Looking ahead with terror

Many experts, and a good few non-experts, like young boys, are predicting our willows of words these days looking back over their shoulders with horror at the Sixties, and looking ahead with terror, at the Seventies.

In the history books, this past decade will receive a few paragraphs as one of turbulence and social change. But if we've lived through it, we've been through the winner, Sam, and you know it's been one of wrenching, chaotic, violent revolt.

It produced a new breed of young people, a breed that supplied few answers, a breed that turned away from the church and toward a new party, a breed that suggested "we're it" a sign of moral parity.

The Yanks took two shots at the moon and made it both times. There's almost a certainty of a miniature family renaissance. Medicine and similar sciences predict the aged and the poor from financial catastrophe. The list is long.

I have faith in the human race. The goodness knows why. I'm willing to give it another decade, if you are. And if things don't improve, I will resign from said human race at 6:04, December 31st, 1979.

STEWART - In loving memory of Iris Yvonne Stewart who lost her life in an airplane accident on December 24, 1968. Three years ago she went away, never to return. Love lives on for those left behind. But not in the same old way. Only the spirit of her sweet self. Lingers for us today. Our tears are many this time of year. When joy should abound. But he knew best, and took her home. For that we should be proud. She's with our Maker up. Some friends are with her. So with loving hearts, we remember her. And know she is in heaven. Love lives on after Of that I truly swear. For Iris is always with us. Only the spirit of her sweet self. She walks along beside us with us every day. Oh! Bless our lovely daughter. Till we join her too some day. - Lovingly remembered by her mother, father, sisters and brothers. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O. Stewart and family. 201c

NEW HOUSE DESIGN - In this 3-bedroom bungalow designed by Architect HENRY FLEISS of Toronto there is a good separation between the living and sleeping areas, thus ensuring privacy and the isolation of noise.

The kitchen overlooks the street and is easily accessible from both front and side doors. The living-dining room has a sloped ceiling and large windows opening onto the garden. The front door is inset thereby giving protection from the weather. The side door leads directly down to an ample basement which, in addition to providing the normal utility and heating facilities, has room for the development of a recreation room or workshop. The front door of the house should face north.

square feet; the exterior dimensions are 30 feet six inches by 22 feet. Working drawings of the house, known as Design 218, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Cooperation at minimum cost.

Investigate UIC

Mr. G. F. Lawson, the Atlantic Regional Director of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, paid a visit to the Yarmouth Area Office.

As a result of the amount of fraud that has been discovered by investigations carried out in the area, Mr. Lawson stressed the fact that the number of claims being investigated will be greatly increased.

Investigations revealed a large number of false claims were the result of fishermen being employed and not declaring their earnings with the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

C. E. Hicks, the local Area Office Director, stated that since the beginning of the current fiscal year, over twenty-one thousand dollars in over-payments and punitive disallowances had been established.

It was also pointed out the Commission policy of having employees submit their own contribution payments direct to their own bank by the Bulkley T. Dorey, district council contribution method has been established.

widely accepted. At the present time approximately eighty percent of all employees have changed to this system.

He's been writing background music for CBC Tuesday, Night and CBC Stage for over 15 years. ## Beethoven Year

The 1970 Digby County Music Festival syllabus has just been released and announces the Two Hundredth Anniversary of Ludwig Van Beethoven. The Digby County Festival will celebrate the event with special classes and a special competition.

All Canadian Music Festivals associated with the Federation of Canadian Music Festivals are planning similar competitions and special recognition of this anniversary year. It is hoped, the Digby County Music Festival committee said, that competitors will enter into the spirit of the event and make it something to remember in the history of our Digby County Music Festival.

Adjunctive for the festival during the week of April 20, 1970 will be Paul Murray of Halifax.

The festival is open to schools and talent in the municipality of Digby and any others who wish to participate and stipulations are that care must be taken to select music exactly as specified on the syllabus. Any musician in the competitive classes will be immediately disqualified; all school choruses, solos, duets, etc. must be rehearsed, both the words and music. No music shall be transposed for school singing, but must be sung in the key written, while it is preferable to have the on-trants in the Piano-forte classes memorize the text. Here, use of music will be permitted, with the exception of Competitive Classes. Junior choirs may use books or score sheets if preferred.

All entries must be in the hands of Mrs. Dan Handinson, Weymouth, before February 1st.

While the carol "O Come All Ye Faithful" was being received softly by Mrs. H. A. Shortliffe, the invited guests lighted their candles from the president's candle.

At the business period which followed, Mrs. H. A. Shortliffe received a Dominion Life Membership and presented two Provincial Life Membership certificates in Mrs. Clement Silver and Mrs. Floyd McNeill.

Journey Into The New Year 1970

I stand upon the threshold
Of the corridor of Time,
The New Year beckons so I take the tiny hand to venture forth into the unknown.
A new trail to blaze,
Untried, un conquered and unseen.
A crystal ball, where only God
May gaze there-in.
A challenge for the courageous,
A trust for the devoted,
An adventure for the daring.
The New Year opens wide the door,
And we who enter in will find
A new beginning, another chance,
A bright, new destiny.

HORMONES

Infertility, Cancer Link Thesis

Some cases of infertility and cancer in women may be linked to a hormone disorder, says the chief pathologist at Ottawa General Hospital.

Dr. J. S. Campbell is one of several doctors at the General who will be presenting papers on research results at a meeting of the Ontario Association of Pathologists in London this week.

Since 1956, he has been involved in a study of the connection between infertility and a particular type of cancer originating in the tissues lining the uterus.

He and his co-workers on the project have now collected 25 cases to support their thesis that there is a significant link between infertility and this particular type of cancer in some women, and that this may be due to an imbalance in the hormone estrogen.

"We no longer believe that 'Chest Keep Coming Up' - 'We no longer believe that we're dealing with something rare, because cases keep coming up," the doctor says.

Dr. Campbell is investigating endometrial cancer, which develops in tissue lining the uterus, but also occurs in the ovary when some of this tissue gets into the ovary.

In half the collected cases the ovarian tumours, there is clear proof that the tumour originated in the uterus tissue.

Fifteen of the 25 patients had cancer in both the uterus and the ovary, and eight of the twelve married patients for whom obstetrical data was available were infertile.

The researchers have started with already-developed cancer cases and have tried to work back to the origins.

"What we have to do is try to work out some way of labelling these potential cancer patients beforehand," Dr. Campbell says.

If the cancer results from a hormone imbalance, it is possible that producing ovulation in infertile women might prevent the cancer from developing, he says.

The doctor speculates that both the infertility and the cancer are related to an imbalance in estrogen, one of the major female sex hormones.

"Either there is too much estrogen or too little of the other hormones to work with it."

The doctor is not dealing with infertility as such, but with some cases of infertility in which he proposes the possibility of a hormone disorder.

He and several other doctors at the General have been invited to present six of the 25 papers at the Ontario association meeting.

Dr. J. S. Campbell is well known in Bear River where his father was the doctor for many years.

20 Forestry Jobs Declared Surplus

Dr. I. C. M. Place, Maritime Regional Director of the Canadian Forestry Service, has announced that 20 employees of the Maritimes regional establishment have been declared surplus. This move is necessitated, according to Dr. Place, by the Government's decision to limit expenditures in the Department of Fisheries and Forestry in 1970-71 to 1969-70 dollar levels. This has particularly serious consequences in the Canadian Forestry Service where current salaries and wages account for nearly 90% of operating costs. Some 170 continuing full-time Service employees will become surplus across Canada.

It was felt that an airport developed at Hill Cove would be good for the town and surrounding districts. Grants for improvements can be applied for through federal and provincial sources. It is understood, if the airport is under town or municipal ownership. (Please turn to page 3)

Year End Review

As the new year 1970 dawns may I take this opportunity to express to all the citizens of the Town of Digby my most sincere wishes for a very happy and prosperous New Year. In the year just past considerable progress has been made where the interests of the town and citizens are concerned. It might be of interest to take a quick look at some of the things that have been accomplished by your elected government. At the beginning of the year, and although major plans for sewage and water line projects, still to be completed, were well advanced, a year, still so communally had suffered. Your government was instrumental in obtaining the following for the town: paving of sidewalks on Water Street; new lighting and renovations in the elementary school and addition to the Senior Citizens Home. The firm of Clyde Everett Ltd. to establish a plant in Digby; established a new sewer and water line on 3rd Avenue; opening of streets on 3rd Avenue and West Street; obtained concrete contracts from both the Federal and Provincial Governments that a survey will be made on Digby water supply project; assisted in obtaining KPD Radio Station for town; obtained final approval for the construction of 12 Low Rental Housing Units; and 21 Senior Citizens Homes. In the year, and although major plans for sewage and water line projects, still to be completed, were well advanced, a year, still so communally had suffered. ## About This and That

A Bridge Would Have Helped

We write with satisfaction that a delegation going to Halifax to meet with Hon. G. L. Smith, Premier, and Hon. I. W. Akerly regarding a bridge across Petite Passage. We need not here expound on reasons why a bridge is necessary. We have done so before and our news story gives the reasons through the report of the resolution which was passed.

We are thinking right now of the fire which destroyed a fish plant at East Ferry on Friday evening. There is no fire fighting equipment between East Ferry and Digby (correct us if we are wrong) 30 miles. There is equipment at Tiverion, a quarter of a mile away but there is a passage of water between which slows up transportation. Wonder how much a bridge might have helped in such a situation? Plenty, we believe.

A Place To Go

We have every sympathy for the young people who want "a place to go". While some homes have gone in for recreation rooms in basement or porch there are other young people who are brought up in apartments of kitchen, living room, bath and bedroom and no place where young people can entertain or congregate to "talk and laugh" without going too much under foot of their "olders".

Another question which came to mind was that one boy was not in school, nor was he working. Is this not rather odd for a young energetic boy? First of all, we feel, that boy should be assisted in finding some gainful occupation. If so, there would be fewer hours to whittle away at a Drop-In. From our point of view a later time on Monday night we'd suggest the Mayor knows where such occupations could be found at this busy winter-time in Digby.

However, some questions did come to our minds when three young people appeared before Town Council on Monday night. They were asked how they would finance "a place to go", a drop-in or coffee shop. Answers were readily given by the spokesman, yet when asked why they left the Anglican Church Hall they said the Anglican people could not afford to supply the light and fuel. Our question is "if that was the cause of not being able to have the Anglican Hall where were the walkathons, bottle drives, etc., as suggested for financing another Drop-In?"

Any Drop-In has to have supervision. That is a must. Those who would be so unwise as to reject supervision should be rejected from any Drop-In. With that in mind we would like to suggest that the three young people get in touch with V. G. Cardozo, who has a similar project in mind under Mental Health for all ages. We must believe the organizing of this project could occupy and provide "involvement" for many young people. It will be a place to go any time of the day or evening.

Safe Driving New Year

You can give it any reason you like but, from all "reports", New Year 1970 was one of the...fast from accidents for some time. We've heard of only one accident in Digby and around.

either found friends to see them home or used taxis. Generally, it was felt that partying wasn't as brisk over the present New Year. Of course, we would not have advocated a cut-down on parties. Everybody is in need of fun and recreation but there are channels of recreation which can better be pursued without a glass or bottle, especially at the risk of forfeiting driving privileges. We think a number of people found these this New Year season.

One thing which contributed to safe driving was the lack of snow and ice in these parts. It must be a good many years since the roads were snowed for so long a period. In fact, the Digby Town Council street report on Monday night made mention of the fact that the snow plow was out only once this fall and winter to date.

And being on the subject of Safe Driving, there is a campaign on presently to fasten seat belts before you turn the key. Remember, while drinking drivers have had the highest score on accidents, they do not have the entire score. In case of an accident a seat belt gives protection. They give a far better chance of escaping death or serious injury. They are a protection even without an accident. They protect you when confronted with a sudden stop.

Another factor which contributed to Safe Driving...believed by those who are in the snow, was the breathalyzer test that was inaugurated in Nova Scotia this past fall. Few were going to run the risk of a fine or cancellation of license. Those who went to parties over New Year either refrained from the customary drinking or if they imbibed

From this point of view, if one subscribes to that system, your attack upon the Valley's editors who oppose Mr. Pink's system is completely justified. From my own point of view, the advent of another weekly newspaper in Western Nova Scotia represents a step towards the stability of our economic system without regard for the public interest or the real need of the consumer.

Letters To The Editor

"WORLD BE A GREAT LOSS" (Chronicle-Herald)

To The Editor: Sir - The lead editorial in your January 2 issue begs the question: "Is this a free press?" The reading public, while reading a few issues of any Canadian daily, easily arrives at its own answer to that question, and it seems hardly worth the asking.

However the reference to freedom of the press in commenting upon the announcement that a new newspaper is about to be launched, and attacking some local editors on this ground, is not only ill-fated but also unwarranted. This ground is not only ill-fated but also unwarranted.

Freedom of the press is a precious possession of this country. It is a right which is jealously guarded by all publishers but from the reader's point of view it is as rare as a few other precious valuables. This is an observation rather than a complaint.

I feel that an editor has the right to be as hard on a writer as he wishes to be. It is his prerogative. My only complaint in this respect is that most editors, rather than honestly admitting their bias, try to convince the public that they are totally free, totally altruistic, totally objective in their policy.

People respect a man who takes a stand even when they do not agree with it. They have a little regard for one who always claims to be, and the reading public is trained to be more perceptive than he. If a new daily or weekly were being promoted to fill an obvious gap, or to provide to the public an editorial point of view and news coverage they were sadly lacking, I would, for the first time, support a new paper.

Freedom of the press requires that an editor be free to present another view or to fill an obvious gap. What you are discussing in your editorial is not freedom of the press but the freedom of an unrestrained, laissez-faire, free-enterprise system. This is quite a different kettle of fish.

From this point of view, if one subscribes to that system, your attack upon the Valley's editors who oppose Mr. Pink's system is completely justified. From my own point of view, the advent of another weekly newspaper in Western Nova Scotia represents a step towards the stability of our economic system without regard for the public interest or the real need of the consumer.

We have been told time and time again that publishing a was a dirty word, and I feel paper is an appropriate and useful word. I believe this. I have done this area a great disservice by subscribing to that editor plans to do in this sort of underemancipated public service type of article for it out of his own pocket. As you are aware, I am in And even if the subscribers do not effectiveness of your paper, but if as your group has indicated, you "have for years given your readers good service", then you will have nothing to worry about. Perhaps at the outset you will have a few advertising dollars, but to support your paper, and start reporting certain facts of community life which have heretofore gone unreported, but in the long run you will survive - if you want to.

Far more important, however, is that this article will do a great deal to develop a willingness to invest in this future, and we should be thanking them, instead of trying to run them out of town.

Yours very truly,
Dave Irvine.

The Digby Courier,
Digby, N. S.

Dear Mrs. Wallis: I would like to make a contribution to you and the residents of this county via your newspaper.

As a member of the younger generation, I constantly hear the older generation of Digby County complaining that we of this county are constantly over looked by new cities. They may be to some extent correct, but I am not sure they are not completely. However, this is not the specific point that I am aiming at. I would like to see a new business coming to our county which will produce a newspaper called the "Digby-Annapolis Mirror". I hope that we will not let the superior prospects of a new business cover the deeper results that will follow.

Personally, I do not think that there is a large enough market at present to have two newspapers. If you were through the years you would supply with excellent service. It is up to you to sell it. I am sure that you will remain. I sincerely hope that you will come out champion. If you don't, Digby County will lose a business and you will gain a replacement. The newspaper would be printed outside our county. This means that our people will not be put out of work by outsiders. Our work may be forced to migrate to other areas. The money that you are presently spending in the county will cease to flow. This means less money to our businessmen and in this turn will lead to a vicious circle and so on. I am not against competition. Actually, I am wholeheartedly in favour of it but we must be sure that it does not become detrimental to our local economy and pride at the benefit of outsiders.

Having given my views, I hope that we people of Digby County can stand together and support the publisher in his advantage of us. If this once happens, others will follow. Thanking you for taking my views to the best of your ability, I remain yours truly,
Concerned

January 6, 1970
Mrs. J. J. Wallis, Editor
Digby Courier,
Digby, N. S.

Dear Mr. Wallis - Shocked, is a mild word to describe my feeling when I heard on CBC radio that Valley's newspaper publishers, including newspaper, were protesting competition from the "Sandy Cove Anglican Church". I am sure that you are aware, I am in And even if the subscribers do not now Mrs. Helen Wight, Winnipeg, formerly of Westport. Heard somebody down town the other day that they don't think the Courier has any worries. Can't imagine what they meant. Who ever heard of a newspaper not having worries?

How we hate to leave our cars in a parking lot and walk a few paces down town to our place of business. Couldn't help but wonder those people on Long Island and Brier Island would be of darkness or storm they have to abandon their cars and take to ferry and "Shanks mare" to finish much of their journey to home. They deserve a bridge plus a medal for putting up with inconveniences as long as they have.

Wondered why Jack Brayley didn't pick up the Bolstead horse on board the storm Marion Antonio in the December 18th issue of the Digby Courier. He used it on Sunday, so again we know Jack knows a good Neighborly News story when he sees it. Maybe that issue of the Courier got lost in the Christmas rush. Which reminds us that Emerson Cook, in Antigonish, tells us (in defence of his employer) the Courier arrives each Friday morning regardless of the day which you or the Casket may give. He adds "best regards to your wonderful staff". By the way, Emanuel Adelaar had just paid the Cooks a visit.

Notes from Bird Haven

Everyone is asking, where are our birds? My idea is they are in the open spaces where they are finding enough of their natural food - not to need hand-out from their friends. When the snow comes as come will, they will be back for their friends' feed them.

Our annual Christmas bird count was carried on December 28th, taking about 8 hours.

The parties observing were given different sections to cover with the following results: thirty-two species identified and a total of 673 birds.

Nothing very startling with the exception of the Bald-headed Eagle spotted in the lighthouse section. One year from us we walked through the reservoir woods, down to Jackson's Coasting, along the old railroad bed, through Holdsworth's pasture and back to town, and only saw one Crow, but while we were having tea in the sitting room there were nine different kinds having their tea on my window feeder.

There was a Mocking Bird feeding at a south-facing feeder for several days. I spent one morning trying to catch it but unfortunately that morning he never showed up. They can't possibly live through the winter and still Spring. But I am afraid this one has gone to Bird Haven or winged his way to a warmer climate, the latter I hope.

Birds can stand a lot of cold if they get plenty of food to keep their body heat up. Their temperatures are very much higher than a human and some birds are known to eat their weight in food in a day.

The house birds are all in fine condition. The beautiful male Oriole sings a little each day.

Two days ago growing longer steadily. My little White-throated Sparrow feeds now on the tray until five. Only a few weeks ago he was tucked away for the night soon after four.

Now is the time to bring in some forsythia branches to force. They will open in a few weeks. You will be lucky enough not to have an Oriole pick them as they did my Azalea.

Our latest visitor to the feeding station was a female Pheasant. She made a brief stop. How she is back for breakfast.

Watch out for the full moon January 22. It is called by the Indians the Wolf moon. The December moon is the Beaver moon. The November one is the Hunters, and the October we all know as the Harvest.

One of the most beautiful sights I ever saw was a flock of Wild Geese passing a full Harvest moon.

So long for this time. The Bird Lady.

P.S. - How about tying your Christmas tree outside and pouring some melted fat over the branches, then watch the birds.

ANNUAL REVIEW

By Hon. G. I. Smith
Premier

Province of Nova Scotia is important for all Nova Scotians at this time to reflect upon not only what has been achieved in the last year but the many advances the Province has made in the decade now ending.

In any assessment it is never wise to forget the problems because they must be faced and dealt with. We have had a number of problems including the very difficult one of the heavy water plant at Glace Bay. However, it is equally unwise to be so preoccupied with the problems to overlook the substantial progress which has been made.

Perhaps the most spectacular evidence of progress was marked at the Sydney Steel Corporation on December 28 when the one-million ton of steel was poured for the calendar year 1969. The Scotia Secure development is another sign of progress. In the field of transportation the development of new port facilities in Halifax marked significant advance as did the announced plans for expanded ferry service in South Western Nova Scotia.

An assessment of our overall economic development will reveal that what was achieved

Completes C.A. Course

John Britain, Scarborough, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Britain, Birch St., Digby, has completed his course and is now a Chartered Accountant. John received his Bachelor of Commerce degree from Acadia University. Mr. Britain is also an Acadia graduate.

In the 1960's have and will continue to bring benefits in the new decade we are now entering.

The Province's economic climate in recent years has been conducive to substantial industrial development. The annual rate of growth in capital investment, for example, has been among the highest in Canada in the last several years. This in turn has helped lower our mere high unemployment rate to a figure comparable with the national average and has attracted the attention of the Canadian and international business communities.

The development of a modern welfare, counselling and financial assistance programs to assist those most in need. The Province has also made substantial progress in providing an educational system that is geared to meet the present and future needs of both the individual and the province. This is most evident in the many new elementary and secondary schools, regional vocational schools and institutes of technology in the Province.

In our efforts to ensure that all Nova Scotians enjoy a standard of economic and physical well-being equal to that to be found in the larger and wealthier provinces of Canada, the sacrifices have had to be made on the part of many people.

However, the sacrifices and hard work of Nova Scotians

Car Accident At Westport

The old year of 1969 went out with a bang, which residents of the lower end of Brier Island, known as Irish Town, will well remember. About 11:30 p.m. December 21st, they were aroused from their chairs and some from their beds with a tremendous boom, and upon investigating found what remained of a fish shop belonging to George Clements.

The cause of the bang was that of a car that had failed to make a turn and was head-first in the shop. Traffic was held up for two hours until the vehicle was towed away with the front end completely demolished.

Hydro men from Freeport were called to shut off the power which had been connected to the shop, as blue flame was shooting into the air.

The fish shop is a total loss in more ways than one. It was used for building lobster pots and so on, and this is the time of year it is most used.

The occupants of the car were called to shut off the power which had been connected to the shop, as blue flame was shooting into the air.

In Clare Municipality Mrs. Albert Macdonald, of Church Point, will be in charge of the campaign.

Stanfield & Trudeau

Within the esteemed dignity
Of Canada's Tribunal
When these two figures meet
Their decorative learning
Is very hard to beat.

In ancient halls of Parliament,
Where to "Parler" is the forte
And childish jibes and hints
Embellish each retort.

Mr. Stanfield's efforts to recover
French periods he lost
In school by days in Truro
Now, his dignity has cost.

So "Mr. Caesar's" judgment
Cannot be overruled
When impudently riled he wonders
How this Tory Gent was schooled.

Canada is crowded with schools of every kind
Much better if these fellows
Had sheep and goats to mind
So coats of wool and leather
Down spiraling would wind.

Or let them dig potatoes,
And hoe the weedy patch
"Parler" to their neighbours

— Barbara I. Morash.

Phones From Thailand

It was some time before Christmas when we heard from Emerson Cook, in Antigonish and he mentioned a telephone call from his daughter, Sharon, in Bangkok, Thailand. The reception was like a local call, said Mr. Cook, although in September when he tried to phone the Teachers Training College in Ontario he begged down in Hong Kong while reaching Bangkok the next morning when he learned there were no telephone communications to her town (population 25,000) about 300 miles north of Bangkok.

Sharon was on leave from December 20 to December 11 to take a train ride 200 miles away to the city of Chiang Mai. She is able now to converse in the Thai language and the citizens are very kind to her when they discover she is a Canadian.

At the time of her call she was leaving for a train ride down the Malay Peninsula to Singapore. While there she hopes to find a dependable expert to purchase a good 3 of Greenville Perry, Margaret (Mrs. Lea) Scott, of Lequie, and Frances (Mrs. Charles Foster), of Colchester. She has 10 grandchildren and 15 grand-nephews.

She has remained an active participant in church and community affairs, and takes a keen interest in current events. She makes knitted articles, quilts and other hand-crafted items, which are given generously to assist her projects. Last winter Mrs. Mills knitted 20 pairs of mitts for the Red Cross Society.

It's A Small World

A young Springfield woman, finding time heavy on her hands, applied for work in a Vancouver Post Office during the Christmas season. As she commenced her duties the first parcel handed to her was addressed to Mrs. C. J. Allison, Springfield, N. S. "I'm from Springfield, too," said the young woman and needless to say, the couple had an enjoyable chat about Springfield. It's a small world! (The Springfield Record)

Bill Smiley

(Mrs. Felix Doucet)

Bill Smiley, a well-known actor, is in the city for a few days.

Smiley's forecast for the 1970s, as I predicted in 1960, is that the discipline of training is replaced by having a ball, doing "recreatives" and talking with you about anything to talk with, or about Canada will become a very junior partner of Uncle Sam.

That is, if it first doesn't become a genre of minor republic with a beat as much international prestige as Monaco.

Sounds like a pretty serious forecast, doesn't it. But it won't be that bad. There's big picture, and big pictures are often third-rate, as witness most of the big-screen movies you've seen lately.

In the little, subjective world where the individual lives, it isn't all black and white. It will continue to be born and bred and have their little soft bellies blown on and be impressed and funny and utterly naive.

And the fondly hoped-for March will gradually give way to the dull green grass of May, and the dead black twigs of winter will become the green and the red and the joy of June.

And the brutal winds and ice storms will be replaced by the lovely turn of the weather, the peaches will turn to gold, and the potatoes will come up and the fish will be fat.

And the fish will be fat and the potatoes will come up and the peaches will turn to gold, and the potatoes will come up and the fish will be fat.

CHRISTIAN CORNER

Question: How many persons in the God-head and how many in the Trinity? Are they equal in power?

Answer: The Father and the Holy Spirit which is the Spiritual Being of God, shed abroad from His own heart and has all His attributes, but Spirit only and not another person and is sometimes called He the Comforter or He the Spirit of Truth. The Bible does not teach that the Father and Son are equal as seen in 1 Cor. 1:3; God is the head of Christ, Christ is the head of man; man is the head of woman. Also 1 Cor. 15:28, the Son SUBMITS to the Father.

The figures are: Revenue in 1968 was $233,500. Operating costs, $401,700. Revenue in 1967 - $253,500, operating cost - $520,200. Revenue in 1968 - $233,500, operating cost - $467,700.

It is understood that the Valley and western Nova Scotia people have been assured by the Canadian Pacific Railway Transport Committee that no decision will be made without a public hearing. ## Dismissal Appeal On Dec. 1

Henry Rucker, until Dec. 1, 1969, a probationary teacher at Digby High School, has appealed his dismissal from his position by the Digby Regional High School Board. Provisions for a dismissed teacher to appeal a decision were contained in amendments to the education act enacted at last year's session of the Nova Scotia legislature.

The announcement was made Monday by Judge C. R. Rand, Q.C., of Yarmouth, who has been named chairman of the board of appeal. The other members of the board are Peter M. Nicholson, Q.C., Annapolis Royal; and Lloyd Caldwell, Q.C., of Halifax.

The hearing has been set for Monday, Jan. 13, in Digby when it is expected evidence under oath will be taken from numerous people. R. MacLeod Rogers, Q.C., of Digby, is appearing on behalf of the board and John Cochrane of Kentville will be counsel for Rucker.

Whether the hearing will be open to the public will be decided at the opening of the appeal. However, held public or not, Judge Rand said that a public statement would be made by the board some time after the hearing has been completed.

Deny Forum Condition Health Menace

An inspection of the Digby Forum was carried out by the members of the Digby Recreation Commission following the January meeting of the council, that the washrooms of the Forum were disgracefully unclean and a menace to health.

Following the inspection Dr. D. E. Lewis of the town's board of health, who accompanied the members of the commission on their visit, stated it was his opinion the toilet facilities were not in such a condition as to present any menace to health nor were these or the dressing rooms of the Forum in the state of uncleanness that remarks reportedly made at a town council would seem to indicate.

Dr. J. R. McCleave, chairman of the Recreation Commission which is responsible for the operation of the Digby Forum, said members of the commission who had made the inspection tour of the Forum premises had expressed the opinion the facilities were not deserving of the criticisms that had been leveled concerning their state of cleanliness.

He stated the recreational facilities of the Forum were being used extensively by hundreds of youngsters and adults on hockey and skating. Some 100 members of the minor hockey league ranging in age from five to sixteen benefit greatly from the recreational facilities of the Forum as do the many involved in the digby youth league tennis at the Hotel, Yarmouth, on Monday afternoon. His only objection was "There'll be one jacking at sporting events. To publicly voice criticism of the cleanliness of the washroom and dressing room facilities of the Forum in operation, he said. Forum which inspection has shown to be grossly unclean and is not helpful to those who have been giving voluntary service to the recreation committee in order to keep the Forum in operation, he said. Forum which inspection has shown to be grossly unclean and is not helpful to those who have every confidence, Dr. Lewis said.

ENCOURAGED ABOUT FERRY SERVICE

Eugene Outhouse, spokesman for a delegation which met with Premier G. I. Smith and Hon. I. W. Akerley, minister of Highways for Nova Scotia, said that they were encouraged by their meeting. The provincial government was a bridge, which it will consider the possibility of providing extended ferry service across Petite Passage, it is understood and the highway minister is planning to visit the area and meet with the operators of the ferry and other officials.

While the area needs a permanent crossing to link Long Island with the mainland, no substantial encouragement for this in the near future was made by the Premier or minister, Mr. Outhouse said. A consultants' study in 1965 suggested three schemes for the passage crossing. The first met with Premier G. I. Smith and Hon. I. W. Akerley, minister of Highways for Nova Scotia, said that they were encouraged by their meeting. The provincial government was a bridge, which it will consider the possibility of providing extended ferry service across Petite Passage, it is understood and the highway minister is planning to visit the area and meet with the operators of the ferry and other officials.

The delegation which met for two hours with the Premier and minister at Province House consisted of R. Edden Powell, M.L.A.; Edwin Elliott, president of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade; Grant Humes, the board's executive secretary; Leonard Sault, Eugene Outhouse, Wilfred Swift, Herbert Gosselous, Roland Campbell and Raymond Thurber from the Islands.

Year End Review

R. Edden Powell, M.L.A. A review of events in Digby Town and Municipality in 1969 revealed progress in our transportation facilities. Through the efforts of the Federal and Provincial governments and the Dominion Atlantic Railway, work is underway to provide landing facilities for (Please turn to page 6)

"Election Before 1972"

"Will there be an election in 1972?" was the inevitable question which faced Premier G. I. Smith when he held a meeting with the Hon. George Snow, Minister of Lands and Forests, Digby, on Monday afternoon. His only objection was "There'll be one jacking at sporting events. To publicly voice criticism of the cleanliness of the washroom and dressing room facilities of the Forum in operation, he said. Forum which inspection has shown to be grossly unclean and is not helpful to those who have every confidence, Dr. Lewis said.

About This and That

Opportunities Which Pass Us By

On another page in this issue is a picture and story on Miss Wanda Elms, Acaciaville, who is attending the Nova Scotia Teachers Training School in Truro because her home village branch of the Nova Scotia Women's League had sponsored her for a scholarship. While Wanda's standard of achievement and qualifications would be first considered in being chosen for the scholarship, this group of women in the small community of Acaciaville must be given credit for enabling such opportunities to be presented to such a young person. Through Wanda, and other persons whom they might assist, the influence of this band of women will go on and on through numerous lives which will come under Wanda's guidance in her teaching career and other contacts.

Those who were instigators in organizing a W.L. in Acaciaville and those on whose shoulders the burdens of office have fallen deserve our commendation. The Acaciaville group seem to be especially recognized because they are the only all-Ngro W.L. in all Canada. This shows an admirable positive approach to economic and social problems which had weighed heavily on many areas of society in the 60's and prior decades.

In discussing Wanda's scholarship with a member of the W.L., we were informed that applications from the area for scholarships are always welcomed by the Acaciaville W.L. She felt that too often opportunities are missed because of lack of communication leaving the young people ignorant of the opportunities which are available to them. In the case of the W.L. scholarship, our informant said that many people have the impression that you must belong to the W.L. in order to take advantage of sponsorship. Evidently this is not so and the only qualification other than standards is that the candidate be sponsored by a W.L.

A Place To Go

We would judge from a letter to The Editor this week that exception was taken to our last week's editorial entitled "Places to Go". The last thing we wanted to do, really, was to leave the impression that we were not in favor of a Drop-in or a place where young people can congregate. Students can use a place for study or to which they can retire for fun or recreation. If they are all for it and we want our young people to realize this.

We are not unmindful either of the fact that travel and books and associations all add up to education as well as formal school education. We would, however, add that other important ingredients, responsibility. If the town council felt like asking a few questions of the three who appeared before them for moral or financial support for a Drop-in Centre, we feel they had a right to do so and this in no way could have indicated their lack of interest or decline to assist. Indeed to our humble mind, it is owed a great deal of interest. We are sure the council's ear was a sympathetic one as was that of the press but we are old fashioned enough to feel there are some things in life and that each of us, young and older, must take some responsibility for an orderly society.

Two prerequisites of an orderly society in this generation are still education and gainful employment. Help in obtaining assistance in securing either of these, we feel, should be appreciated. While this is a free country and one might challenge anyone to interfere if we choose to sit all day on the beach or in the sun, we think the first above make for a more orderly society. Isn't that what we want for the security of our young people who otherwise fear an insecure world?

Trust In Each Other

One thing led to another while talking with Mrs. Eleanor Elms about the Womens Institute scholarship won by her daughter and the active community life Mrs. Elms, herself, had carried on often against the odds of family illness and its accompanying trials. One of the interests we struck in our conversation was the Black United Front for which Mrs. Elms has responsibilities in the Nova Scotia organization.

Mr. Elms' view is clear that BUF engagement is better designed for Black people trust in each other (Negro) as well as in others. It wants to help people help themselves, she said, but in all races of people there are those who consider such an organization as a "hand-out" so far as money is concerned. The BUF is not interested in disingenuous flattery to consider social and economic needs and their warrants, she remarked.

The BUF wants to promote and assist in programs for the betterment of the Negro people whether these people are in communities which are attached to the BUF organization or not. Their interests come in forms of employment, housing, promotion of businesses and enterprises, education, Afro-history and culture, recreation, conferences, rallies and other areas.

The BUF is convinced that all Negro people can acquire pride in themselves, dignity as human beings, a sense of worth and respect but to do this they must be as one family, BUF acts as an umbrella, Mrs. Elms said, in coordinating interests and other organizations.

We were interested in hearing the aims and ambitions of BUF spelled out to us although in general we had acquired some knowledge of the organization prior to Mrs. Elms' visit. The one note which struck us most forcibly was "Trust In Each Other". This is an aim which deserves development in whatever race of people and we liked Mrs. Elms' way of putting it, "Trust In Each Other as well as in others."

Hodge Podge

For a while the press outnumbered members at the Digby Board of Trade on Tuesday evening. Richard Levy, Vice-president, was in the chair and Miss Marie Thibodeau, secretary, also sat in her customary place. Cordova, Wallis and Rees represented the press. The treasurer, Victor Thompson, later came on the scene and H. M. Warne wended his way through the unaccommodated 60-70 snow. That was just in time to hear the solemn benediction "In quorum, dismissed". Read all about it in this week's issue of The Digby Courier!

