VOLUME LXVIII, NO. 29

They planned for Christ a cruel death;
Steel pierced His hands, His feet and side;
They mocked His last expiring breath,
And thought their hate was satisfied.

They wagged their heads, and said: "Lo, He Would crush our temple, and in three days Restore its beauty. Come and see
This boaster gone death's quiet ways."

They did not know that on that hill
Eternal love was satisfied;
That Christ, who hung there, triumphed still
And only cruel death had died.

Tendered Farewell Party

On Friday evening, March 27th, about fifty people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haynes, Victoria Beach, to give a farewell party in honor of Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Mills.

Deacon Stephen Ellis presented them with a sum of money, a gift from the people, and as he expressed it a token of the high esteem in which they are both held. Deacon Ellis most pleasingly voiced the sentiments of all. Rev. and Mrs. Mills thanked the people very appropriately.

Death Recalls Heroic Rescue

Announcement from Saint John, N. B., of the death at the age of 35, of Frank Herman Finley, staff member of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Oxford, Antigonish and Digby, recalled a heroic act which earned for Mr. Finley the parchment award for the Royal Humane Society.

He was accountant of the Antigonish branch of the bank on May 24, 1939, when he and a friend, Ray Simpson, went to Lakevale to spend the holiday fishing trout. At one of the Lakevale highway bridges, which spanned a deep channel at the headwaters of the salt water inlet, or lake, they were joined by Allan D. Cameron, and family, of Antigonish.

One of the Cameron children, John, aged five, fell from the bridge into the swift current and was being carried out into the lake when his father, who did not know how to swim, plunged in after him. He was immediately in difficulties and great peril.

Frank Finley and Ray Simpson fishing below the bridge, did not have time to remove any of their clothing before going to the rescue wearing their heavy rubber boots. Mr. Cameron was saved by Finley and the child by Simpson.

In September of that year Mr. Finley married Miss Melba Caldwell, of St. Andrews by the Sea, N. B. He brought his bride to Antigonish the same month and in the evening at a public gathering he and Ray Simpson were presented with the Royal Humane Society's parchment by Mayor A. L. MacIntosh.

Earlier in the Spring of 1939, Frank Finley was a guest at the White House Hotel when it burned to the ground in early morning. Mr. Finley escaped through an upstairs window.

Scallop Sloop Damaged by Fire

The scallop sloop Mureva was so badly damaged by fire on Monday morning that her owner, Floyd H. Snow, of Digby, regards her a total loss. The sloop, in charge of Capt. Wilfred Weir, was operating on the scallop grounds some ten miles off Digby Gut when the craft was set fire by a backfiring engine.

The blaze spread rapidly, and the crew, comprising with Capt. Weir, James Everitt, Orbin Everitt and Milford Munro, took to their dory (the Mureva had only carried a dory for about two weeks). Following the explosion of a gasoline tank, the blaze died down. The crew returned to the sloop and succeeded in extinguishing the fire, which had, by that time, gutted the entire interior of the boat, the pilot house and deck.

Four draggers from Hillsburne on the Bay shore were operating in the same vicinity at the time, saw the fire, and

Harry Dean Named Adjudicator

The Yarmouth Junior Music Festival has announced that Mr. Harry Dean, Director of the Maritime Academy of Music, Halifax, has been named Adjudicator of Music for the Festival this year.

Mr. Dean has had many years of experience adjudicating school music and has just adjudicated the Truro School Music Festival last week.

The Yarmouth Festival will be limited this year to residents of Western Nova Scotia, who are students in school, or who are under nineteen years of age, and will include Music, Speech and Dramatics—both group and solo entries, following the syllabus that was announced in the fall.

There will be two changes in the Festival setup this year—it will be directed and sponsored by the Yarmouth Public Schools, rather than the Yarmouth Music Teachers' Association, and it will be "non-competitive". This means that each competitor will receive an individual written adjudication and the adjudicator will discuss each group in general and the individuals to some extent, but no marks or standing will be released. The incentive will be to do one's best for a good adjudication, rather than to try to beat the others taking part.

The dates have been definitely announced as follows: Speech and Dramatics, Friday, May 1st.

School Choruses, Friday morning, May 8th.

Vocal and Instrumental Solos, May 8th and 9th.

All correspondence should be addressed to the Supervisor of Schools, Yarmouth, N. S. Entries will close April 10th, 1942.

Service Stations Do Rushing Business

Local service stations report a rushing business on Monday and Tuesday of this week, when the usual order from patrons who wanted to have a supply of gasoline in their tanks before rationing started, was "fill 'er up".

Nevertheless, there are a number of car owners in town who had not licensed their cars, or obtained ration books when rationing went into effect yesterday. A number of cars, we understand, will not be licensed this year, and perhaps not until the cessation of hostilities. We know we saw cars in Digby on Saturday night that will not be seen in town for some time to come.

went as quickly as possible to the scene and later towed the Mureva to port where she was considered a total loss.

Centennial of Ordination Observed

At Rossway Sunday morning, and Centreville in the evening, Lic. L. Atkinson conducted services to the memory of the late Rev. Dr. John Chipman Morse, who was ordained to the Baptist ministry March 31, 1842. Dr. Morse was born at Annapolis Royal, March 23rd, 1819, and came as a student to the Digby Neck Churches in 1840. The pastorate at that time included the churches from Rossway to Little River, the ordination service taking place at Waterford. Dr. Morse served these churches faithfully and well for 63 years, until forced by ill health to retire. He resided at Sandy Cove and it was there he passed away April 21, 1907.

V. O. N. Doing Splendid Work

Mothers of new babies are often a little bewildered as to how to bathe and care for them. They appreciate and need a graduate nurse to help for the first few days. The Victorian Order Nurse gives the babies care for these trying first few days, arranges the baby's schedule and prepares their formulas if the baby is not breast-fed. Her work with mother and baby continues through the well-baby clinics held each Friday afternoon at the Court House and through special attention given to pre-school age children and school children. The V. O. nurse is always ready to answer your call.

About This and That

We made the suggestion once before—we do it again! The suggestion is that our Canadian Government co-operate with the Canadian people in the matter of paper salvage, and we are not suggesting that they issue a 12-page booklet to be mailed to every citizen in the Dominion telling them of the many ways in which they, as citizens, can help in the matter of paper salvage! We are not suggesting that, but, it wouldn't surprise us at all should we receive such a pamphlet in the mails one of these days. In our opinion the government propaganda mill is one of the greatest sources of paper wastage in Canada. We receive volumes of material from this source every week—some excellent, some good, some fair, some just "so so." Furthermore, we use some of it, but, we cannot begin to use more than a small portion. There are weeks when we could, without any trouble whatever, fill our paper with government propaganda. In our case, and in the case of many weekly publishers like ourselves, much of it goes into the waste basket in unopened envelopes. Short handed as we are we haven't the time to read and edit the copy, a great deal of which is altogether too lengthy for the ordinary weekly newspaper. To suit our needs it would have to be boiled down to half and even a third of its original length. Furthermore, the newspaper publishers are not the only ones who receive volumes of propaganda—mailed out with the best of intentions, but mailed out in quantities that constitute an overdose for the recipients, who number thousands upon thousands. We say "Cut out a bit of it. Propaganda campaigns serve a good purpose, but cut the present campaigns by at least 75%. It would result not only in a saving of tons of virgin paper, but release a large staff of clerks and stenographers to more essential industries. Furthermore, the public to whom the literature is addressed would be better able to digest same." Propaganda is something like castor oil. Taken in small doses it can be very helpful. Overdoses weaken the constitution and the morale.

NOVA SCOTIA FARM NEWS

Big Increase In Live Hogs

The year 1942 should establish an all time high in the marketing of live hogs according to F. W. Walsh, director of marketing, Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture. The total for the year should be between ten and twelve thousand, or more than double the 5,006 marketed in 1941. The increase that is taking place this year was indicated in the February tabulation on live hog marketing. In February 1941 the total was for the month 204. The February '42 total was 429. The total weight of the hogs marketed last month was 69,751 lbs. and the total value was $10,176.02. The marketings for March are expected to be close to 1,000 hogs. This gain in live hog marketing is taking place chiefly in the commercial apple growing counties: Hants, Kings, Annapolis. The three principal shipping clubs there, Middleton, Western Kings, (Berwick) and Eastern Kings (Port Williams) had total receipts of $7,277 last month, or slightly more than seventy per cent of the provincial total.

New Poultry Clubs Organized.

Recently several new poultry clubs have been organized in Nova Scotia. The purpose of these clubs is to promote poultry raising to the greatest possible extent in sections where farmers are interested.

Through these clubs much may be learned regarding the raising and managing of poultry, and the members may benefit by buying co-operatively their chickens, brooding equipment, feed, etc. This work is usually followed up by marketing work in dressed poultry and eggs through poultry pools and co-operative egg grading stations. Among the most recently organized senior clubs are the following: Yarmouth with 27 members; Waterville and Lakeville, Kings Co.; St. Andrews, Antigonish Co.; and Wentworth, Cumberland Co. Junior Clubs were recently organized in Oxford, Baddeck Forks and Middle River.

In view of the present excellent opportunities for poultry raising, due to good prices of eggs and poultry, it is felt that farmers are well advised to get organized in clubs, in order to learn to raise more chicks and produce more eggs more efficiently. This efficiency may also be applied to the purchasing of chicks, brooding equipment, feeds and supplies, and to the selling of dressed poultry and eggs. Full information on poultry clubs may be obtained from your agricultural representative, or from the provincial department of agriculture, Truro.

Keen Interest Shown in Bees

There may be less sugar in Nova Scotia next fall, but there certainly should be more honey. This deduction is made from the orders being placed for bees. Provincial apiarist H. G. Payne, Truro, reports that to date orders for package bees placed through his office total in volume more than twice the total of a year ago. (The government is paying transportation costs on bees so ordered). Mr. Payne, who looks upon 1942 as the biggest bee year for some time, urges interested parties to place their orders without delay. A letter received by him from a southern United States shipping firm states that, "since the talk of rationing of sugar started there has been more interest in bees and honey than we have ever known before."

With the demand for honey very much on the increase, every effort should be taken, said Mr. Payne, to guard against loss of colonies of bees by disease, the most serious of which is American Foul Brood. Two outbreaks of this disease were reported last year with the result that 39 colonies had to be destroyed. Investigation showed that in all cases the disease was spread through the use of old diseased combs that had been bought at a low price and got into healthy colonies.

Keen to Step Up Production

The desire to step-up farm production is very much in evidence stated A. B. Banks, Supt. of Agricultural Associations and Exhibitions, on his return from conference in Yarmouth county, Whycocomagh and West Bay Road. With the labor problem being very acute, especially in Yarmouth county, whole communities may have to combine to meet the situation.

Reports Good Money In Capons

Good returns from Poultry were reported at a recent meeting of the newly organized St. Andrew's (Antigonish County) poultry club. P. J. MacDonald, of that place, raised 400 capons last year, sold the lot for $730 and had a profit of $410. 4,000 chicks have been ordered in St. Andrew district; 10,000 in Frankville district; and 1,200 in Cape Jack district, reports S. J. MacKinnon, Antigonish agricultural representative.

Nova Scotia Leads

For some years it has been claimed that just as good stock in poultry was grown in Nova Scotia as in any part of Canada. Interest in this connection is strengthened by the records made by R.O.P. for Canada for 1941. There were 196 flocks in all under test including all provinces from Nova Scotia to British Columbia. Nova Scotia led all provinces in the percentage of birds qualifying for R.O.P. certificates. The highest flock average was made by the entry of Cyrus & Manning Ellis in White Leghorns. They had an entry of 250 birds from which 160 qualified for R.O.P. certificates with an average production of 264.8 eggs. The next highest was a flock of rocks from Ontario that averaged 260 eggs.

Mowing Machine Information

A stencil on mowing machine information, prepared by the agricultural engineering division, Truro, is available for free distribution. This deals with the more important repairs and adjustments to mower knife and cutter bar and gives information on frequently neglected or misunderstood adjustments on the mower.

Here and There

The frost is going out of the roads fast and most of the snow is gone, some of the roads are beginning to get quite boggy, according to Charles A. Douglas, Windsor, in his weekly report as agricultural representative for Hants County.

A shipment of about a carload of potatoes went from Monastery last week. They were of good quality. Most of the producers were satisfied with the returns of slightly over one dollar per bushel at the farm. J. McNeil, Guysboro, agricultural representative, reports, "We have at least another carload in this area, but our local markets will probably absorb them."

Are Buying Lime Before Price Jumps

The appeal of the N. S. Department of Agriculture to the farmers of the province to buy lime for delivery before April 15, after which the price advances ten cents a ton, has met with a good response according to department officials. Thirty cars of lime were ordered through the Extension Office, at Truro, from January 28 to March 10. Distribution of these cars by districts was as follows: Pictou-North Colchester district six cars, Antigonish County six, Cumberland County five, Inverness County five, Annapolis County three, Cape Breton County two, Richmond County two, Kings County one.

The present price is $1.50 per ton at railway stations or quarry for delivery by Apr. 15. After that date and continuing until June 15 the price will be $1.60 per ton. A price differential system was put into effect last spring when the price was set at $1.40 per ton from June 16 to October 5. The purpose of the differentials is to spread out the lime sales so that quarry operators may keep the quarries in operation over a longer period of time thus avoiding peak labour situations and also use their machinery more days in the year. This is very essential if costs are to be held at the lowest possible minimum.

Greater Interest in Wool Production

Prospects of a wool shortage and the increased demand by reason of the war has created greater interest in sheep raising in the Maritime Provinces for wool production, stated J. E. MacIntyre, agricultural agent for the Canadian National Railways. To fully equip one soldier, he said, requires the product of 20 sheep.

All three provinces, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick are suitable for sheep raising, Mr. MacIntyre declared. In this connection Mr. MacIntyre referred to the experiments in sheep breeding carried on at Baddeck, in Cape Breton, by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone and a pioneer in aviation.

Dr. Bell spent the last thirty years of his life endeavoring to improve the productivity of sheep. It all commenced back around 1886 when he bought an ewe for his children to play with at the Bell home in Baddeck. The next year there were two sheep which started the noted inventor thinking along the lines of multiple births the same as pigs, kittens and puppies. He started collecting ewes with more than two functional nipples, concluding that feeding preceded the twinning problem, and in the first had assembled sixteen. Dr. Bell's sheep produced twins in four out of five births. After his death the flock was turned over to the University of New Hampshire where Professor Ritzman was developing a type off sheep superior in wool and meat and his sheep were crossed with those of Dr. Bell's. Last year the flock was turned over to the Federal stock-breeders at Middlebury for further experimentation.

Things To Plant In Your Garden

Beats the bugs how much pleasure you can get out of grubbing in the ground and taking credit for making plants out of little seeds.

If you have a small piece of reasonably fertile ground, there's every reason for you to plant a victory garden. You'll save yourself a tidy sum, enjoy fresher vegetables, and show your patriotism. But don't forget to take into consideration energy, vitamins, and minerals when planting your garden.

Potatoes, beans and peas are the energy foods. Tomatoes, carrots, snap beans, kale and other greens are rich in vitamins. Be sure to plant radishes, onions and lettuce too, if for no other reason than they add zest to every meal you serve.

Undoubtedly tomatoes will be one of the most important crops because they provide such a large percentage of Vitamin C. A large part of the 1942 crop will likely be sent overseas, so you will do well to grow your own.

Don't think you are finished when the seeds are stuck into the ground. It's not as easy as that. Weeding, hoeing, and watering are all necessary to produce worth-while crops.

You won't need many tools. With metals needed for war purposes, don't buy more than you need. Settle for a four-tined spading fork, a hoe, a straight-backed straight-toothed steel rake, and possibly a spade and a trowel.

Continue to raise flowers too. You'll find many uses for them. They will be nice to send to the sick and discouraged as well as brighten up your own home and church.

Save Equipment

Those electrical appliances which you reach for so casually may be very difficult to replace, so give them their due respect and care from now on. Be sure the iron is disconnected when not in use; keep the sole plate clean and free from scratches.

Then, there's the toaster. It's a simple matter to dump out the crumbs, but how often the task is neglected. Grills and waffle irons should be wiped with a cloth after use; never allow grease to accumulate on them.

Percolators should be washed promptly, rinsed, and all parts allowed to dry thoroughly before assembling them to put away until needed again.

Don't forget to oil the motor of your mixer occasionally. Run at the speed suggested in the manufacturer's directions and don't overload.

Reclaiming Fats From Drippings

Perhaps Canadians have not been intentionally wasteful, only thoughtless. Consider the saving of fat, for instance. In peacetime it never occurred to the present generation to save the accumulated fats from cooking and then to clarify them.

Drippings from ham, bacon, sausage, roasted meats, and poultry, along with fats used in frying should now be saved unflinchingly because of a threatened shortage in fat.

One effective means of clarifying fat is to transfer two cups of mixed drippings to a heavy well-balanced kettle and melt the fat slowly. Add slices of unpeeled potato and turn the flame higher so fat will bubble. When potato slices are well browned drain the hot fat into a container through several thickness of cheesecloth.

The potato slices absorb flavors and odors. When fat is cold, cut off bottom layer containing sediment, and discard. Store the clear fat in refrigerator.

Making Shoes Last

The shoe industry is as anxious to have you take care of your shoes as the government, or you yourself are. Five suggested rules include the use of shoe trees whenever your shoes are off your feet; the constant watching of heels to prevent their becoming rundown; the constant use of polish; the wearing of rubbers and galoshes when the weather is bad, and the avoidance of scuffing or scratching whenever possible.

TESTED RECIPES

RHUBARB

To many a Canadian housewife one of the early signs of spring is the appearance of the first tender stalks of strawberry-red rhubarb. Canadian grown rhubarb is now being welcomed in many homes and provides an opportunity for variety in the daily menu. Present sugar restrictions demand more care and attention in the preparation of this spring product.

The Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture recommends the following tested recipes.

Stewed Rhubarb

6 cups rhubarb (washed and cut into 1 inch pieces)

¾ cup sugar
¼ cup water

Wash and dice rhubarb but not peel. Place in pan with water and cook over low heat until soft. Rhubarb can be cooked in double boiler without water if desired. When done, remove from stove, add sugar, replace cover and allow to stand until cool. Less sugar is required if added after the fruit is cooked. Corn sugar or honey can replace sugar in equal amounts.

It should be noted that different varieties of rhubarb vary in tartness. Therefore the proportions given are only approximate.

A general rule that might be useful is 2 tbsp. sugar for every cup of raw diced rhubarb.

Rhubarb Foam

2 cups diced rhubarb
½ cup water
1 tbsp. cornstarch
½-1 cup granulated sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2 egg whites stiffly beaten

Cook the rhubarb in water until tender and then add the sugar and cornstarch which has been blended. Cook this until there is no taste of raw starch. Allow to cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and vanilla. Chill and serve with a custard sauce made from the egg yolks. This will serve 4-6.

Rhubarb Crisp

6 cups diced rhubarb
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 tbsp. butter
¼ cup flour
6 tbsp. brown sugar
¾ cup wheat germ

Dice the rhubarb and mix with the sugar. Place in buttered baking dish. Combine the butter, flour, brown sugar and wheat germ and spread the mixture on top of the rhubarb. Bake 50-60 minutes in a moderate oven (350F.) or until rhubarb is soft and top is golden brown.

Rhubarb Custard Pie

Pour boiling water over 2 cups chopped rhubarb, add ½ tsp. salt, allow to stand 5 minutes and drain off. To the rhubarb add: 1 cup sugar; 1 tsp. butter (melted); 1 tbsp. flour; 1 egg yolk (well beaten).

Bake in lower crust. When baked, cover top with meringue made from egg white, beaten very stiff, with 3 tbsp. white sugar. Brown in a slow oven.

Rhubarb Juice

Put rhubarb through the food chopper. Measure and allow an equal quantity of water. Let stand over night. Squeeze through several thicknesses of cheese cloth. Bring to boiling point and add ½ cup sugar for each cup of juice. Boil 5 minutes. Use with other fruit juices to make acidulated drinks.

Sheer Blouses

Sheer blouses are being made in more tailored styles for spring. Typical styles are the sheer white blouses, made in shirt-waist style with deep V-necks, turn back collars, and long full sleeves. Light colors, beige, cream, and pastels, are likewise being made in shirt-waist styles or with high-round necks and stitched, pleated fronts. Also among the sheer, but tailored, blouses are some in darker colors, greens, browns, and navy.

Topper for Pudding

Two tablespoons of orange marmalade mixed into a cup of whipped cream makes a delicious new topper for chocolate cottage pudding.

ALEX BRERETON, V.C.

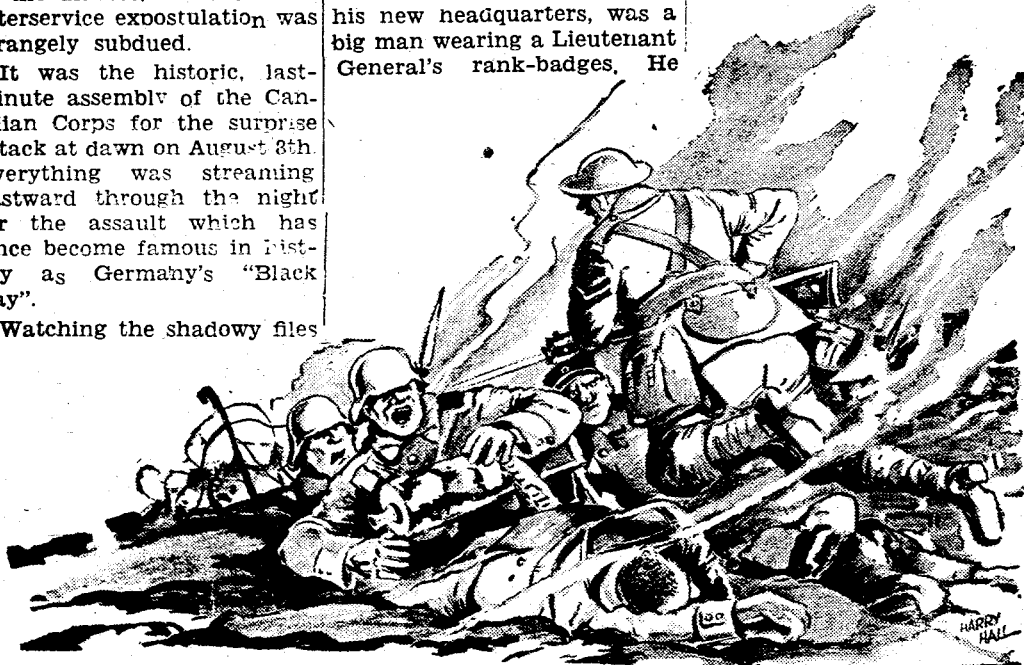

On a peaceful August evening 23 years ago, the 8th Battalion of Winnipeg debussed near Amiens after a fast and secret move to the south from the Vimy sector. They marched toward the line through a darkness that was mumbling and talking with surreptitious traffic. All the world seemed to be tiptoeing, and on the move in the surrounding night. Tanks whirled and lurched across country, but their voices seemed to be muted. Every cross-road was a clutter of horse and motor transport, but the extensive vocabularies of revlings, possessed by all harried mulskimmers, were stilled by the prevailing hush. Long ammunition columns and battery gun-limbers shouldered heavily-laden files of infantry to the ditches, but the usual interservice exostulation was strangely subdued.

It was the historic, last-minute assembly of the Canadian Corps for the surprise attack at dawn on August 8th. Everything was streaming eastward through the night for the assault which has since become famous in history as Germany's "Black Day".

Watching the shadowy files of the 8th Battalion moving was suddenly thrilled to the past the darkened doorway of sole-studs of his dust-covered his new headquarters, was a big man wearing a Lieutenant General's rank-badges. He field boots.

The Little Black Devils were singing on the march!

It was not that the Canadians had stopped the cheery habit of easing weary miles with their marching songs that their strident Chorus now elated the Corps Commander. They had missed all the shock and attrition of the German's powerful offensives in the spring of 1918, which for a time infected British infantry with a vengeful gloom so that they had taken to plodding the French cobble and Flemish pave in stolid silence. But singing soldiers had been almost a rarity in recent dark weeks, and Sir Arthur Currie heard the voices of the 8th Battalion as an omen of victory on the morrow. He turned to an aide and impulsively exclaimed: "Nothing will stop these boys!"

Leading the 8th Battalion's nocturnal rendition of "Macnamara's Band" that memorable August night was a youth who had been born on a Manitoba farm, and who had been named for the nearby prairie village of Alexander—Corporal Alex Brereton, of the Lewis

Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning — always constipated — can't eat without pain and distress? Your liver is poisoning your system—permanent ill health may be the result!

● Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes feeble—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-achy, back-achy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW! Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

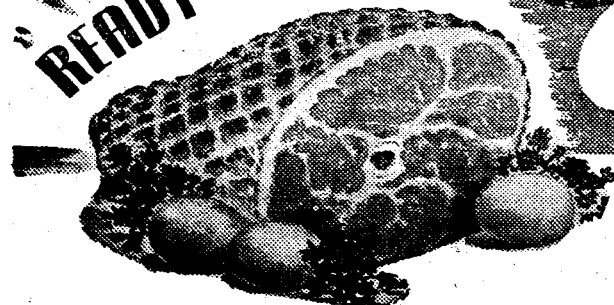

"I'll Live 12, Always Fine Now"

Since I was twelve I suffered from constipation and never felt well. I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and I can truly say they gave me wonderful relief. Every one should try "Fruit-a-tives" and enjoy life as I do now. I have never been sick for years.
Mrs. Florence Williamson, Montreal, Que.

"Run Down For Years, Has Perked Health"

I was badly run down and terribly nervous. My digestion was poor and I was always constipated. "Fruit-a-tives" soon made me better and there is nothing like it for making you well and giving you new pep and energy. After years of bad health, "Fruit-a-tives" made me feel fine.

It was an historic march for the Little Black Devils, though they did not realize that they were heading for the first Canadian battle of mechanized war, and an assault which so clearly marked the turning of war's tide that the entire British army would start singing again. It was even more memorable for Corporal Brereton though he, too, did not know its portent and that he actually was marching toward immortality in the story of the First German War.

When the first hint of the sun heralded historic August 8th, the green unshelled country side east of Amiens was guileless and quiet, shrouded and dripping from the heavy dawn mists. The surprise attack had been so well organized that it was mounted and launched while the German trench-holders were still confident that the Canadians were in process of taking over trenches near Ypres, 40 miles to the north. Behind the enemy's lines, impressed French peasants roused to just another day of early harvesting.

The concerted crash of hundreds of unregistered guns spoke out at 4.20 a. m. Low-flying airplanes helped drown the engine-roar of 127 light and 324 heavy tanks, which had suddenly debouched from their hides five minutes before the barrage broke. In an incredibly short time groups of prisoners in German feld grau being herded down the Amiens-Roye road under the menace of armoured cars and solitary infantryman.

That first day's battle was a startling triumph that it marked the end of "fighting with our eyes looking over our shoulders to the sea". The combination of surprise and tanks made the advance so rapid that it outraced the barrage in the early stages and then drew beyond field-gun range. In two hours 16,000 prisoners had been captured; by noon tanks and armoured cars were nearly 12 miles into German held territory.

But Friday, August 9th, was a different story. The advantage was over. Many tanks had been knocked out. The advance was coming into country that could be more strongly defended. The opposition suddenly stiffened and all ground won was conquered only with difficulty and heavy casualties. It was during this day of heat, dust and obstinate fighting by the defenders, that young Alex Brereton rose to the heights of valor.

The 8th Battalion took position and sheltered in a wood, while the day's zero hour was moved forward again and again as they waited for tanks and artillery to get into place. In front was a German position whose banked machine-guns pinned down the 4th Division at the end of their attack the day before. It had to be overcome before an advance of any depth could be achieved.

But the tanks failed to arrive and the light brigade, which was put down at 1 p.m. when the assault was finally launched, failed to crush the deadly menace of the machine guns in the 8th Battalion's centre. It was up to the infantry to deal with their obstacles themselves, without aid from supporting arms.

With "B" and "C" companies in the lead, the Battalion moved resolutely into view and started across open ground. The fire at once increased to a murderous hail. Man after man went down, hit, with a crash of equipment. They took it in short rushes and still the casualties were appalling. The first-wave platoon was suddenly caught on an open slope under the vertible noses of a row of Maxims, which opened on them with concerted sweep.

The remnants as suddenly took cover. There was so little protection on the exposed slope that in a matter of moments the entire platoon was certain to be annihilated. The line desperately hugged the ground, except for one man—Corporal Brereton.

At once appreciating the hazard of their position, the Lewis-gun corporal defiantly stood erect. With contemptuous disregard for the seething hail from the guns, he coolly observed that there were six of them, that they were sited roughly in a row, and that if the nearest heavily manned post were overcome the balance could also be captured.

A cautious man would have sought cover after that close-up survey; he would have been content to leave the initiative to his superiors. But Brereton, with a surge of the high gallantry of which only heroes are made, rushed headlong for the first post—the gun which was causing the greatest havoc.

Armed with a rifle now, Brereton shot the nearest German through the head. As a second gunner frantically tried to slew the muzzle towards the lone attacker, Brereton hurled himself into the trench, bayonetting the man as he jumped. The nine men remaining in the post were so disconcerted by the corporal's impetuous bravery that they surrendered.

The reaction to Brereton's gallant act was immediate. Inspired by his audacious courage and answering his directions and commands, his platoon swiftly rushed the remaining five posts, the whole position falling a matter of moments after Brereton's single-handed success.

Later that day, when the final objective had been consolidated, Corporal Brereton found that he had missed death so narrowly that a machine-gun bullet had slashed a note-book carried in the breast pocket of his tunic. "Pretty close," was his laconic comment as he sent it to his mother for a souvenir.

Brereton, who enlisted with the 144th Battalion in January 1916, was back in service at an early date in the present war. He is now a Company Quarter master Sergeant on the staff of the Military Training Centre at Grande Prairie, Alta.

Colin Small, one-time resident of Tiverton and now living at Grand Manan, has purchased the wreck of the 9,000 ton steamer Hada County, which went ashore on Brazil Shoal some time ago, for $550. He heads a syndicate of Seal Cove and Grand Harbor business men. The ship was carrying a cargo of coal. The sale of the vessel was by auction and there were many bidders the first bid being $25. The tide on Brazil Shoal runs continuously except for brief slack spells at the turn and any salvaging operations must be carried on under great difficulty and with perfect weather conditions.

HOW TO COMBAT Rheumatic Pains

A Few New Commandments

THIRTEEN "COMMANDMENTS" for civilians during this war have been as follows:

1. Thou shalt keep thy mouth shut.
2. Thou shalt stay out of Ottawa, both thou and thy conventions, and thy car and thy family's family and all thy correspondence and thy personal problems; none of these shalt thou bring to Ottawa, for they clutter up the works.
3. Thou shalt not harass thy son because he hath not a commission; neither shalt thou make him to feel the service of an enlisted man to be beneath his college education and thy Colonial background; neither shall these things be held against him by other enlisted men if thou dost not make of them an abomination.
4. Thou shalt not hoard; only the squirrel hoardeth, and this he doeth because he is a squirrel.

5. Thou shalt not get ants in thy pants to put on a uniform only because thou art vain and hast no courage to hoe thy row in the place where thou art most needed.

6. Thou shalt waik even thus shalt thou aid to save gas and rubber; thus shalt thou redeem the price of thy girdle and thy doctor's bill and thy very hide.

7. Thou shalt not strike; neither shalt thou walk out; neither shalt thou lock out; neither shalt thou sit down on the job; in order that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God hath given thee.

8. Thou shalt not put thy confidence in the seas, for they who hath thought to hide behind the seas are full of prune juice.

9. Thou shalt not fret because of evildoers, for thou hast not done so well thyself.

10. Thou shalt not lose faith; thou hast lost nothing beyond recovery if thy faith be not lost.

11. Thou shalt not complain because of tire, sugar and other commodity rationings; nor of the sacrifices of the time spent in the civilian defence classes; neither in the drills incidental thereto; thee must realize that thou art part of thy nation's defences.

12. Thou shalt ever remember that thyself and thy neighbor and thy neighbor's neighbor—yea, verily all of us must "tap some sap from a Jap"—then when his days are numbered, thee shall hear one long loud "Yap"—ouch!

13. Lastly, thou shalt buy plenty victory bonds and stamps and pay thy taxes until it hurts thy pocketbook—for then and only then, "with these taxes shall we lick the Axis."

Crop Fertilizers

Of all ordinary farm crops, the potato is probably the most profitably responsive to liberal feeding. The acceptance of this statement does not in the least ignore the fact that there are several other factors that play an important part toward success in potato growing—type of soil, character of season, cultivation and spraying of the crop—but it means that, with those factors favorable, potatoes are very responsive to liberal applications of plant food. Further information on fertilizers for potatoes and other crops may be found in the War Time Production Series pamphlet, No. 25 on "Fertilizers for Various Crops" obtainable free from the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM—In loving memory of Headley and Curtis Stark, drowned April 1st, 1940:

So quickly and quietly came the call,
Their sudden deaths surprised us all;
A sudden change in a moment fell,
Without a chance to say farewell.
But the wound is just as fresh today,
As in the hour they went away.
It is not at the time the tears are shed,
That tells of the hearts that are torn,
But the lonely tears of the after years,
Of remembrance silently borne.

—Ever remembered by their Mother, Father, Sisters, Brother, Wife and Son. 29:1ip

IN MEMORIAM—In loving memory of my father, Joseph W. Tidd, who died March 30, 1931. Also sister Blanche, on April 14, 1940. They shall sleep but not forever.

We shall meet to part, no never:

On that resurrection morn.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Harris Publicover

Mrs. Harris Publicover (formerly Grace Wilson, of Digby), passed away suddenly at her home in Malden, Mass., on Saturday morning, March 21. She leaves to mourn her husband, now in the U. S. Navy; one son, Harris, Jr., and five brothers, Samuel and Fred, in Digby; Frank, at Point Prim Light; Arthur, in Toronto and Harry in the U.S.A.; also nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Arthur Berry

The death of Mrs. Emma Martha (Beals) Berry, 73, occurred at Deep Brook Monday evening, March 30th, following a long tedious illness, aggravated by a fall on January 27th which necessitated her being in hospital some time. Deceased was born in Waldec West, Annapolis Co., and was the last of a large family. After her marriage she resided in that village for many years, later moving to the United States. About eight years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Berry returned to their home here, and ever since that time Mrs. Berry was a constant sufferer from arthritis. During her early life she became a member of the Bear River Baptist Church, later transferring to Deep Brook church. Beside her husband there survive two daughters; Mrs. Minerva M. Moore, Truro, who has been with her parents the past month; Miss Lavinia Berry, Malden, Mass.; and one son, Hugh, Troy, N. Y., who with his sister, arrived in Deep Brook Monday morning. Funeral was from the Baptist Church, Wednesday afternoon conducted by the pastor, Rev. T. F. McWilliam. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Bear River.

Gilbert Grant Potter

The death of Gilbert Grant Potter, 58, of Deep Brook, occurred with almost tragic suddenness Saturday afternoon, less than two hours after being admitted to Digby Hospital. Deceased had been about his usual work in the village, though suffering from a cold, but suddenly grew worse at midnight Friday. On Saturday afternoon he was rushed to the hospital by Dr. A. B. Campbell and before 6.30 came word of his passing. He was born in Clementsvalle, son of Mrs. Eliza (Hicks) Potter and the late Charles Potter and had lived in Deep Brook twenty-five years. For many years he had been janitor of the Baptist Church and general service man of the village and will long be missed for his loyalty and sincerity. His first wife (Greta Miesner, New Glasgow) and infant child died in 1921. Surviving are his mother; second wife, (formerly Mrs. Margaret Vantassel, Digby), two sisters, Mrs. Everett Potter, (Lottie) Nakomis, Sask.; Mrs. C. G. Harris (Muriel), Deep Brook; one brother, Herbert, at home with his mother in Clements-

Another $50 for Queen's Fund

The Editor of the Courier received a cheque for $50. in the mail this week. The cheque was a donation from the Bear River Agricultural Society to the Queen's Canadian Fund and represented the balance of receipts over the expenditures from the annual Digby County Exhibition held at Bear River last September.

The secretary of the Bear River Society reports a shipment of more than 50,000 lbs. of turnips has been made by farmers of that area to the United Fruit Co.'s Dehydrating Plant at Aylesford. These turnips will be dried for war purposes.

The Society has 50 tons of lime on order.

It has also been decided to hold the exhibition at Bear River this fall, and to make every possible effort to encourage greater production and co-operative marketing.

Changes In Teaching Staff

Resignations of Miss Marjorie Remby and of Miss Jean Anderson were accepted by the Digby School Board. Miss Remby, who joined the school staff at the beginning of the term leaves shortly to accept a civil service position. Miss Anderson, who has been on the high school staff for a number of years has resigned to take a position in Middleton at the beginning of the fall term.

Miss A. Woodworth was named successor to Miss Remby for the balance of the term, while Miss Ruth Campbell will take Miss Anderson's place. A new teacher will be engaged to take Miss Campbell's place on the junior high school staff.

Even Clothes

Lines Show - - -

Victory potatoes, victory carrots, eggs with plain "V" markings, and cattle with "V" on their foreheads, and so on, have become quite common place; in fact, we have published several of these stories ourselves. But the other day we saw a new one that deserves special mention — a "Victory Clothes Line". There were three shorts and a long fanning the breeze.

valle; one nephew, Chester Harris, Deep Brook; and a step-son, Irving Vantassel, Saint John. Funeral was Monday afternoon from the Deep Brook Baptist church of which he was a member, and was conducted by the pastor, Rev. T. F. McWilliam, assisted by Rev. A. W. L. Smith. Burial was in the Clementsvalle cemetery.

Is There Price Ceiling on Wood?

To the Editor of the Courier:

Sir—What about this "price ceiling?" I have been told it is designed to protect the public from increased prices on every-day commodities, and to prevent profiteers from raising prices on their products in common use simply because "there's a war on". If I got the truth, how about firewood? In the past year this rose from $7 a cord for the best hardwood ready cut, to $7.50 last summer, $8.00 last fall, and $9.00 in March here in Digby, and much higher in some other towns. There is no shortage of wood. The woods are still full of wood. Is it profiteering?

Housecleaning Time Is Here

Digby housewives are arming themselves with broom and dustpan, plenty of soap and water, and getting a good start on their all out spring housecleaning campaign, and "all out" is the right term to use in this spring of 1942. Articles that have collected dust in attic, cellar and closets, for years—old paper, old rags and curtains, old felt hats, metals and any other salvageable materials will not be saved because they "might come in handy", but will go for salvage. Attic cleaning and Axis cleaning will be combined this year.

The men folk are getting into full swing with their "back yard housecleaning campaign"—if you doubt it, ask the Digby Fire Department—they were kept particularly busy over the Easter week end chasing up bon fires and grass fires that succeeded in getting out of control. Fortunately, no damage of any consequence was done.

It looks as though these men are putting forth an extra effort to raise a few of their own vegetables in their own back yards this year. Already some of them are busy with their spades. Plenty of "new ground" will be broken this season for victory gardens. Daylight time and gasoline rationing are helping a lot in this connection.

From what we hear in Digby many flower gardens will be reduced in size, and peas, beans, spuds, tomatoes and so on will replace blossoms, nevertheless, flowers will not be neglected altogether, and as usual Digby properties will be beautified by these colorful plots.

Savory pancakes give an extra interest to breakfast. They're favorites with the entire family and particularly good served this way. Stack three hot pancakes with crumbled cooked bacon between them. Quickly spread with shaved maple sugar mixed with butter and serve immediately. Maple cream is also good for the top spread.

About This and That

The New York World-Telegram comments on today's increasing "gimmie" tendency. Give me this and give me that! Gimmie more appropriation and patronage, gimmie plants for my electoral district, gimmie fees and dues to work for Uncle Sam, gimmie ham 'n' eggs, gimmie share-the-wealth, gimmie $30 every Thursday. France had the gimmies, too—had them till the Germans were close to Paris. Then everybody went frantically to work—too late. France has no gimmies today—except, gimmie food for my baby, gimmie a place to lay my head, gimmie death.

Advertisements in British newspapers are having a different flavor. The purpose back of publicity is not to try and increase sales, but to keep down sales. The art of advertising is in reverse. The papers are asking the public not to buy as much, but as little as possible, because of shortages. However, knowing the importance of printer's ink, in progressive merchandising, the merchants and dealers are keeping certain products in the public eye, and space is largely devoted to helpful messages, as well as encouraging people to make the most of what they have.

VARIETY SHOWER AT SMITH'S COVE

At the close of the program, an afghan, made by the members of the Junior Red Cross was presented to the president of the Senior Red Cross. Proceeds of the evening amounted to $12.50 which will be donated to the Queen's Canadian Fund.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

THE ILLUSION OF DEPTH

The illusion of depth is very important to a landscape picture. You can achieve this effect in your pictures by observing a few simple rules.

DO YOU want to get a feeling of great depth in your pictures? Do you want, when picturing landscapes, to give the impression of vast distance? It's not at all hard to do—if you use a little common sense in choosing an appropriate camera position, watch the foreground, and work with the light instead of against it.

Take this week's illustration, for instance. As landscapes go, it's not bad. In fact it conveys the illusion of depth to an unusual degree . . . but not by chance. The photographer, I dare say, planned it so.

In the first place, you'll note that instead of taking a picture when the lake was devoid of life he waited until a canoe passed through the foreground. Or perhaps, he "planted" it there. Regardless, the appearance of the canoe in the foreground immediately accomplished two things: It added human interest to the picture, and gave us a basis of comparison for the other objects in the scene.

Not content with that, however, the photographer very carefully chose a point of view behind some low hanging trees so that a few branches hung down from above, and thus added another plane to the scene. In other words, he gave us something familiar and very near to look at, and also something distant to see. Fortunately, too, there are three tones or planes in the distant shore, and mountain beyond, which further emphasize the illusion of depth.

And there, in a nutshell, is the secret of getting a feeling of depth in your pictures. Make sure that some familiar object—such as a tree, a barn, a house, a horse, a canoe, etc.—is included in the foreground of your picture, along with "human interest" when possible.

Here's one further tip which isn't illustrated by the picture, but which is important just the same. Watch for sidelighting. Objects and scenes which are pictured when the sun is shining upon them from the side appear to have a greater feeling of roundness and depth than those pictured with flat illumination.

To press puffed sleeves, so popular today, turn the sleeves wrong side out, slip a folded towel under the puffs, and then quickly press with a warm iron.

Sauces should not be added to boiled onions, cabbage or celery until time to serve them.

Splinters of wood, dipped in tallow, were used as candles by England in the eleventh century.

Newer Neckwear Keeps Chins Up

Fashion takes it in the neck this spring. Frilly or tailored spanking white or in vivid colors, neckwear is an important highlight of the season's picture.

Just as in spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of you-know-what, so each year with the first crocus we see those vastly becoming navy blue suits and dresses with their fresh-as-a-daisy lingerie touches.

Frothy confections of chisp white organdie are all over the place this spring, and as flattering as ever. Sheer, lacy bibs, with all the daintiness of baby dresses, are effective when worn with a highnecked dark dress.

Spices Available

Women are wondering how they will ever be able to get along without spices. But they may not have to. Just because Japan has overrun the so-called spice belt doesn't mean that Canadians will have to eat their victuals flat and tasteless. Sh! Any Japs around? Then here's why:

Pepper continues to come from India, and even if that supply is shut off, the present supply in this country is sufficient for a two or three-year period. Red pepper, hot enough to be labeled cayenne, is produced in Louisiana; chili is native to our Southwestern States and Mexico, while mustard is so abundant as to have become positively common.

Ginger, nutmeg, mace and all-spice, are produced in abundance in the West Indies. Al! the garlic, sweet basil, paprika, and coriander that are needed can be raised right in United States, and the good neighbors in the Latin American countries are sending unfailing supplies of bay leaves, marjoram, origanum, sage, anise, saffron, or what will ye!

To these may be added clove, cinnamon, thyme, bergamot, rosemary, fenel, cummin, angelica, and others. Surely these are sufficient to bring Canadians to the table from vastly more than a sense of duty.

For Longer Wear

Neat gloves and shoes have long been considered requisites of perfect grooming. These will last much longer if they are given special care.

Suede gloves should be brushed with a rubber brush frequently. Never leave them rolled or crumpled, but carefully place them flat in your drawer.

Shoes should not stand overnight with street dust on them. Every night clean them carefully, never allowing dirt of any kind to become imbedded in the leather creases.

For something new to serve top cooked asparagus with sliced hard cooked eggs. Sprinkle with paprika.

MILK BRICKS

Milk bricks is the latest development in the way of scientific and industrial research brought about by the war. The method was developed in Australia due to the shortage of tinplate and the need to conserve shipping space in exports of essential foodstuffs to Britain. Water is evaporated from the milk and the resulting powder is then moulded into a firm block under high pressure. The volume is thus reduced by fifty per cent. Thirty-three pounds of powder can be compressed into a nine-inch cube, equivalent in food material to 26 gallons of milk, or 208 pints. When it is desired to use the blocks, they are powdered again and beaten up in water to reconvert them into milk. Reports indicate that the nutritive elements of fresh milk in their original proportions are maintained. Experiments are now being conducted with a view to compressing the milk into 56-pound blocks to fit standard export butter boxes.

Annual Report Digby County Agricultural Agent

Study Clubs and Farm Forum
Radio Groups

As mentioned in the preceding paragraph, Study Clubs have helped materially in organizing certain of our rural organizations; however, one must not forget that our other clubs—Garden, Poultry and Calf—have a right to be called study clubs as much as any other and the good that these have done must not be lost sight of when considering some of the most potent factors for agricultural and rural regeneration. Radio Farm Forum groups have been organized in sundry parts of my territory and already agricultural societies have engaged their members into "listening in" groups and it has been our privilege to attend meetings of these groups and we feel that through these programs farmers have a splendid opportunity to get real information about some of the complex and complicated problems of their calling. There are at least 60 who listen in each week and perhaps four times as many at the monthly meeting of the Agricultural Societies. There is, however, this disadvantage that sometimes it is difficult to get good reception—and that's the rub.

Co-Operative Societies

New co-operative organizations have been formed among fishermen of Wedgeport and Pubnico. These have federated with similar Fishermen's Unions of Port Maitland and Argyle to sell lobsters. With Mr. Brian Meagher, of the Department of Marketings, a series of meetings were held in many parts of my territory and too much praise cannot be given him for getting the fishermen to take care of their own business. No doubt this attempt to market co-operatively the fishermen's lobsters if successful will encourage a great many others to follow the example of those who have organized. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

EXHIBITIONS

The Bear River Exhibition

In many respects the Bear River Exhibition may be regarded as one of the best in the province, especially from the standpoint of organization and co-operation of the farmers and people to make such an undertaking a success. Though perhaps surpassed by some larger fair in the quality and number of cattle yet it is second to no exhibition in the quality of its garden and crop exhibits as well as the Domestic Science work.

West Pubnico Community Fair

As was anticipated this fair this year has been an outstanding success. Notwithstanding the fact that a part of the population were engaged in occupations which forced them to leave their community however those at home did a very good job of carrying on. The live stock exhibits were of a very high order as well as exhibits in manual training, domestic science, etc. The attendance was very good also.

People from some of the nearby districts attended. It is hoped that other communities will either follow Pubnico's example or join with them in taking part in the Fair.

Clare Fox Show

The outstanding agricultural event in Clare for the last seven years has been the Annual Fox Show held in Little Brook. There were 125 foxes shown including Ring Necks, White-Faced Foxes, Pearl Platinums and Blue Foxes. Animals from all the best fox districts in Nova Scotia were brought to Little Brook which made the show truly representative of the whole province. Competition was keen in all classes. The quality of foxes shown in the words of Mr. G. Kaulbeck, the judge, who is an authority on foxes, compared favorably with foxes he had judged at larger shows. The favorable prices being received for breeding foxes and for pelts has been very encouraging to those who are engaged in the fox industry as well as in other fur-bearing animals. There has been a considerable number of foxes sold from this district for breeders and the prices quite satisfactory. We are of the opinion however that if a little more care were taken with respect to establishing a breeding programme and this followed up consistently the average quality of our ranches would be stepped up considerably and thus increase the revenue to the majority of ranchers. This applies to all fur-bearing animals and live stock also.

Digby County Farmers' Association

This association has been recognized as the Clearing House for all agricultural problems and programs of Digby County. At the annual meeting delegates come prepared to discuss the problems of their respective agricultural societies and to help to formulate a program which in its broad lines will be of benefit to the farmers of the county and of the province. Through the association a policy was enacted to bonus societies bringing in limestone, also to encourage growing better and larger crops of grain, roots and improving pastures on our farms. Furthermore, it has given serious thought to the question of teaching agriculture in our schools, and has yearly contributed to the general discussion of the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association by sending in resolutions which were often favorably received by this body. This year the association held its customary banquet and was addressed by Mr. Hart and myself.

Soils and Fertilizers

The uncontested increase of crops through the judicious use of lime and fertilizers with the use of barnyard manure has been a fact we have placed before our farmers whenever possible. Experiments with fertilizers are staged on many of our best farms and these serve as an example to other farmers. Pasture improvement with fertilizers has also been done and this practice to increase the carrying capacity of pastures is becoming more and more general. Other crop and fertilizer experiments have been the increasing use of limestone and phosphate fertilizers in growing alfalfa. Last spring upwards of fifty acres were sown to alfalfa scattered over a wide range of territory. These plots were visited during the growing season and most of them confirm our belief that alfalfa can be grown profitably in many parts of Digby county, when the proper precautions and necessary materials are supplied, namely lime and small quantities of phosphorus. An alfalfa plot was also tried out in Pubnico. This has come along fairly well; however we will be in a better position to tell if it did succeed next spring. About 400 tons of limestone were brought into Digby county. In the Pubnico district of Yarmouth county two carloads were brought in.

Farm Crops

The usual farm crops—timothy, clover and alfalfa hay—are grown on our farms. Timothy has been the basis for keeping live stock for generations. However many farmers are breaking away from this practice and growing more clover and in some cases alfalfa. Especially is this true with the latter crop since a few years. However the drawback to growing these crops is the difficulty of making either clover or alfalfa hay along the sea border. If some means of account of the late blight. It devised it would be a very short time before the practice become general. However where oxen are used for logging timothy hay is found to be the best forage for them.

Grain

Excellent crops of both barley and oats are grown on many of our small farms. This is particularly true when the land is put in good condition and seeded early enough to be threshed before the rains of September. There is however a drawback to grain growing—the limited area of tilled land and the lack of grain cleaning facilities. We believe that the Government would be well advised if it granted freight rebates on grain shipped for cleaning from these areas which are removed from seed cleaning areas.

Potatoes

This crop this year was a failure in most districts, on account of the late blight. It is not the general practice to spray potatoes. Our farmers take the risk of growing tubers without spraying. Moreover certain varieties of potatoes do withstand blight. But the demand for white potatoes on the market has forced the farmer to grow these varieties and they are quite susceptible to blight. A variety which at one time was quite popular and blight resistant was the "Never Rot", a potato developed in Clare and unfortunately allowed to run out.

Fruit Growing

In the district surrounding Bear River and where spraying had been carried out, excellent fruit was picked. In Clare, on account of wind injury and a cold and wet spring the yield of fruit was much less than in average years. The neglected orchards failed to produce any fruit at all.

Strawberries, Blueberries and Cranberries

As the sale of strawberries is limited to the local market only a small number of farmers grow them commercially. However, excellent patches of strawberries are to be found in almost every farming district. In Amira Hill, Sluice Point, Belleville and Eel Brook strawberries are grown and shipped to the South Shore and sometimes to Halifax. When berries were shipped to Boston and the market favorable these districts did derive no small revenue from strawberries.

No definite programme for growing maggot-free blueberries was instituted among the people of Digby county. There are no large areas which could be burned without danger to the surrounding forests. Moreover the berries are picked chiefly by women and children who do so for an agent who takes on this business as a side line. Some attempt was made to get districts interested in forming a blueberry association and to find out what the possibilities were for the industry in the county. It would be necessary to make a survey of the county with respect to the blueberry industry and then attempt to organize districts as clubs that would dust and care for blueberry lands much as they do in Maine. There were shipped about 1500 crates of blueberries to Boston from Digby county this year.

The cranberry crop was rather light and berries picked late were affected by October frosts. However there are great possibilities for cranberry growing in many districts of Digby county. We have in mind Cape St. Mary where a recent aboiteau has been constructed and about 300 acres of land can easily be drained. Cranberries are growing wild on a fair-size piece of this marsh. Its proximity to the sea should immune it from frost which is the great drawback in cranberry growing on many such areas.

Truck Crops

A considerable source of revenue to our small farmers is derived from the sale of vegetables. This year with the large number of people engaged in lumber and ship building operations the market was greatly increased resulting in farmers having a very good season of it. Moreover a good run of tourists also helped to create a good demand for fresh vegetables.

(To be concluded)

Good seed is healthy seed, and in this connection the wide varieties of diseases which may be carried by seed is not always realized. Smuts and certain root rots of cereals may all be disseminated by means of seed. The planting of infected seed practically ensures the perpetuation of disease.

Danger! Liver Trouble is Serious

Are you nervous and irritable—can't sleep or eat—tired out all the time? If you're like that, a faulty liver is poisoning your whole system! Lasting ill health may be the cost!

● Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headache, backache, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

Sportsmen Interested In Maritimes

Despite war conditions with their necessary restrictions, big game hunters and fishermen of the United States, fortunate enough to get away for a breathing spell to engage in their favorite pursuits, still look to Canada as possessing the ideal hunting and fishing grounds of the North American continent, according to Ernest G. Poole, fish and game representative, Canadian National Railways. Mr. Poole has just returned from Boston where he attended the annual sportsmen's show.

"The show was very well attended, thirty thousand spectators being present one day," said Mr. Poole. "The exhibit of the Canadian Government attracted favorable attention, it consisting of a revolving map of Canada, showing up the high spots of hunting and fishing terrain in each of the provinces.

"Enquiries as to train services to the hunting and fishing areas of Quebec and New Brunswick as well as Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island served by the lines of the Canadian National Railways showed a decided increase over former years," Mr. Poole continued. "These areas have always been popular with sportsmen from the eastern United States and judging from the many enquiries I received, this year will be no exception to the rule.

"Nor were other parts of Canada left out," concluded Mr. Poole. "Several parties of hunters and fishermen are already booked for points in northern Ontario and in the vicinity of Jasper National Park.

"Tell Canada we'll be there," was ringing in my ears as I left for home."

Looms

A shortage of baby chicks in Nova Scotia is forecast by C. E. Benoit, Truro, chief poultry promoter, Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture. Already most of the Nova Scotia hatcheries have their possible production of baby chicks booked well to the end of April and some to the first of May. Poultrymen who are planning on getting chicks before it is too late should have their orders placed with the hatchery as soon as possible, and so give the various hatcheries a chance to co-operate in the filling of orders.

Information regarding surpluses of chicks that may possibly be available at any particular time by any hatchery can be obtained from any county agricultural representative, from the department of agriculture at Truro, or from the Dominion Poultry Services, 100 Sackville Street, Halifax.

Conserve Milk Cans

The prospects of getting tin and sheet iron for the manufacture of milk cans is very poor, according to W. J. Bird, N. S. Dairy Superintendent. On his return from a conference at Ottawa Mr. Bird stated that he was more convinced than ever that the best use possible should be made of the present supply of cans. He said he was doing his utmost to get the necessary materials but there was a shortage all over Canada and when present stocks are exhausted he could not say what would happen. The mills are piled high with war orders, and war materials have the priority. The manufacture of milk cans, he stated, has been reduced to two sizes, 25-pound and 40-pound.

Another curtailment that looms before the dairyman is that of milk and cream collections. No official orders have been issued as yet, but marked restrictions are expected including the elimination of all duplications in truck collections and the possibility that producers may have to do their own trucking to the main highways.

Interest Keen In Soil Testing

Nova Scotia farmers are showing a keen interest in soil testing. Close to a score of applications are being received each day by Dr. George Smith, Truro, provincial chemist, for soil testing forms. The department would like the farmers to fill out the forms before sending in the samples. Soil samples, intended for examination by the Soils and Fertilizer Division at Truro, should be taken to about plow depth, and in order to be representative of any particular field should be taken from at least six or eight different places in the field. After a large number of samples have been taken from various places they should be thoroughly mixed and about one-half pint of the mixture sent to Truro for analysis. It is important that along with the sample as much information as possible be given by the farmers about the treatment of the field during the past two or three years, and also that the farmer state what he plans to grow on that particular soil during the coming season.

Use Clean Water Containers

A large number of samples of water for analysis are being received by the provincial chemist, at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, Truro. It is useless to examine some of the samples received because the container in which the water has been placed had not been thoroughly cleaned. In taking samples of water it is recommended that a pint self-sealing jar be used and that it be thoroughly washed and then rinsed with boiling water. The water for analysis should be taken from the cleanest part of the well and the container should be rinsed several times with the water before it is finally filled and tightly sealed. The bottle should be carefully packed in a box and addressed to the Department of Agriculture, Soils and Fertilizer Division, Truro. Farmers should fill in a form, which is free on application to the Department, before sending in samples of water. No charge is made for the testing.

