out on the ground. The total loss of R.A.F. machines for the same period was 2,792.

These figures require no comment. They justify the confident courage and sober optimism with which the people of Britain go forward to a third year of war.

At the same time, there is a hard road to tread. Surveying the prospect, J. L. Garvon, famous editor of London's Observer, declares that, despite the vast full-capacity output of British factories and the increased tempo of American arms production, there is still "not yet nearly enough for the requirements of that final overwhelming victory which alone can establish the safety to freedom and the peace of the world."

LAND FOR SALE

I have been instructed to sell—en bloc if possible—two large lots of land, part of the E. Hart Nichols estate, and described as follows:

"All and singular those nine lots of land situate in the Town Plot of Digby, bounded and described as follows: Southerly by Warwick Street and lands formerly of one Wilson, westerly by King Street, northerly by lands of one Dakin, and easterly by Second Avenue; ALSO those seven lots of the Town Plot of Digby, bounded and described as follows: Southerly by Church St., westerly by King Street, northerly by lands of one Connell, and easterly by Second Avenue, so-called.

These two pieces of land—part of the old Digby Golf Links, contain sixteen choice building lots. The owner would prefer to sell them en bloc, but would no doubt consider reasonable offers on each separately.

Rodger - Budrow

A quiet wedding of interest to a large circle of friends in the province, took place Saturday, Sept. 20, at 7 p.m., in Truro, when Rev. W. McN. Matthews, pastor of the United Church, united in marriage Lucy Virginia, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Budrow and the late Mr. Budrow, of Digby, and James Murdock, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Rodger, of Amherst. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fleming of Truro. The dress of olive green with black bride looked attractive in her accessories and wore a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Rodger is a recent graduate of Highland View Hospital, Amherst, and previous to her marriage was guest of honor at several showers. Mr. Rodger is on the staff of Murdock Motors Ltd. Mr. and Mrs. Rodger left on a motor trip to Northern New Brunswick, going by way of Digby and Saint John, and on their return will reside at 12 Clarence Street, Amherst.

Brighten Up Your Wardrobe

New York fashion notes say a crying need for gay clothes is felt everywhere. The black dress for fall is likely to have a very bright color or two for the gay accent and the escape from a too-serious, too-drab look. Most popular way of doing it is to use bright red, green, purple, gold, blue in strapping to bring out a drop shoulder line. Borders for two-piece effect dresses and wide inserts exaggerating a long-torso silhouette are other applications of the color against black.

TAKING FLASH PICTURES

With flash, shots such as this are quick and sure—and your subjects don't have to pose in bright light.

ANN turned up with a camera problem the other night. She had been trying to take some snapshots of the pup—a lively little rascal—and he wouldn't stay put. In fact, the warmth from the photo lamps made him even more skittish than usual, and by the time she was ready to shoot, he was usually out of sight.

"All right," I told her, "we'll fix him. We'll use a flash bulb, and get him down on film before he even knows it." So, we arranged things, and in about three minutes she had just the picture she wanted.

Maybe you've taken flash shots—maybe not. If not, winter is a good time to get acquainted with this type of picture-taking, and you'll find it mighty useful. For most indoor shots, I use the regular flood bulbs; but for some shots, flash is much better.

It's simple to use, too, even if you don't have a flash synchronizer. Just put your camera on a tripod or table edge, and set the shutter for "time." Insert the flash bulb in a house lamp fitted with the regular cardboard reflector you use for snapshots at night—but be sure the switch is off at the moment. Now open the camera shutter—snap on the switch to flash the bulb—and close the shutter. That's all, and you have your picture.

Moreover, you can use any film you prefer—the quick flash is bright enough for box camera exposures with daytime film, when the bulb is seven feet from the subject. And if you use high speed film, the bulb can be seventeen feet back.

With a flash synchronizer, flash bulbs are even more useful. You can even use them in the daytime, to brighten up the nearby details in a shady scene. And you don't have to put the camera on a tripod—you can hold it in your hand, and take snapshot exposures. Some of the most attractive daytime shots you see in the magazines are made with the aid of synchronized flash, and it's a real help.

I didn't have a synchronizer for a long time, because they used to be high-priced—but I bought one last year as soon as the inexpensive models began to come out. Now Ann wants one too; she knows a good camera accessory when she sees one. And maybe there's a good hint for your own camera kit. I'd certainly hate to part with my synchronizer—it has already paid for itself in first-rate pictures.

ed trimmings as just other expressions of the same idea—the urge to offset the depressing effect of blackouts and other wartime disturbances. There is every reason to suppose that winter coats will be colorful too; not only the plaid and striped versions we've been having, but others. Mustard is regarded as good. Hot stuff, perhaps I might say for winter coat.

spun rayon striped in red, black, green and yellow with a full skirt of black wool jersey.

For rainy days on campus the college girl can wear her entire suit on reverse side, which is of water-resistant cotton gabardine. The skirt is gored, the cardigan loose. The checked tweed side is in slate blue, beige, brown and rust check. Pockets are on both sides of the jacket.

For the men of Canada's army, only the best will do. From tin hats to service boots their equipment must be the finest Canada can produce.

Good equipment costs money... large sums of money. And that money must be provided by the men and women of Canada out of current income.

How? By honouring pledges to invest in war savings certificates every month. By saving now, to pay war taxes when due. By saving now, to invest in Victory Loans should further loans be necessary.

This means that every Canadian must learn to do without some of the things he normally enjoys. Watch your spending. Stern duty demands that we Save for Victory now.

TO PAY YOUR 1941

Income Tax on the Government Monthly Plan
You must start at once!

