Efforts To Continue Ferry Service Victoria Beach - Digby

Efforts to prevent the possible discontinuance of the ferry service between Port Wade-Victoria Beach and Digby are reported to be gaining momentum in the area.

The ferry service, which was established more than sixty years ago, makes it possible for the residents of the Port Wade-Victoria Beach area to get to Digby with a round trip of some eight to ten miles. The same trip via the land is some seventy miles.

Over the years that it has operated the ferry service has carried some 1,000 to 1,500 passengers a year with upwards of 30 passengers a day during the summer season. For at least the past 13 years the fare on the ferry has been 50 cents return or 35 cents single.

Those who are heading the efforts to retain the ferry service point out there is no public transport available in the Port Wade-Victoria Beach area and many of the residents are without cars. They state that the return taxi fare to Digby is $20.00 contrasted with the fifty cent fare charged by the ferry. It takes only 20 to 30 minutes to reach Digby by ferry as contrasted with an hour by road.

The question of the continuance of the ferry service has become an urgent one in recent weeks. Several weeks ago the vessel, "Port Wade", which has served the run for a number of years, had to be laid up as it had become unseaworthy and further repairs were unfeasible. In order to continue the service the ferry skipper put his own fishing craft, the "Wendy Ann" into service on the run. At the end of March this vessel was declared by the steamship inspection service as unsuitable and it is expected its use will be ordered discontinued.

Operators of the ferry service point out that the service is only possible through the subsidy from the provincial government. In 1965 this subsidy has been $1,900 with an additional annual subsidy of $100.00 from the county of Annapolis. The operators state there are no funds available in the company to purchase a replacement vessel to comply with existing departmental regulations as the service has been operating for years on bank loans which are repaid by the use of the subsidy. The ferry operator receives a monthly stipend of only $120.00 and passenger fares only produce some $400.00 to $500.00 annually.

Residents of the Victoria Beach-Port Wade area are reported disturbed by the possibility the ferry service to Digby may be discontinued. It is pointed out that the service is vital to the area in order that the people of the district may get to Digby, which for years has been the shopping and business centre for the area. It is also pointed out the ferry plays quite a part in the tourist business of the area & forms a link between the communities on the north shore of the harbour with Digby from where transport can be secured to all parts of Canada and the U.S.A.

Operators of the service claim they will have no other alternative than to close out the service if no aid is forthcoming to make it possible for them to provide a vessel that will meet departmental requirements. Appeals are being made to local trade boards and provincial and federal authorities.

Elected To Council Of Women

Mrs. E. H. Spinney, Yarmouth, formerly Eunice Milberry, Digby, was elected president of the Yarmouth Council of Women at the annual meeting held recently. She succeeds Mrs. J. J. Oliver. Mrs. Spinney had been chairman of the Education Committee.

For seven winters Mrs. Clayton Snow has spent Wednesday afternoons at the Digby Forum helping tots to learn the art of skating. About thirty children and fathers arrive each Wednesday either to skate or just enjoy the fun of a chair or sled on the ice. Seen above are some of those who congregated at the Forum last Wednesday. In the back row left to right are Mrs. Snow, Mrs. Earl Hamilton, Mrs. Ronald Erquhart and Mrs. Gerald Wilson. Children (left to right whether back to skate or just enjoy the fun of a chair or sled on the ice) are Andrew Twobig, Charles Jeffrey, Beth Gould, Susan Wallace, Janet Wilson, Joanne Wilson, David Ritey, Mitchell Brooks and Allan Hamilton. With their mothers are Jeffrey MacNeil and his mother, Mrs. MacNeil, (front) and Katrina Wheaton, and her mother, Mrs. Harry Wheaton, Yarmouth, (back). (Courier Photo)

Digby And Area E.M.O. Reorganizes

Emergency Measures Organization in the Town of Digby has joined with the Municipality of Digby to form a joint EMO after the Municipal Council decided to organize the county. The organization has held a joint control committee meeting to name appointments and at this meeting Mrs. Marion P. Gott was made chairman and Paul I. Winchester was made deputy chairman. Reg Turnbull was appointed director for the overall organization and Carl Delanson, deputy director with Judy Lewis acting as secretary-treasurer.

An agreement between the Town of Digby and the Municipality has been signed and the organization will go into full operation on April 1st. Also during the meeting the financial project for 1967-68 was approved.

Plans will now progress to organize the county in the various phases of services to benefit each community. However, it will take some time to get into full operation in all areas until key personnel are obtained in each community to act on a volunteer basis to assist in the actual organizing. The director states that anyone interested in any area in the work of this organization will be most welcome and he will be glad to register them and assist them in any work that will be of interest to the individual.

"This is an excellent opportunity for individuals or organizations to obtain help and assistance for their community in receiving training in many services, such as first aid, home nursing, fire rescue, police, welfare and many other matters", Mr. Turnbull said. Headquarters for the organization is situated at the Fire Station, Digby.

Church Started Heart Fund Raises $652

The turning of the sod for the construction of a new church at Meteghan was held on Saturday afternoon with a bright sun warming the air, an ideal day for the special ceremonies which were carried out with Rev. Louis Theriault, pastor of Stella Maris parish of Meteghan officiating as master of ceremonies.

"This is not an April fool's joke," stated Rev. Theriault as he addressed the several hundred parishioners who had assembled to witness the event. "You have waited over twenty years for a new church and today you are assured that one will be constructed," said Rev. Theriault. He thanked his congregation for the co-operation they had given and their generous donations towards the building of a new church to replace the former church which was destroyed by fire on May 21st, 1943.

Gerard d'Entremant, warden of the Municipality of Clare spoke briefly as well as his Excellency Mr. Albert Lemenager, bishop of Yarmouth. Desire Comeau, vice-president of the construction committee who replaced Norman Pothier, the president, who was absent, told the group that construction would start on Monday with excavation work commencing.

Along the clergy who were present and representing practically every parish in Western Nova Scotia were: Rev. Elie LeBlanc, St. Bernard; Rev. Ambrose Comeau, West Pubnico; Rev. Roy Comeau of Yarmouth and all natives of Meteghan; Rev. Emile Bourneuf, retired, of Grosses Coques; Rev. Raymond LeBlanc, president of St. Ann's college, Church Point and Rev. René LeBlanc of St. Ann's staff; Rev. Jules and Camille Comeau, Church Point; Rev. L.

The Digby campaign for the Canadian Heart Fund, under V. A. Thompson, raised $357, it was learned from the Nova Scotia Division this week. Capt. J. M. Paul convened the CFB Cornwallis campaign, raising $200, and Kenneth Sweeney raised $95 in Weymouth.

John C. McMillan, Provincial Chairman for the Heart Fund, announced a healthy report of 96% of the provincial goal. $77,257 has been secured on the $80,000 objective. Mr. McMillan said there are still four provincial units which have not completed their returns. These, he felt, would complete the campaign successfully.

Roy and Rev. Harlen d'Eon, Lower Saultville; Rev. Lihoire, Amiraault, Concession; Rev. Louis Armstrong, St. Alphonse; Rev. Louis Comeau, Salmon River; Rev. Hector Belliveau of Yarmouth and Rev. Gerald Boudreau of Meteghan.

Dr. Robert Belliveau, president of the finance committee also spoke to the large audience and spectators as well as Rev. Emile Bourneuf.

The contractors are Vallancourt and Freres of Grandby, P. Q., and Phillip and Antonio Vallancourt were present at the ceremonies. The new church will cost in the vicinity of $300,000.00. The architect is Laurent St. Pierre. Since the former church was destroyed in 1943, religious services have been held in the parish hall with the main floor being set aside especially for that purpose. The new church will be able to serve all parishioners at regular services.

Former Digby Man Killed In Crash

Funeral services for R. E. (Gene) Warrington, age 47, were held in Saint John, N. B., on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Warrington, a native of Digby, died when a car in which he was the sole occupant was in head-on collision with a car driven by Alfred Watson, Fairvale, N. B. The accident occurred about ten miles from Saint John on the MacKay highway.

Mr. Watson, his twelve year old son, Michael, and a fifteen year old daughter, Mary Ann also died as a result of the accident. Five year old Marta was hospitalized.

Mr. Warrington is survived by his wife, the former Phyllis Miller; one son, John, and a brother, Dal Warrington, news editor with Canadian Press, Halifax. He was the son of the late Mr. Ralph Warrington and Annie Turnbull Warrington, of Digby. He has two aunts living in Digby, Mrs. Henry Trask and Miss Eleanor Warrington. Miss Edna Warrington is a cousin. Mr. Warrington was twice married. His first wife was Margaret Hamilton.

Mr. Warrington, who lived with his wife and son at Blairvale, had served overseas in the signal corps during the Second World War. He joined Canadian Pacific Telegrams as a messenger in Wolfville, N. S., in 1938 and later became a telegraph operator. He rejoined the company after the war and worked as an operator in Halifax, Yarmouth, New Glasgow, Sydney and New Waterford, before being transferred to Saint John. He recently joined a transport and warehouse company in Saint John.

"Acadia" Off For Check-up

The Princess of Acadia will be taken off her route across the Bay for her annual check-up and necessary repairs and adjustments. This leaves no means for the general public to cross the Bay of Fundy to Saint John, since no replacement has been announced for the route.

Getting 40 miles to Saint John (as the crow flies) requires hundreds of miles travelling by train, bus or private car. One other alternative suggested was the short distance to Yarmouth, thence by plane and a still more convenient alternative was to charter a plane, if such available, which might leave from the Hillgrove landing strip.

Claim Discrepancies Ratepayers Meeting

John Nichols, Digby barrister, appeared before Digby Town Council on Monday night having been interviewed by a resident of the town concerning the ratepayers' vote taken on January 26th, 1967. Mr. Nichols said he was enquiring whether or not the Town intends to have another ratepayer's meeting concerning the resolution so that the same may be properly conducted in order to clarify any discrepancies that may have taken place during the passing of the resolution and to remove once and for all any questions as to the validity of the procedure of the meeting.

The meeting referred to was that which dealt with authorization for borrowing $105,000 for the town's share of proposed extension to Digby Regional High School. A vote of six majority passed the resolution.

Mr. Nichols told the town council that it would seem the meeting on January 26th was invalid and suggested the simplest method to validate the meeting is to have another meeting, properly called and properly carried out in accordance with the Town's Incorporation Act and the By-Laws of the Town of Digby. If this is not done, he said, court action would be the only way to prevent the resolution being acted upon.

According to Mr. Nichols presentation to the council the alleged discrepancies included that the second of the original resolution was not a ratepayer; the ratepayer's voting list used on January 26th was not certified; 186 voters were checked off although 187 ballots were counted; the chairman voted contrary to the by-laws; the voters were not called in alphabetical order by names and the word "voted" was not marked on the list for those who voted.

Mr. Nichols proceeded by reading the By-Laws of the Town of Digby dated 1912 which were pertinent to carrying out the vote.

A letter from Mr. Nichols dealing with the issue was read before council later in the meeting. A committee was then named to meet with Town Solicitor, E. J. Theriault, Q. C., on the matter. On the committee are Councillors Stewart MacNaughton, Howard Cottreau and Gregg Gilliat.

Lady Louise Towed To Port

The Lady Louise, out of Saultville, Digby County, radiot for aid on Sunday night after mechanical breakdown about 120 miles south of Yarmouth. She was towed to port by the Canadian Coast Guard cutter Rapid.

RECENT WATER REPORT CONFLICT A MISUNDERSTANDING - MAYOR

Referring to an editorial in The Digby Courier of recent date, Mayor C. D. Snow said at the Digby Town Council meeting on Monday night that there was a misunderstanding about his remarks that no approval had been received by the town from water authorities regarding proposals to improve Digby's water situation. His remarks, he said, referred to the dates of February 16 and 17. Since that time, his Worship reported, the town has received the necessary joint approval by the Provincial Water Authority and the Department of Health to go ahead with one of the proposals and another had been approved in principle. Full approval was expected shortly, he said.

Another proposal, Mayor Snow said, was held up not because of lack of approval by the water authorities but because of modifications to be made on the local level.

Mr. Snow gave credit to the Provincial Water Authorities and Department of Health for taking cognizance of Digby's water situation and had received every cooperation and courtesy from the departments.

Referring to earlier years in which water problems occurred in Digby, Mayor Snow said that in 1950 the town water was so contaminated that the local fish plants were not allowed to use it. The Digby Water Commission, he said, inherited the problems they have today. Eels, he said, have come to town for years and changes could have been made to correct this.

Mayor Snow said eels had entered the town water system on three occasions recently. The first was when the system turned to the lower dam last summer and it was taken for granted that the screens were in proper order. When inspected it was found the top section of the screen had been repaired but the other literally fell apart and nothing could stop the eels.

The second occasion for eels to enter was last fall while the screens were being repaired. A hole had been punctured in the screen which went undetected until the eels arrived.

The third occasion was this Spring and this, according to the Mayor and the superintendent, remains a mystery as the screens are supposed to be self proof. A large quantity of eels, not in a lively condition, had been taken from the water.

Mayor Snow reported that the water source in Digby is being checked by a ground water specialist from a private firm employed by A.D.B., who is exploring water possibilities on the Digby Neck area. (Please turn to page 5)

Proclaim Clean-up Week

Digby council proclaimed the week of May 1st to be Clean Up Week in the town at a regular session of the council on Monday night. It was planned that residents of the town would be urged to plant, renovate, repair and paint up their properties especially for the Centennial Year.

Tag days were granted for C.N.I.B. on May 12 and 13th and for the Walter Callow Fund, June 9th.

It was decided to trade in the police car. Two tenders had been received and considered.

The streets committee reported 265 hours of the town crews time spent on water, 1365 on streets including snow removal. Snow removal costs were as much in one month this year as in some whole winters. The March costs were $1292.44.

Sixteen complaints were lodged with the police of which 8 required investigation. Four cases required court action, one under liquor control, two under criminal code and one motor vehicle. There was one break and enter.

Lionettes Hold Fashion Show

Digby Lionettes staged a delightful fashion show at the Scout Hall, Queen St., on Saturday afternoon, when merchandise from Stedman's of Digby was featured throughout.

The stage and ramp for the show was beautifully done with carpeting, spring flower decorations, trees, teddy bears, streamers and real live birds in cages which chirped and danced with the musical and dancing numbers interspersed.

The program got underway with the Lionettes president, Mrs. Austin Algee extending the welcome and introducing the commentator, Mrs. J. M. Wallis.

Miss Lila Wong, accompanied by Miss Nancy Jayne, sang April Showers, which was immediately followed by little Leslie Urquhart introducing the fashions in appropriate rainwear.

Other items on the entertainment program were two dance numbers, the Highland Fling and the Sword Dance by Miss Phyllis Essex and a tap dance number by the Misses Kathy and Anne Marie McInnis, Linda Hamilton and Tanya Algee.

The first part of the Spring fashion show was given over entirely to children's garments ranging from swim suits, play togs, sport clothes to the refinery of Sunday best. Teenagers, too, both boys and girls, featured the whole range of youthful garments for every occasion. The more sophisticated attire for the past-tens was also displayed with interest and high fashion. Accessories for every number were worn in keeping with the costume modelled.

A unique number closed the fashion parade when Kenneth Connell and his cousin, Kathy Connell appeared on the ramp in a Centennial number, authentically styled regalia of 1867.

Co-ordination for the entire show was Mrs. Kenneth Connell and Mrs. Jean Olsen, presided at the piano for special numbers and throughout the parade. Director of the dances was Mrs. Maris Church Urquhart.

Following the fashion parade along the garden pathway, a tea was served when Mrs. David Daley and Mrs. Alex Wentzell presided over the tea cups. Flowers by Gabrielle adorned the tea table and the fashion area. Prizes and purchase certificates were awarded lucky winners.

On the committees were Mrs. Joseph Turnbull, decorations; Mrs. Austin Algee, tea; Mrs. David Daley, hostess; Mrs. Donald Fleet, tickets; Mrs. Reginald Holdsworth and Mrs. Ralph Johnson, chief assistants to the co-ordinator.

Accommodation At School Acute Problem

Councillor Gregg Gilliat, reporting as representative for the urban school board in the Municipality of Digby, told Digby Town Council on Monday night that the most pressing problem is accommodation. He advised the councillors that temporary measures were being considered for the 1967-68 term so that staggered classes could be eliminated. Mr. Gilliat reported that all teaching positions in urban schools had been filled for 1967-68 but that there were still four vacancies in specialized fields in the regional school.

Warren Marshall replaced Wallace Hodgson on the staff in April.

Reporting from the Digby General Hospital Board, Mr. Gilliat said that Bernard LeBlanc had been welcomed to the Board. He replaces J. Medrie Comeau for the District of Clare and replaces E. B. Richardson on the finance committee.

He reported a physiotherapist would be employed on a full time basis when one-third of the cost of salary would come from patients at the Children's Home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Harris spent last week in Halifax, where Mr. Harris was attending a postmasters' conference.

Hon. L. B. Pearson

Minor Hockey News

After five months of hockey, the season is down to the final week with only one division not yet finished their play-offs. This series is in the Junior league with the Generals leading 2 games to 1 in the best 3 of 5 series. Tonight which could be the deciding game will be played at 7:00 p.m. If this game is won by the Maple Leafs the final game will be played on Saturday.

In the Midget league the victorious Victorias walked off the ice Saturday morning the champs of their league. The Vics again relied on T. Sydney Mines Defeats Cougars

John Mulvihill scored three goals and Jim McLean shot two and assisted on the other three as Sydney Mines defeated Cornwallis Cougars, 5-4 in Cornwallis over the weekend. The Sydney team had defeated the Cougars 8-3 Friday night in Sydney in the first game of the 2 of 3 series. This win meant that the Sydney Mines Ten Pennies won the Nova Scotia Intermediate "B" title.

Bruce Campbell and Billy Burge each scored twice for the Cougars who close out their hockey season tomorrow night when they play St. Anne's College All Stars in a sudden death game for the Western Valley League crown.

C.Y.O. Ice Sports

By JERRY VANTASSEL

Last Sunday St. Pat's C.Y.O. led by Danny Doucette's hat trick and the standout goaltending of Stephen Robinson, swamped Greenwood C.Y.O., 8-0, at the Forum in exhibition hockey. Paul Theriault also fired two markers while Digue Lefort, Larry Amaro and Jerry VanTassel each tallied once.

Greenwood, although out of condition and short of manpower, gave the St. Pat's boys a close battle but could not put the red light on. The penalties were close with three to Digby and two to Greenwood.

Next Friday night St. Pat's C.Y.O. team under the coaching of Father Mills, will clash with a team from Trinity Anglican Church and other churches in town which will be coached by Rev. George Morris of Trinity. Economically, both coaches and teams are out to help the Forum; ecumenically, well maybe we should hope for a tie!

On Sunday the C.Y.O. champs take to the ice for the last game of the season, after some 30 league and exhibition games. The Grand final is against the powerful Knights of Columbus team with a trophy at stake. The C.Y.O. boys are still smarting from that last loss and hope to gain revenge. On the same program as the benefit game the St. Joseph's champion broomball team will be featured against the Ladies of Columbus.

District Hockey

The District League was wrapped up last Wednesday evening at the Forum when the Mountain Flyers defeated Marshalltown Hawks 6-5 in the second game of the series, and so winning the title in two straight games. This was a surprise upset owing to the fact that Marshalltown had completed the schedule in first place without a defeat. Rodney (Bull) Bell was the hero for the mountain when he deflected in a Danny Doucette 'slap-shot' late in the game. D. Doucette and R. Bell scored all Flyers goals.

This league was extremely late in starting this season, and was only started at all by the work put forth by Mr. Ernest Gaudet of the Digby Generals. Four teams entered in the short schedule, including Marshalltown Hawks, Mountain Flyers, Centreville Pirates and the Digby Generals. The teams finished the regular season in this same order.

It is hoped that around September that a meeting will be called to organize a new league with as many teams as are interested in playing from within our district.

1026 Psychiatric To Cyprus Interviews In 1966

Ways and means through which the Digby County Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association might be helpful in meeting some of the needs of the children at the newly established Department of Welfare home for children in Digby were outlined by Mrs. M. P. Gott, branch president, at the annual meeting of the branch here.

Mrs. Gott, who substituted for Mrs. Smythe, Superintendent of the home who was unable to be present for a scheduled address at the meeting, stated that one of the ways the White Cross Service committee of the Digby branch of CMA could be helpful to the children at the home would be through the provision of volunteers who could do repair sewing on the children's clothing.

Another way help could be provided, she said, was through provision of volunteers to relieve the counselors in keeping an eye on the children for an hour during afternoon recreation periods. Transportation would also be needed, she said, to take the youngsters for drives when weather is fit. Counsellors would accompany the children on these outings. Mrs. Gott said. She stated she had also asked for a list of the children's birth dates so that refreshments might be provided for parties on these occasions.

In her remarks Mrs. Gott noted that the children in the home at present had come from various parts of the province. From now on she said only children from the counties of Digby, Annapolis, Yarmouth and Shelburne will be received at the home. She stated instruction was being provided for the children at the home and there are two classes of two hours each day.

Dr. R. A. Armstrong, executive director of the Digby Annapolis Mental Health Service Board, reported on activities at the mental health centres in Digby and Bridgetown, operated by the board. He stated there had been 1026 psychiatric interviews at the Digby centre in 1965, 350 in interviews by the psychologist. At the Bridgetown centre there were 750 psychiatric interviews and 319 interviews by the psychologist. In addition to these the social workers made home visits and collaborated with other agencies. Home visits totaled 302 adult, 23 children, 169 at the centre and 26 department of welfare. The psychologist had also carried out twice weekly visits to the Bridgetown school.

Guest speaker at the annual meeting was Mr. Arthur Sewell of the provincial division, CMHA. In his remarks Mr. Sewell reviewed some of the work of the provincial organization. He stated that the Digby branch might add as a project this year to visit

"Buck" Webber, Well Known Antique Dealer, Passes In England

Prof. Wayne (Johnny Wayne, left) shows Frank Shuster his laboratory for color television experiments. Two of the four Wayne and Shuster Hours to be seen on CBC-TV's Show of the Week this season will be in color.

The death occurred in England on Monday, March 13th, of Mr. Harry Louis Webber, 70, better known to antique dealers and many others on three continents, as "Buck" Webber. Mr. Webber died suddenly at his home, "Underbank", Sedburgh, in the beautiful Yorkshire Dales National Park. He was 70 years of age.

Born and raised in Digby, N. S., he started his business life as a fur trader, going round to the outposts of trap-pers with a horse and cart, and buying the pelts. One day an American arrived in Digby on a mission to buy carpets. Finding no other transport available to take him round, he hired Buck, together with his buggy. At first Buck was mad, but when he saw the potential and the profits to be made, he decided that he was in the wrong business.

Entering the carpet trade himself, he soon prospered, and emigrated just over the border to Wells, Maine. Branching out into antiques, and teaching himself by study and hard experience, the complexities of this profession, he purchased a huge barn, which he soon transformed into a veritable Aladdin's Cave. He was fortunate in having as his neighbour, the late Kenneth Roberts, a famed American literary figure, and the author of "North West Passage" amongst many other novels, who was able to help Buck with his knowledge of early Americana.

As the business, and thus reputation, grew, Buck was obliged to seek fresh supplies of antiques further and further afield. In addition to scouring the length and breadth of Canada and the United States, he became a regular visitor to every island in the West Indies, and often ventured on quite dangerous missions into the hinterlands of Surinam and what was then British Guiana in his endless quest for antiques and art. In 1929 he made his first trip to Britain. His huge physique was matched by his ebullience, his enthusiasm, and great love of people, and soon endeared him to all with whom he came into contact. From then on he became almost an annual visitor to the U. K. and the Continent, and particularly the Channel Islands, a field hitherto relatively unexplored by antique dealers, even those virtually on the doorstep.

So profitable had the demand become for antiques in North America, and so prosperous his business, that he shipped up to 5,000 items at a time, from Liverpool, England, and more from other ports. By this time his brothers were also well established in the antiques business, and strung out from Maine, through New Hampshire, and up into Digby. In 1960, Buck, his wife, Freda, and son Gary, took up residence in England. They bought Broadacre Mill, a centuries old watermill, on the banks of a fast flowing river, famed for its salmon.

at Kington, Wiltshire, and they sent their son to school at Marlborough, in the Lake National Park, which specializes in the American and English. North American youngsters, taking up residence in England. This was necessary and part of Buck's plan to familiarize Gary with the customs and ways of England, not to mention the dialects to begin with, to one day take over Buck's business smoothly and efficiently.

Subsequently, they moved to the small market town of Sedburgh, in the date of the Howard family, and part of the Pennine Range, the 14th equivalent of Buckles. With his commanding presence, genial disposition, and the most able black and red checked lumberjacket that he wore, he soon became a well known and well loved figure in the town. Of latter years he had reversed his original procedure, and made regular visits to Canada and the U.S.A. to see what antiques were required, and explore fresh markets, and soon built up a thriving export trade from his home on the slopes of Under Crook Fell. The people of Sedburgh, never having previously encountered such a colourful character, and unlikely to do so again, mourn his passing with a sense of great loss.

Mrs. Webber and their son will remain in England and carry on the business. Buck Webber was buried on Friday, 17th, with a private ceremony at a cemetery in Bradford, Yorkshire, England.

Guns At Victoria Beach Fire Final Salvo

December 24, 1894. — Our, and the action of the post likely to produce an effective hero friend at the post look ed calmly on his fallen comrades. The gun contained 50 pounds of powder, and stone such as the bore would admit up to the muzzle, a bar rail being fitted in amongst them. The gun was aimed at the west side of the Gut and the Saint John steamer was just entering the Gut when the gun went off. The captain, surprised at the report and smoke and flying missiles, ordered the ship stopped for a few minutes.

Mr. Riordan ordered his men to go to the Block house for safety and Mr. Riordan was to apply the match and run with all speed possible to join them. Riordan, though not disposed to disobey orders, declined to run and with a shout "Duke of York Battery, stand by your guns," applied the fire, off it went and the smoke clearing away disclosed the squad of men piled one upon the other as they tumbled in their mad rush to a

Clare Scouts Celebrate 5th Anniversary

The Saint Francois Troop, scouts celebrated their fifth anniversary and also honored Sir Baden Powell at the Meteghan parish hall with Rev. St. Laurent, chaplain of the group attending. Special ceremonies took place when two young boys gave the Scout's promise and participated in the swearing in exercises. The two youths were Richard Devau and Bruce Robichaud and were presented to the group by Scoutmaster John O'Brien.

A very large number of parents and friends of the Scouts were in attendance, with Rev. Louis Theriault, pastor of Stella Maris parish of Meteghan, as special guest of the evening. He was presented with the Saint Francois Scout's neckpiece and he spoke briefly to the people in attendance to encourage their young children to join the Scout movement.

Scoutmaster John O'Brien explained briefly about Scoutism and the benefits derived by youths who join the Scout movement. It helps to develop the character of the young boy, stated John O'Brien, and teachers have said that a boy who is a Scout can be spotted in the classroom. Scouting takes place in the open air, in most cases, and the excursions in the forests teaches the young boy many things. It is healthful and character building, stated Mr. O'Brien. He asked the parents to encourage their sons to join the Scout movement.

Rev. St. Laurent, of St. Anne's college staff, and chaplain of the group, presented a showing of colored slides of last year's Scout jamboree which was enjoyed by the audience. A lunch was served by the young Scouts following the special program presented by the Saint Francois troop for the benefit of the parents and their friends.

The troop has functioned for the last five years and a larger roster is requested by Scoutmaster John O'Brien and assistants.

Scout Galiste Thibodeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Thibodeau, of Church Point, was selected to attend the Scout Jamboree, which will be held in the State of Idaho during the summer holidays. Young Scout Thibodeau is one of the oldest Scout members of the Saint Francois Troop, of Church Point. His selection was made, principally because he received honors in proficiency and behavior while a member of the troop. He will ably represent the group at the jamboree.

THE FIRST YEAR OF THE DIGBY LIBRARY

By Mary Marshall

Without funds, books or experience, a small group of people were able to start a Public Library and this is more or less the way it came about.

A Library in Digby? For sometime it had been talked about and written about but always the inquiries had ended in frustration. It seemed impossible. Then little more than a year ago a conversation led to a simple solution with unexpected response. Mrs. Joy put an advertisement in the local newspaper inviting any citizens interested in establishing a Public Library for the Town and surrounding area to meet at her home one evening, March 1, 1966. That was the beginning of a year of many hours of volunteer work and planning.

Ten people were at that meeting and they formed an Association. They found out how to apply for registration, the first and necessary step. Enough support had already been shown for a committee to be appointed to find a suitable place for promised books.

At the next meeting at Mrs. P. Robert's home shortly afterwards, about thirty people were present. The N. S. Library Association Act was explained and a Declaration drawn up for registration. Victor Cardoza assisted with this. Sixteen trustees were elected and one of their first duties was to find a location as books were already being offered and must be stored.

A third meeting was held at Mrs. D. Brown's. The needed By-Laws were interpreted and outlined by John Nicholas with these steps taken and a survey made to find out that citizens were interested, this was the time to approach the Town Council for their support. They showed their approval of the plan with a $500.00 grant. The location had been decided upon and the Library was set up in the upper floor of the former Salvation Army Citadel, offered free by Mr. Nichols.

The following meeting was held at Mrs. V. McKendry's. The By-Laws were discussed and revised, a Declaration of Intention presented and discussed. By this time the Library was open for donations for a period each day, with an encouraging number of books being brought in.

Helpful ideas were brought back by a group which visited libraries in Weymouth, Annapolis Royal and the South Shore. Officers were elected and committees formed. Some changes have been made since but much is owed to those who showed initiative at the beginning, and especially to those who have put untold hours of thought and hard work into building up this Library. This includes Kenneth Connell's carpentry and Mrs. Connell's mural decorations.

The high-light of the year was the official opening, July 21st, with the ribbon being cut by the Mayor of Digby and a pleasant tea for at least a hundred guests. By then catalogued by Mrs. H. M. Warne and her committee and were arranged on the newly made shelves. The children's room was looking at attractive with a display of interesting books. There was the

Board To Seek Possibilities Of Receiving Annapolis Valley Radio

The Digby Trade Board was told Tuesday evening there are possibilities of the Annapolis Valley Radio network supplying adequate radio service to the Digby-Annapolis area.

Recent efforts by CKBW, Bridgewater, to serve this area failed when authorities in Ottawa would not grant a frequency change to a CBC French language radio transmitter in Digby, which cause interference to the Bridge water station Digby-Annapolis area residents must rely upon out of province stations for reliable radio service.

Willard A. Bishop, managing director of the Evangeline network, was in contact with Digby Mayor C. D. Snow and a letter from Mr. Bishop was read at Tuesday's Board of Trade meeting. "As you know, the Annapolis Valley Radio network has been set up for the purpose of providing radio service to all of the Annapolis Valley. This includes Annapolis as well as FM programming. Both of these services are available to the Digby-Annapolis area at present, but we are well aware that this service cannot be described as adequate, in spite of our attempts to attain our goal," Mr. Bishop said. "Because of the economic and signal entity of the Annapolis Valley and because of the role we are obliged to play in providing adequate radio service we feel considerable concern over this apparent inadequacy. Although there may be many more difficult problems involved in any attempts to supply local radio service to the Digby-Annapolis area, I would be pleased to have an opportunity to exchange views with you on this problem at your earliest convenience."

It is understood that Mr. Bishop will be invited to speak to the Board on the possibilities of extending their network, so as to include the Digby-Annapolis district in their coverage area. The Evangeline Broadcasting Co., Ltd., operates stations in Windsor, Kentville and Middleton. The Middleton station, CKAD, is available to many in Digby and Annapolis Royal through out the daytime, but on the nighttime pattern the service disappears. Other than the immediate town of Digby the Valley station is not available to listeners west of Annapolis Royal.

At Vimy Ridge

Friday, April 7th, Sgt. Geo. Donald Humphrey, formerly of Digby, and three other members of the Mounted Police accompanied 73 survivors of the Battle of Vimy Ridge and a group of Government officials to France for the 50th Anniversary at the Vimy Memorial. They left Ottawa Friday morning in two Yukon aircraft. They were to land in Paris, Friday night. The party was to arrive back in Ottawa, Tuesday, April 11. Sgt. Humphrey is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Humphrey, Digby.

April Meeting Trade Board

Although only a small number attended the April meeting of the Digby Board of Trade, the gathering proved to be most interesting and informative and many problems vital to the area were discussed. The meeting was held Tuesday evening at the Town Hall with president, Leigh W. Jayne in the chair.

Mr. Jayne reported on the International Tourist Exchange Committee and the Digby group decided it would be beneficial to the area to join. The committee, set up as an aid to the tourist industry, aims to establish better relations and understanding between Nova Scotia and New England. Mr. Jayne said, Nova Scotia's membership includes Shelburne Town, Clare Municipality, Digby Town and Yarmouth Town. Other members are in the New England states. Committee sponsored exchange groups have been held on a number of occasions.

It was reported that Stewart MacNaughton is studying the costs involved in the Pony Express centennial project. If the budget will allow, the Board proposes to stage a carrier ride by horseback on the original Pony Express trail through the Annapolis Valley. After considerable discussion the Board decided to contact the Provincial Government in an effort to have the Victoria Beach Digby ferry service continued. A letter requesting support was read from the Port Wade Ferry Company. The Board considers the ferry service a necessary transportation link and that Digby should do whatever possible to maintain the service, since nearly one thousand people in the Lower Grandville area class Digby as their most convenient shopping centre.

Victor Cardoza reported on Digby's involvement in this year's Centennial Youth Travel Project, when 24 youths

New TV Station To Serve Valley

Word from broadcasting authorities in Ottawa assures the Digby Trade Board that the transmitter of a proposed new CBC television station for new Brunswick will be located so as to provide excellent service to the western Annapolis Valley.

In a letter read at Tuesday Board meeting by President Leigh W. Jayne, State Secretary Judy LaMarsh said, "The proposed station, which will serve both Saint John and Fredericton will operate from a transmitter located near Champlain Mountain which is not too far from Saint John and which from there will provide at least as good coverage if not better, to western Nova Scotia than is now provided through the privately owned affiliate CHSTV in Saint John. In addition, I understand that the Corporation has commenced some studies on the question of satellite from this base station which might further improve service in the Annapolis Valley. Although at the moment there are no definite commitments on this matter, I might point out that establishment of the CBC station to serve both Fredericton and Saint John, New Brunswick will mean that the new station, on the air CHSTV will be able to discontinue to this area of Nova Scotia, which will become part of the CBC network, a Canadian network that the area is question with KTV. These Boards in the future be able to receive alternate service. Broadcasting officials to whom Mr. Jayne referred the interests of this area to the CBC, Saint John as the that coverage from both Canadian networks will improve the western Valley. Certainly, the station will be located so as to give adequate CBC service to the western Valley.

1897 BELL CENTENNIAL PROJECT

The original 1897 alarm on Brier Island, a bell date back to 1897, which was found at North Point by employees of the Department of Fisheries will be dedicated in Digby on June 25th as a centennial project and a memorial to all seamen from Annapolis Basin and Digby Neck and Islands who were lost at sea where during the year 1897 to 1967.

A contest for a proportionate design, including a bell and plaque, was planned on Thursday evening by members of the committee: Glen Smith, Bernard Bell, C. D. Snow, Charles McBride, Stewart MacNaughton, DeWille Raymond, Hymie Webster and Mrs. J. M. Wallis. A prize of $50 is to be offered for the best design submitted by April 29th, 1967. Entries to be submitted to Glen Smith, Chairman of the Committee, c/o The Department of Fisheries, Digby.

The 700 lb. bell now replaced by a modern fog alarm used to be the only warning fishermen had at that point in the early years. The bell contained no clapper and had to be sounded by beating it on the outside with a suitable instrument. The bell was found in 1965 by employees of the Department of Fisheries having been buried by years of mud accumulation. The idea of the bell becoming a memorial to fishermen was conceived by Glen Smith at the time of its discovery.

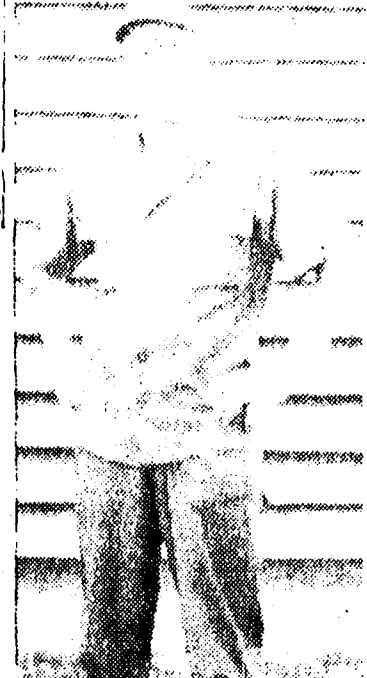

It is proposed that the memorial be placed on the lawn in front of the Federal Building and consist of a cairn made of beach rock incorporating the bell, a brass plaque and two schooner anchors.

The committee for the project has requested names to be contained in the plaque be submitted to Mr. Smith. Names should include those lost anywhere at sea from 1897 to 1967 who had been residents of the Annapolis Basin and Digby Neck and Islands area. Full name, date lost and any other pertinent information should be included. About 70 names have been submitted to date.

Any donations to the memorial project, it is understood, can be left at the Royal Bank of Canada, Digby. The committee, which has no funds to draw from, felt that interest individuals, fish establishments and others might wish to donate to the cause. The $50 prize for the contest is being donated by Sesta Motel, cement and wood have been offered and advertising donated. It was estimated that expenses might run in the vicinity of $500 for having names inscribed on the plaque and labor expenses.

The dedication is scheduled for June 25th, the first Sunday that the Princess of Acadia goes on her summer Sunday schedule and will, it is expected, have a band on board. The same day is expected to see the Blessing of the Fleet ceremony for the first time in Digby. All church denominations, it is anticipated will enter into the ceremonies.

RESOLUTION RE FISHERIES TRAINING SCHOOL FOR WESTERN N.S. COUNTIES

The following resolution, adopted by the Yarmouth Employment Committee of the Canada Manpower Centre at a meeting held on Monday, March 20th, was given backing by the Digby Board of Trade at their April meeting held Tuesday evening.

WHEREAS the total fish landings for the three counties of western Nova Scotia, Digby, Yarmouth and Shelburne in 1965 were 249,102,000 pounds, or 42.6% of the total landings for the whole of Nova Scotia, and WHEREAS the fishing industry in these counties is undergoing a sizeable expansion and technological change, and WHEREAS the heads of the fishing industry in these counties estimates a requirement of 400 new fishermen per year for the next five years, and WHEREAS the only fisheries school in Nova Scotia is located in Pictou, some 275 miles distant, and WHEREAS the number of would-be trainees from this area exceeded the capacity of the school during the past winter, and WHEREAS more fishermen would attend a training course nearer home, therefore BE IT RESOLVED that the local Employment Committee of the Canada Manpower Centre, in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia strongly recommends the early establishment of an additional fisheries training school in Western Nova Scotia to meet the expanding training needs of this area.

By Wayne SLOW

On Thursday evening of last week the Junior League was wrapped up with the Generals winning the Junior League title. The Maple Leafs were unable to ice a team and so the trophy was won by the Generals who had won two of the three games played in what was to have been a 3 out of 5 series. The trophies for each league will be presented at the annual banquet.

The coach of the champion Generals was Mr. Stanley Vidito. Members of the team were: Wayne Snow (captain), Danny Doucette (Assistant), J. VanFassel (Assistant), P. Connelly, G. Tidd, A. Doucette, S. Doucette, C. Hand-spiker, G. Chute, W. Hand-spiker, Read Harris. Goalkeepers were Danny Everett, and Greg Marshall. Spares on the team were P. Hewitt, A. Wilson, R. Barr, all of the Generals farm team, in the Midget league, the Flyers.

The Maple Leafs who ended the season in second position and who were cup finalists were coached by Mr. Thomas Wood. Member of this team were D. Wood (captain), G. Cress, T. Merrit, R. Dunn, G. Fletcher, M. Potter, R. Bell, G. Harris. Goalkeepers for the Leafs were R. Raymond, and R. Bruhm. Spare for the Leafs was P. Theriault of the Midget league Maroons, a farm team of the Maple Leafs.

This ends the Minor Hockey News for the season, and a great deal of thanks must go to all the officials of the Minor Hockey organization for bringing another season of organized hockey to a successful close. Thanks is extended to Mr. Bob Morgan, our president in the early organizing stages of the season and to Mr. Charles Fitt for taking over from Mr. Morgan in mid season. A great deal of work is put into this league and also often the officials must take criticism from those who find it easier to sit back and find the mistakes that these real citizens of our town sometimes make. The banquet is being planned in the near future and it is hoped that all players and interested parents will attend to show their support for the fine work done in this league.

Benefit Games Success

With His Worship, Mayor C. D. Snow to drop the first ball, Deputy Mayor Stuart McNaughton to drop the first puck, and a cheering audience in the bleachers, Digby Recreation Commission's Benefit Games on Sunday at the Forum were a tremendous success.

A fast and hard played hockey game between St. Patrick's C.Y.O. and the Digby Knights of Columbus was anybody's game until the last bell was sounded. Between periods, the St. Joseph's C.Y.O. broomball team of Weymouth met the newly formed Ladies of Columbus team from Digby. It was anybody's guess what the 'Ladies' would pull next but as it turned out the St. Joe's team continue to reign. For further information on the sports activities see the "C.Y.O. Ice Activities" on the sport page of this paper.

Immediately before the beginning of the third period of the hockey game, Lovette Jordan Jr., was called to the ice where Bernard Bell of the Digby Recreation Commission presented him with a cheque covering the proceeds from the game admission tickets, sale of fudge, and other funds from Mr. Jordan's team members. Mr. Jordan had a leg broken in Industrial League play and will be unable to work for five months.

The Digby Recreation Commission are to be congratulated for their concern for those who play the game for the sport of it. Congratulations were extended to the CYO groups, the Knights and Ladies of Columbus for their cooperation in making the day a huge success.

Mrs. Best Talks To A.D.H.S.

Twenty members attended the April meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society at the home of Mrs. Helen J. Anthony with Miss Marjorie MacCormick as co-hostess.

A brief business session was conducted and it was reported that garden club signs had been repainted and now ready to be replaced. Also, that the August date for the annual flower show had been registered and confirmed with a judge to be appointed.

Miss Mary Marshall, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Charles Best, Cambridge, N. S., who is co-chairman of the Nova Scotia Beautification Program, and is forming committees for rural beautification in Digby County, under the direction of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. Best opened her remarks with the quotation, "Flower people are always nice people" and stated that the Women's Institute, which is non-partisan, was founded in Ontario in 1897, in 1913-14 in Nova Scotia, spread across Canada to the Arctic regions, to England and to all parts of the world.

Their aim was to assist people in rural districts, in home making culture, home nursing, child care, health and welfare, agriculture, to conduct meetings and help with any problem relating to general living.

Such groups are not confined to rural areas but are active in towns and cities and endeavor to help women to become better citizens, home makers, wives and mothers.

As a centennial project, the Women's Institute became interested in rural beautification, improved farms and small homes and has asked the co-operation of Nova Scotia garden clubs, youth and local organizations to assist in promoting their program to make our Province more attractive so to encourage new industries and bring tourists to Nova Scotia.

A provincial grant has already been given by the Nova Scotia government to the Women's Institute for this work, and prizes are to be awarded at a later date, for outstanding improvements. A start has already been made by an act of government to enforce properties to be cleaned up and prevent littering of highways.

Mrs. Anthony expressed the appreciation of the garden club members to Mrs. Best for her most interesting talk.

MARRIAGES

THE DIGBY COURIER
THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1967

Lima — Dunn

A double ring ceremony was held at St. Anthony's Church, Everett, Mass., on March 11th, 1967, when Miss Pamela Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dunn, Bear River, became the bride of Mr. John Joseph Lima Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lima Sr., Everett, Mass.

The bride wore a street length ensemble of white satin and lace over white satin styled with bracelet length, bell shaped sleeves. With it she wore a brief veil, attached to a head band of sequin studded flower petals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered by a white orchid with satin streamers tipped by forget me nots.

Samuel Goline of Everett, the groom's uncle, was best man. Mrs. Goline was matron of honor. She was wearing a matching ensemble of pink lace and satin. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The mother of the bride wore a stunning dress of royal blue, and a hat of white ostrich feathers. She wore a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore a salmon colored dress, matching shoes, and white roses as her corsage.

A small reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

Leonard — Davison

White lilies and pink snap dragons decorated St. Thomas Aquinas Church Easter Monday when Janet Anna Davison became the bride of Malcolm David Leonard, Rev. Brian Hemon performed the marriage ceremony. Austin Gough was soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Errol Monson, Davison of Halifax. The groom is the son of Mrs. Leonard and the late Malcolm Stewart Leonard, QC, of Digby.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of duchess silk and satin with a Chantilly lace overlay forming a coat effect. Her gown featured a scalloped neckline, elbow length sleeves and a Cathedral train extending from a low shoulder line. Two silk roses accented with sprays of silver beads held her cathedral length veil of silk illusion tulle appliqued with the Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade of pink sensation roses.

Miss Barbara Reardon was maid of honor. Miss Veronica Bak, Halifax, Mrs. Brian Hemon, Sudbury, Ont., and Miss Joy Leonard, Digby, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. The attendants were dressed alike. Their gowns, similar in design to the bride's, were floor length and fashioned in burgundy silk crepe with set in front panels of rose colored lace. Alternate bands of burgundy tipped carnations and white mums formed their headresses and they carried cascades of burgundy tipped pink carnations and white mums.

Howard (Bud) Leonard, Moncton, N. B., brother of the groom was best man. Jack MacIsaac, Antigonish; David Thompson, Dartmouth, and Bill Gorham, Campbelltown, N. B., Terry Boyland, Halifax, were ushers.

Edward A. Payzant of Dartmouth proposed the toast to the bride at a reception held at the Lord Nelson Hotel. Her hat, an Andre model, was designed in various shades of pink and rose flowers and she wore a pink and white rose corsage on her sapphire mink stole.

Mrs. Leonard received in a gown of crystal 'jade' silk shantung, her matching hat featuring blending shades of the blues and greens, matching shoes, and she pinned a corsage of pink roses on her mink stole.

For a wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride travelled in a Munrospun coat and dress ensemble. Her hat was a beige and brown striped Mr. Fredrickson model and her accessories were brown. She wore a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

Tiverton Vet Represents Maritimes

Eugene Outhouse, Tiverton, former Sergeant of World War I, left Tiverton Thursday, April 6, for France to attend 50th anniversary memorial services in commemoration of the Battle of Vimy Ridge during World War I.

Mr. Outhouse, one of seven chosen by the government and the Dominion Command Group of the Royal Canadian Legion, is the only Maritimer chosen to represent the Veterans of World War I from the Maritimes.

The group participated in the Memorial Services which commenced on Sunday. Celebrations were expected to last two days.

Mr. Outhouse took the Saint John Digby ferry and went by train to Ottawa. From there the group flew to Paris. They expected to be billeted in a hotel at Arras, which is in the vicinity of Vimy Ridge. Having served 14 or 15 months at Vimy Ridge during World War I, Mr. Outhouse anticipated changes there since he saw it last. "When we left Vimy Ridge there were only parts of cellars and broken down chimneys," he said, and felt because of the changes that have taken place since that time, Vimy Ridge will no longer be familiar to the veterans.

Kiwanians Help Spring Clinic

Digby Kiwanians were busy today assisting a clinic team comprised of Dr. N. Barrie, Coward, Dr. A. Sinclair, and Miss Caroline Macdonald, R. Children, Halifax, at the Society for Care of Crippled Children, Halifax, at the Society's Spring Clinic for Handicapped Children.

These clinics are held at the Digby Hospital twice yearly and local physicians refer many children to the medical consultants. "Children are now being seen much earlier and consequently have a much better opportunity for complete rehabilitation," said Miss Macdonald, Acting Director of the Society. "Families know," she said, "that the Society working with Department of Health staff and local service clubs assist in every way possible to have the recommendations of the medical consultants and family physicians implemented so that no handicapped child in Nova Scotia who requires help need be without it."

Miss Macdonald paid tribute to the members of the local Kiwanis Club who assisted not only with clinic arrangements and transportation but who also provide the financial means of carrying out the recommendations of the physicians. Appliances, medication, transportation to clinic or hospital, all these, and many more needs are met by the local club.

"These devoted men who give so much time and who are so vitally interested in the rehabilitation of handicapped children deserve our deep appreciation," she said.

Fish

Fish Recipe Editor, The Digby Courier.

I enjoy the Fish Recipe Swap. Here in Montreal one can't get fish as fresh as you can in good old Nova Scotia but the new recipes add some interest to our fish dinners. Thought you might like this one if you can afford lobster. It is not original with me but I can vouch for it being as delicious as it sounds.

LOBSTER CHOPS

2 tbsp. butter
3 tbsp. flour
1 cup light cream (fresh)
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 large lobster
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 cups corn flakes
2 tbsp. shortening

Melt butter in frying pan over low heat. Stir in flour and cook until lightly browned. Add the light cream, salt and pepper. Cook until thickened and smooth, stirring constantly.