Letters To The Editor

Mr. E. Wallis, Editor, The Digby Courier, 100 Main Street, Digby, Nova Scotia.

Dear Mr. Wallis:

May I have space in your paper to reply to the report about conditions at the Digby Forum. I was surprised that this was discussed at the Council meetings with the resultant publicity rather than being brought to the attention of the management committee of the Recreation Commission, particularly since two members of the Town Council are members of the Commission.

Several active members of the Commission met at the Forum the same night this report was discussed in the Herald. With Dr. Lewis we inspected the rooms in question and our conclusion was that there was no evidence that conditions were either disgraceful or a menace to health. I have no doubt that with one hundred to one hundred fifty there are on a forenoon playing hockey or skating. There are times when it would be money but toilets and dressing rooms are cleaned up before the next session.

This brings up all the important fact that, if any further improvement is to take place, it is a question of getting either more money or more volunteer labour. With our present finances we can only hire one or two to handle the whole Forum. It is impossible for him to be everywhere at once but he is doing a very good job. I read one where a statement to the effect that one should not criticize the minister unless he was prepared to preach a better sermon.

Keeping the Forum going from a financial point of view has been quite a feat. We have been able to do so through the volunteer labour of men like Mr. R. Bernstein, C. D. Snow, Herbert Daley and others who have given a lot of time and effort. We do not need to raise the price of admission because that would make it difficult for the children. We are relying on the charity of various service clubs and organizations to help. The Reindeer Club, a group of members of the Forum are having difficulty in getting two hundred members lined up this year.

In one way I am glad the Town Council is showing an interest because I feel that the Forum should be financed or subsidized by the Town and Municipality. The Town has contributed by paying for the building and plant. I made four appearances before the Municipal Council asking for assistance but they have not been turned down the request despite the fact that approximately sixty percent of the children using the Forum are from the Municipality.

Perhaps now that the building and plant are paid for, the Town and Municipality might get together to help with the finances and stop this begging and scheming to keep the Forum operating. If so, we should be able to improve the dressing rooms and hire more help to keep them clean. I made four appearances before the Municipal Council asking for assistance but they have not been turned down the request despite the fact that approximately sixty percent of the children using the Forum are from the Municipality.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

As a subscriber to the Courier I have very much enjoyed the "Poetry Corner" since its inception. I especially enjoyed the article about Mrs. Kaye in the January 1st edition, since her contributions have appeared many times in the past. I don't know if this particular article was what spurred me, but please find enclosed a poem about the Digby County Local. I do hope it is a suitable one for your paper.

The Editor, The Digby Courier, Digby, N.S.

Dear Mrs. Wallis,

I have just read in the Courier the three young people who went before the Town Council to request moral support in their quest for a meeting place where youngsters could get together and discuss topics that seem very important to today's youngsters. I personally would commend them for going to the Town Council to try to put forward their point of view. However, from your editorial on the subject and the way the meeting was reported, I imagine Stephen and his friends are very unlikely to get "moral" or any other kind of support. I feel that to preach at young people today about putting up their backs, going back to school or working for a living, shows absolute indifference for young people. The present generation of teenagers has a fearful future to look forward to — air and water pollution, over population and the very real threat of life on this planet becoming extinct. Youngsters are trying to find values that fit into this world. They reject many of the things we were brought up on and are in a sense rebelling. They are not only rebelling, they are also questioning their problems and the ones we faced. They are intentional, whereas we were very very limited in our outlook.

I hope that these young people will find groups to whom they can really talk and that together a plan can be developed. It is not a constant supervision of young adults is somewhat unrealistic because you just cannot find enough chaperones able and willing to donate their time. It is not time that we began to credit our parents with self respect and responsibility. We will make mistakes — did we not? The world is not as bad as we discuss their problems, the less likely they will be to make wrong decisions, because they will have the full facts and the choices will be up to them.

Sincerely,
N. M. Armstrong

profit from the experience of the past and remember that, there may be a temporary rush of readers to the new paper. This will be only temporary and the market potential as represented by weekly newspaper readers will, at least in part, still have been reached through the columns of the Digby Courier. This is the case at present with the Vanguard and the Courier and it will continue to be the case when the new paper replaces the Vanguard as a matter of fact, the situation that could develop might be one in which advertising carried in the Vanguard might move into the new area paper with the result that only a bookkeeping change occurs for the publishers of these papers.

I can readily understand your concern about the introduction of the new paper and its effect on the economic situation of the town. It is my thinking, however, that if the advertisers in the Courier, its correspondents and its readers look on the introduction of the new paper in proper perspective and in the light of what has happened with the introduction of what may be called "new brooms" in the past, you and your staff have enough chaperones able and willing to donate their time. It is not time that we began to credit our parents with self respect and responsibility. We will make mistakes — did we not? The world is not as bad as we discuss their problems, the less likely they will be to make wrong decisions, because they will have the full facts and the choices will be up to them.

The Digby Courier, To The Editor:

With the announcement last week of the start of a newspaper in the town to serve the Digby-Annapolis area, I foresee a struggle for existence for the Courier and further financial burdens placed on present papers. Available advertising space, a necessary source of operating revenue, are not abundant in this economically depressed area. The present papers are supported in the way they require so they may be of best service to their communities. I am sure that you and your staff will be able to meet the challenge of the new paper offer the area concerned are what you will term "pressing concerns."

It seems incredible that a publishing company in Yarmouth would even consider expanding to such an area. Of course they would go to any big expense to open an office in Digby. Yarmouth will look after all production and the long established patterns of behaviour and custom reassert themselves and the new business will be a struggle to survive. If you will cast your mind back over time in this area you will recall that this has happened many times through a doctor comes to town and immediately the word is out he is better than any in the area and is already on the way to curing long standing illnesses by the score; a new lawyer arrives and the word is out he has the only really effective solutions to problems; a new store opens and their prices are so much better, etc., etc. I have only recently read of the advertising dollar in the entire region. I am led to believe that the new paper in Yarmouth a few years ago when the two existing papers there could not financially fight the unfair competition and were forced to close. Now, many people in Yarmouth wish they had their old papers back. Digby is not so different. The Vanguard completely controlled the advertising dollar in Yarmouth, but with the new paper being introduced into the radio station their comfortable position has been threatened, so it appears they would do their best to broaden their horizon seeking financial comfort for a few more years.

Business advertisers and loyal subscribers to the present three papers are the ones who hold the future in their hands. If the new paper in Yarmouth they require and deserve, they could be the only region would be the loser. They would lose long-established newspaper firms, a traditionally local voice, to a firm from outside the region. At least twenty families would have their livelihood adversely affected.

If the new paper could possibly offer something that is not already available locally, I would be of a different opinion. But under present conditions, see nothing but headaches for all concerned and the general public. Digby and Annapolis counties have been the scene of a nearly 20-year radio station episode. The new radio station in Digby, which is going on the air, should fill a gap in that field that has existed in the region for years. I suggest that Digby-Annapolis citizens support their local papers and radio

Along the sides of a certain well known road, one which is reputed to be paved with good intentions, lie discarded little heaps of New Year's resolutions — mine — made over the last twenty years.

I begin nearly every year by buying a notebook, in which I set forth my resolutions, numbered and itemized. In a good year, the list can run to seventy-five or eighty items, similar to the following sample.

1. I shall take off the second week in March to make summer clothes, and the second week in September to make winter clothes.
2. I shall keep the grocery budget to $28.00 per week.
3. I shall get up at seven every morning and exercise for half an hour before breakfast.
4. I will buy a Christmas present every Saturday.

March and September passed, if I remember, the year I made those resolutions, without me so much as removing the pile of mismatched socks from the top of the sewing machine. My smallest weekly grocery expenditure was $29.50. I kept up the exercise regime for exactly three days, two in January, and one in October. And I bought my first Christmas present that year, on Thursday, December 14th.

This year, I thought it would be easier if I made only one resolution instead of a whole notebook full. So I did.

I resolved to be perfect.

I admit, now that the seventies are a couple of weeks old, that one resolution is no easier to keep than eighty.

Maybe I should take perfect lessons from the lady across the street.

I have never seen my across the street do a bit of work, except perhaps, one day out of 365, her garden on sunny summer afternoons, yet her work is always done. Even if you go into her kitchen before the food gets up from the table, there isn't a single dirty dish in the kitchen. Her floors always glow. She can leave town at eight in the morning three days a week if she wants to, without leaving a dirty sock or unmade bed in her house.

I have never seen this virtuous lady cook, but her house nearby floats on the constant aroma of fresh bread. She liberally distributes home made chocolates and divinity fudge throughout the neighborhood for any occasion. She remembers everybody's birthday, or anniversary, or any other private celebration with a cake, or quietly hand decorated with sugar birds and flowers which she has made herself. She even runs out with coffee and doughnuts for men who might be digging ditch, or climbing a telephone pole within a mile of her house.

Once when I compared my inadequacies with my neighbor's perfections to a sympathetic friend, my friend patted me gently on the shoulder, and said "I wouldn't worry about it. I went to her house once . . ."

"Yes!" I breathed, waiting for a description of my neighbor caught doing something less than perfect.

"When she was painting her kitchen ceiling . . ."

"Go on!" I gasped. I had a momentary vision of the paragon from across the street, wearing jeans and paint splattered plaid shirt, with, perhaps, streaks of paint dripping through her hair.

" . . . and there she was," continued my friend, dressed in a starched print dress and a frilly white apron. She was standing on a step ladder, reaching up. Not a trickle of paint dropped from the ceiling, and there wasn't even a dribble around the edge of the paint can! She must have been using a crayon for all the mess she made."

Perfect lessons. That's what I need. Perfect lessons from outside the region. At least twenty families would have their livelihood adversely affected.

If the new paper could possibly offer something that is not already available locally, I would be of a different opinion. But under present conditions, see nothing but headaches for all concerned and the general public. Digby and Annapolis counties have been the scene of a nearly 20-year radio station episode. ## NEWS

JACK ROSENTHAL

Although curling activities started over a month ago real activity commenced with the advent of the New Year. On New Year's eve a festive occasion with the get-together of members and guests was held at the club rooms which was richly and appropriately decorated for the occasion. Taped recordings provided music for the dance swingers. A finely prepared buffet luncheon, with many side delicacies, was an enjoyable treat to eyes and appetites — and everyone present enjoyed a good time.

Due to one or two "excusable" drop-outs and one or two "defectors" to a not too distant curling club the membership of the men's club is below last year's roll call. However a driving spirit in the ladies' club has greatly increased their membership and showing healthy activity.

With not too distant provincial plays on the horizon competition will be enhanced to provide the representative(s) for the Digby Club. The first provincial play (this is the men's senior for the Seagrass Stone Trophy which takes place the last week of January on the Truro ice lanes. Two teams are lined up to battle for the trophy to represent Digby.

On Saturday nights the curling club is humming and throbbing with a large turnout for mixed curling. Our Saturday night expert, Kelsley Raymond, is a busy body in lining up teams and schedules for the weekly plays.

Come up and see us sometime.

Tops Lose 28 1/2 Pounds

Since the organization of the group S.S. TOPS (Slimmer Skimmers) in April 1969, the twenty-three members of the Chapter have lost a total of 28 1/2 pounds.

Although TOPS offers no secret recipes or crash diets, the fact that each member has the same problem, seems to be the encouraging factor for weight loss.

During the past month many contests have been held to encourage weight loss. Some of these included the Queen of the Summer Contest-team contests when the group divides into teams.

A presentation was made of a cheque for $200 won by the Club in a province-wide beautification contest for the three Centennial Parks which is the main project of the Ritchelieu Club. This year-round recreational park operated by the Club is located near Meteghan and includes a community swimming pool operating during the summer season.

The members unanimously supported a resolution calling on the Provincial government to adopt the report of the Tribunal on Bilingual Higher Education in Nova Scotia and to implement its recommendations as soon as possible.

During the meeting, Councilor Alpha LeBlanc of the Municipality of Clare announced that plans are completed for a modern water and sewerage plant for the community of Meteghan which has been selected by the Tribunal as the site of the new Community.

A large delegation will travel to Halifax on January 17th for the inauguration of the province's second Ritchelieu Club organized at Church Point.

Richelieu Club Installs Officers

The annual installation of officers of the Ritchelieu Club was held in Church Point on Monday, January 13th with the majority of the members and their wives attending.

This annual banquet was presided by the outgoing president, Mr. Steve LeBlanc of L. Saultierville, Mr. Gerard R. Fitzgerald, K. Dowler (C. Binna); D. Bellevue (M. Saultier); K. Dowler (C. Binna); R. LeFort (B. Tharber). K. of C. goals were notched by P. VanTassel; P. VanTassel; P. VanTassel (D. Boutin); J. Simms (D. Doucette (T. Mudge); D. Doucette (T. Mudge).

Following the meeting, Mr. Robert LeBlanc of Church Point was installed president for 1970. The other officers of the Club installed at the same time are: Vice President, Kenneth Weaver; Secretary, Marie Riccetta; Treasurer, Pierre Bellevue; Master of Ceremonies, Gerard d'Entremont.

On Tuesday evening the K. of C. and the Conway team battled to a 3-5 tie. The second game saw Digby and Weymouth also battle to a draw with Hedley Stark scoring on a penalty shot for the Generals.

The club will be attending a social at CEB in Lunenburg on Friday evening of this week. President of the Digby night with Digby vs. K. of C. Club is Helen Daley, secretary, Virginia Green and Combines in the 9:00 p.m. contest.

ship to upgrade the Digby-Saint John ferry service.

Dominion Atlantic Rail has a ship under construction. The Federal government is constructing the landing facilities for the ship. The Provincial government is building a pier to approach to the new docking facilities.

Completed in 1969 were fifteen miles of all-weather highway between the underpass in Marshfield town to Weymouth North. A section of the Langston Road has been upgraded and a portion of the Sissiboo Road through Weymouth Mills is being prepared for paving to be completed early in 1970.

The Pines Hotel has had a successful season. It is meeting the purpose for which the province intended. It offers reasonable employment to approximately 170 persons and introduces tourists to the natural attractions of our area, which advertises our section of the province over a wide part of North America.

The National Park, embracing sections of the Western Countries of Nova Scotia, was officially opened during the summer of 1969. The park is a joint effort of the Federal and the Provincial governments. The land costing approximately $1,000,000 was purchased by the province and given to the Federal authorities to develop and operate.

Looking into 1970 we are expecting the completion of the docking facilities and operations of the new Bay of Fundy ferry service, and commencement of work on the Bear River crossing.

A great handicap to economic advancement in our area has been our transportation problems. The year 1969 has shown considerable advancement in this area but we have other considerations to consider.

Nature isolates about 1,000 people from enjoying province. It offers reasonable employment to approximately 170 persons and introduces tourists to the natural attractions of our area, which advertises our section of the province over a wide part of North America.

The Annual meeting of the Digby Red Cross Society was held Monday evening in the Court House with President Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson in the chair. Officers for the past year were re-elected as follows:

President: Dr. T. W. Hodgson
1st Vice: Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch
2nd Vice: Mrs. G. W. Connell
Secy.: Mrs. A. J. Dillon
Treas.: Mrs. G. V. Turnbull
Assist. Treas.: Miss Dorothy Hinckam

Delegates to Annual Meeting: Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch, Mrs. A. J. Dillon, A. Dillon, Purchasing: Mrs. G. E. Walker, Work: Mrs. H. M. Warner, Mrs. F. J. Thibault, Finance: Fritz Dakin, F. L. Anderson, T. Hayden

The Minister of Transport's reply was that the Dominion Atlantic Railway operates a daily passenger train in each direction between Halifax and Yarmouth with an additional train in each direction on weekends in respect of which the Canadian Transport Commission has received an application which will be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of the National Transportation Act and the Railway Act governing the discontinuance of passenger-train service.

Canteen, Arthur Handpker; fire fighting, William Reid; sports, Misso MacFennell.

Again the Digby Fire Department won second place in the fire prevention contest in Nova Scotia conducted on a population basis.

There were 48 fire calls in 1969, these were 32 in town and 16 out of town. In 1968 there were 19 in town and 10 out of town.

The Digby Firemen made plans to welcome the Stoneham, Mass. Minor Hockey team by a parade on Sunday, February 15th. They will be in dress uniform for events while the players are in Digby and crossing of the Sissiboo River.

Unfortunately the Horticultural Farm, which provides large employment possibilities in the area, is under a period of uncertainty. It may be, all is not lost in this project if, through area cooperation, the possibility of creating a section of this land into an industrial park.

Industrial firms looking for locations in the province will see in the 1970's, as they travel through the area, a good school system, a modern hospital, excellent transportation facilities and a labour pool.

In their review the industrialists will also be looking for citizens who have faith in their area's possibilities and a location to establish their plants.

It could well be that the 1970's will be the turning point for the common life of Digby Town and Municipality. We, the citizens, could have an influence on the course taken. We cannot afford to lose any of the small industries we have and we must find when to fill the gap of employment which will surely come, when the Federal and provincial governments complete their construction projects.

Instructors in the courses are: Roy George Morris, Basil Belliveau and Norman Wright. Rev. Mr. Morris, rector of Trinity Anglican Church will be organization to coordinate the services available to the people of the area. He said he felt it desirable to have some type of community service center which could provide a "one door" source of help to persons in need, no matter the cause of their need.

In his remarks, Dr. Armstrong said he also viewed such a centre as a place where people who were lonely could socialize, where the elderly could gather, where young people who faced difficulties in studying at home could do their studying. He said he also saw such a community services centre as a centre where the people could gather. Such a youth centre, he said, was a real need and was being sought by the young people of the area.

Father D'Entremont, who had done some work in an effort to coordinate all youth groups in Yarmouth prior to the Digby youth centre, it would be a difficult task to attempt to coordinate the activities and services of all the organizations and agencies in the Digby area. He suggested a type of step by step approach to the problem of the Digby branch of the CMHA explained to the meeting there was no desire on the part of the mental health centre or the association to take over the work or responsibility of any other group. In response to a question about the financing of the proposed community services centre and the programs discussed at the meeting, he said the mental health association would not doubt be involved in this training with his wife and family.

Instructors in the courses are: Roy George Morris, Basil Belliveau and Norman Wright. Rev. Mr. Morris, rector of Trinity Anglican Church will be

He said he felt that other organizations would also play a part through involvement in the programming. Dr. Armstrong noted that civic and municipal grants received by the board of the mental health centre had been earmarked for a preventive program and would be used in the financing of the proposed services council and center.

Dwight Frankland suggested that school facilities might become involved in the proposed program and that auditoriums and other space in the Regional High School might be made available to meet some of the needs for a centre for so-called "leisure" activities. It was suggested by Mrs. Thomas Gaudet that contact be made with Greg Donovan, the youth director for the province, in planning for youth programs. Mrs. Frankland noted that contact with parents could result in increased involvement by young people in programs and that an experience in this in which she had been involved.

It was decided by the meeting the committee, appointed at the initial discussion session dealing with the proposed community services project, should continue its work by collecting detailed information concerning services provided by or through the various organizations and also agencies in the area. This information, it was stated, would be necessary for the proper planning of any program. The meeting agreed that the planning committee should present its suggestions and proposals to a general meeting of the representatives of the various organizations for further discussion and action. It was also decided efforts would be continued to contact the organizations and agencies on a direct basis to inform them of the general objectives of the proposed services project in order to minimize any misunderstandings that might exist.

Questioned by the Courier on the prospects of a bridge for Police Passes, Premier Smith made no commitment as to the possibility of a bridge in the near future but admitted the delegation which met with himself and Hon. I. W. Akreyer on the matter the week previous had put up a good case. Forty thousand vehicles had been transported across the Passages in 1969, this being substantial increase over 1968. Fish landings in Digby County is ten per cent of all landed in the province; he remarked and six per cent of that is from the village of Centreville down the Neck and Islands. A bridge, he remarked, would cost three million dollars and highway money has to be placed where it will do the most good.

At present the slow service is limited to daylight and passenger service to midnight. Asked whether the delegation had pointed out the tonnage potential for the area, Premier Smith said that a number of Premier Smith appeared most sympathetic with the matter and said that Mr. Akreyer would visit the area and plan for extended ferry service. A decision on where the road from the Racquette to Highway number 1 will be located will have to be made this winter, the Premier said, who questioned by Mrs. Edith Wallis, editor of The Digby Courier. The highways department had felt it was in the best interest of traffic to have the road leading from the new Digby-Saint John ferry terminals to the highway outside the town area. This, he said, was disputed by the town people but a decision would be reached this winter.

There are continuous plans for renovations to the Pines as money is available, Mr. Smith remarked to a question. The matter of priorities continued to be raised in answer to questions regarding bridges to be built in the Digby County area. Bridges cost as much as many miles of road, the minister remarked. The full report from the tribunal investigating the future of College St. Anne should be received in a reasonable time, Mr. Smith said. Their recommendation so far has been to locate College St. Anne at the intersection of the buildings at Church Point for adult education type of training. There are only 12 miles between Church Point and Meteghan where there is a large high school and somewhat more concentrated population.

Clare People Await Further College Plans

The Meteghan Lions Club appointed Louis Robicheau as chairman of a committee to make up of prominent citizens of the area which will call on the Premier of the province, Hon. G. S. Smith to discuss the implementation of the recent Tribunal's recommendation to have a Community College built at Meteghan.

J. P. Vallee, a member of the Lions Club, brought to the attention of the club of the necessity of the government declaring what role the present St. Ann's College will play in the coming college term starting in September. It is a very vital question to the professors on the present staff of the college because they would want to know in a very short time if their services would be required. Renewal of contract time is fast approaching and it is necessary that a decision be made very soon.

A general meeting will be held at the Meteghan parish hall, which is in the basement of the church, for all those interested in the project of having a community college in Meteghan. The purpose of the meeting will be to select approximately ten persons to form a delegation.

It is not known what steps the provincial government will take towards the implementation of the Tribunal's decision. It is not also known what role St. Ann's College will play for the next term starting next September and it is vitally important that the government make known its decision very soon.

In an editorial of a Yarmouth weekly, it was stated that the people of Yarmouth were not asked by the Tribunal what their feelings were regarding a bilingual college in the area. This may be true, but it is also true that not one single Yarmouth student attended St. Ann's College since 1963. This fact alone shows that Yarmouth population did not have much interest in a bilingual college. Yarmouth is but 40 miles from Church Point.

St. Ann's has been bilingual for the last few years in the French sense of the word and English speaking persons followed the courses in their language. The fight to retain St. Ann's College in its present state proved futile as the community college will have to be the first two years of college courses. It has been learned. It is not also known what will take towards moving the college from Church Point to Meteghan, a distance of 12 miles. The buildings presently owned by St. Ann's Sodalite order of priesthood will be used for vocational purposes or some such nature, the Tribunal recommended. The government has not given its decision regarding this matter to date and the people of Church Point and area are quite concerned about what will take place in this village once the community college, if it is moved to Meteghan, opens its doors in another area of the Municipality.

Until the provincial government states what they will do with the buildings presently on St. Ann's campus once the community college comes into existence, the local people will have some fear that they will have nothing at Church Point.

It is only in recent years, that it would have been possible for Church Point and surrounding areas to show more progress due to having a college in its midst and when such a time came the question of moving the college elsewhere arose. If no question had arisen regarding the possibility of the college closing its doors at its present site, quite a change could have been made in the village of Church Point. Apartment buildings or other homes could have been made into apartments and recreation centres could have been established.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE SCHOOL BOARDS OF THE DIGBY REGIONAL, MUNICIPAL, AND URBAN SCHOOL SYSTEM

We sense very strongly that there is a deep feeling of dissatisfaction with the way in which the administration of our school system is being handled. This is shown by the fact that many people have been attempting to obtain answers to various questions through news media, by contacting school board officials, or by contacting individuals.

In view of the fact that education is very much a public matter and is a large financial investment in our children's future, we feel that every parent or interested ratepayer should be made aware of the problems relating to the management of education in this area. Many people are unaware of their right to acquaint themselves with details of school management. In the Education Act and Related Act (available from the Department of Education) it is stated in Section 6B that "the books, records and accounts of a school board, of a committee of a school board and of the Secretary of a School Board or committee of a Board shall be open without fee at all reasonable times to the inspection of any ratepayer, officer, councillor or chairman of a city, town, municipality, or area served by the school or schools administered or managed by the Board."

It will be noted that it is stated that records may be viewed at "all reasonable times", which locally is interpreted as 9-5 office hours, which prevents the majority of ratepayers from taking advantage of the opportunity. This could be rectified by having the School Board minutes published in the local press, as is done in other areas, and publishing the minutes should ensure that the truth be known and rumours' hopefully would be a thing of the past. Is there any reason why the School Boards do not practice with the minutes of their meetings, published? If this practice had been carried out in the past, it would not now be necessary for us to send this open letter and to request the following information which people wish to know.

1. Do the School Boards draw up the school budget?
2. Do the School Boards have a complete breakdown of the budget and is the breakdown included with the other School Board records which are available to the public?
3. Are the School Boards in complete control of administering the budget and do all accounts go directly to the Secretary of the appropriate School Board?
4. Do the School Boards call for tenders for oil, new buses, etc., and are the School Boards responsible for awarding contracts?
5. Do the School Boards examine and have copies of the qualifications of teachers before approving the selection of teachers for their appropriate positions? If so, why are unqualified teachers employed when qualified teachers are known to be available?

We know that many people want answers to these questions and have openly expressed this. We are now prepared to offer every parent or interested ratepayer the opportunity to give his support by signing a petition endorsing this open letter, which is an expression of dissatisfaction and a sincere appeal to the School Boards to rectify the school situation by permitting direct communication between parents and the School Board members who are their representatives.

Twilight Thoughts

What can I leave to you
My child, when I am gone.
Of riches, I have none. — And still,
I want to leave to you something
Of value. — Perhaps a dream,
A thought, a great amount of love
To carry in your heart.
So, that the light may shine
Like a burning torch,
Bringing little sparks

Christmas At Islands School

The Islands Consolidated School was a very busy place a few days before Christmas. On the night of Dec. 18th a successful Christmas Concert was held with many of the Elementary students taking part as well as some of the High School students. Grades 5 and 6 presented a play "Too Much For Grandma", the Primary grades entertained with songs, recitations, dances, rhythm band etc. while the older students played guitars and sang songs etc. A large number of parents and friends were on hand to see the concert and every one declared it a success (Congratulations to the student teachers, teachers, musical director and all who helped to make it so.)

The morning of the 19th, Santa Claus played a visit to all the elementary classes and presented the children with their gifts from under the Christmas trees each classroom displayed. It was a happy time for all, especially the smaller children. Santa was greeted with yells of happiness when he entered the classrooms.

Following Santa's visit ice cream was served to both the Elementary students and the High School students. While the younger children were being visited by Santa, the High School students were enjoying movie comedies in the auditorium.

The evening of the 19th, the Christmas Concert was held in the Church with music supplied by "The Mind Troops". The concert was a festive occasion with the main item being a large Christmas Tree in the center of the floor. The young

We had a ball, I think

Have you had a party lately? If you haven't, don't. It will murder you, physically and financially.

We hadn't had a big bash for several years, and decided it was time. We went carefully over our list of friends, neighbours and people-we-know, and came up with 68 names. We set it roughly to 20. And we wound up with 31.

The main point, when you're giving a party, is to be prepared. Leave nothing to the last minute. Check the little things.

Have you enough wood for your fireplace? I discovered I had two chests, but with old fruit baskets, cardboard boxes, and the bottom slip of the cellar stairs, managed quite nicely.

Be sure your wiring works. The switch for our bathroom lights hadn't worked for four days, and I couldn't get an electrician because they were all in Florida or somewhere. But we installed candles, and some of the ladies who used the facilities came down glowing. They hadn't looked so glamorous in years.

Have a last-minute look at your sidekicks. They might seem all right to you, but not when you're mounting. I checked mine about half an hour before the party. Back he went like a man.

Have a last-minute look at your food. I had a four-foot bank of snow and snow between the tree and our sidekick, a gift from a heart attack.

I went at it like a man looking for a heart attack. I must have had one, but I don't know. I was so damn party wobbly I can't even remember what I did.

I sweat going up in smoke, and the old ticker running, feeling as though I'd hit the Boston Marathon, just the first guests arrived.

But those are merely the bits and pieces of planning and throwing a party. It took four or five days of domestic labor, plus so much money tears as big as tea bags come to my mind. I think that's all.

A week later, the house still reeks of garlic, and we're nibbling with total indifference at leftover casseroles of some exotic dish called something like Marmosets.

The guests, their palates dulled by a Mafia combination of garlic and onion, seemed to like it. Perhaps you'd like the recipe. If you're doing with total indifference at leftover casseroles of some exotic dish called something like Marmosets.

About This and That

Pollution

We read somewhere that we have, from ten to one hundred years left on this earth at the present rate of environmental degradation. It is no wonder then that Louis R. Comeau, M.P., made such a long speech on pollution of all kinds in the Commons last week. Part of his text is found in this week's edition of the Digby Courier. While we think ten years is a terrific exaggeration, we also think every person should feel responsible for ensuring that pollution is corrected wherever possible.

One thing which hinders correction of pollution is the high cost. For correcting pollution, as we know it, is more than picking a few pieces of rubbish from the ground.

A contributor to pollution, as we've all read, is industry. Industry is required to take on pollution riddance responsibilities but again so much money is involved that some industries cannot afford this. Yet, industry is necessary to our economy. There is contamination from sewage systems serving homes.

There is contamination from the cars we drive. There's the danger of pollution from insecticides and detergents.

Fortunately where we live there is still an abundant supply of fresh air and in general clean water, but it must be noted that the rivers and Basins have had their share of pollution which has caused some areas to be closed from clam digging. Fish plants, too, have had to go to sea for water to use in their fish operations.

We noted a speaker on pollution a short time ago said that some marine organisms are major oxygen producers and if this source of oxygen production is curtailed there will be a shortage of oxygen on the earth and growth will decline. Often insecticides which are used in forests or on lands get into the streams and kill plant life and fish. Disposal of their use is going on in this province is a hopeful sign that, at least, a good start is being made in the right direction.

Safe Winter Driving

"The ability to think ahead is one of winter driving's best safeguards," according to Larry Delbridge of the Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council.

The safety official cited safe following distances as one way of "playing it safe."

"It can take from three to nine times as far to stop on snow or ice as on dry pavement," he warned. "That means stretching out following distances to a good long safety cushion every time conditions are less than ideal."

Secretary-Manager Delbridge referred to other recommendations that require driving with your thoughts ahead of your car:

Watch for bridges and underpasses ahead. Ice freezes first and lasts longer on bridges and in shady spots.

If you should hit an unexpected ice patch, don't try to brake, accelerate or steer sharply. Maintain speed and let your car "roll" through the slippery areas. Anticipate hills ahead. You need to get up enough momentum to get you to the top of slippery roads. But ease off at the crest! There may be stalled cars on the downgrade side.

Let others see you and your car. Even though you can see, drive with low-beam headlights on in snow, fog or winter muck. Even in mid-day your lights are your best "early warning" device.

Plan every manoeuvre well ahead. Avoid sudden manoeuvres in steering or changes in direction. On turns and lane changes, don't oversteer on slick surfaces or you're due for a spin-out.

If a skid should start, steer in the direction your rear end is sliding. Avoid oversteering. When the rear end starts to recover, return your front wheels to the straight ahead position. Be ready for a counter-skid in the opposite direction.

Plan your trips in advance - give yourself plenty of time. Don't count on getting anywhere in a hurry when roads are slick or the weather's bad. Posted speed limit signs are for perfect, dry conditions. Half the posted limit on ice may be suicidal.

These tips are from six basic steps to safer winter driving developed by the Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council. In addition to increasing following distances and thinking ahead, the other rules include:

- Get the "feel" of the road when starting out - and as conditions change.
- "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop.
- Drive on good tires with good treads - snow-tires or studded tires for more power for winter starting and stopping.
- Use reinforced tire chains for severe snow and ice.
- Keep your windshield and all windows and lights clear.
- Replace "dead", streaking wiper blades with live refills or new blades.

Hodge Podge

— So nice to have Digby's historical spots go down on paper for posterity. Mrs. H. M. Warne used as her Christmas Card subject this year, the Digby Community Library, now, since its opening on Thursday, the Digby Branch Western Nova Scotia Regional Library.

Had a card from Miss Ena Robinson from Thailand. Too bad the couldn't have visited Miss Sharon Cook while she was here.

— My, oh, my. The things one wouldn't know if you didn't read the Springhill Record. The editor of the Digby Courier is one of the finest women in the province. Right or wrong, don't blame us, we didn't read it in the Courier.

— The Digby County court room temperature on Monday morning was icy but those nice compliments from Judge C. R. Rand, Q.C., on the fine appearance of the newly decorated Court Room warmed everybody to the peak of much appreciation. We like to hear nice things about us in Digby.

— A letter from Kenneth Larkum, Connecticut, says his Courier arrived only four days from the date of printing. He thinks that is fine service for 550 miles. And so we chalk up one more point for Kirans. He adds "first and foremost we feel that the Digby Courier serves the community well."

— Mr. Larkum, in his letter, speaks of an original on the "Younger Generation". He has a deep admiration for them and wants us to know that the same problem exists in Connecticut. He writes "If the younger group meet at the Ice Cream Parlor called Friendly Ice Cream Co. they are chased away, and if they meet on the street corner they are up to no good - which is ridiculous. We are thinking seriously of opening a few of the schools evenings, allowing them to

Letter to the Editor

January 18th, 1970.
The Digby Courier.

To carry on a business for the sole purpose of private profit does not lie within the realm of moral rights in our day. One has a right to be rewarded for service that he renders to his fellowmen by carrying on the business. He may set his price at what he deems best, but he is not morally justified in demanding rewards and profit on his investment simply because he has established a business where there is no specific need for it. Thus in a community where a need is adequately met by an existing business it would be morally wrong to establish another because there seems to be a chance to "make money."

Moral judgement, in essence is not simply a popular conception of what is right or not, nor wrong. "Ethics is that consideration of life together which involves the criteria and organization of human conduct in terms of such concepts as "good," "right," "wellfare." Moral conduct is a self with condemnation or justification of our own reasoned conclusions." (Quoted from Prof. Martin H. Bickham, Chicago University.)

This principle, it seems to me applies in the proposition to establish another newspaper to cover the territory covered by the Digby Courier. But in these days of cutthroat competition (for which there is no moral excuse or justification) "man's inhumanity to man" is plainly evident in his in-moral judgement.

To The Digby Courier I wish every success. It's one time editor, the late "J. J." was an honored friend of mine.

Dear Jane:

Please enroll me in your Perfect Lessons as soon as the winter semester opens. I anxiously await the announcement of course dates.