Preparing for Garden Brigades

The Nova Scotia garden brigade is now being organized as the one means of promoting a needed increase in the production of vegetables. The object is to enlist all citizens, young and old, who are in a position to cultivate a garden plot, no matter how small the plot may be. The slogan is, "a garden for every home." The plan is to have garden companies, with a limit of 20 members, in every community. Last year there were 54 garden companies in the province. With the urgency for greater food production pressing in on all sides it is hoped that there will be many more companies this year. All vegetables produced by members of the garden brigade are to be for home use and not for commercial purposes. Helpful literature on gardening may be obtained from the Nova Scotia Agricultural College.

Plowing Starts In Digby

The season is well advanced in Digby county, according to information given by R. A. LeBlanc, Meteghan, in his report of March 25, covering conditions in the county. He states: "Heavy rains during the week helped to take all the frost out of the ground. Several farmers began plowing on dry spots and found the land in fit condition. Some have already made drills ready for planting potatoes, peas and early garden crops."

Showing Keen Interest In Sheep

Keen interest in the sheep program is reported from South Inverness. L. S. Austin, agricultural representative at Mabou, reports that on the whole, flocks have wintered well and more care is being taken of the wool as a result of the large number who marketed on a graded basis last year. Practically all districts have requests in for killing demonstrations and assistance.

APPRECIATION

A letter to his father in England from the driver of an armoured vehicle in the Middle East reads as follows: "The civilians in the game who don't care a d— what they do or where they go are the Y. M. C. A., the Salvation Army and the Padres.

"When a S.A. bloke can get Aussies to sing hymns and like it, he's pretty hot. As for the Y.M.C.A., they beat the band. Right up in this front area two of them run a canteen and reading room in the remains of a house propped up between ruins. They are shelled regularly and bombed half a dozen times a day.

"One morning I was the only one in the room. One of these Y.M.C.A. chaps was writing a letter, the other was listening to the radio. Jerry suddenly turned on the heat, dive bombing. But those chaps didn't budge, except that the one at the radio strolled over and looked out of the window. The letter-writer merely looked up and shouted (you had to shout): 'I wish you'd come away from that window. One of these days you'll fall out and break your neck!'

"I was seriously thinking about a funk-hole for myself right then, but I simply couldn't go after that."

Ships -- The Vital Need

Midland Free Press-Herald

Ships, ships, and still more ships are the most vital war need of the United Nations today. One glance at the map, and the fact slaps one in the face. The war is being fought in every corner of the world. And there is no way to move men, guns, tanks, fighter planes and munitions of all kinds except on ships. The Japanese have conquered the whole of the Southwest Pacific because they had ships and we had not. They first saw to it, by their treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor, that the ships of the United States navy which could have stopped them were either destroyed or disabled.

Why was so little equipment sent to Hong Kong?

Why is it that no reinforcements have yet reached the Americans on the Bataan Peninsula.

Why did the British fail on the Malay Peninsula? Why did Singapore fall? Why were the Dutch beaten in Borneo, Sumatra and Java?

Why was the combined Allied fleet defeated in the battle of the Java Sea?

The answer is the same in every case — there were not enough ships.

There were plenty of soldiers and airmen available. There were thousands of fighter planes ready for action. There were hundreds of tanks which might have helped to save the day. Week after week went by and gallant British soldiers died in the Malayan swamps, hoping against hope for reinforcements which could not come, looking in vain to the skies for fighter planes.

There were no ships to carry them.

"Always there are too few ships and too little of everything," said a British admiral after the bitter news came that the Allied nations had lost thirteen warships in the Java Sea.

Can Australia and New Zealand be saved from the Japanese? Can sufficient men be rushed there with the tools of war? Only if ships can be found.

Can Britain establish a second front on the Continent? Can she successfully carry aid to Russia? Can she support her armies in Egypt, Syria and Iran? Can she back Turkey against German invaders? Can Canada and the United States continue to feed the island fortress?

Not without ships. And the Germans are sinking them these days faster than the United Nations can build them.

Without sea power sufficient to control the seas it does not matter how many soldiers and airmen we can train, nor how many war machines we can build. We cannot win without ships.

What are we doing about it? Have the Allied governments fully awakened to the fact

AROUND THE COUNTY

Weekly notes on various matters conducted by Rev. A. S. Hart.

For some weeks past duties connected with the Solemn Season and Eastertide have prevented me from writing. So many things have happened, too. The county went over the top in the Victory Loan campaign and blackouts have been tried in several places bringing the war very close to our countryside. But the winter which has been a hard one is now past and after a green Christmas we did after all enjoy the luxury of a greenish and sunny Easter.

I must of necessity write this week about the Convention to be held in the Court House in Digby next week. This assembly will include a cross section of all organizations and men and women in responsible positions in the county. It is hoped that a group of gentlemen of responsibility in the provincial field of education, agriculture and marketing will be present in order to advise and help in this great undertaking.

We are at war—the farmer and the housewife just as much as the soldier. The soldier's job ends when the bugles sound "Cease Fire", but the people of the countryside may have an even greater task on hand. We must have food to live. The rural areas must be able to sell their products at a profit in order to live. But how? Is there any answer to that question?

The answer lies in ourselves. We can be the masters of our destiny in spite of all kinds of forces if we make sure that we use the resources at hand—and work together.

And people smile when one that human freedom depends on how fast ships can be built and put into service?

The American program calls for a ship a day, while the Germans sink four. Canada plans to produce a million tons of shipping this year, while the submarines destroy that much every two months.

Shipyards in Canada and the United States are not nearly at 100 per cent production. Quarrels over working conditions slow up progress, while German yards, running at top speed, turn out all kinds of ships. So do the Jap yards. And so also the captive yards of the Norwegians, the Poles, the Danes, the Dutch, the Belgians, the Italians, the French, the Rumanians, the Yugoslavs, the Greeks and the Bulgarians. The Nazis are using the forced labor of all Europe to build ships.

When, O when will workers on this continent realize that none of the rights over which they wrangle will be theirs if Hitler wins? There are no trade unions in Germany. Dictators do not tolerate them. Men of the master race crack the whip over the slaves brought in from the conquered nations. That will be Casays "Work together". Another poor fool who will learn by bitter experience that Digby county just won't do that. They never have done, they never will do.

And with this as a challenge it is for us to face up to it and meet it with common sense and the same spirit which has put us over the top in the Victory Loan campaign, the same spirit which has prompted so many of our men to offer themselves for their country.

Bound up with all these problems is the acute one of education. What education are partners. What kind of education do our children have? They have the education their parents deserve. We need to study these problems carefully. It is no easy matter to undertake to educate parents in questions upon which they have already made up their minds! It is no easy matter to cut across all party lines, religious prejudices and racial differences. And yet if we value our democracy, if we would see this great force in action, if we would see democracy save us from ourselves as well as from our enemies we shall try to the very limit of our power to improve the countryside in every possible way.

* * * *

It has been considered by a very fine committee of men from the Provincial Farmers' Association that the county is the only unit of co-ordination which would bring about results. It is in our local government a very good division of responsibility and organization. But outside the County Farmers there is no other county organization. Yet there are so many problems which affect us all. We are continually writing letters to provincial authorities and making a nuisance of ourselves by being at cross-purposes.

nadian labour's future if we lose.

When, O when will our governments declare we must build ships at twice our present speed? Ship plates, engines and other supplies must be given priority over all else until such time as there are enough ships to carry the war materials now stacked high on countless wharves around the world.

Steel ships, wooden ships, steam ships, gas driven motor ships! All shapes and sizes! Anything that will float and carry cargoes across oceans. We cannot have too many. Never!

Too many Canadians cannot be employed building them. Too many hours cannot be worked constructing them. Not a shipbuilding berth should be idle! Not a man who can be trained to handle a tool should be employed at any unessential job while there are ships to be built and a war to be won.

Victoria Order Receives Bequest

The receipt of the sum of $500. a bequest from the estate of the late Mrs. Jessie Turnbull, was acknowledged at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Tuesday afternoon. The late Mrs. Turnbull, who, in a large measure, was responsible for the organization of the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order, was honorary president for many years, and at one time filled the office of secretary. She was chairman of the publicity committee up until the time of her death early this year.

The monthly report of Miss Reta Myers, Victorian Order Nurse showed much activity during the month of March when a total of 281 visits were made. This represented an increase of 89 visits over March of last year, and an increase of 32 over February of this year. During the month 24½ hours were spent in the school where 31 pupils were given special inspection, 24 pre school age children and 32 infants were visited at their homes. Three health classes with an attendance of 24, and five Home Nursing Classes were conducted during the month.

On March 23, Miss Myers assisted Mrs. McEvoy in the Patch Test at school. Of 31 students tested, 15 tests were positive. Five teachers also showed positive tests. Visits were also made during March by Miss Margaret McKenzie and Dr. Eagles of the Provincial Public Health Department.

The supply committee acknowledged donations of children's clothing from Mrs. A. L. Ormiston, Mrs. F. J. Thibault and Mrs. A. S. Rankin; linens from Mrs. R. B. Lenti; a bed outfit from Mrs. Fred May; part of a layette from Mrs. G. W. Connell and cookies from Mrs. A. J. Dillon. The nurse is still in need of linens. L. H. Moss and Mrs. Edward Anderson were named as conveners for the annual May rummage sale.

After Many Days

Twenty-five years ago Tuesday, a local milk dealer rendered a bill to a customer who had moved to Saint John—but nothing was heard of it until last week, when much to his surprise he received the cash. This beats the record of a local merchant, who only a few weeks ago rendered bills, one for about $6.00 contracted in 1930, another for $16.00 contracted a year later—and in both cases got the cash. We have several hundred dollars due us going back as far as 1920 and we wonder if we could get the secret.

To Collect Salvage April 21st

A wholesale salvage campaign is planned for Tuesday April 21, when trucks will call throughout the town for salvage materials of all kinds—old aluminum pots and pans, metals, rags, newspapers, magazines and any materials that will be useful to throw at Hitler and his unholy partners to put them out of commission.

It is hoped housewives will be able to collect many of these items during housecleaning operations, and the committee asks that when possible these materials be placed outside your homes where they can be picked up by the trucks with least difficulty.

Loose materials, when possible, should be placed in old cartons; newspapers and magazines tied up in bundles.

Agriculturists Elect Officers

The Maple Leaf Agricultural Society met at the home Mr. and Mrs. Darcey Roope for their April meeting with a large attendance of members present. Lloyd MacNeill of Marshalltown was elected President for the half-year term and William Roope vice president.

During the month the Society has handled a car load of mixed feeds and 30 tons of seeds ordered some time ago have arrived and have been distributed. One car of ground limestone has been ordered and will be here this week. Raymond LeBlanc, agricultural representative, was the guest speaker at the meeting and gave a very interesting talk on the formation of a marketing board.

After refreshments were served by the hostess the meeting adjourned to meet at the home of Mr. LeBlanc at Meteghan, Monday April 27, when the new series of Radio Farm Forum broadcast commences.

Robert McCleave Is Named Editor

Robert McCleave, of Rexton, N. B., was appointed editor of the Dalhousie Gazette recently at the final meeting for the term of the Dalhousie University Student's Council. He succeeds John Grant, Halifax, as editor of the student publication.

"Bob" is well known in Digby, having graduated from the Digby Academy a few years ago. He came here from New Brunswick to take his Grade XII studies, making his home with Dr. and Mrs. John McCleave.

To Organize "Yes" Club

The first meeting of its kind in the Municipality of Digby, will be held in the Court House, Digby, Tuesday evening, at 8 p.m. The meeting is for the purpose of organizing the people of the town and county to give their wholehearted support to the government by voting "yes" in the April 27th plebiscite.

The meeting will be addressed by Dr. C. B. Lumsden, of Acadia University, Wolfville, organizer for this district. A large attendance is hoped for—and expected.

Child Swallows Large Brass Button

One year old Juanita Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Ryan, Marshalltown, was brought to Digby General Hospital for treatment by Dr. W. C. Harris, Barton. The little child had swallowed a large brass button which lodged in her throat. She was later removed to Kentville where the button was successfully removed by Dr. McGrath. The child is suffering no ill effects from her experience.

Digby's Defence Is Looked After

The Digby Board of Trade held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening in the United Church Hall, following a supper put on for them by the Ea-Gi Club of that church. There was a good attendance. The guest speaker of the evening was Lieut. Merriam, of Annapolis Royal, who told the meeting something about steps being taken for the defence of Digby should the occasion arise. Of course he could not say much, but he told the meeting of things which should set the minds of many doubters and "why don't they do this" agitators at rest. It was gathered from his remarks that all our vulnerable points: dams, reservoirs, bridges, railway yards, etc., were being well looked after; unobtrusively but nevertheless efficiently. He also told the meeting that steps are being taken to form a defence corps in town and that he expected to organize shortly.

Other business which took place was largely of a routine nature, the report of the Salvage Committee probably being the most important.

Quite a number of members took part in the discussions and an interesting address was given by H. T. Warne.

Greatest of the New Brunswick fisheries is the sardine fishery which had a value of $1,882,000 in 1940. This was smaller than value in 1939 but greater than that of 1938 or any preceding year.

Pink Codfish

An unusual codfish, weighing over 8 pounds, was filleted at Snow Bros. plant this week. Its flesh was pink, about the color of a salmon. Although we are unable to give credit to the fisherman who landed this fish (it was dumped in the bins along with hundreds) it was landed by one of the Victoria Beach boats. Pink colored scallops are not unusual, but this is the first time we have ever heard of a pink codfish.

Successful Red Cross Organization.

To the Editor of the Courier: Sir—There are many Red Cross societies in Digby County but probably one of the most successful is at Rossway on Digby Neck.

The writer was privileged to attend one of their weekly meetings last Wednesday afternoon in Rossway Hall, an ideal place for the work.

A number of ladies were there, hard at work, in fact it was a veritable hive of industry. One party was busy quilting a quilt which had already been put together and the batting put in place; another party was putting the finishing touches on a very pretty crib quilt, while other ladies were sorting some of the articles already finished.

I was simply amazed at the quantity and quality of the articles that were shown me and after a little conversation with the president—Mrs. ComEAU—she gave me the following particulars of what the Rossway Auxiliary has accomplished since its inception on June 5, 1940, and sent to the parent association in Digby:

42 large quilts, 11 crib quilts, 305 pairs men's socks, (hand knitted), 203 pairs men's mittens (also hand knitted), 62 men's scarves, 24 men's sweaters and pairs men's pyjamas, 2 bed jackets, 12 hospital packs, 10 face cloths, 2 helmets, 28 pairs wristlets, 1 pair boys' pyjamas, 3 boys' blouses, 12 pairs boys' stockings, 15 pairs boys' pants, 13 children's sweaters, 9 children's caps, 12 pairs children's mittens, 4 children's scarves, 37 girls' dresses, 5 girls' slips, 6 pairs girls' panties, 4 girls' blouses, 1 girl's suit, 10 girls' skirts, 7 girls' coats, 10 babies' vests, 9 babies' slips, 27 nightgowns, 12 flannelette bands, 73 diapers, 5 pairs babies' stockings, 7 blankets, 21 wool jackets, 12 pairs wool booties, 8 bonnets, 3 pairs wool soakers, 2 child's knitted suits, 1 pair child's knitted rompers, 1 pair child's leggings, 1 child's knitted snow suit, 21 pairs flannelette rompers, 2 pairs child's flannelette sleepers, 1 woman's scarf, 5 women's dresses, 11 woman's coat, 1 man's vest. Money sent to Digby branch, $240; money sent to Jam Fund, $5.00; Junior Red Cross, Halifax, $10.00; Spitfire Fund, $20.00; 2 new

County Plan Convention a Success.

The "wastage" of children who leave school before completing Grade VIII was stressed, on Tuesday by Inspector Ford of the Department of Education in his address before the County Plan Convention which met at the Court House that day.

Inspector Ford emphasized the fact that the child who leaves school with less than a Grade VIII education is totally unfit for agricultural, technical or industrial life. He pointed out that good communities are reflected by their schools and vice versa.

The convention opened Tuesday morning with delegates from all sections of the county, representing the various school sections and other organizations. E. J. Theriault, mayor of Digby, presided, with Harvey Chisholm, warden for the Municipality of Digby as deputy chairman. The delegates were welcomed by Mayor Theriault, while Warden Chisholm introduced the guests, who included W. S. Blair, representing the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association; J. C. MacDonald representing the Nova Scotia Department of Agricultural and Inspector Ford, representing the Department of Education.

Rev. A. S. Hart, rector of Weymouth outlined the purpose of the convention, stressing the County Plan as an effort to organize and coordinate enlisting agencies to work together for the betterment of the country. He stressed the importance of countryside prosperity, linking it with education and co-operation in marketing.

Rev. Ruraj Dean A. W. L. Smith, rector of Clementsport, concluded the morning session with a brief talk on Religious Education. Luncheon was served in the Baptist Vestry by the Ladies of the Red Cross. Inspector Ford was the first speaker after the noon recess.

Other speakers in the afternoon were Mr. FitzRandolph, of the Marketing Board, who gave valuable pointers in marketing and buying of graded products, and pointed out the futility of unorganized markets. J. C. MacDonald spoke on organization, production and marketing.

Committees were appointed to follow up the work begun by the convention, and votes of thanks were tendered to the speakers. To Rev. A. S. Hart and to the members of the Digby Red Cross.

Flags for Soldiers' Monument, Rossway, $11.00.

In addition to the people in Rossway there are workers in Waterford, Gulliver's Cove and Roxville, who do work for the Red Cross in their homes.

About This and That

With the beginning of the trout season we again take it upon ourselves to say "Be Careful". In saying this we want to be as emphatic as possible. Too frequently the trout season marks the opening of a season for tragedy and disaster. Beware of the old boats and punts found along the shores of lakes and larger streams. Many of these weather-beaten, water-soaked craft are death traps that should have been destroyed years ago. In the past such boats have been responsible for a large number of tragedies in almost every fishing season. Canoes are not to be fooled with—the best canoeists are the most careful. Only fools romp about in these frail carriers and risk their own lives and the lives of their companions. Know where you are and where you are going. Even in familiar country be sure of your bearings. It is an easy matter to get lost in the woods (we speak from experience) and it is not altogether fun. Last, but not least, be careful of your fires and your smokes. Right now the woods are wet, but dry weather will come, and careless campfires (and careless smokers) have been responsible for the destruction of thousands of acres of valuable forest land. In the woods last spring the writer followed a stream and came across a large plot of meadow grass that had been burned over. Back of it was a nice stand of spruce; a little farther back of that was a slash clearing. Due to the fact there was a swamp between the grass and stand of trees the fire had burned itself out before reaching them. Investigation showed the fire had started from a campfire at the edge of the stream. This fire had practically been lit in the grass itself, and yet, around the next bend upstream a long gravelly beach almost cut the brook in two—a spot ideal for a campfire of any reasonable size; and some three hundred yards downstream was another ideal spot. Logic tells us the party or parties who lit the fire referred to must have passed at least one of these spots before they lit a fire in meadow grass to heat their lunch and brew their tea. Such idiots should not be allowed in the woods. When in the woods fishing or hunting always remember "Be Careful" for your own safety and the safety of others.

Co-operative Methods Serve Fishermen Well

Co-operative ideas continue to work out successfully in practice among fishermen at various places on the Dominion's Atlantic coast. In proof, take the case in one Nova Scotia settlement where a group of fishermen joined together a little over two years ago to promote their common welfare.

Owing to increased demand for its boneless cod—the association has won a name for putting up high quality fish—this co-operative has found it necessary to enlarge its cutting and packing shed to twice the original size. It plans on putting additional boats to work this year so that inadequacy of supplies which hindered operations in 1941 may be overcome. Acquisition of a second plant, fully equipped and ready for operation in a near-by village, is under consideration. During 1941 the association paid as high a price for fish as was paid anywhere in the province but, even at that, after meeting all operating expenses and paying a bonus to its members it had a substantial sum left over for the sinking fund.

There are some fishermen's co-operatives, of course, which may not have done quite as well as this one. There are others which have done equally well. Like ordinary commercial firms, co-operatives differ in the measure of their success. In general, however, the Atlantic fishermen's co-operatives have been getting along satisfactorily. That has been true on the Pacific Coast, too, though there are more of these associations in the eastern provinces, taken as a whole, than there are on the other side of the Dominion. On both coasts the Dominion Department of Fisheries has given financial assistance toward special educational programs designed to help the fishermen in studying their own problems and devising solutions.

Repair Screens

To Make Them Last

Wire is made from metal, and all metal must be conserved.

Holes in door and window screens, sieves and strainers may be neatly patched or darned with wire from screening of the same mesh, using ravelled wire for thread.

A coat of thin paint applied each spring will prolong the life of galvanized screens. Copper screening doesn't require painting except to prevent stains.

Frames of screen doors and windows, that have pulled apart at the corners, take a new lease on life braced with a piece of metal.

On the farm, baling and other types of wire should be carefully salvaged for future use. It's hard to get. Straighten out bends, splice and wind in neat rolls. Keep where it won't rust.

1 teaspoon salt

Mix and sift dry ingredients, add milk to molasses and combine mixture, then add butter.

Dutch Apple Cake

Here is a palatable bite which will delight the family and stand repeating many times. It may be served with hard sauce, cream or lemon sauce. A slice of cheese served on the plate with it adds flavor. Better clip the recipe now before it slips your mind.

Dutch Apple Cake

2 cups pastry flour (sifted before measuring)
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
1 egg
 $\frac{3}{4}$  cup water
4 apples
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
4 tablespoons butter

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt together. Add shortening mixing in with a fork. Beat egg and add to it the two-third cup water. Add this mixture to the dry ingredients to make a soft dough. Spread the dough a half-inch thick in a greased pie plate or baking pan. Pare, core and cut apples into eights. Press into dough, placing the pieces close together. Dot with butter. Mix sugar and cinnamon together and sprinkle on top of apples. Bake in a preheated oven. Temperature 375 degrees; baking time 25 minutes.

Try sprinkling small chunks of semi-sweet chocolate over orange sherbet or-vanilla ice cream for a new flavor.

Penny Savers

Saving pennies is a popular pastime these days in Canadian households. Here are a few pennysavers to add to those you have discovered for yourself.

Cook potatoes, carrots, turnips, and beets in their skins and save valuable nutrients. Wash all leafy vegetables—kale, spinach, greens—just before use. Cook only with water that clings to the leaves. Save the stock for soups, stew, or sauce.

Cool boiled custard, cake before adding vanilla or other frosting, and creamy puddings flavorings.

Iron Necessary In Family Diet

Everyone in the home needs iron, from the children to the pet canary. A nail in the canary's drinking water is alleged to bring back his interest in life and song, while iron in the family's diet prevents nutritional anemia.

Nutrition Services of the Department of Pensions and National Health advise that the following iron-rich foods be included in the week's menus: liver, heart and kidney; whole grain cereals; dried fruits, such as prunes and raisins; dark green vegetables; potatoes cooked in meg. Frost top with maple frosting.

Household Hints

A thorough washing, rinsing, and wiping of the wash tub after each using keeps it in good condition for the next time. New ones may be hard to get.

For variety sprinkle grated cheese over the top of raisin, apple, or mince pie. Heat for five minutes in a moderate oven and serve at once.

Hooks used in kitchen or bath-room should be dipped in enamel paint before they are put up. This precaution will prevent rusting when damp articles are hung on them.

To remove mineral deposits from aluminum utensils, soak them in clear water and rub lightly with fine steel wool after each using.

Dainty finger sandwiches made with nut bread and spread with cream cheese and honey make an excellent easy-to-prepare dessert.

Dishes used by persons with a cold or other illness should be boiled before washing to prevent the spread of disease-carrying bacteria.

Look Out! A Sick Liver is Dangerous

Do you have persistent headaches and backaches? Are you tortured by rheumatic pains in muscles and joints? A faulty liver is clogging your whole system. Serious ill health may result.

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes feeble—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-achy, back-achy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25¢, 50¢.

"Always in Pain, Now Grand Relief!"
I suffered so badly from rheumatism and neuritis I could hardly walk upstairs or close my hands. After taking Fruit-a-tives for four days the swelling left my hands and I was able to climb a ladder. I have no more bother with rheumatism and neuritis. I have to use Fruit-a-tives. They give quick relief.
William J. Tracey, Toronto, Ont.

"Stick For Years, In Hospital—Now Fine!"
I had a bad case of biliousness and constant headaches and backaches. I became so ill I had to go to a hospital. Nothing I tried would help until I started taking Fruit-a-tives. In a very short time my troubles disappeared. Now I have no more headaches or backaches and can do my housework without help.
Mrs. E. Sadler, London, Ont.

Annual Report Digby County Agricultural Agent

(Concluded)

Livestock

Being aware of the fact that good livestock is one of the chief factors in increasing farm income, we have at all times stressed the need of keeping and breeding good cattle. Also the need of giving these the proper care. However at times it is difficult to get the farmers to stay long enough with a breed of cattle to find out its value and to allow the public to know that such cattle of the desired type and breeding does exist in a community.

Dairy Cattle

On most farms dairying constitutes a regular source of revenue and hence dairy cattle have found favor with farmers; however just previous to 1939 there was a decided swing in many districts to beef cattle due to the low price of butterfat and the corresponding high price obtained for cattle on the local market. However with the present price of butterfat and the low price of milk feeds farmers are again turning to dairy cattle, but as so often is the case there is a delay in making the readjustment.

Beef Cattle

The cattle situation for the present at least is very good and farmers are deriving a considerable source of profit from raising work oxen. These are sold to lumbermen and often after the season's operation in the woods the oxen are sold to butchers who come from sundry parts of the province to purchase them. The following winter these oxen are replaced by more oxen and thus the farmer gets an opportunity to dispose of another pair.

Swine

While no hogs are shipped to be sold as bacon, quite a number find their way as shop hogs to near-by towns and Halifax. There is considerable trade in weanling pigs both in the spring and fall from which farmers derive considerable revenue. However this fall more farmers are keeping pigs to sell when weighing 160 pounds. There is a very good demand for shop hogs and the price paid net the farmer a handsome profit.

Sheep

The number of sheep kept in Digby County is increasing. This is due to the high prices of wool and lamb. However, there is not enough kept when we consider the possibilities of Digby County as a sheep raising area. There are also sheep kept in the Pubnicos and on the Tusket Islands off Wedgeport. The scant attention these receive does not permit of much progress though new and improved blood is brought in from time to time.

Poultry

Small flocks are kept on many farms furnishing eggs for the household and a small surplus to sell to the local store. As most of the chickens are late hatched the bulk of the eggs are produced at a time when eggs are low, consequently the profit from poultry on such farms is negligible. About the only good feature of such a plan is that the household does get a few eggs to consume. Fortunately for the industry more farmers are discarding this method of hatching a few late pullets and are procuring day old chicks from reliable sources, giving them the proper care and selling eggs when the prices are high. Our poultry clubs have done much to teach the farmer the modern way of handling a flock of birds. There is no difficulty to obtain a market for all our poultry products.

Marketing

Though the bulk of local marketing in the surrounding districts is done by individuals, selling to small stores or to individuals, nevertheless there is an increase in the number of groups of farmers who have organized both for selling their products and for the things they wish to purchase, examples: West Pubnico and Wedgeport Poultry Clubs, Meteghan Agricultural Society, Mavillette Live Stock Improvement Club, Weymouth North Agricultural Society, etc. We might also add that fisherman who form part of Fishermen's Unions are now selling their lobsters co-operatively and purchasing their supplies likewise.

Farm Management

This implies the rational exploitation of the farm. Unfortunately on too many farms, the farmer is out of line with present methods of production and marketing with the result that he loses in both fields. It has always been our endeavor to point out to the farmer some of the things that might be done to increase his revenue and yet at the same time increase the potential value of his farm by maintaining soil fertility. Among the many things suggested are live stock improvement through breeding, care and management, conservation of farm manure, judicious use of fertilizers, timely doing of things and a proper preparation of farm products for sale and the orderly marketing of such.

The Home

Regarding no assistance given to bettering the homes of our rural communities several projects were undertaken, canning clubs which were quite successful, domestic course, meetings at which gardening and home beautifying were discussed and information given, series of talks on foods, value of vegetables and their vitamin content. Assisted also at meetings of Women's Institute. Gave out information on insects affecting vegetables and flowers and furnished Institute and individuals with lists of varieties of vegetables and flowers well adapted to their districts.

Boy's & Girl's Club Work

As in past years considerable time has been given to the organization and supervision of Boy's and Girl's Clubs. There are 22 garden clubs and two poultry clubs. During the summer season Mr. Renoit D'Entremont did considerable work with the garden clubs. Field days were held with the garden clubs at which many of the older people attended. On such occasions it was possible through demonstrations and short talks to instruct and provide knowledge on the work we were doing as agricultural Representatives.

Poultry Clubs

West Pubnico Senior Poultry Club

This club was an outgrowth of last year's Junior Poultry Club which was such an outstanding success. The club comprises ten members. Over 2000 chickens were ordered for the clubs this spring and 4000 pounds of the club's capon and chicken were sold through a Poultry Pool. They have about 800 laying hens which are producing quite satisfactorily. Recently the club has purchased for its members cockerals as they have contracted with Bray Chick Hatchery to supply hatching eggs. This club keeps very accurate records of the cost of brooding and raising chickens; the total cost of the capons and chickens sold at the Poultry Pool and the profits realized from this source, the number of eggs produced by each club member during the year and the profits from number of hens kept. We would like to see the club increase the number of laying hens at least threefold. We believe there are possibilities of making Pubnico a fairly good poultry center.

Wedgeport Poultry Club

A club was organized in Wedgeport on the same basis as the one previously organized in Pubnico. $1,000 was borrowed from the bank for the purpose of buying feed and some equipment (Brooder Stoves). The members had to erect their own poultry plants. This club met with some losses at brooding time and later a severe loss due to Coccidiosis. 352 birds were marketed through a Co-operative Pool. The birds were well prepared and in good condition and brought a fair return. However the pullets have not laid as well as expected, and unless some improvement comes forthwith this club will not do as well as anticipated. It might be said that in Wedgeport the members were younger than those of the Pubnico group and they lacked the agricultural background. It is quite possible that out of this project some members will carry on even if the club were to disband.

Short Course

We were instrumental in having a Domestic Science Short Course project carried on at Meteghan. About 33 girls took this course which proved of great worth. Too much praise cannot be given the instructors who were in charge of these courses. Many of the young ladies who attended the course have either found employment at home or elsewhere. In any case what they learned helped them in their work and increased their earning power.

Reclamation Project

After repeated attempts had failed to have the owners of the marsh-land at Cape St. Mary build an aboiteau and drain this land we felt that perhaps another method might be found to get the aboiteau constructed. The Department of Highways needed to build breastwork to protect the road. This had to be constructed where we had proposed the aboiteau. The foreman was easily convinced that if an aboiteau was placed in the breastwork it would be advantageous to the highway and at the same time permit the drainage of the marsh. The aboiteau has been constructed and we believe will make the marsh valuable agricultural land. It may be a few years before any crops are grown on it, however, on similar land at Eel Brook, which has been drained by an aboiteau placed there by the Highway Department some years ago, a very interesting experiment was tried out by Mr. A. LeBlanc of Abraham's River. He ploughed a part of his holdings of the Eel Brook marsh, sowed timothy and clover, used a light coat of barnyard manure. He had a good crop of hay where his land was properly drained. However, it would seem that limestone and mineral fertilizers would also be needed to bring out best results.

Land Breaking

Upwards of 100 acres were broken by government tractor, grader and plough. Much more would have been done but operations were begun too late. There are quite a number of farmers who are anxious to have this work done. We hope to begin operations much earlier next spring.

Miscellaneous

In addition to our duties of Agricultural Representative, busied ourselves in rendering assistance to the fox industry, examining fox droppings for parasites, making autopsies on mink and foxes. We hope this report will convey to you our sincere efforts to be of service to the men of the soil for whom we have the greatest respect and sympathy.

Rubber-tired Tractors are a thing of the past as far as manufacturing goes—but the Massey-Harris Company have a number on hand, and after these are gone there will be no more for several years, so if you will be needing inside the next few years—BUY NOW—and ORDER AT ONCE.

In reference to the Repairing of Machinery and procuring of REPAIRS—you will have to get your orders in immediately, if you want to avoid delay. Spring work will soon be starting. Don't Wait—Check all Machines NOW. This is absolutely essential. Repairing takes time, so get ahead of the Rush—or you will be held up. It is Your Patriotic Duty to be ready to go to work when weather permits. Bring the Machines in for Repairing, order parts at once, likewise any new you will be wanting. IT'S UP TO YOU!

OBITUARY

Vernon B. Collins

Friends in Saint John and throughout the Maritime Provinces will be shocked to learn of the sudden death at St. Andrews, of Vernon B. Collins, former commercial traveller with the original firm of Vassie & Co. Mr. Collins, who was attempting to repair a leak in the muffler of his car at the time of his death, is thought to have died of carbon-monoxide poisoning. He was found under the car after relatives investigated his absence from dinner and it is thought that he crawled under the vehicle after starting the motor in an attempt to locate the leak. Mr. Collins had been carrying on a ladies' and gentlemen's furnishings business at St. Andrews for some years. Born at Westport, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins, he went to Saint John as a young man and entered the employ of the Vassie firm. After working for about two years he was appointed provincial traveller for the company. He was later Maritime representative for a Montreal clothing concern. He was a member of the Baptist Church and an active worker in church organizations. He was also an enthusiastic curler. Mr. Collins is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Gladys McFarlane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McFarlane of St. Andrews; and one sister, Mrs. Horace F. Goodwin, of East Riverside. Mrs. A. R. Melrose and Miss Stella Payson of Saint John are cousins.

New Processes In Drying Foods

Because of a tin shortage and a reduction in the amount of commercially canned fruits and vegetables, housewives will be using more dried products to take the place of desserts.

ready-prepared dishes and New methods of drying are similar to the quick-freezing methods, and foods preserved in this way retain a very high percentage of original flavor.

In the dehydration process vegetables are cleaned, peeled, inspected, blanched, and placed on large trays preparatory to running through the driers. In the process, most of the vitamins and minerals of the vegetable are preserved. Weight is reduced from 6 to 20 per cent. When dry, the vegetables have a rather dull color. But soaking in cold water or cooking serve to bring back their original bright color and garden-fresh flavor.

Like dried fruits, dehydrated vegetables do not require refrigeration of any kind while in transit or storage. Dried foods are destined to be appearing more frequently on grocery counters from now on.

Railway Saves Sugar By Using Substitutes

Joining in the nation-wide campaign to save sugar, chefs of the dining car services of the Canadian National Railways have revised many recipes where sugar was formerly employed and for substitutes they now use honey, maple and corn syrup and molasses.

J. P. Morgan, Chef Instructor of the National Railways dining car department, is responsible for recipes for desserts served on trains throughout the System, and a number of these are herewith offered to assist housewives in spreading the food dollar and at the same time to help the national economy by saving sugar.

Cup Custard Served in Cups
1 quart fresh rich milk
6 ounces corn syrup or honey
6 eggs

Prepare as for custard pie, set in pan of hot water and bake until the custard is set. A variety of custards can be made by adding chocolate, nut, orange, almond or lemon extracts. Serve cold with star of whipped cream in centre.

More Whales Caught

Among the products carried by Canadian National freight trains is whale oil produced from whales caught off the Pacific Coast and reminiscent of the picturesque days of the square-rigged whaling vessels. Today modern steel whaling tugs armed with harpoon guns have taken a lot of romance out of the industry. In addition to whale oil there is fertilizer and whale meal. 328 whales were landed during the 1941 season as against 220 for 1940. Wartime needs have created a greater demand which has given an impetus to the industry. 566,505 gals. of whale oil were produced last season with approximately 577 tons of fertilizer and 271 tons of meal.

A number of orders are already in for shipment around the first of the month.

Maritime Beef Cattle Committee Meets

The Maritime beef cattle committee met at Moncton on March 31. As the report showed an average return of 19.6 cents live weight at the Maritime Fat Stock Sale, it was decided unanimously to carry on for another year. All entries should be in by July 15 in order that feeders should have ample time to select and fatten their stores before the following March. President C. F. Bailey suggested that the entries be limited to about forty head, which will probably mean about one at the most two entries per feeder. A number of breeders have selected and started to prepare animals already for this class. An undoubted enthusiasm for the improvement of the standing of the beef industry in the Maritimes was noted throughout the meetings.

Raising Chickens and Capons Profitable

At present feed prices, there is an opportunity to make a profit raising chickens or capons for the market. The growing of a good flock of meat birds, states C. E. Beniot, Nova Scotia poultry promoter, Truro, is certainly a worthwhile project, and is being considered by many more farmers than usual. There is a great demand for meat of all kinds. Many cockerel chicks—day old or started—are available at hatcheries in Nova Scotia.

Records kept by many farmers in the Province raising capons and chickens last year show that for every dollar invested in feed for capons and chickens—kept until the age of 5½ months—the amount invested was doubled. One account even shows that for $310.00 invested in feeds, fed to 400 birds, the returns were $730.00, each dollar brought back $2.35. Brooding and buying cost of chicks, not including labor, would amount to 10 to 15 cents per bird.

Discusses Artificial Insemination

Some of the advantages and disadvantages of artificial insemination were set forth by Dr. E. E. I. Hancock, provincial veterinarian, at a meeting of the Amherst agricultural society. He referred to the fact that this system of breeding was first started in Russia about ten years ago, and today is practiced fairly generally in many parts of the world. Artificial insemination was started in Yarmouth county, July 1, 1941 and is working very satisfactorily. One main point for the success of this method, stated Dr. Hancock, "is that there must be a sufficient number of cattle of one breed to make it practical as it is a fairly expensive program." The advantages were listed as follows: (1) The usefulness of superior sires may be increased many-fold; a proved sire with ability to transmit characters for high milk and butterfat production may be used to breed several hundred cows annually. (2) Small breeders who would of necessity have to buy a bull (often of mediocre breeding) within their means may dispense with the keeping of a bull of outstanding merit at a lower cost. (3) The transmitting ability of a bull may be determined quickly and effectively. (4) The danger of spreading genital diseases is materially reduced. (5) Valuable sires which because of injury are unable to serve cows may be continued in service. (6) Yearling heifers and small cows may be bred to large heavy bulls without danger of injury. (7) Because of the regular examination of the semen, infertile bulls are likely to be detected earlier than with natural breeding; also, abnormalities of the cow's genital tract which may lead to shy breeding, may be discovered earlier. (8) In most cases better breeding and calving records will probably be kept. (9) Line-breeding and the development of certain large families of superior dairy cattle within a community is possible. (10) The participation in a breeding program and the study of breeding problems by a large number of co-operative dairy farmers should bring forth the best community spirit for the advancement of the dairy cattle industry.

The following are disadvantages: (1) Artificial insemination requires a well trained operator and special equipment. (2) It requires somewhat more time than natural service which tends to limit its use to large herds or well organized co-operative projects. (3) All equipment and instruments used must be clean or infection may be spread; proper facilities for cleaning instruments must be available. (4) The extended use of sires by this method may result in fewer purchases of bulls by small breeders and breeding establishments may suffer consequent loss of income.

The "Two Black Crows", First Radio Comedians, tried to prove this because "De worm got dar fust."

What we want to impress on you fishermen is that you should buy your supplies now. Otherwise you may be the poor worm who has none and will have to do his fishing with a bent pin on the end of a string. There is a possibility of this. Right now our stock is surprisingly complete but our supply house tells us that we may not get many lines from now on.

Admittedly the weather has been cold, but get "the fishing fever" now and come to

The Plebiscite

Next Monday is "Plebiscite Day", and every Canadian voter has been informed that it is his privilege to exercise the right of ballot.

The polls will be open on April 27th from 8 in the morning until 8 in the evening, Daylight Saving Time.

While lists of voters have been prepared, it is important to remember that they are "open" lists—that is, in either urban or rural polling divisions, any qualified voter whose name has been omitted may vote on polling day in his polling division by taking the required oath and being vouched for by a voter whose name appears on the list of voters for such polling division. If a person so omitted lives in an urban polling division, he must produce his National Registration Certificate as well as take an oath.

Generally speaking, every person over 21 years of age, resident in Canada during the past 12 months and resident in his or her polling district as at March 30th last, can vote.

Every Canadian on active service or in training in any of his Majesty's forces or corps, within or without Canada, is entitled to vote on the Plebiscite in advance on polling day.

The plebiscite is a direct vote of all the voters in Canada on an important question to ascertain the views of the Canadian people on the following question.

"Are you in favour of releasing the Government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?"

Mrs. Mary Ringle, who played Topsy with an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" stage company before the Civil War, observed her one hundredth birthday at Cambridge, Ill.

Digby Organizes for "Yes" Vote

"Canada will be branded as a nation of Quislings and traitors among all the decent peoples of the world should the voters of the Dominion give a negative answer in the plebiscite on April 27", said Dr. Lumsden, of Acadia University, who addressed a meeting in the Court House, Digby, Thursday evening.

The meeting was called for the purpose of organizing workers to bring out an affirmative vote on the 27. James J. Wallis, editor of the Digby Courier was named chairman of the organization which includes the town and the municipality of Digby, and Rosco Handspiker, municipal clerk and treasurer, secretary.

The Digby Board of Trade, whose members represented the majority present at Thursday night's meeting, voted to do everything in its power to bring out the vote on plebiscite day. Mayor E. J. Theriault presided over the meeting before organization.

In his opening remarks Dr. Lumsden said he was somewhat worried over the outcome of the plebiscite. "A great number have no realization of its consequences. We have suffered because of our inability to put two and two together to make four", he said. "We were not greatly interested when Germany moved into the Rhineland, and later into Austria; we began to wake up when she issued her ultimatum to Czechoslovakia, but even then we did not fully realize the consequences. The democratic world is facing the greatest crisis in its history, not because of sins of commission, but because of sins of omission. The same holds true of the plebiscite—it can be lost because of lack of interest. He urged everything be done to bring out a heavy affirmative vote.

The real issue, he explained, is to give our government a green light signal to go ahead on an all-out war effort. Should the result on April 27 be in the negative, the result would be that quislings, traitors, procastinators and isolationists will be quick to move to get our boys home from overseas; furthermore, a negative vote would go hard on the morale of our troops—it would mean to them the people of Canada are not behind them and that they were fighting alone.

Our troops will need reserves and need them badly, when casualties commence to come in.

"Let us not make the same disgraceful mistake as France" he concluded.

In the organization meeting which followed it was decided to have each municipal councillor organize his own district and to call workers of both political parties together to have them organize and bring in the vote.

We are sorry, but our big news story for this week was suppressed by the chief press censor for the Maritime Provinces. The story was from the "Islands".

Fire Destroys Home

The home of William Parker, on the Dunn Road, near Bear River, was totally destroyed by fire early last evening. The blaze was discovered about eight o'clock, and spread rapidly. However, Mr. Parker, with the help of neighbors, was able to salvage all furnishings with the exception of the kitchen range.

Mrs. Parker and children were away from home, visiting, and at the time the fire was discovered, Mr. Parker was in the barn attending to his evening chores.

Will Celebrate 51st Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Webber of Digby will celebrate the 51st anniversary of their marriage on Friday of this week. This well known couple were married in Poland coming to Digby where Mr. Webber established a business shortly afterward, taking an active part in the commercial life of the town up until his retirement three years ago.

Although Mrs. Webber has not been in the best of health for some time, she is now able to be around and does most of her own housework. Mr. Webber, who enjoys good health, finds great pleasure by working about his property on Montague Row.

They have a family of seven children, all of whom were born in Digby, and three sons still reside in this town. The children are Harry, in Maine; William, Digby; Edward C., Digby; Max, Boston; Ida (Mrs. Blatt), Boston; Eunj. H. Digby and Hymah, Boston.

92 Years Old Last Thursday

Mrs. Agapit C. Deveau, of Salmon River, celebrated her 92nd birthday Thursday. Her maiden name was Marguerite Helen Frontain, the last surviving member of the family of the late Anselm Frontain and the late Marie Doucet, and she was born at Cape St. Mary.

She married Agapit C. Deveau, a son of the late Celestian Deveau and the late Marie Maillet, who pre-deceased her several years ago. Out of a large family, only one son is now alive, Siffroi Deveau, of Newport, R. I.

Just what anyone might want to borrow isn't quite clear, but a sign along a road bordering an Ohio farm declares: "We Don't Lend Nothing."

Impressive Rites Mark Ordination.

At 10.00 o'clock on Saturday morning, March 21st, in St. Mary's Cathedral, Calgary, the Sacrament of Holy Orders was administered to Rev. Arthur Hamilton, who was ordained priest. Most Rev. Francis P. Carroll, D.D., Bishop of Calgary, was the ordaining prelate, assisted by Rt. Rev. J. S. Smith, rector of the Cathedral as arch priest, and Very Rev. N. R. Anderson, dean of Drumheller, and Rev. E. L. Doyle, St. Ann's Calgary, as chaplains. Rev. D. T. Sullivan and Rev. P. Tessier were the masters of ceremonies.

The cathedral was filled for the ceremony which was celebrated with all the solemn ritual with which the Church surrounds this sacred function. In the large congregation, beside the mother and immediate relatives of the new priest, were friends, also many sisters of religious orders and all the clergy of the diocese.

Father Hamilton was born in Weymouth and was baptized in St. Joseph's church in this village. His father was the late Havelock Hamilton; his mother, Augusta Cosman, sister of the late Rev. P. Cosman, pastor of Strathmore, Alberta. He made his high school and college studies at St. Mary's College, Halifax. In 1934 he moved with his family to Alberta and later entered St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto, for his special studies for the priesthood.

On Sunday, March 22, he sang his first High Mass in the Cathedral surrounded by members of his family and in the presence of congregations which taxed the capacity of the church.

A reception was held at St. Mary's Parish Hall, attended by the members of that parish and other parishes of the city.

Salvage Day A Success

Roughly one ton of old rubber, 10 tons of scrap iron and enough waste paper, magazines and newspapers to make 15 tons with that already on hand, were collected during Digby's salvage day, yesterday. Trucks called at practically every house and place of business in town to collect these materials.

The committee makes special mention of the assistance given by local school children who contributed to make this day a success. For more than a week children have been carrying bundles of newspapers and magazines to the school, and yesterday, when the trucks called for their collection, it aggregated more than three tons.

In addition to what was collected in Digby, the committee also received scrap from Smith's Cove and Barton and are promised more from Marshalltown and Cullodan.

On Thursday or Friday of next week, the committee, with the aid of the boy scouts and members of the Digby Board of Trade, intend loading a large box car with scrap paper for shipment to Toronto.

Church, Rev. T. W. Hodgson, minister, assisted by Rev. M. C. Munn, of the Baptist Church officiating. Interment was in the United Church Cemetery, Digby.

Surviving are his wife and daughter; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Withers, Summerville; two brothers, Thomas, Paradise, California; Judson, Calgary. Another brother, Capt. George Marsters, Deep Brook, was lost with his ship during the first World War.

Attention Voters!

The nature and extent of Canada's participation in this war is to be decided by the voters of Canada on April 27th. That is the significance of the plebiscite to be held on that date. Canada must vote a decisive "yes" on that date for nothing less would amount to a major disaster not only for Canada but for the Allied Cause.

Let us consider the inevitable consequences of a negative vote or a small affirmative majority.

1. It would take the heart out of Canada's fighting services overseas. It would announce to them that though they might fight for freedom as individuals they do not represent Canada and could expect no adequate reinforcements from home to replace the inevitable losses of active service. There would be a tendency to be ashamed of their country and the consequent loss of pride must tend to lower their fighting efficiency. Because of the lack of adequate reserves and replacements the actualities of combat would place demands upon them beyond the limits of normal human endurance and at the same time their will to victory would be weakened by the insidious knowledge that Canada was neither deserving of victory nor worthy of their sacrifice. In a critical struggle, such as this, these factors might well prove decisive. For ourselves and for our fighting men we must poll a large affirmative vote.

2. A negative vote or a small affirmative majority would take the heart out of Canada's war effort at home.

So far, those who have apprehended the true nature of this struggle and the issues involved have had to struggle against a heavy drag of official apathy and public ignorance. In this struggle they have been supported by the conviction that they represented the true sentiment of the people of Canada. A negative vote would destroy that conviction and paralyse their efforts. It would give power and strength to the Quislings, the traitors, the foolishly blind, the isolationists and Axis sympathizers for it would show that they, rather than the fighting men, represented Canada. Our war effort would immediately fall off; frustration and despair would take the place of consecration and courage, and Canada's great weight would be lost to the Allied cause.

3. It would be a cruel blow to Allied Morale. It is no time to quit when the going is rough. Since Japan entered the war we have suffered heavy and well nigh disastrous losses in Malaya, the Philippines, the East Indies, Burma and on the sea, yet it is doubtful if any one of these would be as damaging to the Allied cause as a negative vote on the issue of the plebiscite. Further when we add to cruel reverses the defection of Burma, the reluctance of India to cooperate and the strong Anti-British Pro-Nazi Boer element in South Africa, if Canada, the senior Dominion in the Commonwealth were to publicly announce her refusal to wage this war on a 100 per cent basis the effect on British morale might be well nigh disastrous and undermine their faith in the cause for which they were fighting. Incidentally, it would bring about exceeding strained relations with the U. S. and give aid and comfort to the motley gang of pro-Axis sympathisers there who are working for the defeat of the Allied nations.

A negative vote would be invaluable for Gobbel's propaganda bureau which we may rest assured he would exploit to the limit. Hitler would gladly sacrifice thousands of airplanes and hundreds of U-Boats if by so doing he could secure a comparable diminution of Allied war effort and at the same time thus disastrously weaken their morale.

Whether we want the plebiscite or not we cannot dodge this issue. We cannot avoid it by refusing to participate for non participation is going to be read as apathy and a repudiation of our war effort. The issues are vital, the stakes are life and death for two great hostile world systems. The power of the democracies is the power of united, consecrated, articulate public opinion. A vote "yes" on April 27th is a vote for victory, a negative vote or refusal to vote means, whether we desire it or not, that our weight is being thrown on the side of Hitler.

Hence in view of the exceeding critical nature of the war, the great issues involved and the disastrous effect a negative or weak affirmative vote would have on the Allied cause we call upon the patriotic voters of this constituency to forget all personal or partisan considerations and strike a blow for Canada and for victory by polling a heavy "yes" vote on April 27th.

Signed: C. B. Lumsden, President Kings Branch, Canadian Legion, Chairman "Vote Yes" Committee.

Brother, Sister Meet After 42 Years

Mrs. Elemmie Stohlman, accompanied by her son, Clayton, and daughter, Mrs. Nettie Dodge, all of San Francisco, California, and her sister, Mrs. Annie Marshall Witham, of Lynn, Mass., arrived at Rossway to visit Mrs. Stohlman's and Mrs. Witham's brother, Charles Theriault. This is the first time Mrs. Stohlman and her brother have seen each other in 42 years. Mrs. Witham visited Rossway sixteen years ago. Mrs. Stohlman and her son and daughter left San Francisco on March 22, experiencing heavy going en-route. "We brought snow with us every place we went", said Clayton, who drove the car. They are delighted with the province, and think our lobsters are something to talk about—explaining the west coast lobsters average about six inches in length and "you chew them like gum". The party left to return on Tuesday and are taking a southern route home.

Rev. A. G. Robertson, of Campbellton, (former pastor of the Digby Baptist Church) baptized 22 candidates on Easter Sunday.

Let HYDRO DO YOUR WORK

Electricity is your cheapest servant; it will do your washing, ironing, cleaning and cooking with neatness and dispatch.

First class lighting these days is, of course, essential but this makes up only a small part of your monthly electric bill and yet a great many people still consider it as their light bill entirely, although the energy may be used for cooking your meals, pumping water, running your refrigerator, cream separator, etc. This then becomes a power bill and we wonder how many people realize how much service they really get for the few dollars they actually pay.

We still have a small supply of most of the appliances but they are getting harder to get every day, and if you contemplate the purchase of any appliance this year we would advise placing the order soon.

HYDRO IS YOURS—USE IT!

Peanut Butter Tasty And Nutritious

Remember the old circus cry "Everybody eats peanuts"? And peanut butter is even a more popular food. Kiddies in particular are fond of "bread an' butter an' peanut butter."

No doubt the youngsters have been taking peanut butter sandwiches in their lunches many times during the winter. But just the plain variety may be getting a little tiresome. Try combining the nutritious food with other ingredients and you'll make peanut butter's appeal reach to the very end of the school term.

Perhaps dad may be carrying a lunch with him to work. Peanut butter can be made into sandwiches hearty enough for even him to eat with gusto. Try combining one-fourth cup peanut butter with two tablespoons crisp bacon, cut in small pieces. Or with two tablespoons of finely chopped or ground dried beef. Peanut butter and raisins make a wonderful sandwich team as does also one-fourth cup peanut butter, one tablespoon finely chopped green pepper, and two tablespoons finely chopped celery.

Peanut butter plays a part in muffin distinction, too, and it is suggested that you try the following recipe which is

Nut Butter Muffins

1¾ cups pastry flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
¾ cup peanut butter

Sift together the pastry flour (sifted once before measuring), the baking powder and salt. Cream the butter thoroughly, add the sugar gradually, and cream until fluffy. Add the well beaten egg and mix well. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Fill greased muffin pans one-third full, top with a small spoonful of peanut butter, and fill the pans two-thirds full with the remaining batter. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 20 minutes. Serve hot.

Ways To Use Up Left-Over Bread

If you are sometimes concerned about the left-over bread which goes to waste at your house, here are suggestions to help you to use up every crumb.

Cut dry bread into fingers or cubes, toast, sprinkle with melted butter and salt to use as a nutritious accompaniment to soup or salad. Spread left-over slices of toast with butter, dark brown sugar, and a dash of cinnamon. Heat and serve with cocoa or tea.

Bread pudding, too, has a new appeal when made this way. Line a baking dish with buttered slices of bread; fill with fruit and juice and a little sugar, and top with more bread. Let stand ten minutes and bake 30 minutes in a slow oven (325 degrees).

To dry bread, place in a paper sack and place near the stove until very crumbly. Or spread a thin layer in a shallow pan and place in the oven after heat has been turned off. Let stand several hours.

Crumbs are achieved by way of the rolling pin or food chopper. Store covered and use for part of flour in cakes, cookies and puddings; to coat foods to be fried or browned; in meat or fish loaf, and as crumbs called for in crumb desserts.

No Celery Waste

It's good to the very last leaf. What? Celery, of course. As soon as it comes to the kitchen, scrub it in cold water. If it is wilted, soak ten minutes in very cold water. This will help dislodge dirt and refreshen it as well.

Cut off the tops and outside leaves; dry and store them in a covered jar for later seasoning of soups, stews and sauces. Chop the freshest leaves and add them to the meat loaves, escalloped dishes or meat sauces. Dice and cook the coarse outside stalks, cover with water, and simmer covered for ten minutes. This will provide nutritious stock for soups, stews, pot-pies, and the like and can be stored for several days in the refrigerator covered, where it will be ready at a moment's notice.

Beautiful Hair A Matter of Care

In England when Queen Elizabeth reigned, not only as ruler of the empire but also as a leader of fashion, her courtiers dyed their hair a reddish hue to match her's, as a compliment to her royal Majesty.

Today's modern women are smarter. They know that individuality is vastly important and the success of a hair-do must be determined by her own features and personality if it is to score.

But an attractive coiffure, no matter what style, is dependent upon clean, healthy, well-groomed hair and in order to obtain this, certain routines are essential. Brushing the hair one hundred strokes a day; massaging the scalp once a week to stimulate circulation, and the use of a good shampoo (never rub cake soap on the hair) all help to make the hair silky and manageable for an attractive arrangement and the crowning glory which it is intended to be.

Home Economics

The Canadian homemaker is right in the front line today. Her jobs are multiple. Not only has the need of the war-effort drawn away so many girls from various occupations that maids to help in the home are becoming more and more scarce, but the housewife is being asked to do more and more. She has to buy her food and clothing more carefully than ever before. Even if her income is commensurate with the increased cost of living she is asked to divert as little labor as possible to her needs and save every penny she can. To invest this saving in government securities. "Eat it up, make it do, wear it out," are directions given her with regard to her supplies. But this is not all, at the same time she is asked to feed her family well—to see that nutritional needs are met much better than they were in the depressing thirties. (It's no use to grouse now but privately we think that a little more consideration shown then would have made the government's task easier now.) Then she is asked yet one thing more. She is to keep and see to it that she does not pay more at any time than track of the prices she pays she did in a prescribed period last fall. She is advised to "shop around" and look for values—(or is it bargains?) This last advice needs to be taken with a grain of discretion. For a householder with limited funds there is not a much better asset than to find an honest dealer and do all her buying there. But she must first find the dealer, of course. There are times to shop 'round of course and occasionally there are bargains in foods and clothing.

Whatever we may think of the gas rationing as a problem it does not affect most homemakers in any degree. But sugar, is another matter. This is the time for real frugality in our meals, wasting nothing. First about the sugar. Have you any plan?

Make up your mind to use less sugar. That means use more molasses, corn syrup, maple syrup and honey, and it might be a good thing to use a bit less sweetening anyway.

Serve fruits when you can, and cheese with coffee are hard to beat now and again for dessert but for Pete's sake teach the family to like coffee without sugar.

