1877-1977

One of the jobs I had to do, besides putting and grinding down the staff, was to... I cleaned one and then... One day not long after I started to get to the grating plant. I decided to climb the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned for some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily. He thought the remark pretty good and said:

Sometimes the gasoline engine, a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and the "fix-it" man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results. Max would then stand back and come over dramatically then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of fixing."

On other occasions when some people would say, "let it be," and seemed to be brokenhearted, I would say, "use a little oil" and vice versa, after that is said, "use a little oil" and vice versa, after that is said, "let it be." They often since have I heard of the value of that remark and the actual need of oil in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and in the right way.

(Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1961 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Quon Hut swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just out of the pool, nobody else seemed to be around, and the four Clothes were taken out and laid on the grass. The four pool, nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys, no thought or time for bathing suits, so in the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in. The rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" inferred to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Swims Officially Open Pines Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later (they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second World War), Kenneth, was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent druggist; for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale hardware merchant, and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day, I was asked to contribute about writing your version of the story told about "The Marooning of Jerome". I did it and read at least two times what I had written about the man who was found marooned on a beach in some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Duffy County. When I read this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of considerable social standing and, possibly, of considerable wealth. However, the way things could or would ever get any after being found out by some family in the Forest, about something that sounded like O. J. Simpson, either, you'd not, or, would not, who he was or why he was left there, it was, and, in, one of Dignity County, and, different ideas have been years concerning this man. However, "Ma" was, I felt, no longer different about this man. The man have been very well explained to people, and he was a sort of people who wanted where he thought

The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and extends miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of W. Mary's Bay. This land not only has water's edge, partly on level ground, and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having on an eastern aspect a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in extent, it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth at that name. It was secured by Loyalists from New York in 1782, the point of which went early to Britain, or, moving to other countries, left the shore

A party given at the Plaza Hotel for the week ending June 10, 1934, was the largest ever given at the Plaza Hotel. It was given by the American Society of the City of New York, and was attended by a large number of the city's prominent people. The party was given in the ballroom of the hotel, and was a great success. The American Society of the City of New York is a large and influential organization, and its annual party is one of the most important social events in the city.

There was a taste of trying to work inside the plant. Work was a little less on a full day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for petted personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular house, and much time and got an order, but

PLAN FOR ELECTION MONTH

October 1976 will be election month in Digby town and Town Council on Monday evening took first steps in preparation by appointing advisers of voters list. Those named by motion of Council and passed were Reginald Turnbull, Miss Marjorie Tupper and Mrs. Walter Black. These depend on acceptance. Councillor Eileen Chipman first advanced the idea of having young people, such as high school students, to do the job.

A motion to permit Alvin Lawrence to connect up his newly built home with the Digby Town sewer was passed with one dissenting vote, that of Mrs. Chipman. Three councillors voted for the motion which carried certain requirements and stipulations. Discussion followed on the interest of the Digby Municipality in joining in sewer construction with the town. Some councillors saw no objection and felt that it would be a help to defray costs to the town.

Mr. Lawrence's new home is near to the boundary line of town and municipality but within the municipality. Certain regulations not foreseen has caused difficulty for Mr. Lawrence to have a septic tank, it is understood.

A motion was passed to have unclaimed stray dogs taken care of by a veterinarian and the clerk was asked to have a letter go to the dogcatcher with this advice and also that the public be informed that tranquilizer method of caring for such dogs is available to the Town.

Bills to the amount of $9967.82 for the month of June were passed for payment.

A capital deficiency of $21,000 was reported by a letter from the Nova Scotia Housing Commission. The clerk was asked to obtain financial statements and a breakdown of years and amounts owing.

A letter was read on Monday evening at Town Council requesting the town to take out membership in the Digby Board of Trade. By motion it was decided to pay the membership fee. Vincent Snow of the Digby Board of Trade membership committee also addressed Council on the subject and the importance of having a representative at the Board meetings. Mr. Snow regretted, he said, that the Digby Town Council was not represented at the annual meeting of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade in June. Town Council, Mr. Snow said, does not have opportunity for open forum but the Board of Trade does.

Karl Neimeyer, building inspector, reported new construction of $3100 granted with fees amounting to $5.00. Permission was granted to Mr. Brown to build a garage on the corner of George St. and Montague Row with consideration of which of those streets is the principal street. Mr. Brown's intention is to construct a home at a later date.

By motion it was decided to donate a gun to the Admiral Digby Historical Society, it being the first weapon having been used by a Digby Town policeman in his duties. The gun is to be filed off so that there is no danger of it being used.

Thirty-four tickets were issued by Webster Dunn, in charge of parking meters. Twelve were collected. Amount money collected $561.79.

Fire Destroys Home

The house belonging to Leslie Wright in Clementsport was destroyed by fire on Tuesday. The blaze was fought by the Annapolis Royal Fire department with support from the Cornwallis and Bear River Fire Departments. Ms. Wright is operator of Leslie's Dress Shop in Annapolis Royal.

Municipality Supporting Moves To Keep The Painted Room

Digby Municipal Council has jumped on the bandwagon to prevent the Painted Room from being relocated to Ottawa.

A motion of support was approved at Council's June meeting. Copies will be sent to other Council's in the area, provincial legislature members and the curator of the Nova Scotia Museum.

A letter was read from Premier Gerald Regan advising that L.F. Kirkpatrick of the Nova Scotia Power Corporation would send one of his senior officers here to discuss the oft-criticized fuel adjustment charge.

Council had invited Regan himself to be present. Another letter will be written to the premier asking that he attend personally, since he is chairman of the Nova Scotia Power Corporation, and that he should bring along any other members he might choose to accompany him. Copies of this letter will be forwarded to Joe Casey, M.L.A. and John Buchanan, Leader of the Opposition.

Joe Casey, Digby M.L.A., attended the council meeting and presented council with a $4,400 check as an 80 per cent advance for the development of recreational services. Mr. Casey was questioned on the status of Graham Crescent, near the McCleave property, Digby. He said maintenance of the road would be taken over by the provincial government when it meets government specifications.

In light of the lack of progress being made toward having a sidewalk installed on Warwick Street, Council decided to send the department of highways a photocopy of a previous letter from that department. The province is alleged to have told the municipality it would cover the full cost of sidewalk installation.

A copy of Annapolis County's Peace and Security by-law was received. Council decided to support the program and add it to its own by-law.

A letter from the Municipality of Clare indicated that unit is not prepared to share in any grants to the Digby County Ambulance Service.

Councillor Winchester reported on Joint Expenditures meeting to discuss ambulance service. A motion to cease funding the service, was defeated.

A motion to seek clarification on deletion of the eight per cent sales tax on the municipal utility, was passed.

Notice will be given that taxi drivers' licences are now due and payable.

Property Damage Greatest

The month of June was a busy one, R.C.M.P. Sergeant T.E. Barlow reported at the Digby Town Council meeting on Monday evening. The greatest problem was in property damage.

There were 11 court convictions under C.C., two by-laws, 23 under Motor Vehicle Acts, I.C.A. 7, N.C.A. 1, 72 warnings, ten dismissed, 83 complaints investigated, ten under liquor control act. Forty-nine cases of assistance were given to the municipality. Fines collected $1120, municipality; $920 provincial and $50 federal. Overtime hours 14. The report stated that there had been found not enough traffic at Warwick and Victoria corner to warrant a traffic light. Two constables were reported to be on duty in town. Constable D. Martin replaces Constable Lord and Constable J. Arsenault is the fourth man on the unit which should reduce overtime and add greater efficiency.

Cause For Concern

While Polish vessels purchase herring from Bay of Fundy seiners, all believed to be from N.B., local weir fishermen are unable to market the bulk of fish caught in their weirs.

The situation is causing concern to a number of fishermen in this area and at least one weir is reportedly being stripped because of the market situation.

About five Polish vessels were given permission to come within the 12-mile limit to purchase herring from Bay of Fundy seiners.

Wallis Print And Camerons Hit By Vandals

The continuing incidents of break and enter in the Digby area has prompted the Digby R.C.M.P. to renew a warning to businessmen to be sure there are no large amounts of money left in their establishments.

The most recent breaks occurred at Wallis Print Ltd. and Cameron's Flower Shop, both on Water Street. Nothing but a small amount of change was missing.

At Wallis Print Ltd. prowlers broke open an old side door which hadn't been used for many years. Entrance was then gained by smashing out an inside wall.

Entrance in many of the break and enter in the past month has been gained through side doors and windows.

Police report there have also been several incidents of broken windows in business establishments reported over the past month. Investigations are continuing.

Thieves Beware—Dangerous Drugs Stolen

Warfarin, a dangerous drug which can cause internal bleeding, was one of a number of prescription drugs found missing following a break into the B.R. drug store Thursday, July 1.

Digby R.C.M.P. warned that warfarin is the type of drug pill-poppers should be aware of. It is a common ingredient in rat poison.

Police say a lot of warfarin was included in the drug theft.

In another incident on July 1st a car belonging to Hugh Brittan was stolen in Smith's Cove. The car was recovered on Friday in Berwick.

$24,164 For Digby Street Paving

The Digby Town Council in regular session on Monday evening made plans to go ahead with the $24,164 tender from Standard Paving Ltd., to pave certain sections of Digby town streets. Included among others are sections of Second Avenue, King Street, Carleton, Third Avenue, Sydney St., Church St., etc. Should the $24,164 cover more than now planned the plan is to continue Carleton St. to King St. and Third Avenue.

Awards Presented At Closing

The Closing exercises of Oakdene School were held Friday morning in the school auditorium in the presence of a large group of interested parents and friends of the children.

Several choruses were sung by the children during the program. The children were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Walter Lent, former music teacher at Oakdene School, in the absence of Mr. Brian Dickinson, the music teacher, who was unable to be present. Mrs. Lent was thanked by Mr. Frank Marshall, Principal of Oakdene School, for assisting the staff with the presentation of the music.

Promotion certificates were presented to the students by Mr. Marshall and Mrs. Shirley Williams, President of Oakdene Home and School Association, gave each child a school crest from the association. This crest had been designed by Pamela Somers, who was the winner in a contest sponsored by the Home and School Association for designing of a school crest.

Mrs. Jack Harris, representing Hill 'n Dale Garden Club awarded silver dollars to three students in each grade making most progress in a particular subject. Mr. Marshall extended the thanks of everyone to the Garden Club for again making these awards possible. The Garden Club has been rewarding deserving students in this way for several years and are to be congratulated on their generosity and community spirit with regard to the children of Oakdene School. Students receiving recognition for their part in the school safety patrol program were presented with their awards by Mr. Marshall.

Following the closing, Mr. Marshall presented gifts from the teaching staff and from Oakdene Home and School Association to Miss Audrey Milner, Miss Ann Crosson, and Mr. Larry Kelly. Miss Sylvia Johnson presented a gift to Mrs. Jean Marshall from the teaching

Thursday afternoon, which had been arranged by Mrs. Marjorie Tibbetts.

Recent activities at Oakdene School have been a bus trip to Halifax for senior students, where they toured the Chronicle-Herald building, an afternoon picnic at Kedge for senior students, and on Wednesday all students took part in a Field Day, which had been arranged by Mrs. Jean Marshall, assisted by the older students of the school, staff. The teaching staff enjoyed a coffee break on

Wildlife Park Officially Opens

A new wildlife park for Nova Scotia will be officially opened Friday, July 9 by Hon. A.M. (Sandy) Cameron, Minister of Lands and Forests.

The Upper Clements Wildlife Park is located on Highway 1 between Annapolis Royal and Digby.

"I feel it will be an interesting, and valuable attraction for all Nova Scotians as well as for the many visiting tourists who come to enjoy our province," Mr. Cameron said.

"The park is designed and laid out so that visitors can see the animals in a setting as close as possible to their natural habitat."

Some animals, such as a pair of black bears and a cougar, are caged. However, the cages are modern ones set attractively along the walkways of the wooded park area. Such animals as deer roam freely in open pens.

The design and planning for Upper Clements Wildlife Park drew heavily on the experience gained by the Department's staff at the older wildlife park at Shubenacadie.

"The Lands and Forests Department hosts a quarter of a million visitors a year at Shubenacadie," Mr. Cameron said. "I expect Upper Clements Wildlife Park will become as popular."

Like at Shubenacadie, visitors will leave their cars in a large parking lot and walk to where the animals are kept. This is a park-like forested area through which a stream runs. The pens and cages are well spaced. A visit to the park is like a pleasant stroll in the forest.

A black bear, one of the first arrivals at the new Upper Clements Wildlife Park, is officially welcomed to its new home by Merrill Prime, director of wildlife for the Department of Lands and Forests. The bear and other animals were moved from Shubenacadie Wildlife Park, also operated by the Department. (N.S. CIC Photo)

At the new park now, besides the bears and cougar, are lynx, porcupines, foxes, groundhogs, skunks and deer.

"These animals were brought from Shubenacadie," said the minister. "They were tranquilized so they wouldn't harm themselves in panic during the trip."

"They have all been at Upper Clements long enough to adjust to their new homes and get over initial nervousness," he added.

"The Upper Clements

Wildlife Park is not fully developed yet and will have new animals added over the next couple of years. However, we have made a good start on the park through the careful work and thoughtful planning of the staff."

The wildlife resources of Nova Scotia are a major concern for the Department of Lands and Forests. Wildlife management and habitat preservation are important roles filled by the staff.

"A wildlife park, such as this new one at Upper Clements, is a part of this work," Mr. Cameron said. "Observing the animals in captivity, checking on their health and noting their habits is an important part of the work of Department staff."

"The public, too, and especially their children, can't spend the necessary time in the woods to observe our wildlife. Seeing the animals in the wildlife parks instills a love and respect for them and, I hope, a desire to protect them from extermination."

"The quality of the environment for our wildlife is a direct reflection on the quality of our own environment," the minister said. "As long as Nova Scotia has the room and the concern to properly look after its wildlife, it will remain a good place for people to live."

The Upper Clements Wildlife Park is located on part of a 750-acre estate sold a few years ago to the province. It is located in a forested area with a stream that runs into the Annapolis Basin.

A nearby day-use picnic park, also operated by the Department of Lands and Forests, provides a good place for visiting families to take a lunch or supper break.

The official opening for Upper Clements Wildlife Park takes place at 2 p.m., Friday, July 9. It will remain open for the rest of the summer tourist season.

PUBLIC SPIRITEDNESS

The report in last week's issue of the Courier concerning Mrs. Pat Kynock's difficulties in connection with lack of interest in the planning for Natal Day and her resolve to call no further meetings this month after her last effort was attended by only two people should create a considerable concern and elicit sympathy for Mrs. Kynock.

While our sympathies are undoubtedly with Mrs. Kynock, it must be pointed out her situation is not new or unique in Digby. It must also be said that, so long as she is willing to carry on despite the obvious lack of any real community support, she will be allowed to do so by an apathetic public whose only contribution will be to criticize the Natal Day program once it is presented. They might, in addition, comment that Mrs. Kynock was foolish to carry on alone or with so little help.

Far too long public spirited citizens such as Mrs. Kynock have worked long hours over many months to make possible public events such as Natal Day while those in the community much better situated to benefit from such projects with one accord make all manner of excuses. Sure, these people are somehow easy to find if bouquets are to be handed out but if there is work to be done and it is a public holiday they will wonder from afar how the program is going. Those who do stick around can come up with caustic criticism of the efforts of the few with little or no prompting.

This situation, which some may think is exaggerated here will continue just so long as people like Mrs. Kynock are willing to do all the work and carry such programs as Natal Day on their own shoulders despite the very evident lack of active interest of many of those who should be in leadership positions. While many of these people will undoubtedly be quick to criticize if Mrs. Kynock decides she has had enough and drops the whole Natal Day project right now, it might be worth the effort to do just that in the hope such shock therapy might result in a truly community backed revival another year.

The suggestion in the previous paragraph, while bold, is probably impractical since commitments have undoubtedly already been made that, if cancelled, might jeopardize future efforts. Nevertheless, unless a new public spiritedness can be developed in Digby, not only in the staging of such events as Natal Day but in the whole field of civic and community consciousness, little in the way of real and lasting progress can be accomplished. In the civic field the town's chief claim to fame will be in national publicity concerning difficulties in filling civic positions.

It is not enough to blame forces that are seemingly outside local control for the problems facing this community. Unless the community, its leaders, its business and professional people show a greater willingness to get together in a practical fashion, work together and let the world know they are doing just that, Digby is doomed to a future of mediocrity at best and a listing among the losers at worst.

CURB RAMP CAMPAIGN CONTINUES

The ramps at entrance to buildings have become, more or less, the usual thing now and the Canadian Paraplegic Association has possibly been the organization that pushed the campaign to success thus far. After quite some stress on the subject the Association has been able to get a hearing from the governments in favor of the Paraplegics needs and wishes.

However, the campaign is not entirely over. Right now the C.P.A. is putting a drive on for sidewalk curb ramps. Truly, the paraplegics have not fought in vain in this regard. Even in our own town of Digby we can see places on our sidewalks when in need of repairs having been made for easier travelling for paraplegics, senior citizens or handicapped, by slanting ramps.

We noted in Bridgetown over the weekend that ramps were made at crossings but we also noted that on one side of the main street ramps continued for quite some distance along that one side. Motorists must find this easy on car tires when parking and those using loading zones right there must also be pleased with the sloping curb.

The C.P.A. admits that there could be disadvantages to curb ramps. For example, when they are installed unknowingly to blind persons, their existing or exact locations could pose some problems;

In winter time when the intersections are not properly cleared or maintained, ramps could become hazardous due to their sloping effect. Ice and sludge should not be permitted to accumulate, otherwise you could end up with a "dicy" situation, CPA says.

These mishaps, however, can be avoided with foresight so we would draw to the attention of our own town the example set by others and continue to make it more convenient for paraplegics' accommodation here. Ramps are a boon for the elderly, or for transporting children in carriages or for service personnel and public in general.

Hodge Podge

The incident is still a mystery. When you pick a ripe, red cherry off the cherry tree with a sewing needle straight through it, you do become a little curious about how the needle got there. Of course, you can blame the garbage collectors who picked the cherry off the tree but that doesn't hold water for there are the healed over wounds where the point of the needle entered and came out. Then, too, the needle showed quite some weeks of weathering. The owner swears innocence. Whether grandchildren were sewing in the treehouse and used a green cherry for a needle cushion or whether the birds are using needles and threads to make their nests, we do not know. It certainly isn't a trick or treat game.

"Where thou guest I will go." Not by plane nor by boat but by the brand new map. People have had to invest in up-to-date world maps and globes to follow the whereabouts of those moving to Africa and those changing locations in Africa. Doubt if the educational values in the purchasing of a new map can compensate for a first-rate instructor.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Madam Editor:

I have read some of the letters to your paper lately, to some of which I agree and some parts of them I don't. I always read and just about always sanction everything that is written by Mr. Vincent Snow whose life style is so much like my own. However in his letter in your last issue I find myself a bit puzzled as to exactly whom he is blaming and whom he is in sympathy with since he did not directly come out and say. It would appear though that it is another shot fired at the Legion and the sympathy is of course for Mr. Robinson though I can't prove it.

I never thought Mr. Snow to be anti-Legion or Anti-Veteran and unless he declares himself so, I shall merely believe he is and always was Anti-Alcohol, and of course regardless of whom it does or does not offend, I must declare myself on his side in this. In the case of another letter declaring the patrons of the Legion to be drunks and bums is quite another matter.

A drunk is a person who has an alcohol problem that must be dealt with at Woodside mental hospital and or psychiatric help.

A bum used to be a person with no visible means of support who accosted persons on the street and begged for a donation, usually to buy liquor with. Now it is done legally, by benevolent societies and Churches for very good causes, (this I have done myself) or in other cases those that can't or won't work are taken care of by our hard earned tax money and well paid officials administer it to almost anyone who holds out their hand.

I also must and do come out on the side of Mr. Robinson and sympathize with his broken sleep and the aggravation of tire squealing, yelling and swearing, its the Anti-Legion attitude I take issue with.

In the same area he lives in trucks roar all night long and dogs bark all night long, he never mentioned either festering sore to a person's sleep.

I have not lived in Digby 26 or 28 years but I had my sleep broken by these annoying and quite unnecessary beasts (dogs I mean) and have spent plenty money on tranquilizers in the seven years I have lived here.

They try hard to keep my lawn and field well fertilized as well as dragging bones and other garbage for me to pick up, they carry rabies, fleas, ticks and worms to infect children and make them sick, and most of them never have a dog-tax paid on them. (The dog catcher only has his two hands to catch them with and they can run faster than he can.)

When I first came up here, I asked the Chief of Police what could be done about them, his reply was there is no law against a dog that I know of. You could sue the owner, (if they have one) for disturbing the peace but it is doubtful if you would get much sympathy from a judge."

There are so many papers with so many views, Regardless of what, where, when or who, none can come close to our "Home Town News."

The local news, the meetings, the ideas pro and con, join together to bring us a bit closer to home and, "Be it ever so humble, there is no place like home."

Each week we look with anticipation at the Digby Courier to ferret out the various things that one takes for granted until they are away from home.

Sure, letters come from loved ones, various relatives attempt to keep us abreast of news, but none can start to touch the nostalgia of the home town news, like the Digby Courier.

Our home town paper brings us just a step closer to being there. This paper makes us proud to be a part of the community and the Home Town News, the Courier.

To each of us, there is a special place, a special category we are so proud to follow closely. We look to see if our local church has made any news; to see if any we know have had any special happenings in the past week.

With pride we remove its outer wrapping and with eager anticipation begin to peruse all the latest news, the personals, the ads, the town reporters, each adding to the already priceless information we've gleaned.

With pride we turn and see the ad for all our local houses of worship and we thank God for Canada, we thank God for editors that are dedicated, we are grateful for the great privilege that is ours to live in a community such as Digby and have such an informative news media. We thank God for the Courier and her Staff.

Yes, our home town paper becomes to us a real prize; here are acquaintances interacting with one another and in the end becoming a total entity. Here are friends working together for the common good of all.

The Courier takes in on a vastly different connotation, it is no longer "Just a paper," no, it is now a part of us. The Digby Courier, our Home Town News.

The Digby Courier makes us proud: to be who we are; it makes us proud to be a part; it makes us proud finally to be one of that vast member who wait expectantly for the arrival of their "Home Town News."

Pictured above is Don Brown of Digby, Ron Jewell and Jim MacIntosh of Cornwallis, representing over 35 years of scouting. Don received his 20 year Service Pin on 25th June and Ron and Jim their 5 year and 10 year respectively at a previous meeting of the Cornwallis Group Committee.

Members of Digby District and Leaders gathered at the Baden Powell Hall, Cornwallis, to bid farewell to Ron Jewell, who for the past year, held the appointment of District Commissioner. Doris Darres, President, presented Ron with a small gift as a token of appreciation for his work and accomplishment during the past year.

We regret that Ron must leave, but we know he will continue to be involved with the Scouting Movement. Our best wishes to Ron and family in their new location.

New Library At Sainte-Anne College

A new library is being built on College Sainte-Anne campus. This building will stand four stories tall, the two upper ones being for shelving of books, and the two lower being for study rooms, research, Acadiana, cultural center, etc.

The building will cost over three quarters of a million dollars and will eventually be stocked with approximately 110,000 books. It is expected to be officially opened at the beginning of 1977.

A Thought Starter

By Rev. R.C. McCormack LIFE CAN BE ROUGH

"The Christian life is not like a ship's cruise on a calm ocean. Often it is more like the journeying of a well-built craft through rough seas and dense fogs, confronted by opposing currents, contrary winds and maybe a broken propeller shaft." This graphic picture of a life is found in a current Christian magazine.

Those who are the most dedicated may undergo the severest trials. Paul the apostle had an earthly pilgrimage of unremitting hardship. He was beaten, stoned, shipwrecked, victimized by so-called friends, tormented by a thorn in the flesh, and was "cast down but not destroyed." This Paul invited young Timothy to "endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ".

People great and small must suffer for their faith. Christ also endured unimaginable torture on the cross, and earlier suffered the reproach of enemies and the loss of would-be friends.

Every cause requires stamina and sacrifice, and exacts casualties. The military man on the firing line may be wounded or killed.

Perhaps we have been wrong to assume that life is a bed of roses, unless we remember that roses have their thorns. Life is not as quiet as a mill pond, nor is it a losing battle.

Recall the storm on the Sea of Galilee, when Jesus was in the boat with His disciples. He brought them through. When your storm comes, it is best to make sure that you have Christ in your boat.

As most Christian workers are well aware, entertainment of a moral and spiritual nature can be a hard thing to come by. Entertainment of this kind for the entire family is even more rare. But Heartland Productions of Des Moines, Iowa has managed to capture the attention of both children and adults with its delightful new film, "Happiness Is..."

Heartland's president, Russell Doughten, Jr., also producer-director of "Happiness Is..." had as his goal "to present the Gospel in a way that would penetrate the hearts of children as well as minister to people of all ages." With humor and suspense, as captivating elements, the film has done just that. It provides a view of the lives of three boys who form a secret club and the girl who, when not admitted to the club, is determined to expose it and the boys. The film develops into a series of events as exciting as any of Tom Sawyer's adventures.

In its premiere in Des Moines, "Happiness Is..." was seen by over 7600 people in three days of showings. The size of the audience and their enthusiastic response made it one of the most successful events of its kind in that city.

Children from the Digby area will have the opportunity of viewing this delightful film at the Digby Regional High School Multi-Purpose Room on Saturday, July 10, beginning at 2:00 p.m. Admission is free.

Federal Contribution For Course At College Ste-Anne

The Government of Canada will reimburse the province of Nova Scotia to a maximum amount of $30,000 for a study program leading to a certificate in socio-cultural animation. The courses of this program are to be offered at College Ste-Anne, in Church Point, N.S.

In announcing this federal contribution, Coline Campbell, parliamentary secretary to the Honourable J. Hugh Faulkner, indicated that the federal share represents 50 percent of the extra costs incurred by this special project of bilingualism in education.

This new program, to start in the Fall of '76, will meet the growing need for professional training in the field of socio-cultural development. The certificate comprises five 90-hour courses, or the equivalent of a ten-month full time program. The content will focus on community development, cultural promotion amongst minority groups, group dynamics and problem solving methods.

In setting up this certificate in social animation, College Ste-Anne is responding directly to a need clearly identified by the Task Force on French Language Minorities, that of providing adequate training for resource people working towards the betterment of isolated Francophone Communities.

Miss Campbell indicated her satisfaction for the college's initiative and expressed her confidence that this study program will meet the aspirations of various communities in the Atlantic provinces.

College Ste-Anne intends to develop its program over a three-year period, thus bringing the necessary changes to a training experience fully geared toward the needs of both the students and their community.

It is under the provision of the Federal-Provincial Program to promote bilingualism in education, administered by the Department of the Secretary of State, that this $30,000 contribution is made to the province of Nova Scotia.

Appointment

Premier Gerald A. Regan announced today the appointment of Ronald A. Johnson as Deputy Provincial Secretary to succeed Arthur J. Hickey upon the latter's retirement on June 30.

For the past five years, Mr. Johnson has been secretary of the treasury board of the Nova Scotia Government.

A native of London, England, and graduate of the University of London, he joined the provincial Government Service in 1971 after serving for five years in the office of Government organization and Treasury Board for the Province of New Brunswick.

During World War II, he served with the British Army in West Africa, East Africa, the Middle East, and India. From 1958 to 1961, he was representative of the British Council in Afghanistan and, from 1961 to 1966, he served as a management consultant in Chicago.

Mr. Johnson resides at Black Point, Halifax County.

Graduates From Humber

Miss Karen Ann Deveau, Digby, recently graduated from Humber College, Toronto, in the three year Interior Design Course. Graduation of the Humber College of Applied Arts and Technology graduation was held on June 17th, when guest speaker was Sir Rupert John, Governor and Head of State for the Island of St. Vincent and the Grenadines.

He told the largest graduating class, 1500, in the history of Toronto's Humber College that its members are taking their place as educated adults in a world "riddled by problems, intrigue and disturbing situations."

"Mankind has brutalized his knowledge of science and technology," he said. "We walk on the moon but find it extremely difficult to live on earth in a spirit of mutual understanding. We have great problems living in peace and harmony."

Sir Rupert urged the Humber graduates to "take a stand on the side of things that count - things like equality and justice."

Wins Scholarship And Awards

Stephen Bartol, a former student at Oakdene School, graduated recently with honours from Queen Elizabeth High School in Halifax, receiving the Governor-General's award for highest standing. He was also the recipient of a $1500 scholarship to Dalhousie University.

Stephen is a son of Rev. and Mrs. John Bartol who served in the United Baptist Pastorate, Bear River.

Be A Beacon

"You Can't Be A Beacon
If Your Light Don't Shine"

Just one of the many inspirational songs presented by Martha Ramsay at the keyboard of the special effects electronic pipe organ. "THE KING IS COMING" by John Ramsay is equally effective.

John and Martha with their young son, John Jr., are a sincere and dedicated couple who devote their full time to spreading the Gospel Message through music and song. They travel Coast to Coast and present a full two hour program in any church or Christian organization to which they are invited. Their especially arranged program is presented on its merits and they depend on free will offering to meet travel expenses.

They are coming from Carrollton, Ohio, and will be arriving in Digby via Princess of Acadia July 15th to begin a two-week schedule of Gospel singing and inspiring music in the Western Annapolis Valley area.

They will be appearing at the following places: July 16th, Digby Baptist Church; Digby, N.S.; July 18th, Smiths Cove Baptist Church (open air); July 21st, Bear River Baptist Church; July 24th, Middleton Baptist Church, and July 25th, Milbury Lake Baptist Summer Camp Grounds.

He spoke of the luxuries of the rich and of the problems of the poor. Sir Rupert said that "educated people have an obligation to help lift the burden from those who are less fortunate."

"You people in Canada are extremely fortunate," he said. "The national income per head of population in St. Vincent is about two hundred Canadian dollars per year and 40 per cent of our people are unemployed."

Jet Cadet Picnic

The Jet Cadet Youth Group held their picnic at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Porter, Barnes Lake, on Wednesday, June 23rd. This was the last meeting of the group, until it re-opens in the fall.

Successful meetings have been held for the past eight months, under the leadership of Mrs. Seely and Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Dukeshire. Activities included at the picnic were swimming, fishing and playing games. After refreshments, a gift was presented to Mrs. Seely from the group. Mrs. Seely has devoted a lot of time to the group and will be missed by all. A gift was also presented to Kerry Bell by Mr. Dukeshire for bringing the greatest number to the group. Books were presented to Philip Seely, Michael and Jimmy Chmiel, who will be leaving Bear River in the near future. Thanks on behalf of the group, was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Porter for inviting them to their cottage.

Celebrates 90th Birthday

A scroll from Prime Minister Trudeau, and congratulatory letters from Coline Campbell M.P., provincial deputy speaker Joe Casey, and Hon. Gerald Regan were received by Mrs. H. Blanchard Grant on the occasion of her 90th birthday.

Many long-time friends, gathered at Mrs. Grant's home on Monday, June 28, where a surprise tea was given her. A beautiful birthday cake was made by Mrs. Calvin Granville; and flowers, gifts, telegrams and other messages from far and near arrived during the day.

Mrs. Grant is one of Weymouth's oldest and most beloved citizens and school teacher, and has given the community her loyal support through the years. She has been an active supporter of the Cancer Society as well as a member of St. Peter's Anglican Church in Weymouth North.

Two sons and a daughter living at a distance, were unable to be at the birthday celebration. Donald, an engineer, is in Dartmouth. Johnson, living in Truro, a lawyer, and Margaret, a teacher in British Columbia. There are several grandchildren.

Weather Little Hindrance To Weymouth Day

While final proceeds of Weymouth Day Fair held at Weymouth on July 1 are not yet available, reports are that the gate receipts are less than $100 below the 1975 receipts despite the unpatronizing weather this year.

As usual the parade opened the Fair at 10:30 a.m. and again despite the rain, co-operation was most apparent in the number of entries in each class. Judges for the parade were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hainonal and Frank Boulaluni. The prize for the best commercial float went to Lewis Lumber Company and for the non-commercial went to the Weymouth Fire Department. The most original float was that of the Weymouth Motors Ltd.

In the children's class the overall prize went to Claudia Pellitier and Danny Pellitier of Edmunston, N.B., representing Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy.

Another big event of the day was the ox-pulls which began at 1 o'clock p.m. These were divided into three classes the 2400 lb. to 2800 lb. and over; the middle class 2400 to 2800 and the 2400 and under. In the first group prizes went to Darrell Watkins, Wellington, Yarmouth County 2.793; Herbert Pinkney, East Pubnico, 2.637 and Melvin Walker, Granville Ferry 2.635.

The middle class prizes went to Sandy Harris, Ohio, Yarmouth Co., 3.393; Earl Nauss, Mader's Cove, 3.130 and Eldridge Melanson, Church Point 3.076.

The under 2400 class prize winners in ox-pulls were Herbert Hopkins, Birchtown, Fishing and hunting is our sport, transportation is the "bug." Gary Gaudet and Billy Gaudet, New Tusket, irons out all the bugs when they fix up their own transportation vehicles. This Volkswagen style was completed on time for the Weymouth Day parade on July 1. Gary has completed Grade 12 at the Weymouth Consolidated High School and hopes to enter Vocational School in Middleton in September. Billy goes into Grade IX at Weymouth.

3.430; Philip Wagner, Upper Branch, 3.311 and Earl Allen, Forest Glen 3.047.

Although rain had deluged the barbeque stand, putting out the fire, the only way the chicken barbeque was disadvantaged was in a delay in preparation. Other booths were also well patronized. Baseball, bingo, dunking pool and fireworks continued the day, reports of which will follow when available.

The Day is sponsored each year by the Weymouth Kiwanis Club to provide funds for their Youth Program, particularly in the Water Safety Program.

Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy came all the way from Edmunston, N.B., to participate in the Weymouth Day Parade. Above are Claudia Pellitier and Danny Pellitier, grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Fidele Theriault.

Deliverance Quartet To Sing

Over 100 people gathered together for Christian fellowship under sunny skies for the Drive-In Service held last Sunday, July 4, on the Smith's Cove School Grounds. Deacon Lic. Fred Bigelow conducted the service.

Guest speaker for the evening was Rev. Ronald Cunningham, pastor of the St. Mary's Bay, Barton and North Range United Baptist Churches. Mr. Cunningham brought a message from Luke 10:25-37, story of the Good Samaritan, entitled "Who Is My Neighbor?" He challenged his listeners to get out in our "Jerusalem" of neighbors and friends, local tennage areas and minister to them in the name of Jesus Christ; to go out to our Samaria (Canada) and the witness of Christ's love to them and to the uttermost parts of the world, not necessarily in person, but through prayer and financial support of others who are sent.

presented by Fred Hall of Bridgetown, accompanied on the piano by his wife, also "The Jordan River" youth group of Deep Brook led by Gary Selig, guitarist and soloist, Gail Selig and Shelly Anderson.

The service concluded with Fred Hall singing "Amazing Grace" and asking those listening to join in on a fifth verse, "Praise God, praise God..." until the final note of the melody.

Next Sunday, July 11, "THE DELIVERANCE QUARTET" of New Minas will conduct the service. This group of dedicated Christian young people, led by Richard Fowler, manager, have witnessed through beautiful Gospel music and testimony to many in the area, the Maritimes and in the States of their love of Christ. They were selected as the Gospel singing group for 1975. The public is cordially invited to come and hear this group as they witness of God's love to them and to the world.

Digby Witnesses To Attend Convention

Irvin McKenna, spokesman of the Digby Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, revealed completion of plans for a four-day district convention of the religious group in Halifax, July 15-18.

McKenna said 2,700 delegates are anticipated to attend the annual convention planned for the Halifax Forum. A total of 90 persons will represent Digby at the seminar.

McKenna said the theme of the conference is "Sacred Service" and he added that the program will address itself to improving life spiritually within the family circle.

There will be specific information for husbands, wives and young people," McKenna said, "designed to examine the problems confronting society today and suggesting concrete solutions to overcome them."

McKenna added that the program will feature Bible lectures, symposiums, discussion periods and four Bible dramas to be presented in full costume. A baptismal service will be one of the highlights of the meeting on Friday, July 16th.

The principal speaker of the convention is Arnold MacNamara of Toronto, who will discuss the question, "Will Serving God Solve Your Problems?" It is scheduled for Sunday, July 18, at 2 p.m.

McKenna said 20 conventions are arranged for the summer of 1976 in Canada.

Laser System May Compress Yet More Data Onto Disks

If you imagine squeezing the contents of 10,000 books onto a phonograph record, you'll have some idea of what scientists at the University of Toronto's Institute for Aerospace Studies have accomplished in inventing the laser data recorder. Bulky magnetic tapes and disks, currently used to store computer data, could become obsolete, writes Robert Steklara in The Financial Post. Dr. John Locke, assistant professor at the institute, and graduate student Craig Willis, have devised a method of putting vast amounts of information on a plastic disk using an argon laser. In addition to its tremendous storage capacity, the machine works fast and can record within seconds - the amount of information found, for example, in a 500-page book. It can print two million bits of information per second, equivalent to about 60,000 words. The machine is still in the research stage, and Locke believes 200 million bits per second is possible. The laser data recorder, Locke says, could mean - among other things - lower computer storage costs and the possibility of recording television programs for private family viewing on a disk only a few inches wide. So far the recorder has received no commercial interest. "We would be delighted to talk to manufacturers about our data recorder," Locke says. "Canadian firms have first choice."

provincial commission. He brought members up to date on many aspects of detoxification.

The speaker explained that it was more economical for the commission to integrate this service, since as part of the Nova Scotia Hospital service, no cost-sharing was available from Ottawa.

All commission services are cost-shareable with the federal government. During the current year, Mr. Power said about one-half million dollars will find its way back to the public coffers.

Since integration, a 32-bed de-toxification unit has been established in Dartmouth. Although located on the N.S. Hospital grounds, it is not connected with the hospital service.

Mr. Power went into some of the specifics of detoxification. Basically, it is a period of drying-out, a return to hygiene and a balanced diet, and a much needed rest. The program is a five days duration. During that time, patients can be oriented to programs of longer duration.

During a question and answer period, Dr. K. Karumi brought out the need for better follow-up procedures in this area. He suggested a full-time organizer is needed to oversee a follow-up program.

Mr. Power stressed that the alcoholic is worth saving, generally being the best in his occupation. He noted a proper supervisory attitude to employees with alcohol problems can lead to effective treatment.

Female alcoholics are as numerous as the males, according to Mr. Power, but many are hidden. He said more women are now being treated for alcoholism.

Several beds at the Dartmouth de-tox centre are available for referrals from this portion of the province.

OTTAWA - The entire collection of Olympic Stamps issued by Canada Post has been gathered together and reproduced on an attractive four-colour poster. The artwork for this poster is based on stamps designed for Canada Post by Peter Swan. The poster, available at the end of May at all Canada Post philatelic outlets and most post offices, captures the spirit of the "brotherhood of nations" represented by the gathering of the world's athletes in Montreal for the 1976 Olympic Games. Suitable for framing, the 24" by 36" poster highlights the three Olympic ceremonies featured in Canada's newest issue of Olympic commemorative stamps - the flame ceremony, the opening ceremony and the victory ceremony. Price of the poster is $2.

HOW TO EAT A LOBSTER

1. Twist off the claws.

2. Crack each claw with a nutcracker.

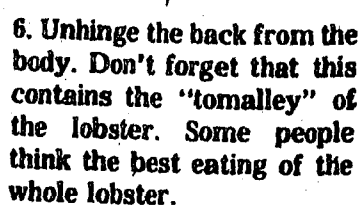

3. Separate the tail-piece from the body by arching the back until it cracks.

4. Bend back and break the flippers off the tail-piece.

5. Insert a fork where the flippers broke off and push.

6. Unhinge the back from the body. Don't forget that this contains the "tomalley" of the lobster. Some people think the best eating of the whole lobster.

7. Open the remaining part of the body by cracking apart sideways. There is some good meat in this section.

8. The small claws are excellent eating and may be sucked out.

Watch Out For Corn Pests!

The time is rapidly approaching when home gardeners and commercial vegetable producers will be concerned with insects that attack sweet corn. The two most serious pests are the European Corn Borer and the Corn Earworm.