Fold in flaked lobster meat. Stir a small amount of the hot mixture into egg yolks. Return this to remaining hot mixture in pan. Cook over low heat about 3 minutes, longer stirring constantly. Spread mixture 1/2 inch thick in greased hollow pan, about 8x8 in size. Cool.

Shape into 6 chops. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs using a rolling pin. Beat egg white. Dip chops in beaten egg whites, then roll in corn flake crumbs.

Fry in heated shortening until light browned and serve with lemon slices.

METROPOLITAN RES CANADA LIMITED

NEW GRANT SYSTEM ADULT EDUCATION — STANFIELD

The rumor is that all the good-looking girls come from Winnipeg, not from Montreal. But it all might just depend on where you're from. In any case, Peggy Neville of Winnipeg is as pretty as a picture — in this case her own. Peggy is the star of her own show, The Peggy Neville Show, seen on CBC television each Wednesday evening.

Hon. H. E. Stanfield, as Minister of Education, has announced that beginning August 1st, a new system for paying grants to school boards of offering non-vocational adult education programs will come into effect.

Mr. Stanfield said that, under new regulations of the Education Act, school boards will be reimbursed for salaries and fees paid to administrators and instructors in their adult education programs to the extent of the provincial proportion of the foundation program costs.

Regional staff members of the education department's Adult Education Division will meet in Halifax, Tuesday for a one-day conference when the new regulations will be outlined by Hermon P. Timmons, director of the division and Tom Jones, supervisor of adult education.

The Premier said that grants toward the costs of the fees of instructors and part-time administrators will not be less than 50 per cent of these costs. School boards that engage administrators of adult education on a full-time basis will be reimbursed, in accordance with the established foundation program proportion, for salaries paid to these officials, he said.

Mr. Stanfield said the effect of the new regulations will be to equalize the financial burden of adult education among the municipalities, and thus to assist in equalizing the opportunities for education among adults in Nova Scotia in whatever municipality they reside.

The Premier said the new regulations were the result of the recognition of the need for systematic provision, within the school system, of opportunities for all adults to continue their education in accordance with their interests and needs. He noted during the last few years school boards throughout Nova Scotia have taken major steps towards this goal, whereas in the past adult education had tended to be regarded as a marginal, peripheral activity of the public school. The intention of the new provisions is to assist school boards in a practical way to develop it as an integral, essential part of their total education program. As this occurs, adult education across the Province will attain its appropriate stature as a legitimate program in the comprehensive school system, he said.

The Premier noted that ten years ago the total number of non-vocational classes for adults in the Province was 196, compared with a 1966 total of 650. While ten years ago no school board in the Province had engaged an administrator of adult education, in 1966, 187 had been appointed. Such appointments are evidence of the increasing importance, which school boards attach to the need for providing continuing educational opportunities, he said.

Oh elusive lady who always came near
To brighten our hearts at this time of year,
Where are you?
Have you forsaken your friends who hold you dear
To children some others who wish your cheer?
We need you!

Where is that dream that the scientists say
Has been near our hearts and leaving this way?
We ask you,
Have you stopped in your travels to take a look
At the calendar that says that you should be booked?
We dare you.

My patience is growing so very thin
For the curing of books and the birds with their din,
You're past due
My strength is ebbing, I need your glad tonic
Your friendship has always been more than platonic,
Please, hurry, you.

Cloverleaf Attends 4-H Rally

Twenty-nine members of the Cloverleaf 4-H club, Bear River, attended a Public Speaking Rally in Lawrenceville on April 1st along with leaders, Mrs. Allister Milner and Mrs. Alden Prime.

The program was opened with the Club Pledge and immediately afterward the Junior Speaking Contest. Eight speeches were made and all were very good.

Demonstrations were shown next. The topics varied from cooking to judging beef cattle. 1. Cooking — Open face sandwiches; 2. First Aid; 3. Judging Beef Cattle, with illustrations; 4. Sewing — Cutting out a blouse; 5. Cooking — Grapefruit salad.

Two amusing skits followed, and then there was a hectic break for lunch.

In the afternoon the session began with the Intermediate Speaking Contest. These excellent talks were followed by two one-person skits which were thoroughly enjoyed. Next came the Senior speeches and of course these were of excellent quality and very inspiring. The entertainment ended with a skit by the Cloverleaf Club.

Then the competitors became pensive and nervous. The time had come for awards. The afternoon closed with the arrival of ice-cream, needless to say, heartily received by all. The Annapolis Co. basketball team were presented with 4-H crests as a reminder of their victory in the Western Nova Scotia championships. Cloverleaf competitors previously selected from a group of contestants by Miss Eleanor Morine and Miss June Schmidt, Junior Speaker — Shirley Orde (received an honorable mention), Intermediate Speaker — Janet Copeland; Senior Speaker — Margaret Chesley; Bruce Prime gave a short talk on his trip to Ottawa and Toronto on Nov. 1966.

Actors in the skit were Garth Prime, Alan Read, Marjorie Adams, Terry Adams,

CONSIDER AID FOR FUNDY FERRY

DAR May Cut Back Service

The Dominion Atlantic Railway may soon be forced to cut back or abandon completely its passenger service if it continues to be unprofitable.

General Manager D. W. Alexander said last week in Kentville a downward trend in normal passenger cargo was continuing this year, except for a brief accelerated March period. Passenger traffic is down 25 percent over last year, he said.

If the situation remained, something would have to be done, he said. It would mean either a cutback in service or abandonment of the run, depending on a ruling of the Federal Board of Transport Commissioners. He said the company's decision would depend on a ruling.

DAR's application to cut back its Halifax to Yarmouth (via the Valley) service was turned down by the board three years ago.

It is understood the federal government is exploring the possibility of providing government assistance toward a major improvement to the Digby-Saint John ferry service as an alternative to a few operation across the Bay of Fundy through Campbell.

A firm of consultants, Margeson Associates, advised several months ago that if a link is to be established between Nova Scotia and New England, it should run from Digby to Campbell Island, N. B., and then through the state of Maine. It is believed that Ottawa considers it more worthwhile to bolster the CPR service now operating across the Bay rather than start another on in the same general area.

During further consideration of the Government's Transportation Bill in the Commons recently Transport Minister Pickersgill disclosed that Canadian Maritime Commission chairman Howard Darling is "actively engaged" in discussions with Canadian Pacific on the matter of "a certain water crossing" in the area. Other federal authorities have said there is no thought of the federal government taking over the Digby-Saint John service on which the CPR has felt further major capital expenditure by it is inadvisable at this time. However, they indicated it could lead to federal financial aid, and possibly help from the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick provincial governments, as well, in providing the improvements necessary instead of proceeding with a new service via Campbell. They referred to the discussions now underway as an exploration in depth which would eventually involve both provinces as well as Ottawa, and suggested it all fits in with improved road connections with Saint John and the American border as well as other changes.

After Ottawa had drawn up blueprints for a major reconstruction of landing facilities at Digby two years ago to serve a bigger and better CPR ferry vessel, the Canadian Pacific served notice that it was not prepared to share in the cost of these, nor to undertake construction of a new ship because of the uncertainty concerning future operations in the Bay. The government then decided to go ahead with improvements on a much smaller scale at Digby to serve the fishing fleet operating out of the port.

MacLeod Superintendent School For Girls

William (Bill) MacLeod has been appointed the first superintendent at the Nova Scotia School for Girls and will assume his new duties in Truro later this month.

A Halifax native, Bill has been in Digby since 1960 with the Department of Welfare. He has been in welfare work for twelve years, and among his many activities, acts as director of the Emergency Measures Organization's welfare services for the Town of Digby.

Since coming to Digby, Bill has been active in a great number of organizations. He is a member of the Board of Stewards of Grace United Church, a past president of Digby Recreation Commission, a past president of Digby Kiwanis Club, and vice-chairman of the centennial steering committee for the town.

He has been active in baseball in this area and was instrumental in organizing and developing the Digby Little League Baseball. The little league has now grown to consist of four teams plus bantam and midget teams which have played in provincial play-downs the past two years. Bill heads a group arranging Digby's part when the town hosts other teams in a little league centennial tournament in July of this year. He has played ball with Weymouth Pontiacs for several years and was a member of the team that won the Nova Scotia Intermediate title in 1965. He also played with the Meteghan Lions who won the Yarmouth County League in 1966. Bill has been a head coach in the Minor Hockey League for six years.

He and his wife, Lorraine, and their two children, Billy, 7, and Cheryl, will leave Digby, April 21th.

The Digby Metropolitan Store celebrated at a dance Thursday evening at Le Civo Restaurant, Charles Bond, President, E. L. Sanster, Digby Metropolitan and Mrs. Sanster, the store staff, Frank T. Hall, Halifax Metropolitan supervisor for the western Maritimes, and Digby Mayor C. D. Snow and Mrs. Snow.

During the evening, efficiency awards were presented to Mr. Sanster. The awards, a travelling plaque and a personal one, presented by Mr. Hall, were for efficiency in all phases of operation during the last half of 1966. The Digby achievement was made over many larger stores in the supervisory area which includes the cities of Halifax, Saint John and Fredericton, and a number of towns in Nova Scotia. The award to the supervisory area comprising the other half of the Maritimes went to the Summerside store.

April Strawberry Harvest

Next Wednesday evening, people from Digby County and area, adults and teenagers, will be harvesting strawberries. It is suggested to avoid disappointment nobody should whet their appetites. Just nibble the fingers. The strawberries being harvested will be plastic.

M. E. Jamerson, William LeFort and George Kalin, manager of a strawberry farm in Florida will be on hand to demonstrate and instruct on strawberry harvesting. They will use regular 12 pt. flats, picking carriers and strawberries (plastic) to show the proper method of picking, grading and packing. Films will also be used for demonstrating.

The strawberry harvest training school is open to everybody no matter where they live or work. Adults and youth, both are expected to take advantage of the free instruction which will be given at the auditorium of the Digby Regional High School.

Digby Needs

Three things were suggested to The Digby Courier this week for the Digby Needs column. They were the old town clock restored, rest room facilities and the bringing of two seamen monuments from Bay View to Digby. The latter thought was prompted by interest in the Memorial Bell centennial plans.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winchester, Smith's Cove, were pleasantly surprised at their home on Friday evening, April 17th, the occasion being their 47th Wedding Anniversary, when members of the immediate family dropped in to spend the evening. A corsage was presented to Mrs. Winchester by her granddaughter, Miss Susan Woodman. An anniversary cake was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Winchester by their daughter, Mrs. Clayton Woodman, also a floor lamp was given to the couple on behalf of those present. The evening was spent in music and reminiscing followed by delicious refreshments served by Mrs. Clayton Woodman and Mrs. Robert Harrison. The friends then left for their respective homes after wishing the happy couple many more anniversaries.

Prime Minister Endorses Library Week In Canada

I am pleased once again to accept the invitation to lend my patronage to Canadian Library Week for 1967.

In this age where the pace of life sometimes seems to move at jetliner speed, the rich, leisurely pleasure still to be enjoyed in the world of books is something we can all appreciate. By reminding all of us that this aspect of our busy and complicated era remains the same, Canadian Library Week serves a most important purpose.

It is in books that we can find the accumulated wisdom of the ages. They make it possible for us to draw on all of mankind's past experiences to enlighten the problems of our present and guide us as we face the challenges of the future. In the books found on our library shelves, we can also relive the great adventures of the past as recorded by historians; we can enrich our minds with the inspiration of poetry and other creative works and take advantage of the knowledge and thought recorded by the generations that have preceded us.

From our librarians we have

ready assistance in guiding us to the books that cover the matters of particular interest to us. From their knowledge and experience and competence it is possible for anyone to enjoy the works which interest him the most.

I hope Canadian Library Week will remind us all of the wealth that remains available to everyone, regardless of means or station in life, within the covers of the books on library shelves.

Maritime Area Economy Topic Of A.P.E.C. President's Address

Gilbert Finn, president of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council was guest speaker at the regular semi-monthly supper meeting of the Richelieu Club held at Le Cave restaurant at which representatives from the Kiwanis club of Weymouth, Lions club of Meteghan and Club Acadien of Ste. Anne were in attendance. President Felix Thibodeau presided.

Mr. Finn's theme was the economy of the Maritime provinces. He stated that the economy of the Maritime provinces is not as flourishing as the other provinces in Canada and the standard of living is not as high. The per capita revenue in 1960 was 68.8 per cent of the rest of the provinces. Unemployment in 1966 was 6.4 per cent of the work force compared with 3.4 per cent in other parts of Canada.

Before Confederation, said Mr. Finn, the Maritime provinces were exporters and following the union they became importers. The importation of goods did not help the economy of the Maritime provinces nor did the geographic position and great distances to the central Canada markets.

The legislatures had forgotten the Maritime provinces for the first half of the century while the industrial areas received the greater share of attention. Fishing, agriculture and lumbering were the great industries with very little manufacturing taking place in the Maritimes.

Twelve years ago the Maritime Board of Trade became aware of the economic problems of the Maritime provinces and decided that something constructive should be done to ease the difficult problems facing the peoples of these areas.

An organization was formed to make a research of the economic problems and to strive to correct them. The organization provoked action and alerted public opinion. It discovered the problems to be faced and made them known. A new spirit was instituted in the Maritime provinces. Various governmental organizations are available to assist in remedying the economic problems, stated Mr. Finn. They are the tools and it is up to us to use them.

APEC illustrates what can be done by groups, said Mr. Finn, who are interested in helping others. He told the audience to continue to press the legislatures and make known to our representatives, what we want. We should make known our economic situation of in comparison with other parts of Canada, stated Mr. Finn.

Mr. Finn said that education must change with the times and we must pay the price for the change. Adults must be retrained and educated. He stated that experts have stated that in 1970 only 6 per cent of the work force would be employed with an education of less than grade area.

Mr. Raymond LeBlanc, president of College Ste. Anne's of Church Point, spoke briefly and thanked Mr. Finn. He told the Acadians to be more united in their enterprise. The talent is here we show that we can improve

90 Years Back

FROM EARLY FILES OF THE DIGBY COURIER

(By V. Bent)

April 20, 1877

Some 1877 property owners names in a Supreme Court case under Summary causes are as follows: "The case of the Railway versus E. R. Oakes, W. S. Gilpin, J. R. Hunt, Michael Merrill, Allen O'Dell, Benjamin Hunt, John Thomas, William Smith, John S. Sulis, Jacob Hardy, Timothy Titus, E. W. Potter, Margaret Hegan, Elize Dakin, Joseph H. Saunders, James R. Brien, John Holdsworth."

"Several disasters by land attended the gale on Friday night last. A new house being built by Mr. John Everett was blown off its foundations and badly damaged; a house, in course of construction at Mistake Settlement, South Range, owned by Mr. Ambrose Tibedo was demolished and a newly erected barn owned by Mr. Philip Amero, was also blown down and destroyed."

Editorial of above date felt that "Judge Savary who is presiding at the County Court this week is 'wasted' in the position. We lament that he should remain in this legal 'nodus', perhaps for many years to come, when his superior abilities might be possessed by this province for a more elevated appointment, and one that he would grace with becoming dignity; we mean his appointment shortly as Judge of the Supreme Court."

Conduct of some of the Honorable Members in Ottawa was 'taken to task' in an article in the Courier of that date. "... snoring during debates — amusing themselves by dancing to a Jewsharp — throwing pellets at the hats of other hon. members — slamming the desk to drown the voice of their antagonists — ingeniously imitating the crowing of cocks, the grunting of hogs and other kindred animals" were some of the charges leveled at members.

However, the brook, haunting grounds of the trout, which runs the length of the Island, did not yield the usual supply of trout. Only a small number were reported caught.

Ste. Anne's Collegians Win Championship

The Acadian Basketball tournament was held at Ste. Anne's College basketball court on Saturday, April 8th, with four teams participating. College Ste. Anne, Ste. Anne-du-Ruisseau, Clare Old Timers and Clare District High School. College Ste. Anne won the championship going through without a defeat.

Ste. Anne's College and Ste. Anne-du-Ruisseau tangled in the first match with the collegians winning by a scant margin of 47-43 in a thrilling game which held the spectators spellbound right up to the whistle. Ste. Anne's collegians held a 38-10 lead in the first half and it looked like they would swamp the visitors but Ste. Anne-du-Ruisseau put on a burst of speed and fine playing to dwindle down the lead and nearly overtake the collegians.

The Clare Old Timers defeated the Clare District High School 58-40. The more experienced Old Timers completely dominated the play throughout the first two quarters taking a 37-18 lead. The second half was marked by a strong effort by both teams but the youthful players could not overpower the Old Timers.

The finals was played with the Collegians defeating the Old Timers of Clare to the tune of 71-36. It was the feature of the day and a battle for the championship trophy. Both teams started slowly and the Collegians took an 11-4 lead at the first quarter. Youth and stamina took charge of the game as the Collegians dominated the play and winning handily. Fernand Comeau, of Ste. Anne's, scored 29 points.

Consolation game was won by Ste. Anne-du-Ruisseau, defeating Clare District High School 63-23. The first half ended in a 14-14 tie, but Ste. Anne-du-Ruisseau put the pressure on and put up a tight defence allowing but a single point to be scored by Clare while scoring 49 themselves. Trophy winners were: Guards, M. Levesque, of Ste. Anne's, Collegians with 17 points; F. Pothier of Ste. Anne-du-Ruisseau with 17 points; Fernand Comeau of Ste. Anne's, Collegians with 44 points; C. La-pierre, Collegians, with 21 points; and Rene Thibault, of Clare Old Timers with 23 points. Most valuable player award presented to Bernard Comeau, of Ste. Anne's Collegians with 44 points.

Clean-up Week

Acting Trade and Industry Minister G. I. Smith said today the week of May 1-6th was being recommended to municipal leaders in the province as Clean-Up Week.

Mr. Smith made the statement in the absence of the Hon. W. S. K. Jones who is chairman of the Province's Interdepartmental Committee on Beautification.

The acting trade and industry minister noted that in past years various urban centres and rural municipalities in the province had initiated their own clean-up campaigns. He said that in view of the fact that this was Canada's Centennial year the Province was placing increased emphasis on clean-up and beautification campaigns.

Mr. Smith said that as a result of EXPO '67 Nova Scotia could expect more visitors and tourists than any year in the past. He said he hoped all citizens of the province would spare no effort to insure that their respective communities were made as attractive to visitors as possible.

The minister said the Department of Trade and Indus-

S.O.S. Sermon

At the Bear River Baptist Church on Sunday, Rev. Bartol spoke on "S.O.S. - Save Our Sunday."

He said that in Old Testament times there were fifteen hundred rules concerning the Sabbath, for instance: "If you were bitten by a flea, you couldn't exterminate the flea, because it would be hunting, or if an ox fell in a pit you could get it out, but if a man fell in, he had to stay there until the next day."

Today he said, people have gone from one extreme to another, there are people who are commercializing Sunday. There is the half Sunday, go to church in the morning but not in the evening, and there are those who go in the winter but not in the summer. There are those, he said, who neglect Sunday altogether. People do not seem to realize that we need to save Sunday for the soul, he continued.

A nursery has been started at the church on Sunday morning and has proved to be a success.

VOLUME XCII, No. 36

Nova Scotians Go To Polls

A general election has been called in Nova Scotia for Tuesday, May 30th. The announcement was made Thursday by Premier Robert Stanfield following a three day tour of the Eastern Nova Scotia.

The Conservative government under Premier Stanfield came into power in 1956. This is the third election called since that time by Premier Stanfield. Previous to 1956 the Liberals held office for 23 years.

Lieutenant Governor H. P. MacKeen dissolved Nova Scotia's 48th general assembly after being elected, nearly three years and nine months ago.

Already the Liberals in Clare have nominated Benoit Comeau, son of the late Senator J. W. Comeau as candidate; Annapolis West Conservatives have nominated Kenneth Green. A nominating convention is called for the Conservatives in the District of Digby for Saturday night and for the Liberals of the District of Digby for Tuesday night.

Dies In New York

Dr. Channing LeFebvre, a long time summer resident of Digby, passed away in New York on Friday.

A noted organist and music arranger, Dr. LeFebvre was for many years organist at the Trinity Church, Wall Street, New York. He was also in charge of music at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., for a number of years. For the past several years Dr. LeFebvre has been in Manila and only returned to New York recently for a short stay prior to coming to Digby.

Over the years he was a summer resident in Digby. Dr. LeFebvre took a keen and active interest in community affairs and for two years was Commodore of the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club. On occasion he also presided at the organ of Trinity Church, Digby, for some of the services during the summer.

Dr. LeFebvre is survived by his wife and one son, Clifford. Funeral was held from Trinity Church, New York.

No vast sums were needed for drugs, no helicopter was needed for removal. All in all this fifteen foot, two-tonner Minke whale, which stranded on the shore by the C. D. Snow Co. Ltd., fish plant on Saturday had it all over Mobey Joe of Newfoundland waters. All he needed was a little persuasion by the fisheries department, police authority, and a tow line and the help of the noted Bay of Fundy tide and he was again a free and active member of the living wave population. Above are seen Mark, Christopher, Pamela and Bruce Haliday, children of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Haliday gleefully watching the antics or distress gestures of the large marine mammal shortly after its plight was discovered. The whale evidently came in with the 9 a.m. high tide but had not been discovered until several hours later.

Streams of salt water kept the large inhabitant of the sea lively and comfortable while the next tide was awaited. Then, with the aid of a tow line guided by fishery authorities at Digby and town police, the mammal was hauled to more familiar surroundings. According to one of his rescuers the whale towed on his back for some time when suddenly he gave an enervated flip and was away on his own after snapping the tow line.

'Yes' Or 'No' Vote On Digby Co. Exhibition

"Exhibitions today are no longer a one day fair, they are big business, the little fellow is on the way out. We may regret it but nothing much can be done." These were the words uttered by Jack Harris on Saturday night when he placed before eighteen persons the problems which face the Digby County Exhibition. Mr. Harris is president of the Bear River Agricultural Society which sponsors the Digby County Exhibition. One of the most discouraging features on Saturday was the small turnout for the special meeting to decide the fate of the Digby County Exhibition. It was decided to call another meeting on May 6th to deal specifically with a "yes" or "no" in the matter of continuing The Digby County Exhibition.

Mr. Harris listed some of the major and also most urgent things to be done. They included better dining room and cook house facilities, better toilet facilities and a new grand stand. A number of other items were listed for attention. They included the hauling ring, electric lines, new booths, loud speaking system, hot water system, three new sinks for kitchen, stoves, cupboard and a number of others. It was roughly estimated that the repairs and changes would run into the vicinity of $6,000 or $7,000, and the funds available showed only $1000. Added to the problems of financing was also that of time, especially for the secretary-treasurer who must keep accurate records of Canada Pension, Unemployment Insurance, Income Tax, Compensation, Minimum Wage and Hospital Tax as well as other records. Although the resignation of secretary treasurer, Chipman Chisholm, was discussed by Mr. Snow.

P.C. President Addresses Digby Group

Maurice Flemming, Shelburne, president of the Nova Scotia Progressive Conservative Association was guest speaker when the Digby P.C. Association executive met at the Digby Fire Hall on Thursday.

In paying tribute to Premier Robert Stanfield, Mr. Flemming said he is a great Canadian, a great Nova Scotian, and the greatest leader Nova Scotia ever had. He said the Conservatives could win all 46 Nova Scotia seats. Conservatives, he said, must deserve to win and be ready to win. Candidates for an election, he said must be persons of integrity and honesty and not afraid to speak out. They must also be doers.

The speaker reviewed the progressive record of the Stanfield government and said that the government is willing to admit its faults but is entitled to support on the progressive record it has achieved.

George Snow, M.L.A., Yarmouth, reviewed the government's road projects completed and in process. Industry, he said, is now more anxious to locate in the province and there is not now the exodus of young people to other provinces looking for jobs as there had been. He spoke of the fine educational program in Nova Scotia and of the importance of education to youth. The progress in farming in Nova Scotia was also discussed by Mr. Snow.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard, Tiverton, recently observed their 50th wedding anniversary quietly at their Tiverton home.

Mrs. Howard regretted the fact that ill health prevented her from holding an "open heart" for their many friends on the occasion. However, several friends, including minister J. Derby and Mrs. Derby, called on the couple to offer congratulations.

The ceremony which united Mr. and Mrs. Howard 50 years ago was performed by minister of the Church of Christ (Disciples), Mr. J. Derby at the home of their attendants, the late Mr. and Mrs. Burwell Outhouse at Tiverton.

POWER SITES UNDER STUDY

A consortium of nine companies will undertake engineering studies of the tidal power potential of the Bay of Fundy under government contracts, it was announced Monday night. The wide-ranging studies will cover several proposed sites for massive tidal power plants: Annapolis Basin and St. Mary's Bay, Chignecto Bay, Minas Basin. The sites are all near the New Brunswick-Nova Scotia border where the tides are among the highest in the world.

The scientific studies will be financed jointly by the two provinces and the federal government under an agreement signed last August. No estimate of the cost was announced. The three governments formed the Atlantic Tidal Power Programming Board under the chairmanship of C. M. Isbister, deputy minister of the federal resources department.

The consultants are Lasalle Hydraulic Laboratory Limited of Lasalle, Quebec; Acres Limited of Toronto; Tidal Power Consultants of Montreal; and Surveyor, Nenniger, Chenevert of Montreal in joint venture with Conlon Engineering Limited of Amherst, Nova Scotia, and Associated Designers and Inspectors, of Fredericton.

The programming board is charged with the responsibility of carrying out studies and surveys of the physical and economic potential of the development of electric power from the tides of the Bay of Fundy and its transmission to markets in Canada as well as the United States.

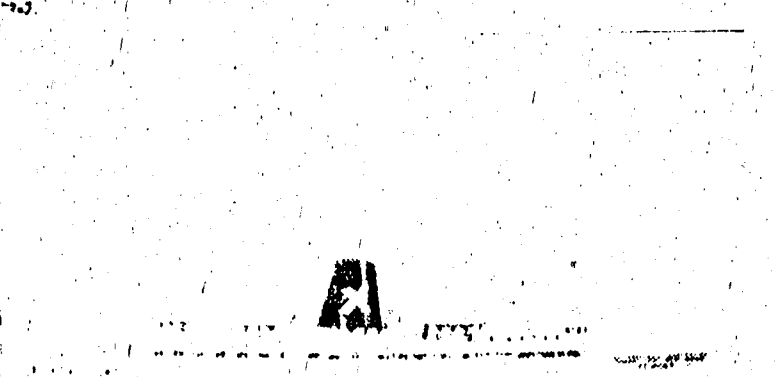

Technical and economic feasibility studies are being directed by the board's engineering and management committee. A study centre has been established in Halifax under the supervision of F. E. Lawton. The centre has been actively collecting and compiling data with respect to tides, geology, depths of water and the general characteristics of the area.

Lasalle Hydraulic Laboratory will carry out key investigations into the tidal resources of the Bay of Fundy. These studies will include studies of the design to which tidal power developments might effect the construction of the area. Studies of the area's characteristics can be generated by the data at several proposed tidal power sites. Lasalle, a Canadian company specializing in hydraulic studies, will work in conjunction with the firm of Societe de Grenoble, France. Both firms have had considerable experience in tidal power studies. Lasalle in the Bay of Fundy and Saguenay, in France, Argentina and Australia. Lasalle has also had extensive experience in the design of harbour facilities, hydraulic components for hydroelectric developments and navigation aids. A consultant to Lasalle will be Dr. Robert Ebrahri of France, recognized as the father of tidal power development.

The other consultants will carry out site investigation studies in the various areas mentioned. Investigation in the Annapolis Basin and St. Mary's Bay will be undertaken by Surveyor, Nenniger and Chenevert in joint venture with Conlon Engineering Limited and Associated Designers and Inspectors. Conlon has worked extensively on tidal dykes and other works in the Bay of Fundy area.

These firms will be part of a team comprising the board's engineering and management committee, the study director and other consultants or specialized agencies. This team will bring the most relevant experience from different parts of the world to bear on this study to determine the feasibility of developing the enormous quantities of power from this great natural resource.

Hovercraft For Bay Of Fundy Ferry Service?

Centennial Run

A group of students from Digby Regional High School will participate in a centennial relay run, this Saturday. All five schools in the Western Annapolis Valley Congress will take part in the run from Digby to Middleton. The section allotted for DRHS students is from Digby to Cornwalls.

Theme of the 1967 relay is the "Youth of the Valley", showing the great energy of the young people and their willingness to cooperate in this large undertaking.

The race will terminate in Middleton with a guest speaker opening the A.V.W.S.C. dance in which there will be some five hundred students taking part.

The possibility of hovercraft being established on the Digby to Saint John ferry service is being investigated by manufacturers of the craft and government agencies, it is understood, and may be in operation before the end of the year.

James G. Mills, vice-president and managing director of Bell Aerosystems (Canada), Toronto, said this week his company and British Hovercraft Ltd. have been negotiating with various Atlantic agencies with a view to establishing a pilot project involving two SRN-6 hovercraft in the Maritime region by the end of November. The pilot project would lead to a bigger operation involving the now under construction, SRN-4, hovercraft, a much larger unit he said.

Other Maritime routes mentioned for the pilot project were Yarmouth-Bar Harbor, and several Northumberland Strait crossings.

The SRN-6 has a capacity of 35 passengers, the larger unit could accommodate 250 passengers and 30 cars. Both would have a water speed of 70 m.p.h.

Mr. Mills said both federal and provincial government agencies are looking at hovercraft with increasing interest and it is only a matter of time before they will be in use in this area. He said the Voluntary Economic Planning Board Industrial Estates Ltd., the Atlantic Development Board and other private concerns have been interested in the idea. He hoped a company would soon be formed to start the pilot project.

The hovercraft might prove to be of considerable value as far as the Atlantic fishing industry is concerned, Mr. Mills suggested. An SRN-4 could carry 80 tons of fish from Yarmouth to Bar Harbor in only an hour and 40 minutes, he said.

The aim of the Cape St. Mary's Anglers Association is to encourage deep sea sports fishing in this area. A clubhouse was constructed two years ago and improvements have been made to the building. It is situated near the shoreline with a beautiful view of St. Mary's Bay and the fishing grounds. Irving Dulong will again be manager of the clubhouse and will be the official weigh-master of the Fishorama and the International Tuna Tournament which will be held on August 22nd to August 25th at Cape St. Mary's and Wedgeport.

The following countries will be represented in the tuna tournament: Canada, United States, Mexico, Greece, Caribbean and Venezuela.

Digby Generals Defeat Cornwallis

It looks as if the season ended too early for the Digby (Hospital) Generals. This team played all season at the Forum and won only a couple of games, but now that spring (by the calendar) is here the Generals are beginning to get into shape. They are playing their best hockey against a team from the Cornwallis hospital staff in their Arena and have won two straight games in the past two weeks.

The team has motored to Cornwallis the past two Thursday evenings and have won both games by the scores of 10-1 and 8-5. A good deal of fan support has also followed the team on their venture.

The Generals are now planning for the upcoming baseball season and nominated a captain for their softball team. The captain is Ernie Gaudet who also is the captain of the hockey team.

be distributed to the winners during the International Tuna Tournament week at a reception that will be given by the Cape St. Mary's Anglers Association to the participants of the tuna tournament.

Norman Pothier has also announced that there will be deep sea fishing tournaments planned between social and civic organizations of Clare and other areas in Nova Scotia during the summer season. Deep sea fishing is a healthy sport, stated Mr. Pothier and is gaining in popularity all along the eastern coastline of the United States and in Nova Scotia. Seven boats will be available at Cape St. Mary's for deep sea fishing with capable captains and crews aboard. Three mercury lights have been installed on the clubhouse and nearby area by the association, stated Mr. Pothier. Picnic tables will be placed on the clubhouse grounds for the public.

The St. Mary's Anglers Association sponsored a navigation short course during the winter months at which many fishing captains of the area

Digby Retains Thompson Trophy

A team composed of boys from D.R.I.S. defeated Cornwallis 10-9 in a two game total goal series played in Cornwallis on Saturday and Sunday for the right to claim the Thompson trophy. This trophy is played for annually between Digby and Cornwallis boys. Digby won the trophy two years ago and has held it for the two years since Cornwallis was unable to ice a team last season for the event.

The first game was played Saturday evening with the Cornwallis boys taking an early lead as they skated all over the Digby team who for the most part hadn't been on skates for three weeks, but in the third period our team came alive and at one point led the Cornwallis boys 7-6 but were unable to hold the lead and so the game ended in a 7-7 tie. Scoring in this game for Digby went as follows: G. Johnson; D. Doucette (L. Budd); H. Stark (D. Doucette); D. Doucette (H. Stark); P. Connelly; D. Doucette; D. Doucette (H. Stark); H. Stark (D. Doucette); G. Harris. Cornwallis goals came from Paul (Fraser); B. Stark (Paul); Fraser (B. Stark); Paul; B. Stark (Fraser); B. Stark (Fraser, Paul); D. Sanford; Fraser (B. Stark).

The second game was played Sunday evening with our team winning 3-2 in a close battle. Congratulations are extended to this team in their fine showing.

took advantage. Captain Louis Romaine of Meteghan was in charge of the course. The association plans on organizing a more advanced course next fall.

Leading Scorers WVHL. — Bruce Campbell of the Cornwallis Cougars and J. P. Solomon of Ste. Anne's Academics were the recipients of the Leading Scorer's trophy in Western Valley Hockey League regular play.

Arthur Everett, of Digby, Vice-President of the league placed before the meeting, he decided to reconsider for the time being.

One fact clearly made was that governments are not interested in financing buildings used for only a few days in the year. Another fact which seemed to be emphasized was that a successful exhibition needs to involve more people as workers.

Two major questions were posed on numerous occasions at the meeting — Where is the money coming from? Who will do the work? Great stress was laid on the latter question when considering in the affirmative the continuance of the Digby County Exhibition.

Most prominent of those who supported the continuance of the exhibition was Howard Yorke. His philosophy was that "We can't do it all in one year. We should carry on the best we can". When the suggestion came up of Digby or Weymouth locations for the exhibition, Mr. Yorke recalled when John Thomas tried to locate the exhibition originally in Little Brook and Digby, but it was turned down. Bear River took it up. Mr. Yorke recalled helping to build the first barn on the exhibition field. He recalled the work done in the past years and stated that he remembered when Digby County Exhibition and two others were the only exhibitions within the provincial exhibition association which had their heads out of water financially.

Mr. Yorke was not happy in the way that exhibitions are getting away from the trend of agriculture, their real purpose, into midways.

Further Mr. Yorke recalled that until ten or twelve years ago the exhibition received no grant from the Digby municipality. Now they get $250 having had the grant raised from the original $100. It was stated that the smallest municipal grant to exhibitions other than Digby is $900.

The general tone of the meeting was that whatever decision is made about the Digby County Exhibition it should be made by the Digby County people.

donated the trophy which is for annual competition. J. P. Solomon had 21 points on 15 goals and 6 assists while Bruce Campbell had 21 points made up of 11 goals and 10 assists. The Cougars downed the Academics 7-0 in the final game to win the WVHL championship.

P. C. Address (Continued from page 1)

R. Baden Powell stressed the point that the provincial government is interested in doing something for the 1300 people on Brier and Long Island. Speaking about a proposed causeway over Petit Passage, he said the province is willing to go ahead and do its part and it has made that point clear. He continued that if it had not been for the provincial government the project would not have gone as far as it had.

The speakers were thanked by Mrs. A. J. Dillon, president of the Digby P. C. Women's Association. She commended the three speakers for what they had done for Western Nova Scotia.

The meeting was presided over by president Keith Raymond, Centerville, and sight reading were among the entries. Fourteen numbers were in the family groups on Tuesday evening.

from. Since the continuation of Red Cross services is entirely dependent upon each branch meeting or exceeding its quota, it was moved that the sum of $100 be donated from Digby Branch funds raised by the Ways and Means Committee toward the campaign, thus ensuring that Digby total would go "over the top". The Ways and Means Committee reported a favorable balance, with March receipts of $14.25 and disbursements of $8.02 for local welfare. Thanks were extended by the President for the receipt by the Sickroom Loan Committee of donations totalling $12.80 for the use of wheelchairs and crutches loaned by the Branch.

In the report of the Women's Work Committee, Mrs. H. M. Warne stated that 12 quilts had been shipped to Red Cross Headquarters in Halifax, and a new shipment of quilt cottons had been received by the Branch. The hope was expressed that one or more of the special "star" quilts pieced by Mrs. Oscar VanTassell and made up by the Branch members might be on display at the Annual Meeting of the Nova Scotia Division being held in Halifax this week. It was reported that Mrs. R. B. Lent, Dr. T. W. Hodgson, Mrs. G. R. Weir and Mrs. H. M. Warne would be attending this meeting.

In reporting on the recent Blood Donor Clinic held at the Lion's Club Hall, satisfaction was expressed that this with 225 donors registered. Congratulations were extended by the Branch to the Blood Donor Chairman, E. B. Tufts, and his committee, together had been one of the most successful clinic in some time.

Credit Union Enlarges

St. Mary's Credit Union of St. Mary's parish of Church Point held a special meeting in the village of Concession recently for the purpose of officially admitting Mont St. Carmel parish into the fold of St. Mary's Credit Union. Pierre Alphonse Belliveau, of Bellevue Cove, and representative of St. Francis Xavier Extension Division was guest speaker and explained how a Credit Union operates and benefits that can be derived from it.

A very good attendance made the meeting an interesting one. St. Mary's Credit Union only recently received permission to extend their coverage into the Concession area. A credit union had been organized in Concession approximately 20 years ago but it did not operate very long.

— Spring Magic —

There is magic in my heart today
It's like a lovely song
It comes when springtime flowers bloom
And sunny days are long.

I see it in the daffodils
That dot the growing lawn
And find it in the gentle showers
Hear it in the robin's song.

It makes me want to sing and shout
This magic in my heart.
And I just want to send it forth
So all can have a part.

'Tis this re-birth of mystery
This strange elusive thing
That comes within the heart of me
Whenever it is spring.

History Of Ste. Croix (Holy Cross) Parish, Plympton

The recorded history of Sirois, Ruest, and Semery. Holy Cross parish dates from early in the year 1838, when registers of Baptisms, Marriages, and burials were kept specially for that part of St. Mary's Bay.

Around Christmas, 1837, Father Ansart was sent from France to act as assistant priest to Father Sigogne, Pastor of Church Point. He was given charge of two missions: St. Mande (Meteghan), and St. Croix (Plympton). The Mission of Holy Cross covered Bear River, Digby, Annapolis, Bridgetown, Granville, Digby Neck and Islands to the east, and to the west, Corberrie, Weymouth, and sometimes St. Bernard.

On January 14, 1838, Father Ansart administered Baptism in Plympton for the first time, when he received into the Church Susanne Henriette Comeau, born that very day. From this moment the recorded history of the parish begins.

It was at about this time that the first chapel was built at Holy Cross, and it stood where the cemetery is located now, in front of the present calvary scene's site.

It is believed that this first chapel was built by one Matthias Melanson. Older residents of the parish tell us of stories they have heard from their parents of Mass being offered in homes of the parish before the erection of the chapel. Eventually there was a house used as a rectory when the priest was in the village, located across the highway from the church and cemetery.

Father Ansart was replaced in 1842 by Fr. Zepherin Leveque, another missionary from France. After his time in office, the mission was served for fifty years by a long succession of priests, most of whom were of Irish origin. These were: Fathers McKeagney, McLeod, Nugent, Hannon, McDonald, Madden, Carnody, Rogers, Butler, Warlop, Gay, Daly, Mark, Smith, T. Butler, O'Connor, Grace, Driscoll, and Parker. By 1886 St. Bernard had become a parish in its own right and Holy Cross became a mission served by the pastor of that parish.

In 1892, Holy Cross was given a resident priest and became a parish when Fr. Louis Dechenneau was appointed to Plympton and took over the care of souls from Fr. Parker, pastor of St. Bernard. In 1881 a new church was under construction to replace the original chapel. It measured 100' by 40', and the stations of the Cross were erected in 1890, when the church was completed inside and out. This beautiful edifice stood until 1938. A new rectory was also begun in the spring of 1891, to be ready for the coming of the first resident pastor in the following year.

From 1892 until 1909 the parish was served by priests of French-Canadian origin: Fr's Dechenneau, Dupuis,

After that time, the pastors of Holy Cross were native Acadian priests, the first of which was Father P. C. Thibault, who acted as pastor for 14 years until 1923. It was during Father Thibault's time that a mission church was built at Doucetteville. He was followed in office by Father Michel Doucet, who was pastor from 1923 to 1929, when Fr. Luc Gaudet became parish priest.

It was upon Father Gaudet's shoulders that fell the terrible sorrow of losing the church to fire. On June 3, 1938, the church, rectory, parish hall, and three outbuildings burned to the ground in the space of an hour and a half. The early revenues at that time came to only about $1,100.00, but by dint of strict budgeting and a lot of work by himself, parishioners, and friends, he managed to raise the money to put up a house and a church. In May, 1930, less than one year after the burning, the cornerstone of a new church was blessed by Mgr. Bourneuf, dean in the presents of about one thousand persons. The interior of the church was completed about ten years later under the pastorate of Rev. Leopold d'Entremont.

During Father Gaudet's time at Holy Cross the second church at Doucetteville was finished and a chapel built at Marshalltown to serve the Catholic families there.

Father Louis LeBlanc succeeded Fr. Gaudet in 1943 and served the parish and its three missions of Doucetteville, Marshalltown and Digby Neck until 1947. Fr. Leopold d'Entremont was parish priest until 1954, when he was succeeded by Rev. R. N. Deveau, who was pastor until 1965.

1958 saw one of the brightest spots in the history of Holy Cross with the arrival of three Sisters of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart. These good sisters came to the parish to do various kinds of work, and immediately won the hearts of the parishioners. Their work with the children, the sick and distressed, the parents and the youth leaves an impact upon the life of the parish that is irreplaceable.

Today Holy Cross Parish includes one mission only: Sacred Heart, Doucetteville; the chapels of Marshalltown, Digby Neck and Freeport have been under the care of Digby since 1948. Nevertheless, there are over two hundred families in the parish. Their cemetery is in the final stages of renovation, and they boast a beautiful if simple Roman style church, that would have been the envy of their Acadian ancestors of two hundred years ago.

Father David Stokes became shepherd of this deserving flock replacing Father Deveau, in 1965.

1966 Citizen Of The Year

Rev. Yvon Lanteigne of St. Ann's college staff of Church Point was guest of honor at a banquet held at the Riverside Inn at Meteghan River, sponsored by the Meteghan Lions Club. The honor bestowed on Rev. Lanteigne was as "Citizen of the year 1966" and he was presented with a plaque with this inscription: "Citizen of the Year 1966. Rev. Yvon Lanteigne. Presented by the Lions Club of Meteghan for outstanding community service". He also was presented with a portable radio by the club and Felix Thibodeau, president of the Richelieu Club, presented a gift of money on behalf of the Richelieu Club.

Rev. Louis Theriault pastor of Stella Maris parish of Meteghan was guest speaker for the evening who gave an outline of the work that Rev. Lanteigne has carried out for the Municipality of Clare in Digby County by organizing a camp for the youths of the area at Victor's Lake in Concession.

Today we are living in a world in which people have plenty of leisure time, said Rev. Theriault and parents who have leisure time must also realize that the children also have leisure time, on their hands. With so much leisure time, the youth must find a way to express themselves with so much energy on their hands.

With so much free time, stated Rev. Theriault, we must remember that we should share it with others. We must not be selfish. What Rev. Lanteigne is giving to the youth today is recognition. Youth expects to be recognized and felt that they are wanted, said Rev. Theriault.

Rev. Lanteigne, in response to the glowing praise given for his fine unselfish work among the youth of Clare, told the gathering that the honor is not his alone but must also be shared with Les Dames Patronesses of the Coline de la Jeunesse's Ac-diennes because without this group of ladies the summer camp project for youths in Concession, could not be operated successfully. These ladies with an enrollment of approximately 300, have helped to finance the operation of the camp, said Rev. Lanteigne, and they also have given much of their time in taking turns each day in the kitchen.

It is very interesting, to know that the people of Clare are aware of the work being done for the youths of this Municipality, said Rev. Lanteigne, and the encouragement given here tonight shows that the work with the youth is appreciated. The Meteghan Lions club was the first social club to donate to the summer camp project, said Rev. Lanteigne, by donating a very fine boat with an outboard motor. Other clubs helped also, such as the Richelieu Club, L'Assomption as well as individuals.

The Richelieu Club and Les Dames Patronesses of the C. J. A. were well represented and the Yarmouth and Digby Lions club sent delegations to attend the testimonial banquet to Rev. Lanteigne. Over one hundred and twenty-five attended the banquet and a standing ovation was given the energetic and unselfish working priest of the Eudiste Order, Rev. Lizotte and Rev. St. Laurent represented St. Ann's College while Rev. Roy Saulnierville, Rev. Louis Theriault of Meteghan and Rev. Liboire Amiraault of Concession represented the clergy of Clare.

In 1952 Rev. Yvon Lanteigne was sent to St. Ann's College while he was studying for the priesthood and it was while at St. Ann's he became aware that the youth of the area did not appear to have the initiative that they should have. He felt at that time that something should be done to correct this fact. In 1956, he was ordained.

(Continued from page 7) While he was at the seminary, he gave much thought to the youths and what must be done for them. He finally had an idea to organize summer camps. In 1957, he was again sent to St. Ann's College by his superiors, to join the teaching staff. He was sent to one of the Endiste Order's College at Edmunston, St. Louis College, to replace an ill priest. While at St. Louis, he continued his planning to develop his idea of a camp.

It was in 1959 that he first was able to put his plan to work by organizing a Terrain de jeux (sports field) on St. Ann's College campus, during the summer holidays. His first venture proved quite successful and the leaders of the various sports were given a camping excursion as a reward for their efforts. This was the first camp for youth in the area.

In 1960 the "Colonie de la Jeunesse Acadienne" was organized, which consisted of a kitchen and open air dining area. This was opened in July and 35 young boys attended. Les Dames Patronnesses was organized the same year to help finance and work at the camp kitchen. In 1961 a dormitory was added and in 1962 a personnel building was constructed. In 1963 a new chapel was built on the grounds at Victor's Lake at Concession, where the summer camp is situated. Since then the grounds have been improved and facilities improved with electrical power and a water system installed. The camp is in a pleasing area on the shores of Victor's Lake, where the youths of Clare can enjoy good clean Christian fun and where development of character take place.

DIRECTLY OPPOSITE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA — DIGBY, N. S.

Council Urged To Call Another Ratepayers Meeting

In a report on the operation of Digby public schools, councillor Greg Gillatt said that 35% of the full staff have tendered their resignations since January. This presents a serious problem, he said. The report was made at the May session of Digby Town Council, held Monday evening.

Fifteen D.R.I.S. teachers have resigned since January. Six vacancies still exist, he said, and there are few applications on file. The board has placed ads in newspapers in Montreal and London, England, Mr. Gillatt said, and the superintendent will interview prospects in Montreal during the week of May 8-12.

The regional board in regular session unanimously agreed that the Town Council be requested to call another ratepayers meeting in an attempt to resolve the present stalemate over school construction. Council was told by Mr. Gillatt. Since no reply had been received from the Attorney General's department, regarding validity of the January 26th meeting, it was thought the most expeditious method of breaking the stalemate would be to again present the problem to the ratepayers at another public meeting, he said.

Progress is being made with respect to plans for the Regional Vocational School in Middleton. Mr. Gillatt told Council. Personnel are being appointed to the staff, he said, and it is expected construction will get underway this summer and the school will open in September 1968.

Council supported a resolution drawn up by the Saint John Board of Trade requesting proposed new CBC-TV facilities for New Brunswick be located in Saint John instead of Fredericton.

Eighteen complaints were registered with Digby Police Department during the month of April, eleven of which required field investigation. All complaints have now been terminated to the satisfaction of persons concerned. Eleven cases warranted court action and all have been disposed of before the court. Five cases were under the Liquor Act, five under the Motor Vehicle Act, and one under the Criminal Code. Fines amounted to $105.00. Three motor vehicle accidents were investigated. One bicycle was stolen and returned. One person was charged with speeding and suffered the loss of license for seven days. Of nineteen parking tickets issued during the month, fifteen have been paid.

Mrs. Eileen Chipman told Council that while improvements are being made to the Town Hall, she would be pleased to supply any amount of geraniums for window boxes if Council desired. She was thanked for the gesture and told that she would be taken up on the offer.

Council was informed that dogs are "once again" on the rampage and there have been several complaints. Police Chief W. Dunn said the matter is under investigation and various methods of keeping stray dogs under control, including the use of tranquilizer guns, are being studied.

Town Council Resolves Digby School Stalemate

(NEWS RELEASE FROM DIGBY TOWN COUNCIL)

The Digby Town Council in special session on May 2nd, discussed and unanimously resolved to proceed immediately with school construction plans. On January 26th a ratepayers meeting approved a $105,000. borrowing resolution designed to cover the town's share of a school expansion program costing in the vicinity of $750,000. The January resolution was endorsed by the council and the town clerk instructed to immediately proceed to obtain approval of the resolution by the Department of Municipal Affairs. It is felt that since there has been a delay of some three months a considerable degree of urgency exists and there should be no further delay in finalizing plans for the actual construction of new school facilities.