Here's a plan for that rationed sugar which is particularly good for use in a small family. Each Monday morning (the day makes no difference so long as it's the same day each week) measure out the allotment of sugar for each. For table use have a small sugar bowl for each member of the family, in differing colors or otherwise marked. Give each one half his or her ration in this bowl. The other half goes into a jar for cooking. At the close of the week any left in the individual bowls is emptied into the cooking bowl. In a family of two, husband and wife—three-quarters of a pound of brown sugar is divided between them in two sugar bowls. As neither uses sugar in tea or coffee the brown sugar was preferred for cereal. Another three-quarters pound of white sugar was measured into a jar for cooking the same morning. At the end of the week what was left over in each bowl of brown sugar was emptied into another jar for brown sugar cooking needs. When one sees just what he or she is using there is no temptation to use more than his or her share.

The fat may get lean, and the lean a bit fatter as a result of our sugar rationing; if we do it will be all to the good. Any woman will be glad to serve her country if it also means slimming hips at the same time. But don't forget the prices or the nutrition. It's a sort of three-ring circus you are engaged in and then don't forget the work

THE RAILWAY AND THE WAR . . . By Thurstan Topham

A. Burton Brown

Funeral services for the late A. Burton Brown were held from the Unitarian church in Walpole, N. H., on April 8, with Rev. William P. Jenkins officiating. Death came to Mr. Brown early April 5th, after an illness of more than a year. He was born in Walpole in 1872, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John C. Brown. Some 22 years ago he was married to Geraldine Perry, of Barton, Digby county, who survives him. There also survive two sisters and a brother, all in Walpole.

Mrs. Clarence Chipman

Word has been received in town of the death in Chilliwack, B. C., of Bessie, widow of Clarence Chipman, at the age of 51. A stroke of paralysis was the cause of death. Mrs. Chipman (formerly a Miss Houston), was a native of Amherst. She spent some time in Boston where she trained as a nurse. Up to last year when she went to the West, she had made her home in Digby for many years. She was for some years a member of Zelma Rebekah Lodge. Left to mourn are her mother, Mrs. James Horton, in Chilliwack, and a brother, James Houston, in Calgary. Interment was in Chilliwack.

Egg, 300 Years Old, Found

An egg, laid by one of the first hens to cackle and scratch in what is now Ontario province, has been unearthed from the ruins of old Fort Ste. Marie, in the Georgian Bay district, say natural resources officials of the Canadian National Railways. The old mission residence of the Jesuits is the fourth oldest place of white man's habitation in Canada, being built in 1639. The egg was found eight feet under ground and was said to be perfectly preserved but not good for boiling or frying. The old fort was burned and abandoned in 1649, when the Iroquois conquered the Hurons.

Attentions Make Rubber Last Longer

Rubber is going to be increasingly hard to get in any form. Rubber articles in the home should be given the greatest care to make them last longer. Remember in storing that rubber rots quicker in hot, damp places than in cool, dry places.

Dust talcum powder of cornstarch in the creases or folds of rubber or rubberized articles for protection against cracking.

Stuff paper in rubber boots and overshoes when putting them away.

To make rubber gloves wear longer, don't wear them to polish brassware or copper kitchen utensils, or when cleaning pans with a ball of steel or brass thread. These metals are enemies of rubber.

Moose Are Increasing

Since moose in Nova Scotia have had the benefits of a closed season for the past year or two, they have become more plentiful and quite tame, according to E.G. Poole, fish and game representative for the Canadian National Railways. Just recently five moose wandered into the lumber yard near Sheet Harbor, N. S. One of the animals commenced to investigate the boiler room of the mill and after looking things over for about ten minutes, calmly walked off. Amateur photographers among the lumbermen took some photographs of the moose. It is reported one to a dozen moose can be seen at any time of day and some eat wisps of hay held in the men's hands. There is no closed season on deer in Nova Scotia nor in the sister province of New Brunswick and many inquiries are being received from prospective American hunters for next season.

Canada Link Between Anglo-Saxon Democracies

That Canada was marked by destiny to become the connecting link between the two great Anglo-Saxon democracies, the United States and the British Commonwealth of Nations, was the key-note of an address delivered by Major F. L. C. Bond, D. S. O., President of the American Railway Engineering Association, at the 43rd annual meeting of the Association, which opened in Chicago and which was attended by officials representing the various railroads throughout the United States and Canada.

In his address to the directors, Major Bond, who is vice-president and general manager, Central Region, Canadian National Railways, one of the few Canadian railroad executives to hold the position of President of the Association, stated that "epochal events have taken place since the last meeting, the significance of which may stagger our imagination but never our resolve; nothing will defeat them but sheer fighting for all we are worth and with endless supplies of arms and equipment."

Major Bond pointed out that railroads are the greatest war machine on the continent and the originating end of the vital lines of communication which reach around the world in both directions from North America. In Canada, he stated, the railways are also turning out arms and equipment of all kinds in their shops.

The part that the Association had played in the adjustment of the railroad industry to war services was emphasized by Major Bond in his opening address of the convention. He pointed out that

Still Enjoy Pacific Coast Holiday

Visitors are still finding Canada's Pacific coast a happy hunting ground despite war conditions, according to a letter from the Government Travel Bureau of British Columbia signed by E. G. Rowbottom, Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry of British Columbia, Victoria, received by M. F. Tompkins, regional Traffic Manager of the Canadian National Railways in Moncton, N. B. The letter goes on to state that apart from the fact that industries on the Pacific Coast, practically without exception, are engaged to capacity on war material, nothing has transpired to disturb normal routine and the people find life very pleasant and continue to enjoy outdoor recreation, which their mild winter and early spring afford. For some weeks, the letter goes on to state, a large number of enquiries have been received for accommodation, and entries and bookings in some cases are expected to be in excess of last year.

Prepare for High Tides

Farmers in all tidal areas should carefully note that the highest tides of the year 1942 are predicted by the Hydrographic Services, Ottawa, for May and June. The night tides for Saturday and Sunday, May 2 and 3, are predicted at 28.2 feet at Saint John. The night tide for Saturday, May 30 and the early morning tide of June 1 will both be high, the former predicted 28.7 and the latter 28.5. These predicted tides are somewhat lower than the high tides of a year ago but well above the normal high tides which are from 23 to 27 feet. It should be kept in mind that the measured tide does not always correspond with the predicted tide. Favorable winds may lower the tide considerably below the danger point, and on the other hand, strong adverse winds may raise the tide considerably above the predicted height.

Service Stations Co-operating

Marked gas for use in the operation of farm machinery may now be obtained from service stations. Under insurance regulations a farmer is not allowed to have more than five gallons of this gas on his premises. The gas comes in 45-gallon drums.

N. S. A. C. Closing April 29

The Nova Scotia Agricultural College year is nearing its end. Lectures stopped April 16. The students now are busy writing their year-end examinations. On Wednesday, April 29 there will be the formal closing and graduation exercises, to which the public is cordially invited.

Planting Starts in Yarmouth

A number of farmers in Yarmouth county have already planted some of their crop. At Gavelton peas and carrots were planted April 4.

Lime Orders are Heavy

Nova Scotia farmers are going to use more lime than ever this year according to present indications. Dr. W. V. Longley, Truro, director of Extension, reports orders for lime up to April 15 totalled 64 cars to be moved by rail, a much heavier movement than last year for the same period. Many orders, he states, have been held back because of the closing of the roads. With their opening the movement will be rapid. Repeat orders are frequent, and what is particularly pleasing is the way farmers' organizations, agricultural societies, farmers' clubs, cooperative stores are pushing the sale. Already more than 700 tons of lime have been ordered by agricultural societies.

Return Milk and Cream Cans

The shortage of tin and sheet metal has brought further restrictions in the use of milk and cream cans. It is now an offence, under the War Measures Act, to retain on the farms any milk or cream cans owned by a dairy. Milk and cream cans must be used only for shipping milk and cream by or for the owners. Any cans now in the hands of a dairy or farmer, which are owned by another dairy must be returned immediately. The new restrictions further require that all cans be plainly marked with the name and address of the owner. No person other than the owner may remove or cancel the markings. There has been in the past a good deal of pilfering of milk and cream cans and names of the owners cancelled or changed. Violations of these new regulations call for fine up to fifty dollars for the first offence, up to one hundred dollars for the second, or subsequent offence, or imprisonment of not less than a month.

The reason for the new regulations is the shortage of tin and sheet metal. These must be conserved to the limit.

Old cans can be repaired and re-tinned. No matter how bad the condition of the can it should be returned to the dairy at once.

Milk Production is High

Creamery butter production in Nova Scotia totalled 352,986 lbs. in March and 1,060,893 lbs. for the first three months of 1942, according to statistics issued by the N. S. Dairy Supt. While the butter production for the quarter was down 1.6 p.c., compared with a year ago, the production of fluid milk has increased. There has been a larger amount of milk going to Halifax, Dartmouth, Truro, New Glasgow, Yarmouth, Amherst, Sydney. Superintendent Bird anticipates the high production of milk will continue throughout the summer, but much of course depends on weather conditions.

Arrange for Field Days

Stock breeders in various parts of the province are making preparations for field days. At a meeting of the directors of the Maritime Hereford Breeders Association held at Windsor on April 10 it was decided to make arrangements for a field day to be held at the farm of C.C. Bartheaux, Clarence, on June 23. Mr. Bartheaux stated he would arrange for a good ox pull. E. H. Horne and Windsor breeders expect to bring truckloads of purebreds to make a good field day. The directors went on record as strongly urging the establishment of an inspected abattoir in the province at which livestock could be graded and branded by government inspectors.

The Western Nova Scotia shorthorn club has decided to hold a field day on June 24 in Kentville area and to make an attempt to start a calf club in the area. A committee composed of R. P. Longley and S. A. Porter was appointed to make arrangements for a day. J. A. Steele offered to arrange to have C. F. Bailey give a talk on the progress in beef grading in Western Canada and to secure a talkie on "Meat and Romance" and was requested to do so. An interesting talk on the cattle at the Experimental farm was given by S. A. Porter. It was pointed out that receipts from cattle averaged $2600 over the last 25 years with an average stock of 40 head. A short talk "Artificial Breeding" was given by J. A. Steele, and Geo. Chase made a generous offer to help out a new unit if one were started at Kentville.

Three Bulls Purchased

The dominion department of agriculture purchased three bulls recently for use in Thorntown Breeders' Associations. Two are from Geo. A. Chase, Port Williams, Canard Orator and Canard Royal Ambassador. Canard Orator is a roan yearling bred by J. A. Watt, Elora, Ontario, and sired by Princeton Queller (from the Prince of Wales ranch in Alberta). Canard Royal Ambassador, born April 1941, is Cluny Ambassador Command, by Mr. Chase's imported bull, and from Broadhooks Tibbie also imported, and is a very promising youngster. These two go to Prince Edward Island associations.

The Middle Stewiacke Shorthorn Breeders' Association is getting Gold Signet, a yearling bull from Guy Dixon, Aulac. His sire is Gold Standard bred by Duncan Campbell, and his dam is by Bugler's Signet, a Douglas bred bull. She is a refutation of the theory that you cannot get milk and beef in the same cow, as she milks over 35 lbs. a day. The bull is a fine beef type of bull as well.

Take Care of Rope

Farmers are asked, in a bulletin issued by the federal department of agriculture, to take every care in the handling of rope as the supply of rope fibre is limited. Rope is a vital necessity to the fighting forces, particularly to the navy. On the farm rope is used for many operations in the handling of produce and livestock, and with the proper care will give additional days of service. Here are some suggestions for conserving rope:

Avoid overloads. Select the rope that is big enough to carry the load. Where a heavy rope is not available reduce the strain on a lighter one by using a block and tackle or a sufficient number of strands of light rope to carry the load. Most of the rope now being used has a substitute fibre in it with the result the strength is only about 60 to 80 per cent. of standard manila rope.

Prevent kinks. When removing a rope from a coil select the end of the rope which causes the coil to unwind counter clock-wise, recoil in clockwise direction.

Beware of chemicals. Paint, battery acid, manure, linseed oil, all solutions are injurious to rope. If a rope becomes dry and rough due to abnormal use it can be lubricated with a light petroleum oil which can be sprayed into the rope between the strands in a quantity no greater than the fibres will absorb.

Cleaning rope. A rope which requires cleaning can be washed in clear water; then dried, by laying it on an open floor before being coiled. Dry rot can be prevented by storing in an unheated room which has free air circulation.

A pamphlet on knots and splicing may be obtained from the department of agriculture, Truro, N. S.

Red Cross Meeting

On Thursday last a meeting of the Bear River Red Cross Branch was held, conducted by C. B. LeGrow, 3rd Vice-President, with a good attendance and much interest shown.

Minutes of the Annual Meeting were read and approved.

For the coming campaign J. L. Warren, for Digby County, and Fred R. Harris, for Annapolis County, were elected, to select their own canvassers and take care of the necessary work.

A committee, with Major A. M. Simons, Convenor, was appointed to plan and carry out a public evening to raise funds for the local Branch.

A committee was appointed to prepare for emergency work; to secure information regarding supplies should need arise, and, or, to assist if help were needed elsewhere. The Warden of Digby Co., H.

E. Chisholm spoke on this subject.

The formation of a First-Aid Class was discussed. Mrs. C. B. LeGrow was appointed Secretary and further details will be given later.

Jos. McClafferty reported on the A. R. P. work done to date, through the Council of the Board of Trade, and stated that a warning is to be installed but is not yet ready. The 9 to 10 "lights out" on Wednesday night of last week was for the purpose of inspection only, so that the A. R. P. wardens could check up to see if citizens were obeying the proclamation published in the newspapers. H. E. Chisholm spoke on the subject, as A. R. P. concerned various districts. Until the Air Raid warning is installed the people of the village are to be under the same rules as those beyond the sound of such warning.

The report of the Work Committee for 1942 was received, and showed a large amount of work done. C. V.

Snow, Sec.-Treas., read the Financial report, which showed a deficit to be met.

H. E. Chisholm said that the Bear River Board of Trade had been asked if this community would take special interest in the crew of one of the corvettes build at Weymouth, providing comforts for the men, such as reading matter, etc., and that the boat will come up the River one day so that all may see her. Further details are being secured and will be given later.

L. V. Harris reported for the Salvage Committee to date.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

PLANT A

Victory .... Garden

Why Have A Garden?

There is an urgent call today for greater production of food. The call comes from the great army of men and women in National Defence, the greater number engaged in construction and wartime industry, and our brave allies. To meet this demand the food production of our farmers must be supplemented by every possible effort. The more carefully planned, well worked vegetable gardens we have the nearer we will come to meeting this demand for greater food production.

Who Should Have A Garden?

There should be a garden on every farm. There is no argument about that. In villages, towns and cities there should be a garden, if it can be given proper attention. While there is 15 per cent more fertilizer in Nova Scotia this year than there was a year ago, and while there is ample seed to meet requirements, it is most important that every bit of fertilizer and seed be used to advantage. If you can profitably use this precious seed and fertilizer to add to our food supplies, then go ahead and have a garden. The one thing above all is that seed and fertilizer must not be wasted.

What Should Be Grown In A Garden?

Carrots, beets, parsnips, squash, onions, cabbage. These vegetables not only cater to the food demand during the growing season but can be stored for fall and winter use. Cucumbers and tomatoes fit in for winter pickling supplies. Peas, string beans, lettuce, swiss chard, spinach, radish, corn, celery, broccoli are for consumption as grown. Succession planting is worthwhile in lengthening out consuming season for the consumption-as-grown vegetables. Remember this, the most valuable garden crops this year are those that lend to winter storage.

Toxoid inoculation is cheap, safe, effective and lasting. It can be done at any age after six months.

Consult your family physician or local medical health officer.

G. A. Hawksworth, aged resident of Granville Ferry, met with a painful accident on Wednesday evening of last week during the black-out, when he suffered a bad fall when out walking alone. It was some time before he was found by Gordon Mills. Mrs. Hawksworth was in Halifax so Mr. Hawksworth was taken to the Annapolis General Hospital where he remained until her return.

Fire Destroys Mount Pleasant Home

The home of Charles Trimper, Mount Pleasant, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday. Fanned by high winds the flames spread rapidly through the wooden structure, and in spite of all efforts nothing could be done to prevent their spread, or was it possible to salvage any of the furnishings or other household effects. In addition to the loss of his home and all its contents, $250 in cash were destroyed in the blaze.

C. F. Purdy, of Yarmouth, spent a few days with his family last week.

R. C. A. F. Heroes Decorated By King

Four courageous Canadians received decorations from the hands of His Majesty the King at an investiture at Buckingham Palace. Pilot Officer Larry Robillard, of Ottawa (left) was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Medal. He has a score of four aircraft destroyed and one "probable". The Distinguished Flying Cross was presented to Flight Sergeant B. C. Paige, Bridgeport, Ont., (2), after he safely navigated a Hudson bomber and its crew to its base. The aircraft flew so low in an attack on enemy shipping that one wing was clipped on a projecting rock, disabling the starboard engine, rendering all instruments and turret unserviceable and distinguishing the lights. To Wing Commander Thomas C. Weir, of Toronto and Winnipeg, (3) went the Distinguished Flying Cross for bringing a disabled bomber and its crew to its base despite his own serious wounds. For risking his life to rescue a comrade from the wreckage of a burning plane after a take-off crash, Flying Officer Alexander J. Nicholson, of Windsor (right) received the George Medal. Nicholson braved exploding ammunition and was blown 60 feet by the force of a blast, but both men survived.

Home Destroyed By Fire

A fire which levelled the home of Delbert Tidd, Victoria Street, rendered two families homeless Sunday morning. The dwelling was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Tidd and their four children and by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hudson and their two children. Mrs. Hudson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tidd.

The blaze, which apparently started from a chimney blaze, was discovered shortly before nine o'clock by a neighbor, Mrs. Otis Dares, who saw the blaze on the roof of the Tidd home and sent her son to warn the occupants. Mrs. Tidd was the only person about the house at the time, Mr. Tidd having left earlier in the morning for the scallop boat on which he is employed, to finish "shucking" Saturday's catch. Other members of both households were still in their beds.

Fanned by a gale the flames soon swept through the wooden structure and levelled it to the ground. Neighbors and firemen who soon arrived at the scene succeeded in saving a large portion of the household effects from the Hudson apartment. Practically nothing was saved from the Tidd apartment where the fire appears to have originated.

Destruction of the house was so complete that not even the sills were left.

Sixty Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. G. Sabans, of Lower Granville, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding on April 23rd. They received congratulations from neighbors and friends, from far and near.

Dr. Lovett Passes Away In Carolina

Widespread regret among the medical profession and numerous friends throughout the province will be felt in the death on April 27, of Dr. Lewis Johnstone Lovett, widely known physician of Bear River, and former member of Parliament for Digby-Annapolis, at the winter home in Pinehurst, North Carolina, of his brother, Col. H. A. Lovett, K.C., of Montreal.

Dr. Lovett's death was unexpected and occurred while he was convalescing from a serious illness he suffered during the past winter. With him in Pinehurst at the time of his death was Mrs. Lovett and their daughter, Edith Lovett, R. N.

Dr. Lovett was well known in political circles, and was a staunch supporter of the Liberal Party. He was a member for the Federal constituency of Digby-Annapolis from 1920 to 1925. He was for a number of years secretary of the Digby-Annapolis Fish and Game Protection Association and later president of the Bear River Board of Trade and did much to develop that Community as a summer resort and took an active part in all the civic activities of the community. He was 73 years of age.

A native of Kentville, he graduated in Arts from Acadia University at Wolfville, and in 1891 in Medicine from Bellevue Hospital University of New York City. Upon graduation he started practising in Bear River, where he has remained ever since. He was a member of the Bear River Tennis Club and University Club in New York. He was also a member of the A.F. and A.M. He attended the United

Besides his wife, the former

Josephine Marshall of Bear River, and daughter, Edith, and two brothers, he is survived by a second daughter, Mrs. William Sutherland, of Lockeport, and a sister, Mrs. T. R. Robertson, of Halifax. He was the son of the late Henry Lovett and Annie Johnstone, of Kentville.

The remains, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived in Bear River this morning. Funeral services will be held from the home this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Voters Give Government Free Hand

On Monday Dominion voters piled up a towering "yes" majority on the plebiscite question, "Are you in favor of releasing the government from any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?" Therefore, the people's answer leaves the way unquestionably open for the imposition of overseas conscription at any time deemed necessary or desirable.

In all provinces, with the exception of the province of Quebec, the affirmative rolled up high majorities. The emphatic "no" vote in Quebec province was by a smaller margin than the affirmative in the rest of Canada. Northern New Brunswick swung to the negative but the vote in that section did not offset the heavy affirmative vote in the other sections of the province.

According to the figures released Tuesday, Nova Scotia voted "yes" 116,839; "no" 31,573. In Digby-Annapolis the vote was "yes" 13,449; "no" 1,420, while in Shelburne-Yarmouth-Clare, 7,348 voted "yes" and 3,033, "no".

Twelve Year Old Boy Dies of Burns

A coroner's jury summoned on Friday last, to investigate the death of 12-year old Howard VanTassell, who died in the Digby General Hospital early that morning as the result of burns, brought in the following verdict:

"We find that Howard VanTassell came to his death as the result of burns through spilling of gasoline. We can find no blame on anyone, but would recommend that more care be taken in the emptying of railway tank cars containing gasoline of oil, and that while being emptied a watchman be with it continually, and no drainage be given anyone."

Dr. John R. McCleave presided as coroner. James J. Wallis was foreman of the jury. Other members were B. E. Sanford, Albert Weir, H. Hersey, Horton Stark, Oscar VanTassell, A. R. Pyne, Arch Handspiker, D. J. Daley, B. F. Webber, F. R. Eisener and W. S. Winchester.

Evidence was given by Mrs. Dorothy Small, Viola Andrews, Mrs. Etta O'Neill, Chief of Police Kendrick and J. D. Syda.

Burned from head to foot, Howard VanTassell died in Digby General Hospital about 2 o'clock Friday morning. Three physicians had worked with the boy almost from the time of his admission on Thursday afternoon until the time of his death.

His burns were the result of spilling a bucket of flaming gasoline over his clothing. He had attempted, by means of throwing an old automobile tire over the pail, to pull the blazing liquid off the doorstep of Mrs. Etta O'Neill, a neighbor. Mrs. O'Neill was not at home at the time.

Children had been playing with a bonfire near the O'Neill cottage. One of the youngsters thrust a burning stick into the pail of gasoline, which instantly burst into flames. Young VanTassell threw the old tire over it and attempted to pull it off the step. As he did so, the pail with its burning contents spilled over him.

In an effort to extinguish his burning clothes, the boy rolled in the grass. His efforts only resulted in setting the grass on fire. He then got up and fled to a deep ditch full of water and jumped in.

Horribly burned, with his shoes and clothing with the exception of an undershirt, turned off his body, the boy managed to walk home without assistance. Dr. McCleave was called, and the lad was rushed to the Digby General Hospital where every effort was made to save his life.

The pail of gasoline on the doorstep of the O'Neill home is said to have represented drippings collected from a railway tank car which had been drained into the nearby storage tanks of the Irving Oil Company.

About This and That

Not so long ago a news item stated that Australia had banned the sale of imported liquors for duration and reduced home production by one third. This, we feel, would have been a wise step for our Federal and Provincial governments to follow, but instead, we are informed that in 1942 the consumption of liquors is expected to be increased.

And yet, we are asked for an "all out war effort".

Up in Cumberland County last week, the Municipal Council in its annual session unanimously passed a resolution calling for the total discontinuance of the sale of hard liquors in Nova Scotia, and the rationing of beers and light wines. The text of the resolution was as follows:

"WHEREAS the sales of spirits and intoxicating liquors by the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission have enormously increased, and

"WHEREAS present war conditions demand economy and restriction of non-essential buying so that all resources may be made available for the war effort, and

"WHEREAS, the government of Nova Scotia should for the duration of the war prohibit the sale of hard liquors

"BE IT RESOLVED, that this council hereby goes on record as requesting the government of Nova Scotia to discontinue the sale of all hard liquors for the duration of the war, and that the sale of beer and wine by the Nova Scotia Liquors Commission be rationed."

The Digby Municipal Council meets in semi-annual session next week. We recommend they follow the example set by the Cumberland Council and pass the same resolution or one similar to it. If enough of the Municipal Councils in this province pass such resolutions, the government will almost have to take some action.

On one or two occasions recently a very officious individual has come to us with items for publication, stating in most emphatic tones, "You must print this in your next issue. We have informed that party, that, although the press censor has authority to tell us we "must not" print certain items relating to matters pertaining to military matters and operations, no one as yet has been given authority to tell any editor what he must print, regardless of the subject. We can thank God that in spite of the war and censorship which naturally follows, we still have a free press, and what the press has to say is not dictated by any individual or political group. In plain words, no one tells the editor what he must print. That is a matter for the editor to decide. While we are on this subject, we would like to say a word to those who complain because we alter or 'boil down' some of their contributions. Although 90 per cent of these are most welcome we find it necessary to change most of them to meet our style and requirements.

Hitler's New Order

By Lieut.-Col. R. R. Thompson, M.C., V.D. War Commentator for the Canadian Legion

Hitler has divided the subject peoples of Europe into two groups: those who are to be enslaved—Norwegians, Danes, Dutch, Belgians, Luxemburgers, and French; and those who are to be largely destroyed to make room for Germans—Poles, Russians, Czechs, Yugo-Slavs and Greeks. How the Germans—the "master race", as they call themselves—are seeking to effect this can be judged from the following material, selected from masses of well-established facts.

Everywhere Germany is robbing these peoples of their food, clothing and blankets, to provide for the German forces and people. In Western Europe, they swindle people by buying company shares and real estate with German marks, so worthless that South American banks long ago refused them for deposit. In Norway, the Germans are using counterfeit Norwegian money printed in Germany. After 1914-18 Germany was asked to pay an annual sum equal to $440 per German family for reparations. Today she is taking from countries she has invaded, by taxation and levies alone, an annual sum of $4,400 per family.

If conquered workers refuse to labor in German munition factories, they and their families are refused ration cards and permission to move from their homes so that they can only starve to death. Already besides 1,500,000 French prisoners, there are over 2,100,000 foreign workers in Germany, and of those 1,000,000 are Poles, all replacing Germans taken for the army. Last November and December 150 were executed for rebelling against bad treatment. Thousands of Polish girls, aged 13 and upwards, have been taken from their homes to serve German soldiers. The Germans are pursuing a definite policy of reducing the food rations of enslaved peoples in order to lower their physical and moral powers of resistance.

In Eastern Europe the policy goes further: lands are being cleared for German settlers by starving people to death. Germans have beaten their leaders to death with truncheons and whips, then reviving them from unconsciousness in order that they may feel the full torture. One German prison camp punishment is to hang a man by his thumbs; after one hour he is a cripple; after two hours he is probably dead. Everywhere, they are seeking to destroy Christianity, culture, and all possible leaders. Kerrl, Reich Minister of Church Affairs, has declared Hitler to be "the true Holy Ghost", and the declared policy of this "church" is to replace the Bible with "Meim Kamph". Strasbourg Cathedral has been made a rendezvous for Hitler Youth, and on its high altar stands a bust of Hitler for the adoration of Nazi children.

Not all of the food taken from the starving peoples of Europe goes to feed Germans. Wine is taken for its alcohol. 187,500 tons of potatoes will produce 16,875 tons of alcohol, which will free 11,000 tons of gasoline. 10,000 tons of meat will produce 1,218 tons of fats, enough to provide glycerine for the recoil-stylens of 14,000 field-guns. 50,000 tons of milk will produce enough butter to release fats for 1,850 tons of lubricating oil. From the milk residue can be made 1,500 tons of casein for the plastic material for aeroplane parts.

Norway

In Norway the trade unions have been broken up and many leaders and employees sent to prison camps, several leaders having been executed. Norwegians are being forced into labor battalions for work on the Russian front. The gasoline shortage has much reduced fishing, but 80 per cent of it goes to Germany. Norwegians have been ordered to hand over blankets, boots, scout and ski equipment for the German army. But they prefer to risk a $90,000-crown fine or three years hard labor and burn them. A famine of food and clothing is developing.

In spite of the death penalty if captured, hundreds of Norwegians brave the North Sea, often using craft intended only for sheltered waters, in order to join Norway's armed forces in Britain. How many perish in the North Sea we shall never know. Caught trying to escape in a sailing boat recently, five young Norwegians were executed. At Aalesund five were shot together for helping others to escape. Since last summer the Germans have been sending to prison camps the fathers of those who escape and now arrest all near male relatives of those fighting against them. 90 per cent of Norwegian Air Force pilots are now with the R.A.F.

Norwegians reply to this oppression by burning fish-oil factories and warehouses containing German food and ammunition. Trains are derailed, and near Oslo a train was attacked in a station, men being killed and wounded. Norwegian prison camps are being increased from five to fifteen. The Germans have executed many for sabotage and have ordered Norwegians aged 21 to 25 to form guards that must answer with their lives for the safety of factories and railways. In Arendal a lady was sentenced to a year in prison for having spoken insulting words about the "Wehrmacht" in conversation. The Germans are trying to force children to learn the Quisling gospel, but with little success, although the children are punished with flogging and route marches. Norwegian contempt and hatred for Germans grows deeper daily and their spirit remains unbroken.

Holland

Holland, once happy and contented, is now a land of scarcity. In her first week under the "New Order" Germany stole nine-tenths of her butter stock. Here, as elsewhere, Germany has seized woolen and fur goods, leather, coal and gasoline. Dutch rolling stock, barges and even fire engines have been stolen. Over 100,000 Hollanders have been taken for forced labor. Professors, lawyers and journalists have been flung into prison camps where many have perished. Leyden and Delft Universities have been closed. Leyden is to become a Nazi "neo-folkish" university.

On one occasion 680 young Jews were rounded up in Amsterdam by the Nazis. The Dutch rose and fought the Nazis in the streets, many being killed. Riots and strikes spread to other cities. These were suppressed in the German's usual bloody fashion and enormous fines were imposed. The richer people of Amsterdam alone had to pay $2,000,000. The 680 young men were sent to work in mines. Within nine months over 400 were dead.

Netherlanders are executed for assisting British airmen to escape. A Netherlander can now get 15 years in prison and unlimited fine for displaying the colours or insignia of the Dutch House of Orange. The Dutch reply with sabotage. In the wreck of one German troop train 50 officers and men were casualties. The Germans have arrested hostages for the safety of their communications and many Dutch patriots have been shot. Dutch "Nazis" have been found hanged to trees in parks. True to her ancient character, Holland will never give in, but also waits.

Belgium is the most densely populated country in Europe and has a German army to feed, yet Germany robs her of food. Rats are sold for 30 franc in the markets, and partly decayed meat is bought and eaten. Civilian hospitals are crowded with hunger victims who mostly die. The output of iron has diminished 45 per cent, and of coal, 36 per cent; but the German people will be the last to suffer from lack of fuel. Brussels University has been closed. Possession of arms is punishable by death. There are 51 Anti-Nazi papers published secretly in Belgium.

Defying prison and the gallows, workers have sabotaged several electric utility and metal plants so completely that the Germans have abandoned them. On one occasion 6 Belgians were shot for destroying a military supply train by fire. At Verviers civilians must guard the tracks, and the trains carry Belgian hostages to be shot at once when sabotage occurs. At least one munitions factory in Antwerp was destroyed by R.A.F. bombs because its workers lit it up at the right moment. Executions continue, but the resistance of the Belgian people remains unshaken.

Denmark

Denmark, once so peaceful and prosperous, has been robbed of most of her horses and cattle, and of all her stocks of food. Besides taking food in bulk, Germany sends 30,000 troops at a time for "feeding holidays" in Denmark. Over 40,000 Danish workers have been taken to Germany for forced labor, but of these at least 1,000 have been put in prison camps for sabotage. Danes are replying by contaminating food intended for German consumption and burning warehouses. In Copenhagen a Dane received 30 days' imprisonment for having "spat offensively" before a German military car. As in Dutch and Belgian canals, German soldiers have been found drowned in Danish harbours. For the greater part, however, the Danes remain sullenly quiet, but wait.

Cakes Without Sugar

(By Katherine Baker)

Every day new ways are being found to help to meet the sugar rationing and still satisfy our family's sweet tooth. You've probably found, as I have, that it isn't such a problem after all and it's rather fun testing our ingenuity in providing our family with deserts and still keep within the weekly quota.

The substitution of light corn syrup for sugar in making sugarless cakes has been a blessing, indeed. Just surprise the folks someday with this Prune Spice Sugarless Cake—a favorite with the men of the house. The surprise of course, will be in explaining after they have insisted on a second helping, that it contains no sugar.

Extra care in making this new type of cake will reward you with finer results. First, choose your ingredients wisely; select a fine cake flour, one that you know is of uniform quality, and be sure to sift it before measuring. Follow the directions accurately. Second, and equally important, you must beat the cake well at each stage of mixing. This is important with any cake and results, good or bad, can depend on the beating.

Prune Spice Sugarless Cake
2¼ cups finely sifted cake flour

2¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt

1¼ teaspoon cinnamon

¼ teaspoon nutmeg

¼ teaspoon cloves

½ cup butter or other shortening.

1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

1 teaspoon light corn syrup

½ cup milk

2 eggs, unbeaten

1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and spices, and sift together three times. Cream shortening with lemon rind, add syrup gradually, beating well after each addition. Add one quarter of flour and beat until smooth and well blended. Add eggs one at a time beating well after each. Add remaining flour in thirds, alternately with milk in halves, beating very well after each addition. For best results, beat cake very well at each stage of mixing. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until done. Spread Prune filling between layers and whipped cream, flavored with vanilla, on top of cake.

Prune Filling

Place 3½ tablespoons corn-starch in top of double boiler. Add 1 cup prune juice gradually, then add a dash of salt, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, and ¾ teaspoon grated lemon rind. Mix thoroughly. Cook over direct heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add 2 tablespoons corn syrup and 1 cup chopped cooked prunes and mix well. Then cook over boiling water 12 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool. Add ½ cup chopped nut meats, if desired.

A Cake for Outdoor Meals

With the arrival of spring you're probably looking forward to spending as much time as possible out-of-doors and the picnic season will soon be in full swing again. It isn't quite so easy this year, to take the open road,—with gas restrictions, people so fully occupied with war work, working longer hours, there is neither the time nor facilities to make long trips into the country. But because we're forced to spend so much more time indoors is all the more reason why as much of our leisure as possible should

"THE HOARDER"

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1

People who buy more of anything than they currently need, and merchants who encourage them to do so, are sabotaging the war effort and are therefore public enemies.

Loyal citizens do not hoard. They buy only for their immediate needs. They cheerfully adjust their standard of living, realizing that their country's needs must come first. They do not try to gain unfair advantages over their neighbours.

Are you a hoarder or a loyal citizen? Are you hampering Canada's war effort by unnecessary buying? Or are you co-operating to the best of your ability to save Canada from such horrors as Hong Kong?

If Canadians do their duty, there will be no more hoarding. Everyone will get a fair share of the goods available. More food can be sent to Great Britain. More raw materials — more manpower — will be available for making guns, tanks, planes and other armaments to back up our armed forces.

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements—such as your next season's coal supply—you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.

YOUR SCRAP RUBBER

is now a vital war material

Enemy action in the Far East has caused such an acute shortage of rubber that our whole war effort is in serious danger. Canada and her Allies must have rubber, quickly, for the armed forces, for factories, for ships. The Japanese control our source of crude rubber imports—the only other quickly available supply is old scrap rubber, which can be reclaimed. Every citizen in Canada must do his part in collecting all the scrap rubber in the country and turning it over to the Government for war purposes. Here is how to do it.

THIS IS AN URGENT APPEAL FOR YOUR HELP

Question: Is the rubber situation really serious?

Answer: The shortage of rubber is so grave that any citizen hoarding rubber or using it unnecessarily is committing an act of disloyalty. It is now illegal to destroy any rubber article.

Question: Of what use is reclaimed rubber?

Answer: Old rubber is processed so that the rubber content is reclaimed. This reclaimed rubber is used in the manufacture of essential articles for our war effort, thus replacing crude rubber.

Question: How much scrap rubber is needed?

Answer: Fifty Million Pounds. This is a large quantity, but it MUST be found. Every old piece of rubber in Canada, no matter how small, is needed, QUICKLY.

Question: Should I turn in any usable rubber articles as well as worn out ones?

Answer: Absolutely, not! By no means discard anything that is still useful and that might have to be replaced. On the other hand, rubber tires used as boat bumpers, swings, etc., should be turned in for war uses.

HOW DO I TURN IN MY SCRAP RUBBER?

The school boys and girls of Canada are being organized, through the school authorities, to act as Official Collectors of Scrap Rubber. The school nearest you is, therefore, your best Collection Depot. You may dispose of your scrap rubber in any one of the following four ways:

When you gather up your scrap rubber and dispose of it by one of these methods, it will be used by the Government for Canada's War Effort. Do it NOW!

It is well to remember that molasses, which is a popular sweetener, not only supplies heat and energy to the body, but also contains iron.

The Editor of the Courier,

Sir—The captain told the mate, the mate told the crew, the crew told me, so I know it must be true." So runs an ancient jingle.

Last week an exciting event occurred not far from Digby. First reports of this affair to be circulated around town were fairly plausible and probably accurate. It was a clear cut story; certain things had happened and certain action been taken. Later reports of the affair, however, became more confused and as time went on so many wild and ridiculous embellishments had been added that the original and real account of the affair had become lost in a morass of imagination.

The wild spread of these stories constitute a menace to our war effort. No matter how ridiculous and impossible these stories are, they are implicitly believed in by a considerable number of our people. The effect of these stories on the nerves of these people, most of them acutely "war conscious" at present, can easily be imagined. A feeling of panic, tension and nervousness is created which could spread to the more balanced of our people. One of the contributing factors in the fall of Belgium, France and Holland was the spread of wild rumors, untrue stories of defeats and false reports of casualties. These stories and rumors tended to create a feeling of insecurity, lack of confidence in the ability of the authorities and panic amongst the people which helped greatly in the overthrow of these countries.

In the now occupied countries these numerous and false stories were started by paid agents of the German government. Anyone who contributes to the spread of these stories is, whether paid or not, an agent of the enemy. Here, in Eastern Canada, at least, we seem to have a lot of these people. Wild and ridiculous stories are being circulated about. These stories will not stand up to even casual inspection and yet they are believed and passed on, perhaps with added embellishments by people who are supposed to be intelligent and level headed.

No amount of official denial will stop these stories. Wild and silly rumors emanating from Halifax were repeatedly denied by the officials and yet these rumors are still passed on by people who claim to have heard them from "someone who should know". I have never yet heard the official denial repeated by anyone. It is strange that we are more prone to believe and repeat the impossible and ridiculous rather than the understandable and logical truth.

There is only one way to stop the spread of this insidious form of sabotage. That is for the people to band together and stamp it out. Refuse to believe or repeat these stories and rumors, report the originators of these things to the authorities, check all news with the official report and make sure we add nothing in telling that was not in the original official story. It is impossible to overrate the importance of this matter. Public morale is a very important thing, especially in war time. Nothing that tends to lower morale is detrimental to the war effort. One of the most important things we can do to help in Canada's war effort is to keep our morale high. We can do this by stamping out this dangerous and insidious form of sabotage, rumor mongering. Stop the ridiculous and unbelievable "scare" stories that are going the rounds. Report those who delight in spreading these stories, to authorities. Repeat only stories given out by official sources.

Don't Let Your Liver Make You an Invalid

People who are off colour say they're liverish or their liver is bad! Do you know how serious this is — that it may lead to permanent ill health — your whole system poisoned and broken down?

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-achy, back-achy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c 50c

"Constantly in Pain, Now a New Woman"

For a long time I felt very miserable with liver trouble and constipation which brought on such bad headaches that I could hardly do my housework. I started Fruit-a-tives and felt better at once. After using only one box the awful headaches were gone, constipation left me and I felt like a new woman.
Miss J. Duplant, Cornwall, Ont.

"Suffered For Years, Now Feel Grand"

I was always irritable, tired, head-achy. I could not eat or sleep well and had very severe constipation. After trying many medicines I found "Fruit-a-tives". My headaches and constipation have disappeared and I am never tired or irritable now.
Mrs. J. H. LaBarre, Montreal, P.Q.

Receiving Many Soil Samples

An unusually large number of soil samples are being received for testing by Dr. Geo. Smith, provincial chemist, Truro. These include garden and farm samples. Examination of a number of the former show over-fertilization, which needs correction as much as under fertilization. From 100 to 125 samples are being examined each week, and every effort is being put forth to handle samples in two or three days. Soil, for samples, should be collected in at least six places, and in large fields from about ten places, and each one five or six inches in depth. The whole should be well mixed and about half a pint sent for testing. Along with the sample there should be a history of the field for the past two or three years, giving fertilizer treatment and crops grown, and information as to what is to be grown this year.

Gardens Cost Money

"It costs money to put in a garden", a point brought out by Dr. W. Saxby Blair, in addressing the Commercial Club at Halifax, on the "The Home and Community Garden". Garden seed, he stated, runs into considerable money, and thinking of the garden as an acre with  $\frac{3}{8}$  in potatoes and  $\frac{1}{8}$  each in beets, carrots, peas, beans, and  $\frac{1}{8}$  in various other kinds including cabbage, cauliflower, tomatoes, lettuce, spinach, chard, cucumbers, etc., the approximate cost would be—\$7.00 for potatoes and \$13.00 for the other vegetables, or the various charges for one acre would total \$20.00. Your cost per acre up to weeding time would be approximately: Preparation tillage - \$20.00; Fertilizer - \$30.00; Seed - \$20.00; Land rental - \$10.00. Total - \$80.00.

To Make Improvements at N. S. A. C.

Work of a necessary nature, totalling in value about $10,000 is to be done this year at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College. This will include painting a number of the farm buildings, the building of new bull pens, new lavatory facilities in the Administrative Building, cold storage facilities at the horticultural building for class material demonstration work, rat-proof feed bin in horse barn, the tearing down of the small poultry building and colony houses, and the repairing of the large poultry house. The changes to be made at the poultry farm, together with the new laying house erected two years, will provide educational work.

J. P. Landry, poultry instructor at the college, has received inquiries from places as far distant as British Columbia regarding the style and structure of this laying house which he designed and constructed. It is a double deck house, no-draft with circulating air, 24 by 30 feet with sufficient accommodation on each storey for 200 birds of heavier type, or 250 of the lighter breeds. The total cost of the building was $1300.

Steel Ships From Pictou Yards

The present World War has brought about the revival of industries in some localities that have laid dormant for some years. One of these is the building of ships at Pictou where in the early days many sailing ships were to be seen under construction at local shipyards and in the surrounding districts. Today the sound of the shipbuilder's hammer is again heard but it is the air-hammer of the rivetter building steel ships. Some of the steel plates are the product of another revived industry, the giant 110-inch steel plate mill recently put into operation at Sydney, N. S. A steel plate mill was erected in connection with the steel mills at Sydney during the last World War but was dismantled.

Among the early records of shipping in connection with Pictou is the arrival of the ship "Hope" in May 1767 with settlers from Philadelphia, Pa., the project being backed by no less a personage than the great Benjamin Franklin. Today, a short distance from Pictou, is located a de luxe summer resort, Pictou Lodge, owned and operated by the Canadian National Railways, where during the summer season will be found on the register, among others, names of guests from the same Philadelphia.

There is a little matter that some of our subscribers have seemingly forgotten entirely. Some of them have made us many promises but have not kept them. To us it is a very important matter—it's necessary in our business. We are very modest and don't like to speak about such remissness.

Let's Be Consistent

Life is largely a matter of decisions, and the difference between success and failure is • the difference between making a wise decision and indiscreet decisions. We advise one course and pursue another, give moral approval to certain conditions but take the opposite path, see the flaws in others but overlook the more serious things which beset and becloud our own lives.

Probably the most flagrant and most hideous crimes are those committed in the name of religion. Time was when church membership and church attendance were compulsory, though prominent ones within the church could deal in slave traffic and exploit child labor.

Harsh critics flay constitutions and political pacts because they omit the name of God, then those critics turn around and advocate grinding the life out of those they call their enemies.

Young people are often blamed both for sins of omission and of commission, as if they alone hold the balance of power, dictate and write the history of the hour, and shape the current of public opinion. Alas, many an older one who holds and expresses those austere views gives no helpful example to those condemned.

Public officials are telling us all to sacrifice, economize, struggle, co-operate to win the war and the blessings of peace. However, there are many kinds of sacrifice, and one of the most eloquent is political sacrifice which should be practised by those who are willing to lose some votes and prestige for the sake of principle, honour, the public good, and the vindication of moral issues.

It is a sad commentary on justice when a nation or an individual is guilty of weaknesses attributed to others, and does nothing to correct these imperfections. Since all growth is from within, and society is built from the ground up, and we expect others to serve us, protect us, inspire us, let us be consistent. Let us serve if we would be served, love if we would be loved, help if we would be helped.

You'll be glad you gave to the Red Cross

One of these days bombs may come crashing down in your neighborhood. Your house may be left in ruins. You or your child may be crying feebly for help. Your friends, your family, may be left homeless.

No matter what happens, you'll never regret that you gave to the Red Cross. Reach out the hand of mercy to help those crushed by grief and pain. You will not turn a deaf ear to the cry of the injured and the suffering.

The Canadian Red Cross is just your hearts with other Canadian hearts beating in compassion for suffering humanity. YOU want to be a part of this great mission of mercy. You will give to your Red Cross. Open your heart and purse strings—GIVE generously.

Who CARRIES ON --- after you?

Your choice of an executor may mean more to your family's welfare than the amount of your estate. In the hands of an individual executor, the conservation of any estate can be in danger, through inexperience or preoccupation with his own affairs, or because of his absence, sickness or death.

You avoid these unnecessary risks when you appoint this Company executor of your Will. Not only has it the knowledge, experience and facilities to manage your estate to the utmost advantage—it is financially strong and the continuity of its services is assured.

The growth of Trust Company service testifies to its advantages over individual executonship, yet it costs no more.

OBITUARY

George D. Sack

Many in Digby County and especially around Weymouth North will be deeply moved by the passing at his home in New York, of George D. Sack, who for eighteen years has had a summer home in Weymouth North. For some time past, Mr. Sack had suffered from gastric trouble and last summer had been a patient in the Digby General Hospital. Deceased died in his sleep last Sunday night. Born in Providence, R.I., some 58 years ago, his father was a mill-owner, but for the most of his life he preferred the outdoor life of the ranch. As a young man he ranched in Arizona and afterwards acquired the very considerable "Altarcross" ranch where he built a lovely home. Besides the summer home in Weymouth North, the family have an apartment in New York and owned camps. Mr. Sack was a much travelled man and had toured a great deal of the American continent and the West Indies and also made a number of trips to Europe. One of his hobbies was home made movies and his technicolor films were certainly a great attraction whenever shown. For two years they have been shown in various places on behalf of the Red Cross. There are many who will remember his many generous gifts and acts of kindness especially in the Weymouth district - the Scout Hall was his gift to Weymouth as well as the Camp back in the woods. But more than these material items Mr. Sack will be missed so much by those who were infirm or shut in. He often looked them up and always had a word of cheer and encouragement. From the very beginning of the war he was an ardent supporter of the Allied Cause. Mr. Sack is survived by his wife, one son of his former marriage; Albert, now in Honolulu; and, Penelope, who for two years has been a student member of the famous "Chekhov Players". A memorial service will be held in St. Peter's, Weymouth North, next Sunday, at 7.30 p.m.

The objective for this town (including the Digby Red Cross) is $1,625. It is to be emphasized that the Red Cross drive is the only war service drive to be conducted in 1942.

Campaign chairmen appointed for various areas in the district are as follows:

Freeport—Dr. A. F. Weir.
Westport—Mrs. Harry Lent.
Tiverton—Mrs. Roy Small.
Bear River (Annapolis Co.)—Fred Harris; (Digby Co.)—J. L. Warren. The Bear River area also includes Deep Brook where the Red Cross Society is an auxiliary to the Bear River society.

Weymouth—Clair Ruggles. The Weymouth area extends to Meteghan, excluding Belliveau's Cove.

Belliveau's Cove—Mrs. Siffroi LeBlanc.

Digby—F. L. Anderson. The Digby area includes Digby Neck, Culloden, Barton and Brighton.

The money will be used for food parcels for the Canadian and British prisoners of war in Germany and Italy; comforts for the armed forces, Navy, Merchant Marine, air raid sufferers, and hospital and medical supplies; disaster and emergency, including assistance to Allied Red Cross Societies, and Blood Donor Service. All are vital functions of the Canadian Red Cross—each in itself plays an important part in the structure of this great service for suffering humanity.

As the war spreads throughout the world the tasks of relief assigned to the Society increase until today there is no sphere of war activity that is not benefited from the good works of this great organization.

Not only are Canadians and Britons receiving the help of the Canadian people through the Red Cross, but supplies and comforts are always being sent to the armed forces and peoples of the United Nations. For example, the Society recently raised $750,000 to send medical relief supplies to Russia.

The financial needs of the St. John Ambulance are also included in the budget of the Red Cross.

Among those from Digby attending the funeral of the late Dr. L. J. Lovett, Bear River, on Thursday last were A. D. Daley, E. J. Theriault, E. C. Sollows, T. E. G. Lynch, S. Aymar, R. Murray, Corp. Rankine, Miss Hivey, Doctors Dickie, DuVernet, and Dr. and Mrs. McCleave.

"Serve and Save" Ambition of All

In his address before the semi-annual session of the Digby Municipal Council, which opened Tuesday afternoon, Warden H. E. Chisholm, of Bear River, said the ambition of all at this time was to serve and save.

He welcomed the national prohibition of the sale of gasoline on the Sabbath day, stating "there is one restriction, which, in my humble opinion, must receive greater consideration, and that is the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors. Some men, in spite of drink, may be a success, but no man in a general way can drink himself to success, neither can a nation drink its way to victory."

Action was taken on one matter to come before the council. That matter resulted in the passing of a resolution to hold the annual session on the 3rd Tuesday in January, rather than on the 2nd Tuesday as in the past.

Most of the afternoon was taken up with communications and committee reports. It was revealed that outside poor expenditures to date in 1942 exceeded expenditures of last year by $237. This was followed on a discussion on the manner in which bills for outside poor accounts were presented, and a recommendation was made that unless these accounts were presented, and a recommendation was made that unless these accounts were presented monthly, they would not be O.K.'ed by the councillor for the district. This matter will likely be discussed later in the session.

The matter of snow removal was also under discussion, and will be considered later.

Band Offers Services To Red Cross

The Digby Civic Band is pledged to help every public and patriotic enterprise in Digby. Therefore, when Bandmaster Paul Yates suggested an open-air concert on Sunday, Victoria Day May 24, offering the entire receipts in aid of the Red Cross Drive, the Band eagerly agreed.

Of course your Band can't live without money and a concert like this would put several dollars in their empty treasury, but these young people are truly patriotic and gladly undertake many hours of tedious drill in preparation of a good program for this event, giving the proceeds to a great cause while hoping that something will turn up to keep their own organization alive financially.

Weather permitting, the concert will be played at 3 o'clock, from the band stand. Bad weather may force a postponement until the next night, Monday—a legal hol-

Under the leadership of Mr. McG. Stewart, above, the Red cross in all parts of Nova Scotia is making final plans which will enable the Province to exceed its objective of $350,000. On Monday, May 11, it is expected that thousands of Red Cross workers, drawn from 600 organized Red Cross groups in the Province will start on a Provincial wide canvass.

Fire Destroys Home of Harry Turnbull

The large farm house of Harry O. Turnbull, Lighthouse Road, about a mile from town, was destroyed by fire early last evening. The blaze was discovered in the eaves over the kitchen shortly before seven o'clock and within a few minutes the ell which contained Mr. Turnbull's woodshed and workshop was in flames. Very soon after the fire swept through the main portion of the two-storey structure.

It is believed the fire started from a faulty flue. Help was summoned from Digby by the usual long blast of the siren for out-of-town fires, and although hundreds were soon on the scene nothing could be done to save the house. Mr. Turnbull, who is employed with H. T. Warne, Ltd., was on his way home when the alarm was given, but Mrs. Turnbull and her younger daughter were at home. Flying embers started small fires in the woods but they were soon extinguished. Most of the household effects were saved. The loss is estimated at about $2,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

iday. An appropriate and interesting program is in preparation, but is it noted that the Band is reduced to less than 20 players, some of whom are recent additions.

Liberal contributions are expected, and every cent will go directly to help the drive sponsored by the greatest philanthropic organization in the world has ever known—THE RED CROSS.

Rufus Connor, jr., met with a painful accident last week while working on the wharf. A heavy piece of pipe rolled on one of his feet crushing the toes. It is feared he may lose two as a consequence.

Want Seed Growing Area Extended

A resolution asking the government to extend the restricted turnip seed growing area to include the school sections of Conway, Acaciaville, Hill Grove, Marshalltown, North Range, Bayton, Brighton, Plympton, Mount Pleasant and Sea Brook, was passed at the monthly meeting of the Maple Leaf Agricultural Society, held in Jersey Farms Hotel, last evening. H. M. Warne, of H. T. Warne, Ltd., Digby, was host to the farmers on this occasion.

Outside the routine business, the principal matter to come before the meeting was that of seed growing. Frank Ditmars, of R. V. Ditmars & Son, Deep Brook, growers of the Ditmars Bronze Top Swede seed, was the speaker for the evening. Mr. Ditmars gave an outline of the seed situation in Canada, and stated that markets were unlimited. He urged the farmers of this area to devote more land and time to the growing of Swede turnip seed. As a result of his appeal, a number of farmers present at the meeting agreed to sow seed. Several others are considering the matter and will probably "fall in line" at an early date.

The resolution urging the extension of the seed growing area was also the result of Mr. Ditmars' talk.

The next meeting of the society will be held on the first Monday in May at the home of Joseph Spechts, Barton, when matters relating to poultry raising will be considered.

Ship Total Loss; Salvage Cargo

Loss of one merchant ship which grounded on the east coast recently was reported authoritatively as plans were being made to salvage the cargo. Two other ships which grounded about the same time were freed from their precarious positions with only minor damages resulting.

The ship, which is considered a total loss, broke in two after straddling a reef. All members of the crew were safely removed to the shore, one of the other ships had to return to port for slight repairs.

May Our Loss Be Hitler's Loss Too

This is a sequel to the story of the lady, who, some time ago, had her best winter coat sold at a rummage sale, only this time the joke is on us. We are thankful we did not have a ton or more of newsprint on our pressroom floor last Saturday when the salvage trucks called for waste paper salvage.

For years Saturday afternoon has been a half holiday for our staff, although J.J. or Mac are usually somewhere to be found. Last Saturday J. J. was out of town. In the afternoon Mac had an appointment that took up most of the early part of the afternoon. Therefore, the shop was locked tight.

Members of the salvage committee met Mac on the street on the way to his appointment. They asked if there was any salvage paper. They wanted it that afternoon to complete the car they were loading at the station. We have been "hotse cleaning" our attic and had approximately one ton of old newspapers we had bundled up and stored in our pressroom, as well as the usual collection of cutter and newspaper folder clippings. Mac volunteered to go back to the office and unlock the pressroom door for the salvage truck. He did that, and continued on his way.

Salvage collectors found the "salvage" alright—it was in bundles and cartons alongside the door and placed where they could get it without any trouble. There was also a bundle of newsprint on the floor near the folder. The bundle, still in its original wrappings, went along with the salvage.

When the loss was discovered it was too late to do anything about it. The car was loaded and the unused newsprint packed away with the waste paper. We hope this bundle helps to make the bombs that will blow Hitler off the face of the earth. Nevertheless, the next time salvage is loaded from our shop, someone will be around. We might have missed a press had they been loading scrap metal instead of paper.

About This and That

"Citizen" in a letter published in last week's Courier wrote of rumor mongering as constituting a menace to our war effort. We agree 100 per cent. Since the early days of the war the press, the radio, our statesmen and leaders in every walk of life have co-operated in their efforts to curb this practice. In spite of their efforts the rumors, as the war progresses and seems to be nearer home, are wilder and more grotesque than ever.

In our opinion there is one way to put an end to most of these wild rumors. That way is by attacking them at their source. On the whole we have no serious complaints with respect to press censorship. We realize it is essential in time of war even though we cannot see rhyme or reason to many of the restrictions imposed. Candidly, we feel that should some of these restrictions be modified, there would be fewer rumors.

If the people of Halifax knew some of the stories we hear about their city, they would be shocked, surprised and terrified—and we are less than 150 miles from Halifax. If these stories stretch in proportion they must be terrific by the time they spread to Vancouver. Furthermore, Halifax is not the only military centre or seaport being publicized by so called 'authentic' reports that have been spread hither and yon by word of mouth.

By the time these so-called reports reach us they have been stretched and re-stretched until there is no truth in them, most of them, nevertheless, are not without foundation. If they could be traced down to the original telling, we believe that in seven out of ten instances, the original was well within the bounds of truth—but wormed its way further and further out of bounds with every retelling until the original succumbed to the fantastic.

At the source the original was no doubt censored and thus no account was given in the press, and not a word mentioned over the radio. Those living near the scene of the "original" knew of it, talked of it in their homes, offices and wherever they met. In spite of censorship, the spread of the story could not be stopped. Its truthful portions were lost in the early stages of telling. We argue that should the press be able to publish a sensible, brief and truthful account of many of these events, many alarmists rumors would be curbed, and the public who have more than a little inkling of many of these events and are hungry for authentic news, would be satisfied with truthful press accounts rather than absorbing and spreading the scare stories that go the rounds. We are not suggesting the press be allowed to print anything that may furnish useful information to the enemy; we only suggest that we be allowed to publish items that are more or less generally known before they become grossly distorted by rumor.