The Corn Borer lays its eggs on the leaf. When these eggs hatch, the larvae usually begin feeding on the tassels of the corn, then burrow into the side of the stalk. The area where the entry is made is weakened, consequently the tassel topples over. This is one of the obvious symptoms of the presence of this pest. To prevent serious injury, protective sprays should be applied before this stage is reached.

The Corn Earworm, on the other hand, lays its eggs in the silks. The young hatch in a few days and begin to crawl down the silks toward the ear. The young larvae are very soon deep in the silk and well protected from insecticidal sprays.

Correct timing of the insecticide application is important. For controlling Corn Borer, spray not later than the first feeding is seen on the foliage. For controlling the Earworm, begin when about one quarter of the silks have appeared.

The insecticides to use are Sevin, Lannate or Furadan. To protect bees, spray in the evening when bees are less active.

Reflecting To 1946

Way back in July, 1946, fears were expressed that the splendid work the Sea Cadets were doing might come to a halt because of lack of funds. A special meeting of the Sea Cadet Committee was called and it was decided to have a special entertainment on August 3 in conjunction with tag day. According to the news report over 80 boys had enrolled. The corps had been organized three years before. The report revealed work done towards establishing camping headquarters on Bear Island which was given to the youth of the town by David Landers some time previous. A bugle band was being trained by David Daley and Charles McBride. Beside the actual training in Sea Cadet Work the members of the corps were receiving training in many subjects, the committee felt, that would stand them in good stead in the years to come and a great loss would be suffered if the Sea Cadet work would have to be dropped for financial reasons.

Who remembers the Digby Boatbuilding Co. Ltd. In July 11, 1946, it was Digby's newest industry. Work was rapidly progressing on a 65 foot scallop dragger being built for Captain Burton Ritcey of Riverport. The company was located in the former Reserve Army Barracks at the Racquette. President of the new company was A.R. Pyne. One pleasure craft completed was shipped to its owner in Boston, Mass and some smaller craft were done. New machinery was installed including a steam boiler for steaming plank.

The Kiwanians had a candle light birthday cake in honor of H.M. Warne and Chester M. Levy, their president and vice-president. The meeting was addressed by C.H. Lander, president of the National Drug and Chemical Co., who was vacationing at the Pines.

Two Letters To The Editor supported the idea of Pollock Fishing as a tourist attraction to Digby. One writer, Elbert Baldwin, referred to an article he had written on the same subject entitled "If Ever I Saw Opportunity Go To Waste." He also wanted the readers to know that you can take pollock not only on a black bass casting rod and a white or red and white plug but even on trout tackle, on a flyrod using a streamer fly. Besides he said Annapolis Basin is almost paved with flounder. He said it would be an eye-opener to a Digbyite to see the Long Island Railroaders "Fishermen's Specials" pull out of New York loaded to the guards with fishermen bound merely to catch the lowly flounder and not even one-tenth the quantity available in the Basin. "And here you don't even eat them. You throw them back." The conclusion of his letter was that Digby was missing out. The second letter felt the trouble experienced in promoting pollock fishing as a tourist attraction came from the then recent rules and regulations governing passenger motor boats employed in taking visitors out to the fishing banks. But, he felt these new rules and regulations should convince the most impractical mind that they are reasonable and moderate and only cover minimum requirements for safety, comfort and service. Otherwise guests would be being asked to gamble their safety for the benefit of local financial gain. He felt well regulated Pollock Fishing would take a leading role in advertising Digby as a tourist centre.

daughter and husband and family, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Albright, Sackville, N.S. On their return they were stopping at St. Stephen to attend a banquet of the New Brunswick Power Commission in which Mr. Green holds a position.

Shaded gravel walkways through a forest setting will guide visitors to see the animals at the New Upper Clements Wildlife Park opening July 9. The Department of Lands and Forests staff used their years of experience at Shubenacadie Wildlife Park in the design and planning for this new one. On an attractive wooded site between Annapolis Royal and Digby, the park lets visitors see the animals in a natural setting. (N.S. CIC Photo)

Programs For The Elderly

The excellent tribute in last week's issue of the Courier by Russell Stonehouse, Administrator of Tideview Terrace, to the Auxiliary, "Friends of Tideview," pays a well deserved compliment to those involved in this organization.

The tribute also served as a reminder, coming as it did on the eve of Senior Citizens' Week, of a number of programs for the elderly and the retired in the Digby area that have been sponsored, as was the "Friends of Tideview" by the Digby Mental Health Association.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the organizational meeting at which the Auxiliary for Tideview Terrace was formed was held in January, 1974. This meeting was called and sponsored by Mental Health Digby and was held at Tideview Terrace. Many of those attending were members of the Digby Horizons which had also been sponsored by the Digby Mental Health Association.

In addition to its initial sponsoring role for Digby Horizons, a program for elderly and retired persons designed to help keep these people actively engaged in worthwhile and rewarding programs, the Digby Mental Health Association also provided a building, in cooperation with the Digby Horizons Club, which serves as an activity centre for the Digby Horizons.

One of the latest efforts of the Digby Mental Health Association in sponsoring programs for the elderly and retired has been the formation of the "Willing Friends Group" which is carrying out assistance to the isolated elderly and others in the area who are isolated through age, infirmity, cultural difference or other cause. This project, it is understood is a pioneering effort, particularly in a rural area, and is receiving a good deal of attention from other groups, interested in similar ventures.

$1000 Donation Starts Lakeside Cemetery Fund

An organizational meeting for the Lakeside Cemetery Fund, Havelock, Digby Co., was held in the community hall Wednesday evening June 23, 1976.

Officers were appointed as follows: Donald Mullen, President; Maynard Mullen, Vice-President; Austin Mullen, Sect. Treasurer.

The fund was started by one of the elder citizens of the community with a donation of one thousand dollars by Minot Mullen in memory of his late wife Evangeline Mullen.

Their grandson, Brian Mullen, who graduated as a land surveyor in May donated his time and made a detailed map of all known lots and grave markers. Copies of this map have been made and are given to all persons donating ten dollars or more to this fund.

Since the fund was started, several other sizable donations have been received and the fund now has in excess of twenty-three hundred dollars on deposit.

The annual meeting will be held the second Tuesday in April with a special meeting to be held the second Tuesday in October. At the October meeting the Officers have been requested to bring to the meeting a set of by-laws for approval.

This cemetery is one of the oldest in the area dating back to 1830 contains the original Nowlan, Prime, Mullen, Sabean, Hill, Sullivan, Nichols, and Hassett lots.

It is hoped to eventually have a fund of five thousand dollars so that the interest from it can be utilized for the perpetual care and upkeep of the cemetery. All donations large or small will be greatly appreciated and may be sent to any of the officers. A map of the cemetery and receipt will be forwarded by return mail to all donors in excess of ten dollars.

Red Cross Offers Safe Boating Clinic

The drastic increase in the number of drownings in Nova Scotia this year has necessitated the rapid implementation of the Safe Boating Clinic of the Red Cross. In making the announcement today, Al Goodwin, Water Safety Director for the Nova Scotia Division, Canadian Red Cross, stressed the necessity of interested groups to reply immediately. Mr. Goodwin stated the failure of sponsorship for the program has held back the organizational plans for the much needed service. We could not wait any longer for sponsorship and we are going ahead anyway, he stated. The clinics will be held in any area of the province and will consist of organized demonstrations to regular swimming classes, family groups in evening sessions and demonstrations that encourage participation by all persons present. Wayne Kirk and Richard Vincent, both Physical Education teachers and highly skilled in Small Craft Safety, will be the project supervisors for the Safe Boating Clinic. The team will travel throughout Nova Scotia with 6 canoes and a wide selection of Boating equipment to aid in the demonstration. Some of the topics to be covered will be the use of Personal Flotation Devices, artificial respiration, proper canoe use, cold water survival and rescue techniques from a boat. Mr. Goodwin stated that all interested groups would contact the Red Cross Water Safety Service Office in Halifax as soon as possible, to initiate demonstrations in their area. "We want to hear from Recreation Commissions, Pool Directors, Yacht Clubs, Service Clubs, and the like," he commented. So far, this year in Nova Scotia, there have been fifteen (15) drownings related directly to Small Craft accidents.

Sports Day At Digby Elementary School
On June 15th the students of the Digby Elementary participated in a "field day" of physical activities organized by Mrs. MacAlpine, in co-operation with Miss Marjory McCormick. Like those athletes who will be part of the Montreal Olympics, each student felt a sense of achievement at the end of the day.
The complete day was filled with well organized activities which were appropriate to the different age groups. These activities took place on the ball field of the Digby Regional High School. The students were first divided into groups according to their age. For the younger students were such activities as skipping, races, and games. The older students participated in such activities as the broad jump, shot putt, team relays, races and games.
After a morning of physical activity, the younger students enjoyed an afternoon of entertainment. Under the leadership of Mrs. Nordeen, French teacher for Digby Elementary and St. Patrick's Schools, students of grades four, five and six performed several skits and a play in French. Although the younger students understood few of the words, they enjoyed the costumes and actions of the characters and looked forward to the time when they would be able to participate in the French Program. This was followed by a film which had been obtained for the enjoyment of the younger students.
The afternoon found the older students on the field once again where they enjoyed several "tug of wars" and a well played soft ball game between the teachers and grade six students.
Each activity was supervised by a teacher who encouraged the students to reach their greatest potential and practice good sportsmanship. The staff and students of the Digby Elementary expressed a hearty "Thank You" to the Metropolitan, Save-Easy and Stedman's stores for the prizes donated by each.
Prizes, ribbons and cups gave recognition to those who had excelled in a particular event but it was the knowledge that each had done his best that gave the students their sense of achievement.

HER MAJESTY, QUEEN ELIZABETH II, BIDS FAREWELL TODAY

This morning at 10:25 Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II and His Royal Highness, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, bid farewell to Nova Scotians as they close a three-day visit here and travel by air-craft from CFB Shearwater to Fredericton, New Brunswick.

The visit of the Royal couple in Nova Scotia began on Tuesday when they disembarked from HMY Britannia, at jetty number 5 on the Halifax waterfront. Though the thunder and lightning, the previous night, had not cleared up the damp, rainy and foggy weather, thousands lined the HMC Dockyard and the motorcade routes to see the Royal Couple arrive.

Her Majesty made a striking appearance on disembarking attired in a navy blue coat in princess style accented by a set-in belt. Her off-the-face hat was navy straw adorned with navy and white of the same material as her dress and featuring a large navy and white bow in the back. The dress had above the elbow length sleeves and the plain neckline was touched up with a triple strand of pearls. A lapel pin, so customary with Her Majesty enhanced the coat and dress harmony.

The sleek royal yacht was a most impressive sight as it made its way to jetty 5 escorted by tugs, small sailing crafts and pleasure boats. The HMCS Ottawa, which escorted the Britannia to the harbour, came snugly to its berth behind the Britannia.

The Britannia 413 ft, 4,906 tons was designed for service as a royal yacht in peacetime and a hospital ship in war. It was commanded by Rear Admiral Hugh Janion. The 22-year old air-conditioned Britannia is used by Her Majesty in visiting for it contains large royal apartments, living quarters, reception areas and dining room for entertaining. There are 248 members of the crew and orchestral and ceremonial bands are carried.

Queen Elizabeth II with the white, blue and gold of the ship in the rear was every inch a queen as she wended her way down the red carpeted gangplank to the blue-carpeted podium where she was greeted and welcomed to Canada (she is the Queen of Canada) by External Affairs Minister, Allan MacEachen, Lieutenant Governor Clarence L. Gosse, Mrs. Gosse, Premier Gerald A. Regan and Mrs. Regan.

The Premier of Nova Scotia presented other members of the welcoming party including Mayor Edmund Morris and Mrs. Morris, Halifax.

Her Majesty and His Royal Highness, escorted by Vice-Admiral and Mrs. Boyle, walked up the roadway to the parade square where Her Majesty received the Royal Salute and inspected the guard of honour commanded by Lieutenant Commander Larry Truelove. Thousands were assembled for hours at the parade square awaiting the arrival of Her Majesty on Her official visit to Nova Scotia and Prince Philip.

Following the ceremonies at the square, the provincial cabinet was introduced, including Deputy Speaker of the House of Assembly, Joseph Casey, whose duty it was to act as the Speaker on Tuesday, Mrs. Casey; Hon. Peter M. Nicholson Q.C. and Mrs. Nicholson; Hon. Benoit Comeau and Mrs. Comeau from the Digby area.

An open white Cadillac and other limousines stood ready to transport Her Majesty, Prince Philip and those in the Royal party to Halifax city hall. Here a warm welcome and greetings were extended by Mayor Morris, the guest book was signed and Her Majesty was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Girl Guide Allison MacPherson accompanied by Scout Christopher Elliot. Members of the city council and their spouses were introduced and Mayor Morris presented the Queen with a sculptured Canada Goose before going to the Halifax Metro Centre property where Her Majesty turned the first sod for the new Halifax Metro Centre. Among the sounds of gun salutes, pipe music and cheers from the crowds could be heard the Town Crier Peter Cox ringing his bell and shouting "God Save the Queen". With Her Majesty in performing the ceremony were the president of the Halifax Metro Centre Ltd., Arthur Hustins Jr. and Mrs. Hustins and other members of the Board of Directors were introduced to the Royal Couple.

A reception for 50 members of the news media was held by Her Majesty on board the yacht, Britannia, following the Metro Centre ceremonies. Attending from Digby were Edith M. Wallis, editor of The Digby Courier, and Publisher Roy Mailman of the Courier, Bridgetown Monitor and Annapolis Spectator. For this occasion Her Majesty dispensed with her hat and coat and welcomed her guests in the navy blue and white dress and white gloves. Though Her Majesty and Prince Philip were scheduled to attend a noon luncheon at Government House, hosted by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence L. Gosse and Mrs. Gosse, the Royal Couple took time to mingle among the guests informally and very few, if any, of the news media guests missed the opportunity presented for a friendly conversation with Her Majesty and the Prince.

(The visit of Her Majesty to the Annapolis Valley on Wednesday will appear in these columns the following week.)

Clare Determined To Sell Electrical Utility

In spite of recent frustrations the Municipality of the District of Clare is still hard-bent on selling electric utility.

There is no way small utilities have the means to provide services required under today's prices. Omer Blinn said at a news conference in Church Point and Mr. Blinn is Warden of Clare and a Director of the Digby County Power Board, made up of electric utilities of Digby district, Digby town, Clare and the village of Weymouth.

Clare has been advocating sale of the complete system for some time. The provincial government offered to purchase it for about $2 million two years ago, but all municipalities are not in agreement with selling.

Clare, according to Mr. Blinn is forced into the position where it can either increase its power rate - which is already higher than that of the N.S. Power Commission - or add its annual utility deficit to the tax bill.

"It's in our interests that hydro should be self-supporting," said Mr. Blinn. But, he noted, should that be done the rates would be so high "we wouldn't have the co-operation of the people, it would be ridiculous."

As for making up the deficit through taxation, Mr. Blinn noted a portion of the municipality is serviced by the power commission and they, thus, would be paying for a service they don't receive.

Unwilling to take either of the two available alternatives, the Clare utility has been running up a deficit over the past years.

Bank borrowings to date, according to Mr. Blinn, amount to $175,000. Last year's deficit alone was $59,321.

People in the four municipalities under the Digby County Power Board pay more through the fuel adjustment charge than others in the province, said Mr. Blinn.

He attributed this to the 20 per cent line loss experienced from the time power is purchased from the Nova Scotia Power Commission until it reaches its market.

Because of this, and because the utility is small and less efficient, it has to charge more to its customers, he said.

Feeling itself in a bind, the municipality hired legal advice on this matter in June and presented its position to The Power Board.

Clare was seeking a complete evaluation of the present system to seek if it can continue, and at what price, or what is the alternative.

Power Board members, said Mr. Blinn, listened and then "politely sent us home and that is why we're frustrated."

Mr. Blinn said the power board owns part of the power system in Clare and they're not doing their job repair-wise.

He said Clare would continue to press its point of view and "we're going to sell it (utility) even if it takes two or three years."

"This is the best time we can choose to sell it," while there are two government members representing this area (Joe Casey, Benoit Comeau), he said.

Arson Charge Laid

Fire destroyed the home of Leslie Wright in Clementsport last week. In connection with the blaze, Donald MacNutt was arrested in Digby on Monday and subsequently charged with arson. He appeared in court on Tuesday morning and was remanded to reappear on Friday.

Ms. Wright's house went up in flames during the afternoon of July 4. The blaze was fought by the Annapolis Royal fire department, backed by the Cornwallis and Bear River departments.

A number of birds and many valuable antiques were lost in the fire. Two dogs were rescued by passers-by. The house was insured.

Cyclist Killed

A Digby County man was one of three provincial residents who died by accident last weekend. A highway accident on Concession Road claimed the life of Donald Thomas Ryan, 22, of Saulnierville Station.

Meteghan R.C.M.P. said Mr. Ryan died in a single motorcycle accident about 10:40 a.m. Saturday. Police reported that his motorcycle apparently travelled approximately 100 feet in the ditch before striking a culvert. The driver and machine landed 50 feet from where the culvert was struck.

The accident is still under investigation by the Meteghan R.C.M.P., although no further developments are expected.

EDITORIAL

Character Education

"One does not conduct oneself with one's intelligence but with one's character." We had just read that quote credited to the French psychologist Le Bon, in another newspaper when the phone rang and it happened to be a disheartened member of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society. Disheartened, she was, and had every right to be. The tale she had to tell us was not good. It was one of vandalism. The particular locations being the Admiral Digby Park near the Cannon Banks and the fisherman's wharf; at the town tourist bureau and also at the boulevard across from the federal building on Water Street.

At the boulevard, the heavy concrete planters were overturned and some broken; at the park, holes were dug into benches and flowers at the Admiral Digby Well were destroyed. A lot of money and a lot of hours went into the construction and planting and the person on the other end of the telephone felt it was impossible for the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society to keep up this environmental endeavour under such circumstances. We cannot blame them for thinking this way. The Society has our sympathy and the sympathy of all our readers, we are sure.

It is difficult for anyone to comprehend the state of mind which can tear up property protected for the benefit of all, even for the one who is responsible for the destruction. It is a mean kind of vandalism that ruins a beautification project done with dollars and hours donated by community minded persons.

There is truth in the statement that "One does not conduct oneself with one's intelligence but with one's character." There certainly seems to be a lot of missing character around here lately. Maybe we had better create into our school system a special subject, "character education." Intelligence and character should be complimentary to one another. Maybe, our vandals are lacking in both.

As we consider this outburst of vandalism again, several things come to mind. Parents at home can by example and direct instruction be the best teachers. Parents and adults should be open and frank in passing on information to police leading to the apprehension of guilty vandals. When the chiefs have done their job, the judges in the courts have a responsibility to see that the sentence is fitting to the circumstances of the crime. Mercy there can be but sparing the rod can also spoil the child. A bit of sound correction and advice is valuable for a successful course in character education while too much leniency makes light of the fault.

Hodge Podge

- Reflecting back thirty years, have we changed our thinking? Quoting from a speaker from the Juvenile Court in New Brunswick, back in 1946 when he addresses Kiwanians in Digby, he said "in juvenile cases, punishment was the last thing the juvenile court judge should think about - the main task is not the punishing of the offender, but to work out a program that will prove a cure for the malady. The great aim of juvenile courts should be that of making good citizens out of delinquents. "To that, thirty years after, we still reply "Amen". We just hope the judges don't bend over too much on they'll defeat their purpose. Discipline, by punishment, has its place, too, in rehabilitating a delinquent. We are not judges but it would appear that a bit more severity and determination in a sentence could be more effective.

The much talked of Painted Room and the finding of the Dug-out Canoe at Westport have probably aroused the interest of many more people than ordinarily in museums and articles of historical value. On a much smaller scale than the Painted Room, it was difficult to decide whether the museum home for the canoe should have been Westport, Digby or, Nova Scotia. Would have been nice to have had it right where it was found. We would have appreciated it in Digby. But fortunately Nova Scotia Museum picked it up because neither Westport nor Digby could have handled it. And so the Painted Room. We'd like to see it in the Annapolis Royal area but most important is its preservation. By the way, who favors paying to visit museums? This is a question on the minds of many today.

THE DIGBY COURIER

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor and Citizens of Digby.

In January 1975, to accommodate Hyrech Ltd. (Developers) it was revealed that the town of Digby and its Water Commission allegedly installed a water line across property belonging to a church, without first having obtained permission, although previous minutes of the water commission quoted Councillor Ellis as stating that water and sewer had been "made available" to the properties of the developer and that the water commission would bear the cost of digging the trench. When the alleged trespass was discovered, church trustees contacted one or two officials, who failed to bring the matter to the council table where it should have been dealt with, and it became necessary for the church to secure the services of the solicitor to protect its interests.

This shameful incident, adding one more unlovely chapter to the town council's record, should have been a lesson to tread lightly upon the rights of citizens - but not so. Eighteen months later, legal assistance has again been required to protect private property. This time, involving rights-of-way (some call them easements) across property, in the installation of the sewage treatment system. Instead of approaching all the citizens involved in easements, well in advance, and arriving at a fair and reasonable agreement, heavy equipment moved into the areas, with bulldozers ready for action, and only then were some of the property owners confronted by Councillor Reid, hurriedly requesting "signed approval" with any terms of settlement for their land. When questioned about this a week later, at the July 5th. meeting of council, the councillor proclaimed that his committee "planned to come back to council later and recommend that they wouldn't be charged any frontage!" Previous to the July meeting, a letter on behalf of a property owner, regarding the matter, was received by the town solicitor from a Yarmouth based lawyer, (with copies to the mayor and clerk.) When I requested that this be read, the mayor suggested that letters received by the mayor and clerk were not required to be read. Town solicitor, Rogers, interjected with "I have the letter here, if you wish it." Councillors Robertson, VanTassel and Reid then stomped out of the council chamber without permission from the chair, leaving the meeting without a quorum, the letter unread, and to the best of my knowledge, the meeting has not yet been adjourned!

When the town secures a right-of-way on private property to install permanent sewer and water lines, it unquestionably decreases the value of that property, and I believe the owner should be reasonably and fairly compensated. It is ironic, that in acquiring a piece of land for the sewage treatment plant in the south end, the council called a special meeting and was most eager to pay what I considered a very attractive price to J.J. Brittain's Company, and even more ironic that the site first recommended by the engineers, which the town already owned, was scrapped in favour of the Brittain land. Added to that, the cost of changing the plans, I understand, amounted to between sixty and seventy thousand dollars. At the time the piece of land was bought I ventured to suggest that the Brittain company might be interested in donating the lot to the town in appreciation of the free sewer and water services to Jeffrey Properties (a subsidiary of the Brittain Company), amounting to some $60,000 in 1974, for which the town's people picked up the tab. Such a suggestion of course, received less than favourable comment from the council.

I also find it rather strange that when the original plans and maps for the treatment facilities and sewer work were revealed to the public, many of the "easements" which now seem to be required, were not mentioned or shown. How many more are in the plan, you and I may not know - until someone comes rushing to the door with a request to "sign here", and perhaps a promise of candy later.

Town Councillor Digby

-Bill Walls is back again. We enjoy reading his Haggis in the Mirimachi Press and every three months when he announces he's back to stay, we take him at his word and scan the pages for that Scottish dish, Haggis (Hodge Podge is German). We could learn a lesson from Bill. Maybe that is the way to keep up reader interest. We missed you Bill. Glad to read you again.

- Wouldn't it make a pleasant occasion to have the present Digby Community Band give an evening open-air concert at the Bandstand. Could provide pleasure for tourists and residents alike. After the fine job the Digby Stage Band did at the opening of the Digby Municipal Airport, it would be an occasion to look forward to with the entire Community Band. Even their endurance of the weather was an inspiration to other guests at the Airport opening. No quitters there.

-The two poems Eternal Flame and Peggy's Cove which are published in the "Anthology of Modern Poetry" were written by Digby's Anne Kaye by candle flame. Even a lack of electric power can have compensations.

Dear Sir:

Your readers responded generously to my request in this column last winter for information about the descendants of Waltsill Lewis Jr. (1755-1838), of Yarmouth, N.S. He established a large family, and the response from many of them has helped me enormously in my research into the family's history, thanks to your generosity.

May I remind these readers that there will be a Lewis Family Reunion to be held Sunday, July 23, 1976, at Glenwood Provincial Park in Glenwood, Yarmouth, N.S., on Highway 103 (and old Highway 3). Bring your own picnic lunch and, or supper if the weather is fine, but please drop in at least, even if it is raining.

I will be there all day whatever the weather and I will have a Register to record the names of those attending.

Thank you, and thanks to your readers for the fine response they have shown.

Sincerely,

Ruth C. (Lewis) Auwarter.

RHODESIAN ARTICLE "HIGHLY OFFENSIVE"

To the Editor:

I found last week's Courier article on Rhodesia highly offensive in its defense of the racist white minority regime. Do you actually believe your readers to be so naive as to accept this view of white supremacy in Africa as "insight"?

As in other African nations the time for majority self-determination and government is long overdue. The United Nations has taken a strong position against white minority rule in Rhodesia. The real crime of bloodshed is being committed by the 5 per cent minority regime brutally attempting to retain their illegitimate claim of white minority rule.

Sincerely,

Ted Hong

Dear Mr. Editor:

I was wondering if you could possibly publish appeal in the "Letters to the Editor" section of the Courier.

I am a license plate collector, and I am trying to obtain Nova Scotia licence plate., from any year. If any of your readers would happen to have any expired Nova Scotia plates that they no longer want or need, and would be willing to send them to me, it would be tremendously appreciated. I will, of course, pay the cost of mailing the plates. Thank you.

A Thought Starter

by Rev. R.C. MacCormack
OUR GIFT TO TOMORROW

No crops, business, nor any achievement are as important as the prattling babies in the cribs of the Nation. This treasure is the natural resource upon which tomorrow depends. Future governments, churches, and total well-being are at stake here. But remember these little buds of humanity depend on us right now. They must learn right from wrong, sense from nonsense, God's way from the Devil's way all from their elders. With or without a certificate and without a salary, every parent is a teacher.

How can I bring up my child in the way he should go? Thoughtful parents are asking this. Do it by going that way yourself. This is an uncomplicated pattern, although it puts the parent "on the Spot", to be honest and unhyphenated. Words may be forgotten, but not example. Kind parents beget kind children. Home loving parents produce home loving children. God-fearing parents have a hope of producing God-fearing children. Little ones who grow up in an atmosphere of wrangling, intolerance and division will break home ties early, and have no worthy example for a home of their own.

Most of the children you and I know, have every so-called advantage and perhaps all that money will buy. Yet they may have missed ever hearing mother or dad pray for them. Parents who think they are doing it all, often never even invite a child to receive the gift of abundant life from the Lord Jesus Christ. Being a parent involves sacrifice of other pursuits, and much discipline.

"Despite reforms in the amateur leagues and active attempts to eliminate the violence and confusion in pro hockey," says Associate Producer Jeff Fry, "both hockey clubs and players are going under heavy criticism for the direction in which the game was evolved."

"This Inquiry shows that pro hockey has consciously become a spectacle of violence oriented entertainment."

Players and coaches, it seems, are no longer being signed on the strength of their skills, but instead are being lured and enticed by leagues and clubs with the promise of big money in return for a crowd pleasing display. Hockey in Canada and the United States seems to be prospering for the same reason westerns and crime movies prosper - violence and agents, owners, coaches and players are all too aware of the big money involved if their arenas are filled with crowds looking for fight action.

Although the show discloses that amateur hockey in Canada, under the auspices of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, is honestly and diligently attempting to cope with problem areas through the improvement of quality in the game - its training, safety standards and equipment - the way in which violence is escalating in the pro leagues is undermining their attempts. Coaches in both pro and amateur leagues say clean hockey is for 'sissies'. The program suggests that the heroes of pro hockey may have become the butchers.

As well as looking into violence, "Inquiry" examines the amateur hockey machine, a system that is largely geared to feeding the pro leagues with its best players. In many cases registered amateurs are virtual chattels and very few have any say in where they get to play.

"The figures indicate," reports Associate Producer Fry, "that while the total number of young hockey players in the country is shrinking, the number being grabbed for the system that feeds the pro leagues is one the increase and there is real fear in the hockey community that more and more of the sport is coming under the influence of high hockey business." Rev. And Mrs. Foster Hall Presented Gifts Heartz Memorial United Church Women held the final meeting for the season at the home of Mrs. Merle Mullen. Miss Frances Lent was in the chair and conducted the meeting.

The study was in the form of a question "What Can a Person do?", led by Vera Hankinson. All must dream, to think of a destination, a planner to map out a path or a drummer to set the marching times. Doing things is what counts so first of all we must do something. By trying we find out what we can do and become aware of possibilities within us. We must use courage to surmount difficulties and ingenuity to get around Conventions play an important role in their religious training and its that time again for Jehovah's Witnesses. Mr. Leslie Dickerson, Circuit Minister serving the Digby congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced that all is in readiness for the Thursday (July 15) opening of the giant Watch Tower Convention in Halifax. Approximately 80 Digby-area delegates will attend the fourday event at the Halifax Forum.

The gathering, one of a series of 20 "Bible-oriented" assemblies scheduled by Jehovah's Witnesses for Canada this summer, has as its theme, "Sacred Service".

"The purpose of the assembly," said Mr. Dickerson, "is to help people appreciate the practical value of the Bible in coping with modern-day life. At a time of disintegrating social and moral standards, 'applied Christianity' has never been so urgently needed."

One of the outstanding features of the program will be four Bible dramas portrayed in full costume.

Dickerson said that great care goes into these productions, both from the point-of-view of casting and for authenticity in costuming. "The events, the language and proper meaning of these Bible-based accounts are also studied with great detail in mind," he said.

Mr. Dickerson listed the productions scheduled for 1976. They include:

PORTER HOUSE

May the sun that never sets
Start a new day in our lives,
With the setting of the sun,
Which in our part of the earth revives
Memories, nostalgic and sweet
Of days of yester-year,
Recalling deeds of love and kindness
Still echoing loud and clear.

A father, a mother, and family
Up at the break of dawn,
Working busily in the fields
Which that sun still shines upon.
Happy all the live long day,
Just working and admiring the view
Glad to be alive to see,
What labour and love can do.

That sun still shines there,
But no longer is there a field
It has been changed to a runway,
No fruit trees, does it yield.
Life must go forward as planned;
Backward, we might wish it so,
But changes must come in time,
And we can adjust, if we grow.

So let the future come,
As it most surely must,
And let us recognize the changes
And allow our minds to adjust
To a change in scenery,
A change in values too,
A change in everything we held dear,
To give place to something new.

The vehicles on the ground,
Now the vehicles in the air,
They are beautiful to see
Like large birds, and rare.
The sun still brightly glistens,
And birds still fly above,
Earth is not as peaceful
But still is filled with love.

Deliverance Quartet In Smith's Cove

"The Deliverance Quartet" of New Minas ministered to over 150 people gathered in the cars on the grounds of the Smith's Cove School last Sunday night, July 11. They were introduced by Deacon R.M. Winchester who turned the service over to them.

Richard Fowler, manager, emceed the program and introduced his wife, Linda, who was doing double duty as pianist, as well as a member of the quartet, due to the illness of their regular accompanist. Also in the quartet were Don Morash of Halifax and Kentville, baritone; Paul Fowler, younger brother of Rich, who was drummer and singer; and Sheldon Rockwell, bass guitarist.

Throughout the service, as the Quartet presented old and new Gospel songs, their positive assurance of Christ's love for them and all who will believe in Him as Saviour and Lord was evident.

The Quartet had ministered at the Clementsport Church in the morning service also and many of those who heard them came to hear them at the Drive-In Service in the evening.

Next Sunday, The Ramsay Family of Canton, Ohio, will present their testimony in music and words at the Drive-In Service at 7:00 p.m. This dedicated family which includes their young son as a soloist, bring their "One Man Band" organ which sounds like a full orchestra as they sing the Gospel songs.

The public is cordially invited to "Come As You Are and Bring a Friend!"

Nettie Walker Recalls

Sinking Of Robert Cann

Late on Sunday night, February 16, 1946, a knock was heard at the door of Mrs. Nettie Walker in Lake Midway, Digby County. Her brother, Carl Dimock, answered the door only to find a figure which more closely resembled an icyle than a man.

That man was Capt. A. Ellis, and along with effects of severe exposure, brought news of a disaster which will long be remembered and talked about in this area - the sinking of the Robert Cann.

The Coastal Steamer Robert Cann sank at sea off Grand Manan on a journey from Saint John N.B. to Yarmouth with a planned stop over at Westport. Capt. Ellis was the only survivor from a crew of 15.

Nettie Walker now 81, resides at the Hillside Apartments in Digby. Her memories of that cold February night 30 years ago are kept fresh through pictures taken by her brother at Riley's Cove, where the 17-foot lifeboat came ashore.

A memorial had been erected by Carl at the site of the fateful voyage's conclusion. But it, along with the land it stood on, were washed out to sea in this year's severe storm of February 2.

According to Mrs. Walker's recollections, only two men were alive when the small boat landed in the cove, Capt. Ellis and a man named Joseph P. Muise. Muise died shortly after he was transported to the Walker home, about one mile from the shore.

Mrs. Walker recalls that Capt. Ellis first found his way to the Walker house by a stroke of fortune. Her brother had been on the cove cutting wood earlier that day. Capt. Ellis was able to follow the tracks to the house.

It was near midnight when the captain got to the house. Carl answered the door and called the mounties.

Exposure had been the big killer in the crewmen's fight for survival. Most of the men, and one woman, died as the lifeboat drifted all day and into the night.

Mrs. Walker treated Capt. Ellis at her home. Using Minard's Liniment she bathed the captain's frozen feet, legs and hands. Doctors later said oil from the liniment saved Capt. Ellis' feet. After treatment in Digby Capt. Ellis was later taken to Saint John for electric treatment.

To get Muise to the house, a path had to be cut through dense bush. He was transported on a litter.

The monument to the dead seamen, which became a landmark for fishermen in the area, was erected by Carl Dimock. The names which were inscribed were those of Capt. E. Peters, Mrs. L. Jacquard, William Logan, Louis David, George Fitzgerald, Charles Bent, Richard Davis, Thos. Bartlett, George Pendric, Jos. Jacquard, Jos. P. Muise, and survivor Capt. Ellis. A large cross was stationed above the memorial.

Mrs. Walker says the Robert Cann sank after one of its portholes caved in. The boilers burst as the sea water rushed in.

At one point after evacuating the ship, she said, the survivors were close enough to Tiverton to see people, but couldn't land because of the strong tide. The people on shore were apparently not able to see the lifeboat.

Glooscap Country In Nova Scotia

Along Nova Scotia's Bay of Fundy coast, visitors will still find evidence of the presence of the great Glooscap, the legendary man-god of the Micmac Indians. From Cape Blomidon to Amherst, around the Minas Basin and Cobequid Bay portions of the Bay of Fundy, the shoreline has been named the Glooscap Trail in honour of the great Indian hero.

According to the Micmac Indian legend, Glooscap came mysteriously out of the west to live with the Micmacs - the Children of Light. He made his home on Cape Blomidon, near the present day towns of Kentville and Wolfville in the heart of Nova Scotia's apple blossom country. On Blomidon Glooscap was attended by Nogami, his grandmother, and by Marten, his servant. It is said that the true believers can still see the footprints of Glooscap on the red cliffs of Blomidon. For those who cannot see the footprints of Glooscap, there is the breathtaking view over the waters of Minas Basin where the highest tides in the world rise and fall daily. The legend says that the mist which sometimes rises from the Basin's waters is the steam caused by Nogami and Marten quenching their cooking fires.

Glooscap was a benevolent god and carefully watched over his Indian people. He taught them the secrets of dyes and medicines from wild plants. His own private herb garden, according to legend, was near the present day village of Advocate Harbour, across the Minas Channel from Blomidon. There Glooscap set out special feasts for his Indians.

As with most of the gods, Glooscap was never seen by his people, but they felt his presence. His voice was in the wind. As he turned, so the wind blew. His anger was the thunder and raging waves. His pleasure was the sunlight and when Glooscap slept, each flower and leaf stood still.

But, as in most stories of paradise, things began to go wrong after a time. A messenger brought word to Glooscap that Bullfrog, lord of all the freshwater streams, had grown jealous of Glooscap's sovereignty. Bullfrog willed that all the streams from which the Micmac people drew their water would run dry. Angered, Glooscap struck Bullfrog and crumpled his back. To this day Bullfrog

The island, known as "Glooscap's Kettle", is only a short distance from the beach in the village of Spencers Island.

As the evening closed in, Glooscap spoke to his Children of Light. He said that he must leave them, but that one day he would come again. Wistfully he looked over the water at the magic and the mighty works of his hand that had made the Micmac land most beautiful.

As the tide turned, and the sinking sun sent its rays shimmering over the sea, Glooscap set sail for the land of his fathers.

Modern visitors to Nova Scotia can follow the land and legend of Glooscap along the Glooscap Trail. They can feel the presence of the Mighty One in the wind and the sun, they can feel his anger in the waves and thunder, they can feel his care in the forests and the animals. And like the Micmac Indians, visitors will soon believe that someday he must return to this Land of the Sunrise, the Fundy coast of Nova Scotia.

THE WONDER OF WISDOM
"Many wish to appear wise, few really are", said a careful observer of mankind. Here is a side of personality not to be easily boiled down into words. Dictionaries must work hard on this word, wisdom.
A truly wise person may have much knowledge, and a hunger for more. But, wisdom is not just knowledge and education. It is something which has to come from the lining God. In the Bible, Proverbs 8:11 says, "Wisdom is better than rubies; and all the things that may be desired are not to be compared with it". So, spiritual understanding is better than all that man can do for himself.
This being so, why don't more of us seek wisdom, as we seek fun, popularity and a healthy bank account. Do we know real wealth when we see it. Wisdom will make us

"Really Big Show"
Another step toward the big time will be taken by the Annapolis County Exhibition this year when for the first time in its history the Exhibition dates have been extended to six days, making this a full week Ex. Reason for this extension is very simple: The program was just too extensive and too heavy to be concluded in the regular five days. So the executive decided to try an extra day and they feel that this will make for a better, bigger and even more worthwhile show than in previous years. The Annapolis County Exhibition is a "Really Big Show" now.
This year Monday will be 4-H Day and more about the events of this day will be published as soon as the information is available.
The Street Parade will get underway on Monday night at 6 p.m. A heavy program is being compiled at the present time and will feature all the regular cattle and produce judging events; there will be a midway, exhibits galore and terrific home-cooked meals, but there will also be entertainment, musical groups, stunts, tug-of-war pulls and much more. A Woodsmen competition is a new event scheduled and once again there will be a competition between mayors. A dance Saturday night will be another first. Also a first this year is a Pet Show scheduled for Tuesday, August 17. A duck and a chicken are the first entrants. But it is expected to be a well patronized event.
The Exhibition executive asks all exhibitors to get their entries in as soon as possible. Livestock entries close on July 15. This is a point to be remembered.
John R. Longley of Kingston, is the new Exhibition President.
Mr. Claude F. Elliott, who held the president's post for many years, has been appointed one of the Honorary Presidents.
The Annapolis County Exhibition scheduled for August 16 to August 21 is going to be another big event. Much hard work is going into the organization of this and the 1976 Fair is hoped to be the biggest and best ever.