The validity of the ratepayers meeting held on January 26th was questioned by a ratepayer of the town of Digby. Legal counsel was retained by this ratepayer in an attempt to prevent the town from proceeding with the school expansion program. Considerable delay resulted while the town was engaged in obtaining a firm legal opinion regarding the validity of the ratepayers meeting. In the interim period the school plan came to a virtual standstill. The school building committee appointed by the municipality and town was unable to formulate firm plans regarding construction.

Because of this delay and the uncertainty regarding building plans, the Regional Board experienced serious difficulty with its plan for staffing the Regional school for 1967-68. At the April meeting of the Regional School Board the superintendent of schools reported that over 33% of the school staff had resigned and that serious difficulty was being experienced in securing satisfactory replacements. Disturbed over the seriousness of this problem and the urgency for finalizing staff appointments, the

Council In Spring Session

Municipal Council opened for the semi-annual session at the Court House, Monday at 2 o'clock.

The system of administering welfare, in force for several years, has been changed as of May 1st. An agreement has been reached by the Municipality with the Dept. of Welfare, whereby welfare is being administered by a Dept. of Welfare office staff in the town of Digby, from May 1st on.

A letter was read from the Provincial government stating that a grant in lieu of taxes will be paid the Digby municipality for part of the Pines Golf Course lying within the boundaries of the municipality. No amount was stated.

"BOATS AND GEAR EXEMPT"—Haliburton "BETTER TRANSPORTATION NEEDED"—Regan

Gerald A. Regan, provincial Liberal Leader, promised immediate attention to Western Nova Scotia's transportation facilities, Tuesday evening. He was speaking at the Digby Liberal nominating convention, at the Lions Club Hall. Mr. Regan promised immediate action on a limited access thru-way from Halifax to Yarmouth via the Annapolis Valley and improved Saint John-Digby ferry service.

The convention nominated Phillip R. Woolaver to contest Digby constituency in the May 30th election. He won the contest on the second ballot over two other contenders, John R. Nichols, Digby lawyer, and Joseph H. Casey, fish processor. Mr. Woolaver, a Digby barrister, is chairman of the "Save Cornwallis" campaign. He told the convention that "the Conservatives may be a good government for one-third of the province, but we are not in that third." He said millions of dollars are being pushed into other areas of Nova Scotia for their improvement while the Stanfield government spends half a million here "to drive local farmers out of business."

Mr. Regan said western Nova Scotia can't share in the "Tory horn blowing about the surge of economic activity." Under the present administration, he said, "this area is an unwanted step-child, to be wined and dined at election time and ignored for the rest of the year." A combination of lack of interest by the government and lack of transportation facilities were the reasons Digby and the rest of western Nova Scotia had not shared in provincial economic development, the Liberal Leader told his audience.

Mr. Regan said a Liberal government would help existing industry, including farming and fishing. "In the case of fishing, one of our first acts as a government would be to sit down with federal officials to work out a program for modernization of wharves

Retired Teacher Lost Boat Cause Of Concern

The death of Margaret Russell, widow of the late John Russell, occurred at the Digby General Hospital on Wednesday, May 3rd, after a brief illness.

Funeral services will be held at Kentville United Church of St. Paul and St. Stevens, 3 p.m. Saturday, May 6th.

Born at Church Street, Kings Co., she was a daughter of the late Benjamin and Blanche (Mabee) Woodworth. A life long teacher in various parts of the province, she will be mourned by her many friends. She was a member of the United Church and of Eastern Star Lodge.

She is survived by two brothers, J. Charles and Frank, of Port Williams, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. J. M. Wallis, Editor of The Digby Courier, has been confined to her home following a highway mishap which occurred Saturday morning in Upper Granville. The car, driven by Mrs. Wallis, went out of control during the spring blizzard and left the highway. She suffered facial injuries.

A Digby native Lloyd Ellis, and three fishermen caused concern on both sides of the Bay of Fundy last weekend when their small fishing craft was overdue on its arrival in Digby after a hectic night on the Bay.

The four men left Lorneville, N. B., at 5 p.m. Friday on a trip to Digby, where they were to pick up a new boat. They were caught in a heavy gale and blizzard, and to prevent going ashore, were forced to ride at anchor until daylight. It is understood that considerable baling was required to keep the boat afloat, and at daylight, after the crew got their bearings, their journey was continued. They had anchored off Gd-fiver's Cove, it is believed, and arrived in Victoria Beach around 11:00 a.m. Saturday, where they received food and dry clothing. An air search from C.F.B. Greenwood was being prepared as soon as the storm abated.

They returned to New Brunswick with their new boat on Monday.

Lloyd Ellis is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Ellis, Digby, and has relatives in Victoria Beach.

The Honorable E. D. Haliburton, addressing the nomination convention of the Progressive Conservative Association for the electoral district of Digby on Saturday, April 29th, told the audience that for 1966 boats and gear assessed to fishermen and people engaged in the fishing industry would be exempt from municipal taxes. He said that the province will pay to the municipality the amount of taxes levied for 1966 against the fishermen. He said this includes all fishing vessels assessed in this Municipality, and all assessments made against fishing gear including lobster traps. He was speaking on the assistance the Provincial Government had given to Municipalities by way of reducing the tax burden on property tax payers. He said that the Provincial Department of Municipal Affairs had budgeted for an expenditure of an additional $5,000,000 during 1967 for assistance to Municipalities in providing police services, fire protection, water and lighting in order to assure that an acceptable standard of services would be available in the Towns in the Province. Similar assistance, he said, was being offered to county municipal units with respect to the exemption from taxation of fishing boats and gear, and farming equipment and stock. Mr. Haliburton said that even though a tax had been levied by the Municipality for these purposes, and had been included on the tax bills which were sent out, nevertheless, payment would be made by the Province. The Municipality, he said, would be required to refund any tax paid in respect to these assessments or, in alternative, to give the taxpayer credit for the amount of the tax levied where it remains unpaid at the present time.

In discussing the fishing industry, its past performance and prospects, Mr. Haliburton stated that fisheries production within the Province had doubled in dollar value over

Low Income Housing Proposed For Digby Municipality

At the semi-annual spring session of the Digby Municipality held at the Court House in Digby on Tuesday, Ralph Widrig from the Central Mortgage and Housing Commission, asked council to support a 50 year pilot project to upgrade the standard of living in Digby municipality.

He outlined the Public Housing Program and suggested a specific proposal for public housing in the Conway area. The project is designed for low cost, low income people. Mr. Widrig suggested a twelve unit pilot project to begin rent as low as $15, $20 monthly per unit. The units would be fully serviced with heat, water, hot water, stove and fridge, drilled wells and disposal plant. Mr. Widrig said "we have the choice of leaving these people in the standard of living they've been these last hundred years and more, or try to improve their living conditions."

The units will be under provincial and federal ownership and control and will cost the municipality nothing, said Mr. Widrig. The municipality will supply 12 1/2 percent of the capital cost and 12 1/2 percent of operating deficit, which will be paid back with interest of 6 1/2 %. These terms are provided for by a binding long-term agreement with the provincial and federal authorities. Payments in lieu of taxes will come to the municipality for the assessed value of the property. Total pay-back will more than offset the share of operating deficit. The municipality will come out ahead, each year, according to Mr. Widrig.

The project is open to all people who wish to apply for accommodation and the units monthly rent is from a low of $15, $20, to deluxe units of $100 and over, said Mr. Widrig. He added that municipalities across Canada are adopting the project and amazing

Army Launches Campaign

The Salvation Army Corps, Digby, got into serving with Armies all over Canada on May 1st in launching its annual Red Shield campaign. Lieut. Gerald Usher is chairman of the Digby County campaign which stretches all the way from the Annapolis County borderline to the Yarmouth County line and down Digby Neck and Islands.

Herbert Warren of the Bank of Nova Scotia is treasurer for the campaign and Mrs. J. M. Wallis is publicity chairman. Many of the canvassers are appointed to carry on the campaign into the homes and business areas of Digby County communities but the full complement of canvassers has not yet been secured.

The Salvation Army has been in service in Digby for more than 80 years but it was originally a movement in England before it reached Canada. The Movement, which in 1878, became known as The Salvation Army, originated in The Christian Mission meetings conducted in London, thirteen years previous, by the Rev. William Booth. Its aim is to preach the gospel to men and women untouched by ordinary religious efforts.

Once a year the Army appeals to the public to help financially toward their spiritual and social welfare ministry to all in need without regard to race, colour or creed. The Digby County objective is $2000.

STALEMATE

(Continued from page 1) Regional School Board in special session on April 27, unanimously decided to request the Town Council to once again seek approval of the $105,000 borrowing resolution. At the time of the school board meeting the Town Council had obtained no firm legal opinion regarding the validity of the January meeting. However, it is now understood that legal opinion has been received which would indicate that the ratepayers meeting of January 26th was valid. The main objection raised concerning the validity of the January meeting was based upon opinion regarding the eligibility of occupancy tax payers to vote at a town ratepayers meeting. The occupancy assessment is a new departure in assessment procedures with the new assessment replacing the old personal property assessment. Since this new assessment is actually based upon real property assessment and those so assessed are actual ratepayers, the town endorsed the legal opinion that occupancy tax payers are indeed eligible voters. Because of this information the Town Council decided against the Regional School Board's request that another meeting be called to resolve the difficulty. The council is of the opinion that the January meeting was valid and there is no reason for referring the resolution back to the town's ratepayers.

It is understood that an early meeting of the building committee will be scheduled at which time the preparation of preliminary plans will be discussed. It is the responsibility of the building committee to select an architect and obtain approval of the building site. The Regional Board expects the new facilities to be ready for September 1968.

Diatomaceous earth deposits in Digby County came under considerable discussion arising out of Councillor Gott's report on industrial Foundation of N. S., has been made over the past ten years into market, tonnage used, sources of present deposits in the world, amounts available, etc. Digby County is one of the few deposits of size left. Europe, according to Councillor Gott, has long since exhausted its sources of diatomaceous earth. The earth is used, among other uses, as filtering agents. Thousands of tons are used annually for various purposes throughout America, said councillor Gott.

Philip Dondale, Municipal Assessor came before council to explain changes in the assessment Act. He stated, assessors in the province were striving to level assessment to within 10% of valuation on all properties.

Air Field Expansion Plans

Plans are now on the table to expand the runway of the one year old Digby airfield.

At present the runway is 2,000 feet long with a gravel rolled surface and plans are now underway to expand it to 5,500 feet. It would then be possible to handle any size plane.

It has just been a little more than a year since the Digby Air Service Limited decided the Hill Grove location would be suitable for the strip and on April 12 this year it was officially opened.

Located just four miles from Digby the field is on the former Perry Porter property. Already flights are being made in and out of the airstrip and several charter flights have also originated here.

D.R.H.S. Five Year Champs

The debating team at Digby Regional High School have won the championship of the Annapolis Valley West Student's Congress for the fifth consecutive year. The decision was won over Bridgetown High 2-1. Digby supported the negative of "resolved that democracy is obsolete."

The Digby team presented not the democracies which are indeed fallible, but Democracy, an ideal which can never be obsolete and toward which mankind will never strive. The team was composed of John Black, Christine Dickie and Perry Spencer.

Bridgetown's debaters were Paul Mooney, Judy Weidhaas and Tim Ruggles. Judges were R. G. Cooper, Bridgetown, and Mrs. Helen Anthony and Rev. H. S. Hartlin, of Digby.

Those people who write cook books must, I suppose, expect us to read them, otherwise, why would they write so much? Have you ever read a cook book? I do not mean leafing through, imagining the taste and fragrance of exotic recipes, or how impressed your guests be when you serve them some spectacular dish. I mean, have you ever read all those pages at the beginnings of chapters which tell you how to preserve the vitamins in cauliflower, and how to get the onion smell out of the back bedroom? I have an Encyclopedia of cooking which has 180 pages of information of varying degrees of usefulness, before the recipes start, and 32 pages after they end, besides the bits at the beginnings of the chapters.

It's funny, you know, but the most verbose cook books seem to be sort of a middle class kind. Those paperback books which are sold for a dollar by the Lower Fish Cove Sewing Circle usually contain fourteen recipes for date bread, but never that fabulous little hint that if you invert a pan the same size as the one in which your date bread (or any quick bread for that matter) is cooking, for the first twenty minutes of baking, that no crack will form on the top. You don't find out from these books that the green color of vegetables comes from a substance called chlorophyll, the same substance which makes grass green, or that red vegetables turn redder and more attractive when there is acid in the water.

The glossy, posh, cookbooks almost never contain information. Once in a while, as in Julia Child's famous MASTERING THE ART OF FRENCH COOKING, or other Americanized foreign books, helpful little gems on the French, or Italian, or Spanish way of doing things are tossed in our direction, but generally the more expensive the book, the less explanation. Perhaps the authors figure that if you pay $7.50 or $15.00 for a book, you must have mastered the basics. The really expensive ones do not even have glossaries of cooking terms. I guess that anyone who is interested in making bouillabaisse must know that it is "a French soup made of fish, highly seasoned, and served in plates with dry toast." I am indebted for that definition to my good old middle-class encyclopedia.

Have you ever noticed, too, that the elite in the cook book world are usually comprehensive cook books. They are never called things like 1001 Ways to Serve Beef, or Salad Every Day. They are always called things like The Complete Book of Chinese Cooking or A Guide to Herbs and Spices. I do have a paper bound copy of a book which appeared in a more expensive edition at one time. Its title is (I am not kidding, the title is not left over from a comic book) CHINESE COOKING MADE EASY. It does not make Chinese cooking easy, but it contains some interesting little treatises on Chinese pottery, and Chinese holidays.

In my nice, simple, ordinary, decidedly basic, meat and potatoes type encyclopedia, I just recently discovered calorie and nutrition tables which I have been leafing past for years without noticing. Neither had I noticed the multiple tables which tell me the purchase unit, yield per purchase unit, the market season, United States federal grades and quality standards, percentage of waste, and how to store vegetables and fruits. The frightening thing all this unread information is that a good part of it makes some sense. After ignoring it for years, you suddenly, on impulse, read that if you swish drained cooked peas around in a frying pan at medium heat for a few seconds after you take them from the saucepan, and before you put them on the table, that the moisture evaporates, and the flavor is improved. You try it, and then you begin to wonder how you ever ate those soggy peas before.

Another place where those common, garden variety, middle class cook books use more verbiage than the more expensive ones is in the captions under the illustrations. The posh books are likely to state, tersely, between two perfectly magnificent pictures, something like "Above: Irish Soda Bread. Below: Blueberry Orange Loaf." The middle class ones say, under a single picture, something like, "Will your holiday fowl be a turkey? Prepare it handsomely, cook it with care, and garnish it simply but elegantly. The turkey illustrated here has a simple garnish of fresh grapes. Its crisp brown doneness needs no further embellishment."

Well, there are no holidays coming, and I do not plan to cook any turkeys. Maybe I'll read that chapter on poultry anyway. I might find out something I will be ashamed of not knowing before.

Tax Changes For Farmers, Fishermen

On Tuesday afternoon the Municipal Council, in Spring session, was informed by Philip Dondale, municipal assessor, of recent changes made in the Nova Scotia Assessment Act. Included in the changes are exemptions as follows:

• Livestock, implements and machinery belonging to a farmer and used in working his farm.

• For Fishermen: All boats, ships and shares therein are exempt as are the nets, outfit and equipment belonging to a fisherman and used by him in fishing.

It is provided in this amendment to the Act that even though the assessments have been completed, the tax rates struck and in fact most ratepayers have already received their tax notices, taxes will not be levied this year on property made exempt by this Act of the Legislature.

This will have little effect on some towns and municipalities in Nova Scotia. In areas such as those devoted mainly to farming and fishing however, there are indications of hundreds of thousands of dollars of assessment now being exempt, Mr. Dondale said.

The Provincial Government has already set in motion a plan whereby towns and municipalities affected by this legislation will be reimbursed for their loss of revenue in the form of additional grants.

Sacred Concert Held

A Sacred Concert, sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of the Acaciaville United Baptist Church, was presented before a large audience on Saturday evening, April 29th. The welcoming remarks were given by the Brotherhood President, Reginald Cromwell, who also acted as Master of Ceremonies.

The first part of the program featured selections by the Sunday School, Baptist Youth Fellowship, Ladies' Auxiliary and Men's Brotherhood of the Acaciaville Church and by the Brotherhood of the Weymouth Falls Church.

Following an intermission, Gordon Earle introduced the Young Adult Choir of the Cornwallis St. United Baptist Church of Halifax. The choir, with the director, Mrs. Wren-fred Bryant, and the pianist, Clyde Jemmett, presented the second part of the program with a solo, trio and a number of very fine group selections. The choir also sang at the Sunday morning service at the Acaciaville Church.

The concert closed with a few remarks by the pastor, Rev. L. Atkinson, and with the singing of a hymn.

New Tusk Baptist Church Dedicated

A capacity congregation given by Mr. Atkinson was a witness to the dedication of the newly renovated interior of the New Tusk United Baptist Church on Sunday, April 16th. The entire interior of the building has been redecorated with new tile ceiling and walls, new windows, new birch floor, pews, pulpit and rails, and further work is planned for the outside this spring. The service was conducted by the interim pastor, Rev. L. R. Atkinson. Miss Ann Marie Round at the piano. Mr. Atkinson was assisted by local ministers, Albert Jones of Church of Christ, Weymouth, who read the scripture, John 21. Rev. B. Hicks of the Wesleyan Methodist Church led in prayer, and Rev. W. Clayton of the African Baptist Church led in the dedicatory prayer.

Special music was provided by the Church of Christ quartette, consisting of Harry Wagner, Gifford Lewis, Glendon Barr and Henry Shortliffe, who sang two selections, "Just Outside the Door" and "Speed Away", accompanied by Floyd Gale at the piano. Mrs. George Wagner of Ashmore Baptist Church rendered the solo, "Until Then", accompanied by Mrs. Grove at the piano.

Rev. Mr. Atkinson gave a brief history of the church, which shows it was organized in 1843 with the first building on the site of the present cemetery by Nowland's Lake. Later a new building, the present one, was built in 1878. Part of it was as follows, quote "The new meeting house at Tusk, was opened today. Mr. Bancroft preached this morning from 1 Corinthians 3:16. "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God." Mr. Randall preached in the afternoon from John 17:4. "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do." Mr. Bancroft preached in the evening from 1 Timothy 3:15. "The Church or the Living God." unquote.

During the service of dedication, acknowledgement was made of gifts and contributions made toward the redecoration. The pulpit and railing were given by Thurston Mullen and family in memory of his wife, Mildred, and his parents, Lydia and Moody Mullen. The seats, floor, choir loft and double doors and entry were the gifts from Mrs. Herbert S. Mullen and sons, Leonard, Wallace and Edsel and families.

The congregation has provided new ceiling, walls, windows and doors. The congregation joined in the service to dedicate in turn, the doors, pews, pulpit, pulpit light, choir lights, floor and choir loft. Rev. Clayton gave the prayer of dedication.

Appreciation was expressed for the fine work done by the carpenters, Melvin & Glidden Cromwell and Earl Sabine, who were all present for the service.

The dedication reading was Neh. 4:6 "So built we the wall and all the wall was joined together with the half there of, for the people had a mind to work."

Judges At Seminar

Kenneth Beckwith, Digby, and Mrs. Bernard Comeau, Meteghan, were in Truro last week taking special instruction on judging for the Rural Beautification program in Digby County. A seminar for judges all over the province was held at the Stonehouse Motel. The object of the seminar was to keep the judging uniform.

Mr. Beckwith and Mrs. Comeau were appointed judges at a meeting held at Meteghan River on April 4th.

Entries for the Rural Beautification contest in Digby County will be received until May 15, and judging will be September 1st.

The contest includes community competition, farm homes and buildings, County Century farm, small holding improvement, youth groups and commercial establishments.

Mrs. Eleanor Elms in placing an advertisement for the contest also drew some optional information to the attention of the publication as follows —

Top winners in each of the county competitions in the Century Farms class will qualify for Provincial competition 1st prize $300.00; 2nd $200.00.

Whitewash and native trees will receive same scoring as paint and expensive ornamental trees.

A description of project to be undertaken, giving exact location and possibly a black and white snapshot would be of great help to the committee and the judges.

County assessors assure that any improvements other than additions to buildings will not raise taxes.

St. Patrick's Business College held a successful card party and Penny Sale Wednesday evening, April 26th, in the church hall. SOUTH RANGE WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Shortliffe, North Range spent Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Effie Robicheau.

Mrs. Gladys Porter Passes

Mrs. Gladys Muriel Porter, MBE, DCL, M.A., the first woman in eastern Canada to be elected a mayor and a member of a provincial legislature, died Sunday afternoon at Blanchard Fraser Memorial Hospital, Kentville. She was 72.

Mrs. Porter was elected to the Nova Scotia legislature as a Progressive Conservative candidate in 1960, representing the constituency of Kings North, and was re-elected in 1963. Previously she had served as mayor of Kentville for 11 years. She was married in 1915 to H. Wyman Porter, a Kentville newspaperman, who died in 1963.

Tributes to Mrs. Porter were expressed by political, church and business leaders, "shocked" by her death.

She was the daughter of the late Wallace A. Richardson and Christina (MacPherson) Richardson of Sydney.

A graduate of Sydney Academy and Empire Business College, she came to Kentville "for a visit" in 1914 and lived there the rest of her life.

Before her marriage she was employed as a secretary by the Dominion Atlantic Railway, later serving as manager and hostess at Grand Pre Memorial Park.

In 1943 she was elected a Kentville town councillor, a post she held for three years.

In recognition of her war work, she was named a Member of the Order of the British Empire in 1946.

Also in 1946, Mrs. Porter resigned her councillor's seat and ran for mayor. She was elected by a record majority, re-elected in 1948, and defeated in 1950.

Mrs. Porter became mayor of Kentville again in 1954, and was re-elected in 1956, 1958 and 1960.

She resigned as mayor in November, 1960, after being elected to the Provincial Legislature in June.

Last October she was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Laws by Acadia University.

In addition to her public duties, she found time to participate actively in many organizations.

She had been president of the Children's Aid Society of Nova Scotia, president of the King's County Children's Aid Society, president of the Kentville unit of the Canadian Cancer Society, an executive of the March of Dimes, a campaign chairman for the Salvation Army, president of the senior Auxiliary Branch of the Blanchard Fraser Memorial Hospital and a member and chairman of the hospital board.

Mrs. Porter was organizer and first president of the Kentville Business and Professional Women's Club, provincial president, and honorary president of the Sydney club.

She was one of the founders of the Grand Pre Park, executive secretary-treasurer of the Atlantic Provinces Hospital Association, president of the Kentville Hospital Association, an executive of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Kentville representative on the Valley Library Board, and chairman of the hospital visiting committee of the Red Cross in the Kentville area.

She was a "serving sister" of the St. John Ambulance Association, and honorary vice president of the Nova Scotia division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

A member of the United Baptist Church choir, she was also a past president of the church's ladies auxiliary.

Mrs. Porter is survived by a daughter, Phyllis (Mrs. E. E. LeBlanc), Kentville; two grandchildren, and two step-grandchildren; and a brother, Claude S. Richardson, QC, of Montreal.

Funeral service was held yesterday from Kentville United Baptist Church, Rev. G. N. Hamilton, D.D., officiated, assisted by Rev. F. C. Fenerty, of the Bethany-Memorial Baptist Church, Aldershot. Interment was in Elm Grove cemetery.

People mimic him right on his own program. The Ed Sullivan Show, seen each Sunday night on CBC television, but Ed doesn't mind. In fact, he gets a big kick out of it. The former newspaper entertainment columnist turned all his supposed untheatrical mannanisms into something millions of Ed Sullivan Show viewers affectionately came to expect each Sunday night as Ed introduced outstanding night club and Broadway acts, including the inevitable mimics.

Celebrates 87th Birthday

A former Centreville lady, Mrs. Jessie Shaw, celebrated her 87th birthday recently at the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Mosnik, 100 Wm. St., Beausville, Ont., with whom she resides.

A dinner given in her honor was enjoyed by relatives and friends.

Mrs. Shaw, a United Church member, was presented with roses from the church organist.

She enjoyed a conversation by phone with her brother, Ralph Graham, and wife, of Waltham.

Mrs. Shaw is enjoying good health. Best wishes were extended to her from her many friends and relatives in Centreville and other areas.

Mrs. Fred A. Morehouse, Lawrencetown, is a sister.

Library News

by Mary Marshall

A special Children's Hour was started at the Library last Saturday morning and twenty-one boys and girls, from about five to twelve years of age, took part in it.

They met at the Library at ten o'clock and in the next hour there was time for talking, for listening and to tell their own ideas about the stories they had heard. Books were recommended if children wanted something to take home and were not sure what they might like. These young people obviously enjoyed themselves. They were not all members, although some decided to join that morning. Some had come in from Marshfield and the others were mostly from Digby.

The person responsible for the Saturday morning hour is Annette Kern. Mrs. Kern is here for a year with her husband who is connected with the Harvard Programme, formerly known as the Cornell Programme. She has taught in Elementary School in Long Island, New York, and is kindly volunteering to share her time and experience with the children here.

Working in cooperation with Mrs. Anne Marshall, who is in charge of the Children's Library, Mrs. Kern has ideas for the future. If there are enough interested children, she would like to extend the time to two hours, having the younger group meet at ten o'clock and the older group at eleven o'clock. There are prospects of out of doors sessions, visits to other areas and dramatizing of stories.

One story read aloud was "Whistle For a Pilot" with Digby as the setting and naturally interesting for people who live here or know the town. This book and all the ones in the list have been added to the Library as a donation from Mr. P. Prescesky, Montreal.

Trapped In Truck

Two young men were trapped in a truck which overturned and dumped itself into the Meteghan River, in the early morning hours of April 17th. A third passenger was thrown clear of the vehicle. A resident of the area, Donald Comeau, aroused other neighbours and performed the rescue, it is understood.

tion from Mr. P. Prescesky, Montreal.

HISTORIC TICKET — The Nova Scotia Railway, now part of the Canadian National system, was the first in Canada to piggyback highway vehicles on railway flatcars. Joseph Howe, who as commissioner-in-chief of the Nova Scotia Railway Board was responsible for the province's first line between Richmond and Bedford, is credited with introducing the idea in 1885. Stage coaches and farmer's wagons rode on flatcars, the horses were put in boxcars, and the teamsters and farmers rode for free in second class coaches. This ticket, issued October 29, 1884, conveyed a teamster, his horse and wagon from Richmond, near Halifax, to Truro for $1.85. Today railway flatcars carry highway trailers instead of wagons, but the basic idea of combining the best of road and rail transportation is the same.

Boy Injured At Marshalltown

On Friday afternoon, little David Melanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Melanson, was struck by a car driven by Herbert Shortliffe. David had only a few minutes before got off of the school bus and was attempting to cross the road to his home. There was no serious injuries, but required several stitches to his face and was bruised and shaken up.

At the present time, we do not know exactly the cause of many mental disorders, but we do have some useful assumptions regarding factors which encourage or discourage the development of mentally healthy functioning. In the field of nutrition we are familiar with the importance of supplying the body with the right food including vitamins, calories, etc., in the right amounts at the right times to meet the changing physical needs, and in order to protect and enhance normal growth and development. So in the mental health field there are psychic, social and physical needs of personality which must be satisfied if

Local Mental Health Centre Aids Preventive Program

"Primary prevention" is a term used in public health work to denote measures which will reduce the number of cases of a disorder or illness in the community by preventing the onset of new cases during a specified period of time.

"Secondary prevention" aims at lowering the frequency of sick persons in the community during a particular time by the successful treatment of established cases and particularly by the total number of cases of the disorder reduced, but an acute state of the illness is prevented from developing.

Psychiatry and the social sciences are now aware of the nature of many of these precious psychological "vitamins". It has been known for some time, for instance, that loving, tenderness and affection are essential for the healthy emotional and personality growth of an infant and child. It is not known that the adult and particularly the aged also have emotional needs which must be satisfied if good mental health is to be maintained and breakdown avoided.

Such needs include the sense of personal worth, of belonging and status. As in other health problems, the child is of primary importance in preventive work. It is therefore essential for teachers, parents and all who are in association with children, to be seriously concerned to get to know more about the emotional, social and physical environment of the young, how to help them wisely and how to anticipate the critical reactions which occur when too much stress is combined with inadequate satisfaction of emotional needs.

The Canadian Mental Health Association is endeavouring through its work with family doctors, teachers, with clergy men, with police, with personnel and industrial relations officers, and especially with parents and other interested groups in the community to promote preventive programs in the field of mental illness and health.

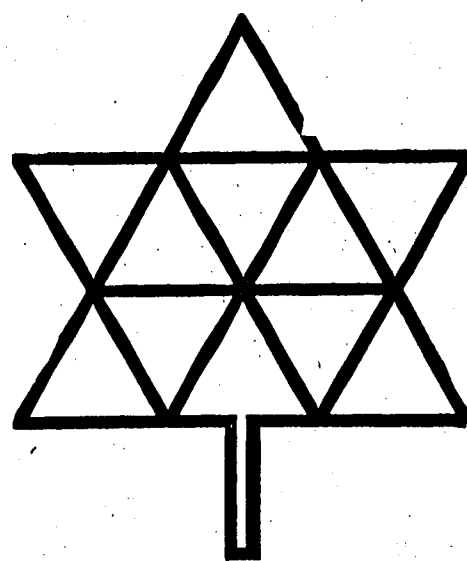

In Digby, through its support of the Community Mental Health Centre and programs carried on through the auspices of that Centre, the Digby County Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association is helping to carry on this important preventive program. The public spirited volunteer citizens who make up the executive of the Digby County branch of C.M.H.A. cannot carry on the task alone. They need the active and interested support of the whole community.

Hear About Strawberry Picking

More than fifty youngsters attended a special meeting at St. Theresa's Hall in Marshalltown Sunday afternoon. The special meeting, sponsored by the Marshalltown Community Club, was held to acquaint the young people about the requirements for picking of strawberries for export.

M. E. Jamerson of Beaverbrook Farms, who was introduced by Community Club President, Mrs. Charlotte Sealey, presented a coloured film illustrating the proper and improper methods of picking strawberries for the export market. In his accompanying remarks Mr. Jamerson stressed that the need for good picking practices were important no matter where strawberry harvesters were employed.

After the showing of the film Mr. Jamerson answered many questions posed by the young people. He said strawberry harvesting would begin at Beaverbrook Farms about the last week of June. He urged the young people, no matter for whom they might be picking strawberries this summer, to do their best, pick properly so that their employer might have a good product properly fit for market requirements. He outlined methods of payments and services to be provided for the pickers at Beaverbrook Farms and explained employment plans.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Sealey expressed the thanks of the gathering to Mr. Jamerson. She also announced that the annual meeting of the Marshalltown Community Club would be held at St. Theresa's Hall Sunday afternoon, April 30th, 2:30 p.m. It was stressed that, since the meeting Sunday afternoon is an annual meeting, it is hoped every family in the community will have at least one representative in attendance.

DIGBY CO. EXHIBITION CANCELLED

Unless some other organization in Digby County picks up the torch, the Digby County Exhibition is cancelled for 1967. The exhibition was to have taken place in August. At a meeting of the Bear River Agricultural Society at Bear River on Saturday night, a seventy per cent vote was in favor of closing the exhibition for one year.

The meeting on Saturday night was called for the express purpose of a "yes" or "no" decision on the matter. Previous to the meeting, 400 circular letters were sent to farmers and other people who would be expected to be interested in the meeting and its outcome. Ten replies to the 400 letters had been received.

The indecision about carrying on the exhibition arose from the fact that certain health and general requirements expected to cost in the vicinity of $5000 to $6000 had to be done and there was not enough money available to proceed. Saturday night's meeting was the second meeting called within two weeks to try to solve the problems.

The meeting on Saturday night was presided over by Jack Harris, president. A list of needed repairs and additions to buildings and grounds were again presented, but estimates were in a lower figure than the previous meeting. Repairs for addition to the cookhouse were estimated $507 for kitchen, plus $55 for drains, taps, etc. Also a septic tank had to be installed. Toilet facilities required were estimated at $1000. Further expenditures are to repair the hauling ring, plus new weights, re-wiring outside circuits, water system enlarged and piped and a new grandstand to be built. Some system for continuous hot water also must be arranged.

William McLeod, Halifax, Superintendent of Exhibitions for Nova Scotia was present at the meeting. He said it is ill-advised to spend a large sum of money on a project that is used only three days a year. There is no hope, he said, of a larger grant from the Department of Agriculture unless the project takes on a broader aspect than it presently does. There would need to be a larger number of dependable helpers and that it would be necessary to pay higher wages.

Mr. MacLeod paid special tribute to the late Harvey Chisholm who had contributed so much to the exhibition. He also commended the women who worked at the exhibition so outstandingly for the size of the show.

Although the meeting voted to discontinue the exhibition for one year, a spokesman said that already the Bear River people are trying to make money toward the amount needed to open in the future.

Editor's note: We have been later advised that the Bear River Board of Trade is calling a meeting for Thursday, May 18th to try to save the exhibition from being closed. One spokesman from the Board of Trade remarked, "The way to earn money to meet exhibition expenses is to open the exhibition."

Benjamin Campbell, Freeport, is one of 38 Nova Scotians who will receive special centennial plaques during 1967. Many of the plaques, to be presented to all Canadians 100 or more years old this year, bear the actual signature of the late Governor General Georges P. Vanier, and State Secretary Judy LaMarsh. There are about 425 centenarians throughout Canada. Mr. Campbell, who was 103 in February, received the presentation last Thursday from Digby Annapolis Kings member of parliament, J. Pat Nowlan. Also present was R. Baden Powell, member of the Nova Scotia government from Digby.

Despite his many years, Mr. Campbell is quite active and he reminisced with the Courier reporter of days gone by.

In making the presentation Mr. Nowlan paid tribute to the "sturdiness and vitality" of the people of his constituency, noting that there are nine-centenarians in Digby Annapolis-Kings, more than any other constituency in Nova Scotia other than Halifax which also has nine. Most of the nine in this constituency are residents of seaside communities, he said.

St. Patrick's Business College Holds Graduation

The annual commencement exercises of St. Patrick's Business College were held at St. Patrick's Church, Digby, May 10th, at eleven o'clock. Those participating in the ceremony entered the church and proceeded up the main aisle as follows: Cross Bearer, Jerry VanTassel; acolytes, Steven Theriault, Garry Surette and Peter Surette; the Business College graduates; the Celebrant, Rev. Louis J. Theriault; and Rev. Donald Amirault. The young ladies of the graduating class were clad in white gowns and caps and they took their place in their family pew for the Mass which followed immediately.

The Mass was celebrated by Rev. Louis Theriault.

The address was given by Father Louis Theriault, Pastor of Stella Maris Parish, Meteghan, Nova Scotia.

Then Father addressing the importance of the words of St. Peter, 1 Pet. 4, 7:11, written nearly two thousand years ago which are just as true and expressive of reality in our day as they were all through the past centuries, even more so. "Be responsible, and earnest in prayer. Above all maintain constant charity toward each other, because charity does away with a multitude of sins." We should possess this Christlike charity because we are now, on account of modern communication, ONE BIG FAMILY living together on the surface of this world.

Then Father addressing the graduates of the new generation said what you may, the fact still remains that underneath the supposedly flamboyant and at times irresponsible attitude, YOU ARE NEVERTHELESS searching for answers to the many, many questions that have arisen because we are now living in a new world, filled with changes, transformations and renewals. The world is fidely what appeared to be stable yesterday is now collapsing by the irresistible growth and push of man and time. Because of this great and most rapid changing, it is very easy to understand your bewilderment and anxiety as you leave your books to enter actively in competitive society. But please do not blame us, as so many have in the past few years, for what appears to be, an uncertain future. We are your elders; we are the graduates of yesterday in the world of today; you are the graduates of today in the world of tomorrow, and you will encounter the same attitude amidst the next generation.

"But what is our youth of today searching for? 'The Heart Needs More Room To Breathe'... a way of saying that there is need for more love. St. Augustine has said: 'You have made us for Yourself (God)', and our heart is restless until it rests in You."

"The answer, I repeat, in this search for understanding, peace, happiness, is to be found in many passages of the Bible, an one of them was read in today's epistle: 'The Love of Other and Not Self.' I would like to leave you with this lesson which we, the elders, have learned through experience. It is the fact that we never really solve our great problems. We outgrow them. Please remember that man must love somebody or something. Therefore you must be very careful not to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of God with false idols.

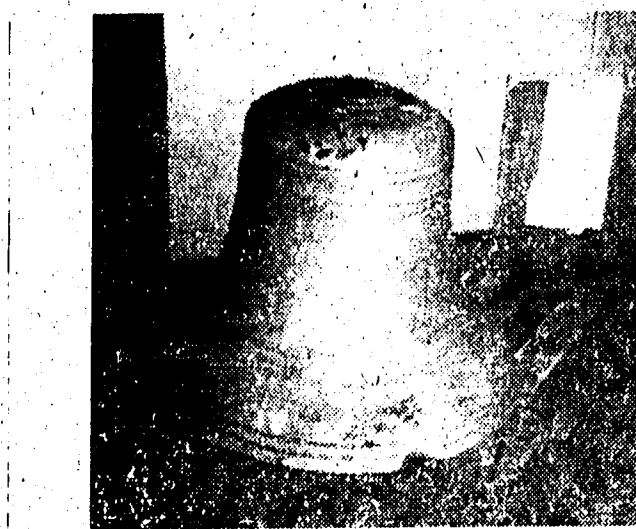

"Therefore, be responsible. Above all maintain constant charity towards each other. Be hospitable to each other without grumbling. Let each

FROM EARLY FILES OF THE DIGBY COURIER

May 11, 1877

In the editorial of above date the Courier printed the following startling and serious charges that were leveled at the government by opposition members, in regard to the construction of the Western Counties Railroad. Some of the charges are as follows: "The road has been built, except for some sections, in a most rascally manner. Engineers are guilty of dereliction of duty. That nearly all the subsidy, amounting to nearly $700,000, has been paid to the company. That the road is not one-half finished. That an official of the company deliberately lied when he said work had stopped because of inclemency of the weather. That the fraud is so barefaced, and investigation into it so fiercely opposed by the government, or some members of it, as to suggest they were corruptly interested in the swindle." The editorial goes on to say the charges could admit of modification because of the partizan source, but, even if the government has been so remiss in its supervision of affairs of the railway work as to allow itself to be victimized to any extent at all approaching the foregoing charges, the government is culpable.

Whirlwind at Riverdale — "On Friday last, 9:30 a.m., a whirlwind came over Riverdale carrying with it dust and gravel, also carrying water with it to a great height, so that it looked like smoke from a large fire. It swept up the river roaring like thunder, striking the bridge, it ripped boards loose, drawing spikes completely through the solid wood three inches thick. It carried part of the bridge into the air and left it 150 feet away into an apple orchard. Houses and barns were shaken in the vicinity; shingles were ripped loose. Two young girls in a barn were shaken off their feet and bruised."

It was moved that this group would send a contribution of $25.00 to assist the Young people who are to visit the Baptist Mission Field in Bolivia for six weeks this summer.

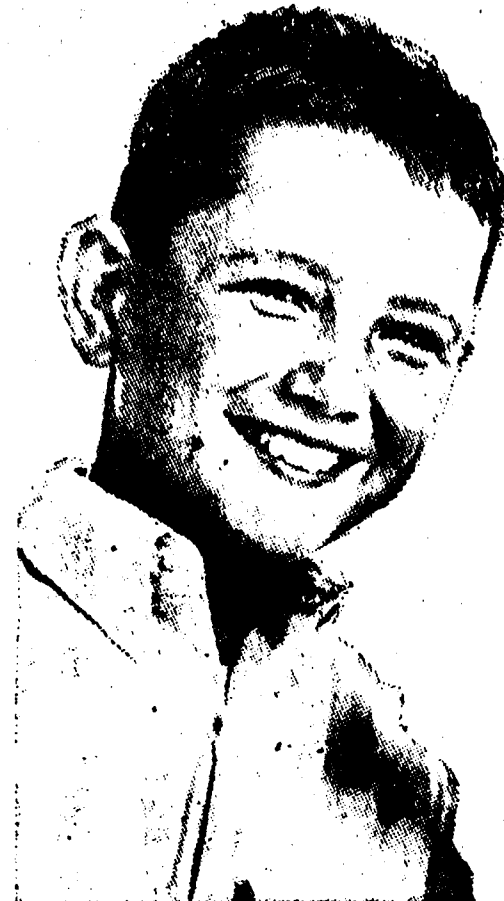

To conclude the morning session, a discussion on the topic, "Reaching Youth" was led by four of the young people. This proved to be a time of lively debate and both the young people and their pastors learned much from the many ideas that were voiced.

Workshop And Garage Razed

Fire last Thursday destroyed a 1 1/2 storey workshop and garage, the property of Scott Kinney, Ashmore. Mr. Kinney had been burning trash in a stove, and was outside washing his car when he noticed the building was on fire. No one was injured but Mr. Kinney was forced to jump from the second floor of the building after he entered it to save two new tires on the upper floor and was cut off from returning via the stairway, by flames and smoke.

The Weymouth Volunteer Fire Department, summoned by Mr. Kinney, who was alone at the time, answered the call within minutes, but the fire was too far advanced and they were not able to save the building. They prevented it from spreading to his house.

No estimate of the loss was available, but included were Mr. Kinney's tools, welding equipment as well as nets and other fishing and drugging supplies. His car and truck were removed to safety.

Akerley, Woolaver & Jayne Praise Beaverbrook Farms

Speaking of the criticism launched against Beaverbrook Farms recently, Reigh Jayne, president of the Digby Board of Trade said, "I don't know if the criticism is justified but if the present government is wasting money, I'm glad they are wasting it in Digby County. We hope future governments will continue to waste it in the same manner". Mr. Jayne made his remarks before 300 guests when he introduced the guest speaker, Hon. I. W. Akerley, Minister of Agriculture and Marketing, at a Bar-B-Cue held at the new Beaverbrook Farms Cooler building on Saturday. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. E. Jamerson, who operate the farm for the provincial government. The new coolers were officially opened on Saturday with Mrs. Jamerson cutting the ribbon. Mr. Jayne was master of ceremonies.

The speaker was thanked by Phillip Woolaver, barrister, Liberal candidate in the May 30th election, who praised the Beaverbrook Farms project, congratulated those responsible for the worthwhile project and said that he had not the slightest doubt that this has been progress.

Mr. Akerley congratulated Mr. Jamerson on what had been so amazingly accomplished in the space of a few short months. He said, "What is being created here at Beaverbrook Farms is going to have a lasting impact upon the agricultural industry in this province in years to come".

Mr. Akerley said the whole project is giving a general up-lift to the whole area from Yarmouth County, through Digby County, Annapolis and Kings. Even Cumberland and Colchester are interested in knowing what is being done here.

Speaking of the untapped market on the Eastern Seaboard of the United States and which is felt will be a real important market for Nova Scotia produce, Mr. Akerley said that the only thing which will guarantee permanency of the market will be the quality of the product which we consign to that market. This means the quality of the product which is displayed at the retail level in Boston, New York, Philadelphia or wherever it may happen to be. He commended Beaverbrook Farms for taking the right steps to guarantee quality in the variety of strawberries. He mentioned the new package and label with considerable consumer impact and appeal and the good transportation facilities readily available.

Mr. Akerley commended Mr. Jamerson for the emphasis he put on the educational program for the berry-picker in the field, he said, is probably one of the most important people in the whole operation. Unless he does his job well, the end product will fall short of what the consumer expects.

What is true of strawberries, Mr. Akerley said, is also true for vegetables or any crop. Growing a good product is only part of the problem. Ensuring careful handling, grading, packaging, transporting and efficient marketing are equally as important, he said.

Mr. Jayne in introducing Mr. Akerley said that Beaverbrook Farms shows what can be done with rough land with modern equipment and knowledge. The purpose of the farm is to educate farmers around the area on how and when to cultivate to best advantage and to increase acreage to serve the greater markets of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ferchaud, Georgia, U.S.A., were present. Mr. Ferchaud, who operates a large similar type of farm for tomatoes and many fruit products said that the venture started here was most promising and remarked on the progress already made. He was introduced by Gordon Kinsman.

Others who spoke were Dr. J. R. Wright, Director of Research, Experimental Farm, Kentville; Mayor C. D. Snow and Warden, Ronald Morehouse and Baden Powell, M.L.A. Mr. Wright said that the area here has potential in soil, climate and people. Because of this potential they

Society Hears Horticultural Expert

The May meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society was held at the home of Mrs. P. Robert, with the president, R. K. Beckwith, presiding.

It was reported that a request had been received from the Digby Centennial Committee asking for garden club members to participate in their celebrations by operating a booth for the sale of ice cream, chips and pop, on June 14th, when the Centennial caravan visits Digby and also on June 27th, their main day of celebration.

Miss Mary Marshall introduced Mr. R. S. Morton, Horticulturist, Department of Agriculture, Truro, N. S., who gave a most interesting and detailed talk on methods and proper timing for pruning shrubs and bushes and winter protection of roses, illustrating his remarks with drawings.

A question and discussion period followed with many helpful suggestions being given. R. K. Beckwith, on behalf of the club members, thanked Mr. Morton for being present as guest speaker.

Application forms for garden club members planning to attend the annual flower show in Halifax, July 21-22, are now available and accommodations can be arranged. The District Meeting will be held on May 17th at the "Clare" Consolidated High School and a good attendance is hoped for.

The Nova Scotia Association of Garden Clubs is again offering the trophy or rose bowl, for 1967 and their aim is to promote better flower shows, with top quality displays of cut flowers, potted plants and arrangements, featuring simplicity with well grown, healthy and attractive entries.

During the evening regret was expressed on the passing of Mrs. John Russell, who has been an active club member during her residence in Digby. The members present personally donated funds towards the purchase of a tree to be planted in her memory.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert, assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. Ralph Berwick and Mrs. A. T. Grimmer.

Culloden Gets Fire Protection

The community of Culloden has negotiated with Digby fire department for coverage in fire protection. This service is now available to them and commenced in April this year. Most residents of the area expressed their desire in having this protection.

After a meeting with officials of the fire department outlining the area to be covered and having agreed on the fee necessary to have this protection the coverage went into operation immediately and local residents were contacted and paid the fee required. They also signed a petition to be presented to the Municipal Council at their next annual meeting for the inclusion of this district in the remainder of the Culloden district already being covered under taxation. Coverage now takes in all of Culloden to the town limits of Digby and includes Bay View, Lighthouse Road, Shore Road, Digby Neck, Road to the intersection of the Culloden Road, and the Conway area to the property of Olyn Sproule. Some thirty-nine property owners in Culloden, signed the petition to the Municipal Council.

Maud Lewis Art In Exhibition

Representative examples of the work of Mrs. Maud Lewis (Maudie) Lewis, Marshall town, Digby Co., will be shown in the Centennial Exhibition of Primitive Art in New Brunswick opening at the Beaverbrook House on May 21st. The popularity of the Maud Lewis art and the close association of Digby with Saint John, influenced the selection committee to include Mrs. Lewis' work. The exhibition, prepared by the Saint John Art Club over a two-year period is the first of its kind held in New Brunswick.

Centrepiece of the more than 60 works to be displayed is a painting by early Saint John artist, Amelia Dirkee Vaughn. The work was done in 1867 when the artist was sixteen.

George Fry, President of the Art Club and co-chairman with Miss Gail Kaye in arranging the show said that an exhaustive search has been made through New Brunswick for the best works possible. Mr. Fry said that the show will be open for invited guests on the afternoon of May 21st. The public opening will be on the afternoon of May 23rd and the works will be on display through May 28th.

Carvings as well as painting will be included in the exhibition. A number of early carvings.

Clare PCs Endorse Pothier

Joined the convention: "Think of what the Nova Scotia credit rating would be if the Liberal platform were implemented - things are far from perfect here but this province has begun to come ahead."

The provincial secretary warned there was "no miracle solution, no miracle man, but most of our people believe in Nova Scotia as they never have before."

"Our people are fed up with the old type of political campaigning. They are prepared and able to believe in one of the greatest Canadians of all times — Bob Stanfield," he said.

Dr. Hector Pothier was unanimously endorsed as the Progressive Conservative candidate for Clare constituency in the forthcoming provincial election.

Provincial Secretary Doucet, in paying tribute to Dr. Pothier, said he was the type of man who was making Clare a district of progress and achievement.

Dr. Pothier said the Stanfield government would not be defeated in the coming election. "Therefore let us be part of that government," he said.