Sir.—Within the past few months there has developed a steadily growing sentiment against the liquor traffic. This is not pleasing to those who term advocates of sobriety, cranks, hypocrites, fanatical dyes. The persons so designated are members of Catholic and Protestant Churches, of organizations such as the League of the Cross, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, The Sons of Temperance, The International Order of Good Templars, The Social Service Council.

We respectfully inform opponents of temperance reform who use the choice appellations above that our work is endorsed by, and receives the financial support from, leading manufacturers, prominent business men, physicians lawyers, magistrates, judges, representative citizens in all walks of life.

Progress is being made as is evidenced by the fact that in this tragic war period men who were formerly advocates of total abstinence are now urgently calling upon our Governments, Federal and Provincial, to take early action to suppress the liquor traffic. It is gratifying at the present time to have their co-operation. They also may be termed cranks, but will, no doubt as do other sensible men and women, ignore the clamor and denunciation of the estimable ladies and gentlemen who favor the continuance of drinking customs, and who discount the teaching of science that "the beverage use of alcohol causes diminished efficiency of body and mind and enfeeblement of moral control".

On the question of efficiency we quote the words of the Archbishop of Quebec, "Efficiency is the demand of the hour and alcohol is the enemy of efficiency." "We hope, for the sake of our country and Empire", said the Archbishop, "all will fully realize that abstinence from drink will powerfully aid us to win the war."

May we predict that the suppression of the liquor traffic, if effected during the war, would demonstrate the wisdom of permanent deliver-

For That Everlasting Sweet Tooth

There's no denying, cake's something these days. Noses no longer turn skyward at the mention of cake for dessert. The sugar situation being what it is, women can't afford to splurge often in the cake-business, which is all the more reason why they want a really good recipe when they indulge — something, perhaps, like this recipe for delicious chocolate fudge loaf appearing below. Surprise the family with this tempting cake. They will love you for it.

Chocolate Fudge Loaf (One egg)

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well; then add chocolate and blend. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in a greased pan, 8 by 8 by 2 inches, in a moderate oven (325 degrees) one hour, or until done. Spread fudge frosting on top and sides of cake.

Fudge Frosting

3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups milk
3 cups sugar
1½ teaspoons vanilla
Dash of salt
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
3 tablespoons butter
Add chocolate to milk and place over a low flame. Cook until the mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add sugar, salt and corn syrup; stir until sugar is dissolved and the mixture boils.

Continue boiling, without stirring, until a small amount of the mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 degrees). Remove from fire. Add butter and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees). Beat until right consistency to spread. If necessary, place over hot water to keep soft while spreading. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of 8 by 8 by 2-inch cake very generously.

Character for the Bath-Room

Modernizing the bath-room once meant the installation of new equipment. But today, with priorities making themselves felt everywhere in the manufacturing world, persons must be content to modernize by means of decorations and accessories.

It's surprising what charming effects can be obtained through the medium of fresh fabrics, wall coverings, bright paints and gay incidentals. Colorful bath-room linens and beautifully designed containers for powders, lotions, and toilet necessities add to the attractiveness of the bath-room.

The least expensive and most effective way to give your bath-room character is with wallpaper. But choose carefully the design and quality of the paper, for steam will do its worst. Get either washable paper or one with a dependable fabric base. Here you may risk papers which might be entirely too startling in some other part of the house.

If some member of the family is an addict to bath-tub soaking, you might add a rack to fit across the tub. This will hold a book for reading, cold cream, manicure or shaving equipment.

In the event your bath-room is not tiled and you want something especially nice, why not consider linoleum for your walls? It is durable, good looking and available in a number of colors. If you're using linoleum for the floor, dark colors are much more effective than a light floor. Suggested colors for your home are bright deep blue, black, deep green, or chocolate brown.

An Eye to Elbows

Look behind you! Do you see your elbows? Never thought they looked so unsightly, did you?

The skin on the arm hinge is naturally coarser than elsewhere on the body. It has a way of getting gray and dingy looking. If you have been neglectful of this area, combine two ounces of witch hazel and two ounces of peroxide and apply with cotton. When the lotion has dried, massage the flesh with a heavy massage cream. Continue rubbing until the cream disappears, then apply borated talcum powder lightly.

PENCIL MARKS ON WOOD

At times pencil marks are left on unfinished furniture and they must be removed before the finish is applied or they will show through. Moisten the stains with clear water and then rub with a fine grade of sandpaper.

Wash Lace Collars

Dainty lace collars need special care in laundering. Make up a hot suds with mild packaged soap, put in a fruit jar, add the collars, and cover with a lid. Let soak five minutes and then shake gently several times. Rinse thoroughly in three cold rinse waters. Carefully shake out the collars and let them dry on a Turkish towel. Press on a wrong side with a warm iron.

WHEN BROILING STEAK

When broiling steak, slip several slices of bread under the rack on the bottom of the broiler pan. The juices drip down and when the meat is done the bread is toasted and forms a delightful accompaniment to it.

If this happens here

You'll be glad you gave to the Red Cross

One of these days bombs may come crashing down in your neighborhood. Your house may be left in ruins. You or your child may be crying feebly for help. Your friends, your family, may be left homeless.

No matter what happens, you'll never regret that you gave to the Red Cross. Reach out the hand of mercy to help those crushed by grief and pain. You will not turn a deaf ear to the cry of the injured and the suffering.

The Canadian Red Cross is just your heart with other Canadian hearts beating in compassion for suffering humanity. YOU want to be a part of this great mission of mercy. You will give to your Red Cross. Open your heart and purse strings—GIVE generously.

Hitler's New Order

France

France fed herself before the "New Order" came to her. Today France is short of food, fuel, medicine and clothing because Germany has robbed her. Of the supplies which the British allows to be landed in French Mediterranean ports, three-quarters go to Germany and Italy. Germany has taken over $350,000,000 worth of rolling stock from French railways.

In Alsace-Lorraine all Roman Catholic seminaries and organizations have broken up, and all children over 10 years of age must join the "Hitler Youth". In Hochfelden, Alsace, because of demonstrations on France's national birthday, 160 young men were arrested at random and sent to prison camp. At least 350 patriots have been executed in France since the occupation. The Germans now have a pool of hostages in Paris formed by the arrest of Frenchmen found in its street after curfew. At Lille 20 French railwaymen were shot following the unsolved disappearance of some high explosives from a German ammunition train. A Frenchman getting on a suburban train in Paris in a crush knocked a German officer quite accidentally. He was arrested and executed next morning. Yet, despite executions, fines and starvation, French passive resistance continues. Some trucks from French factories smash after very little usage. France during October and December, 1941, 1,800 trucks The Germans admit that in loaded with war material and 30 ammunition dumps were destroyed and 184 trains derailed. In spite of Vichy's lies maligning Britain, over 90 per cent of the French people are longing for the landing of a British army.

Greece

Greece, a very poor country cannot feed herself, and yet the Germans have robbed her of her food and deliberately destroyed stocks they could not remove. Her entire stock of olive oil, one of her main food products, has been taken by the Nazi war machine. If Greek villages cannot produce the excessive quotas of food demanded of them for Germany, hostages are shot. Terrible famine now prevails and in Athens and Piræus alone hundreds die of starvation each week. Britain has sent food to her people through Turkey, but the only German and Italian action is to collect the bodies of those who die in the streets. People rob the graves for clothes. Under Nazi direction, Bulgaria occupied purely Greek territories in northern Greece, massacred over 150,000 men, women and children, and took the remaining inhabitants to labor in Bulgaria.

The Greeks have replied with sabotage, and guerilla warfare in the mountains so skillful that it keeps occupied several divisions of Axis soldiers. Unable to quell Greek resistance by fighting, the Germans are burning towns and villages, and executing hostages by the hundred. In a few weeks 685 were shot in C.

Yet the Greek spirit is unquenchable, and they live for the day when Greece will be free again.

Yugo-Slavia

So far Germany has committed her most terrible crimes against Slavonic peoples, following her avowed policy of destroying Slavs to make room for Germans. Even from Yugo-Slavia, a poor mountainous country, the Germans have stolen food, leaving the people to starve. According to official German reports, wholesale massacres for the killing of one German occur almost daily. When German troops cannot get enough men to shoot in cold blood, they murder women and children. Entire towns and villages have been bombed to the ground, and those who are not killed perish from hunger and cold.

Today there are three regular Yugo-Slav armies of about 80,000 men operating under General Michailovitch in the mountains of central and western Yugo-Slavia. German dive-bombers, parachute troops and armoured units have failed against the mountain positions. Several Axis garrisons have been wiped out. Today, no Axis soldiers dare go outside rifle-shot range of their posts; and they only hold the towns they garrison. Unable to defeat the Yugo-Slav soldiers, Germans vented their rage in January by utterly destroying three towns south of Belgrade. In one no living person was left. At Kragujevac 4,000 men and boys were butchered as a reprisal for 10 German soldiers killed and 15 wounded while fighting patriot armies. These Serbian armies are keeping engaged several German divisions badly needed in Russia. Their history shows that Yugo-Slavs will never give in.

Czecho-Slovakia

In Czecho-Slovakia the depraved German governor, Heydrich, has publicly hanged or shot over 2,000 patriots. In attempts to make them betray their comrades over 1,000 were handed over to the Gestapo, many to be tortured until they died or became insane. Col. Tomas Houska was tortured for four days before the Germans finally killed him. Universities and schools have been closed and prison camps with thousands of students, to die in one day 100 students from Pague University were executed; others were kicked to death.

Some of the German cruelties are too foul to print. Up to November, 1941, about 150,000 Czechs had been imprisoned. Of 1,200 students arrested in Prague in November, 1939, 700 had died by last December. Scientific instruments and precious libraries have been taken to Germany. Other libraries have been burned. Execution awaits any Czech who opposes the "collection" of winter clothing for German troops. Czech farmers are being evicted and replaced by Germans.

But the Czechs are fighting back. Production in armament factories has been reduced 40 per cent. In one factory 20 million rounds of ammunition were spoiled. Railway sabotage is so great that Germans avoid sending trains through Czecho-Slovakia.

Transit of goods between Vienna and Dresden now often takes a month instead of three days. In the Carpathians, guerillas recently wrecked a military train and took eight carloads of machine-guns and ammunition. The Czechs have fought for civil and religious liberty for centuries and will not cease now.

Poland

German oppression and mass murders in Poland are on a truly terrible scale. The most fertile agricultural land has already been taken for Germans. During the winter, an average of ten trains a day were filled with Polish peasants, evicted to make room for Germans. After an 18-day journey, packed in open trucks, many arrived in Germany frozen to death. Of the remainder many were left stranded in the open to die of exposure and starvation. In each village the Germans appoint a "Committee of Trustees"—the mayor, priest and three others. If the village cannot produce the exorbitant levy of food demanded for Germany, they are sent to special prison camps.

Potatoes, cabbage and onions cost 60 cents per pound in Warsaw. Hundreds die of famine. In Poland Germans have the prior right to all food. Recently, for leaving the Jewish quarter in Warsaw without permission, 15 Jews were hanged. No Pole is allowed to teach in Poland. All but elementary schools have been closed. Scientific instruments and libraries have been stolen by Germany. Most of the professors have been executed or sent to prison camps. At Cracow 300 students of both sexes were arrested, many shot immediately, and others terribly tortured. On one occasion 100 Polish boy scouts were lined up and machine-gunned one by one. The lads were so heroic that even some Germans were ashamed; but they finished their crime. In March, 100 Poles were shot in Warsaw as hostages for the killing of one Gestapo official and the wounding of another. The city was threatened with starvation if it occurred again. Hundreds of priests, Roman Catholic and Protestant, have been executed or sent to prison camps, and cowardly young Nazis have treated gentle old men to the foulest infamies before putting them to death. Since the Germans entered Poland they have executed 82,000 Poles. In addition, over 30,000 have died in prison camps and it is estimated that in all 3,000,000 have died in battle, by execution, in prison, of disease, or of want. Yet, the Poles, fired by their unconquerable national spirit, fight on by sabotage, and now Polish guerillas armed with modern weapons harass the invaders.

Russia

From German-occupied Russia come similar accounts of wholesale massacres, burnings of homes and other horrors committed by German soldiers. From Norway and elsewhere in Europe we learn that Germans have robbed Russian prisoners-of-war of their boots and clothes, and herded them, bare-footed and in rags, to die by thousands of cold and starvation in shelterless prison camps in sub-zero weather. Germans have raped thousands of Russian girls and women, and then murdered their victims.

It was Bismarck in 1864-71, Kaiser Wilhelm in 1914-18, and it is Hitler today; but the German military caste has always known that it would have the support of the majority of the German people, provided that they were given victories and plunder, and little suffering to themselves. These wholesale crimes are being carried out by average German soldiers and policemen, who are average Germans. The young Nazi commits these cruelties because of his belief in the Nazi doctrine of cruelty and effects pride in them. The older German commits them, because that is the easiest course for himself. Not until the Germans have suffered in their own country the horrors which they have inflicted on others, will they prefer peace to war.

In spite of the incipient ferment in Europe we cannot depend on Gestapo-controlled peoples rising in general revolt until a powerful British-American army has landed there, and, in co-operation with the Russians, inflicted a heavy defeat on the German forces.

Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning — always constipated — can't eat without pain and distress? Your liver is poisoning your system — permanent ill health may be the result!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled — youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop — you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headache, backache, dizzy, tired out — a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health — feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

"I'll Live 12, Always Fine Now"

Since I was twelve I suffered from constipation and never felt well. I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and I can truly say they gave me wonderful relief. Every one should try "Fruit-a-tives" and enjoy life as I do now. I have never been sick for years.

"Run Down For Years, Has Perfect Health"

I was badly run down and terribly nervous. My digestion was poor and I was always constipated. "Fruit-a-tives" soon made me better and I felt nothing like it before. It's making you well and giving you new pep and energy. After years of bad health "Fruit-a-tives" made me feel fine.

Allies Facing Supreme Test

Nazi forces massed on the thawing front in Russia and Japanese armies fighting steadily northward through Burma will give the United Nations what may well be the supreme test of the war this spring and summer. The Nazis, when Hitler begins the offensive he has promised, will be aiming at the rich oil fields off the Russian Caucasus. The Japanese seek to cut off China's supply lines and to knock that country out of the war. If they succeed, the allies will suffer a catastrophe. Defense of Australia and the Battle of the Atlantic have become secondary to the struggles in Russia and Burma.

When Hitler loosens the full strength of his armies in an attempt to turn back the tide of Russian strength which has given him his first bitter taste of defeat in battle, the Soviets say they are ready. China too, still battles valiantly on all fronts.

If Russia is able to defeat Hitler this summer, or even get pay, Germany may collapse, and with it the rest of the axis, veteran observers say. If the allies can continue to get supplies into China, the sacrifices Japan is making to complete conquest of Burma may have to go for naught. If Russia and China fail, these same experts say, Germany and Japan may join hands in the Far East and drive the United Nations back to the British Isles and America.

Linked closely to hampering developments are Russian demands for a creation of the forces of Germany. Moscow wants Britain and America to invade Western Europe through Norway or France, to threaten Germany from the west while the Soviets still hold the upper hand on the eastern front. An allied offensive against Japan from bases in Australia would be designed at the same time, to force the Nipponese to ease their pressure on Burma, India and China.

Allied leaders have said only that invasion of Europe and an offensive against Japan will begin as soon as possible.

For the moment, fierce British air raids on Germany and on France and commando excursions against the channel coast of Europe have the Nazis badly worried, and American air raids on the cities of Japan have let Tokyo know that a storm of bombs may break at any time.

Adolf Hitler, in an address by which he compelled his rubber stamp reichstag to confirm his dictatorial powers, has betrayed genuine worry over the outcome of the war. Many observers predicted he planned or had already begun a purge and that there had been a serious breakdown on the Nazi home front. His new powers give him absolute authority over every German, high and low alike, regardless of rank.

Hitler wrathfully scolded factory workers who demand vacations. He denounced German judges for being lenient with criminals.

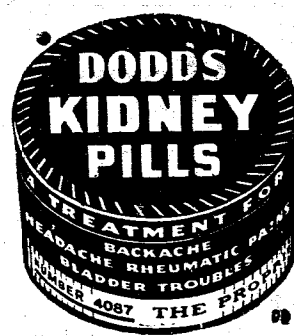

He told at length of the horrors of winter war in Russia, but promised that Russia eventually would be beaten and said that next winter the Nazis will be better prepared. He promised revenge on Britain for the fierce aerial raids of the Royal Air Force on Western Europe. And he recited again—as he does in every speech he makes—that all the troubles of the world can be laid at the doors of the Jews.

Believe in Yourself

If it is hard to believe in the great realities of life when the world is in a state of confusion, one still may believe. It is not right and not safe to throw everything overboard because of conditions changed by war. There is much disbelief, and it is hard to keep the faith when we see so much turmoil, so much grief.

But this is all the more reason why we should keep the faith. To take an opposite course is to invite despair, defeat, and disaster. It has become an axiom that "seeing is believing". It is more in accord with truth that "believing is seeing".

Therefore we should believe. Even if we cannot believe much, we can very much believe what is vital. Just how much do we believe in the Infinite, in the great realities of life, in facing facts, in tempering justice with love, and in fighting wrong to the uttermost? The individual's daily output is the answer to this question, for actions speak louder than words, and far more eloquently.

There is one belief that is of the highest importance, and it should never be surrendered if we are to make the most of life and develop our native talents to the limit of their capabilities. We should believe in ourselves. There are two voices within each individual. One is the voice of despair, pessimism, doubt and denial. The more we listen to this voice the more cowardly we become.

The other voice within says that every person can be a conqueror if he will. One who heeds the first voice is living by fractions, and not fully and to the uttermost. He does not know how to live simply because he does not believe in himself.

Every person must get out of his own way. He must cease letting himself be a problem, and see to it that he fills his larger niche in this world because he studies himself, knows himself, does his own thinking, is his own boss, and has sufficient constructive imagination and originality to set the pace, if necessary, for his entire community.

Come out of it, by thinking large and getting yourself out of the way. Tune in on the higher power and stand by for self-announcements of greater courage and clearer vision. He who believes in himself and has faith in himself goes a long way toward being a leader among his fellows, for he is bound to live the life of quality and inspire others with the same courage and confidence that he possesses.

Rubber Display Attracts Attention

One of Digby's most modern stores, the Royal Department Store, is making a big effort to collect old rubber articles for the Digby Salvage Committee, and has donated one of its large display windows to the cause.

In this window is placed a big placard inviting the public to deposit any old rubber articles there. Within a brief time a heap of old tires, worn out hot water bottles, rubber gloves and discarded garden hose as well as numerous other rubber items, ranging from children's toys to sponges are on display in this window.

Needless to say, the display is attracting much attention. The old rubber will be turned over to the local salvage committee at a later date.

Have Lime Tested

Limestone being sent from the quarries to the farms is generally of a high quality and satisfactory in every respect. In any case, however, where a farmer thinks the lime is not up to standard, a sample should be sent at once to the provincial chemist at Truro, who will make an immediate examination free of cost. About one quarter pound is sufficient for a sample and two days should be allowed for the examination. The quantity of the ground lime is based on the fineness of the grind and the percentage of limestone. The finer the grind the quicker it will act.

15 Graduate from N.S.A.C.

Thirteen students graduated from the Nova Scotia agricultural college, at the closing exercises held at the college, Wednesday, April 29. These are in addition to those taking the regular farm course who graduated at the end of March. William T. Chafe was valedictorian and winner of the governor general's medal which was presented to him by Hon. John A. MacDonald, minister of agriculture. The largely attended gathering was addressed by Dr. George J. Truman, president of Mount Allison University. Greetings from the government of Nova Scotia were brought by the Premier, A. S. MacMillan, Dr. W. H. Brittain, vice-principal of McGill University, presented the MacDonald College scholarship to A. S. Perlin.

Precipitation Above Average

Rainfall for the month of April at the Nova Scotia agricultural college station, Truro, was 1.38 inches. It rained on seven days. Snow fell two days, and amounted to 1 3/4 inches. The total precipitation was 1.55 inches for the month. This is more than an inch under the 32 year average. The precipitation for the three months, February, March, April, was 6.72 inches, compared with 8.41 for the average of the 32 year period. There was a very heavy fall of snow in January, and as a result the precipitation for the four months is an inch above the average.

Soil is working up very dry this spring and many are complaining of lack of water in wells. This is going to mean that frequent rains will be required if pasture and soil conditions are to be favorable for crop production.

Must Give Fuelwood Invoice

An important order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board regards the measurement of fuelwood became effective May 1. Under this ruling every person producing fuelwood for resale and every dealer who purchases, receives stores or distributes to retail dealers or distributes directly to the consumer must prepare an invoice to cover every sale. This invoice shall show the quantity by cord or fraction of cord so sold and shall be delivered to the customer along with the fuelwood. The order defines a "cord" as 128 cubic feet of stacked fuelwood, and "fuelwood" means any wood used for heating purposes, but does not include sawdust and hog fuel.

Fishmeal is Available

Farmers raising cattle, hogs and poultry, will be pleased to learn that fish meal may now be had in quantities to meet reasonable requirements. For many months there has been a real shortage of this product which is largely produced in Nova Scotia. This has been due to the heavy demand from all parts of eastern Canada. The cost of fishmeal on a protein bases is reasonable and farmers would be well advised to use it as a ration as much as possible. It might be worthwhile to purchase a little in advance of immediate requirements so as not to be caught again by any shortage.

Lime Movement Is Heavy

The movement of lime is exceptionally heavy at this time of year in preparation for seeding. While the spreading of orders has been furthered to some extent through the spread brought about last summer in prices, this has not prevented a heavy piling up of orders for the opening of the roads, particularly in eastern Nova Scotia. Orders through the Extension Division office during the month of April totalled 82 cars. Included in the orders for Antigonish County was one by Premier A. S. MacMillan for his farm at South River. This is the old home-stand and one which the Premier is maintaining production.

Free for Outside Service

Now that the Nova Scotia agricultural college is closed until the opening of the next term, October 14, the members of the teaching staff are free to devote their entire time to their outside work including those projects aimed at greater agricultural production. The farm engineering department is already on the road with the department's ditching machine and is prepared to give assistance for the most efficient use of farm machinery. Other officials will devote their time to livestock crop programs, including soil management. A number of the staff will spend their time in the orchard sections of the province, assisting in production and control measures. Special attention this year is being given to bees and poultry. Dairy officials are constantly aiding in the complicated problems of war-time dairying. In fact, the entire staff is at the service of groups throughout the province. Contacts may be made at any time with the agricultural representatives who are always in the field.

Agricultural Society Has Outing

The members of the Maple Leaf Agricultural Society and their wives spent a most enjoyable evening at Meteghan where they the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond LeBlanc. Thirty members of the party arrived by motor from Acaciaville and vicinity and received a very warm and cordial welcome from our general Agricultural Representative and Mrs. LeBlanc at their spacious residence. Others present were Rev. and Mrs. Hart, Fred Lent and Amos Hill of Weymouth. The meeting was called to order by the president, Lloyd MacNeill and routine business transacted, after which Mr. Hart gave a splendid report on the progress being made in the matter of agricultural education in public schools. This was followed by an address by Mr. LeBlanc on Farm Economics. Before the meeting adjourned, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hart. Next meeting will be held at Jersey Farms, on Monday evening, May 4, when the society will be the guests of Hubert Warne, at dinner. The guest speaker will be Frank Ditmars, of Deep Brook, and the subject of contracting to grow Ditmars' turnip seed by the Society, will be discussed.

Because of its mild flavor veal requires more seasoning than other meats and slower cooking is advisable.

in Bear River, well liked by a family of three swallows. Year by year some of this family fly north to raise a family in it. Each year, also, a pair of English sparrows try to occupy the house, and a bird battle ensues, with the odds seeming to be in favor of the sparrows. The tree swallows, however, have human friends who throw many stones at the sparrows to drive them away. The swallows know the stones are not meant for them, and will fly close to the stone-throwers, while the sparrows, fully realizing they are in danger, fly quickly out of range. The swallows usually raise a family of four healthy young ones, but several years, when the house has been taken down for cleaning, it was found that one or two little ones had been hatched out, and had even been fully feathered, but had not been reared. Perhaps they never had confidence to fly from the little opening, and when the parents ceased bringing food home to them, they could not take care of themselves.

The yearly battle is now on—with bets on the swallows finally securing the bird house.

Permits Necessary To Enter Woods

Since the outbreak of war forest products have played an ever increasing role in the war effort.

During the year 1941 Nova Scotia's forests yielded a variety of products from ship timber to pulpwood with a total value well in excess of fifteen million dollars.

Rapidly accumulating areas of logging slash resulting from expanding logging activity coupled with shortage of man power due to enlistments in the armed forces and employment in war industry have increased the problem of fire protection.

In normal times fire losses are serious, but in wartime when it becomes necessary to draft men from vital war industries to fight fire, the losses become doubly alarming, and any person who carelessly or maliciously starts a fire sabotages the war effort just as truly as the fifth columnist who wrecks a factory or dynamites a train.

While most of our citizens are careful with fire, there are unfortunately a few whose careless acts continue year by year to pile up staggering fire losses.

Keeping in mind not only the present war needs but also the future peace time needs of our men who are serving in the armed forces, it is felt that more drastic action must be taken to prevent serious losses of our natural resources.

During the past week of dry weather numerous fires have broken out over the whole Province, and it is evident that the woods must be closed if we are to avoid unnecessary destruction.

With the closing of the woods, all persons other than owners or Fire Rangers, must obtain a permit before entering the woods, and all Permits to Burn are automatically cancelled.

IN HUNDREDS of rural districts, maintenance of gravel roads with Calcium Chloride has brought immediate relief to nearby farm homes. It has put an end to dust which damages crops, increases housework, makes driving on farm-to-market roads unsafe, unhealthy.

Highway and maintenance engineers have found that the Calcium Chloride maintenance method, which brings such benefits to rural residents, actually costs no more than ordinary maintenance without Calcium Chloride. The Calcium Chloride pays for itself by saving much of the frequent re-gravelling and dragging which is essential without it.

Thus highway officials get better value for their expenditures, conserve funds for other essential work and contribute more effectively to the welfare and comfort of rural residents when the Calcium Chloride maintenance method is used.

Calcium Chloride is made entirely in Canada.

In the hurry of every-day life we so often forget that in our midst live those who, in the past, lived full and useful lives. In a Biography of "Jimmy Hare—News Photographer" by Cecil Carnes, published in 1940, the fly-leaf bears the following: "Inscribed to my dear friend Mary Hubbard, who assisted him in building up his profession in bygone days. (Signed) James H. (Jimmy) Hare, December 1940." Mrs. Hubbard can, if she will, tell many interesting stories of her life in New York, but never would claim such a tribute as the one above, which was discovered when the book was "borrowed" by a friend of her's. Jimmy Hare was perhaps the first news photographer, an occupation now of great interest to us all.

Mrs. R. Belvine, of Bridge-town, was in town on Thursday.

Ladies' Aid met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Fowler Robinson.

The W. M. S. of the United Baptist Church will meet today in the Church Vestry. This is the annual meeting, and it is hoped a large number will be present. Tea will be served to members and guests.

Perhaps we have a coming baseball player in the Village—little Robert Harris having joined the boys playing ball in the Square. "Bobby" is just past four years old—and if some talent scout from Hollywood came around, he would surely be impressed by the sturdy independence of this young chap—his confident and jaunty walk, engaging smile and sparkling brown eyes. Perhaps life holds some pleasant spot in the Sun for this "coming citizen." We hope so.

Tribute to the Late Dr. Lewis Johnstone Lovett

Dr. Lewis Johnstone Lovett, well known Nova Scotian physician, passed away on Monday, April 27th, at the winter home of his brother, H. A. Lovett, K. C., at Pinehurst, North Carolina. Dr. Lovett was convalescing from a serious illness suffered earlier in the year and was accompanied to the south by his wife and daughter Edith. They left Nova Scotia early in the month.

Prominent in political circles, Dr. Lovett was a staunch supporter of the Liberal party. He held the Federal seat for the constituency of Annapolis-Digby from 1921-25, and during his term of office did much to advance the interests of Nova Scotia and improve conditions throughout his constituency. He was unflinching in his work for the Liberal Party right up to the time of his last illness.

He was a keen sportsman, serving several terms as President of the Digby-Annapolis Fish and Game Protective Association, and represented this Society year after year at Provincial Conventions. He spent a short period each autumn at his hunting lodge at White Sands Lake, where many hunters from other parts of Canada and the United States benefited from his knowledge of wood-lore. He was President of the Bear River Board of Trade, and of the local Red Cross Society and in many ways helped to develop this district as a tourist resort. He served often on the Board of School Trustees, never failing to show a deep interest in the school clubs and in the advancement of educational methods. He also served as President of the Valley Medical Society; the Medical Staff Society of the Digby General Hospital and was on the staff of the Annapolis General Hospital. He was a member of the Keith Lodge, of the Masonic Order, Friendship Lodge, I.O.O.F., the Canadian Medical Association and the Nova Scotia Medical Division.

Dr. Lovett was a son of the late Henry and Annie Lovett of Kentville. He graduated in Arts at Acadia University and then went on to Bellevue Hospital University in New York, graduating in 1891. He had thus completed 50 years of faithful service in this community to which he came following his graduation, a record not equalled by many; and gave willingly and unstintingly of his skill and knowledge to aid the sick and needy in the extensive section of two counties in which he carried on his work.

He is survived by his wife, the former Josephine Marshall, of Bear River; two daughters, Mrs. W. D. Sutherland, of Lockeport, and Miss Edith Lovett, R.N., of New York, who came home and lovingly cared for him during his illness; two grandsons, Lewis L. J. Sutherland, serving with the North N. S. Highlanders, now in England, and William, at home in Lockeport; one sister, Mrs. T. R. Robinson, of Halifax; two brothers, H. A. Lovett, K.C., of Montreal and Pinehurst, and L. A. Lovett, K.C., of Halifax.

The service, held at the home on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, was conducted by Rev. James Brooks, of the United Church of Canada, assisted by Rev. A. W. L. Smith, of St. John's Church of England, and Rev. G. D. Brydon, of the Baptist Church. Rev. Mr. Smith, through prayer, brought a message of comfort to the family, suffering such sorrow; and Rev. James Brooks, in a beautiful address, paid touching and sincere tribute to the work of the Doctor in this community—to the unfailing sympathy and understanding circumstances, and to the never-failing influence of the quality of leadership he had given through his long life of useful and unselfish service. His removal means a great loss to all, but his memory will remain ever fresh and productive of good in the lives of those who were privileged to all him "Friend and Doctor".

A very large number of friends came from far and near to pay their last tribute of respect to a beloved physician, gone from his labors here. The Hon. J. D. MacKenzie, Minister of Highways of the Government of Nova Scotia, and George Reagh, of Middleton; T. R. Robertson, K.C. and Percy Lovett (a nephew) of Halifax; Wm. D. Sutherland and son, William, of Lockeport; many members of the Medical Profession and hundreds from all walks, attended the service. Interment was in Mount Hope Cemetery. The floral tributes were many and very lovely, the large lot being completely covered with beauty and the air filled with mingled perfume. The bright sun overhead gave hope of a better life to come, and the flowers a promise of resurrection.

Many telegrams and letters of sympathy were received, among them being a telegram from the Honorable W. L. MacKenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, and one from Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Premier of Nova Scotia; others came from all parts of Canada and the United States from friends to whom the hospitality of this home was ever one of the attractions of summers spent in Nova Scotia.

The following Editorial published in The Halifax Herald is indeed a fitting tribute to a good citizen, a beloved Doctor, a sincere friend:

"Dr. Lewis Johnstone Lovett was much more than a member of the medical profession to Bear River where he made his home and practised for 51 years. He was a leader with the interests of the immediate countryside and of his country at heart.

"In half a century, he had helped into this world a whole new generation and had seen them grow up to take their place as useful men and women. His skill and his understanding of human nature combined had helped many of them through crisis in their lives. He was The Doctor.

"Tangible expression of the esteem in which Dr. Lovett was held was given many times, notably in the federal election of 1921 when he was elected member for Digby-Annapolis. In this he was following in the footsteps of a maternal uncle, the Hon. James W. Johnstone, noted figure in Nova Scotia political and juridical life in the nineteenth century, who sat in the Provincial House for Annapolis for twenty years.

"Nor was this the only field in which the Doctor served, for he was President of the Board of Trade and was foremost in the movement which developed Bear River into one of the outstanding resorts of the Province.

"New death has claimed Dr. Lovett at the end of a long illness. It has taken from Bear River a splendid citizen, a friend, and to day there is widespread mourning and the deepest sympathy for members of the family."

"There is no death—what seems so is transition; this life of mortal breath is but a suburb of the life elysian, whose portal we call death."—Longfellow.

Salvage Campaign

The local Salvage Committee met in Weymouth last week and discussed plans for the salvage campaign. Good work has been done by the "Cubs" under Mrs. Ferguson, and the Red Cross ladies under Mrs. McNeil had handled a large quantity of foil and tubes.

For the main collection progress had been held up by the failure of truck owners to co-operate. This was seen to be a serious menace to the success of the campaign at a time when almost every householder was displaying the "S" sign. Rev. Barker and Israel Melanson undertook a house to house "warning" campaign and D. V. Theriault managed to secure a truck. The result was that a large quantity of salvage was placed in the depot. There are some folks, however, who thing in terms of garbage rather than salvage.

Larger School Unit Discussed

"The Larger School Unit" was the subject discussed by T. A. M. Kirk, school inspector for the Municipalities of Digby and Yarmouth at a meeting of the Digby County Home and School Association in the I. O. O. F. Hall, Monday afternoon and evening. The Bear River Cross Roads school entertained the convention.

In his discussion of the plan, which has already been adopted in Halifax and Antigonish Counties, Mr. Kirk explained permission would have to come first from the Municipal Council, and should a petition be granted this year, the larger unit system would not become effective until 1943.

He stated that under this system each school section would still have its trustees and secretary as in the past, however, it would not be the duty of the secretary to pay the teacher who will receive salary from a central office.

He further explained the "larger unit" would not of necessity mean consolidation of schools. School taxes would be paid in to a central office, and from that office salaries and maintenance for the various sections would be paid. This would be very beneficial especially with respect to salaries, for, under the present system, school sections are in arrears in this respect. He pointed out that in Digby County alone school sections were $7,000 in arrears to their teachers last year.

Teachers' salaries would be fixed by the government, the minimum salary for small schools would be $400 and maximum $650; maximum in two-department schools $1,200 and in three-department schools, $1,900, plus grants and bonuses.

At the afternoon session Miss Pearl Campbell, of the Bear River School staff gave a talk on the Girls' Garment Clubs. Miss Dora Baker, provincial head of the Home and School Associations also gave a short address. Following the supper, Mr. Barteaux of the Barton-Brighton School, showed three patriotic films, and Mr. LeGrow, principal of Oakdene Academy, Bear River, delivered a short address.

(Special to the Courier)

THE CHILDREN'S SCRAPBOOK

Bright and early one Saturday morning, a cameraman dropped in on "The Children's Scrapbook" in CBC's Toronto studios, just to see what Peggy and all her friends really look like. Bulbs flashed, cameras clicked, and here are the results:

"The Children's Scrapbook", now in its third season, is heard on the National Network of the CBC and in the United States over stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System, every Saturday at 12.30 p.m. EDT., 1.30 p.m. ADT.

AIR RAID PRECAUTIONS

An advertisement over the signature of the Town of Digby Emergency Committee, appearing on Page 4 of this issue announces changes in the Air Raid Warning signal. Here after the signal will be given by a series of short blasts of the town fire siren. These blasts will be sounded intermittently for two minutes.

The announcement also states that at night, when possible, lights will be blinked twice before the siren is sounded.

The "All Clear" will be sounded by one long blast of the siren.

Discuss Snow Removal

Many differences of opinion were expressed at the Thursday afternoon session of the Digby Municipal Council over the appropriation of the Snow Removal Fund. Discussion over this matter came after the council voted to accept the Provincial Government's offer of $1786 for this purpose. The council voted $1000 for snow removal fund at its annual session in January, this with the government making a grand total of $2786.

It was first suggested the fund be used for the purchase and erection of snow fences along secondary and rural highways. There were objections on the ground that in some districts of the Municipality, snow fences were not practical.

Councillor S. E. Woodman then moved that the committee on tenders and public property be authorized to appropriate this fund after consulting each councillor on the needs of his district. The motion was seconded by D. B. Kenney.

Councillor Harley Ameriault moved an amendment that a special committee be appointed. There was no second and the amendment was withdrawn.

Calling for a vote on the question, Warden Chisholm was reminded the motion was

Trade Board Holds Monthly Meeting

At their regular monthly meeting the Digby Board of Trade voted the sum of $35 to the Digby Service Wives' Association, the money to be used to assist them in the purchase of cigarettes and sending packages to Digby boys overseas. It was also voted to purchase 60 War Savings Stamps to be given to pupils of the Digby schools who are regular purchasers of stamps, and thus assisting them in obtaining certificates.

Dr. T. L. Rogers reporting for the salvage committee stated net proceeds amounted to $260 which will be turned over to war services. Vincent Snow reported a net profit of $73 on the recent showing of "Smilin' Through" under Board of Trade Auspices at Capitol Theatre.

It was decided to contact the Department of National Defence and the Railway with regard to re-establishing the Cannon Bank Park on sections of the property not now used by these departments.

The secretary was also instructed to get in touch with the Department of Industry requesting that Digby be surveyed as a possible location for steel shipbuilding plants.

A letter from Hon. J. L. Isley was read in which Mr. Isley asked for a list of hotels that could be used as convalescent hospitals. The list was furnished by the secretary.

Rene Richard volunteered to look after paper salvage for the next month.

It was decided to discontinue supper meetings for the remainder of the summer. In their place business meetings will be held in the Town Hall. Tuesday night's supper meeting was at Jersey Farms Hotel.

made after 4 p.m. without resolution for extension of time, and was therefore illegal. Final consideration of the matter was postponed until next morning.

The question was settled Friday morning by passing the following resolution:

"That the committee on Tenders and Public Property have the appropriation of the snow removal fund which is to be used in accordance with the requirements of the different districts after having consulted the councillors for these districts."

The motion, although changed in wording from the one made "after hours" Thursday, was basically the same, and passed by a vote of 6-5. Among those voting against were councillors H. B. Fitzgerald and Harley Amirault, who comprise the committee on Tenders and Public Property.

The annual inspection by the council of the County Institution at Marshalltown was made Wednesday afternoon.

Place for Every Man In Reserve Force

There's a place for every man in the Reserve Force—white collar worker, farm-hand, factory worker, or professional man. It's a democratic organization that welcomes all classes and is truly a Citizen Army. Units of the Reserve Army are located at many points throughout the Maritime Provinces. For operational purposes a number of these units which are in vulnerable areas have been organized into the 36th Reserve Infantry Brigade Group.

An Army of the People for the People, the Reserve Force is not to be regarded as a reinforcement for the Active Army. There has been considerable misunderstanding on this point.

Many citizens who are doing valuable war work, or for other equally good reasons, are ineligible for Canada's Active Army, have long desired to take a more physical part in the war effort but have hesitated to join the Reserve Army because of the rumors—undoubtedly spread by fifth columnists—that all joined would quickly find themselves in the Active Force.

Nothing could be farther from the truth, states Colonel W. D. Simpson, V.D., who is in command of the 36th Reserve Infantry Brigade Group, which covers Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. Sole purpose of the Reserve Army is to train every man in the use of arms so that in the not improbable event of invasion, the citizen-soldier can line up with the Active Army in driving the aggressors from our homeland. The slogan of the Reserve Army is, Be a FIRST RESERVE not a LAST RESERVE!"

Whatever his calling, the recruit will be given every chance, following his enlistment, to serve where his particular talents can be put to practical use. A motor mechanic would be handy on army mechanical maintenance of any unit; an accountant could go into a pay office; an electrician would be well fitted for service in a search-light battery.

An effort will be made for men of certain trades or professions to serve in the same units. For instance, bankers would be grouped together as far as possible, so that they would find service in the Reserve Army more congenial.

Rev. Daniel E. Hatt

Word has been received that Rev. D. E. Hatt, a former pastor of the Digby Baptist church, has passed away at his home in Linden, Washington. Rev. Daniel Hatt was a native of Liverpool and has held several pastorates in this province, that of Digby being his last. He was a forcible and aggressive preacher, a poet of no mean ability and a well-known reader and reciter. The writers' acquaintance with him dates back to 1893, when as a comparatively young man he went to Shelburne and organized Protection Lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, and installed Mr Hatt as its past Chief Templar. Mr. Hatt was the pastor of the Shelburne Baptist Church, which we believe was his first charge. We renewed his acquaintance when he arrived in Digby and spent many pleasant hours in his company. Later, when we drove to the coast in 1937, we spent a night with him in Seattle. Digby always held a warm place in his heart, and if there is anyone connected with the Digby and Hill Grove churches who he didn't ask about, we cannot remember. At the close of his work in this town, he was appointed manager of the Baptist Book Room in Toronto and later to a similar position in Seattle. In a letter to the editor in 1938 he told of being transferred to Los Angeles, but as his retirement was near he did not think he would stay there long. He was a chaplain in the first World War and located on Queen Charlotte Islands with the troops engaged in getting out timber for aeroplane propellers and it was here he wrote one of his books, "Sitka Spruce". While in Digby he wrote "Digby Chickens". We never met his family but we know he was twice married and his second wife survives. We know of one son and one daughter, Mary, by his first wife and of Donald, by his second. Whether there were any others or not, we do not know.

Stuffed Cabbage

Vegetables need never be dull provided you find new ways of serving them. Baked stuffed cabbage, for instance, is festive enough for most any occasion, yet it is inexpensive. Prepare it according to the following recipe:

Baked Stuffed Cabbage

1 head of cabbage
 1/2 pound ground beef
 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
 2 tablespoons milk
 1 beaten egg
 1/4 cup melted butter or other fat

Cook the whole cabbage in boiling salted water for ten minutes. Remove it from the kettle and cut out the centre. Be sure to save the vegetable water for use in other cooking.

Chop fine the cabbage removed from the centre. Add to it the ground beef, the dry bread crumbs sprinkled with milk, the beaten egg, and the melted butter or other fat. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Place this stuffing in the hollowed-out cabbage and tie it securely in a cheese cloth. Then place the stuffed vegetable in a baking pan with enough water to cover the bottom of the pan, adding a little bacon fat or meat drippings. Cover the cabbage with a greased paper and bake it from 45 to 50 minutes in a moderate oven. Baste frequently with the liquid in the pan.

Leafy Vegetables Boon to Health

Plenty of green leafy vegetables are recommended for health these days. During the spring and summer of 1942 this means not only to plant plenty of spinach, cabbage, and leaf lettuce in the garden, but also gather wild greens from nearby fields and woods, the most widely used, dandelion.

Use greens as salads, chop them fine, and mix them with cottage cheese or salad dressing for sandwich fillings, cook and serve hot as a vegetable for dinner, or can for winter use.

Whether wild or cultivated, greens are a source of iron, calcium, and Vitamins A and C. Dark green leaves are richer in vitamins and iron than light green ones, and leaves are generally richer than stems.

Always use greens soon after gathering. Wash them thoroughly in plenty of water, then let them stand in a large pan of cold water for a couple of hours or put them in the refrigerator. Dry them before using them for a salad.

For cooking, use only the amount of water that clings to them, cover the pan, and cook them only until tender.

Tasty and Quick

Here's a dish that is easy to prepare and one the family is bound to like. It can be prepared at a moment's notice, too, by using the macroni in cream sauce with cheese which comes in cans, already prepared.

Macroni and Dried Beef

1 tablespoon butter
 1 tablespoon onion
 5 ounces sliced dried beef, shredded
 1/3 cup chili sauce
 1 medium can cooked macroni in cream sauce and cheese

Melt butter. Brown onion in the melted butter. Rinse excess salt from the dried beef and drain. Brown the dried beef in the melted butter and onion. Add chili sauce and macroni and mix well. Heat and serve.

What's Cooking?

"Pass the pansy fritters, the stewed roses, and the grass biscuits."

At Texas Technological College, Lubock, Tex., there's a novel experiment under way to determine how America's war-time food may be supplemented with flower's, herbs, tree buds, and leaves. Mrs. W. E. Ryan, amateur nutritionist who experiments on her husband's diet, aroused the college's interest when she collected ancient recipes and proved the Chinese ate bulbs and flowers centuries ago.

"Our grandmothers cooked without flavoring extracts and condiments during the Civil War," said Mrs. Ryan. "They used common herbs and flowers. The Dutch eat tulips and narcissus, and the English and Russians eat roses for Vitamin C, which we get principally in citrus fruits.

Some, bulbs, Mrs. Ryan says, make excellent substitutes for potatoes. Roses make jelly and candy. So do violets. Nasturtiums and nippiness to salads. Stewed roses and primroses are tasty. Grass sandwiches supply vitamins and minerals.

Food Temperatures

Foods stored in the refrigerator should be taken out long enough before cooking to enable them to reach room temperature. High heat on chilled steak will produce a steam in which juices are lost. Also a longer cooking period will be required. Recipes for baking are based on ingredients that are at room temperature when ready for the oven. If colder they must be cooked for a longer time.

Household Hints

Make sure that paper bags used in storing clothing are air-tight. Inspect them frequently to see that they have not become crushed or torn.

Starched articles will iron more easily and have a more attractive appearance if they are dampened with warm water instead of cold.

Draining vegetables promptly as soon as they are done will prevent loss of flavor and soginess.

If your oven is very hot, put a piece of waxed paper under the casserole cover to prevent the contents from scorching on top before they are baked through.

Use lemon juice to flavor meat, fish, egg and other sandwich fillings.

When baking custards or puddings with a custard foundation, set the baking dish in a shallow pan of water.

In Washing Vegetables

All vegetables that must be washed thoroughly to remove sand and soil, such as spinach, lettuce, watercress, should be washed in slightly salted water so that not only dirt comes out but any small insects will rise to the top of the water as well.

How to Glaze Cookies

To glaze cookies, use a mixture of two tablespoons of sugar to one-fourth cup of milk. Apply to the dough with a pastry brush before baking.

Boys and Girls For Farm Work

Boys and girls, 14 years and over may be released from public schools for employment on farms between June 1 and October 20, according to a co-operative arrangement between the Department of education and agricultural details of which have been announced. The purpose of the plan, it was stated, are:

1. To relieve the acute shortage of farm labor brought about by the war emergency;
2. To give boys and girls an opportunity to make a contribution to the war effort by assisting in the growing of food;
3. To provide healthful, educative and remunerative employment for boys and girls during the growing and harvesting period. The plan will apply to 1. Boys in rural and urban communities, 14 years of age and over, (a) who will be working on the home farm; (b) who will be placed on other farms under the direction of the agricultural representative for the county.
2. Girls in rural and urban communities, 14 years of age and over, who wish to work on the home farm or on the farm of relatives. The department will not assume responsibility for placing girls on outside farms.

For the purpose of administration the plan will be operated in two sections; the spring section, from June 1 to the opening of school, and from the close of school to October 20. The general rules are as follows:

Those who wish to work in the first section may be released from school after June providing their school record has been of passing grade up to that time. The school grading certificate or report card will be awarded after the student submits evidence of the completion of 10 weeks work. Students enrolled in Grades XI and XII must write the provincial examinations if they wish to secure a provincial high school certificate.

Those who wish to work in the second period will be excused from the provisions of the compulsory attendance act until October 20, provided at least ten weeks work has been completed and arrangements will be made by the school to assist the student in making up lost work. It must be clearly understood by all concerned that no school credit will be given to those who lose time in the fall term, and that the lost work must be made up.

A student may work for the full period from June 1 to October 20, but this should be permitted only if the student's record is high.

Boys and girls working in either of the two periods will become members of the farm service force for Nova Scotia, and will receive an appropriate badge to be sewn on their clothing. At the end of their period of service, each boy and girl will be given an engraved diploma suitable for framing, certifying that he or she has made a contribution to the war effort through membership in the farm service league. Agricultural representative will supervise the operation of the plan, with the co-operation of a county committee. Suitable arrangements will be made for remuneration of those placed on outside farms.

Teachers and principals will receive a letter from the education office early in May describing the plan, and asking them to enrol volunteers for the farm service force.

The agricultural representative will send each farmer an application blank, on which he will provide necessary information, including wages to be paid.

Not later than May 22, the teachers and principals will send to the Inspector of Schools a list of students who wish to be placed on outside farms, and who are qualified, together with a list of those who will be working on home farms. The two groups must be listed separately. The Inspector will give these lists to the representative and send duplicates to the department of education. The department of education will provide the schools with employment forms and farm service badges as per the lists.

As the boys are placed, the representative notifies the teacher and the boys are then released from school, but not before June 1. Boys and girls who are to work on home farms can be released on June 1. Boys who are to be placed on outside farms should not be released until word is received from the representatives.

As the boys and girls are placed, or leave to work on the home farm, whether on June 1, or later, the teacher will give a blank form and a farm service badge. If a boy is not placed until after the school is closed, he will receive the employment form and badge from the representative.

For those who leave school before the final examinations are completed the teacher will make out the local grading certificates or report cards, based on work up to the time of leaving, and leave them with the secretary to trustees. She will also make the appropriate grading entry in the register.

When the pupil completes his work on the farm (whether home farm or outside) he will have the farmer fill out the employment form, and will forward it to the representative. The representative will forward the farm service force diploma to the pupil, who will show it to the secretary to trustees and secure his grading certificate. If the pupil returns after school has opened, he will show the farm service force diploma to his teacher, who will give him the grading certificate, and will assist him in making up his lost work.

Students who have not served ten weeks will not be eligible for the diploma, but if they were voluntarily released by the farmer they may secure their school certificate and the privilege of returning late by presenting the signed employment form to the secretary or teacher.

The agricultural representative will keep in touch with the boys placed on outside farms, and will notify the new teacher after school opens as to when they may be expected to return to school. The teacher will be responsible for finding out when boys and girls working on home farms are to return to school.

The department of education will issue detailed instructions to teachers showing how the school program may be arranged so that those who have stayed out will miss a minimum amount of essential work.

RED CROSS NEWS

DIGBY

Red Cross work for the month of April was active in the Digby Branch and in the Auxiliaries and various affiliated groups. Rossway auxiliary held a special Red Cross service on Sunday, April 19, with a number of Digby members in attendance and a splendid showing of finished articles for civilian relief and the service forces were on display in an anti-room of the Anglican Church. A letter recently published in the Courier and signed "A Visitor", gave well-deserved praise to these active workers who comprise the Rossway Auxiliary. Another nice display of Red Cross work was that furnished by the April consignment of 25 articles from the Business Girls' Club, part of which were donated from the members. Much appreciated quilts continue to come in as contributions from groups and individuals and we trust that people will continue their support of this phase of the work throughout the summer months. To date we have shipped over 150 quilts in 1942, which is considerably better than we had done last year this time.

Having sent out large shipments of clothing and knitted garments at the end of March the shipments for April consisted only of quilts—19 large quilts and 12 crib quilts.

Donations received by the Work Committee during the month are gratefully acknowledged as follows:

8 quilts, Service Wives' Club; 4 quilts each, Baptist Guild, Trinity Guild and Acaciaville-Conway ladies; 2 quilts each, Ever-Ready Club Hill Grove Auxiliary; 1 quilt each, Mount Pleasant School, Ea-Gi Club, Mrs. Gordon Turnbull, Bay View, Mrs. Eugene Burns, Bay View, Miss Georgia Hines, Sea Brook, Miss Evelyn Roberts, Sea Brook, Mrs. J. R. Nichols, Acaciaville; Mrs. Joseph Franklin, Acaciaville, Mrs. Lewis Frude, Shelburne Road, and O. Wright, Digby. Clothing and Materials: Mrs. Piper, Mrs. Thurber, Mrs. Halet Syda, Miss Louise Daley, Mrs. Raymond Winchester, Mrs. R. B. Murray, Mrs. H. T. Warne, Mrs. May, Mrs. Wm. Webber, Mrs. Guy Morehouse, Miss Laura Morehouse, Mrs. C. E. Walker. Knitted Baby Garments: Mrs.

$9,000,000 NEEDED NOW!

EVERY RED CROSS DOLLAR does the work of three dollars. The Red Cross buys materials at bottom prices. Then, millions of Red Cross workers, knitting, sewing, toiling, without pay, finishing these goods and transporting them free, multiply the original dollar-value threefold.

It is well that this is so, for food, clothing, shelter and hospitalization cost millions.

Every week, 40,000 parcels go overseas now, from the Canadian Red Cross, to prisoners of war. This must be more than doubled to meet the actual need. The outgo is continuous; the income must be continuous.

The Red Cross is on duty 24 hours every day. Never was a dollar worth more in the hands of the Red Cross than now. Do your part to keep this Army of Mercy on the march. Open your heart and your purse strings—GIVE generously.

Co-operative Use Of Machinery

It was interesting to the people of Noel Shore on Monday when they gathered to listen to the Farm Forum and the discussion on the co-operative use of machinery, for they had just made a purchase along the lines suggested. Six or seven of them got together and purchased a fertilizer and lime spreader, they have decided to charge themselves 5 cents per hundred for its use for spreading fertilizer and 10 cents per ton for lime. They felt that this was high enough to allow for repairs and have enough money on hand to purchase a new one when this one is worn out.

Lime Orders Heavy

A great amount of lime is going to be used this year on Nova Scotia farms. Reports received this week from the Extension Division Office at Truro state that the movement is exceptionally heavy. The difficulty is to obtain delivery. The peak of the orders for lime came the last day of April and the first two days of May when orders came to the extension office for 17 cars to be shipped by rail. Once more the reason for the variation in price is shown, as even with the price distribution established during the past year there are a large number of farmers endeavoring to get delivery for early May.

Seeder Doing Good Work

Last year the Annapolis County farmers' association purchased a large-sized seed cleaner. This is the first full year of operation, as it arrived too late last year for a full season's operation. This machine is equipped with a buffer and a seed treater, thus making it the most completely equipped machine in the Province. Although Annapolis County is not considered as large a grain producing county as some others, the machine has cleaned to date 3,500 bushels of grain, with prospects of considerably more.

The popularity of this machine is enjoying is due largely to the efficient operation. For example, many machines are not operated so as to remove "bosom" oats, and most of the been accomplished to a very wild Radish seed. This has satisfactory degree through the selection of screens used on this machine.

Keep On Producing Eggs

Poultrymen in Nova Scotia should not worry about there being any over-production of eggs in Canada for some time. A statement to the contrary was published a short while ago and credited to H. B. Donovan, Toronto supervising director of egg production for Canada. Mr. Donovan, in letter to C. E. Benoit, provincial poultry promoter states, "I did not say there was a surplus of eggs, nor did I advise preserving them for home use, and I want to emphasize that statements credited to me were not by me. The British Ministry of Food has agreed to accept 1,500,000 cases of eggs in 1942 under the new existing contracts, so far as I can see there will be no surplus and we can go right on producing."

Although we have not yet increased our production to the point where we have eggs for export from Nova Scotia, there has been a very creditable increase in production.

Take Care of Bags and Rope

The agricultural supplies board is concerned over the probable shortage of jute and cotton bags and also of rope. In the light of this, appeals are again being made to the farmers of Nova Scotia to conserve all bags and ropes which they have for use around the farm. Special care should be taken to guard against letting ropes rot, being improperly coiled and overstrained. A. M. Shaw, chairman of the board, appeals for conservation in view of the "probable difficulty of obtaining new supplies".

Exhibition Dates Announced

The Annapolis County Exhibition will be held this year on September 15, 16, 17 and 18, according to an announcement made this week by the fair manager, Donald White of Lawrencetown.

Keep Machinery In Good Repair

Another appeal that is made to the farmers of the province is to get all possible use out of their present farm machinery. Machines should be kept in good repair so that is will not be necessary to buy new equipment as that would mean a greater demand on Canada's supply of steel. The seriousness of the steel situation is clearly set forth in "Victory Needs Steel" by C. H. Millard, executive director steel workers organizing committee. He states, "Not only have plants and sections of plants been shut down because of a shortage of finished steel, but mills have stopped, or have worked only part-time through a shortage of scrap. All indications point in the direction of much greater potential expansion than has yet been achieved."

Promoted

City passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Halifax since 1925, and associated with the company's passenger interests in that city for nearly thirty-five years, Alex. C. MacDonald has been promoted to general agent at Halifax. The announcement was made by C. E. Cameron, district passenger agent, Saint John.

The appointment, which became effective May 1, gives Mr. MacDonald jurisdiction not only in Halifax and area, but between Truro and Windsor, N.S. and other nearby points where the increased tempo of wartime traffic has created more important responsibilities.

80,000 food parcels a week for British prisoners of war in Nazi-held territory is the objective of the Canadian Red Cross this year.

NATIONAL WAR LABOUR BOARD COST OF LIVING BONUS

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has found that the cost of living index number for April 1, 1942, of 115.9 [adjusted index 115] has not risen by one whole point or more over the index number for October 1, 1941, of 115.5 [adjusted index 114.6]. Accordingly, the National War Labour Board, pursuant to the provisions of Section 12 of Order in Council P. C. 8253, determines and announces, for the period May 15, 1942, to August 15, 1942, subject to the right of employers or employees to apply to a War Labour Board for authorization of payment of such an amount of cost of living bonus as a Board may determine to be "fair and reasonable," under the provisions of the Order, that:

(a) There shall be no change in the amount or percentage of cost of living bonuses presently being paid;

(b) An employer who has not been paying cost of living bonuses may not begin to pay such bonuses.