CARDS OF THANKS

WRIGHT- We wish to express our deepest gratitude to all those who assisted in so many ways during the recent fire in Clementsport. It is impossible to thank everyone personally. We would like to express our gratitude to the members of the various fire Departments and the RCMP and the wonderful neighbours in the village. Words cannot express my sincere thanks to those who saved my two dogs. To my wonderful neighbours and my friends who have given me courage and faith to start again. LESLIE AND BONNIE WRIGHT. 49:1ip

COMEAU- Thank you for all the flowers, gifts, telephone calls, and cards which I received while I was ill. Being a staff member of the Digby Hospital myself, everyone was so kind to peek in, say hello, and cheer me on. Thanks to the OR, ICU, and OBS nursing staff. You are wonderful people to take such good care of people when sick and need help. Thanks to the doctors, especially Denton, Lawley, and Lewis. Together they spent more time and effort than I will ever realize to make me a healthy young woman again. But beyond all thanks to the laboratory staff because without that precious and vital blood they provided, there would be no more me today. And a special thanks to the RCMP who through both from Middleton and Halifax relayed the blood to Digby for me that was needed to save my life. JUDY COMEAU, FRED says many thanks too. 49:1ip

MULLEN- We would like to thank all those who helped to make the wedding of our daughter and son-in-law, Sheila and Arthur, so beautiful. Our heartfelt thanks. CLYDE AND ISABEL. 49:1ip

IN MEMORIAM

GOSSON - In loving memory of my brother, Rickey Wayne Gosson who was killed on July 13, 1971. Five sad and lonely years have passed since our great sorrow fell. The shock that we received that day. God gave us strength to meet with it. And courage to bear the blow. But what it meant to lose him. No one will ever know. Our family chain is broken. And nothing seems the same. But as God calls us one by one. Our chain will link again. Forever loved and sadly missed by SISTER BEV AND BROTHER-IN-LAW JOE GALLANT. 49:1ip

GOSSON - In memory of a dear brother, Rickey Gosson, who passed away July 13, 1971. Sad and sudden was the call. So dearly loved by one and all. His memory is as sweet today. As in the hour he passed away. Sadly missed by SISTER RENA, TERRY, TROY and TERRI-LEE. 49:1ip

GOSSON - In loving memory of my grandson, Richard Gosson, who was killed in an accident July 13th, 1971. We walk through our garden of memories. And there through the blossoms of blue, We find in that beautiful garden, "Forget-me-nots" blooming for you. Sadly missed by his GRANDMA ROSE FROST. 49:1inc

SPECHT - In loving memory of Orrie William Specht who died on July 14, 1969. Always remembered by THE FAMILY. 49:1ip

IN MEMORIAM

GOSSON - In loving memory of a dear brother Richard Wayne Gosson who was killed July 13th 1971. Time cannot erase a loving face or mend a broken heart, Time cannot stay the fallen tears that grief and sorrow start, Time cannot fill the vacant chair that holds an empty space, Time cannot make our home the same without you in your place. Lovingly remembered by SISTER WANDA AND BROTHER-IN-LAW DAVID. 49:1ip

GOSSON - In memoriam of Richard Wayne Gosson who was killed in a car accident July 13th, 1971. We cannot bring the old days back when we were all together, But secret tears and loving thoughts will live with us forever. From WILFRED, MOM, BROTHERS AND SISTERS. 49:1ip

WEAGLE - In loving memory of dear husband, father and grandfather. Harley Weagle who passed away on July 17 1975. Thousands Attend Acadian Festival

By Albert Melanson

The 1976 Acadian Festival of Clare has come and gone and thousands of people visited the area and attended the activities that took place starting with the Acadian Frolic and beerfest at Ste Anne's college gymnasium where all tables were taken up and people sat around on the portion of grandstand available for the overflow crowd.

During the evening of Friday, music and singing entertained the large attendance at the frolic. The famous Acadian singers made up of Victor LeBlanc, leader, Charles Martin, Miss Renette LeBlanc and Miss Amrault entertained for over half an hour with folklore Acadian songs; old time fiddlers took their turn in presenting their programs and the highlight was the portion of the program in which Germaine Comeau, of Meteghan River, presented folklore singing at its best. Miss Comeau is a very good singer and she presented her program very well. All artists were roundly applauded.

Miss Janice LeBlanc, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse LeBlanc of Little Brook was selected as Evangeline of the Acadian Festival and Alain Comeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Comeau of Comeauville, was appointed Gabriel. They represented Le Colonie de le Jeunes Acadien which is situated on Lac-a-Victor (Meteghan Lake) in Concession. They will reign throughout the year and attend special events that will take place in Clare.

This year's parade was only a shadow of last years but floats entered were very good. The grand prize was won by the Lewis Lumber Company of Weymouth. Other winners were: Best decorated car, Les Danseurs Acadiens (Acadian Dancers) square dance club; best commercial float, Knights of Columbus; best historic float, Bernie Saulnier's ox team hauling a cart (four wheel) decorated appropriately with an Acadian women washing her clothes with an old time washer, which was operated by hand and of wood construction. The operation of the washer was done by cranking a large wheel which was geared to turn the interior mechanism to do the tedious work of washing clothes.

Special mention was given to the NDP float depicting Acadian workers. Evangeline and Gabriel along with their attendants were on the Festival Theme float "Embarquons nous" (let us get on the ship). Judges were: Norman Cormier, Meteghan River; Professor Michael Gibbons, Little Brook and Bill Tally, of Billington, Mass., U.S.A. Barbecued chicken was served on the college campus, termination point of the parade, which had left Little Brook two and a half miles away. The Richelieu club of Church Point was the organizer of the barbecue.

Premier Regan was a visitor to the festival on Saturday when he visited the various activities of the day. He was accompanied by the Minister of Public Works of the province, Benoit Comeau of Little Brook.

Saturdays activities consisted of a children's parade on the college campus at Church Point as well as the lumberjack contests of sawing, axe throwing and others. A special demonstration in ballet dancing class was presented at 3 p.m. in the college gymnasium by our own famous Acadian Dancer and instructor, Adolphe Robicheau of Boston, Mass. who operates L'Academie Robicheau de Danse in Boston. Young children, numbering 6, assisted in the program directed by Mr. Robicheau. The children went through their new routine like experts and were applauded loudly for their efforts. Mr. Robicheau told the gathering that he was very proud of the children.

The annual Music Festival was held near the site of the first church built in 1786 on the light house road, with the sloping ground making a good grandstand for the spectators with a large stage at the bottom of the slope. The festival of music was in charge of Garry Morrison and was held on Saturday and Sunday afternoon with a very good attendance of both old and young folks. Rex Harrison and many local groups presented programs with a group from Cheticamp, Cape Breton participating.

On Friday and Saturday evenings, Pierre Senegal, who resides in Saulnierville, presented his electric music on both nights at the Little Brook social club to a good attendance. Mr. Senegal is a very talented man and goes on tours with his electric music, and singing. He is well received wherever he presents his musical shows.

The Acadian festival terminated Sunday evening with its annual talent show in which local talent strut off their stuff before a large and enthusiastic audience, applauding each artist following presentation of their part in the program. The ballet class of youngsters also presented a demonstration of their routine in ballet, ranging in ages from 7 to 13 years.

It is difficult to put on a 3 day festival, but with the 3 day exhibition of arts and craft which was held in the former Church Point school, somewhat on a smaller scale this year and other activities, there was something to suit all tastes and ages. This year's Acadian Festival of Clare operated on a shoestring, so to speak, and this may account for certain features lacking in this year's festival.

Town And Municipality Agree on Temporary Ambulance Support

The Digby County Ambulance service has been granted municipal financial support for the next two months.

Representatives of Digby town and municipal governments have agreed that each Council will provide $1,200 to the service. In the meantime, committees of the two councils will get together to review the situation.

A representative from Annapolis County council was also present at the joint meeting. The ambulance service covers a portion of western Annapolis County. Their position on funding of the ambulance is being awaited.

The municipal council of the District of Digby decided in favor of emergency funding of the service at its May meeting. Since that time it has provided about $10,000 some of it repayable.

Local Woman's Poems In "Anthology Of Modern Poetry"

40,000 entries were studied. This is the word received by Anne Kaye, Digby, whose two poems, "Eternal Flame" and "Peggy's Cove," are included in the volume.

The book is beautifully bound in Kivar Five, medium brown in color with embossing of brilliant gold. It has a jacket printed in color.

It is the product of minds grappling with the problems of today. It is contemporary in every sense of the word. Therein lies its uniqueness and value. One might call it the vision of the writers of our time.

The announcement of its publication also lists 200 poets' names as special writers, out of their 1000. Mrs. Kaye is included in this list of names.

The price of the book is $14.95, address is Young's Publications, P.O. Box 3455, 531 North Gay Street, Knoxville TN. 37917, U.S.A.

The Anthology of Modern Poetry, termed a Festival of Poetry, is now published and ready for circulation. It contains the work of over 1000 poets from Canada, U.S.A. and Mexico. It was a year in preparation and

Student Assistant In Digby

Vernon Simms

Mr. Jules Pottier, Branch Manager, Canada Manpower Centre, Digby Branch, has announced the appointment of Mr. Vernon Simms as the Student Assistant in the Digby Branch.

Mr. Simms graduated from D.R.H.S. in 1972 and entered Dalhousie University the same year, and has as his goal - Recreation Director (Phys. Ed.). He is 22 years of age, and in previous two summers worked with Opportunity for Youth Programs, and worked two summers at CFB Cornwallis.

Mr. Simms will be working closely with Guidance Counsellors, private and public employers and all other avenues in an attempt to place students in Summer Employment. He is asking employers in particular to review their manpower requirements for this summer and ascertain if they can hire students. Any employer desiring student workers should contact Mr. Simms at 245-4711.

A Great Supply

Look around. Everywhere there is abundance. Our free system has produced so much of everything that we can't appreciate it all. What about money, some may ask? Even here, we have more than people on any other continent, or in any other age of man's history. There is still an abundance of intangibles too. Freedom from want, ignorance and tyranny still holds in our part

Westport Celebrates Ole Time Day

The Westport Fire Department and Recreation Hall Auxiliary held their second annual Ole Time Day on Saturday July 3rd. The proceeds from this day will be used to further finish the interior of the new hall.

The day began with a bicycle parade and contests for the children. The sunny afternoon helped to bring out the grown ups to attend the auction and visit the many booths at the bazaar, which was held in the new hall. Auctioneers for the event were Glenn Titus and John Bisson. We extend our thanks and appreciation to them for a job well done.

During the bazaar tickets were sold on several items and a good deal of money was realized from them.

A grannie afghan was made and donated by Mrs. Ruth Pugh and was won by Edgie Titus. Joe Hunt won an angora afghan which was made and donated by Mrs. Elizabeth Ripton, he also won an electric teakettle donated by Wilson's Hardware. An electric can opener donated by Canadian Tire Co. was won by Theresa Kenney. Roly Swift held the lucky ticket to an electric alarm clock donated by the Digby Power Board.

The bazaar with many interesting items for sale drew a large crowd. A mock jail added some hilarious moments.

After the bazaar a well attended fishchowder supper was served in the I.O.O.F. hall. A special thank you goes out to all the people who donated chowder, rolls and pies.

The second and third servings of chowder and pies expressed better than words the appreciation of our many fine cooks.

The day closed with a dance, much enjoyed by young and old, music was by the "Golden Nuggets." The doorprize, a box of chocolates donated by K.E. Robicheau was won by Ellen Welch. Diane Titus and Steven Guier won the spot dance prize also a box of chocolates, donated by the Westport Co-op.

Joe Casey called during the morning from the bi-centennial boat shown in New York to express regrets at not being able to attend Westport Day. He sent best wishes for a successful day and relayed the message that a check for the new hall was on the way.

Mrs. Wallis of the Courier also expressed regrets at not being able to have a representative of the paper attend the event. She wished us much success with the day.

The sum of $2075.99 was raised. This does not include the $185.00 from the mini-auction which was held previous. The president and members of the auxiliary thank all those who helped to make Ole Time Day a success.

Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly", John 10:10. This life is in enormous supply. There is more to it than we can understand. The magnitude of this is greater than the space over our heads.

This sense of God's gift to believers may leave us breathless. It gives us the glow of inner peace.

Any who feel dull and dispirited can draw from this eternal well of supply, and truly live.

Yet, why do so many die of spiritual thirst, when the message is so clear?

Problem For Home Gardeners

Most flowers and vegetables grow well in these baskets. It is important to remember, however, that since growing space is restricted, more care is needed than would have to be exercised in a traditional gardening space. Plants will require more water and fertilizer than if they were growing in the ground.

Water is possibly the single most important requirement of a hanging basket, and the soil should be checked regularly. Products are available on the market to increase moisture retention around the roots. One new product, Viterra, acts as a sponge, absorbing a large quantity of water and effectively reducing the frequency of watering.

If necessary, fertilizer can be carefully incorporated into the basket, but it must be done in such a way that the roots of growing plants are not disturbed. Most slow-release fertilizers will provide sufficient nutrients for the whole season.

Insects can be as much of a nuisance in hanging baskets as in garden beds. If treatment for insects is needed, gardeners should apply one of the recommended materials available at garden supply centres.

The Binkly And Doinkel Puppet Show

The Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs has undertaken a major information program since the introduction of the Hazardous Products Act in June 1969, to tell consumers about product safety and to ensure that products designed for consumer use meet safety standards.

A very important audience for such a program is young children. Over the years thousands of children have suffered needless injury, and even death, through the misuse of certain potentially hazardous but common household products.

A special puppet program, aimed at children, was first staged in the summer of 1973. The Binkly and Doinkel presentation is organized by the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs and funded under the Student Summer Employment and Activities Program of the federal government.

The script has been developed and reviewed with educational consultants, child psychologists, and nutritionists and it is designed to transmit a dual message about safety in the home and about good eating habits.

The use of the medium of puppets to give information to children has been proven to be a most effective and entertaining communications tool. For this reason, a fourth summer's program starts the first week in July.

The 1976 program involves some 20 student puppeteers from across Canada, who have dramatic arts or teaching experience. These students undergo extensive training in Ottawa and in Vancouver and then take the 20-minute puppet show to parks and playgrounds throughout the country.

Since 1973, the live performances have been supplemented by the distribution of a 20-minute coloured film, the Binkly and Doinkel Safety Show, circulated to ministries of education and through the National Film Board. In addition, a series of four 60-second public service television clips were sent to all television stations in Canada. These clips used the puppet characters, Binkly and Doinkel, to tell children about the dangers of household chemical products as illustrated by the four symbols on their labels (poison, corrosive, flammable, explosive).

The 1976 summer show, entitled Binkly and Doinkel Road Show, features Binkly and Doinkel, the puppet twins from outer space; Sniffer (the dog), who befriends them during their visit; Pockets (the clown); R. Pugsley de Pugh (the villain).

The show was written by Noreen Young, creator of many children's T.V. shows, including "Hi Diddle Day" and a new show called "Pencil Box" and by Bruce Kingsley. It tells the story of Binkly and Doinkel who, on special assignment, have to inform children about hazardous products symbols. On earth, they encounter R. Pugsley de Pugh, who wants to hypnotize the world, so he can get rid of good eating.

The touring program runs a total length of 10 weeks and has reached, in previous years, some 300,000 children.

After giving what he considered to be a stirring, fact-filled campaign speech, the candidate looked out at his audience and confidently asked, "Now, are there any questions?" "Yes," came a voice from the rear. "Who else is running?"

Travel Through Time In Nova Scotia

Driving through Nova Scotia is a great way to spend one of the most interesting holidays ever. It is also a good way to see Nova Scotia's historic Homes and Mills and take a trip back through time. An even dozen historic locations throughout the province are operated by the Nova Scotia Museum. In a living and visual way they tell much of the history and times of Nova Scotia in a unique way.

Let us take a brief tour through history in Nova Scotia.

Sherbrooke Village on Nova Scotia's Marine Drive is a living, working village right out of the 19th century. Visitors can take a leisurely ride behind a sturdy pair of clip-clopping horses as the road winds along the St. Mary's River through the Village. There are homes, a 19th century post office, jail, school, church, general store, blacksmith shop and even an up-and-down sawmill.

In Pictou, on the Sunrise Trail, Thomas McCulloch's

House, built in the early 19th century, overlooks the West River where it enters Pictou Harbour. McCulloch was one of the province's early scholars and worked unstintingly in education and later became first president of Dalhousie University. One of the unique features of this home is the finely carved woodwork.

A walk down a shaded path by Matheson's Brook brings the visitor to Balmoral Grist Mill. Here whirling and clicking water-powered wooden machinery is still used to grind grain into flour. Dating from 1860, Balmoral Mill is one of the oldest operating mills in Nova Scotia. Visitors may take some of the stone ground oat meal home with them and try their hand at oat meal cakes. The mill is located at Balmoral Mills, a few miles from Tatamagouche on the Sunrise Trail.

Lawrence House, in Maitland, Nova Scotia, on the Glooscap Trail, was the home of W.D. Lawrence, the builder of the largest wooden sailing vessel ever launched in Nova Scotia. The vessel "William D. Lawrence" slid down the ways in 1874 and much to the amazement of the skeptics soon became a profitable vessel. The house reflects the Victorian period in Nova Scotia.

Set in the lovely grounds by the side of a lake at Mount Uniacke, near Halifax-Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, Uniacke House was the home of Richard John Uniacke, American rebel sympathizer and later Attorney General of Nova Scotia. Built in 1813-15, the home is full of elegant treasures which reflect the long family tradition of the Uniackes.

A visitor, depending on the time of year, might see sheep shearing by hand, barrel or sauerkraut making, ox ploughing, grain flailing, cider pressing at Ross Farm near New Ross, Nova Scotia. Dating from 1816, Ross Farm is a living museum of agriculture and a great place to see demonstrations of pioneer skills.

Thomas Chandler Halliburton completed his home "Clifton" in Windsor Nova Scotia in 1836. Here at Halliburton House, lived the author of the Sam Slick stories. Slick, a fictional clock-maker, originated sayings such as; "quick as a wink", "raining cats and dogs" or "jack of all trades and master of none".

Prescott House was the home of Charles Prescott, one of Nova Scotia's early horticulturists. It was in the house garden that Charles Prescott, a native Nova Scotian, introduced the European Gravenstein apple to the Annapolis Valley, a move which helped to revolutionize the fruit growing industry in the province. This gracious Georgian brick house saw many lavish parties and many meetings of growers who developed and improved the apple industry in Nova Scotia. Completed about 1814, Prescott House is set in a fine garden at Starr's Point, near Wolfville and Kentville at the beginning of the Evangeline Trail and Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley.

Children in the 1860's could make 2 cents a jar for sharp hawthorns used to close the bags of carded wool which went out to customers from the Wile Carding Mill in

Good Time Day Successful

Smith's Cove Good Times Day, blessed by sunshine, proved to be successful with an estimated revenue of $1200-$1400, approximately as the previous year.

Good Times Day is an annual event sponsored by the Smith's Cove Volunteer Fire Department of which Lawrence Comeau is fire chief. Harold Sulis was chairman of the 1976 event and L.E.R. (Bud) Winchester, as auctioneer, lost no time in making the auction do what it was supposed to do — swell the coffers of the fire department. "Bud", it is understood, worked steadily at his job from 12 o'clock noon to nearly 6 p.m. On the auction committee were Bud Thompson and Neil Adams.

The afternoon gave a variety of games to attract the younger and older, and food such as lobster, clams, hot dogs, home baking and other items played up to the appetites of all.

Crafts, fancy work and arts were available to please the tourist gift seeker and add to the total sum needed to carry on the excellent work started by a Smith's Cove Volunteer Fire Department.

The George Warrens were hosts to their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. George King and family of Hebron, this past weekend.

Also accompanying the Kings on the trip were Mr. and Mrs. George Bethune and foster daughters of the Yarmouth area, and Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rose and sons of Hebron. While here the guests camped out on the shore of the Warren property until the rain came down and all departed for their home areas on the first of the week.

Miss Linda Warren of Halifax is vacationing at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Warren, and sisters, Teresa and April.

Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald of Troy, N.S., are visiting his mother, Mrs. Ella MacDonald.

Rice, president, presided over the meeting and opened with prayer. The members read the Scripture from Psalm 104. A devotional message was read by the hostess and Mrs. Annie Winchester read Matthew 6:25-34. There were eight members present and a guest, Mrs. John MacDonald, daughter-in-law of the hostess.

During the business meeting it was agreed to raise a sum of money by the next meeting to send to the White Cross funds in place of mailing tin goods to their missionary at this time.

Roll Call Word for this month was "Praise."

A lunch was served by the hostess and her guest.

The meeting in August will be held at the barn of Miss Marie Morehouse where the members will enjoy their annual picnic on August 4.

bridgewater on Nova Scotia's Lighthouse Route. In an idyllic setting beside the mill pond, visitors can see how the water wheel operates, unchanged since the wool carding days. The scene of secret meetings and midnight rendezvous, Simeon Perkins house is a New England style home in Liverpool on Nova Scotia's Lighthouse Route. The home represents an exciting time in the province's history—a time of world-wide trading, Yankee privatizing and the American Revolution. Escape the world of crowded supermarkets and join the Loyalists of Shelburne in the late 18th century at the general store in Ross-Thomson House. Located in Shelburne on Nova Scotia's Lighthouse Route, the store sold yard goods for clothing, rum, tina and yellow ochre from barrels—no fancy packaging this store. Visitors can smell the pungent spices from exotic corners of the world as they waft through the furnished rooms adjoining the store.

Still on Nova Scotia's Lighthouse Route, visitors can take another step back in time at the Barrington Woolen Mill located in the historic village of Barrington. For many years the mill dyed its own yarns from wool of sheep raised on the neighbouring headlands and islands. The yarns were used to weave bolts of twills and flannels, blanketings and suitings at the mill.

In Halifax, visitors can take a step back in history at the main Nova Scotia Museum on Summer Street and at the history branch at Halifax Citadel National Historic Site.

These are only a few of the many locations throughout Nova Scotia which take the visitor on a trip back through time. There is a nominal charge for admission to Ross Farm and Sherbrooke Village living museums. Come to Nova Scotia for your own personal trip into history.

Active Farmer Turns 90

Bear River farmer Fred Woodworth in one of his gardens on the Virginia Road.

Bear River farmer Fred Woodworth observed his 90th birthday at home Sunday. Fred started his farming career in 1912 when he purchased his farm on the Virginia Road. That gives him a total of 64 years in the farming business.

If he hasn't enjoyed any great prosperity, Fred at least can lay a great claim on stability. He and his wife, Winifred (Chute) have lived together for no less than 57 years.

The oldest couple in Bear River? Possibly. But certainly not the least active.

We heard Mr. Woodworth had a garden. For a man of 90 years of age, we expected maybe a rather small plot.

But Fred's expanse of vegetable plants, which he cares for himself, is not very unlike that of any active farmer.

Mr. Woodworth enters vegetables in the Digby County Exhibition each year, and last year was awarded a trophy for the best collection of vegetables. Last year's crop included about 50 bushels of potatoes.

At its high point, the Woodworth farm included about 14 head of cattle, sheep, pigs, hens, horses, etc. The livestock population has been reduced, however, to a few hens and a couple of cats. The hens, he claims, keeps the household in eggs the year round.

The last horse he had died about five years ago at an age of about 34. The family never had a car.

Mr. Woodworth recalls the time he cut and hauled hardwood for $3 a chord. Hardwood today would likely bring 20 times that amount.

In spite of his youthful vigor, Mr. Woodworth didn't celebrate his birthday in a big way although a "couple Business weak this week?

Give it a boost by long distance.

People in business today are discovering that a little extra long distance calling can be profitable — especially when things are quieter than they should be. You can check on dealer inventories; solve problems in advance; pick up new orders. It's being done more and more. Every week of the year.

It's especially good on weak weeks. Within Nova Scotia, a daytime direct-dialed call can't cost you any more than 60c a minute. Even if it takes a couple of minutes, at a little more than a "dollar-a-holler", who's to complain — if it means business. And it does.

INA DILLON - CITIZEN OF THE YEAR

Mrs. Ina Dillon, well-known as an active community worker in Digby for many years, was named Citizen of the Year on Tuesday.

Community activities occupied much of Mrs. Dillon's time since she moved to this town in 1929. Her husband was a shoe merchant here until his death in 1945.

Mrs. Dillon has officially been retired for the past 10 years but is still involved in various organizations, although she now avoids participation in any executive capacity.

Most of her working career was spent teaching. She taught at the primary level for 15 years, and commercial subjects for about 22 years.

Some of the positions she has held include President of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Digby General Hospital (8 years); member of the Hospital Board (20 years); member of the Digby Curling Club since it started and president for eight years; elder of the Grace United Church, and president of the Unit Church Women (2 years); C.G.I.T. leader and Sunday School teacher; Treasurer, Christmas Daddies Fund Committee and member Digby Town Council (2 terms). Scallop Day Will Have Three Centres Of Activity

Digby Scallop Day - August 21, 1976 - will, at this writing, have three major centres of activity, according to Mike Casey, Chairman of Scallop Day, sponsored by the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council.

During the morning hours, Fishermens Wharf will feature trips through fish plants and tours of scallop boats at the wharf, while at the Royal Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club an exciting program of events will be held. These events will include sailing races, dory races, barrel races, canoe races, wood chopping, ax throwing and others in which all contestants will be competing for cash prizes.

At the Royal Canadian Legion building, an open house, including an invitational dart tournament, horse shoe pitching and other events will be featured from 9 in the morning until late evening.

On Cannon Bank at the Kinsmen's Hall, there will be a beer garden and a scallop shish-kebob during the day where the visitor can sample the succulent Digby Scallops hot off the grille.

At one o'clock at the Fishermens Wharf there will be a band concert under the direction of Don Scott, featuring the Digby Community Band, followed by the official opening of the festival featuring M.L.A. Joe Casey, and invited guests, among whom will be Sandy Cameron, Provincial Minister of Fisheries and other dignitaries.

The major activity of the afternoon at the Wharf will be fish filleting and scallop shucking contests for cash prizes and for a trophy donated by the Pines and one donated by The Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Several local fish plants have already signed up for these contests, and an application form for individuals who wish to compete either in filleting or scallop shucking will appear shortly in the local press.

Evening events will include a dance at the Evangeline Hall beginning at 9 p.m. and featuring a top-quality music group.

The Scallop Day Committee urges that all business establishments and restaurants in town feature the Scallop activities and ideas for new and different events are always welcome.

Through the cooperation of Canpol Fisheries, the events at Fishermens Wharf will be held under cover in the event of rain.

Natal Day - Set To Go

Fighting community apathy all the way, the Digby Natal Day Committee has finally set the stage for Digby Natal Day, 1976.

A princess dance will start things off Friday night (July 23) at the Knights of Columbus Hall. During the evening a Natal Day Queen will be selected and crowned by Sharon George, last year's Queen. Music will be provided by Shangri-La from Bridgetown.

Activities get underway in earnest on Saturday morning beginning with firetruck rides for the kiddies. Other morning events include a golf tournament at the Digby Pines, a soap-box derby, a bicycle rodeo, and the children's parade (see this week's ad for times and locations.)

The Grand Street Parade starts at 2 p.m. Entries will line up on Queen Street, proceed down Water Street, up Warwick and across Victoria.

At 3:00 p.m. parade prizes and the Citizen of the Year Award will be given out by committee Chairperson Pat Kynock.

Other afternoon activities will include a horseshoe tournament, booths at the rink, firemens bingo, chicken barbecue and a Lions Seafood Chowder.

Another Saturday activity will be a concert by the Sea Cadet Band, CFB Cornwallis at the rink, and a demonstration by the Yarmouth Majorettes.

A teenage dance will be held at the rink from 9:00 p.m. to midnight.

Sunday's events will consist of a church service and parade from St. Patrick's Church, followed by ceremonies at the memorial bell; yacht club canoe races, kippers and steamed clams; and swimming pool demonstrations at the Kiwanis Swimming Pool.

A beer garden will open on Friday night and be open much of Saturday at the Kinsmen's Hall.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR NATAL DAY QUEEN

One of these candidates will be crowned Queen during the Natal Day Dance at the Knights of Columbus hall on Friday night.

handcrafts. She may make cooking a career.

The successful candidate will be crowned by Sharon George, last year's Queen.

TERRY KYNOCK Terry is a 17 year old student who enjoys swimming and skating. She is sponsored by the RCMP. After attending college for a year, Terry plans to join the RCMP. She operates Terry's T Shirts on Warwick Street.

JOANNE CURRIE Joanne's been on earth for 16 years. The Royal Canadian Legion's entry likes swimming and reading. She plans to attend Annapolis Regional Vocational School and become a nursing assistant.

SU-ELLEN MARIE O'NEIL Su-Ellen, 16, is sponsored by the Digby East Fish and Game Association. This grade nine student is fond of cooking, music and BEVERLY THOMAS Beverly, 15, is sponsored by the Royal Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club. A Grade 10 student, Beverly enjoys boating and hopes to become a teacher.

A tearful Julia Henshaw occupies her throne after being selected Bear River Cherry Carnival Queen on Saturday.

Digby Swimming Pool Commences Operation

The Digby Swimming Pool commenced operation at the end of June and already has some 170 members registered for swimming and swimming classes.

At a recent meeting of the Digby Pool Association it was decided to make arrangements to get a chlorinator for the pool to ensure that the many people using the pool are given the maximum health protection. The chlorinator once installed will minimize the annual expense presently incurred in the operation of the pool.

John Rogers and Garnet Stacey, the Pool Managers, have a staff of four with many additional volunteers who have their Bronze Medallion assisting in the life-saving operations during the lessons.

A program is being run by the instructors on their free time to assist children and others who have learning disabilities or who are otherwise handicapped to learn to enjoy the sport of swimming and learn water safety. This work is being done outside the normal lesson hours to ensure that everyone who wishes to use the pool may do so and receive the donated instruction.

A lunch hour swim period has been introduced again for those persons who wish to swim at lunch. It is being run on a trial basis at $5.00 per noon hour swimmer and it is hoped that those adults who believe in Participation will avail themselves of the pool. The Life Guards and Instructors have cut their lunch hours in order to provide this service.

A bus has been organized by a Conway Group with the assistance of the Pool Committee and is serving the Conway, Acaciaville, Marshalltown, Barton area. Persons wishing to use the service or learn of the hours should contact the Pool office.

The cool foggy weather has increased the interest of the Pool Committee in locating a water heater and if funds are available it will be obtained. Donations may still be made for the Pool at the Royal Bank of Canada, Digby, to James Gillis, Treasurer of the Pool Committee.

Eight Additional Teaching Positions

A second review of appeals to the Education Assistance Committee has resulted in eight additional teaching positions being authorized by the Minister of Education for the coming year. This diminishes the province-wide reduction to 309 teachers. In addition, one part-time speech therapist was authorized. Education Minister Maynard MacAskill said that the successful appeals were mainly the result of further detailed information submitted by school boards as to specific needs. Appeals were heard in the case of 15 boards.

Dr. MacAskill indicated that further appeals based on projected increases in enrolment would be heard in September when actual enrolment figures were available for consideration.

Elderly Man Safe After Overnight Adventure

A hunt for 84-year old Forest Hill in the Porter's Lake area came to a successful conclusion Friday morning.

Mr. Hill was reported missing around 6:10 p.m. Thursday evening. About 30 volunteers participated in an early morning search for the elderly gentleman.

He was finally located on the lake's shorelines by a boat participating in the search. The boat was operated by Bob Marshall, Clementsport.

EMO chief John Gray reported Mr. Hill to be in "good shape" after his adventure, considering his age and that he had been out all night.

The search was led by the Search and Rescue under the direction of Lloyd Jefferson, Searchmaster; the Department of Lands and Forests, Donald Brown; E.M.O., Mr. Gray and the RCMP, NCO Thomas Barlow.

$300 Scholarship

Julie Mackintosh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mackintosh has been awarded a $300 scholarship toward her second year's work at Dalhousie University.

She was recipient of a $400 entrance scholarship last year after winning the Memorial Award at D.R.H.S. The Memorial is the highest award given by the school. Julie is studying pharmacy.

EDITORIAL

Natal Day Gone First Mile

As discouraging as it looked about two or three weeks ago, we must extend our sincere congratulations to Mrs. Pat Kynock and her committees in having got Digby's 1976 Natal Day over the first mile. Sure, a few hitches here and there have to be worked out but as far as we can see a worthwhile program is lined up. The next mile, however, depends on the loyalty of the workers and also on those who will make the event on Friday, Saturday and Sunday success by their presence.

Digby's Natal Day starts on Friday evening with a dance at the Knights of Columbus. That always engenders excitement and provides a fitting entrance for three days activities. Nothing seems to be missing from the Digby Natal Day program of 1976 when compared with previous years. There are the fire truck rides, the bicycle rodeo, soap box derby, children's parade and presentation of prizes.

A golf tournament will be in play for the benefit of Natal Day as well as a grand street parade, swimming booths, foods, yacht club races and canoe races. A Citizen of the Year will be chosen.

The church service at St. Patrick's and the customary memorial service by the Bell seem to be taking on a new meaningfulness for the 1976 program.

Again we congratulate Mrs. Kynock and the workers and urge all citizens to help the committee to put Natal Day over big in Digby in 1976.

Hodge Podge

For years it had given us worry that some special dignitary might visit Digby and there would be extreme embarrassment for somebody to invite them to the Town Council Chambers to sign the guest book. In Halifax Mayor Edmund Morris had Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II to sign the guest book outside city hall. Somewhere in New Brunswick this was also done. That squelches that excuse for a new Digby Town Hall. Of course, now if we back up against negative environmental conditions outside we are no better off. Maybe we might come up with other reasons like safety factors (electrical), exhausting stairs for senior citizens lack of space and health reasons.

Mayor's Message

The support of Digby's citizens in the celebration of Digby Natal Day will be this event's greatest guarantee of success.

As Mayor of Digby, I have seen and participated in the tedious work necessary in making such an event successful.

I wish to thank all those who have helped in making arrangements for the occasion and also those who will be assisting in any way during the celebrations.

Events such as this can only serve to bring a community closer together in comradeship and understanding. For on no other day of the year can we find so many people working and playing together in their own town.

To neglect one's town is in many ways comparable to neglecting one's self, and it is my hope that all citizens will become civic-minded and participate in this, Digby's annual celebration.

Let us also give thought to our forefathers who have done so much to shape our town's destiny and to the fishermen, especially those lost at sea, who are such an important part of our way of life.

Yours in Service
Charles Haliburton

Free trade isn't free

By KENNETH McDONALD

finished is better than unfinished, but tariff reductions are against Canada's interests.

There is nothing free about free trade. When tariff barriers are removed they are replaced by other barriers. In Japan, for example, if telephone equipment is found to contain a single foreign component, government

Some of us remember those few lessons on poise and well-groomed manners we had instilled into us way back in our early childhood. Like "A lady always wears her gloves." Then there was the one which told us that to be in a hurry is no sign of a lady. Somehow, times, habits, customs, ways of life and means of livelihood have a way of changing and we all go along with the times. Demands on life can cause us to forsake many things we were taught. One which seems to have gone down the drain in our helter, skelter, hectic scramble of the general populace is the one which says "to be in a hurry is no sign of a lady." Probably this is why we so readily notice that Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II on her visit here last week was never in a hurry.

The disembarkation from the HMRY Britannia in Halifax on Tuesday morning was with grace and dignity, her walk to the Parade Square was unhurried as well as her moving about from place to place throughout the entire visit in the Province of Nova Scotia. If that advice about being in a hurry still holds good, Her Majesty is indeed, every inch a lady. However, it was not the unhurried steps and bodily movements which captured our imagination so much as it was the fact that despite a rigid program, Her Majesty, undisturbed took time to stop and converse with her subjects and show a genuine interest in them. In her dignified and pleasant manner Our Gracious Queen radiated a sincere message of love to thousands of people around her. Her glowing smile warmed the hearts of many. She set before all a unique example of true ladyship.

Her Majesty is, indeed, every inch a lady and indeed, every inch a Queen. She is also definitely living reality, a fact sometimes difficult to comprehend. As some little girls were heard to say in their amazement as she approached them in Halifax on Tuesday "it's really her." Most of us, we suspect, grown ups as well as children, look in awe at the beautifully jewelled gown and diamond and pearl set crown and live in a fairy-world, so to speak. Sometimes these thoughts do not readily leave us, the fairy-like unrealisms linger and like the little girls subconsciously we say "it's really her." What dispelled any such lingering thoughts for us on Tuesday was hearing a spontaneous, hearty laugh from the Queen while she was conversing at a reception held for the news media in the spacious dining room and drawing room on the Britannia. Her Majesty was chatting with a small circle of guests at the time. The sense of "living reality" engendered by that genuinely joyous sounding laughter aloud by the Sovereign made the topic of conversation slip into the background.

The incident which captivated the writer, as noted, was on board the Britannia where Her Majesty and His Royal Highness, Prince Philip entertained 50 members of the news media at a reception. No cameras, nor note books and pens, were permitted for this occasion. It was strictly a social function. We were not to record the friendly chat of the Royal Couple. It is permissible, however, to say that Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip mingled among their guests informally as any one of us might do at our own parties - talking of weather, the children's schooling etc. Obviously Queen Elizabeth II, like you or me, also enjoys hearing that she has made someone happy. On being informed about how much joy it had brought to one of the guests to be present also at the time of the 1959 Royal visit, an appreciative broad smile lightened Her Majesty's countenance.

Although The Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Philip, is a serious minded speaker, His Royal Highness was full of witticisms and showed an apparent delight in conversing in a jovial manner.

Then again, as if by magic, the Royal Couple took their departure for Government House where they were to be guests of Lieutenant Governor Dr. C.L.Gosse and Mrs. Gosse. News media personnel continued their bits of conversations with contemporaries with some of us more aware than ever of a "living reality" because of the spontaneous and joyously aloud laughter emanating from Our Gracious Queen. Long Live The Queen.

That the news media really appreciated their privilege of being presented to Her Majesty and the Prince, could be detected from conversations here and there. One editor of a Valley community paper, for example, said "If I had been told a year ago that I would be doing this I would not have believed it." He was thrilled and did not mind expressing his joy. Others did too. Then, too, we recall a reporter from a Nova Scotia daily paper by whom we sat at the State Dinner in Halifax in 1959. She was from England and had been in Canada a short time. In all jubilation she said "My mother will never believe me when I tell her this; people in England would give their right arm for such an opportunity." The same reporter was prominent on the scene in 1976 and seemed to be enjoying the thrill as much as in 1959. She travelled clear to Montreal and her copy about the entire visit was among the best.

Preparing for the visit of a ruling monarch is no easy task. There are many behind the scenes working continuously for months to plan for safe and smooth running of things when the special event takes place. Those at the head, the protocol co-ordinator and planner and others did a remarkable job. Nova Scotia people too expressed their loyalty in an enthusiastic manner. Nova Scotians are proud of the Queen of Canada, Prince Philip and their family and the Royal Couple, we feel, were happy with Nova Scotians. May they soon come back again.

The visit in Nova Scotia was not all smiles, laughter and jovialities. Many serious and constructive comments were heard from the Royal Couple. According to the news, the Duke of Edinburgh at the presentation of awards on Tuesday, said to the young people: "So, no matter how important your job is, your important job is to be a good citizen. What matters is what you are like as people, whether you are honest and clean and polite! Her Majesty, speaking about the Olympics which she opened on Friday, said "may comradeship and understanding be increased through their friendly rivalry in the true spirit of the Olympics." True, words of wisdom.

The last issue of The Digby Courier described the HMRY Britannia, the disembarkation, the inspection of the Guard, the ceremonies at City Hall, Halifax, the sod turning at Halifax Metro Centre and the reception for the media before noon. Pictures and highlights of the remainder of the visit in Nova Scotia are found in this issue and references from time to time will appear. In the meantime, if you do not already know, take the word of this writer, Our Queen is beautiful, she is sincere, she is friendly, she makes you feel at ease. She is "living reality." God bless her smile. God bless her laugh. Long Live Our Queen.

Land Demand Increasing

Only 386,000 acres of land in Nova Scotia at present are in use for agricultural production supporting an industry that produces annually in excess of $100 million, members of the Canadian Society of Rural Extension meeting in Halifax have been told.

Fred A. Walsh, an agricultural representative with the Department of Agriculture and Marketing in Kentville, one of four participants in a panel dealing with the topic "For the Land's Sake Plan", said that of the remaining 151,000 acres of cleared land owned by non-farmers, much is reverting to bush.

The agricultural representative noted that of the province's total land mass of 13 million acres, 2.2 million is considered in the class two and three soil categories while the remaining 10,126,000 acres, or approximately 80 per cent, is considered non-agricultural land.

Mr. Walsh said that the province's 6,000 farms, ranging from small part-time units to those which gross over $500,000 annually, provide an economic base for many rural people and support a wide variety of related industries.

The agricultural representative said that within Nova Scotia demands for the best land is ever increasing for many varied uses created by conflicting interests within rural communities between farming and non-farming residents. Government both at the provincial and municipal levels is taking steps to try and rectify this problem in the field of planning, he said.