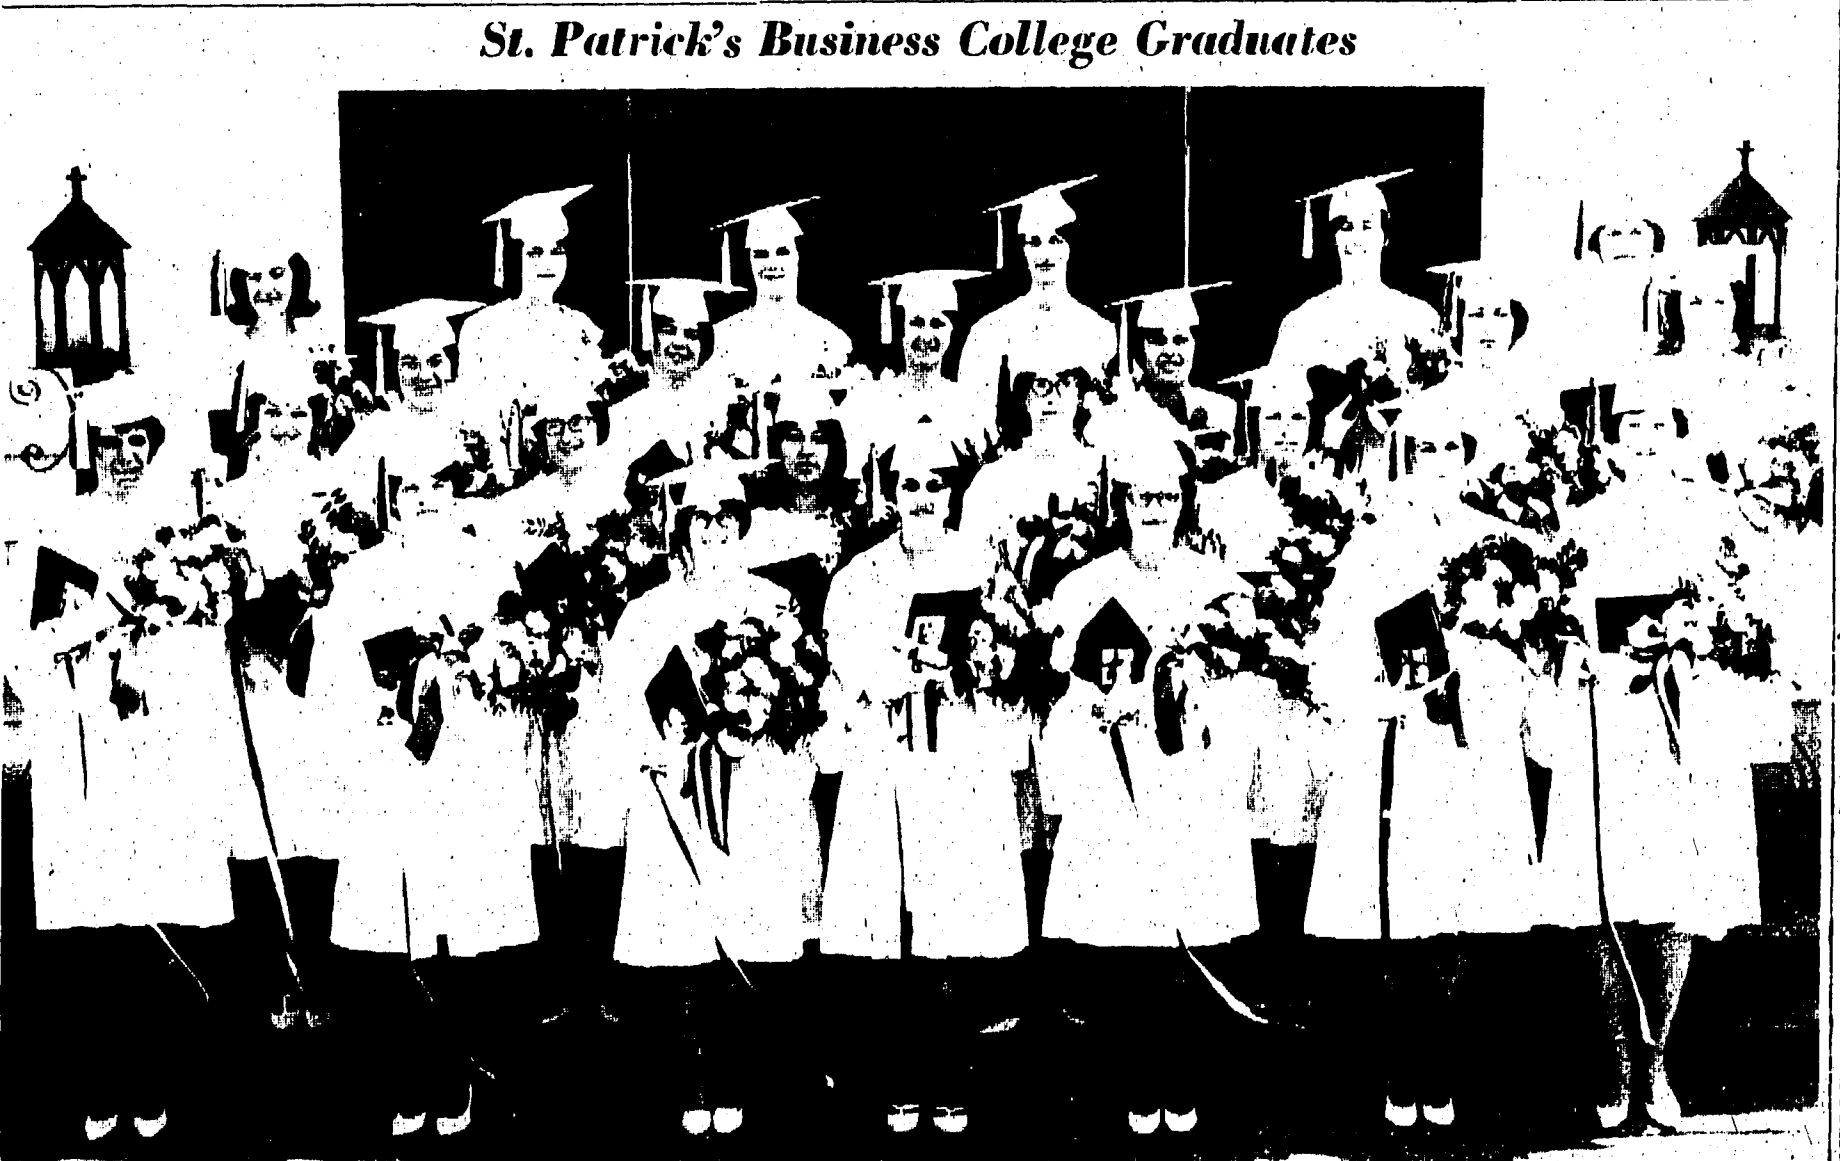

Mr. Doucet said the credit rating of Nova Scotia was third only to British Columbia and Ontario, of all the provinces in Canada. "We are able to go to the market for money and pay less for it than any other province but two in Canada. It is important to borrow on favorable terms," he said and he challenged.

He said Robert Stanfield's esteem was nation-wide. Clare should stay with the government side of the house.

Dr. Pothier's nomination was moved by Dr. Julius Comeau and seconded by Victor Comeau, both of Meteghan.

About This And That

You Have A Vote, Use It

Are you 21? A Canadian citizen or British subject? Have you lived in Nova Scotia for twelve months? Your name should be on the voters' lists which have been distributed to each and every household. If you are not 21 and your name has mistakenly found its way to the voters list we would suggest that you adhere to the election rules just the same and be comfortable about it after. Marriage status under 21, does not give voting privileges although there are privileges we believe for service personnel.

Should your name not appear on the printed voters lists, or if a name appears in error, there will be an opportunity to correct these at the sitting of the revising officer. It is everybody's duty to make use of his vote and it is his responsibility to see that he has the privilege if he qualifies.

Furthermore, it is the mark of a good citizen to take an interest in the election of capable men or women to run the affairs of the country. All will not think alike.

If everybody thought the same there would be no need of an election. All do have the privilege of making up their own minds after studying the issues at stake and learning more about the people who are willing to give service in running the affairs of the country. Promises should not be taken lightly at surface value. They should be studied carefully no matter from which side or corner of the political fence they are issued.

Check your voters list. Use your legitimate vote. Vote with intelligence.

Refreshing Words

It was indeed refreshing on Saturday to hear such prominent people as Hon. J. W. Akerley, Reigh Jayne and Phillip Woolaver come out with words of praise for the Beaverbrook Farms project which has been started in this area for the benefit of the small fruit farmers. After reading such expressions as "let them (the Conservative government) explain why almost a quarter of a million dollars has been poured into a Digby strawberry patch operated by an outsider, while the requests of local farmers are rejected out of hand" and "Without blinking an eye, it (Nova Scotia government) spends a quarter of a million dollars on an experimental — and dubious — strawberry farm in Digby, and yet for three years it has balked at the idea of committing provincial money to provide crop insurance for Nova Scotia's established apple and fruit farmers", we began to wonder if there was a grudge of some kind against Digby. Surely, we have never been the "pampered child" and we are inclined to agree with Mr. Jayne "if the government did waste money we are glad they wasted it in Digby Country".

Of course we don't think the government wasted money (and we have no reason to believe that Mr. Jayne does) on the Beaverbrook Farms. The project is giving employment to a lot of people in the area, including students who want to further their education. This is a gift which we surely do not want to reject. Then, if we can improve our farming technique and methods around here, that is all to the good. This has been one of the chief purposes of the Beaverbrook Farms project, as we see it. We hope the idea catches fire and that the complained about closed farms out in our communities will be opened again.

There are the marketing and transportation benefits in collective methods and large quantities.

It is refreshing to hear people stand up and give praise to a worthwhile project in Digby instead of hearing it being "kicked in the face". Co-operation and support for what is helpful and good regardless of race, color, creed or politics is one thing Digby needs for prosperity. We like deserving, refreshing, cooperative and supporting words.

A Case For Seat Belts

"There, that will teach you to use your seat belt! Did you have your seat belt fastened? Let's buy her a seat belt." Such were the comments after one small ditch was more than kind to the vehicle but not so kind to the driver. Well, we're convinced and we might just rush out and purchase such an article. We'll probably remember to fasten it, especially when it snows on April 29 here on.

But, how about your seat belt? Experience is a fine teacher but she can be awfully cruel — even more cruel than a broken nose, a few stitches and a whopper of a shiner. Better to profit by another's experience and fasten your seat belt. You never know.

A Check On The Computer

If the income tax men are going to go through tax returns using computers and electronic gadgets to check out taxpayer arithmetic, why not let them do the work in the first place? Why not just fill in the essential facts and then let National Revenue do the donkey work? These are questions, The Financial Post comments, that went through many Canadian minds as they struggled with the complexities of filing a return by April 3. The fact is the taxmen have also asked themselves the same questions. The Financial Post says the income tax structure is becoming increasingly complex, and despite the best efforts of Ottawa to keep tax forms simple, more and more taxpayers are making mistakes. If the forms become much more demanding, The Financial Post suggests, completing them may well be considered beyond the reasonable capability of most of the population, and so the whole works will be shoved into the lap of Big Brother.

Evangelistic Services Conclude

Special Evangelistic Services held at the South Range Church of Christ concluded on Sunday evening with an overflowing congregation.

Special music was provided by various members of all three churches on the field and the Weymouth Falls Baptist Church. Final choir consisted of a combined male choir. Rev. Lorne B. Nethercott favored with a solo.

Evangelist was Rev. Mr. Nethercott, a former pastor in the field, who is now ministering at Park Avenue Christian Church, St. Thomas, Ontario. Prior to his coming here he had participated in special services in Western Canada and Ontario.

The speaker's messages were entered around the theme, "Receive the Good News and Live." He challenged Christians to allow the love of Christ to dominate their own lives to proclaim the Good News, striving to transform the world through their personal witness and devotion to God.

Service climaxed with a combined service at Weymouth Church of Christ when the five candidates from South Range were "buried with Christ" in baptism, who were Mrs. Barry Baxter, Deborah, Heather, Patricia and Wayne Baxter of Deep Brook.

Assisting during the service and at South Range were Rev. W. P. Clayton, Rev. C. Hilbury, Mr. Albert Jones, Lawrence Sabean and Arnold Marshall.

At the opening session, following benediction, a fellowship hour was provided by the South Range Christian Women's Fellowship group.

Organist at South Range was Mrs. Elndon Dunbar. A note of thanks was extended to Arnold Marshall for all who had assisted in a successful mission.

BEAVERBROOK FARMS

had opened a research station at Hillgrove. The Beaverbrook Farms project, he said, was a benefit to the people here to see how to grow land market crops. Rev. George Bell gave the invocation.

Among the guests were D. Parks, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. E. D. Haliburton, Minister of Fisheries and Lands & Forests.

Tours for guests were made over the farm, which Mr. Akerley said one year ago was brushy, weeds and scrubby growth. Since that time 450 acres have been put under cultivation. Sixty thousand strawberry plants were in the coolers on the day of the opening, ready to be planted on 60 acres of the field. More than 700 are expected to be employed in the berry picking season.

The building, 20 ft. x 100 ft., has two units for precooling and freezing, each size 36 ft. x 48 ft. forming an ell on the building. Temperatures can be set from 80 degrees above to 30 degrees below in case of bad weather or low market. Three inch insulation protects the temperatures.

There are three large overhead doors in the rear of the building designed for the important function of loading and unloading in the rain.

In the new building is a modernly equipped general office and a private office, measuring in all, 16 ft. x 20 ft. Brown leatherette furnishings and mahogany desks harmonize with the mahogany walls, hardwood floors and white acoustical ceilings.

The smallest country taking part at Expo 67 is Monaco.

IN MEMORIAM

THIBAUT - In memory of our father, who was killed on the highway May 17th, 1963. He would not ask for sorrow, he would not wish for tears. But just to be remembered. Throughout the passing years. - Always remembered by Eleanor, Phillip and Robert. 39:1c

ROBICHEAU - In loving memory of William James Robicheau, who passed away May 22, 1966. Often a lonely heartache. Many a silent tear. But always a beautiful memory. Of one I loved so dear. - Always remembered, wife, Freda. 39:1c

ROBICHEAU - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather who passed away May 22, 1966. He is gone but not forgotten. And, as dawn's another year. In our lonely hours of thinking. Thoughts of him are always near. Days of sadness still come. O'er us. Friends may think the wound is healed. But they little know the sorrow. That lies within the heart concealed. Though his smile is gone forever. His memory is our keepsake. With which we'll never part. God has him in His keeping. We have him in our heart. - Sadly missed by son LeRoy, daughter-in-law Gloria and children. 39:1c

THERIAULT - In loving memory of our dear mother, Grace Rita Warren, who passed away May 10th, 1964. We miss you dad, we always will. Deep in our hearts you're with us still. You shared our hopes, our joy, our tears. God bless you, dad, for those wonderful years. - Always remembered by daughter, Viola, son-in-law, Charlie and grandchildren. 39:1c

WARREN - In loving memory of our dear mother, Grace Rita Warren, who passed away May 10th, 1964. When ties of love are broken. And loved ones have to part. It leaves a wound that never heals. And also a broken heart. But looking back with memories. Upon the path we trod. We bless the years we shared with her. And leave the rest to God. It is not the tears at the moment shed. That tell of a heart that is torn. But the silent tears of the after years. And the grief that is silently born. So slow to anger or rebuke. So quick to sparkling laughter. Her presence in the home is missed. Now and ever after. - Always remembered and sadly missed by her three sons, Larry, Eldon and Carl. 39:1p

THERIAULT - In loving memory of my dear father and grandfather, Edgar Theriault, East Ferry, who passed away May 9th, 1960. Just when his days seemed brightest. Just when his hopes seemed best. God called him from among us. To his eternal rest. He bade no one his last fare well. He said good bye to none. The heavenly gates were open. A living voice said "come". When family ties are broken. And a loved one has to part. Death leaves a wound that never heals. Our ever aching hearts. So please God take a message. To my dear father up above. Tell him how much we miss him. And give him all our love. Tell him we won't forget him. In our hearts we'll be ever true. There is not a day dear Dad. That we do not think of you. - Always remembered and sadly missed by son, Neuman, daughter-in-law, Marg; grand-children, Valerie, Wayne and Paul. 39:1c

WARREN - In loving memory of our dear mother, Grace Rita Warren, who passed away May 10th, 1964. We miss you dad, we always will. Deep in our hearts you're with us still. Nova Scotia

A STANFIELD GOVERNMENT

A STRONGER NOVA SCOTIA

As your Government, the purpose of our program and policies is to increase opportunity and raise the living standards of Nova Scotians, to achieve the maximum development of all our resources, especially the resources of our people.

RURAL DEVELOPMENT

The Government of Nova Scotia is prepared to undertake a substantial and wide ranging program to assist in the reorganization and rejuvenation of our rural economy in order to make maximum use of the resources of the land, and of the available skills of those who live on the land. Provincial officials are now giving detailed study to proposals of an ARDA task force for the nine Northern and Eastern Counties.

Notwithstanding these proposals, it will be the policy of the Government of Nova Scotia that government development programs and policies will be available to all sections of the Province in similar circumstances, in the belief that programs now appropriate for the nine Northern and Eastern Counties would be equally appropriate to other sections of Nova Scotia. Such programs as these, in the interests of rural redevelopment, will require the additional expenditure in the next term of office of many tens of millions of dollars by the Province, in association with the Government of Canada.

AGRICULTURE

One problem of farming, arising from relatively low net income, is to find the capital to finance the heavy investments needed in order to meet the changing competitive situation of today and the future. Recognizing this, many useful programs of assistance have been implemented, some of them this year, such as, new arrangements to ease the cost of borrowing for farm improvement, elimination of municipal taxation on farm equipment and livestock, a land consolidation program, and an extension of the government's fertilizer assistance program.

It is clear heavy additional assistance is needed. The government will provide additional help from provincial resources and has already requested the Government of Canada to begin discussions with the purpose of trying to work out a shared system of capital grants in order to provide more help than can be supplied from provincial resources alone.

EDUCATION

Having assumed full responsibility for Vocational Schools, and having launched the Municipal Services Plan, the next major step the Government will take to assist Municipal Governments and municipal taxpayers will be to increase further the provincial share of the cost of the Public School system by increasing grants toward school construction and debt service charges, and by steadily increasing the provincial share of the cost of operating the Foundation Program for education.

The Government of Nova Scotia, further, has urged the Federal Government to equalize Municipal, as well as Provincial, revenues. Were this done, some $40,000,000 in additional revenues would be available each year to Nova Scotia, and this would be used to reduce the cost of education to Municipal Governments. Our proposal had seemed to be accepted in principle by Federal authorities and we expect the Government of Canada ultimately to act upon it, although not under the existing tax sharing agreement.

The Government will further encourage the recruitment of teachers and the steady improvement of their qualifications. We will proceed with the recommendation of the Fletcher Committee to establish an Institute of Education.

So that the increasing number of Nova Scotians seeking entrance to our Universities will not be denied, further large scale assistance to higher education will be necessary. It will be the policy of this Government to provide such assistance, as recommended by the University Grants Committee.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

The Government of Nova Scotia recognizes the importance of vigorous and progressive Municipal Government. It is our intention to assume an increased percentage of the cost of the Public School system as these costs increase and to further increase the Municipal Services Program in the light of study and experience, in order to provide an increasing measure of Provincial co-operation with Municipal Governments and taxpayers.

As part of our policy to improve transportation facilities, we will assist municipalities to establish local airfields for light aircraft.

WATER RESOURCES

A Provincial Water Commission will be established to co-ordinate the new systems of water supply being developed by the Atlantic Development Board and by the Provincial Board and to provide local authorities with technical, professional and other assistance in meeting their water problems.

INDUSTRY

The present Board of Industrial Estates Limited has been increased ingly active during the past ten years, and the responsibilities of this Provincial Crown Corporation have vastly increased. We propose to enlarge the present Board, providing for more regional representation and more citizen participation in this vital effort.

HOUSING

The Government proposes to establish a Housing Incentive Program to encourage the municipal level of government and co-operative groups to make new housing starts and increase the supply of housing where this may be most needed. To accomplish this, the Province will make grants to Municipal Units and approved Agencies for units constructed for the encouragement of housing.

HEALTH

The Government of Nova Scotia, in co-operation with the Government of Canada, will provide the people of this Province with a full and comprehensive program of insured physicians' services effective July 1st, 1968. These benefits will apply to all residents of Nova Scotia and will be provided without charge to the individual.

LEGAL AID

The Government proposes to embark upon a program of Government supported legal aid. An advisory body is being established to prepare recommendations as to the form and extent of this program.

ELECTION ACT REFORM

We will appoint a representative, bi-partisan Commission to consider the problems arising from the increasing costs of election campaigns and the financing of political parties. Among other questions, the Commission will be asked to consider and recommend whether appropriate expenses of candidates should be financed from the Public Treasury, whether limits should be placed by law on the election expenditures of candidates and parties, and whether candidates and parties should in future make a disclosure of political contributions.

TOURISM

We will continue to promote the development of the Tourist Industry. Additional campsites at Provincial Parks are to be provided, as well as expanded accommodation, restaurant and recreational facilities. We will undertake the development of one or more planned resort complexes so as to determine the usefulness of this concept.

HIGHWAYS

In view of the progress on the Trans Canada Highway, greater emphasis will be placed upon the improvement of Trunks 1 and 3 in Western Nova Scotia. It is the intention, and funds have been voted, to accelerate rapidly the engineering and construction to make Routes 1 and 3 all-weather routes of satisfactory standard.

Tourist Road projects, such as the Fundy Trail, the Fleur-de-Lys Highway, the Chedabucto Trail, the Lighthouse Trail, and others, are approved as desirable and important projects. The rate of progress with these must depend upon the amount of highway assistance available from federal sources.

Secondary road improvement, the resurfacing of worn pavements and the replacement of obsolete bridges will continue.

We will continue to press for the improvement and expansion of ferry services between Western Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and New England. We will continue to offer a capital grant towards expanded service with New England.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

The Program of Protection for consumers will be expanded. Proposed legislation regarding itinerant vendors has been drafted and published for study. A Consumers Protection Division will be created in the Department of the Provincial Secretary.

FORESTRY

Emphasis will be placed upon improved utilization and increased productivity of our forests. We will extend the application of the Forest Improvement Act, and encourage the development of industries to use the forest material now wasted. We propose to increase our holding of Crown Lands and to commence a program of consolidation of landholdings. Our aim will be to assist the saw-mill industry to improve its competitive position through rationalization of land holdings and improved access roads. We will continue to encourage the organization of small woodlot owners.

Although breakfast skipping among students has troubled teachers, physicians, nutritionists and coaches, some of the boys and girls have settled the problem on their own. Sam Doolittle and Kathy Neary, for example, find breakfast can even be fun. They carry their morning meal with them and prepare it on campus. It is easy to do with Carnation Instant Breakfast brand nutritive premix for milk. Sam and Kathy simply combine one pre-measured envelope of Instant Breakfast with eight fluid ounces of milk purchased at a campus vending machine. In a matter of seconds they have a good source of protein with added vitamins to help get them through the morning. CIBC 7-12

Electrical System Topic At Clare Trade Board Meet

Vincent F. Melanson, manager of the Electrical Distribution System of the Municipality of the District of Clare in Digby County, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Clare Board of Trade held at the Municipal Court House at Little Brook. He spoke on the Hydro System in Digby County and the distributing system in Clare which proved interesting and instructive to the gathering. Stewart McNaughton of the Digby County Power Board presented statistics to show the growth and success of the system.

Mr. Melanson is chairman of the Digby County Power Board, a position he has held since 1959. The Digby County Power Board is made up of four areas, the town of Digby, the village of Weymouth, the Municipality of Digby and the Municipality of Clare, stated Mr. Melanson. Clare joined in 1948. The object of the Digby County Power Board, stated

Mr. Melanson is to supply electrical service at the lowest possible rate.

The Municipality of Clare, said Mr. Melanson, constructed sixty-two miles of the electrical distribution system of Clare which represented all lines running on all side roads to connect villages on secondary roads in the Municipality as well as to bring electrical service to the various wharves.

We could consider the utility as an industry, said Mr. Melanson, and it is owned by the people of the county. Immense strides have been made in the distribution system. Total sales in 1962 was 669,400 KWH and in 1966 this amounted to 27,421,395 KWH. Of this amount Clare commenced with 65,151 KWH in 1932 and in 1966 this was increased to 9,974,000 KW hours.

Other business tackled by the Clare Board of Trade under the presidency of J. Marcel Valotaire, of Meteghan, consisted of the Board supporting the request of the Cape St. Mary's Anglers Association of Cape St. Mary's which asked for a bell-light buoy at Cape St. Mary's near the rip in that area. The purpose of the buoy, as explained by Mr. Norman Pothier, president of the association, is to aid fishermen during foggy or inclement weather and is necessary due to the fact that the fog-horn at the Cape lighthouse, is difficult to hear in certain areas.

The Board also went on record of supporting the demand being made by a group of land owners in Beaver River to the Maritime Marshland and Rehabilitation Commission to provide a control of water coming from Bartlett Beach which causes the flooding of valuable lands in the area. The Board also supports the local Employment Committee of Yarmouth which requested the establishing of a fisherman's training school in Western Nova Scotia. The Board also will request the Department of Lands and Forests to organize a licensed guide school for inland fisheries and hunting.

The Clare Board of Trade appointed Gerard d'Entremont of Meteghan Station and Mr. J. Marcel Valotaire as representatives of the Board on the International Exchange Committee. Mr. Deeks of Yarmouth spoke briefly on the necessity of having the International Exchange committee and the benefits that can be derived from such exchanges.

Norman Pothier, Meteghan; J. Alphonse Comeau, Meteghan River and Albert P. Melanson, Church Point were appointed on a committee to draw up a new set of by-laws which will be presented at the next meeting for approval and correction if necessary.

IS THE PACKAGING RIGHT? — Two teenagers in Edmonton showed up at the local Canadian National express freight office with a request to be shipped to Hollywood. This pretty young miss in Montreal has the same idea. In fact, she is a singing idol. However, CN Express Freight is to be perfectly clear, does not handle anything but one thing, shipments accepted by CN express freight must be properly packed and crated. And for another, the railway's passenger department is better placed to handle this type of traffic anyway. The picture of the pretty girl and the puzzled motorman is being used by CN to highlight its new Safe-T-Pack program among employees. The program stresses the importance of ensuring that shipments are properly packaged before acceptance so that they will reach their consignee safely and quickly.

TAXES ON YOUR HOME ARE TOO HEAVY....

First Point in the Liberal Election Program for Nova Scotia is Reduction of Taxes on Homes... the Liberals, when elected, will remove the operating cost of Education from the Municipalities and this will cut your taxes from 30 to 60 percent depending where you live and what your area spends on schools.

MAINLY BECAUSE OF EDUCATION

Nova Scotia's whole education system needs to be brought up to date to suit a complex and technical age... operating costs of education can no longer be carried by local districts... They must be distributed fairly, over the whole province. A Liberal Government will do this, relieving the hard-pressed home taxpayer and providing better, more modern education.

LIBERALS HAVE THE SOLUTION:

LIFT TAX LOAD OFF HOME OWNER
BY HAVING PROVINCE PAY OPERATING COSTS OF EDUCATION

GO AHEAD! VOTE LIBERAL

PARTY LEADERS APPEAL FOR DIGBY AREA VOTES

Stanfield Praises Digby And Area Fishermen

One of the most notable achievements in Nova Scotia in recent years is the progress made by the fishing industry in Digby County said Premier Robert Stanfield in addressing a Progressive Conservative meeting in support of candidate R. Baden Powell in Digby on Thursday night. Your county has moved up to second place among all the counties of Nova Scotia, said the premier, "I know your difficulties in obtaining satisfactory harbours and wharves for your larger vessels. I know about the problems some of your plants have had in qualifying for federal inspection. Despite these difficulties your industry has moved ahead rapidly, he remarked. He regretted that the market at the present time was low.

Speaking of the Beaverbrook Farms the premier said, "the opposition is going all over Nova Scotia criticizing this operation. I believe we should explore all encouraging possibilities for development in Nova Scotia and explore them on a scale sufficient to provide the conditions essential to success. When an outsider, be he American, English, Swede or Japanese, comes to Nova Scotia, we should be big enough to recognize this and make full use of that knowledge and experience. We need all the help we can get in Nova Scotia. We are a small province and our experience is limited. The opposition in Nova Scotia is doing no favour to Nova Scotia by opposing the use of American talent and experience in our Province and the use of fair and necessary arrangements to bring that talent and experience here." Mr. Stanfield said there was an opportunity for the development of a thriving small fruit industry in Digby and other parts of Nova Scotia, and we will carry it through despite opposition. Opportunity is what you seek in Digby. "Opportunity is what your government is trying to provide and will continue to provide, even over the dead bodies of Opposition candidates," exclaimed the premier.

Speaking about the P. C. candidate, Mr. Powell, the Premier said he was a conscientious representative, diligent in pressing the case for Digby and never felt he had to keep quiet because of embarrassment to government.

Mr. Stanfield accused the Opposition in trying to persuade that someone else is doing much better than you (Digby) are and that the provincial government has great sums of money to hand out if only it would do so. "I don't think many Nova Scotians are swallowing that stuff," said the Premier.

Provincial credit is a great asset. We need credit rating to develop Nova Scotia. Fairy tales have their place but not in an election campaign, the Premier said.

Speaking on the importance of communications to the people of western Nova Scotia, Premier Stanfield said, "Communications are of great importance to you and to all of western Nova Scotia. The service to Saint John is vital to

New Financial Approach N. S. Education — Regan

Unfortunately in Nova Scotia today, the Conservative government refuses to recognize the change in need in education which requires a new financial approach than that which existed in the days of the minimal costs of the one room school house when the wealth of the province resided in the ownership of land said Gerald Regan in speaking at Digby in support of Phillip Woolaver, Liberal candidate for Digby. In that faraway day of Fathers of Confederation, property taxation was the logical and only possible source of the low tax dollars that were required to meet educational costs.

One hundred years of confederation has seen the growth of industrial wealth and commercial wealth so that the ownership of land today is no longer an indication of the ability to pay. The result is that a great portion of the educational costs are being met by that part of our population which is least able to pay. The result is that the large family on a small income is hit hardest by the taxation on their homes. The Liberal Party recognizes that patchwork adjustments to the existing system of taxation no longer are good enough. A Liberal Government will assume the full operating cost of education under the Foundation Program to prepare Nova Scotia to move into the future, the speaker continued.

"We need to assume more education costs because we must spend more and more on education in the future. Our municipalities are too harassed with other matter of urgency to give education the time and money it will need. This is a new world. It has been called the age of permanent technological revolution. We need skills we have never had to use before, and we need them in quantity. If Nova Scotia is to keep up with the rest of Canada and the rest of the world in employment, in income, and in production, Mr. Regan said.

"The young people in our villages, towns, cities and country places take their education and move anywhere in the nation. Why then should not the nation have some part in the cost of that education? Should the ordinary homeowner be saddled with the total burden?" he said.

Pines Opens June 15th

Already the manager, Roy Forhan, and some members of the government owned Pines Motor Hotel are on hand preparing the hotel for the opening of the summer season beginning June 15 and ending September 15. Among those of the staff who have arrived is W. F. (Bill) Schmidts, Gustave Hazelhorn, better known as simply "Gus" the maitre d'hotel, is expected to arrive shortly. Both these members of the staff are well known in Digby, having spent the summer of 1966 here. It is expected that 175 will be employed for the summer.

The Pines looks forward to a busy season with tours and conventions scheduled. Among the conventions will be the Atlantic Provinces Automobile Dealers Association, the Medical Society of Nova Scotia and the Maritime Seniors Golf Tournament, all with an expected attendance of 300.

Because of heavy bookings the Pines is opening two weeks ahead of the usual summer season and will extend the season later in the Fall.

Construction of the 85 bed female staff residence at the Pines is expected to be completed early next month. A passenger elevator has been installed, rooms on two floors redecorated and refurnished. A two-acre practice fairway site adjacent to the golf course is being cleared.

Anniversary Observed

Special services were held during the past week commemorating the 114th Anniversary of the founding of the Acaciaville Baptist Church. On Thursday, a "community night service" was held, at which time the pastor, Rev. L. R. Atkinson, read a portion of the history of the Negro Baptist work in Nova Scotia, and more particularly, in this area. The message was based on the theme, The Church in the Community, and special music was provided by the regular Church choir. Following the service, a social time was held in the Church Hall, at which time two Anniversary cakes were cut by the two oldest deacons, and the two youngest members of the Church. The Friday evening service was conducted by the Ladies of the Church, with Mrs. Eva Cromwell presiding. The speaker was Mrs. M. L. Anderson of Greenville, Yarmouth County, who gave a brief history of the Ladies Auxiliary of the African Baptist Association, which is observing its 50th Anniversary this year. Her message was on the woman's place in the Church. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary formed the choir, and a social time followed the service. Saturday was Youth Night, with members of the Baptist Youth Fellowship of the Church taking part in the service, and leading in the singing. The meeting was chaired by Ronnie Barton, B.Y.F. President. The pastor's message was entitled

"What Jesus has to Offer Youth". The anniversary services concluded on Sunday evening, with a large number in attendance. The message brought by the pastor was based on the topic, "What Is God's Message to our Church?" Miss Amanda Cromwell was organist for all service.

Fish & Game Lodge Opens

Hughes Fair, president of the Nova Scotia Fish & Game Association, who was guest speaker at the official opening of the Clare Fish & Game Association lodge on the shores of Spectacle Lake, told the gathering that they had a very fine club house on an unpolluted lake. It is a very good Centennial project and a very impressive one. The Clare Association was one of the principal associations to demand for a conservation policy. You are fortunate to have unpolluted lakes and streams in your area, stated Mr. Fair.

Merle Prime, chief conservation officer of the Department of Lands & Forests, spoke briefly. He said that it was enlightening to see so many young people at the official opening. He spoke on conservation and told the group that a permanent ranger will be appointed for this area very soon and that Mr. Raymond Tufts will be regional biologist in the area in a few months.

President Louis Comeau, of the Clare Fish & Game Association, welcomed the many interested persons to the official opening of the lodge and Warden Gerard d'Entremont of the Municipality of Clare, brought greetings and wished the association great success, on behalf of the Municipality of Clare. Mr. Herbert Raynard, of Salmon River, oldest member of the association and licensed guide for over forty years, did the honor of cutting the ribbon to make the opening of the lodge official.

Special events planned for the occasion was a fishing contest on Spectacle Lake in which Hubert Thibault, of Little Brook, won first prize with a 19 1/2 inch pickerel, receiving $20.00 prize donated by Dr. H. J. Pothier, M.L.A., of Beaver River, and Tommy Banks, of Port Maitland, winning second prize with a 17 1/2 inch pickerel.

Hill Grove Depot For Dept. Lands & Forests

Through the efforts of the local M. L. A., Mr. Baden Powell, and interested mill operators, the Hill Grove Depot was constructed for the use of the Department of Lands & Forests in Digby County at Haines Lake, in Hillgrove. The Department of Public Works accepted the Tender of Roscoe Construction Co., Cambridge, N. S., and work began in the late fall and finished in the early spring. The building is 36 ft. by 52 ft., contains office space and a garage for repair and storage of fire equipment. The depot is served by radio communications and is linked with other Department of Lands & Forest Depots in the province. At a later date facilities will be constructed to serve as a headquarters for the personnel in the area and business pertaining to the Department of Lands & Forests.

"This has been recognized by the federal government which is making constantly heavier payments to the province. It is right for the province to use some of this money for education."

Mr. Regan said he was conscious of a new spirit growing in this province, a spirit of reform. The people of Nova Scotia have seen the vigour of the Liberal platform while the Tories have no better criticism to make than the old Conservative cry, "We can't afford it." He charged that if we made a practice of following that advice, we would never have secured pensions, or unemployment insurance, or family allowances, or any of the other reforms that give us social security today.

Speaking on housing Mr. Regan said the Liberal government is determined to provide assistance and incentives which will result in thousands of new homes being built in Nova Scotia. This will do more than provide decent and adequate accommodation for Nova Scotian families. It will also provide jobs for the unemployed and a boost to the economy of our province. It is our belief that there is no more worthwhile program that a government can undertake than that in the field of housing. And there is none in which the cost will be less in relation to the gains to the province. Our people do not ask for gifts, they ask for reasonable assistance from the government in financing the building of a home. The Liberal program recognizes those needs and assures the flow of mortgage money into those areas where it has been difficult to get mortgage.

Referring to the military bases in Nova Scotia, Mr. Regan repeated the pledge that he made in Digby at a meeting sponsored by the "Save Cornwallis" committee some time ago, when he said that the provincial Liberal party would support in every way the efforts to retain Cornwallis and other military bases in Nova Scotia. He said that if Ottawa wishes to assist in the development of areas like Nova Scotia, there is no industry more labour-intensive, there is no industrial plant existing in Canada which can help our areas more than the retention of training facilities for the military forces of Canada here in our province, and if they really wish to assist in the development of our economy, the expansion of these facilities, and the greater concentration of training bases in this part of Canada will provide this assistance in more effective measure than any other action the government can take.

The meeting on Wednesday night was presided over by Emanuel Adelaar of Weymouth. Other platform guests with Mr. Regan and Mr. Woolaver who spoke were, Benoit Comeau, Liberal candidate in Clare, Capt. Joseph Casey, Duncan Armstrong and Peter Nicholson, M.L.A., Annapolis West.

Mr. Adelaar said that the federal government had funds available for harbour facilities at Petit Passage, but were not going to pour money in an island without a link to the mainland. He said the highway was a provincial responsibility and if the provincial government would have approached the federal government, if they couldn't afford the funds to build the highway, the money would have been made available, but the government did not make the approach.

Mr. Adelaar also attacked the provincial government for not regulating women equal to men on wages for the same job done.

Editor's note: owing to press deadline, a full account of Wednesday night's meeting was impossible.)

At a Liberal political meeting held in Digby on Wednesday night the Liberal candidate, Phillip Woolaver, local barrister, stated the first problem in the fishing industry that had to be overcome was the present surplus of frozen fish. He stated that without government assistance, the present surplus would be a long time getting cleaned up. Mr. Woolaver advocated the arrangement of an immediate conference in Western Nova Scotia between the Provincial Minister of Fisheries and the Federal Minister of Fisheries for the purpose of tackling this marketing problem. Mr. Woolaver stated that there seemed to be little logic in governments investing large sums of money for the construction of new druggers without a system of assuring a reasonably steady market which would give the fish plant operators the confidence necessary to expand their plants and enable them to assure the fishermen of a steady price.

Mr. Woolaver stated that since the Provincial government spent thousands of dollars to produce the Margeson report to determine the best port in Nova Scotia for a second New England ferry and since the Margeson Report recommended Digby as the Nova Scotia port for a second New England ferry, it is the responsibility of the Government of Nova Scotia to implement that recommendation. Mr. Woolaver suggested that the reason that the Margeson Report recommendation of Digby was not implemented was that the member for Digby had not pressed hard enough for this action.

Another local matter stressed by Mr. Woolaver was the improvement of the ferry services on Digby Neck and Islands with the Province accepting its legal responsibility for improved hours of service and improved equipment including radar.

Regarding education, Mr. Woolaver stated that the public has not been told what the announced comprehensive program will involve. A Royal Commission should be called in Nova Scotia, as has been done in British Columbia and Ontario, to re-assess the present methods of streaming students, examine text books presently in use many of which are considered poor by leading educators, and improve the methods presently being used to encourage teachers to remain in Nova Scotia require a complete re-assessment to determine the direction education is going and to determine if we are not adopting policies and methods new to us just at the time when they are being rejected by the more forward of the provinces in the field of education and the countries of the world with advanced education systems.

Mr. Woolaver stated that he supported the Liberal Platform 100% and that even the Conservatives agreed that the measures advocated by the Liberals were desirable. The issue regarding the Liberal platform was the historical position of the Conservative party saying that it can't be done, while the Liberal party takes its traditional position that it can be done.

The only party with a program

for improved opportunities in education

If Nova Scotians as individuals and Nova Scotia as a Province are to enjoy reasonable equal opportunity in the modern economic community, we must provide an adequate program in education and training. Therefore, we shall continue to forward our comprehensive program and strive to maintain the present spirit of co-operation with local authorities, teachers and administrators, which is essential to the continuing steady improvement of our education system. We believe that the requirements for further desirable administrative arrangements can be achieved without discord.

The Foundation Program for education will continue to be reviewed annually and action taken based upon recommendations of a Committee representing the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, the Association of Urban and Municipal School Boards, the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities, and the Department of Education.

Having assumed full responsibility for Vocational Schools, and having launched the Municipal Services Plan, the next major step the Government will take to assist Municipal Governments and municipal taxpayers will be to increase further the provincial share of the cost of the Public School system by increasing grants toward school construction and debt service charges, and by steadily increasing the provincial share of the cost of operating the Foundation Program for education. The Government of Nova Scotia, further, has urged the Federal Government to equalize Municipal, as well as Provincial, revenues. Were this done, some $40,000,000 in additional revenues would be available each year to Nova Scotia, and this would be used to reduce the cost of education to Municipal Governments. Our proposal has seemed to be accepted in principle by Federal authorities, and we expect the Government of Canada ultimately to act upon it, although not under the existing tax sharing agreement.

The Government will further encourage the recruitment of teachers and the steady improvement of their qualifications. We will proceed with the recommendation of the Fletcher Commission to establish an Institute of Education.

Tenders will be called this spring and summer for the construction of seven new Regional Vocational Schools to be built without cost to the municipalities, excepting the acquisition of the necessary land. Negotiations are in progress for local school authorities to take over at value the existing Vocational School at Yarmouth, as a result of the decision of the Provincial Administration to build a new Regional Vocational School on a larger site. Expansion is expected for all existing Vocational Schools within the near future. With the financial assistance of the Federal Government, the Provincial Government is now building a Technical Institute to serve Eastern Nova Scotia. Facilities of the Nova Scotia Technical Institute at Halifax and the Survey School at Lawrencetown are to be expanded.

So that the increasing number of Nova Scotians seeking entrance to our Universities will not be denied, further large scale assistance to higher education will be necessary. It will be the policy of this Government to provide such assistance as recommended by the University Grants Committee.

Your Government believes the interests of the community are best served when all qualified students seeking education beyond high school are able to obtain it. The present Student Loans provided by the Federal Government are now supplemented by a Bursary Plan initiated by the Government of Nova Scotia and extended further in this current year. Nova Scotia's Bursary Plan will be further extended, as and when the Federal Government enacts its Scholarship Program.

Adult Education will be encouraged, and to that end, the cost sharing proportions of the Foundation Program this year are being applied to the cost sharing of the Adult Education courses, while preserving the 50% minimum, thus substantially reducing the percentage of cost formerly borne by less well-to-do municipal units and thereby increasing their ability to sponsor Adult Education Courses. In co-operation with Federal authorities, the Provincial Government proposes to build three new Centres for Adult Vocational Training, with places for 4,500 students.

About This And That

Don't Spoil Your Ballot

We had one correspondent this week who was worried about spoiled ballots. To help people vote properly it was suggested that we insert a sample ballot in this paper with an X on it. With the sample ballot put in, respondent thought should also be made instructions to know your man, mark X carefully and don't spoil yours.

The first request would be rather difficult for us. To mark X in two places on a sample ballot would give no help and to mark X at one name would look like showing preference on our part. We'll leave that choice to someone else.

Mark X carefully. Yes, do that. We can't tell you where to mark X but we urge you to do so. This is your privilege and responsibility. Not to mark an X on May 30 is just the same as having spoiled your ballot, having voted against your candidate, yourself and your wish. Not all are expected to mark X on each but each can expect what he thinks by marking X.

Know your man. We agree with the correspondent on that score. We preach that every election. Any candidate should be able to bear scrutiny and have the platform represented to undergo investigation and explanation. The man and the platform must be carefully studied in order to vote intelligently. Promises must be weighed against the costs. We feel it is most unfair to pressure a candidate into promises for which we are not prepared to pay the price. We quote from Hon. Robert Winters as appeared in the Chronicle-Herald this week:

"Too many people in this country are pressing governments to spend beyond their means. I would like to see us resist some of the pressures that when we do advance new social welfare measures we will be able to afford them."

So don't forget that the paper has to be paid for, promises kept whether the time is welfare, education, roads or what have you.

Use pencil only. All we can say is that a pencil is provided at every polling booth. Just be sure to use it. By next Thursday we can tell you how you did use it but it is not for us to tell you on this Thursday how to use it. We can only repeat — there's a ballot and pencil for you. Don't spoil your ballot by not using that pencil.

Don't spoil your ballot. Let us see you at the polls.

Must Meet Educational Changes

The end of the school year is here. Excrement and tensions are beginning to mount for both student and parent. Closings, graduations, yes, those provincial examinations, too, are not far away. Indeed, it is a short time until the Fall term begins. What with applying for scholarships, planning the proper courses and such, the time slips by quickly. There are opportunities to be grasped that had not been heard of thirty-odd years ago when today's parents were students. Students must be ever alert to take advantage of opportunities.

Along with other changes in the world, education, too, has been undergoing changes. It has been essential for education to change to keep pace with other revolutionary changes in the world. It is expected that we are now through with changes in what has been termed a changing world. We are told that education of tomorrow will be vastly different from today. Skills of today and new skills will become quickly outmoded. Students will have to be made teachable in order to learn the new skills to keep up with the changes. As Norman Copland, secretary-treasurer of Canadian Teachers' Federation, Ottawa, told teachers at a recent meeting in Nova Scotia, "Memorization used to be the method of learning knowledge, but there is so much knowledge today, that this is no longer possible. The new method must be to train the student where to find facts and how to check facts as they become available."

And where abouts parent or taxpayer might ask. A changing world demands a changing education and changing facilities must meet the changes in education. Men of experience, wisdom and understanding are necessary to plan ways of meeting the changes in a rapidly technical field and society. Education for today is a business. The parent and taxpayer have a responsibility to meet obligations to the best of their ability to provide the student for the changing world ahead.

Courier Gets Around

The Digby Courier gets around and around the world pointing out where to shop and bringing forth a message to those past the four score years and ten. Following an extract from a letter we recently received from New Jersey:

"Some time ago a friend lent me a Courier. I read it of a return of 1966. When I found my friend's name I gave it to the Rev. Canon James Parry, pastor of the Episcopal Church here, who had spoken of pleasant vacations spent in Digby and Bear River vicinity. He sent it to his father, a retired minister, age 90, who was born in Bear River and lived long in the State of New York. Rev. Mr. Parry's senior invocation for my grandfather's hearing of the last year passed and passed."

There were four readers — the two friends, the pastor and his father. We usually consider an average of three readers to one subscription. In other words, we have more than 3,200 subscribers or nearly 10,000 readers.

The Soviet Union's pavilion at Expo will have a 1100 seats restaurant serving the popular dishes of this republic.

for a Growing Tourist Industry

We will continue to promote the development of the Tourist Industry. Additional campsites at Provincial Parks are to be provided, as well as expanded accommodation, restaurant and recreational facilities. We will undertake the development of one or more planned resort complexes so as to determine the usefulness of this concept.

We are sufficiently encouraged by the increasing rate of growth of our Tourist Industry to anticipate that the number of visitors to our Province within the next decade can, with proper planning, be doubled.

Tourist Road projects, such as the Fundy Trail, the Fleur-de-Lys Highway, the Chedabucto Trail, the Lighthouse Trail, and others, are approved as desirable and important projects. The rate of progress with these must depend upon the amount of highway assistance available from Federal sources.

Secondary road improvement, the resurfacing of worn pavements and the replacement of obsolete bridges will continue.

HERE IS HOW A LIBERAL GOVERNMENT WILL LOWER YOUR PROPERTY TAXES

A LIBERAL GOVERNMENT WILL RELIEVE THE MUNICIPALITIES OF THE OPERATING COST OF EDUCATION BY PAYING 100% OF THE FOUNDATION PROGRAM. THIS WILL TAKE APPROXIMATELY $25 MILLIONS AND WILL REDUCE YOUR PROPERTY TAXES FROM 30 TO 60%, DEPENDING ON WHERE YOU LIVE AND WHAT YOUR COMMUNITY SPENDS

WHERE WILL THE $25 MILLIONS COME FROM?

PROVINCIAL INCOME* in 1967 will rise by $47 millions over 1966, and $32 millions of this money is from Ottawa under the new sharing arrangements. This is new money for Nova Scotia and was not received in 1966. It will come on a continuing basis. A Liberal Government will use part of this to lower your property taxes.

*Provincial income from all sources this year is $215,000,000, about one-half of which comes from Ottawa. When the Conservatives said in 1933 that Angus L. Macdonald would bankrupt the province by paving the roads, total provincial income was $8,100,988. Today they are saying the Liberals cannot assume the education cost "because it will bankrupt the province". Angus L. paved the roads and the province's income has since multiplied by 26 times. Provincial income will continue to grow. Today a Liberal government can and will pay the operating cost of education and lower your property taxes. . . . The only party with a program for Municipal Assistance

The new Municipal Services Programme—described by the President of the Nova Scotia Union of Municipalities as "a new approach for the expansion of municipal services", adding the body's Executive has "fully endorsed" this further assistance proposed by the Provincial Government. This year, Provincial assistance to municipalities, including increased support for Education, will amount to $14,000,000.

The Provincial Government will establish a Housing Incentive Program to encourage the Municipal level of Government and co-operative groups to make new housing starts... The Province will make grants to municipal units and approved agencies.

The Provincial Government will assist Municipalities in the development of Municipal Airfields.

The Provincial Government will increase its share of the cost of the Public School System by increasing grants toward school construction and debt service charges, and by steadily increasing the Provincial share of the cost of operating the Foundation Program for Education.