Red Cross Plans Disaster Relief

If Canada is invaded, from the east or from the west, or if disaster strikes suddenly in any part of Canada, the Canadian Red Cross is ready. A carefully perfected plan of action, groups of trained and organized Red Cross workers and necessary supplies of medical equipment, of food, blankets and clothing are waiting for whatever emergency that may arise. Within a few hours at most the entire resources of the Canadian Red Cross can be mobilized and made available wherever there is need.

Experienced in meeting sudden emergencies caused by fire, flood, tornado or famine, the Canadian Red Cross has organized to meet demands of war on the home front as well as overseas and for the past two and a half years the national, provincial and local organizations of the Red Cross have been preparing to meet the urgent call, if and when it comes. Hospital supplies, surgical equipment and thousands of blankets have been stored at strategic points along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Equipment has been standardized for a 25-bed hospital unit of which some 30 will be located in coastal cities and towns ready for use when needed. In addition twelve complete portable surgical units are already placed.

But most important of all when disaster strikes either in time of peace or in time of war is the need for a definite plan of action and a nucleus of skilled workers to put it into effect. The Canadian Red Cross has such a plan which is now in the hands of its provincial and local organizations across the country. It tells as simply and directly as possible what to do and it is complete down to the last detail of cards for registering those who need relief and requisition forms for supplies that are needed. It is a plan born of experience in meeting every type of emergency where numbers of people are suddenly plunged into helplessness and suffering beyond

Sport Fishing from Coast to Coast

A TOPSY-TURVY world seems right side up again when viewed by an angler from the bank of a fast-flowing Canadian stream or from the prow of a canoe on a tranquil Canadian lake. Nor does any form of recreation pay richer dividends in health at a time when physical fitness plays so vital a role in war work. Canadians are particularly fortunate in the variety of fishing waters at their disposal and wide choice of species they contain. These range from giant Atlantic tuna and the west coast's fighting Tyee salmon to the scrappy muscalunge, pickerel, pike, bass, salmon, trout and other fresh water favorites inhabiting Canada's many inland lakes and streams.

The Canadian fishing picture is further enhanced by ideal rail and hotel services of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whose lines take the angler direct to such renowned fishing centres as French River, Lake of the Woods, and Western Ontario's rugged Lake Superior country, where muskies top the 60-pound mark. Guides, bait, and tackle are available at larger resorts. Other favored fishing zones include Quebec's Laurentians, Gatineau district, Eastern Townships, Lake Temiskaming and Muskoka Lakes, while splendid salmon and trout catches are chalked up annually in the rivers and lakes of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. West of the prairie provinces, whose northern areas pay rich dividends to the angler, the

Quickly, when need arises, this plan can be put into action. Trained Red Cross workers are ready to go to work with the military authorities, the AirRaid Precaution organization and other local agencies such as police and fire departments. Their responsibility is clearly defined—in the vent of disaster "to assist families and individuals to the extent that their needs are disaster-caused and cannot be met by the families themselves". The injured must be given proper medical attention, the hungry must be fed and the homeless must be clothed and given accommodation. Families must be reunited, relatives must be notified and thousands of frantic inquiries must be answered. When disaster strikes, people turn naturally to the Red Cross.

In some Canadian defense areas surveys have been made by Red Cross workers to find out where and how many people can be housed if coastal cities and towns have to be evacuated. Medical supplies and blankets are placed with careful forethought as to how they can be used to best advantage. Storehouses at inland points constantly keep large reserves which can be made quickly available. But most important of all the Red Cross has a plan for disaster relief, it has trained workers. If and when disaster strikes in Canada it will be the first few hours that count and it is for those hours that the Canadian Red Cross with its nation-wide organization is prepared and ready.

Danger! Liver Trouble is Serious

Are you nervous and irritable—can't sleep or eat—tired out all the time? If you're like that, a faulty liver is poisoning your whole system! Lasting ill health may be the cost!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-achy, back-achy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

"Run Down For Years, Has Poised Health"

I was badly run down and terribly nervous. My digestion was poor and I was always constipated. "Fruit-a-tives" soon made me better and there is nothing like it for making you well and giving you new pep and energy. After years of bad health "Fruit-a-tives" made me feel fine.

Mr. Roy Dagneau, Chatham, Ont.

"Long Years of Suffering, Now Full of Life"

For a long time I suffered frequent headaches and backaches. I could find no relief until I tried "Fruit-a-tives". The pains came less frequently until in a few weeks, they stopped entirely. "Fruit-a-tives" really made me feel like a new woman.

Mrs. A. J. Schwartz, Galt, Ont.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

Dear Mr. Wallis,

I want to thank you for your personal services in the plebiscite campaign and also for the support which "The Digby Courier" gave this campaign.

Attends V. O. N. Annual

Mrs. L. C. Dickson attended as representative from Digby, the 44th Annual Meeting of the Board of Governors of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, at Ottawa, on May 8, when 200 delegates were in attendance.

The morning session was held at the Chateau Laurier while for the afternoon session the Governor General and Her Royal Highness were hosts to the delegates at the Government House. Following the afternoon business, tea was served in the ball room. His Excellency and the Princess Alice met each delegate and mingled with them during the tea hour.

According to Mrs. Dickson's views the enthusiasm for the V. O. N. continues unabated and will do so always. War brings added responsibilities and burdens to the Order. These are being met with high response. We have learned to anticipate from the V. O. N.—in war as in peace.

Increased services of the V. O. N., due to the war, have been extended to 2,360 more patients, it was revealed at the annual meeting. There were 47,627 visits made in 1941 to 8,697 families of men in the services.

The report for the advisory committee on nursing said the attention of the branches has been directed to the necessity of offering all available services to local medical officers of health in the possibility of emergent situations developing through epidemics, sabotage or other disasters.

His Excellency, the Governor General, in his address said, "We must not close our eyes to the danger of what may happen, and we should be ready in case of emergency. It behooves us all to have enough nurses ready, in case anything happens and they are needed here."

Mrs. Dickson tells that the luncheon speaker, Dr. Alan Brown, physician-in-chief of the Sick Children's Hospital, in Toronto, and consultant to the V. O. N., stressed in his remarks that child welfare must be considered of the utmost importance. Children of today will truly have the task of rebuilding the world of tomorrow. They must be a generation of strength, health and sanity, to accomplish their task. He also urged education in proper diet for the child, especially in view of the fact that, due to the heavy war budget expenses, the average tendency may be to reduce the proper food consumption.

The total number of visits made to 90,201 patients in Canada were 727,161. "But while these figures measure the volume of the work done they do not tell the story that lies behind them. The chief superintendent in her report quoted from the annual report of one of the nurses—"Figures seem inadequate when dealing with human sufferings, both mental and physical. It is our privilege, as nurses, to see the lines of worry disappear from a mother's face as she is instructed in proper care and handling of her infant; to see the despair lift from the faces of anxious relatives as their loved ones are made more comfortable; and to see the anticipation in the eyes of chronic patients when she welcomes us as a link with the world she seldom sees. So as I present this report perhaps you will try to remember that each visit reported has its place in maintaining the health and morale of our people."

Digby Boy Comes Second in Canada

News was received a few days ago that Teddy Walker, student at Acadia University, came second in all Canada for an essay.

The Mining Journal ran a Geographic Essay Contest which interested Teddy so he wrote an article entitled, "Turnpike Makes History." This was based on data he gathered concerning the Turnpike which runs through Digby County.

We take this opportunity to congratulate Teddy on his success.

MARRIAGE

Wilson - Schurman

A marriage of interest to many friends in Digby took place in the West Saint John Kirk on Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, when Rev. Hugh MacLean officiated at the marriage of Miss Marguerite Pool Schurman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Schurman, North Sydney, and Carvell Douglas Cochran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Wilson, Saint John. Miss Muriel Wilson, sister of the groom attended Miss Schurman as bridesmaid. The groomsmen were Fred Harding. The bride was given in marriage by H. B. Tippet, and wore a smartly fashioned frock of bride's blue crepe made in redingote style. Her accessories were gray and her matching hat veil trimmed. She carried an arm bouquet of Richmond Roses. Both are well known in Digby, the groom having been on the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia for a number of years. The bride was a relieving stenographer in the same branch for several weeks last year.

dent in her report quoted from the annual report of one of the nurses—"Figures seem inadequate when dealing with human sufferings, both mental and physical. It is our privilege, as nurses, to see the lines of worry disappear from a mother's face as she is instructed in proper care and handling of her infant; to see the despair lift from the faces of anxious relatives as their loved ones are made more comfortable; and to see the anticipation in the eyes of chronic patients when she welcomes us as a link with the world she seldom sees. So as I present this report perhaps you will try to remember that each visit reported has its place in maintaining the health and morale of our people."

About This and That

Maritimers are not carrying chips on their shoulders. Neither are they a disgruntled lot. The fact they have given a greater percentage of their son to the service of their King and Country than any other section of the Dominion and the result of the April 27 plebiscite in these provinces should be sufficient proof that Maritimers are behind their government in all its efforts to bring the war to a successful conclusion.

Nevertheless, the people of the Maritime provinces are doing some high old kicking these days. They are not disgruntled. They are sore—sore because the gasoline ration (in the Maritimes only) has been reduced from five to two gallons per coupon unit. In this matter they feel they have been discriminated against, and it will be a difficult matter for Ottawa to convince them otherwise until gasoline rationing units are on par all over Canada.

Had the unit been reduced all over Canada "down easters" would have taken it with a grin, but, the fact they must do with 60% less gasoline than motorists in the rest of Canada is a hard pill to swallow. It is felt here that had a smaller reduction been made all over Canada more gasoline might then be available for the Maritimes. Public opinion down by the sea seems to be that Ottawa felt in inadvisable to discriminate against the provinces of Quebec and Ontario and singled out the long suffering Maritimes to conserve their gas for the motorists of these provinces.

Both Premier MacMillan of Nova Scotia and Premier McNair of New Brunswick have strongly protested to Ottawa over the matter. The text of Premier MacMillan's telegram was as follows:

"Hon. C. D. Howe,
"Minister of Munitions and Supply,
"Ottawa, Canada:

"We in the Maritime Provinces resent action yesterday respecting gasoline rationing. Reasonable notice at least twenty-four hours should have been given as many persons were caught hundreds of miles away from their homes and could not secure sufficient to enable their return. We in Nova Scotia I think have demonstrated our willingness to co-operate in war effort but cannot accept arbitrary discrimination. With refinery at our door gasoline for Maritimes has always been available at lowest possible price. Authorities claimed they were obliged to ship gasoline to Quebec at a loss thus preventing discrimination against Quebec. Today, however, situation is reversed and because there is shortage at Halifax refinery we are discriminated against and are not on par with the rest of Canada. We in Nova Scotia will accept any condition found necessary if same regulation is general throughout Canada but refuse to accept present order while Maritime Provinces are discriminated against.

"A. S. MACMILLAN,
"Premier"

Premier McNair declared that the order carried the "odor of gross discrimination" particularly in view of recent press reports that the consumption of gasoline in other areas of Canada last month was higher than a year ago.

The premier contended New Brunswick's war record should have indicated that "arbitrary action" was unnecessary to obtain co-operation of people in the province to meet any emergency.

The present situation, which might be only temporary, could have been met adequately by some voluntary plan of collaboration between the authorities, distributors and public, he submitted.

Any such order should be applied on a country-wide scale and a basis of equality of sacrifice, it was contended.

Orient War Increases Value Paint Brushes

Paint brushes that have accumulated over the years in many households may be more valuable now than when they were first bought. The sources of supply of the finest bristles—China, Japan and Siberia—are no longer open, while the need for these brushes is stepped up in industries supplying the needs of the Navy, Army and Air Force.

Conserve new brushes by eliminating the possibility of their becoming hardened and caked with paint.

Immediately after completing the paint job remove as much paint as possible by brushing out on an absorbent surface. Rinse the brush in paint thinner, wipe dry, and scrub thoroughly with warm water and soap. Rinse thoroughly until all traces of soap are removed. Straighten out the bristles by combing with an ordinary comb. Finally, wrap the bristles in paper and fasten with a cord tied around the ferrule. The brush will then be in good condition when required for the next job.

If the brush is to be used on two or three successive days, it may be kept overnight with the bristles immersed in paint thinner, preferably painters' benzine.

Old brushes which have become hardened may be reclaimed by soaking the brush in a paint brush cleaner according to directions on the packet. Soaking for 24 hours in a lacquer thinner is excellent but this substance is no longer available for civilian use.

After using the paint brush cleaner, gently remove paint still adhering to the brush with a dull knife or comb. Finally the brush should be scrubbed with soap and water and rinsed thoroughly.

A General Who Sets An Example

The job of keeping much-bombed Malta out of axis hands belongs to Lt.-Gen. Wm. G. S. Dobbie, 63-year-old Governor-General, commander of his armed forces, and, according to News-Week, conductor of a nightly Bible class for the troops.

Called "the modern Gordon" because, like Gen. Charles Gordon, of Khartoum, he is a constant student of Scripture, Dobbie is a teetotaler and author of pocket-sized religious books for army use. But he has matched his religious activities with a distinguished military record that began in the South African War and bought him a job as Field Marshal Haig's right-hand man in the 1914-18 conflict.

Dobbie showed his religious fervor in 1928 when he was sent to Palestine to quell Arab-Jewish riots. He predicted the "easiest war" he had ever fought, and when asked the reason answered: "Because we'll fight only four days a week. The Arabs won't fight on Friday, the Jews won't on Saturday, and Dobbie certainly won't on Sunday."

In Malta, the tall, grey-haired soldier now fights every day of the week, Sundays included.

It is interesting to recall that some time ago, the island of Malta as a community, received an honor unique in the history of the British Empire when King George announced that the island had been awarded the George Cross, a medal established during the darkest days of the Nazi raids on Britain and is the equivalent of the Victoria Cross. It marked the first time the award had been made to a territory instead of an individual.

Malta has already had a long history of war and sieges. Settled by the Phoenicians centuries before Christ, the island was over-run in turn by the Carthaginians, Romans, Arabs and Normans. In A. D. 61, St. Paul was shipwrecked on the isle. He converted the Roman Governor, Publius, to Christianity, and the Maltese have been militant Christians ever since.

Clare Rally of Home and School Associations

A Rally of the Home and School Associations of Clare was held at Meteghan Centre School, May 12, from 2 o'clock to 4.30. L. A. d'Entremont, Inspector of Schools, presided.

The distinguished guests were Mr. DeWolfe, National President; Miss Dora Baker, Provincial President; T. A. M. Kirk, Inspector of Schools for Yarmouth and Digby; Mrs. L. A. d'Entremont; Dr. and Mrs. LeBlanc, of Pubnico; R. A. LeBlanc, Agricultural Representative and Mrs. LeBlanc.

Five Associations were represented, namely, Belliveau's Cove, Saulnierville, Meteghan River, Meteghan and Meteghan Centre.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada!" after which the President made a few remarks on the primary purpose of the Associations, namely, the co-operation of parents and teachers in the education of youth and the improvement of the health of the pupils. He then introduced the National President, Mr. DeWolfe, who in his talk stressed particularly wide reading among the pupils, and a development of the aptitudes of individuals, not competition in schools.

Two reports were read after which Mrs. (Dr.) LeBlanc gave an interesting talk on Co-operation. The remaining reports were heard. Then Miss Baker presented a bouquet of beautiful Forsythias to the Rally, from the Bear River Rally, with their best wishes. She also made instructive remarks and presented a few questions for discussion. Nutrition was the chief topic.

A Council having been discussed by the Associations previous to the rally, the Chair appointed a committee from those present to meet in another room to prepare a slate of officers for the Council, while the pupils gave a short entertainment.

A Council was organized with the following officers: Hon. President, Inspector d'Entremont; President, Mrs. R. A. LeBlanc, Meteghan; Recording Sec'y, Mrs. Léonice D'Eon, Meteghan Centre; Corresponding Sec'y, Miss Laura d'Entremont, Meteghan River; Treas., Mrs. Urbain Belliveau, Belliveau's Cove; Executives, Sister Colombiere, Mrs.

Adolph Saulnier. Other officers are to be appointed at a later date.

The business being completed Mr. Kirk made a few interesting remarks. Dr. LeBlanc gave a short but instructive address on diphtheria. R. A. LeBlanc spoke a few minutes on clubs and associations in general.

A vote of thanks was presented to Mr. DeWolfe and Miss Baker for their presence, their help and their inspiration; to Dr. and Mrs. LeBlanc for their interesting talks and to all those who helped to make the Rally a success.

The meeting closed with "God Save the King."

MARRIAGES

She was attended by Mrs. Kenneth Donnelly and the groom was attended by Kenneth Donnelly, of the R.-C.O.C.T.C. The young couple will reside in Digby for the present.

Father Delbe Comeau, Curate, united in marriage Edie Robichaud, son of the late Leander Robichaud, of Meteghan, and daughter of the late Octave d'Entremont, of West Pubnico. Witnesses were Edward W. Saulnier, of Meteghan, and Miss Marie Doucet, a cousin of the bride. After the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Albert Robichaud, Yarmouth. Mr. and Mrs. Robichaud will make their home at Meteghan where the groom is employed.

Peanuts Among Valuable Foods

Look to peanuts when you are shopping for an inexpensive source of several important food values.

According to nutrition experts, they contain about 26 percent of good quality protein; their fat content averages 40 to 50 percent, which means high energy value and good staying power. They also furnish valuable amounts of the B vitamins and minerals.

Peanut butter is tops as a sandwich filler for snacks and school lunches. For added flavor combine with any one of the following—honey, pickle, relish or finely chopped celery, using whole wheat or Vitamin B white bread Canada Approved.

For extra vitamins with peanut butter sandwiches serve raw carrot or turnip sticks; celery in season, or cole slaw with mayonnaise or salad dressing, easily put in a container for the lunch box.

Be a Saver, Of Course, But Never a Hoarder

Almost everywhere that one goes these days the chief topic of conversation among women is what part they are taking in the general war work plan. All of the activities such as Red Cross duty, knitting and the like are very important contributions, but there is one that is vital but little discussed. It seems that everyone takes it for granted among patriotic women-folk. This unsung activity goes on in every patriotic home under general management and includes all of the small defences against waste which go to make up the large campaign of saving.

There is a big difference between saving and hoarding. Saving is the conservation of materials and the curtailing of non-vital trimmings of everything that is available to our use; hoarding is the unused retaining of any commodity and its useless purchase in large quantity. The former is the attitude for defence, the latter that of defeatism, and one which may give at least some comfort to the enemy. The saver makes it possible for all to have a share in whatever supplies, limited or generous, are available but the hoarder selfishly helps bring on false shortages and rationing.

For real patriotism on the home front, we will all do our part to waste nothing, to buy only what is essential at the time, and to pare from our menus many of the small luxuries, using in their stead the many simple foods that we have forgotten as being so delicious. If anyone has a tendency to buy up a large supply of something for fear that it may not be available she should change her mind quickly. Who knows, the woman who hoards may regret it later not only because of her friends and the low grumblings of her conscience but because she finds herself definitely out of style when something new comes out to take the place of the thing that she has so stealthily amassed. Better to let well enough alone and buy only what is needed for the immediate requirements, letting future supplies take care of themselves.

While we are all going to live on far more simple lines, we will fare exceptionally well as compared with the less fortunate parts of the world. Far better to eat simpler foods activity.

Naturally, to many homemakers, the idea of this extreme care that we must all practice is going to be a bit hard at first until the new habit is solidly formed. As a reminder, why not make yourself a kitchen sign in clear lettering, with the following message:

BUY only what is needed for the next few days.

USE all edible products—waste nothing.

SAVE sugar, fats, paper products, rubber and tin.

Camping Teaches Reliance on Self

Once school is out, the youngsters will begin talking and teasing about going to camp for a week or more during the summer. Therefore, it is wise to look ahead and see

Boys and girls past 16 will likely find gainful employment this summer during the vacation months. But for those younger, between the ages of 10 and 15, camping is a valuable experience. The youngsters can make their own beds, cook their meals, keep themselves clean, amuse themselves, and learn to get along socially with other young people.

Perhaps it will be a trip with boy scouts or girl scouts for John or Mary. But whatever the camp, you will want to know how many campers are assigned to each counselor and what safety provisions are in effect. When children go in swimming, there should be lifeguards or at least a system in effect where each

Don't be a CUPBOARD QUISLING!

"Cupboard Quislings"! Is that too hard a name for people who selfishly lay in unnecessary stocks of clothes or food, or other goods for fear of shortages?

No! The name is not too hard, even though it may be earned through thoughtlessness. For in reality they are doing, in a petty, mean way, what the Quisling does in the open.

Anyone who buys more than is necessary for current needs—

Is breaking his country's law for personal advantage.

Is betraying his loyal neighbours and those who are not so well off as he.

Is, in effect, depriving our fighting men of the munitions and supplies they must have to defend us.

Is hindering our war effort and helping our enemies.

Loyal citizens avoid putting unnecessary and abnormal strains on our factories. In time of war, loyal citizens do not spend one dollar more on civilian goods than is absolutely necessary for current needs.

The law provides for fines up to $5,000 and imprisonment up to two years for hoarding; and hoarding is just another word for unnecessary selfish buying.

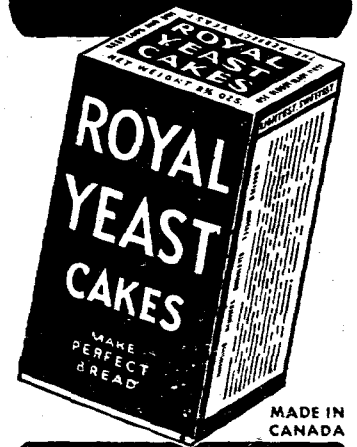

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements — such as your next season's coal supply — you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.

Nobody knows much better than we do that the housing problem in Digby is acute. We are asked frequently, "Where can we get a flat?" "Who has a house to rent?" "Can we get a few rooms for light house-keeping?"

We don't know the answers. Houses and flats are hard to find in Digby. They have been for a long time, even before the war.

However, it was only the other day we learned that our feathered friends had their housing problems to contend with.

Last week Gordon Arnold, of Kentville, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Vincent Snow and Mr. Snow, decided he would build two birdhouses to erect on Mr. Snow's grounds. Two birds watched him in anticipation. The houses were finished and he selected a site for one of them. While nailing it up the birds flew in and have occupied it ever since—they took no chances on another tenant getting there first.

Advertisers Who Lost Out

In the course of an address to the Advertising and Sales Bureau of Vancouver, Ivan Denton spoke as follows:

"In 1914-1918 business conditions paralleled today's situation. Manufacturers were over-sold or were compelled to withdraw entirely from the market. Yet, every business that discontinued its advertising lost its position of leadership. Not a single firm that discontinued its advertising was able to regain its position of leadership. As a result famous names, valued at millions of dollars, are now forgotten. Many famous trade whose goodwill value today is worth millions initiated their first advertising in the 1914-18 period. Not one business that maintained its advertising during the last war lost its position of leadership."

"Here are the case histories of firms, of which we have a record, who discontinued or greatly reduced advertising during the last war:

Six sold out, or were absorbed by competitors.

One failed and went out of business.

One went into receivership. One was deflated 97 per cent in terms of personnel.

One lost 81 percent of its sales volume.

One ended with only two customers.

Three lost their leadership in their fields.

One was operated by the bank for five years.

Two found that competitors had grown at their expense.

"Do you remember Pears Soap, Omega Oil, Sapolyo, Pearlina, U.S. Locks, Rubi-foam, Spalding's Glue, Ayers Sarsaparilla, Hood's Sarsaparilla, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment? They stopped advertising in 1915-1918. Here are a few of the ones that continued: Palmolive, Crisco, Old Dutch, Yale Locks, Johns Manville, Raybestos, Pepsodent, Kellogg's Bran and LePags's Glue. And here's a list of a few brand new names first advertised during the period of the World War No. 1: Campbell's Soups, Lucky Strike Cigarettes, Aspirin, Del Monte, Palm Beach and Planters Peanuts. Once a leadership is lost through failure to advertise, that position is almost impossible to regain. In fact it would be much easier to start out with an entirely new name and new product. Regardless of method the fact remains unchallenged that no advertiser can afford to stop advertising, even in an over-sold market."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Clara Titus

After a lengthy illness which was borne with patience and Christian fortitude, Mrs. Clara Titus passed away on Wednesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Horace Johnson, Central Grove, with whom she had resided for a number of years. She was 81 years of age and was a well known and highly respected citizen. Her husband predeceased her a number of years ago. She leaves to mourn their loss five sons, Frank, Earle, Reginald of Central Grove, Dalton and Clarence residing in Saint John; also four daughters, Mrs. Essie Hopgood, Mrs. Belle Ralph, Mrs. Daisy Semple residing in the U.S.A., and Mrs. Horace Johnson, Central Grove. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon, Rev. Ross Eaton conducting the service.

It Can't Be Helped

"There is a four-word saying that has cost business a vast amount of money. We hear it often: 'It can't be helped.'"

It is used by feeble men and lazy men and fatalists. It is remarkable how many fatalists there are in the business world.

It is a standardized excuse for doing nothing. It is as old as the hills. In spite of all the achievements of industry and science, there are still thousands of business men who face a small difficulty and say: "It can't be done."

Last month on a train journey, I met an old man who had a strong dislike for the word "Efficiency."

We talked about salesmanship. He said: "No use trying to train salesmen. Anyone knows that some salesmen can sell more than others. There is a difference in men. It can't be helped."

He reminded me of a famous Chinese Ambassador—Li Hung Chang—who was once asked if he had seen the Derby.

"No," he replied. "I have never gone to a horse race. Anyone knows that some horses can run faster than others."

A horse-trainer or a jockey could have instructed this Chinese Ambassador. He could have shown him that the winning horse is usually the one that is best born, best trained and best ridden.

The point is that when a man faces a business trouble, he should not be fatalistic. He should not sit down and sigh, and say: "Too bad! It can't be helped." That is not the way to win horse races or to make profits."

ON thousands of miles of Canadian roads the dust problem has been solved simply and easily with Calcium Chloride.

Roadside crops have been saved from dust damage; housework in rural roadside homes has been lightened; and at no greater cost than would be needed for ordinary maintenance of untreated surfaces.

The Calcium Chloride pays for itself by cutting down regravelling and dragging—saves both labour and materials; so the improvement in the road surface is actually an extra advantage that costs nothing.

Highway officials are turning to the Calcium Chloride maintenance method in order to conserve labour and funds for essential wartime work; yet they are improving roads and making life healthier and more comfortable for farmers and rural residents at the same time.

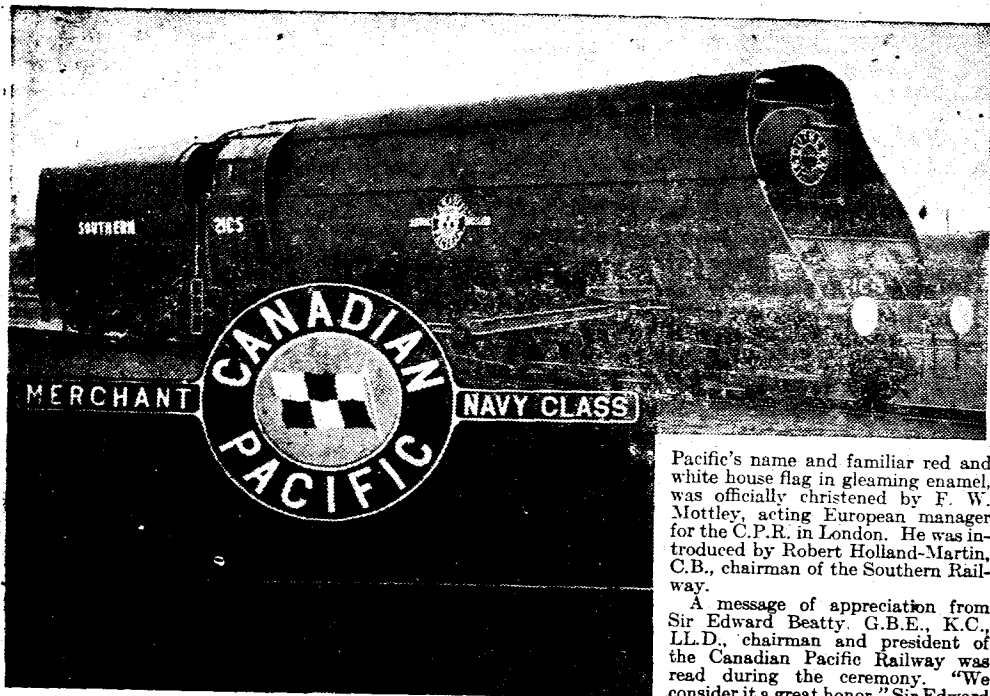

Calcium Chloride is made entirely in Canada.

Engine Bears Canadian Name On Britain's Southern Railway

THIS newest and smartest of British locomotives, the fifth in the new "Merchant Navy" series built and operated by the Southern Railway, was appropriately named "Canadian Pacific" at a ceremony recently in Victoria Station, London, in the presence of a guard of honor and officials of both the Canadian Pacific and the Southern Railways. The latter company, one of Britain's great railways, conceived the happy idea of naming each of these engines after one of the steamship companies serving the port of Southampton, peacetime berth of the Canadian Pacific's great white Empresses, which in war-time camouflage are now acquitting themselves with notable gallantry.

The powerful new locomotive, whose streamlined sides bear the Canadian Pacific's name and familiar red and white house flag in gleaming enamel, was officially christened by F. W. Mottley, acting European manager for the C.P.R. in London. He was introduced by Robert Holland-Martin, C.B., chairman of the Southern Railway.

A message of appreciation from Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D., chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway was read during the ceremony. "We consider it a great honor," Sir Edward said, "to have a Southern Railway locomotive designated 'Canadian Pacific' and look upon it as a tribute to the men of our own fleet who have lost their lives at sea or are still serving heroically."

A glimpse of the "Canadian Pacific" appears above, while inset is shown the engine's glittering nameplate with the chequered house flag of the company's steamships. Designed for both passenger and freight service, the new engine will be clad in "battledress" for the duration, after which it will appear in the glamorous green that characterizes the Southern Railway's engines in peacetime.

DRASTIC NEW REGULATIONS

restricting sales of new, retreaded, and used tires, new and used tubes, and retreading services

ARE NOW IN EFFECT

Only a limited few, the owners of essential eligible vehicles, may now obtain usable tires or tubes, or retreading services. Apart from sales permitted by the new regulations, no person may buy or sell, borrow or lend, barter, give away, mortgage, burn, cut, destroy or otherwise dispose of any such tire or tube. Eligible vehicle owners are divided into three classes, on this basis:

Class: Who may buy:	What may be bought:	How purchases may be made:
"A" Physicians, Visiting nurses, Firefighters, Police, Certain trucks, etc.	New, retreaded, or used tires; new or used tubes; retreading services.	To buy new tire or tube, retreaded tire or retreading service, purchaser must apply for Ration Permit to the nearest office of Wartime Prices and Trade Board: (For used tire or used tube, see Class "C").
"B" War Technicians War supply inspectors, Taxi owners, etc.	Retreaded or used tires; used tubes; retreading services.	To buy retreaded tire or retreading services, purchaser must apply for Ration Permit to the nearest office of Wartime Prices and Trade Board: (For used tire or used tube see below).
"C" Food inspectors, Scrap buyers, Travelling repairmen, Rural school teachers, etc.	Used tires, used tubes.	A vehicle owner in this class may buy only used tires or used tubes. He must prove necessity to any authorized dealer and fill out with the dealer a Purchase Certificate. Classes "A" and "B" may also buy used tires and tubes under the same conditions.

FULL DETAILS OF THE NEW ORDER ARE OBTAINABLE FROM ANY TIRE DEALER

Very severe penalties will be imposed for any infractions of the new regulations. The tire dealers of Canada are co-operating with the Government in the efficient operation of the order, and in its enforcement. It is their patriotic duty to repair and legally resell all usable tires in their possession, and turn over at once to the nearest salvage agency any scrap rubber they have on hand or receive in the future, including all tires and tubes no longer serviceable.

Every person, whether a dealer or not, must report by May 31 to the Tire Rationing Representative at his nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office, all tires and tubes in his possession on May 15, which are not scrap, and which are not on the running wheels and one spare rim of each vehicle he owns.

Hog Shipments Are Large

Live hog marketing is very much on the up grade in Nova Scotia. During March the total number marketed was 914, compared with the March 1941 total of 338. The quality as well as the quantity was high. 400 were grade A and 390 B1, more than 86 per cent were in the two top grades, and so qualified for the provincial bonus of one dollar for class A and 50 cents for B1's. The total weight of the 914 hogs was 144,400 lbs. and the total revenue received, including bonus, by the members of the 14 clubs shipping, was $21,441.70. More than half the total shipped during the month were from Kings and Annapolis counties.

No Subventions Under 500 Lbs.

Some dealers are allowing subventions on fertilizer purchases under 500 lbs. These are being refused as the regulations distinctly state: "A minimum of 500 lbs. of any one kind or analysis or combination of chemicals as for home mixing." Therefore, a purchase of 250 lbs. of 2-12-6 and 250 lbs. of 4-8-10, although totalling 500 lbs., is still below the minimum and not eligible. The same applies to small amounts of any chemical purchased for straight use even though the same purchaser bought 500 lbs. or more of a recommended mixture. The subventions do not apply to fertilizers used for potatoes, gardens, etc. Dealers should allow the subventions only for the amounts and crops intended.

Capon Production Increasing

Capon production is on the increase in Nova Scotia. In 1941 over 50,000 lbs. of high quality capon was marketed co-operatively in the Province. This year a great number of inquiries have been received for assistance in this work. While quite a number of poultrymen are now able to caponize, other people who do not have an opportunity to learn how to do it, are interested.

Every endeavor will be made to assist any group of people interested in furthering dressed poultry work on caponizing young cockerels. Those desiring to start on this work will do well to get in touch with their agricultural representative or with the provincial poultry promoter at Truro.

Consideration must be given in arranging for demonstrations to realize that it is necessary for the poultry promoters to economize in the use of gasoline, and tires, hence it is desirable to give demonstrations to groups of people rather than individuals.

In order to show just what can be done in producing dressed poultry by growing capons, it might be mentioned that in many cases last year dressed poultry by growing their capons grade as high as 100% Milkfed "special", and Milkfed "A". A pamphlet on caponizing may be obtained by writing to the Provincial Poultry Promoter, Truro.

All Orders Will Be Filled

Those who have ordered packaged bees and have not yet received their bees should be patient, states H. G. Payne, Truro, provincial apiarist. The delay in delivery is due to the acute labor shortage in the United States, many experienced bee men having been drafted into the armed forces since the orders were taken. All bee orders, according to Mr. Payne, will be filled, but there are bound to be delays. The demand for packaged bees is heavy all over the country, with the result that southern bee shippers are working 16 hours a day.

Soil Samples Reach Record

Nova Scotia farmers are going in for soil testing in a big way. More than 200 samples were received last week by Dr. George Smith, Truro, provincial chemist. 45 samples arrived in one day. "Samples," says Dr. Smith, "are more numerous this year than ever, and a pleasing and helpful feature is that a great number of the samples have been properly taken, the farmers having applied for forms and followed the instructions." Fieldmen from the department of chemistry are spending the summer in making soil examinations in various parts of the Province. The counties of Antigonish, Halifax and Hants will come first on their itinerary. Other counties will be covered later in the season.

Clover Outlook Is Good

By all appearance clover has wintered well in most fields, reports Don White, agricultural representative for Annapolis County. There is a good chance of the second crop being at least heavy enough to save for seed. Two years ago, he states, more than 5,000 lbs. of clover seed was saved in the county, and if there is a good second crop this year there should be around 15,000 lbs. It is a good idea for the farmers to make their plans for saving seed this year.

Safety Rules For Children

A new series of "Don'ts" for parents has been drawn up by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents. Here are some of them:—

Do not send your young children on errands which necessitate crossing busy streets, particularly in the dark hours.

If your child has a toy bicycle or car, or roller skates, he should not be allowed to play in the streets on these. Let him play in the garden, park or recreation ground.

Children should not play around stationary cars. Drivers may move off or reverse before seeing them. Do not let children play ball in the streets.

Tell children to avoid crossing from behind or in front of a stationary car. If they must do so, extra care should be taken in looking right and left.

Boys love to hang on the backs of cars or lorries. Merely saying "don't" will not cure them, nor the knowledge that it is an offence. Appeal to their sense of sportsmanship. Ask them to put themselves in the place of the driver of a car following, or of the driver from whose lorry or van they may fall off.

Perfume Stains on Linen

Peroxide will remove perfume stains from linen bureau scarf. Keep a blotting pad under scarf to protect dressing table or bureau-top.

DOCUMENTARY PHOTOGRAPHY

Want an interesting picture project? Try making a pictorial record of your home town.

AT FREQUENT intervals, in discussions of picture-making, the term "Documentary Photography" turns up. And to many people it seems like the "bad penny" which keeps coming back.

With such a record you're probably wondering why the subject is even mentioned here. Well, the reason is that today I'd like to suggest that you try your hand at documentary photography and become a photo historian. For instance, suppose you had a picture record of every important event in your home town during the last five years, or every important local character. Right now, at your fingertips, you'd have a veritable treasury of local history.

There's no reason why you can't assemble such an album if you start picturing the local scene at once. Thirty years from now people will be wondering how we lived. They'll want to know what sort of clothes we wore, what kind of houses we lived in, what Main Streets looked like, what kind of cars we drove, who the important people were and what they were like. Of course, we could sit down and write a book giving them all of the details, but there never has been—and there never will be—any book which can describe anything more clearly than you can, in a fraction of a second, by means of your camera.

In fact, there's so much that honestly deserves a place in your album I'd suggest you specialize in two or three principal subjects. Your section of town, for one, should have a special division all to itself.

Another section I'd devote just to people—the way they dress, their work, and the games they play. That's a broad field because things change so fast—fashions in clothes, for instance.

Maybe that isn't your idea of documentary photography. Perhaps you think it's necessary to photograph big, dramatic subjects. Well, you're wrong! It's the little personal items—seasoned with human interest—that makes interesting history. And that is the type of subject that is often overlooked.

Correction

In the report of the Digby County Home and School Association Convention at Bear River, we quoted Inspector Kirk as stating $7,000 teachers' salaries were in arrears in Digby County. This was incorrect, and should have read "taxes in arrears amounted to $7,000, and arrears in teachers' salaries, $850." Our article also stated the minimum salary for small schools would be $400 and maximum $650, whereas the minimum for inexperienced teachers would be $400, and for experienced teachers $500, plus provincial aid in each case.

Burma Road

A certain romance seems to surround the word road and some have entered into poetry and song as for instance the road to Mandalay. The Burma Road has been much in the news these days and serves to connect China with Burma. It has played a great part in the delivery of war supplies to China, most of these going through the Burmese port of Rangoon, situated near the mouth of the Irrawaddy river. The road itself is a lasting tribute to Chinese ingenuity and perseverance. Most of the road is in China. As an indication of the type of goods that have gone over the Burma road, the following is a partial list in order of value, according to the National Railways: gasoline, auto, chassis, copper ingots, steel bars, instruments, lubricating oils, cotton shirts, pig lead, miscellaneous hardware, tire castings, miscellaneous machinery, motor trucks, textile machinery, etc.

Red Cross Concert A Success

Re-organized only three months ago, under the direction of Paul Yates and with less than twenty experienced players, the Digby Civic Band made a very successful appearance in their first concert of the season on Sunday at the Bandstand.

Despite inclement weather a large throng attended Sunday's concert which was in aid of the Red Cross. Listeners were very enthusiastic in their praise of the Band. Particularly well received were such numbers as the ever popular, "There'll Always Be An England" and "The Soldier's Farewell" conducted by Bandmaster Yates. The younger listeners were especially pleased with the popular "hit" selections, "White Cliffs of Dover" and "Woodpecker Song", conducted by David Daley, assistant leader.

Victor Cardoza represented the Red Cross, and interspersed well-worded appeals for funds with his announcement of the Band selections. Had not rain kept the attendance down, his appeals should have been very effective. Before leaving the stand, the Band voted hearty thanks to him for his efficient handling of the announcements. Collection amounted to something over $21.00—a fine showing for a rainy day.

Since the Red Cross Drive for needed funds is far from reaching its objective, the Band has offered its services again, and the Concert will be repeated next Sunday (May 31) afternoon at the Band Stand, with some changes in the program.

Jury Acquits Fidele Saulnier of Manslaughter

After one hour and 20 minutes deliberation the petit jury sitting on the case of the King vs. Fidele Saulnier returned to the court room at 5.50 last evening to announce their verdict of "Not Guilty". Saulnier was charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Carl F. Jones, D.A.R. Station agent at Meteghan on December 14, 1941.

In discharging the prisoner this evening, Mr. Justice Archibald informed him he was wholly in accord with the verdict of the jury, but warned him to keep away from "moonshine" and other intoxicating drinks in the future.

The spring session of the supreme court of Nova Scotia opened in Digby Tuesday morning with Mr. Justice Archibald presiding. There are two criminal cases on the docket, namely the King vs. Fidele Saulnier, Saulnierville, charged with manslaughter in the death of Carl F. ("Casey") Jones, D.A.R. station agent at Meteghan, and, the King vs. Joseph Phillip Comeau, Concession, charged with bribing a police officer. The cases against Edward C. Webber, Digby Stevedore, charged with theft from the British Ministry of Shipping were originally on the docket for this session, but will not be heard. The accused having elected speedy trial.

True bills were found in both cases by the grand jury, of whom eleven members were present for the session. M. C. Denton was foreman.

Postponement until the fall session was granted in the bribery case. According to the indictment, R.C.M.P. officers on October 12th, last year, seized a bottle of liquor from a car operated by Comeau, who also questioned re the cancellation of his driver's license, and informed charges not only would be made for having rum in his possession, but for driving a car without having his license restored. The indictment alleges Comeau suggested the police "forget it" and offered them $20. That evening the accused visited the police at their detachment office, Meteghan, and again tried to persuade them to "forget the matter". On being told nothing doing, he departed, leaving $30 on the desk.

Postponement was requested by the crown on the ground that only one crown witness, Constable Carson, was available. Another witness, no longer with the R.C.M.P. is now in the Air Force, and could not be brought to Digby at this time. Comeau was set over on $2,000 bail.

In selecting a petit jury for the manslaughter case, the entire panel was exhausted, and the sheriff sent down for talismen, returning with Edward Budd and Bernard Sealey. The former was selected. Ernest Morehouse, Sandy Cove named foreman.

E. J. Theriault of Digby is Crown Prosecutor. R. W. E. Landry and Irving Pink of the defence in the manslaughter case.

Dr. E. A. Brasnet, Little Brook physician, was first witness sworn, and testified he was called to Saulnierville about 6 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, December 14, and found Jones lying on the left shoulder of the pavement, going toward Yarmouth. Jones was dead, and in his opinion was killed instantly. Death was the result of a hemorrhage of the brain.

He examined the accused in the home of Jeramie Saulnier. He was apparently unconscious, and suffered a bad scalp wound and two broken ribs besides many bruises. He testified he detected an odor of liquor on the breath of the accused.

Bernard Saulnier gave evidence he was eating supper at the time of the accident. Hearing the crash near his home, he went to the door and saw two cars had been in collision. Calling his father he went to the scene, going first to the Jones' car and removing Jones from the wreckage. He helped his father remove Saulnier and carry him into the house, where he was laid on a chesterfield. According to the witness there was only one occupant in each car. The door of the Jones' car had opened. Jones was lying on the side opposite the wheel, with his head on the running board. Saulnier was behind the wheel of his car. He testified the road was wet due to fog and rain, but did not recall any snow.

The substance of the evidence of his father, Jeramie Saulnier, was much the same.

Dennis Saulnier testified he met the accused about 2 p.m. the afternoon of the accident. They drove to Bangor where they had three or four drinks of "moonshine" each. Later they returned to Lower Saulnierville to the home of Mrs. Caroline Jeddry. Mrs. Jeddry and the school teacher, Miss Cora Ameriault were at home. Witness said he stayed for supper. The accused left to return to his home after being in the house only a few minutes. He did not notice anything unusual about the walk of the accused.

On examination by the defence council, he said what they drank could be put in a pint bottle. Questioned by his lordship, he said the drinks were "good swallows".

Cross examined by the crown, witness stated he must have been "balled up" when he gave evidence at the inquest that the accused was staggering when he left the Jeddry home. Fidele was not staggering, he said.

Arnaud Comeau, coroner, and Phronothory G. H. Peters were called to the stand, the former identifying evidence taken at the inquest, and the latter swearing the papers identified by Mr. Comeau were received by him after the inquest.

Other witnesses heard were Cora Ameriault, Lower Saulnierville school teacher, and her landlady, Mrs. Caroline Jeddry. Both gave evidence of the visits of Dennis and Fidele Saulnier, and swore both had been drinking. Neither were boisterous. The former, Dennis, remained for supper. The accused left almost immediately. Fidele staggered slightly as he walked.

Delphus Comeau, the last witness on Tuesday, stated that Jones, the deceased, left his house about 5 p.m. that afternoon to return home. Jones was seated in his car all the while he talked with him. The scene of the accident was about half a mile distant.

The first witness heard at Wednesday's session was W. J. Lawrence, R.C.M.P. photographer at Yarmouth who submitted photographs of the wrecked cars taken at the garage of J. A. Belliveau on December 16, and of the highway at the scene of the accident. The highway views were taken on January 24 and April 22.

R.C.M.P. Constable R. F. McPherson, now of Yarmouth, but stationed at Meteghan on December 14, gave evidence re the location of the cars after the crash and of the damage to both machines. Twice while the Constable was giving his testimony the jury was asked to leave the court room, while council for crown and defence argued over McPherson's qualifications as an expert to determine the approximate positions of the cars at the time of the impact, and over the admission as evidence of a statement taken from the accused on the day following the fatality. His lordship ruled out McPherson's ability as an expert, and did not permit the statement to appear in evidence.

About This and That

Hitler's nazi campaign against religion is now pretty well known throughout the civilized world, thanks to the report sent to the Vatican, at Rome, by one of the most eminent and courageous of German church leaders, Cardinal von Faulhaber.

It is a campaign directed against Catholic and Protestant alike, and one cannot read the complete list without realizing that religion of any kind has no place in the nazi scheme of things. The result is that in nazi controlled Germany and surrounding territories there is no religious instruction in the schools, no church publications are permitted, no land or property can be acquired by the churches, property that has been owned by the church has been seized without compensation, while both propaganda and pressure has been used to discourage, in some cases actually to forbid, attendance at church.

The nazis hold that "the church is a supernatural organization in conflict with the state," therefore must be abolished. Here is unimpeachable evidence that nazism is the enemy of religion. God and the church have no part in the Hitler scheme of things, other than that decreed by Adolf. Just one more reason why the fuhrer and all his ideas must be wiped from the face of the earth for the good of all.

Shortage May Continue

There is a butter shortage across Canada according to W. J. Bird, Nova Scotia dairy superintendent. On April 1, 1941 the total had dropped to 10,171,000 lbs., and on May 1, 1942, it had gone down to 6,500,000 lbs. Hand in hand with the shortage decline there has been less butter manufactured. In April 1941 the total make was 19,000,000 lbs., while in April 1942 it was 17,000,000 lbs. While storage and make have decreased, consumption has grown. In April 1941, 20,000,000 lbs. of butter went into distribution in Canada while in April 1942 the total was 21,576,000 lbs. Normally, there is an increase in butter production when the cows go out to pasture. Production increases during the summer months and storage climbs until October. This summer, however, with storage down and the demand for dairy products abnormally high there may be keen competition between storage and consumption if the make continues low.

not be viewed as indicating a falling off of dairying in Nova Scotia. Such is not the case. The January to April figures in Nova Scotia showed a decline of only .7 per cent for the whole of Canada. At the same time there has been a very large increase in Nova Scotia's consumption of fluid milk. Were the normal percentage of fluid milk used for butter making, butter production in this province would have shown an increase during the first quarter of this year.

Reports 18 Garden Clubs

There is a very marked interest in Garden Clubs in Yarmouth County. Some idea of the wide interest being taken by girls and boys of this county in gardening is contained in reports from H. H. Churchill, agricultural representative, Lower West Pubnico. The clubs reported are at: Yarmouth North, Hebron, Wellington, Port Maitland, Richmond, Surette's Island, Lower East Pubnico (3 clubs), East Quinan, Hubbards Point, Comeau's Hill, Lower East Pubnico, Belleville, Upper Wedgeport, Belleville north. these 18 clubs have total membership of 243.

Records Love, Mails Disk to Girl

While in training at the Great Lakes Naval Station, near Chicago, William Hyde, 19, of Detroit, met and fell in love with beautiful Alice Kreuger, 18, of Round Park, Ill.

Before the romance had progressed very far Bill went to sea. When his ship moved into the war zone he visited the chaplain for advice on proposing to Miss Krueger. The chaplain recommended that Bill wait a while before popping the question.

Bill couldn't wait, however, and talked the matter over with a shipmate, Pat Fascisale, of Hawthorne, N.J., a former orchestra leader.

Fascisale had on board a recording machine. The result was that Bill spoke a piece of love into the voice-preserving instrument, ending with something like: "Will you be my bride?"

Before Hyde uttered his sweet nothings, though, Fascisale installed a musical prelude on the record, the music being contributed by a quartet of sailors who sang "I Love You Truly".

Next step was to mail the recorded disk at the next port of call, so all that remains of this unusual saga of the sea is affirmation or denial by the petite blonde in Illinois.

Hyde is confident that his proposal will not be rejected.

Stoker Allison Outhouse was home a few days with his family.

SYMBOL OF FREEDOM

Suppose the law stepped in tomorrow, Gestapo fashion, and told you how, and by whom, your estate must be disposed of at death. You would protest vigorously that this is your own affair.

It is your affair while you live, but if you leave no Will your next of kin share your estate under set rules of Provincial law, which also appoints an administrator.

By making a Will now, you decide how your property shall be divided, and who shall be your executor. This is one of the privileges belonging to the freedom we are fighting to protect, and is not to be lightly neglected.

Make your Will now, or bring your old one up to date, and appoint us as your safe executor. We will gladly give you experienced advice in planning it to the best advantage.

ODD FOLKS WHO HAVE NO CHILDREN KNOW ALL ABOUT HOW TO RAISE THEM

The house is a shambles, you decide as you finish wiping up the kitchen floor. How anyone can be glamorous and take care of a home, a husband, and four small children is beyond comprehension.

On your way for the cleaner to pick up some cookie crumbs which Dora has dropped on the rug you glance out the window and see Florence, a friend of long standing, headed for your front gate. An inward groan is your immediate reaction.

Nary a chick nor a child has Florence. She can't stand for a single thing to be out of place in her perfectly kept house. If she had her way all children would be drowned at birth or relegated to an isolated orphanage.

She has now reached your front door. Wiping your perspiring brow with your apron, you call a cheery "Come in" but when she tries the door it is locked. You apologize, explaining that little Sally has just learned to throw the lock and is so proud of her achievement that she locks the door a dozen or more times a day.

Florence's grim visage plainly shows that she finds no humor in the situation. In fact, she bluntly suggested that she would soon put an end to that if the child were hers.

Picking up a small wooden truck so that your friend may sit down, you wonder what on earth you are going to talk about. Your interests are so different. But never mind! Already Florence has started to tell you about the Joneses in her neighborhood who have seven children and another on the way, and him only a clerk in a grocery store in town, mind you!

Next comes the Smiths who are putting their two children through college. Utterly ridiculous. Florence tells you, educating a girl when she'll just get married anyhow.

"It's this way," she tells you. "People sacrifice everything for their children so's they'll have someone to take care of them when they are old. And what happens? The children grow up and forget all about the old folks. In grates they are. I've seen it happen too often."

How can you explain to any one so bigoted that all children are not alike or that you are not seeking a home for your old age as your reward for raising a family—that a child's smile—a simple little secret whispered in your ear, or a hand placed trustingly in yours amply pays you for all?

It's useless to try, you decide. "A man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still" applies just as truly to women and to Florence most of all.

Prepares Herself For Greater Tasks

Thoughts of someday becoming a real queen would thrill any little girl. But when you think of the tremendous responsibility that is entailed, how many of you would be willing to make the necessary sacrifices? A person aspiring to the honor of ruling an empire must learn early to think of others before herself.

Every girl looks forward to being 16, but the anniversary event celebrated recently had special significance for the Princess Elizabeth. It meant that she is now a young lady and that she will appear from time to time in public ceremonies. The first ceremony of this sort was reviewing a battalion of the Grenadier Guards, of which she has been appointed colonel-in-chief, when she stepped in front of her father, mother and sister to review the guards at Windsor Castle.

A resemblance to her grandmother, Queen Mary, is apparent, and already Elizabeth gives promise of becoming a very queenly person. She is well poised, and as she walked beside her mother it was quite evident that she stood an inch taller than the later even though she was wearing low sport shoes and her mother high heels.

The sixteenth birthday meant something else too. British girls of 16 are asked to sign the national register for war work. Princess Elizabeth was no exception. But because of her record in the Girl Guides since 1937, it is not likely she will be interviewed as it is customary in order to get the girls to sign for some branch of war work.

The princess has never attended school. Her education was obtained from governesses and instructors chosen by her mother, who always keeps a close and loving watch over her two daughters. Languages have been learned extensively and history, especially of Britain and the Americas. Both Elizabeth and Margaret Rose have been active in war work, knitting and paying the visits expected of royalty.

Tips on Washing Rayon Curtains

When buying ready-made glass curtains, make sure they are washable, lest you come to grief later on. Certain types of rayon curtains can be laundered at home if directions are followed carefully. Allow from one to two inches for shrinkage when measuring for your new curtains.

Don't wait until curtains are badly soiled to wash them. Exposure to the sun, dust and soot rot the fibers. If you are so fortunate as to have an extra set of curtains allow the freshly laundered set to rest.

When dirt and soil become too deeply imbedded in the material rather harsh treatment is sometimes necessary, but slightly soiled curtains can be washed with fairly gentle treatment.

Rayon curtains should be washed by hand in lukewarm mild suds. Do not rub, but squeeze the soapsuds through the fabric. Never wring or twist the curtains; squeeze them in a towel to take up the excess moisture. Iron with a warm iron, lengthwise of the material.

PREPARED DUSTCLOTH

Unless a home-maker wants to be dusting all the time, a dustcloth that does a thorough job is essential. To prepare a dustless cloth, put a tablespoon of furniture polish of a good quality into a glass fruit jar. Shake the jar until the sides are coated with the polish. Put a yard of sheescloth into the jar and cover it. Let it remain in the jar several days before using it.

For Beauty's Sake

Thorough cleansing is essential in maintaining a clear glowing skin. Repeated applications of cosmetics throughout the day call for a thorough soap and water cleansing at least once a day. A washcloth, well lathered with toilet soap and applied to the skin in a rotary motion, helps stimulate circulation and encourages a healthy glow. Be sure you use a soap of high quality, superfatted to help lubricate dry and normal type skins.

The entire body, too, should be bathed frequently to keep the pores flexible so they may carry off their share of waste material.

No less than once a week collect washcloths, powder puffs, combs and brushes of all types (hair, tooth, bath brushes and others), wash them with soap, and rinse in water to which has been added a little liquid germicide. It is important to your beauty that these be kept scrupulously clean.

Household Hints

Castors on your kitchen work will save you many steps as it can then be moved where you want it.

When fruit juice runs out into the oven or on the top of the stove, throw a little salt on it to prevent odor and simplify cleaning later.

When stewing dried fruits, the addition of a small amount of lemon rind will give a better flavor.

Greasing your glass baking dishes before putting in food to bake will make them much easier to wash.

Clean oil mops in hot water to which has been added a little ammonia and washing powder.

When beating egg whites, have the bowl and beater as well as the egg as cold as possible.

Paint the inside boxes when they are dry to prevent their decaying.

When sending stamps through the mail, dust the gummy side with talcum powder so they will not stick together.

"Hitler's not going to teach my children!"

"I've read how Hitler starts training his killers when they're toddlers. So I reckon it's up to me and every other Canadian mother to train our children to realize that they've got to pay for their freedom!"

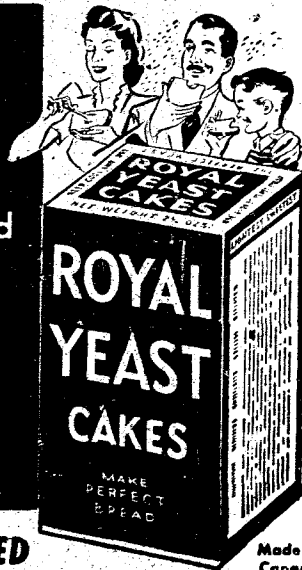

"That's why I see to it that all my children buy War Savings Stamps every week. I tell them what freedom means—what the grown-ups are fighting for—that it's for them! So they've got to give up something too—and the money—$5.00 back for every $4.00 saved now—will come in mighty handy—when they start out on their own!"

Good Crops Anticipated

"With good weather we should have the best crops in our history" stated W. W.
Baird, Supt. of the Dominion Government Experimental Farm at Nappan, following a trip of the Province extending from Sydney to Yarmouth.