It was one of those days when I arrived home from shopping just before the children got home for lunch. My brief efforts while the youngsters watched the noon children show on T. V. were stir up a pancake batter and a batch of those marshmallow and rice cereal squares. Inevitably I hurriedly brushed off my feet and hurried to the street neighbour.

My kitchen survey revealed such items as a hot noodle the towel reached, lying on the counter along with three rubber gloves. This was adjacent to the sink where one milk bottle, two tea pots, two bowls and an egg beater, and an empty peanut butter jar were enjoying a hasty assembly. Baking powder, vanilla shortening, spoons, measuring cup and butter cluttered the other cupboard area. And don't forget the two pie shells and frozen spaghetti just up from the freezer. hopeful of making the desert course for tonight's meal. The stove was barely visible below the two frying pans, electric kettle, teapot, pancake turner, knife and a dishcloth.

Notes from Bird Haven

STORY OF MY BARN SWALLOWS

One, Two, Three, Four Barn Swallows, that is what I saw when I looked in a box marked, "Handle With Care, Do Not Freeze", brought to me one evening by a gentleman and several children.

I took one look and said, "I can't save them, they need flies and insects for food. I will dig worms for hungry robins but have to draw the line catching flies for swallows."

However I took them on and tried them on my good old formula of hard boiled egg and soft boiled bird food that comes from Denmark.

The mud nest they were in had fallen from the eaves of a barn at Mount Pleasant and rather than have them eaten by a cat the kind chap brought them to the Bird Hospital.

They were just the right age to be fed from tweezers, the slightest motion and they all opened their mouths, no forced feeding was necessary. When they are a little older they are frightened and refuse to open their mouths.

Everything went along nicely except for one thing - they required food about every half hour. This proved a little problem if I wanted to be away for any length of time. This was soon solved. Why not take them with me?

So one day they went to Yarmouth, complete with dog and birds in the back of the station wagon.

But that length of a drive took a bit over an hour, so they must be fed. We stopped several times by the roadside and fed them.

I am sure they are the only Swallows that were ever invited to a tea party. That happened several times.

I have lovely pictures of them sitting on my hand being fed.

The time came for them to be on their own in the big blue sky so one evening I set them free to join the other Swallows.

You know Swallows start south towards the last of August. It is a long fly to South America.

Swallows of all kinds should be encouraged around your property. This can be done by putting out bird houses early in April. Now is a good time to build a few during the best weather and you will have fewer mosquito bites next summer.

This would be a good project for the Boy Scouts to raise money for their group by building a few houses according to specifications.

All for now.

A THOUGHT STARTER

BY RONALD C. MACCORMACK

From the lips of an over-the-hill Christian worker comes this Christian worker's over-the-hill observation. His own young son stepped into this Christian's study, holding a globe-shaped pencil sharpener. As he turned the pencil in the little sphere, the little boy looked up to his dad and remarked, "It's a small world isn't it? Just then the sharpener fell to the floor and rolled under a radiator out of sight. Looking up again the boy said, "It's a lost world."

Both observations from the lad are so true. An astronaut can circle the little planet in 90 minutes. A few observations from the lad are so true. An astronaut can circle the little planet in 90 minutes. A few observations from the lad are so true. An astronaut can circle the little planet in 90 minutes. model diplomat. When I complain to her of my obvious shortcomings as a housekeeper, she kindly likens me to an aunt of hers who she remembers living in a house of perpetual disorder. But Auntie endeared herself forever to the children by her willingness to stop mid-course to play, read or make some trinket of their whim. She convinces me, at least temporarily, that this is the finer vocation anyway.

Perhaps with this alleged view along with the Perfect Lessons, we can get achieve Super Perfect status.

Coffee at James

The man of the house was sick last Saturday night, so I took the children to the annual Christmas tree burning myself. Naturally, the oldest one invited his friend David, who has been here to, supper, to come along with us. David did not have his skates, so we drove down to his house to get them. David's mother decided to come along with us.

"I didn't know he'd be going there when he was to your house for supper", said David's mother.

There happened to be a parking place right in front of the hospital. We turned into it, considering ourselves lucky, and walked from there to the park, through the crisp and biting night. The pile of discarded Christmas trees was already burning by the time we got there. The fire roared upward, spewing forth a shower of glowing sparks, which seemed almost to mingle with the sparkling stars in the cold sky.

"We could have parked over here", said David's mother, "and saved ourselves that cold walk."

The noise of the snowmobiles, roaring in disorderly circles through the park, became a brittle thing shattering in the cold black night into a thousand pieces of noise. Each time one of the machines came close to the fire, the children gazed excitedly, waiting to be offered a drive. My daughter boasts "eight or ten" rides. I believe her. She was on every time I looked, anyway. The three year old got two rides. He said he did not want to go into the woods because there might be bears there.

"I hope they don't go up any hills", said David's mother. "Those things might tip."

When the fire was dying, and we could not move far from the glowing embers without getting thoroughly chilled, we walked over to the skating rink. David's mother and I did not have skates, so we waited while the children put theirs on, and went out for a few turns. Two boys, racing for the rink shack, crashed into each other, and sprawled, grinning, on the iron surface of the ice.

"They never take any care", said David's mother. "They could break their legs."

When we were too cold to wait any longer, called the children in. While they unlaced their skates, I bought hot dogs and pop for all of us.

"You shouldn't drink pop on a cold night like this", said David's mother.

We walked back to the car. Across the road, an empty driveway sloped into the yard of a brick house. I figured that if I backed directly into that driveway, I could drive out frontwards, and save myself turning in the narrow street. I did. The reason the driveway was empty was that it was coated with clear ice. The car would move neither forward nor back. David and my oldest ran over to the rink shack to get some men to help us.

"I suppose", said David's mother, to whom I had once lent a sheaf of Coffee columns, "that you will write this up."

"No", I said. This isn't funny.

The three men who came back with the boys pushed mightily. The car heaved forward, over the slope, and on to the road. We returned our thanks, and turned on to the main street.

"You're heading right for that car's lighter" yelled David's mother, as another car crossed the bridge toward us. I was doing no such thing, and I told her so.

"I suppose", said David's mother, "that you'll write that in your column."

"Perhaps I will", I said.

 On the past seventeen years. In his evidence he told of visiting Mr. Rucker's classroom on September 30, 1969, and October 28, 1969.

In response to a question by Mr. Rogers, Mr. Edwards summed up the situation in his evidence that on the basis of his experience and knowledge, he had found the teaching on the part of Mr. Rucker to be unsatisfactory. On his first visit to Mr. Rucker's room on request of the Digby Regional High School Board, Mr. Edwards, according to his evidence, had found a student negative attitude. The students seemed unhappy and showed it to be an ordeal to go to the classroom. There were giggles and laughs from students which continued through out the entire session in which he visited. Mr. Edwards said his second and third visits also revealed certain justification for concern on the part of the school board. He felt that unless there is effective communication between student and teacher, they cannot teach and he had found no communication between Mr. Rucker and his students. He felt this required immediate action and reported to a meeting of the Chairman of the School Board, Dr. D. E. Lewis, supervisor of the schools, C. C. MacInnes, and principal, John Ritcey. The decision at the meeting was that Mr. Rucker could be helped. Mr. Edwards gave evidence that he emphasized Mr. Rucker's good points to the Board and for this reason, he felt the board did not require immediate action. There were, he said, periods of good teaching and his background good, but teaching was unorganized and program unplanned and unorganized.

Mr. Edwards' evidence on his second visit to Mr. Rucker's room revealed a better teaching situation in the first period of this visit. Presentation had improved, discipline excellent, there was evidence of planning and a higher degree of student involvement. There was, however, he witnessed, no questioning on the part of teacher assignments on what was read and the presentation was of the university type where the professor does the talking. The second period of the October 28 visit was a history class and keenly disapproving, according to Mr. Edwards' evidence, with the great weakness being lack of communication between teacher and student. His third visit he classified as a complete waste of time for students. He agreed with the decision of the school board to dismiss Mr. Rucker and stated he had never run into a situation as bad as this situation. Cross examined on this last statement, and for his part in not putting the statement in his report to the school board, Mr. Edwards said he did not do so because he thought that Rucker could be salvaged. The report to the school board of the October 28 visit by Mr. Edwards was dated December 10, according to the witness' evidence, it was based on classroom notes at the time of his visit.

Next to be called to the witness stand was Dr. D. E. Lewis, chairman of the Digby Regional High School Board for the past three years. Dr. Lewis said he had heard adverse reports about Mr. Rucker and went to F. C. Purdy, superintendent of schools, to check into the situation. Mr. Purdy said what kind of teacher he was and got involved in a Mr. Rucker did not have this discussion which led to ask at the time of the contract but

C. E. Edwards, Inspector of Schools, to supervise the classroom.

Mr. Edwards' report and reports of supervising staff were given and discussed at the October meeting of the Board. On the meeting of September 30, following Mr. Edwards' visit of September 28, the board decided in view of the verbal report which would be given to Mr. Rucker by the principal, John Ritcey, and supervisor, C. E. Edwards, in order to bring the teacher up to the standards of the inspector advised on the November 20 meeting. There was a verbal report which was improvement with some cases, but deterioration with others. On the basis of these reports, the Board came to the conclusion that Mr. Rucker had every opportunity but in view of the fact he had not improved his ability to teach, the Board decided Mr. Rucker's contract should be terminated because of unsatisfactory performance.

On December 8, a meeting was held by the School Board in which the reasons for termination of contract were answered by Mr. Rucker. Dr. Lewis, in answer to a question by Mr. Edwards, agreed that Mr. Edwards' report was fair, also Mr. MacInnes and Mr. Purdy's. Dr. Lewis said he was not prepared for a course by the Department of Education and which he thought was outlined. Mr. Rucker was allowed to substitute this if the sanction of the province could be obtained. He also complained of crowded classrooms but Dr. Lewis felt it was no more crowded than others. Dr. Lewis' evidence revealed that Mr. Rucker's evidence on the Board Meeting to a disagreement between himself and another teacher. Present with Mr. Rucker at the meeting were Norman Ferguson and Robert Matheson.

Asked why there was a gap of approximately two months from when he had asked for an investigation until November 20th when Mr. Rucker was dismissed, Dr. Lewis said the Board meetings were held monthly and the Board represents everybody, including teachers. They felt Mr. Rucker might be brought up to acceptable standards.

Questioned on the manner of securing teachers, Dr. Lewis said it was the policy to delegate to superintendent of schools the responsibility to call for applicants, review applications and interview applicants and come to the Board with his findings for review. Normally they are all approved by the Board.

F. C. Purdy, superintendent, gave evidence that Mr. Rucker found the three supervisory reports fair at the Board meeting following his dismissal but later referred to Mr. Purdy's report as "farcical or fantasy."

Regarding Mr. Rucker's complaint about inadequate supplies, Mr. Purdy gave evidence that Mr. Rucker had not made a requisition for supplies and that action is not taken on letters topics and 14 to 20 down pertinent things to recall for examination. Mr. Ritcey said he was not fully qualified when engaged but by being accepted by and complete training successfully the three Year Emergency Training Program for University Graduates by the Department of Education he would qualify as a teacher of Education.

Regarding the Digby Regional High School, Mr. Purdy said what kind of teacher he was and got involved in a Mr. Rucker did not have this discussion which led to ask at the time of the contract but at the staff conference prior to the opening of school.

On the question of his classroom visit to Mr. Rucker, the witness said he had done about 35 minutes and most of his report to the Board had been written in that time. Mr. Purdy noted by his visit, according to evidence, a lack of preparation, lack of organization, lack of two way flow of communication, and lack of attentiveness of students. Later, evidence of Mr. Purdy also revealed six girls out of seven had requested to drop a World Problems course. Dress and mannerisms of Mr. Rucker were also brought into Mr. Purdy's evidence.

C. C. MacInnes, supervisor of schools took the stand and in evidence told of the classroom noice from the room of Mr. Rucker. This was so much that he had to close his office doors the day after he had to go to the classroom because of noises. He gave evidence of visiting the classroom on several occasions. Mr. Rucker was going on. He said teaching was going on. He said through about one-third period and Mr. Rucker looked down at papers and books with no obvious teaching or learning going on. He gave evidence that he found a disinterested class, confused on the evidence of Mr. Rucker, and unaware as to what they should be doing. Mr. MacInnes, according to his evidence, described the teaching situation on his visit a failure.

Questioned as to whether adequate attempts were made to correct Mr. Rucker's described weaknesses, Mr. MacInnes said he had given advice on the procedures for students in lesson planning, motivating pupils, goals for students, use of aids, dress and personal appearance. Mr. Rucker had agreed, according to Mr. MacInnes that these were the right things to do but later the principal, Mr. Ritcey had found no improvement after Mr. MacInnes' visit.

John Ritcey, principal, was the next witness. He gave evidence of being concerned about discipline in Mr. Rucker's class after two to two and a half weeks following the beginning of school and the vice principal, Neil Cullens felt Mr. Rucker was having difficulty and suggested discipline be given. A serious disciplinary problem arose where a student uttered vulgar and disgusting things before a class which resulted in the suspension of the student for four or five days. Mr. Ritcey also objected to the lecture method of teaching being used by Mr. Rucker as it was not the best method for a general course student. He felt that an untidy appearance of Mr. Rucker accounted for much of the disciplinary problems.

Mr. Ritcey said he had discussed methology with Mr. Rucker and suggested using the chalk board outline as students could see the framework of the lesson to reinforce the information and relate to different topics and 14 to 20 down pertinent things to recall for examination. Mr. Ritcey said he was not fully qualified when engaged but by being accepted by and complete training successfully the three Year Emergency Training Program for University Graduates by the Department of Education he would qualify as a teacher of Education.

Regarding the Digby Regional High School, Mr. Purdy said what kind of teacher he was and got involved in a Mr. Rucker did not have this discussion which led to ask at the time of the contract but largely controlled by the factors of the environment. But modern man has become much more powerful. He can even use his technology to regulate the volume of oxygen in our air and the earth's heat balance. The potential effects of such changes are obvious. They have led one eminent ecologist to state: "What is now popularly known as 'progress' begins to look very much like the path to extinction." Pollution has been referred to as a patient assassin which chokes its victims ever so slowly and silently. We must preserve a clean, healthy, enjoyable environment and we must safeguard the biological balance of nature. Man must not be allowed to pollute himself out of existence.

Pollution has been around for a long time. But what has happened in Canada? We have been very fortunate, Mr. Speaker, we have a big country with a lot of water and a lot of air. But anyone who has visited the river outside the Gardiner building, travelled the Gardiner expressway in Toronto on a still morning, or makes his living providing the kitchen with fresh fish, knows what pollution is. We cannot afford to sit back in confidence. We should count ourselves lucky that we have no Los Angeles, where carbon-dioxide levels are 10 per cent higher than normal. We cannot afford to be complacent. At the moment this room. He said it happened about 9:50 a.m. (early in November) outside the teachers' room. He met Mr. Rucker in the staff room door when Mr. Rucker spoke first saying "Get out, you are not allowed in here" and then pushed on his shoulder and backed him into the corridor. There were no children about, according to Mr. Banks' evidence and Mr. Cullens was the only teacher who appeared. Mr. Banks wanted to know the reason why Mr. Cullens tried to explain that it had something to do with Banks not being a Teachers' Union member. Mr. Cullens was upset over his wife when he said was having pressure put on to do something which she was resisting. Banks' evidence was that he and Mr. Rucker were not hostile but opposed and that Rucker realized he had overstated his case and that he had some kind of reason for it. The altercation, according to Banks took place after class change. The time of the incident was around the time of the bus issue. When asked if the two ladies seen in the staff room were reduced to tears (earlier evidence) Mr. Banks replied "no" they looked cold and indifferent to him.

Neil Cullens took the stand before noon on Wednesday.

Mr. Cullens gave evidence of disagreement between himself and the administration on student examination policy. Mr. Cullens took the stand to the chairman of the Digby Regional School Board when he said that he was in disagreement regarding the policy of school examination papers. Mr. Cullens said that the incidence of the altercation in the staff room. The trouble he said had been fairly settled when Mr. Cullens said that he was saying "Is there something which should concern me" and Cullens had answered "It possibly should" Mr. Cullens said the incident occurred on Feb. 19. (Earlier witnesses and school reports had given different evidence).

Mr. Cullens gave evidence of a staff meeting held on the same day at 1:15 to 2:15 and which he felt was to provide an opportunity for frank and free discussion on problems affecting the school system. (One of the problems being class problems). Asked what part Mr. Rucker played in this meeting, Mr. Cullens said that he made a statement that his wife had been approached about a petition at St. Pat's school. Mr. Purdy accused him of making serious allegations on his (Purdy) professional reputation and he wanted Mr. MacInnes (who chaired the meeting) to copy every thing down. Heated arguments ensued according to Mr. Cullens.

Mr. Cullens further evidence dealt with discipline in the XIG class (re earlier witness) which he felt from the beginning would be a different class (lacking self-respect) but which now is a changed class. He felt, by his evidence, that there cannot be class participation without noise.

Mr. Rucker who was dismissed from his job on December 1 took the stand on Wednesday afternoon when he defended his relationship with all classes except one which gave him difficulty. He felt his teaching

NOT DOING AN EQUAL JOB

I underline "completely" as pollution.

Let us first look at fishing. Forest spraying in New Brunswick has led to observations of fish mortality ranging between 50 and 98 per cent. Pollution has seriously affected shellfish beds. It is estimated that 20 per cent of the oyster and clam beds have been closed as a result of pollution making the shellfish unfit for human consumption. I have experience in this matter, Mr. Speaker, because in my constituency a good fishing operation had to be stopped because the beds were contaminated. It becomes a vicious circle. Pollution leads to higher costs for everyone. The processing plants have been forced to bring in water from far out in sea because of local pollution.

To show Hon. members the serious situation is, let me tell them that the Atlantic Development Board has subsidized operations like that. I am not blaming it. I am merely telling Hon. members what is happening in order to show the mhow much concern there is over this matter.

The west coast salmon and herring fisheries add about $70 million to our economy each year and governments have taken great pains to ensure that power projects and pollution do not interfere with the lives of these fish. But the recent — when I am recent I am talking about last year — Placentia Bay experience should prove to us all that we cannot be complacent about such successes.

New developments are being jiggered from oil pollution tanks travelling in the north but also about offshore drilling. The Department of Fisheries and Forestry should supervise these operations. I should not stop progress in discoveries. It is shocking to see our fisheries. Nowdays some of our best fishing grounds are being examined the search of oil. There is a danger of pollution here. The Department of Fisheries and Forestry should carefully supervise these activities. We must make sure that the waters are not contaminated.

Too often human technology is used in ways which unintentionally worsen, not improve, the quality of life of our society. Too often by the product of our progress is pollution, pollution of our surroundings or the disturbance of the delicate interrelationships of our environment. Striking examples of unintended effects resulting from all kinds of activity abound. For example, on its introduction DDT was heralded as a successful agent for the control of insect pests, but now its effects have led to its removal from the majority of its applications.

The Lionettes, who raised $1,500 last Spring to get the majorettes off with a good start and fine appearance have found the burden excessive for their own group. It had, however, asked that the majorettes be continued and refer to them again should the new association not prove successful.

Poetry Corner

Suffer The Little Children

I am before you every day,
My eyes grow huge, and dull, and round,
You give me but a pasty glance,
My cries grow weak, make little sound.

You see me only in pictures,
From full tables, you move back;
Your flesh is smooth, and plump, and white;
My skin is shrivelled, rough, and black.

You read about me in the news,
While you live on sumptuous fare,
You worry not that I starve and shrink,
While the flame creeps in my hair.

You hear about me every day,
While mother holds you closer still;
My stretched out arms find empty air,
My dying mother has no will.

My bones creep through my flesh so sore,
My breath grows short; I die,
You are a favored child of the West,
A child of Biafra am I!

Doris Hooper,
Jan. 9, 1970.

Parents Meet Teacher

Parent-teacher night, the first of its type, was held at Islands Consolidated School, Freeport, recently.

Parents who were interested in the scholastic progress of their children met with the teachers of the various subjects to discuss the students' problems and to seek means and ways of overcoming them.

Parents met the teachers individually in the various classrooms and were shown the progress record of their children. If the progress was unsatisfactory, the teacher pointed out various factors which might have contributed to the student's lack of success.

Some of the suggested factors were: not enough time spent on home preparations, not paying attention during class, poor grounding in a previous grade, unable to handle the subject matter, excessive lateness, poor attitude and others.

The teachers pointed out that though some students found the transition from one grade to the next and the introduction of new subjects a bit difficult to grasp at first could pick up work and successfully pass the grade. Parents voiced their appreciation to the teachers for their co-operation and willingness to assist the children.

CURLING NEWS

by JACK ROSENTHAL

A sudden death playoff scheduled for 7:30 this evening will decide the team that will represent the Digby club in the Seaport Stone provincial championship play-downs at Truro commencing Monday, January 26. Challengers for the right are the team of Hym Webber, skip, Jack Rosenthal, mate, Jack Britton, 2nd stone, and Aubrey Hawkins, lead, against the skippered team of Frank Wightman, with Dave Calvey as mate, Clint Miller, 2nd stone, and Dr. John McCleave, lead.

The British Consuls playdowns which produces the team that will represent Nova Scotia in the Dominion championship (MacDonald Brien) will be getting underway February 2nd at New Glasgow and two teams from the Digby club are prepared to play the best of three series to decide who may represent Digby.

With the ladies' provincial championship being held this year at Yarmouth, starting Monday, January 26, two teams from the ladies' club played off for the right to represent their club, resulting in two straight wins for the Flors Lewis team against the team skippered by Fern Webber. Two closely contested games, one played last Friday evening, and the second game Saturday afternoon, were not decided until the final end. So winning the right to leave their husbands for a few days and represent Digby is the team of Flors Lewis, skip, Kiki Nichols, mate, Donna Lewis, 2nd stone, and Fran Stacey, lead. - A "well stacked" team you might say!

Scheduled play for the Atlantic Trophy with eight teams competing is underway at present. Divided in two sections with the two top teams in each section as semi-finalists slated to play January 26, and the finals the following evening to decide the winner.

Play for the President's Trophy has been finalized, with the team of Hym Webber noosing out a win over Aubrey Hawkins' team in the finals.

An executive meeting held early in January and chaired by President Stu MacNaughton, was enlightened by the financial report of the Treasurer, Don Cameron. Although two or three red spots appeared on the ledger, sufficient accounts receivable were noted to function satisfactorily and several outstanding bills were voted to be paid.

DON'T SEND... TAKE YOUR BOY TO THE ARENA!

Juvenile Hockey or Juvenile Delinquent?

Minor Hockey Week Starts January 24
Once again it is that time of year when we are asked to support minor hockey, and to remind our readers of that already well-known slogan - "Don't send - Take your boy to the arena."

We are willing to do this because we agree there should be special recognition of the men (and women) who make minor hockey possible here.

The local minor hockey association is composed of enthusiastic, hard-working volunteers whose efforts on behalf of local youngsters cannot be measured in hours or dollars. They make it possible for hundreds of our youngsters to take part in Canada's National sport. Every boy in town can have the opportunity to play, and none will be turned away. That's the kind of an organization it is.

Minor Hockey Week in Canada is one of several worthwhile projects of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, and as a result of the C.A.H.A.'s promotion, volunteer workers across the country are being told their work is appreciated. Some are being made the recipients of testimonial scrolls and plaques, but all are included in the general paean of praise heard across the nation this big week of minor hockey.

Although the recognition of the volunteer organizers, coaches, managers, car drivers and fundraisers is one of the most important objectives of Minor Hockey Week, it is not the only one. Another is to "focus attention on minor hockey". This we gladly do.

We do so because we agree that minor hockey is an important part of our community life. It is an integral part of the fabric of our community and a major part of the sporting activities of our municipality. We agree it is beneficial to the youngsters, and because it is, it is beneficial to the whole community. We agree in addition to building stronger bodies, minor hockey contributes to the development of better citizens while it is keeping them occupied in a worthwhile endeavour - right at an age when many of them might easily be engaged in pursuits much less acceptable to society.

These are some of the reasons why this newspaper is happy to "Keep in Step with Canada" - by supporting Minor Hockey Week. We urge our readers to do likewise.

Bear River Ski Club Active
Last weekend saw activities begun at the ski slope in Bear River with a sufficient amount of snow on the slope which made for excellent skiing. This was the first weekend of skiing for the season, due to a lack of snow this winter. The ski tow was in operation and was used extensively throughout the weekend by the many enthusiasts.

The slope will be in operation again this weekend if the snow remains and officials of the club extend a warm welcome to come and join in the fun. With the lack of snow on the slope for this winter, those interested had better make use of this snow while it lasts.

Let's Reminisce

January 20, 1944 -

A big twin engine bomber A107 crashed shortly after one Wednesday afternoon at Sea Brook, on the Digby Neck road, some two miles from Digby. The two occupants of the plane were taken to Digby General Hospital where they are suffering serious injuries. Charles Robbins of Riverdale, who was struck by a flying portion of the plane was also badly hurt and rushed to hospital.

One of the injured crewmen was taken to hospital by W. F. Webber, who was driving toward Digby, and whom car just missed being hit. Sydney Westcott took the other airmen and Robbins to hospital.

The jag plate landed squarely across the Digby Neck Road, blocking the road completely. Drivers of both cars which took the injured iron to Digby had to turn their vehicles about and come to Digby by the round-about Digby Neck cross road route.

A two ton truck owned by Wilfred Digby, owner of the Digby Neck telephone line, was struck by the crashing plane, and its frame crushed like an eggshell, lying under the wreckage of the big bomber. At the time of the crash, Digby, with Allison Merritt, Carmo Gidney and Charles Robbins, were leading west bound for Robbins' farm near Sawwell, Merritt was on the truck.

The men saw the plane as it passed low over the fields of Joseph Hines and realized it was about to crash. They called to Merritt to jump and run. Merritt did, and missed death by the matter of a split second. Robbins was struck by a piece of the wing as the plane crashed.

It is understood the aviators became lost, and their plane ran out of gas.

Last spring Edward Young, well-known Brighton farmer, put a number of his young cattle out to pasture for the summer months. This fall, when he wanted to gather them in for winter shelter, he found one of his young steers was missing. After a fruitless search off and on for a period of time, he came to the conclusion the steer calf must have been killed by a bear or other wild animal.

Not long ago, Mr. Young made an excursion to the woods not far from his home. He saw definite tracks of a deer and domestic calf. He followed the tracks and on two occasions found where the animals had lain down, and slept together.

The next day he went back on the trail. Again he found evidence where the animals had spent the night. Following the trail back toward Marshalltown there was ample evidence the animals had been in that area quite recently. A little later a deer jumped out of a thicket and ran off, but Mr. Young was unable to get a close look at the deer and was unable to determine whether it was a doe or a buck - but on further investigation, found his calf in the thicket from which the deer had fled.

The calf appeared quite tame in spite of the wild life it had been leading. Mr. Young was able to lead it out of the woods and place it in the barn of a Marshalltown farmer. He has since taken the steer back to Brighton where it is leading the normal life of a steer calf in Mr. Young's barn.

Mr. Beaman had been a member of the First Church of Christ Scientist. In his younger days he was interested in shoe business, and was with the Abner Opera Company and travelled extensively across Canada and the U.S. with them.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Melanson of Colborne.

Surviving are his wife, Irene; two daughters, Prudence (Mrs. Murray Donnette), Colborne; and Mrs. Edna Beaman; both at home; two sons, James and Wayne; both at home and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held, Tuesday with service at 3 p.m. Interment was in Fernhill Cemetery.

Bernard J. Melanson, Bernard Joseph Melanson, 58, of Weymouth, a longshoreman in Halifax, was buried Wednesday in Colborne following funeral service in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Weymouth.

NEW HOUSE DESIGN -

This factory design by Architects Venzonichrati & Venzonichrati of Toronto, combines an efficient layout with an attractive exterior appearance.

It boasts four bedrooms and has a spacious living-dining room opening onto the rear garden. The washroom and change area for the children at the side entrance will appeal to the housewife as will the conveniently arranged kitchen with its bright dining section for less formal meals. The straight-forward lines of the house are an important note feature. For best sitting the front door should face north.

The floor area is 1475 square feet; the external dimensions, which include the support, are 40 feet by 39 feet, four inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 616, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

The Council that Weymouth trustees requested to be held before them regarding capital costs for their school had recommended the opportunity was provided for this. Projected Expenditures: Estimated gross expenditures for all schools under the jurisdiction of the Digby Municipal School Board were projected as $1,152,830, according to Mr. Hill's report. Revenue from all sources was projected as $802,250 leaving a balance of $290,580 to be raised at the local level. This amount will be further reduced by any school board surplus that may have occurred from the 1968 operations, Mr. Hill said.

The capital project budget for 1970 was restricted to one item, namely, the furnishing of the new Regional School complex for areas other than Digby. The amount projected as the share of the Municipality was $19,950 of which amount $15,948.03 will be received in grants under the Foundation Program leaving $4,001.97 to be raised by local taxation.

Others who appeared before Council on Tuesday were Stewart MacIntosh, Maurice Roper and MacLeod Rogers, Q.C. and Philip Donald, chief assessor.

Mr. Rogers dealt with the matter of the sale of land in Digby to the Municipality. He brought councilors up to date on their individual responsibilities and legalities regarding collection and writ-off of taxes.

Mr. MacIntosh presented the 1969 report for the Hydro Electric Distribution System of the Municipality of the District of Digby which showed revenue for the year had increased by $15,738 to $242,101. Operating income increased $2,286 to $14,974 and represented a yield on rate base of 3.82%, a decrease of .97% under the preceding year. Expenditures increased by $18,434 to $227,127. The excess revenue over expenditure was $1,127 which was used for the funding of fixed asset additions. Capital expenditure for the year was $37,806.

Over 85% Vote Confidence

In a statement issued to the press on Wednesday, Miss Marjorie MacCormick, an elementary school teacher in Digby said that over eighty-five per cent of the Elementary Teaching Staff in Digby gave a verbal vote of confidence supporting F. S. Purdy, superintendent of Digby schools, C. C. MacInnes, supervisor, and J. E. Ritchey, principal.

Earlier it had been reported by Mrs. Helen Matheson that twenty-five contacted out of 50 teachers at the Digby Regional High School had shown their support of the three administrators.

Mr. Purdy, Mr. MacInnes and Mr. Ritchey resigned, effective at the end of the term, after an appeal board reinstated dismissed high school teacher, Henry Rucker.

(Continued from page 1) said, can be proud of its achievements, the economy was never better, but demand on private sector is also great. The same sacrifices will have to be made in the future as has been in the past. He advised against thinking too parochially.

The minister said his department was anxious to communicate and co-operate with such organizations as the Annapolis Basin and Digby Development Commission and to bring the services of government to new and expanding industries in the province.

He advised that the department maintains resident in-

REINSTATED

Continued from page 1: Board in Digby at a meeting held on November 20, 1969, a motion was carried in the following words: "Resolved, that Mr. Hill and Mrs. Gidney that the Superintendent of Schools advise Mr. Rucker that the Board of Appeal should be terminated, effective November 20, 1969, due to unsatisfactory performance of his probationary contract."

This was communicated to Mr. Rucker by way of a registered letter dated November 21, 1969, in the following words: "I have been instructed by the Digby Regional School Board to advise you that the Board by unanimous resolution decided to terminate your contract to become effective November 20, 1969. The reason for this action by the Board is unsatisfactory performance of your probationary contract. A salary adjustment was made in accordance with the provisions of Section 76 of the Education Act."

The Appeal Board was charged with inquiring into the discharge or dismissal of this teacher on the ground of unsatisfactory performance of his contract. This we have done in accordance with the evidence produced in public before the Board of Appeal.

Our careful and conscientious attention to this evidence and our individual attention to this evidence and the witnesses brought us to a unanimous conclusion. The Board has come to its unanimous agreement in its findings.

The Appeal Board members will state their positions and make some comment on certain factors that they believe should properly be commented upon in their conclusions. This is based upon the letter of December 1, 1969, which contained seven reasons why in the opinion of the School Board, Mr. Rucker was not performing his contract in a satisfactory manner.

Mr. Caldwell would you like to make your comments? Mr. Caldwell Member.

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, may I first of all associate myself with the remarks of the Chairman this morning regarding the contribution of this hearing. It was a lengthy one, a complex one. They have assisted members of this Board very fully in the presentation of matters relative to the issue.

May I also remark on the department, and attention shown by those in the spectators' seats during the last few days. Obviously the interest in this matter is high. The manner in which the members of the Digby Community attended here and conducted themselves is I think outstanding.

First of all I want to take issue with a position stated by Mr. Rogers in his summation this morning. He indicated that the question before the Appeal Board is whether Mr. Rucker effectively carried out his duties as a teacher.

With respect, in my view, that is not the issue. The issue is whether the decision of the School Board on November 20, at which time, by resolution, it decided to terminate this teacher's contract, and the School Board's subsequent decision at the meeting of December 8 not to reverse its original decision was justified. This is the crux of the matter, should the resolution and the decision of the School Board be confirmed or varied or should the order of dismissal of November 20, 1969 be revoked.

The Chairman and Council have pointed out the procedural irregularities with respect to the dismissal. I need not comment on them further. The last three and one half days we have been considering the matter on its merits.

On the question whether it has been established that Mr. Rucker is guilty of failing satisfactorily to perform his contract with the School Board, may I make it quite clear, in my view such a judgement can only be rendered in the first instance by his peers, fellow professors, teachers and administrators, educationalists who is knowledgeable about what is required of a teacher and how he performs his duties. It is not really for a lawyer to consider a question of this kind apart from the evidence that can be obtained from the peers who are professionals in this field.

It is further my view that the reports that were before the School Board on November 20 and again on December 8 were not, in the circumstances, sufficient to justify their decision. Initially attention was directed to Mr. Rucker for considerations that were completely extraneous to his performance as a teacher. In the class room the stippled evaluation by the inspector and administrative staff was Undoubtedly affected by these extraneous and external considerations. This, it also appears, was complicated by instances related in the evidence including the description of Mr. Rucker, the continued rumours of dismissal and the best problem and the heated staff meeting and the discussion between Mr. Rucker and Mr. Purdy. In summary, in my view, these reports, presented as they were to the School Board, were not adequate to justify the action of the School Board.

The situation disclosed by the evidence is such that the health of the Digby Regional High School system shows an unhealthy situation. It would appear to be the wellbeing of the students, from an educational point of view was overshadowed by matters not of primary importance. The damage to the young people of this area, the teachers, the administrators, the public in general, including the taxpayers, is apparent. Only by the co-operation of all these groups can this situation be changed.

My conclusion is that the Order given originally for dismissal should be revoked and an Order issued to that effect." (Continued Next Issue)

OVER 600 WRITE TESTS

Over 600 Nova Scotians have written General Education Development Tests (GED) and an additional 800 applications are currently being processed. H. P. Timmins, Director of the Adult Education Program, said today.