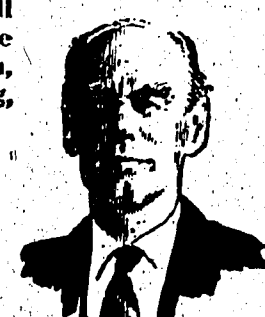

The Government of Nova Scotia has urged the Federal Government to equalize Municipal, as well as Provincial, revenues. Were this done, some $40,000,000 in additional revenue would be available each year to Nova Scotia and would be used to reduce the cost of Education to Municipal Governments.

The Provincial Government has relieved Municipalities of all financial responsibility for Vocational Training, and has increased its contribution to the Municipalities for the cost of Adult Education.

A Provincial Water Commission will be established to provide local authorities with technical, professional and other assistance.

The Stanfield Government believes in the vital role of Municipal Government, and in the right of citizens in each locality to determine local issues.

Because the Government of Nova Scotia recognizes the problems of our Municipal Governments in providing adequate services without imposing excessive taxation, the Province has assumed full responsibility for many costly services, including the operation of Municipal Mental Hospitals, as well as General Hospitals; the Province has increased its share of the mounting cost of the Public School system and relieved Municipal Government of all financial responsibility for Vocational Training. In addition, the Province is now assisting, under its Municipal Services Program, in providing fire and police protection, street lighting and paving, and sewer and water services.

N. S. ELECTORS CHOOSE STANFIELD GOVERNMENT

The Progressive Conservative government of Premier Robert L. Stanfield was swept back into office Tuesday, winning 40 of 46 seats. All cabinet ministers were returned. The remaining six seats were taken by the Liberals. The New Democratic Party made a poor showing, all candidates losing their $200.00 deposits except the leader, Prof. James Aitchison, who also went down to defeat in Cape Breton East.

The Premier won an easy victory in Colchester, and Liberal Leader Gerald A. Regan was elected in Halifax Needham with a majority of 103. The Liberals increased their legislature representation from four to six seats, and the Conservatives gained one. Three seats were added through redistribution. The number of seats held by the Conservatives have increased each time since Mr. Stanfield became leader in 1949. Tuesday's win was the fourth for the P.C.'s who captured the government in 1956 after 23 years of Liberal rule.

Liberals captured three seats in Halifax County and gained Clare from the Conservatives. Only Liberals to be re-elected were in Annapolis West and Inverness. The P.C.'s won in traditionally Liberal Victoria, which had not returned a Conservative since 1937. They also captured Pictou East, Liberal for the last eight years.

Liberals Benoit Comeau gained Clare, held for the past four years by Dr. Hector Pothier, a Conservative. They also gained Halifax Eastern Shore. Mr. Regan in his first try as Liberal Leader won a legislature seat for the first time. He had failed on three previous occasions, in 1956, 1960 and 1962. Liberal Peter M. Nicholson, house leader of the party for the past four years, increased his majority from 311 to 352. Mr. Stanfield led the polls in Colchester with 9,186. His nearest opponent, a Liberal, had 5,429.

Three Liberals lost their deposits, as did two independents and 23 of the 24 N.D.P.'s. No Conservative lost his deposit. The Liberals increased their popular vote by two percentage points, to 42 percent, the P.C.'s receiving 53 percent, the N.D.P. five percent.

Two Negro candidates, Liberal Tom Miller in Cape Breton Nova, and N.D.P.'s Buddy Daye, Halifax Needham, both went down to defeat. They were the first Negroes in Nova Scotia to ever contest a provincial election. All four women candidates in Tuesday's election were defeated.

Approximately the same number of Nova Scotians voted Tuesday, compared with 1963, though there were 4,000 more voters this time than last. An estimated 340,000 voted, about 76 per cent of the eligible number, 404,668.

Comparison

Annapolis West — 1967 Liberal majority 352; 1963 Liberal majority 311.

BRIER ISLAND — Unusual rock formations and outstanding seacoast scenery are just two attractions on Brier Island, located at the tip of Digby Neck in Nova Scotia. The tiny island, well known to bird watchers for the many species of land and sea birds which concentrate here during migration, is reached by paved road and two car ferries. (Nova Scotia Information Service photo).

Although tiny Brier Island, Nova Scotia, may seem remote to jet-age travellers, those who make the 80-mile return trip down the "Neck" from Digby are rewarded by 2,800 acres of enchantment.

There are enough unusual geological formations, combined with an abundance of scenic beauty, to warrant a special trip to the island, which is reached by paved road and two brief crossings on improvised car ferries. It is located at the tip of Digby Neck, a narrow strip of land which hooks out from the ferry terminal town of Digby and is separated from the major French-speaking area of the province by the waters of St. Mary's Bay.

What's so special about Brier Island? Probably its most outstanding feature is located on the south side of the island — (Please turn to page 2)

Industrial And Home Arts On Display

An industrial and home arts display and afternoon tea was sponsored at the Digby Regional High School on Thursday afternoon under the Home Economics teachers, Miss Grace Vincent and Mrs. Fred Fullerton. Industrial Arts teachers are Liberto Nakpil and Manuel Lopez.

On display at the Home Economics were notebooks of the year's work, including that of Miss Marcia Titus, Grade IX, which received second prize at the Western Nova Scotia Congress. Items made by the students of grades VII to XII and on display were blouses, skirts, jumpers, dresses, aprons, pillows, caps, towels, needle cases, knitted sweaters, window drapes and toys as well as samples of jellies, jams and other food articles made by the students. The rolls used for the afternoon tea were made by students.

Hostesses were Florentine Lawrence and Sylvia Dukeshire and guides were Misses Debbie Stark, Brenda Murphy, Sharon Dennison and Judy McEwan. Others who assisted in serving were Misses Thelma Rice, Carolyn Silver, Jean Bremner, Carolyn Cameron, Sherry Titus and Team MacPhee.

The displays and tea in 1967 takes the place of the usual fashion show.

On display in the industrial arts section were articles made by students such as lamps, corner shelves, jewelry boxes, coffee tables, fruit bowls, smoking stands, serving trays and letterholders. Hosts for the industrial arts displays were Greg Holdsworth and Terry Leonard.

Digby Centennial Celebrations June 25 - 27 Inclusive

Sunday June 25th will get the Digby Centennial Celebrations underway with a religious atmosphere. A centennial inter denominational service will be conducted at the handstand after which the Memorial Bell will be dedicated. The Blessing of the Fleet will also take place on Sunday. The Princess of Acadia will be making her first Sunday trip for the summer and the Saint John Kiwanis Pipe Band will make the usual visit. The day will end with a chicken barbecue staged by the Knights of Columbus. These reports were made on Monday night at a meeting of the Digby Centennial Steering Committee, chaired by Bernard Bell.

Mr. Bell said that all the fishing fleet will be asked to trim the boats to make it a spectacular occasion. The Digby Yacht Club has offered a memorial wreath to be dropped at sea.

Glen Smith, who heads the Memorial Bell committee reported that plans were advancing for this event. Many items have been donated to defray the cost of materials and construction of the bell foundation, but there will be several hundred dollars need to meet costs of plaques and finishing touches. An appeal will be made to the citizens of the area and those who have lost friends or relatives to donate toward the cost. Already accounts have been opened in the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Nova Scotia, Digby, to receive donations. A list of donors will appear in The Digby Courier. (Please turn to page 2)

Design Chosen Fishermen's Memorial Bell

The design below is a combination of those entered by Mrs. Norma Joy, Digby, and Graham McBride, Rockingham, in a contest for a memorial to be erected to fishermen lost in the Digby area between 1867 and 1967. A prize of $50.00 was divided between the two winners. The 700 pound bell will be erected on the lawn of the Federal Building in Digby. Its design will include a beach rock cairn with suitable base, a brass memorial plaque, and a schooner anchor on each side of the cairn. Names of seamen from Annapolis Basin area and Digby Neck and Islands will be inscribed on the plaque. Relatives and friends of seamen who were lost at sea have been asked to forward all pertinent information to Glen Smith, Department of Fisheries, Digby. Donations are being accepted to help defray costs of erecting the monument.

Digby Airport Passes Test, Ready For Traffic

Word has been received by the operators of the Digby airport that it has been duly licensed by the federal department of transport, following inspection.

The airport is now qualified as an acceptable landing for all planes capable of using a 2,000 foot landing strip.

First steps toward establishing the new Digby airport were taken on April 2, 1966, when a suitable site at Hillgrove, a few miles from Digby was chosen, and an experimental landing by a small plane was carried out on the site.

First sod for the establishment of the runway was turned on April 11, 1967. Since that time many improvements have been carried out and now the airport is equipped with a 2,000 foot rolled gravel landing strip, fueling and oil depot, waiting room, and other facilities.

As soon as feasible, landing lights, radio control and other improvements will be added. The area where the landing strip is located is one of the most fog free in this area of western Nova Scotia and the operators note that in the years, since the air strip was established, it has only been fogged in for 19 days. In those 19 days there were a considerable number in which fog conditions existed only for a short portion of the day.

Since the airstrip was established a total of 194 landings have been made. Most of these were by private planes, although a number of charter flights have also made use of the airstrip. During the period while the ferry service, between Digby and Saint John was disrupted for needed overhaul of the CPSS Princess of Acadia, quite a number made use of air service to Digby from Saint John, provided by the Fundy Flying Club.

Sharon Cook

Apple Blossom Princess

Nineteen year old Sharon Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Cook, Digby, will represent Digby at the thirty-fifth annual Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival to be held this weekend. The centennial blossom festival will be held June 2-5 in communities from Digby to Windsor along the 100 mile long Valley.

Annapolis Royal's representative in the Apple Blossom Festival this weekend will be Ruth Treau de Coeli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Treau de Coeli. She was Queen of Natives in 1966 in Annapolis Royal.

C.F.B. Cornwallis will be represented at the Festival by W. O. Karen Sterling, Miss Cornwallis 1967.

shipment of fruits and vegetables from the government sponsored Beaverbrook Farms, at Seabrook, may be made during the summer. Increased production of fruits and vegetables in the Digby area for export to the United States may also warrant extension of the airstrip facilities in the near future, it is understood.

About This And That

Airport To Help Digby Grow

Congratulations to those responsible for the airport at Hill Grove. Their persistence has paid off and now they have been granted a license by the federal department of transport.

The Digby airport could have a direct bearing on the economy of the area. Take, for example, perishable products such as strawberries and other fruits, vegetables, and fish. One of the drawbacks for success in this type of export has been quick transportation from Digby. We were advised last week by strawberry growers in the Weymouth area that they had to give up that business some years ago because of lack of quick transportation and lack of knowledgeable help for proper harvesting. With an airport so near, the first difficulty might be overcome. The airport might be a boost to our Digby County farmers and fishermen as well as for passenger service.

Digby Needs

Digby needs a good, well organized Retail Merchants Association. It needs a body which can speak unitedly for the merchants.

This was quite evident at a meeting of Digby's Centennial Steering Committee on Monday night. Their original plans were to request a full holiday for June 27. Rumors were that the merchants didn't approve although there didn't seem to be anyone who could speak for the merchants. The committee compromised. They decided on a half holiday from 12 noon on. It would have been a much simpler decision had the merchants talked it over first at an organized Merchants Association.

Beauty Reflects

One can scarcely believe that summer is upon us. With weather to deny the fact and an election to occupy many minds and hands, the days have gone without our people realizing it. Today is the first day of June. This is the month for which your Centennial committee in Digby has planned for mostly. They have come up with a most attractive program. They expect a good many visitors to town. A few days after, the Weymouth Day will be held and the Clare festivities will follow shortly after that. There will be youth visitors from Alberta. Someone has said that "outward appearance is a reflection on those that live inside." So if we want to impress all our expected visitors favorably, we should be making this County of ours just as beautiful as we can possibly make it.

Where should we begin? Our guess is Digby Town Hall. We commend those responsible for the paint-up and fix-up in the Council chambers. We think a few dollars on each person's tax bill would do wonders for the outside appearance and would not be too objectionable to the taxpayer when viewing a cleaner, brighter and more cheerful looking building. We are confident that the drab, dull and dismal appearance of the town hall does not reflect on the people who work or make decisions under its roof but the appearance does reflect on Digby as a whole.

Beauty reflects. The year 1967 should bring many more visitors to Digby County. We should do our best to make a good appearance in the whole county, and make the reflection on ourselves as favorable as possible.

A Visitor Will Be Missed

Digby always looked forward to the summer visits of Dr. and Mrs. Channing Lefebvre who had their summer home in town. It was a common question at this time of the year to hear "Have the Lefebvres arrived?" Death took Dr. Lefebvre on April 21, 1967, and his presence in Digby will be missed. He had become part of Digby. He was one of Digby. Accustomed to big city life, to the limelight to which his profession brought him, Dr. Lefebvre never lost the common touch and was, we are sure, just as much at home in this small community as in the excitement of New York. Indeed, had his death not occurred he would have been here to live among us in his retirement.

Dr. Lefebvre was a much travelled and well educated and capable person. Just preceding his death he had arrived in New York from Manila where he had been for six years as organist of a church in Quezon City. He had formerly been organist and choirmaster of Trinity Episcopal Church in New York until 1941. He had conducted the University Glee Club for 34 years. After Trinity Church Dr. Lefebvre went to St. Paul's School, Concord, N.H., and remained until he went to the Philippines.

When Dr. Lefebvre was honored by Columbia University more than 3 years ago with a doctorate in music, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, then university president, said that he was "born to love of music and early seeking a musical career; successively choirboy, organist, and now choirmaster and organist at Trinity, that ancient foundation to which this university is bound by ties that go back to its very birth."

Dr. Lefebvre became devoted to music early in life. He almost lost out when someone discovered that the family piano could be locked, but he was saved by Channing Moore Williams, Episcopal Bishop of Japan, who, on a visit to his home in Richmond, insisted that his 8-year-old great-nephew be given access to the instrument. The Bishop then committed himself to subsidizing the boy's piano lessons.

Later, young Lefebvre was sent to St. Paul's Choir

School in Baltimore, where he started an intramural newspaper, appointed himself editor and wrote the whole publication. The venture led to his becoming choir librarian, a post that gave him access to the church organ.

Organist, he quickly decided, was to be his life's vocation. He was sent to the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, leaving it after two years to become organist at St. Stephen's Church in Washington.

In 1916 Dr. Lefebvre became an assistant organist at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. When asked to become "visiting director of a male chorus upstate," he accepted. The appointment turned out to be that of director of community singing at Sing Sing Prison.

It did not last too long, however, because Dr. Lefebvre enlisted in the Naval Reserve the following year and served through World War I on a trans-Atlantic troopship.

Before the Trinity appointment in New York, Dr. Lefebvre had been organist and choirmaster at St. Luke's Church in Montclair, N. J.

Digby will look forward to the visits of Mrs. Lefebvre but the summer visitor, invariably smoking his pipe, will not be among us. His friendship and his talent will be missed. His influence in the town, musically, will remain. His friendship and sociability will be pleasant memories for many in this small community.

Remember Shut Ins

How lonely would be the aged or infirm persons if they received only once a year on Shut Ins Sunday. So many weary hours to while away between each visit. So while we urge visitations on this particular Sunday, we also want to recognize the good people who so frequently think of others less fortunate than themselves as each day and week goes by. There are a number of these good people in our midst who though they live busy lives can find time to bring comfort and cheer to others. Each town and each community has them and maybe nobody in Digby is more worthy of mention in this respect than our own first lady.

Sunday, June 3, known as Shut Ins Sunday, is meant to remind the rest of us neglectful visitors that we should drop our busyness for an hour and spend it in spreading a bit of cheer to those who are confined at home or institution. So have we a flower in the garden? A cookie in the pantry, maybe? Or, have we just a happy smile to share? Then, share it on Sunday by a visit to a Shut In.

Greatest Story Ever Told

The picture in living color, The Greatest Story Ever Told, was presented at the Capitol Theatre on Sunday and Monday nights. Attendance was far below the usual Sunday night attendance, it is understood. The same comment could have been made for the picture, The Ten Commandments, which played at the theatre here. Does this suggest something about our tastes for the screen. It is not too encouraging for the proprietors to bring in good pictures. They are not profitable.

Newspapers Need Dollars Too

Nothing carries long on give-aways and unreasonably low or diversified prices. Sooner or later prices must stabilize, charges for honest goods must be made in order to keep solvent. A tradesman doesn't go about doing chores without expecting remuneration. He has to have money to eat, live, drive a car, pay taxes or whatever obligations he has to meet. The news media is in the very same boat. They must be paid for advertising and for subscriptions in order to pay a staff a decent wage, buy paper and ink, meet costs of light, heat, bank interest or whatever other obligations they might have. Occasionally a special or introductory offer is put on to attract people but before too long you have to get on a paying basis again.

Presently The Digby Courier has a column to "List Your Events" with the stipulation that only those events will be carried free which have already advertised, which will be advertised or a community spirited non-revenue event. We operate on the premise that space worth using is worth paying for. As a Centennial project and to avoid conflict of dates in this busy scheduled year we offer the "List Your Events" column free of charge under the above circumstances.

As usual public relations people are on the march with everything from Expo down to "better mousetraps." Actually we have no quarrel with p.r., our dislike is advertising which should be legitimately paid for passed off as news or p.r. material. Our waste paper baskets are full of such copy from highly paid specialists in the p.r. field who are really trying to do a mighty good job for the employer. We'll give them credit on that score. Grant you, all the employers are not in the business field. Organizations, municipalities, provincial and federal governments all have the p.r. personnel. In many cases fine news copy is submitted or some worthwhile project is promoted but ten chances to one the p.r. material coming to our desk is nothing but a scheme to get free advertising to promote some sort of deal.

Do you think for instance that if this private newspaper company wanted to give a prize or donation or carry on a contest of some kind that all other advertising media, newspapers, radio, T.V., would promote the scheme free of charge? Not by a long shot. We too are a private company trying to keep the wheels turning by making a reasonable profit on selling advertising. We, too, would like free promotion for our business if we could get it but actually we don't expect it. The fact that no direct revenue comes back to us means nothing. We expect to bear our own financial burdens in whatever area we see fit to incur them.

Red Shield Campaign Underway

The Salvation Army's Red Shield campaign is well on its way to being a success in Digby County. That simple sentence says a lot. Translated it means that Digby's men, women, boys and girls who need encouragement, counseling, help in many ways, can look forward to 1967 with more hope, more assurance that they will not be forgotten by The Salvation Army, but sympathy can only go so far.

BRIER ISLAND

step-like columns of basalt rock whose interesting formations seem to defy the sea's constant swirling around their base.

Here, too, is a memorial plaque to Captain Joshua Slocum, who made a solo trip around the world in a 36-foot sloop from 1895-98. Captain Slocum spent ten years of his life in Westport, Brier Island's only community and the largest one on the Neck. It's difficult to see why Captain Slocum would ever want to leave Westport. This delightful little fishing village seems a world apart from the tempo of the jet age and exudes a serene charm that cannot be duplicated.

On the western side of the island a lighthouse stands sentinel for ships sailing Bay of Fundy waters and for the visitor affords a spectacular view of the island and the bay. Brier Island is becoming a haven for bird watchers, as many species of both sea and land birds concentrate here during migration, and are present throughout the year.

Reaching Brier Island is a pleasant experience in itself, especially if the visitor takes the time to travel along some of the side roads to the shores of St. Mary's Bay on one side or the Bay of Fundy on the other. Travellers pass through neat little villages where agriculture, cattle raising and fishing are the main industries, until they reach Sandy Cove. As its name implies, Sandy Cove surrounds a sheltered cove and is the starting point for many salt water sport fishing excursions. Although its year-round population is less than 200, the number swells with the beginning of each summer and more people each year are discovering the delights of summertime in Sandy Cove.

Further on, at East Ferry, a small ferry takes cars and passengers to the first of two islands forming the Neck. Long Island's geological structure is similar to that of the mainland and separated from it by Petite Passage. Two of Onil Dionne of Magog, P. Q., who will be added to the teaching staff at St. Ann's college at Church Point was announced by Rev. Raymond LeBlanc, president of St. Ann's recent ly.

Mr. Dionne was born at Magog, P. Q., on March 25th 1938 and completed his first years of school at St. Patrick Academy of the same town in 1945-50. He completed his high school education and college at St. Charles Borromeo Seminary of Sherbrooke, P. Q., from 1950 and 1957. The school is affiliated to the University of Sherbrooke.

He studied chemistry at the University of Montreal from 1957 to 1962 and at University of Ottawa from 1963 to 1967. He received his Bachelor of Arts in 1957 at Sherbrooke, his Bachelor of Science in 1960 at Montreal and his Master in Science in 1962 at Montreal.

He did research work in Inorganic Chemistry under professor W. Heuman, Montreal; research in Theoretical Chemistry under Dr. D. M. Bishop, Ottawa and research work in Spectroscopy under Professor Camille Sandorfy, Montreal. Mr. Dionne is a member of the Chemical Institute of Canada.

The larger villages on the Neck are located on Long Island. They are Tiverton and Freeport.

Drive Carefully

World traveller Mike Ferber of the Rhythm Pals holds a baby python (only 4 or 5 ft. long). Mike picked up this friendly little fellow at the zoo in Accra, Ghana, during the Canada Entertains Tour, 24th.

That sympathy needs to be backed up by practical help. That is more to the point. There is no age or social level untouched by The Salvation Army's workers. But how much practical help can be offered rests with those who support the balance of the Red Shield campaign. It's not over yet, and it won't be until every person who wants to help, has had a chance. When yours comes remember that the need is great, and it takes people who are big in heart to answer it.

Plug For American Management

Know-how

According to an article in the Chronicle-Herald this week Hon. Robert Winters thinks the general calibre of Canadian management would be worse had it not been for American and other foreign investment in this country and the know-how that has come with it.

"The Americans have used the tool of management better than any other nation in the world, he says. They have been able to build up a major reservoir of experience. And they are adding to it through the operation of a number of management schools and other means."

Discuss Blood Transfusions

At a recent congregation meeting of Jehovah's Witnesses in Digby, the controversial issue regarding the use of blood transfusions as a form of medical treatment was discussed.

It was stated by Norman M. Causey, the presiding minister of the local congregation, that the primary reason for refusing this particular form of medical treatment is because of the scriptural command to "abstain from blood."

Mr. Causey expressed concern over efforts to propose legislation that would give doctors a free hand to administer medical treatment of their choice with no necessity of judicial approval. "Such action," he added, "would be of vital concern not only to Jehovah's Witnesses but to all peoples seeking medical treatment."

PROCLAMATION

The Digby Town Council have proclaimed the week of June 11 to 17 as National Veterans' Week.

National Veterans' Week, June 11 to 17, is being sponsored as a part of Canada's Centennial Celebrations by the Government of Canada through the Department of Veterans' Affairs and Veterans Associations.

At the conclusion of Canada's first century, it seems fitting that the contributions and sacrifices of those who protected our freedom in time of war and helped to build up our nation in time of peace, should be remembered. The week of June 11 will be filled with activities for Canada's 975,000 living veterans of the four wars in which Canada has participated since becoming a nation. Those who served in the two world wars are being asked to wear their service or discharge buttons during the week.

Canada remembers 12,331 war dead at Cenotaphs across the country each year. Canadian servicemen have been awarded 94 Victoria Crosses in wars in which Canada has participated since the Victoria Cross was instituted by Queen Victoria in 1856.

History records the facts, dates, the names and places important to our country's past, its birth, its growth, its struggles, its religion, industries and past ambitions.

You can read the histories, battles in the minutest detail. Every possible piece of information is available to the reader, from what the soldiers had for lunch to the direction of the shadows cast by the sun.

Why then is information so hard to come by to anyone interested in one of the most important forces involved in the making of this new world?

One can waste days and weeks, combing the reference libraries, scanning old documents, filtering the archives. Oxen are mentioned in great many writings, but incidentally; details are missing.

They were then so much a commonplace part of life as to be taken for granted.

When did cattle first come to our land? We can only guess, never authenticate, but believe they were brought by the Acadians, some say it was the English. One story is that a ship bound for England became shipwrecked on Sable Island and cattle swam ashore, later he discovered there and exported to the mainland.

The greatest mystery surrounding the use of oxen in Nova Scotia is that of the e. Majority of settlers, English, French, Scots, Irish, German. The European method of yoking a team of oxen is the neck yoke, yet a Scotia oxen have traditionally been horn yoked, a method used in South America.

How did we come to use Nobody seems to know. We do know that this rugged country would have been more difficult to settle, without them. Oxen were the tools of early days. They tilled the land of rocks, trees, stumps. They moved earth from where it wasn't wanted to where it was. When the land was cleared they ploughed it for planting, and then they harrowed it. When the crop was harvested it was oxen that hauled it home to the barn, or to market.

Oxen hauled trees from the woods for building and for fuel, they hauled fishing boats onto land for repairs. When the family went to town for marketing or to church it was the ox that took them. And when he wasn't working for the family he pulled loads of grass from the frozen marshes for his own feed.

He was always ready for more work, he didn't count the hours in the day nor the days in the week. Long hours after the sun had set, when his day was at last finished, he didn't need brushing or combing or rubbing down, he didn't need expensive grain or mash. A forkful of dried marsh grass, a few hours rest and he was again straining at his harness to make a fruitful farm from a wilderness.

An ox was in his working prime for five to six years, but even then he wasn't finished. He went to the table and continued his role of sustaining his owner, now as steak, or roast, or stew.

Today, we no longer need oxen to work our farms or woods. But there are still oxen to be found in Nova Scotia, in fact, about 100 yoke of them owned by the ninety members of the Nova Scotia Ox Pulling Association. They own them, not because they need them to work, but because they enjoy the thrill and the excitement of pitting the muscles and power of their own team against another.

And to keep a team of oxen in pulling trim they must be worked. Last winter, one owner reports his team hauled 105,000 board feet of lumber out of the woods.

Some say that a team of oxen is only as good as their driver, certainly a good driver can get his team to perform wonders. A team will become attached to one man and will never work the same for another. It takes a great deal of time and patience to train young steers to behave as they should. Kindness and understanding go a long way.

Ox pulling is still done by the same old commands and traditions as in the days of early settlement. Names are traditional, Dyke or Lion for off oxen, Bright or Spark for high oxen. The off ox is on the right, the high ox on the left. And the off ox is always the most alert, or "quick" ox. If the driver wants the oxen to turn to the left, he commands them "Haw!", to the right, it's "Gee". "Back-hoof" means back up.

Oxen become very tame for a good driver and will appreciate a good, rough scratching on top of the head as a sign of the teamster's favour.

Oxen maybe almost any breed of cattle, or mixture depending on the views of the owner as to what breeds make the best oxen, and these views can differ widely. There are those who favour the Holstein, because of their size, but these are not generally popular in Nova Scotia because their horns are said to be not good enough for our horn yoke. A Durham and Hereford mixture is widely used, their advocates saying that the Durham gives the size and weight, the Hereford good horns. Others claim you can't get a really good ox team without using a dash of Ayreshire for the sake of spark and fire.

Oxen are pulled competitively at most agricultural fairs both in Nova Scotia and in New England, Canada and U.S.A. will host each other, for championships ox pull competition, the first contest to be held at Bridgewater, N. S. in August. The controversies are many, head yoke versus neck yoke, Holstein versus Durham, fat oxen versus lean, probably none of these will ever be settled to everyone's satisfaction. Every ox owner knows his is the best team, regardless of how lucky some other guys get.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pink chiffon over taffeta. A floor length train fell from each shoulder and bands of embroidered roses decorated the neckline and yoke of the gown. Her shoulder length veil of illusion tulle was secured by a petalled cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses, mums and stephanotis.

The bridesmaid was Miss Nancy Milley of Halifax and the groom was supported by Tom Brady, Halifax. Darrell Davidson of Windsor and Darrell Jefferson, brother of the bride, served as ushers. Mrs. Cleveland Dukeshire of Bear River was the organist and her daughter Sylvia was the soloist.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the IOOF Hall, Bear River. William Duffett proposed the toast to the bride and groom.

For travelling the bride wore a navy coat and dress ensemble with white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Annual Banquet Local, Personal Items Les Dames Patronesses

The annual banquet of Les Dames Patronesses de la C.J.A. was held at College St. Ann's at Church Point with Mrs. Jean Stuart, president, presiding and the Chaplain, Rev. Yvon Lenteigne in attendance. Over one hundred and fifty ladies were present, all members of the association. Since the banquet was held on the same day as "Mothers Day", Mrs. Leonard Boudreau of Concession was selected as the queen of "Mothers Day" for the day.

It is a joyful coincidence that we celebrate the Centennial year banquet on the same day as "Mothers Day", stated Mrs. Stuart. The aim of our association invites us to celebrate both our annual banquet and mothers day. The Centennial celebration is chiefly an occasion to recall the events of the past instead of today, in view of constructing a better tomorrow, said Mrs. Stuart. Tomorrow will be better according to the measure that we prepare the youth of today to adequately fulfill the mission that awaits them.

Mrs. Stuart explained to the group the work that remained to be done at the youth camp at Victor's Lake in Concession, which is operated by Rev. Yvon Lenteigne of St. Ann's college staff with the assistance of Les Dames Patronesses de la C.J.A. The kitchen and dining room will have to be enlarged, said Mrs. Stuart, and the grounds improved.

For several years we have defied that the trench network be extended to the municipality of Clare, stated Mrs. Stuart, and favorable response had been made, no network yet exists and no definite date can be obtained from the CBC, as to when a start will be made. We will continue to press for the trench network until one has been established, said Mrs. Stuart.

A giant computer will keep track of every room registered with Expo's accommodation bureau in a 50-mile radius of Montreal.

Fifteen Grade X students from the Digby Regional High School along with their teacher, Clyne Boodoosingh, visited The Digby Courier on Thursday morning, May 25, and watched that issue of the newspaper being printed. They were shown through Wallis Print Ltd. plant by Vernon L. Bent, who has been with The Digby Courier for approximately forty years. Another interesting feature to the students while in the commercial printing department was to see and hear how the school year book was produced.

To Teach At St. Ann's

Rev. Raymond LeBlanc, president of St. Ann's college at Church Point has announced that Mr. Omar Blinn of Comeauville has been appointed to the teaching staff to teach Accounting, first and second year and introduction to Economics. Other courses offered in the Commercial department are: commercial law, Financial mathematics, Insurance, co-operatives.

Mr. Omar Blinn is the son of the late Howard and Mrs. Dorothy Blinn of Grosses Coques. He was born on February 28th, 1936. He received his Bachelor of Commerce from the University of Moncton in 1957; he received his Master in Commerce from Laval University, Quebec City in 1958; and was accepted as a Chartered Accountant of New Brunswick in 1966.

From 1958 to 1963 he was chief accountant for La Societe L'Assomption at Moncton, N.B. He was on the teaching staff of the Val d'Or School Commission as well as the Lachine, P. Q. school commission. He married Bernadette Blinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Blinn of Belliveau Cove. He is secretary-treasurer of Little Brook Social club; Secretary of St. Mary's Credit Union; Director of St. Mary's Co-operative Ltd. of Comeauville and a member of the Richelieu Club of Church Point.

Guest Speaker
Rev. George Brydon, Deep Brook, had charge of the service in the North Range Baptist Church, Sunday afternoon, May 28th. He was accompanied by his male choir who sang several numbers. A large congregation of the church and surrounding area attended, and expressed high praise for the inspirational service of the gospel message in song and sermon. Mrs. Brydon was organ accompanist for the choir and Mrs. R. V. Andrews for the congregational singing.

quite a while but was never possible until the K of C obtained a building and hall large enough to accommodate such a large group.

Chaperons for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Gaudet and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Wells, of Digby.

A reception was held for the captains of fishing boats in the area at the Cape St. Mary's Association's club house at Cape St. Mary's sponsored by the association. President Norman Pothier welcomed the group, numbering in the vicinity of twenty-five, and congratulated them for having taken the short course in navigation held during the late winter months. The instructor of the course was Captain Louis Romaine of Meteghan and Relief Master of the Lurcheur Lightship near Yarmouth.

The course was organized by William Deveau of Mariette under the Adult Education Branch of the Province of Nova Scotia. Mr. Deveau stated that he was very pleased from the response given by the fishermen of the area when it was announced that those who took the short course in navigation would follow through next winter with the advanced course which Captain Romaine has accepted to give. Mr. Deveau, director of adult Education for the area, stated that he would be pleased to continue the course. Mr. Pothier told the group that he was pleased to see so many take advantage of the short courses since the need of captains is becoming more apparent with larger dragger boats introduced in the area. Such courses are necessary, stated Mr. Pothier.

Dr. Robert Belliveau of Meteghan, who followed the course, presented a marine chart to President Norman Pothier for the work the Cape St. Mary's Association directors performed in encouraging the fishermen to enroll for the course. A special presentation was made to Captain Louis Romaine by Dr. Julius Comeau of Meteghan on behalf of the Association when an attaché case was presented to the captain. Rev. Roul Deveau of Weymouth, also an enrollee for the course, presented Captain Romaine on behalf of the fishermen, a book of "Plotting, seamanship and Small Boat Handling" by Charles F. Chapman.

CYO Honors Sister

St. Patrick's C.Y.O. of Digby held their annual C.Y.O. Communion Supper on Tuesday, May 23rd, in honor of Sister Yvonne Babineau, of the Sisters of Charity in Digby. Sister Babineau, who has been in Digby for three years, leaves on June 1st for Saint John and her home in Mill town, N. B., for a short vacation with her family. On June 21st she will leave Saint John for Lima, Peru, where she will be taking up new duties.

The afternoon and evening program opened at 4:30 p.m. with the celebration of the Mass of the Blessed Eucharist by Rev. David Stokes of Plympton, founder of St. Patrick's C.Y.O. Father Stokes also delivered the homily of the Mass in which he spoke of the Mass as the banquet of the Lord. Through examples and narration of personal experiences he illustrated that the reception of Holy Communion at Mass was essential if the Mass itself was to be complete for the individual.

Following Mass, the C.Y.O. group and their guests assembled at the Knights of Columbus Hall for their banquet. Besides C.Y.O. members, the following invited guests were in attendance: Sister Yvonne Babineau, the guest of honor; Sister Ma honey, Superior at St. Patrick's Convent; Sister Rita Countout, of St. Patrick's; and Sister Guest, a visitor from Saint John. Also from the parish were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Comeau, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Connelly and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McVeigh. C.Y.O. Adult Counsellors: Glen Smith, Grand Knight of the Digby K of C and Mrs. Smith; Mrs. Fred Amero, President of St. Patrick's Catholic Women's Club; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Amiraull; Father Stokes; Mrs. Aiden Mullen; Columbus and Mr. Mullen; President of the Ladies of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mullen Jr.; Miss Elizabeth Lorette; Miss Kanak Majumder; Paul VanTasell; Rev. D. P. Amiraull, pastor at St. Patrick's; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Saulnier and Rev. D. Mills, assistant at St. Patrick's. All the guests were representative of groups having contributed to the success of C.Y.O. in the past year.

C.Y.O. president, Robert Smith, invited Father Amiraull to say the opening grace and then he welcomed all to the banquet. Mary Jane Amiraull read an address to Sister Babineau after which the President presented her with a gift from the C.Y.O. in appreciation for her devoted service to C.Y.O. and to the parish during the years. Sister Babineau thanked the group for the banquet but especially stressed her gratitude to the C.Y.O. for their cooperation and eagerness to help when called upon "to do the little things that make up Christian living but do not show." She requested that C.Y.O. keep in touch with her and be willing to offer their prayers and as well to help form C.Y.O. groups in Peru by communicating with her and the young people there. She expressed her gratitude for having been able to have come to Digby, and for the love, cooperation and friendship she has found here.

Other well wishers who offered words of thanks and appreciation were Glen Smith on behalf of parishioners and K of C who presented her with a gift; Mrs. Fred Amero, Father Amiraull and Mrs. Aiden Mullen. The director of the C.Y.O., Father Mills, thanked Sister Babineau and the Sisters of Charity for their valuable assistance in youth activities before addressing his closing words to the C.Y.O. themselves, pointing out that success depends upon the corporate work of the group. "Whereas a select few are gifted as leaders and organizers — and thank God for them — nevertheless, all the others are needed to follow through if the work of the latter is to be fruitful," he concluded.

The banquet was prepared by the ladies of the parish.

Following the banquet, tables and chairs were rapidly cleared away to continue the celebration. The crowd swelled at 8 p.m. when a popular band from the town and invited guests of C.Y.O. members gathered for a social evening and dance. Each C.Y.O. member for the first time invited three guests, their friends, from the town and area. This had been their dream for

VISIT TO VIMY RIDGE — 1967

(As Recalled By Eugene Outhouse)

During the November 1966 meeting of the Dominion Council of the Royal Canadian Legion, the 50th Anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge was being discussed and the question was asked regarding how many Vimy veterans were on council at this time. A show of hands revealed only 7 of the 42-man council were Vimy veterans. Arrangements were made to send us to France to participate in the 50th anniversary ceremonies which were to be held there. I regret that only 3 of us made the journey. Bear in mind the average age of the 1st War veteran is now nearly 76 years.

At the appropriate time, Friday, April 7, with tickets and hotel reservations made, I arrived in Montreal. Our plane, Air Canada, DC-8, took off at 7:30 p.m. In 7 hours we landed in Paris, France. Compare this with a week or more sailing time for average ships crossing to England 50 years ago! We travelled by taxi to Gaie du Nord in Paris and arrived in Arras at 12:30 p.m.

On my last visit to Arras during the drive of 1918 our battalion was in Arras station waiting for a train when a German bomber dropped a large bomb, hitting the buildings and blowing off the roof and one side, causing over 100 casualties. Now a new station in a new location with underground tunnels and an overpass to the various tracks. Arras now has a population of over 100,000.

In the early evening of April 8, a small group of us proceeded to Vimy carrying a lantern which had been lit at the Eternal Flame, in Ottawa and which we had carried with us to France. A torch was lit at the Memorial and from it the flame was lit there. The torch was then carried over the Ridge to a Moroccan memorial where the flame was lit and later to a small memorial church where another flame was lit.

On Vimy Day, April 9, as we assembled in our allotted places sitting in a cold, wet drizzle awaiting the appearance of His Royal Highness, Prince Phillip, Duke of Edinburgh, my thoughts were of the close friends and comrades I had lost at Vimy and other battles during the Great War, and the possible effects it had made on many of our people. Really at a very low ebb, when the first gun of the 21-gun salute to Prince Phillip barked, I nearly jumped out of my shoes. Then I thought of the many guns that had barked in unison in that area 50 years ago and I didn't recall being that jumpy!

Two Guards of Honor were present — one made up of troops from the Canadian Army in Germany, the other the Duke of Edinburgh Royal Regiment.

After inspection of the guards and the veterans representing the various units involved in the Battle of Vimy Ridge, and introduction of the V.I.P.s present, the placing of the wreaths, followed by the Act of Remembrance in all its solemnity was carried out. Speaking just for myself there were lumps in my throat that were difficult to swallow. The "Lament" by the pipers really put the finish to the ceremony.

After the ceremonies we boarded buses for Arras where we enjoyed a dinner provided for all the veterans and the V.I.P.s. by Canadian government.

Now for the information of the older soldier, Vimy Ridge from Lens Arras road to beyond the monument is known as "Vimy Park". It is heavily wooded and trees are at least 50 feet high. I understand some 60,000 trees were shipped from Canada and planted there. Along the highway one can see the contour of the old trenches, also the shell holes, large and small, and a large crater. I could not find out which one. Also there is a large German cemetery containing 60,000 German dead. Across the street one-quarter mile is another English cemetery. Did not have time to look up Canadian cemeteries.

From the monument looking toward the area in which we lived, there's nothing familiar to be seen except the Tower at Mt. St. Eloi. Most of the area is under cultivation or grown with trees and bushes. Looking from the other side of the Ridge we could identify Lens and the slag heap at Avion. The weather was rather wet and foggy and visibility not good. Lens and Avion seem to have joined together and there appeared to be large nine buildings at Avion. It appeared that Avion had spread toward Mericourt which we could see but dimly.

After dinner, my companion for the whole trip, Ossie Thompson, from Montreal, and I engaged a taxi and drove through Neville, St. Vast, Ecurie, Souchez, Guvency, Angres, Lievin, and across under the ridge where only ruin and destruction was to be seen on the Arras Betuennes road down Souchez Valley and across under the ridge to Petit Vimy. Not a vestige of the war remains. All the above mentioned places have been built up with villages or small towns each around a Grand Place or Central Square, with the same type French buildings and cobbled streets. We drove out across the Douai Plain (all under cultivation to the tree-lined Lens Arras road and back to our hotel.

Before catching our plane at Paris we enjoyed a 4-hour bus tour of the city where we saw many of the city's historic places. Paris traffic is unbelievable! All small cars and all in a hurry on those narrow streets. It is here the old adage "a miss is as good as a mile" originated and works.

I am highly honored to have been privileged to make this trip and to have represented so many members of the Royal Canadian Legion's 280,000 at the great Monument on Vimy Ridge.

Ex-Sgt. 85th Battalion,
Nova Scotia Highlanders.

Sisters Hold Seminar

The Sisters of Charity, Digby, held a weekend seminar at Camp Arcadie, Sandy Cove, for High School girls, on Friday, and Saturday. Theme of the Seminar was "An Experience in Christian Living" emphasizing the fulfillment of the Christian Vocation in the married, single and religious state.

The Seminar opened at 7 p.m. on Friday at St. Patrick's Church with a Bible Vigil conducted by Rev. Brian Hansen of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception at Saint John, and Rev. Daniel Mills of St. Patrick's, Digby.

On Saturday morning the Digby Council, Knights of Columbus provided transportation to take the girls to Camp Arcadie where a full day's activity was conducted by Father Hansen.

The Seminar was concluded with the celebration of the Mass of the Holy Spirit by Father Hansen. In delivering the homily Father stressed the significance of the Mass being the proper climax to such a program. The Christian Men's Fellowship Choir consisting of representatives from the Christian Churches at Weymouth, South Range, Southville and Baptist Churches from New Tusket, Weymouth Falls, and Barton, presented an evening of musical selections in the Christian Church, Tiverton, May 25th.

Floyd Gale of the Southville Christian Church was organist and Gifford Lewis was spokesman for the group.

Selections presented by the men and women of the visiting choirs included choral group singing, a duet, and quartet numbers.

Rev. Ivan Rayner of the Tiverton Christian Church presented a brief talk on the Harvest Fields recorded in Matthew's Gospel. "The harvest indeed is plentiful, but the laborers are few." He said more men like those of the Christian Men's Choir were needed, men who were willing to give of their time and talents to assist in the spreading of the Gospel.

Prayers were offered by Arnold Marshall of South Range Christian Church and Harry Lewis of Weymouth.

Minister To Serve Two Churches

On Sunday, Mr. Edgar MacDormand of the Christian Church at Westport and three members met with Rev. Ivan Rayner and members of the Christian Church at Tiverton.

The purpose of the visit was to request Rev. Rayner to hold services in the Christian Church at Westport. Since the departure of Rev. E. Ambrose several weeks ago, the Christian Church at Westport has been without a minister.

Rev. Ivan Rayner and members were in agreement with the proposition, and Rev. Rayner will hold services in the two churches.

Services in the church at Westport and Tiverton include Sunday service, mid-week service and a young People's group.

Final service arrangements have not been completed.

Long ago, perhaps, some of us try to locate the exact centre of the map of New Brunswick, and find his finger into the spot he questioned to be it. It was off the exact geographical centre by about fifteen miles. The depression left by his finger remained, and the wood hills of the Nashua Valley. Years later, in 1834, to be exact, a group of lumbermen wandered into the depression left by the giant's finger, and founded the village of Stanley.

Velma Kelly would probably be amazed at such romanticism. When Velma Kelly, about 1800, she tells a in precise terms. Velma, and her husband Harold, live with two immense police dogs, in a pleasant little pink and white house, which they call Sunny Slope. It is just about half way up one of the steep hills, which surround the hollow of the village of Stanley. The dogs, which are about half the size of the average pug, are named Duke and Duchess, but are generally referred to, affectionately as "Little Woofie" and "The Pup".

For a long time I had heard people saying things like "Isn't it wonderful that Velma's history has been accepted." I was not quite sure what accepted meant. When her photograph and a long story about her appeared in the Fredericton paper, and when she appeared on television, I decided that whatever it meant, it must be fairly important. I invited myself up for a cup of tea. After several minutes of small talk, I got the nerve to ask her what it was she had done, exactly.

Velma is president of the Stanley Women's Institute, and a very active member of the organization. It seems that her history of Stanley was chosen the first history of a New Brunswick community in a competition sponsored by the Women's Institute. It will be sent to the Institute convention in Guelph later this year, where it will be judged for the Tweedsmuir Competition. This competition, Velma told me, takes place every three years. It has nothing to do with Centennial.

"Did you write the history especially for the competition?" I asked her. "How did you research it?" "How long did you take to do it?"

Before she answered my questions, Velma disappeared into the passageway between her living room and her kitchen, which she uses as an office. She returned with sheafs of typewritten paper, boxes of photographs, and files of documents. No, she told me, she had not prepared it especially for this competition. She started it as a hobby about seven years ago, but got so engrossed in it that it became a book. Since she had it finished this year she decided to submit it. Her research, during these seven years, she told me, had been mainly a matter of interest and hard work. She had got in touch with the oldest residents of the community, listened to, and sifted tales of long ago events. She compared accounts, separated, as far as she was able, fact from fancy and local myth. She had delved into parish records, and records of marriages, baptisms, and burials. She collected old newspapers, photographs, posters, and price lists. Nothing was too trivial to notice. She wandered through old cemeteries, reading inscriptions on tombstones. She did not tell me, but it is generally known that Velma and Harold together discovered an old burial ground that the Carleton and York Historical Society had been looking for years. They went through the woods by jeep to find it.

We thumbed through the myriad documents. There were photographs of people and places of which I had known or heard. There were many which meant nothing to me. Velma had a story to go with each. She told the stories as one would tell tales of one's eccentric relatives, with great relish and amusement. It was obvious that during her seven years of research she had grown very close to her subject.

I asked her if she had written anything else along this line. She brought out another sheaf of typewritten papers. This, she told me, was the manuscript for her history of Saint Thomas Anglican Church in Stanley. That one had already been three years in the writing, but a great deal of research for one history dovetailed into the other. She intends to have it finished for the church's centennial. She has a good chance. That is ten or more years in the future.

When I asked her how she first became interested in writing, she grinned. "Like everybody else who ever wrote anything," she said, "I began by writing poetry. I knew writing was in my blood when I won a school competition in grade seven. After that, I just wrote. Rejection slips never discourage me." She remembers with some amusement that the first thing she ever had published was a letter to the FARMER'S MAGAZINE. Since then, however, she has published a number of short stories, and several poems. Her poetry has appeared in CANADIAN POETRY MAGAZINE. She has to her credit a small volume of folk-type ballads to which she has written the music as well as the words. One of these ballads has been, in Velma's words, accepted by the New Brunswick "Centennial people." I am not sure who these people are, but it seems the ballad will probably be sung at Centennial functions throughout the province during the year.

"When do you find time to write?" I asked, remembering that she is on the executive of about half the organizations in the village. "Do you assign yourself a certain number of words, or a certain length of time each day?" "Never," Velma said, as if the idea were preposterous. "I write whenever I feel like it. If a thought pops into my head while I am doing the dishes, I write it down. Sometimes I wake up at night with a phrase or a sentence without any context in my mind. I get up and write it down."

I thought of asking how she thinks of things to write about, but then I changed my mind. Asking a writer where her ideas come from is a little like asking a child

90 Years Back

FROM EARLY FILES OF THE DIGBY COURIER

June 1, 1877:

"The largest catch of mackerel that was ever known to have been captured in Digby basin has occurred during the past week. On Tuesday the different weirs that are erected along the shores extending almost to Annapolis were so completely filled, that it was found impossible by the shareholders to secure them during the short time that elapsed from the ebb to the flow of the tide, and openings were made in some of the weirs in order that some of the fish might escape. Word was at once dispatched to the inhabitants of the surrounding neighbourhoods and nearly all took advantage of the opportunity, bringing their teams with them, which they loaded to their fullest capacity, and returned home rejoicing. On Wednesday, a like catch was effected; and several of our townfolk who visited one or two of the weirs were invited to help themselves and in a very few hours arrived home again, bringing with them three or four barrels apiece. It is said upwards of a thousand barrels were captured, during the two nights. The fish are superior to the general run of mackerel."

"Jack Quirk has just completed building a tannery to take the place of the one destroyed by fire a short time ago. It is a fine building thoroughly fitted with all the modern improvements requisite to carrying on the tannery business."

August and Nicholas Haines, Freeport, had a narrow escape from drowning last week. While approaching Grand Passage, a squall capsized their boat, precipitating both into the water. Edward Morrell was the first to reach them and by almost super-human efforts succeeded in rescuing both men. Dr. Donahue was in attendance and succeeded in bringing both men from unconsciousness. Both are well again and able to resume their daily vocations."

DIGBY WATER GOOD CONDITION

No more trouble with eels in Digby water was reported by Everett Hall at the Town Council on Monday night. In general the water was given a good report in bacteria count, taste, smell, except that there is some discoloration.