NEXT TUESDAY will be the last opportunity to pay your 1941 Income Tax on the Government Monthly Plan. This gives you the privilege of paying in twelve monthly installments without interest, instead of by lump sum in March, 1942.

Here is how to get the monthly payment privilege! Divide the total of your 1940 Income Tax by twelve. This is your first payment—and must be paid to the Receiver General on or before September 30, 1941. You will then pay the same amount before the end of each month for the balance of 1941. When you have estimated your 1941 income tax at the 1941 rate, you will deduct the four payments you will have already made, and pay the remainder in eight equal monthly installments, starting January, 1942.

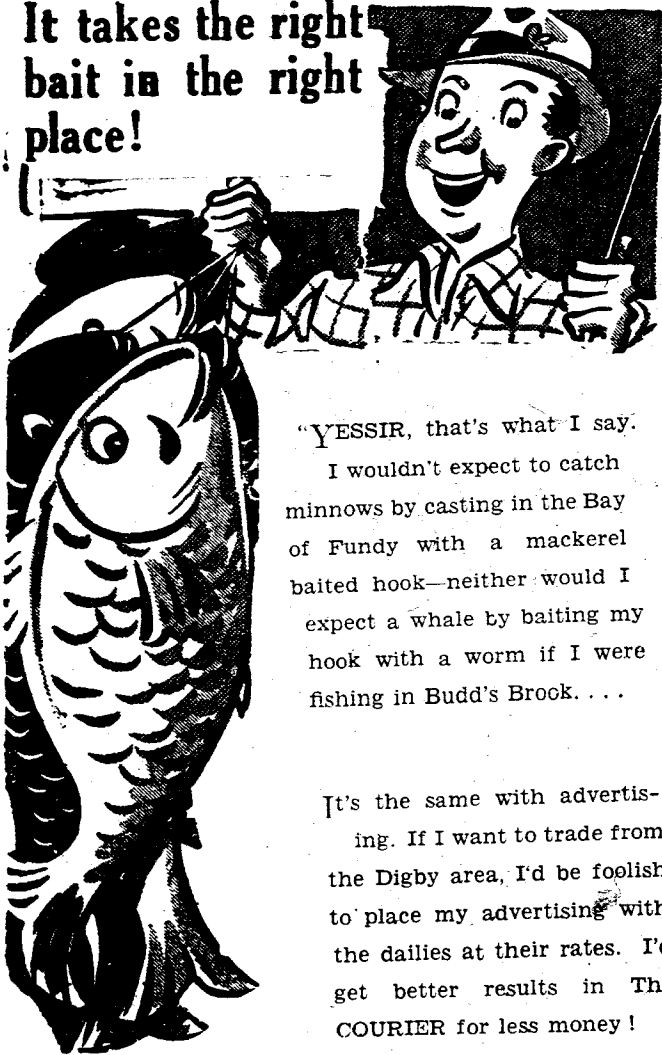

The Government offers the above plan as the most reasonable and convenient method of meeting income tax obligations. Ask your local Income Tax Office for Installment Income Tax Remittance Form—and any further information you may require.

Revenue

It takes the right bait in the right place!

"YESSIR, that's what I say.

I wouldn't expect to catch minnows by casting in the Bay of Fundy with a mackerel baited hook—neither would I expect a whale by baiting my hook with a worm if I were fishing in Budd's Brook. . . .

It's the same with advertising. If I want to trade from the Digby area, I'd be foolish to place my advertising with the dailies at their rates. I'd get better results in The COURIER for less money!

Prominent Surgeon Passes in Montreal

died in 1930 to Dr. Dorothy Anne Scott Thompson, elder daughter of Rev. R. J. Thompson, M.A., of Melrose, Scotland. He is survived by his wife, and two young sons, John Scott and Robin Frank; two brothers, Dr. J. A. Moncton, and William B. Winnipeg; and four sisters, Mrs. (Dr.) C. B. Darling, Woburn, Mass.; Mrs. H. L. Beamish, Vancouver; Mrs. J. J. Wallis, Digby; and Mrs. Andrew Noble, Kamloops.

It is interesting to note that he was a nephew of Sir George Parkin, one-time principal of Upper Canada College, first administrator of the Rhodes Scholarship Trust at Oxford; and cousin of Lady Massey.

Members of the medical profession and non-professional friends paid final tribute to him on Monday when a memorial service was held at the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, Montreal. In conducting the service, Rev. Dr. G. H. Donald said, "It was the spirit of Christ in him, Christ the good physician, the healer and Saviour of men caused him to walk confident and steadfast, master of himself, perceiving his work and duty, and devoting the resources of his mind and energy, and time, to their fulfilment."

Make Your Own Matching Mirror

A plain, rectangular wood-framed mirror, so badly scarred and scratched that even several coats of paint did not disguise its former abuse, caused a home decorator—who wanted to hang it over a chintz-hung dressing table—to think of a way whereby it could be made into a fit companion piece to the dresser. Using some of the left-over glazed chintz from the dresser's "skirt", she covered the entire mirror frame, after first removing the mirror from the frame and padding the frame with a soft cotton material. The result was amazing—an effective bit of decoration which added greatly to the room's appearance—when the mirror was hung against a plain, pastel-papered wall above the skirted dressing table.

"Ah," murmured his companion, "so you've just come from a wedding."

"Mabel, you really ought to wear a hat when you go out in the evening."

"But mother, I am wearing a hat. It's on the other side."

"But surely you didn't tell him straight out that you love him?"

"No fear—he had to squeeze it out of me."