Adults wishing to write the tests in this area, are to contact John R. Douglas, Regional Representative, Provincial Building, Yarmouth, to obtain application forms.

Those wishing to write the tests should allow at least six weeks for their application to be processed and to receive word, where and when the test will be administered. The G.E.D. Tests are given in an appropriate center when a qualified guidance counselor is available and when a sufficient number of applicants have been received.

Any person who has been a resident of Nova Scotia for at least six months, has reached nineteen years of age and been out of school at least one full academic year is eligible to write. The applicant need not have been previously enrolled in high school but he is required to furnish proof of his last year in school.

Candidates wishing to write G.E.D. Tests should first obtain an official registration form from the Regional Council, Education Office, fill it out carefully and make sure the necessary documents are enclosed. An administration fee of $2.00 is payable at the time of application. This fee is not refundable. Within six weeks from the time of submitting application the candidate should be advised of time and place of writing. Tests are held in most areas every two or three months.

The G.E.D. Tests are an opportunity for adults, who have acquired knowledge and skills through formal or informal education, to acquire high school equivalency. Those achieving a sufficient score will be awarded a grade XII or grade XI Diploma. Others will achieve at the grade X or IX level and will be awarded an appropriate certificate.

Poetry Corner

To Ma

She comes in the morning,
The one with the pills,
We called her Ma
She gave us a chill.

We wouldn't exchange her
For any of those,
Who come with the oil
Attached to a hose.

They may do their job
And clean you up right,
But they cannot compare
With Ma Shaw at night.

She's not very big
But she's very bold,
She gives you that look
And you'll do as you're told.

But when it's all over
She waves with a smile,
And leaves us to wonder
If she were a child.

DIGBY MLA WELCOMES CKDY RADIO

R. Baden Powell, M.L.A.

I appreciate the opportunity of a place in the initial programme of radio CKDY, the fifth member of the Amnapolis Valley Radio network.

May I with others welcome the first local station into the Digby area.

CKDY found at 1420 on the A.M. radio dial will partially fill the radio vacuum of local affairs in our district. I say radio vacuum, as we have lacked, until now a radio voice concerning matters of local importance.

When television receivers became household fixtures, the public felt that radio's future was in doubt. But time has dispersed that thought and we have found that radio has a place in our modern lives, quite apart from the other forms of communication.

Radio has assumed a role for which it is particularly equipped. The manner in which it presents its educational and entertainment features claims audience time not available to other forms of communication.

Digby area is now in the process of receiving improved transportation facilities which will strengthen our economic potential. A local radio will have a part to play in accomplishing our hopes for the future.

So we welcome CKDY and hope that its permitted range will cover a large area of the town and municipality of Digby.

R. Baden Powell,

Congratulates New Station

Peter M. Nicholson, M.L.A.

I appreciate the opportunity to extend my personal congratulations to the officers and directors of Evangelina Broadcasting Company for the addition to radio station CKDY to the chain of stations of the Annapolis Valley Radio network. This brings to 5 in number the stations of this network, which have been doing yeoman service in bringing to the attention of people in the Valley area matters of local and provincial interest. It is particularly apt that the signal from this station will be reaching the area of Annapolis Royal and surrounding communities in the provincial constituency of Annapolis West. It has been my feeling for some time that this area has been neglected in radio coverage although from time to time we are able to get a good signal from Annapolis Valley radio network. However, I am assured that the signal from Digby will be loud and clear throughout the whole of Annapolis West and on behalf of my constituents in that area I do want to thank the progressive members of Evangelina Broadcasting for bringing to us this new facility.

For so long now we have been deluged with New Brunswick news emanating from private stations and from CBC outlets in the province. The provincial CBC outlet in Nova Scotia did not have a signal strong enough to reach this area so far as provincial affairs news was concerned. I am sure that this new station will live up to the high standards which have been set by the four older members of the Annapolis Valley radio family and I wish all concerned in this new enterprise every success in their endeavour.

Peter M. Nicholson, Q.C., M.L.A., Annapolis West

CKDY OFFICIALLY OPENS MONDAY

CKDY Compiles Weather Information

Amongst the equipment in the control room at CKDY radio station on Sydney St., Digby, is a M.S.C. Wind Indicator. Green and red lights continue to flash on and off as the Department of Transport weather tower just outside the radio station conveys the message to the indicator. North, South, East or West, the instrument measures both speed and direction. The green light comes on every fifteen seconds. Between the green light count the red light flashes, according to Lorin Fevens, program adviser, who gave a tour and demonstration of the equipment on Friday. His demonstration revealed that the number of flashes is multiplied by two in order to calculate the speed of the wind. On Friday at three o'clock the velocity happened to be 10 miles per hour out of the South.

Near the indicator in the same room is an anemometer which simply records by graph what the indicator directs. The graph sheets are changed at eight o'clock each morning and last for a period of 24 hours. The anemometer graphs the average wind speed, direction and the wind direction by means of pens connected by magnets, which control the movement of the pens. The pens create two straight lines and if the wind is from the North the pen moves upwards and in the opposite direction from the South. Each step on the graph is one mile per hour and by counting the steps the height of the wind is noted. The charts are returned to the weather office at Moncton, where a record of the wind, the weather and the temperature is made. The station at Digby uses

David H. A. Morrison, Annapolis Valley Radio's chief engineer, makes a check of part of the delicate transmitting equipment for radio station CKDY, Digby. Mr. Morrison, in co-operation with Peter R. G. Cahn, a broadcast consulting engineer from Montreal, completed the final proof of performance of CKDY's transmitting facilities last week. The final proof of performance requires the approval of the Department of Communications and the Canadian Radio-Television Commission, which is expected to be completed so that CKDY can officially mark its opening on Monday, February 2nd.

three thermometers in its records are taken from ten different locations and averaged for forecast but it is up-to-date out. # CKDY Radio Personalities

Bill Smiley

WILLARD A. BISHOP
Managing Director, Annapolis Valley Radio

Willard A. Bishop, managing-director of the Evangeline Broadcasting Co., Ltd., owners of the Annapolis Valley Radio network, got his start in radio at a very early age. In fact, his "illegal" half-watt radio station in Windsor with a bedroom studio, was the first of its kind in the five-station private radio network in Canada. As a teenager, Mr. Bishop broadcast actual programs - amateur quizzes, live talent, original dramas and church services - from his bedroom studio half-watt station, until the Canadian Defence Department was notified. Suddenly, the radio station equipment was confiscated and Avarid M. Bishop was summoned to court for his son's misdemeanors. But, before of Canada regulations carried stiff penalties, but the charge was reduced to operating a radio station without a license and Mr. Bishop paid a $12.50 fine. The equipment was returned and a commercial license was obtained. On November 13, 1945, CFAB came on the air in Windsor.

Mr. Bishop's knowledge of radio affairs is most thorough. As well as the administrative aspect of the business, he is most active in actual broadcasting, and has an intricate knowledge of basic engineering.

Mrs. Bishop acts as hostess for "International Concert Hall" to be heard week-nights at ten o'clock on CKDY and CKWM-FM.

LEIGH EVERETT
Manager, CKDY

Leigh H. Everett, manager of CKDY Digby, the newest member of the Annapolis Valley Radio network, joined the group in the summer of 1969. Prior to the opening of the studios in Digby, he worked at the company's Kentville station, KEN.

For the eleven year period following graduation from Annapolis Royal Regional Academy in 1958, Mr. Everett was with the news and advertising staff of the Digby Courier, and for a time was associated with Camdy's Florist. A native of Victoria Beach, Annapolis County, he is married to the former Sandra Harlow, of Digby.

LORAIN FEVENS
Program Co-ordinator, CKDY

Lorain Fevens, program co-ordinator for CKDY, got his start in radio in his native Yarmouth, and had also worked in Halifax before moving to Kentville.

For the seven years he has been with Annapolis Valley Radio, Lorain has served in a variety of capacities. During the past three years he has been Librarian, program co-ordinator for CKWM-FM and the "early-morning-man" on the wake-up show for the entire network.

Lorain has been an active member of a number of charitable organizations in the Kentville area. His sincere interest in the patients at the Kings County Hospital at Waterville led to the release last fall of a record album of original poetry, backed by organ stylings of Dot Taylor, of Middleton. Profit from the recordings amounting to nearly $2,000.00, was turned over to the bus and pool fund of the hospital.

A love affair that died

Snow is something like a little one will get you. It comes around when you're at work and hides out in a pile on the street-side and saunter on the driveway. This is frozen into a snow-bank by the time you get home, and you need an Alpenstock to break it up.

One big help though is the kids. They're right on the job. If it snows two inches of fluff, they're at the door with big, boyish smiles. Can I show you a snow-bank? You could do it yourself without strain, but figure on assisting free enterprise, give them the job, and overpay them.

Come a real downfall, say ten inches of wet, sticky stuff, when every loaded shovel weighs six pounds and is a potential coronary, and they're home watching television.

The final aid is the car. When it snows up to a height where you can see only your neighbor's back and a snow-bank as high as your head, the Automobile Snowman would tackle you, the blower comes out, and it's a matter of time before you're completely run in.

Well, if you can't beat them, what do you do? You're turning over a stone. No snow, no problem. No downhill driving, because you'll erode knees. And if I would like to ski, I could do it in my own backyard, a snow-bank on the picnic table.

No, I've decided to return to the field. I've done steady at the airport. Surely some of the old pilots, if it was, is all there. I've done steady at the other, except when I've had a snow-bank and have set her down in a farmer's field.

But I could sail along a couple of thousand feet and sneer down at the snow, and its beauty, and maybe even get to like the filthy stuff again. I'd like to see a snow-bank, as I try to hold a load of snow in the car, and run out backwards before they make it. Then we have a sidewalk.

It was decided to ask Chief Webster Dunn, the traffic authority to request a man from the Nova Scotia Department of Highways to advise on the matter and proceed with the matter after the summer traffic. Merchants will have an opportunity to state their wishes on the matter.

A proposal submitted by John Lightman made a suggestion for a "pool entrance" to the Racquette to be built from the saw road near the proposed new ferry wharf.

soon as reasonably possible after the receipt of the final text of the Munroe Tribunal report.

The Premier concluded by saying that an important additional consideration in this whole matter is that the Eudist Order, which now administers College Sainte-Anne, has indicated that, because of a shortage of personnel, it will not be able to continue for long to administer it or undertake any new facility. The Executive of the Francophone Federation of Nova Scotia, in their telegram to the Premier of January 28, 1970, stated that the government "has not been continuous to itself". In addition, the Premier was quoted in the press as having charged the government with stagnation in this matter. I reject completely these charges, and I submit that words of this kind on an issue of this nature, made at this time, can do nothing but harm. I invite all fair-minded people, including the Federation, to study carefully the facts, and the texts of this release, as well as the Premier's, and to form their conclusions accordingly.

Father LeBlanc invited letters to be sent to the college administration on the feelings of the people regarding the functioning of the institution at Church Point as well as the Minister of Education concerning the future of the college.

At the meeting on Friday evening the following resolutions were adopted:

1. That the Minister of Education be urged to take immediate steps to ensure that the institution at Church Point be utilized by affiliation with the new college in another form of adult or vocational education. The Board of Directors of College Sainte-Anne gave their full cooperation and wish to see the tribunal report implemented as soon as possible for the benefit of the entire province of Nova Scotia.

2. That on Friday night meeting on Friday evening, January 27, the Federation Francophone organization met at Yarmouth when they charged the government with stagnation in this matter.

3. That the Minister of Education be urged to take immediate steps to ensure that the institution at Church Point be utilized by affiliation with the new college in another form of adult or vocational education.

Members of Nova Scotia with objection in accepting and implementing the recommendations of the Tribunal on Bilingual Higher Education. A telegram was forwarded from the meeting to the Premier of Nova Scotia reminding of a press conference in Halifax, December 18, 1968 when the Minister of education said that an independent tribunal of education be set up in consultation with interested persons and in this spirit, charge the tribunal with the major decisions that are involved.

Since the meeting in Yarmouth on Tuesday and the meeting held at Church Point on Friday evening the following telegrams have been forwarded by Federation Francophone:

"To The Honorable Gerald Boudet, Minister of Education Honorable Mr. Deneault:

Another general meeting of the Member Associations of Francophone Federation of Nova Scotia and other associations of South Western Nova Scotia was held on February 1, 1970.

The reason for the meeting was to discuss your decision announced on January 30 as Minister of Education concerning the future of College Sainte-Anne.

In your statement, you announced that the government will continue to support the institution at Church Point as it is now. The Federation is carefully studying the implications of this step and

Digby Lions To Sponsor Hypnotist Here

Leonard de Coste, better known as "The Great Leonardo", will be visiting Digby for two shows on February 14th and 16th.

Leonardo, who made his debut three years ago, became interested in hypnosis in 1952, while working as an orderly in a mental hospital. After observing a psychiatrist he decided that this was to be his profession; that is a professional hypnotist working in hospitals.

While working in this capacity, his work dealt with such things as painless childbirth, and a number of psychiatric problems. He also tells of one case where a woman fearful of flight, was hypnotized to combat this fear. Today she enjoys flight as much as anyone.

According to Leonardo, everyone can be a hypnotist but not everyone can be hypnotized, nine out of ten can be hypnotized but according to Leonardo, intellectuals are the easiest because they have better control of concentration. He went on to say that "one in five is a natural."

When asked the longest time he has had a person under, his reply was "from nine in the morning till nine at night." If the statement "ten minutes of hypnotic sleep is equal to five hours sleep" is true, then that person will not need sleep for several days!

A question that Leonardo is confronted with is: "What would happen if you dropped dead during a performance on private session?" The subject would move into a natural sleep and wake refreshed, "was his answer.

"Hypnosis can be dangerous if performed by amateurs," says Leonardo. However, if conducted in the correct manner, it is a science.

Member Association of the Francophone Federation of Nova Scotia

The meeting also noted that the government had not yet received the final text of the Munroe report. The association is asking for more time in making a final decision concerning the report in question.

The assembly felt that with a reasonable length of time after receiving the final text of the report, the government should be in a position to make the final decision. Secretary, "Francophone Federation."

Following the January 30 meeting the following was forwarded to the Minister of Education:

The member Association of Francophone Federation of Nova Scotia in South Western Nova Scotia and other associations considering themselves as representative fair minded people of South West Nova Scotia can only reject the allegation of the Honorable Minister of Education, Honorable Gerald Boudet, that the issue they have taken with the government of Nova Scotia can do nothing but harm and we would respectfully remind the Honorable Minister of Education of his pledge of December 18th, 1968 as follows:

"Establish an independent tribunal of education in consultation with the interested persons here present and discuss and present proposals to the tribunal with the major decisions that are involved."

The University Grants Committee have indicated to me that in the circumstances they concur with this method of approach, in the Federation's view among the 14 major recommendations we urge the government of Nova Scotia to set on recommendation 1 by establishing the community college of the South West and recommend to appoint a temporary Board of Governors as outlined in the Munroe report to insure a normal transition from the present college to the new community college of the South West.

On February 2, the following telegram was forwarded to Honorable Minister of Education and Honorable G. I. Smith, Premier of Nova Scotia:

Honorable Sir:

CUSTOMER SERVICE CENTRE

The C.P.R. has inaugurated a Customer Service Centre at Digby, according to information imparted by Mayor Glen Smith at the Digby Town Council meeting on Monday night. This is a new method of contacting the public. A salesman and field staff will be used to increase volume of business in passenger, press and freight. It is understood. The service opened on Monday. It is expected that a direct dialing system from all points in Nova Scotia to the Customer Service Centre will give instant communication on passenger, freight and express service.

Further educational institutions once under control of the Eudist Fathers, has now passed into the hands of competent laymen. This trend may well carry itself over into the other Eudist institutions with regard, however, to College Sainte-Anne. The Eudists are desirous to wish to make it clear that although they can no longer assume the responsibility of directing an institution of higher learning, they are ready to continue their work of education by offering their services of all available personal.

The following is the Eudist Fathers' Statement of February 2. (Official Statement made by Provincial Superior of Eudist Fathers.)

Recent press releases with reference to the position of the Eudist Fathers at College Sainte-Anne were incomplete and the Superior of the Order has made the following comments:

The recruiting of vocations to the Eudist Congregation in Canada has considerably decreased during the last few years. This situation is quite general throughout the church today. Moreover, Vatican II has asked the priests and members of religious orders to work in close collaboration, but also in the field of education.

In the different educational institutions run by religious orders it is no longer a question of having lay professors only as collaborators, they must fill positions of great responsibility. There is a marked tendency on the part of the church gradually to hand over administrative positions to laymen. It is because of this new approach that the administration of se-

TRAMPOCRISY:
Bum's the word... be a bum and come and slum at the tramp tango this Saturday night. The curling club is all set for the tramp dance this weekend. Anyone, every one welcome.

Last Saturday night saw a good turnout for a social evening, some at curling and some engaged in bridge games with a busy staff of gals putting out:

Hamburgers, turkeyburgers, lobster burgers, done just right

Chile and rice and other things nice

Coffee that hot we also have got

All at the curling club Saturday night.

A package of fresh cooked lobsters was raffled off and the lucky name chosen, none other than our lobster king, Clayton Snow who promptly had them placed up for auction and sharp bidding produced the customer.

The members of the ladies team maintained fine relationship in representing the Digby club at the bonspiel held in Yarmouth and are now happily back in their homes. Also the men's senior team was back from Truro, but a representative team took off for the British Council playdowns in New Glasgow this week of Feb. 2nd. Digby team is J. J. Brittan, skip; J. Rosenthal, mate; C. Durke, 2nd stone; T. Cleveland, lead.

Chairman of the match committee, Jack Ritzy has the new schedule out for the annual Margollin play and several games have already been completed. The finals in this play slated for February 23rd.

Sympathy of the curling club is extended to Kelsey and Mary Lou Raymond in the loss of Kelsey's father, Mr. Cecil Raymond.

The latest incident occurred on Monday morning when one of the severe road construction trucks deposited a large boulder in the driveway while turning the corner. The same boulder struck the Peeks driveway and it required four men to move the boulder. The Shore Road construction trucks have before deposited rocks at this point. ## About This and That Community College At Meteghan

"De-regional" seems to be the byword today. If we subscribed to this paper completely there would be good reason to go along. The Munroe report is to establish a Community College at Meteghan to serve Yarmouth, Digby and Digby and any other parts of Nova Scotia which wanted to make use of such facilities. But, we have even more important reasons for supporting the idea of a community college in the Clare district to look after education for the next two years following Grade XII.

Let us be frank. It hasn't been a lack of transportation or the lack of paved highways which has physically separated the Clare people into Clare and the Digby people into Digby and similar areas on the West side of Clare. It has been language, although deep in spirit one would not wish for a better harmony. The new community college would be, bi-cultural with at least one-third of the students taken by the student to be in "bilingual" language. This in itself would be a benefit to both the French and English students and a cementing of ties between the two peoples of the areas concerned.

to be the most likely location. The choice of Meteghan is midway between the towns of Yarmouth and Digby.

There seems to be a lot of good common sense opinions in this column on all of the material contained in it. Space does not warrant it. We expect to bring out many thoughts from the Munroe report on other pages and hope that readers will pick up the thread. We do want to say that the community college would prepare students academically for university or vocationally for employment. The college would put both these purposes on the same plane, a thought which is still foreign to some parents. There are already several degree granting universities in the province and this unique type of college sounds much like a challenge which could be successful, provided, of course, that it is given the normal amount or maybe more than normal amount of good publicity or advertising. We would need to remember that it would be new and have to be sold.

With the trend in education today there would seem to be a need for this type of educational institution and while there are degree granting universities and types of junior colleges from Wolfville to Cape Breton, South Western Nova Scotia is devoid of any such institution. We in South Western Nova Scotia would be wise in thinking seriously on the Munroe report.

The community college would give students further time to make up their minds what field they really want to pursue in life. This idea in itself is one thought dear to our hearts, personally. Too often we've seen students start off for university not knowing exactly what they wanted to obtain because they had no real goal to pursue.

This community college idea is a new one and one which we feel deserves our attention. New thoughts will occur from time to time, no doubt, and we hope our readers will express opinions. While we appreciate the problems of the Department of Education and would hesitate to urge snap decisions which might end in mistakes, we would urge our town and County residents to think on the opportunities do not pass us by in South Western Nova Scotia forever. Do express thoughts to the department or through this newspaper.

More than a year ago this newspaper could not see moving College Anne from Church Point where thousands of dollars had been already spent on buildings, and very impressive looking buildings from the outside at that. The Munroe report indicates that it would cost just as much, practically, to bring the Church Point buildings up to proper standards as it would to build new. Therefore, why not build new, take the present buildings in the interim time and utilize the best alternative for affiliation purposes? It sounds logical.

Now, where to build? Well, each Digby and Yarmouth, we know, would graciously offer to have the community college in its own community and we feel one has practically as much to offer in return as the other so as college necessities go. But neither has the unique French setting for a bilingual college which can be offered in the Clare district whether that be Meteghan, Church Point or other village on the French shore. The perimeter around Clare is predominantly English and the T.V. which enters the home is English. The French area for preservation of the French language and culture would seem leave that decision in the hands of more than ourselves and we have taken no sides regarding it. Our quarrel is with the adverse publicity our town is receiving by half-truths and ridiculous statements. Our quarrel is that our children are being "brain-washed" by what they hear from elders and those who do not become completely "brain-washed" must be completely disturbed beyond doing their best at school. Our quarrel is that this school will probably lose teachers of high calibre who cannot be replaced. Our quarrel is that we are not being given credit in having had sufficient intelligence in the past forty years to know whether our educational system was known good for us or not.

Our theory, even with giving room for human fallacies and error and even with a welcome to new people and ideas is that we've done pretty darn well in the educational field in the past forty years. We are compelled to defend our intelligence on the matter and we expect we have those who agree, if not we do not mind standing alone.

Compelled To Defend Our Intelligence

All is not wrong with the Digby Regional High School. It is a proud night. Not only parents but relatives and friends, too, clamor for seating accommodation. Students generally are in praise of their teachers and administrators. Some of us have seen this appreciation demonstrated, others have not been here to witness even one graduation.

Some of us have lived in Digby for nearly 40 years and others are here still longer. We remember the crowded Digby Academy from which the Grade XI's and we believe, Grade XII (one year) graduated. We remember the pride with which the new school was opened on the hill and used. We remember the news columns devoted to Digby pioneering in Nova Scotia education. Digby had a number of firsts. We remember with pride this one thing, if no other, we have which could be attractive to industrialists contemplating the area, for it is a well known fact that a progressive school, progressing in peace and harmony, is, indeed, an attraction to industry. We are not quarrelling with the outcome of a recent Appeal. We can only leave that decision in the hands of more than ourselves and we have taken no sides regarding it. Our quarrel is with the adverse publicity our town is receiving by half-truths and ridiculous statements. ## Letters To The Editor

Milverton, Ont.
Box 152
February 5, 1970

Mrs. Edith Wallis
Editor The Digby Courier,
Digby, Nova Scotia
Dear Mrs. Wallis,

The incredible story of "The Rucker affair" greatly disturbs this graduate of DRHS, now a high school teacher in Canada's festival city of Stratford.

Reading from a distance the record of evidence presented at the appeal hearing and the judge's remarks that only professional educators can evaluate a teacher's performance, one cannot help but wonder at the result of the appeal.

If a teacher can be reinstated in his position following his dismissal as the result of repeated unfavourable ratings, how can a principal or superintendent contemplate dismissal in the future? An unfortunate precedent seems to have been set by this appeal verdict.

Mr. Rucker has won a battle but he goes on facing a wide array of problems. The position vacated by Mr. Rucker is not given to an educator from Ontario (Does Mr. Rucker feel there is no one in Nova Scotia equal to the position?) or does he realize that no one familiar with the situation would want it? Is the young man sincerely a realist or a publicity-seeker?

The teacher in question wrote a letter to the editor of "The Courier" in which he which left the impression that the school administrators in Digby would react as a result of the "pain in the neck". Were they determined to purge him from the high school staff as a result of this? No mention of this background was made in the reports of the enquiry that I read.

Surely a great deal of "bad blood" has been generated and Mr. Rucker, for the sake of the school and its students, now that he has made his point, will voluntarily resign at the end of the term.

The winds of change are being felt and progress will come. Revolution is alien to our democratic society. The young teachers who are sympathetic to the feelings of today's students can make their impression through quiet competence, their openness to new ideas, and a creative presence.

From now until June, there should be declared so that the students can concentrate on their studies. I have a younger brother at that school and I care.

Yours for quality education,
Ernest Halgaj

Mrs. J. M. Wallis
The Courier
Water Street
Digby, N.S.
Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I would like at this time to calculate new school registration in College St. Area situation. One may ask or wonder why it is that many people pursue a vacation holiday, summer or otherwise, in a rural or country area. The people involved seem to lead away from the chaos of the city, life to the solitude and peace of the country. Some try to escape the pressures and harassments of the city.

Located at Church Point, Digby, Nova Scotia, I believe that in ancient Roman Law, there existed a principle stating that the will of the prince is the highest law. The various political groups who form the government of this province possess the power and possibly can be out to help us out of our predicament. I realize the tremendous pressure which we heavily upon the government officials, but we are faced with an equally stupendous strain: their wish to ascertain their future as well as certain things to conserve our part, as well as to protect our future.

I feel it fair to state that we have asked relatively little of the government in the past. If our plea comes at a bad time on the government's calendar, I can only say that we do not contrite fail.

We the Acadians, long in 1955 as we do not wish to lose again. Should we lose College St. Area, a remnant of Acadian culture, it would be lost. The various political groups who form the government of this province possess the power and possibly can be out to help us out of our predicament. I realize the tremendous pressure which we heavily upon the government officials, but we are faced with an equally stupendous strain: their wish to ascertain their future as well as certain things to conserve our part, as well as to protect our future.

Yours truly,

INSPECTOR REVIEWS
The Community College recommended would be receiving students at the age when they need guidance in selecting an occupation to fit their need in the economic and social life. The program of the college would not be fixed one but one subject to change as the needs require. As a bilingual institution the new Community College would receive students who speak French or English and who would be required to take one-third of their courses in a language other than their mother tongue. Mr. Comeau felt there were many high school students who would be happy to study part of their course in another language. Examinations could be done in either language the student would desire.

Mr. Comeau said that all members of the staff of the recommended college would have to be able to express themselves fluently in either language, all printed material and announcements would be in both languages and the basic courses which might be pursued in English, French, library would be in both languages. Mr. Comeau noted that in the diplomatic field, in commerce and in industry it is becoming more necessary to know more than one language.

Mr. Comeau said the new Community College would have both academic and vocational students on the same campus, which would eliminate the artificial and unwise separation of the two courses. One type of education, he said was as noble as the other and capable young people can be found in both. He listed books and periodicals in the

At its full potential (500 to 1000 students) the College would require a staff of 45 professionals, a highly competent, Mr. Comeau stated, and added that to prepare young people for the institute would require some high school teachers to be more proficient in a second language of Commerce, with which there would have to be excellent liaison would have to prepare to receive the two-language students.

The Tribunal's choice of a site for the new college was neither Church Point nor Yarmouth (the former controversial site), but somewhere between Yarmouth and Yarmouth and 40 miles from Church Point, equidistant between Yarmouth and Yarmouth.

It is proposed that the present College Sainte Anne be affiliated with the new Digby College in providing adult education and short courses.

The Tribunal recommended a Board of Governors for the college of 15 to 20 members, chosen from the Acadian and English communities, the Eudist Fathers and interested religious bodies, the universities of the Maritime provinces and the faculty and students of the Community College.

Mr. Comeau said the government is anxious to see that College Sainte Anne continues to operate in its present degree granting status and gradually devolve into the new institution should the Munroe report be implemented.

In closing his remarks Inspector Comeau recommended a greater study and deeper understanding of the report and also a greater awareness of the critical period through which the Department of Education is moving with the demand for higher salaries for teachers and more money for equipment. He said the plight of South Western Nova Scotia is that they see only a fraction of what the Minister of Education has to go through. The minister, he said, has to convince the Cabinet that all the expenditures proposed are justified. The problem is a serious and important one, he said.

ment objecting to the proposal by the government of increasing benefits to $70 per insurance amount instead of the $52 maximum at present. Mr. Adelaar, in introducing the subject, said that we in the Maritimes should take note of what this means to the economy and what it does for industry's productivity. Mr. Adelaar will report on his preliminary study at the next Board of Trade meeting when it is hoped to have Jules Pothier of the Manpower Centre present to advise on unemployment figures. Mr. Adelaar expressed the wish to have Charles Halburton on the committee to which he was given power to add.

Mr. Adelaar, also vice president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in speaking before a Board of Trade Seminar in Kentville on Tuesday, said that it was important that the voice of the Maritimes through boards of trade, should be heard and reckoned with by government. He said that the seminar was held in the Boer War. It was here that the voice of the Maritimes through boards of trade, should be heard and reckoned with by government.

Others from Digby area who attended the seminar were Russell Stonehouse and C. D. Snow.

his boyhood he became a soldier and rose to the rank of Major General. E. P. H. is especially in South Africa during the Boer War. It was here he used boys as messengers, first aid attendants and for other jobs. From this experience Baden-Powell developed a great many ideas for scouting.

On Baden Powell's return to England he developed a programme of activities which he called "Scouting For Boys". In 1907 he held a camp in Brownsea Island, off the coast of England, and this camp is today recognized as the first Boy Scout camp in history.

Having tested this programme Baden Powell wrote a book called "Scouting for Boys". As a result, patrols and troops sprung up all over England and spread across the seas to the British Dominions and other countries.

Scouting is now active in over seventy countries. There are over eleven million cub scouts, venturers, rover scouts, brownies, guides and rangers. In Canada alone there are over 300,000 members of this organization.

Celebration of Guide-Scout Week begins on Monday, February 16, with broomball games at the Digby Forum. Leading off the event is a game of broomball between the R. C. Cubs and the United Church ends. After this game the guides host the scouts in a match. Next on the agenda is a match between the R. C. Cubs and the United Church play the Baptist 1000. There will continue until there is a winner. Wrapping up the broomball will be a match between the venturers and the G.G.I.T. These events take place from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

On Thursday, Feb. 19 there will be a Variety Show at the Digby Regional High School building at 7:00 p.m. Take part in the programme will be cubs, scouts, venturers, guides and brownies of the area. This show is open to the public and there is no charge for admission. Miss Helen Smith will open the show.

Sunday the 22nd of February will see an interdenominational church parade in Digby United Baptist Church at which time Baden Powell's birthday will be remembered. During Guide-Scout Week there will be a window in one of Digby's post offices on main street. The theme of Guide-Scout Week which is (Partners in Action) will be very much evidenced in actions, words and pictures.

Welfare Presents Report To Municipal Council

Welfare expenditures for the year 1969 in Digby Municipality totalled $31,500.19. In administration costs the cost to the municipality was $1,050.50 and the cost to the department of public welfare was $2,914.26.

A breakdown of the welfare expenditures for Digby Municipality in 1969 showed that the total cost for general assistance was $23,088.27. Of this amount the municipal share was $7,528.12 and the provincial share $23,350.15. Total cost of the community residence program was $4,107.22. Of this total the municipal share was $901.29 and the provincial share $3,204.04.

The report noted the general upgrading courses provided through the Canada Manpower Centre. It was also stated lobster fishing had been more profitable than in previous years. It was stated that it was felt to be that this was due to several factors.

Amongst these were the little road construction during the year, more serious illnesses and more residents aware of services available under the program. It was pointed out that a few clients had taken advantage of the educational upgrading courses provided through the Canada Manpower Centre. It was also stated lobster fishing had been more profitable than in previous years. It was stated that it was felt to be that this was due to several factors.

It was stated the majority of clients were formerly patients in homes for the disabled and, as a result, the cost for maintaining patients in these homes had decreased by approximately $15,000.00.

The report noted income nursing homes and boarding homes provided care for 7 additional patients during 1969. This increased expenditures for these privately operated homes by $6,891.38. It was stated in the report that due to the absence of homes for special care in the municipality, all of these patients have had to be placed in other municipalities, some more than two hundred miles away. It seems evident, the report commented, that some consideration should be given to the erection of a home for special care in the near future.

Referring to budget allocations, the report noted that estimated welfare expenditures for 1969 totalled $46,500.00. Actual expenditures were $39,887.50.

Reflections

On A Winter World

Winter spread his silver mantle
O'er a silent, waiting world,
Covering up the sombre grayness
Of naked trees against the sky.
As winds tinged with crystal arrows
Sent the gay confetti flying
From the white-topped, frosted trees,
Then with his strong, cold, icy fingers
Winter filled the earth with magic,
Where the long, deep, purple shadows
Haunt the distant, misty hills,
While below a little streamlet
Dreams again of frothy laughter
Echoping from a happy hilltop,
Waits in vain and knows not why.

DONDALÉ PRESENTS ASSESSMENT REPORT

Total taxable assessment in the Municipality of Digby for 1970 is $18,729,025. It was stated in a report presented to the January meeting of the Digby municipal council by Phillip Dondale, director of assessment. This is an increase of $452,265 over the total taxable assessment on the rolls after the appeal cut in 1969.

Mr. Dondale noted in his reports the number of assessment accounts in the district actually decreased although the total assessment increased. He said the reason for this is a change in method. He explained that a new section of the Act requires occupancy accounts to be excluded when determining the number of accounts. Since the number of accounts in a unit in the assessment form part of the basis for cost sharing, it was necessary to exclude occupancy accounts in order to arrive at an equitable basis should a town or municipality be imposing occupancy assessment, he said.

All districts within Digby Municipality have shown an increase in assessment except two, Mr. Dondale said, one of the districts where a decrease occurred, he stated, District No. 1 where the total net taxable assessment this year is $1,004,055, a decrease of $9,095 from last year. Among the reasons for this, he said, is a decrease of $21,000 in lands of Bowers-Mersey due to reclassification because of increased cutting. This decrease was partly offset by occupancy and personal property assessment increases and a decrease in the widow's exemption.

The other district in which a decrease occurred, it was stated, was District No. 7 where last winter hoarding of construction equipment resulted in a sizeable temporary assessment. The decrease in this district for 1969 totalled $137,155.

Citizens Committee Airs Beefs

No resolutions or motions were forthcoming from the Citizens Committee of Digby and Municipality headed by Fred Harris which met at the Digby Regional High School Auditorium on Thursday evening but opportunity was given for the 65 to 75 in attendance to air their beefs on Digby educational matters.

At the table with the president were executive members Mrs. Edith Essex, secretary; Mrs. Roger Matheson, treasurer; William Gidner; Mrs. Joe Weir; Orin Peck; Dale Halliday; Philip Robinson and Robert Robinson, Representatives from Digby Neck chosen on Thursday evening were Gerald Walker and George Thabani.