Mr. Walsh said that under the Planning Act two types of planning are currently being undertaken; municipal planning which is the responsibility of the local municipal councils but must work within the framework set down by the Department of Municipal Affairs, and regional planning which is the responsibility of the Minister of Municipal Affairs to prepare and must be approved by Cabinet.

The Municipal Development Plan which is adopted by Council and approved by the Minister must be consistent with the regional plan, the agricultural representative said.

Mr. Walsh noted that providing lot size is satisfactory a residential building permit cannot be denied in a rural area except for health reasons. Under existing regulations strip development is still occurring with farmers selling road frontage for housing. While the actual farm land being used isn't that great, because of non-planned communities the cost of servicing is shared by all taxpayers and other problems are developing, he added.

The agricultural representative said that while regional planning included three groups, with the second group concerned with prime farmland, the long run benefit to the landowner isn't as attractive as the immediate profit from selling roadside frontage. Mr. Walsh said that in the past three or four years land use seminars have been held in various parts of the province which served to make both politicians and the public aware of the issues.

Mr. Walsh said he felt that agricultural extension workers should play an increasingly active role in land use planning by participating with other government departments in the development of a regional plan.

Letter To The Editor

Editor of The Digby Courier and
To all citizens who care.

A recent afternoon a couple of senior citizens, well known and beloved by many in this area, were taking a ride in their car - just enjoying a few hours - when someone passed them and slowed their vehicle enough to pick up a handful of dirt and deliberately throw it at their windshield. Fortunately the driver didn't panic nor lose control so no accident occurred but just stop and realize what this (to put it politely) rude action could have caused.

These folks know the full licence of the vehicle that was so nasty to them yet they have made no attempt to bring justice to this wrongdoer.

Now I ask what our so-called respectable citizens are coming to when things such as this deliberately happen?

I, a citizen, feel it is fully time that all the drivers and passengers learn more respect for other travellers.

Thanks for taking time to read this letter - I hope each one who reads this thinks seriously and shows more courtesy as they travel our highways.

For Highway Courtesy inspectors will find a reason for rejecting it.

Economists who claim that eliminating tariff barriers would "open enormous markets" for Canada are dreaming. Enterprising Canadian-owned businesses have already set up operations in the U.S. to exploit that market. A list of the advantages they get by doing so brings home to us the self-inflicted disadvantages we suffer in Canada.

Nova Scotia Store Recalls Life In 1783

Shelburne.

By the time Robert Ross died in Cape Town in 1809 business in Shelburne had fallen to a mere trickle of trade. So meagre, it seems, were George Ross's sales, that he could attend his store unassisted while Robert Thomson became a school teacher and land surveyor.

In 1787 when government distribution of food was terminated, the settlers of Shelburne found it difficult to survive without harvest from their own land. A beautiful harbour could not compensate for the lack of arable land. Within a few years there were notices of houses for sale and evidence of settlers leaving to go to England, New Brunswick, Upper Canada or to return to the United States.

In 1815, the year prior to his death, George Ross sold his house to Dorcas Thomson, wife of Robert Thomson, and the business continued as the Thomson's store. By the 1820's Robert Ross Thomson, youngest son of Robert and Dorcas, was helping in the store, and his father again turned to teaching school. The population of Shelburne by this time was about 300. In 1836 Robert Ross Thomson was appointed Shelburne's post master (the post office was in the store) and he was lieutenant-colonel of the local militia in 1869. The room above the store was used as the militia room at the time of the Fenian raids. Following Thomson's death in the early 1800's the old store of the Ross brothers was closed.

From the Charlotte Lane Store the Ross brothers had plotted their trade to foreign ports, sold the produce of distant lands, traded Shelburne's pine planks, codfish, ship's knees, spars and pickled herring, for salt from Turk's Island, tobacco from the Carolinas and Virginia, flour from New England, rum, molasses and sugar from the West Indies, dry goods and china from England and wine from Madeira. Many of these products can be seen on the store shelves today. Their vessels Camilla, Lorence, Two Sisters, Echo, Minerva, and Betsey sailed to ports around the world.

Ross-Thomson House speaks of its builder's skill and of the influence of New England architecture in the eighteenth century tradition. Constructed of wood on a granite foundation, the north end of the building has a gambrel roof and the south end has a gable roof. The old squared logs of the east wall of the north building indicated construction in 1783-84 when, lacking boards, the Loyalists used logs which they later shingled or clappedboard on the outside and lathed and plastered on the inside. Heavy plank doors, studded, barred and double locked, secured the store and the entrance to the house. Windows flashed with birch bark were cut only in the north and west sides of the house except for a small window high in the east wall, added later for light above Robert Thomson's desk which still stands in its corner beside the fireplace.

The glass in the north window of the store is crown glass which was advertised as being sold by the Ross brothers. Rectangular panes of glass were cut from large discs, leaving the characteristic bull's eye centre of blown glass. Glass makers were more than glad to find someone to take the discarded "barn glass". The shutter on this north window has a slot cut so that letters could be mailed after dark when the store was closed and shuttered at night.

Ross Thomson House is now owned by the Nova Scotia Museum. The store and living quarters have been refurbished in the style of 1783 complete with merchandise and store fittings. The garret area houses a display of Loyalist artifacts. Ross Thomson House is open daily from May 15 to October 15th. There is no admission charge.

Potato

Late Blight

Warning

Late blight of potatoes has not been found in Nova Scotia as yet this season. However, the very wet, humid conditions that have occurred recently have been favorable for the development of the disease.

Growers should be on a constant alert for the occurrence of this disease in their fields or area. A regular fungicide spray schedule should be begun now in order to protect foliage prior to disease development.

Berwick Camp Opens In July
The United Church of Canada camp at Berwick, N.S. will open July 23 and extend to August 1. The camp meets for approximately two weeks each summer when guest speakers for different departments of the church are brought in and special music adds to the sacredness of the occasion.

Rev. Willard Smith, pastor of the Lawrencetown United Baptist Church, and the Baptist Youth Choir will present the Gospel message in word and song next Sunday evening, July 25, at the Smith's Cove Drive-In Church Service held on the Smith's Cove School Grounds. Also presenting special music with this group will be other musicians of the Lawrencetown Church. The service begins at 7:00 p.m. and is open to all to "Come as you are and bring a friend!"

At the service, last Sunday, John and Martha Ramsay of Canton, Ohio, presented their testimony in Gospel songs to over one hundred sixty persons attending the service.

Deacon Lic. Fred Bigelow gave the opening welcome and introduced the Ramsays and their son, Johnny. Later, in the service young Debbie Irene Ramsay, born June 10, was presented by her parents to those assembled. This talented young couple have been singing together for 6½ years, but only the past 3 years have they stepped out in faith on a full time basis of presenting the Gospel of Jesus Christ and His saving grace. They live in a bus and travel from coast to coast in the U.S.A. This was their first trip to Nova Scotia and they were pleased to be able to come singing God's praises through old and new songs, and the witness of what Christ had done in their lives and that of others they had ministered to in their travels.

The bride was attended by Miss Rose Marie Thibault as maid of honor and Miss Marilyn McCaustlin as bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Bryant Brown, and the ushers were James Graham, brother of the groom, Jack Johnson, brother of the bride and Wayne Hawkes.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floorlength gown of white nylon organza over net with Chantilly lace applique and rounded neckline. The bouffant skirt extended into a sweep train. Her shoulder-length veil of nylon tulle and seed pearls was arranged to a pearl headdress. Her only jewellery was a pearl drop and matching earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of daisies

The reception was held at Roachville Centennial Hall. Roy McCullum, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to the bride. The Misses Lyla and Beth Graham, sisters of the groom, and Theresa Merritt and Bonnie Johnson, cousins of the bride, assisted in serving. The guest book was in charge of Miss Heather Johnson and Miss Carol McCullum, cousins of the bride.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to the United States. For travelling the bride chose a three-piece beige and orange pant suit with matching accessories. The couple are residing at Fairvale. The bride is on the staff of First Lady Beauty Salon and the groom is with the Irving Oil Refinery, Saint John, N.B.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bain and Cheryl sang a special trio.

Striped Bass Competition

Nova Scotia Striped Bass Competition for the week ending July 17, Doug Stultz of Dartmouth was the winner with a striped bass weighing 32 pounds 11 ounces. Several other large fish were landed; Alec Smith got one weighing 19 pounds, 15 ounces; Jack Bourgeois of Amherst a 31 pound 10 ounce bass and Lorne Baird of Spryfield got a 14 pound 8 ounce bass. Although the weather was inclement several other fish were taken but not recorded. There were fewer fish taken last week than any other week since the competition started. However we are assured of good weather and good fishing in the week to come. Thank you for taking part.

faith. He paid for our sin, and now we don't need to pay for it. No debt ever has to be paid more than once. Now, Christ is risen and glorified, and the sin is not on us, and not on Him. It is cancelled and gone. He paid for our place in Heaven by going to the Old Rugged Cross.

Humanly we can't handle guilt. Tranquilizers won't cure sin. Talking it out to a friend, may make things worse. Ignoring the evil leaves us under the domination of fear.

Transferring the guilt to Christ is the only answer. This is the essence of the Gospel. It is the way to serene living.

A Thought Starter

By Rev. R.C. MacCormack
SAYING "GOOD BYE" TO GUILT

Wrong doing is followed by guilt feelings.

All of this is piled up in many people until the burden is too heavy to live with. In trying to wash away his own shame, a person may struggle to appease God. God can not be bought off, and He will not overlook sin, but He has a way for our peace of soul.

If we ask Him to do it in trust and faith, God will lift the burden of evil from us and put it on another Person. We then go free, and don't have to suffer. The sinner doesn't need to struggle and quiver under his shame any longer. The burden is completely removed and forgotten.

You may ask, "who would ever take my load of guilt on himself to make me free?" Jesus Christ did this on the Cross because of His unusual and mighty love. He took the sin of all who will come in

Minimum Wage To Raise

At a new conference in Sydney today, Labour Minister Walter Fitzgerald announced that effective January 1, 1977, The Nova Scotia minimum wage will increase to $2.75 per hour. This rate, which applies to experienced adult workers, represents a 25-cent increase over the existing minimum of $2.50 per hour.

Mr. Fitzgerald pointed out that his announcement fulfills the practice of the minimum wage board in giving a minimum of six months notice of change to the province's employers. "Many of these employers must set contracts for delivery months in advance," the Minister said. "It is imperative that the length of notice give them time to adjust their costing accordingly."

Effective January 1, 1977, experienced adult workers will be paid $2.75 per hour. Persons under 18 years of age and inexperienced employees will be paid $2.50 per hour. The order is applicable to the general order of workers, those in road building, heavy construction, logging and forestry.

Persons employed in the logging and forestry industry, and who have no fixed work week, will, as of January 1, 1977, be paid at the rate of $5.40 per month. This represents an increase of $50 per month over the rate paid as of January 1, 1976.

Experienced workers in the beauty parlor order will be paid $2.75 per hour as of January 1, 1977. In the case of inexperienced beauty parlor workers, during their first three months of employment they will be paid $1.90; in their second three months they will receive $2.20 and in their third three months they will be paid $2.50 per hour.

The new minimum wage rates are for a maximum work week of 48 hours. Provisions are set for overtime, workers on piecework and for deductions for board and lodging. All time during which an employee is required to wait for work on the Employers premises shall be counted as working time.

Newly Wedded Couple Honored

A wedding reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert White when the immediate relatives gathered in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Doucette who were married in Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The reception which was a surprise caught the newly weds off guard.

The bride's table was tastefully decorated with wedding bells and streamers. It was centered with a beautiful wedding cake which was cut and served by the bride and groom in traditional manner.

After opening the many lovely gifts, thanks were expressed by the happy couple to all present. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Mrs. Doucette, formerly Margaret Harris is a sister to Mrs. White. Her mother, Mrs. Margaret Woolf came from Charlottetown P.E.I., to be present for the occasion.

1977 World Fishing Exhibition In Nova Scotia

By John MacCormick

After supplying most of the world with fish for nearly 500 years, Nova Scotia will be host for the World Fishing Exhibition, 1977.

The occasion will mark the first time this world-famous exhibition, inaugurated in London in 1963, has been held outside Europe.

Nova Scotia is a very appropriate location for this event. The fishing grounds off the coast have fed the peoples of Europe — in fact, nations around the world — since the 15th century. Almost 500 years ago, fish from Canada's eastern coast met the growing demands of Mediterranean countries that laboured under restricted agricultural development and limited supplies of protein foods.

Fleets numbering as many as 300 ships came from Europe each spring to harvest the prolific fishing banks of Atlantic Canada. They came from England, France, Holland, Spain, Portugal. As early as 1634, 18,000 fishermen from England alone made the annual trans-Atlantic journey to the fishing grounds.

But things have changed considerably since 1497 when John Cabot's crew caught fish by simply lowering baskets over the side of their ship. Today, fishing is a dynamic, mechanized industry and the European visitors have been joined by fishing fleets from Japan, Russia and Scandinavia.

World Fishing Exhibition 1977 will demonstrate just how efficient the industry has become.

The late summer Exhibition will attract fisheries people from 40 countries around the world who "operate, manage, and direct the world's fishing fleets ... both commercial and government" — owners, operators, managers, captains, engineers, scientists and manufacturers of specialized equipment.

Personal invitations have been forwarded to more than 80,000 fisheries people by the show organizers, Commercial Exhibitions and Publications Ltd. of London, England.

Walter Chesser, Managing Director of the company organizing the show, said during a recent Halifax visit that "the support received on the provincial, federal, and municipal levels has been terrific." That support, combined with extensive advance publicity has resulted in unprecedented pre-show bookings.

More than one-third of the available display area has already been booked — a full 16 months prior to the actual event. These bookings come from private concerns in Canada, the U.S., France, Spain, Germany, and Portugal, demonstrating the wide-ranging international flavour of the exhibition.

Joint ventures from Britain, Denmark, and Norway are also being organized. These include the Westminster Chamber of Commerce, the Danish Export Board, and the Export Council of Norway.

From these world-wide concerns will come the best the world has to offer in harvesting and processing equipment and the countless other related requirements of the fishing industry.

Among the displays at the Exhibition will be the very latest in technology, propulsion, deck equipment, winches, fish finders, nets, buoys, refrigeration, shorebased plant equipment and safety gear.

The World Fishing Exhibitions have previously been held in England, Scotland, Ireland, Spain, and on the last occasion Marseille, France, in 1975.

Before the advent of this biennial series of exhibitions in 1963, the only avenue available for the display of fishing equipment of any sort was local boat shows.

Fisheries people from around the world now have an opportunity to display and market products, and exchange the latest ideas in fishing technology with their international counterparts.

More than 5,000 visitors from overseas are expected to attend the Exhibition in addition to 10,000 North American visitors, making World Fishing Exhibition 1977 the largest commercial gathering ever hosted by Nova Scotia.

More than 250 companies are expected to exhibit at the World Fishing Exhibition which will be located at the quay wall facility on the Halifax waterfront from August 31 to September 7 next year.

available stating the theme of the show.

On adjournment of the business meeting, Mrs. Hutchins introduced his Worship, Mayor Haliburton, who spoke of a former meeting, held some ago, to consider the damage being done in several towns by the Dutch Elm disease, saying there was an urgency that something be done before many of our own town trees were destroyed.

One of the problems in Digby, was the lack of proper equipment to remove or prune diseased or dead trees to eliminate the spread of the disease. This might be overcome by hiring qualified workmen to do the work. Information might be obtained from other valley towns as to their method in combatting the problem.

The greatest need at present is to have an interested group or persons, form a committee and be willing to get a program started for further meetings.

Every effort should be made by 1977 to have the project underway and spending the money, now available through the town budget, very wisely. It is uncertain what amount will be needed to control the spread of the disease and no time should be lost in planning the work and getting started.

Mrs. Hutchins was asked to establish a committee and perhaps with assistance from the Power Board, which has equipment for cutting trees, some of the problem might be ironed out.

The vandalism at the park was again mentioned and Mr. Haliburton said there was a possibility that in time, if the Garden Club abandoned the park, there could be some space near the bandstand that could be taken over as a park or garden.

Mrs. Hutchins thanked Mr. Haliburton for attending the meeting and speaking on a subject of real concern, not only to Garden Club members, but to the whole community.

At the social hour, Miss Daley was assisted in serving refreshments by co-hostess, Miss Mary Marshall and Miss Mabel Marshall.

The next monthly meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Oliver, Smith's Cove on the evening of September 1st.

National Farm Safety Week, 25-31 July 1976

A farmer who is accustomed to operating heavy equipment or machinery may feel that it goes without saying that safety should always be kept in mind. However the Canada Safety Council feels that the following points bear repeating.

1) Machines are incapable of thought. A cornpicker cannot tell the difference between a cornstalk or an arm and will gobble-up one as readily as the other — as will any other machine.

2) Machines respond to control levers or pedals. If these are engaged accidentally or by a child the machine reacts. It is always wise to shut off the power when cleaning, unclogging or servicing.

3) Machines fail and this can be suddenly and unexpectedly, and may result in personal injury. A preventative maintenance program can reduce the odds against this.

For optimum safety operate machinery in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations. Operating manuals contain information needed for safe and efficient operation. Read and study them thoroughly.

Committee Needed to Get Things Started - Haliburton

Miss Louise Duley was hostess for the monthly meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural society, at her home on the evening of July 7th with Mr. B. Hutchins, president, presiding.

Reports were given of the summer work carried on at various areas under the care of Garden Club members. It was learned that vandalism is still taking place at the Admiral Digby Park, flowers having been destroyed in the planter and holes gouged in one of the new benches. The place is badly littered and refuse not being placed in the garbage containers supplied.

Another report was given on the destruction of one of the large concrete planters, across from the Post Office. This is the second time the planter has been struck and broken. The matter has been referred to the R.C.M.P.

Final arrangements were made for the August 3rd Flower Show and Tea, at the Fire Hall, at which time the United Church Women's organization will be in charge of the tea.

The public is invited to attend and make flower arrangement entries and program schedules are

IN MEMORIAM

FADELLE - In loving memory of our baby girl, Kimberlee Karen, aged 4 months, who was killed instantly in an auto accident July 22, 1958. It was exactly eighteen years ago today That our baby girl was taken suddenly away. Many times we relive that tragic day And to be near her grave that lies so far away. However, year after year, we have flowers placed there. But it's just not the same, as if we were there. The flowers we place upon her grave They soon wither and decay. But the love and memories of her that sleep beneath Shall never ever fade away. Sadly missed and in our hearts she liveth still. SPEAKING AND LISTENING

Too much talk can be boring, too much silence is deadening. Virtue comes in knowing what to say and when, also when to let the ears of others rest.

The din of many voices in our day of amplified sound has become deafening. Calloused ears are hardened to the pleas of a thousand causes, to the point where little is taken seriously. The new may be the exception. We still notice the unusual.

The greatest message ever heard by man has even been taken for granted. God is speaking but many turn Him off. Perhaps believers are giving the message unclearly, or not at all. This is good news.

Pondering the problem of communication is the chore of preachers and others. How to be heard and heeded? Declaring the Gospel wisely and firmly is a must. Our heritage was founded on this emphasis.

Heed the Gospel as though it were being heard for the first time. Pay attention to the believer who speaks with the authority of the true revelation. Open the Book of books and devour it.

Uncertain, cultish voices are not worth listening too. They have no anchor and can offer no assurance of vic-

Reverse Ahead

A great summer vacation can be ruined by improper planning. The weather might be just right but everything else could be completely wrong if you don't plan ahead.

"Whatever sort of accommodation you're renting, whether it be a vacation cottage, a trailer or a campsite, always reserve ahead," says Harry M. McIlroy, Chief Executive Officer of the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs.

There are ways, advises Mr. McIlroy, to help assure that a vacation doesn't turn into a chore.

1. The first thing to do, long in advance of the actual vacation, is to budget for that vacation. Allow for unexpected and additional costs. Never spend so much that it takes you until your next vacation to pay for the last one.

2. Don't plan on locating overnight accommodations later in the day when you're tired from travelling. At that time of day you're more apt to fall victim to unusually high rates or unscrupulous motel or campground proprietors.

3. If you have reservations booked for a certain time of day and you anticipate arriving later than expected, call ahead and re-confirm. Most motel proprietors will not hold accommodations beyond a certain time without this re-confirmation.

4. Organization is the key to a good vacation. If you intend to rent a car, for instance, book it well in advance and make it possible to change the reservation.

5. There is much information available on accommodations and campgrounds. But keep in mind that changes in rates, accommodation facilities and recreational facilities can occur after printing of the original information. Therefore it is wise to re-confirm rates and other pertinent information with the proprietor before signing.

It is important when renting accommodations, especially so in a guest house or inn, to observe house policy in relation to dinner and meal times. Dinner is usually served only at certain hours of the day and it is advisable for the vacationer to make sure from the outset exactly what time that is, to avoid inconvenience, missing meals, and possibly having to find a restaurant or dining-room where prices may be very high.

7. If a large family is vacationing it is always more economical to arrange for a housekeeping unit where meals can be prepared at a reasonable cost rather than paying out a lot of money at a restaurant feeding a large group.

If you intend to vacation in Nova Scotia, Mr. McIlroy advised that you can get plenty of information about accommodations and camping grounds from the travel division of the Tourism Department, P.O. Box 456, Halifax.

Cubs Enjoy Camp

The above photo shows the 4th Digby Cub Pack, counselors and leaders and their wives following the successful completion of their annual Cub camp held at Johnson's Christian Park, on June 25, 26, 27th.

The Cubs arrived at the camp on Friday evening amid a downpour which failed to dampen their enthusiasm! Friday evening's program consisted of a singsong, skits and a clam bake followed by films, and then bedtime. As usual for the first night out, the leaders found that a great deal of time had elapsed before the last of the Cubs had finally called it a day!

Saturday dawned in sunny, but the clouds and drizzle soon returned. The Cubs enjoyed a couple of swimming periods despite the rain. Between showers they played various sports in the adjacent field and by late afternoon the weather had cleared sufficiently to enable the group to go on a hike on woodlands belonging to the Dept. of Lands and Forests. This hike enabled the Cubs to test their alert observation of the various forms of wildlife around them.

The evening program consisted of a religious service provided by Father Leo Maillet, Games of charades and films ended a busy day, and weary Cubs took no time in settling down for their second night out.

Sunday's weather was much more hospitable, and a very busy day had been planned. The afternoon saw every Cub eagerly participating in a Junior Olympic sport program under the able guidance of Arthur Surette. The group participated in seven events, and were divided into three groups, relative to their size. It was with great determination that the boys competed in the various events and their athletic skills were rewarded by appropriate first, second and third prize ribbons and certificates.

The closing ceremonies were highlighted by the presentation of awards and badges. Mark Fletcher was awarded the "Cub of the Year" Award for his outstanding qualities of leadership and cooperation.

The 4th Digby Cub Pack had raised the funds for their Cub Camp from various activities during the year. The donations of food supplies from various local establishments was greatly appreciated.

Town Crier To Visit Digby!

The Town Crier of Historic Properties, Peter Cox, will visit Digby, England, on Tuesday, August 10. Mr. Cox will be in England where he will participate in the British National Town Crier Championships in Hastings as first ever guest competitor.

The Town Crier of Historic Properties, Mr. Peter Cox, will be assisted by Air Canada, which is providing return air fare, the City of Halifax, for whom he has been granted 'ambassadorial' privileges, and the Bank of Montreal, Atlantic Region, which is assisting in some travel and costs during his stay in Europe.

Peter Cox, who was selected as the successor to the City of Halifax's last town crier, George "Chuddy" Chaulker, performs his role at civic events and can be seen frequently at the historic restoration project known as the Historic Properties, Halifax, completed recently at a cost of $8 million.

"This is a great honour to have been invited, and I feel that I will be among very honoured and unique company when I join with other British town criers in Hastings," said Mr. Cox.

Halifax's town crier, who will be attired in his new summer uniform, will also bring greetings to other British towns bearing the same place names as some well known Nova Scotia centres such as: Halifax, Dartmouth, Truro, Chester, Digby, Yarmouth and Liverpool. Mr. Cox, who will be departing on Air Canada's evening flight for Heathrow on August 4, will be travelling in uniform for the duration of his trip.

"The National Town Crier Championships, sponsored by the News of the World, and attracting wide interest, will bring the spotlight on Nova Scotia and Canada, to the advantage of both tourism and industry," said Mr. Cox.

Appointed in 1936, Ben Johnson, Town Crier of Fowey Cornwall has won the Championships 11 times and can be regarded as one of Britain's most famous town criers.

One of the interesting events of which Mr. Cox "called" recently, was a delegation of representatives at the United Nations Habitat conference, drawn from around the world. "The history of town-crying goes back to the earliest of times in our cities and predates newspapers to a time when most people could not read or write. Even today an official proclamation cried aloud can re-enforce a message in a very special way," says Mr. Cox.

The City of Halifax, founded in 1749, is the capital of the Canadian province Nova Scotia, and boasts many historical events and connections with the United States.

Mr. Cox whose full time position is in sales is a former national award winner in steel products for the housing industry. I took the job following a dare from my employer who saw the position advertised, and I have never looked back since, regarding it as a unique and rewarding experience," says Mr. Cox.

Mr. Cox will also be making official visits to both Canada House and Nova Scotia House in London, England, during his planned two week tour. It is expected that Mr. Cox will make an announcement in Hastings of an invitation to town criers to assemble in Halifax sometime in 1977, marking the start of an international exchange of town criers.

Scores Hole-In-One

After 40 years of golfing Jack McClearn of Digby Golf Club finally realized his dream of scoring a hole-in-one Saturday, July 17, on the Digby Pines Golf Course. The ace was made on the 145 yard par 3, 8th hole, using a 4 wood and a red Titleist ball. It was witnessed by his playing companions Chet Levy and Herb Warren. Jack is receiving congratulations of the other club members on the feat. Paradoxically, this imposes

The Queen's Speech At The Dinner Given By The Premier Of Nova Scotia, July 14, 1976

Mr. Premier.

Thank you for your kind and generous words.

It is a real pleasure for us to be here again in Nova Scotia, where members of my family have always been made so welcome. During the last two days I have been moved and delighted by the loyalty and affection shown to us wherever we have been. To your "a hundred thousand welcomes", I reply "a million thanks!"

Aujourd'hui les yeux du monde entier se tournent vers le Canada au moment où celui-ci est l'hôte des athlètes Olympiques à Montréal. Puissent la camaraderie et l'entente être renforcées par une rivalité amicale à la hauteur de l'esprit qui inspire les Olympiades.

Today, all eyes are turned on Canada as she prepares to play host to the athletes of the world in Montreal. May comradeship and understanding be increased through their friendly rivalry in the true spirit of the Olympics.

Mr. Premier, democracy flourishes in this Province and it is deeply rooted. For over two centuries Nova Scotians have given vigorous support to the principles of Parliamentary Government. Indeed, this Province led the way in their establishment in Canada.

Parliamentary Government is part of a precious heritage shared by many countries of the Commonwealth; it is also a bond which holds them together. I know that you, the first Canadian Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, have done much for its development.

We are deeply grateful for your hospitality tonight and for the interesting programme you arranged for us.

We have been given a glowing welcome from the moment we arrived - undimmed by the weather! This was not quite at its best, but certainly not anything to trouble someone who has a home in Scotland.

I was particularly pleased to travel for the first time down the beautiful Annapolis Valley and, as Queen of Canada and of the United Kingdom, pleased to see Canadian industry and technology building a drilling rig for the extraction of oil for Britain from the North Sea.

Mr. Premier, this is a fortunate Province. I am sure that Nova Scotia will be carried forward by the industry, ambition and foresight of her people.

I wish them all happiness and success.

Among those attending the dinner were Judge Victor S. Cardoza, Mrs. Cardoza, Miss Coline Campbell, M.P., Joseph Casey M.L.A., Mrs. Casey and Urban Belliveau, Belliveau Cove.

In today's marketplace, merchandising problems are enormous. They could become impossible without an immediate, readily accessible means of obtaining information - like long distance.

Buyers and purchasing agents, for example can check on available materials, changes in models, styles and sizes. And they can do it now. Immediately.

They can save time, make better buys, save money, avoid problems. Here in Nova Scotia, business hour, direct-dialed calls within the province, can't cost any more than 60c a minute. It's a small investment that can pay big dividends. It's a bargain to be aware of.

O'Shaughnessy's Famous Irish Potato Lure

I was fumbling around in the basement tying up a tapered leader when Terence O'Shaughnessy clumped down the stairs in his fishing boots. He had a creel in his hand and I could tell by the grass sticking out of it that he'd caught some trout.

Terence put the creel on the floor and casually pushed it towards me with the toe of his boot. I figured then there had to be a nice trout in the basket. I also knew if I asked Terence about it he wouldn't tell me a thing. I continued to work away at the leader while he stood there. After a while he pulled up a chair and sat down.

Terence watched while I finished the leader and then he opened the basket and showed me a 15 inch brown trout. "Got it on a Mepps spinner," he said. "Looks like it just came up from salt water."

The trout weighed about two pounds and had what Terence called "salt water stain" on its sides. It was a fine, fat specimen and I told him so.

Terence acknowledged the praise. Then he looked at me with a sly grin, one eyebrow cocked, and I knew he had a story to tell me. If it was like his other tales it would be nothing but pure Irish blarney. Valley farmers have a more explicit term for it.

"You know from the fish that I angled in the Cornwalls," he said. "I was going to try the Gaspereau River but I thought it might be spoiled with them dunnies all those taters in it."

"Taters? You mean potatoes," I asked.

"Yeah, that's what I said. The paper's been full of stories of how tubers are spollin' the Gaspereau."

I laughed. "That's a different kind of tuber you nut."

"I know," he said. "I was just foolin'. Yet any number of those people floatin' by on tubes would put down the salmon an' spoil the fishin'."

That's why I didn't go there."

"That business about the tubers ruining the salmon fishing is the biggest joke I've heard in years," I said. "First of all, the Gaspereau isn't much of a salmon river."

Terence nodded. "Three years ago they caught more salmon in one day on the LaHave River than they did on the Gaspereau for the whole season. So I guess you got a point there."

"That's the first time you ever agreed with me," I said. "The only part of the stories that made sense was the protest about littering. The tubers should have enough brains not to litter the river with bottles and cans."

Terence agreed with me for the second time and I wondered if he was feeling well. "Tubin' seems like fun," he said. "Yet the tubers got no right to leave their trash around. The river don't belong just to them."

Terence looked at me in surprise and snorted. "Ed, you deliberately got me away from a story I was goin' to tell you. You know, it could've been taters they was talkin' about instead of people goin' down the river in rubber tubes. When I first saw that story about tubers I thought salmon poachers was tryin' an old Irish trick."

"With potatoes?"

Terence let out another snort. "I suppose, Ed, you never heard of the famous Irish tater lure?"

I said I hadn't. "Of course you'll tell me about it."

Terence shook his head up and down. "Just before the big tater famine in Ireland there was this great wealth of them," he said. "I guess it was sort of like the plenty before the storm."

"Anyways, they had so much surplus taters they even fed 'em to the dogs an' dumped them in the river. Which they figured was the same as lettin' the English have 'em. It was my grandfather what discovered the salmon was eatin' the taters. He hooked a fine, big fish one day that was stuffed with 'em."

"So that led to salmon fishing with potatoes?" I asked.

"With tater balls," Terence said. "You string three or four on a hook an' just heave 'em into an eddy. They was takin' salmon right an' left with 'em and was threaten' to wipe out the whole salmon fishery. After a while they brought in a law makin' tater fishin' illegal. Of course the poachers kept on usin' tater lures until the famine put an end to it."

I told Terence I'd never heard of that bit of Irish angling history before. "It sounds like good old Irish horse manure to me," I said.

Terence picked up his creel and pawed through it. "You have a poor memory," he said. "You know I never used a Mepps in my life. Let me show you what I really used to take that trout."

Out came his hand. In it were several hooks strung with some sort of balls. I looked closer and saw they were potatoes.

Yes, a lot is a good investment. It doesn't cost very much and almost certainly will increase in value. Good lots are becoming more scarce every day. Tenders To Be Called bound baggage system and the supply and installation of draft screens, access doors and associated electrical, mechanical and structural modifications.

This tender call will be made by public advertisement and should appear in the newspapers on or about August 9, 1976.

Corporation Plans Coal Power

Premier Gerald A. Regan announced work is to begin immediately on construction of the Nova Scotia Power Corporation's new coal fired generation station near Langan.

In making the announcement at a news conference in Sydney, the Premier said tenders will be called immediately for site preparation and excavation for the first of two 150-megawatt units.

The new units will use 750,000 to 1,000,000 tons of Cape Breton coal annually.

The Premier added that site investigation and feasibility studies indicate the project should proceed with an on stream target date for the first unit of November 1979- and the second unit on line by mid 1981.

Initial estimates for the construction of the first two units place the cost at approximately $191 million.

The Premier stated that while the peak number of jobs at any one time during the construction phase will not exceed 400 - over the duration of the entire construction period, from site preparation to building construction, to equipment erection and commissioning, a total of 1,500 to 2,000 workers will have been employed.

In terms of permanent employment, the Premier said, upwards of 100 jobs will be created with the first two units.

In addition to direct employment this project will help to ensure the continuation of large employment in the mines and the Cape Breton Coal Industry, the Premier said.

"We are extremely pleased with the go-ahead on this new plant, as it represents the first step in the power corporation's plan to reduce its dependence on imported oil for the generation of electricity," the Premier stated.

"As you are well aware about 90 per cent of the province's electrical energy supply comes from the burning of coal and oil in the corporation's thermal plants, with oil accounting for approximately two thirds of that total," he said.

The Premier added: "The advantage of using coal to fire these new units, as opposed to nuclear, or some other alternate fuel, is that it is certainly competitive, it helps maintain high levels of employment in our mines, and, of vital importance, the 300 megawatts will come on stream before a nuclear plant could be possible."

"I would point out at this time that the power corporation is hopeful of increasing the generating capacity at Langan by an additional two 150-megawatt units by 1984."

Reflecting To 1946

The July 25th issue of The Digby Courier 1946 reported the first post war Cherry Sunday. It was a sunshiny Sunday and all vehicles appeared to be heading for Bear River. Thousands came even though the carnival and pageant of the pre war days on Cherry Sunday was ignored. Several boat loads came from Grand Manan and chartered buses brought people from points such as Liverpool and areas in Yarmouth, Digby and Annapolis Counties. Trucks came loaded with passengers and containers for cherries.

A Shinstone, a summer visitor, was the winner of the first yacht race of the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club.

The Digby Red Cross entertained for overseas war brides viz. Mrs. Ellery Collins, Little River; Mrs. Alfred Boutillier, Mrs. Victor Dukeshire, Centreville and Mrs. Albert Smith and Mrs. George Outhouse, Digby.

There were vandals 30 years ago. "Vanity Fair," Y.W.C.A. cottage, hostess member for W.R.C.N.S. at Cornwallis was vandalized.

The Empire Seaman arrived to load 2000 cords of pulpwood for England, loaded by Max Nathal Ltd. The ship had experienced difficult passage through the Manchester Canal resulting with some of the masthead having to be shortened. She had nine inches clearing and if the canal might have had another ship through the difficulty would have increased since each ship causes the canal water to rise nine inches. Sufficient ballast to rectify the ship's position would have cost 4000 pounds.

DIGBY NATAL DAY SUCCESSFUL

Digby's Natal Day celebrations wound up under sunny skies Sunday with a church parade, ceremonies at the Fishermen's memorial and a band concert.

At twelve o'clock noon the procession, including the Citizen of the Year, Miss Natal Day, the Natal Day Committee, Joseph Casey MLA, Guides, Cubs and other participants entered St. Patrick's Church to the music by CFB Cornwallis Cadet Band and were welcomed by Rev. Father Leo Maillet.

Assisting in the service were Miss Shelly Fletcher and Miss Kelly Fletcher as readers and Miss Mary Lou Jayne and Mark Fletcher as servers. The regular church organist, Mrs. Mary Lynn Robertson, provided the organ music for the hymns and ritual and special numbers were by the band. Assisting in receiving the offering were the young people of the Natal Day party, Guides and Cubs.

Rev. Father Maillet in his sermon referred to the many common concerns and sharing in the time of Jesus and that important things in his lifetime often centered around meals. He admonished his congregation to follow the Lord's concern for the hungry, the sick and those needing compassion.

He expressed gratitude for those community builders before the present time and said that a community cannot become stagnant but must grow and referred to Natal Day as a means of helping that growth, showing unity, understanding and reconciliation one with the other.

Following services at St. Patrick's Church memorial service participants, led by the CFB Cornwallis Band, paraded to the memorial bell at the federal building where respect is paid annually to fishermen and sailors lost at sea.

Special speaker for the ceremony was Joe Casey, Digby MLA. Mr. Casey said fishermen take calculated risks every day when they put themselves against the elements. The ceremony prayer was given by Father Leo Maillet.

The memorial wreath was laid by Gerald Handspiker, a retired fisherman and navy man. Mr. Handspiker comes from a fishing family and is well aware of the dangers faced at sea. This is the third time he has laid the wreath.

Mrs. Marion MacDonald, Truro, chairperson of the 1975 Digby Natal Day was mistress of ceremonies.

Other Sunday activities included sailboat racing put on by the Yacht Club, kippers and steamed clams and swimming pool demonstrations.

Friday's activity was highlighted by the selection of Miss Natal Day. This year the honours went to 16 year old Joanne Currie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Currie, Digby. Runner-up in the contest was Su-Ellen Marie O'Neil, 16.

Judges for the contest were Sheila VanTassel, Brenda McLeave, Smith's Cove, Marie Smith, Deep Brook, and Connie and Maurice Robicheau of St. Bernard.

Saturday marked the start of the first annual Digby Natal Day Golf Tournament at the Pines. Tournament winner was home-player Donald Fleet.

The grand parade highlighted the day's activities. At its conclusion, parade prizes were awarded and the Citizen of the Year award was given to Mrs. Ina Dillon.

Participating in the award ceremony were Joe Casey, Digby MLA, Mayor Charles Haliburton, Natal Day Committee Chairman Pat Kynock, and MC Mrs. Marion MacDonald.

Saturday morning activities consisted of a number of Children's competitions including a bicycle rodeo, children's parade, fire department rides, and a soap box derby.

Visit 99 Year Old

Mrs. Gertrude Tufts of Balser's Rest Home was pleasantly surprised recently by the visit from relatives whom she had not seen in over 20 years - a nephew, Earl D. Jordan; his sister, Hazel B. Kitchen and Mr. A. Ross Kitchen all of Presque Isle Maine. Accompanying them were Earl's daughter, Ruth Robinson and children, Becky and Donnie of Bristol, Conn. who are missionaries on furlough from the Philippines.

From the New Minas area were Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jordan Sr., Mrs. Olaf Jordan and Mrs. Gordon Weir and son. Mrs. Neva Swindell from Massachusetts, Mrs. Tuft's niece, visited also.

Many happy returns were extended to Mrs. Gertrude Tufts who will be celebrating her 99th birthday today.

Best wishes were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Tufts, who were married recently. Wedding cake and groom's cake, served as refreshments, rounded out a wonderful visit. Mr. Tufts of Middleton is a son of Mrs. Gertrude Tufts. Another son, E.B. Tufts, Mrs. Tufts and their son, Christopher live on Birch St., Digby and make frequent visits. A daughter, Eva (Mrs. C.L. Ogilvie) lives in Aylesford, N.S.

The 99 year old Mrs. Tufts was the former Gertrude Jordan of Caribou, Maine. Directly descended from United Empire Loyalist stock, Mrs. Tuft's grandfather, Edward Jordan, was born in Nova Scotia in 1848. He went to Caribou, Maine, in 1876, bought land, cleared it and farmed there until returning to Nova Scotia in 1899. In 1902 he went to Presque Isle, Maine, where he farmed. Mrs. Tufts spent much of her married life in Aylesford and moved to the Digby area nearly 15 years ago.

Friday, August 6, with registration at 3 o'clock p.m. The official opening will be at 7 o'clock p.m. when Mr. Harris will extend a welcome.

Activity contest winners and side contest winners will receive certificates and awards will be presented. Friday closes with a social hour by Hill 'n' Dale Garden Club.