According to a report of engineer, P. H. Take and Mr. Hall who visited VanTassel Lake, the secret is to keep the water level high to ensure that the algae problem is not repeated. The visit of the two men to the lake was made when the water was at its highest level following heavy rains and melting snow. The water level was six feet higher than last October. The ice, it was reported had torn the vegetation growth at the roots and it had floated to the shores. Contamination would result only if the water was allowed to become dangerously low as last summer when the vegetation at the low level had decayed supplying a ready media for algae growth.

Mr. Take advised the removal of the shore of the lake, all decayed vegetation and keep the water level high. He suggested that the leaks at the South West corner of the concrete dam be stopped, the errant water stream diverted from the watershed to the lake and the problems of the previous summer would not be repeated.

Mrs. Alfred Boutilier appeared before the council requesting the capping of a parking meter at the former B. H. Ruggles property for short periods of the day where the Flowers by Gabrielle would operate a bus terminal for Acadia Lines. The bus would stop at the curb four times a day to pick up passengers and parcels. The Flowers by Gabrielle would also sell bus tickets. While most councillors agreed that a terminal with a waiting room and rest room were necessary, much discussion revealed the fear of a traffic hazard at that part of town. A number of councillors felt that the present bus stop was the most convenient place in town for the purpose and it would be a fairly simple matter to walk from the terminal if it is located at the former Ruggles property to the bus stop where it presently stands. It was decided to ask George Thompson of Acadia Lines to meet with the Town Council at a special meeting.

Street paving was discussed after attention was drawn to a letter in a daily newspaper regarding paving of Digby's streets. Mayor Snow emphasized that it was not advisable to put paving down before the sewer needs are attended to. A ratemakers meeting some years ago turned down a sewer project which if it had been completed would facilitate a paving program.

Compliments were expressed regarding the fine motel being erected at the approach to town and which would be an asset to Digby. Sewer service (Please turn to page 6)

Royal Party In Digby

Little Miss Heather Hoare was rewarded with a kiss on the cheek by her majesty Queen Annapolis XXXV on Monday when she presented on behalf of the Town of Digby, a bouquet to the visiting dignitary. Miss Hoare is a daughter of Councillor Gerald Hoare and Mrs. Hoare.

The presentation was made at the Band Stand in Digby, where the royal party from the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival were greeted by His Worship Mayor C. D. Snow. A special welcome home was given to Digby's princess, Miss Sharon Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Cook, Digby. Mayor Snow expressed appreciation to Miss Cook for so capably representing the town and Miss Cook responded in a most pleasing manner expressing pride in being selected to represent her home town.

Others who spoke at the Band Stand ceremonies were Alex Buchanan, president of the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival; her majesty, Miss Patricia Edwards, Kentville; E. C. Parsons, Windsor, who introduced the party personnel; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Edwards, parents of the queen and Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson Cook, parents of Digby's princess.

It was announced that the Digby float had won first prize for originality in the Apple Blossom Festival parade.

Previous to the arrival of the royal party, the band of C.F.B. Cornwallis, by kind permission of Capt. J. M. Paul, provided musical entertainment for the many spectators. The bandstand was decorated for the occasion by flags and hunting and attractive baskets of flowering plants.

Following the Digby ceremonies, the party left for CFB Cornwallis for dinner and a dance. They were welcomed by Captain Paul, amidst the cheers of some one thousand spectators.

Mrs. Frank Doogue is a patient in the Digby General Hospital.

Plan Clean-up

Street authorities in town decided to ask the students at school and the teachers to stage a clean-up on the streets near the schools and Forum before the Confederation Caravan comes to town. Already the town has cleared the streets and ditches of paper wrappers and other refuse but it was noted that as expected where many children travel, paper remnants need to be frequently cleared. It was felt a project of this kind would be good for the students and teach them civic pride.

The town has been emphasizing clean-up for the past few weeks and a more attractive appearance has been noticed on some properties which were requested to tidy up. The Raquette had been cleared of an old boat which had been marring the scenery there.

The Town Hall has been undergoing a face lifting on the inside and tenders were accepted on the exterior. The council decided on a lighter shade of grey trimmed with white.

Correct Report On Publicity

What might have been in a report of the Emergency Measures Organization to the Digby Town Council as indicating The Digby Courier was not supplying the organization satisfactorily with publicity was corrected on Tuesday by Reginald Turnbull, director of E.M.O. in Digby. Mr. Turnbull stated that he has found The Digby Courier co-operative, lending much news space and picture space for the course of E.M.O. His report, he said, was not meant to depreciate the amount and value of The Digby Courier publicity but rather to the contrary. He regretted if the report was misinterpreted.

Pte. Woody Woodman, recently returned from Germany is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan.

Ten Floats Registered

To date ten have filed entries to have floats in the June 27th parade in Digby. In conversation with Stuart MacNaughton, who is chairman of the parade committee for the Digby Kiwanis Club, many more are expected to be registered this week. All entries are requested to be in before June 21st.

The grand parade this year will form up on Victoria St. at 1 o'clock p.m. and leave there for the Canal Banks at 2:30 p.m.

Mr. MacNaughton is asking for floats, decorated cars, saddle horses, comics with participation from both youth and adult for the special Centennial celebrations.

Previous to the grand parade, a doll carriage parade sponsored by the Digby General Hospital Ladies Auxiliary will be held from the L.G.A. parking lot to the Band Stand.

A soap box derby will entertain spectators in the morning.

Third Straight Win For Fleet

Digby's Don Fleet shot a 72 at the Abercrombie Golf and Country Club, New Glasgow, Monday to win the Allied Foods golf tournament for the third consecutive year.

Fleet registered a 38 over the first nine holes and then came back with a one under par 34 to top the large entry list and capture the tourney with an eight over par.

Harvey Kent, Halifax, ended up in the runner-up slot with an eighty score, putting a pair of 40's on the scoreboard. Another Haligonian, Perry Locke, shot a 30 and a 42 to finish third with an 81 tally.

Charles Brace of Ashburn, a five time winner of the tournament, and Darrel Leonard, also of Ashburn, each opened with a 42 and closed with a 40 to tie for fourth position with 82's.

The tournament was played under the Calloway system of handicapping and as a result V. Leroux of New Glasgow, who was on a course for the first time, won the low net with a 55, despite the fact it took him 178 strokes to complete the 18 holes. The Calloway method registered him with a 123 handicap.

Prizes were presented following a banquet in the club house.

200 Scouts, Cubs In Parade

Some two hundred Boy Scouts, Wolf Cubs, their leaders and scouting officials from the Digby District attended the annual church parade and service at Trinity Church on Sunday afternoon.

The salute during the parade was taken by Digby mayor, Clayton D. Snow.

The service was taken by Rev. George Morris, Rector of Trinity Church and by Rev. Father Daniel Mills of St. Patrick's Parish.

In a most impressive message, Father Mills reminded the youngsters of their responsibilities and of the services they should render as members of the scout organization.

During the service "religion in life" badges were presented to those who had qualified in both scouts and cubs. Scout and cub pledges were also renewed.

Mrs. Frank Ryan recently spent some time in Halifax visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Curry Woodman.

Little Lynn Thibault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thibault, Middleton, is visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George O'Neil.

Anniversary Services

Sunny skies greeted members of the congregation of the Hill Grove Baptist Church last Sunday when they observed the 130th anniversary of their church and also held their annual Roll Call. The largest attendance in years came to the afternoon service at which the Clerk of the church, Lloyd MacNeil, called the roll of members. More than 90 percent of the membership responded when their names were called, either in person or by letter. The music for this service was supplied by the men's choir of Weymouth.

At the evening anniversary service conducted by the pastor of the church, Rev. H. S. Hartlin, the young people's choir of the church had charge of the music. Special selections were offered by the male quartette of Digby, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Jean Olsen. The pastor read a brief historical sketch of the church, founded in 1837. A number of articles in use in the early period of the church's history were exhibited. These included a pewter communion service, in use 130 years ago, and also a long handle, hand-made collection plate.

A pleasing feature of the evening's program was the dedication of a beautiful new Communion service, presented to the church by the Baptist Youth Fellowship. This consists of trays with glasses, including base and cover, and two bread serving plates with cover. The set is of aluminum finished in polished brass. An Irish linen cloth for the Communion table was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Marshall in memory of the late Mrs. Leigh Marshall. (Please turn to page 3)

Saw Changes In India

Dr. Jean Whittier, missionary in Bonswara, India, now retired, saw many changes take place there in the 32 years in which she resided there. She told of the changes at Grace United Church last Wednesday evening. She was accompanied to Digby by her sister, Dr. Catherine Whittier who spent 37 years in India at Indore.

They had seen travelling in India in their early days there by horse back and raft to cross the river. Now bridges are built and four buses serve from Bonswara to Rollam. There were no schools and no Bibles in the fields where the two doctors worked. Tents were used and services held under the trees. Before leaving Dr. Jean Whittier was in charge of a hundred bed hospital where nurses were trained in nursing and also in Christian teaching. Schools and churches were built. Each patient at the hospital was allowed two relatives so there were often 300 persons there besides nurses and toddlers. Dr. Whittier and her sister showed slides of the life and work in India.

Dr. Whittier spoke of the shortage of water in India. Last year they had only a half water supply and grew only half the crops. For some weeks water could be run only a half hour in the morning and a half hour in the afternoon. They spoke of the need of missionaries. Forty have responded to a request for 210.

Mrs. William Marshall led the worship with Mrs. Elton Arnold at the organ. Mrs. A. J. Dillon, president of the United Church Women who sponsored the evening, welcomed 45 guests from Weymouth, Annapolis Royal, Granville Ferry and Digby. Mrs. Bryson Denison and Mrs. C. D. Snow received the offering. Dr. T. W. Hodgson pronounced the benediction after which a social hour was held.

First Woman To Hold Appointment

Two Maritime women recently appointed to the Executive Committee of the Anglican Diocese of N. S. and P.E.I. following recent changes in the laws governing the Church were: Mrs. C. R. Curry, Smith's Cove, Synod delegate from Parish of Clements, and Miss Grace Wambolt, Halifax.

Dr. Jean Whittier and Dr. Catherine Whittier, home from India and residing for the summer at Rawdon, Hants Co., were guests last week of Mrs. A. J. Dillon.

They were accompanied home by Geoffrey, who will spend three weeks with his parents. In September Geoffrey enters Royal Military College, Kingston, for further study. At the graduation exercises he was presented with an award for highest achievement in English.

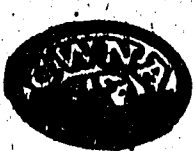

48 Hours To License Dogs

A house-to-house campaign to find owners of dogs in Digby town will be conducted in the near future. This was decided at the regular meeting of the Town Council on Monday night. Complaints about dogs running at large brought on the decision. In order to have control over the problem, every dog in town must have a license. When the number of dogs are found, the owners will be required to have them licensed within 48 hours if they have not already been licensed in 1967. Owners and neighbours are expected to co-operate in the dog census.

Much discussion was held on the use of tranquilizer guns, but the council decided to refrain from this method of catching dogs.

About This And That

But The Forum Just Closed!

(Contributed)

The Digby Forum will open during the week of October 8th! This was the happy decision of the Digby Recreation Commission last Thursday evening. And kids, that's just nineteen weeks and one summer vacation away. But long as it may seem from now, the Commission are already making preparations.

What is the financial picture for 1966-1967 at the Forum? In the red again? Here it is. Revenue from all sources totalled $8,671.79; total current expenses for the year amounted to $8,387.72. That means a cash surplus of $284.07 this past year. Certainly, not a great amount, but nevertheless a happy situation for your Recreation Commission.

The overall picture is not so black, however, since there are accounts payable to the extent of $5,000. During the past year $4,000 was paid on 'old bills' and the remainder on current expenses. So there is still work to be done.

But can we determine in dollars and cents the value of the Forum in this area? It is the feeling of the Commission that if we are to make any investment at all, we cannot do better than to make it in our youth. They are our future; they are our pride. Consider, for one thing, the complex problem of juvenile delinquency which is so rampant in many of our cities and towns. Then, take a look at our situation in Digby. We have a group of youngsters to be mighty proud of in this area. And of course we are. Good children and good youth can be the product of good parents, good schools, good environment and good, wholesome recreation.

One contributing factor to the financial situation of the Forum this year was that the Forum operated independently of the Curling Club since the acquisition of their own ice plant. The Forum now makes ice only for the rink. But by far the outstanding factor was the organizational ability exercised by Mr. Bernard Bell. Through his efforts various groups in the area sponsored fund raising events for the Forum which greatly helped the financial picture.

What are the hopes of the Commission for the immediate future? The Commission is convinced that the Forum can operate successfully next year. Meanwhile, a campaign will get under way in the next weeks to erase the entire $5,000 debt which now exists. To do so would mean that come October the Forum can open debt free. A 'thermometer' will be located in the town indicating the progress of the campaign. One man has already pledged $100.00 to be given when the thermometer is erected. Besides, a weekly report will be given in the Courier throughout the summer. To invent a new law of physics: the debt will be decreased in direct proportion to the rise of 'the mercury' in the thermometer.

The future, then, for the Forum looks bright. The Digby Recreation Commission will do their utmost to serve well. As each year goes by, the Forum doors open wide and invite young people not only from Digby, but from a wide area throughout Digby County, to come in and enjoy hours of skating and hockey. Young people from Weymouth, Plympton, Marshfield, and all along Digby Neck have also enjoyed the facilities at the Forum in the past year. And it was with a sense of pride that the young people of Digby and area could invite teams from many other areas in western Nova Scotia to come to the Forum.

"But the Forum just closed!" Yes, it did, but only to have a short vacation too in order to be ready to welcome back in the fall all the youth of the Digby area.

Be Ready To Meet Tourists

The Centennial committee of the town, as noted by last week's edition of The Digby Courier and by the List of Events published, has come up with a good program for the summer. These events interspersed with functions by organizations and churches should make an interesting summer for the many tourists we hope to attract. It is up to all the citizens, now, to add what they can to make this a real live summer in Digby and one that will bring in some extra tourist revenue. However, before we leave the committee too proud of themselves in getting a good program ready, we must throw in this sober note. Besides wanting our own Digby County people attend all the functions planned we should be hoping to bring in all these tourists, we've been talking about. There is only one way to get them here. That is to tell them we're having something for their entertainment. Let them know about it, somehow. Unless they know they won't come.

Now to get to our original thought. Citizens can do much to help keep tourists here. Of course, the caterers must provide comfortable lodging and good food or tourists soon get the hint and avoid the area. Neat and tidy countryside makes the tourist happy. Then, the citizens can do much to remind tourists what there is to see in Digby and around the communities.

Not all tourists want to splash in the ocean, nor all want to roam the fields chasing a golf ball, some just want to relax in the sun with an interesting book. Don't forget to remind them that Digby can now boast of a library. So can Weymouth and a few other communities. It is much easier to pay rental on a book than to travel miles with them as luggage.

There are already advertised tourist attractions like the Habitation and Fort Anne. There are other attractions, some setting by its many cherry trees. We might get up a not advertised for tourists except through our own mouths. What about the Island ferries? Fishing areas like Whale Cove, Little River, Centreville and other villages along the Neck. Some tourists never saw a fish plant in operation, a mink ranch, chinchilla farm or a large strawberry farm, there are lighthouses to visit and a unique life saving station. There are quiet lakes and flowing rivers. There are power plants within easy reach which are fascinating to learn about. There are stones to pick and fish to catch or dig. There are the scallop boats to see. Tourists might even catch a glimpse of the shucking operation.

It is difficult to think quickly when a tourist asks "What is there to do?" Keep these few suggestions near you and add to them from time to time. Send us your suggestions, too.

Clerks have a grand opportunity to improve the tourist trade in the area just by friendly conversation. By increasing tourist business the business of the employer is also increased. There is nothing better, anyway, for any business, whether tourist season or not, than a nice friendly helpful clerk or attendant. It means a lot.

Help Digby by being ready to meet the tourists.

For sixty-nine years the Victorian Order of Nurses has been providing home nursing care in Canada. The valuable services these nurses have rendered are well remembered by grateful patients in Digby County.

Nursing care is provided in the homes of those patients who would otherwise require hospitalization. This service is provided both in regular visiting hours and throughout the nights on an emergency basis. The devotion of local V.O. Nurses to the needs of these emergency cases has caused many patients to regard their nurse as being only slightly less than angelic.

In addition to regular nursing care, the nurse accepts instruction visits, pre and post natal visits and baby care. She performs eye tests and hearing tests in the schools. She assists when needed in immunization clinics and T.B. tests. In short her field encompasses both preventive and restorative medicine. She is a highly valuable member of the community.

But this service costs money. And often patients are unable to pay the cost. So the plea this month is that you, the public, will support the work of the Victorian Order of Nurses. To compare the rising costs may prove a point. In 1960 the campaign receipts amounted to $741.00 and fees $468.00 with costs $4552.00. In 1966 campaign $985.00, fees $1081.00, costs $8000.00.

Donations and grants are also received but it is obvious that the rise in costs has far outstripped the rise in income. As the high cost of living has affected your budget, it has also affected the V.O.N. While the costs of operation have almost doubled, the campaign receipts have increased by only $244.00 over a five year period. Please keep these facts in mind when the volunteer canvasser calls at your door. Please give generously to keep the highly valuable Victorian Order of Nurses service active in our community.

Weather-wise

We just can't keep up. That is, with the weather. After such a late Spring, here we have two or three fine days which already make us warn our readers of fire hazards. New Brunswick already has had its first major one and small ones have occurred around Nova Scotia.

If we were to quote from Bill Lefort last week (Farm News) we would be a bit out of date — Bill "in reporting on conditions in Digby County, says that cold, wet weather has just about brought field work to a stand-still until such time as the fields are dry enough to support the passage of farm machinery. He mentioned, as well, by the way, that the farmers there would like to find the Indian who, weeks ago, predicted that summer would not start until June 19th." So far, the Indian's prediction has been extremely accurate. It is hoped that the rest of the prediction will not be equally so."

Those people who are always asking us to keep them up with the weather — how can we with a whole week between? We just can't be weather-wise.

"Long Island Hazard"

Melvin Tibert, Grade XI Islands Consolidated School (Editorial Project)

Most of the drivers of Long Island are quite aware of a certain stretch of road near the middle of the island marked "Slippery When Wet". They have become aware of it because in the past couple of years six vehicles have gone off the road here. Two of these cars were completely demolished, and two serious accidents happened here in one night. All these accidents occurred almost exactly in the same place and all were caused by the slippery pavement at this place.

When the pavement was put down the construction men were heard to remark that the pavement was not good at that spot. It is covered with a thin layer of tar which is most treacherous when wet because of its smooth surface.

If you doubt our word, go there sometime when it's raining and try to stop your car on it, but be very alert when you are doing it or you will make the seventh victim.

In addition to the accidents we have mentioned, we have talked to many more people who have lost all control of their cars on this tar covered pavement.

The signs at each end of this stretch of road are not enough; it still presents a definite hazard to drivers. It could be, and should be, fixed before someone is crippled for life or killed because of it.

In Cherry Blossom Glory

Digby and area was, in all its cherry blossom glory, privileged to entertain for a brief half hour on Monday afternoon, Majesty, Queen Annapolis XXXV and entourage. While scarcity of apple blossoms for the festival; due to previous weather conditions, did not deter the crowds in the Valley, it was kind of Digby to provide the 1967 blossom festival by its many cherry trees. We might get up a Rainhill Farm, Box 138, Rustenburg, Transvaal, South Africa.

Dear Friends in Nova Scotia:

Your reception of my letter last November was very heart-warming. So many of you wrote appreciatively. I felt that I must write to your public spirited editor and ask her if she would care to put in other letters at intervals. She replied in the affirmative.

We are just getting to the end of our long Summer. The last 5 summers have been shockingly dry, so dry that the crops have been poor, and numbers of the cattle have had to be slaughtered, but this year we have had lots of rain. Here in Rustenburg we have had nearly 50 inches since Christmas. That may sound as if we had had nothing but rain, but it is different from Canada. Here it just sloshes down as if the clouds had burst. The dams overflow, and the roads and bridges wash out. Luckily things dry up between the outbursts which only come in the South African Summer. The country is now looking lovely. At present we are enjoying avocados and bananas. Soon the oranges will be gathered. Look out for them. The trade name is "Out-petition to have the name of the festival shortened to Annapolis Valley Blossom Festival to cover such years as 1967. They happen occasionally.

Our congratulations go out to Digby's princess who represented the town well. The presence of Miss Sharon Cook at a festival drawing 25,000 for attendance was in itself good publicity for the town and to be so capably represented was an added asset to the town. Digby owes much to the princesses who are willing to put time and effort, as well as expense, in representation at the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival. While there is a certain amount of gaiety and fun in so doing there also goes with it a responsibility to be the best princess possible in appearance, mannerisms and talent. With this often goes the fear of not measuring up to expectations. It is not an easy job even though a most delightful one.

Congratulations also to those who arranged the Digby float. Walking away with the most original prize was worthwhile.

Canada Salutes 975,000 Veterans

National Veterans Week, June 11-17, is being sponsored as a part of Canada's Centennial celebrations by the government of Canada, through the Department of Veterans Affairs, and veterans associations.

At the conclusion of Canada's first century it seems fitting that the contributions and sacrifices of those who protected our freedoms in time of war and helped to build up our nation in time of peace should be remembered.

Beginning with memorial church services and the laying of wreaths on Memorial Sunday, June 11, the Week will be filled with activities for Canada's 975,000 living veterans of the four wars in which Canada has participated since becoming a nation.

Those who served in the two World Wars are being asked to wear their service or "discharge" button during the Week.

Welcome Students At Newspaper Plant

We were privileged last week to have the Grade X students under Clyne Boodoosingh to visit The Digby Courier plant. We consider it an honor and privilege to have these visits. The function of a newspaper is primarily for service to others and being of service to the students of the school fits nicely into our program. We were delighted with the exceptional interest shown by this class.

Newspapers today are used much more extensively in the classroom also. Educators and teachers are recognizing the importance of newspapers as the major means of acquainting young people with the rapidly changing world. There is no text book available which can keep up with the rapid pace of change as can a newspaper which gives day by day or even week by week accounts in the smaller centres.

Newspapers have been profitably used in many classrooms to afford practice in reading skills, for composition and literature, vocabulary, social studies, science, mathematics, home economics and other subjects.

Students eventually become the adults of the community. It makes a big difference in their lives if they are accustomed to following newspapers. People need information from newspapers on many social, economic and political problems which are their responsibility. It makes a difference to people to know what is going on in the battlefield when the world suffers nuclear threat; it makes a difference to many people to know whether taxes will go up or down; whether fire and police protection are adequate; whether business is good; what the weather is like and yes, not least of all what the merchants are offering.

Through newspapers the students can learn the true meaning of freedom. Students should be able to see that freedom of the press is not for the benefit of the publisher but for the benefit of every citizen. They should be taught that if we fail to defend the freedom of the press we eventually relinquish our other freedoms. From the newspaper angle our freedom becomes a concern not only of the newspaper itself but of every reader and advertiser. The latter two are most important for only in solvency can a free press survive.

We welcome the students at any time and are happy to be of service. The present school term is about finished but we look forward to being of more service to the schools in the year 1967-68.

We also draw attention to an editorial in this issue submitted by a Grade XI student, Melvin Tibert, of the Islands Consolidated School.

span". They should be on the Nova Scotia market in 6 weeks to 2 months. Last summer they were held up somewhere and did not reach us till September, and were not very nice when they got to us. I wish that you could see the flowers. In this garden, we have the most glorious display of dahlias and mums as well as many other kinds of flowers. In winter we hope to revel in things that like less heat such as bulbs, sweet peas, delphinium, lupin etc. There is no time of year when we do not have flowers and fruit.

Just recently, I have visited Pretoria and Johannesburg, Pretoria as you may know is the Government capital, the Ottawa of South Africa. It is built round a great bowl in those magnificent hills. The city is at the bottom of the bowl, and the residential section runs up the sides. The Union Buildings are part way up. They command a view over the whole city. The residences of the ambassadors are up in the same direction. All is framed in brightly flowering trees and shrubs. I had lots of interesting experiences while there. One day some friends drove me up into the mountains. We left the main road and after what seemed a long drive down terrible tracks, we turned in at a drive way and came to a very imposing residence in a bend of the hills. It was beautiful inside and out and the owner was a most gracious lady, an Afrikaner whose parents had been friends of Paul Kruger and other Boer leaders. She gave us a delicious luncheon and then showed us over her lovely property. No other house is visible, just rolling hills. She even has a tiny beautiful church on her estate. One day, a kind Pretoria friend arranged for me to give a luncheon at the Country Club. The guests of honour were Mrs. and Miss Morris of Port Williams who are making a tour through Africa. I was anxious for them to meet some of my kind Pretoria hostesses.

The Johannesburg visit was short and gay. We went specially to be present at two parties. One was Founders Day at Roodepan School. Some of you probably remember that Edgehill housed 50 girls from Roodepan, England, during the war years. They are always very conscious of that and anxious to be hospitable and kind. Both the cities I have mentioned would surprise you by their newness. There is not an old building to be seen. The cities are growing rapidly in all directions. The beautiful dwelling houses under construction show what a lot of money there is about. If we take a driver when we go on our expeditions we have to take a police pass for him and keep him in the servants quarters at the back of the house. He may not go out alone.

There are lots of things that would surprise you here. On holiday weekends the radio gives out, as with us, so many deaths on the roads, so many by drowning and so many murders. Did you know that we had no T. V. Many householders congratulate themselves on the absence of it. Our next trip is going to be to Bloemfontein, the capital of the Orange Free State. We are going to be present at a conference of the N.C.W. It is 350 miles from here. My sister and I and a friend are going to take one car, no driver. We expect the roads to be very good but lonely. Many of them will be lovely, just now bordered with masses of cosmos. We are not expecting any particularly good hotel accommodation. Really good hotels are only just being introduced into this country, and then only in the biggest towns.

Yours very truly

Centennial Project

Mr. J. M. Paul, Base Commander, CFB Cornwallis, has launched the Cornwallis Centennial Project.

The theme of the Cornwallis Centennial Project is "Education". In keeping with this theme, a minimum of four scholarships, of not less than $500 each, will be awarded for the year of 1967-68. The recipients of the scholarships have the freedom to use the money for their education at the University of their choice.

Mr. Paul stated "Such an undertaking is most commendable and denotes an interest by all personnel in the continuing future prosperity of Canada. It is truly in the spirit of a Centennial Project. We looked astern to see our progress over the past 100 years and are attempting to make a tangible contribution of future progress. Investing as you are in the education of young citizens, you are investing in the leaders of tomorrow."

The Scholarship Fund Raising Committee, headed by Lt. D. H. Mitchell, consists of service and civilian members. All money required to finance this project will come from personal donations, mess donations, contributions from Cornwallis community organizations and various local fund raising activities.

At the close of the service the Ordinance of the Lord's Supper was observed at which the new Communion service was used for the first time.

Guest speaker for both afternoon and evening services was the Rev. Herman Spinnery, retired Baptist minister, now making his home in Paradise. A strong, forceful preacher, Mr. Spinnery held the close attention of the congregation with his challenging messages.

Rev. Frank Smith spoke a few words on his coming to Nova Scotia 44 years ago, and offered his good wishes to the church for its future success. A letter from Rev. L. R. Atkinson, conveying the greetings of the Acaciaville Baptist Church, was read.

Many contributions were received by the church from both resident and non-resident members and friends of the church. The total offering for the day amounted to over $1100.00.

In Meteghan the Caravan will be open to the children from 12 o'clock noon to 4 p.m. after Warden Gerald d'Entremont conducts the official opening.

By Monday of this week 260,000 persons had viewed the Caravan on its tour through Nova Scotia.

You'll know the caravan's coming when you hear its mighty claxon blaring out the first four notes of "O Canada" as the eight giant tractor-trailers roll through town to the exhibit site early in the morning.

Because of its size, it will be accompanied by a police escort on its way to the site. There, the drivers will arrange the colorful trailers in a quadrangle, set up the mobile regional exhibits, entrance gangways and bridges between trailers — and the show is ready to open when visitors can experience the development of Canada from primeval times to the present.

A Fellowship Supper was served in the church hall.

The anniversary events also included a service sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society last Wednesday night, and on the following night, a Congregational service of Prayer and Praise was held with Rev. L. R. Atkinson as speaker.

The fifth time I added by the column of figures, the answer came out the same as the second time. I decided to try for three before I came to any rash conclusions that I had the right answer. I wrote down $2.59, $3.47, $7.82, $6.51, and $4.75, the prices of the summer clothes the family was going to need from the mail order catalogue. Mathematics has never been one of my strong points. Nine and seven, I figured, mentally, that's sixteen. "Nine is always so helpful," I remarked out loud, to nobody in particular.

"What did you say?" asked my husband from behind his newspaper. "Oh, nothing," I told him. "I was just figuring out loud." He returned to the paper. I continued with my adding. Sixteen and two, I thought, is eighteen, and one is nineteen. "Thank goodness," I said, "we got rid of that Eight before she could do any damage."

My husband peered around the edge of his paper. "What did you say?" he asked. "Oh, I'm sorry," I said, "still figuring." Nineteen and five, I calculated, makes twenty-four. You carry the two. Two and two are four, and four is eleven, and eight more makes nineteen. "Good!" I exclaimed in triumph. Eight brought me had them that time, but she walked straight into a nineteen, and nine caught her.

My husband folded his paper very slowly, and very deliberately into his lap. "I beg your pardon," he said, politely, when he was through.

"Mmmmm, fruit, what?" I asked. The color looked as if it had a chance to come out with the same answer a third time. I said, "I want to try to go wrong." Nineteen and five are twenty-four, and seven makes thirty-one.

"I could have sworn," my husband told me, "that you said something about Eight thinking she had them, but Nine caught her."

"Oh, I did," I answered. "And then Seven and Four got in the twenties together, but they didn't stop."

"Didn't stop for what?" he asked, a trifle warily. I thought.

"Well," I explained patiently, "you know Seven and Four are lovers. Whenever they can get in the twenties together they try to stop at twenty-eight. It's been their secret rendez-vous for years. Seven is very fond of Six too, but he feels sort of big brotherly and protective towards her. It's Four he really loves. Eight makes things so miserable for Six that she is afraid of her. That's why Seven has to take Six to forty-two every once in a while, where she can hide from Eight. Seven goes to forty-nine as often as he can. It is his own hermitage, cool, and secluded, and far from anywhere. He can refresh himself there. Seven is really as brave as Nine, but you know how Nine is. He is always cool and patient, and always knows the right thing to do. Seven doesn't have that kind of a constitution. He has to get away some times."

My husband looked a bit confused. For a long time he just sat with his paper folded in his lap, staring at me. "Is there any more?" he asked finally.

"More, what?" I asked. I had returned to my adding. "You carry the three," I said, absently, out loud. "Three and two are five, and five and three are eight, and eight and seven are fifteen. You know, I just discovered that a few years ago, since I left high school, I think."

"Discovered what?" My husband's voice was taking on a tired edge. "That eight and seven are fifteen?"

"Well, more or less," I tried to explain. "The fact of eight and seven being fifteen never really sank in until you taught me to play bridge. After I found that out, I discovered that when Eight goes to fifteen she is sort of calmed down. It has a pacifying effect on her."

"And Eight has to be pacified because..." He sounded weary.

"...she's so rotten in mind," I interrupted. "She would do anything to make things hard for the other numbers. She makes them work too hard, she plays dirty tricks on them, and she always takes them where they do not want to go. If it weren't that Nine is so kind, some of the smaller numbers would give up. Nine is usually got them out of any situation. Eight got them into. Seven helps, of course, but he just makes matters worse. Four and Six than to the little ones. There is their champion."

"When did you figure all this out?" my husband asked.

I did not remember ever figuring all this out. I can remember knowing a good deal about the personalities and foibles of numbers as far back as grade three. Goodness knows I did not invent all of this as memory crutches. If I had, I could not possibly have been the incredible mathematical dunce I was. The numbers then, it seemed to impose their character on me, without any creative effort on my part. I tried to explain this.

Suddenly there was dense silence in the room. I realized I had been explaining my theory, or whatever it might be called, to empty air. Well, no matter, there was still some adding to do.

A ghostly voice drifted up through the heating system. "Did you see my friend Jack?" I asked. "I can't find the long one with the red thigh, the one that keeps running off with the pants to the hammer won't get them."

I did not answer. Everybody knows screwdrivers do not run off with pants.

1710 Richmond Rd. Victoria, B. C.

Dear Editor,

I recently tried this recipe from your Courier and enjoyed it very much. I am a former Nova Scotian, born in Bear River and now living in Victoria. I love to cook fish and here are a couple of recipes I have tried and thought your readers might like.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Shirley Cartwright.

OKANOGAN SALMON

(A real B. C. treat)

2 lbs. salmon steaks
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup apple juice
1 tsp. salt
1 cup flake cream

Melt butter in fry pan, brown fish lightly on each side. Add apple juice and simmer covered 5-7 minutes until fish loses watery look and is just cooked. Remove to warm platter. Blend cream, flour. Add mushrooms, parsley and salt to liquid in pan. More apple juice may be added if needed.

Stir and cook until thickened. Serve over fish.

SWEET & SOUR SHRIMP

1 cup brown sugar
2 tbsps. corn starch
1 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tbsps. soya sauce

Blend above ingredients and add 1 cup pineapple juice. Cook, stirring until thick. Then add:
1 cup pineapple tidbits
2 cans shrimp
1 green pepper sliced
1 onion chopped

Cover and simmer 5 minutes, stirring often. Vegetables should be tender but crisp. Serve with rice!

The annual 4-H Club Rally for Digby County was held at the Clare District High School at Meteghan River, Saturday afternoon with Mr. Don McNeil of Truro, 4-H Clubs Supervisor, as guest speaker. There are 4,000 4-H Clubs in Nova Scotia, stated Mr. McNeil and 4-H clubs have been established in 70 countries of the world. The 4-H club supplements school work. It gives a good christian training which is very important. 4-H clubs were first organized by the late Dr. B. McPherson in 1923, stated Mr. McNeil, and were organized at that time, Edinburg and Miss Connie to plan better farming. Capl Amaraud of the same village, presented the work of the leaders who are present here today, said Mr. McNeil, but more volunteer work is needed.

Miss Lucille Deveau has been selected to represent the County in the International 4-H club exchange which is sponsored by the Royal Bank of Canada and will go to Quebec and will spend two days at Expo 67 at Montreal; Miss Ruth Deveau of Heetanooga, will attend the 4-H club seminar at F.E. Hall, P. Q. which is a Centennial project of the Canadian Council of 4-H clubs. Miss Lucille Deveau is a resident of Salmon River.

Miss Joanne Doucet of New Edinburg and Miss Connie to plan better farming. Capl Amaraud of the same village, presented the work of the leadstration of Home management and Miss Adrienne Comeau of Meteghan River and Miss Anida d'Entremont of Meteghan Centre were winners of the "The Easy way to mix a cake" demonstration.

THIRD HANDBOOK PUBLISHED

The third in a series of five Resource Handbooks, designed to be of use to persons in Digby County involved in counselling or providing guidance and assistance to families in the area, has just been produced. This third handbook deals with the matter of leisure-time activities. Leisure time, particularly when it is forced upon the individual by illness, age or retirement, often contributes to boredom and unhappiness and, as a result, poor emotional and mental health. It is as a means of helping to overcome this situation that this particular handbook has been prepared. Two other books have been in use for several years. They cover educational and welfare resources.

These books, and those to come, are designed to help overcome an information gap about which community helpers and caregivers have become increasingly concerned.

This gap, paradoxically, is a product of great increases in knowledge, resources and techniques. As more and more ways to help are developed, it becomes more and more difficult to keep up with what is available in one's own field, let alone beyond it.

The handbooks are being written to provide information about special fields, such as education, health and welfare, which can be used by persons working in these fields as well as by those who do not know what is available in a field outside their own.

Members of the helping professions in Digby, including the Mental Health Association, have been aware of this information gap. Also aware was the Harvard Programme, previously the Cornell Programme, which for some time has been involved in the stimulation of action projects through such means as a development centre. While the Harvard

Communion Service Dedicated

Dedication of a double Communion Service Set with two matching bread plates was held at the Ashmore Bethel United Baptist Church, following a joint service with the Riverside United Baptist congregation Sunday afternoon, June 4th.

Rev. L. R. Atkinson, interim pastor, presided over the service, assisted by deacons Harley Brooks and Stanley Brooks, Ashmore, and Deacon Daniel Hankinson, Riverside.

The communion set and matching bread plates were donated to the Bethel Church by Mrs. Althea MacDonald of Arizona, U.S.A., in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sahean, who during their life time were devoted members.

Those of the immediate family present for the dedication were, Mrs. Boyd P. Mullen and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gaudet.

Prayer was offered by deacons Stanley Brooks and Daniel Hankinson.

The service closed with the singing of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds".

with both men and women over forty.

The handbooks are designed with all members of the area in mind and as a service to the entire country. Reports in their use so far have indicated that the educational book is of primary use for young people whom it reaches through members of the medical professions and clergy as well as teacher and educators. The welfare book has been of greatest value with older persons and its information is passed along by persons both directly and indirectly concerned with the specific profession, in this case welfare.

From reports received, it appears that the handbooks are helping to meet both purposes for which they were designed: providing specific information about resources to residents of the country, and alerting professionals in one specialty to possibilities for help which exists in other specialties. So far the information has been most useful to the young and the old. With the new handbook, on leisure and recreational activities, it is hoped that more people, and more in the middle ages, may find information of benefit.

While the handbooks are designed specifically for residents of Digby County, they have also been sent, on request, to persons in other centres and agencies in many places in the province. Mrs. Armstrong has received a number of queries about the books, and the procedures she has developed for finding and reporting information. It appears from the letters, that many agencies and communities are hoping to develop similar systems. In this connection, Mrs. Armstrong and the Harvard centre staff are interested in knowing of work which has been done along these lines.

Programme saw the problem as one which involved the whole community. It was seen by the Digby Branch of the Mental Health Association as a problem of particular concern to those interested in mental health. Through the joint endeavours of the two organizations' efforts were launched to see what could be done.

The result has been the publication of the handbooks detailing resources available to county residents in a wide variety of areas. The books have been compiled by Mrs. Peggy Armstrong from information gathered by telephone, letter, publication and personal visit, from local, provincial, governmental and private agencies and organizations. The books describe specific assistance and benefits state those who are eligible the requirements needed and procedures for obtaining the resource.

The first two handbooks were distributed, as they were written, to local health, welfare, educational, religious, organizational and governmental personnel, and to community groups and local leaders who are in contact with many people. The third book, on leisure time activities, which has just been completed, is now being distributed.

By the spring of 1965, twenty two education and thirty welfare handbooks had been distributed to professionals in health, education, welfare and service work. Some people received one, some received both, depending on their primary service orientations.

In October of 1965 twenty nine people were sent a questionnaire designed to assess the way they used the books. Thirteen of these replied and indicated that the books are used as background information for the professional, which he then passes on to the client. Further, the information is used mostly on an individual basis, and less so for group discussion; although four of the respondents do use the information with groups, at least some times. As they became more familiar with the books, five professionals increased their use of the books.

It appears that the thirteen respondents, together, have contact with somewhere on the order of 2,500 persons a year. This does not necessarily mean 2,500 persons are contacted, since several professionals may count the same person. This caution applies to many of the data here and to follow: The respondents report the handbooks have been useful in dealing with about one fifth of their clients. Direct, immediate benefits have occurred in perhaps 120 instances, or in one-third of the cases when information was felt applicable in any fashion. It would be expected the long-term effect is higher, since there may be some who receive information, but consider it for some time before they act on it.

Different questions were asked about the use of the two handbooks. Persons dealing in any way with education reported a few instances of students staying in school or returning to school after they had access to information in the handbook. A fair number, perhaps as many as forty, are reported to have sought further training as a result of handbook information. More girls than boys were so reported. At least two adults were known by handbook users to have taken up further training, but the main audience for the book so far has been young people.

The main value of the welfare book, according to respondents, has been with the important question of obtaining financial assistance. Other uses have been to obtain aids or equipment for clients, and for making placements in homes and institutions. The kinds of clients for whom the book is used are first, pensioners, then equally, invalids, the aged, broken families and veterans. It is less used than hoped in cases involving children or the unemployed. Older client of welfare minded agents are the ones for whom the information is most used. It has been found relevant in a few cases of women under forty, but it has been far more heavily used in connection

The Digby Town Council have proclaimed the week of June 11 to 17 as National Veterans' Week.

National Veterans' Week, June 11 to 17, is being sponsored as a part of Canada's Centennial Celebrations by the Government of Canada through the Department of Veterans' Affairs and Veterans Associations.

At the conclusion of Canada's first century, it seems fitting that the contributions and sacrifices of those who protected our freedom in time of war and helped to build up our nation in time of peace, should be remembered. The week of June 11 will be filled with activities for Canada's 975,000 living veterans of the four wars in which Canada has participated since becoming a nation. Those who served in the two world wars are being asked to wear their service or discharge buttons during the week.

Canada remembers 112,331 war dead at Cenotaphs across the country each year. Canadian servicemen have been awarded 94 Victoria Crosses in wars in which Canada has participated since the Victoria Cross was instituted by Queen Victoria in 1856.

H. & S. Meets

The Home and School Association held their regular meeting last week at the school with Gifford Lewis in the chair. The nominating committee brought in a slate of officers, but as of that time no president had been located. Mr. Lewis stated that it was sad to think that there was no one willing to accept this office. Mr. Lewis also discussed the possibility of a scholarship being set up for some promising piano or music students, who would like to continue their studies. Mrs. Martha Gidney, programme convener introduced several piano students, pupils of Mrs. Eleanor Hankinson and Miss Francis Lent, who played their festival pieces. Two choral numbers, one by grade 5, sung in French, and one, two part song by grade VI, were directed by the school music teacher, Mrs. Helen Campbell. Mr. Mel Comeau, Driver Education Instructor, spoke on the large class this year and urged that two instructors and two cars be used next year. Mr. Comeau said that less than one half of the students registering could be taken this year. He thanked Weymouth Motors Ltd., for providing the Driver Education car, Riverdale Motors for providing the gas, and Mr. Wilfred Cosman, Maritime Life Insurance, for the insurance. Mr. Comeau also thanked the general public for the courtesy and patience when the students were test driving. Mr. Cosman also spoke on Driver Education, and stated several facts pertaining to its importance. Insurance rates as well as accident rates, are much lower and a driver education student is a high powered machine and not a toy. He said that students taking this course show a great respect for the power of the machine and the condition of our highways.

A film, "The David Hall story" was shown. Mrs. Gidney thanked all who had taken part in the programme, to make it so successful.

Fashion Show & Anniversary Arts Display

The annual Household Science Fashion Show and Industrial Arts display was held at the Community Library, Weymouth North, on Saturday, June third, 1967, celebrating the anniversary of its opening.

The Fashion Show, directed by the instructor, Mrs. Audrey Frankland, was held in the auditorium, using the Centennial theme. The stage was set up as an old fashioned sitting room, and the centennial symbols were placed about the auditorium.

Miss Lorna Gould, grade X student, and Miss Elaine Deion, a grade IX student, were the commentators.

Following the singing of O Canada, and the address of welcome, the grade X girls modeled their skirts and were accompanied by a junior model, whose clothes they had also made. The grade VII girls modeled aprons, with gathered skirts and detachable bibs. Miss Maureen Francis sang, "We'll sing in the Sunshine", accompanying herself on the guitar.

The grade VIII students modeled blouses, the cotton variety, some with ruffles, some rolled up sleeves, long sleeves, bracelet length sleeves with skirts or slacks. A display of fads and fashions in the years 1867 to the 1920's was enjoyed, and was followed by a solo by Debbie Wagner, "Memories". Debby wore a 100 year old costume for her solo.

Grade IX students modeled their dresses made in various styles: shirtwaist, A-line, bell sleeves, and princess lines. Mr. Floyd Gale played a piano solo, "Last Date".

The final modelling was done by grade X students with their dresses and suits, long evening dresses, several graduation dresses, and some casual type wear.

Mrs. Frankland was presented with a gift by her students, as a thank you. Mrs. Frankland will not be teaching next year. Thanks was also extended to all those who helped prepare the fashion show.

The Industrial Arts display was supervised by the instructor.

About one hundred well wishers attended the tea, held at the Community Library, Weymouth North, on Saturday, June third, 1967, celebrating the anniversary of its opening.

The table was attractively arranged with a floral centerpiece by Mrs. Gordon Cameron. Mrs. Fielding and Mrs. Cameron poured the tea and coffee.

Mrs. Calvin Granville, Convener of the Committee, planned and executed the tea and is to be complimented on its great success.

A birthday cake was made and given by Miss Madeline Comeau of Southville, and decorated beautifully by Mrs. R. McCullough. Chances were sold for the cake which was won by Mrs. Scott Kinney.

The Committee, headed by Mrs. Granville, was Mrs. G. Cameron, Miss M. Comeau, Mrs. E. Fielding, Miss R. Goodwin, Mrs. J. March, Miss

Mrs. Cortland Adams and was set up in the Audio-Visual room of the school. The work done was excellent quality and pieces of furniture were shown that any home would be proud to display. There was a variety of turned lamps, coffee tables, book shelves, gun racks, bird houses, and the grade 7 trucks made a big hit with the public. These were well made and designed. There were also picture frames, tool boxes and a medicine cabinet. Both wood and metal work were shown, and the painting was well done.

Congratulations to the instructors and students for the fine displays in both fashion show and industrial arts. Music during the modelling was played by Miss Joan Round and Miss Joan McCullough. The auditorium was filled to capacity, an estimated 600, and with the audience coming and moving about, it was most difficult to hear the commentators on the stage. Suggestions were made by many concerned that either fewer people be admitted, or better education in audience participation.

MINOR HOCKEY BANQUET HELD CORNWALLIS FEMALE "BOOT CAMP"

Short hair or brush cuts for boys playing hockey, advocated Wayne Maxner, when addressing the Minor Hockey Leaguers at the annual banquet held at the Digby Branch Canadian Legion Hall on Thursday evening. Many were the glib he took at each long hair lad at the banquet. Above is seen Mr. Maxner, now with the Boston Bruins, signing autographs for the enthusiastic and eager hockeyists. In the picture left to right front row are: Charlie McCarlie, Robert Morgan, Glen Hall, John Nichols, and Mr. Maxner. In the back row are Linden Garrison, Murray Baxter and Michael McCarlie.

Most of Mr. Maxner's information was imparted by the question and answer method, but he had some timely advice for the young hockey players. He advised them to "take a look in the mirror at what you are doing yourself" rather than blame and criticize others for your failures. This is true, he said, in pro hockey and amateur hockey and in every walk of life.

Just winning the game is not enough, advised Mr. Maxner. You might win a game, but you are not going to win yourself without good sportsmanship he said.

Mr. Maxner, who was at the banquet here two years ago, was introduced by Robert Morgan and thanked by Thomas Cleveland who presided over the functions. Mr. Maxner is with the Boston Bruins organization, having played with the California Seals last season.

A gift was presented to Mr.

Maxner and also to Roy Schaeffer, C.F.B. Cornwallis referee.

Officers for the past season were: Robert Morgan, past president; Charles Pitt, president; Thomas Cleveland, vice-president; Dr. R. A. Armstrong, secretary; Charles Hall, treasurer; Randy Cummings and Roy Schaeffer, referees; Fred Smith, equipment manager; Wayne Snow, publicity; Murray Baxter, statistician; Thomas Wood, Stanley Vidito, Rev. H. Ricker, Wallace Hodgson, head coach.

Awards were presented by Mr. Maxner to the best goal tender, Tartans, Ronald Robinson, highest scorer, Robert Wood, best defenceman, Stephen Saulnier, most improved hockey player was Benjamin Cleveland, most valuable player.

A spokesman for the Department of National Defence said last week that Canadian Forces Base Cornwallis will become the "boot camp" for all female members of the Canadian Armed Forces after July 24. It will be the sole basic training centre for Wrens, CWACS and Air Women.

Triservice integrated training will be carried out along side other normal naval operations now going on at Cornwallis, at least until final decisions are made concerning an overall Canadian bases consolidation program, the spokesman said. "As the plans stand now, nothing is to change at Cornwallis with the exception that all women members of the forces will be trained there in the future," he said.

It is understood that the women will be trained in groups of fifty in courses stretching over eight weeks each until the end of the year when a review will be made to determine whether the classes should be larger or smaller. Until September 4th, only airwomen and wrens will be admitted to the classes. After that date they will be joined by new entry CWACS if any are required.

In the past only naval women have received their ba-

Caravan Draws Crowds

More than 3000 school students from the Digby area saw a glimpse of life of prehistoric times and intervals of Canadian life through Confederation years to the present time when they visited the Confederation Caravan on Wednesday.

The day began when an official party, headed by Mayor C. D. Snow was greeted by J. A. Gray, caravan manager outside the Caravan village. In his address when declaring the Caravan visits open, Mayor Snow remarked on the ideal method of teaching history to students which the caravan affords. In the party were Reigh Jayne re-

Miss Warne Honoured On Retirement

Taken completely by surprise on Wednesday evening, Miss Gertrude Warne, Sandy Cove, was honored when approximately 125 from the villages of East Ferry to Watford and Maritime Tel. and Tel. personnel gathered at the Sandy Cove Hall for a reception. Miss Warne retired as chief telephone operator at Sandy Cove after 22 years service. Mrs. Weldon Trask succeeds Miss Warne. Also honored were Mrs. Charles Young, Freeport, who retired June 22 at 10 a.m. as chief operator and Mr. Young. Mrs. Young will be replaced by Mrs. Roy Powell, Freeport.