Mr. Baird, who has been stationed at Nappan since 1913, said he never knew of a spring when farming conditions over the province were as uniformly early as they are this year. Usually he continued, the eastern part of the province is two or three weeks behind the western part, but this year the east is about as far advanced as the west.

This is not the earliest season according to records kept since 1929. But is unquestionably one of the earliest. And there is one difference over previous early seasons namely, weather conditions for early seeding have been almost continuously and constantly good. The result is seeding in general further advanced for this time of year than it has been in any year during the past 20 years.
There was a higher percentage of crops in on May 15 than ever before. Mr. Baird said he did not wish to be over enthusiastic, but he added, he had just finished a tour of the province and he verily believed the advanced conditions he had noted applied generally throughout the province.

While he felt there was an increase generally in volume of Crops sown there was, he said, unquestionably an increase in grain is ten percent or more greater than in 1941, and with the early sowing of grain there should be a much greater weight per bushel than last year.

"The grass lands and pastures", said Mr. Baird, "promise well. In all it is a good outlook, we should have the biggest crops in our history."

Since the outbreak of war
Canadian Junior Red Cross workers have given upwards to $500,000 to the various projects for which they work.

Red Cross Meets Home Front Needs

Great as are the demands of war, Canadians still need the services of the Canadian Red Cross on the home front.
Outpost hospitals across Canada's northern frontier must be maintained and travelling medical and dental clinics must still visit thousands of settlers in sparsely settled regions. The "Good Citizenship" program of the Junior Red Cross with its 900,000 members in high schools and secondary schools must go on.

While emphasis in Red Cross work at this time is on service to the men of Canada's armed forces and the relief of civilians and refugees in distress overseas, the peacetime activities of the organization are so vital that they must be continued. There are, for example, the increasing number of First Aid posts along the main-travelled highways of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia which are saving many lives that would otherwise be lost through automobile accidents. There are the thousands of visits made and services rendered to the soldiers of the present and the last war who are confined to military hospitals.

Classes in home nursing and first aid and nutrition are training thousands of women many of whom can use their new-found knowledge to advantage in war activities. In the 54 Red Cross outpost hospitals 42,236 patients were treated last year and another 42,012 patients were treated in travelling clinics. The Seaport Nursery at Halifax aided over 1,800 adults and children who arrived in Canada in 1941 while the Junior Red Cross Crippled Children's Fund provided medical care for 1,544 handicapped children.

These, a few of the peace-time activities of the
even in time of war. In asking the Canadian people to give $9,000,000 that its work may be carried on during the next year, the Red Cross has made provision for continuation of its vital home services as well as the services arising out of the war.

Says Using Limestone Means Saving Money

Using lime means saving money. Dr. George R. Smith, Truro, provincial chemist with the department of agricultural, who is receiving about 200 samples of soil a week for analysis, states "more farmers would no doubt use limestone if they realized that a percentage of their investments were tied up shortly after the fertilizing materials were applied to the soil." The tying up is due to the sour condition of the soil which can be corrected by lime.

"If eighty per cent of the phosphorous added in the form of superphosphate," said Dr. Smith, "is fixed in the soil is means that eight cents of the farmer's dollar is being tied up, whereas only twenty cents worth is being fed to the plant. On the other hand, if the soil is properly limed and so brought into a sweet condition, and then superphosphate is added, the fixation might be expected to go as low as ten or fifteen per cent. This would mean that only ten or fifteen cents out of each dollar would be tied up when the farmer adds fertilizer to the sweet soil.

"A large percentage of Nova Scotia soils," said Dr. Smith, "up a large percentage of the phosphorous which is added in the form of fertilizers. Soils have the ability to fix or tie which are in sour condition very often fix considerable quantities of the phosphorous which is added in the form of fertilizers and since Nova Scotia soils are in many cases very sour (acid) it is to be expected that many of the soils will lock up the phosphorous which is added in the form of fertilizing material."

Preliminary experiments conducted in one or two places in the province indicate that as much as 85% of the phosphorous added in the form of superphosphate is tied up and cannot be utilized by the plant root. The old saying, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," holds true in this particular case. It is considered much more advisable to put on the limestone and get the land in condition rather than put on fertilizer for a number of years, and then find that a detrimental factor prevails in the soil and proceed at that point to put on limestone.

Considerable time is very often required for the action of the lime to cause materials to be brought from an unavailable to an available form in the soil, whereas limestone added to a sour soil, causing it to be brought into a sweet condition, will mean that the fertilizer added in the form of superphosphate will largely be in an available form and therefore be utilized by the plants roots.

Drastic New Regulations

Retreaded and used tires, used tubes, and retreading services, as well as new tires and new tubes, are now under rigid control, according to an announcement by Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply.

Effective May 15, the new order is designed to conserve Canada's rubber supplies for war purposes, to prevent hoarding, and to keep essential vehicles, including farm trucks and implements, in operation as long as possible.

The order tightens the previous control over new tires and new tubes. It sets up three classes of eligible vehicles, "A", "B" and "C", on a sliding scale gauged according to the usefulness of the vehicle to a country at war, and it rules out the 1,000,000 or more motorists who are no longer to buy even a used tube.

When a dealer has two or more orders for a similar tire or tube, and he cannot fill both orders, he must give preference to the owner of the vehicle in a higher class.

Owners of vehicles in Class "A" are permitted to buy new tubes, retreaded tires, retreading services, used tires or used tubes. In this class are such vehicles as cars used by physicians, cars belonging to clergymen who serve two or more congregations more than three miles apart, cars used by clergymen in sparsely settled districts, trucks for road repairs, trucks for carrying farm products and foods, fire fighters' vehicles, police vehicles, and farm tractors and harvester combines, other than automobiles and trucks, for the operation of which tires and tubes are essential.

Owners of vehicles in Class "B" are permitted to buy retreaded tires, retreading services, used tires and used tubes. In this class are rural mail carriers, passenger cars or trailers used principally for the transportation of produce and supplies to and from his farm by a person whose principal occupation is farming, and who owns no truck, and others.

Owners of vehicles in Class "C" may purchase only used tires and used tubes. Included in this class are vehicles used principally in the course of their duties by the following: Farm or food products inspectors, dentists or optometrists who serve more than one community, scrap buyers, sheriffs or other law enforcement officer, servicemen who repair farm machinery, rural school teachers, rural undertakers, and newspaper reporters. Also covered in this class are horse drawn vehicles and farm implements for the operation of which tires are essential.

Pleasant Summer Days at St. Andrews by the Sea

WITH physical fitness a requisite in every field of wartime endeavor, and Canada's foremost seaside resort at St. Andrews, N.B., so admirably equipped to promote that fitness, the famed Algonquin Hotel is anticipating plenty of action this summer on its sea-girt golf course, sandy bathing beaches, tennis courts, bridle paths and tumbling blue waters where yachtsmen can sail before salt-laden breezes on Passamaquoddy Bay, one of the Atlantic's loveliest inland arms.

Surrounded by emerald green lawns, flowering shrubs, and gardens, the charming Canadian Pacific hostelry is but a few minutes' stroll from the famous 18-hole golf course whose rolling fairways literally meet the sea, and whose fame in this country rivals that of its namesake course in St. Andrews, Scotland.

Also within easy distance of the Algonquin lies the golden expanse of Kary's Cove, where hotel patrons can indulge in their favorite aquatic pastimes on floats, diving boards or on the beaches of sun-drenched sands. The beach, complete with dressing rooms and showers, borders a sparkling land-locked cove where the waters maintain an evenly moderate temperature.

Other attractions at the Algonquin, which remains open this year from June 27 to September 8, include fishing for trout, bass and landlocked salmon in nearby lakes, cycling and motoring over picturesque roads that seldom lose sight of the sea, tennis on the hotel's fast, modern courts and dancing at the Algonquin Casino.

Not the least of St. Andrews attractions is its accessibility by Canadian Pacific Railway lines from principal cities of Eastern Canada and from large eastern centres in the United States.

Canadian Fisheries Enjoying Prosperity

Canada's fisheries are today enjoying a degree of prosperity unmatched since the close of the last war. As in the earlier struggle this industry has again demonstrated its ability to adjust itself to new and unfamiliar conditions. Dislocations arising from the loss of overseas markets, enforced shifts in the buying habits of consumers, requisition of fishing vessels and shortage of experienced men, to mention only the more important, have been rapidly and effectively surmounted. While certain minor branches of the industry have undoubtedly suffered, the net result of wartime operations to date has been definitely favorable. This improvement has, of course, on enhanced prices, a total catch last year approximately equal to that of 1940 being valued at $25,570,000 or 36% greater. Periods of high prices are normally of short duration, but the present situation is very far from being normal. The need for foodstuffs of every description appears sufficiently urgent to sustain prices at profitable levels for some time to come, thus affording the fisheries a long-needed opportunity to strengthen and consolidate their position and to develop newly acquired markets.

Prices received by fishermen during 1941 were higher for all important varieties, the most remarkable increases being shown for cod, mackerel and halibut. Quotations for kippered herring and canned lobster were moderately higher. Prices of canned salmon have remained relatively stable since the beginning of the war, reflecting large-scale contracts to supply this product to the British Government. Price ceiling regulations have to date had little effect upon the industry. This is due in part to the large quantity of fish exported, and partly to the fact that sales by fishermen to processors and dealers are exempt to this type of restriction. More recently, in an effort to encourage sales in the domestic market, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board removed price limitations on sales of codfish, herring, haddock, mackerel and other fish, including fresh water varieties, by processors.

dealers and retailers. Salmon, however, was not included in the list of exemptions.

Landings of fish on the Atlantic seaboard during 1941 totalled 5,675,295 cwt., compared with 5,497,244 cwt. in the previous year. Landed values, at $11,935,000, were over 23 per cent higher than those of 1940, each of the four provinces concerned showing a substantial gain. Fishermen engaged in the dried fish trade enjoyed a particularly successful season. While the catch was not large, prices were high and export demand strong. Yearly exports of dried codfish from Norway, Iceland and the Faroe Islands and Great Britain during the pre-war period averaged roughly 2.5 million quintals. Today no export surplus is available from either Norway or Britain, and with Iceland and the Faroes supplying fresh fish to Britain, under contract, the surplus available for curing is small. Canada and Newfoundland are, in consequence, the only remaining producers of any importance. Export demand in all major markets has continued strong, despite increased prices, higher freight rates and, in some cases higher duties. Shipments of cured fish to Spain, Portugal, Brazil, Central America and the British West Indies have, however, considerably reduced supplies available to domestic and United States consumers. Sales of fresh and frozen fish in the British market declined during the latter part of 1941. Demand from this quarter was undiminished, but prices lower than those obtainable in the domestic market rendered this trade unattractive.

The disappearance of Scandinavian sardines from North American markets has finally drawn the attention of consumers to the Canadian product. Demand has steadily increased as the excellence of New Brunswick sardines became more widely recognized. Careful inspection and grading have improved the average quality of the pack so that it now compares favorably with that of imported brands still available. A ready market for all that can be produced seems assured.

Returns from lobster fishing during 1941 were very satisfactory. Landings were moderately larger than in the previous year, and a marked gain was shown in landed values. The loss of overseas markets which followed the outbreak of hostilities and the decision of Great Britain, in 1939, to classify canned lobster as a luxury and prohibit its entry, has been more than made good during the past two years. Today ready demand for all forms of lobster exists in Canada and the United States. Development of these new outlets has been due in very large measure to the efforts of the Dominion Government. Under the Lobster Control Plan higher standards of grading improved the quality of the pack, exports were controlled and a portion of the output marketed under the name "Canada Brand". In 1940, for the first time, the entire output was disposed of in North American markets. Government assistance was extended throughout 1941.

On the Pacific coast the canned salmon and herring packs were substantially larger during 1941, as fishermen and canners responded wholeheartedly to Britain's appeal for greater supplies of these products. The total catch of all fish, however, was moderately lower, amounting to 5,226,916 cwt., compared with 5,906,896 cwt. in 1940. Aggregate returns to fishermen were $13,635,000, an increase of $4,568,000 over the previous year. Last year's salmon pack totalled 2,245,715 cases, established an all-time record. It was also the first year since 1930 in which production has exceeded 2,000,000 cases. Of the total pack, two-thirds was consigned to Great Britain.

The increase in the output of canned herring has been even more spectacular. Whereas salmon had been packed in large volume for many years, the annual pre-war output of canned herring was small, amounting to approximately 100,000 cases. Following the outbreak of war, operations were greatly increased particularly on the Pacific coast and in 1940 a total of 790,500 cases was put up, 700,000 cases being shipped to Britain. In the summer of 1941 the British Government placed a further order for 1,600,000 cases, only a portion of which could be filled during the remainder of the year.

A recent announcement that the entire 1942 packs of canned salmon will go to Britain indicates that once current supplies have been exhausted, these fish may disappear entirely from Canadian tables. Consumers would then have to fall back on various other type of fish and seafoods, drawn in the main from the Atlantic coast fisheries. It appears probable that future demand for sardines and lobsters will be greatly stimulated, and that a larger proportion of the cod and haddock catch will be retained for domestic use.

It is not anticipated that removal of Japanese fishermen from the Pacific coast area will prevent Canada from making good her increased commitments to Britain.

While Japanese have for years played an important part in the fishing industry of British Columbia their investment in fishing craft and equipment has been considerably larger, on a percentage basis, than their actual participation in fishing operations. At the close of 1941, the 1,100 vessels owned by Japanese were valued at $2½ million, as against a total value for the British Columbia fishing fleet of about $6.5 million. Out of crews numbering roughly 10,000, however, less than 20% were Japanese. It is proving difficult but not impossible to place these men. Immobilization of Japanese craft, on the other hand, would have been a major catastrophe. Arrangements have recently been completed to secure the use of these craft through purchase, charter or lease from the original owners. All transfers will be supervised by a special Government committee. Disputes will be arbitrated by the head of the committee, Mr. Justice Sydney Smith of British Columbia, an officer of the Royal Canadian Navy, and a Japanese representative of the owners. Every effort is being made by the Government to treat the Japanese with scrupulous fairness. It is impossible not to wonder, however, what treatment would have been accorded Canadian fishermen by the Japanese government under similar circumstances.

The major problem confronting the Canadian fishing industry at the present time would appear to be that of maintaining or increasing current rates of output. Unfavorable prices and returns to fishermen during pre war years led inevitably to deterioration of vessels and gear, and in very many cases to the abandonment of fishing for more attractive occupations. Now, when the need is greatest, it is proving exceedingly difficult to increase output much beyond present levels or to make good inevitable losses in men and equipment. Already large numbers of fishermen have been drawn into the fighting forces and the merchant marine, or have secured employment in war industry. A number of vessels have been requisitioned by the Navy. Should the activities of the German and Japanese raiders in our coastal waters become intensified over coming months, losses by enemy action, to say nothing of interference with normal operations, could prove critical.

It would be difficult indeed at the present time to single out a field of economic activity whose well-being is not in greater or lesser degree bound up with the changing fortunes of war. Fishing, certainly enjoys no such immunity. However, in the absence of a major catastrophe which would deny us the use of ocean trade routes, prospects for the industry over the remainder of the present year appear favorable. With prices at current levels it should be again possible for fishermen to realize a moderate profit, and at the same time contribute substantial quantities of foodstuffs and foreign exchange in the war effort.

Reserve Units Get Modern Weapons

Reserve Army Units will get as much up-to-date equipment for training as is available, and already this material is being distributed. Reserve Units in M.D. 10 have received one of the newest models of automatic weapons, the Reising .45 calibre automatic carbine, a snub, wicked-looking gun of the sub-machine gun type.

During an inspection of Manitoba Reserve Units, Major-General B. W. Browne, director general of the Reserve Army, turned over a Reising gun to Col. R. G.

Graham, O. C. of the 38th Reserve Brigade. It was representative of a large shipment that has reached the city for the use in training Reserve troops.

New Reising automatic carbine examined at Winnipeg by left to right: Col. R. G. Graham, O. C. 38th Reserve Brigade, M.D. 10; Brigadier Harold J. Riley, D.O.C. of M.D. 10; Major-General B.W. Browne, director general of the Reserve Army. The rifle represents a large shipment recently received in Winnipeg for the use and training of Reserve Army personnel.

SUGAR RATION Now 1/2 lb.

PER PERSON

Since sugar rationing was first introduced, the shipping situation has become more serious. The danger to ships and lives has increased. Consequently it has now become necessary to reduce the sugar ration from 3/4 lb. to 1/2 lb. per week per person. Only persons in areas remote from source of supply are permitted to have more than two weeks' supply on hand at any time.

SUGAR FOR PRESERVING

Special provision is made for additional quantities of sugar for home preserving and canning.

In addition to your ration, you may purchase 1/2 lb. of sugar for every pound of fruit that you preserve or can, and 3/4 lb. of sugar for every pound of fruit made into jam or jelly.

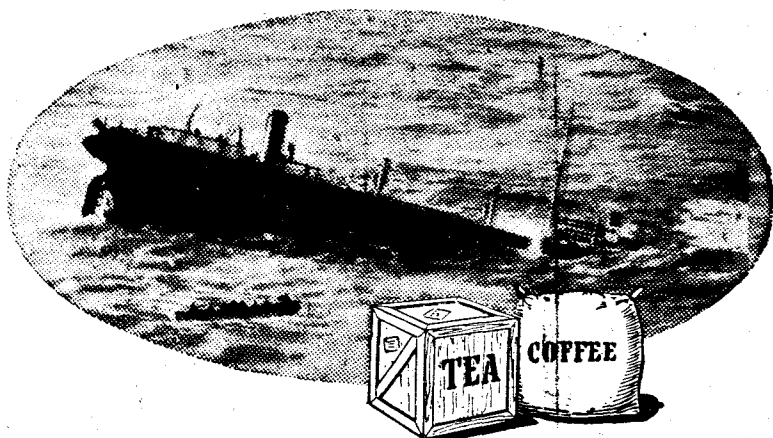

Every person who buys sugar for canning or preserving is required to keep an accurate record of the sugar purchased for this purpose. If any sugar remains after canning and preserving, it shall form part of the regular ration of 1/2 lb. per person per week.

TEA AND COFFEE ARE RATIONED

Ships and lives must be conserved

To bring tea from Ceylon and India, to bring coffee from South America, ships must cross oceans infested with submarines. Today these ships and their naval escorts are required for more essential services. Every ship, every foot of cargo space, is needed to carry war materials, and to bring essential goods to Canada.

So Canadians must now reduce their consumption of tea and coffee. You must reduce your normal consumption of tea by at least a half. You must reduce your normal consumption of coffee by at least one fourth. These reductions are absolutely necessary.

TEA CONSUMPTION MUST BE CUT AT LEAST IN HALF

COFFEE CONSUMPTION MUST BE CUT AT LEAST ONE FOURTH

THIS IS THE LAW

You must not buy more than 2 weeks' supply of tea or coffee for yourself and household in any one week.

Everything Happens To Bridegrooms

When M. J. Williams, Jr., of St. Louis, decided to marry Anne Robinson he ran into a few troubles.

The best man, his brother, Paul, was two hours late; the morning ceremony was delayed further when, after a 40-mile drive to get the license, Williams found out he had to drive back 40 miles to get his bride-to-be to sign the document; the cleaner who had his wedding suit sent the trousers 40 blocks away to another shop.

The jeweller didn't have his ring ready until past noon; one of the witnesses was late; on the way to the church Williams had a flat tire, and it rained when he and his friends got out to fix it; half way to the wedding he remembered he had forgotten the envelope with the minister's fee in it; the wedding ring was so small he could scarcely get it on his bride's finger.

Finally married, the couple sat down to their delayed wedding "breakfast" at 6.04 p. m.

Williams is convinced he is married — permanently. His bride can't get the wedding ring off.

Miss Eva Kennedy, who has spent the past month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kennedy, returned to Boston on Tuesday.

The city of Norristown, Pa., sits on land that was bought for 50 cents an acre in 1704.

ATTENTION SHEEP OWNERS

WOOL URGENTLY NEEDED

Canada annually produces approximately 20,000,000 pounds of wool.

Today Canadian mills require at least 110,000,000 pounds.

This situation requires the efficient use of every pound of good Canadian wool.

For the purpose of handling the 1942 clip to the best advantage, authority has been given under the War Measures Act for all wool produced in Canada and sold commercially to be handled by the Canadian Wool Board, Limited.

To handle the Nova Scotia wool, the Canadian Wool Board, Limited, has made the following arrangements:

1. All Nova Scotia produced wool, except that retained for household use, must be marketed through the wool grading stations.
2. Three wool grading stations have been established in the province, namely at Truro, Antigonish and Mabou.
3. Farmers, registered dealers (either registered dealers or registered co-operative associations) must ship wool to the nearest wool grading station.
4. Wool will be graded on arrival at the station and paid for direct to the farmer according to quality, within 10 days from arrival.
5. Each fleece should be wrapped separately and preferably tied. In tying only paper twine should be used. This can be secured from registered dealers.
6. For the purpose of identification each bag or sack should have one tag on the inside and one on the outside. This tag should contain the name and address of the shipper and number of fleeces.
7. Wool should be shipped by freight collect and all farmers will be paid the same prices per pound according to quality.
8. The bulk of clean Nova Scotia wool should grade in the military grade. Price is 31c per lb.—this is net to the farmer. Black wool, burry and cotts will be settled for at lower prices.
9. Plan to ship your wool early.

The three wool warehouses are now open and ready to receive wool.

Sheep owners requiring further information can obtain same from their agricultural representative, or from the Department of Agriculture, Halifax.

Jury Acquits Fidele Saulnier

A. Dervilleau was the last witness called by the crown, testifying with respect to the damage to the cars.

The only witness called by the defence was 12 year old Edith LeBlanc, who spoke in French through an interpreter, J. M. Comeau. The little girl stated just before the accident occurred a car came up behind her at high speed, and travelling in the direction of Yarmouth. The car was zig-zagging back and forth across the road. Fearing she might be hit, she stepped into the ditch. She heard a crash as the two cars came together but did not go to the scene of the accident. She did not see the other car, and saw no automobile headlights.

The accused did not take the stand. His evidence taken at the coroner's inquest was read to the jury. In this evidence he admitted having three or four drinks of "moonshine" with Dennis Faulner. He told of leaving the Jeddry home and travelling in the direction of Church Point (toward Digby) at a speed between 35 and 40 miles per hour. He first saw a car approaching at about 100 paces. Lights of his car and the other car were on. He last recalled seeing the other car at about 25 feet away, after that he remembered nothing.

The defence council R.W.E. Landry in summing up to the jury laid particular stress on the evidence of the little girl, stating the car the child saw was undoubtedly the Jones' car, and from her evidence he assumed something must have been wrong with the Jones car or with Jones. He stated there was no evidence to show the accused was driving on the wrong side of the road, and suggested damage to the cars as shown by the photographs indicated Jones was on his wrong side at the time of the collision.

Crown prosecutor Theriault in his summary to the jury pointed out the damage as shown by the photographs was proof the accused was on the wrong side of the road, intimating Jones swung to the left as an attempt to avoid a collision, suggesting that at the same time Saulnier swung his car to bring it on his right side of the pavement. He also pointed out discrepancies in the evidence of the child in regard to other evidence and especially with regard to the evidence given by the accused at the inquest.

Digby County Baptist District Meeting

The Digby County Baptist District Meeting convened with the Smith's Cove church, May 21-22. The opening session, Thursday evening, was a Rally of the young people of the District. The B.Y.P.U. of the entertaining church conducted the devotional service. Marie Small and Dorothy Cook, of Digby, rendered a duet. The Moderator of the District, Rev. M. C. Munn, welcomed as the guest speakers, Dr. and Mrs. Ben Gullison, missionaries on furlough. They were listened to with much interest. Mrs. Gullison spoke of the achievements of the mission in India. She said that the political, economic and social conditions of India were basically religious problems. She recommended Christianity as the only religion capable of lifting the people of India out of the depth to which her own religions had sent her. Here is found a basis for the carrying on of modern missions.

Dr. Gullison showed some slides illustrating the work being done in India. The slides were made from pictures which he had taken himself. The slides showed, in pictures, the message which Mrs. Gullison had given.

The Friday morning session was given to a discussion of Social Conditions in the County. Vian Andrews presented a paper on the Social Problems of the County. He stated that we share our problems with the whole of Canada. The problems confronting us are not merely local or provincial, but Dominion wide. Our social problems change as conditions change, so that the problems we are facing are related to the crisis through which we pass. Attention was given to the matter of liquor and sex problems.

This was followed by a paper by Rev. Ross Eaton, of Freeport. The problems of liquor and sex, he said, are old problems—as old as humanity. They cannot be solved in a day, but call for a long ranged program of Christian Education in the home, the school, and the church. While not neglecting our older folk, we must build our program about the youth of our land. Our greatest work is not the work of reclamation, but the matter of prevention. This was a masterly treatment of the subject and left a deep impression on the audience.

The Friday afternoon session was in charge of the W. M. A. S. of the county. After a brief devotional service, members of the local society presented a short play entitled, "The Upper Sasin," dealing with the subject of Home Missions.

Friday evening, Dr. E. S. Mason, Home Mission Superintendent, brought a timely and inspiring message on Home Missions. He traced the growth and development of Home Missions in the Maritime Provinces. He showed how these small churches grow from small Mission churches to independent self supporting churches, and how they, in turn, pay large sums to the support of the work of the Convention. Most of our churches have started as small Home Mission interests. One such church paid $1700.00 into the treasury of our Denominational Fund last year. He closed with a fitting reference to the work we are carrying on among the Colored people of Nova Scotia, and paid a glowing tribute to the work and person of the late Dr. W. A. White.

The new officers appointed at this meeting are: Rev. T. F. McWilliam, Moderator, and the Rev. Ross C. Eaton, Secretary-treasurer.

He was of a humorous disposition and was well liked by all who knew him. He was the son of Mrs. Henrietta Harris and the late Stewart Harris, of Bear River, and went to the United States at the age of 15 where he had lived ever since. ## Revenue Insufficient For Adequate Service

"The revenue received is insufficient for adequate service" was the statement made by I. McNab, Chairman of the Nova Scotia Board of Public Utilities, at a hearing Friday afternoon, at the Court House, Digby, for the purpose of airing the complaint of the Municipality of Digby, that the service rendered by the Westport and Digby Telephone Company is "insufficient, inadequate or unobtainable." This line serves Digby Neck and Long and Briar Islands.

E. J. Theriault, of Digby, represented the Municipality of Digby, and Wilfred Gidney and Herado Gidney represented the Westport and Digby Telephone Company.

D. B. Kenney, Fish Merchant, of Westport, was first to take the stand. He stated that sometimes the service given by the Company was fair, but most of the time it was far from being satisfactory, and that nearly every "long distance" message had to be repeated by the operator at the Mink Cove Central. He said that only the other day he was unable to talk to Digby, and that this was a common occurrence. Mr. Kenney expressed the opinion that the line was not properly taken care of.

E. B. Pugh, farmer, of Westport, testified that he had been a subscriber of the Westport and Digby telephone line for about 15 years, and during that time he received the best service last winter when his telephone was out of commission for three weeks! He said the poles were down from his home extending some 2½ miles to Western Light, and that the Company did not make any hurried effort to put the line in order.

Mr. Pugh said that in a recent emergency it was necessary that an important message be sent to certain war officials, but it was impossible to do so since the cable connecting the line to the mainland was broken. Considering the location of the Islands, he stressed the importance of having proper telephone connections with the mainland in these days of war.

Mr. Pugh further stated that he could see no improvement in the service since overhead wires had been suspended across Petite and Grand Passages replacing the cables. (These temporary wires had been erected by the Company in an effort to prove that the cables were the cause of most of the trouble.)

Next to testify as to the inadequacy of the telephone line was Rev. J. W. Derby, of Westport, President of the Fundy Board of Trade, who said that several members of the Board had made complaints, and that he himself

Splendid Future For Poultry Industry, Says Speaker

D. Roy MacDonald, assistant poultry promoter for the province of Nova Scotia, was speaker at the monthly meeting of the Maple Leaf Agricultural Society, Tuesday evening. The meeting was held in Union Hall, Barton, with the president, Lloyd McNeill, Marshelltown, presiding. The speaker was introduced by Raymond LeBlanc, agricultural representative for the district, who, in his introductory address expressed his belief in a splendid future for the poultry industry in Nova Scotia. In speaking of the Economics of Poultry, Mr. MacDonald spoke of the development of the industry in Nova Scotia over the past decade, stating that 10 years ago there were 2500 blood-tested hatchery-approved birds in the province. Last year the number reached 40,000. He further stated that 10 years ago Nova Scotia hatcheries supplied 53,000 baby chicks; last year more than 500,000, and figures for this year indicate the figure will exceed the one million mark.

Eight years ago, Mr. MacDonald said, poultry pools in Nova Scotia produced 9,000 lbs. of graded poultry meats; last year's production was 250,000 lbs. graded poultry meats. He further gave figures to show that the pool method had improved the quality of the meats stating that in the first year of the operation of the poultry pools only 25% of the birds made top A and B grades, where last year 80% of the birds marketed by the pools reached top grades.

In spite of the marked increase in the production of poultry meats and eggs in the province, there is room for far greater development. Last year, for the Christmas and New Year trades alone, 800,000 lbs. of graded poultry were brought into the province—while the total of graded poultry produced for the whole year was 250,000 lbs. He pointed out that Nova Scotia was the only province in the Dominion not exporting eggs at the present time—in fact, he said, this province is not producing enough for its own use and is importing eggs from other sections of Canada.

He urged farmers in this district to pay more attention to poultry and develop the raising of chicks into a profitable sideline. For best results, he said, proper organization and leadership was necessary. Following his address there was a general discussion on the topic, and a committee comprising William Garden, Keith Potter, Plympton; Wm. Eldridge, L. M. Saunders and Frank Hazleton, Digby, were named to look into the matter of organizing a poultry pool and report back at a later meeting of the society.

James J. Wallis, editor of the Digby Courier, was made an honorary member of the Maple Leaf organization on Tuesday evening in appreciation of publicity given them on matters pertaining to agriculture.

Mr. Gidney declared that the Company would do everything in its power to give satisfactory service if they were allowed to raise the rates.

A. Mailman, of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company was called to express his views. He said it was impossible to maintain a satisfactory telephone line using iron wires.

had many times found it impossible to talk to East Ferry, a distance of approximately 12 miles.

Other witnesses called by Mr. Theriault were Corporal Rankin, R. C. M. P., Guy Dunn and E. B. Richardson, all of Digby. Corp. Rankin stated that during the 3½ years he had been stationed in Digby he could not recall one message down Digby Neck that did not have to be relayed.

Wilfred Gidney, of Mink Cove, representing the Westport and Digby Telephone Co., told of the difficult situation with which he was faced. The rates approved by the Nova Scotia Board of Public Utilities were, $1 per month for party line; $1.25 per month for business party line, and $2.25 per month for private phone. There are about 135 subscribers on the Neck and Islands, covering a distance of some 42 miles. There are five operators.

The cables connecting the mainland and Long Island and Long Island and Westport are supplied by the Federal Government. These cables were the cause of most of the trouble. Mr. Gidney declared.

Questioned as to the kind of wire used, Mr. Gidney said that iron wires were used on most of Digby Neck, with one copper wire extending from Mink Cove down the Neck. He stated that about half the poles used were cedar and that regular telephone insulators were used. Mr. Gidney said he and his brothers had done everything possible under the circumstance to maintain a satisfactory service, but, said he, it was impossible to make a living from the line, and it had been necessary for them to find other work, and, therefore, the line had to be somewhat neglected.

Mr. Gidney declared that the Company would do everything in its power to give satisfactory service if they were allowed to raise the rates.

A. Mailman, of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company was called to express his views. He said it was impossible to maintain a satisfactory telephone line using iron wires.

Mayor Attending "Digby" Launching

It was announced at the monthly meeting of the Digby Town Council that His Worship, Mayor E. J. Theriault, in company with Mrs. Theriault would go to Levis, Quebec, to take part in the ceremonies in connection with the launching of the Corvette "Digby" on Saturday. The new corvette will be christened by Mrs. Theriault.

Gerald VanTassel was named a permanent employee of the streets and water department.

The council met at 8 p.m., and following a short business session adjourned to Lily Lake, the source of the town's water supply, where they made an inspection. They also inspected work now being done on Victoria Road where ditches have been dug out on both sides, and a good crown is being built up in the centre of the road. This road, a short cut to Digby Neck, has been in a poor condition for some time, and is also one on which there is much traffic.

Supreme Court Ends Its Session

The spring session of the Supreme Court, which opened at the Court House, Digby, on Tuesday last, concluded Thursday evening, with the first night session seen in the Digby Court House for many years. The civil action of Ida Spurr vs. Harry Harris occupied the time of the court of the day.

In this action, the plaintiff, Ida Spurr, of Newfoundland, who was represented by Landry & Pihk, maintained that while travelling on the Bear River Road, September 6 of last year, her car was struck by a truck owned by Harry Harris, Bear River, and operated by Alden Wamboldt. She contends she was travelling on her side of the road.

On the other hand the defendant contends the Harris truck was on its right side of the highway, and in meeting the plaintiff pulled over as close to the embankment as was safe, and that Mrs. Spurr drove toward the truck.

Evidence showed it was a dark and foggy night. There was considerable testimony as to tracks and the location of the vehicles after the crash.

Council for the defence was M. S. Leonard, Digby. Judgment was reserved by his lordship, Mr. Justice Archibald.

on Sunday School work. The new officers for the year are as follows: President—Rev. M. C. Munn, A. Digby; Vice-president—A. D. Sulis, Smith's Cove; Sect'y-treasurer—Miss Mildred Larramore, Smith's Cove.

At the evening meeting, Mr. Quigley took for his text "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life" and gave a very interesting and inspiring message. Both sessions were well attended.

About This and That

Canadian people may be divided roughly into two groups at the present time. One group is spending money as fast as it comes in. The others are piling up War Savings Certificates and Bonds as high as possible through rigid suppression of the temptation to spend as others are doing.

The spending group is finding it increasingly difficult to buy expensive articles, as war production increasingly curtails the manufacture of many peacetime commodities. But they manage to spend most of their current income by the purchase of many articles and services to be secured at low cost. Thus, Canadian amusement centres are finding it hard to accommodate the crowds. Retail stores are besieged daily by thousands of men and women who make a raid on merchandise costing from 25 cents up to $15. and $20.

There is one certain prediction which may be made now. When peace comes, the men and women who will be able to buy new furniture for the house, new cars, washing machines, radios and the like, or who will be taking holiday trips to famous Canadian and United States resorts, will not be those who are spending their quarters and their dollar bills with reckless abandon. The spending spree after the war will be conducted largely by the people who are now investing heavily in Government war securities.

It is much easier to buy more and more War Savings Certificates now when one visualizes them in terms of spending money, after Hitler is beaten.

Around The Town

In view of the many restrictions which affect the tourist business we were afraid that one or more of our summer hotels would be closed this summer but now it looks as though they will all open as usual. None of them are anticipating a great run of business but no doubt they will all get some.

The new Masonic Hall, in the old J. L. Peter's building—recently purchased by King Solomon Lodge—is nearing completion. It will be a beautiful little hall and will give the Masons a home to be proud of.

During the last few weeks quite a lot of scrap metal has been collected on the beach, but there is a lot more that could be picked up yet. One beach is a disgrace. Garbage, offal, ashes, old cars, scrap metal and other debris, litter what would otherwise be a beautiful waterfront. It's a pity that something could not be done about it!

The Cannon Park is again resuming its natural appearance. The big mounds of earth which have covered it for months have been levelled off, and now with a little seeding and grading it will look all right.

We notice the old cannon near the band stand are still there. Efforts are being made to have them sent to Sydney as scrap—and they would make a lot of it. Do you realize that those cannon are a menace? We would not mind betting dollars to doughnuts that Digby is listed in Germany as a fortified town just on account of those cannon. A year or two before the war there was a Nazi steamer in port loading pulpwood and we saw one of the officers taking "snaps" of those cannon.

The three-masted schooner which has been loading lumber in the Racquet has been an interesting sight to many. Such vessels, once so common, are going scarce, but it may be we will have to come back to them if this war keeps up much longer. We imagine that material for sails will be easier to obtain than will the metal for motors and engines.

The new Salvation Army officers have taken up their work with a vim and are making friends all over the town. The Army has been particularly happy in its choice of officers for Digby for some years and we have had a succession of very likable people directing its affairs.

Help your country to Victory—enlist now.

Five Flats on Trip Are Just Too Many

Wearily, Mrs. Mildred Lavaty, of Chicago, walked into a highway police station and told this story:

She and her husband and several relatives set out, from Chicago to drive 38 miles to Joliet, Ill. On the edge of Chicago the right rear tire went flat. Lavaty smiled and repaired it.

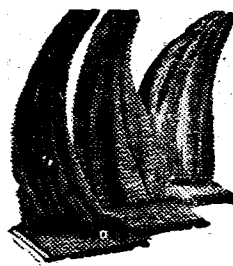

Three miles farther the left rear tire collapsed. Still smiling, Lavaty fixed it. After another ten miles the right rear tire went flat again, and Lavaty repaired it again, grumbling a bit.

The party reached Joliet, later started back home.

Half way back, the right rear tire collapsed again. Lavaty lost his temper, but repaired it again. Then the fifth flat broke his spirit.

"It was the left rear tire again," Mrs. Lavaty told police. "He just collapsed over the wheel. I can't move him. He just sits there and groans." Police sent a repairman to

YOU'VE often seen these warning signs when travelling through the woods. They caution you against smoking on the trail—against throwing away lighted matches and cigarette butts—against leaving campfires unextinguished—against letting brush fires get beyond control. Nevertheless, some people ignore these warnings, and destructive fires are the results. How could anybody be so criminally careless? Surely they must realize how their callous indifference delays victory. For valuable timber thus goes up in smoke that should, but doesn't, go into planes and ships and equipment for our fighting men. Don't SABOTAGE Canada's war effort! Protect our forests! ## OBITUARY

Mrs. R. R. Baxter

Although she had only been a resident of Digby since last November, a wave of sorrow swept over the town on Sunday when it was learned that Ethel Baxter, wife of R. R. Baxter, had passed away in the hospital, a week since she had entered for an operation. She was born 53 years ago in Bear River, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Yorke and had lived there all her life up to November last. Interested in several societies and the church, she was an active worker in these institutions. Left to mourn, beside her husband and daughter, Eileen, are her aged father; two sisters, Mrs. V. B. White, of Taunton, Mass., and Mrs. V. T. Barr, of Bear River; and one brother, Robert, also of Bear River. The funeral took place on Tuesday. A short service at the home on Carleton St. was followed by a church service in Bear River. Both were conducted by Rev. Dr. Hodgson of Digby, assisted in Bear River by Rev. James Brooks, pastor of the church, and Rev. G. D. Brydon, of the Baptist church. Interment was in Bear River.

Susie (Kempton) Rice

There passed away at the Digby General Hospital, on May 30, Susie M., wife of Boyd Rice, of Bear River. The deceased, eldest daughter of the late Chipman and Helen (Roache) Kempton, was born in Clarence, Anna. Co., fifty-six years ago, and later resided in Maitland Bridge, where she received her early education. A successful school teacher in Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia, she was at one time a member of the teaching staff of Oakdene School, Bear River. Since her marriage in 1913, she has resided in Lake Jolly and Bear River, devoting her life to her church and home. Following a private service at the home, the funeral was held on June 1st, in the United Baptist Church, of which she was a valued member, conducted by her pastor, Rev. G. D. Brydon, assisted by R. R. Winchester, of Greenfield, Queens County. Music beautifully rendered by the church choir, with Mrs. Waldo Chute soloist, included the hymns "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and "Sometime We'll Understand." Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held by a wide circle of friends. Surviving to mourn the loss of a Christian wife and mother, are the husband, Royd M. Rice; three children, Gordon, of Amherst; Evelyn, of the staff of Oakdene School, Bear River, and Ronald, L.A.C., R. C. A. F., Brantford, Ontario. Two brothers also survive, Robie E. Kempton, of Arlington, Mass., and Park F. Kempton, Maitland Bridge, Anna. Co. Interment was in Mount Hope Cemetery. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Wesley Leeman

The death of Margaret, wife of Wesley Leeman occurred at her home, Tiverton, on Saturday morning last. She had been confined to her bed for a number of months, but her death, which followed an attack of illness the previous night, was unexpected. She was a member of the Christian Church, and was baptized as a young woman. She was 67 years of age. During her illness she was never known to complain, was of a jolly disposition, and endeared her life to her family. Mrs. Leeman was a daughter of the late Matilda and John Clifford, and her entire life was spent in Tiverton, where she had many friends. Beside her husband she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Ernest Cann, Hebron; four sons, Earl, Clayton, Elair and Roy, of Tiverton; one sister, Mrs. Alden Small, Tiverton; three brothers, Byron and John Clifford, Tiverton, and Thomas Clifford, Black's Harbor, N. B. The funeral service from her home on Monday was largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. J. W. Derby, pastor of the Christian Church.

AT HOME

Mrs. Lorah Hayden will be "at home" on Tuesday, June 9, from 4 to 6 p.m., at her residence, Second Avenue.

Liver Rich in Vitamins

Since every Homemaker needs to watch for vitamin-rich and mineral-wealthy foods available to her at low prices, she does well to look over available varieties of liver. Liver is one of the richest sources of vitamin A and also of the B vitamins, notably thiamine and riboflavin. In it is also the iron and copper needed for building blood and avoiding anemia. Liver is known to health authorities as one of the most nutritionally valuable foods.

Pork liver, lowest priced of all livers, can be deliciously prepared by braising, that is by browning, followed by a slow moist cooking until tender. Beef, lamb and calves' liver is also deliciously prepared in many dishes other than as fried.

Care in cooking liver brings good results. Too long cooking and too high temperature brings undesired results a hardened product and loss of flavour.

Method to Darn Sweater Elbows

A hole in a wool sweater can be made almost invisible if the proper darning technique is used. The idea is to cover the hole and thin area, a rib at a time, with chains of stitches similar in size and shape to those of the sweater.

Materials needed are: yarn to match the sweater in size, quality and color, a crochet hook, and a blunt crewel or tapestry needle.

First take care of any runs extending from the hole by pulling each ladder through the loop below it with a crochet hook. Work upward until the hole is reached, and fasten the last loop with a small safety pin.

Now, baste the worn part of the sweater, right side out, to a piece of stiff paper, to hold the fabric in place. Then thread the needle with a strand of yarn and sew a chain of stitches that will cover the hole and the thin areas around it. Use the same principle of throwing the thread around the needle as is used in blanket stitch, only close the loop completely in this instance. Make each loop the same size.

Before starting, fasten the thread by taking several short running stitches on the under side. Then, with the needle always pointing toward you, start to make the chain over the thin area, catching each stitch in the rib underneath.

When the hole is reached, continue to make the chain over it, with exactly the same number of stitches that are missing.

When the rib is completed, carry the needle back up to the next rib and start a new chain. Repeat until all the ribs are replaced and thin places reinforced.

To fasten the loose chains that lie parallel over the hole, slip the needle to the underside and sew the strands of yarn together with short crosswise darning stitches.

Art of Mending Is Coming Back

Darning and patching are fashionable these days. Grandmother never thought of throwing away a sock with a hole in it, and what was good enough for grandpa is certainly good enough for the children and great-grandchildren.

Darn it soon! To do a first class job of darning is nothing to be sneered at. Fortunately, there are aids in patching and darning these days which would make the women of another generation open their eyes and exclaim "Do tell!"

Special attachments for the sewing machine make it a simple matter to darn a heel or toe in a jiffy. There is also a flat darning attachment which is perfect for mending a tear in a tablecloth, sheet, or possibly a skirt.

Thermo-plastic mending patches are smooth, too, for mending linens, although the assortment of colors and fabrics is somewhat limited. But there is plenty of white. You just lay these over a tear, press the patch with a warm iron, and presto! a laundry-proof mend that is a joy to behold.

But no matter how extensive or limited your equipment, learn to darn and patch.

Every ounce of energy which goes into making new clothes for you and your family means that much less for the war effort.

Wash Shoe Laces

A pair of shoe laces may seem a very trifling thing to conserve, but those with metal tips are pretty precious these days. Instead of throwing them away when they have lost their freshness, give them a soap and water bath. Use a small hand brush to scrub them with lukewarm soapy water. After several rinsings, squeeze out the water between two fingers and hang the laces over a rod to dry.

This is a particularly useful little thrift in connection with white shoe laces and pastel ones. These should be kept clean. The laces can be pressed with a moderate iron if desired, but this is not necessary. Avoid having the iron touch the metal tips as the heat may remove the metal coating.

Kill That Fly!

Picnic time is almost here, and don't you think the flies won't know it. Seems like every day in summer is picnic day for them. They never miss a Sunday School picnic, be it Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Lutheran, or what have you. And if perchance you stay home, lo! some member of the fly remains to keep you company.

Instead of complaining to mother when a fly tickles your nose or glides into your glass of milk, see how many of the little pests you can kill. Remember, they aren't dumb animals—they aren't even dumb—and you need not be chicken-hearted about sending them to their happy hunting ground.

Flies carry all kinds of loathsome germs on their feet and bodies that must be exterminated. They threaten the health and well-being of everyone, most of all babies. So arm yourself with a good swatter or fly spray and see what you can do to reduce the fly population. You may be sure mother will appreciate your help.

Take Care of Woolens

Care in laundering blankets and other woolens is just one more way of economizing to release all the new wool possible for the use of our Armed Forces.

There are not many rules for correct washing of woolens, but break one of them and the harm is done. First and most important: use lukewarm water and a mild soap. Heat in the presence of soap has a bad effect on wool, and may shrink it, yellow it, "felt" it, or make it hard and boardy.

Use two or three rinses of the same temperature as the wash water. If a piece of wool is plunged from warm soap suds into cold water, the soap will cake and won't rinse out. And the alkali in soap has a weakening effect on wool as well as make it harsh.

Wool should be moved about as little as possible while it is wet. For some reason, moving wet wool around too much makes it "felt", and once that happens nothing can be done to restore its soft resiliency. For this reason, too it should never be soaked, but should be dipped up and down in the cleansing process rather than rubbed, pounded or jerked, and a squeezing rather than wringing process be used to remove water.

Woolens should be dried in a warm place but away from contact with direct heat. Bright sunshine will make them yellow. To dry blankets hang them lengthwise over a clean clothesline with half on each side. Clothespins stretch the edges. Reverse the blanket several times after it is partially dry, and from time to time straighten the edges and squeeze out water as it collects at edges.

Don't Shake Varnish Can

Shaking varnish or enamel before using creates air bubbles and may cause an inferior finish. Pour liquid from the top of paint or enamel cans into a clean container. Stir the remaining pigment until it is smooth; then gradually add the top liquid, stirring until it is thoroughly mixed with the pigment.

Gentle Care for Enamelware

Never scour your porcelain enameled pots and pans with steel wool, metal pads, or harsh, gritty cleaners. When foods stick, soak the utensils in water and then wash with soap and water.

HOW TO COMBAT Rheumatic Pains

Rheumatic pains are often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurity should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pains. Treat rheumatic pains by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite kidney remedy. 109

Lime Movement Has Been Heavy

Regardless of heavy movement of lime this spring many farmers have not been able to get delivery as wanted. The delay has been occasioned by the rush of orders at the quarries and lends weight to the government's price policy designed to provide for a distribution of the movement of lime over a longer period of the year. The price of agricultural lime in carlots at the railway station of quarry has been set at $1.50 per ton between October 1 and April 15 inclusive, $1.60 per ton April 16 to June 15, and $1.40 June 16 to September 30.

O. P. Mosher and Sons' quarry at Upper Musquodoboit has shipped 6,000 tons since December 1. The Pictou-North Shore United Farmers put out 400 tons one week in May. The quarry of Dillman Brothers, Admiral Rock, Hants Co., is now in full operation but has been unable to fill all orders. At Upper Economy, Chesley Parker has been grinding lime for the farmers in that district while government quarry at Pugwash is in operation for the North Shore farmers.

Club Dates Are Announced

S. agricultural college, Truro, July 2 and 3, with registration the evening of July 1. There will be two camps for the girls. The registration limit for the camps at N. S. A. C. is 100, with a preference for 80, while the limit for the Yarmouth camp amson and land of Joseph C. LeBlanc, containing twenty acres more or less.

THE AFORESAID LANDS having been levied upon and to be sold under an Execution issued at the suit of the Plaintiff upon a Judgment against the above-named Defendants in the above action and duly recorded at the Registry of Deeds Office in and for the County of Digby, being the Registration District in which the said lands are situate for upwards of one year.

is 25. Only one member from each club will be accepted for the Yarmouth camp, this being due to limited facilities. As a rule the minimum age is 15 years, but with the scarcity of labour due to the war it is possible sufficient applications of this age may not be received, in which case 14-year old applicants may be considered. The camps provide an opportunity for club members to get together on a worthwhile program designed to inform them on activities of club work and the work being carried on at the agricultural college. A separate program along lines of handicraft has been arranged for girls who have previously attended the N.S.A.C.

Berry Bloom Is Early

Good reports are being received from strawberry districts. Bloom in the Mastown strawberry area is considerably ahead of the average. Old plantings are in almost full bloom and new plantings are opening up rapidly. Bearing acreage is believed to be slightly less than last year, and some of last year's plantings are below average in plant stand. Sale of plants by those growers who make a business of this is said to be heavier than last year, but local plantings are reported below average.

A report from Kings County says strawberries are looking excellent. There have been no frosts to date to do any damage. Insect pests are causing some damage, but spraying is quite general and should hold damage to a minimum. The acreage is probably up five per cent over last year. The dry weather of May has probably been a help to the crop. The next couple of weeks is the critical period for moisture. A report from Berwick indicates that picking is expected to start on June 15. On acreage Berwick is about average, Canning slightly increased, and Port Williams moderately increased.

This Kings County report adds that pears, plums, raspberries, cherries, peaches all appear normal. The set on cherries seems heavy. Clover is looking excellent, and pastures are away ahead of normal.

Government Ditcher Is Busy

The government ditcher is making satisfactory progress and is working on a program that will keep it busy for the entire season. It is now in the western part of the province. 6,500 feet of tilling had been done up to May 15 in the Canning district.

Preparing for Fall Fairs

Superintendent of Exhibitions, A. B. Banks, is getting the program of district fall fairs lined up. He expects that exhibitions will be held this year at Sydney, Oxford, Yarmouth, Bear River, Caledonia, Lawrencetown, Musquodoboit, Windsor. Other fairs may be held.

Report New Clubs Formed

A list of Boys' and Girls' Clubs, compiled by William Milligan, agricultural representative in Victoria county, shows 27 clubs with 318 members in that county. Recently reported clubs are, North River Bridge Junior Farmers' Club, Bay St. Lawrence Strawberry Club, and North Ingonish Garden Club.

In the western end of the province, a total of 15 clubs with 219 members is reported by Benoit d'Entremont, agricultural representative, Lower West Pubnico, Yarmouth Co. This week he reported the formation of garden clubs at Middle East Pubnico and West Wedgeport.

Giving Homecrafts Course

Dates have been announced for the holding of the first of a series of Homecraft short courses under the direction of the Women's Branch, department of agriculture. This will be at Bass River from June 9 to 19, with Miss Lorna Duncanson and Miss Margaret Ourdy in charge. The course will include series of lectures and demonstrations on food and cookery, laundry, home nursing and handicrafts. This course is provided through the co-operation of the Dominion department of Labour and the Nova Scotia department of agriculture.

Clear About $1.20 On Potatoes

J. McNeil, agricultural representative in Guysboro County, who was at Monastery this month loading a car of potatoes, reports that in this car the shippers cleared about $1.20 per bushel. This spring, he adds, the acreage under potatoes will be increased.

Digby Pines—Popular Nova Scotia Resort

A LAND where the salt tang of the sea mingles with the scent of apple blossoms, where summer's heat is tempered by bracing sea breezes, where golf clubs are as popular as fishing rods, and where the spell of the romantic past still pervades the picturesque countryside—that is Nova Scotia, storied land of Evangeline, whose many fine summer resorts and hotels provide the ultimate in seaside vacations.

The charms of this easternmost province can be enjoyed to perfect advantage at the picturesque seaside resort of Digby, where the famed Digby Pines offers such a wealth of health-promoting pastimes as golfing, tennis, riding, fishing and sea-bathing in a glass-enclosed swimming pool. The popular Canadian Pacific hotel will be open this year from June 26 till September 8.

Digby lies but a short distance from the great Annapolis Valley, where every Spring the scent of flowering apple trees permeates the countryside for miles around. Highlight of Nova Scotia's blossom time occurs in May and early in June, when Nova Scotia's fairest lassies compete for the title of "Blossom Queen," an event that attracts hundreds of visitors to the Cornwallis Inn at Kentville, where the ceremony is climaxed.

Lovers of history find keen interest in old Annapolis Royal, one of the first permanent European settlements established in North America, and where the recently restored fort provides an interesting and colorful link with Canada's past. The Dominion

Atlantic Railway takes the tourist through the heart of the Evangeline Country, and to its "capital" at Grand Pre, where a memorial park commemorates the beloved heroine of Longfellow's stirring poem.

Digby is conveniently served by Canadian Pacific Railway lines from Boston, Montreal and other large eastern centres. The rail journey terminates at Saint John, N.B., and is completed by a delightful three-hour cruise across the Bay of Fundy on the trim coastal steamship "Princess Helene." A glimpse of the Digby Pines, with swimming pool in the foreground, is given in the upper left picture. Upper right shows the Evangeline Memorial, with Apple Blossom Queen. Lower left and lower right carry the holiday spirit and a touch of the sea.

The Red Menace In Nova Scotia

Fire threatens the future of our forests—the priceless heritage handed down to us by our forefathers to use and enjoy and in turn conserve for our descendants. Burned timber benefits no one, while green forests, directly or indirectly, sooner or later, are of benefit to all. Sawmills are not built in burned-over districts, trappers don't run their traplines through boules, and big game doesn't breed among blackened stumps.

The lumber industry adds $90,000,000 a year to Canada's national wealth; the pulp and paper industry, $165,000,000. trapping accounts for $10,500,000 more; and other forest products $25,000,000, while it is estimated that Canada's tourist trade amounts to $300,000,000 annually—a grand total of $590,500,000. And much of this vast sum depends directly upon the forests.

But forests fires destroy on an average over 1,716,000 acres of timberland annually which represent potential war materials for thousands of planes, ships, guns and equipment that should but doesn't go to our fighting men. When they go up in smoke instead they delay victory by slowing up Canada's war effort.

Controlling and suppressing forest fires, however, has become a vastly more difficult problem since the war began. Enlistment in the armed forces and employment in war industries have depleted the man power in many districts, making it impossible for the Forest Rangers to secure fire fighters quickly. In addition, wartime demands for lumber have resulted in huge areas of logging slash where fires burn fiercely and are difficult to controll.

Therefore, in common with the other provinces, Nova Scotia is calling upon her people to be forest-fire conscious this summer as never before. Everybody entering the woods is cautioned not to smoke while on the trail—not to flip lighted matches, cigar or cigarette butts away without stamping them out—not to build a campfire near inflammable material—nor leave it without dousing it with water until DEAD OUT—and not to burn brush or slash without a permit. These cautions are embodied in a publicity campaign which the Department of Lands and Forests is conducting for the next two months in Nova Scotia newspapers. See another page for opening announcement. The children, too, are being called upon to co-operate by joining the "Green Forests League", now being organized in every school of the Province. Will you also help in this work by constantly preaching fire prevention to all who enter the woods—reminding them that burned forests shelter no game or fish!

Honor Rolls

The Department of National Defence has prepared Honor Rolls which are now available for employers such as industrial plants, business firms, retail stores, service clubs, churches, organizations, associations, schools and other authorized groups. The Honor Rolls are done in full color and carry the Coat of Arms. They are printed in two sizes, one with spaces for twelve names and another with spaces for thirty-six.

How to Secure Them

The Honor Rolls can be secured by writing to Major M. P. Neely, Branch Recruiting Officer, Military District No. 6, Kentville, N. S. It is a most attractive form and there should be one framed and hung in every business office, industrial plant and other organizations from which men have gone out to serve their King and Country.

Major Neely requests that application for the rolls be made to him.

Clementsport Red Cross Auxillary

The Clementsport Auxillary continues its weekly meetings for work in spite of the shortage of materials from headquarters. Contributions of quilt tops and materials to make into garments for the victims of the bombed areas leave no shortage of work.

A meeting of all the members was called to organize the Drive for Funds. Rev. A. W. L. Smith was appointed Chairman and he with Capt. H. L. Rawding as Treasurer of Campaign and H. G. Potter as Secretary and Gilbert Moore did the collecting. Captain Rawding and Mr. Moore did most of the soliciting. Results so far have been satisfactory and it is hoped the objective of $85.00 will be reached. At the last business meeting the Auxillary Treasurer reported $109.00 in the bank and some $6.00 cash on hand and all bills paid.