On Friday afternoon Carl Levo will be chairman and Mr. Harris will conduct the provincial garden quiz. Other addresses and information will be given.

"Something For Everyone"

Jack Harris, Bear River, president of the Nova Scotia Association of Garden Clubs, says that if you like gardening, there is an interesting and inexpensive weekend event coming up at the Agricultural College in Truro August 6 and 7. It's the Annual Convention of The Nova Scotia Association of Garden Clubs, whose theme for 1976 is "Something for Everyone."

The program has been specially designed to appeal to as wide a cross-section of amateur gardeners as possible. It will include such diverse topics as vegetable storage, meal planning, old time fruits and flowers, beekeeping, and the care of trees and shrubs.

Among the personalities present will be the Maritime Gardener, Gordon Warren; newspaper columnist Robert K. Mann, and a number of other well-known Nova Scotia horticultural specialists. The convention will provide amateur gardeners with an ideal opportunity to talk to the experts for information on any particular gardening problems they may have.

The weekend provides a chicken barbecue Friday evening, overnight accommodation and meals on Saturday, with an awards banquet closing the convention.

ic Meets With Herring Fishermen

by Larry Duchesne

Bay of Fundy herring were the subject of much discussion during federal minister of fisheries Romeo LeBlanc's visit to Digby Tuesday.

Following his arrival here, via the Digby Municipal Airport, Mr. LeBlanc held meetings with the Bay of Fundy Herring Marketing Club, weir and gill net fishermen, herring processors, and packers.

During a 90 minute meeting with the weir and gill net fishermen, Mr. LeBlanc got a taste of the problems faced in this phase of the fishing industry.

Several fishermen proposed that herring seiners should not be permitted to fish within three miles of herring weirs, a move which would prevent seiners from shoreline fishing in much of the Digby County section of the Bay.

The herring marketing problem and the sale of herring by seiners to Polish vessels, mostly from New Brunswick, was also brought up.

To a suggestion that the Bay be divided into two areas for New Brunswick and Nova Scotia fishermen, Mr. LeBlanc said there would be no geographical lines dividing the Bay while the fisheries are under federal jurisdiction.

A reasonable accommodation will have to be reached, the minister said, noting that Canada has the potential for some "pretty healthy herring markets."

At a press conference later in the afternoon, Mr. LeBlanc said he had no reason to believe that, with the drop in herring catch around the world, Canadian herring from the Bay of Fundy can't find its place.

Throughout his discussions here, Mr. LeBlanc placed emphasis on his government's policy to have more herring used for food. Figures revealed yesterday indicate that 80 per cent of herring caught here this year has gone for that purpose, whereas a like amount went for fishmeal in previous years.

This move, he said, is being made through such measures as stretching the catching season and putting weekly catch quotas on boats in an attempt to have disciplined catches rather than a "crash fishery."

Herring, said the minister, is a "precious commodity and we should be getting more out of it."

On the subject of herring seiners selling to the Polish boats, Mr. LeBlanc dismissed as a "silly statement" a suggestion that this practice is taking fish away from Canadian processors and taking away Canadian jobs.

In the morning meeting with the weir and gill net fishermen, Digby ML A Joe Casey mentioned the province's continuing efforts to bring a sardine factory into the area.

Mr. LeBlanc's meeting with the other groups was closed to the press.

Municipality Gets Sewage Information

W.N. Horner of W.N. Horner Associates Ltd. appeared by request before the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby on Monday to import information to councillors on the process and costs of sewage installation for areas of the municipality adjacent to the town of Digby. No further plans were made.

Another matter of business which came before Council on Monday morning was the subsidy given to the Digby County Ambulance Association which expires on August 31. The council's decision was to recommend that no monies be allotted to be paid beyond the August 31 date. Others involved in the ambulance service concern are the Department of Social Services and the Nova Scotia Ambulance Operators Association. Applications for positions of constable and dog catcher were read, dealt with and left in the hands of the municipal clerk for response.

Returns From Britain

Brian Milberry, Kentville, son of Mr. and Mrs. B.P. Milberry of Digby, has recently returned from an international educational exchange sponsored by the Continuing Education Department of the Nova Scotia Teachers College.

One hundred and ten educators from all parts of Nova Scotia and as far away as Saskatchewan spent twenty-five days visiting in a wide variety of British schools which at this time of year are still open. They participated in seminars and lectures led by some of Britain's top educators. In addition they took part in a strenuous schedule of educational field trips to historical and cultural sites and to many colleges and universities throughout England, Scotland, and Wales.

Brian returned to Kentville on July 23rd and travelled to Digby to spend the weekend with his parents.

Concerned Over Break And Enters

The July meeting of the Digby Board of Trade presided over by the president, Ernest Ryan, expressed concern about the increasing number of break and enters in the town and the fact that so many young teenagers are on the streets late at night. The question arose as to whether there were RCMP foot-patrols. It was also recommended that two policemen be on duty at night when most of the vandalism takes place. Noise pollution and crosswalks came under discussion, there seeming to be a lack of properly marked crosswalks. The president was asked to invite Sergeant T. Barlow to the next Digby Board of Trade meeting to enlighten the Board on some of the subjects discussed. Vincent Snow criticized the holding of beerfeasts which he said encourages an already bad situation (alcoholism).

Noting that the Digby Tourist Bureau was open from noon to 6 p.m., Mr. Ryan said he would check to see if there was a sign to that effect, and also whether there was a garbage can near the picnic table. Outgoing phone calls from the bureau came in for discussion whether or not they are permitted.

Phone calls in general were discussed with one member reporting that it now takes two to three minutes to get an operator for an operator-assisted long-distance call and another reporting poor service at Marshalltown.

A report on the annual meeting of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade held in Middleton was given by Vincent Snow. The Digby Board's resolution on ferry rates on the Princess of Acadia had been accepted with minor changes. The section requesting that rates be rolled back on a comparative basis with other ferry services was deleted. Comment was made on recent reports that the Princess of Acadia operation was making a profit after having lost for so many years under the C.P.R.

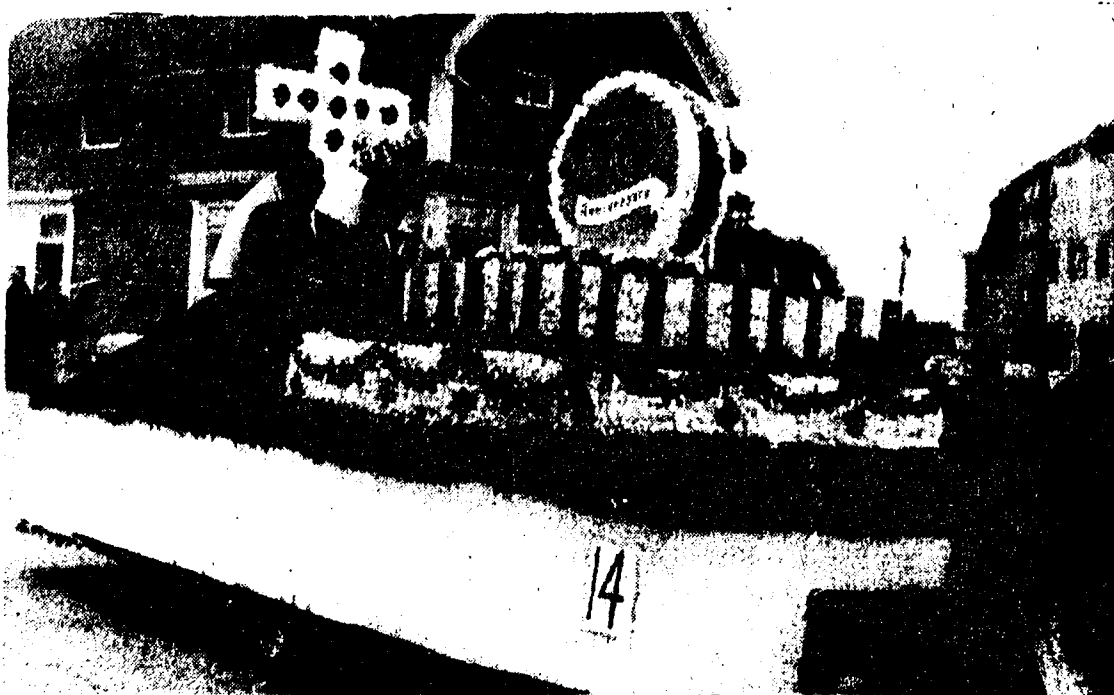

Mr. Snow reported membership letters had been sent out and 48 had replied. He also reported on his visit to Town Council requesting input from the town to the Board of Trade through representative presence at meetings of the Board. He reported being favourably received.

Mayor Charles Haliburton presents a plaque to Mrs. Ina Dillon, Citizen of the Year, during prize presentations at the rink.

Gerald Handspiker laid the memorial wreath at the federal building on Sunday, in respect for the area's fishermen and sailors who went to sea, never to return.

CONGRATULATIONS

One by one the various fairs in our area are being held making us realize that the summer holiday season is soon to be on the wane. Sad, isn't it to see the summer go so quickly. It is however, a good feeling, particularly for the committees responsible, to know the fairs are over, especially when they have been successful. Should the weather be accommodating we have no fear about the well established Bear River Cherry Carnival coming up this Saturday. These committees have been working together for years; they know exactly how to go about their planning and are ready for the event. All we can do at the present is to wish them a good fine day and a most successful event. Everybody goes to the Bear River Cherry Carnival anyway and the attractive advertising pages give the vital times and events so urging our readers to attend by this column isn't going to influence many more.

Congratulations, we think are in order for all the committees and workers who have to date put over successful events at Church Point, Westport, Weymouth, Smith's Cove, and Digby Natal Day. Maybe, the committee for Digby Natal Day deserve the most credit and the heartiest congratulations. They seemed to have the hardest struggle right from the beginning. For awhile it was nicks and tucks whether Digby Natal Day would materialize in 1976 but due to the stamina of Pat Kynock, the chairperson, the fair went on and it was an event of which Digby can be proud.

We know that with all the stamina, willpower and grit shown by Mrs. Kynock she certainly had to be able to muster up a crew of helpers and she did. We are not prepared to name all of these so will congratulate all of them through their chairperson, Mrs. Kynock. The Digby Natal Day is over, it was a worthwhile endeavour and good for Digby to have recognized the event. If Natal Day celebrations make us more community minded, make us have more concern for others, make us show gratitude for those who have built before us and make us more conscious of God's blessings to enjoy, make us to be reconciled one with the other then it is well to recognize Natal Day. These were but a few of the thoughts brought out on Sunday in the Natal Day sermon given by Rev. Father Leo Maillett.

While under the heading of congratulations we wish here to also congratulate our newly chosen Digby Citizen of the year, Mrs. Ina Dillon. We congratulate those whose wisdom guided them in the choice of Mrs. Dillon. They could not have chosen wiser.

Mrs. Dillon fits the role of Citizen of the Year and will certainly be capable and willing to perform wherever she can be of service. Mrs. Dillon is most deserving of the honor of Digby Citizen of the Year. She has served many years in guiding young children and young adults in educational fields and in the formation of character through her school teaching years; she has worked untiringly both in youth and adult organizations for the town outside school, she has served on hospital boards, school boards, church boards and many committees and was one of the most valued members of the Digby Town Council. Without fanfare or attention seeking she has made her influence felt for the betterment of the community.

Our congratulations go to a number of people but we especially mention the young people who have been recognized in our community. There is Miss Jacqueline Journeay, Digby's Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival Princess; Digby's Miss Natal Day, Miss Joanne Currie and Bear River's Cherry Carnival Queen, Miss Julia Henshaw.

There is one suggestion we want to make or we should say, make again. Communities should not choose these Citizens of the Year, these queens and princess and then politely ignore them until another June or July. There must be lots of occasions where a Citizen of the Year could be invited as Citizen of the Year. The very appearance of Citizen of the Year as such makes the name of Digby, our town, stand out prominently among the citizens. The very mention makes citizens conscious of Natal Day next year. Advance publicity, if you like. The same thing applies to the princesses and Queens and Miss Natal Day. They are not Citizens of the Year, or princesses or queens for a day but for a year. Miss Natal Day can be used by different organizations to keep citizens conscious of a Natal Day 1977.

THE ROLE OF SCHOOL BOARDS

Some of us can remember when school board members went door-to-door asking personally for the assessment needed to keep the local one-room school operating.

Times and funding methods have changed, but the essential importance of the local school board has not. Centralization today's universal answer for achieving efficiency is frequently offered as an alternative to local boards and as a panacea for all the problems faced by today's schools. The offer isn't surprising. It is superficial.

Superficial because it ignores a principle as old and as important to our democratic ways as the vote itself—local community control of the education of its children. As long as real control of what is taught to our children is determined by the citizens of our many communities, it is unlikely any political scheme can subvert our democratic processes.

In Nova Scotia, as elsewhere in North America, individual citizens exercise their control of the education of their children through community school boards. As early as 1803, the Legislature passed an Act encouraging the establishment of free schools and placed the responsibility for providing schoolhouse and schoolmaster upon the local community. Amendments to the act soon after established the duties of school trustees.

In the years since those first efforts were made, the school boards' work has become more complex, but the legal and moral responsibility for education of the community's children has not changed. Nor is the flavour of those early 19th Century days all that far removed.

Door-to-door solicitation, for all the problems it presented, certainly had the virtue of leaving no citizen in doubt as to at least some of the work being done by school trustees. Because they are determinedly local and draw less attention to themselves than do province-wide and federal organizations connected with education, the work of today's school boards appears little understood.

By law and working within broad limits established by provincial statutes, local school boards are charged with these responsibilities:

Educating the community's children in accordance with the view of the parents;

Budgeting the available funds to obtain the best educational program possible for the money;

Establishing educational programs;

Establishing educational policy suited to the community;

Employment of certified and the best available teaching and administrative personnel, clerical and maintenance help;

Construction and maintenance of school properties;

Evaluation of personnel performance and the results of educational programs.

Neither legally or morally is the school board free to avoid these responsibilities or permit them to be waived in favour of other organizations. The duty to educate their children is that of the parents, who delegate the responsibility to the school board and to no one else. The funds to carry out the task, no matter their ostensible sources, come from the people. Who but the legal authority at the level closest to the pupil and parents can best decide how the funds can best be spent to realize the hopes of the community's hopes for its children?

In the 1820's an editor, following the educational debate in Nova Scotia, wrote... "such things go far to convince us, that of all public measures, an educational one is beset with more difficulties than any other." The face of the difficulties change with the years but the responsibility for local control of education through local school boards is a constant. A constant worth protection.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

As has been indicated in the press, the visit to Nova Scotia by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth and His Royal Highness The Duke of Edinburgh was a tremendous success. This success no doubt can be attributed in part to the efforts of those individuals charged with the responsibility of planning and co-ordinating the various activities; however, a great deal of credit is also due the citizens of Nova Scotia. On behalf of the members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the citizens of Nova Scotia for their co-operation and understanding which made it so much easier for the Police to carry out their responsibilities.

Yours truly,

D. J. Wright, C-Supt.,
Commanding "H" Division

Dear Sir or Madam:

We have been hearing, reading and talking about the historic painted room which is housed in Karisdale, Annapolis Co. For years it has been unknown to most Nova Scotians and the rest of Canada. The Government has no funds to keep it here in Nova Scotia so they say and now the interested public is trying to see if they can raise sufficient funds to keep it here.

This leads up to another beautiful building which is to have the axe soon, a building that thousands have worshipped in and many have Things done by halves are never done right. Nor are credits given by halves ever right. The credit for that excellent Good Times Day held at Smith's Cove should not go to the Smith's Cove Fire Department entirely. It was a joint effort of the Fire Department and the Smith's Cove Historical Society. Sorry about that.

We liked that picture of the Digby float, "Home of the Scallop", which appeared in these columns last week. It was one of the finest floats Digby has ever had and Digby's Apple Blossom Festival Princess, Miss Jacqueline Journeay, enhanced its beauty to an A-1 position. The picture was taken at the Bridgetown Lions Fair where thousands of people saw the float. The purpose when building the float for the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival parade was to expose it to as many people as possible then and thereafter. Glad our readers had an opportunity to see it in picture. Expect it will make the Bear River Cherry Carnival on Saturday. Hope so.

A release came to our desk on Tuesday advising how to rid your lawn of mushrooms, bumps and bare spots. Now, who, I ask you wants to rid any lawn of mushrooms? Many of us will rid them quickly for you if you wish by enjoying them. Which, by the way reminds us, the 1976 mushroom season is early. Between Bridgetown and Long Island we've already heard of three being found. That wet spell followed by sunshine is what they needed.

See where more than a fifty per cent reduction in senior citizens fares on Bluenose II has been announced for harbour cruises. Senior citizen friends from Winnipeg told us that on their camp-trailer trip particularly throughout Ontario, they produced their extended privileges card and were seldom charged for camping. There are joys to be senior citizens.

The worst way to leave the scene of an accident is through the windshield. So says the Department of Highways literature.

It happened again. Had a nice lot of news from one village but no signature. Just too bad. Maybe the next time.

Digby Cobras Defeat Middleton 13 to 3

The Digby Cobras, coached by Harold Haines, stands undefeated as they downed Middleton 13 to 3 on Thursday, July 22nd. Mark Jordan pitched the entire game for the Cobras, allowing only 2 hits, 2 walks, and 1 hit batter. Chucky toiled to keep it in good repair and respectable to worship in.

The building I am referring to is St. Thomas Anglican Church in Weymouth, a building that has been beautiful and stately for nearly a hundred years. The wood panelling was cut from local trees and finished for this Church by local craftsmen, a real treat to see. Many memorials are there, what will become of them? One in particular is the beautiful two manual pipe organ, a priceless piece of furniture and an organ marvelled by many who have played it. This also was a memorial. Sell it they say?

Where is the heart of those who are looking after this Parish treasure in their pocket books? There used to be alternative services held in this beautiful Church up until two years ago. Why not now? The furnace was left to rot through carelessness and just because the motor isn't working on the organ blower it's impossible to work. Surely a motor isn't that expensive and I know that funds were left for this building to keep it in repair. What has happened to it?

The last known service held in St. Thomas' was a funeral service a little over a year ago, of a wonderful person who worked many, many hours in this Church and loved every minute of it. Is this the way it will end. I hope not.

Come on you old friends and parishioners of St. Thomas. Let's put this beautiful memorial treasure historic building on its feet again. I'm willing to do all I can— are you?

Yours truly,
Tom Bartlett

Woods batted a perfect 1000 in Thursdays game and is now tied with Brian Wong for the highest batting average on the team. Paul Gidney and Joey Hattie saved many hits by Middleton with their accurate throws to Kirk Mackintosh at First Base.

Digby's battery was doubly strengthened by catcher, Brian Wong, with his agility behind the plate. Real Sportsmanship and fairness was expressed by Middleton's officials and players. This Tuesday Middleton will visit Digby for a 6:30 game and Wednesday afternoon, Digby will travel to Weymouth for a double header. Anyone interested in the game of baseball should be urged to visit their local ball park in support of these young competitors.

Exempts Insulation From Tax

Halifax - Regulations exempting thermal insulation materials from the eight per cent health services tax have been approved by the Governor-in-Council.

Finance Minister Peter Nicholson said today removal of sales tax from insulation materials should encourage the upgrading of housing insulation standards and thereby help Nova Scotia's program to conserve energy.

He said the measure took effect March 20, the date when the legislature amended the health services tax act, but that sales tax had continued to be collected pending approval of the regulations. Purchasers of thermal insulation materials between March 20 and July 15 may obtain refunds of the sales tax paid by applying to the Provincial Tax Commission, Health Services Tax Division, P.O. Box 755, Halifax.

Thermal insulation materials include "fibreglass, cellulose fibre, foamed plastic, resins for foamed-in-place insulation, and weather stripping for use around windows and doors" when used in the construction, repair or renovation of a residential housing unit.

Still subject to tax are materials that have some

Town Passes New By-Laws

Of the five new or revised by-laws passed by the Town of Digby, the one dealing with dogs and their ownership covered more space than any of the other four. The owner of every dog is required in each year to register such dog with the clerk (town) or his deputy and shall obtain from the clerk or his deputy a license for such dog.

Upon registration of the dog and upon payment of the prescribed registration and license fee, the clerk shall issue a tag for each dog so registered. The owner shall keep the tag so issued securely fixed on each dog owned by him at all times during the year and until he procures a tag for the following year. Among other clauses in the dog by-law is that the owner of a dog shall restrain such dog from barking unreasonably and unnecessarily so as to annoy other persons within the town. The owner of a dog shall prevent such dog from causing any harm or loss to the body or personal property of any person. A constable or peace officer may, without notice or complaint against the owner of a dog, either impound and kill or kill without impounding any dog which is fierce or dangerous. When the owner of any dog sells or gives it to any other person he shall notify the clerk or his deputy of that fact and the clerk or his deputy shall alter the registration of such dog accordingly. Any person who fails to comply with provision of the by-law for which no penalty is expressly provided shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars and in default of payment to imprisonment for a period of one month.

Another by-law stated that no person shall enter any private dwelling or place of business or remain therein after being requested to withdraw by an occupant of the premises authorized expressly or impliedly to be present by the owner thereof. A town property by-law states that no person shall trespass upon the land of the Town known as the watershed property. "No person shall throw any dirt, filth, rubbish or litter upon any street, lane or sidewalk within the Town of Digby" is the anti-littering by-law. A firearms by-law advised that no person shall discharge any gun, air rifle, or firearm of any kind within the town of Digby unless authorized in writing by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to do so. Violation of any of these four by-laws shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars and in default of payment of such fine to imprisonment for a period of one month.

Digby Area Students

Employment Rate Low

Vernon Simms, student counsellor for J.J. Pottier, manager at Canada Manpower Centre, Digby, has announced through a letter to householders that statistics for 1976 reveal that this area has one of the lowest employment rates in Nova Scotia as compared to last year, with the greatest decline in the area of casual employment (work for less than one week).

He urged the people of Digby to consider the hiring of a Student from the area for ½ day, 1 day, 1 week or amount of time to do work around the home, yard, farm or business. This he felt will give students a sense of fulfillment and personal achievement to have made money on their own. Also it gets work done for the householder or employer.

In his letter he said there are over 300 students, with a great number of them being from the Digby area, with experience in almost every type of work, seeking employment to earn money to return to school or university.

Souvenir Booklet

A Souvenir Booklet of the Royal Visit to Nova Scotia by Her Majesty The Queen and His Royal Highness The Duke of Edinburgh, has been produced by the Nova Scotia Communications and Information Centre.

The booklet carries a full colour reproduction of Her Majesty and His Royal Highness on the cover.

Inside pages give a detailed itinerary of the tour with maps and information on each point visited.

While copies are available they may be obtained free of charge by visiting, or writing to the Nova Scotia Government Bookstore, 1683 Barrington Street, P.O. Box 637 Halifax, N.S.

insulating features but which are not designed exclusively for insulation purposes. Such materials include vapour barriers, wallboard and insulation materials designed for use on pipe, equipment and ducts.

The sales tax exemption applies to single family dwellings, duplexes, condominium dwellings, rowhouse dwellings and residential apartment buildings.

Mr. Nicholson noted that installing proper levels of insulation was one of the best possible methods for homeowners to save on their energy bills.

"Very few older homes in the province and a surprisingly small number of newer ones have insulation that meet the standards recommended by the Nova Scotia Energy Council. Many homeowners could cut their heating bills by up to 50 per cent with proper insulation."

He said that the Energy Council was preparing a booklet on insulation materials together with practical, how-to-do-it advice to the homeowner. Other energy saving recommendations will be forthcoming from the Energy Council in the near future, he said.

Membership Drive

It's a well-known fact that membership in the Digby Board of Trade hasn't been what it can...or should...be in recent times. But things are beginning to change.

Response to the Board's current membership drive is encouraging, but more community support is needed if this organization is to continue benefiting the community.

Who belongs to the Digby Board of Trade? You can find out by reading the list which will be published in next week's edition of The Digby Courier. The list will include all members who have paid their 1976-77 dues to date.

Those wishing to join can do so by sending $10.00 to the Treasurer, Digby Board of Trade, Box 100, Digby, N.S.

Power Board Study

A professional evaluation of the Digby County Power Board's financial viability will be undertaken if such a move proves feasible, according to Power Board Chairman Ervin Marshall.

Mr. Marshall said proper authorities for such a move are being looked for although such professionals would not likely be available until September.

Such a study has been urged by municipal officials in Clare who feel it is no longer financially feasible for the municipality to operate its own power utility.

Wedding

WEIR-O'NEILL

On Saturday, July 3, St. Joseph Church, Weymouth, was the scene of a lovely wedding, when Beverley Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neill, Roxville, became the bride of Ray Curtis Weir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Weir, Weymouth.

The double ring ceremony, which took place at three o'clock, was performed by Father Amaro.

The bride given in marriage by her parents, looked lovely in a floor length gown of pink crimplene and a matching wide brim hat. She carried a bouquet of summer flowers.

Peggy Barr, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a floor length gown of blue crimplene, identical to the bride's with matching hat. She carried a basket of flowers.

The groom's only attendant was his brother, Jeff Weir. They both wore black and white tuxedos.

The bride's mother chose a floor length gown of green crimplene, for her daughter's wedding.

The groom's mother chose a floor length gown of blue crepe.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at St. Joseph Church Hall, Weymouth.

The happy couple will reside in Weymouth, N.S.

New Horizons Club Sponsors Arthritis Film

The Digby New Horizons Club will sponsor a film on arthritis issued by the Canadian Arthritis Society (Nova Scotia Division), it was announced by Wayne Boucher Annapolis Royal, Field Representative for the Nova Scotia Division.

The film will be shown at the Digby New Horizons Club building on Warwick St. on Monday, August 3 at two o'clock in the afternoon. The public is invited to attend.

Miss Mary Pack, founder and former director of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society (CARS), in her acceptance speech when she received the Royal Bank of Canada Award of $50,000, said that it can be proved that 80 per cent of the arthritis patients will show improvement if proper treatment is given early in the disease.

Commenting on the situation, Miss Pack said she knew of arthritis patients who had been in hospitals at the taxpayers' expense for almost 30 years. Experience has shown that such people receiving the correct treatment early in the development of the illness, can in the majority of cases be rehabilitated. Miss Pack further said, "Why won't the clubs, organizations, government and donors supply sufficient moneys for the specially trained people to prevent crippling? What can we say to make them recognize the humanity as well as the economical advantage of keeping children, in fact all people, out of wheel chairs and hospitals?"

Citing the example of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, Miss Pack said that in the past three decades research had aided many developments which had placed Canada in the forefront in treatment and facilities for arthritis sufferers. Some research findings here had stimulated intensive work in universities around the world.

"Such research must be encouraged, not starved out of existence on the very brink of discovery," she said.

Since arthritis is not a respecter of age, the Digby New Horizons Club and the newly appointed field representative, Mr. Boucher extend an invitation to young and older to see the film on Monday, August 3.

Bride-To-Be Honored

Miss Darlene Comeau of Halifax was the honoree of a bridal shower on Friday, July 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Kinsman, Smith's Cove.

Miss Comeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Comeau of Smith's Cove, was greeted by the hostesses, Misses Jane Kinsman and Darlene Thompson, in a delightfully decorated room. The gifts were set on a table in front of the picture window. The window was decorated with pink paper roses spelling out "Congratulations" in a semi-circle. Pink and white streamers stretched to the table which was adorned with a white bell at the front. Overhead was a decorative umbrella.

In the center of the room was a table centered by a beautiful two-tiered cake made by the honoree's mother. A bride doll covered with an "icing" gown was atop the upper tier and four bridesmaid dolls adorned the lower tier, also dressed in "icing" gowns and each one with the name of the bridesmaids-to-be.

As the future bride was presented with her gifts by Miss Kinsman, the cards were read by Miss Thompson.

Following these festivities, a lunch was served to the twenty-five guests present from Bear River, Digby, Smith's Cove and area.

Notes From Bird Haven

Here it is nearly August and lots of birds in the garden. A family of Catbirds were successfully raised, one of Song Sparrows and one of Robins. No Swallows nested in my houses. Guess I have too many trees, no long open spaces for them to dart thru in search of flies.

The pool and bird baths have been made good use of on warm days and when we had lots of rain the robins and English sparrows made use of the puddles.

Have had all kinds of birds brought in. Some have survived, others haven't.

Usually the wee ones have been out of the nest too long and lacked food before they were rescued. Several have been warmed, fed well and released.

Had a woodcock brought in with an injured wing. He was feed worms for several days, then took off on his own.

My little female Goldfinch has died since last writing. She had been with me for nine years, the longest length of time for a bird with me. There was a junco for eleven and half years.

The oldest one at present is a Junco seven years old.

I have a young Barn Swallow with me at present. I have named him "Silly Billy", he eats from my fingers but refuses to eat from his dish, drinks water from a spoon and flies around the kitchen. What will I ever do with him?

Had a beautiful Purple Finch brought in with a bad wing. He is about the size of an English sparrow, brown back. The male has a raspberry coloured head and breast, female lacks the bright colour. The person who named them must have been colour blind. They eat fruit sunflower seeds and have a beautiful song.

Plans are being finalized for the D.V.B.S. which will be held at the Baptist Church hall from August 16th to 20th.

The committee in charge consists of Mrs. George Carman and Mrs. Scott Haight, with Mrs. Ivan Bain in charge of Music. It is understood other young people will assist.

instead of frozen ones.

Mama and Papa Chick-a-dee arrived a week ago with three babies and are enjoying the suet bag and sunflower seed. It seems so early for them to come in from the woods. Also have two downy Woodpeckers back at the feeder.

Hope this is not a sign of an early fall.

A sad report of the nest at Bay View, with the cowbirds in it. This was destroyed while the roadside bushes were being cut.

The Bird Lady is going to take a holiday until after the trip to Westport over the Labor Day weekend with the Bird Society but will be here to look after any wails or cripples that might be brought to me.

Good-bye until September 9th.

The Bird Lady.

A new store is in the making for Westport merchant Raymond Ribicheau. He lost his waterfront store and fish processing plant in the February 2 Groundhog Day storm.

Raymond Robicheau of Westport now operates his store from these temporary quarters after losing his waterfront store in the February 2 storm. He has received about 40 per cent compensation for the estimated $70,000 damage to his store and plant.

Many Westport fishermen have chosen not to re-build their fishing-huts on the village's waterfront which were lost in the February 2 windstorm. But a few, such as this one, have sprung up recently. Fishermen here have received compensation for lost equipment and about 75 per cent compensation for buildings destroyed.

Low cost

ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE "INSURANCE" or "arms-reach" protection against overdue accounts.

You can get insurance for almost anything. But the best and lowest cost protection you can get against overdue accounts is the proper and frequent use of long distance. It's within reach of everyone. In fact you might say with arms-reach. Sometimes all it takes is one call to reduce those costly "delay days". And the cost of the call is a lot less than the cost of carrying accounts that are overdue. Try our low cost Account's Receivable "Insurance". For daytime DDD calls within Nova Scotia, the premium is 60c a minute, at the most.

The Health Services Tax Act and Regulations thereto have been amended recently to incorporate certain changes and the following information is provided for Vendors and Consumers.

Changes in the Act-

1. Section 1 clause (1) is amended by deleting the word "and" in the first line of subclause (ii) and substituting therefor a comma and the words "telecommunications and."
NOTE: This makes telecommunication, which will be defined in a subsequent Regulation change, taxable under the Act from March 20, 1976.
2. Subsection (1) of Section 3 is amended (a) by deleting the four-tenths in the first line of clause (a) and substituting therefor the words five-tenths and (b) by deleting the word "seven" in the first line of clause (d) thereof and substituting therefor the word "eight".
NOTE: The above changes effective March 20, 1976, increase the tax on cigarettes to five tenths of one cent per cigarette and the rate of tax from 7 per cent to 8 per cent on tangible personal property defined in Section 1 (1).
3. Section 10 (s) of the Act dealing with Municipal exemption is amended by renumbering subclause (ii) as subclause (iii), and deleting the comma and all of the words after resale from excluding to energy in subclause (i). Subclause number (iii) is amended by inserting "and (ii)" after subclause (i) in line 2. A new subclause (ii) is then to be inserted as follows:
(ii) Tangible personal property purchased by a municipality or an agency thereof generating or distributing electrical energy and purchased by that municipality or agency for the better operation, administration, generation or distribution by that municipality or agency of electrical energy; The effective date is March 20, 1976.
4. Section 10 of the Act is further amended by adding after clause (s) a new clause (sa) exempting thermal insulation material as follows, and as defined in the Regulation change as shown in this advertisement. The effective date is March 20, 1976.
(sa) thermal insulation material as determined by the Governor in Council pursuant to Section 40.

Changes to Regulations

1. Section 2 of the Regulations is amended by rescinding clause 2 (kk) and by substituting the following immediately after subclause (k). Assented to June 8, 1976.

(kk) newspapers include all advertising supplements or inserts clearly identified as such by the name of the newspaper being printed thereon and which are included in, dated and delivered with the newspaper and printed by or for the publisher of the newspaper but exclude all other types of advertising supplements or inserts.
2. Section 12 of the Regulations is amended to add subsection (10) immediately after subsection (9). Assented to June 8, 1976.
"(10) In any case where Nova Scotia Power Corporation entered into a lump sum contract involving the purchase of goods which if purchased by Nova Scotia Power Corporation establishes to the satisfaction of the Minister that the tax on goods was paid in first instance by the Contractor but formed part of the Contract price, the Minister may authorize a rebate of 100 per cent of the tax to the said Nova Scotia Power Corporation."
3. Section 2 of the Regulations is amended by adding the following immediately after clause (r) of Regulation 2: Assented to July 13, 1976.
"(s) (i) "Thermal Insulation Materials," are those that are designed and made exclusively for the insulation of buildings, including fibreglass, cellulose fibre, foamed plastic, resins for foamed-in-place insulation, and weather stripping for use around windows and doors, only when these materials are used in the construction, repair or renovation of a residential housing unit, but not including materials which have some insulating features but which are not designed and made exclusively for insulation purposes, including vapour barriers, wallboard and insulation materials designed and made for use on pipe, equipment and ducts.
(ii) For purposes of this clause, a "Residential housing unit" means a separate detached building permanently erected on land within the Province which provides housing accommodation for a single family within the confines of the building, and includes a duplex, a condominium dwelling, a rowhouse dwelling or a residential apartment building, or any component thereof.
The above changes are to be incorporated into the Health Services Tax Act and Regulations.

Bear River, Liverpool Split Wins

The Bear River Softball Team opened a series of Exhibition games, splitting a doubleheader at Liverpool July 17. The opener proved a real contest with both teams managing only three runners in three innings. The deadlock broke in the fourth with back to back doubles by Dave and Ed Banks followed by Riley to score the second Bear River run. Liverpool threatened in the bottom of the fourth with runners at first and third but Robinson in centre field pulled down a long fly ball to preserve the narrow lead. With one out in the fifth, Bear River moved up again when Saulnier walked, Baxter singled, and Banks doubled them in. The bottom of the fifth and two out, the Liverpool pitcher was hit with a pitch, the shortstop singled to left, and centerfielder Pat Schrader tripled and scored on a wild pitch to put the pressure on the visitors. A walk put the potential tying run on, but Baxter at first ran down a pop fly to hold the 3 lead. Bear River went down in order but held off a Liverpool rally in the sixth to win the first game.

In the second game, Bear Rivers pitching and fielding suffered after some substitutions and resulted in a seventeen run onslaught by Liverpool in the first three innings, and although that finished the scoring, Bear River never did get rolling.

The Liverpool Alpines will play the return doubleheader in Bear River at 1 p.m. on Saturday August 14. Also, the Dixie Lee Team of the Liverpool District League will visit Bear River on August 7 at 1 p.m. Seating facilities are available at the Bear River field and all ball fans are welcomed.

Cherry Carnival

Once again, a cordial invitation is extended to all on behalf of the Bear River Cherry Carnival, which has long-reigned as one of the most popular attractions in this part of Nova Scotia.

The annual Cherry Carnival has attracted throngs of people to this unique community since it was first organized around 1893.

Tourists owe it to themselves not to miss this event. If you're a parade fancier, you'll find none better in the area.

If water or land sports catch your interest, you'll find the competition pretty tough here and don't miss the special attraction - a giant auction being held at 6 p.m. at the Fire Hall.

Visitors for a taste for something different would be well-advised to tour this "Switzerland of Nova Scotia" during their stay. Take time to explore the winding, hilly streets - then try to compare this picturesque village with any you've seen before.

And don't forget the cherries! Local cherries aren't as abundant now as they were in times gone past but some aging trees still survive. A quantity of the delicious fruit will, as usual, be available for purchase.

Come to the Cherry Carnival on Saturday. Those who do, often find themselves returning year after year.

Special Speaker At Drive-In

Rev. Willard Smith, pastor of the Lawrencetown United Baptist Church, was the guest speaker at the Smith's Cove Baptist Drive-In Church Service on Sunday evening, July 25.

Over 170 people were present to hear Deacon Robert Harrison welcome and introduce the guests and later give brief announcements and the offering prayer.

Mr. Smith was assisted in an inspirational service based on the Twenty-third Psalm (The Good Shepherd Psalm), read by Bruce Keddy, the Lawrencetown Baptist Youth Choir and the trio composed of Janice Frank, Kathy Larsen, and Sue Wilson. Janice Frank also sang two solos. Pianist was Mrs. Donald Wolfe.

The message had four points: (1) The Good Shepherd leads us; (2) The Good Shepherd meets the needs of our life; (3) The Good Shepherd provides power to have victory over the enemies of life; (4) The Good Shepherd gives us final assurance, "Blessed Assurance," of a place in His Kingdom.

The entire group closed the service with the singing of "Taps" which fitted the pastoral setting as the words "Day is done" rang out over the field and community of Smith's Cove with the setting sun in the background.

Next Sunday, August 1, Rev. Paul Legge, pastor of the Clementsvalle United Baptist Church, will be the guest speaker. Special music will be presented by Patricia Myers, Elaine Blacklock, Franklin Thompson and Garland Myers of Clementsport. An open invitation is to all to "Come as you are and bring a friend."

Catches Rare Fish

They call it an Opah of the Lampridae Family but it is a rare fish for these waters. Last week one of these fish was caught off Freeport by the boat Allan and Brian in command of Captain Chester Denton, Little River. The boat is owned by Walker Fisheries Ltd.

Other common names for the Opah are Moonfish, Jerusalem haddock, poisson lune. They reach a length of six feet but rarely exceed four feet. The colour is dark steel-blue above, shading into green with silver, purple and lilac lustre; belly is rosy; jaws and fins vermilion and entire body sprinkled with silvery spots.

The Opah is found in open waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. On the western side of the Atlantic from Grand Bank to the West Indies and Gulf of Mexico. Off Iceland, Norway, in the Mediterranean and off Madeira.

Reflecting To 1946

In the next few weeks of 1946 we find that the July 1st Fair committee reckoned up its net proceeds to be $6595.03. The total sum of $11,160.13 was raised and expenses were $3916.74 plus sundry expenses.

Town Council in the August 8 issue of the Digby Courier in 1946 discussed better police protection. At the Town Council meeting, Councillor N. G. Cardoza said that with conditions as they are, it is all the present policeman can do to regulate traffic on Main St. during the day without attending to any other phase of police work. As a result, he said, petty lawlessness and disregard for the liquor laws are on the upswing. The only area of the town actually getting police protection is the front street. The police committee was to look into the matter.

Representatives of the Dominion Atlantic Railway attended the Council meeting and requested the town lease to the Railway the portion of Prince William St. directly in front of the Station between it and Birch St. This was to control parking. The Council decided to not grant the request but ask the Chief of Police to see free access to the station property is maintained. Mr. Dunphy of the DAR asked to have the Wagner Tour busses kept off the land belonging to the railway because of congestion.

Council also made a decision to appoint a Town Planning Commission to zone off the town and regulate building.

Mount Pleasant asked for installation of fire hydrants.

A number of new homes were being built on Lighthouse Road.

We'd like to have seen it too. Shortly before eleven o'clock on Monday evening, August 5, 1976, Police Chief Fred Thibault stopped an American car down town because it was somewhat overloaded. When the passengers disembarked, five came out from the front seat and ten alighted from the back making in all fifteen passengers. W. Lickie of Delaware paid a fine of five dollars for having more than three in the front seat.