In making the presentation, Mr. Morehouse said that Miss Warne was always ready with information on weather, when lights would be restored after a storm, where the doctor was at the moment and other useful and pertinent information. Mr. Meisner made presentations on behalf of the telephone company to both Miss Warne and to Mrs. Young. Miss Evelyn Mount, Digby, formerly chief operator in Digby presented Miss Warne with a bouquet of red roses and Miss Helena Watkins, present chief operator bestowed the same honor on Mrs. Young.

The ceremonies were presided over by Mr. Meisner who said that in 1945 the Maritime Tel & Tel Company purchased the Digby Neck and Islands Connecting Company telephone service. Mrs. Young who had been in the D. N. and I. C. C. employ for 5 years and Miss Warne who had been in their service for six months then came in the employ of M. T. & T., when Miss Warne started with the M. T. & T., there were 6 telephone lines, now there are 75; there were 45 stations and now there are 250. In Freeport when Mrs. Young started there were 4 lines, now there are 112. The number of telephones have increased from 40 to 300. For many years these ladies acted also as account collectors and handled much money, Mr. Meisner said.

One of the experiences recalled by Miss Warne during her years of service was that of a night in February of (Please turn to page 6)

EMO Has Special Sessions

Fifteen members of the Emergency Measures Organization attended a special meeting, Thursday evening, June 14th, at the Digby Fire Hall, called to coordinate thinking in the event of an emergency arising out of the Israeli Arab situation in the Middle East. The meeting was attended by chiefs and deputies of the various services of the organizations.

Reginald Turnbull, director, reviewed to the group the operation of E.M.O. and told of several exercises being carried out on paper. He said that E.M.O. planning has been made international throughout the three countries of North America.

Mr. Turnbull reminded the group that the main function of local E.M.O. is to take care of evacuees from Halifax and other target areas of the province. Our other involvement is in evacuating Digby area people in case of fallout carried here by wind following a disaster in one of the many target areas, either here or along the seaboard of the United States.

Mr. Turnbull said the general public appears vague regarding the E.M.O. warning signal in case of an attack, or danger of fallout. The signal now in use throughout North America is an undulating tone on sirens of three to five minutes duration, or short blasts on horns or other devices repeated as necessary. When you hear the sirens you should take protective action and listen to a radio for instructions, he said. The director said the County is now in the process of becoming organized but it will be some time before they are able to carry out their duties to the fullest extent.

It was learned at the meeting of the Control Committee (Please turn to page 6)

D.R.H.S. GRADUATION

C. B. LeGrow Addresses Graduates

C. B. LeGrow, inspector of schools, Liverpool, was guest speaker at the Digby Regional High School graduation held at the auditorium on Tuesday evening when the largest class in the history of the school, one hundred and seventy-seven, graduated.

Mr. LeGrow based his remarks on the accelerated rate of change found in the world today and the student's ability to meet these changes in the world. He advised them to be successful in a changing world pattern they would have to fortify themselves with four qualities — adaptability, maturity, responsibility and adventure.

Mr. LeGrow advised the students that the job he ends up with will have changed six times. More extensive study will provide more adaptability, he said. Students must be prepared to prepare themselves for living and be adaptable to new and changing social conditions. In dealing with maturity he reminded the audience that personal life of individuals make up the nation and this must be a responsible life. One of the necessities of a nation is responsible citizenship. Almost every nation, he said, has become a welfare state with the dominate figure being security from birth to death. He charged the students to be adventurous and have the will to do and the soul to dare.

In speaking of the changes in the world, Mr. LeGrow said that accumulation of knowledge had doubled in the following years: 1750; 1900; 1950; 1960. It is a frightening and an exciting challenge, he said, especially to youth. Not only has there been acceleration in quantity but there has been acceleration in quality. Ninety percent of all scientists who ever lived, live today, the speaker said. Ninety percent of all drugs used have been used in the past ten years and these will be obsolete in 5 years. Even religion, which was thought constant is changing. Automation which relieves people of jobs and a pay check bring problems of leisure and hunger. Students of grades 1 to VI of today will be employed in occupations which do not exist at the present time.

Mr. LeGrow was introduced by Donald Brown, whom he had taught in Bear River twenty-five years ago, and thanked by Warden R. E. (Please turn to page 6)

LEGION HONOURS FALLEN COMRADES

Sunday marked the beginning of Veterans Week in Digby by a special wreath-laying ceremony at the monument and a special service at Trinity Anglican Church.

Rev. George Morris, rector at Trinity, addressed veterans, Guides, Brownies, Sea Cadets and members of C.F.B. Cornwallis band who had marched in procession from the monument. Mr. Morris charged the younger generation with the responsibility of keeping the country free as a debt they owed to those who lost their lives for their freedom.

Assisting Mr. Morris with the service were Dr. V. G. Turnbull who read the first lesson; William Mason, the second lesson, and Legion prayer; Tom Rowlette, Roxville, reading the Digby honor roll of the First World War; Dudley Cumming, honor roll World War II.

At the monument the Government of Canada wreath was laid by R. Baden Powell, M.L.A.; Legion wreath by Gerald VanTassel. Father Amiraull led in prayer and Mr. Rowlette took the salute.

Holiday July 3rd

Digby which celebrates Centennial from June 25 to June 28 has already proclaimed June 27, as a holiday. July 1 will be a holiday and now July 3 has also been proclaimed a holiday.

About This And That

Paving vs. Sewers

Actually according to the wise counsel of Mayor C. D. Snow at the last regular session of the town council, it would not be a case of paving vs. sewers as our title suggests. According to Mr. Snow if there is a paving program it would have to be a case of sewers and paving.

After all, this does seem a logical approach to the situation. While we are all for paving the remainder of Digby streets we do see the wisdom in having the sewer problem corrected before a paving program begins. Otherwise the paving would be destroyed in a sewer program afterwards. While, as we recall, we were thrilled about the last paving program undertaken in town, and without doubt expressed such satisfaction, we doubt that we had looked beneath the surface. We were happy to get rid of the dust menace and that was it.

There is a question here too, of which is the greater evil at the present time, the dust menace or the foul sewer menace in some areas of town. If there are any places where sewers run into ditches and where seeps overflow, then this is a menace which should be corrected as soon as possible. Surely anyone would agree to that and would stand behind the mayor in his thinking that a sewer program should take preference over paving. Even the shore outlets in Digby town, where sewage disposal empties from several sewers, needs correction if we are to keep our beaches safe from contamination. While we have written little on the subject of water pollution here, Digby does have its concern as well as neighboring towns although maybe in a lesser degree.

We expressed our regret at the time and we look back with regret now to the time when the Digby ratepayers saw fit to turn down a sewer program some years ago. Can you think of anything more vital to the health of our people than a proper sewage disposal? Yes, you might also add garbage disposal. We have eliminated a menace in that respect. That has been progress. With a sewage disposal program behind us, too, we might now be ready for some paving. And, again, we would be glad for that but we can see the wisdom in Mayor Snow's thinking.

Stanfield Nova Scotia Man

Undoubtedly Robert L. Stanfield would be a good man for Canada and correctly all Canadians should have the best interests of the whole of Canada at heart. However, we think Nova Scotians deserve the right to exercise a bit of selfishness once in a while. So, we should have no qualms about feeling glad that Premier Robert L. Stanfield has decided to be a strictly Nova Scotia man and has made his statement clear on that score. He will not enter the federal P.C. leadership race.

Besides, we can ease our consciences, if we do feel selfish, that what is good for Nova Scotia is good for Canada, too. It is evident the people of Nova Scotia put a great deal of confidence in the Premier and feel he is good for Nova Scotia. We can be glad he, too, considers himself a Nova Scotia man and will stick with the province.

Takes Job Seriously

Corresponding from any village to a weekly newspaper is an important job. It is a responsible job and that is why a newspaper is so particular to get the right correspondent and that all news is signed before it is accepted for publication.

The Digby Courier appreciates all its correspondents. They are all responsible people and do a good job but for taking her task seriously we must make special mention here of Mrs. Darcy Roope, Hill Grove. Most of us when faced with surgery can think of little more than ourselves and our problems. Not Mrs. Roope. Before entering the Victoria General Hospital for surgery last week Mrs. Roope delegated her correspondent's responsibility and took the trouble to advise the Courier. We appreciate such thoughtfulness and sense of responsibility for a responsible job.

We are happy to report that Mrs. Roope is doing nicely at Room 1153, Victoria General Hospital, Halifax.

Just In Passing

Just in passing we want to make mention of the new motor motel which is being erected at the approach to town on highway number one. This will indeed be an asset to the town. Its appearance and attractive appearance will certainly give a lift to the whole environment as tourists descend the hill and enter the hollow just at the town limits. Its spaciousness will definitely add a look of importance for the greeting of visitors and as another "practical industry" it will add to the economy of Digby.

Just in passing we want to mention the colored lights on Water St. giving the town a bright and attractive appearance for Centennial.

Those who erected the attractive Bulletin Board down town are to be congratulated. Now let us see it put to good use. List your events there for the benefit of the tourists.

Above is the Princeton Seminary Male Choir, New Jersey, which will be at the Digby Regional High School at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, June 27. The choir is sponsored by the Digby Ministerial Association.

Gift For Centennial Library

The Little River W.M.S. held a Canada Centennial Party in the Baptist Church vestry on Tuesday, last. Some twenty members and guests enjoyed a salad supper served by Mrs. Clyde Denton, Mrs. Stanley Denton, Mrs. Leonard Addington and Mrs. Bernard Denton. A highlight was a beautifully decorated cake, complete with a centennial flag.

The sum of $28.00 was raised and will be given as a special gift toward the Canada Centennial Library project for the V.B.B.T.C. and the School of Theology.

The supper was followed by the regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. with Mrs. Clyde Denton, the president, presiding. The devotional, entitled "Steady in the Storm", was given by Mrs. Edward Addington. A duet, "I Know Whom I Have Believed" was sung by Mrs. Royce Elderkin and Mrs. Bernard Denton, with Mrs. Edgar Trask, organist. Mrs. Rupert Trask, spiritual life convener, conducted a quiz on the books of Leviticus and Numbers.

List Your Events

Speaking of listing events brings to mind that the List Your Events column in the Digby Courier has become quite popular. Numerous persons have told us that this list has been most convenient to them in planning public functions or in just deciding on personal daily plans. A proprietor of a small gift shop told us that the List Your Events column is posted in the shop so that when tourists ask "What is there to do?" a ready answer can be given. Of course, if your event is worth listing it must also be worth paying for in some other section of the Courier at some time.

Former V.O.N. Addresses Digby Red Cross

Miss Reta Myers, V.O.N. in Digby for two years in 1943 and 1944, now director of nurses for the Nova Scotia Division Canadian Red Cross, was guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Digby Branch Canadian Red Cross.

Miss Myers said it was like "coming home" to come to Digby and recalled her work here with the V.O.N. at a time before the organization owned a car and when it was not uncommon to be called out to three or four baby cases in one night. She recalled the happy relations between the Red Cross and V.O.N.

Miss Myers complimented the Digby Red Cross on its fine program with the youth and explained other youth work, senior citizen work and water safety programs which might be attempted.

Miss Myers told of the history of Red Cross which was started in Nova Scotia in 1914. The charter was granted in October of that year. One of the first things the N.S.R.C. did was to donate $15,000 to wards a hospital ship.

Some of the highlights through the years were a hospital visiting program started and the Red Cross Lodge at Camp Hill in 1916; the first public health course for nurses in Canada at Dalhousie University sponsored by the R.C. in 1920; first outpost service in N.S., 1925; Junior Red Cross, 1927; Blood Donors service began 1941 (previously blood was paid for); Swimming and water safety program, 1946; home makers service, 1946; first aid posts on highway, 1947; sick room loan service, 1947; Junior Red Cross became Red Cross Youth in 1966.

Over 1300 branches of Red Cross exist in Canada today. Miss Myers said.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. R. B. Lent, president, who was on Wednesday re-elected president. Other officers and committees are honorary president, Dr. T. W. Hodgson; vice-president, Mrs. A. J. Dillon and Mrs. H. M. Warner; secretary, Mrs. Percy Robert; assistant secretary, Mrs. J. J. Brittain; treasurer, Mrs. B. H. Ruggles; assistant treasurer, Mrs. E. B. Warren and V. A. Thompson.

The slate was presented by Mrs. F. Daley with other members of the nominating committee being Mrs. Kenneth Beckwith, Lieut. Gerald Usher and Mrs. Usher. In presenting her report for the year, Mrs. Lent reviewed the progress during the year in the annual campaign for funds, blood donors and the three Red Cross Youth groups under Mrs. Alfred Marshall, Mrs. Zadia Baltzer and Wallace Hodgson. She mentioned the new Red Cross program with senior citizens and thanked all who had participated in the year's work and donated to the wheelchair fund.

During the business period it was decided to purchase a new wheelchair. The Women's Work report was presented by Mrs. Warner. Mrs. Warner paid tribute to the work of Mrs. Oscar VanTassel who made two complete crib quilts, pieced 14 quilt tops, made 19 linings, bound 23 quilts, cut and stitched 120 diapers, knit 65 pairs men's heavy socks, cut and made 18 fancy aprons, a total of 261 pieces of work. Others who received recognition from Mrs. Warner on behalf of the Red Cross women's work were Mrs. Edna Stark, Mrs. Edith Hayden, Miss Bertha Boggs

B.; Jennie, Mrs. James Doucette, Toronto, Ont.; Ruth, Mrs. Robert Smith, Windsor, Ont.; and Marion, Mrs. John Fowler of St. Catharines, Ont. They were all at home to help their parents celebrate the occasion. This was the first time all the children had been home together in 25 years. One daughter, Edith had been away for 21 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes were seated under a golden arch where a purse of money was presented them by the children and many other gifts and congratulatory messages were received throughout the day.

Mrs. Hayes was attired in a lace sheath dress of aqua blue with three quarter sleeves, and wore a corsage of golden yellow roses. Mr. Hayes wore a yellow rose boutonniere. The tea table was centered with a bowl of yellow roses while a side table held a four tiered anniversary cake, made and decorated by their daughter, Hilda.

The children were in charge of all arrangements, daughters attending to refreshments and sons welcoming guests as they arrived.

Mr. Gordon Hayes of Fairview, Alta., and Mrs. Amanda Wood of Tusket Falls, N.S., brother and sister of Mr. Hayes arrived to help celebrate the occasion. Relatives of Kentville, Mrs. George VanTassel, St. Patrick's and United Church ladies, Miss Nellie Amoro and Mrs. William Sutcliffe.

The sum total of women's work was 615 articles plus the 3000 gauze wipes made by Miss Amoro. Included in the 615 pieces were 32 quilts, 6 blankets, 72 pairs of socks, 33 children's sweaters, 6 blankets, 6 children's dresses and 445 articles for infant's layettes.

Mrs. Warner said that no more quilts are required at present by Red Cross National Office for shipment overseas, the Nova Scotia division is still planning to make quilts for local disaster relief. Mrs. Warner also requested pyjamas for school girls in Viet Nam.

Mrs. George Winfield reporting for the disaster relief said that this was a joint welfare project with the Salvation Army. Fifty families were helped out and 157 children's boxes distributed at Christmas. One family had been helped when burned out. She thanked Mrs. Gladys Budrow for supplying one quilt a month and made special mention of Sister Constance and Delbert Forrest for their contributions.

The Ways and Means report presented by Mrs. Ralph Berwick showed a balance of $125.93. Mrs. Allan Harris said the Red Cross quota for the town campaign was $770. They had sent $857.83 to Halifax including a $100 donation from the branch.

Total loans from the sick room supplies amounted to $4. Six new pairs of crutches had been purchased during the year making 16 pairs now available. Mrs. Alfred Marshall reported for the Red Cross Youth who had given $18.20 towards the purchase of a new wheelchair.

Whether you're racing a powerful Ferrari or one of these magnificent cars of yesteryear, traffic can be heavy when you head into a corner. This is a preview of what to expect as the Canadian Tire Centennial Tour gets underway July 24th. The tour is the largest classic and antique car competition tour of its kind to be assembled in Canada.

Poor Attendance Digby Trade Board Meetings

Due to the high school graduation and several other meetings being held at the same time, only a small number attended the June session of the Digby Board of Trade, held Tuesday evening, E. L. Sangster, vice-president, was Chairman. The group expressed concern over the apparent lack of interest in Trade Board meetings and noted that out of a membership of about 100, average attendance over the past one-half year has been less than ten members per meeting.

A letter was read from the Charlotte County, N. B., Board of Trade, requesting latest information concerning the proposed Digby - Campbell ferry and what action the Digby board is taking towards obtaining the ferry.

The meeting studies resolutions submitted by member boards for present action at the semi-annual meeting of A.V.A.B.T., held last week in Middleton. Among them was a request from Fundy Board for A.V.A.B.T. support for improved harbour facilities and a permanent crossing at Petite Passage, and one by Digby Board concerning closure of military establishments throughout Canada. It recommended that the department of national defense consider the economic result and give priority to retaining bases in those areas most adversely affected by such closings and to assist in new commercial and industrial activities in the areas affected.

Baseball Try-outs

Practises will be held next Saturday, Tuesday and Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Digby ball park to choose a centennial team for the Royal Canadian Legion to play in the Digby Little Baseball League this summer.

Interested children between 10 and 13 years are urged to be at the ball park on any of the announced dates for the try-outs.

versely affected by such closings and to assist in new commercial and industrial activities in the areas affected.

M. E. Jamerson, Beaverbrook Farms, reported that shortly about fifty or sixty drivers and their families will arrive to transport strawberries from the farm to various centres in the United States. He said that accommodation for these people will be required as they will be living here for about two months. He urged board members and all Digby area residents to contact the board immediately regarding possible accommodation. Several letters have been received by the board from van drivers requesting information regarding homes in the area for rent or boarding places.

Record Valley

Lloyd Hill, executive manager of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade, reported at the semi-annual meeting held in Middleton last week that there was a record year for tourism in the Valley last year. New motels and tenting and trailer projects were being constructed in the region this year. In speaking of regional development Emanuel Adelaar, Weymouth said Premier Stanfield, at a meeting with boards of trade executive, had advised the organization to "stick to tourism" and to stay out of industrial promotion. It was too highly complicated for amateurs and should be left to experienced government agencies, the premier had advised.

Alex McKenzie said Premier

Discussion arose around progress being made at the Digby airport and it was decided to invite its owners to discuss its operation at a future board meeting.

Braves Flames To Prevent Disaster

The citizens of Tiverton have a native son who has proven to them that he is a hero in many ways and especially in the recent fire that broke out in a chemical plant in Trenton, Ontario.

Sgt. Sheldon Outhouse, who is stationed with the RCAF there, recently braved intense heat to shut off an oil tank feeding a fire at the Domtar Chemical Ltd. cresole plant. Heading an air force fighting team, young Outhouse crawled under a burning 35,000 gallon oil tank to close a two-inch nozzle.

The oil pouring from the tank fed 15 to 20 foot high flames that threatened three larger oil tanks 60 feet away. Sgt. Outhouse received slight burns to his hands and feet despite a cover of protection foam as he crawled beneath the flaming tank. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Outhouse, Tiverton.

ier Stanfield's advice on industrial promotion seemed to be contrary to the policy of the department of trade and industry which encouraged the setting up of area industrial commissions, preparation of brochures and providing information to induce industries to establish in a community.

Resolutions approved continued action for better transportation facilities from Nova Scotia to New Brunswick and New England, improvement of freight handling facilities at Halifax, early action by the government on capital grants for agriculture, Fundy tidal power development, harbor facilities and permanent crossing at Petite Passage, Digby County, repair or replacement of the breakwater at Margaretsville.

The meeting was concerned that production from recent multi-million dollar industrial expansion in the Annapolis Valley may be curbed by continued delay in updating transportation facilities and that this will also discourage new industry.

"We have everything here that industry requires except transportation and we hope to have that soon" said AVABT president, Bernard LeBlanc.

E. W. Elliott, president of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers Association, said millions have been spent by the fruit processing industry alone on expansion, but this and other growth might be set back if the transportation was not updated to provide better access to markets.

Alex McKenzie, manager of United Elastic Ltd., Bridgetown, said some industrial expansion was going on and that transportation difficulties could be overcome by "working more on our own".

A resolution at the A.V.A.B.T. meeting asked for continued action for better transportation facilities from Nova Scotia to New Brunswick and New England.

Memorial Service For Brother

A memorial service for Xavier F. Comeau, Plympton, was held at St. Croix Church on Sunday morning, with Rev. David Stokes officiating.

Mr. Comeau was a son of the late Leander and Lena Comeau of Plympton and lived prior to his death on May 31, 1956 at Winnipeg.

The family of the late Mr. Comeau was not aware that his death had occurred. His sister, Mrs. Alvina Andrews, Deep Brook, became anxious when no contact could be made with him and inquired to the Department of Veterans Affairs who advised that his death occurred on May 3, 1956.

Other brothers living are Louis and Leo in Maine. A sister, Lena, resides at Beverly Hills, California.

Veterans Place Wreaths

The Weymouth Branch of the Canadian Legion No. 67, met at the monument on Sunday morning to place wreaths, then continued to St. Thomas Anglican Church, where they attended the morning service. Col. Stanley Hallett and Sgt. Clare Ruggles read the lessons. The Rev. A. G. Peters spoke on the sacrifices that men have made throughout the years for the benefit of mankind. He spoke of the contributions made by the Legion in peace time, and that we must do more than "remember," that the example they have set elicits the constructive use of the heritage passed on. We must remember, with gratitude those who have served in the cause of Freedom, by the unselfish and general giving of ourselves to carry on the priceless heritage which is ours, Mr. Peters said.

At the evening service in St. Peter's Church the Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge No. 100 attended in a body. Sister Dorothy Walker read the names of the departed sisters of the Lodge. Mr. Peters gave a brief description of the life and work of St. Barnabas, and drew lessons from this, applicable to us today. Our generosity expressed in actions, thoughts and living, and that what was expected of St. Barnabas is expected of every Christian, for we are all called to be saints.

Piano Pupils Give Recital

The piano pupils of Mrs. Ken Hankinson held their final recital in Havelock School on Saturday evening. Soloists, trios, a chorus, and Rhythm Band, formed the programme, a musical story, read by Gifford Lewis, and played by the first year piano classes in Weymouth was one of the highlights of the evening. Prizes were given for the highest marks in exams given by the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music to the following grade I pupils: Shelley Williams, Velma Johnson, Dianna Cromwell, and Johann Ford. The awards for those making the highest marks in the festival, were given to Laurie Lewis, Janice Hicks, Marilyn Lewis, Joan Hicks, Deanna Cromwell, Joan McCullough and to Joan Hicks and Maureen Mullen for highest marks in the duet class.

A contest for memory work was held throughout the year and awards were given to pupils in the various grades and classes. Those receiving the awards for memory work were: Margaret Williams, Cheryl Rice, Velma Johnson, Janice Hicks, Joan Hicks, Maureen Mullen, Liz Lewis and Shelley Williams. Prizes to the best all round students, those whose weekly work had been of highest standard, went to Joan Hicks and Floyd Gale. A special prize was awarded to Joan McCullough.

Mrs. Hankinson thanked the parents and interested friends for their support and spoke of the excellent progress the pupils had made during the past year.

Mrs. Hankinson said that several pupils had not been given certificates for the years work, because they had not attained the standards in technique and theory necessary to do the work of the next grade, but that with effort and steady practise they could catch up and finish the grade throughout the following year. Certificates were given out to all the first year pupils and grade I.

Miss Joyce Clayton presented Mrs. Hankinson with a bouquet of red and white carnations, on behalf of the pupils. Mr. Lewis thanked Mrs. Hankinson on behalf of the parents, students and the community for the splendid work she was doing with the young people of the area.

United Front Needed To Preserve Fishing

The need for cooperation and understanding between those interested in sport fishing and law enforcement agencies in order to promote and properly apply workable conservation practices and conservation programs, was stressed by Glen Smith, of the department of fisheries, Digby, in an address at the annual spring banquet of the Digby East Fish and Game Association.

More than 150 attended the banquet which was held at the DeLaga Lodge, the association's camp at Haines Lake.

Mr. Smith commented on efforts being made to stock fishing waters with trout and steelhead assistance of members of the association in the job of keeping statistics. These statistics are important, he said, if proper progress is to be made in re-stocking programs.

He said larger trout are now being released in the stocking programs and a tagging system is being used. He asked that all fishermen report their catches to fisheries department officials and turn in tags which they may find on trout they catch.

The seriousness of water pollution as it affects sport fishing was stressed by Mr. Smith. He outlined programs being developed by the Water Authority to cope with the problem but said the fullest cooperation of the public is needed if these efforts are to be successful.

Sewage, detergents, and other such substances play havoc with game fish in lake and stream waters, he said.

Following Mr. Smith's address, Victor Cardozo, chairman of the Centennial Youth Travel Project, outlined the program being developed for training of local youngsters in the visit of students from Alberta to Digby this summer.

He asked for co-operation of the game association in this project and said the committee was hopeful the association would make the facilities of Camp Delaga available to the visiting students on one day of their visit and provide a supper and dance for them at the camp.

He also thanked the association for their co-operation in making their swimming facilities available to the student volunteers from Cornell for training of local youngsters in swimming and water safety.

presenting the Digby Board of Trade, Mrs. Jayne, town clerk, Jack Whalley and Mrs. Whalley, Stewart MacNaughton, deputy mayor, and members of the Digby Centennial committee.

School students were privileged to view the caravan until four o'clock in the afternoon when other visitors were admitted. In the evening the Caravan Singers entertained. They were Nancy White, Howie Solverson, Betty Belmore and Ken MacDonald. Local talent also performed. They were Robert Marshall, Douglas VanTassel and David Coggins.

Each trailer had its own story to tell of the more than 100 years of Canadian history and of pre-historic life. Canadian minerals in their natural form were seen on entrance. Here, too, could be heard the sounds of waves and seagulls and the call of the various tribal Indians. Chinese pottery and ships of yesteryear with navigational instruments of the period were viewed.

Early settlement of the old city of Quebec was depicted by a French Canadian tailor shop of 1730. The next period depicted was that of pre-Confederation from 1800 to 1867. It included the national disputes and wars of the period. A work of sculpture represented the Father of Confederation in the Confederation Chamber. Surrounding the fathers were figures of various societies of Canadian people. Coats of arms of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were seen on the walls.

As the procession of viewers advanced there were displays showing the Parliament buildings and the first prime minister. The introduction of the railways was depicted and an old railway car used as the trailer added to the reality of the story.

One of the most popular entertaining and amusing displays was Cheechako (tenderfoot) panning for gold. The representation was almost alive in his gestures of hands and head.

Further trailers brought the viewers up to the Boer War and into World War I and II.

The development of the prairie provinces also were depicted by photographs and imitation wheat fields. The

He retired from vocational education work in 1959, and the next year was the successful Conservative candidate in the provincial election.

In the fall of 1960, he joined the government as minister without portfolio. He was re-elected to the Legislature in 1963, but he was not a candidate in this year's provincial election.

In 1942, he was awarded an honorary doctorate of humanities from the Springfield International College.

MISS WARNE

1946 when the Robert Cann sank in a severe storm. The Robert Cann was enroute from Freeport, N. S. to Saint John and most of the crew were from Freeport, N. S. One survivor of the ship landed at Riley's Cove in the cold and made way to a nearby house for help. Miss Warne described the night a hectic one for herself and Miss Elizabeth McCullough who along with the Freeport operator worked around the clock summing doctors, ambulances, R.C.M.P., etc.

Another instance recalled by Miss Warne was in 1950 when she carried on the telephone operation when the highway was "almost put through her house." Her house had to be moved, the plumbing, light and other facilities were disconnected but the phone operating went on even as rocks blew through one window.

In paying tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Young, Mr. Meisner said they had all been a tremendous asset to the Maritime Tel. & Tel. in the area and that the company was far richer by having such persons in their employ for so many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Young intend spending a good deal of time at their cottage "Ponderosa" at Sandy Bottom Lake.

Mr. Meisner congratulated those of the adjoining communities who had made the gathering in honor of Miss Warne and Mrs. Young possible.

Others who expressed good wishes and words of appreciation were: John I. Marshall, M. L. A. for Annapolis East, who retired from Maritime Tel. & Tel. three years ago; R. J. Forber, Kentville; R. J. Cooper, Yarmouth and Mr. Harris, Middleton. A sing song followed with Mrs. R. W. Sypher at the piano.

An retirement cake graced the tea table for the reception where early summer flowers were also present. Mrs. Curtis Denton and Mrs. Frank Saunders presided over the tea cups. Following the reception, the remaining food was sent to the Children's Home in Digby.

Morehouse.

The graduating students marched to the front of the auditorium, adorned with Centennial flags, mottoes, baskets and arrangements of flowers, to the processional Marche Militaire played by Miss Deirdre Morrell. Miss Morrell also accompanied Miss Beverly Mayo for her vocal selection "Climb Every Mountain."

The valedictorian was Miss Cheryl Sherman who thanked all who made their school years a time of joy and success. She said that their education reveals opportunities of the future which would be closed if they did not have educational facilities.

Dr. D. E. Lewis presided over the functions and F. C. Purdy and C. C. MacInnes presented the certificates.

Supt's. Message "If" To Graduates

F. C. Purdy

In August F. C. Purdy will take over as the first superintendent of the newly organized school system in Digby composed of all municipal and urban classrooms operated under the direction of three governing boards — the Digby Urban, Municipal and Regional Boards.

Mr. Purdy has been associated with DRHS since the school opened in 1948 and had been principal of the Digby Academy previous to that time, serving the area for a total of 36 years. Mr. Purdy first served DRHS as its principal, later he became supervisor of schools and still later he became superintendent of the urban and feeder school system served by the Regional School. His message to the 1967 graduates on Tuesday night was his last in his present capacity.

C. C. MacInnes, principal, succeeds Mr. Purdy in his present capacity and Jack Ritchey will become principal of DRHS.

Mr. Purdy said his years of service had been stimulating, challenging and rewarding although not tranquil ones. In speaking of the present plans for the introduction of the new comprehensive school program he expressed the wish that in the interests of the children, present difficulties would be satisfactorily resolved and construction plans proceed so that new facilities would be available by September 1968. Mr. Purdy said that Digby will then take its rightful place as the educational centre for the area, offering the finest educational programs for our youth and thus adequately preparing them for the serious responsibilities of adult living.

Turning to the graduates he said "I scarcely know just what to say in this my last message as your school supervisor. I feel that I can best sum up for you my own philosophy of life and recommend it to you as a way to a good life, a philosophy which is so ably expressed in the lines of Rudyard Kipling's though provoking poem, "If":

"If you can keep your head when all about you Are losing theirs and blaming it on you, If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you, But make allowance for their doubting too; If you can wait and not be tired by waiting, Or being lied about, don't deal in lies, Or being hated don't give way to hating,

And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise:

If you can dream - and not make dreams your master; If you can think - and not make thoughts your aim, If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster And treat those two imposters just the same; If you can hear the truth you've spoken Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools, Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken, And stop to build 'em up with worn-out tools:

If you can make one heap of all your winnings And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss, And lose, and start again at your beginnings And never breathe a word about your loss; If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew To serve your turn long after they are gone, And so hold on when there is nothing in you Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue, Or walk with Kings - nor lose the common touch, If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you, If all men count with you, but none too much; If you can fill the unforgiving minute With sixty seconds' worth of distance run, Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it, And - which is more - you'll be a Man, my son!"

DRHS Board Chairman Urges Comprehensive Program

Is it right that a few people can prevent the building program and thus prevent the implementation of the comprehensive school plan for this area, asked Dr. D. E. Lewis on Tuesday night when he spoke before a large audience at the graduation exercises in his capacity as chairman of the Digby Regional High School Board.

Dr. Lewis was referring to plans to implement the Comprehensive Program in Digby which is designed to provide equal opportunities for every pupil up to the end of Grade XII which would be suited to their abilities and future interest. The Plan would provide for academic studies, special program courses in industrial arts, home economics, guidance and testing service, general course program, commercial, accounting, terminating Grade XII courses for the handicapped and a modified standard remedial program. This program is designed to educate all pupils to the limit of their ability and interests.

In order to introduce the plan a building and equipment expansion program amounting to $750,000 had to be initiated. The program expenditure passed the municipal council, the ratepayers of Digby but is presently blocked by a group of ratepayers on technical grounds.

Dr. Lewis spoke of the changing face of education which must be met by students, teachers and school boards.

Dr. Lewis told the audience of the work of the promotional board in providing a system of promotion which is in the best interest of the student beginning with I.Q. tests, reading surveys, achievement tests, frequent reassessments of ability to handle various courses and placing of the student in the proper channel.

Speaking of the crowded condition at DRHS and the need for better facilities, Dr. Lewis said that in 1961 the numbers of pupils in Grades XI and XII was 130, in 1967, 261. There is inadequate classroom space. Six classrooms are needed to take pupils presently held in the halls and corridors. A proper environment is needed as well as providing space for students who at the present time stay at home one day in six. He added that there is no library, as such; there are inadequate science facilities; one standard classroom area, serving the purpose of chemistry, physics and biology laboratory; inadequate space in the home economic department as well as industrial arts department; acute shortage in the commercial department and inadequate facilities for audio-visual education.

ment as well as industrial arts department; acute shortage in the commercial department and inadequate facilities for audio-visual education.

Retiring Teacher Honored

F. C. Purdy, at the Digby Regional High School graduation exercises on Tuesday evening paid tribute to Mrs. A. J. Dillon who retires this year after giving thirty years of service to the community of Digby as a teacher. Mrs. Dillon, he said, had been associated with every graduation of the DRHS, heading the diploma committee and working on other committees when no detail was ever overlooked.

Mrs. Dillon was honored last week by the Digby School Boards and the teaching staff when a dinner was held at Hedley House, Smith's Cove.

Mr. Purdy on Tuesday night also paid tribute to other teachers who were leaving at the end of the school term and who had contributed much to the school during their stay.

Woefully Inadequate

Patrick Nowlan, P.C. member for Digby, Annapolis, Kings, described the Bay of Fundy ferry conditions between Digby and Saint John, "woefully inadequate" in the commons last week. Replying to a question from Mr. Nowlan, Mr. Pearson said that a request of the Annapolis Valley group for a meeting was receiving consideration. The request had been sent to Health Minister, Alan MacEachen. In answer to the same question, Transport Minister Pickersgill said: "The federal government is still conducting 'very active' negotiations with the CPR in an attempt to find the best and quickest method for improving the Digby-Saint John ferry service."

Meanwhile Digby Mayor C. D. Snow told the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade meeting in Middleton last week that his committee was not too pleased with progress by the CPR, federal and provincial governments on providing better ferry service on the Bay of Fundy, St. John to Digby run. Announcements were made from time to time but "this has all been said before." He also referred to a second letter to Transport Minister Pickersgill asking for a conference to present the boards' brief on the ferry situation.

people and countries that encircle our globe, a chance, perhaps, to feel, smell and talk to someone from the four corners of the world. It is an opportunity to escape from my small circle of friends, to leave the wind-blown islands, the faded fishing boats, the screaming gulls, and sample just once the thrill of a huge bustling metropolis. The thought of being able to drive more than ten miles without hitting a ferry, to lose your self in a concrete jungle of roads; this in itself would be a wonderful change from a one road island. It would be so refreshing to walk among and rub shoulders with thousands of strangers, to view the grounds and architecture of Expo itself; oh, to have the chance!

Not that I don't love my own home, but it seems that wherever we move it is always isolated. We have lived in Northern Indian villages, Nova Scotia fishing communities, on the rolling farm-lands and woodlands of Atlantic Canada. Expo provides an excellent opportunity, I would love to see a real ballet, view the accomplishments of other countries, to be surrounded by a variety of alien languages and to taste exotic foods.

I strongly believe that only through a better understanding of others, of the nationalities that make up our world, peace and prosperity may be obtained. Expo is an exercise in Brotherhood. Many of the adults in this world were brought up in a more sheltered environment and consequently may find it harder to rub shoulders with others harder than we who are young. Our world and theirs are different — drastically so. Perhaps we are not beset with the prejudices of the older generation. We are the people of tomorrow. We will guide a future our parents will never see. We must learn to live with and love those different than we.

Many of my friends say I am an optimist because I believe that we will never completely destroy ourselves. I think that, if you cannot believe in yourself and your ideals there is no reason for living at all. If we are to insure this then we must begin now. We, the youth of today, must strive for Peace and Brotherhood among nations.

Expo is a wonderful start, for it enables us to see the works and dreams, the customs and cultures, of the other peoples of our world. Fear of the unknown and the different, warps our relationships. (Please turn to page 9)

Many See Exhibits At School

A large audience viewed the annual Home Economics and Industrial Arts exhibition at Islands Consolidated High School.

Every style and material were featured in the Home Economics display. Girls chose their own patterns and materials, and made their fashions under the direction of teacher, Mrs. Gordon Kinney.

The students modeled dresses, blouses and skirts, slacks, suits and jumpers, in materials ranging from velvet to linen. Some girls designed clothing for younger brothers and sisters, which were modeled by the children.

Grade seven students modeled aprons as their class project.

In keeping with centennial, a nightgown and black shawl of the 1867 era were modeled, and student Christopher Thurber delighted the audience by appearing in an old-fashioned petticoat.

In the industrial arts section, students displayed plant stands, bread boards, gun racks, lamps, coffee tables, and jewellery boxes.

The students also presented a musical program and refreshments were served.

Berry Pickers For Strawberry Crop Required

Over 700 pickers, many of them students, will be required to harvest strawberries this season at Beaverbrook Farms, Digby Neck.

In recruiting workers in Freeport during Island's Consolidated Home and School Association's final meeting, farm operator, E. Jamerson estimated earnings would lie between $40 and $60 per week. The amount depended mainly on weather conditions and skill of the picker.

Some 60,000 strawberry plants were scheduled to be set out on 60 acres of Beaverbrook's 450 acre field, Mr. Jamerson added. The berry picking season is expected to last approximately seven weeks.

Transportation to and from the Islands would be provided each day, he said, if a qualified number were interested in the venture.

In "Time" Magazine

It wasn't what you call an imposing picture. He was overshadowed by his boss, Gillis Purcell. But there he was in the background at his desk, Robert Vincent of Digby, in the May 12th issue of Time.

Robert has been with the Canadian Press for about 8 years. The picture and article in Time featured Mr. Purcell who has been C.P.'s general manager for nearly 50 years.

The article states that C.P. was founded as a news-gathering cooperation with Government aid in 1917. It is still the basic source of national and world news for almost all Canadians. There's a staff of about 400 in 15 cities in Canada and four abroad and provides up to 200,000 words of news daily in English and French to 103 member papers from the Port Hope Guide (circulation 2767) to the Toronto Star (358,326) meeting a deadline somewhere in Canada every 15 minutes.

At Expo lucky Canadians will be able to see and feel the joy of companionship with others. I who have not the chance to meet other races in their home lands would love the opportunity to meet them in my own country. Maybe I would be able to grasp one shred of understanding and do one small part in sweeping the accumulated piles of misunderstanding and prejudice away. Not only I, but others too, until all the piles are gone.

Expo provides excellent do these trees symbolize the Centennial, but they symbolize our own future. Some of my classmates, as will the time, some will become stunted and gnarled with the rigors of time, and others (I hope the largest group by far) will achieve great heights. Expo is an expression of hope for a brighter future for Canada, embracing not just a few school children in a remote fishing village, but our nation and the nations of the world at large. Oh, the fun and laughter with which we planted those trees. The girls, bundled up in their multi-colored jackets were struggling with buckets of cold water lugged from the nearby brook; the more adventuresome were trying their hand at a shovel or pounding stakes. Our boys, braving the bitter winds from the ocean, were digging in the dirt and muck and as they put it "soiling our lily white hands." What fun we had! How much more fun will be Expo! Millions laughing, enjoying, and learning at our most ambitious project. I want to be a part of this.

Aside from the patriotic and educational aspects of Expo, there are wonderful cultural benefits to be gained. For a lover of Arts who has no talent whatsoever in these fields, Expo is tantalizing. To be able to wander and explore the exhibits pertaining to the arts and to see famous dancers, actors and singers is something wonderful to look forward to, and to cherish for years to come. I long to visit Expo for this reason alone. "La Ronde!" Oh what a good time this name implies. Of course any normal Canadian teenager couldn't visit Expo without wanting to tour this great amusement park. Life isn't meant to be all work. After a strenuous year at school, followed by the grind of Provincials just topping Finals, Expo's La Ronde is a delightful place to do nothing but "unwind" and enjoy one's self, a wonderful place to go to forget that in a short time you will be back slaving at the old textbooks again. Still a child at heart, there is nothing I would enjoy more than an amusement area. I love the sensation of whirling around a ferris wheel, the snapping of a crack-the-whip ride and the prospect of being swallowed by a ferocious monster after an exhilarating plunge through space and a fall into a flaming volcano is just fabulous beyond speculation! I would love to journey to Expo for the thrill of this colossal ride alone. I only hope that the magazine which describes this ride wasn't mistaken. The thought of losing out on this "study in confusing sensations" is simply heartbreaking!

There are other things which can be enjoyed, little personal experiences that no two people will find the same. A friendly smile or word, sunlight sparkling in a fountain, a hotdog snatched on the run, a new friend; little incidents like these bind the highlights of a trip into a memorable experience. Savory aromas, dazzling lights all run together, a myriad of sounds and voices, these are the impressions that build the foundations of golden memories.

Editor's Note:— Louise is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacBeath. Her father is supervisor of schools at Freeport.

Essay winners get one-week holidays at Expo with all expenses being paid by Dominion Stores. They travel in groups of 50 during July, August and September.

Talks On Birds & Gardens

Miss Louise Daley, at the June meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society, gave a most interesting talk on birds and gardens, remarking that birds daily requirements are much the same as our own. They need food, shelter and water. These can be supplied from our gardens with bushes and trees for nesting and a place to fly for safety. In winter, grain, suet and other food can be put outside and in summer many trees will provide quantities of soft, sweet berries. Bushes will provide both food and shelter for a variety of birds such as orioles, purple finches, thrushes, robins, yellow warblers and song sparrows. Asters, bachelor buttons, marigolds, cosmos, columbines, forget-me-nots and other flowers will give food. Every garden should have a bird bath and a simple one can be made with a large flower pot saucer, placed on a tree stump or a more elaborate one can be used. An old sink sunk in the ground, placed at an angle so the water is shallow at one end makes an excellent bird bath. Any type should be near a tree or shrub so the bird will have a place to fly after bathing. Birds around a garden will mean less bugs.

Miss Mary Marshall thanked Miss Daley on behalf of the entertainment committee.

An invitation has been extended to the club members from the Hill and Dale Garden Club, to enter roses in their rose show and to attend an afternoon tea in the L.O.O.F. Hall in Bear River on July 12. R. K. Beckwith, president, gave a report on attending a meeting of the Centennial Committee.

Tags supplied by the Centennial Committee, to be sold to assist with their project, were distributed to the club members (Please turn to page 3)

2 Holes-in-one In Same Day

One of the two holes-in-one of the season and the first of his golfing career was stroked by Joe Turnbull, Digby, Friday evening. Mr. Turnbull made the "Eagle" on the 145 yard par 3 eighth green of the Digby Pines Hotel golf course while playing with Donnie Fleet also of Digby and John Langley, Bear River. The 8th fairway plays over a valley and a brook; two bunkers front the green which slopes to the right. A nine iron was used.

The other eagle was made by "Jammie" Ellis, Cornwallis, on the 175 yard, par 3 second hole with a 5 iron. This fairway shoots over a lake with the green sloping to the left. Playing with Mr. Ellis were Allan Nichols, Brian VanTassel and Hedley Stark all of Digby.

This is the first time in the history of the Digby Pines Golf Club two "eagles" were gotten in the same day.

Travels Alone At 92

Gilbert Zwicker, 92 year old long white bearded gentleman of Vancouver, B. C., thinks nothing of going to California three times a year or even to travel alone across the continent to his native province of Nova Scotia.

Granted, it has been 73 years since he was in Nova Scotia, but 92 years of age was no deterrent to his starting out alone in April. He traveled all the counties to Sydney, Nova Scotia; went to his birthplace, Beach Hill, near Liverpool, Queens Co., and was on his way back via Princess of Acadia when he visited The Digby Courier. This was his first trip back to Nova Scotia since he left in 1894 at the age of 19.

Mr. Zwicker does not look his ninety-two years, especially when comparing him with the popular modern trend of bearded young men of today. He reads without glasses and his memory is good, he informed the Courier. Asked if he lived near his children in Vancouver, his reply was, "Gracious, no, I'm not married yet". He says he would consider marriage because he is at the place where he cannot lace his own shoes and has to wear "Beetle Boots".

While in Digby, Mr. Zwicker subscribed to The Digby Courier for his friend at the Fairview Home, Mission City, B. C. He is Sidney Jeans who was a one time blacksmith in Digby when shoeing oxen was big business.

Honor Musician

Mrs. Wallis has been musician of this Chapter for many years. Compliments were extended to her for years of faithful service by Douglas Horton, Past Grand Patron, Mrs. Douglas Horton, Past Grand Matron, Mr. C. M. C. Davies, P.G.P., and Mrs. C. M. C. Davies, P.M., Grand Treasurer, of the Grand Chapter of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. Also by visiting members and those of the St. Mary's Chapter.

Mrs. Eleanor Hankinson, Weymouth, N. S., was the musician for an addendum, "Gateway To The Heart".

On behalf of the Chapter, Mrs. Jean Olsen, P.M., presented Mrs. Wallis with a bouquet of flowers and a gift was presented by Mrs. Barbara Weir, P.M.

Refreshments were served when Mrs. Wallis cut an attractively decorated cake.

Mr. Stanley Ramer, who has been visiting in town for the past two weeks, returns home to New York today.

Dr. Hodgson Honored On Anniversary

Dr. T. W. Hodgson was honored by the Maritime Conference United Church of Canada by a citation commemorating his 50th year of ordination as minister in the church. The citation was presented at Grace United Church Hall on Sunday evening, Rev. H. R. Bird, Middleton, who had received his 50th anniversary citation two years ago made the presentation in absence of Rev. Calder Fraser, chairman of Presbytery. The citation signed by the president of the conference, Dr. George Russell, and the secretary was read by Mr. Bird since the presentation could not be made at the conference early in June. It read in part, "the Maritime Conference assembled records with gratitude to God its deep appreciation of his labors and prays that his pathway, in the evening of life, may be radiant with the light of God's presence and the love of his brethren."

Dr. Hodgson had only three charges in his fifty years after ordination. He was in the Hantsport charge from 1917 to 1921, in Canning from 1921 to 1934 and in Digby from 1934 to 1951, when he retired and continued to reside in Digby. Dr. Hodgson's preaching however began sixty-three years ago at the age of 14 years when he went up and down North England converting people. In replying to honors bestowed on him on Sunday evening Dr. Hodgson reminisced on some of his experiences in the ministry. He tried, he said, both to preach and to practice.

Dr. Hodgson's life as a preacher was also recognized on Sunday night when a plaque was unveiled in his honor on behalf of Grace United Church. The plaque, unveiled by Norman Wright, clerk of the Session, recognized the work Dr. Hodgson had done in inaugurating plans to enlarge the church hall, renovating the sanctuary of Grace United and installation of stained glass windows.

Rev. R. H. Hughes, pastor of the church presided over the functions. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. Hodgson on behalf of the church senior choir rendered (Please turn to page 6)

Dedicate Fishermen's Memorial

On Sunday a Memorial Bell will be dedicated to all sea men from the Annapolis Basin who lost their lives at sea since Confederation. The bell which will be dedicated was found partly sunken in the mud in the waters off Westport, Nova Scotia. It was brought to Digby, cleaned and mounted on a suitable base and arranged with plaques bearing the names of the memorialized.

The Digby Courier is grateful to Mrs. Minnie Buckman

Hicks, 25 Pine St., Natrick, Mass., 01740, for the above picture showing the bell in its original setting at Westport. Also shown is Mrs. Hicks' brother, the late Charles Buckman, who was the original light keeper at Westport. Mrs. Hicks remembers helping to sound the warning bell by hitting it.

Mrs. Hicks says she is looking forward to reading about the celebration in The Digby Courier.

Bear River Chief Heads Canoeists

Nova Scotia Miamaes paddling two 19 foot canoes to Expo won't have to worry too much about mal de mer. A last minute route change has taken care of that.

In the canoes since June 18th and originally scheduled to head right up the Northumberland Strait and along the east and north shores of New Brunswick to the mouth of the Matapedia River, the canoeists will now cut across the Chignecto isthmus, paddle down New Brunswick's Fundy shore to Saint John, then up the Saint John River.