Mr. Harris explained the purpose of the committee, which was formed at a recent meeting at Acadville, as being to create better communications between local ratepayers or citizens and the educational authorities in the town or municipality. He felt that answers to problems were not satisfactorily given by the school supervisory staff and the Citizens Committee was a means of endeavoring to get the answers. He also felt that the financial business of the school was also a matter of concern for the citizens. Mr. Harris said that he had spent practically all of nine days to properly organize the committee and prepare for the meeting.

Letters were read by members of the executive and questions asked by various persons in the audience, all of which Mr. Harris pledged to find the answers before the next meeting. Questions ranged all the way from students spending fifteen cents for exam papers (with no receipt) and a policy of not returning exam papers to the purchasing of school buses and school equipment. Regarding the return of exam papers, Sister Lorna Conn informed the meeting that in Freepost (where she teaches) the exam papers are given back and added "Bring your children to Freepost". The matter of music teaching in the school was raised and mention was made that a fully qualified art teacher in the staff of the school and could be used in teaching art.

CURLING NEWS

A bunch of hobos were whooping it up And if you did stare at those that were there At the curling club last Saturday night We'll agree they were an "awful" sight But the gang was gay and say what you may The judges' selections were fine and so was the bill of fare.

(and the crowd enjoyed being there)

Interesting snapshots were taken of costumed participants by our handy-artist photographer and complimentary club steward - Pierce Grant.

Last week's lobster draw was won by Charles MacNaughton over "Gaston" Charlie Halburton, who tied with the score in the final end, forcing the play-off to an extra end to decide the winner. Matoro Gonzales with his last shot speared his rock through the port opening to the center of the bull ring and winning for himself and teammates the honored Salvia Trophy. In the next division the playoffs were between Dom. Raymond and Rosenhal. As the completion of the second end the DeMille team being one ahead decided it was a good time to quit and claiming the win. In section No. 3 the levynick did a better job at stumbling and earned their loss to the Daley foursome.

On lane one Ship Webber, who the previous week was clubbed on the scoreboard failing to score a single point, was much encouraged (though clubbed once more) by winning point end out of six. With this encouragement he look off next day for the mixed bonspiel at Wolfville with a good supporting team anyway. The coming week, at Yarmouth, the Branch Junior Play gets underway. This competition embraces curlers with not more than eight years experience. Entering the play: S. MacNaughton, G. Saunders, A. Mullen and W. Collins. And the following week the Johnson Senior Bonspiel for curlers with more than eight years experience will see Digby again represented. This play will be at the Mayflower Curling Club Hall (Tas).

Playoffs in the local club among three teams challenging the right to represent at Liverpool in the Western Counties Annual Bonspiel will start Friday at 7:00 p.m. Second game is at 9:15 p.m. and another game Saturday afternoon, so though the membership is down somewhat the spirit of competition is up at the curling club.

Badminton On The Islands

On Saturday, January 31st, the Islands Consolidated School Badminton team, consisting of six boys and an equal number of girls, participated in a tournament at Horton District High School where they played in their first inter-school Badminton tournament of the year.

All games were closely contested with the Islands' team's strength in the boys' section of the tournament to a 9-7 triumph over the host Horton squad. It was a team effort that provided the margin of victory with dazzling individual display of court generalship by Gerald Tison and Richard MacIntosh passing the way to victory.

Enthusiasm for the sport is high at Islands Consolidated School. It is hoped that further tournaments with other schools will soon be forthcoming.

On recommendation of F. C. Purdy, it was regularly passed at the meeting of the Digby General Hospital Board on Tuesday evening that the hospital board meetings be opened to the press. ## Over 400 Petition Board To Withdraw Resignations

More than 400 persons had signed a petition by Monday night to have the Digby Regional High School Board and the Urban Board of School Commissioners withdraw the resignations of F. C. Purdy, Superintendent, C. C. MacInnis, supervisor, and John Ritey, principal (effective at the close of the year) and appoint them to remain in their posts for at least another year. The petition was placed before each of the school boards above. Mayor Glen Heath moved in each case that the Board consider the wishes of the people (text of the motion elsewhere) bringing to mind that the wishes of three persons regarding school questions had been considered at a recent school board meeting and the answers to their questions made public. The motion was seconded at the D.R.H.S. meeting by Donald Brown and at the Board of School Commissioners by Ralph MacIntyre. The petition was presented in the light of grave concern for the education of the children and the future of the system that provides that education and in concern because of confusion and uncertainty in view of pending orders and preventing further deterioration in relationships between administration, teacher, school community and child and providing a climate for the children to receive their education properly. The matter was put in the hands of the Staff Selection Committee. Dr. D. Lewis, chairman, presided over the D.R.H.S. Board meeting and Mrs. Helen Anthony, chairman, presided at the Board of School Commissioners. Present at the D.R.H.S. Board meeting were Dr. Lewis, Donald Brown, Mrs. Conrad Gidney, Warden Ronald Morrice, Mayor Smith, Jack Ritey, Jack Whalley, C. C. MacInnis, F. C. Purdy and Keith Raymond. ## MAYOR SMITH'S STATEMENT ON DIGBY SCHOOL ISSUE

At a meeting of the Digby Regional High School Board on Monday night, Mayor Glen Smith moved that the Board give consideration to a petition placed before it which had been signed by over 400 citizens. The statement issued at the Digby Regional High School Board and at the Board of School Commissioners follows:

While I realize an educational survey of our school system has been requested by this Board, on recommendation of the Superintendent, I do feel that we must give full consideration to the wishes of the people who have circulated and signed the petition before us this evening. At our last meeting we acted upon an open letter signed by three people and fully answered the questions contained in that letter and asked the press to publish those answers.

I move therefore that this Board give serious and careful consideration to the request contained in the petition before us this evening. (Please turn to page 3)

NO CONFIRMATION ON VOTE

A rumor that members of the Digby Local Nova Scotia Teachers' Union on Tuesday night voted in support of F. C. Purdy, superintendent of Digby area schools; C. C. MacInnis, supervisor and Jack Ritey, principal of the Digby Regional High School in a result of 46 affirmative and 9 objections could not be confirmed because of there being no public relations officer for the Digby Local. It is understood that the public relations officer resigned (also another executive member) on Tuesday evening and no press release can be granted until such time as the press vacancy is filled. It is understood that the union in support of the administrators did not give authority to another, such as secretary or president, to release the information.

The motion, it is rumored, was prompted by the resignation of the administrators, effective at the close of the present term, following the outcome of a teacher dismissal appeal. Other business dealt with at the union meeting will also be released to the public.

quest contained in the petition which has been placed before it concerning a reversal of the Board's decision to accept the resignations of administrative staff members...

It is my feeling, Mr. Chairman, that we should act very soon on this petition. I feel that undue delay will only serve to continue a most unsatisfactory condition within our school.

I have been asked to sign the petition asking the Board to reconsider and reinstate Messrs. Purdy, MacInnes and Rithey. I have not signed this petition, not because I am opposed to it, but because I personally feel it might be a solution to this problem.

My reason for not signing this petition is that I feel I can better serve the interests of good education in the Town of Digby by maintaining a position as Mayor in which I can provide communication between educational authorities and others that might bring about an effective solution to the problem.

Two years ago I signed a similar petition and swore that I could do all in my power to work for the benefit of the citizens of the Town of Digby. I am attempting to do.

now attending school, or long term residents of the town? I think the least that could have been done was to present an equal number of people from each side of the controversy. Privately owned media may not do this but a Crown Corporation should be more fair.

These are my personal feelings about these issues. Thank you for allowing me to express them publicly through your paper.

A TIME FOR MODERATION

(By Henry Ruckler)

During the past month there has been, I think I can say, a tendency for most of us of the Digby community to lean to one side or the other of what appears to be an "anti-establishment" versus "pro-establishment" controversy, with the control thereof being the administration, financial management, and curricula of the Digby School System.

Such division of any community does not make it a particularly healthy climate in which to live, work and raise families. It has surely given Digby an image in other parts of the province and country which are not conducive to bringing either our industry or a large tourist business into future years. To the extent that it has affected our schools, the children are the greatest losers.

In summation, the "handing over of lines" on both sides with the resultant breakdown of communications within the community is something to avoid which all of us should seek to undo, and to re-establish harmonious relations among all elements of the community.

"Things will, however, never be just the same again in Digby. Our community is growing, and maturing, and the program is "growing pains". But the transition to a new social system, and to a new educational system, must be gradual or evolutionary - and not disruptive, destructive, or revolutionary - for the well-being of our entire population.

"The establishment" may be distrusted by some; it may or may not have always been ethical in its behavior; it is surely legitimate. And even if overthrown, as in a revolutionary situation, these agencies which may be blamed for any and all social ills.

As Digby enters this new phase of its life as a community, the "establishment" need not be discarded; it can and should be expected to accommodate itself to the new conditions prevalent in the community. As to retail trade, there is a new growing spirit, which effectively competes with longer-established firms. There is now a second newspaper, and the presence of both does not necessarily mean the demise of one; they may accommodate different types of news. In the educational system, there are many new, innovative ideas of new teachers which conflict with the established concepts of the administration; these are not irreconcilable.

Many groups in the community are expected to be treated with a new dignity and respect - welfare recipients, teachers, blacks, and many of these in the lower socio-economic classes. The lack of acceptance of these people by the older, established families, at first is, quite understandable. However, their ultimate acceptance is certain and it is doubtful that the "established people" will actually decline. In all probability they will achieve a more esteemed position as income rises for them as for everyone else.

But the necessity is for moderation, men, not extreme men, by any person or group of persons.

Perhaps, in the light of current tensions, all of us should have a "cooling off" period of one month, followed by round-table community discussions at which we should represent all conceivable community, occupational, eth-

Wharf Repairs, Student Employment Board Of Trade Topics

At a meeting of the Clare Board of Trade held at Little Brook with Paul Cosman, of Saultierville presiding, a resolution was passed requesting information from the Department of Public Works, why after having allotted over $200,000.00 in the estimates for the last three years for the repairs to the Saultierville breakwater-wharf, the same sum was not allotted for 1969 and why the work on repairing was not done in previous years when the money had been voted and placed in the estimates.

This item refers to the new wharf at Saultierville which was supposedly constructed to withstand the heaviest storms which rage in the area especially during the winter months. The Saultierville wharf received a tremendous pounding during a gale of nearly hurricane force and was put out of commission when a large portion was undermined and has tilted. The wharf has been built in sections with hollow concrete blocks with large round holes of five feet or more on the outside of the wharf which was supposed to calm the pounding surf, did not work as planned. A large portion of this wharf is barred from use.

The Clare Chamber of Commerce requested information from the Department of Public Works why the repairs to the wharf was not being undertaken and the reply was received stating that projects of higher priority in other areas of Canada for 1969 were being undertaken.

When the Clare Chamber of Commerce recommended that a fisherman's wharf be constructed in Saultierville, several years ago, to replace an old wharf which was deteriorating and useless, the Department of Public Works had stated that it would be advisable to wait until the new Saultierville wharf of modern construction was completed and then the department would study the feasibility of constructing the fisherman's wharf at Saultierville. There has been nothing done either for Saultierville repairs to the wharf or to constructing a fisherman's wharf at Meteghan.

Other matters discussed at the meeting was the operation of the Tourist Bureau at Meteghan, adjacent to the Provincial picnic park at Soulangers Cove, the new community centre at Aux Hirondelettes (Sawal's Cove). Mr. Edouard LeBlanc told the members of the board that several in hand-drawn of the area could be sold in the bureau as well as the dispensing of information to tourists to the area. He said that many items of handicraft varieties in Clare have no outlet for their merchandise and the bureau would be an ideal place to serve as a combined tourist and handicraft centre. Mr. LeBlanc also said that we have a marketable commodity in the Municipality of Clare which are the main items is Culture. Smuggler's Cove at Meteghan, said Mr. LeBlanc, is a tourist attraction that should receive more publicity. Steps should be constructed so that the tourists and visitors to our area may be able to descend to the shore and visit the cave which exists on the northern side of the rock cliffs. Smuggler's Cove is adjacent to the Provincial picnic park and it is from this park that a railway should be constructed.

Mr. LeBlanc also recommended that bilingual signs on stone fronts as well as other establishments would give the area a particular and distinctive attraction to visitors in the area. The bilingual signs, said Mr. LeBlanc, should be made known to the public. Mr. Emmanuel Adelaar of the Maritime Board of Trade spoke briefly on the plan of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce's plan to assist students to obtain summer work. The unemployment situation in the country is deteriorating, said Mr. Adelaar and the problem of providing work to students is of great importance. Canada has an explosive population of 8,000,000 and summer jobs are required for approximately 700,000 students to work with various other departments along with boards of trades and manager's way must be found to give employment to students, to every 100 men employed in businesses, one job should be found for a student. If this plan was successful, a large number of students would receive summer work which is required for many to continue their studies at colleges and universities. Mr. Adelaar stated that a public campaign in publicity will be started in March.

As It Happens

Canadiane has the world's most severe mass case of "lephonia". This so-called "disease" is particularly rampant on Monday nights when CBC radio's As It Happens roller-coaster across the country for two hours, beginning at 8:03 p.m. local time. The bearded gentleman on right is artist-turned-broadcaster William Ronald, host of the show; who talks to people making headlines in Canada, or anywhere. He's ably assisted by Newfoundland Harry Brown (left). The show is live and lively, mainly because the people at both ends of the line always have something interesting to say.

SECRETARY ASKED RECONSIDER RESIGNATION

R. K. Purdy, Bear River, was asked to reconsider his resignation as secretary-treasurer of the Bear River Agricultural Society and as secretary-manager of the Digby County Exhibition. It was felt at the regular meeting of the agricultural society on Wednesday evening that the two jobs were more than one person should be required to do. It was suggested that the secretary and manager of the exhibition should be separate jobs. By regular motion it was decided to ask Mr. Purdy to reconsider.

Leonard Boudreau, Concession, was in attendance and again offered services in preparing for the Digby County Exhibition in 1970. In his resignation Mr. Purdy did not ask for remuneration but he pointed out the amount of free time and expense which is incurred in amounting as secretary-manager of the Digby County Exhibition. There were 100 days of work amounting to $1500; donation of land, 2,000 mileage, $200; lunches, $50.00. The meeting on Wednesday remarked on the tremendous amount of work done by Mr. Purdy.

From the annual meeting minutes it was learned that the receipts of B. R. Agricultural Society in 1969 were $1400.52, expenses $1371.00, balance $37.52 with $26.89 in accounts receivable. The balance in the Digby County Exhibition account is $1,108.27 with $211.10 in accounts receivable. Balances February 11, 1970 were $108.78 Agricultural Society and $1,314.66 Exhibition.

Mr. Purdy made suggestions of items which might be purchased to facilitate office work and exhibition activity. One of these was directional and display signs. (Please turn to page 12)

Others recognized far services by Mr. Rice were: Mrs. Ethel Arnold, organist; Gerald Klare, chairman of the Christian Education Committee whose resignation was accepted with regret and Reginald Jefferson who is confined to bed. (Please turn to page 12)

Poetry Corner

Invitation

Come, come to Nova Scotia,
leave the roar of the city behind,
Stroll through our green, cool woodlands,
Mingle with Nature and her kind.

Come, come to Nova Scotia,
And breathe our fresh, clear air;
When you life of the dusty city,
Behind you leave each trial and care.

Come, come to Nova Scotia;
Leave the faceless strangers you meet
With their hustle and bustle everywhere,
A Bijou, "Hi", is truly sweet.

Come, come to Nova Scotia,
leave the scream of traffic dull -
A softer cry you'll find down East -
That of the bright, free-spirited gull!

Come, come to Nova Scotia,
Forget the city's smoky smell,
Breathe deeply of old Scotia's air
Of salt and seaweed mingled well.

Come, come to Nova Scotia
Where sunset makes the breakers glow;
I wish I certain these are found?
I live here - and I know!

Town And Municipal Residents Want School Order Restored

A public meeting to discuss how to restore order to the Digby school system and bring about an end to a disruptive situation involving education that seems to be going much of the local area, has been scheduled for the Digby Regional High School Auditorium Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The meeting is being sponsored by a group of local business and professional men composed of J. J. Brittain, Dr. D. G. Black, Gerard Coakley, Charles Haldimont, Charles McBride, Dr. J. R. McCleave, Dr. P. C. Outhouse

Most of the present situation in Digby concerning education erupted with a decision by a three man appeal board that a probationary teacher, Henry Barker, who was fired by the school board, should be reinstated. Since that time a Citizens' Committee has been active and two public meetings have been sponsored by the group. At the first of these a number of questions, mainly concerned with operation of the Digby schools, purchases and other matters relating to the operation of the Digby schools, purchases and other matters relating to the school system were placed before the meeting.

At a second meeting, following the setting up of a committee of the school board to meet with the citizens' group, a number of these questions were answered. The committee has announced a regular monthly meeting will be held.

Following the announcement of the decision of the appeal board the superintendent of schools, F. C. Purdy, school supervisor, C. C. MacInnes and principal John Butey resigned and their resignations were accepted by the school board. Since then a petition asking the school board to get those men to reconsider their decisions was circulated in the area and presented to the school board. Another petition that the resignations stand has also been circulated.

The situation has reportedly resulted in a good deal of discussion within the school system among teachers. The situation has spread into the community to the point where Fred Harris, head of the citizens committee, told a public meeting he had received threatening phone calls encouraging his involvement in the committee. Staff of a local radio station also maintained they had received threatening phone calls encouraging his involvement in the committee. J. J. Brittain, school board chairman, Dr. D. G. Black, and Dr. J. R. McCleave, head of the citizens committee, are to be interviewed at a public meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Digby Regional High School Saturday at 2:00 p.m.

Mr. Comeau was concerned that travel barriers are no longer eligible for unemployment insurance stamps. They are, he said, an essential part of iraw fishing and cannot be replaced by other means. He said that in this regard there will be no need for improvements to wharves and harbours. He also advocated selling the waters so that nation's honor

RESUE OF THE BLUE HERON

We have been reading so much about the oil slicks off our coast and that of the United States resulting in the loss of life among the water fowl, thought the following story might be interesting.

This bunker oil is very thick and a bird diving into it becomes completely covered and hence the wings will be useless and all feathers matted with oil.

If you have never tried to clean a bird up perhaps you would be interested in how I helped save a Blue Heron.

A well known surveyor in the north end of town called and asked if I could come down and help clean up a Blue Heron that had had oil poured over it at the Racquet wharves.

When I got there I found he had covered the bird's head with a bag but needed help holding the bird while he scraped off the oil.

This was done by laying the wings flat on a board and scraping the oil off with a knife, then wiping off with gasoline, then good soapy warm water.

During this procedure the bird got away and hopped onto an adjoining field, it must have been a strange sight to see a Blue Heron, complete with bag over its head, being chased by two long legged hens. However, we caught it and returned to complete its toilet.

The bird was wiped as dry as possible, then taken to the Cannon Bank where a kindly young boy watched over it until it was dry enough to fly off to feed.

Thus, the life of one Blue Heron was saved.

Some of our birds have shown up at feeding trays the last few days. During the mid spill they were able to find their natural food in the open. I was glad to welcome back my little white throated sparrow. He has been away for ten days and I had fears that a sharp-shinned hawk that has been lurking around here all winter had had a tasty meal of him.

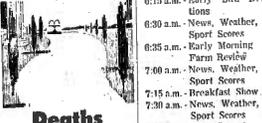

A Bald Headed Eagle has been reported to me from Weymouth, "Susie", the Mocking Bird, that has been spending the winter in a garden at the South end of town, is still around and being fed faithfully by a kind gentleman. Hope she makes it through next month - then she will be safe. When warm weather comes am sure she will sing her beautiful song and repay him for the many pounds of grapes she has consumed during the winter.

The Bird Lady.

He said "If they're willing to pay we're willing to run all night" but Mr. Outhouse definitely stated he did not want any part of ferrying by night with a snow and the present facilities. He said of some of the dangers in night crossing.

Mr. Outhouse continued in saying "If there is an emergency you know we'll take the people of the Island communities become second class citizens" by virtue of no permanent crossing of the passage. It effects everybody's life on the islands. No Attention was brought by David Outhouse for willingly transporting ill patients at night. But felt it was often putting the life of the patient and himself in danger.

Referring to the fish catches on the Neve and Islands, Dr. Meehan said "seven million dollars is a lot of chicken feed."

"Let's call a spade a spade," remarked the doctor. "Does it mean that all we can do is talk? We do not seem to be able to convince the people in Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto that fishing is a major industry like farming."

Grandad Rescues Two Year Old

Little 2 1/2 year old Vernon Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, (nee) Rhoda Eisner) of Cambridge Station nearly lost his life by drawing Wednesday afternoon, between 4:30 and 5 o'clock. Vernon had gone out with his grandfather, Curtis Eisner of Bear River, 70 years old, who was doing the chores. The little lad left his grandad to get the handsteds, just outside the Eisner home. On Mr. Eisner's return to the house, Mrs. Thomas asked the whereabouts of her son. Grandad was sure he was near as he had been with him minutes before.

Just then the farm Collie ran from a pond to the house and turned straight around running back to the pond again. Mr. Eisner and Mrs. Thomas quickly followed. When they reached the pond they noticed a little hand just above the surface of the water. The pond was partially covered with ice and the little fellow apparently slipped off the ice into the open water. At once his grandad waded waist deep into the pond in an effort to save his grandchild. When he came a few feet from the child, he disappeared beneath the surface of the water but soon resurfaced and his grandfather grabbed him and with difficulty he had to struggle with arthritis in his legs) carried the child to safety.

The grandmother who has been in bed with the flu for several weeks was in the water when her husband failed. The expectant mother had trouble controlling herself so as not to enter the water.

After a good warm towel-ling, she and her husband and baby seemed no worse for their narrowing experience.

Mrs. Thomas was staying with her parents to aid her mother with the household duties while she was ill.

FREEMAN FIREMEN
After operating with a portable pump, only for some time, Freeport made the purchase of a fire truck and other equipment and organized a Volunteer Fire Department on Friday evening. The truck was purchased from the Middleton Fire Department.

The organization meeting on Friday was under the chairmanship of Village Commissioner Harold Crocker and fire chief, Roland Campbell, who had arranged the preliminary. Mr. Campbell was elected fire chief and Gene Tibert deputy chief. Others elected were Sidney Hooper, secretary and treasurer, (he is also secretary for the Village Commissioners) and Allison Morehouse, Frank More and Horace Lent, crew chiefs. The men were chosen because of their particular knowledge and interest and also because of location.

Each of the crew chiefs were to choose eight men for their crews, three to be truck drivers, three nozzle men and two hose men. Because Freeport men are mostly fishermen and could be out at sea when a fire occurs, care was taken in choosing land based men wherever possible. Mr. Moore chose from the Fish Point area - Earl Thurber, truck; Malcolm Bates, nozzle; Linden Patterson, hose and Horace Lent, crew chiefs. The men were chosen because of their particular knowledge and interest and also because of location.

Some of those who were present were not able to join the fire department because of age or other reasons but volunteered "availability for moving hoses and property of directing traffic."

It is expected that an EMO training course will be set up early in the summer to give the men greater knowledge for fire fighting. Mr. Campbell said that Freeport has now all the basic equipment for fire fighting but extremely important that there was need for a spare pump ladders, buckets, axes and more hose. It was announced that Gilbert Bates with 20 years experience in fire fighting was to be looked into immediately. A vote of confidence in the fire chief was moved on behalf of the taxpayers of the village. Mr. Campbell in accepting the vote of confidence classified responsibility at a fire to be in order.

Insurance for the fire crew was to be looked into immediately. A vote of confidence in the fire chief was moved on behalf of the taxpayers of the village. Mr. Campbell in accepting the vote of confidence classified responsibility at a fire to be in order.

An I.O.D.E. Second War Memorial Scholarship valued at $3,000 has been awarded to Mrs. Leslie Stewart Goudy. Mrs. Goudy (the former Leslie Anderson) was born in Halifax April 20th, 1916. She graduated from Digby Regional High School in 1933. Mrs. Goudy was awarded an

by C. E. Edwards
 The Committee established last year by the Municipality of Annapolis County and Annapolis County School Boards to study school board amalgamation concluded; as a result of the year's study, that amalgamation would result in a more effective and economical functioning of the School System. To implement fully the province's comprehensive school program, large administrative units are required. Though no information was available regarding the total amalgamation costs would be less, since costs are rising, the Committee did conclude that under economies effected and a more efficient use of both the teaching staff and physical plant. Virtually all the recommendations made to the Government by the committee have been implemented. These include (1) The inclusion of approved costs of administration in the foundation program, (2) An updating of the foundation program percentages based on current annual approved expenditures, (3) The inclusion of capital debt charges in the foundation program, and (4) An increase in the scale of approved capital expenditures and a better definition of shareable capital costs.

This County will be approximately $4,000,000 - three and one half million for primary and secondary education, and one half million for vocational education. Of this cost the tax payers of Annapolis County will pay approximately 30% for primary and secondary education, or $1,200,000. The remainder of the cost will be met by the Provincial Government in addition to 100% of the cost of vocational education. The joint school budget for Annapolis County is approximately $1,600,000, of which the tax payer of the two Counties will pay $1,600,000. At a recent meeting of the Municipal School Board of Annapolis County, that Board

Young Folk vs. Old Folk

There's a matter of common courtesy To which the Old Folk did subscribe. Our mothers taught it to us And our fathers did abide By their every effort, to bring out the best In us, whatever be the case.

Young Folk seek our guidance And are waiting our example, you see, Beneath that bluster of being against Parental authority. So, isn't it up to you? And, isn't it up to me?

Give them Keys to Independence Some responsibility they need, and so Have patience while this stage is passing It's amazing - but too soon I know, In spite of all - quite gracefully, From - Young Folk, to Old Folk, they'll grow.

Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

At a public meeting of Amalgamation, held in the Bridgetown Regional High School in November, and attended by over two hundred citizens, Dr. H. M. Nason, Deputy Minister of Education outlined the provincial program. He made reference to the large expenditures involved in education and the priorities that must be considered in order to give best value for the money expended. Studies have been made, said Dr. Nason, of programs in other countries and of the various provinces of Canada, with participation by the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities, the Nova Scotia Association of Urban and Municipal School Boards, educators and financial experts offering suggestion and advice to the Department of Education. The plan did not envisage large concentrated units as such, but would encourage co-operating units to the maximum to the best advantage, with a minimum enrolment of 1500 to 2000 regular high school students in each system. For greatest efficiency, he said, the best finding commission had advised preference of approximately 10,000 students in a system, and vocational facilities were a must for any

Plan Education Week

Education Week in Digby plans were revealed on Monday night at both the Digby Regional High School Board meeting and the Urban Board of School Commissioners by C. C. MacInnes, supervisor. A Parents' Teachers' night will be held on Wednesday, March 4th from 7 to 9 p.m. when it is hoped the mothers and fathers will visit and meet with the teachers of their children. It was found that visiting the classroom in session gave little opportunity for parent and teacher to discuss problems. However, it was emphasized that parents should feel free to visit any classroom in any department of the school. It was suggested that when making a classroom visit, a parent should first check with the principal of the school to see if it is the convention for the teacher to meet the parent at that particular time. All parents and interested adults are invited to view the new building. Paul Murray of the Department of Education in the music area will visit the elementary school regarding the music education program.

WCHS Chess Club Formed

Eighty-one students from grades 7 through 12 have joined the Weymouth Schools Chess Club. Teacher, Jorgens Horneburg felt the need and undertook the organization of the club. The school's student council will sponsor the club and provide chess games and rule books. Saturday, Mr. Horneburg held an inter-school tournament in his home. He reflects that many players are prepared for competition and will welcome challenges from individuals or groups.

LADIES ARE 92 YEARS OLD

by Sandra Everett
 Two Digby ladies are 92 years of age this month. Mrs. Arrabella Cowan celebrated her birthday on Friday, February 20 and Miss Bessie Chisholm reached the same grand age on February 18. Mrs. Cowan was born in Flowers Cove, Newfoundland, February 20, 1878, and came to Halifax in her teens. She later met and married Alfred Gordon Cowan, who was the Chief of Police for the town of Digby in the late '30's. They had a family of 13 children. Mr. Cowan passed away 35 years ago. The children living are: Harriet Edger, of Calgary, Alberta; Geraldine Fawcett of Moncton, N. B.; Dorothy Niles of Hansport, N. S.; and Thomas, Harry, John and Gordon, all of Digby.

ardent church-goer, Mrs. Cowan attends services of all denominations and has expressed a great interest in Salvation Army Home League Work. She enjoys music and likes to see young people dance and enjoy themselves, seeing very little change in people from one generation to another.

Miss Chisholm is receiving congratulations from many friends in the town where she is well known, having lived here since she came from Windsor, N. S. some forty years ago. Miss Chisholm and her sister, Miss Grace Porter, who will be 90 years of age in April, reside with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Forster on Prince William Street. Mrs. Guy Chisholm enjoys card playing, is interested in hearing the town and keeping in close touch with the outside world. While her eyesight does not permit her to do any reading, she is interested in what others find to share in the Digby and daily newspapers. She was able to get up and about when a few neighbours came to afternoon tea and she was presented with a birthday cake. She received many nice cards, flowers and gifts.

What could possibly be better than a lovely girl with a beautiful voice? Two lovely girls of course, especially if they're the delightful Allan Sisters, Coralie and Jackie, who brighten up The Tommy Hunter Show every Sunday at 7 p.m. on the CBC television network. The girls really are sisters (from Edmonton) and although you could not tell, Jackie (the righty) admits to being just a shade older than Coralie.

HEALTH & SAFETY Mainly for Mothers by Carol Hart

Follow Your Toddler and Learn

If one of the great politicians found it useful to know the workings of a child's mind, surely a mother would find it worthwhile, says the Council on Family Health.

Dr. Edna Schick was post his 90th year when he died in 1947. During his life he developed the famous immaturity test which helped in the diagnosis of mental illness.

So he is little childish yourself, advises the Council on Family Health, a non-profit organization of mothers of the drug industry to promote home safety and family health. Take part of a day to follow your toddler through the house.

Not only how a youngster finds it to explore, to taste, to test — and perhaps to break — everything new to him. You may find that following in his footsteps will show you many things that may be harmful to him — especially those things you use every day.

Follow him to the bathroom. Have his hairpin and combs been put away where he cannot get at them? Are medicines forgotten on the night table? Remember to put them in their proper storage place, out of his reach.

In the bathroom you may notice that your toddler is a chemist. The possibility of his slipping up to explore the contents of the medicine cabinet should remind you to store potentially toxic things to a storage area which he cannot reach.

In the kitchen, if he makes a bee line for tin snips, you may compliment yourself for having turned all pot handles toward the back. Your little explorer may open the door to the cabinet under the sink. This should remind you to store potentially harmful household chemicals such as bleach, polish, oil and kerosene in locked, and preferably on the high shelves of a cabinet, or in a closet that a child cannot get into.

One day of following your toddler, then, and you may be a better parent for your whole family.

Against us — help get us a bridge across Petite Passage now so we can live like our fellow Nova Scotians.
An Ibe Viewer.

Diaby, Nova Scotia, February 23, 1970.
Mrs. Edith Wallis.

The Diaby Courier, Digby, N. S.
Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I want to take this opportunity of writing you to state that I feel a very grave injustice is being done in this country to a man who has given at least forty years of his life to the building of a great and effective educational program for this area not only that, but this man has also given years of his life and developed efforts to the provision of excellent hospital services for this area, the equal of the best in any area of this size and population anywhere.

The man to whom I refer is Mr. F. Stanley Denton, Superintendent of Schools and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Diaby General Hospital.

I will gladly admit that I have disagreed with Mr. Denton on occasions and there have been times when I have felt a certain course of action that he proposed might have been better. However, it is my feeling that this man deserves far better treatment than he is receiving from the tongues and pens of quite a number in this area, particularly those who have lately come to the District and whose animosity toward Mr. Denton seems to have blinded the to the good qualities he possesses and the tremendous job he has done and is doing for the community. His children and those who require his medical and hospital services, there can be no question in the minds of those who view the present situation in Digby clearly, that the real aim of much that is going on is to destroy F. C. Denton as a leader, which he is and has been, and even to destroy his reputation and his good name. Remarks made by people in public places, letters and in public places and other things all tend to support this viewpoint.

As I said in the opening paragraph of this letter, I feel that this is a grave injustice to a man who is deserving of much better than this. A man, indeed, to whom I feel that we owe a debt of gratitude for what he has done just in the fields of education and hospital services. Some of the things which have been done against those who would have done since totally discouraged me and have led to my decision to leave the area. In education, Mr. Denton has been the backbone of the school, which was already inadequate to the need when we were here, and now when we have an education system that is truly a credit. In this connection it might be well to recall that Mr. Denton has done more for the boys' toilets than I can even have proper seats, alone doors on the washrooms to be locked.

Throughout his forty years, Mr. Denton has had his prime objective in mind, that of good education for the children of the area. This he has achieved and he has never stood still in searching and fighting for sound developments and improvements for and in the system. He has done so with his own activities on the hospital ward.

Today the pack seems to be full of cry about his blood, however, and it would appear that, sickle, sarcasm, direct attack and innuendo are but a few of the weapons being used. It is said now that he should not have resigned following the decision of the appeal board. Is that not what those who wanted, thought or felt that they wanted more, but he was dismissed with ignominy, perhaps?

It is also said the other two administrators should not have resigned with Mr. Denton. Have done so would have shown a marked lack of loyalty, a commodity which is still to be admired even though practice is derided by some.

It seems to me that one of the things that has been going on, particularly in the recent months, has been the presence in our schools of teachers whom the pupils

About This and That Organize Home & School Early

The time has long gone past when Home and School existed in a one-room school section with such projects to handle as buying a water cooler, chalk for the boards or playground equipment. Not that these were bad. We still admire these areas where the Home and School will supply the extras even today if there are a few items which are not supplied by the municipality or government.

The real purpose of the Home and School in the days of the water cooler, however, was not for financing equipment but for better communications between parent, student and teacher. That need of communication is no less today than it was in the days of the one-room school. Indeed, with the coming of the regional and consolidated school system there is even greater need for the Home and School organization to counteract the impersonalization which exists between school and home because of the wide area covered. When one, two or three teachers were assigned to one community the teacher got to know Johnny's mother quite readily but today Johnny's teacher is one of possibly 50 teachers or more in a school thirty miles away.

If nothing else would have been accomplished on Saturday afternoon when the citizens of the town and municipal communities gathered at the Digby Regional High School auditorium, the motion picture to have a Home and School formed was, in itself, a worthwhile accomplishment.

True, there are those who feel that Home and School simply supplies one more place to air grievances. So what? A good chairman can always handle situations which are relevant and a grievance uttered could be much better than a smouldering one. If you break your arm on the highly waxed kitchen floor, you just do not throw out the floor. You heal the wound. There could be a lot of heal wounds here in Home and School without the patients becoming hysterical.