And that is to the end of August 15 issue 1946. Be with you August 19, 1976.

Receives Pilot License

Congratulations are extended to Sherwood Barr (Sonny) on the receipt of his private pilot's licence recently.

Sonny took his ground training course two years ago at the Digby Flying Club but in the absence of a flying instructor there, last fall joined the Yarmouth Flying Club and completed his flight training under the instruction of Dave Smith.

An extensive course of studying and training is required before receiving this licence. This included a written pre-solo examination necessary before receiving the student's pilot licence, approximately 35 hours of flight training, some solo and some dual, a written private pilot examination, two cross country flights, one dual and the other solo, then a final flight test requiring about one hour flying with tests on all parts of flying-takeoffs, landings, navigation of trips, spins, precautionary landings, forced landings, turns, etc. After completing this test to the satisfaction of the examiner, the private pilot's licence is issued from Moncton.

Sonny graduated from Weymouth Consolidated High School and Modern Business College in Saint John.

Motion For Additional Taxi-Driver Defeated

A motion to issue an 11th taxi-licence operator in the town was defeated at Monday night's Digby Town Council session.

In a report of the Licence Committee, Council was advised that letters had been sent out to the town's 10 operators requesting a plan for 24-hour service, or, if this is not possible, the town would hire more operators to achieve this end.

Several taxi-operators were on hand during the meeting. Alvin Lawrence spoke on their behalf. To this point, no reply from the drivers had been received.

Mr. Lawrence advised that the drivers had discussed the question and agreed at least two, sometimes three, drivers would be available or calls at night.

If additional taxi's are licenced, "nobody's going to make any money," he said.

The application for licence in question was for Danny Belliveau.

Councillors VanTassel, Reid and Robertson voted against the motion. Council Chipman voted in favour. Couns. Hazelton and Ellis were not present.

A motion to recommend changes in the town's building by-law to the By-Law Committee to the effect that no permit would be required for building repairs under the value of $1,000 was also defeated. Coun. Chipman voted in favour with Couns. Reid and VanTassel voting in favour.

Prior to the vote Building Inspector Carl Niemeyer spoke against such a legislated figure.

A third Licence Committee recommendation was accepted. Fuller Brush will be able to sell their products in the town.

The large number of water-line breaks being reported lead to a motion that the cost of any broken line on the survey plan would be charged to the sewerage system contractor.

The Building Inspectors report showed a total of $81,321 worth of new construction and repairs authorized during the month of July.

The town decided action should be taken against one property owner who has refused to comply with building code regulations.

The town will enter its float in the Nova Scotia Fisheries Exhibition in Lunenburg on September 8 if arrangements can be made (i.e. driver and truck obtained). The town will also sponsor its princess in the Queen of the Sea Pageant there.

During the discussion on this matter, Coun. Chipman asked why Digby's "non-float" didn't appear in the Natal Day parade. A "misunderstanding", was Coun. Reid's reply.

Permission was given to Albert Jefferson to build a house on Victoria Street under 30 feet from the lot line to conform with other homes on the street.

Council decided to take action against an unsightly premises. If the one question is not cleaned up, court action will ensue. A second property is also to be investigated.

Cherry Carnival Successful Despite Rain, Weather

Bruce Davey shelters Cherry Carnival Queen Julia Henshaw from the rain during an interview with Lee Everett of CKDY.

The annual Bear River Cherry Carnival went off successfully Saturday in spite of occasionally heavy showers which are believed to have had some effect on the turnout.

The wet weather failed to dampen the carnival spirit, however, and all events were well and enthusiastically attended.

The Grand Parade on Saturday morning started off the days major events. Light showers began just before the parade, but the crowds remained to give parade participants a warm reception.

Land and water sports, woodsmen's competitions and the Grand Auction rounded off the day's activities while a midway operated behind the fire hall.

Julia Henshaw, 16, reigned over the day's events as Cherry Carnival Queen.

Auctioneer at the Grand Auction was Bruce Davey. Bruce started attracting auction interest about 38 minutes before starting time with a series of jokes, songs and antics.

A formal opening ceremony had been planned for 1 p.m. but a fairly heavy rainfall put an end to that idea. Guests who showed up for the ceremony included provincial progressive Conservative leader John Buchanan; tourism minister Maurice Delorey; Southwestern Nova M.P. Coline Campbell; Digby, M.L.A. Joe Casey and Annapolis East M.L.A. Gerry Sheehy. All proceeds from the

Judged the best decorated float commercial in the parade was the Nova Scotia Power Corporation's entry; best decorated (representative) the Aylesford Fire Department; best decorated car, Alton Drug Co.; best woods scene, Betty Pictou; funniest entry, Elta Rebekah Lodge; horseback riders, Pam Somers; motor bike, Peter Pierce; and Garnet Trimper; ox team, Gerald Oickle.

In water sports winners were James Harris and Guy Harris, double canoe; Watson Peck, Eddie Peck, Joah Peck and Stephen Saulnier, four-man canoe; and Paul Irving on the greased pole.

Lightweight Boxing Champ Visits

Canadian Lightweight boxing champion Barry Sponagle of Pictou is pictured here with his son, Billy, wife Marie and daughter Rosie. Vanwinkle, the hand-painted design on front of the van hood, was by John Smith, father of Mrs. Fred Speichts. The Sponagles were guests of the Speichts family.

Canadian Lightweight boxing champion Barry Sponagle of Pictou, visited Digby earlier this week with his wife Marie (Bradley) and two children, Billy, 10, and Rosie, 9.

While here, the Sponagles were guests of friends Mr. and Mrs. Fred Speichts.

The visitors left for home early in the week where Sponagle resumes training for his next fight in Halifax on August 19th. He is unsure, as yet, who his opponent will be.

Sponagle's last fight was against former Canadian Lightweight champion Johnny Summerhaze in Halifax. That's where and when he gained his title.

He expects a return match with Summerhaze this fall. If he wins that one, he plans to raise his sights to the British Empire lightweight championship.

Sponagle has been in the pro fight business for nine years. He grew up in a boxing atmosphere where two fights used to be held each week.

Knowing some of the boys involved, he found himself lined up with a fight against a pro. He got knocked out in the third round but that's when he decided to get into the business. Prior to his first fight he had never been in the ring before.

Many Mourn Warden's Death

EDITORIAL

(By Mrs. Edith Wallis)

The death of Allison Denton, Bear River, Warden of the Municipality of Annapolis which occurred last week has caused many in both Annapolis and Digby Counties to mourn. Bear River is geographically situated within both counties so it is understandable that both counties claimed his services. Besides being warden, he was active in practically all of the Bear River village organizations. Such a keen loss is felt in a wide area for whether it was school, fire department, Masonic Lodge, Legion or exhibition, it could be depended upon that Mr. Denton would play his part. It is fitting here, too, to say that the late Mrs. Denton, whose death occurred only a few short months ago, could always be counted on for ready help.

One of the events supported by the Dentons was that of the Bear River Cherry Carnival. The 1976 Carnival was held on Saturday last and many were the minds that wandered away for brief moments in the sad realization that the Dentons were missing, not for just one day but for always.

The Digby Courier joins with relatives and friends in Bear River and in Annapolis and Digby Counties in expressing deepest regret in the passing of so valuable a community minded person as the late Mr. Denton. May there be others who will be moved to fill the vacant place and share responsibility for community service as the late Warden Allison Denton.

Mrs. Hugh Vincent Honoured

A gathering was held at the House of Wong recently to honour Mrs. Hugh Vincent, who served as a devoted member of the Eleanor Timpany Women's Missionary Society of the United Baptist Church in Digby for over 42 years, over 10 as President.

Mrs. Denny, President of the Society, thanked Mrs. Vincent for her devotion to the work of the W.M.S., in her opening remarks. She presented Mrs. Vincent with a book entitled "Tapestry of Life" on behalf of the Society.

Mrs. Vincent still takes an active interest in the W.M.S. and is in charge of the Spiritual Life program for the monthly meetings.

Mrs. Vincent does a great deal of Christian reading and "we are all blessed from what she has prepared for the program" comments Mrs. Jack Whalley.

A corsage was pinned on Mrs. Vincent by Mrs. Vera Robertson.

Barton, Marc Buguerman of the Candle Shop in Bear River - Deep Brook, Don Frothinger, Bear River furniture maker, and the Sisaboo Design group from Bear River.

Jack Horner To Speak At P.C. Fund Raising Dinner

JACK HORNER

The South Western Nova Progressive Conservative Association has announced that JACK HORNER, M.P. (Crowfoot) will be guest speaker at a P.C. Fund Raising dinner to be held in Digby on August 20th.

Mr. Horner has been a P.C. member of Parliament for over 17 years and is one of the most outspoken members in Parliament.

During those 17 years, he has been Chairman of the Commons Transportation Committee and has served on various committees, such as the House of Commons' Committees on Agriculture, Banking and Finance and Defence. He has also served with Mr. Stanfield's Shadow Cabinet in the positions of critic on Agriculture, Transportation and the Canadian Wheat Board.

Mr. Horner is presently Transportation critic in Mr. Clark's caucus. His most recent effort was put forward in the House of Commons as a retentionist for capital punishment. In February, Mr. Horner offered as a leadership candidate at the P.C. Leadership Convention. Although he was not successful, Mr. Horner offered a good 4th place showing.

It is generally agreed by many in the party that Mr. Horner will hold a notable post if the Conservative Party gains power in the next Federal Election.

In private life, Mr. Horner and his family own and operate a large ranch in Alberta. It is interesting for Nova Scotians to the creation of 94 new jobs. Among the offers accepted were two in Digby County.

Pirate Cove Fisheries Limited of Tiverton accepted an offer of $79,170 to expand its product line for the processing of smoked, boneless, kippered herring. The expansion will create eight new jobs. The offer Comeau's Sea Foods Limited of Saulnierville has accepted an offer of $87,711 for the expansion of a facility to process scallops and herring. The project is expected to create 26 jobs. The offer is based on 20 percent of authorized capital costs, estimated at $438,555.

WITH RESERVATION

The Digby Courier as well as some business, professional and civic officials in Digby enjoyed separate visits within the past couple weeks from journalists. Two in particular, we have in mind. One was a Rabbi from North Carolina and another was a retired army and newspaper man from South Carolina. Both seemed to be impressed with the scenic beauty here and the way of life in Nova Scotia, (Digby included) and hope to share their pleasures with their readers through their newspaper and magazine columns. Both these gentlemen were delightful visitors and enjoyable conversationalists. We hope to have an opportunity to read their copy later on.

Col. Tom Hamrick of South Carolina wants to come back here to live. "We love it", he said. It is one of the two or three nicest countries he has ever visited, he said. "It is just like stepping into a picture postcard" he exclaimed as he also remarked on the quiet, wide open expanse. The Colonel did not say so in so many words but he gave us the impression that we are so accustomed to this beauty and quietness that we do not appreciate it to the fullest.

Mr. Hamrick spoke in glowing terms of the reception accorded them by Mrs. Addie Tufts at the town's Information Bureau. He had the highest compliments for the agents at the Princess of Acadia wharf, saying they were a credit to the C.P.R. In general he had much praise for the people on their visit to the Province of Nova Scotia.

All this was with one reservation. That reservation dealt with reservations on the Princess of Acadia, leaving a bad taste in the mouth. As advertised in the M-V Princess of Acadia Bay of Fundy Passenger Ferry Service folder, Colonel Hamrick claims he called Toll Free: Zenith 08256 from Bridgewater but when arriving at Digby discovered he along with 25 other cars were turned away. That advertisement he claimed to be confusing to the travelling public and would be better omitted. His own plans, he advised us, had to be changed because of the confusion.

Colonel Hamrick, however, will be back and maybe someday to stay. Nova Scotians, including Digbyites, are proud to hear these compliments and look forward to future visits by Mr. Hamrick. Here's hoping the CPR ferry service folder won't cause further confusion for visitors.

Hodge Podge

The Nova Scotia Museum, we note, has been putting out feelers to see whether Nova Scotians would agree or disagree to paying an entrance fee to museums. Who should pay, residents or non-residents? The same fee or different fees? How about an individual fee or family fee to cover any or all provincial museums. Might consider we are already paying for museums by means of taxes. Might consider the purpose of museums and whether or not an entrance fee would defeat the purpose. How about education for children? Are we anxious for non-residents to learn as much as possible about our way of life, past, present, and future or do we want them to pay for every morsel they get? What is your opinion?

Could be true. A prophet has no honor in his own country. How about such inanimate objects as parade floats?

-- Before we get into a conundrum like that of the painted room preservation, or a question like that of the dug-out canoe, what about those wood Victorian canon carriages down at the Soldier's Memorial in the centre of town. Had they better be preserved. According to Joe Terman, Annapolis Royal, they are the original carriages, probably the only ones in existence. Mr. Terman had brought this matter to our attention once before. Should they be put indoors? Remember the painted room and the dug-out canoe and then tell us what you think about the carriages.

Painting Job At Ferry Terminal

Coline Campbell, Member of Parliament for South Western Nova, announces on behalf of the Minister of Public Works that a tender call will be made for the painting of the vehicle bridge and accessories at the Digby Ferry Terminal.

Tenders will be due on August 4, 1976.

Letters To The Editor

Mayor Charles Haliburton
Town of Digby
Digby, Nova Scotia
July 27, 1976

Dear Mayor Haliburton:

Someone called my attention to a letter written by a member of your council in the July 15, 1976 edition of the Digby Courier. In the letter, the statement was made that this company received free sewer and water services amounting to some $60,000, and that the town's people picked up the tab.

To my knowledge, we never applied for or received any water services on any land that we owned. We did ask for sewer services on Queen Street and First Avenue. These were installed and we were billed the usual frontage charge; which we paid. This is the same method presently being used, as I understand, for all of the sewer services being provided in the Town of Digby.

Since this statement was apparently signed by a member of your council, one has to assume that this particular councillor was speaking for the council as a whole.

The purpose of this letter is to ask if the town intended to provide our company with free sewer service; if this is correct then I believe the town owes us some money. If this is not correct; then, since the statement by a member of your council was made through the public media, I believe the council owes this firm an apology through the same method.

Yours very truly,
John J. Brittain

Attention: Mr. John J. Brittain

Dear Mr. Brittain:

In respect to your letter of July 27th, I have examined the records at the Town Hall as far as time would allow, and so far as I can determine, it was not the intention of the Town's administration at the time the sewer and water installations were made on the South end of Queen Street and First Avenue to install such services without charge to your company as the adjacent land owner. There is, therefore, no question of the Town owing any money to your company on that account.

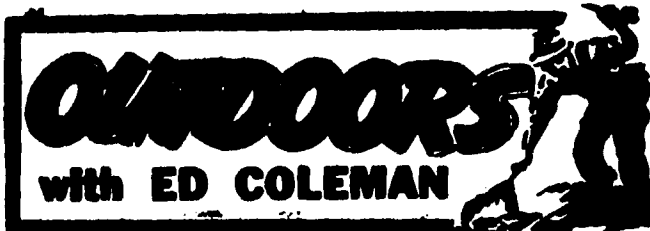

I regret that a letter to the Digby Courier and written by one of the councillors of the Town of Digby has caused you concern, and I wish to assure you that, in speaking through that particular medium, the writer was not "speaking for the council as a whole". On behalf of the council I should like to say that we regret any embarrassment that the letter may have caused you.

Yours very truly,
Charles E. Haliburton
Mayor

Trask Works On Display

A show of paintings by Fred Trask, a native of Digby, is underway at the foyer of Denton Hall, Acadia University, and will run until August 3.

His work will also be included in the Nova Scotia Folk Art Show in Halifax.

GASPEREAU. MORE THAN A RIVER

Reader Perry Munro of Sunken Lake, Kings County, writes to point out that what makes a river "good" in the angling sense is not the quantity of the fishing but the quality. Perry was referring to the Gaspereau River but his observation applies to any fishable river or lake.

While doing a bit of spoofing with my fictitious friend, Terence O'Shaughnessy, in the column last week, I had said the Gaspereau wasn't much of a salmon river because of its small run of fish. Which prompted Perry's observation.

Perry is quite right. Quality is ahead of quantity anytime when it comes to angling. It's possible to have both in a river or lake, but such a combination is becoming rarer every day.

One thing the Gaspereau River does have is quality fishing. The Atlantic salmon is the aristocrat of rod fish and the river has an annual run. The run is small compared to some rivers in Nova Scotia but, as Munro pointed out, that really doesn't matter. What does is that the fish is there.

Since the Gaspereau has given me many happy hours of fishing, I should point out that I was trying to put it in its proper perspective as a salmon river. While it's known mainly as a salmon stream, the Gaspereau also has angling for striped bass and trout. The tidal part of the river offers some good striped fishing and it's well tended by local fishermen.

At one time the Gaspereau had much better salmon fishing than it does today. Before a power dam was put up on it, the river offered excellent salmon fishing. There are only a few fishable pools today, but at one time the river had numerous good holds from just above tide water, through the Canaan hills and right to Gaspereau Lake.

Jack Bishop, a salmon fisherman on the Gaspereau for at least 50 years, tells me the run not only went into Gaspereau Lake but into North River as well. North River feeds the lake. Jack recalls one of his relatives taking salmon at the mouth of North River when he was a boy.

According to Jack the largest salmon he remembers being caught in the Gaspereau weighed between 20 and 25 pounds. He's never heard of larger salmon being landed, but people tell of seeing gigantic fish in the pools.

Fishing was better for brook trout as well as salmon on the Gaspereau in the old days. Jack Bishop remembers a six-pound brook trout that was taken by a salmon fisherman in pre-power dam days. Today brook trout can still be caught in the river but the fishing is spotty.

A few years ago, Field and Stream magazine did a fishing survey of Nova Scotia without visiting it, by the way. They reported an annual sea trout run of five and six pound brookies in the Gaspereau. Field and Stream got their information from the Department of Tourism in Halifax. Local anglers are still waiting for the run to materialize.

Annapolis Royal Celebrates its 371st Natal Day

Annapolis Royal's 371st birthday celebrations got underway on Friday with a successful variety show and teens dance. The 11 candidates for Natal Day queen were introduced to the public during the variety show.

This year's natal day queen was crowned during the dance on Saturday night. Successful entry was Susan Holmes, a 20-year-old employee at the regional assessment office.

Sunday's activity was highlighted by a water sports program and a sunset ceremony at the Fort Anne Grounds.

Shellfish Ban

Due to the high shellfish toxicity in clams and mussels, the area from Yarmouth to Halls Harbour, Kings County, has been closed to the harvesting of shell fish- clams and mussels.

This ban includes the St. Mary's Bay, Annapolis Basin and areas on the Nova Scotia side of the Bay of Fundy until further notice.

Sampling is continuing and the public will be advised when the closure will be lifted.

The Gaspereau, it seems, is more than a quality salmon river. As well as having a great impact on social and economic life it has figured historically in the settlement of Nova Scotia. Only a few rivers in the province can make this claim.

NASH - In loving memory of my dear husband Titus W. Nash who passed away on August 6, 1975.

I seem to see in the soft, dim light
A face I loved the best.
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far off west.
I miss you no less as the time passes on
Than I did on the day of your going
For absence can never close the door of my heart
And the lamp of my love is still glowing
Your hear was the truest in all the wide world
Your love the best to recall,
For no one on earth could take your place
You are still the dearest of all.

Sadly missed and forever loved by WIFE SUSAN. 52:1ip

How we miss your smiling face,

A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness.
The world can never fill.

Sadly missed but always remembered by daughters SUSAN AND JOYCE AND ADAMS CHILDREN 52:1ip

MORTGAGE FUNDS NOW AVAILABLE

"Let the Chips Fall Where They Will"

A heated discussion on the performance of Councillor Eileen Chipman in and outside the council chambers concluded activity at Monday night's regular session of Digby Town Council.

The discussion started off with Deputy-Mayor Phillip Robertson demanding an apology from Councillor Chipman as the result of a letter to the Editor from Councillor Chipman published by the local papers.

Robertson denied the letter's allegations he had left a council meeting without permission and "stomped" out of the council chamber. Councillors Bill Reid and Guy VanTassel backed the Deputy-Mayor up on this point.

Mayor Charles Haliburton entered the discussion at this point and requested Councillor Chipman not to write letters to the newspapers dealing with town business, or if she does, not to sign her name as a town councillor. It makes it very difficult for Councillors to function when their motives are questioned, Mr. Haliburton said. "If it is to be done it should be done at the council table."

Councillor Chipman replied that she had no intentions of changing her policy and would write where and what she saw fit. She suggested that if business was conducted above the table rather than below it "I don't think there would be any trouble at all."

"I am forced to the conclusion that your approach to problems has created a great many more problems" retorted the Mayor.

Problems which, in his view, have resulted in several resignations of officials of the town and possibly of more in the future.

"Mr. Mayor, don't you worry about me, you turn the mirror around and look the other way," Councillor Chipman replied.

Noting an election was coming up soon, Mayor Haliburton suggested perhaps the slate should be wiped clean, have a new council elected, and "let the chips fall where they will."

"I'm tired of being the subject of harassment in this council," Councillor Chipman came back.

Councillor VanTassel got in at this point and said the harassment is the other way round. "We do something and we're always questioned."

"I intend to advise the town's people of what I see in this Council," said Councillor Chipman. "I have no intention of changing my methods of being a town councillor."

Councillor Chipman maintained she has asked many questions in Council which have gone unanswered. If I have printed anything untrue, you know what course of action you can take, she said to the Mayor. She suggested Council start talking about things important to the town's people.

Mayor Haliburton contended that having the town's business conducted in an expeditious manner is important to the town's people.

"I don't consider the way you've been doing it is very appropriate," said Councillor Chipman.

The Mayor then said Councillor Chipman is undermining the administration and various officials of the town, keeping many people on pins and needles so they are unable to carry out their duties.

"Do the business on top of the table and there'll be no problem," said Chipman.

The discussion ended with Councillor Van Tassel suggesting and Councillor Chipman denying that she is not taking on her share of committee responsibilities.

The 1976 Bear River team has been strengthened by the addition of infielders Steve Saulnier, Dan Haight, Murray Baxter and outfielder Claude Pothier. The loss of pitcher Lindsay Peck and catcher Mike LeBlanc removed some of the depth of the team but improved hitting and baserunning has produced Bear River's best regular season performance in recent years. Up-coming home games are with Clementsvalle, August 5, and Liverpool, August 7 at 1 p.m.

Marine Art Show

Lloyd's Galleries of Canada Limited, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, are presenting an extravaganza Marine Art Show at the O'Keefe Centre, Toronto, Ontario, August 10 through 14, 1976. The premiere showing of "Marine Artists of the Maritimes" will be featuring the latest works of the world's foremost marine painter "Jack L. Gray". They will also be showing the works of eight other marine artists namely, Anthony Collins, John Cook, Joan Dewar, Alan Franks, Susan Kadlec, Anthony Law, Joseph Purcell, and Tela Purcell. A select group from the O'Keefe orchestra, under the direction of conductor, Dr. William McCully, will be creating a corroborating mood to compliment the offerings of these maritime artists. It is hoped that the show will re-establish the sometimes forgotten fact that some of our own resident artists rank high in international art circles. It is planned to proceed with a full Canadian tour featuring many more of our talented masters.

Swimming Pool Popular With Island Residents

The portable swimming pool in Freeport is getting plenty of use this summer.

Registration for the second swimming-instruction session which concluded in late July totalled 110, up from 105 during the first session. A third instruction session will run from Aug. 9 to 27.

Two instructors are on duty at the pool teaching swimming at all levels, from three years of age to (and including) adults.

Sponsorship of the pool in co-operation with the department of recreation, will cost the Freeport Legion in the vicinity of $12-14,000.

Dr. Alan Stokes, Legion president, said the Legion's share of the cost is "very substantial" when one considers there are only 26 members here.

The need for such a facility here was demonstrated by a recent survey at the Islands school which shows 53 per cent of students in all grades are non-swimmers.

Dr. Stokes reports that only 3 of all the students ever had swimming lessons, two in Saskatchewan and one in Ontario.

The portable pool is only a temporary solution to the problem however, and Dr. Stokes said efforts will be made to get a salt-water pool here.

As an example of what might be done, he said a double wall could be run from the Legion to the pool site so it can be reached from the building. Rocks would be built up on the beach for the pool on the high tide line. By such a method, water temperature could be warmed to 65 degrees, Fahrenheit.

Plans for such a project were set back somewhat by the Feb. 2 storm in which Legion property suffered uninsured damage. Legion members are therefore just "recovering from a shattering blow to morale." The project might have to be postponed for a couple of years.

Dr. Stokes reports there is still quite a lot of work to be done on the building but the Legion hopes soon to be able to get more community activities started, including tennis courts.

The swimming pool was erected here with volunteer labour and filled by the Freeport and Tiverton fire departments.

To date, the efforts have been worthwhile. The pool is being "really well used indeed," says Dr. Stokes.

Instructor Gail Stewart of Dartmouth and assistant instructor Danny LeBlanc of Comeauville at the Legion-department of recreation sponsored pool in Freeport.

The Flying Publisher

Roy Mailman is a high-flying publisher. He usually cruises at about 9,000 feet, the altitude at which the Nova Scotia newspaper executive pilots a sleek Cessna to various locations in Canada and the United States.

Mailman is president of Wallis Print Ltd., publishers of The Digby Courier; and of Mailman Publishing Company Ltd., which produces The Bridgetown Monitor and The Annapolis Spectator.

Mailman, 45, is also a director of the Canadian Community Newspapers Association. And it's his passion for flying that distinguishes Mr. Mailman from most other successful publishers.

Whether his destination is an advertising seminar in Bangor, Maine, or a meeting of the Atlantic Community Newspapers Association in Moncton, New Brunswick, Mailman doesn't drive—he flies. And he flies the plane himself.

"It's a fast and enjoyable method of transportation," he says. "And it can be economical, depending upon how many people go with you. If I'm flying by myself or with just one other person, it's usually cheaper to go commercial."

"However, if there's a total of three or four people, the cost is invariably less. Besides, the added convenience and fun makes it great."

A private pilot for five years, Mailman flies either a two or four-seater Cessna, depending on the number of travellers. The sleek planes, which cost about $20,000 to $25,000 each have a range of roughly 400 miles. They are owned by the Digby Flying Club, of which Mailman is an enthusiastic member.

"Our newly-expanded club facilities at the Digby Municipal Airport at Hill Grove are excellent," Mailman explained. "More and more pilots are learning about it every day." Mailman will hop in a cockpit for a variety of business and recreational reasons.

"Often, some part we need for one of our newspapers will be at Halifax International Airport. Instead of driving there, I'll hop in a plane and be back before I would have arrived by car."

And, to Mailman, flying is fun. "A couple of times a week I'll take a little spin," he said.

"If my wife Freda and I want to go over to Prince Edward Island for the day, we just head for the airport. I love the sense of freedom that flying provides."

Mailman possesses a private pilot's licence with a night endorsement. He is required to follow visual flight rules in the air, but plans some day to gain capability in instrument flying.

A newspaperman all his life, Mailman began working for The Bridgetown Monitor as a 16-year old apprentice. He has two sons; Steve, 22, and Bruce 12.

Mailman is fortunate to reside in a province where distances between major centres are short, airport facilities good and the scenery superb.

Roy Mailman calls breathtaking Nova Scotia "the ideal air space."

Roy Mailman, Nova Scotia community newspaper publisher, checks dipstick before takeoff. An enthusiastic pilot, he says it saves him time and money to fly, whether it's picking up spare parts for his printing plants, taking his staff to a seminar or for pleasure. (N.S. CIC Photo)

New Ballfield For Bear River

By David Banks

The early spring of this year brought the opportunity for an interested Bear River group to renovate the old baseball field, scene of some of the community's best sporting action since the turn of the century. Some will recall the complete facility existing when the team was Maritime Intermediate Champion in 1952.

Unfortunately, interest in the game waned and the last of those facilities disappeared in the sixties, at which time fast-pitch softball was picked up by a new crop of players who entered the Digby and District Softball League. This league has operated continuously and involved teams from Weymouth to Lawrencetown, although it has since been renamed the Western Valley Softball League.

With the senior team playing three games weekly and the Legion-sponsored minor teams in action, the need for work on the field became acute and several officials approached the Community Planning Committee for assistance. Without encouragement, the idea of constructing a new field lagged, but in February a grant application was filed after an estimate for bulldozing had been obtained from Moore Enterprises of Deep Brook. The plan was to cut four feet of elevated field and fill the low area with three feet of soil to combat the seven feet grade in left field. An estimate of two to three days with the dozer was not seen as excessive even if grant funds were not forthcoming.

In March several members of the senior ball team went to work clearing the present left field on the land of Robert Benson adjacent to the property administered by the trustees of Oakdene School. Labor was plentiful and the price was right with several players working all their spare time but the heavy equipment found the wet weather and clay soil difficult. Between April 7 and May 17 the bulldozer worked 101 hours, fortunately at a cut rate of $18, resulting in a cost of triple the estimate. The Department of Recreation was kept informed of developments, but its budget had as yet not been approved, so no definite commitment was possible. Obligated to both finish and obtain funds, project manager Dave Banks was disappointed, but, a grant was still possible in July and the needed help from several community-minded citizens was forthcoming in the form of time, equipment, and materials. The Nova Scotia Power Commission drilled holes for the backstop, and the local Legion branch supplied good quality wire.

Perhaps the most encouraging aspect of the project was the flat infield surface made possible by the use of a large grader. An evening with a freely donated loader and heavy truck on June 8 brought the field to playing condition after a bit of raking by the team members.

The Department of Recreation budget and grant due in May finally arrived July 19, and as with many groups assistance was denied due to lack of funds. However, the initiators of the project feel that a first rate facility has been provided and that through the efforts of players on the teams much of the money will be raised with pantry sales, bottle drives and some private donations. To date 215 hours of labor, some with heavy equipment have been donated at no cost, leaving the $1800.00 bill for the bulldozing to be paid, of which $100.00 has been paid from team funds and $100.00 from a private donor.

The Bear River Softball Team thanks the following persons who made substantial contributions in time, labor, and equipment to the project. Cecil Bell Jr., Thomas Milner, Wayne Wright, Wallace Greene, Mrs. Gordon Morine, Robert Benson, Earl Porter, Larry Isles, Wayne Isles.

THE HANGED MAN - Grail and Platter - Lew Burnett arrives in Hamburg in order to eliminate another suspect from his list of would-be murderers - Hans Dieter, a contract hooligan whose hand was smashed by Burnett in an earlier confrontation. In one of Dieter's establishments, Lew finds a funeral in progress as Laszlo (Tony Jay, right) mourns the death of his son at the hands of Dieter's thugs. Meanwhile, hired killer John Quanton is closing in on Burnett, needing only a split second to find his target in the telescopic sight of his sniper's rifle. Tuesday, August 10, 10:00 p.m.

Day Camp Opened

House of Roth Day Camp opened Monday with a large number of young people enrolled. The Counselor Staff of nine are on hand each day to teach the children trampolining, swimming, archery, games, singing, dancing, horseback riding, and many other activities. Heading the staff is Gloria Roth who has been in children's camping for many years.

Cars come in from Annapolis, Round Hill, Bridgetown, Parker's Cove, Clementsvalle and other places, bringing in children from that area.

The four weeks of August find a record number enrolled, with only a few openings left in two of the last weeks.

A water pageant will be presented on the last evening of camp, of The Wizard Of Oz. Children of all ages will take part as parents and friends watch.

Camp Aldershot

Militia personnel from all four Atlantic provinces will descend on Camp Aldershot this weekend for the fourth annual militia concentration set for August 14-21.

The concentration will be the culmination of eight week's training at the Annapolis Valley Militia Camp. Trainees from the various rank and trade courses will be joined by Militia men and women who, for various reasons, have not been able to attend camp for the full summer season and by hundreds of SSEAP (Student Summer Employment Activities Program) participants who have undergone eight week's training at local headquarters.

Militia gunners will also arrive at Aldershot from CFB Gagetown where they spend the summer training period. The gunners use Gagetown for summer training to support the Combat Training Centre and develop personal artillery skills. Along with the gunners, approximately 125 communications personnel will arrive to assist with concentration communications.

With the arrival of SSEAP, gunners individual Militia people and the communications personnel, the camp's population will increase to approximately 1200. The concentration will end with a four day all-arms exercise in the South Mountain area of Kings County.

The concentration is unique in Canada in that the Militia in MilArea Atlantic organize and conduct their own training activities and exercises. Brigadier-General O.W. Lockyer, commander, MilArea Atlantic, will be the exercise director for this year's concentration.

August 8th Militia Day

Sunday, August 8, is Militia Day at Camp Aldershot.

The camp near Kentville will be open to the public between 1:30 and 4:00 p.m. and the 800 militia personnel in the camp will stage demonstrations, the highlight of which will be a mock battle on the parade square.

Static displays of weapons and equipment will also be featured and Militia officers and men will be on hand to answer questions.

Lieutenant-Colonel A.R. MacDonald, camp commander, has issued a cordial invitation to the public to visit the camp and see their Militia in action Sunday.

New Art Exhibition

Atlantic Coast: An Illustrated Journal is the new exhibition which begins in the Art Gallery, Mount Saint Vincent University on August 6.

There are 52 artists from four Atlantic provinces represented in the 109 works in the show. Almost half of the artists are Nova Scotians.

The exhibit was organized by Bruce Parsons with the Mount's gallery and National Gallery of Canada to give Canadians in the rest of the country an idea of the work of important artists in the Atlantic region. The works of some well-known and lesser known artists reflect the influences and isolation of the East Coast.

The Mount's gallery is the only location in the Atlantic area where the exhibition will be shown. Immediately after leaving Halifax, the National Gallery is circulating the exhibit to the Centre culturel canadien in Paris, France. Then, it goes on to the galleries at Concordia and McMaster Universities, the Art Gallery of Windsor, the Glenbow Alberta Institute in Calgary, and the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

The exhibit will remain in the Mount's gallery until August 29.

During this same period, the exhibit Steel Angles: Metal Sculptures by Darrell McClure will be on display outside of the upstairs entrance to the gallery.

Gallery Hours: Monday-Friday - 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday, Sundays and holidays - 12 noon - 5 p.m. Tuesday - 9 a.m. - 9 p.m.

Eastern Provincial Air-ways has applied to the Canadian Transport Commission for a general passenger fare increase to become effective in late September of this year.

Canada's New Citizenship Act
Receives Royal Assent

OTTAWA - Canada's new nationality law, Bill C-20, has received Royal Assent and will be ready to be im-plemented by early 1977.

The new Act was described by Secretary of State, J. Hugh Faulkner as an "equitable, logical and liberal piece of legislation, which effectively removes the inequities and in-consistencies of the Citizenship Act of 1947".

Under the new Act, discrimination based on sex or country of origin is eliminated as the possibility of arbitrary exercise of authority. Mr. Faulkner also stressed that the Act is a "new and unique Act, not just a revision of the old one, and is one that will make Canada a leader in the field of nationality law."

For example, a principle feature of the new Act is that citizenship now becomes a right upon satisfaction of certain conditions and cannot be arbitrarily withheld.

Another feature of the new Act is the reduction of the residency requirement from five to three years.

The Act also implements several recommendations of the Royal Commission on the Status of Women. They in-clude the following:

- The residency requirement of 3 years applies equally to applicants of both sexes
- Either parent may now apply for citizenship on behalf of a minor child. This includes adoptive parents. Under the former Act, in most cases, only the father could apply.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Height of South Range, were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Height. Miss Sheila Roope is visiting for two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd Grant in Glace Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Franklin Jr. and Mrs. Thomas Stanyer of Wilmot, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Franklin

SHELLFISH AREAS CLOSED

The Fisheries Service, Department of Environment announced August 3rd the closure of Nova Scotia Shellfish Area Numbers 16 and 18 for the taking of shellfish due to high levels of toxicity in shellfish.

Nova Scotia Shellfish Area 16 is that area from Chebogue Point, Yarmouth County, to the lighthouse at Little River Cove, Digby County. Nova Scotia Shellfish Area 18 comprises all the waters of Annapolis Basin and Annapolis River from Point Prim, Digby County, to the lighthouse at Victoria Beach, Annapolis County.

In the late spring and early summer, when the waters of the Bay of Fundy, become warmer and environmental conditions are favourable, the marine dinoflagellate, Gonyaulax tamarensis, may multiply to astronomical numbers. This organism, (and the potent endotoxin it produces), is accumulated by filter feeding molluscan shellfish and some carnivorous snails (whelks) which prey on the filter feeders. This endotoxin can and does cause serious illness and death of humans who consume affected shellfish. It should be noted that crustaceans (e.g. lobster, crab and shrimp) have never been known to be affected.

To date, fourteen (14) species of shellfish have been found to be capable of storing the toxin, which on ingestion in sufficient amounts may cause nausea, vomiting, paralysis and in extreme cases death. Clams and mussels, which are commercially important in the Maritimes, are among the shellfish which may become toxic and dangerous to consumers. In the Maritime Provinces, the causative organism has been detected only in the waters of the Bay of Fundy area where favourable environmental conditions are found for growth.

A program to monitor toxicity levels and control the harvesting of clams in these waters of the Maritimes was designed to safeguard the public from poisonings. Monitoring is conducted throughout the year, through the co-operation of the various branches of the Fisheries and Marine Service and the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa.

Clams and mussels are a gourmet's delight and they're readily available, just as simply as picking up shells at the seashore. But at this time of year, they can also pose a dangerous health hazard.

It's an old story. Historical records going back to the earliest European settlers show cases of shellfish poisoning on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Since the late 1930's regular testing has been going on in the Bay of Fundy area and there are periodic bans on the digging of clams, mussels and whelks.

Yet people still get poisoned.

The problem is the bay's high content of algae, minute sea organism which the clams and mussels eat. It doesn't harm the shellfish themselves, but it builds up a deposit of poison which can be dangerous and possibly deadly to humans, and cooking doesn't destroy the poison.

The algae count is at its highest this time of year. People who are unaware of the ban, or who ignore it in succumbing to the temptation to dig those juicy-looking clams out of the sand are running a fearsome risk.

The symptoms are swift and frightening. Within five minutes to half an hour after eating toxic shellfish you may feel a numbness around the lips that soon spreads to the face and neck. There can be headache, dizziness and nausea, incoherent speech, muscle stiffness and breathing difficulty.

That is why clam digging is banned all along Nova Scotia's and New Brunswick's Bay of Fundy Coast right now. How about canned clams and the commercial fried clams offered by restaurants? They're okay if the clams came from reputable dealers whose source of supply is from toxin-free areas monitored by the federal inspectors. Similarly, there's no problem with such delicacies as lobsters and periwinkles which do not feed themselves by filtering the algae out of the water.

But clams, mussels, and whelks dug along our Fundy shore-lines right now are loaded with toxin and they're dangerous. Local families and vacationers should be fully aware of the danger and they should warn their children.

Don't dig clams until the ban has been lifted.

The necessary factors affecting the abundance of the organism Gonyaulax tamarensis did not arise in 1975; however, Shellfish Areas 16 and 18 were closed because of high paralytic shellfish counts in 1974 during September and October.

Read the signs posted on Shellfish Areas. If in doubt, check with your local fishery officer.

Although rain dampened the festivities somewhat, the annual Bear River Cherry Carnival was brightened this year by the many lovely princesses of the Carnival. Cultural Awareness Day Planned Plans for a Cultural Awareness Day to be held in Yarmouth early in October are well underway, it was stated in Digby by Mrs. Frieda Balser, president of the Western Nova Multicultural Association which is sponsoring the event.

Mrs. Balser noted the Cultural Awareness Day will follow a similar pattern as that used for other multicultural programs held in Digby and Annapolis Counties which are also included in the area served by the association. It is understood the Yarmouth program will be assisted through the department of the Secretary of State as have other such association - sponsored programs.

Direct planning for the Cultural Awareness Day in Yarmouth is in the hands of a Yarmouth area committee headed by Cyrille LeBlanc of Pubnico. This committee includes members of the Yarmouth Arts Council as will as other local organizations.

Rev. George Bell, Smith's Cove, is co-ordinator of the Western Nova Multicultural Association and is working closely on the arrangements for the Cultural Awareness Day.