Bridge parties held every second week provide funds for "Boxes for the Boys" and other special calls. The treasurer of this fund reports $21.91 on hand. Miss R. Sweeney contributed a beautifully pieced wool-fitted quilt the proceeds of the sale of which will add

SIR MALCOLM ROBERTSON BRITISH COUNCIL CHIEF

Sir Malcolm Robertson

PROPAGANDA comes back like a boomerang when it is blatant and while the methods of Dr. Goebbels may win temporary advantages, the British prefer to be more subtle. One of the most effective forces in spreading the gospel of British ideals has been the little advertised British Council which has organized the so-called British Institutes in countries such as Egypt, Turkey, Iraq, Palestine, Cyprus, Malta, Portugal and Colombia in South America. Classes in English have been given, films distributed, books and periodicals circulated, and even theatrical companies sent on tour. Sports directors have been supplied, for instance W. J. Bagget, who was appointed in 1938 Coach to the Galastaray Club in Istanbul. It has publications of its own such as "Great Britain and the East," a magazine which interprets Britain to the Oriental and incidentally promotes British trade. The Exhibit of British Art at the New York World's Fair which afterwards came to Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver was organized by the British Council. The late Lord Lloyd was a driving force in its early stages. Today the Chairman is Sir Malcolm Robertson, G.C.M.G., K.B.E., Conservative Member for Mitcham.

Sir Malcolm has had a long and distinguished diplomatic career. In 1927, when he was the first British Ambassador in Buenos Aires, he founded the Argentine Association of British Culture, thus anticipating one of the best-known and widespread forms of activity which was later to be developed by the British Council, a body created in 1934 for the purpose of making British life and thought better known abroad.

OBITUARY

Mrs. J. E. Woodworth

The people of Bear River were shocked on Thursday morning, May 28, to learn of the sudden passing of Bertha L. Woodworth, wife of Capt. J. E. Woodworth. While she was in her 83rd year, she was very active and took a keen interest in all her varied activities up to the time of her death. She was born at Young's Cove, Annapolis Co., and after graduating from school taught until she married J. E. Woodworth, January 14, 1880. They established a home in Litchfield and moved to Bear River in 1890. Mrs. Woodworth was a woman of wide sympathies and made many friends in all walks of life. She loved her home and family and gave herself unstintingly to making it a place where relatives and friends loved to come. The poor and needy always found a friend in her. She is survived by her husband; two sons, Elvin M. of Lynnfield Centre, Mass., Fred J. of Bear River; and nine daughters: Mrs. W. K. Tibert, of Fredericton; Mrs. R. D. Miller, of Carleton; Mrs. J. W. Redmond, of Kentville; Mrs. W. L. Morrell, of Fredericton; Mrs. J. W. Carter, of Saint John; Mrs. D. N. Anderson, Regina, Sask., and the Misses Flora, Ethel and Helen at home. There are also 26 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. W. R. Breed, of Lynn, Mass. With the exception of Mrs. Anderson, all the children were present at the funeral which was held from the home on Saturday, May 30. The service was conducted by Rev. G. D. Brydon, of the Baptist Church assisted by Miss Florence L. Bartlett, of the Advent Church at Clark's Harbor, who gave a very comforting and impressive message. Mrs. Woodworth was a member of the Bear River Advent Church. A large number of relatives and friends were present to pay their last respects. There were many floral tributes.

SURFACE, LIKE THIS..

"WHAT?" you say, "a road that's smooth and dustless costs no more than a road that's rough and dusty?"

"Certainly!" we answer, "That's what many highway engineers have found by adopting Calcium Chloride treatment. You see, Calcium Chloride absorbs moisture from the air and thus enables the binder soil to hold surface gravel securely in place. This saves the gravel which is otherwise ground up by traffic and blown away as dust. By cutting down gravel replacements and frequent dragging the Calcium Chloride pays for itself."

"So gravel road improvement by the Calcium Chloride method actually costs no more than ordinary maintenance without Calcium Chloride."

When highway engineers adopt this Calcium Chloride maintenance method they not only conserve public funds but also save farmers costly damage to roadside crops, lighten housework in nearby homes and make rural living healthier and far more comfortable.

Tires Last Longer on Smooth Surfaces

The abrasive action of loose gravel on rubber tires causes as much as 47 percent greater wear than on paved or stabilized surfaces. Sidewalls take almost as much punishment as the treads. Smooth, tightly-bound consolidated surfaces are easy on tires. Sidewalls are not exposed to abrasion.

WAR...

CANADA'S GREATEST INDUSTRY

Starting from scratch—without factories, without trained personnel, without blue-prints—Canada's scant twelve million people have built a tremendous armament industry.

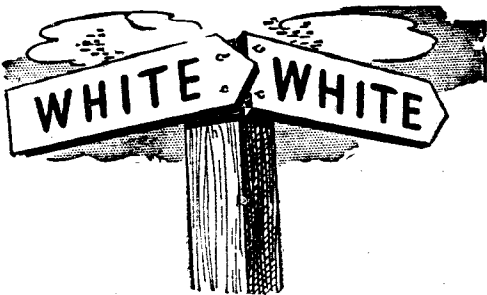

Guns, tanks, motorized vehicles, planes, ships, small arms, explosives—equipment of every kind—are today in mass production. We have created a navy of 400 ships. We have equipped fighting forces of 450,000 men. We have played the major role in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, one of the greatest schools for fighting airmen the world has ever seen.

Such in broad outline is Canada's proud record. Much more remains to be done. Still greater effort, still greater self-denial must be the solemn pledge of all till victory is won.

This advertisement is published as a contribution to the general knowledge of our country's war effort and as an inspiration through the days ahead. For reasons of security complete figures are not available. The facts presented however, are impressive evidence of the growing might of Canada's war machine.

Assisting in Sunday's program were several former members of the Digby Civic Band. These included Robert Weir, Ross Turnbull and Max Bailey who are now members of a military band, and Joseph Turnbull, now employed out of town.

Lawrence E. Shatford

Announcement is made by the Bank of Nova Scotia of the appointment of L. E. Shatford as Manager of the Bank's branch at Digby.

Mr. Shatford entered the Bank as Junior Clerk at Dartmouth and after serving at various branches was appointed Accountant at Halifax in 1929. In 1937 he became Assistant Manager at Charlottetown and in 1939 returned to Halifax as Assistant Manager.

Conducts Farewell Services

Incumbent of the Dundalk, Ontario, parish since November, 1940, Rev. E. M. Caldwell conducted farewell services on Sunday at his three charges—St. Mary's, Maxwell St. Paul's, Melancthon, and St. James', Dundalk. All told, commencing with a family communion service in St. James' Church in the morning, he conducted services during the day.

The subject of his farewell address in St. James' Church in the evening was: "Fearing for Christ in a Troubled Time." Three points were emphasized during the address: First, Christianity is naturally at home in a world such as this, as it was born amidst the ruins of a broken empire and a collapsed civilization. Secondly, we never need fear for Christ: the things we most naturally respond to are all bound up in Christ and no one else. Thirdly the things Christ stands for are steadily gaining ground if we have the faith which Emerson had to see "What the centuries say over against the hours."

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell and two daughters left for their new field at Gorrie on Monday. The parish includes churches at Gorrie, Wroxeter and Fordwich.—Dundalk Herald.

Nursing Sisters' Head Honored

The University of Western Ontario yesterday awarded its first honorary degree to a woman when the degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on Maj. Elizabeth Smellie, of Ottawa, matron-in-chief of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps' nursing sisters division.

Maj. Smellie, native of Port Arthur, Ontario, was praised by Dr. A. J. Slack, dean of the Faculty of Public Health, as another daughter of Ontario who won distinction in the national field.

Dr. Slack said Maj. Smellie enlisted in the Great War as a nursing sister and through ability and courage rose to high executive office. She was mentioned in dispatches in 1916 and 1917, and was awarded the Royal Red Cross, First Class. In 1934 she was appointed a Companion of the Order of the British Empire.

Miss Maude Hall is acting chief Superintendent of the V.O.N. for Canada during Miss Smellie's leave of absence to act as matron-in-chief of the R.C.A.M.C. nursing sisters division.

V. O. N. Membership Drive Is Underway

Although no official reports were given at Tuesday's regular meeting of the V. O. N., one gathers from remarks made by the collectors that exceptionally good response was made to the annual membership drive at its beginning. The same response is looked forward to as the drive continues.

In May the nurse made 275 visits, 162 were nursing visits. Miss Myers spent 15 hours in school, visited 35 pre-school children at home, made 24 home visits to infants while 43 children attended the Well Baby Clinic. Instructive T. B. visits numbered 34.

On May 14 and 15, Miss Myers assisted Dr. Eagles at a chest clinic and on the 20 assisted at administering to 40 their second toxoid treatment.

The Home Nursing Classes were completed in May and 32 of the class are awaiting the results of the examinations.

While Miss Myers has holiday leave for the month of July, the work will be carried on by Mrs. "Jack" Keen.

At the regular meeting on Tuesday the following donations were acknowledged: Cookies, Mrs. Fred Thibault; linen, Mrs. T. W. Hodgson; infant's clothing, Mrs. William Webber; children's clothing, Mrs. A. L. Ormiston; adults' clothing, Mrs. T. J. Harris and Mrs. Earle Anderson.

Men are needed for Active Service—what about YOU?

Feeling Like Suckers!

The following is an extract from a letter from one of our Digby boys, now overseas, and it tells in plain language what the boys over there think of the "go easy" attitude of the government:

"We have heard that the plebiscite turned out about as expected and are now waiting to hear what may come of it all. The boys are getting pretty fed up here—feeling too much as though they are the suckers of the country. I echo the sentiment. If they are going to do a job of it, do it. If industrial labor is so very important, so important as to be an excuse for doing any more than they now are, then put labor on the same basis as the forces. This idea of those back home filling the jobs of those over here and receiving many times the pay without any of the risk does not sit nice on our stomachs, especially when Canadian papers seem full of nothing else but the importance of the industrial worker. Any idea that the boys here are sitting on their backs and having a good time is just so much nonsense.

They are working much harder, going without many more things and being under many more restrictions, having a tougher time of it than any similar class at home. Add to this the fact that they are thousands of miles away from home and families, many from any friends or relatives, and that a lot of them have been so for over two years—and that they do not know if they will ever get back, and you get a sort of picture of what goes on within their minds. It's not nice and not fair."

Mrs. Theriault Christens Ship

Two minesweepers — the "Digby" and the "Truro"—were launched at an Eastern Canadian port last week, as the latest addition to Canada's growing navy.

Representatives of the fighting and merchant services of Canada and Britain were guests at the twin launching witnessed by Sir Eugene Fiset, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, and Lady Fiset.

The "Digby" slid into the water first, after being blessed by Canon Eugene Carrier. Mrs. E. J. Theriault, wife of the Mayor of Digby, smashed a bottle of wine against the bow of the ship as it slipped down the ways.

Fifteen minutes later the "Truro" was launched from a neighboring slip, after its baptism by Mrs. G. W. Wilson, wife of the acting Mayor of Truro, and its blessing by Dean A. H. Crowfoot.

Hon. Wilfred Hamel, Minister without portfolio, represented the Provincial Government of Quebec at the launching.

Receives Bachelor Of Arts Degree

At the recent commencement exercises of Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, Mass., Wilbur H. Mullen, son of Rev. Handley C. Mullen, of Hartland, N.B., graduated with honors, receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree. He is a licentiate of the Reformed Baptist denomination, and expects to make the gospel ministry his life's work.

A sister, Helen, and a brother, Vernon, were present at the graduation. For the past two years Miss Helen has been teaching in Eastern Nazarene College and the last year also taking advance work in Boston University, leading to an M. A. degree. Vernon has been taking college work at E. N. C.

Two Nova Scotia Fliers Missing

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hatfield, Tusket, have been advised that their son, Flight Sergeant Tracey G. H. Hatfield is listed as missing following air operations overseas.

A brother of Tracey, Jack Hatfield, who gave up his position in the Digby Branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, to enlist, has already given his life during this war. He was shot down while on patrol duty over the North Sea and later was accorded a military funeral in Germany.

One of the fliers who took part in last week's R.A.F. mass raids on Industrial Germany, Warrant Officer Donald George Campbell, R.C.A.F., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Campbell, Jr., of Weymouth North, has been reported missing on June 2.

The young airman, who had been flying a fighter plane since he went overseas in April, 1941, had participated in many raids on Germany and German-held territory and had been engaged in several "dog-fights" over Europe and the English Channel.

He won his wings at Durville, Ontario, after training at several stations in Canada and was immediately sent to Britain as a Sergeant-Pilot. Prior to the war he was on the staff of the Royal Bank of Canada and had served at several branches including Halifax, Antigonish, Clarke's Harbor and Weymouth.

During the First Great War his six uncles were with the Canadian Army in France, two of whom were killed in action at the front.

He applied for entry into the R.C.A.F. shortly after the outbreak of war but was not called in for training until 1940.

A few months after he arrived overseas he was promoted to Flight-Sergeant and recently stepped up to Warrant Officer. He was given high recognition in his coolness and courage shown in action against the enemy.

The cable received by his parents merely stated he was

99 Years Old Last Saturday

We wish to extend our felicitations and best wishes for many more happy days to come to one of Digby County's grand old ladies; Mrs. Albert Marshall, on her 99th birthday, June 6, 1942.

Born in the little village of Riverdale as Roulina Wagner, and married when 17 years of age to John W. Swift, she lived for some years in Centreville, during which time Mr. Swift was lost at sea.

Returning to her native village with her three children, Clarinda, Ellen, (both in U. S.) and Benjamin, deceased, she lived there until she married Albert Marshall, of South Range, seven years later.

Four children were born of this marriage: Edith (Mrs. Wm. Cossaboom) of Halifax; Burpee, of Mass.; Jesse, of Conway, and Hantford, of South Range.

For fifty years her married life was happily spent in South Range until Mr. Marshall's death. He lived to the grand old age of 91 and died on Oct. 7, 1935.

Since that time she has been tenderly cared for at the homes of her daughter and two sons who reside in N. S.

"Aunt Roey" as she is familiarly known by all, though crippled by rheumatism, still takes a great interest in world and home affairs, and can tell many interesting anecdotes of her early years in Digby County where she has spent all her life.

"reported missing as result of air operations on June 2, 1942".

Warrant Officer Campbell is one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Campbell, Jr. Another son, Lieut. Colin Campbell is serving with the Royal Canadian Navy, and the third, John D., of the staff of Royal Trust Company, Halifax, is with the R.C.M.P. reserve force. He was a former captain in the Princess Louise Fusiliers.

About This and That

Has Canada gone entirely "booze crazy"? It looks very much like it! We read protests in all the papers from Halifax to Vancouver—but these protests roll off the backs of our politicians just as water rolls off a duck's back. The Richmond Record of last week contained the last protest we read. It stated that the local coastal steamers could not keep up with the accumulating piles of freight, but no matter what had to be left behind there was always room for booze.

It's high time that we commenced to look at this matter seriously, and especially in the light of the many restrictions now imposed upon us:

Sugar is rationed and the general public is allowed half a pound per week per person—the booze manufacturer gets all he wants.

Bottles are rationed to the milk man who supply the sick and children with that very necessary article—the booze manufacturer gets all he needs.

Space is required on ships and trains for munitions and war supplies—but necessary tanks and guns are left behind and the space filled up with booze. Look at Hong Kong, with less than 300 machine guns to defend it—but 600,000 bottles of whiskey alone had to be destroyed before the Japs took over. Space had been found to ship the booze, but as for munitions—oh! the soldier doesn't need that stuff!

Our troops have made two major advances in Libya and have had to retreat twice because of lack of supplies. Yet fifty train loads of beer had been sent from Canada alone to that field. Those fifty trains could have carried a lot of war material. What in heaven's name are our soldiers supposed to use for weapons? Must they first take the enemy prisoner and then drown him in beer, or are they supposed to drink the beer and use the empty bottles as clubs? No wonder our men have had to retreat and that we have lost so much territory to the enemy! Battles can't be won while "cocktail parties" are being pulled off while the enemy takes over as in Singapore and Hong Kong or when fifty train loads of beer are sent to one front instead of fifty train loads of munitions.

Even in our little town, grocers and other merchants are complaining that they are having trouble in getting goods on account of lack of cargo and freight space, but we noticed the local rum shop getting in a full stock of beer a few days ago.

When are we going to wake up and realize that there's a war on?

Fight for Something

"How goes the battle?" That was the oft-repeated question in olden times when messengers brought back information as to the progress of armed forces engaged in conflict. The same question is asked in our minds today, as we eagerly read the news from the present war's far-flung battlefronts.

We are all engaged, directly or indirectly, in the war which has the centre of the world's stage. Moreover, life is one long struggle, one endless conflict against foes that upset the peace of the world and the happiness and welfare of our individual lives.

We are all fighters, or ought to be. We have to fight if we are to make progress, collectively or individually. We must fight, fight endlessly, unceasingly, bitterly and constructively. To the end of life's chapter we must fight, and be ashamed if we are not helping others to fight.

But how are we fighting? Are we fighting against something, or for something? That is the question that deserves the best answer that we can give, and in terms of intelligent effort and heartfelt devotion, for the true battle of life is the matter of conscience. It is an easier thing to fight against something than it is to fight for something.

"How goes the battle?" Apply the question to the international war now being waged. Are we merely fighting three nations—militarism, dictatorships, concentration camps, cruelty, oppression of the innocent? Or are we fighting for peace, for justice, for a better world to live in? Are we resolved to win the war, or win the peace of the world? Heaven pity us if we stop short of the latter objective.

Fight, fight hard, but for goodness' sake, and for your own life's sake, fight for something. Fight evil habits—intemperance, looseness of morals, an unruly temper, procrastination, lack of stability, laziness and all the rest of the category. The list may be a long one, but keep up the fight, not merely to conquer these personal foes, but for the sake of character, honor, the clean life, prestige, self-respect, and to win and retain the respect of others.

Contempt For Nazis

Here's how Europe shows its contempt for the nazis.

British bombs were dropped on a section of Norway, and newspapers were permitted to print: "Only some cows were hit" One editor added this line: "The cows burned for four days." His newspaper plant was closed by the authorities.

In Denmark a merchant advertised: "Fine mackerel; fat as Goering." He was fined. Then he put up this sign: "Fine mackerel; fat as before."

Save Beauty Gadgets For Future Refills

Cherish the lipstick containers you now have on hand, girls! These and other such fancy devices as vanities, mascara cases, rouge and powder compacts are going to be mighty scarce. So are cold cream jars and bottles with metal and plastic tops.

The supply of most cosmetics themselves will probably be adequate if women use no more than they need, but the necessity for use of nearly all kinds of metals in the war effort requires that jars be made only with paper, or other non-permanent lids. Old containers that can be used over and over again for refills are now among the "musts" on the personal salvage list.

Canadian Pacific Air Lines Girls Keep Trainers Flying

CANADIAN PACIFIC AIR LINES are making a notable contribution to Canada's war effort in the elementary training and engine overhaul fields. The young ladies shown above are working long and hard in the production end of the flying game and their trained efforts are of real importance in the task of blowing Hitler and Hirohito off the map.

In shops located at strategic points throughout the Dominion, girls, who were once stenographers, sales girls and students, are now busily engaged under the Canadian Pacific Air Lines' banner. Picture on the left shows Miss Ina Lane putting all the energy of her twenty years into doing her bit to back up her brother, Trooper Westley Lane, who is overseas with the Fort Garry Horse. With her is Miss Muriel Carr, also twenty, and both of them are sanding the wing structure of a trainer plane. The upper right hand picture shows Miss Muriel Stevenson, who confesses that she would rather assemble instrument panels as a contribution to the cause than sell dry goods in a department store. Her heart is in the work and the panels go together with a will. The lower right picture shows Miss Florence Nordal in a Canadian Pacific Air Lines operated engine overhaul plant. She is testing valve springs tension, a far-cry from her old job of clerk in a country creamery.

All the girls in this industry have one motto and it is to keep the training planes flying.

This is the kind of spirit that Hitler cannot match and is one of the factors which will eventually soundly defeat him.

The annual High School closing Exercises will be held in Community Hall on Friday evening, June 19, at 8 p. m. The Common School closing will be in the Capitol Theatre, Tuesday, June 30 at 10.30 a.m.

Leland MacDormand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry MacDormand, Westport, graduated from Acadia University at the recent convocation. He is now pastor of the United Baptist Churches of the Weymouth group.

The service in the United Church on Sunday evening, in the absence of the pastor, who was attending Conference, was taken by the Ea-Gi Club and Brotherhood, who had as guest singers, the male quartet of the Baptist church. The address—a well thought out talk on "Christian Citizenship"—was given by Vincent Snow.

There will be public showing of Domestic Science and Manual Training exhibits in Community Hall, Monday, June 15 at 8 p.m. All exhibits will be the work of the pupils of grades VII, VIII, IX, X and XI, Digby Academy, and are well worth seeing. Domestic Science work is under the supervision of Miss Ruth Campbell, while Meryl Stonehouse is Manual Training Instructor.

In the recent Red Cross Drive the Digby Branch and its auxiliaries were given an objective of $1625—but they raised $1914.72. This takes in the following districts: Doucetteville, Rossway, Little River, Hill Grove and Acaciaville Barton and Brighton; Centreville, Culloden, Bay View, Marshalltown, Conway and a part of Mount Pleasant. We have not the figures for the rest of the county as they are not all in yet, but the returns so far show that the country has gone well over the top.

The Annual Summer Tea and Sale of the Digby Baptist Church will be held Thursday, July 9.

Whitfield Outhouse, 58, native of Tiverton, a cook on the tugboat Richmond now undergoing repairs at Liverpool, was removed Tuesday by Wright and Chandler ambulance to Dawson Memorial Hospital, Bridgewater, suffering from the effects of a paralytic stroke. Mr. Outhouse was seized with the illness while visiting friends at Milton, Queens county, and was still in an unconscious condition when he was taken to the hospital. He is understood to be a widower without a family.

Culloden C. G. I. T. Entertained

"The Middy Maids" Canadian Girls in Training, of Culloden, conducted their initiation ceremony under the direction of their leader, Elizabeth McCullough, at the morning service in Zion United church, Sandy Cove, June 7. The theme of the service centred around the four-fold plan of the C. G. I. T. purpose. "Cherish Health, Seek Truth, Know God, Serve Others." A trio, "Tell me the Stories of Jesus," was sung by Mary Small, Elsie and Ruth Stark. Another anthem, "God Will Take Care of You" was sung by the group. Rev. Byron Cobham, of the Zion Baptist church, delivered the message.

Immediately after the service, the girls proceeded to "Hilcote Farm" where they were guests of Mrs. A. N. Eldridge, who for many years has been leader of the C.G.I.T. and who has always been especially interested in young people's work. After serving lunch and an inspiring singing, Aldythe Ross, on behalf of the leader and the group, extended a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Eldridge. Other guests included Gwendolyn Handspiker, Annie Hersey, Culloden; and Clara Gidney, Florence Jeffrey, Sandy Cove, former members of the Sandy Cove C. G. I. T. Group.

About Diet

If everyone would pay attention to his diet—and that means good, solid food and not pills—it would lead to a healthy nation. And the health of the nation may be the deciding factor in the war, so Dr. F. F. Tisdale, of the Hospital for Sick Children told the Board of Trade Club, of Toronto recently.

"Canadians with the richest of food supplies do not eat the right foods and the result is that about one-third of the population is undernourished," he declared. A Toronto survey among families in the $1,500, $400-a-year class showed marked deficiency of vitamins B1 and C in the general diet.

"There are 34 food substances need for a good diet" Dr. Tisdall declared. "If any of those are lacking resistance to disease is not what it should be."

Here's a normal diet that contains nearly all you'll want: A pint of milk, an egg or two, meat, vegetables, raw fruits and whole grain cereals. In the winter concentrated vitamin D should be added. "Lots of food can go down the kitchen sink," Dr. Tisdall observed. He said spinach water contains the greatest amount of the valuable elements of spinach. Potatoes should be boiled no longer than 14 minutes. The deadline for caul-

Don't Leave Dog In a Closed Car

Did you ever see a dog shut up inside a closed automobile on a hot summer day? It's hard to believe that anyone could be so thoughtless and cruel to an animal, especially one which has always been considered man's best friend.

Yet it does happen.

An animal locked up in a closed car really suffers agonies from the terrific heat within. Dogs have been known to die from the heat generated inside a closed car parked in the sun.

If you ever leave your dog in the car during the hot months, ask whoever is driving the car to park in the shade, and always leave the windows open enough so that the dog will get a good cross draft of cool air. And try to encourage the other folks in your community to do the same.

There are people too, even well-meaning folks, who will advise using gasoline to rid your dog of fleas. True, gasoline may kill the fleas, but the chances are that it will also burn your dog so badly that it will finish him too. So don't use gasoline on your pet. There are plenty of good flea powders on the market which will safely and efficiently rid the dog of these insects.

No Sugar Needed To Can Rhubarb

There are various year-round ways of stretching the sugar ration, at the same time keeping monotony out of the war-time menu.

Rhubarb, now at its tender-best, may be caned without sugar, and in this form will take less to sweeten when used in puddings and pies next winter.

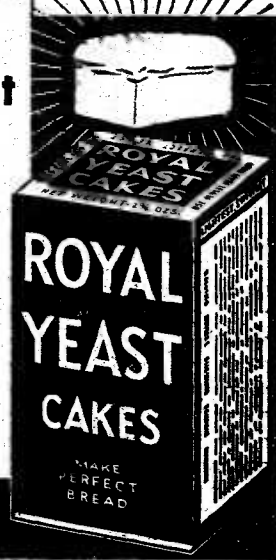

Here is the method recommended by the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture:

Wash rhubarb thoroughly. Drain. Cut stalks in one-inch pieces. Do not peel. Place in preserving kettle, covering with close-fitting lid. Set over low heat, or in the oven, until sufficient juice is extracted to cover the rhubarb, which takes about 20 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars, adjust rubbers and tops. Partially seal. Sterilize in a water bath for 16 minutes, or in the oven 20 minutes at 250F., then seal.

Waterfalls In The National Parks

From the earliest days of exploration in Canada, waterfalls have occupied a prominent place in the annals of our intrepid path-finders. Some of these falls are famous on account of their volume and impressive grandeur; some, on account of their scenic beauty and tremendous height; some, on account of their legendary and historic associations, and others, because of the unique rock formations over which they hurl their waters in a succession of leaping, foaming, wild cataracts. Much has been written about the potential and developed water power of many of these falls and the part they play in the industrial life of Canada, but much still remains to be written of their artistic and inspirational value to society and to the tourist industry of Canada.

In the great wealth of natural phenomena which make Canada's National Parks the playgrounds of millions of people, waterfalls have a place of special importance. This is particularly true of the national parks in the mountains of Alberta and British Columbia.

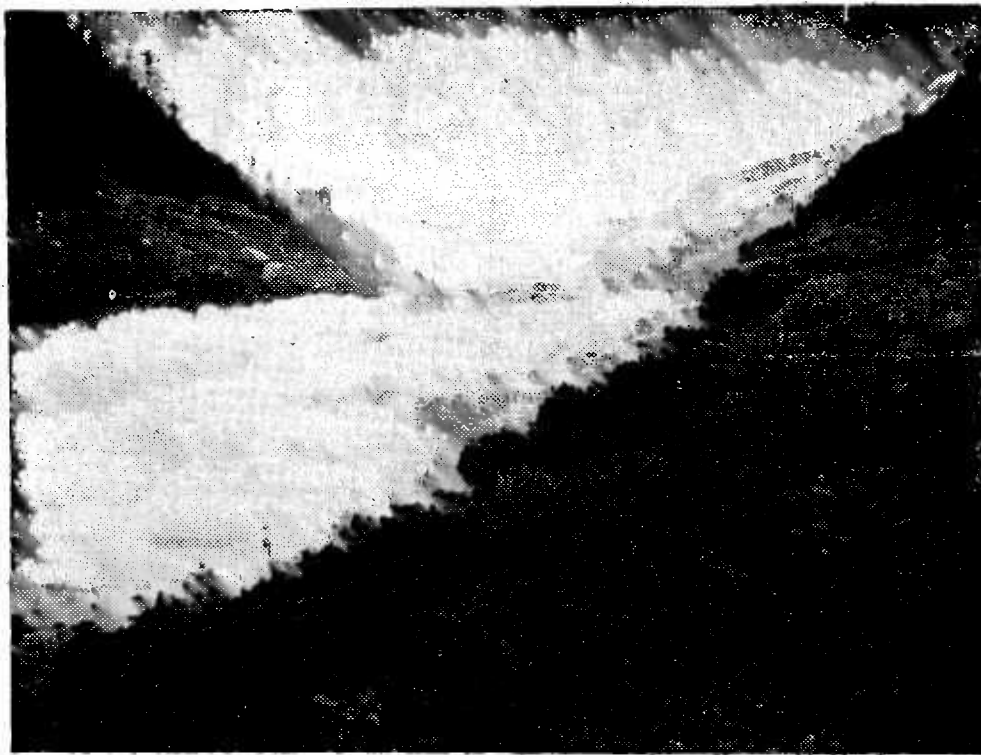

Picture, for instance, the Twin Falls in Yoho National Park pouring seemingly out of the blue sky in two great cascades, dropping 600 feet onto the floor of the Yoho Valley. The waters of these spectacular falls have their source in the Yoho, Wapta, and other glaciers on the surrounding mountain. A picturesque trail winds up the Yoho Valley to the Twin Falls and on to Yoho Glacier.

Lower down the Yoho Valley, Takakkaw Falls leaps over a massive limestone cliff tumbling in a glorious curtain of green waters and foaming spray down to the Yoho River 1500 feet below. This is the highest cataract on the North American continent, and one of the most impressive sights in the National Parks of Canada.

There are numerous waterfalls in Banff National Park but perhaps one of the most interesting is the Giant Steps in Paradise Valley. According to Indian legend, these Steps formed the ancient staircase Upper Air who came down to carry mortals away to their heavenly abode, somewhere above the top of Horseshoe Glacier. The Wastach (Indian word for beautiful) River leaps over these immense blocks of stone and, when viewed from some angles, gives the impression of a huge natural staircase leading up the mountain. The coloring is almost unbelievable when the sun shines on the spray formed by this rushing torrent.

Athabaska Falls, besides being one of the scenic highlights in Jasper Park, conjures up memories of early days in the region when David Thompson and other distinguished explorers were blazing new trails along the Athabaska Valley and over the Athabaska Pass to the "Western" ocean. The Athabaska River, which has its source in the great Columbia Ice-field, gathers tremendous volume from its many tributaries before tumbling over the Athabaska Falls into a gorge 80 ft. deep. The main body of the river, striking the walls of the canyon with terrific force, is hurled back into midstream where it boils, churns, seethes and tosses, swirling in great whirlpools, flinging up clouds of spray. The scene is wildly beautiful with a setting of alpine grandeur that is breath-taking.

At Cameron Falls in Waterton Lakes National Park one of the most unique rock formations in the region is exposed. The rocks of this park occur in three broad folds which trend in a northwesterly direction. The central fold is an upward arch with axis conforming to the lower part of Cameron Brook. Erosion along the crest of this fold has exposed at Cameron Falls some of the oldest rocks to be observed anywhere in the Canadian Rockies. Here, horizontal beds of dolomitic rock have been tilted sharply upward so that the falls pour tumultuously over this sharp diagonal, a great part of its mass sliding to the lower western end before tumbling onto the rocks below.

These are but a few examples of the many waterfalls which add colour and charm to Canada's National Parks and make a holiday in these superb playgrounds a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

War Involves People Of Many Religions

Involved in the war are peoples of virtually every religious conviction—7000,000,000 Christians, 350,000,000 Confucians and Taoists, 230,000,000 Hindus, 210,000,000 Mohammedans and 150,000,000 Buddhists. Efforts have been put forth to make this a "crusade" war, but none has succeeded.

The Christians are divided. In occupied countries—in Germany too—the Christian church resists axis domination. In Norway, the clergy walked out on the Nazi chief Quisling. In the invasion of the Indies reports said German "missionaries" awaited Japanese the arrival of invaders.

The Confucians and Taoists are mostly Chinese, sympathizing with the United Nations and serving under Chiang Kaishek, a Methodist. Mussolini's dream of a Mediterranean empire and of being "protector of Islam" are both complete flops.

War now confronts India's Hindus and Buddhists. Buddhism is only one of the two major religions of Japan—Shinto is the other—and many reports say the warriors of Nippon have been led by Buddhist priests acting as fifth columnists in Malaya, Burma and India. And it may not have been merely strategy that directed Japan's first attack on India against Ceylon, ancient seat of Buddhism.

Thus no religion has found in this war a cause for the fervor that impelled such figures as Charlemagne, Joan of Arc, Richard the Lion-Hearted and Oliver Cromwell to holy causes.

All the great faiths of Asia—Shintoism, Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism and Taoism—all older than Christianity, are in effect, philosophies. The Japanese have nationalized both Shintoism and Buddhism, while in India Hinduism is fundamentally an explanation of creation with its pattern of ethics, society and race.

In China Confucius evolved a philosophy of the duties of man. Mohammed built upon Judaism and Christianity a rigid moral code, plus the idea of fate and pre-ordination.

Russian Farms and Factories

But P. Leslie Fmelio
Men who thought the Russian Bear was still hibernating have been amazed at the awakening and now realize that the might of Russia is much more than weight of man-power. It is the result of the application of science in a tremendous development of the country's industries. Science in the Soviet has been applied assiduously to the arts of both peace and war, as recent events have demonstrated so forcibly.

It is perhaps not surprising that recognition of Russian achievement came so late, seeing that it is all a development of the past two decades. Faced by stern necessity, her leaders organized and mechanized agriculture, established research in plant and animal husbandry and dealt fundamentally and exhaustively with the problems of soil fertility.

The Soviet in the early stages availed itself of the technical knowledge possessed by scientists of other lands, but when some of these returned later they found the Russians a step ahead of them. So remarkably rapid has been the progress made by Russian scientists in the study of agricultural problems that in some respects they now lead the world. In plant and animal breeding and nutrition and in soil science no nation has advanced farther and few so far.

Couch-grass in Canada is a troublesome weed. The Russians crossed it with wheat and obtained a perennial wheat from one sowing of which seven crops can be taken. Examples of Soviet progress in other fields are the extraction of gas from oil, right in the mine, and the preparation of liquid air by a new process which reduces the cost from approximately $1.50 to less than 20 cents a pint. Many more examples of Russian efficiency could be cited to prove the scientific progress made in modern times. She tackled her agricultural problems first, building on that firm foundation the structure that commands the respect of all nations.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

TAKE CARE OF YOUR CAMERA

Don't take the chance of missing fine snapshots like this because of a camera in need of repair. Have your camera put in good shape now, and make it a practice to keep it that way.

KEEPING his camera in good condition is always one of the prime jobs facing every photographer. But it's doubly important now. For just as there is a scarcity of so many other new goods, there is a scarcity in some types of new cameras. And that means we've all got to take care of our present cameras and make them serve us as long as we possibly can.

Keeping a camera operating smoothly isn't difficult if you'll make a habit of taking care of it. One of the greatest enemies of any camera is dirt, so clean your camera regularly, inside and out. For that you'll find a soft brush a big help, or you can actually blow the dirt out with a small rubber syringe—the kind the druggist sells. Clean the lens with soft cosmetic lens tissues, or the kind that camera shops sell for the purpose, or if you prefer you can use a soft, clean lintless cloth. Don't ever try to take the lens apart—you may damage it seriously.

Speaking of "don'ts" in camera care, don't try to oil or grease any part of the camera. It doesn't need it. Next, don't ever try to force your camera if it fails to operate properly; or if it is broken, don't try to repair it yourself. Those two items are among the principal causes of hopelessly damaged cameras. If your camera is badly stuck, or needs repair, by all means take it to your dealer, and let him place it in the hands of a competent camera mechanic. And don't expose your camera to the effects of sun, rain, and sand.

Finally, it's a wise plan to send any good camera back to the manufacturer for cleaning and incidental repairs at least once every two years. And, keep it in its case always—for better protection. Take care of your camera and it will never fail you when you're set to make fine snapshots like this week's illustration.

Artificial Breeding Policy Approved.

A joint plan governing support to Nova Scotia artificial breeding units has been agreed upon by the Provincial and Dominion Departments of Agriculture. These units will be organized by the county farmers' associations where not less than 500 cows are definitely listed within a ten-mile radius of the operating centre. The provincial department of agriculture will assist the organizations by a grant to aid in the purchase of equipment and through the regular grants to agricultural societies functioning in the areas covered by the breeding unit. The Dominion department of agriculture will assist by loaning bulls, local committees being appointed to make recommendations for the selection of these animals. It is hoped that through these units increased production will be secured by definite line-breeding policies from sires of high producing strains with possibilities in the field of line breeding that would not be possible where animals are purchased by individuals.

The number of cows and the area mentioned above of course are only starting points and it is hoped that the units will cover a very much larger territory and be able to help in the improvement of a great many herds. An active unit has been successfully operating in Yarmouth county for some time past.

Report Excellent Growing Month

Reports received from government weather bureaus at Truro, Kentville, Nappan indicate that May was an excellent growing month, being warmer than average and with less rainfall.

Rainfall at the college station at Truro amounted to 1.93 inches and fell on twelve days. This was light compared with 4.11 inches for May last year and 2.84 inches for the average over a 12-year period. The four months, February to May, inclusive, this year, had a precipitation of 8.65 inches, which was somewhat low when compared with 11.25 inches for the average of the 32-year period, and 12.76 for the corresponding four months of last year.

The report from Nappan states May was phenomenally warm, about 3.35 degrees above the 33-year average. Precipitation was below average, 1.95 inches as compared with 2.45 inches, the average for the past 34 years. Sunshine was also low, 164 hours, as compared with the 30-year average of 187 hours. There was a good deal of fog and cloudy weather.

Kentville reported a mean average temperature for May of 54.23 degrees and precipitation of 2.07 inches. There were 161.3 hours of sunshine and two days on which there was no sunshine.

Farm Work Goes Ahead.

The extension department at Truro reports that farm work during May went ahead very rapidly with practically no lost time. As a result, in spite of shortage of help, a big crop has been seeded. In fact it is probably the largest ever put in in the province. The soil worked up well and crops have gone in in excellent shape. With an early season and difficulty in obtaining fertilizer many were held up on this account. There has been a heavy increase in the amount of fertilizer sold indicating a definite increase in crop acreage, greater use on pastures, and return on the part of apple growers to nearer normal use.

Pastures are excellent, while growth in hay fields is good. Clover is showing up exceptionally well. Grain is already showing, weather being excellent for its growth. There is a very definite increase in interest in gardening. Many are turning their attention to raising more of their own vegetables.

The report from the government experimental station at Nappan says that cultivation on the land was started on April 28 and seeding on April 30, the third earliest season on record at the farm, but this season has differed from most other early seasons in that throughout the entire month of May there was no really bad weather to hold up farming operations. The first fifteen days were ideal for farm work. A heavy frost occurred in several sections of Cumberland county the night of June 1. In the Oxford district garden crops were damaged considerably. It is a little too early to tell how much damage was done to the strawberry crop.

Arrange for Field Day

The Central Nova Scotia Shorthorn Club and Middle Stewiacke Calf Club made arrangements for a field day at Middle Stewiacke on June 26, at a meeting held in the Dominion Department of Agriculture offices, Truro, on May 30. A cattle committee was appointed as follows: Perley McCabe, Greenfield; Percy Stevens, Brentwood; A.J. Coleman, Onslow; Stanley Dickie, Middle Stewiacke; Lloyd Johnston, Upper Stewiacke; George S. Dickie, Musquodoboit. Horatio Bates was appointed chairman of the refreshment committee, and Burton Fisher, chairman of grounds committee, each with power to add to his committee.

Cows Bringing Good Prices

Cows are being sold at prices ranging from $75 to $110 for grades, corresponding prices for heifers and purebreds. C. E. Binkley & Son, of Waterdown, Ontario, have purchased about 75 head, mostly heifers; while George Pearson, also of Waterdown, has purchased a carload of cows, including some purebred Ayrshires from Fisher Hatch. of Alma, and Mount Cameron, Antigonish. Philip Simons, of Needham, Mass., has purchased a good carload of cows in Colchester, Hants and Halifax counties.

New Society Formed.

Interest in the agricultural societies continues to develop. Last week a society was formed at South Cove, Victoria County, with the following officers: President, A. N. MacDonald, South Cove; Vice-President, Murdock MacInnis, Washabuck Bridge; Secretary-Treasurer, A. N. MacIver, of South Cove. Eight societies have already been formed this year, bringing the total to 345.

Egg Production Nears Peak

Egg production is about at its peak now and prices will probably advance very shortly, stated J. P. Landry, provincial poultry husbandman. Those who plan to preserve some eggs should keep in mind that they can get them now more conveniently and more economically than later on. Water glass and stoneware crocks are recommended by the poultry husbandman as the best preservative. A pamphlet, "Preserving Eggs", may be obtained by application to the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, Truro.

Poultry Field Days To Be Held

According to C. E. Benoit, provincial poultry promoter, plans are being made to hold a number of poultry field days throughout the province, as follows: Lawrencetown, June 18; Kentville, June 19; Truro, June 22; Antigonish, June 23; Pictou, June 24; Cumberland county, June 25.

Arrangements are made for two outstanding poultry scientists to attend and address these meetings. They are Dr. W. R. Graham, former head of poultry department, Ontario Agricultural College, and Dr. Sterling Munro, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Dr. Graham is recognized as one of the keenest agricultural scientists, and one of the best poultry husbandmen. Dr. Munro is a poultry geneticist, and an outstanding man on poultry breeding problems. These two men will be in a position to give valuable information to poultrymen attending these field days. Besides these lectures, discussions and demonstrations on different poultry topics will be given.

More Field Days Scheduled

Breeders faced with the problems of keeping up their standards and also of keeping down travelling expenses are planning, in a number of cases this year, to make their field days afternoon or evening events rather than all-day affairs.

The Maritime Hereford breeders are gathering at the farm of C. C. Barteaux, Clarence, Annapolis county, on June 23, Lt. Col. Birdsell, president of the Canadian Hereford Association, will do the judging. Breeders are planning to take to this field a number of bulls, all tested and ready for purchasers, the idea being to cut down and save on transportation costs. The day's program will include an ox pull.

Another field day that bids fair to attract much interest is that of the Western Nova Scotia Shorthorn Club scheduled for June 23. Further details will be announced later.

C. F. Bailey, of the National Beef Cattle Committee, who recently made a survey of the beef situation in British Columbia, expects to attend both of these events and give a report of the findings of the beef committee. Mr. Bailey also plans to attend the Shorthorn field day at Middle Stewiacke, June 26.

In all affairs pertaining to Red Cross work let us keep up the same 100% and over amount of freely given interest and work, the course of things to come is not yet to be seen clearly, but it looks to many people as if there may be grave need of plentiful supplies of all kinds before the year of 1942 has been finished. One of the recent visitors in Bear River exclaimed about the constant succession of lovely bloom to be seen here,—perhaps the eyes of the residents are often blind to the springtime beauty of leaf and blossom, but one must be blind indeed not to stand and openly admire the red hawthorne in bloom across the street from the Royal Bank Building,—the bridal wreath in all its delicate beauty, these having followed close behind the cherry, pear and apple blossoms. Indeed it is no wonder that artists choose so often to sketch this lovely little village, nestled in the cup of the hills, to double the breathtaking with the river, especially at high tide, acting as a mirror view. Even the gas restrictions will not prevent people from motoring up the River Road and out through to Deep Brook, knowing that there is no short drive quite so beautiful and worth while. Sunset is a lovely time to take this little run—and one can store up memories to make the rest of the evening seem very short.

Scores Risk Death To Read Newspaper

If you knew that the price of reading this newspaper, if you were caught by a policeman, was death—would you read it?

That is the price thousands of readers of tiny news sheets in Belgium, Holland, Norway, France, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia and Greece gladly risk paying daily.

That is the reward scores of men have risked and often received for printing these news sheets in hidden cellars by candlelight.

All of Hitler's gestapo has failed to stifle the underground free press in German-occupied Europe; copies come out irregularly, but they come out; if the editor and his staff are shot, others take their places.

The most famous of these is the revived "La Libre Belgique"—which Kaiser Wilhelm sought for four years to drown in editorial blood.

Editor after editor was found and shot during 1914-1917 by the German military intelligence, but before one editor's blood was dry on some execution spot the ink was wet on some new issue of "La Libre Belgique" in some dingy loft or cellar in Belgium.

After months of painstaking of the "entire staff"—so described by the German military intelligence—was arrested and condemned to death. After the military governor had watched the execution he stepped back into his office—and found, neatly folded on a corner of his desk, a new issue of "La Libre Belgique". The agents had missed arresting the editor's wife.

Watch Your Matches!

HERE is a close-up of a lighted match thoughtlessly tossed away by a careless fisherman. It has fallen into a mass of dry inflammable pine needles, leaves and brush—ready to flare into a forest fire with the first wind that comes up. In this way thousands of acres of timberland are destroyed every year, representing vast quantities of potential war materials going up in smoke.

A good woodsman is always a careful smoker. He breaks his match in two to make sure that it is completely out before he throws it away, and stamps out every spark in cigar and cigarette butts and pipe heels.

But there's something else wrong with this picture. No person should smoke while on the trail! Infraction of this imperative rule is heavily penalized by law... Be a good sport. Remember that burned forests shelter no fish or game.

Mr. Connell, manager of the Weymouth Branch of the Royal Bank of Canada is being transferred to Lawrencetown and the manager there is taking his place in Weymouth. Mr. Connell has been a popular resident here for six years and with his son, Peter, and daughter, Betty, will be greatly missed in the community.

The blackout test, Thursday night was not a success at Weymouth itself. No message came through owing to a misunderstanding at the Telephone exchange. At Weymouth North the message was ten minutes late and though wardens got around their districts it was of little use as the street lights which should have been put out from Weymouth shone through the entire period. Wardens consequently got together and planned a better working system for future occasions.

Miss Kathleen FitzGerald, of Halifax, formerly of this place, spent a recent week end at "Camp Joycliff", in Hubbards. Miss FitzGerald also visited Bridgewater before returning to the city. She spent the week end at her home here.

Farmers Advise Pasture Shortage

Possibilities of an early dry up of pastures this year are predicted by authorities, and farmers are advised to plan accordingly, states J.E. MacIntyre, agricultural agent for the Canadian National Railways.

Preparation of a small field about mid June on the basis of one acre for every five or six cows, to be fertilized and limed if necessary and seeded down with from two to two and one-half bushels of oats, is recommended. In from thirty to forty days, when the oats are about one foot to fifteen inches high, this can be used as a supplementary pasture.

The following procedure should be followed in grazing: Turn the cows into these oats for a short feed for the first day, a half hour or so, and gradually increase the stay to an hour or so, moving them back to the regular pasture for the rest of the day. Do not let them fill up and lie down as much good feed would be spoiled. In this way the cows get filled up, fill keep up their milk flow at low cost of feeding, and the acre will tide six cows over for about two weeks or until the rested pastures get a chance to provide more feed. Tramping of the earth by the cows will not injure the new seeding of grass, on the contrary it will prove beneficial.

This is not an experiment. Mr. MacIntyre said, and it has been amply proven to be a most practical way to provide supplementary feed in the Maritimes when it is most needed and at a minimum cost. Besides it will help to keep up the flow of milk and butterfat so badly needed in our war effort.

Food For Farms On Land and Sea

By B. Leslie Emslie

Before Britannia began to rule the waves and conduct her commerce upon the seven seas other adventurous mariners long ere the days of Columbus had trimmed their sails and braved the billows on voyages of discovery to other lands. The sagas of Scandinavia, both legendary and actual, record the daring exploits of these seafaring peoples, notably the excursions of Leif Ericsson, son of Eric the Red, who is believed to have landed on the eastern shores of Canada in the year 1000 A.D.

That love of adventure and spirit of the old Vikings still lives and burns in the hearts of these northern folk, though now a fettered race, is shown by the following authentic tale, a modern saga of the sea: In this year of grace, 1942, there steamed unheralded into a Scottish port a vessel, flying a friendly flag, laden with a cargo of hides and butter from South America. The ship was chartered for a German port, but a slight error in navigation had been made. At the outset and during the greater part of the voyage the ship was commanded by Nazi officers. One day when these were dining and wining, the Scandinavian

CHIROPRACTIC

Is nature's way of curing diseases. Your spine controls the health of your body. All tissues and organ receives life giving impulses from nerves leading from your spine. If your spine should become out of line and exert pressure upon the nerves as they branch through the openings at the side of the spine then disease will manifest itself in the organ or tissue that depends upon that particular nerve for its impulses or nerves energy. What has happened? The Power has been shut off, consequently there is a lack of circulation and elimination. Congestion and finally inflammation occurs resulting in destruction of tissue. This rule applies to any organ or tissue of the body. The Chiropractor aligns the spine restoring the nerve's energy and health is the result. It is ignorance to condemn anything without first making an investigation. Spencer says there is a principle which is a bar against all information which is proof against all argument, and which is certain to keep a person in everlasting ignorance, that principle is condemnation without investigation. How true. Consultation free.

Dr. A. McDonald, D. C., Practising at Scotia Hotel, Digby, every Tuesday from 1 to 7 p.m., calling also at Weymouth by appointment. (adv.)

The arrival of this butter boat, although not so publicly acclaimed, caused as great a sensation as did the arrival in Liverpool of the big cheese from Canada in 1893. This huge cheese was made in a factory at Perth, Ont., and exhibited at the Chicago fair where it proved one of the chief attractions. It was 6 feet high, 28 feet in diameter and weighed 11 tons. Milk equivalent to the output of 10,000 cows for one day went into its manufacture.

Cheese is the most concentrated of our dairy products. That is why Canada has undertaken to ship to Britain this year 125 million pounds of cheese. Shortage of shipping space precludes the export of butter to Britain, but evaporated milk is being sent in increasing quantities. Canada has a contract to supply Britain with 600 million pounds of bacon in 1942 and 23 million dozen eggs, both fresh and dried, this spring. It is expected that the total shipment of eggs for the year will amount to 35 million dozen.

This is a big order. That is why the Dominion Government decided to grant farmers a subsidy on fertilizers used for the crops which go into the production of these

Will Digby Sleep Thro' Dominion Day?

We haven't heard of any movement in Digby to prepare for a fitting celebration on Dominion Day, Wednesday, July 1.

In general observance throughout Canada, Dominion Day has taken second place only to Christmas festivities as a national holiday, and it would seem to be our duty, as citizens of a live town, to give special significance right now to the meaning of Dominion Day. It should not be considered a day only for the closing of stores. Patriotic demonstrations are necessary in the maintenance of public morale, and Digby should not sleep through a day of such vital importance.

What local public-spirited organization will get to work and arrange features of public interest and patriotic meaning worthy of the day? The Town Council, The Board of Trade, or someone else?

Bandmaster Paul Yates has informed me that the Digby Civic Band has voted to offer an open-air concert for the evening without compensation, provided some-wide-awake organization takes the initiative in preparing a program. The Band promises energetic co-operation.

"Keep the Home Fires Burning"—the fires of an intense Canadian patriotism—keep them at white heat. Let us celebrate Dominion Day.

Aids in Scrap Collection

Local farmers are asked to bring in scrap iron to help win the war.

Canada's farmers are being asked to come to the rescue in the nation's critical need of scrap metal for war weapons, and the farmers in Digby territory will have their full opportunity to do their part.

To meet this challenge to the farmers of this community an important step has been taken by Digby Garage Co. Ltd. who has announced that his firm will operate a scrap collection depot to which farmers may bring all the scrap iron they can find on their farms. The metal brought to this depot will be sent as quickly as possible to foundries and factories turning out tanks, guns and other war supplies.

There is an enormous pile of scrap iron and steel on farms. The estimates run into tens of thousands of tons. Unless this scrap starts to move at once, steel mills will reduce operations, the production of arms will slow down, and more lives, time and money will be spent in fighting the war to a successful finish.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Alva Garron

Many friends will learn with regret of the sudden death of Mrs. Alva Garron, beloved wife of Salathiel Garron, which occurred at her home in Westport at an early hour on Sunday morning. She was 76 years of age. Much sympathy goes out to the immediate surviving relatives who are her husband, five daughters, Cynthia Remon, Mary Rundlett, Elizabeth Mugridge, of the U. S. A.; Bell Thurber, Freeport, Madeline Welch, Westport; two sons, Leonard and Wintford, of Westport; three brothers, Allan Buskman, of the U. S. A.; James and Warren Buckman, of Westport, and one sister, Esther, in the U.S. Mrs. Garron was a member of the United Baptist Church. Funeral to be held this (Thursday) afternoon.

E. M. Robertson, sr.

The death of Egbert M. Robertson, sr., 116 Water St., West Saint John, well known fish dealer, occurred Tuesday at the General Hospital in that city after being in ill-health for more than a year. He was a son of the late Charles and Eliza Robertson and was born in Saint John. Mr. Robertson has been engaged in the fish business in Saint John and Digby for 60 years. He was a member of the West Side Kirk. While in Digby, where he lived for about 40 years, he was an active citizen, carrying on quite an extensive fish business, both in Digby and Gulliver's Cove. He was deeply interested in the work of Grace United church, and has served as town councillor. He is survived by three sons, Egbert M., jr., of Saint John, Cedric M., of New York, and Harold D., of Halifax; four daughters, Mrs. Newton Storey, San Francisco, Mrs. R. D. Tannahill, Prince Albert, Sask., Mrs. G. R. Bedinger, Plainfield, N.J., and Miss Elsie Robertson, New York; two brothers, H. P. Robertson, of Saint John and Dr. R. D. Robertson, Montreal; two sisters, Miss Minnie Robertson and Mrs. J. W. Wadsworth, both of Long Beach, Fla. He also leaves to mourn several grandchildren, nephews and nieces. Tiverton was shocked on Tuesday evening to learn of the sudden passing of George Whitefield Outhouse, at the Dawson Memorial Hospital, Bridgewater, Tuesday June 9, at 11 a.m. About two months ago he suffered a slight shock, but since that time seemed to regain his usual health. While at Sydney, Halifax and Liverpool, he made many friends, who regret to learn of his passing. Whitefield was a great lover of music and being blessed with a sweet voice, his songs will long be remembered by his friends. He was a son of the late Helena and Edgar Outhouse, 58 years of age, and a member of the Baptist Church at Tiverton. The remains arrived Wednesday accompanied by his brother Eldred. Funeral took place Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Christian Church. Rev. J. W. Derby officiating. Interment was at Pleasant Hill Cemetery beside his wife who predeceased him many years ago. ## Welcome Back Chief of Police

Again the people of Digby know when it is noon time, for, exactly on the sixth stroke of the town clock the fire siren begins its dismal wail to announce the hour of twelve o'clock noon. The siren has been silent at noon hour for more than a month—since Joseph Kendrick gave up his job here as temporary Chief of Police to accept a similar position at Mahone Bay. In the meantime the policing of Digby has been supervised by the local detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Fred J. ("Freddie") Thibault is back on the job at Digby after more than six months absence. The town council granted him leave of absence early in December, and Freddie joined the Veterans' Guard. Mr. Kendrick took over the post early in January.

Unfortunately for Freddie his health did not permit another period of soldiering, and he received his honorable discharge. After a period of

Canadian Soldier Vital Cog in Fighting Machine

By Hal Miller

Whether he's in the ranks, an N.C.O. or a commissioned officer, the Canadian soldier is the most important cog in the whole military fighting machine.

He is the man who is going to take and hold the ground that will be captured when the full might of the Allied military and productive facilities have the Axis forces on the run.

Up to this time, the Canadian soldier has played a far less glamorous role than his brothers in the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Air Force, but he has just as important duties as they to perform. And his time for doing them is fast approaching.

The Canadian people have acquired a greater appreciation of the private soldier. There is evidence of this on every hand. The step-up in recruiting, the growing interest in the Canadian Army, in the development of the Reserve Force and the guerilla troops.

It is because the importance of his part in the Canadian fighting machine that Defence Minister Ralston has decided that the Canadian soldier will be honored throughout Canada during Army Week, from June 29 to July 5 next.

Young Canadians from the office, the plow and the factory seemed strangely remote from warfare when the call to arms came in September, 1939. When democracy was imperilled, they saw, like their fathers before them, the path of duty and did not hesitate.

Thus thousands of other young Canadians, some of descendants of pioneer stock, others the second generation born, found, in the land of their father's adoption, something worth fighting for.

The Canadian soldier is a happy warrior. Basically he is a blending of physical hardihood, good humor and commonsense. Ahead of him he sees a task to be carried out and he is ready to put his shoulder to the wheel. He has only one objective and that is summed up in the word VICTORY.

He may find much of army life irksome. He may feel like that lone Highlander who in the long ago heard that there was some fighting to do. "He would get his claymore and horse and be away to the war."

These noble kids who today are wearing khaki battle dress are the modern Crusaders. They know that they have in their keeping the fine traditions of the Canadian Corps. To them the future is only the past through another door. If they are French they will glory in the traditions of Dillard at the long Sault. If they are descended from the sturdy people of the British Isles they will think of Wolfe at Quebec or Nelson at Trafalgar or perhaps of the English at Crecy. The call to duty will sound imperious and insistent. Books will be laid aside at college, ledgers will be forsaken, and the mine and the mill will be forsaken.

Must Back Up Men

Stay at home Canadians should think of these lads full of eager youth, casting everything aside with a merry quip to take part in the deadliest war in all history. It is the duty of all to back up the gunner, the signaller, the sapper, the forester and the infantrymen.

Nothing in this present war has made any serious student of warfare think the army is obsolete or a back number. They know in their hearts that victory is only achieved by a co-ordination of the Three Services. In the final analysis, it is the infantry and other branches of the army who give the coup-de-grace to the enemy.