One difference with Home and School of today and that of the day of the little red schoolhouse is that school boards today must become more involved in Home and School. Citizens, whether parents of school children or not, are interested in school in general. This might be because of their tax money or it might be because education has become a big thing affecting the lives of everybody. The public want to seek information which the Boards can supply. And why shouldn't the taxpayers know who is operating their big business and how it is operated?

What better recognition for 1970 Education Week could have been made by the citizens of Digby and Municipality than to plan for a Home and School. It would be a shame now to leave such a constructive outcome of Saturday's meeting lay. An early organizational meeting would be a wise objective.

More Than 600 Spoke

Yes, despite a remark to the contrary through another media, there is hope of settling Digby's school controversy because of the meeting called Saturday afternoon by some of Digby's long-standing prominent business and professional men. There was an estimated more than 600 persons at that meeting, all of whom spoke in one way or another. Some spoke by applause, some spoke verbally and some spoke by a simple three-letter word "aye". Those who made no intelligible utterance did, nevertheless, speak in favor of proceedings by their silence.

The meeting was regularly called by advertising to the public. It was, therefore, as far as possible, a good representation of the people of Digby town and municipality coming together to do exactly what the advertisement proclaimed - "to discuss how order can be restored to the school system in Digby". All attending the meeting had ample opportunity to express themselves. Few if any teachers were around whom anyone would have been afraid to voice their opinions or who would not have had someone capable and unafraid to voice their opinions for them. In fact, we are prepared, in our humble opinion, to pronounce the meeting a well organized one and effectively secured with every proper rule of parliamentary procedure and with a totally democratic method. In the light of this, 600 people spoke for the re-consideration by C. C. MacInnes and Jack Rincey of their resignations from the administrative staff of the Digby Regional High School. We would feel that this decision would be enough to encourage these men in knowing that their efforts in the Digby school are appreciated. It is hoped they will answer the Digby Regional High School Board in the affirmative when they approach them to remain on the Digby staff as regularly moved and passed on Saturday.

Mr. Purdy, on the other hand, has stated he has definitely resigned. We have no reason to believe he is not sincere in his statement. We can then only say that he is deserving of a more happy ending to a fine career and long years spent in helping a small town grow. To Mr. Purdy, we feel, the town of Digby was his "home town", being born not too many miles away from it. His motives in educational and hospital interests we feel were and are nothing but sincere and with the best interests of the town and municipality at heart. We join Dr. J. R. MacInnes in the sentiments he expressed at Saturday's meeting on Mr. Purdy's retirement.

The other constructive feature of the meeting on Saturday was the motion to have a Home and School formed (see other editorial and news). About 600 persons were in accord. Besides these two resolutions there were other resolutions, remarks and unbusinesslike suggestions which came out of the meeting. We hope to deal with them as time goes on. If the group who called Saturday's meeting continue to maintain their unbiased interest and bring together what definitely has become two distinct factions in the town, we have no reason to doubt that Digby's school controversy will be resolved and something really constructive and beneficial will result. The settling of differences would be a noble project for 1970 Education Week in Digby and municipality.

Hodge Podge

They prepare us for university, they prepare us to earn a living, but they do not educate us for living. This was a complaint registered by the students on the T.V. program, Destination, on Sunday. The program was in connection with Education Week. What sensible teenager! After all, what is the point in acquiring an education to earn a living if we've missed the very point of living itself. When we hear of large sums

Let's Reminisce

March 1, 1945:

Presence of the press at the School Board meeting on Monday night was questioned by H. M. Warne, chairman of the Board. He stated that it would be up to the Board if the press were allowed to remain. After some discussion it was decided that "since the Board had nothing to conceal", the press be allowed to attend the Board Meetings.

Mr. Warne stated that the press should "give a proper interpretation of the business of the meetings."

Estimates for the calendar year 1945 were considered at the meeting. These estimates show that the Board expects to spend $23,215 for operation, maintenance and capital expenditure on the school this year. Of this $23,215 will be received in grants. The Board will ask the town for $15,000. This is an increase of $2,300 over the amount asked in 1944. Principal Eaton stated that every effort had been made to keep the estimates as low as possible. "Wherever it has been possible to slash we have slashed."

The Secretary of the Board was instructed to write to first eleven teachers regarding their intentions as to remaining on the staff for 1945-46.

March 2, 1960:

Mr. Manning Nichols, of Deep Brook, presented us on Saturday with a handsome butterfly which measured 5 1/2 inches from tip to tip, when its wings were spread. The little bird seemed as smart as if it were July instead of February. We gave it to Mr. Martin, of the Canada Paper Co., who left here on Saturday's boat for St. John, enroute to Montreal.

Fire caught in a window at the Waverly House last night just as the people were returning from the concert. It was caused by the candles which formed the illumination having burned too low. It was fortunately noticed by one of our citizens who arrived just in time to save a big conflagration.

At midnight one of the Dufferin chimneys got on fire. An alarm was given which immediately turned out the fire department, some of whom were obliged to remain on the scene until three o'clock this morning.

Many improvements have taken place recently in the interior of Messrs. Burnham & Holdsworth Central Grocery. A hardwood floor has been laid in the main store, increased shelf room has been made, their barrels enclosed and other general improvements throughout the establishment.

Letters To The Editor

256 Glenwood Drive, Truro, Nova Scotia, March 2, 1970. Digby Courier, Mrs. Wallis, Editor, Dear Editor:

I have been following with deep concern the present controversy of some of the people of the town and county of Digby as they attempt to move the control of the Education System in their area from the hands of responsible, trained, professional people to their own. If the results of this, if ever completed to the desires of this group of people, I think it would appear so, since I am reminded all people of this area that this present controversy which erupted last December has probably already ruined at least one year of the lives of some pupils of this school system, particularly students of Digby Regional High School. I wonder what the 1970 (approx.) people who signed School System, nor the present intention to get rid of the School Boards concerned, the School Local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, the Department of Education and all other officials will take steps to terminate this problem which, as I said earlier, can only be detrimental to the education of the young people of this area.

Let us keep in mind that I have never said that the Administration of the Digby School System, nor the School Board, nor the Department of Education, nor the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, nor the present intention to get rid of the School Boards concerned, the School Local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, the Department of Education and all other officials will take steps to terminate this problem which, as I said earlier, can only be detrimental to the education of the young people of this area.

of money raised for charities by auctions, we often wonder why Digby doesn't stage a large benefit auction. They are fun. There are places where they run into two evenings. Surprising what people have to give away, but more surprising who they will buy. Of course twenty-eight plus makes thirty. Even the editor knows that. Then why couldn't March 2 be February 30? We are not opposed to change. Might as well be the calendar as any-

Girl Guide Commissioner Visits Digby

Mrs. G. H. Trynor, Halifax, Nova Scotia Provincial Commissioner of Girl Guides met on Saturday afternoon and evening with Digby leaders.

Mrs. Trynor showed slides and brought to date on the new concepts of Guiding. The program, she informed, is to be less regimental and more designed for the girls. Leaders will supervise with the aim of directing the thinking through group channels. Mrs. Trynor said that it has been found that this membership is larger and attendance higher where there is an open discussion when various viewpoints were brought out and interrelated.

Mrs. Trynor, who is a link between the local and divisional associations and the National Association of Girl Guides, was accompanied by Mrs. Hyson Sutherland, Divisional Commissioner. Also present were Mrs. N. Bisset, District Commissioner.

The Digby Girl Guide organization served supper for the leaders.

Easter Monday Holiday

Easter Monday, March 30, is proclaimed a holiday by motion passed at the town council meeting on Monday night.

The mayor will also issue a proclamation for New Year's Eve Week from April 27 to May 3.

The town supported a resolution from the Municipality of Digby recommending the tribunal report on bilingual higher education.

ers for the present area in question, but perhaps they are the best possible ones for the circumstances that exist in this area school system which would serve the need of every individual in his way of thinking, would certainly be a long way from the ideal system.

In conclusion, may I suggest, that the originators of this problem take back seat regardless of their social status, and permit those in power to clean up the mess. The only way to be made of the good of the education of the pupils of the school system. Let's not make this a bigger black mark than it is, one which will definitely hang over this geographical area for years to come.

It was not in honor of the occasion, it was just to be the eve of Brotherhood Week when I was with a bunch of teenagers, talking about the things you do, or don't do, to other people.

Some of the kids were fairly bitter on the subject. They compared concrete examples of injustices of which they had heard, perpetrated in the name of respectability, or money, or conformity.

If you're out with a friend, and he has more money than you, he starts treating you like dirt -

Sometimes a man can go into a hotel when he is dressed in shabby clothes and they have no room for him, but if he comes in all dressed up, there just happens to be a room vacant on the third floor -

An Indian boy applied for a job in a store, was turned down, not because he could not do the work but because the manager was afraid he might lose customers if an Indian worked in his store -

Sometimes when a black man calls on the telephone about an apartment for rent, he is told it is available, but when he gets there, he finds it has been mysteriously rented in the meantime -

In the middle of the conversation, my daughter bounced into the room, demanding to know if little sister were allowed to go to the party to which I had just invited that night.

"No!" I answered her, with half an ear on the buzzing chatter of the young people in the room, "I haven't got a baby sister yet."

"I'll baby sit for you", offered one of the kids.

The Indian boy, and the black man, and the rest of us, stood in the shadows around me while I tried to think of a polite way to turn down the offer from a young person I like, but who had been suspended more than once of petty thefts.

"Well, I hedged," I have a regular baby sister, I know. I'll call her first."

"If I come", argued the young person, "she'll see you went out, and what she doesn't know we'll hurt her."

I could feel the corner closing around me, as if I were being backed into it. "You're right," I agreed. "I'll ask my husband, and call you back in the afternoon."

My moral convictions told me I should give the kid a chance. My social convictions told me not to. As soon as I got my husband alone, I told him about the offer.

"As little so and so", my husband exploded. "I'm not going to be used as his reputation, but I'm not going to let anybody's honesty in my house."

I found myself being grateful for my husband's feelings. I was relieved of moral responsibility.

I called the regular baby sister, who said she was coming, then called the other one.

"I'm sorry", I lied, "but my husband had already asked our regular sister. I guess I won't need you."

I looked at myself in the mirror before we went out to the party. I looked pretty good. My dress wasn't one of my favorites. My hair was freshly done, but my lipstick was so straight. I hoped my moral plan would not show too much.

alia University. I hope no strong feelings about school or youth if you wish. I have been having been in business for a long time. I feel that education is the key to a better life. I am a mother of three children. I am a mother of three children. I am a mother of three children.

Secondly, I was questioned as to what I am doing in university. I am doing two reasons. The first, it opens a person's mind to the world as one is not in constant contact with people of different races, nationalities and beliefs. This is, in my opinion, a good thing. I am a mother of three children. I am a mother of three children. I am a mother of three children.

The second reason I am here is an economic one. I want to make money when I get out. Thank you. Sincerely, Jerry Thurber.

March 2/70, The Digby Courier, Dear Mrs. Wallis: It is with some reluctance that I have decided to add my voice to the number of thoughts that you have received on the matter of school administration in the town of

The committee from the town will meet in May with the Municipal Council committee regarding a weed inspection for the town and municipality. The municipal council had been opposed to a weed inspector because of the incentives used but it was pointed out that the chemicals do not have to be used. The town council went on record as supporting a brief requesting the provincial government to exempt recreational vehicles from the tax. Especially with the trailer it had been noted that the provincial tax is paid on camp at camp a tax put on the registration.

The matter regarding a development officer under the new town planning act which came into effect Mar. 1st was tabled.

Frank Robinson, street superintendent and Councilor George Ellis will attend a Regional Safety Workshop in Yarmouth. Sixteen complaints had been filed with the police in February, eight required investigation, all but two terminated in satisfaction. Four cases required court action and three were disposed of. Two were under the liquor control act, one motor vehicle and one criminal code. Three motor vehicle accidents were investigated. There were $70 in fines. The police car drove into a ditch.

The cost of preparing for examinations which lead to university. They felt teachers did not have time to be concerned with a student as a person and that schools trained a person for a job but it did not train them for living. Schools, they said, are lacking in human relations. In general the students were concerned about getting out of the tension that parents find themselves in.

POWELL PLEADS FOR PETITE CROSSING

Mr. Speaker: House, they will be read by future generations and will compare favorably with the best which have been recorded throughout the years.

May I also associate myself with those who have extended congratulations to the new members of the Cabinet. The briefest your office.

I also wish to extend my congratulations to the new members of the Cabinet. The briefest your office.

I also want to congratulate the new member of Halifax Eastern Shore, now sitting in the ranks of the Opposition. It is hoped that he will assist the Honorable Leader of the Opposition in his avowed determination to induce in my constituency when I am elected recently, that through highway accidents have occurred which will impair their employment possibilities for the rest of their lives. It is our responsibility to assist the Minister in his combat against the toll exacted by our roads of the highways.

At the outset I must take exception to the idea, often advanced without research, that Western Nova Scotia is being entirely bypassed by the new Nova Scotia concept. I contend that never in the history of the Province has a Provincial Government sponsored so much money or shown as much concern for the area as the present Provincial Government. I trust the Members of the Assembly will be patient with me as I summarize some of the efforts made by the present administration to assist the Digby Constituency in the past seven years.

The Fines Hotel, which offers seasonal employment to 170 persons, the subject of the project was purchased by the Province with the intention of salvaging a dying industry and creating seasonal employment, and at the same time a tangible advertising agency for tourism in Western Nova Scotia. Under the able management of Mr. Roy Forhan it is doing just what the Province has established the Savary Park which in dual capacity commemorates the first Federal Member of the County of Digby and serves as a picnic park for the district. This Park is well patronized and each year of operation proves the need for its existence.

Planting A Character Garden

First-Plant five rows of Peas:
Pride, Perseverance, Peace, Patience, and Pity.

Next to these plant five rows of Squash:
Squash gossip, Squash indifference, Squash criticism, Squash childishness, Squash suspicion.

Then plant five rows of Turnips:
Turn up for church,
Turn up with a smile,
Turn up with new ideas,
Turn up with enthusiasm,
Turn up with a determination to make everything count for something good and worth while.

No garden is complete without Lettuce, so let us overplant this important crop - eight rows in all:
Let us be true to our obligations,
Let us be loyal and unselfish,
Let us respect one another,
Let us be faithful to duty,
Let us study the Bible daily,
Let us share our faith with our neighbors,
Let us give sacrificially for the advancement of God's work.

(Taken from Faith For Today magazine)

R. BADEN POWELL, M.L.A.

The Speech from the Throne carries too many items of constructive legislation for me to consider in its entirety. However, I will touch on a few which are of greater concern to me.

I note, Sir, the N. S. Housing Commission intends to continue, even extend its efforts in provision of family life units and homes for Senior Citizens. The Town of Digby has planned for location of providing these facilities to its citizens - taking advantage of plans offered by the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Thanks are due the Department of Highways for its for Montreal for the American Atlantic Seaboard.

I am pleased to note that proposals for assistance for Provincial Ambulance Services will be under consideration. Any assistance to such services in the rural and small town areas of the Province should be welcomed.

Mr. Speaker, I now ask the indulgence of the House as I refer to the affairs of the constituency which I am privileged to serve.

Part of Keddie Park is in my constituency. Although this is a National Park, we must not lose sight of the fact that the Province paid over one million dollars for the properties and placed the land at the disposal of the Federal authorities. This Park was projected by Honourable Robert L. Stanfield, at the time Premier of Nova Scotia, and the commitment for development was made by the Dion Baker Government.

E.E.L. has attempted to keep its property at Weymouth in operation. But, principally due to unfavorable transportation facilities, this plant has been forced to close on three occasions. Two of these ventures closed while being supported and assisted by the Province. The great concern of the Province for my constituency (Please turn to page 12)

Education Week - Islands Consolidated School, Freeport

THE FALLING STAR

On warm summer evenings after the sun has nestled to sleep, I often sit on our front steps staring up at the star-studded sky.

One evening I was spell-bound when one of the stars emerged from all the others. It was bright and beautiful as it danced about in the black velvet sky. For a moment I was dazzled by its brightness but my eyes had to pursue it.

As I gazed motionless, it streaked across the sky resembling a comet with a long, fiery tail, flowing out behind it. I realized that this lone star was falling, falling down into the darkness of the night.

I was delighted with what I had seen, yet at the same time a bit of sadness passed over me. An adventurous star had left an empty place in the sky. Would it be missed?

Ellen Cann, (Grade VI) Islands Consolidated School, Freeport, N. S.

SALT SEA CITY

I had completely forgotten entry by the contest to try to win a trip to Salt Sea City.

a city 35 feet below the surface of water, until a long distance telephone call informed me I was a winner. I was speechless but thrilled.

The bright shiny electric boat which was to take me to Salt Sea City was to make its first trip early in the morning. A bit of fear passed over me but being adventurous, I packed a small suitcase. Shortly after I boarded the boat we submerged and such a beautiful sight appeared when I stepped from the boat in a new under water world.

The first day I visited a souvenir shop and bought a shiny pearl necklace for my mother. That afternoon I went to the cinema to see the movie "Kingdom of the Tides" where I learned about life in the deep waters. The supermarket with its display of sea food was like opening a treasure chest.

At the White Cap Inn I was served a delicious meal which consisted of tasso of salmon, a salad seasoned with sea noodles, a huge platter of crab-meat patties garnished with sea egg sauce and a serving of cucumbers. The desert was jelly fish pello with algae cookies and a soft-cream soda.

I reluctantly boarded the sleek electric boat for the mainland. I knew that soon must return to this part of the universe that God had created in such a strange but wonderful way.

Chester Outhouse (Grade VI) Islands Consolidated School, Freeport, N. S.

MY BIRTHRIGHT

A birthright is usually something one inherits from someone. My birthright is somewhat different, as it includes all the secret joys of my island village.

One lingering memory is the fragrant wild flowers whose dainty petals sparkle with early morning dew. The salt sea spray from the boiling waves greets my face as I stroll along the sandy beach.

Trout flipping in the brooks and streams make me realize how good it is to be alive. Up on the hill the trees are a blaze of glory. There is time to enjoy it all.

How I wish that my city friends could share these gifts of nature with me. God has blessed those who live in the quiet countryside with a true understanding and meaning of the wonders of nature.

Ellen Cann, (Grade VI) Islands Consolidated School, Freeport, N. S. Madrid, Spain, April 16, 1969. Dear Christopher Columbus, I have seen you many times

SUGGEST SET UP GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

At a special meeting of the Digby Local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, the Local indicated by resolution that the Local is greatly concerned for the education of students in the system and is willing to cooperate with the Administration and the School Boards in resolving any conflicts which may remain in the system.

It was also agreed by the meeting that teachers in the Digby system should not participate in community pressure groups or committees, pro or con, which are becoming in-olved in the school system. The Local will suggest to the School Boards and Administrative Staff that a grievance procedure be set up which would enable an individual teacher to appear to the School Boards in the event such a teacher cannot obtain satisfaction through regular channels. It will suggest that such a committee should be representative of the Board, the Administrative Staff and the teachers. The meeting was attended by representatives of the N.S.T.U. Executive Staff from Halifax.

Will Conduct Safe Driving Course

The Island's Home and School Association held their February meeting in the Island's School Auditorium, Freeport, on Feb. 18th. Guest speaker was Mr. Perry Crocker, who discussed Defensive Driving. Also did a sample lesson and showed a film pertaining to Defensive Driving. One topic of interest was reflector devices to be put on the clothing of people to slow motorists that pedestrians are walking along the highway at night. It was decided that the Home and School will purchase one for each of the school children on the Island and it is hoped that the parents will see that these are fixed properly on their coat or jacket and always have them on at night when outside.

NEW HOUSE DESIGN - The unique design of this large 3-bedroom bungalow brings the outdoors in by providing an indoor terrace. It was conceived by Architect J. BRYAN CRAWLEY of Winnipeg and has other unusual but attractive features.

By raising the living room six steps, or half a level, above the remainder of the first floor, it not only provides a good view of the garden but also allows adequate natural lighting for the recreation room below. There is a fine sense of space in the dining, living room arrangement which is accentuated by sliding glass doors onto the patio. The kitchen, hallway and bathroom constitute a noise buffer between the sleeping and living areas. For best lighting the front door should face south. The floor area, exclusive of attached garage and patio, is 1200 square feet. All external dimensions are 52 feet ten inches by 44 feet eight inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 2341, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

If traditional Saint John Digby Service were upgraded, to build an appropriate approach and parking area for the terminus of the Ferry. This meant a new road to be built along the shore line of the Basin. Appropriate work of that road is now under construction. Future work is being considered with No. 1 Highway.

The crossing at Bear River is under active survey and planning and indications are that tenders for the contract for the near future to correct one of the most hazardous highway situations on the Province.

Through the progressive policy of the Department of Public Health, it was made possible for the Digby Hospital Board to construct and equip a modern hospital for the town of Digby, extending into sections of Clare and Annapolis West. This establishment has already benefited the wisdom of the Digby Hospital Board under the able chairmanship of Mr. F. Purdy, who is currently secretary of the Department of Public Health.

The Department of Public Health has also benefited the less fortunate children of our province, to decide to operate a Children's Home in Digby, which is under the management of the Hospital building, leased by the property from the Digby General Hospital Board and of laundry services from the hospital facilities and staff. It is to be situated in the town of Digby, near the home of Digby, due to the efficiency and great concern of Mrs. Dorothy Smith, who is currently secretary of the Annapolis West and her 28 member staff, are carrying out their work for these children with the greatest efficiency and in excess of the normal duties expected of them.

The Department of Public Health has had quarters built to meet the needs of their staff, whose work is concentrated in the town of Digby, under one roof adds to their efficiency. Under the general supervision of the town of Digby, the workers currently located in the Town of Digby, can easily make cross trips to the town of Digby, as the town of Digby, is centrally located. Incidentally, Mr. Speaker, it has occurred to me that a rural hospital, which is a certain amount of economic benefit to the Digby area, is being contemplated by the Federal Government, the latter carrying out the plan by the time the Department of Health, has given substantial grants to the Digby Regional High School, to the construction and equipping of the new wing to the High School. The added facilities will provide physical, comprehensive and composite form of education. The St. Patrick's Business School has combined with the Regional High School business course and the former staff of the High School and able to participate in the facilities of the Composite Wing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thibault and little granddaughter, Mary Thibault of Yarmouth, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. George White.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Hill and Terry motored to Hentford on Sunday. They were accompanied by the former's father, Mr. Denis Hill.

years to come. Within the last six years alone the potential power output has been doubled and, I add, at great cost and in the Commission, chaired by the Premier of the Province, which is reported to have no interest and will not expend money to aid the economic life of Western Nova Scotia.

I have quoted to you, Sir, a few facts of events in my constituency, that the Opposition in this House do not relate — facts they try to bury under a welter of impassioned words, sometimes droning on the gray dawn of an early Spring morning. But Mr. Chairman, I believe that Nova Scotians go to the theatre for dramatics and to tables for statistics for facts. of a causeway and thus providing a needed shelter for the fishing boats which start to operate at the entrance of the Bay of Fundy.

The Federal authorities are very interested in, and will be carrying out a number of emergency repairs to fishermen's wharves for inshore fisheries.

The Constituency of Clare is suffering from this trouble. The one million and a half dollar wharf which started to fall apart one year after use at Saultville, requires a promise of hundreds of thousands of dollars to repair this emergency blunder, every elementary morning. # No Incentive Grants Offered For Interim Teachers

Due to the fact that the Digby Municipal School Board has no authority to expend money above the foundation program unless approved by the Municipal Council, there will be no incentive grants to school teachers from the municipal board in 1970, and teachers with interim licenses are not to be notified of this. Until required by the Educational Assistance Committee of the Department of Education, a moratorium on incentive grants will be a shrewd one with the Department.

A directive has been received through the inspector's office from the Department of Education which states that all interim licensed teachers will be required to attend the Nova Scotia Summer School in 1970 in order to upgrade their professional qualifications. Teachers holding interim licenses have been requested to advise the Inspector of Schools prior to March 15th.

A letter was authorized to be written to Macdonald Motors Ltd. with appreciation regarding their offers in relation to a school bus garage and to inform them that the matter was in the hands of the Municipal Council.

A motion was made at the Board meeting that the Physical Education Department of the Department of Education be requested to make a survey, without charge, of the feasibility of an extension or renovation to the auditorium at Weymouth Consolidated School as requested by the trustees.

The board reaffirmed the policy made by the Municipal School Board at a regularly called meeting on May 2, 1969 respecting placements of pupils from outside Smith Cove school district in attending Smith Cove school. The policy remains in effect. The matter was prompted because the administrative staff of the school is receiving parental requests for students to be removed from the Smith Cove school and returned to the town schools. It was emphasized that the policy for such placements is entirely within the authority of the Digby Municipal School Board.

A letter was read from Mount Pleasant Flying Services Ltd., of Charlottetown, regarding their serious consideration to operate a scheduled service from Charlottetown to a number of points in Nova Scotia. The proposed service would be on a six-day basis and would be over the following route: Charlottetown to Antigonish to New Glasgow to Moncton to Greenwood to Yarmouth with a two-hour stopover and then return via the same route. The letter, signed by John N. Brewer, managing director of the flying services company, suggested that New Glasgow is most interested in having an alternate service using their airport.

It was also suggested that there are a number of factors to consider before a final decision can be made and one of these would be whether or not the airport facilities at Digby would be suitable for such a service on a year-round basis. The aircraft to be used would be a four engine twin piston and eight passenger twin engine aircraft and is easily capable of landing or taking off in less than 1,000 feet of runway. As the schedule would connect with Air Canada at both Yarmouth and Moncton, the company felt there could be quite a need for such a service.

Shrimp Again Available In Digby

5,000 pounds of cooked shrimp arrived on Monday at the fish plant of Captain Joseph Casey and were bought by local Nova Scotia consumers. The shrimp were caught south of Shelburne and it is expected if weather conditions improve during the week that more of the catch will arrive from Shelburne. The shrimp are usually sold until the middle of May.

Captain Casey has ten employees this week in his two plants who are working on the shrimp and preparing them for sale. The selling price is 85¢ per pound at the present time.

The shrimp industry in the Atlantic provinces is one of our major ones. The few resources and the abundance of shrimp is not too well understood. Last winter good catches were made in the Bay of Fundy. This winter, however, they have not been too successful. During the summer the shrimp fishery is carried on in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Surveys showed that the shrimp are abundant and are found in many areas of water around the maritimes. And the same kind of shrimp are caught in the Gulf of Maine by fishermen from the United States.

Since northern shrimp was introduced in the European markets in London in 1966, it has been received well in Germany, Italy, Sweden and the Netherlands. As a result about fifty per cent of Atlantic shrimp catches for 1969-70 seasons were exported to Europe, most of it going to Sweden. Most of the shrimp landed at Beaver Harbour in New Brunswick last year was exported to Sweden also.

Speculate Bernard LeBlanc For Senate Seat

The Clare seat has been vacant since the death of J. Willie Comeau in 1966, except for a short period of time in which it was filled by E. J. Theriault, Digby, whose death occurred more than a year ago.

Among the speculative names for the eastern Nova Scotia seat familiar to the Digby area are Hector Hill, Truro; John Shaffer, Port Williams; and John Stewart, a former member from Antigonish, who was defeated in South West Nova by Louis R. Ouellet, M.P.

About This and That

Goodly Number Sign For H. & S.

One hundred and eighty persons signing up as interested in a Home and School organization for Digby was a pleasing number and must have been gratifying to Mayor Glen Smith who proposed the idea at a meeting of the Digby Regional High School Board last month. Indeed, Mayor Smith expressed being most gratified with the results. As Mayor Smith indicated, a Home and School organization provides an extremely fine means of communication between parent, teacher and child. He commends the school board in endeavouring to spark interest and taking the initiative in the matter which was picked up by some leading citizens of the community and received an overwhelming majority vote at a mass meeting of citizens.

The next step advocated by the mayor, one which he feels should get in action at once because of the interest shown, is to contact the Provincial Home and School for organizational assistance. All parents, he feels, should be contacted before an organizational meeting is held, so that they can prepare to attend.

Our sentiments regarding a Home and School organization for Digby are in line with the urgency of getting the organization on the road and would add that care be taken in the selection of officers: We have no doubt but that all will favor an energetic and interested person at the helm who is totally unbiased in outlook, having not been closely involved in the present Digby school controversy on one side or the other. A decidedly open mind would be a real asset under the present circumstances when fostering a Home and School organization.

In response to a letter this week in The Digby Courier regarding the lack of radio CKDY service for the Islands we asked the radio station to make their own comments. After all, our technique is newspaper. The CKDY radio manager gave us the following information:

"A direct order by the Department of Communications and the Canadian Radio-Television Commission for the newly-operated Digby radio station CKDY to weaken its power in a westward direction, is both disappointing and at times embarrassing for the station. In simple terms, the department's order is forbidding CKDY from providing the local service it had previously hoped to provide for areas of Digby Neck and Islands and also the Weymouth area.

Since the station first began broadcasting on February 2, favorable comments have literally poured in from many distant places. CKDY enjoys a considerable listening audience in the cities of Saint John and Moncton as well as Monague, P.E.I., Parrsboro, Berwick, Bridgewater, Liverpool, and reports have been received from Brookville, Ontario.

From all indications it would appear that CKDY's 1200 watts of broadcasting power in a north, east and south-east direction, but due to a necessary limited, highly-engineered broadcasting pattern to the west, service in that direction is reported to be most disappointing, both to the station personnel and to the prospective audience on Digby Neck and along St. Mary's Bay.

Reasoning behind the department's order is understandable, although disappointing. When a license was granted for the new Digby radio station, the only remaining available frequency for CKDY to occupy on the radio dial was 1420. Stations in New Bedford, Mass., and in York, P.E.I., also occupy 1420, and they have occupied that frequency for a number of years. Canada and the United States have an international agreement regarding broadcasting frequencies, and part of that agreement states that existing stations have the right to their frequencies and must be protected from interference by all new stations which come on the air. In the case in question, the New Bedford station at 1420 is protected by law to their nearest shoreline, which, in actuality, is along St. Mary's Bay and Digby Neck and Islands. For these reasons CKDY must not allow enough power in this direction so as to interfere with the New Bedford station. Engineers have stated that if CKDY were to permit its full power in the direction of Westport, the station would also be well received along the New England coastline. CKDY management and engineers have stated to the Courier sincere disappointment in their several attempts for approval to provide service to the Neck and Islands' district of Digby County."

Missed Real Treat

Those who did not avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Guy Fallon on the violaceous emerald Emmanuelle Lamasse, piano, at College Sainte Anne, Church Point, on Monday night missed a real treat. Mr. Fallon, long memorably renowned French concert pianist, was right lived up to the name, accompanied him after a concert in Carnegie Hall, New York, which stated that he was one of the greatest talents of our time. We are equally as well in praise for the pianist whose instrument under her command responded to every mood of the violoncelle. Fingers travelled over the strings and keys of the instrument with the light touch of a feather, varying in strength to meet the exacting demands of the music. Her playing was so beautiful, so far from the ordinary, performing before an audience of 60 to 75 with the same careful presentation as though the number were 600 or 7500 instead.

Since the program sponsored by Les Jeunesse Musiciennes de Digby was a postponed one, it is understandable that people had other commitments. We favoured culture and pleasure instead of hard work for the evening and could not have been more rewarded, even to the delight of meeting the gracious artists over a cup of coffee at Saint Anne's.

As an added thought, people in Clare and Digby are fortunate to have the advantage of having talented and accomplished artists within easy driving distance at the College Sainte Anne. We often wonder why more persons do not take advantage. While some of us are not bilingual fluently in our French, we do know no difference in language. It is most understandable and enjoyable in its varied moods and there is always a gracious and kind person who happens to be next to you and interprets for you as I. We appreciate that, too, and know we can count on further generosity until we take that crash course in French some day.

Digby, N. S.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:
Regarding the ranking question over our Digby school system, we know that some reconciliation is needed and must be brought about as soon as possible.

Not each involved person need a better understanding, both of oneself and of others as well! Let us all be reminded that somewhere along the line of all life's endeavors not one of us is free of wrong-doing, either with or without motive.

However, in trying to settle our differences, does it not help to also remember that history shows that out of social strife, there has come a stronger, better situation. But, at the same time, we must, I think, recognize the fact that some persons are just not compatible, and not able to get along together, in some situations - some should separate, voluntarily, or otherwise. For those who stay and work together, there must be an understood policy of give and take, and some people must sometimes give way to others, willingly.

First, of course, must be the will to resolve differences. Then, in the process of trying to attain any right end, it is not true that rigid means must always be used for lasting good. Right means have not always been used, not even by the good guys, and the end never justified the means.

My question now is, what legitimate grievances are at issue, that can, and should be resolved? Let both sides state their present case, in black and white soon thereafter let the authorities deal with it, promptly.

May we hope that the present acting Supervisor and Principal of the Digby School Administrative staff, will soon declare if they will, or will not, be returning for the 1970-71 semester.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

Last week your letter writer, Isle Viewer used the word discrimination. The transportation system was stressed. Another discrimination (we think it can be called) against us, is not being able to get Channel 6 T.V. as instead of beaming it towards Digby Neck and the Islands, it is beamed toward Cornwallis.

Surely the power line could make some adjustments to get CHTV to us. Are we not part of Canada. While on the above strain, even CKDY power doesn't reach us.

Of course, it's been said by those who are in the know - "It doesn't matter about the Islanders; they are satisfied, they never complain - no need to do anything for them. So I say to all who are "Islanders" let us "proceed a rear" and make our own system. Write a letter to The Digby Courier, your M.L.A., M.P. and your Premier, maybe we will get action!

Dear Madam:
It is a known fact that College Sainte Anne has contributed to the culture and welfare of the people of southwest Nova Scotia in particular, but College Sainte Anne has also played a role, important to the development of the entire Canadian nation.

Businessmen, doctors, lawyers, judges and political figures both provincial and federal have held high positions in our society thanks to the lingual education and sound formation acquired at College Sainte-Anne.

Even today the Academics of this region have two members in the Nova Scotia Legislature and one federal member who are graduates of College Sainte-Anne.

Our future generation will undoubtedly suffer greatly if our children and grandchildren are deprived of this privilege of higher bilingual education that was so well engineered for their particular ability, character and need by our forefathers.

The above but a few valid reasons why the governing of Nova Scotia is trying to implement the recommendations of the Tribunal concerning College Sainte-Anne and bilingual education in south western Nova Scotia.

Letter to the Editor,
Digby, N. S.

Through the Courier I have been able to keep up with the news from home. I was not impressed with the news of the school dispute. I had attended the Digby schools from the age of six till I graduated in 1967. During those years I found the school was excellently run by Mr. Purdy, Mr. Macinnis and Mr. Ribley. All three men were capable and at all times were interested in student affairs, the extra-curricular activities and by far showed exceptional interest in the school's curriculum and lab facilities.