It is hoped the program will include such things as exhibits of ethnic and cultural handicrafts and art, presentations of the cultural heritage of the various ethnic and cultural groups involved as well as other projects of concern and interest to the participants.

noted the society's Mary Darres, just have small flocks for their own use and many would not have participated.

Efforts will be made to have stricter security on the grounds at night this year. This move is being made because of people being on the grounds without authority after the show closes.

Bruce MacKenzie, president of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade will be guest speaker at the exhibition's official opening this year.

New light poles had been on the work agenda at the exhibition grounds this year, but priority was given to the dining hall which is taking a good part of the society's time and money.

CNA and general workers. Hospital technicians, registered nurses, X-ray, administration and medical staff, were not affected. Digby Hospital administrator R. Stacey said that although "the hospital's operation was not adversely affected" the employees performance was disappointing.

Tax Rate Struck ?

A special meeting of Digby Municipal Council was scheduled for last night (Wednesday) to deal with the 1976 municipal tax rate.

Unfortunately, information from the meeting was not available for this week's publication.

Appeals on 1976 property assessments are still underway at the Digby Court House and scheduled hearings won't conclude until about August 17.

According to municipal clerk Bill MacMillan, a drop of about 3 per cent in assessment value is expected if the present trend in the appeals court continues. If a rate was struck last night, it was based on this assumption.

Rash Of Breaks

The current rash of break and entries which has plagued Digby and area businesses continued last weekend, with three new offences being reported. Fraser's Grocery, Bear River, and Manette's Drive-In, along the River Road, Bear River, were victimized late Saturday night. A quantity of tobacco was taken from Manette's, while Fraser's reported the loss of and entries. The matter is still under investigation.

In Digby Town, Margolian's Clothing, Water Street, was broken into sometime over the weekend. Assorted denim clothing was taken. Forced entry was gained through a rear window, and the matter is still under investigation by RCMP.

Fire Prevention Officer Doug VanTassel and fireman Bryan Turnbull are shown carrying out fire inspection duties at Stedmans. The Digby Volunteer Fire Department carries out an annual inspection of all business establishments in the town.

Exhibition Society Pays Tribute To Allison Denton

Members of the Digby County Exhibition Society took advantage of Monday night's meeting to pay tribute to Allison Denton, a past president and longtime supporter of the organization.

At the time of his death in July, Mr. Denton was a Director of the society. He served as master of ceremonies for the county exhibitions for a number of years.

Members of the society had nothing but praise for Mr. Denton, who along with his many other involvements was Warden of Annapolis County.

Work toward the Digby County Exhibition, September 1-4 is now entering its final stages. One of the major tasks remaining is to prepare the new dining hall for use this year.

Due to government regulations, poultry, geese, ducks, pigeons and other related feathered friends have been removed from the prize list.

All such entries would have been required to be inoculated to compete this year. Most area people, attempt to "draw public awareness to their "poverty wages" and instigate government intervention of acting health minister, William Gillis, to convene to work out a solution to the month old strike.

Approximately 20 Digby General Hospital's CUPE workers of Digby's union Local 1027, would not cross the picket lines and remained in the adjacent parking lot. They involved

Pickers Visit Digby Hospital

The current Nova Scotia hospital workers strike, involving 1,300 non-medical hospital workers, stirred local concern last Thursday, when about one dozen members from Yarmouth's Local 835 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees set up a one-day picket line in front of the Digby General Hospital.

The Digby General is one of three provincial hospitals whose employees voted against strike action last month. Eleven hospitals are affected by the strike, with Lunenburg, Sydney and Digby, voting to remain on the job.

A spokesman for the picketers stated it was an

EDITORIAL

Letters To The Editor

The annual Digby County Exhibition September 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th is a result of efforts put forth by a dedicated group of individuals, many of them residents of the host-community area.

But the public and those involved in agriculture should bear in mind that this exhibition is a County show and organizers are very desirous of widespread support and participation.

Planning for this event is achieved through regular meetings of the Digby County Exhibition Society. A new dining hall is situated on the exhibition grounds this year, thanks to a group of people interested enough to give time and effort.

If such exhibitions serve to encourage increased agricultural production they are well worthy of our support. Large crowds out for good country fun can ensure the success of this year's show.

Those wishing to offer their services in a working capacity can contact any member of the society's executive.

Dear Editor:

Traditionally, in Nova Scotia, the question of liquor licensing has been, and still is, everybody's business. This is rightly so, and, for this reason, when any person or group of persons wishes a license to sell an alcoholic beverage of any kind, application for same should be made public well before decision making by proper authority, and, there should be sufficient opportunity for expression of public opinion presented before proper authority.

Those persons who have the authority to grant or refuse a license should, of course, not make a commitment to any pressure group or lobbyist before a public hearing is held.

Likewise, politicians (town councillors or other kind) should not make any commitments before such question is presented to the proper political authority and, then voted on by such authority. Otherwise, even if the pressure group gets its way, everybody loses in the run of time.

Of course, we are concerned for peoples lives and good health when (for instance) it is a question of arsenic in the water supply or, the seat belt law or, some other like question, but, how concerned are we when many more lives and good health is at stake from consumption of alcoholic beverages? It is sure that drinking of beer as commonly practised is no more innocent than drinking of any other alcoholic beverage.

Efficiency is still something far from reality on Digby Town Council. Too bad there isn't enough room for more spectators to watch this public spectacle. Oh well, maybe they will include a public gallery in the new town hall. Or maybe the old hall will crumble first and we'll get open-air meetings. Could the public tolerate it?

We note with interest the town's float may be entered in the Nova Scotia Fisheries Exhibition in Lunenburg this September. If so, someone will have the unenviable job of convincing Digby's princess her trip will be worthwhile this time.

Editor Edith Wallis is now into her second week of a much-deserved vacation. We trust she's enjoying herself and will return in top form.

L.I. P. Application

Forms Now Available

Application forms for the 1976-77 local Initiatives Program (L.I.P.) are now available at the Digby Canada Manpower Centre.

Since the application deadline- September 10, 1976- is only 7 weeks away, Canada Manpower Centre Manager Pottier urged interested individuals and organizations to pick up their forms as soon as possible.

Any individual, municipality, organization, corporation or group may apply to sponsor an L.I.P. project.

As in previous years, the main objective of the L.I.P. is to create new jobs in areas of high seasonal unemployment, while providing worthwhile services or facilities for the community.

Only projects that meet this basic aim may be considered for L.I.P. funding, Mr. Pottier said.

Projects must create at least 60 man-weeks of employment. They may be funded for a maximum of 30 calendar weeks and would normally be expected to begin work between November 1, 1976 and January, 1977, and complete work by July 2, 1977.

Mr. Pottier pointed out, however, that there is some flexibility in the dates a project may start and finish. "To the extent that the Local Initiatives Program schedule does not correspond to the actual seasonal unemployment pattern in a community, a project may be allowed to start earlier than November 1, 1976 or later than January 31, 1977 or operate beyond July 2, 1977," he said.

He added, however, that these exceptional projects must start before March 20, 1977 and end no later than 30 weeks after the starting date.

L.I.P. project wages must not exceed wages prevailing in the community for similar types of work, Mr. Pottier explained. "The Canada Manpower Centre can provide advice on this subject," he added.

In any case, the average federal contribution to wages for the project will not exceed $140 per man-week actually worked.

To cover other project costs such as employee benefits, rent and materials, an allowance of $30 per man-week may be paid the L.I.P.

Mr. Pottier stressed that sponsors of L.I.P. projects will be required to recruit all project staff through the Canada Manpower Centre. All employees must be Canadian citizens or landed immigrants. Sponsors will not be permitted to hire members of their immediate family residing in their household.

Projects that will not be considered conclude those that: require over $100,000 in federal funds; are already in operation at the time of application; would employ persons already employed; support leisure activities solely for the sponsors; or primarily improve the property of individuals.

In addition, Mr. Pottier explained, other unacceptable projects are those that would create a community dependency on facilities or services that

The C.Y.F. camp was attended by Shelley Thurber, Juanita Cosman as campers, Pat Howell as councillor and Muriel Cosman as cook. The closing Sunday Service culminated the camping season when a Baptismal service was held at the lakeside and two young people accepted Christ as their Lord and Saviour and were baptized into Christ by the Rev. Pound Party

by Frances Adams

Rev. Douglas Hapeman, the former pastor of the Digby Wesleyan Church and his family were guests of honor on Thursday evening July 29th when the members and adherents of that church paid a surprise visit to their residence presenting them with pounds of groceries. Some of the visitors of the evening did not purchase pounds of groceries but they did give the family a money donation saying they knew which pounds they needed most.

Mrs. Esther Marshall and Mrs. Harry Adams each presented the family with a beautiful bouquet of garden flowers.

Mrs. Lena Handspiker presented Mrs. Hapeman with a quilt which was recently made by the Church Auxiliary. This was presented from the Digby Wesleyan Church which the Pastor Hapeman and his wife served so faithfully during the past three years.

Following a social evening in which some musical selections were enjoyed a variety of delicious refreshments were served to the thirty people who dropped by to surprise the family. It was indeed a surprise because the honored guests were expecting only two callers that evening.

Pastor Jordan brought a challenging message on "Those Sailing In Other Boats" based on the Scripture passage in Mark 4:35-41.

50 Cars At Drive-In Church Service

The heavens burst and rain fell upon the grounds of the Smith's Cove Consolidated School on Sunday evening, August 8, as preparations were being made for the weekly Drive-In Church Service. Cars kept arriving until there were fifty on the grounds waiting for the service to begin. As the pastor, Rev. Wallace H. Jordan, opened the service, the rain had stopped and the service continued under foggy skies. Special music was

Annual Memorial Service Held

The old Methodist Church at North Range held its Annual Memorial Service on Sunday afternoon, August 1st.

The church was filled to capacity at 3 p.m. when the service was opened by Mr. Laurence Sabean following which Mr. Cyril Middleton offered prayer.

Mr. Melbourne Parr read the Scripture Lesson which was taken from II Peter Ch II verses 9-12 inc. Mr. Barr is a layman from the Church of Christ's Disciples and gave the message of the afternoon. In addressing the large audience he asked "Do we Murder ourselves?" He said we call it accidents but does God call it accidents when we go and when we do what is unfit for us thus destroying our life." He challenged the congregation present saying "Let us take care of what we have that it may be presented for the future."

Mr. Cyril Middleton was the soloist for the special Memorial Service. "Each Step I Take" is one of the numbers which he so beautifully rendered.

The Weymouth Falls Choir provided much of the music for this special service. "Precious Memories" and "Must Jesus Bear the Cross" and two of the numbers which were sung by the Weymouth Falls Choir.

"Where Could I Go But To The Lord" and "He Signed My Pardon" are the two numbers which were sung by the South Range Trio.

Previous to the message and again following the message the Scott Height Choir participated in the service.

A note of thanks was given to the many folk who worked hard to make this service a success and a special thanks was given to Mrs. Florence Bacon for her efforts in planning the service.

Mr. George Langford offered prayer at the close of the service.

Flowers which so beautifully decorated the front of the church for the service were placed in the cemetery at the close of the service.

A Thought Starter

By Rev. R. C. MacCormack

PEOPLE WHO MINISTER
It was to the whole membership of a church that the Apostle Paul wrote, "In all things approving ourselves as the ministers of God." II Corinthians 6:4. In verse one, he declares, "we then, as workers together with God..." Paul was not the only minister here. Everyone was involved.
When a clergyman puts a sign on the church, "so and so, minister," it looks like he considers that he has a monopoly on the ministry. It becomes a signal to the other members to become observers, to cheer or to question what the self-styled minister is doing. It puts this one and only minister on the defensive. The church becomes a committee of the whole to inspect his labours and to register their approval or otherwise.
When all are ministers, then no one is on the defensive. All serve together. The pastor, I like this term better, has as much right to inspect the activities of the other members, as they have to evaluate what he is doing. All are under the eye of the Lord.
Members who are tempted to absent themselves easily from worship and responsibility may find a new challenge in knowing they are ministers too. It may be argued that one minister is paid to faithfully do the work. This is true, but if he is only on the job because of pay, then he is not much of a minister.
All are servants together,

Services Begin At Goat Island Baptist Church

(Mrs. F. Thompson)

On July 25th the Goat Island Baptist Church in Upper Clements standing on a hill overlooking Goat Island opened its doors for its first summer service of 1976 at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. A very cordial welcome was given to all by Deacon Garland C. Myers, saying how glad we were to be worshipping here together again in the presence of the Lord who calls men and women to love and serve him as Saviour and Lord of Life. The church was filled to capacity with people who came from not only the local areas but from Calgary Alberta, Ontario, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Malden and Somerville, Mass. and as far away as Indiana.

U.S.A. There were over one hundred in attendance: Deacon Garland Myers delivered the message assisted by Deacon Richard Moore of Deep Brook. The old time hymns were sung with a special number by Miss Elaine Blacklock, "I'd Rather Have Jesus".

Mrs. Alice Blacklock presided at the old reed organ which has been in the church for many years and was played by Mrs. Dora Thomas of Deep Brook for many years. Mrs. Thomas was among the worshippers on Sunday morning.

The offering was taken by deacons Leslie Potter and Franklin Thompson. There will be two more services during the month of August in this century old church. One on Sunday afternoon August 8th at 2 p.m. and another on August 22nd at 2 p.m. with Rev. Wallace H. Jordan bringing the message.

We invite you all to come to these services of Praise and Thanksgiving in this century old church which on August 10th of 1975 at an eleven o'clock service celebrated its 165 th Anniversary.

The Smith's Cove Museum

"Where is the hand?" has been a question often heard in the Smith's Cove area through the past years. Well, the hand has been found! As we recently visited the Museum located in the building of the former United Church, there was the hand that had once been atop the steeple of the church building pointing to the heavens.

As we talked to Mrs. Paul Lewis, who is in charge of the Museum this summer, she told of the history of the origin of the building and its eventual role as follows:

"For the last two summers the Smith's Cove Museum has been open to the public. The Museum is located in the United Church building in Smith's Cove. This Church was built in 1895, and was originally Methodist. It served the Methodist community of this village for many years until the Union of the Churches in 1925, when it became United. It's now in the care of the Smith's Cove Historical Society. Every summer they conduct a Memorial Service which is designed to remember the past with gratitude and to maintain the presence of its tradition within the present community.

"The Museum features displays on the history of Smith's Cove since its settlement by the United Empire Loyalist in 1784. An interesting feature is the photographic collection of the village and the surrounding area. A special exhibit this summer is on birds of Nova Scotia supplied by the Nova Scotia Museum and the Department of Lands and Forests.

"The Smith's Cove Historical Society is also compiling the genealogies of the early families who settled in this area. They are also gathering information on the location of the homes built in this area from 1784 to the 1900's.

"The Museum is open every day from 2 to 4 p.m. and all visitors are welcome."

Mrs. Lewis is the former Holly Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Berry, and grew up in the house, across from the Museum which is on the site of the former Wohmeda Inn.

Honoured Once Again

The residents of Bay View who participated in the Annual Flower Show sponsored by the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society were once again well rewarded for their efforts. They were not only well rewarded for their efforts but they did also enjoy themselves a great deal.

Mrs. Herbert E. Doerr and Mrs. Harold Emerson both received special awards. Mrs. Doerr who exhibited a beautiful Imperial Gold Lily in 1973 and received a special award ribbon for the entry did it again this year. The spectacular Lily which she entered this year was not the same type as the 1973 Lily but it did receive a high award. Mrs. Harold Emerson exhibited beautiful Gloriosa Daisies. They were not only large and very beautiful but they received one of the special awards. Both Mrs. Doerr and Mrs. Emerson received other flower awards.

It is with pride and interest to note not only the Adults in Bay View receive awards but one of our younger residents, Cathy Burns daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Burns received a 1st prize on her arrangement of flowers in a cup and saucer and to her go our Congratulations.

Once again the number of 1st, 2nd and 3rd prize ribbons awarded to Bay View full time residents and Summer residents were numerous. First prizes were awarded to Mrs. Edward Murphy for beautiful sweet peas exhibited and to Mrs. Kenneth Erwin for her large red Begonia. Mrs. Russell Merrill won 1st prize on an arrangement of dried flowers in a shell and Mrs.

Paul Emerson received a number of awards which included a first prize award for astilbe and an award on Phlox was also received. Mrs. Harry Adams had 10 entries and received 9 awards these included several 1st prizes, one being on a collection of wild flowers making this a 1st prize on wild flowers for the 6th consecutive year.

I sincerely believe that once again the residents of Bay View did themselves proud by honors received in the flower show.

254 Entries In Flower Show

The Admiral Digby Horticultural Society Annual Flower Show was held at the Digby Fire Hall on Tuesday, August 3, 1976. Approximately two hundred people attended the show.

The President Mrs. Nancy Hutchins, welcomed members and guests, including summer visitors. Notwithstanding the poor growing season, there was a great variety of entries submitted, including both specimens and arrangements, totalling 254, the over all figures showing an increase over the previous year. The number of exhibitors was 63, and the total number of prizes given was 175.

The Judges for the Show were Mrs. I. Pink of Yarmouth and Mrs. Roy Ward of Aylesford.

Quality Awards for Specimens were won by Mrs. H. Doerr for a Lily, and Mrs. P. Robert for a potted plant - Tuberous Begonia. The Best in Show for Specimens was won by Mrs. Harold Emerson for Gloriosa Daisy.

In the Decorative Arrangements, a Quality Award was won by Mrs. Chester Levy for Living Room Arrangements, and Best in Show was won by Mrs. Hubert Warne for an entry of White Flowers in Black Container.

The Popular Choice by Ballot was won by Mr. Hugh Oliver for Artistic Arrangement of Vegetables and Foliage, etc.

The winner of a special prize donated by the Pines Hotel was Mrs. Hubert Warne. The Manager of the Pines, Mr. Bradshaw and Lantz Woolaver, were on hand to make the presentation of a decorative china plate as well as "Dinner for Two" at the Pines.

The lovely basket of flowers at the entrance to the Fire Hall was arranged by Miss Louise Daley, and the centrepiece for the Tea Table was arranged by Miss Edith Wightman.

An excellent tea was convened and catered by the United Church Women's Auxiliary. Pouring at the tea table were Mrs. Nancy Hutchins, Mrs. Nettie Grimmer, Miss Marjory Tupper, Mrs. Edith McCleary and Miss Mary Marshall.

Auction Raises Over $2000.00

On Thursday July 15th the Anglican Church Auction held every 2nd year was once again considered a big success.

The auction was as in the past held on the Harold Emerson property at Bay View. Mr. H. G. Webber very kindly donated his services for the day as auctioneer.

I was not present for the event but have been told that the weather was not the very best but it would appear that this did not dampen the spirits of the people because like auction day in 1970, 1972, and 1974 the village street closely resembled one of the busy streets of New York, when people again gathered from various points to attend another auction for the Trinity Parish Church.

Cars lined the street for a considerable distance that day when antiques collectors items and handcrafts were sold.

Refreshments were served from one of the several tables located in the field which displayed various items for sale.

Gross proceeds realized were approximately $2027.00

AFRICAN PLAINS

The savannahs of southeast Africa support an amazing variety of species which make up a complex food chain ultimately based on the vast sea of grass that surrounds them.

The grazers, such as rhinos, zebras, gnus, wild oxen and antelopes, literally devour the landscape until fresh spring rains replenish the supply. In turn, predators such as the lion and the Cape hunting dog stalk the herbivorous creatures.

Three Ring Circus Coming

Thursday, August 26th, 1976 will be Circus Day in Digby. The Western Valley Shrine Club has made arrangements to host Canada's Own Garden Bros. Three Ring Circus with its all new 1976 edition, according to Mr. Ken Snowden, President, of the local group. The Circus will be presented at Digby Forum at 3:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. of Manuel Ruffin ("Prince This year Garden Bros. Circus, produced in Toronto by Ian M. Garden, will extend its 39th annual Canada-wide tour from Newfoundland to the western provinces visiting nearly 100 Canadian cities, plus a number of cities in the United States along the way. The two hour spectacular features a cast of circus performers gathered from the four corners of the World.

Center ring highlights of the 1976 tour include Tino Wallenda of the famed Wallenda High Wire clan. Tino represents the seventh generation of this brave family to risk his life on the taut steel cable. Another stellar presentation is that Bogino") who smartly snaps eight fully grown male lions through their paces. Manuel is the only black lion tamer in North America.

"Circus is one of the few remaining strictly family entertainments," says Mr. Snowden of the Western Valley Shrine Club. "It's a fine opportunity for a family outing. The circus is the one entertainment that pleases everyone."

Madcap Motor Mix-up

Hold on to your hubcaps for here comes Merle Cook's "madcap motor mix-up" appearing with Garden Bros.

Weymouth Flower Show Successful

One of the most successful flower shows arranged by the Weymouth Garden Club was held August 7th, 1976 in the Weymouth Consolidated School Auditorium.

The afternoon tea was convened by Mrs. Dennis Comeau assisted by Mrs. Onne Bavelear, Mrs. Leigh Sabine, Miss Helen Weaver, Mrs. Dan Hankinson and Mrs. Ethel Shinner. Several girls in the community acted as servers, with various members of the Garden Club pouring during the afternoon.

Many of those attending were out of town visitors who expressed their pleasure in viewing the exhibits and in the friendly atmosphere.

There were 219 floral and 85 entries in the vegetable section. The vegetable section was a new addition this year and proved to be very successful.

The Judge was Mr. Leslie Blackburn, Technician Horticultural Biology service of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, Truro. There was a wide variety of pamphlets on view which the public could order free of charge from the Department of Agriculture.

The President of the Weymouth Garden Club is Mr. S.W. Bellworthy, Secretary, Mrs. E.A. Ferguson and Treasurer, Mrs. John Shaw.

Door Prizes were donated by Mrs. S.W. Bellworthy and Weymouth Supplies Limited.

The convenor Mrs. E.A. Ferguson expresses her appreciation to all those who assisted in any way to the success of the show.

In business...

If it's new, it's news.

Spread the word by long distance.

The introduction of a new product can take months. Or even years. But it doesn't have to. It can be done in minutes by long distance.

Until potential buyers know about a new product, or an important change in a present one, they will remain just that — potential buyers. With a long distance call, you can convert them into actual buyers — even in advance of introduction, if necessary, to prevent loss of valuable business to a competitor.

And the cost? During prime time business hours, a direct-dialed call within Nova Scotia, can't cost you any more than 60¢ a minute.

MARITIME TEL&TEL
your neighbours serving you

Long distance is good business.

Derrick Jordan went the distance for the Legion, he allowed four hits good for four runs, walked five while striking out nine to nail the victory and first place. Playing a game that earlier in the season was rained out the Baxter coached Firemen overcame a four run lead in the bottom of the sixth to edge the Haynes coached Lions 12-11 and take third place in the final standings. "Throw Out The Life-Line Across The Dark Wave - There Is A Brother Whom Someone Should Save"

Throw Out The Life-Line Across The Dark Wave is a "hymnal history" of the Baptist Church and its Anglican antecedent, during the past two centuries, on a "dangerous island" 11 miles off the coast of Nova Scotia. The actual history of the church is taken from the clerks' minutes of meetings; these are interspersed with hymns popular in church services of the time -- a history in religious verse of development in proselytizing, revival, temperance, salvation from sin and sea.

The subject, Westport Baptist Church, is located on tiny (two by three miles) Brier Island, the last inhabited island of a chain extending from Digby Neck like a finger pointing toward the U.S. coast. Its location at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy has made it a treacherous landfall for mariners and fisherman, and this history is partially illustrated by reproductions of rubbings from grave stone memorials to islanders lost at sea.

One illustrious island son was Capt. Joshua Slocum, first circumnavigator and author of Sailing Alone Around The World (1899) who mentions the island and its church in that marine classic.

Green Head, from which the history's author takes his pen name, is Brier Island's southernmost promontory, grass-topped cliffs that break off into lofty serrated columns similar to Ireland's Giants' Causeway. The author is a descendant of the original settler in 1763, whose family has always maintained their home there.

Throw Out The Life-Line Across The Dark Wave, Wallis Print Ltd., Digby, N.S.; soft cover; 22 pages; 9 illustrations; $3 (postage pd.) -- proceeds from sales to be used for maintenance of the church. Copies may be ordered from: Westport Baptist Church, Digby County, Nova Scotia; B0V1H0.

Loyalist Days Celebration

His Worship Edis A. Flewelling, Mayor of Saint John, New Brunswick, receives a special engraved copy of the July Reader's Digest containing the article "King George III's Loyal Americans" by Maritimer Douglas How. Mr. How (left), a former editor of the Canadian Digest, made the presentation to Mayor Flewelling at a special City Council meeting prior to Saint John's annual Loyalist Days celebrations. In the background can be seen a painting by A. Sherrieff Scott, depicting the Loyalist landing at the site of the future city of Saint John. The painting was used as an illustration in the Digest article.

CFB CORNWALLIS ARMED FORCES DAY 1976

THURSDAY 19 AUGUST 7:30 P.M.

A WELCOME FROM BASE COMMANDER

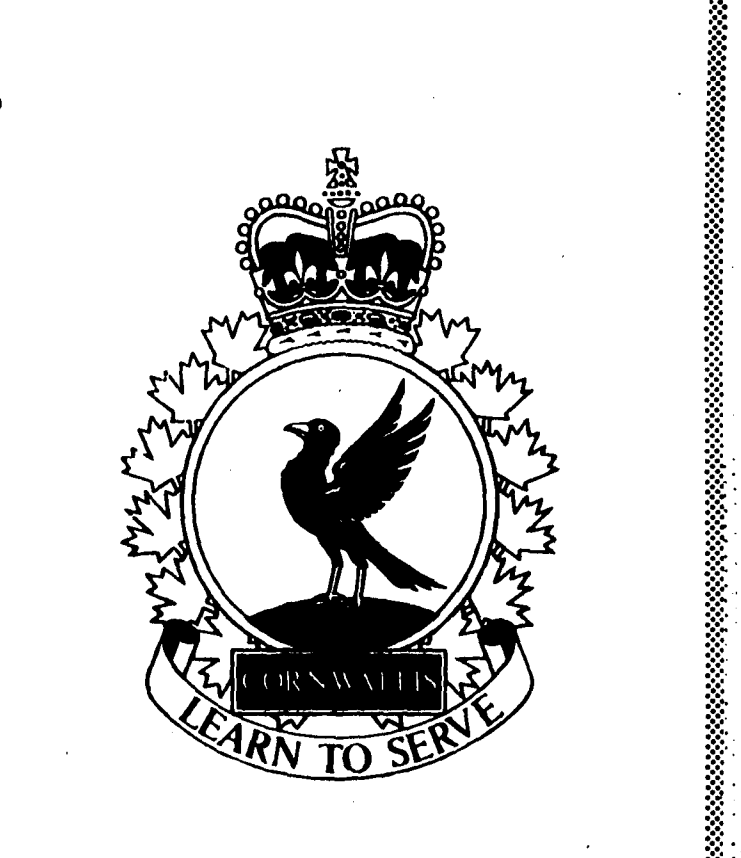

I wish to extend a warm welcome to all visitors attending our Armed Forces Day here in Cornwallis.

This has been a busy year, on top of our normal commitments to provide various personnel to Peace Keeping duties in Cyprus and the Middle East we have been involved in the OLYMPIC Games in Montreal. Despite a shortage of staff over the last few months every effort has been made to come up with an interesting display for Armed Forces Day.

We do not have the equipment that other bases are able to display as our task is personnel training. However, with the help of the Sea Cadets and our Physical Education Staff you will see what the Youth of Canada is capable of after a short period of intensive training.

We are very pleased to have you with us in Cornwallis today and hope you enjoy your visit.

CFB Cornwallis occupies a 615 acre site on the shore of Annapolis Basin plus 3000 acres at Granville Ferry all in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley. It is 120 mi. southwest of Halifax and about 50 miles distance across the Bay of Fundy, from Saint John, New Brunswick. Near by are the towns of Digby and Annapolis Royal and other smaller picturesque communities.

Indeed, it is a town in itself with a post office, railway station, weekly newspaper, band, hospital, theatre, library, gymnasium, artificial ice arena, curling rink, swimming pools and other facilities.

This unique community has one industry. Training. Mainly it is concerned with the training of male and female recruits, but each summer from the beginning of July to the end of August, CFB Cornwallis hosts a large number of Royal Canadian Sea Cadets.

By the kind permission of Capt (N) Connors, Base Commander CFB Cornwallis and Commander D. A. MacIntyre, Commanding Sea Cadet Summer Camp Cornwallis, the Sea Cadets will perform the Ceremonies of the Flags and Sunset Ceremony, Thursday 19 August on the parade square. All personnel are invited to attend.

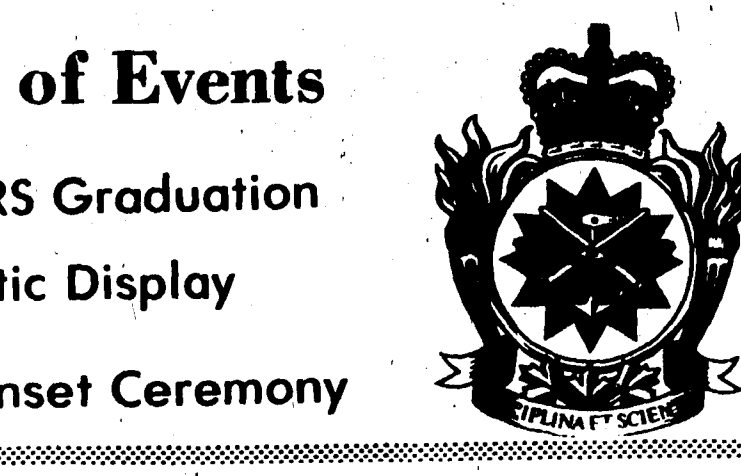

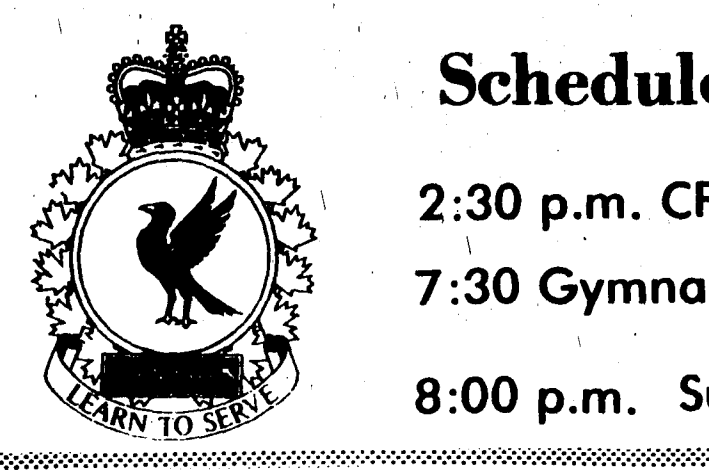

The Ceremony of the Flags was originally performed by the Royal Canadian Navy. The theme of the ceremony is distinctively Canadian. The National Flag of Canada, the flags of each province, the Yukon and North West Territories are paraded with a fifty man guard, 2 gun crews and the Cadet Camp's fifty man band. Following the colorful Ceremony of the Flags is the traditional Navy Sunset Ceremony.

Revised 1976 Stamp Program

OTTAWA— Canada Post has revised its stamp program for the remainder of 1976. Increases in the domestic postal rates, to become effective September 1, necessitated the changes, the Post Office said.

The major changes include the issue on September 1 of a new 10-cent definitive stamp bearing the pen-and-ink line drawing of Queen Elizabeth II which has been used on the current 8 cent definitive design and the elimination of the 6 cent value from the planned four-stamp
Christmas set on November
3.

The Christmas stamps, depicting stained glass windows, will be issued bearing values of 8 cents, 10 cents and 20 cents.

On September 17, Canada
Post will issue four stamps commemorating the Iroquoian Indians, the last in the Post Office's series honoring the country's native people. Each will bear a 10 cent value.

Four 10-cent stamps in the Canadian Ships series, depicting Inland Vessels, will still be issued on November 19.

The Robert Service and Germaine Guevremont stamps, originally scheduled for release on July 14, will now be issued on August 17.

Total number of stamps in the 1976 program remains at 31 with a total face value of $7.28.

Sims Wins Track and Field Medals

Vernon Simms, the young Student Counsellor at the local Digby Canada Manpower Centre does not rest after a day's work interviewing workers and employers, counselling students, and leaving nothing returned to locate summer work for students.
Every day at closing time you will find Vernon changing into sports wear and running the 4 miles to his home in Acaciaville. In the evening you will find him running back to the ballfield in Digby.

Very determined indeed, and this past week it well paid off. On July 24th, Vernon travelled to Chester and came 3rd in the 3000 meter race (track and field).
On 7 August he travelled to New Glasgow to capture the silver medals in both the 1500 meters and 3000 meters races. Vernon shows great potential, and the Digby people should be very proud.

On 14 August he will be in Dartmouth to attend the Nova Scotia Championships and Atlantic Selection Meet.
If successful and qualifies he will then attend the Atlantic versus Quebec meet in Dartmouth on 11-12 September.

22 years of age, a graduate of Digby Regional High School, and 3rd. year student at Dalhousie University, majoring in Sociology and Psychology with Recreation as a goal, Vernon is finding his so called "free time" taxed to the limit. He has had to pursue the various meets he has attended on his own. Such initiative and determination is certainly praiseworthy and deserving of high praise.

2,058 Forest Fires In Canada During June Barton Social Note

OTTAWA—A total of 2,058 forest fires, affecting 971,000 acres, were reported across Canada during the month of June according to the Canadian Forestry Service.
The figures are compared with 1,220 fires affecting 166,000 acres during June same month during the past decade.

To date this season, a total of 4,709 fires have been reported, affecting 1,335,000

Family Reunion

On Sunday of July the 18th
1976 the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Cromwell in Southville, was the scene of a happy occasion when they were reunited with their family of five daughters all present for the first time in fifteen years, and the parents fulfilled a promise made in 1948.

After his discharge from the Army at the end of World War II Mr. Cromwell purchased a home which he later mortgaged to finance improvements. The mortgage was for ten years, through the Soldiers Settlement and Veterans Land Act and there were times when he found it difficult to meet the monthly payments.

He promised his children who loved canned peaches

(a treat in those leaner days) that when he made the final mortgage payment, he would provide them with all the canned peaches they could eat and with a bottle of champagne. They would celebrate the burning of the mortgage which was incidentally paid off in 1958.

RESIDENTIAL TAX RATE 85 CENTS, COMMERCIAL $1.25

Digby municipal council set its 1976 tax rate at a special meeting at the court house on August 11.

The residential rate was set at 85 cents per $100 of assessment while commercial rate payers will pay $1.25. Last year's general rate was $3.00.

A recent overall property re-assessment is the major reason for the substantial rate drop. Assessments were raised by an average of about 307 per cent this year.

Setting of the rate has been delayed by the high number of assessment appeals to be heard. The appeals are expected to conclude sometime this week, although results of the Mersey Paper Company appeal are not expected to be known until at least the end of September.

In setting the rate an allowance was made for a three per cent loss in assessment as a result of the appeals.

The municipal council is budgeting for a surplus of $19,000. Estimated expenditures are $1,488,623 while expected revenue is placed at $1,508,417.

The sources of revenue are $229,620 from commercial taxation; $550,602 from residential taxation; $287,483 from various government sources; and $440,712 which amounts to 82 per cent of 75 per cent of the shareable cost of education.

All councillors were present and in an abnormally joyous mood for the meeting.

Police Protection Will Be Subject Of Open "Hot Seat"

Police protection will be the topic of discussion when Sgt. Thomas Barlow, NCO Digby RCMP detachment faces the public in a question and answer period on September 14.

This confrontation is being organized by the Digby Board of Trade. Police related problems such as vandalism and loitering have come up for discussion in several recent board meetings.

The finalized time and location of the question and answer session will be publicized at a later date.

In another action at its August meeting the Board decided to approach the town asking council to look into use of the D.A.R. building as a town hall site.

Nothing has yet been decided re. new town hall facilities, but Mayor Charles Haliburton advised that one possibility being looked into is construction of a new building behind the present town hall. The old hall would be demolished.

Councillor Eileen Chipman, also present at the meeting, advised that the town's tourist bureau was being operated entirely at the town's expense.

To take advantage of an $800 grant, she said, the town would have been required to keep the bureau open 12 hours per day for 10 weeks and eight hours per day for six weeks, six days per week.

The office is now open from 12 noon to 6 p.m. daily. By motion the board decided to have a sign prepared for the bureau, containing the hours of operation.

The matter of garbage around the town again returned to the table. A motion was passed requesting the town to provide more garbage cans around the business section of Water Street.

Comeau's Sea Foods Ltd. Involved In Bermuda Trade Mission

Twelve Nova Scotia companies will accompany a government delegation on a trade mission to Bermuda from August 17 to 21. Headed by Hon. William M. MacEachern, Minister of Social Services, the mission is being sponsored by the Department of Development.

Mr. MacEachern is taking the place of Development Minister George M. Mitchell who will be absent on other official business.

The Nova Scotia firms which will be represented include Continental Sea Foods Ltd., Shelburne; Comeau's Sea Foods Ltd., Saulnierville; Eastern Meat Purveyors (Halifax) Ltd., Armadale; Twin Cities Co-operative Dairy Ltd., Bedford; Dover Mills Ltd., Halifax; W.H. Schwartz and Sons Ltd., Halifax; Scotian Gold Co-operative & Company Ltd., Berwick; Annapolis Valley Peat Moss Co. Ltd., Berwick; David Gillis & Associates, Halifax; and Designcraft Textiles Ltd., Lunenburg.

Bud Clark of the Marketing and Trade Development branch who is co-ordinating the visit said that the contingent's primary aim will be to present Nova Scotia as a potential source of food and fish products, although its broader objective is to acquaint Bermudians with the diversity of goods produced in the province.

Bermuda presently imports approximately $1,000,000 worth of Nova Scotia goods per year, but the department wishes to ensure maximum utilization of the two shipping lines which now travel regularly between Bermuda and Halifax.

In addition, the group will be investigating the possibility of importing selected goods from Bermuda's manufacturing sector.

During the visit, the Provincial representatives will be working closely with the Bermuda Chamber of Commerce in attempts to strengthen a trading link that has thrived since the first days of the schooner.

Drury that a contract has been awarded for Phase II of the harbour improvements of the wharf extension at Meteghan, N.S. The lowest bidder was McNamara Corp. and the amount of the tender is $1,075,685.

The work will consist of a 300 foot extension of reinforced concrete crib work and a pile work approach and dredging will consist of approximately 50,000 yards of Class "B" material.

This will complete work at Meteghan which has long been awaited by the fishermen of the area.

Shell Area No. 16 Opened

The Fisheries Service, Department of the Environment, announced today, August 9, 1976, the opening of Nova Scotia shellfish Area No. 16 for the taking of shellfish.

Nova Scotia Shellfish Area No. 16 was closed on August 3, 1976, as a precautionary measure due to the high toxicity counts experienced in the Bay of Fundy Area.

Nova Scotia Shellfish Area No. 16 is that area from Chebogue Point, Yarmouth County, to the lighthouse at Little River Cove, Digby County.

Nova Scotia Shellfish Area No. 18 remains closed because of high toxicity counts. Nova Scotia Shellfish Area No. 18 comprises all the waters of the Annapolis Basin and the Annapolis River from Point Prim, Digby County to the lighthouse at Victoria Beach, Annapolis County.

N.S. Senate Club Makes Digby County Farm Tour

The Nova Scotia Senate Club, comprised of past presidents of the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture, visited several farming sites during a Digby County tour on Saturday.

The club was joined here by members of the Digby County Federation of Agriculture, and the counties' Agricultural Representative, Bruce Gilliat; Coline Campbell, M.P. and Joe Casey, MLA took part in portions of the tour, bringing the total to over 40.

The tour started off at the Digby Green Valley Farm in Marshalltown, a few miles West of Digby. Owners Stanley and Leonard Boudreau of Concession are developing a pick-your-own operation here and are developing the adjacent Seabrook property for a future beef farm.

Farming was first undertaken on the Digby Green Valley Farm in 1964 as a government pilot to produce agricultural products for export to New England. It was hoped the project would prove such farming could be viable in Digby County and might result in increased work in a high unemployment area.

However, the project ended in failure four years later after several parties tried to make it work.