Trainer-coach, Chief Richard MacEwan of Bear River, N. S., says the original route was predicated on information that log drives on the Saint John River would make the inland passage impractical. "Now," he says, "we hear that the river will be free of logs. Even as late as this, all agreed that we should paddle up the Saint John River to allow as may New Brunswickers as possible to see us and to visit the reserves along the way." At first it was thought the over 1000 mile trip would take approximately 45 days, putting the Miamaes in Montreal on or about August 1st. Now they say they'll be at Expo by July 21st.

The purpose of the trip is to re-enact an 1804 treaty signing between the east coast Miamaes and the Quebec Iroquois. The actual treaty signing will take place at Montreal's Caughnawaga reserve although special ceremonies are also planned for the Canadian Indian Pavilion on the world exhibition site.

Observe 107th Anniversary

Grace United Church celebrated its 107th anniversary on Sunday morning. On July 29th, 1860 the church was dedicated and opened for worship.

Taking his text from Genesis 27-17, Mr. Hughes said that our fathers believed every home and community needs an altar, a tent and a well. The altar is for worship, the tent home and the well for service. These are three indispensable in forming character but many people today have forgotten about the three using possibly one or two. Indifference to human suffering is found in the world as life becomes so impersonal. In other cases there is no time for responsibility of home because they are so busy serving others and human sympathy which severs contact with the altar dies. Unless the three essentials are present the life is not complete in God or in the world.

Special music was rendered by a quartette consisting of J. J. Brittain, Paul Snow, Donald Brown and Norman Wright. They were accompanied by Mrs. Jean Olsen. The church senior choir rendered (Please turn to page 6)

Mayor Addresses Veterans

Mayor C. D. Snow, in addressing those present at the Legion banquet held at Digby Branch Canadian Legion Hall on Saturday night recognized that the veterans were celebrating the centennial year by a special week set aside for Legion activities. As he looked back over the past hundred years of Canadian history he expressed the hope for many centuries of world progress, with nations living side by side as one people of the world. He said that war must be a thing of the past. Much more can be accomplished without going to war. One way to eliminate war, he said, was to feed the countries which are fighting for their survival amidst hunger and disease.

Mayor Snow remarked on the changing world which must be faced and the role which Canada must play by setting an example to other nations as a peace loving nation. Mr. Snow advised his audience to think past, present and future and in so doing he recognized the price paid for freedom in the wars of the past. He cited the hardships of war but also noted that the necessity of developing for purpose of war in the past had also brought economic benefits.

The Mayor was introduced by Guy VanTassel, president of Branch No. 20, and thanked by William Mason, secretary. Comrade Mason also asked the blessing and read the memorial to the fallen comrades.

The entire evening was presided over by P. O. W. K. MacKendry C.F.B. Cornwallis. Present were Zone Commander, Eugene Outhouse, Tiverton, and Mrs. Outhouse. In a (Please turn to page 6)

Lands At Hill Grove

Eddie Peck, Bear River, flew from Waterville airport to the Hillgrove airport on Monday. What is unique about that? We understand Eddie built his own plane at Bear River and transported it to Waterville by truck. It is a single seat construction and was flown down Monday on a test flight.

Six charter flights with four passengers each landed at the airport over the weekend. The passengers were enroute to the Pines Motor Hotel for a convention.

A private plane from Baltimore, Maryland, was also among the weekend landings at Hillgrove.

It is understood from reliable authority that no objection was raised to the application of licence for the Saint John Flying Club so it is assumed that scheduled flights between Digby and Saint John will be a reality in the near future.

About This And That

Win The Game, Not Enough

Wayne Maxner, when addressing the Minor Hockey League at the banquet last week, gave the boys some timely advice — advice which is more needed than ever in this highly competitive world. Just winning the game is not enough, he told the boys. You can win the game, but you are not going to win yourself without sportsmanship. "Sportsmanship" was considered by Wayne Maxner to be the highest honor which could be bestowed on a player. The sportsmanship trophy, by the way, was won by John Black. Our congratulations go to John for this highest of honors.

We must doubly congratulate John for he not only took the highest honor in sportsmanship at Minor Hockey but he also walked away at the 1967 graduation with the highest honor which the Digby Regional High School bestows on a student. He won the trophy there for his studies, extra curricula, leadership and administrative ability. Again, our congratulations, John.

One thing which impresses us tremendously is the fact that John shows leadership and administrative ability along with good sportsmanship. A perfect combination to be a real asset to the world. So often people can attain high goals, they can administrate or lead but they do it at the expense or disadvantage of another. Sportsmanship doesn't enter their picture. By fair or foul means their aim is to achieve and the world is poorer for it. The person with a combination of ability and sportsmanship leaves the world much richer because of his existence.

Young and old alike would do well to heed the hockeyist's advice — just to win the game is not enough.

Graduation

Congratulations to the graduates and the award winners. The Digby Regional High School graduation which is always one of the finest seemed to excel this year.

One thing which made the graduation outstanding was the number of graduates — 177 — the largest class ever to graduate from D.R.H.S.

There were a number of outstanding features in this year's graduation. We might mention as another one the impressive address by F. C. Purdy, supervisor. Short and to the point, Mr. Purdy conveyed to the students an excellent message by appropriately reading to them Rudyard Kipling's poem "If". We hope our readers read it. A number expressed appreciation for having had it printed in our last issue. And as has been repeated over and over again at so many graduations, Inspector LeGrow talked on change and its effect. So ably but simply presented, the students could not help but carry with them some pertinent facts to help them face the tide of change which is sweeping the world in their generation.

Wanted - More Donations

The Digby Memorial Bell will be dedicated on Sunday. While we are writing these lines, we have an idea that several men are working at the cairn in preparation for Sunday. Some of these will be volunteer labourers but the whole project has a few expenses which will have to be met. Glen Smith, chairman of the committee, is looking for further contributions to offset these expenses. Have you sent in your contribution?

By the way, elsewhere in this issue is seen a picture of the bell in its original setting at Westport. Also there is a picture of the first lightkeeper. Our thanks goes to Mrs. Minnie Hicks, Natick, Mass., for this contribution. The first lightkeeper was her brother and we understand Mrs. Hicks also did her share in beating the bell at the proper times.

Tribute To Stan. & Mrs.

The extended and voluminous applause received by Stan Vidito when he was introduced last week at the Minor Hockey League banquet bears testimony to the high regard in which Stan is held by the young hockey boys and their leaders. Stan is manager at the Forum and we understand he is both a likeable and an able manager.

At any rate the Forum made money on its operation in 1966-67. That in itself is justification for applause. We've been given to understand that Stan's assistant, Mrs. Vidito, let's nobody, young or old, their sister, brother, cousin or aunt get through the admittance gate without forfeiting the price of a ticket. That is good business. It probably pays off.

Digby Needs

Digby needs its war memorial cleaned. That was the opinion of one citizen who dropped into our office last week. He felt that a number of men would donate time or money for this worthwhile project. How about it men?

While we are on the subject of cleaning there are other places we have heard of which need more respect for beauty. We refer to the cemeteries. A lady from Greenwood, Mass., Mrs. J. C. Nowell, told us of one cemetery where grass had grown up, rocks left and tombstones needed straightening.

Of Skunks, Fish, Corpses And Females

No joke intended, but rules on rail freight have their own humor. The Financial Post reports. While riffling through the rule books governing small freight to bring them up to date, railway officials rediscovered these dusty — and amusing — specimens: Live skunks will not be accepted unless their scent sacs have been removed. Shipments may not be sent "cold" to prisons, asylums or to the Commissioner of Patents (inventors take note). Female attendants may not travel with goldfish. This restriction is the result of two ancient railway rules: one says animal attendants may not be female; the other says one attendant will be carried free with live fish. The Financial Post notes that the express charge for corpses is twice the first-class passenger fare. (Under CNR's Red, White and Blue fare system, this appropriately turns out to be twice the Blue Fare.) Human remains may not be sent COD. Men, women or children, The Financial Post says, will not be accepted for transportation as express freight. Railway officials say this was to prevent a person tying a label around his neck and travelling at express charge (which probably was less than passenger fare). Under the new system, officials told The Financial Post they will accept humans as small freight — but they will have to be transported in a crate with enough "feed" to last the journey.

MARRIAGES

Hersey — Murphy

A pretty June wedding took place at the Church of God when Carol Anne, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy, Digby, became the bride of Gary Robert, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hersey, Culloden.

Rev. John L. Denchfield officiated at the double ring ceremony. The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Elmer Porter of Bear River. The bride looked lovely as she entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a full length gown of nylon over satin, with long sleeves tapering to points at the wrist. The detachable chapel length train fell from her shoulders. Her elbow length veil was held in place by an open pillbox crown, covered with nylon sheer. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Ross, Fredericton, N. B. The bridesmaids were: Miss Brenda Murphy, sister of the bride, and Miss Judy Hersey, sister of the groom. Mrs. Ross wore a floor length gown of pink peau de soie with empire waistline and matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The flower girl, Karen Hersey, cousin of the groom, wore a gown identical to that of the matron of honor. The ringbearer was Bruce Ross of Culloden.

Robert Murphy, Dartmouth, brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Richard Ross, Fredericton, brother-in-law of the bride and Eric Ross of Culloden.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a one piece turquoise lace satin dress with white accessories. Her bouquet was of pink chrysanthemums.

The groom's mother wore a two piece blue lace over satin suit with matching accessories. Her bouquet was of pink chrysanthemums.

A reception for one hundred guests was held in the church basement following the ceremony. The bride's table was adorned with two candleabra, made a beautiful setting for the four tier wedding cake which was made by Mrs. Frank Handspliker.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Robert Murphy, brother of the bride, and responded to by the groom.

Marilyn Murphy, sister of the bride and Deanne Hersey, sister of the groom served the bridal party. Mrs. Douglas Forrest, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Sydney Stark, aunt of the groom, presided over the silver service. Serving the guests were friends of the bride and groom. Mrs. Rollins, The toast to the bride herbert Murphy, Dartmouth, sister-in-law of the bride was in charge of the guest book.

Amid showers of confetti, the couple left on their honeymoon to various parts of N. S. For travelling, Mrs. Hersey chose a green linen suit with matching accessories.

The happy couple will reside at 1 Brule St., Dartmouth, where the groom is employed with Zellers Ltd., and the bride employed at the Hospital, Dept. Halifax.

Out of town guests were from Fredericton, Saint John, Lunenburg, Bedford, Halifax and Bear River.

Saulnier — LeBlanc

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Weymouth, was the scene of a pretty spring wedding Saturday, June 10, at 10 a.m., when Rev. Fr. R. Deveau, using the double ring ceremony, united in marriage Miss Anne Marie LeBlanc and Melbourn Joseph Saulnier, son of Mrs. Delima and the late Francois Saulnier, Saulnierville, N. S. The bride is the youngest daughter of Leander LeBlanc and the late Mrs. LeBlanc, Weymouth. Mrs. Dixon Rice was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a white floor length gown of nylon chiffon over taffeta. The fitted bodice, fashioned with a high round neckline and long sleeves, tapering to points over the hand, was embroidered on the front with seed pearls. The bouffant skirt was trimmed with ruffles of chiffon across the back waistline and down each side and had seed pearls embroidered in a leaf design on each side of the front. Her three tier, bouffant shoulder length veil of net was held in place by a tiara of rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Miss Agnes LeBlanc, as maid of honor, and Miss Mae Belliveau, Belliveau Cove, a bridesmaid, who wore floor length gowns of peau de soie satin. The maid of honor's gown was turquoise with matching crown headpiece and she carried a cascade bouquet of white and turquoise carnations while the bridesmaid's gown was gold and she carried a cascade of white and gold carnations.

The groom's attendants were Herbert Boudreau, St. Bernard and Andrew Saulnier, Saulnierville.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Legion Hall, Saulnierville. The groom's mother chose a navy and white linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The toast to the bride

90 Years Back

FROM EARLY FILES OF THE DIGBY COURIER

June 22, 1877:

Streets Dusty — "Owing to the high winds that have prevailed during the past few days, there has been large quantities of pulverized rail stat flying about our streets, causing much annoyance to the traveller, as well injury to the wearing apparel."

Saint John Burning — "A disastrous fire raging in Saint John, N. B., has, so far, claimed the lives of several people. The whole of the business portion of the city destroyed. An appeal for relief sent out. Great destruction to shipping — packet schooner "Bear River" burned to the water edge along with several schooners and larger vessels. Thousands of people wander through the streets homeless and in despair. Famine imminent. It is feared nothing can save the city from the harbour to Courtney Bay. Money for relief being collected all over the land — Digby town organizing for collections."

"The widow of the late Hon. Joseph Howe and grandson arrived in town last Wednesday for a short visit, guests of R. S. FitzRandolph Esq."

Going Away Party

On Thursday last, the members of the Bear River East Mite Society met for a "Bon Voyage" party in honor of their president, Mrs. Lucy Sanford. A cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Gladys Wheelhouse and Mrs. Thelma Jefferson. Mrs. Sanford was presented with a going away gift. She is leaving soon for a six week visit with relatives in Lenora, Man.

was given by Herbert Saulnier, brother of the groom.

As they left on their wedding trip to the Cabot Trail, the bride was wearing a three piece jade green suit with white and green hat. Her shoes and purse were black and she wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Saulnier will reside in Weymouth.

Wright — Rice

A double ring ceremony took place at Deep Brook on Friday evening, June 9th when Rev. George D. Brydon united in marriage, Angela Iris, only daughter of Mr. Curtis Rice and Mrs. Walter Ruggles, Bear River and John Allison, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wright of Clementvale.

The bride looked lovely in a street length dress of pink nylon lace and white accessories with a corsage of deep pink roses. Her attendant, Miss Beverly Mayo looked lovely in a pale yellow street length dress of terylene trimmed with nylon lace and white accessories. Her corsage was yellow and white mums.

Letters To The Editor

25 Pine Street, Natick, Mass. 01760

Editor, Digby Courier, Digby, Nova Scotia, Dear Mrs. Wallace,

I was born on Brier Island on April 20, 1899. My brother was Charles Buckman, the original Light Keeper of Grand Passage Light. As near as I can remember, the light was built about 1890, but the fog bell was not installed until about 1906.

The gasoline engine that ran the striker of the bell, used to break down quite regularly, in long periods of foggy weather, and the bell had to be struck by hand with a large hammer sometimes my brother would get no sleep for several days as he had to ring the bell by hand while waiting for new parts for the engine. Boats such as the old Westports and the Keith Camp would listen for his bell to guide them in the passage.

My brother received a silver medal from King George for 37 years of continuous service at Grand Passage Light.

I have an old snapshot of the original setting of the bell, which I will gladly let you use if you think it would be of any interest to your readers.

I have been a regular reader of the Digby Courier for many years.

Sincerely,
Minnie Buckman Hicks

Dear Editor,

Reading about a recent wedding in Parker's Cove, in your Courier of May 26th, has led me to write this letter. The reception was held in the auditorium of the Parker's Cove School. Isn't it wonderful that a spacious room like this can be used by the tax-payers? Yet the residents of Digby Neck are denied the use of the Digby Neck School auditorium for such purposes. Why?

I can recall only a few years ago that a group of young campers, from outside the area were allowed to use the whole building for one weekend for sleeping in bed-rolls on the floor, using the kitchen for preparing meals, and having the use of other facilities. Why shouldn't they use it? But then, why shouldn't we?

Here is a large room with over 400 chairs with an adjoining spacious kitchen, which is very seldom put to use. For a large gathering, perhaps only once a year — a Christmas concert or school closing. We, as "Digby Neckers", are proud of our school and admire the way it is well-kept and efficiently run. Furthermore, we are well-bred citizens who could use the auditorium and yet not cause any deterioration. Think of the cost of keeping such a large section of our school in repair, and yet it is seldom used.

Living in a rural area as we do, there isn't another building as adequate. Most of the girls, for sentimental reasons, like to be married in their home church and it wouldn't be feasible to go to Digby town for the reception.

Yes, we have managed and squeezed in small buildings in the past but wouldn't it be nicer if the "powers that be" would decide to let us use the Digby Neck School auditorium for such purposes, also!

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Charlotte Denton

Digby Courier
To the Editor,
Madam,

I read commission report on Maritime Transportation, I believe Mr. Pickersgill will support the findings, especially the Bay of Fundy service, Digby, Saint John, for the roughest piece of water in the world, also the highest tides. Hovercraft at this time is far less advanced than landing pads, for outerspace explorations. The form of hovercraft from our Federal Government in relation to Maritime transportation is disgraceful.

A recent speech by transport minister, Pickersgill, Lennoxville Quebec, stated and I quote, "he hopes the time will come quite soon when students would have to be able to read and understand French to be admitted to English language Canadian Universities. As long as Mr. Pickersgill is tied up in formulating a new language for English Canadians, it will be some time before Digby, Saint John Ferry service is upgraded unless the Department of Transport puts progress and common sense ahead of political expediency.

Editor, Digby Courier, Digby, Nova Scotia, Dear Mrs. Wallis,

I count myself one of your devoted subscribers, living in New York State, but my heart is in Digby Co. all year 'round.

Being in the states, I have hesitated to make suggestions to your Centennial projects campaign, but perhaps this is one which might be considered an annual summer project.

Many localities, having special summer products, set up a regional market which may be open one or two days each week... Friday or Saturday. Any large building (exhibition hall, or large shed) serves as cover in case of poor weather. Each farmer, or craftsman, or merchant, has a stall in a regular place each week for which he pays minimal rent.

In Syracuse's Regional Market one finds hand-made aprons and infant's clothes, flowers and plants, home-grown vegetables, berries and fruits, home-made candy and baked goods... ad infinitum.

There are many talented farmers, ladies and craftsmen in the Digby area. The list I have of places I go to buy things, attests to that. They are scattered from Bear River to the Islands.

Would not such a central place afford an excellent gathering place for the citizens of the Digby area to do their own shopping as well as being a great blessing to visitors who may not know where all these good things can be found.

We will be in Smith's Cove after June 30th, if I can offer any help in developing such a project I am at your service.

Sincerely,
Rellen F. Perry

Mrs. John Hutchinson, Paradise, and Mrs. Harold Murray, Kentville, were appointed to enquire into conditions and facilities of mental health in Nova Scotia and throughout Canada. It was the vein of the Presbyterian that mental hospitals should come under the Hospital Insurance Plan and have the same degree of qualified staff and equipment as hospitals caring for physical illness. The subject arose from a recent article in an issue of Chateleine magazine written by a former Valley woman.

Address Veterans

few remarks to the audience. Mr. Outhouse charged that it is up to the next generation to try to obliterate wars. The veterans, he said, definitely stand for peace. While they had participated in war they want no more of it, he said, and felt that nations should be able to get along without war. Everybody loses in a war, he commented. One change, he said, should be made in the school curriculum. It should contain a subject on love and honor for country and those who were instrumental in producing Canada as it is today. All Canadians, he said, should be more appreciative of Canada. He suggested that the Canadian flag should be flown more than it is at present.

Commander Outhouse recently returned from Vimy Ridge where ceremonies marked the anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge. He quoted the Duke of Edinburgh who addressed an audience in Vimy Ridge as saying that Canadians were born at Vimy Ridge. Up to 1915 Canadians were colonial but after that they were Canadians. After the failure of the French and the British to take Vimy Ridge, Canadians took it in two and half days.

Past president, Thomas Cleveland thanked Mr. Outhouse for his address.

107th Anniversary

What's She Doing?

Elizabeth Barry, 25 year old Toronto career girl, changes the color of her eyes to match the color of her dress. What she holds in her left hand are so small you probably can't see them. But she can't see without them. They're contact lenses, tiny pieces of unbreakable plastic, and Elizabeth owns five different colored sets. In the above photo, she tries to decide whether green, blue, or brown eyes would go best with the fabric in her right hand. Taking care of contacts used to be bothersome since one needed three solutions: one for wetting, another for soaking, and a third for cleaning purposes. The Murino company has just developed an all-purpose solution that does all three jobs. New in Canada, it's called Lenseine. Available in a plastic squeeze bottle that dispenses one drop at a time.

Document 161 Years Old

While most of the population are looking back for items of interest of 100 years ago, in this 1967 Centennial, Fred Franklin, Halifax and North Range, Digby Co., can produce a document dated 1806. The 161 year old document, a transfer of property, is on skin with animal fur still attached to the skin. The conditions of the skin is excellent and the writing is still easily discernible. Mr. Franklin intends putting the document in the crown office for safe keeping.

The document dated the 21st day of January, 1806, was an indenture between Henry and Elizabeth Atkins, Halifax, and Nicholas Oxner, Martin Gates and Jacob Niforth of Lallave and referred to a parcel of land and small island in Chezzetcook Harbour on Three Fathom Harbour. It has been the property of James Gatz, Seaford, Halifax Co. The registered deed, bearing the red wax seal, is witnessed by Mr. Charles Rudolf and Edward Duckett and shows that Atkins had been paid 250 pounds for the property.

Jack Brayley Newsman Good Neighbour

Jack Brayley is a newspaperman through and through.

Yet, each Sunday morning he switches the role to become a reader rather than writer of the news.

At 9:45 a.m., he then puts on a different styled hat — that of a broadcaster on CBC Radio's Neighbourly News.

Since 1953, Jack Brayley, bureau chief Atlantic of the Canadian Press, has been the voice and the heart of this 15 minute program. A program, Jack describes as simply a "conversational and friendly chat over the backyard fence."

Neighbourly News heard Sunday at 9:45 a.m. over the Maritime and Newfoundland (10:15 a.m.) networks is really one of five programs of this title heard across Canada. In all there are broadcasts originating from the Pacific coast, the Prairies, Ontario, Quebec and the Atlantic version.

Although Neighbourly News (Atlantic) chiefly concerns items of interest from the rural areas of eastern Canada chosen from about 70 provincial newspapers, the popularity of the show has no bound aries.

"It's not just residents from the rural area who are aware of the program because frequently we receive mail from city dwellers as well," Jack explains.

"I think a lot of these people enjoy Neighbourly News as a way of keeping in touch with their rural backgrounds."

Jack Brayley is also the first to admit he is not a "polished" broadcaster. But he feels that presenting Neighbourly News is not a matter of reading a script over the air but instead a plain talk to folks about the more pleasant and not too serious things of life.

Looking back over the 14 years of piloting the show, he agrees that basically very little has changed in format. Items like stormy winters with drifts reaching barn roof height, someone having a wild cat as a pet, couples celebrating their diamond jubilee, the first sighting of a robin in

Gilbert Willson, Diplomatic Aide, Passes

Funeral services for Gilbert R. Willson, 85, of 3110 Cove Road, Pennsauken, New Jersey were held in Grace Episcopal Church, Merchantville. Burial was private under the direction of the Stephenson Funeral Home, Merchantville.

Mr. Willson served as a United States diplomatic and consular officer for 40 years before his retirement in 1946. He served in consular posts in Japan, Mexico, Yarnmouth, Nova Scotia, Lagos, Nigeria, Bremen, Germany, and Vera Cruz and Piedras Negras, Mexico.

He died Monday, March 30 in Cooper Hospital.

Surviving are his wife, Jennie; one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Moyer of Willingboro; one sister and one brother.

Spring, and flashbacks into local history — will always be content possibilities for the program.

"Bird and animal stories are by far and away the most popular, and I'm glad because I like them myself and I'm always on the lookout for this type of material."

Summing up Neighbourly News — Atlantic version in a few words is not simple. But he program host's definition of it is like a glove — "Neighbourly News is just a friendly over the backfence talk."

School Inspector Honoured

C. E. Edwards, Inspector of Schools in Annapolis and Digby Counties, and for a number of years, National Chairman of the Canadian Home and School Audio Visual Committee was recently honored by the Canadian Home and School Parent Teacher Federation with Lifetime Membership in the organization. The presentation was made at the annual dinner of the Convention which was addressed by the Deputy Minister of Education for the Province of Ontario.

In his report to the Toronto Convention, Mr. Edwards said, "we must teach children discrimination so they will be more selective in the programs they choose to view on the screen and on television."

Following Mr. Edwards' recommendations on education at television, and Screen Education in Canada, the Canadian Federation dispatched a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson, urging the Federal government to reconsider its decision to segregate educational broadcasting entirely to the UHF band. The telegram read in part, "Today educational television stands on the threshold of vital development that will have far-reaching significance to the future of Canadian Youth. It is urgent that this development not be impeded through lack of optimum transmission and reception facilities."

The National Federation also endorsed the resolutions passed by the National Seminar on Educational Television held in April of this year.

Mrs. J. Stewart Macdonald, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island was elected Eastern Vice-President of the National Federation of Home and School, at the sessions which were held from May 28th to June 1st at the Lord Simcoe Hotel in Toronto. Nova Scotia Federation President, Mrs. W. S. Hallman of New Glasgow, and Executive Vice-President, Mrs. A. E. Sutherland of Truro represented the Nova Scotia Federation, and others from the province in attendance included C. E. Ed-

Willis Hall Speaks On School Science

Willis Hall, consultant in mathematics and science, Department of Education, says that one of the weaknesses in today's elementary school science is that pupils are graded on what they know, rather than on how they know.

Mr. Hall, addressing a meeting of King's County School Board members, school supervisors, principals and science teachers at Central King's Rural High School, June 1st, said one of the basic aims of elementary science courses was to develop critical thinking.

He said science exams did not test students on use of their critical faculties; instead they mainly amounted to writing down facts.

The value to the student lies in knowing how these facts can be discovered and used in what they actually are.

Most of the science courses in North America try to provide an opportunity for the use of simple classroom experiments that do not involve expensive and intricate apparatuses can show how the facts are arrived at.

student to gain experience in thinking out his own conclusions.

He said it should be quite evident that knowledge of facts alone does not provide this experience. The process of arriving at conclusions counts, uppermost, pure and simply it means sharpening the tools of critical thinking.

Mr. Hall says this necessity is cutting down the quantity of factual subject matter to make time available for discussing how this factual material is accumulated.

The modern science course must include observation, inquiry, problem solving, and study of cause and effect relationships; these are the methods of attack, the tools of how we know what we know.

Information that results must be organized and measured so that the student can communicate in meaningful terms what has been observed. This involves the use of models, graphs, tables, and other symbols.

The use of simple classroom experiments that do not involve expensive and intricate apparatuses can show how the facts are arrived at.

Mastery of the tools of attack rather than the product, say Mr. Hall, is the real aim of

Mr. Hall was a former teacher at the Digby Regional High School.

Dr. Burridge Honoured

Tribute was paid today to Dr. George A. Burridge by his colleagues on the occasion of his periodic retirement from the provincial cabinet at a special luncheon in the House of Commons. Dr. Burridge, who was elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature in 1960, represented two members representing the Liberal Party of Nova Scotia. Dr. Burridge was an engrained member of the Nova Scotia government.

Dr. Burridge was a son of the late Ambrose and Rose Burridge.

He was educated in local schools, went to Lynn, Mass., at the age of twenty, where he served an apprenticeship in pattern making with the General Electric Company.

Following the funeral home, Premier Stannard commented on the loss of a valued member of the Nova Scotia government.

Mrs. Welch read an article entitled "Preached by the Spirit" which was the transforming power of God. It is allowed to control one's life.

Or just going two stops down the line. Because Canadian Pacific is the world's most complete travel system. And we take care of our customers because pleasing them is the best way to make sure they keep coming back. A lot of big people travel Canadian Pacific. So do a lot of little people. Mr. J. W. Layton in the Principals report gave a summary of events during the year and also looked ahead to the future. The two main problems during the year, the school was too small, classes were overcrowded and the loss of 2 teachers during the first week of school, Mr. Layton expressed appreciation to Mrs. DeLong who did double duty with the Grade VI classes, to Mrs. Muriel Cosman who taught 4 days a week and Mr. John Belliveau, Church Point who assisted one day a week. Appreciation was also expressed to Mrs. Amy Lewis and the other teachers in the vicinity who agreed to substitute during the year. The adjusted modified program for one of the Grade VII classes had proved very beneficial with Mr. Mel Cosman as teacher.

Weymouth School Closing

A closing concert was held by the lower grades of Weymouth Consolidated School on Thursday evening. Mr. Wilber Layton, Supervisor chaired the concert, and a capacity house came to enjoy it. The programme as follows was prepared by Mrs. Helen Campbell, School Music teacher, with the aid of the various class room teachers. Following the concert, grading cards and prizes were given.

Prime award for Physics, Larry Melanson. Student's Council award Penny Parada grade X. Debbie Wagner, Cadet shoot trophy, James Langford. Several students received an award for perfect attendance.

Mr. John MacGregor, Department of Education, Adult Division, of Bridgetown, addressed the graduating class and the large audience at the Weymouth Consolidated on Wednesday, June 14th. In his remarks dealing with "Man and His Triangle", Mr. MacGregor said that the potential for growth was inherited and no two living organisms are alike as each grows and develops in its own fashion. The Blue-Whale grows to 2 or 3 tons, gaining approximately 200 lbs. per day. Plants have two points of departure, spreading out from roots and shooting upward in stems, leaves and flowers, but man has three vantage points, namely, Physical, which is determined at birth, mental and spiritual growth which has no limit. The world can be likened to a tapestry, intricate beyond repair, to look at the surface is one thing but he urged the students to work and try to penetrate beyond. Asking the question, what is your view of the universe? Mr. MacGregor told the graduates they had just entered the gate of learning and reminded them they had much to contribute to their fellowman. We enjoy many freedoms which bring great responsibility but the freedom to use the mind could bring great happiness.

The Rev. W. Clayton thanked the speaker, and pronounced the benediction.

Dedication Of Cairn And Bell

Wallace Handspiker, an eighty-six year old retired fisherman from Culloden unveiled the rock cairn and memorial bell dedicated on Sunday afternoon to the memory of sea-going men and fishermen from Annapolis Basin, Digby Neck and Islands who lost their lives at sea from 1867 to 1967. The memorial is a Digby Centennial project.

The memorial consists of a rock cairn and bronzed bell mounted by varnished timber beams and erected on the grounds of the Digby Federal building. All materials used in the construction were kept as much as possible pertaining to the sea. The bell was discovered at Westport on Brier Island where it had served as a warning signal to mariners. The bronze bell was brought to Digby last Fall where it was thoroughly cleaned and now hangs glistening in the sun's rays. It was made by Chaplin and Fulton, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania in 1897 for the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

Mr. Handspiker, who unveiled the memorial started to sea in 1898 on the Annie M. Sproule and continued in a deep sea career until he retired in 1918 after sailing with the Lorne B. Snow. Mayor Clayton Snow who welcomed the guests on behalf of the town also came from a long line of seafaring people. He said this was a fitting way to remember all those who went to sea from the area and the part played by the seamen of all categories in the progress and life of humanity. He thanked the Department of Public Works for allowing the cairn to be erected on their property and for the maintenance of the grounds and said it was a responsibility of the town for the upkeep of the cairn itself. Mr. Smith sounded the memorial bell after the unveiling.

An impressive part of the ceremony was the laying of a wreath by Commodore Charles McBride on behalf of the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club. The wreath was then presented to Captain B. Blinn of the Canadian Pacific Steamship, Princess of Acadia who transported it to sea on the return trip from Digby to Saint John. Leaving in dense fog the Acadia was by chance halted for the dropping of the wreath on the waters of the Bay of Fundy just as the sun burst through the clouds making a most lasting and impressive memory witnessed by the passengers on board. As the Acadia again steamed on its way the fog again closed in, according to reports of passengers.

Mrs. Hymie Webber presented gifts to Mrs. Norma Joy Digby, and Graham McBride, Halifax, whose designs submitted were combined to form a design for the construction of the entire memorial. The gifts were donations of Mr. Webber.

On board the Princess of Acadia was the Saint John Kiwanis Pipe Band which presented a short program in

Digby prior to the memorial ceremony and following an interfaith service. This was the first Sunday trip of the Princess of Acadia summer schedule on which the Pipe Band makes its annual visit. Names of the seamen memorialized on the bronze plaques in the cairn and bell construction are as follows: Robert Adams, Burchell Albright, William Brennan, John Blackford, Gerald Burns, Cauch Bain, Fred Bain, Fred Banks, William Bailey, Capt. Andrew Baxter, Daniel Bremner, Alpha Blackford, Lee Clements, Theodore Cleveland, Edward Comeau, Thomas Connelly, Albert Cann, Charles Cana, Howard Dakin, Frank Daley, Stanley Denton, Wm. Princeton Theological Choir

A special treat in music was heard at the Digby Regional High School on Tuesday evening when the Princeton Theological Seminary choir sang before a large audience. The choir sponsored here by the Digby Ministerial Association was welcomed by Rev. H. S. Hartlin. Also bringing greetings were Deputy Mayor, Stewart MacNaughton on behalf of the town and V. G. Cardoza on behalf of the Centennial Committee. Rev. R. H. Hughes presided and Rev. Father Amoro pronounced the benediction. The Boy Scouts received the offering. The choir under the direction of Dr. David Hugh Jones is in its 22nd annual summer tour. Its objectives are to proclaim the Christian Gospel through song, scripture and testimony, all of which were done in their visit to Digby. Their aim is also to encourage young men and women to consider the Christian ministry as a life work. They use the tour as an opportunity to obtain a view of the Christian Church in action in the world and to mingle with people from all walks of life in their churches, homes and places of business.

Their concert on Tuesday evening consisted of anthems inspired by the Old and New Testaments, solos and other arrangements from a Christian and classical repertoire.

Interfaith Service

Following the dedication ceremonies of a Memorial cairn and bell, remembering seamen of the Annapolis Basin, Digby Neck and Islands who lost their lives at sea between 1867 and 1967, an impressive interfaith service was held at the Digby Bandstand, when Rev. H. S. Hartlin of the Digby Baptist Church was the speaker using the subject "Years Gone By and Years To Come".

Mr. Hartlin reviewed the history of the different church denominations in Digby and area since 1785 when the Holy Trinity Anglican was erected here. They are all, the newer and older, a part of the local history and heritage of the land, he said. Speaking of the future of Canada, Mr. Hartlin said that it was safe in the hands of the young people of today if they receive the moral and spiritual guidance that religious people of today are able to give them. Tools alone are not sufficient, he said, but people of strong moral stature and spiritual strength. The young people should be challenged to build spiritual homes, temples of honesty and goodness and nobility of character.

An impressive part of the service was the Blessing of the Fleet by Rev. Father Donald Amiraault of Digby St. Patrick's Church.

The service was presided over by Rev. R. H. Hughes, Grace United Church. Scriptures were read by Lieut. Gerald Usher, Salvation Army, and Rev. John Denchfield of the Church of God. Rev. T. W. Hodgson, retired United Church clergy led the Litany of Thanksgiving. Rev. George Morris, Anglican, was absent through illness and Rev. Hazen Ricker of the Wesleyan Methodist Church had moved to Grand Manan.

Combined choirs rendered the Centennial Hymn and led in the singing. A special number "Will Your Anchor Hold?" was rendered by the male quartette consisting of J. J. Brittain, Donald Brown, Paul Snow and Norman Wright. The service came to a most fitting close as the benediction was pronounced in unison by all the clergy on the bandstand.

Addresses Hardware Convention

Michael Knight, Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry for the Province of Nova Scotia was guest speaker on Tuesday morning when the Maritime Hardware Convention met at the Digby Pines Motor Hotel.

Knight reviewed some of the developments which have taken place in Nova Scotia in the immediate past and referred to the Voluntary Planning Board and its achievements.

In this regard he said, new jobs are far ahead of what had been envisaged and the investment in 1966 had exceeded their target of 1962. It was close to $400,000,000. Mr. Knight named the many industries which had sprung up from Canso to Yarmouth and noted that big industry is attracted to the place which has a program for overall development of the whole area. The strategic location of Nova Scotia to world markets is getting international recognition, the speaker said, after we have so long regarded the location of Nova Scotia as a handicap and considered ourselves as the poor relations. Our outlook has changed as has our pride and faith in ourselves as a people, the speaker said.

Mr. Knight said that we must keep in mind that this is a world of change. We must realize that no part of the province can be prosperous unless the whole province is prosperous and the province cannot flourish unless the various parts are going ahead. Also, he said, secondary industries, service industries, processing industries, tourism, all react upon one another and the result is an acceleration in the pace of all of them and of other activities. Some problems in Nova Scotia, Mr. Knight said are more psychological than real. In order to combat old myths there is being carried out an educational and promotional program among the industrial decision-makers of the world

In this regard the province is considered among the most aggressive of the Canadian provinces and success is being attained. Industries are coming here whose markets are far beyond the Atlantic provinces, Mr. Knight said. They are finding the province a good place in which to make products and from which to distribute them.

Speaking of productivity, Mr. Knight said that in the new, modernly equipped plants the productivity is excellent but the fact that many plants still need modernization is a drawback. This is combined also with old statistics that indicate low productivity. Low capital investment, allowed productive facilities to fall behind and workers inevitably fell behind in skills. This means that emphasis on education and retraining programs are necessary.

He closed with the words, "Where there is no vision, the people perish."

Retires

After teaching and supervising at the Lunenburg Academy for 41 years, Donald Collins retired at the close of the 1966-67 school term. Several presentations were made to Mr. Collins on his retirement. Mr. and Mrs. Collins will continue to reside in Lunenburg. Mr. Collins was formerly of Westport and Digby. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Collins.

Lieut. Usher Transferred

Lieutenant Gerald Usher, Mrs. Usher, Lynn, Jimmie and John left on Wednesday for Arndale where Lieutenant Usher will be in charge of the Salvation Army Corps.

Lieutenant Usher came here in the summer of 1966 following Lieutenant Beach, who went to Bermuda.

Captain William Bowers, who succeeds Lieut. Usher, arrives here from Ontario on Friday.

Lieutenant Usher expressed the appreciation of The Salvation Army on the completion of its successful Red Shield campaign in Digby. It will now be possible for The Army to advance to meet the needs of others, he said, but there will never be an end to the work of those who administer to the needs and emergencies of others.

Amount raised this year was $1600.00. This is $300 above the 1966 amount and more than each of the past three years. The objective was $2000. Lieutenant Usher was hopeful that with donations still coming in that the objective might be nearer attainment.

Sea Cadets Review Naval Assembly

Cadets of R.C.S.C.C. Cornwallis left Digby at daybreak on Saturday June 24, bound for Halifax and a tour of the Naval Assembly at that time in Halifax harbour. Cruisers, destroyers, submarines in long lines were displayed for visitors in a gigantic naval show.

Among the ships toured by the cadets were HMCS Objibwa, HMCS Assiniboine, and USS Newport News, flagship of Commander Second Fleet. The tour also included Citadel Hill and the Maritime Museum, and entertainment by the Golden Centennaires.

Greenwood's Silver Anniversary

Climax to the show at Greenwood air base on Monday was the performance of the Golden Centennaires, a performance of precision flying unequalled anywhere in Canada probably the world. Spectators gasped in breath-taking awe at the stunts performed by the gold and black machines which left their trail of colored beauty as they soared through the air.

It was Greenwood Day. Greenwood was observing Canada's Centennial, the golden anniversary of military flight in Canada and the 25th year of flying at Greenwood. A number of invited guests and general observers from the Digby area witnessed the spectacular performances.

Another interesting feature of the show was the sharp contrast shown between the highspeed jets of the modern world and the AVRO 504 K biplane of 1919 vintage which was brought here from Ottawa and took to the air at the show.

There were displays of low-level fly-pasts by Argus formations and demonstrations by Search and Rescue aircraft. Parachuting and dropping and picking up supplies were among the demonstrations. Planes from the nearby Waterville Flying Club participated in the functions. The flying display featured over twenty planes in the nearly two hour action.

Ground displays were of an informative nature, giving spectators an insight into operational, logistic and domestic functions of the base.

Static displays informed on nuclear defence, fire services, tele-communications and all other services as well as hobby shop work, club activities and equipment.

90 Years Back

FROM EARLY FILES OF THE DIGBY COURIER

June 29, 1877 -

"Farmers from all parts of the county say the outlook for an abundant yield is very promising."

A look at Germany in 1877 - "The truth is, that dread of Russia periodically becomes a blind, unreasoning panic. The authors and the victims of it do not seem to reflect that other states might easily be credited with equal or greater power or mischief. Look at Germany. No country ever gained so gigantic a power in a shorter time and she has won it by hard fighting. In the course of a few years she has put Denmark, Austria and France under her feet. She has dated from a position of despised feebleness to a height of supremacy to which we must go back for a parallel to the first French empire. Her enemies say that she is ambitious and aggressive; that she will some day seize the German provinces of Austria; that she will not permit France to remain a great power; that the shadow of her vast ambition is cast as far as the rich cornland of the Balkan peninsula; and that she will yet face England on the North Sea. These are wild conjectures or wilder fictions. They belong to the domain of imaginative politics."

"A public meeting will be held Monday night to devise means to help disaster sufferers of the Saint John fire of last week. Total contributions so far amount to $1,029.11."

MARRIAGES

Adams - Stronach

On Saturday June 17th at 3:30 p.m. in the United Baptist Church, Digby, Rev. Howard S. Hartlin, pastor, assisted by Rev. Dr. George N. Hamilton, pastor of the United Baptist Church, Kentville, of which the bride is a member, united in marriage, using the double ring ceremony, Frances Ruby Stronach, Digby, and Larry Verdon Adams, Bay View, Digby County.
The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Boyd Ellis, Digby, and he late Harry F. Stronach, formerly of Bridgetown, N.S. The groom is the son of Mr. Fred Adams and the late Mrs. Adams, Bay View.

The sanctuary of the church was artistically decorated by Mrs. Chester M. Levy. Pink apple blossoms, Japonia and white rhododendrons were arranged in white baskets and in high white standard. Candela completed the setting.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her step father, Mr. Boyd S. Ellis by whom she was given in marriage was dressed in an ankle length gown of silver lustre lace over taffeta. A shoulder length veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. The bridal bouquet of red roses, white roses and stephanotis cascaded from a white Bible.

Standing with the groom was his son-in-law, Mr. Reginald Bremner.

The mother of the bride was attired in a Centennial Rose ribbon knit gown with white accessories. Her corsage was of blue tipped white roses.

Mrs. Reginald Bremner, the daughter of the groom, chose a two piece ensemble fashioned of green silk. She wore a matching green hat and a corsage of yellow roses.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Shirley Clayton rendered the solo, "I'll Walk Beside You". During the signing of the register, Mrs. Clayton sang "The Wedding Prayer". Mrs. Jean Olsen presided at the organ.

Ushers were Messrs. Norman Wright, Richard Donnelly and Carmen Frankland of Digby and Vaughn Henshaw of Kentville.

The reception was held in the vestry of the church. A lace covered tea table was centered with a floral three tiered arrangement of apple blossom, forget-me-nots and pale pink tulips.

Miss Ruby O. Stronach, Clement-port, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Elbert Jenner, Dartmouth, presided over the silver tea service.

Mr. Phillip Dondale together with the ushers, served the punch.

Assisting in serving were Miss Eileen Cochran, Kentville, who served the wedding party, also serving were Mrs. Hazen Ricker, Mrs. Norman Wright, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. Esther Marshall, Mrs. Donald Fleet, Misses Sandra Turnbull, Doreen Atkinson, Carol Harding and Caroline Pettipas.

Rev. Dr. Thomas W. Hodge, son, who is presently celebrating his fiftieth anniversary in the ministry invoked the blessing.

The three tiered wedding cake, flanked by white lily of the valley tapers graced a small lace covered table and was cut by the bride and groom. The bride and groom served their guests bride's cake and the groom's cake respectively.

Mrs. Frank Hayden rendered piano selections during the serving of refreshments.

Mrs. Vaughn Henshaw had charge of the guest book to which one hundred and ten names were appended.

On leaving for her honeymoon the bride wore a blue ensemble with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Adams was the guest of honour at a shower. Presentations were also made to her by the Nursing staff of the Digby General Hospital, of which she was a member and by Zelma Rebeckah Lodge of which she is chaplain.

Special mention should be made of two wedding guests, namely, Mrs. Archibald Troop, Aylesford, who on June 15th, celebrated her ninetieth birthday and of Mr. Fred Adams who has passed his ninety-second birthday.

Captain and Mrs. Adams will reside in Bay View, Digby County, N. S.

The bride looked lovely in a street length dress of pink nylon lace and white accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink roses. Her attendant, Miss Beverly Mayo looked lovely in a pale yellow street length dress of terylene trimmed with nylon lace and white accessories. Her corsage was yellow and white mums.

Unity - 1867 - 1967 - 2067

On Saturday Canada has a birthday. It is her most important birthday since 1867, the year the provinces decided to join forces for the good of the whole.

Canada is going all out in 1967 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Confederation. In fact, so much concentration is put on 1867 we almost forget Canada existed before that date. We almost forget that while more than twenty millions inhabit this land of ours today, there was a population of some four millions, almost, just prior to Confederation. They made their impact on Canada. While we commemorate the occasion of Confederation on Saturday, while we boast of our economic gain, our educational advantages, our modern modes of transportation which have come into being and many other factors which have made Canada a great northern nation since 1867, we must not fail to recognize the pioneering ventures of the pre-Confederation people of our land. It was out of their concept of unity that Canada came into being.

Despite all we've accomplished in the past one hundred years, despite the recognition we have received as a peace loving people standing for freedom and justice, there is a lesson which remains to be repeated over and over again. It is the same old lesson which the pre-Confederation "Canadians" found to be true. Somehow, we need to learn over and over again that in unity is strength and only in continued unity can our real purpose of Confederation be attained. This is true of all Canada and it is true for each province and each community and each person within her bounds.

On Saturday we begin the second one hundred year stretch. Too distant for us to consider? No. Each moment and each individual counts. We must not lose sight of the part unity paid in making Canada the nation she has become but we cannot rest on our laurels either. Unity is not something you achieve and forget about. It must be worked at and passed on from generation to generation. With its loss would come the loss of a whole century and more of achievement.

As we remember those who paved the way prior to Confederation, as we remember those who made Canada great since 1867, let us not forget in 1967 that each individual contribution to a united Canada must continue towards the next century of 2067. No individual is excused from this responsibility for Canada consists of provinces, communities, homes and individuals. Each has a responsibility. Each must see himself in the new Centennial anthem written for the Canadian Interfaith Council.

"Lead us to walk the ways that love has always taken,
Guide us, O God of Love, and we will shape a spirit
Worthy a nation reaching for her destiny.
So may we show the world a vision of Thy goodness,
Our dream of Man to which all men may yet awaken
And share the glory still with Thee."

EVERYONE APPRECIATES FLOWERS

Flowers by Gabrielle moves this week to new and larger quarters, to the building formerly occupied by Ruggles Hardware. The expansion has been attributed to an enlarged volume of business. The flower shop originally opened its doors to the public May 3, 1966. Manager and operator of the shop is Mrs. Alfred Boutilier, King Street, Digby, the former Gabrielle Conroy, of Dublin, Ireland. "The Store that Public Confidence Built" is the slogan of Flowers by Gabrielle.

Mrs. Boutilier is the exclusive agent in Western Nova Scotia for the famous MacAskill paintings and has a large number on display in the shop. She comes by her love for flowers and gardening naturally, having been descended from a grandfather, Joseph Conroy, Galway, Ireland, who was superintendent of gardens in Eyre and also worked in that capacity for the royal household.

Major and Mrs. Boutilier have taken up gardening as a hobby at their summer cottage at Lake Midway where the Midway Nursery has been successful in growing peach trees, cherry trees and other fruits from seedlings. So far this year they have also grown a great deal of their own flowers, such as glads, snap dragons, delphinium, asters and shasta daisies.

Mrs. Boutilier and her husband find gardening enjoyable and relaxing and at their last posting in the services at Oromocto, N. B., Mrs. Boutilier had won prizes for the most improved garden and for the best garden.

In her girlhood years Mrs. Boutilier was with the Red Cross volunteer Corps and she continued her interest in Red Cross in the communities where her husband was stationed and in their retirement from the services. In Oromocto she was chairman of the detachment.

The new store has all the proper facilities for flowers, such as an 8 by 4 walk-in refrigerated cooler where shelves give an advantage for display.

Vondette, RCN, Training Commander, CFB Cornwallis and LCDR R. Thompson, RCN, Area Officer Sea Cadets, Halifax, inspected the Digby Corps RCSCC Cornwallis at the Annual Inspection held recently at Canadian Forces Base Cornwallis. CDR Vondette spoke highly of the March Past and general appearance of the Corps and stated that he was impressed at the efforts made by cadets. Addressing the officers and cadets on completion of his inspection, Cdr. Vondette commented on the traditions and esprit de corps of the Sea Cadet Movement as outlined by The Navy League of Canada and the challenging role presented the youth of today in the shaping of our country. Whether the cadet chose the Canadian Forces or another course as a career, education was a vital asset and youth should take advantage of the splendid opportunities of learning afforded them. Cdr. Vondette said a good percentage of naval recruits today were former sea cadets and their earlier cadet training was paying good dividends from their knowledge of leadership, and general sense of responsibility. The cadets presented Certificates of Rank Examinations and Awards of Merit: To PO Cadet: Ldg Cadets A. Milbury, D. Lawrence, L. Amoro, F. Barton and E. Hodgson of Digby; Ldg cadet L. Hyson of Smith's Cove. To Ldg Cadet: Able Cadet C. Baxter, C. Barton and R. Hartlen of Digby. Best all round O/Cdt, Curtis Selig of Joggin Bridge (absent). Best Kit O/Cdt, M. Francis of Smith's Cove.