What is more important than the curriculum in the Digby school? It is necessary to give all students in the area the same background in all subjects. To do this the best teachers are necessary, they are hard to find, and Digby has for the last few years had this in the present correct. Under the leadership of these three men they have succeeded in trying to do their absolute best in doing the many things that are necessary for our school. Don't you think that prospective teachers will think twice about coming to teach in our town?

It is far more easy for people to sit back and criticize but far more difficult for people to try to do their absolute best in doing the many things that are necessary for our school. Don't you think that prospective teachers will think twice about coming to teach in our town?

As an educator I am well aware of the disadvantages of crowded conditions poor facilities and a curriculum and a one track system which offers only a university preparation opportunity to students. This type of system offers only the opportunity for young people to drop out of school.

Through the efforts of the administration of the Digby schools, the above mentioned conditions do not exist in the schools of Digby, quite the contrary. The Digby schools have been the leaders of the province in several areas of curriculum development and change. One need only mention such items as the general course, driver education and new math as only a few examples.

Now to the crux of the matter. In the long run, it matters little whether Mr. Purdy should resign or not. It is a decision for the school board. What does matter is the education of your children. Don't hinder them by engaging in activities that negate the effectiveness of the schools and their staffs. The situation of your children comes first and nothing else. By listening to rabble rousers and publicly seeking you only defeat the purpose of your school system. ## Coffee at Janes

There were several arguments against getting other cat; after one of ours died early this year. For being, without cats, and after selling all but one of a horses, we had whitened the livestock population down to manageable size. Too, since the cats had gone, we had begun leaving the door of the budgie cage up. The bird, in their new freedom to go in and out of the cage all had developed more interesting personalities, and had better pets than when they had to be protected against the feline element of our household.

On the other hand, with no cat around, a lot of colony mice had invaded our premises. When I went to get one of the kids some cough medicine in a few hours of one morning, two mice scampered off to the counter, and behind the stove. The children came running to our bedroom early one morning, to report excitedly that they had a mouse scurry into a hole between a fireplace and the wall.

When, one day, a startled mouse jumped over the toaster I had just plugged in, the time seemed ripe to add a cat to the family.

Accordingly, the day I started housecleaning in front hall, the man of the house presented us with a brown, striped tom-cat, which was to be our new meow catcher.

The cat made it clear right from the beginning he did not like us overly much. He spent his first half an hour in the basement, refusing to come up, until the three-year-old caught him, and carried him upstairs. As soon as I let go, the cat disappeared under a bookcase in the hall. I did not coax it out. I figured it would come out when was hungry enough.

When I finished my cleaning, I looked for the meow addition to our family, but I could not find it. I suspect he must have found some ingenious hiding place, for which he would emerge when he was ready.

The cat had not reappeared when the family came home for supper. We systematically searched the house, looking through each room, under each piece of furniture in every closet, cupboard, and drawer. Whichever we satisfied ourselves that it was not in a particular room we closed the door, to prevent it getting in when we were going through another. There was no sign of the

I could have sworn the cat had not gone out of the house, but, just in case, the children went back to their room to see if it had returned. It had not. On the former owner's suggestion, they looked in our barn. It was not there.

Two nights after we had given up the search the cat, I woke up in the early morning hours. In my sleep, I heard something which sounded like a faint meow. I lay awake for a while, listening. The sounds went so faint that I could not tell if I heard them, or imagined them. I got up, and went out to the hall, but the sound stopped, so I went back to bed.

The next morning, my eight year old said he had heard sounds like a cat crying during the night.

We looked through the house again. No cat.

When I woke up, hearing meowing sounds again two nights later, I nudged my sleeping husband in the back. He got up, muttering something about the only place he hadn't looked was in the furnace pipes, then -

"I saw it!" he yelled. "I saw it looking up from the cold air duct from the furnace, then it turned around and went back down the pipe."

I remembered having the cold air registers cleaned the day he had brought the cat home.

We took the registers off, but the cat did not get out. The man of the house went down to the basement and dismantled the furnace pipes.

And that is how we rescued a scruffy, bedraggled, poorly little cat from a four day imprisonment between a basement and the first floor.

Teachers, the result being an inferior system for years of this situation has taken place.

In summary I say that as a former student, I now realize and appreciate the time and effort spent on my behalf by such people as Mr. Purdy and Mrs. Eira Wendell. Their efforts and examples have stood me in good stead in my own teaching. If Mr. Purdy has a fault it is in his inability to delegate authority to those work under him. This, however, is understandable because, Yours truly, Donald F. Elliott

The board agreed to pursue the matter. A further suggestion made by Mr. Robinson was in regards to industrial grants, regarding the distasteful condition of the Digby wharf. Repairs are essential in the interest of shipping and the fishing trade, he said. Emanuel Adams, president of the board, contacted by had with federal minister, Alan Stachen, which indicated plans are in the final stages regarding the Digby wharf, and that tenders for construction will be called in a few months. 10 resounding reasons why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

- High resale value. Year after year, Chevrolet offers high resale value at trade-in time. It's a Chevy tradition.
- Deep down value. Flush-and-dry rocker panels and an extra set of fenders keep Chevrolet looking good longer.
- Smooth, smooth ride. Because of Chevrolet's computer selected springs, Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system.
- Impressive styling. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you want to make an impression.
- Massive interiors. Plenty of inside room, and 18 cubic feet of usable trunk space. Stretch out or sit tall, and pack what you need for the roughest trip you've ever had.
- Side-guard beams. Chevrolet puts more between you and the outside. Steel beams built into every door.
- A finish that lasts. It's unfortunate other manufacturers don't have a Magic-Mor finish because it sure keeps its shine.
- Exceptional engines. Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. Plus there are five engines—it's your choice.
- Tremendous selection. Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transmissions. Of bodies. And of models. There are 14 big Chevrolets alone.
- Canada's favorite. Something else a new "something else" can't claim: Big Chevrolet is Canada's most popular car.

Notes from Bird Haven

Hurrall Spring is on its way.

The first flock of wild geese were seen flying over Sunday afternoon and a flock of Bronzed Grackles were seen in the morning.

Several weeks ago while some excavating was being done at a home on Digby Neck a little toad was unearthed. Normally this little fellow should be asleep deep in the ground, but his winter nap was abruptly ended.

What was to be done with him was the question. Finally he was placed in a box of earth and grass, tied some hamburger and put in the cellar. Evidently it was warmer than he is used to in the ground, so he is quite lively and will be released when the warm weather comes.

Several months ago a band from a little bird was brought to me. I sent it on to Ottawa. It had not been recorded there and was forwarded to Maryland. Finally I got the report back.

It had been placed on a male Cowbird in New Jersey in 1961, and returned to me in 1969.

If anyone picks up a banded bird will they please bring it to me. This gives valuable information to the Bird Banding Laboratory in Ottawa and Maryland.

The following are accounts of how some children in Florida did their part in saving wild ducks covered with oil.

The Sad Eyed Little Duck

Jay, our 16 year old, arrived home on his motorcycle early last evening from Gulfport Beach, carrying a small 1-lb. duck in his arms very tenderly. As he approached the house, he uncovered the bundle and we could see a small duck. The feathers were so black with oil and all stuck together, and his sad little eyes seemed to be pleading with us to help him.

We already have a rabbit hound from Bear River, a coon dog from Georgia, plus two parakeets and an incubator hatching one dozen eggs (a sheep project) and don't forget we were in the process of installing light grey wall to carpeting in the dining room at the time. This was just not the most opportune time to bring an oily duck into the house.

Nevertheless the other children (4 in number) came to the rescue. Armed with Crisco Oil, Corn Meal, Ivory Suds, Paper Towelling, a tub, rags, a medicine dropper, etc., they proceeded to clean up the duck. First Jay put a rubber band around the beak to keep him from biting them. Then they lined the porch floor with newspapers and started rubbing oil into the feathers with their hands. Then the corn meal, then rubbing off with the towelling. They kept checking his eyes, nose and heart beat throughout this procedure. This they repeated many times until most of the oil was removed.

The duck moved about a bit, flapped his wings, and even quacked a few times and they thought he would surely make it. All the time the poor little duck watched with his sad little eyes.

The children worked over him for nearly two hours and even moved him by his flippers in the living room to keep him warm, but all to no avail, the poor, brave little duck just went limp and died in Jay's hands.

We all felt very sad, and we had to hope to have him, but as our five year old "Jana Lee" said: "We did all we could." This is just one of the many attempts to save the birds from the horrible fate of the oil slick which has claimed many thousands of birds in the Tampa Bay area since that unlucky day, Friday, February 13th.

The Lucky Duck

Jay arrived home from Gulfport Beach again today in a second attempt to save a bird.

This bird was in a better condition than the first one, a bigger bird too, although there was still plenty of oil to get rid of.

The bird was brought right into the kitchen this time. It was much too cold and he would get pneumonia, so they said. So...

Then the Oil By operation began again with a few additions, a hot water bottle was used to keep him warm. His beak was held open and they forced him to eat Grits, fresh bits of bass and bread soaked in warm milk.

As they cleaned and fed him, the bird went from good to bad, and kept them in a state of suspense and sometimes despair.

One would say "Oh! He's dying, hold his neck up, he's falling over on his side."

Another would say: "He is not going to die, you must have faith."

"Oh, Lord, please don't let him die," said another. And as they worked along, he showed signs of improvement. They then wrapped the hot water bottle and placed it next to the bird and put it in a carton (get this) on top of the warm incubator.

The bird was checked all during the evening and the children had great hopes for his survival. Finally they got off to bed and hoped for the best.

In the early morning I was awakened by Jana Lee calling in a frantic tone of voice: "Nana! Nana! I saw jumped out of bed half awake, and there standing on the living room rug was our beautiful bird.

I called for help and got the bird back in the carton, and since then he has greatly improved. Jay got minnows and hand fed them to him, and he really gobbed them up. Now he is "Cock of the Walk" and has been really strutting around.

We do believe we have saved this bird. He is still not ready to fly away, but it won't be long now. It certainly has been an experience we shall never forget.

To Facilitate Telephone Calls

Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company Ltd. sug gest the public should place long distance calls "station to station" whenever possible and should look up local num bers in the telephone dire ctory because of the work to rule slowdown of telephone operators.

The company said calls plac ed "station to station" are both faster to process and less costly to the user. The new "two minute" minimum now in effect means that two calls (and in the late eve ning, three calls) can now be placed this way for the price of a person-to-person call.

Why Pay Taxes?

Is it true that only two things are certain - Death and Taxes? What is this thing called the MacGlashen Formula? A committee, representing community organizations, has been able to arrange a series of three public meetings on ASSESSMENT AND TAXATION. Sessions are to be held in the Bridgetown Regional High School on Tuesday Mar. 17th, Thursday March 19th; and on Tuesday, March 24th. Registration will not be required and no fee will be charged.

Says "Digby A Good Place To Live"

Mayor Glen Smith, speaking at the Digby Town Council Monday night on the Digby Regional High School controversy, expressed the hope that with the educational survey team coming to investigate, the subjects and to question the resource persons. On this evening it is proposed to subject the resource persons to questioning by a panel of knowledgeable critics. Persons who have attended Leadership and Municipal Affairs courses are particularly invited to attend, but all persons will be welcome.

Reviews White Paper On Taxation

David Ratford, Digby, was guest speaker at Digby Kiwanis Club recently when he reviewed items of the White Paper on taxation as it affects service clubs, individuals, capital gain, corporations, business and property income. Mr. Ratford informed Kiwanis that under present income tax legislation, a service club or any club operated for social welfare, civic improvement, pleasure or recreation, and where no part of the income is distributed for the personal benefit of a member, then it is not taxed on income derived from investment property. The White Paper, however, proposes taxing this investment income and the intent of the White Paper appears to be to tax any capital gains on these investments at regular corporate rates. It appears that expenses relating to the investment would be deductible and credit would be allowed for corporate taxes.

Clare Advances Tax By 50c

The Clare Municipal Council ended its annual session by striking a tax rate of $4.50 for the year 1970, which is a raise of 50 cents over the year 1969. Assessment for the year 1970 is $6,978,240.00 which represents an increase of $100,200.00.

Warden Bernard LeBlanc explained in his closing remarks that the increase in tax rate was made necessary by the recent eleven per cent hike in teachers salaries. The requisition of the Municipal School Board was $226,140.00 for 1970, which is $45,000.00 more than in 1969.

The Municipality of Clare ended the year 1969 with a surplus of $29,456.00. If it had not been for the increased cost in education the increased salaries, the $4.00 tax rate might have been maintained.

It was pointed out by warden LeBlanc that once the reassessment now being carried out in the Municipality is completed the assessment will be approximately double and accordingly the tax rate will be cut in half, stated warden LeBlanc.

The Ocean-bound Gem

There is a little jewel which is hung Suspended from a rocky chain of land. Though small in all dimensions of terrain, This Orin Island spawns a hardy band.

Of men and women who have known from birth The cry of mulls and watched them swoop for food; And heard the voice of ocean breezes sweep O'er water in a melancholy mood.

And boats will ply the Passage to and fro; The people-birds ferry and the fish. With vehicles packed tight will bring those who Admire the facets of its beauty now.

same value that the deceased would have used. The present rate of 21% on a corporation's first $25,000 of income is to be abolished over the next five years and corporate earnings will be taxed at 50%. Corporations will be divided into two classes, closely held and widely held. Mr. Ratford told the group. Closely held corporations will have a choice of being treated as a partnership and taxed at individual rates or they will be taxed at 50%. However, on a distribution of profits (dividends), shareholders would receive credit for the full amount of tax paid by the corporation. Shareholders receiving dividends from widely held corporations would be given a credit of half the Canadian tax paid by the corporation.

CURLING NEWS

WINS V.O.N. TROPHY

The Lynch trophy, in competition for the tenth successive year, was won last Saturday evening by the mixed team skipped by Austin Alge with Irma Alge as mate. Aiden-Mullen playing second stone and Lorna Mullen the lead stone defeating the defending skipped team of Aubrey Hawkins, mate Kili Nichols, Carol Daley 2nd stone and Donald Black the lead.

This match in the final playoff provided a spectators delight with fine curling by both teams. The score was tied at the fifth end. In the sixth and final end Alge, with last rock, was faced with two stones lying against him. Accurately lining sights to the broom and applying proper weight to the stone he produced the shot of victory. And there will be a pack of curling hounds on his trail when the next season rolls along.

The sparkling curling of matra Irma Alge and Kili Nichols could be credited with each of these teams reaching the finals.

Three teams in this bonspiel were represented by a young junior curler who performed well on their respective teams: Tommy Sutherland, Donald Black and David Raymond.

The consolation playoff between Marie Barnes and Kelsey Raymond saw Raymond come off the winner. The Barnes team had Marie Germain, mate; Hyson Sutherland, second stone, and Tommy (Jr.) Sutherland at lead. With the Raymond winners were Mary Lou Raymond, mate; David (Jr.) 2nd stone and Bob Winchester lead.

Appreciation is greatly extended to the merchants in the town and area in providing prizes and to Donna Levy who did a "charming" job again at soliciting for the prizes.

Chairman Jack Britain announced a successful bonspiel with eighteen teams entered, an increase over last year (14 teams). Approximately three hundred dollars was raised for the V.O.N. fund.

Britain presented the trophy to the winners with prizes for the team winners and runners-up and receiving many an affectionate expression of thanks. Not wishing to miss this element of entertainment our local V.O.N. assisted in presentations. Prizes were also given to the consolation winners and runner-up team. In addition prizes were presented to the team of Bobby Dakin that finished with the low score.

Other prizes awarded: oldest competitor Pop Hanson; youngest curler David Raymond and the junior curler who scored highest, Donald Black.

Recognition prizes were given to Stewart Brown and father D'Entremont who alternated at the piano keys with Father D'Entremont leading in popular vocal numbers.

A buffet supper, par excellence, prepared by Margaret Wyman was served between 5 P.M. and 7 P.M.

The auctioneer's hammer, wielded by Hym Webber, added to the fund raising from the sale of a box of apples and a lovely home-made cake.

The Digby curlers enjoyed their trip to the Western Counties bonspiel at Liverpool greeting old friends and meeting new ones. Curling in six matches they parried the course - no wins, six losses.

At the banquet supper a special table was set aside for the fourteen Hall of Fame members in attendance. Following the banquet supper, the minutes of the last annual year were read and moved and seconded that the Western Counties play be at Middleton next year. This followed discussion of a representative of the new Chester curling club who wished to enter the league membership and the request to hold the bonspiel in Chester next year. The representative was advised that upon the club being admitted to the Royal Caledonia curling association, they would be accepted as the 15th entry to the Western Counties league and would be eligible to hold the bonspiel when their turn came up. This could mean not before 14 years hence (unless specially voted otherwise).

For the second successive year no team from the Cornwallis club participated although membership dues, to date, had been remitted.

Two Digby curling teams motored to Baccaro Wednesday to play in defence of the H. I. Smith Challenge Trophy.

CURLERS TRAVEL TO BACCARO
Members of the Digby Curling Club who left yesterday for Baccaro to enter a bonspiel were: Hym Webber, Stewart MacNaughton, Aiden Mullen, J. Turnbull, and David Daley.

SCORES THREE GOALS
Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Stark motored to Greenwood on Fri. and spent the weekend with their son, Sgt. and Mrs. Carl Stark and family. On Sat. they attended a play off hockey game in which their grandson, Kevin played and was successful in getting three goals, the score being 4-1 in favor of Kevin's team, the Cougars against the Hornets.

MRS. JACQUELINE COMEAU of Meteghan River, left, instructor of a sewing class and student, Mrs. Annette LeBlanc, Saulterville, center in the continuing education program at Clare District high school. This is only one of more than 80 classes in adult education in the municipality of Clare. (McLellan) were Edward Fitzpatrick, Halifax, executive secretary of the Foundation, and Keith Langille, Yarmouth, Adult Education.

The program began with showing a film revealing the stages of alcoholism. A discussion followed, led by Mr. Canavan, who endeavored to learn the feelings of youth on the subject of drinking problems.

In response to questions the students felt that drinking was a problem with the youth of Digby, most occurring over the weekends. This resulted in some people taking up the idea of not drinking alcohol.

They felt that in many places drinking is becoming obsolete and drugs are the thing.

The students felt there was little to do in Digby if you didn't have interest in dancing, so youth turns to partying, drinking and drugs.

The season closed to catch any kind of groundfish on Brown's Bank and parts of George's Banks on March 1.

The closed season which prohibits catching of any kind of groundfish is for the months of March and April. All countries which are members of the International Commission of the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries have agreed to these regulations, also supporting this regulation is Japan, even though not a member of the Commission. All countries which catch haddock out in that area, Georges and Browns, should pay particular attention to these regulations where fishings are prohibited during March and April. Some confusion seemed to reign as to why and when the regulations exist.

The area which includes all of Brown's Bank is located between 42 north and 43 north and 67 west and sixty-fourth west.

The area of north-eastern George's Bank, adjacent to the aforementioned area is the following points and inside the line of course no fishing is allowed during the months of March and April.

The coordinates are 67 west at forty two ten north, 67 west, forty one fifteen north, sixty five forty four west, forty two twenty north, 66 west, forty two twenty north, the area of Cape Cod where the season is closed for groundfish fishing during March and April is located at 70 west forty two ten north, sixty nine ten west, forty one ten north, sixty eight thirty west, forty one thirty five north and sixty nine thirty west, sixty two thirty north, These are the areas where no kind of groundfishing is permitted during the months of March and April. The reason for closing the season to groundfish fishing in these areas is to give the haddock some freedom to spawn.

At Canso trawlers had a landing of 782,000 pounds. 928 tons of herring was also landed at Canso last week. Only a small number of the lobster boats were fishing and it was understood that catches were fairly good. Three offshore landings were made at Liverpool last week. Lobster landings were just about all, only one boat said to be fishing in that area until the catch was said to be down to 25 pounds a day. At Yarmouth light catches, only one long-liner in with just over 10,000 pounds. One vessel landed 67,000 pounds of mixed fish. The lobster boats carried on their trip for three full days. Prices for the Digby and Yarmouth area:

Lobsters $1.00 to $1.05 per pound; Scallops $1.10 to $1.15 per pound; Clams 8c per pound, shell stock.

On Digby Neck last week 35,000 pounds of groundfish was landed at Victoria Beach two trawl fishing boats made one set last week and one landed 1,300 pounds of cod. One dragger landed 10,000 pounds. Approximately 45 clam diggers operated in the Annapolis Basin area with landings reported two bushels per digger per tide.

Lobster catches in the Bay of Fundy averaged 50 to 100 pounds per boat, but were unofficially, at St. Mary's Bay was 38 degrees, and this with ice conditions has an effect on lobster fishing.

Most of the fisherwomen in this area are presently gathering materials for replacement of weirs which have been destroyed this winter. Lobster season in district three, which takes in the Bay of Fundy shoreline between Burn's Point, N. S. (near the entrance of Digby Gut) and Albert Co. N. B. started on March first. Fishermen were allowed to set their gear starting at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning.

On the New Bedford market last Sunday, one vessel landed a total of 5,000 pounds of scallops and they were selling at $1.35 per pound. On the Boston market lobsters from the State of Maine were selling at $1.35 per pound. The supply was light, the demand moderate, and the market reported to be unsettled.

Haddock at North Sydney, Nova Scotia, were selling for 6 and three-quarters to 10 cents; at Halifax, 6 and three-quarters to 10 and three-quarters cents; at Petit de Grat, 6c; at Lockeport, 13 1/2 cents at lot. programs for both faculty and students. One such faculty program was the new Canadian folklore specialists Dr. Edward Ives and Prof. Fred Cogswell of the University of New Brunswick port and lecturer on Canadian literature.

Since 1968 the Orono campus and the U. N. B. have exchanged three junior-year students annually for the academic year. Each student receives a $1,000 stipend from which he pays his tuition at his home University and the remainder for travel within the region where he is studying and purchase of books.

Three graduate fellowships, instituted in 1966, have been established for research that has cross-border relevance.

The first student from N. S. Agricultural College in Truro enrolled at the Orono campus this fall, under an agreement between the two institutions in which the U. M. agreed to accept up to 10 students annually for degree work in the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture.

The center has also promoted the holdings of the Canadian collection at the Folger Library which is also a Special Depository for Canadian Government Documents.

The center sets also as a regional information center and has developed its own library of reference books, periodicals, and newspapers, teaching materials and a special set of regional maps for class use which are available to other colleges and public schools without charge.

Conferences and visiting lectures are scheduled from time to time, and the center has sponsored several lecture series on regional topics.

Digby Local Union Opposes What Terms Unethical Action

After a meeting of the executive of the Digby Local Union held at noon on Wednesday the following statement was issued by the Union:

The executive of the Digby Local Union of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Association has expressed its strong opposition to the unethical action taken by one of the Local members, Mr. Roger Matheson, which it regards as the best interest of the student body of the Digby Regional High School.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week a number of students held protest marches and sit-ins, protesting the termination of the contracts of two teachers, including Mr. Matheson.

The Local believes that its chief concern is the education of the students in the district. The executive believes this cannot be accomplished if students are behaving in a manner which Mr. Matheson has concurred.

At an assembly held at the high school auditorium on Wednesday morning Mr. Matheson stated his opinion as to why the contract had been terminated. During this discussion with the students he stated that he "would stay if given the opportunity to do so". He further stated that he had been "blacklisted as far as Kentville".

The President of the Local contacted the office of the Superintendent of Schools for Kings County and was told that Mr. Matheson had signed an interim agreement of acceptance and appointment with the Municipal School Board of Kings County on March 20, 1970. The Superintendent of Schools for Kings County feels that this is a binding agreement.

The Local executive would like to point out that Mr. Matheson was not notified until after March 9 that his contract with the Digby Regional School Board would not be renewed. This executive feels that Mr. Matheson's statement to the students that he "would stay if given the opportunity" was misleading and served only as an encouragement to the students to carry on with their demonstrations.

During this same assembly Mr. Matheson also said "I appreciate what has been done by the students". The executive feels such a statement to the students under circumstances, is detrimental to the education of the students in Digby Regional High School.

Dr. D. E. Lewis and Dr. N. Bisset are in Halifax this week where they are attending a course in cardiology at Dalhousie University.

Layor Speaks in Walk-out

Mayor Glen Smith spoke at a walk-out held at the Digby Regional High School on Wednesday morning. He expressed his support for the teachers and their fight for better working conditions.

As a correction to a statement in another newspaper regarding the Digby school students' demonstrations on Tuesday and Wednesday this week Mayor Glen Smith has stated that he is not in a position to make an official statement before a meeting of the school boards, but feels students have a right to express their views in a peaceful way through their elected representatives on the Student's Council. He also stated that he is not in a position to make an official statement before a meeting of the school boards, but feels students have a right to express their views in a peaceful way through their elected representatives on the Student's Council.

Maude's Painting In White House

Letter to Mrs. Maude Lewis in the picture, from Harry to Richard Nixon, was brought on the order for Mrs. Lewis' painting which Mrs. Lewis was gifted at the Digby Hospital. The picture has since been completed and forwarded by mail to the White House.

SUNNY SKIES AND PROTEST MARCH

Sunny skies added greatly to the pleasure of some three hundred students from the Digby Regional High School on both Tuesday and Wednesday of this week when they staged a march through the streets of Digby. They declared to be in protest of the decision of the Digby Regional High School Board to not renew the teaching contracts of Roger Matheson and Neil Cullen for the school term 1970-71. A message to this effect was left with the administration before the walk out at 10 a.m. on Tuesday.

Tuesday afternoon saw the marchers in a "sit-down" at the multi-purpose room in the new wing of D. R. H. S. Again on Wednesday morning the protesters occupied the same room until requested to vacate the room when they again marched the streets of Digby with placards, singing and evidently in gleeful mood. The march on both days was orderly.

The first student interviewed by the Digby Courier was a young boy from New Brunswick who had attended school in Digby for four weeks. Questioned as to why he was in the protest march, he advised that the students long enough and now it was time for the students to have a say in the matter. To the question as to how he would be aware of this in four weeks at D.R.H.S. he advised he had heard about it. Some interviewees seemed to have no really clear idea why they were on the march. Others were adamant in their protest at the board's decision not to renew the contract.

23 Urban Teachers Willing To Return

Approximately 23 recommended D.R.H.S. Notices of staff appointments were to go out to teachers of the Digby urban schools from the superintendent's office as recommended by the Staff Selection Committee and passed by the Digby Urban School Board on Monday night. Twenty-three of these teachers, who had been interviewed, was understood, had expressed themselves as being willing to return to the staff. Among these appointments passed were Miss Sharon Budd (to replace temporary teacher, Sister McClafferty) and Mrs. Norma Doozy and Mrs. Catherine Banks (if vacancy occurs).

On Wednesday morning the marchers were requested to return to the school and were met in assembly by the school principal, John Ritcey, whom it is understood endeavored to explain the whole situation. This, it is alleged, became harmonious as the question of whether the teachers in question had already been engaged to teach in other schools in the province for the 1970-71 term.

According to Larry Keady, a student who contacted the Digby Courier by phone after the noon hour on Wednesday, the protesters were spending that afternoon at their homes.

Larry Keady, the Digby Courier in the course of the phone conversation that the Deputy Minister of Education would be attending a meeting in regard to the teachers' contracts on Wednesday evening. This was not confirmed later from the Department and word to that effect was received on time to avoid disappointment on arrival at the meeting.

To part with a friend and neighbour who was so dear, You had no one a last farewell, Nor even said good-bye. For you were gone before we knew
And only God knows why God looked around his garden And found an empty space He looked down upon this earth, And saw your angle face
And lifted you to rest. With God's garden must be beautiful.

But for what they could give. The old home is broken now. No longer here you roam. For the hands that rest forever
Are the hands that made the home.
Two hearts of gold stopped beating.
Hand working hands at rest. God breaks my heart to prove to me, He only takes the best. Sincerely missed by daughter, Rebecca and grandson Clarence and family.

Walter West people want to fix up their old discarded school house to make a Community Centre where the children of the village can gather for fun and recreation and exchange of ideas.

With this in mind some leading men and women of the village are taking the initiative in fund raising, with a rummage sale as their first project. In an interview with The Digby Courier, Arnold Andrews and Roderick Pettipas stated that anything would be acceptable (tools, household appliances or other articles, clothing or other donations).

Working on the project with Mr. Andrews and Mr. Pettipas are Edward Trimper, Douglas Trimper and Marguerite Woods.

The students council, Dwight said, was divided on the question whether he would have these teachers break contracts with other schools, if they had made them, to return to Digby for 1970-71.

While the orderly demonstrators were on the march some 600 students on Tuesday carried on as usual in the classroom. Some parents, it is understood, came to take their off-springs from the

What's Going On?

What's going on? Well you ask Mrs. James Outhouse, the chairman of the committee.

That's right. You are seeing Mrs. Donald MacDonald in the picture twice. In the foreground she's standing back to the camera. In the background she's holding the hat which no doubt someone at the fashion show late in April will be modeling as a new Spring creation. The fashion show will be sponsored by the Digby Lions.

On the committee with the above are also Mrs. Donald Boutiller, publicity and advertising. Using Mrs. Donald Mac-

What Is The Future Of Harold Cromwell?

Forty nine years ago, in Weymouth Falls, a son was born to Frank and Etta Cromwell. Along with five brothers and four sisters the destiny of this group was un- known. The future of these Harold is still not deter- mined.

At the age of fourteen he went home to work with an un- cle in the woods at New Tu- st for a couple of years. Fol- lowing his father's death he was employed by the Goodwin Hotel, Weymouth, as a bell- boy. This tour of service last- ed for six years and was ter- minated so that the next four years could be spent in the Canadian Armed Forces dur- ing World War II. After hav- ing been discharged from the Army he was self-employed doing odd jobs and for a time worked in a nickel mine in Sudbury, Ontario. He later returned to Weymouth Falls and was again self-employed until he accepted a job as guard for the Halifax Commis- sioners protecting city fields and motorized vehicles. Three years ago he was hired as a janitor in the Weymouth Con- solidated School.

Harold is a sensitive man filled with a natural artistic ability that is rarely found. This talent was revealed while convalescing in the Military Hospital at Camp Hill. Here his abilities were reflected in his adeptness in pencil work and shading. He soon began to experiment with col- ored crayons - later with wa- ter paints, oils and ordinary enamel. He has a photogra- phic mind, in as much as he can capture a scenic view of nature beautifully and has the ability to duplicate the men- tal picture of the scene on paper or canvas. Those who have been fortunate enough to view his works are taken back at the beauty and artis- tic ability exhibited.

Many teachers of the Wey- mouth School and others have employed him to produce

What does the future hold for this artist? How can Harold Cromwell achieve recog- nition and just financial com- pensation for his work? These are difficult questions but could be solved if enough people were to become inter- ested. If tourists could be di- rected to his show step, he could possibly get a start to the world of fame, and many could derive pleasures from his masterpieces.

The marriage of Beverly Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sweeney, Wey- mouth, and Sidney Llewellyn Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virginia Powell, and Joy Raymond were brides- maids and wore green velvet dresses in A-line styles trim- med with white marabou. They carried nosegays of red and white carnations.

Too Fast

Yesterday life was young and I was free
 I did not notice they were but free
 Both average and mischievous little boys
 When did they throw away their toys.

I see my baby brothers changed to men
 When yesterday they were but free
 When did her helping hands become so worn
 They seemed so new when I was born.

How could my father's hair get lost so quick
 Mine is still growing nice and thick
 How did the wrinkles get upon his face
 Last time I looked I saw no trace.

How could they change before my eyes so fast
 I did not even see it pass
 Youth stays but for a moment now I see
 But still it seems unreal to me.

Closed For Easter Holidays

If the Easter bunny's basket contains a posse egg for some Nova Scotia car owners this Spring it's their own fault.

The mid March tabulation of vehicle owners who have changed their 1970 vehicle registration plates stand ap- proximately 175,000 - about 61,000 less than were regis- tered by the end of March last year.

Vehicle owners caught without 1970 registration after March 31st will have no ex- cuse for their oversight. The 1969-70 registration period has extended over five mon- ths, having commenced last November 1st instead of Dec- ember 31st as in previous years.

There will be definitely no extension of 1969 registration beyond the March 31st dead- line.

The goose-egg in the Easter basket may be reserved for those "late" registrants who are depending on receiving mailed applications and who fail to remember that from Good Friday, March 27th, to Easter Monday, March 30th Registry offices in Halifax and Sydney are closed to the pub- lic.

It takes a week to ten days from the time of receipt of mailed applications for regis- trations, to process and re- turn them to the sender. There is no backlog of license ap- plications at present.

Celebration Dances At W.C.H.S.

Despite the heavy snowfall last Friday night students in grades 7-12 of the Weymouth school showed a good representation in attending a dance to celebrate the completion of exams. Many students were unable to attend because of hazardous roads.

The Hasselt Rode Band agreed with Robert Baldwin, school principal and Richard Cooman student council president that the dance be repeated the following evening. It was a gamble however Saturday's dance was also a success.

Both evenings activities were supervised by Robert Edw. Spiller Baldwin and Mrs. Jang Shaw as chaperones.

FRIENDS EXTEND BEST WISHES TO NEWLY RENOVATED FUNDY RESTAURANT LTD.

William Troupe, Jr., owner of the Fundy Restaurant Ltd., which has undergone complete renovations, was born at Medford, Mass., and received his early education in the Medford Hillside School. In 1945 he returned with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Troupe, Sr., where he completed Grade XI High School in 1950.

Mr. Troupe went on to higher education at Acadia University, graduating in Bachelor of Science in 1954 and Bachelor of Education in 1956. During this time he had the honor of representing Acadia University at an International Students Seminar in India. Following his university years Mr. Troupe lived in Granby, Quebec, where he was assistant to the factory manager for Mincer Rubber Co. and Canadian Sales Representative to a textile firm. He had served in the Canadian Air Force Reserve until also.

On returning to Digby, Mr. Troupe entered the restaurant business full time, except during the years 1958 to 1960 when he taught at the Digby Regional High School. In 1960 he again went back to employment full time in his Fundy Restaurant Ltd. business and began renovations because of

A tour of the restaurant is planned and coffee and sweets will be served.

Fundy Restaurant now provides two floors for service to the public. The upstairs where the restaurant proper has been and continues in its completely renovated form has been extended over the water to offer services of an up-to-date dining room. The restaurant proper seats 30 and the dining room seats from 50 to 60 persons. The restaurant proper is attractive in its new blue booths and Seashore wall to wall carpeting.

The upstairs dining room overlooking the harbour is called the Acadia Room, taking its name from the present Bay of Fundy Saint John to Digby ferry, Princess of Acadia, as well as because of a historic point of view. There are seven picture windows from where can be viewed the harbour and the south end of Digby town shoreline. The walls of the Acadia room are Lauson Mahogany and the wall-to-wall carpeting is in gold. Matching drapes adorn the spacious room.

Mr. Troupe married the former Sheila Walker, of Montreal. They have three children: William, Kathleen and Doreen.