If Canada's happy warriors feel that the Canadian people are behind them 100 per cent, they will fight on to victory. It is Bill Smith from a Prairie farm, Pierre Cote from storied Quebec or Newton Jones from a Maritime fishing village who will do the trick with the knowledge that their countrymen are behind them.

Evidence of this support will be given by Civilian Canada during Army week. Consistent with training, the Army will do everything possible to join with the public in the observance of Army Week.

A national program has been outlined, and it will be augmented by local events in every military district. Churches, civic groups, industries, financial houses, retail stores, services groups and organizations are being asked to join the citizens of Canada in paying tribute to the Canadian Army during the period.

The general program will include features of interest to all. There will be parades, demonstrations and visits to army camps. Public and private buildings will fly flags all week, and service emblems will be displayed in homes, churches and business houses. Theatres will present army films and will display equipment in their lobbies.

Final details of the Army Week program will be announced to the nation in a national broadcast entitled "Honor the Canadian Army" on the night of Sunday, June 28. The official program will get under way on Monday, June 29, which has been designated "Soldier's Day". There will be dance parties and special entertainment for the men on service in Canada, and arrangements are being made to have the men overseas remembered with parcels and gifts.

The next day, Tuesday, June 30, has been designated "Civilian Day" and details of a program to encourage fraternization between the Army and civilians are being worked out. For instance, all civilians part the reserve army must will be asked to prepare meals play in the present war.

The United Nations will be feted on Saturday, July 4, and the part being played in the building of the Canadian Army by Canadians of foreign extraction will be emphasized. Detachments from the United States forces will be invited to visit Canada and there will be competitive sports events with U. S. teams. Parades of allied nationals, particularly civilians, will be held.

There will be garrison parades aplenty on Wednesday, July 1, in which the Active and Reserve Force, the Canadian Women's Army Corps, and members of the Canadian Legion and auxiliary forces and services will take part. Military demonstrations and displays will be staged wherever facilities permit.

The 11 Military Districts of Canada will be featured on Thursday, July 2, when programs will be presented under district arrangements. They will arrange special army features.

Canada's new Reserve Army will be especially in evidence on "Reserve Army Day", Friday, July 3, when all members of the Canadian Reserve Army will be instructed to wear their military uniform throughout the day. Special events will demonstrate the honor to the boys in khaki.

Winding up this busy week, church services at both active and Reserve camps and barracks will be held on Sunday, July 5, and all churches will be asked to devote their prayers to men of the armed forces and a successful termination of the present war. Training centres and camps, both Active and Reserve, will be open to the public.

During the week, it is likely many Canadian soldiers will visit the United States and American soldiers will be guests of Canada.

Nothing will be left undone, during Army Week, to pay due honor to the boys in khaki.

Minister of National Defence

OTTAWA

To the Citizens of Canada.

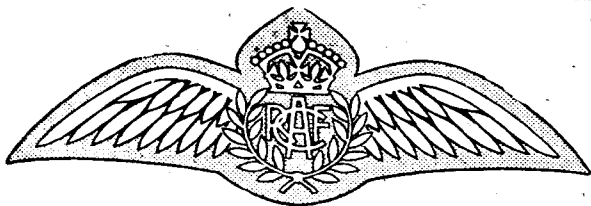

It has been decided to mark the period from June 29th to July 5th, 1942, as "Army Week". The purpose is to give the people of Canada an opportunity of expressing their pride in the Canadian Army and honouring the Gentleman in Battledress, the Nursing Sisters and the Members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

During Army Week, citizens will have an unusual opportunity of seeing the Army at work. Each day has been set aside for some specific purpose. Monday, June 29th, for instance, has been made "Soldier's Day" when the public will be invited to send gifts and parcels to the men overseas and when they can entertain the men at dances and other special entertainments. The next day, June 30th, is "Civilians' Day", when civilians will be asked to prepare meals on a food ration system and restaurants will serve meals identical to those served to Canadian soldiers. On Dominion Day there will be garrison parades and special military demonstrations. The 2nd, 3rd and 4th of July will equally be devoted to enabling Canadians to learn at first hand various phases of Army activities.

Army Week will wind up on Sunday, July 5th, when the public will be invited to attend church services in Army camps and barracks, and special prayers will be offered for the members of the Armed Forces. On that day, camps will be open to the public and demonstrations and displays of barracks and camps will be arranged.

As Minister of National Defence, I am intensely proud of the men and women in khaki and of the women in Nursing Service blue who are serving Canada. I am sure that my fellow Canadians feel just as I do. I extend a most cordial invitation to all of you to express this well deserved appreciation by joining in the events of Army Week.

Yours very truly,

"Can With A Plan" War-Time Program

Carry on with home canning! Make fruits and vegetables do their full share in building health for victory. Serve them fresh from now until fall, and can them for vitamin-rich meals when the growing season is past.

Can with a plan so that you will not have too much or too little of any variety. Can with care so that there will be no waste of products, time, energy, fuel, or sugar.

Chief causes of failure, says Miss Edith L. Elliot, Home Economist, Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, are poor products, too tight packing, carelessness in processing, opening jars after sterilizing, and improper sealing.

In canning, she points out, the preservation is heat; enough heat for the right right length of time. Chemicals, even the common ones, salt and sugar are not necessary, and any others may be actually harmful.

Vegetables are canned without sugar, and so fruits may be done that way, too. The syrup permitted under sugar rationing is thin, but gives quite enough sweetening for palatability. It does not, however, act as a preservative as in thick preserves done in an open kettle and these are out under the rationing regulations.

Begin now to look over your canning equipment. Take stock of your jars. Examine the top edges to see they are smooth and free from chips. Rubber rings are highly important. New ones are best but this year old ones must be used if possible. A good rubber ring will not crack when bent or folded and will snap back to its original size when stretched. Test clamp, and screw tops to be sure they make a perfect seal.

ad dressing and the like. Jam tins, even cups that have lost their handles, and unused sugar bowls may be utilized with the aid of paraffin and an outer covering to keep off the dust.

Not everyone has a pressure cooker, and there will be no new ones, but everyone can have a water bath for canning or use the oven. One does need a supply of small tools, but these are available in most every kitchen.

Miss Elliott has revised the canning bulletin issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture to bring it in line with wartime regulations. This bulletin "Canning Fruits and Vegetables," containing complete information on various methods will be sent on request by Publicity and Extension, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Frown on Tea At Garden Parties

Serving tea and coffee at club meetings or garden parties is contrary to the spirit of ration regulations. Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials declared. Officials said while there is nothing in the Government order prohibiting the drinking of tea and coffee at such gatherings, "it is expected the use of tea and coffee will be confined almost entirely to regular meals".

Growing Bodies Call for Food

If your adolescent boys and girls require enormous amounts of food, do not think this an indication they will go through life gluttons. Boys between the ages of 12 and 17 in particular need plenty of strengthening food to nourish their growing bodies.

Orange and lemon juice should be added to a well-balanced diet for this age group. This has been known to reduce food decay and gum disturbances as much as 57%. A child's growth and general health should be checked regularly and his weight gains recorded. A continuous gain in weight indicates a normal state, but if there is any startling change from normal to overweight or under weight, especially the latter, a physician should be consulted.

Escaped Canary

When a pet bird escapes, capture it as quickly as possible. Place empty cage with the door wide open on a sheet, and the bird will return for food and water; and watch for dogs and cats. If night comes, place cage near open window of brilliantly lighted room. He usually returns to cage.

The New Leg Art

To beat the war-time stocking shortage, a beautician has designed a "legstick" which is a sort of oversized lipstick for legs. With it stockings can be drawn on feminine underpinnings, even to a simulated seam which may be added with an eyebrow pencil.

Fortified by a legstick in her purse, Miss Canada can laugh at the scarcity of silk and nylon, for one legstick will provide her with 25 to 30 pairs of stockings. What about a sudden shower? Why bring that up!

Pickle Juice in Dressing

Save all the excess juices from jars of pickles, relishes, and olives and use it for the liquid called for in boiled and French salad dressing to be served on fish, meat or vegetable salads.

Outsmarting the Moth

APPLICATION CARDS FOR COUPON RATIONING OF SUGAR

will be mailed next week to every Household in Canada

Canadians will be required to register so that ration cards, good for the 10 week period, commencing July 1st, may be issued immediately. At the end of that period a coupon ration book, good for six months, will be issued.

HOW TO REGISTER

Residents in Urban Areas not served by Letter Carrier, and Residents in Rural Areas

Application cards will be distributed to all householders through the post offices on or before Tuesday, June 23rd. Additional cards will also be delivered for every person resident in the household, who bears a different last name from the head of the household. If needed, extra cards may be secured from local post offices.

These application cards should be filled out immediately and dropped in the nearest mail box or post office. A pamphlet giving complete instructions will be delivered with each card. As soon as your name is duly registered at headquarters, ration cards, good for a ten-week period, will be mailed to you—one ration card for each person in your home. These will be for sugar only.

Coupon Rationing for Sugar Becomes Effective July 1st

Beginning July 1st, no one will be permitted to buy sugar for regular domestic use without a ration coupon.

Prompt co-operation on the part of the public in filling out and returning their application cards is necessary to ensure return of the ration coupon card in time to purchase sugar on or after the above date.

Remember—the amount of sugar allowed each individual under the new coupon rationing plan will be exactly the same as allowed at present— $\frac{1}{2}$  pound per person per week.

Red Cross News— Digby Branch

The Red Cross campaign for funds has been the most important news during recent weeks, but meanwhile the regular Red Cross work under the auspices of the Work Committee has been carried on, quilt making being the chief activity during the month of May. A new quota basis, necessarily on account of the wool shortage, has been worked out by the National Red Cross, and now that this is in operation, we hope to get more supplies and to have materials for both knitting and sewing available.

May shipments to Divisional Headquarters consisted only of quilts, 29 large and 11 small, making a total of 40 for the month. In addition to shipments to Halifax, the Digby Branch of the Red Cross also forwarded the knitted comforts, consisting of 20 each of turtle-neck sweaters, scarves, caps, mittens, socks and seaboot stockings, together with books and magazines, which were supplied to naval boat Q065, recently launched at Weymouth, and adopted by the Town of Digby. Had it not been for the generosity of the Red Cross in providing these knitted comforts from their divisional warehouse, the cost of the necessary materials and the work for the women of Digby would have been excessive.

The Work Committee gratefully acknowledges the following donations received during the month of May: 12 quilts, Rossway Auxiliary; 6 quilts, Service Wives' Club; 5 quilts, Barton Auxiliary (including donations from Mrs. G. H. Amero, Mrs. Alex. Thibodeau, Mrs. Chas. E. Smith, and the Doucetteville ladies); 3 quilts, each, Rebekah Lodge, Trinity Guild, Baptists Guild; 2 quilts each, Ever-Ready Club, Hill Grove Auxiliary, Conway Club; 1 quilt each, Acaciaville-Conway Club, Culoden Auxiliary, Ea-Gi Club, Marshalltown Auxiliary, Victory Club, O Wright; knitted articles, Mrs. Lynch; clothing and materials, Mrs. W. E. Tupper, Mrs. Demming, Miss Chisholm, Mrs. O. Wright, Mrs. Thaymar, Mrs. Eisener, Mrs. Ganong.

Although not received in time to be included in the acknowledgements for May, special mention should also be made of the splendid donation of seven quilts and articles of clothing from the St. Patrick's Ladies' Club, which has been meeting weekly to do Red Cross work. Another group of workers whose assistance is much appreciated is the Business Girls' Red Cross Club, who have passed in their last lot of work before disbanding for the summer months. In the five months during which this energetic group of young ladies has been organized they have established quite a record by passing in to the Digby Branch 125 articles, mostly knitted, and especially well knitted, and a contribution of $58 in cash. Our thanks are extended to both organizations.

CALCIUM CHLORIDE TREATMENT MAKES GRAVEL ROADS SMOOTH, DUSTLESS, LIKE THIS...

BUT COSTS NO MORE THAN MAINTENANCE OF A SURFACE, LIKE THIS

IN THESE times, when every available dollar is needed for a national war effort, highway officials are turning more to Calcium Chloride for maintenance of gravel roads.

Labour is limited and materials are costly. Both must be conserved. Calcium Chloride saves both and so pays for itself while it actually consolidates and improves gravel road surfaces—keeps them smooth and dustless.

So, wherever Calcium Chloride is used for maintenance, costly dust damage to roadside crops is ended, driving on farm-to-market roads becomes safer, easier, more comfortable; and housework in nearby homes is lightened.

That's the contribution Calcium Chloride maintenance makes to the welfare of rural communities... without extra cost.

Calcium Chloride is made entirely in Canada.

British Boy Scouts Touring Canada

The leader of the four "blitz-trained" Boy Scouts from England at present touring Canada, is Stanley Newton, 18, Troop Leader of the 8th Holborn Scout Troop and a Rover Scout of the 8th and 9th Holborn Rover Crew and Assistant Scoutmaster of a Troop of evacuee Scouts from Gibraltar. Stanley has been through all the London blitzes on fire watching and rescue work, and showed outstanding resourcefulness and courage. He was selected to play the leading role in the British Ministry of Information film "Men of Tomorrow." Upon his return to London he will be joining the R. A. F. He is a King's Scout, and in addition to the various King's Scout public service badges holds that for Civil Defence and Missioner (Nursing).

King's Scout Roy Davis, 18, Troop Leader of the 10th Southampton Scout Troop also is a member of the Southampton Home Guard. He did outstanding work during all the air raids on that port. In addition to the King's Scout service badges he holds those for Athlete, Artist, Camper, Gardner, Printer, Oarsman, Missioner and Entertainer.

King's Scout Hugh Bright, 17, Troop Leader of the 110th Glasgow (Clydeside) Scout Troop. With the boys of his Troop he rendered exceptional and courageous service as a stretcher-bearer throughout the heavy air raids on Clyde. As a shipyard apprentice fitter he worked on H. M. S. Duke of York. He holds all the King's Scout qualifying badges.

King's Scout John Bethell, 16, Troop Leader of the 65th Birkenhead Troop, was awarded the Scout Bronze Cross for conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty during the repeated and heavy air attacks on Birkenhead. He was credited with the rescue of 12 persons buried beneath collapsed homes. He has the King's Scout service badges.

The Scouts came at the invitation of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scout Association, and the approval of the British Government. They were selected from a final group of ten Scouts from different sections of Britain who had given specially noteworthy service during air raids. Were chosen in consultation with the Canadian High Commissioner, Vincent Massey. A farewell tea party for the boys at London Scout Headquarters included the Chief Scout of the Empire, Lord Somers; Secretary for the Dominions and Deputy Prime Minister, Clement Attlee; the Canadian High Commissioner and representatives of the Home Office and the Ministry of Information.

After their arrival at an Eastern Port, and a brief stop at Toronto, they were Sunday night Special Guest Hour speakers over the C. B. C., then the four boys proceeded to Vancouver, and began their tour proper in that province, thence working east.

An unusual gallantry award, a Scout Silver Cross for the 110th Glasgow Boy Scout Troop as a body, in recognition of exceptionally courageous service as stretcher bearers and hospital attendants throughout the heavy air raids of last year over the Clyde-

YOU WHO PASS

HUNDREDS, thousands, tens of thousands of young men. We hear the roar of engines, the familiar sound of speed trains. We vision ships at sea and planes that hover near. Any minute of the day—our boys are passing by.

Marching feet take up the chant of the prayer within our hearts, "Please, God, oh, please, please, please!" And surely God must know the things for which we'd pray if only there were time and we knew the words to say.

So small thus far has been our part as you pass by—less sugar in our coffee, waste-paper saved and scraps of iron. No sacrifice is too small, no salvaged bit too insignificant, but these are not enough. The rhythm of your measured tread repeats the charge, "Not enough, not enough!"

Dear God, help us realize we're in this thing together—these lads who pass and we who stay. Help us forget personal ambitions, selfishness, and greed that we may be worthy of a victory fought for and won by boys.

And when the war shall cease, give us enough of wisdom to make a lasting peace, that youth may have the right again to dream and plan and live.

Guns—

TO BLAST THE AXIS

Mass production of heavy guns, already an accomplished fact, is one of Canada's most amazing war achievements.

In a scant two years new factories have been built, machine tools manufactured and installed, green hands trained—a whole industry created.

To-day Canada is producing in quantity ten different types of heavy guns, complete with all mountings and equipment, ready to fire. One Canadian factory, manufacturing artillery from scrap to complete gun, equals in size any similar plant in the world. One of the largest automatic gun plants in existence is located in Canada.

Production schedules for 1942 call for more than 400 anti-aircraft guns a month; 500 field guns a month; 150 naval guns a month, and over 1,000 extra barrels a month.

This advertisement is published as a contribution to the general knowledge of our country's war effort and as an inspiration through the days ahead. For reasons of security complete figures are not available. The facts presented, however, are impressive evidence of the growing might of Canada's war machine.

I wish to thank all those who in any way helped make our Red Cross drive successful. Our objective was $125.00 and we raised $154.00. $24.90 was collected at Centreville; $13.00 at Mink Cove; $6.50 at Lake Midway; $6.00 at East Ferry.

The remainder being collected and raised at Sandy Cove.

Much credit goes to the committee and canvassers and I would like to thank them especially: Mrs. Frank Saunders, Miss G. Warne, Mrs. Gordon O'Neill, Clara Gidney and C. H. Saunders also Roscoe Foster and R. W. Sypher for the use of their cars.

Campaign Chairman, Sandy Cove—Mrs. Hugh Morehouse.

"How did you like the sermon today?"

"Very well, but didn't you think the minister struck a rather pessimistic note?"

"I hadn't noticed it. The choir struck so many that I overlooked the minister's."

Summer Boarder—What's making all that noise? Surely you are not running a threshing machine at this time of the year.

The Farmer—No, the boys are figuring up the profits from our boarders on our new rapid calculating machine.

More Wool Being Received

Reports from Mabou, Antigonish, and Truro indicate that wool is being received at the government grading stations in large quantities, and is of high quality. Receipts at Truro during the week ending June 13 totalled 12,000 lbs., which was about twice the amount received two weeks previously.

Outstanding Poultry-Men Coming

Dr. W. R. Graham, formerly head of the poultry department of the Ontario Agricultural College, and Dr. Sterling Munro, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, are expected in Nova Scotia shortly to attend a series of Poultry Field Days starting at Lawrencetown, June 18. Other dates are: Kentville, June 19; Truro, June 22; Antigonish, June 23; Pictou, June 24; and Cumberland County, June 25. Dominion and provincial poultrymen stationed in Nova Scotia will also take part in these field days.

Dairy Products Lead

Dairy products proved the greatest source of revenue in Nova Scotia farms in 1941, totalling 27.7% of the total farm revenue. This was an increase of 3% over 1939, according to the Agricultural Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Next to dairy products come "Forest Products" sold off farms with 19.1% in 1941. This was 1.6% less than 1940, but 7% more than 1939.

In third place came Fruits with 16.7%. This was an increase of 21% from 1939, due to the definite lower value of the apple crop.

Potatoes showed increase from $530,000.00 in 1939 to $708,000.00 in 1941. The position of potatoes has not changed, being 4.1%.

The small part which grains, seeds and hay take in the sale of farm products in Nova Scotia is shown by the fact that the percentage in 1941 was only 1.4%.

Live stock increased, going from 17.7% to 18.4%. The increase was in cattle and calves, and in poultry. Sheep, lambs and hogs decreased.

Eggs went up from $532,000 to $833,000, and wool from $12,941,000 in 1939 to $17,136,000 in 1941—a gain of 32.4%.

Lunenburg Exhibition

Dates Announced

The Lunenburg County Exhibition held annually at Bridgewater the last of September and the first of October is scheduled this year for September 29 to October 2.

School-Farm Students Are Given FSF Crests

If you see a bright looking girl or boy of high school age sporting a circular, red, white and blue crest, centred by the flag of Nova Scotia, you will know that he belongs to Nova Scotia's "Farm Service Force" and is a practical believer in the "Food for Victory" slogan. The crest, shown above, is about three and a half inches in diameter, has two concentric circles edged by blue, in between which are the words, Farm Service Force Food For Victory.

Several hundred have already enrolled in the FSF whose membership is limited to boys and girls 14 years and over released from school between June 1 and October 20 to work on the farms. The FSF plan, which has been arranged by the Department of Agriculture and Education is operated in two sections, from June 1 to the opening of school, and from the close of school to October 20. At the end of satisfactory service each boy and girl will be awarded an engraved diploma suitable for framing. Through the operation of the FSF plan it is hoped to relieve the acute shortage of farm labor brought about by the war emergency, to give boys and girls an opportunity to make a contribution to the war effort, and to provide healthful, educative and remunerative employment for boys and girls during the growing and harvesting period.

Don't Smoke on the Trail!

THERE'S no place where your old jimmy pipe — your favourite cigar or cigarette — tastes sweeter than in the woods. Just seems as though the fragrant air of the forests gives the correct mixture for the perfect smoke.

But restrain yourself, old man; don't smoke on the trail! If you do, you don't know what happens to the lighted matches and live cigar or cigarette butts which you flip away on rocks.

Wait until you reach a resting place by a brook or lake-side. Then and only then can you safely enjoy a smoke in the woods. And keep tally on every match or butt or bit of hot ashes that might cause a bad fire if not stamped on at the very outset... Don't smoke on the trail!

Substitutes for Gasoline in Demand

A score of gasoline substitutes are being used in other parts of the world to drive automobiles. They range from hair tonic to the fumes of baking bread. Possibly Canadians may be turning to some of them eventually.

The hair tonic is a French idea. It is one of nine which Frenchmen have tried. The bread fuel is the neatest, being both a home product and scientifically good besides. There are fumes of alcohol in baking bread, and a Swedish baker has adapted his ovens to trap and condense them for use as motor fuel to operate his fleet of 30 motor trucks, it is reported.

Americans have ventured into the gasoline substitute field by using water, which they crack electrolytically to obtain hydrogen to run the automobile. Also, furfural from corn, pulverized coal, powdered rice, starch dust, garbage, sawdust, and field clover gasoline.

There are four main substitute fuels widely used—ballon gas, bottle gas, running board burners producing gasogene (which is all sorts of fumes from wood to coal) and alcohol.

The gasogenes are made by burning solid materials usually celluloses. They are mainly wood, charcoal, and coal. They have been used for years in Germany, Italy, France, Sweden, and other European countries. Germany makes gasoline out of old rubber tires those too deteriorated to be used as reclaimed rubber.

Giant Lobster Caught In Nova Scotia

One of the attractions which the Maritime Provinces of Canada has for the visitor are the fresh sea foods, particularly lobsters. The Maritime Provinces are noted for their lobsters, all three provinces, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island, having an extensive lobster fishing industry. Just recently an 11-pounder was hauled up with a trap in the vicinity of Lunenburg, N.S. Lobsters of this size are too large to get into the trap and this fellow was so eager to get the bait that he crawled on top of the trap and got caught between the slats. The same fisherman several years ago caught a lobster weighing 13 pounds. The best eating lobsters according to the chef of the Canadian National Railways hotel in Halifax, The Nova Scotian, which makes a specialty of fresh sea foods, are those of medium size. Other company hotels in the Maritimes making a specialty of fresh sea foods are the summer resort at Pictou, N.S., Pictou Lodge, and The Charlottetown at Charlottetown, P.E.I.

In the report given to the Courier with regard to the Red Cross collections for the Digby area, in the recent drive, mention of the canvass in North and South Range was omitted in error. The committee wishes to express their thanks to the workers in both these places for their splendid work, which was greatly appreciated.

The gross revenues for the all-exclusive Canadian National Railways System for the week ending May 7, 1942, were $6,548,000 as compared with $5,754,000 for the same week of 1941, an increase of $794,000 or 13.8 per cent.

Memorial Service For Soldier

A memorial service was held on May 24 at Milford church, in memory of Pte. J. Malcolm Lohnas, of Milford, who was killed in England on December 25, 1941.

In spite of the stormy day, the church was filled with friends and relatives of the deceased. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. L. B. Wright. Members of the Annapolis branch of the Canadian Legion attended and after the unveiling of the memorial they sounded the Last Post and Reveille, followed by the National Anthem.

Rev. William Randall, of Clements vale, sang as solo, "God Knows Best". The floral tributes were beautiful, and included a wreath from the local Red Cross branch and Junior Red Cross branch; a spray from members of the Annapolis Legion, also several sprays, all testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Deer Parades Through Water Street

Digby had a visitor yesterday—a doe deer, that took in all the sights of the business section. The doe came across the Racquette, ran down the front street, making a stop at the post office where she circled on the sidewalk several times. Returning to the highway, she struck a car and was knocked over, apparently doing no damage to the machine or herself. The deer then continued to run through the front street until she was captured in the south end of the town. The animal is now in Frank Robinson's stable, and after a rest and a good feeding, will be returned to the woods.

Deep Brook To Be Centre Of Training

The dream home of millionaire Edward P. Morse on the point between Digby and Clementsport which has never been occupied and is still uncompleted, will soon be one of the central units in Canada's naval training organization, it has been announced.

The big structure, in the midst of over 400 acres of beautiful pastoral estate has been barred and shuttered for six years. Work was stopped when the owner dropped dead while he was watching the workmen convert stone and wood into the substance of his dream.

The exterior and the lower floor had been completely finished, but the upper storeys were still in the hands of the workmen in August, 1934, when the 60-year-old New York executive died.

The big house which Morse planned to use with his family as a summer home and the more modest dwelling which was to house his servants and staff will be central residences in a naval training scheme on the shores of Annapolis Basin.

The original 400-acre estate has been added to and erection of about 100 houses is said to form part of the development of the scheme. The estate now comprises the point and extends to Waldeck Line.

Edward Morse went away from his native Clementsport when he was a very young man, and he made his home in New York. In 1884 he started out in business with a small repair shop and lived to see his business extend to a plant covering 40 acres. In 1934 he consolidated his works with six similar concerns and became chairman of the Board of United Dry Docks, Ltd.

Mr. Morse purchased the greater part of the point including the original farm and farm house. The property is situated near Deep Brook. He spent $112,000 on the property, it is estimated. The garage cost $22,000.

One of the dwellings was completed, the family residence was almost finished. And while he supervised the work, Edward P. Morse dropped dead. He left an estate valued at $40,000,000.

Carrying On

We will all be called upon to do a great deal during July and August.

The Church Garden Parties and the Hospital Fair are being held as usual. These affairs are always looked forward to by the public and it is our duty to make them more attractive, especially during these critical times.

All tables or booths will be carried on as usual with whatever the convenors can procure in their line of goods.

The suppers will also be served.

Citizens Meet To Consider Army Week

A special meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade, together with members of the Town Council and other citizens was called for 10.00 o'clock Friday night, in the town hall. It was a very unusual hour for a meeting but that evening the graduation exercises were being held in the Community Hall and the Oddfellows were holding their regular meeting, both taking away the Mayor, and many of the members of the Board of Trade and Council.

The special speaker was Lieut. F. R. Davies, who had come to make arrangements for a proper observance of Army Week (June 29 to July 5 inclusive). He outlined at considerable length the tentative programme arranged by the Army officials, but stated such programme had been prepared especially for towns which were military centres. Digby was not in this category so a programme was drawn up to suit local conditions. This programme was only provisional as it called for the co-operation of citizens who were not present at the meeting and who would have to be consulted, so several committees were appointed to make final arrangements. Roughly it was thought the week should open with a band concert on Monday or Tuesday evening; Wednesday being a public holiday would be taken up with various activities closing with an open-air religious service to be taken part in by all the clergy, the massed choirs and band, in front of the Court House; on Thursday a banquet open to everyone who would like to attend, at which members of the Army on leave in town at the time would be guests, with a guest speaker to be sent from Army headquarters; and on Sunday special services in all churches. It was also suggested that meals in the homes that week be prepared from the same "diet sheet" as the Army itself will use, thus giving the public an idea of how the Army is fed.

V. O. N. Drive

The convenors for the V. O. N. June membership drive in checking up with the collectors feel that the drive will be closed as planned by the end of June. In many cases, collectors have passed in their amounts which were fully as good as in the same districts last year. Other collectors are waiting only for those who have promised to pass in their contributions to close their accounts but have reported they have done well. One or two collectors have still to call at a few homes but will be doing so before the end of the week.

NOTICE

ADVERTISERS and Correspondents of the Courier are hereby notified that all copy must be in our hands at the earliest possible date for our next issue. This is necessary due to the extra heavy strain our plant will be undergoing the next week or so, and we urge all concerned to please co-operate.

Ready To Cope With Emergencies

The local emergency preparedness set up was discussed at conference here Friday of ARP and Red Cross officials who met with Dr. S. H. Prince, Mayor Theriault, Dr. Thomas Hodgson, heads of several divisions and several air raid wardens were present. The meeting reviewed the adequacy of local medical and nursing supplies emergency hospital provisions plans for mobilization of volunteers and the arrangements covering such human necessities in a disaster which constitute the special Red Cross responsibilities. It is understood that the Digby organization was prepared to cope with such contingencies as may arise.

Word was received yesterday that Max Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Campbell, Digby, had received his "wings" at Dunville, Ontario. Max is now Sergeant-Pilot. We join with his friends in extending our congratulations.

STOPPED

Subscriptions due the Digby Courier for the month of December have been stopped unless subscribers have made definite arrangements for the payment of these accounts. The reason for this step calls for no apology on our part—our terms are "cash in advance", and under present conditions with threatened shortage of paper, these terms must be enforced.

We realize most of those whose papers we have stopped are "good credit"—they have simply neglected to attend to this matter. Nevertheless, notices have been sent them, and we have advertised our intention to stop papers for non-payment.

There may be one or two December arrears we missed, these will be cancelled before our next issue.

It was our intention to cancel January arrears at this time, but due to lack of time, we have postponed that step until next week. Notices for February and March arrears are going out at once and similar measures will be taken.

Closing Exercises Of The Digby Academy

Graduation exercises for the Digby Academy were held in the Scout Hall Friday evening. The hall was filled to capacity with many standing.

Miss Georgia Adams was chairman of the graduating class part of the exercises, and delivered the address of welcome. The entrance march was played by Mrs. H. A. Nichols.

Following the address of welcome, Peter Humpherson, one of the undergraduates, rendered a vocal solo. This was followed by the class will, read by Donald Rice.

Misses Helen Snow and Ellen Outhouse gave a piano duet, followed by the class prophecy read by Miss Snow. Donald Humphrey recited "Polonius' Advice to His Son", a selection from Shakespeare.

The Valedictory address was delivered in a pleasing manner by Donald Wilson. The address was well delivered and showed extensive preparation. Tribute was paid to the faculty: to Mr. Purdy, principal of the Digby Academy for the past eleven years and who was granted leave of absence to join the R. C. A. F.; to Miss Jean Anderson of the High School Staff who leaves at the close of the term to join the Middleton staff; to the school board, and to the late Alfred Boden, a former secretary of the school board who took an exceptional interest during his term and after in the work of the pupils. The second part of the programme comprised remarks by A. J. Dillon, chairman of the school board, who congratulated the students and told of the many difficulties, due to frequent changes in staff with which they have been faced during the past year.

Rev. Thomas W. Hodgson, minister of Grace United Church, was the guest speaker. Dr. Hodgson took as his subject "If Youth But Knew". His address was followed by the address of principal Charles Eaton.

The secretary of the board then presented the Valedictory award to Donald Wilson, and diplomas to the graduates and undergraduates. Accredited graduates for Grade XII were Myrna Georgina Adams, Donald Drew Rice, Helen Louise Snow and Donald Roy Wilson. Other members of the graduating class included Frederick James Thibault and Phillip Raymond Woolaver.

Accredited undergraduates were Peter Hall Humpherson, Harold Austin Joseph, Harriett Barbara MacKay, Ellen Marie Outhouse, Grace Huginia Vincent, John Robert Wright. Other undergraduates were Marguerite Mary Comeau, Louise Margaret Daley, Avarad William Franklin, Donald George Humphrey, Eleanor Pauline Irving, Audrey Edith Pierce and Inez Garnet Shortliffe.

Presentation of a gift from the high school was made to Miss Jean Anderson. A telegram of congratulations from F. C. Purdy to graduates, un-

Make The Best Of It

Nobody has all that he desires in life, which is the biggest chunk of kindness that fate ever tossed our way. Our wants, many and probably chiefly material, must not all be satisfied, even though what we want we feel to be indispensable and without which we cannot be happy. That men as we think happiness the most important treasure we possess.

The strong character is the one who knows how to do without this thing and that—including happiness. A man once remarked to Emerson that the world was coming to an end the next week, and Emerson replied, "All right, we can get along without it." Many a valiant soul is getting along without happiness, and still doing a splendid job of living and helping others to live.

When we bemoan the incompleteness of life, the unrealized dreams, it means that we are expecting too much of life, forgetting that life's ledger balances both output and income, that with every privilege must go a corresponding obligation.

What if our environment is sordid, unpleasant, unhelpful? Accept the challenge, rise above environment, or change for the better that environment. What if that environment cannot be improved? What if we cannot have our own way? Never mind, for there is the final test which can shatter all precedents and start one on a new and glorious career of freedom and power.

If we cannot change the will of fate, we can yield to that will and change ourselves. If we can't see what lies ahead, we can live one day at a time, walk by faith, and refuse to take time out for needless efforts that get us nowhere.

An immutable law runs all the way through life that if one would be the captain of his soul he must make his life conform to the ways of destiny. He can master fate by mastering himself through faith.

Wool Should Be Shipped Immediately

Shipments of wool from Nova Scotia farms are being received every day at the three government wool-grading stations at Mabou, Antigonish, and Truro. The total for the week ending June 13 was nearly 40,000 lbs. F. W. Walsh, director of marketing, Nova Scotia Department of agriculture, stated that the wool was grading high, over eighty-five per cent grading military style, which brings the grower 31 cents a lb. This return is higher than that of other years. The average last year was less than 25 cents, with some areas of the province being as low as 15 cents. The wool, said Mr. Walsh, should be all off the sheep now. The sooner the wool is clipped and shipped the sooner the farmer will get his money. It should be remembered that the plan is to close the warehouses early in July. A report from Antigonish states that "the wool is of exceptionally good quality and farmers are expressing themselves as highly pleased with this method."

Demonstrates Value of Co-operative Marketing

The value of co-operative marketing was demonstrated recently when the Musquodoboit Valley Co-operative marketed its first lot of graded potatoes. Preparation for this type of work had been made with the assistance of fruit and vegetable inspectors who gave instruction in grading and helped build a grading table. The potatoes handled this way gave the farmers $1.60 per 75-lb. bag, compared with $1.25 for potatoes sold to truckmen in the same area.

Hold on to Those Good Layers

Although there has not been the usual volume of fowl marketed this spring, due to higher prices being received for eggs over the previous spring, there have been several flocks of layers marketed during the past weeks. To be sure, the marketing of the cull birds that are not laying is as strongly emphasized as ever, but it is felt that the birds that are laying well certainly should be kept as long as housing space used by them is not needed for the pullets. There are two sound reasons for keeping the good layers: one, eggs are needed to supply our export quota to Great Britain, which is 1,500,000 cases in 1942 and an increased home demand, two, a well managed flock of layers, well culled and well fed, can make money these days with the wholesale price of eggs now reaching 36 cents per dozen on our provincial markets.

Anyone not posted in the culling of layers should get in touch with the provincial poultry promoter, department of agriculture, Truro, or with the agricultural representatives. Literature on this subject can be had, and if necessary a culling demonstration can be arranged.

Purebred Rams Available

In the Maritime Provinces, assistance in securing purebred rams is being offered again by the live stock and poultry production services, dominion department of agriculture, and by the Nova Scotia department of agriculture under the ram club policy. Under this policy farmers in the Maritimes may secure a purebred ram of any breed for which there are enough applications to form a minimum club of ten for a province.

This year the deposit requirements have been reduced in Nova Scotia to $11 for XX ram lambs, $14 for XXX ram lambs, $17 for XX shearling ram, and $20 for XXX shearling ram. The Nova Scotia department of agriculture is giving assistance in transportation costs as in former years.

This year, in order to cope with the greatly increased demand, application forms should be in by August 15. Those interested should apply to their agricultural representative or to J. A. Steele, live stock production services, dominion department of agriculture, Truro, N.S., for full details and application forms.

Be Careful In Purchasing Chicks

Farmers who buy chicks from outside the province are advised by C. E. Benoit, poultry promoter, Nova Scotia department of agriculture, to make sure they come from approved hatcheries with good stock. Too often chicks are bought on price and little or no attention is given to quality. The superiority of Nova Scotia chicks, he stated, was recently evidenced in River John, Pictou County. Several thousand chicks purchased from Nova Scotia approved hatcheries had excellent livability and most of the farmers purchasing them still have even the surplus chicks received over what they paid for. This is in contrast to the experience of some farmers in the same district who purchased chicks from outside the province from a hatchery that was not approved. In one of these cases 100 per cent of the chicks were lost due to disease.

Going to Camps

More than 100 girls and boys have applied for the privilege of attending the club camps being held, under the auspices of the extension division, department of agriculture early next month. The boys' camp will be at the N.S.A.C. July 2, 3, with registration July 1, while the girls' camp will be at the N.S.A.C. July 7, 8, with registration July 6, and at Kiwanis camp, Yarmouth, July 2, 3, with registration July 1.

A well known Digby man says he paid a little account on the street the other day, and after the transaction was completed, had 11 cents change coming to him. The change was paid in a shiny dime and copper. He held the coins in his hand a few moments and then carelessly attempted to slip them in his trousers pocket. He heard the clink of the coins as they dropped to the sidewalk. A little girl standing nearby heard them too, and together they started to look for the money. Our friend spotted the copper by his feet, picked it up and handed it to the child, with the remark, "Did you drop this?" The little girl (who had just located the dime) replied, "No, this is the one I dropped"—and returned the copper.

GOODBY

GOODBY, my son! Your country calls—
No nobler trust can life assign;
No need to say a thousand things
That overflow a mother's heart;
And may no word or act of mine
Betray my heartbreak as we part.
No medals would I wish for you,
Nor plaudits of the high and great;
But may you to your trust be true,
Where'er you go, what'er your fate.
And when there dawns that brighter day,
When hope and faith shall reign once again:
May it be said you stood the test,
That, always, son, you were a man.
Goodby, my son! Godspeed you on your way.

Facts Regarding Nursing at Home

Illnesses come to every family, and one of the most valuable things the home-maker can learn is to become a good home nurse. Your nearest Red Cross Chapter will tell you where you can take up a Red Cross home nursing course free of charge.

If you are not situated so that you can take advantage of one of these courses, here is some information which you can absorb right in your home.

First of all, be cheerful. Part of a nurse's job is to keep the patient in good spirits. The home nurse should wear a clean white apron and cap while attending a patient. The uniform should be laundered daily in a disinfecting solution for absolute cleanliness.

Don't use guess work about medicine. Measure accurately and write out a daily routine for the patient's care. Check off each task as it is completed. This will also serve as a record for the doctor when he calls.

Unless otherwise instructed, take a temperature reading four times a day—at 8 a. m., 12 noon, 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. Keep an accurate chart of temperature readings.

All equipment (bed pans and the like) should be rinsed regularly and disinfected. Be sure to use an effective disinfectant which will give you hospital cleanliness. Eating plates and utensils should be sterilized. This can be done by placing them in a warm-to-hot oven.

Rest for the nurse is essential. Avoid becoming overtired. Also check frequently on such things as room temperature, light, fresh drinking water, change of bedding and personal assistance needed by the patient in such things as combing hair or brushing teeth. These will add to the patient's comfort and speed recovery.

Hanging Pictures

Pictures can add much beauty to a room but they should be hung correctly and with some thought rather than in a haphazard manner. Never place a picture against highly decorated wall-paper; a neutral wall will show it up to the best advantage. Don't crowd a picture into a corner. If it is worth hanging at all, it's worth a prominent spot.

All pictures show up best at eye level, and instead of suspending wires and cords from the molding, use inconspicuous hooks attached to the back of the frame and inserted in the wall. This will keep the top of the picture close to the wall and keep it from giving the impression that it might topple down on the innocent head of some visitor.

Health in Summer

Summer is a happy season and a grand time to catch up on health and fun. But there are a few common-sense rules which you will do well to remember in the coming days.

When you go on a hike or a picnic, be sure the water is pure. It's safer to carry some beverage with you. Milk or tea in thermos bottles are fine thirst quenchers or bottles of carbonated drinks may easily be cooled in a nearby stream.

Acquire a sun tan gradually and beware of intense sun when boating, bathing, or swimming. Cover your head in the hot sun. If troubled with high blood pressure, avoid excess heat. Know your swimming limitations and do not enter the water for two hours after eating. Get at least eight hours sleep and take time out during the day to relax.

Wash Dog's Dishes

Since most disinfectants are not only poisonous if swallowed but have strong odors as well, it is a good policy to avoid their use in cleaning a dog's eating dishes. A sense of smell is highly developed and his dishes should be kept free from odors. Wash the dishes after every meal with hot water and soap and rinse them with boiling water. Many a dog has picked up a disease germ from a dirty food dish.

The Chemise Dress

For the dressy daytime dress designers are already discussing new things to do with the slimmest of the slims, the chemise dress. Last fall it got off to a flying start as an outstanding hit. The perfectly straight cut bias cut using a minimum of fabric is right in step with fabric saving regulations. Also in step is the idea of important looking short dresses to wear for any afternoon and evening social event that's not definitely formal.

Fabrics in the line up for this fall, 1942, chemise version will take in more variety than last year's crepes. There will be some velvet. Drapery qualities of the soft fall moire and faille are in the picture, too.

Decorations on the simple body of chemise dresses are going to show up all the ingenuity designers can muster. elegant all-over beaded jew-

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PROPS IN PORTRAITURE

Simple props, such as the tennis racquet and visor worn by this attractive model, will help to make your informal portraits successful.

Informal portraits sometimes fail because of two reasons: first, the subject may be one of those people who just can't appear at ease before a camera; second, the subject has nothing to do and thus appears artificially posed. There's not too much we can do about the first situation, but it's easy to remedy that second condition. Just introduce a few "props."

What are props? Well, in its photographic sense the term covers practically any existing or fancied object. But generally speaking, props for informal portraits include only ordinary items found in almost any home. For instance, in this week's illustration the tennis equipment could well come under the heading of props. Perhaps the subject is a tennis player—it doesn't make much difference—because she looks as if she had been playing. And the props in the picture are almost totally responsible for that effect. Take them away, and you'd have nothing but an ordinary picture of a rather attractive girl.

Clothes, although most of us don't think of them that way, come under the heading of props, just as do books and chairs. Different clothes will create different moods in informal portraiture. For instance, consider how changed our tennis player might appear in an evening gown. Take advantage of that fact the next time you picture people. Show them in several different types of clothes.

You'll find it pays to assemble a grab bag of different types of props for use in informal portraiture. Include sports' equipment, books, drapes, different types of hats, etc. It will help to make your informal portraiture more interesting to your subject, as well as to you.

elled jet and embroidery tricks. Just as the chemise dress takes a deal of "wearing" it calls for excellence in decorative detail. That's why you can count on its return engagement.

Steam Removes Rings

Many times the circle made when trying to clean a grease spot with dry cleaner will steam out by holding it over the steaming tea-kettle.

"Edith," he whispered, "will you marry me?"

"I don't know, Tom," she replied.

"Well, when you find out," he said rising, "send me word will you? I shall be over at Eve's until 10 o'clock. If I don't hear from you before then, I'm going to ask her."

"I AM A CANADIAN"

I am a Canadian. All that I am, all that I ever hope to be, all that I can ever become I owe to Canada—its struggles in my behalf, its teachings, its counsel, its origin, its prophesies, and its destiny. I am a Canadian, but not because of race, creed, social position, ancestry; nor because my grandfather had a million dollars in his own right. I am a Canadian because I was poured into the Canadian mold.

I am a Canadian because in my blood is a strain from every race and clime and people, and my forebears lived under every form of government known to the world. They came to these shores to try an experiment, taking the best that other governments had to offer and forming the Canadian mold.

My life, my education, my opportunity have been made possible because of prayers of Pilgrim Fathers and sturdy patriots. Revolutionary heroes lifted to the breeze a beautiful flag, chaste in design, symbolic of a desire for peace, and dedicated to the blessings of liberty, justice and religion. The standard of living that I have enjoyed is the highest and most reasonable to be found in this world, guaranteed and sustained by the representative form of government.

I am a Canadian. Millions of soldiers, sailors, civilians have toiled that I might have the best chance possible, the broadest basis of good-will and material possibilities. They have taught me to bear and forebear, to cherish and fight for these blood bought heritages, to proclaim and preserve the right to make my own laws, elect my own public officials, worship God according to the dictates of my own conscience, and maintain the sacred prerogatives of a free press, free speech, free pulpit, and the right of public assemblage.

The guns that have thundered on the high seas and on a hundred battlefields in my nation's history are echoes of glory, but they are a noble challenge.

I am a Canadian. I am the test, to carry on untiringly proud of that fact. I am willing to answer the call, to meet that Canada's institutions may be saved.

Old Locomotive Ends Long Exile

Ending its long exile, an old locomotive, the "Albion", has returned to the scene of its first operations over one hundred years ago after performing many years of useful service and being exhibited at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893 and the Fair of the Iron Horse at Baltimore, Md., in 1927. The old locomotive, which was built in England, henceforth will be housed in a museum in Stellarton while its progeny, the huge modern giants of the rail in use on the Canadian National Railways, speed by carrying on the traditions of service that this pioneer steed helped to establish when in its prime. The old locomotive was used in the carriage of coal from the Alton Mines in the vicinity and today thousands of tons of black diamonds roll over the rails in Canadian National trains to be used in keeping factories turning out munitions of war, shipyards building ships and transport moving in furthering Canada's war effort.

the nurse. They never have located, however, the mysterious doctor charged with ordering the poisonings.

Berlin Threatening Submarine Reprisal

Stung and worried by the promise that the United Nations intend to open a second front in Western Europe this year, Nazi Germany has retaliated with an announcement of unrestricted submarine warfare to begin June 26 over the entire North Atlantic.

"Every ship that enters this zone (defined in the announcement) exposes itself to destruction," the Berlin radio said.

The area of unrestricted warfare was bounded by a line running north from the Belgian coast through the center of the North Sea, then westward to include the waters about Greenland and Iceland, then southward along the Canadian and United States coasts to the islands of the West Indies.

Taking a slap at recent agreements made among the United States, Great Britain and Russia, the Berlin radio added this statement:

"Such an extension of the realm of operations on the part of the German navy is more than an announcement on paper. That has been proved beyond the shadow of a doubt by the successes achieved by German submarines in American waters."

Poisoning of Seven Admitted by Nurse

Admitting that she gave poison to several incurable patients in a Paris hospital, Yvonne Treal, a nurse, is under arrest. She said she performed the "mercy" killings in 1940, when the German invaders were approaching the French capital, and declared she acted under the orders of a military doctor who was in charge of the hospital.

She said she personally administered the poison.

The mass killing was revealed when an intended victim marose screaming from his coffin when he found himself surrounded by the bodies of seven companions in the morgue of the hospital.

This man, Phillip deBrun, reported the details to the Germans, who arrived within a few hours, and they arrested

"Atlantic Command" Is Front Line Duty For Home Defence

A detail of infantry men, fully armed and equipped plod along a beach somewhere on Canada's East Coast. A battery, the ugly muzzle of the guns pointing out to sea, the men of the battery constantly on the alert, blends into the landscape so well it is hidden. Gun emplacements with alert gunners, combined with infantry patrols, are part of the protection of Canada from hostile attacks. These men are on the job, twenty-four hours each day, in fair weather and foul.

These unsung heroes are the men of the Atlantic Command, who by their vigilance and devotion to duty make freedom sure. They are a few of the men who will be honored by the people of Canada during Army Week, June 29 to July 5th.

Major General W. H. P. Elkins, C.B.E., D.S.O., General Officer Commanding in Chief of the Atlantic Command, paid high tribute to the men in Canada's front line in his radio address of June 7th. He told a little of the job they were doing, a little of the loneliness and hardship they endure.

Atlantic Command, bulwark and nerve center of Canada's eastern seaboard, never sleeps. Holidays and rest days come and go, but the men of the Command (like Tennyson's famous "Brook") go on forever. Or at least until war is ended and peace reigns once again.

The Provinces by the sea may well become a battleground. An enemy force, however, will find small change on the East Coast. Training of mobile reserve troops is on an intensive scale. Training centres which make men at arms of raw recruits, advanced training centres where basically trained men become full-fledged soldiers, are on a similar stepped-up training program.

No longer is the Reserve Force the N.P.A.M., or is it even the Reserve Force of the early days of war when it provided a pool of men for active units. To-day the Reserve Force in Atlantic Command has a job to do, a vital job.

Brigadier W. W. Foster, D.S.O., V.D., District Officer Commanding Military District No 6, is charged with responsibility for administration of the district and the training of troops within the district.

Col. W. D. Simpson, V.D., Commanding Officer of the 36th Brigade Group, is charged with the responsibility for recruiting, equipping and training the men of the Brigade. Each unit commander outside the Brigade has his job allotted to him, and every one of them is aware that time is running out and haste is their watchword.

Added to highly specialized and mechanized forces is the Infantry, the men necessary to win any war. Tanks and armoured vehicles can take ground, but the infantry must be there to hold it, once taken. Artillery can break up and disperse enemy troops, but it is the infantry man who goes in and mops up. Machine gunners can slow an advance, but it is the infantry which with cold steel, and bodily shock disrupt the well planned schemes of the enemy. The greatest men in the army, the infantry, are training at many points. They do their job on the vast coastline of Canada which borders the Atlantic.

The question may arise in the reader's mind as to how all these widely dispersed forces keep in contact. This is the job of the signals. Signalmen drawn from peace time communication industry and signalmen trained in the army provide, radio, teletype, line and telephone communications. It is Signals which link the whole into a unified pattern so that any point can be reached at any time in only a few seconds.

Those of us who think of the Signal Corps as men who send messages by wig-wagging flags and flash-lamps are due to a surprise. When private enterprise can refuse a job because the going is too tough, Signals must get through. Wilderness and barrens mean nothing to them, and the more insurmountable the obstacle the greater is the incentive to the men of Signals to overcome it and make nature bow to their wishes.

The Engineers also play a large part in the defence of our coastline. It is their job to tackle any problem which requires highly skilled men in the engineering profession.

Supplies of many kinds are provided by the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. Were it not for the multitude of things stocked by this corps in the country. Machinery comes to Ordnance for repair, and in this highly mechanized the work of other branches of the service would be seriously handicapped.

The repair shops of the Ordnance are among the largest war, repair is an important factor. If distance is too great, or too time consuming, Ordnance, with its mobile workshops, moves on to the job. Manned by skilled tradesmen from many industries Ordnance provides the knowledge and skill to keep the army moving.

Transportation is the job of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. The trucks of the R.C.A.S.C. must get through. They are the transport force of the army and no battle must be lost, no project hindered because supplies did not arrive on time.

Entrusted with the task of keeping the army supplied the R.C.A.S.C., with its many vehicles of varied types, is equipped to move large or small loads. Added to this the task of keeping the men supplied with food, fuel and ammunition. No light task has been assigned to them and the speed at which military works progress is a tribute to their skill and enterprise.

Help your country to Victory—enlist now.

Tribute to V. O. N.

"Four and a half years ago I was ill with an attack of grippe which left me crippled in almost every joint with arthritis. I was sent to the hospital but after a year they sent me home telling me time would perhaps clear it up. Since then the V. O. N. has come to me three times a week. They got a hospital bed for me and what a joy that was and easier for the nurse. My husband, a veteran of the last war, was on and off relief; once we were evicted and after my husband found this flat the great problem was to move me, but the V. O. N. came to our aid and sent an ambulance and I have been here in bed in this little flat ever since. My husband is now doing guard duty so with steady money I can manage. Peggy, my oldest girl, has just started work in a department store—the V. O. N. got her that job! She had been home four and a half years but now Jane, 13 years old, must stay home from school to take care of us.

"How do I do it? Well, the V. O. N. has taught me a lot about buying the right kind of food, how to budget and now I tell Jane as I plan everything from my bed.

Do I find the time long? Yes, the days between the visits of the V. O. N. nurse seem long; the Occupational Therapy was sent to me by the V. O. N., and she has taught me how to knit. How I wish I could knit for the soldiers but my crippled hands can do only a row at a time. But, I am trying to buy War Savings Stamps when ever I can spare the money.

You Roll Them Better With

OGDEN'S FINE CUT CIGARETTE TOBACCO

"I look forward to days the nurse comes, for she bathes me, changes my bed and position, gives me an alcohol rub and tells me the news. What news? Oh about the movies, patients worse off than myself and things she sees as she comes along the street. She sees that flowers and magazines are brought to me and never forgets my birthday. Lying here alone, as I often do, I have many times wondered what we would have done without the V. O. N. I look to them as something to lean upon, for I could never have come through these years without their encouragement and help and I know that they will not fail me whatever the years may bring to me and mine."—Ex.

"Blitz" Scouts Welcomed

taken to the scout hall where they were greeted by a large audience of school pupils, teachers, and citizens of the town.

Leader of the group was Stanley Newton, eighteen year old troop leader of the 8th Holborne Scout Troop and member of the 8th and 9th Holborne Rover Crew, as well as assistant scout master to a group of evacuee scouts from Gibraltar.

Stanley who was selected to take the leading role in the British Ministry of Information film "Men of Tomorrow" has been through all the London Blitz fires as fire-watcher and rescue worker.

The first speaker was John Bethel, the youngest of the quartette. John is 16 years of age, a king's scout, and leader of the 65th Birkenhead Troop, and the proud wearer of the Scout Bronze Cross, awarded him for conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty during the heavy air raids on Birkenhead. He vividly described the terror and destruction of the blitz, but, at the same time, was able to tell several funny stories in connection with the air raids. This lad is credited with saving twelve persons from collapsed buildings.

King Scout Hugh Bright, dressed in his kilts, told of the blitz along Clydeside. He is a King Scout and troop leader of the 110th Glasgow Troop, and speaks with a very broad Scotch brogue. He was a stretcher bearer and was out on duty during the worst of the blitzes in his area.

Roy Davis of the Southampton Home Guard, and troop leader of the 10th Southampton Troop did outstanding messenger work during the raids on that port. Roy, too, is a King Scout and wears many badges. He is 18 years of age.

The leader of the group, Stanley Newton, in his closing address, warned the scouts present to remember their motto: "Be Prepared"—to be ready for Jerry should he decide to pay a visit. "Don't fool yourselves by thinking it can't happen here."

Scoutmaster Dr. T. L. Rogers thanked the boys for their talks and assured them the scouts and public, especially the ARP workers had benefited greatly.

In the afternoon the Blitz Scouts held a meeting at St. Bernard. They were in Yarmouth that evening.

Express Thanks to Chairman and Collectors

At the monthly meeting of the Digby Branch of the Red Cross Society last week, a vote of thanks was expressed to A. J. Dillon, County Chairman of the Campaign, and F. L. Anderson, Chairman for Digby Red Cross and Auxiliaries, under whose direction the recently concluded drive for funds went well over its objective. The total receipts for Digby and its auxiliaries was $1987.07, while approximately $4100 was collected in the county as a whole.

Special thanks go to those who collected in the town: Mrs. H. R. Bishop, Fritz Dakin, A. D. Daley, A. L. Ormiston, O. Wright, H. J. Campbell, D. C. Landers, E. C. Sollows, R. R. Baxter, Mrs. Enos VanTassel, Roscoe Handspiker, F. K. Hayden, T. S. Matheson, R. O. Wright, C. E. Eaton, Mrs. Fred Thibault, G. H. Peters, H. M. Turnbull, Martin Barnes, G. E. Arnold, Miss Violet Woodman, and to those who collected in the following districts: Hill Grove, Barton-Brighton, South Range, Bay View, Ross-way, Marshalltown, Cullochen, Little River, Waterford, North Range, Acaciaville, and Doucetteville.

School Fashion Show

The Household Science and Manual Training Departments held an exhibition of students work on Monday evening, June 15. A. J. Dillon, Chairman of the School Board, was Chairman for the evening. In his remarks he congratulated Miss Ruth Campbell and Merle Stonehouse for the fine work which had been done under their supervision.

The program opened with a fashion show. Marie Small, Grade IX, introduced the styles or type of costumes. At the back of the stage a revolving wheel showed in large printing, the names of groups of costumes, as the girls walked across the stage accompanied by Mrs. H. A. Nichols at the piano.

Good Crops Expected

The strawberry crop in this locality is reported by local growers as the smallest in the past three years, although it is not considered below average, due to the fact there were exceptionally heavy crops the past two years. However, the growers warn the 1942 strawberry season is likely to be a short one, and the best of the strawberries will be over by the close of another week.

On the whole crops in Digby County are said to be doing well. Insect pests played havoc with some of the root crops, especially mangels, early in the season, and many farmers had to replant because of them, however, the new crops are making a good start, and show excellent promise.

Potatoes are looking fine, and unless there is a drought or exceptional wet weather, there should be a fine crop this season.

Haying operations have already begun on a small scale, and the hay crop is said to be the best in four years. The crop is well advanced, due to the splendid start early in the season, when it is said, the grass was never known to grow faster or better. Some delay is expected in the hay harvest due to the shortage of farm labor.

The Principal's report, Digby Academy, the Valedictory address, and other news items have been crowded out of this issue but will appear next week. Please have copy in early for the next issue.

Samuel McAuley is visiting his sister-in-law, Mrs. Leo McAuley.

Miss Frances Dickson has returned from a vacation spent in Halifax.