Restaurant One Of Nova Scotia's Finest

Digby can boast of one of the finest restaurants in Nova Scotia when Fundy Restaurant officially opens its doors to the public this afternoon at two o'clock, after having undergone complete renovations and up-dating.

The public is invited to visit the restaurant where the Mayor Glen Smith, and town councillors will be present along with Board of Trade officers and other town officials.

The third dining area is downstairs. This is the Harbour Room which will be used for banquets, reception, business conferences, parties, etc. It accommodates fifty, who can look out of three picture windows to get a glimpse of Digby's astounding beauty and view the alluring Annapolis Basin and Digby harbour.

All three eating areas will be treated with background music to enhance the soothing qualities of an enjoyable eating-out experience.

Among the highlights of the modern new features in the renovated Fundy Restaurant are the smart, clean and attractive wash rooms of pastel ceramic tile and latest fittings. The men's wash-room is in beige and the women's in pink.

EXPANSION PLANNED FOR CFB CORNWALLIS

(By John Thurber)
The Department of National Defence is presently acquiring, by expropriation and private purchase, some 3,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Granville Ferry, Plans for the construction of a 200 yard rifle range, a 30 yard range for pistol and sub-machine guns, and a fieldcraft and map using area, will be discussed at a public meeting in the Granville Ferry Community Hall at 8:00 p.m. (tonight). Details of the plans were released to the press last Friday at a conference held in the Base Commander's Office, CFB Cornwallis.

Cap. H. R. Tilley, Base Commander, who, for the purpose of providing news media with information on the expansion of C. F. B. Cornwallis, explained the project, told that the present nine weeks basic recruit training course will be extended to eleven weeks of active May 4. The additional two weeks will involve Land Administration Training, presently conducted at CFB Toronto, Ontario. The present recruit population of CFB Cornwallis is approximately 700 and with the planned expansion will increase to 1,000. The military will increase by approximately 40 personnel to a total of 318. The present civilian staff of 370 will not be increased.

A plea was made for more houses to accommodate the increasing recruit population.

The proposed land is about two-thirds of a mile behind the community of Granville Ferry, the danger area being further up the mountain, because of rifle firing, during the day. The estimated cost of the project is $150,000 and construction will commence as soon as the land can be acquired.

COMPARE TYPES AND COSTS FOR BEAR RIVER BRIDGE

Highway and bridge development plans in the Digby County area will focus on new Trunk 101 development and commencement of the Bear River Bridge during 1970.

Preliminary details of the program were disclosed by Minister Hon. I. W. Akley.

The Department plans to call tenders for replacement of the Bear River bridge with a bridge to be constructed to start this year. Engineering studies in the vicinity of a new bridge include an upgraded section of highway from Digby to the DAR crossing north of the bridge structure and through Digby to the rebuilt Brook and Bridgetown. The consultants are nearing completion of comparative cost studies of this design in relation to standard type structures, following which final design will commence.

The Department also hopes to start contracting a new bridge to connect with the proposed new Bear River bridge 101 to Windsor. With Trunk 101 to Windsor, the completion of an all-weather highway system from Digby to the Avon River Causeway and final grading and surfacing work between Wolfville and Kentville, traffic is expected to have all-weather highway from Halifax to Cold Spring Road and the new section of highway from Digby to Ymouthis has already been approved to all-weather developments bring the standards.

Citizens Committee Meets

Fred Harris chaired the third meeting of the Digby and area Citizens Committee which met at the Digby Regional High School auditorium on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Harris welcomed the people who attended and immediately began the meeting by reading several letters. The first one was forwarded on behalf of the Citizens Committee to His Worship Mayor Glen Smith in which objection was raised with the fact that E. C. Edwards, Inspector of Schools for Digby and Annapolis was sitting on the survey team formulated to study the controversy at DRHS. A letter was received from His Worship in which he stated that a request had been made from the DRHS Board to have a survey made but there had been no request about the student if he wants to open the door to success and better his income and living.

With regard to obtaining a position, Mr. Potter told the class that to sell yourself to an employer, you must know yourself and should make an analysis of self. He said that at the Manpower Centre he is a job-between for the graduate and the employer. He has the information about the person seeking work which includes age, sex, height, weight, what is required to be done, where they have to go, the wages length of time to be hired, special skills and this is filed to the description of the person required by the employer. It is important, he told the class, how the person looking for employment presents himself to an employer. He frowned upon checks who sit behind counters, cheating gum, those who have their hair not well groomed and hanging over their faces and those who have lipstick applied as if they had fallen in the tub.

Men, Mr. Potter said, should meet their prospective employers well groomed and neat with three days growth of beard.

Besides selling yourself by appearance, Mr. Potter told the graduates, you must sell yourself by behaviour. An employer, he said, is paying for services and his customers want attention. And success Mr. Potter told the graduates. (Please turn to page 5)

About This and That

Easter Is For Digby

Easter was the brightest dawn after the darkest night. And so life, wherever we are or whatever our station still goes on in the hope of a bright dawn because Easter brought hope for all mankind.

One of the greatest hopes in the world today is that all mankind shall live on this planet in brotherhood, peace and love. But, such a state will not be accomplished without the help of you and the help of me.

Where shall we, you and me, go then to take up the challenge of making that dream of universal brotherhood come true? Shall we go to Viet Nam? Shall we go to some far off country to preach the Easter message of brotherhood and peace? No, we do not need to travel further than the borders of our own town. The challenge is right here if we but open our eyes to see it. Let us take it up.

Indeed, our churches are leading in an effort of brotherhood as they meet together on Friday evening in memory of the Man who gave His life for brothers everywhere. But the church, again, is you and it is me. Unless our hearts are willing to grant forgiveness, to take up the 1970 challenge of brotherly love, the Good Friday service and the Easter hope will be lost.

Right here in Digby, we can make the Good Friday service meaningful, first by attendance and then to leave the church determined toward brotherhood, peace and harmony. We need not forget Viet Nam nor any other country of unrest but we dare not forget our own small town and the communities around. Easter is for Digby.

A Start On Fighting Pollution

Digby Pines will install a modern sewage disposal plant before the hotel opens this summer. The installation of the disposal plant is in conformity with the government's deep concern regarding pollution problems in the province. Thinking in terms of "people who live in glass houses should not throw stones", this is, indeed, one of the first steps the province can take in helping to clear up pollution which, believe it or not, does plague the Annapolis Basin and Digby harbor, even though it might be to a much lesser degree than in many other areas.

The Canadian government, too, is making war on pollution. It is urging industrial plants, new and old, to provide sewage disposal facilities. It, too, can be considered living in a glass house on the question of pollution. While we hail with exuberance the recent announcement of extensions at CFB Cornwallis, we are reminded again of the Annapolis Basin problem and the degree to which the basic adds to the problem. Like the Nova Scotia government, maybe the Canadian government could start its anti-pollution campaign right at home. Other campaigners, we believe, would then more voluntarily take up the challenge to rid our waters of sewage.

Of course, nobody is exactly to blame for the state of pollution in our country. We want more people at CFB Cornwallis, we want more people in Digby. We want more people, period. If the Islands, for instance, had more people, it would be that much easier for the people to obtain the bridge they want across Petite Passage. People are good but people are also polluters.

Similarly, industry is good but industry is a polluter. We want factories, more jobs, greater economic status, a better standard of living, but it all brings its problems in pollution of air and water.

We like nice cars and more of them, we like cigarettes but both of these pollute the air. We like snow white clothes when on the catwalk, but the phosphates in the detergents pollute the waters in which the fish struggle to live. We are glad to see the Pines taking our area.

Hodge Podge

— Is it true? We have no legal mind. Someone told us it was a fine for an adult to aid and abet in student protests. According to our "older" it was alright for students to have fun but hands off the adult, adults, they say.

— I wouldn't live in Digby if they paid my rent. That was a comment by an outsider following the school students' protest march Tuesday of last week.

— Looking at some of our typographical errors, our "Coffee at Janes" columnist writes that if she really does say some of the stuff which she reads, she must be nuttier than she thinks.

— Two weeks ago the word phoniness became phonies in her column. Michael became Michael Angelo. Oh, well, maybe poor readers are born, not made; the editor has every sympathy with Coffee at Janes columnist who says she makes enough mistakes but gets annoyed when "mistakes are edited in". Even the editor has problems. A case really of interpreting hieroglyphics. Not so with Coffee at Janes, though.

No disrespect to Digby Courier whatsoever. Just happened to overhear an Englishman, who had never seen the Curling game before coming to Canada, being used in at one of the Valley lanes. His informant informed him "It's just big children with big brooms chasing big marbles down the ice."

— See where Bridgewater is launching a campaign for $45,000 to build a swimming pool. Surely Digby can raise $25,000 anyway, maybe $50,000.

Letters To The Editor

Barton, Digby County, N. S.,
March 16, 1970.
Digby Weekly Courier,
Digby, N. S.
Dear Madam,

There are still honest people. Some weeks ago while at a bingo at Nictaux Fire Hall a small change purse was lost containing a sum of money, no identification of any kind. The loser called by phone to notify and explained details, never expecting to have any luck. To her great surprise on March 15th Mr. Bill Potter came to deliver the purse all intact all the way from Nictaux to Barton. This act deserves to be told. So we can still have faith in our fellow men.

It should not be put off and then be done posthumously as some sort of gull-pumped g.o.w. will gesture, as these things usually are.

I speak for generations when I say "Thank you, Mr. Purdy! Well done! Well done!" Mr. Purdy has done what you and we certainly will never forget you. Sincerely,
An "old system" grad.

To whom it may concern: We have a thirty miles per hour speed sign at the top of the hill, approaching the town of Digby. I have watched trucks and cars coming down the hill exceeding the speed which these thirty miles per hour signs is frightening to the observer. This is the speed limit in the town below the hill, which is not being observed by many motorists.

I was wondering if we could have a few more signs posted here in the town below the hill, to remind the motorists that the speed limit is really 30 miles per hour; and we the citizens would like the motorists to observe and heed these rules for the safety of the lives of children or individuals of any age, who may be on the highway. In some areas of our town the speed should be reduced to twenty miles per hour for the safety of children.

Do we have to wait until another needless tragedy happens before we can have these signs? (Please turn to page 5)

Evolution Not Devolution

— YEAR 1920 —

S. A. Lettenay apparently enjoyed dealing in day himer as much as dry goods. In the Couriers of 1920 his firm ran a series of reader ads which went way round and about before finally mentioning his stock in trade. Here are a couple of examples taken from the files.

Evolution Not Devolution

Although you and I feel like saying Devolution, do we feel when we read what that snipe of a Charlie Darwin (who was) says about you and I and all mankind coming or evolving from a Tadpole? Living down in the bed of the river, sucking all kinds of slime and dirt into their bodies. Think of it, will you? You and I. You with your high brow, pink cheeks, blue eyes, curly hair with roustache clipped to be invisible, you with your superior intellect; with your petticoat; pants half way to your knees. I with grey hair, somewhat bent, and face wrinkled coping from a Tadpole! Why sir, I feel like saying and I will say Devolution! Devolution! Devolution! — Yes, sir, and should I ever meet Charlie Darwin walking out upon the battlements of that far away city, I will give him a piece of my mind, yes I will. And yet I do believe in Evolution, just a little different from his though. Now "hear" your laugh in derision, but just wait and hear me. Do you see that old sheep in yonder field? Yes, you say. Well I will tell you she is in the evolution business. She sits to grass and it sprouts out in wool. Is that not evolution? Then they card and spin the wool, make cloth and dress goods which are taken by that wonderful concern, John Northway & Co., who make it into beautiful garments (which are the joy of the ladies) and they sell them to S. A. Lettenay. Now do you see that silk worm eating away at the mulberry leaf? Well, she will soon spin out silk threads; these are taken by the manufacturers and woven into beautiful silks and these are made into magnificent dresses, and sold to S. A. Lettenay, then sold to young women come in and buys one and although charmingly better, yet more so after she puts this on; then she marries, her family grows up and become wonderful men and women. This is the evolution we believe in.

Notes from Bird Haven

Now that all the seed catalogues and nursery lists are out for our gardens, why not pick varieties which will attract our feathered friends as well as improving our property?

The following list of trees may be helpful: white mulberry, most of our garden birds love the berries of this tree, especially Cedar Waxwings; mountain ash is another with lovely clusters of bright berries and colored leaves in the fall; white hawthorn which is covered with beautiful white flowers in late May and red berries in the fall. The robins will clean them up before they leave for the South.

Shed brush, commonly called wild pear - this blooms in May and has fruit in July which draws Purple Finches from all directions.

These last two can be had for the digging as they grow wild all through the woods and by the roadsides.

Now for larger trees, any of the maples, ash, sycamore maple - these have large winged seed pods that attract both Tits and Evening Grosbeaks.

For graceful trees you can't beat elms, lindens, oaks and limes, and the evergreen - these make lovely sites for Robins' nests and are lovely the year around. They may be a little hard to transplant. This should be done very early in Spring or early fall, giving them time to get their roots established before freezing weather. This will cost you nothing but maybe a few backaches.

The shrubs I would suggest are as follows: barberry, bayberry, red barbed dogwood, elderberry bush, honyuckle and inkberry.

The plants whose blossoms attract the Humming Birds would be cleome, larkspur, beauty bush, monarda and nasturtium.

Now the plants whose seeds attract the seed eaters are asters, bachelor-buttons, calendula, brown eyed susans, cosmos and sunflowers, which if you are lucky enough to have ripen will bring the Blue Jays.

Virginia creeper and Bittersweet are excellent climbers and the birds love the fruit in late fall.

For a hedge I would suggest haws, rengoos, sweet briar, with large bright red hips in the fall and by all means multiflora rose. This makes lovely hedges and as producing lots of bloom followed by haws that stay on all winter, the bushes are very healthy and need little care.

The following written by Patience Strong, is a tribute to the First Song Sparrow heard singing March 19th.

Somewhere in the depths of space beyond the range of sight - an unseen bird is singing in a rapture of delight . . .

Like a shower of golden rain the notes of ecstasy - flood the heavens and the earth with sweetest melody. Where I wonder did the skylark learn his magic art! - He can move the soul to tears and heal a broken heart . . . God created for joy, we feel it must be true - when we hear His little minstrels singing in the blue.

May we all have a Joyous and Peaceful Easter in the wish of all from Bird Haven.

The Bird Lady.

— Who's the bird? Overheard at a spot some 25 miles or more east of Digby was this remark: "If that bird ever comes here again and tries to tell us we'll be getting more publicity I'll tell him where he gets off. We have no more than we ever did." What we are wondering is "Who's the bird?"

— One of the duties of a secretary of any organization is to take the minutes and another is to read them at the next regular session for approval. Whose fault when none are read? The secretary, the chairman or the organization?

— We just gotta give Hon. I. W. Akeley a trip to Germany ere comes Spring. According to Harold Emerson they have lined off their streets in Germany to accommodate cars, bicycles and pedestrians. And, the U.S.A. is copying Germany. Sure as anything we'd save some motorist from nervous prostration if we'd give those bicyclists their own lane and no more.

— Who?

AH! I see a strange light come into your eyes when you hear these "Button, Button, who has the Button." Yes it has been a long time since you heard them, so long you can't count the years and would not all for the world, No! Oh, how they stir the memory, you see those dear ones whom you used to meet at social gatherings where they played the game "Button, Button who has the Button." The castles which you built in it, air those days have vanished and some of the hopes have crumbled, your life shaped different from what you imagined, the currents of life carried you away and you had forgotten those lovely times, but the familiar words brought the scenes trooping back again. The game is seldom played now, not in the way it was of old, but different, for instance, they play it at Lettenay's store. Yet I have the buttons, millions of them, largest stock outside of Halifax, male and female. The he buttons are for men's garments and the she buttons for female clothes. If some greenhorn were to make a mistake they (the buttons) mean would soon let him know on which side of the fence they belonged. Yes, we have, one eyed, two eyed and four eyed buttons, cross eyed, wall eyed and kinked eyed. Now this is enough nonsense about buttons, so we will close by saying our new goods are arriving daily and they are a breezy lot! Don't fail to see them.

From Children's Home, Digby

It has been some time now since we the children of Children's Home, Digby, have had a news letter printed. We would like to say thanks to Mrs. Wallis and her staff who have always been kind in giving us a space in the Courier. Also to Mrs. Wallis for her visits to our Home.

Of late we have been very busy. Several of us go three times a week to physiotherapy and two of us go to school therapy. We have school daily, a rhythm band session weekly, bowling weekly and we always celebrate holidays. We have a story hour daily and what fun we have. One day we had the story of the Gings; Bread Boy and we each had a large ginger bread boy to eat. This treat was given us by Miss Schmidt, our volunteer teacher.

One of our playmates has learned to ask the blessing, before we eat. This same girl can sing "Jesus Loves Me".

We have a Sunday Service each Sunday. We have a pastor and group of young children. Sometimes ladies come with the group and play the piano so that we can sing. We who are unable to play the piano, keep time to the rhythm of the music. We seem to understand music and we do enjoy it. Too, we can clap our hands and bow our heads when the prayer is said. We are forever grateful for our Home and the kindness, love and understanding we receive from the staff.

On March 15th we had two services - one in the morning and one in the afternoon. In the morning Mrs. Muriel Frankland and Mrs. Marguerite Como came with the junior group from the Digby Baptist Church. Karen Anderson led the choir and Joanne Frankland said the closing prayer. In the afternoon Rev. Price, pastor of Bear River Baptist Church, and Mrs. Arthur Jefferson, by Jefferson, Nancy and a group of young girls - Beverly Marshall, Rev. Price had Kimmie Trimmer and Wendy played the piano and the girls sang. They enjoyed it very much. We do love company. Come and visit us whenever you have free time. You will be most welcome.

The publicity report given by Mrs. C. M. Levy showed poster, press and radio publicity had been used and a dig-play was featured at the Digby County Exhibition. Mrs. Levy noted that the publicity effort ... needed more education on duties for new members.
Miss Marlene Lane, regional VON supervisor for Nova Scotia, addressed the audience on the 73 year old Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada and the changes it is undergoing. For instance, she said they must start leaving 31
VON boards at present instead of 99 which existed in December as this is a forward step in modernization. It is impossible to operate without the volunteer help, she said. By
... people
... greater service.

Canada-wide, Miss Lane said there are 812 of the total dists for sick patients and in amplification of health.
Miss Lane said that the VON board operates between the professional staff and the community. It is impossible to operate without the volunteer help, she said. By
... people
... greater service.

In accepting his office,
Charles Halliburton also stressed the need for the public to be educated in the services of the VON and to be aware of the financial problems of the Digby chapter.
Total income of the Digby organization in 1969 was $8,925.21, an increase of $52 over 1968. Nursing fees amounted to $2,175, grants to $2,295, fund raising, 1918.
Dues were $318.00. Expenditures were $8,997.45 and reporting deficit $124. The report was presented by Stewart Mac-Naughton.

At the close of the meeting
Harold Emerson showed slides of the day of visits to England, Germany and Greece.
One English picture showed the tallest man ever
... the oldest clock in the world that is in running order.
It was built by hand of wrought iron in 1294 and repaired in 1656 after having run for 998 years without stopping. Others were the castle of King Arthur built in the year 400 and the stone monuments of possibly 2000 B.C.

An interesting picture from
and marked for cars, bicycles and pedestrians.
An afternoon tea following the slides from Greece showed much of the sculpture.

At least 10 students must apply for the subject before application can be submitted to merit, viz. new math, needle work, silver, jewellery, music instruction, leadership training

take any of these classes should advise the administra-

In order to be enforced, or do we have to accept tragedies, at part of life, that no one can do anything about, as some ... have not had to endure tragedy.
To me, the word accident is an excuse for carelessness in somebody's part. I know many instances. A road accident is something that cannot or could not be avoided regardless of precautions. In my humble opinion precautions are not being taken seriously in regard to many motorists and animal owners alike.
Please motorists slow down and drive safely, live and let live. If you don't you may cause another needless tragedy.
No amount of money or punishment can bring back the life of a loved one, and time does not bring back the grief that the grief of a tragedy leaves with those who have lost their loved ones, by what is called a tragic accident resulted mostly by carelessness on somebody's part.
Yours truly,
Mrs. E. H. Lent.

Lord, Is It I?

Lord, is it I, who crucifies?
Do I drive the nails
A little farther into Hands?
So tender, warm and kind?
Seeking only to find
A sick child to restore again,
To help a man in pain.
O, Lord, could this be me?
Do I in my selfish way
Of living every day,
Add another thorn to that crown
They placed upon your head?
A Head bowed low in prayer
For mankind everywhere,
O, Lord, could this be me?

And is it I who sells,
Your gentle way of life
For a bit of worthless gold,
Like that man in days of old.
And by my greed for worldly things
Tread upon a heart that sings,
Lord, hear my fervent cry,
For a man in need of life,
And say it is, not I, who crucifies.

MODERN

new blue and brown booths are attractively placed on a plushly carpet (blue and green material) in a mural paper, typical of the sea. New counters and utility space is attractively done with planters adding to the adornment of the restaurant. Magazines, pop and other items for sale are completely away from the restaurant booths near the door. Soft music entertains and soothes the customers as they partake of the well prepared food.

Leaving the restaurant proper you enter into the upstairs completely carpeted stairs with a carpet and gold curtains as accommodation for approximately 50. Indirect lighting in the dining room provides a soft glow.

Leading from the restaurant proper to the lower level is a completely carpeted staircase in shades of blue and green. On the lower floor is another dining room reserved mostly for banquets, parties and organizations. It is done in green shades with green carpeting, concealed lighting, brass lamps and well hoard of Laun Ma hegany.

Clean and attractive washrooms are located on the down stairs floor. The washrooms are done in beige and pink and are completely modern in appearance.

In the kitchen, extensive renovations have been made with a new refrigerator and with unit and new charcoal broiler unit. This area has indirect connection with the restaurant proper on the first floor.

Looking attractive for the special opening on Thursday were the waitresses in their white aprons, yellow aprons and yellow corsages.

CITIZENS

Mr. Harris said the certification had been given to the school board, at the meeting on Monday evening and F. C. Purdy informed the board that he had no objection to resigning until the conclusion of his contract in July 1970 but if the school board chose to dismiss him he would expect to be paid his salary until the end of the school term. Mr. Harris said the previous petition had been expounded upon for 25 minutes while the Citizens Committee petition had been brushed aside by passing to a committee to take care of it. He wondered how much weight public opinion carries.

Another letter read by Mr. Harris was one written to the principal of DRHS regarding the lack of sufficient notice of a hockey game to be played by the DRHS hockey team. This letter was signed by the manager of the hockey team who later it was revealed was Peter Armstrong.

Mr. Harris then went on to talk about the "loopy" publicity that the Citizens Committee was receiving in the Town of Digby saying that there is a certain segment which can find very little need to say about the committee. He said specifically with an article which appeared in the Chronicle Herald on Tuesday, March 3, following a meeting of citizens of the Town of Digby signed by Saturday afternoon, February 28. Mr. Harris called this article in the Chronicle Herald, "Slop." He hoped that the press which was present at the meeting on Wednesday night would publish things that were said and not as they desire to interpret them.

Other protests voiced at the meeting by Mr. Harris were the inconvenience of getting the answers from school boards and the administrative station from the new wing of DRHS recently constructed were mentioned by Mr. Harris and he also referred to an item which appeared in The Digby Courier in June 1969 which said that Dr. Lewis commented on the establishing of the Digby, Urban and Municipal School system and in its second year of operation the three boards operated as a unified system under the direction of F. C. Purdy, superintendent of schools. Mr. Harris said Mr. Purdy was supposed to be under the direction of the school board. Regarding the students' protest march on Tuesday and Wednesday, Roger Matheson, teacher, said that he had been approached by the students asking whether or not they should go on the march and he advised them to do whatever they thought they wanted to do, not what he would say to do. Peter Armstrong, student advised the audience that the march was 100% a student affair and had no connection whatsoever with the Citizens Committee. The full responsibility he said was student responsibility. Other people also spoke on the protest march.

Charles Halliburton who was in the audience claimed to be the chairman that the Citizens Committee Organization had done more to bring in per sonalities than any other. He said that not only the educational facilities and the proper operation of the school was being jeopardized but also there were people who have a vested interest in the town and if the town attracts bad publicity this also reflects on the business and future welfare of all the people in the town. Whatever, he said, will wild the people of the town back together again should be the approach taken with the controversy. He accused the letter read about the hockey team of containing some half-truth comments, saying that the request for the hockey game referred to was not made until Wednesday noon so it could not have been turned down prior to that. Dr. R. A. Armstrong addressed the meeting on community attitudes and responsibilities. Students' Advertisements, Students' Advertisements, motivated to learning if students themselves, parents and teachers, respect and value high standards. Teachers should be of the best caliber possible, paid well and protected from programs which are not educational. Teachers should strive to grow pro-

Speaks

Mr. O'Hara informed the committee of the benefits, locations, structures, sizes, and costs of various pools. "Swimming is health, exercise, and recreation," Mr. O'Hara said, "and physical education authorities are unanimous that swimming develops stamina and self-confidence in young children, which aids in the development of their character." A swimming pool also promotes a good community spirit, and, through its common use by everyone, offers a "unifying force in the community." Mr. O'Hara suggested that the Council members should have an open air pool, and later, if needed, the pool could be covered by a building.

The area most desirable for a pool would be accessible to people and where there are no winds blowing from the water pool, water supply, preferably fresh water, since a salt water pool is more expensive to operate and the salt water causes rapid corrosion. Members were warned against choosing a location under a charge provided to be most certain and successful. Mr. Harris also said that there has been known to shift and undermine such pools.

A pool 20 feet by 75 feet would cost approximately $2000 to $2500 per square foot, or roughly $450,000. Mr. O'Hara estimated, not including showers and washrooms. Buildings, including materials and installation, would cost another $150,000 to $200,000 on the project.

The community, the speaker said, should have respect for learning in all its phases and should have tolerance for difference of opinion on matters of education. Dr. Armstrong put forth his view that council members should be chosen from the most capable citizens of the area they should not receive payment for services and should have no power in charge of and interpreting educational matters of complex nature to the community.

Children, the speaker felt, should have thoughts, parents, teachers and leaders to raise their level of thought. Other events.

Man Drowned At Sea

Memorial services were held Monday for Harold Hanford, a 25 year old Lithfield, Annapolis County man, who was lost at sea during the weekend.
The accident occurred on George's Banks where Mr. Hanford was fishing with Captain Cornelius Vantorn on the ship "Pico-Sea". It is understood that the boat was fishing in a swell, and that Mr. Hanford either became entangled in the drag or tripped and fell overboard. The mishap occurred at about 9:15 Saturday evening.

Reports are that the victim could be seen for about ten minutes but could not be rescued, since his rescuers, the ship were at a disadvantage by dark conditions and a terrific swell of the seas. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hanford of Halifax and had for some years made his home in Lithfield, Annapolis County.

Surviving are his wife, the former Marion Clute of Lithfield; two daughters, Sandra and Annette, at home; and three brothers, Arthur, Francis and Peter.

Powell Speaks On DAR Resolution

between Yarmouth and Halifax. These operations were carried out principally by the initiative of Nova Scotians and with heavy English financing.

After many set backs the line began to show a profitable venture. In 1909 it was proposed in the Federal House that the D. A. R. be part of the Intercolonial and its profits be used to help subsidize the sagging economy of the latter railway.

The C. P. R. became interested and while government surveys were carrying out their work, the former purchased the railway and its holdings.

Sir, through the years the C. P. R. has been deriving profit from the economy of the Valley and Western Nova Scotia. In 1904 the Company tried to abdicate from its obligations. But Sir, despite the resistance of the late Honorable George Nowlan, their first attempt to withdraw a portion of its passenger service was defeated.

I contend, Sir, that if the C. P. R. wishes to cut back on its obligations to the public of Nova Scotia, that it sell all its holdings to the C. N. R. for the amount it paid for the railway in 1904. Since the C. P. R. has regularly derived profits out of this venture through the years, I believe it will have no hesitations. But at present, Sir, I understand that the problem now lies with the Canadian Transport Commission.

to the public interest and passenger travel on the D. A. R.

Sir, I congratulate the Member of Annapolis West for promoting the resolution and I hope that he sees that the Federal Canadian Transport Commission receives a copy of this resolution when the Commission is prepared to receive submissions. I am pleased that the matter has been brought to the attention of this House. My constituents went long, without a doubt where the responsibility lies if the passenger service of the D. A. R. is curtailed. Sir, I will support the resolution and urge all members of the House to do likewise.

On Thursday afternoon the crew of the small boat Robert E. Foulis, removed the Life Boat from the Station and kept it on the Digby wharf.

Friday, March 13th about 8:20 a.m. the Robert E. Foulis left for Saint John, N. B. When the boat was in the Life-saving station the Robert E. Foulis blew three times to give a farewell salute to the place the Lifeboat had spent nearly 19 years.

The reason that the boat was in tow was because it was about to be replaced by a new one. The first time the Captain and crew.

Life Boat Is Towed

It was not that it was Friday the 13th that the Life-boat had to be towed. It was because a government boat was sent here from St. John to bring the boat back after the recent closing of the station.

Friday, March 13th about 8:20 a.m. the Robert E. Foulis left for Saint John, N. B. When the boat was in the Life-saving station the Robert E. Foulis blew three times to give a farewell salute to the place the Lifeboat had spent nearly 19 years.

The reason that the boat was in tow was because it was about to be replaced by a new one. The first time the Captain and crew.

Glad Easter Morn

Fresh hope into the world is born,
On this, our gladdest Easter morn,
The stone of doubt hath rolled away,
Man's idle fears, this blessed day.

The risen Christ once crucified,
Thank God, for us has never died,
'Ho! He! He!' lives with us abides
On this, our blessed Easteride!

Thus on this day, this blessed day,
With grateful hearts, we kneel to pray;
And ask the risen Christ, once more
For faith supreme, that shall endure.

No angry tumult of a foe,
Can crush that faith beneath its blow;
For faith made pure, and hope grown strong,
Brings life, not death, unto its own!

Convention Secretary Guest Speaker

For the past few Sundays the members of the Baptist Church in Digby have been listening to the messages of Rev. Keith Holton, General Secretary of the Atlantic United Baptist Convention, was the guest speaker on a Sunday evening. His message was both inspiring and challenging. He took his text from Isaiah 40, "He made me a desolate place, with emphasis on "He made Me" and used me for a special work.

One Sunday evening it was usually meeting to some special music, so on one occasion the men's choir of Smith's Cove and Deep Brook rendered four songs which were well appreciated by the audience and Mrs. Blacklock was accompanied. A time of fellowship followed the service.

Fickle March

Inland residents who felt the power of the warm March sun tempting them to discard a few items of winter's clothing discovered how easily they were "taken in" by the wiles of the most capricious month of the year.

Friday, winter was ushered in again by the heaviest snow of the season. Though polished shafts, on the white stuff, youngsters were reveling in it. There was enough for forts, snowmen, coasting and snowdrifts.

Sunday's bit of sunshine excited a bit of good old "terra firma" but Monday, though skies appear mild, scattered snowflurries are apparent. This is that fickle March, whose one cannot be too sure, weather-wise, can one?

This innocent looking girl is comedienne Joan Stuart of Punny You, Should Say That, whose Sundays on the CBC radio network.

Annapolis Municipal Tax Rate $2.80

The Municipality Council of the Municipality of Annapolis at the closing session held on Thursday, March 5th, 1970 voted to fix the 1970 tax rate at $2.80, an increase of five cents over 1969.

The Finance Committee, headed by the Hon. Mr. W. H. Brown, Chairman, estimated expenditures of $1,200,448 and revenues of $460,951, leaving a deficit of $739,497 to be raised by taxes on an assessment of $50,817,700.

Other items dealt with by Council included consideration of a fire prevention by-law. This by-law would supplement regulations under the lands and forests act. Fire companies are concerned with the rash of grass fires which periodically break out during early spring. This matter will be studied by a Committee and a report made to the Council in a session of Council.

Council also passed resolutions for levying of area rates on a number of communities for local services. These include hydrant and street lighting services at Redwood and St. Light service at Deep Brook, Clementsport, Lequille, Parkers Cove, Granville Ferry and Carleton Cove.

House To Be Moved To Church Property

A two story house built by Charles Cook and owned by him until recently, is to be moved in the near future. This house is located on the Shore Road near Rattling Beach Cottage on the tower side of the road. It was built less than a year and a half ago and before it was completed it was occupied by Rev. and Mrs. Brown and family. Rev. Brown is the pastor of the Lighthouse Mission Church of God.

The construction of the new house is a big project, however, low houses have been taken because of this progress. The government has purchased this property and, it is understood, is to be used as a parish house.

Delivers First Sermon Over CKDY Radio

Grice United Church

March 1, 1929

Subject: Living Together in Harmony

In the home, in the Church and in the Community and in the world, we are called to live together in harmony. It is not too much to say that, second only to faith in God, our human relationships are the most important things in our lives. We are generally unhappy when we are not. Few people are ever successful as the world sees success unless they know how to get along with other people, and many fail in the worldly sense and in the Christian sense because they do not.

The chief reason why so many of us fail to live together in harmony is that we have a false idea of how to create good human relationships, and there are at least three groups that fall into this category.

First the Dominators:

These are the people that move in and take over. They talk more than any other people. They try to get the attention of the whole group. In business they may be sincere, outwardly, but all the while they are scheming to get ahead of everyone else, and sometimes they do not mind how they do it. Even in the home their plans begin and end with what pleases them. They may do so by the assertion of the man's right to be head of the house, or by a ready nasty and bad temper which nobody in the family wants to arouse if it can be avoided, or it may be the whining and tears of the poor little woman who is the drudge of the whole family. Let's face it, there is as much the dominator in us all as we can get away with unless we have given God a chance in our lives to control us.

The second group by mutual relations with the Dominators are the door mats.

These are the people who find it easy to get along with people if they give in. If you live in a house with a steam roller, the nearer you get to a door mat the less chance you have of being mashed in the process. But the door mats underneath are with resentment and confusion, and they feel they do not make for harmony.

The third group are the double talkers.

These people say one thing to the moment and something quite different to another person. They never learn that while it may smooth the situation for the moment, it makes for more trouble in the end. To a person who has taken a firm stand, they say, "I think you acted perfectly right" and in the second person they say, "wasn't that cruel thing he did to you?" The smartest thing seems to be to trim their sails by what they think the people want them to say and very often they keep the pot boiling. The double talkers are always hopeless to help in a human situation that needs help. If you have a genuine criticism or objection, go to the person involved and with all the good-will and grace you can muster, take it up with him. If you remember that against you, leave your gift and be first reconciled to your brother. If a thing is not important enough to be taken up with the person involved, it is not important enough to be taken up with anyone. If you want a good spiritual exercise start praying about the things that hurt your human relationships and go and repair in love, speaking the truth in love. How can we do this? What does love for the people really mean? Love means reality in relationships. It means caring for people - it means