The Boudreau's took over the farm in 1973. This year they are growing five acres of strawberries and 10 acres of high-bush blueberries as a pick-your-own operation. They intend to grow potatoes and sweet corn for this purpose next year.

Other crops now grown on the land include silage corn, grass and legume forage, and hay. The owners plan to increase productive acreage by 25 acres per year until the entire property is worked.

From Marshalltown, the touring group went on to the Saint Mary's Bay Marshland, made up of some 735 acres of land.

This highly productive land barely survived the severe windstorm of February 2 which destroyed over 75 per cent of the dyke protecting it from the sea. Marshland owners, members of the St. Mary's Bay Marshland Body, moved swiftly to temporarily repair the damage and following a visit to Halifax with the Minister of Agriculture, a re-building job was promised.

The marshland is just now at the point where it can begin to reach its productive potential. The salt content of the land was very high for a number of years after the first dyke was built in 1960.

From the dykeland, the touring group moved on to the Spectacle Lake Port Farm in Concession which Ira and Hubert LeBlanc started in 1967. Much progress has been made since that time.

Increased barn space has brought the total number of sows kept here to about 200.

The last farm visited was that of the LeBlanc Brothers in Little Brook. This farm started with 100 females in 1951, now has a herd of 1,600 female mink, 400 male adults and 6,400 kits. The ranch was modernized three years ago with new feeding and feeding-preparation equipment.

The visitors had lunch after their visit to the marshland, at the Savery Park in Plympton and closed off the day's activities with a barbecue at the Fish and Game Association's facilities.

One important development the visitors were made aware of, through meeting some of the local farmers and remarks by the Ag. Rep., is the influx of young people into farming in Digby County.

After Senate Club secretary Charles Douglas had welcomed the group at the Digby Green Valley Farm, Malcolm Justason, president of the local federation, said everyone here has become enthusiastic since the new Ag. Rep., was appointed.

Bruce Gilliat noted that young people now make over 50 per cent in the agricultural sector. He said that although there are a number of part-time farmers here there are "few, if any, hobby farmers." All, he said are serious about farming.

Digby County people along for the tour, besides those previously mentioned, were Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Warner, Chipman Chisholm, Wayne and Nora Comeau, Lloyd MacNeil, M.P. Coline Campbell, and MLA Joe Casey.

Program Initiated At College Sainte-Anne

Louis R. Comeau, president, is happy to announce the initiation of a housing program in the countries of Yarmouth and Digby (more particularly in the town of Yarmouth and the Weymouth area) by College Sainte-Anne, Church Point, N.S., and the hiring of a qualified person to implement same. "This program is long overdue in our part of the province and is an opportune and direct answer to a dire need," states Mr. Comeau.

The program called "Rural and Native Housing" is entirely funded by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Its general objective aims at promoting government housing programs among deprived people that ordinary communication channels do not reach. Specifically, the program is directed towards helping individuals and groups obtain existing financial and technical assistance for the improvement of their housing facilities and to follow them in their personal endeavours to obtain technical, legal and financial assistance in building, acquiring or improving their houses; and to conceive, plan and implement new programs as may be required following a serious assessment of the situation in these countries. Conclusions derived from this assessment may indicate the necessity of organizing groups, co-operatives and non-profit organizations.

This program is deemed of prime necessity for persons suffering from illiteracy, isolation, lack of information and know-how, and handicaps of all sorts, whether physical, psychological or social.

Fully aware that material needs must be met before educational and cultural promotion is undertaken, College Sainte-Anne is very anxious to contribute, through its Extension Department, its share of social responsibilities in encouraging these to achieve higher standards of living. Resources available at College Sainte-Anne would be at the disposal of the people more directly involved in promoting this program. The program intended initially for one year will hopefully be continued indefinitely as the need is present.

Mr. Comeau further adds that Mr. Daniel Meunier has been hired as Director of the rural and native housing program. Mr. Meunier is a Canadian citizen living in New York City prior to his employment with College Sainte-Anne. He has obtained a Bachelor of Arts from Laval University in 1966 and a Master of Theology from Union Theological Seminary, New York, in 1974.

During the last two years, Mr. Meunier has been working in New York City with Housing Conservation Coordinators, Inc., a non-profit community-based housing group working in the Midtown section of Manhattan with low and moderate income residents. This nonprofit corporation operates basically in four areas: tenant organizing, building management, housing development, and repair and maintenance training.

Mr. Meunier's personal involvement with the group has been as Director of Management, Assistant Director of the Program, as well as Director of the training component.

In conclusion, Mr. Comeau feels that this program "has all the elements necessary to a successful project", and hopes that it will be "met with eagerness by the public." College Sainte-Anne is grateful to local politicians of provincial and federal governments for their favorable interventions in developing this program.

The rural and native housing program is expected to get under way at the beginning of September 1976 with Mr. Meunier working from Yarmouth, his office being at 424 Main Street.

Displays Rooster Crowing Art

Southwestern Nova MP Coline Campbell took top honours in the MP's and MLA's Rooster Crowing Contest during one of the more crowdpleasing events of the Annapolis County Exhibition's first day of activities.

Miss Campbell proved the most adept at coaxing the rooster to crow, besting Annapolis East MP Gerry Sheehy who came second. Official for the event was Charles LeBrun.

A number of other politicians, including Digby MLA Joe Casey participated in the contest.

Activities will continue at the exhibition until Saturday.

Memorial Service At Smith's Cove

At three o'clock on Sunday, August 22, the annual community memorial service will be held at the museum, the Smith's Cove United Church of Canada. The memorial services were begun in 1975 following the opening of the museum by the Smith's Cove Historical Society. The holding of the memorial services each year is part of the agreement the Society has made with the Valley Presbytery of the United Church of Canada for the use of the church building as a museum.

Guest speaker at the service on Sunday will be Rev. M.G. Butler, Annapolis Royal and Rev. Foster Hall, Bear River will conduct the service. Soloist will be Jan Simonn, a Smith's Cove summer visitor. Mrs. Walter Lent, Bear River, will be the organist.

Curator at the museum for the summer of 1976 is Mrs. Holly (Berry) Lewis. David Irvine is president of the Smith's Cove Historical Society.

Cornwallis Recruits Visit Children's Home

Kids at the Children's Training Centre on Warwick Street were visited and entertained by members of the 11th Platoon, "C" Company on Friday.

In the afternoon, the children and young soldiers joined in the dining room for coffee and treats.

While in town the visiting platoon, accompanied by "C" Company Commander Capt. Mike Ray, donated $400.00 to the kids, bringing the "C" Company Trust Fund to $1,660.10. The centre's management eventually hopes to obtain a video system.

Presentations were also made by the children to retiring Base Commander Capt. (N) T. Connors and Capt. Mike Ray who is being transferred.

MWO Snowdon, representing the 12th Platoon, also presented the kids with circus tickets and a small sum of money.

Hypertension '76 Clinic Held

Fifteen per cent of the 150 people tested during the Hypertension '76 project held in Digby proved to have high blood pressure.

John Chiasson and David Malloy, Dalhousie medical students working with the Nova Scotia Kidney Foundation, conducted the clinic.

Its purpose is to detect hypertension and, if necessary, refer people to local doctors for treatment. Various other shopping malls in the province have also been visited. Some two million Canadians supposedly have high blood pressure or hypertension—many of whom are unaware of it.

High blood pressure occurs when the blood exerts too much pressure as it flows through the arteries. It produces no symptoms, yet its effects can be devastating. It can lead to stroke, heart failure, kidney failures and numerous other serious problems.

High blood pressure is often not diagnosed until a stroke or some other illness results. The clinic's aim is to detect it before these effects occur. Hypertension can develop at any age.

EDITORIAL

These Are Crucial Times

It isn't a volcano, nor is it an earthquake. It isn't the Lassa Fever nor the Legionnaires epidemic in Philadelphia plaguing us here. Nevertheless our beautiful scenic town of Digby seems to be plagued by a plague which could be as disastrous as those named above, playing havoc socially, mentally and physically if we do not soon try to rid ourselves of this plague.

We refer to the plague which continues to hound the highest court of our fair community - the Town Council. Symptoms of the plague appear to be vain and untruthful imaginations, misunderstandings, misinformation, bitter cruel and harsh utterances and a general devoidness of courtesies within the Council confines.

Yes, this is a crucial time for our beloved town. Why? Because October is the month when the next town election comes up. This is already August 19 so October is not far away. The month of September should see all our town people thinking about the position we are in and use their utmost powers of persuasion to interest capable persons to continue or offer their services for the town. We are as cognizant of the difficulties as anyone but we would feel most negligent if we did not urge our readers to take on this responsibility.

The election will be called to fill the vacancies of mayor and three councillors. There is no reason why, any of these men, Mayor Charles Haliburton and Councillors, Gordon Ellis, William Reid and Reginald Hazelton should not offer again but there is also wisdom in having several candidates for voters to choose from. It is the duty of the citizens to give serious thought to candidates for these positions and may the best of the lot win the day.

There are many and varied reasons why voters will favor one candidate over another. Qualities have to be weighed. One candidate might be voted for because of his or her special qualifications in a particular field necessary in town affairs; another might be voted for because of time to devote in serving; another might have the God-given capacity to get along with people; a most necessary quality; another might be keen on business transactions (another necessary quality). All these and more should blend to make an efficient and happy Council.

These are crucial times for Digby. It is a time when every resident should make himself or herself concerned about the election to be held in October. It is the duty of each to do so.

Hodge Podge

~ Thanks to Councillor Gordon Ellis, we had a reply to our canon-carriage Hodge Podge of a couple weeks ago. Councillor Ellis says those carriages were built in 1937. He, too, has, of course, been advocating repairs on replacement of the carriages. He also says the woodwork at the Memorial Bell should be stained or painted or cared for in some way.

- Bringing up the subject of the October town election we were asked "Do you remember when Town Council used to be like a family. We talked it all over together."

- Can't be everywhere at once. By being on vacation we missed the Canadian Community Newspapers Association meeting in Halifax and the nice people who called at The Digby Courier enroute. There were the Scotts from The Reporter in Gananoque, Ontario, and Bob Erlam of The Whitehorse Star in the Yukon. See by the Reporter that Ina Scott is still busy with her column and also community activities.

Fishing Agreement Reached With Portugal

The Secretary of State for External Affairs, the Honourable Allan J. MacEachern, has announced the conclusion of an Agreement between Canada and Portugal on fisheries matters. The Agreement was negotiated at meetings led by Mr. L. H. J. Legault, Director General, International Fisheries and Marine Directorate, Environment Canada. The Portuguese delegation was led by the Portuguese Ambassador to Canada, His Excellency Luiz Gois Figuerira.

The Agreement, signed in Ottawa by the Secretary of State for External Affairs and the Portuguese Ambassador to Canada, will come into force upon ratification. It sets out the terms and conditions that will govern continued fishing by Portuguese fishing vessels in areas to be brought under Canadian jurisdiction beyond the present limits of the Canadian territorial sea and fishing zones off the Canadian Atlantic coast. The Agreement will permit Portuguese vessels to fish in the area concerned under Canadian authority and control, for resources surplus to Canadian requirements.

This Agreement is the fifth to be signed in recent months between Canada and nations having major fishing operations off the Canadian coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Manzer will reside in Downsview, Ontario, where the groom is employed with Eaton and Yale Co., and the bride is a receptionist on the staff of the Ontario Motor League.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In regard to my address to the Town Council on the evening of August 2, it was reported by the Courier that, I said the beer gardens held by the Kinsmen were "Nothing but drunken brawls." I should have been more correctly quoted. I said that I heard from someone (who I accepted as good authority) that the beer gardens held by the Kinsmen's club were "nothing but drunken brawls."

Further to the ever growing alcohol social problem, why should anybody, especially, a government connection, want to encourage the taking of a drug (alcohol) which has been called the most pernicious of all drugs which plague modern man.

The man who classifies alcohol as such is Dr. William J. Welch, a practicing physician and an associate Professor of Clinical Medicine as reported in the Halifax Chronicle-Herald on August 2, 1976.

I believe that Dr. Welch is "right on" and, we had better, do a better job at really listening to such statements.

DUG OUT CANOE IN MONCTON

Mrs. Edith M. Wallis, Editor
The Digby Courier
Digby, Nova Scotia

Dear Mrs. Wallis,

The dug-out canoe found on Brier Island has surfaced several times of late in the Courier and always in connection with the controversial "Painted Room". This prompts me to point out that the two historic items have not all that much in common. At the same time a few words about the canoe seem to be appropriate.

The canoe was saved thanks to Mr. John Graham of Westport who retrieved it very carefully from the exposed beach on Brier Island and thanks to the quick action of the Nova Scotia Museum which saw to it that it got into the care of experts at the Atlantic Conservation Centre at Moncton, N.B. with all possible speed. The A.C.C. at Moncton, I should add, is the Regional Laboratory of the Canadian Conservation Institute. Had the canoe stayed any longer in Digby County it would have fallen apart by now without its protective cover of the rich (smelling) and airtight Bay of Fundy mud.

Since its arrival in Mon-ton the canoe is undergoing a thorough cleaning process in a specially constructed tank. Once this has been accomplished it will be immersed in POLYETHYLENEGLYCOL which will take many months to penetrate the wood altogether. In all the cleaning and conservation treatment may take as long as two years. And if you think this is too long I should mention that a 12th century Hansa Kogge excavated in Northern Germany a few years ago is expected to stay in tank full of the same chemical for 25 to 30 years.

Following the treatment with P.E.G. the wood will be stable and the canoe will be fit to be exhibited; in the Nova Scotia Museum and also for several weeks at a time at Westport together with some panels explaining the conservation methods and hopefully, its past and origin. This I already discussed with people in Westport last February. So far nothing concrete regarding the origin and age of the canoe has come to light except that the wood has been identified as Eastern White Pine. But I shall keep you informed.

Sincerely
Niels W. Jannasch
Curator, Marine History

THOMPSON - MULLEN

On July 10th the New Tusk United Baptist Church was the scene of the marriage of Sheila Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mullen of New Tusk, Digby County, to Arthur Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Thompson of Granville Ferry, Annapolis County.

Reverend Merle Zimmerman and Lic. Lloyd Baker of Weymouth officiated at the evening ceremony.

The soloist was Miss Gaylene Mullen, sister of the bride, accompanied by organist Mr. Vernon Sabean.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of blue floral flocked white organza with a floor length skirt and train of white peau de chamois, trimmed with hand crocheted lace. The skirt overlay and puffed sleeves of fitted bodice were of Tergal voile. Her tiara style headpiece with floral trim held in place a waist length veil of layered white tulle decorated with blue crocheted flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of blue tipped carnations.

Miss Susan Gaudet of Weymouth was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Mullen and Mrs. Valerie MacDonald of New Glasgow. They wore similarly styled gowns of polyester satin. The maid of honor wore solid blue; bridesmaids wore blue floral print and flower girl, Miss Tina Marr, wore green and white crimplene. Their flowers were pink carnation nosegays with the flower girl carrying a basket of white daisy mums and pink roses. Their headdresses were matching blue artificial roses with blue pearl trim with the flower girl wearing a green carnation with white ribbon.

The best man was Mr. Rick Shorey of Granville Ferry, ushers were Mr. Keith Sabine of Riverdale and James Thompson of Granville Ferry. The ring bearer was Russell Mullen, brother of the bride.

The reception was held at the community hall.

The bride's mother wore a gown of blue floral polyester jersey with mauve accessories. The groom's mother chose a gown of green polyester knit with white accessories.

The happy couple will reside in Fredericton, New Brunswick.

MANZER - SNOW

Aurora United Church, Aurora, Ontario, was the scene of a quiet wedding on July 3, 1976 at 6 p.m. when Gail Irene Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snow, Sr., Stouffville, Ontario, became the bride of Malcolm Ray Manzer, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Manzer, Ashmore, N.S. The pastor, Rev. John Hunter officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

The bride wore a pink street length dress and carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

The attendants were the bride's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snow,

The Bethel United Baptist Church, Ashmore, N.S. was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on July 17, 1976 when Marolyn Lea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thibault, became the bride of George Ronald Manzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Manzer, all of Ashmore, N.S. Rev. W.P. Clayton officiated at the double ring ceremony assisted by Lic. Lloyd Baker.

Miss Susan Manzer, the groom's cousin, was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in her floor length gown of white lace over satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt which ended in a deep flounce. The bodice had a high neckline and "leg of mutton" sleeves which were trimmed at the wrist with a band of satin to allow the lace to fall in a frill over the hand. Her long veil, which extended in a train beyond her gown, was held by a caplet matching her gown and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white daisies.

The maid of honor Miss Donna Allen, Middleton, wore a floor length gown of polyester gossamer in a blue and rose paisley print. Fashioned with an empire waistline, the gown had a deep V-neckline edged with wide white lace and full sleeves ending in cuffs at the wrist. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow mums and wore an arrangement of red rosebuds and lily of the valley in her hair.

The best man was Rickey Thibault, brother of the bride, and ushers were Mark Thibault and Carl Manzer, brothers of the bride and groom, all of Ashmore.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thibault wore a light beige floor length leaf design printed dress with beige accessories and a yellow corsage. The groom's mother, Mrs. Manzer, chose a floor length gown of blue and white figured voile over deep blue taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church hall where the bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Manzer will reside in Port Williams, N.S., as the groom will be returning to Acadia University to complete his studies for a B. Ed. degree.

Gill Net Moratorium For Maritimes

A temporary freeze on any increase of gill net fishing in the Maritimes was announced today by H. Douglas Johnston, Director-General of the Fisheries and Marine Service, Maritimes Region. Effective immediately, the three-month freeze prohibits fishermen of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and P.E.I. from increasing the number of gill nets they are fishing. During this period, Federal Fisheries officials will consult with representatives of fishermen and other sectors of the industry about the management of this fishery.

Usually made of synthetic fibres, gill nets capture fish by entangling their gills, and are highly efficient fishing gear when properly handled. Increased use of gill net gear in both inshore and offshore fisheries has caused concern among Fisheries officials in view of depleted Atlantic fish stocks and restrictions imposed on other fishing gear such as trawling and seining.

"The gill netting situation is becoming entirely out of control, with many fishermen setting out more nets per boat than can be properly tended," Mr. Johnston said. "Complaints have reached the Fisheries Service of nets being unattended for more than a week. The quality of groundfish left in nets too long leaves little to work with when landed for processing. Efforts and subsidies - to encourage quality improvement of this product are completely negated by such landings."

Uncontrolled expansion of gill net activity could frustrate efforts currently being made to improve the Atlantic groundfish fisheries, Mr. Johnston warned. Now extending into such offshore areas as Brown, LaHave and even Georges Banks, gill netting activity has resulted in shutting off substantial areas of ocean traditionally used by other trawlers. In the case of those trawlers seeking pollock, there is a distinct danger that Canada's allowable catch of this species might not be taken this season. This could lead to complications in Canada's negotiations aimed at maintaining or expanding this quota for future seasons.

"Even if we are successful in putting into place the most effective conservation practices, it will be a few years before one can hope for stocks of groundfish and other species to return to such levels as will support the vigorous fishery upon which so much of the Atlantic economy depends. With limitation of effort being applied to other fishing activities, it would seem entirely reasonable to check this headlong rush now seen into groundfish gill netting," the Director-General said.

Mr. Johnston hoped for full support from the fishing industry in developing acceptable solutions to this situation, and invited early and constructive representations from fishermen and industry representatives.

Lassa Fever Being Carefully Watched

Nova Scotia Department of Health Officials are keeping a close watch on a case of lassa fever, a rare and deadly tropical disease that has been confirmed in Ontario.

Deputy Health Minister Dr. Peter Nichols, formerly of Digby, said that a woman in Toronto, whose name has not yet been released, has been confirmed as having the disease.

Dr. Nichols said Ontario Health Officials have informed him that the woman arrived at the Toronto International Airport on an overseas flight after a tour of several European Countries. Actual flight was British Airways Flight 601 from London on August 2nd.

The Deputy Minister said that Ontario officials are reviewing the passenger list, and no known Nova Scotians are thought to have been on the flight.

However, Dr. Nichols said, should anyone who was on that flight be in the province, they are asked to contact their nearest public health unit director.

Adams and John enjoyed a trip to the Valley. They visited Mrs. Etta Parks at Annapolis Hospital and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Jennex on August 4th.

Miss Joy Fleet has been a weekend visitor at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Janet Wilson.

Summer is passing and most of our American friends and Bay View neighbors have arrived to spend sometime here in their summer residence. We do however miss the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Goodwin and trust we will soon see them.

Hill Grove (Mrs. D.A. Roope)

Mr. Earl Warner with daughter Jill and son Randy of Ontario, who are visiting with Mr. Warner's sister, Mr. Richard Applejohn in Digby, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Warner one day last week.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wilson on the arrival of a son on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Wynn and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald MacFellan of New Germany, were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Orbin Minard were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Saunders at Clementsvale.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Marshall and family of Saint Johns, Newfoundland, are spending several days with Mrs. Benjamin Marshall Sr.

Mrs. William Latham of Springfield, Mass., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Warner and other relatives in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Craig, daughter Robin and granddaughter Dolores Strong of Oak Ridge, Ontario, visited with Linda and Wayne Gates for ten days.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur MacKay and Miss Susie Nichols last week were Mr. and Mrs. William Coxeter of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roope and daughter Joanne motored to Truro, on Sunday to meet their daughter, Sheila who had been visiting for two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd Grant and Development - Annapolis Valley

Development Minister George M. Mitchell today announced that Canadian-British Consultants Ltd. of Halifax have been selected to prepare a conceptual plan for the Annapolis Valley Regional Industrial Park.

Under terms of the recently signed Canada-Nova Scotia Industrial Development Subsidiary Agreement, up to $1.69 million will be shared by the Federal Department of Regional Economic Expansion and the Provincial Department of Development for Development of the Park during the next five years.

Mr. Mitchell paid tribute to DREE Minister Marcel Lessard and the Local DREE staff for the expediency and the efficiency with which the negotiations were concluded.

"This agreement," he said, "clearly indicates the department's intention of making a very real effort to increase Nova Scotia's secondary manufacturing base."

One hundred and ninety-five acres of non-agricultural type land at the west end of Kentville, including the present Kentville Industrial Park, have been acquired by the province.

The objectives of creating the park are to complement the existing resource based industry of the region by provision of service industries, and by broadening the existing base of the valley economy, which currently is largely agricultural and seasonal. Construction and servicing of the Annapolis Valley Regional Industrial Park are expected to commence when the completed plans are approved by the new industrial commission.

The Park will encourage development and expansion of existing Valley industry, and increase the variety of employment opportunities available in the Annapolis Valley.

Visitors From Wales

After thirty three years, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rees of Barry, Wales, U.K. recently returned to Digby to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Van Tassell, 9 Mount St. and Mrs. Josephine Van Tassell, Queen St.

This was Mrs. Rees' first visit to Canada.

Mr. Rees had been with the RAF stationed at CFB Greenwood during World War II and was a frequent visitor of the VanTassell family during his leaves.

While here, Mr. and Mrs. Rees accompanied the VanTassell's to Saint John, N.B. to visit Mrs. Josephine VanTassell's son, Donald VanTassell and family.

They also toured various parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia including a trip to Bridgetown and Kentville to see Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II and a return visit to what they found to be a very changed Greenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Rees said, they had a very pleasant visit and hope to return in the near future.

SATURDAY, DIGBY SCALLOP DAY FULL OF EVENTS

Digby Scallop Day, edition 2, gets underway Saturday with a wide variety of activities.

The Digby Scallop Day Committee, brainchild of the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council is busy putting the final touches to this year's expanded program.

Events will get underway at 9 a.m. at the Fishermen's wharf at which time the public will be conducted on tours through fishing boats and fish plants.

Other events on the wharf will include a band concert with the Digby Stage Band at 12:30 p.m. the official opening at 1:30 p.m. and scallop shucking and fish gillnetting competitions beginning at 2 p.m.

Dignitaries attending the official opening are expected to include Digby MLA Joe Casey and provincial fisheries minister A.M. (Sandy) Cameron.

The Digby Pines and the RCMP have each donated a trophy for the wharf competitions. Cash prizes will also be awarded.

Yacht Club events held in conjunction with Scallop Day will get underway at 10 a.m. The club has a variety of activities planned. Canoeing events will include double, four-man, mixed, single and bow races.

Woodmen's competitions will consist of Swede sawing, mixed cross-cut sawing, underhand chopping, axe-throwing, and possibly a few other odds and ends.

Other plans call for tub races, dory races, (single and double) power saw competitions, a kettle boil, and possibly a sail boat race and a few additional events.

All the Yacht Club events will take place in the area of the club although the sailboat races are expected to begin in front of the town and end at the club.

The Digby Legion is also involved in this year's Digby Scallop Day. Activities there will include an open house, a 16-team invitational dart tournament, and horseshoe pitching.

Around 12 noon a Scallop shish-kabob and beer garden will be held at the park near the Cannon Bank providing visitors with the opportunity to sample Digby Scallops hot off the grill.

To close off the day's activities, a dance will begin at 9 p.m. at the Evangeline Shoppers' Mall.

Events at the Fishermen's Wharf will be held in the Canpol Fisheries building in the event of rain.

New C.O. For Digby Corps

Lt. David Howlett has recently been appointed commanding officer of the Digby Corps of the Salvation Army. Mr. Howlett, wife Margaret and two children, hail from Ontario.

Prior to his appointment, Lt. Howlett completed two years at the William Booth Training College for Salvation Army Officers, Toronto. The training included midnight patrols which the trainees were required to make on Yonge Street every Friday night. The night patrols resulted in a few dangerous incidents, but Lt. Howlett reports that help always came unexpectedly. The patrols involved walking down Toronto's "sin strip" trying to assist any persons who needed help.

In Digby, Lt. Howlett commands a corps of thirty soldiers and seventy adherents. The army maintains a thrift store where used garments and furniture are accepted. The Corps conducts services weekly on the hospital grounds and at Tideview Terrace. Four soldiers distribute the War Cry.

Mrs. Dorothy Smythe and one of the residents of the Children's Training Centre admire the goodies set up for a party held there during a visit by the CFB Cornwallis 11th Platoon on Friday.

Tiverton Field Day Successful

Plans for the Field Day, sponsored by the Volunteer Fire Department, Tiverton, were carried out to the finest detail despite darkened skies.

Heading the parade which congregated near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elliott, was the R.C.M.P. of Digby detachment followed by the Tiverton fire truck with their lights flashing and the sirens heralding the youngsters with gaily decorated doll carriages, carts, tricycles and bicycles and groups of young people followed by a van with red light flashing.

The parade proceeded to Tiverton ferry landing, turned and made their way to the grounds at Central Grove where the event took place.

First prizes were won by parade participants under eight years of age, young Ernest Titus and his sister, Rebecca Lyn children of Mr. and Mrs. Lindon Titus, and their cousins, Angela Elliott and sister Marianne Elliott, children of Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Elliott. The second prizes were won by sisters, Candy and Kelly Pyne, children of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Pyne at Central Grove. The children were character representatives of Jane and Tarzan.

First prize in the over eight category was captured by Krista Prime, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Prime and second prize winner was Lisa Ossinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ossinger. All winners received a gold Olympic coin.

Youngsters enjoyed pony rides under the guidance of pony owners Mr. Douglas Conn and Mr. "Ricky" Small.

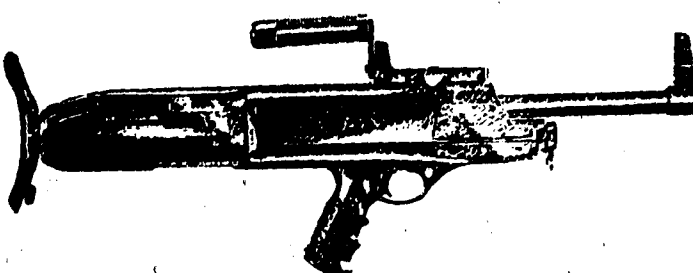

Judges for the event were Mrs. Merrill Dixon; Mrs. Robert Ruggles, Minister; Charles MacNeil and Mr. Chester Sommers.

By this time darkened skies had given way to rain clouds. But the down pour did not stop the chicken barbecue presided over by Bill Lefort of Weymouth.

Approximately $400 was realized from the event.

Clifton Outhouse, Fishery Inspector, is Fire Chief of the Tiverton Volunteer Fire Department, and Edwin Ossinger is Secretary-Treasurer.

BASFORD ANNOUNCES "HIGH-STANDARD MODEL 10 (SERIES "A" and "B")" PLACED ON RESTRICTED LIST

Ottawa, July 26, 1976—Ron Basford today announced that the auto-loading twelve gauge shotgun, known as the High-Standard Model 10 (Series "A" and "B"), was placed on the "restricted weapons" list effective July 14, 1976.

Placing the weapon on the "restricted" list prohibits its sale without a permit from an Attorney General or the Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and no person is permitted to have possession of such a weapon without a registration certificate issued by the Commissioner of the RCMP.

The "High-Standard Model 10" is a semi-automatic shotgun, easily concealable, and designed for police use in riot control. The weapon is not designed for hunting or sporting purposes.

Mr. Basford said, "This weapon has the potential of being extremely dangerous in the hands of persons other than those for whom it was designed, namely the police. Accordingly we do not want this weapon readily available to the public."

Mr. Basford also said that he will consider prohibiting

Thanks to all participants, it was a successful day and hopefully the first of many annual events.

Digby Neck Fire Hall And Recreation Progressing

Information received at the regular meeting, of the Digby Neck Fire Commission, indicates that the firehall-recreation complex will soon be an accomplished fact. The building is being completed and plans are being made for its use.

A strike at the pre fabricating plant caused a ten-week delay in construction. The L.I.P.

program closed on June 26th, but a new application will be processed and the Commission is hopeful that it will receive favorable consideration.

L.I.P. programs furnish money for labor only, and the Commission is grateful for the help and encouragement received from them. Partial funds have been received from the Provincial Recreation Department and full monies will be received when the building is complete.

The building is progressing and once the roof is on the building, the fire truck will be housed in its new home. The Department thanks Mr. L. Robicheau for the use of his building over the past year.

Bingo still continues to draw good groups at the Community Hall in Sandy Cove. Every Saturday night finds folks on tap to see who will win the Jackpot, or the Door Prize, or the Raffle. The Afghan, raffled by the Ladies Auxiliary, was won by Virginia Shaw.

The firemen are planning their first annual auction for Saturday, September 4, 1 to 5 p.m. This will be held at the new firehall and folks can see how far the building has progressed as well as get themselves a few needed articles. The support of the community is solicited for this event. Donations of useful articles, that can be sold, and attendance at the auction will be appreciated.

A new pump, donated by the Ladies Auxiliary, has been received by the department.

Tractor Overturns

Tractor trailer truck, from Heffler's Mill in Lower Sackville, overturned in Marshallowton on Monday night.

It is understood two occupants of the vehicle were taken to Digby General Hospital with tar burns.

Digby Swimmers In N.S. Championships

Over 500 swimmers will participate in the Nova Scotia Competitive Swimming Championships August 20th and 21st at Kentville Pool.

The events are all timed finals and will begin at noon on the Friday and at 9:00 a.m. Saturday. The meet will be the culmination of the summer program sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, Nova Scotia Section.

Teams are expected from every region of the province including: Richmond and Port Hawkesbury from Cape Breton; Colby Village, Shannon Park, Banook, Senobe, Micmac and Abenaki from Dartmouth; Waegwoltic from Halifax; Windsor, Hantsport, Greenwood, Kentville, Lawrencetown, Bridgetown, and Digby from the Valley; Bridgewater, Mahone Bay and Milton from the South Shore as well as Amherst, Bedford, Milford, Truro and Sheet Harbour.

Teams will participate in 26 events over the two day meet. Saturday evening an awards banquet will be held at Acadia University.

There will be no admission charge and the public is invited to attend this major meet. Canteen facilities will be available for light refreshments.

Attend Beulah Camp

by Francis Adams

Pastor Douglas Hapeman the former Pastor of the Digby Wesleyan Church and his family along with 33 other members and adherents of the Wesleyan Church have recently returned from Beulah Camp, Brown's Flats in New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bullock and son, John, founded Beulah Camp in 1893. It has grown to a large extent over the years and is now considered one of the larger ones in the country.

The original tabernacle was built in 1897 about four years after it was founded by Aaron Kinney. Last year the Tabernacle accommodated about 1000 people and because it was packed out for services during recent years plans were being carried out to increase its size to accommodate more people. Approximately 2000 people attended some of the services in 1976 and on one or more occasions the newly enlarged tabernacle was packed out beyond seating capacity.

The services included inspiring messages by Rev. Earl Wilson and Rev. Robert Wallace. Rev. and Mrs. Robert Wallace of Allantown Penna., also provided a ministry of music enjoyed by the many hundreds of people present. Mr. Dwight Mullen was the camp music director again this year and his wife provided much of the organ music for this years encampment.

"His Likeness", a group of singers from Bethany, provided some of the enjoyable music throughout camp meeting.

In addition to the Bethany Service other special services included Missionary Day which was held on Thursday, July 15th when both speakers on Home Missions and Foreign Missions were heard. The following day July 16th a service was held to ordain new pastors.

On Sunday July 12th and on the following Sunday services of Baptism were held in Lake Galilee. This lake is a part of the Saint John River and is located on Beulah Camp Grounds about 20 miles above the city of Saint John.

On Sundays the deaf people who are privileged to attend services here are accompanied by their interpreter.

Some of the centres of activity located on the grounds are a Christian Book Store and a newly renovated dining hall where as many as 700 people went for Sunday dinner. The large tabernacle previously mentioned and a children's tabernacle are also located there. Some of the people own cottages there. A number of dormitories are located there. One of the older dormitories, Cedar-dale, will soon be replaced by a more modern dormitory. Cedar-dale will truly be missed by many people. It is one of the old landmarks of Beulah located near the beach.

A Trailer Park is located at Beulah with as many as 58 trailers in the park on one Sunday. This does not include other trailers located at various other places on the grounds not to mention Mobile Homes or tents in which others abide. People were present from Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, P.E.I., and the North West Territories also from Maine.

A lady from England was welcomed. She is a sister of the Digby Wesleyan Pastor, Walter L. Fernley. A bride and groom from Australia were also welcomed.

Daily Vacation Bible School is one of the activities scheduled for the young people each year. Bible Study, is a privilege enjoyed by the older people and swimming was an attraction for both young and old.

OBITUARY

NELL HALL-HUMPHERSON

Nell Hall-Humpherson, probably the last of the activists of the suffragist movement in England before World War I, died Monday at 83, Cobourg, Ontario.

In a stormy career as a suffragette that began when she was 14, she, with her mother and friends, burned and bombed buildings, horsewhipped men, tossed bricks through windows and served sentences in prison where they were force-fed to stop them from starving themselves to death.

Their weapons were usually stones, whips and gasoline. Once they set the turf of a golf course afire with gasoline and stopped a tournament scheduled for the following day. One of her group whipped Winston Churchill when he was home secretary.

Mrs. Hall-Humpherson was secretary to Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the suffragist movement, in 1928 when their objective was reached - women's right to vote in British elections. In that year, Mrs. Pankhurst died.

Mrs. Hall-Humpherson came to Canada with her husband and two children in 1929. She lived in Nova Scotia (Digby) until 1943, then moved to Toronto where she joined the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Association and frequently spoke to women's groups, urging her listeners to take advantage of the right to vote for which women of her time had fought - and sometimes died.

When asked if she thought the sacrifices of the early suffragettes were worth while, she replied: "I sometimes wonder. So many women won't take the trouble to go out and vote."

She leaves sons Major Peter of Ottawa and David of Grafton, Ontario.

THE DIGBY COURIER

Report Of Air Inquiry Commissioner Released

Ron Basford August 13th released the report of His Honour Judge W.A. Stevenson, Commissioner of the inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the crash of Panarctic Oil Limited aircraft at Rea Point, N.W.T., on October 30, 1975.

The appointment of Judge Stevenson of the Alberta District Court as Commissioner for the inquiry was announced by the Justice Minister November 25, 1975.

In the course of the inquiry 23 witnesses appeared before the commission among them technical and medical experts and public hearings were held in Yellowknife, N.W.T. and Edmonton.

The crash, which took the lives of 32 people including two crew members, was one of the worst air disasters ever to occur in the North.

Flight 416 of Panarctic departed Edmonton International Airport at 8:04 p.m. on the night of 30 October, 1974 with the arrival time at Rea Point, N.W.T. estimated at 12:30 midnight.

The particular flight was engaged in supply of materials and transfer of personnel by or on behalf of Panarctic in the Arctic Islands, Rea Point being a staging or distribution centre for much of the company's operations.

At a point approximately three miles from its destination the aircraft went into an abrupt descent and struck the sea ice. Only the First Officer and the Flight Engineer survived.

FINDINGS OF THE COMMISSIONER

1. The cause of the crash was an unexplained, rapid descent, at an altitude so low as to make inevitable the resultant crash.

2. The rapid descent was consistent with either a marked degree of disorientation, or a sudden cerebral malfunction on the part of the Captain. His Honour chose the latter reason as the best of the possible explanations.

3. His Honour rejected physical fatigue, suicide, psychological disturbance, alcoholism, or the consumption of alcohol or other drugs as a cause.

4. A contributory factor was the captain's attempt to obtain visual reference himself while otherwise relying on his instruments.

5. Another contributory factor was the decision to descend below the minimum descent altitude.

SUMMARY OF CONCLUSIONS (from the report)

"The immediate cause of the crash was the initiation of a rapid descent in circumstances which made impact with the surface virtually inevitable. It appears to me that this action, by the Captain, occurred almost concurrently with incapacitation of a very severe degree. His attempt, prior to the initiation of descent, to make a visual reference when the co-pilot did not have the airport environment in sight and the decision to descend below the prescribed minimum altitude were contributing factors which were attributable, if not to deficiencies in initial training, then to deficiencies in the discipline of flight crews to accept and adhere to these rules of instrument flight. Deviations from accepted practices should only occur when the grounds for the deviation are communicated to other flight crew members, and this crew, if adequately trained in that regard, were not disciplined in its application.

Bill Smiley Column Wins Award

Bill Smiley, a high school teacher whose column of humorous observations on Canadian life appears in more than 135 weekly newspapers, was honoured today by the Canadian Community Newspapers Association for the best column in a weekly newspaper.

He was the first recipient of the George Cadogan Award. The presentation was made at the CCNA convention here.

Mr. Smiley is head of the English department of the Midland, Ontario, high school. He was the publisher of the weekly Wiarton, Ontario, Echo before entering teaching. A veteran of the RCAF, he spent several years in a German prisoner of war camp during World War II.

Bill Smiley began his column when he was publishing the paper in Wiarton. Editors of other Ontario weekly papers began to reprint it, and in 1961 distribution was taken over by the Toronto Telegram Syndicate. It is now distributed by The Argyle Syndicate of Toronto.

Truck Activity Survey

The provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, and Newfoundland will conduct a Truck Activity Survey August 23 to August 29.

Survey stations will be at permanent truck scales and other locations on the primary highway system of Nova Scotia. The survey will be carried out 24 hours a day during this seven day period. Truck drivers will be asked to provide information concerning the type of goods being hauled, the origin of the load, its final destination, and how often they make the trip. They will also be asked for an estimate of gross vehicle weight at survey stations which are not at permanent scales.

This information will assist in establishing priorities in the upgrading of the primary highway system.

THE TIME IS NOW

The path to human contentment and fulfillment is a stony, one. The biggest boulder in the way of good intentions may be that of lateness.

"When I have time I will do it," is a common way out of an invitation or a challenge. When it comes to visiting a sick friend, sending a letter to encourage someone, or telling someone of the love of God; the tendency is to wait, to put off. The person who will do everything, "when he has the time," rarely does anything either today or tomorrow.

Few will admit to this kind

Old Theories On Teeth Exploded

The traditional theories that say that teeth clenching or grinding is caused by anxiety and a poor "bite", appear to have been exploded by a dentist-psychologist team.

It found that it was frustration-not anxiety-that caused the unconscious grinding of teeth-bruxism-and that the problem is more psychosomatic than mechanical.

Rather than altering the pattern of the patient's "bite", a dentist should teach him to relax, say the researchers. The patient's jaw might also be rested by a diet of soft foods or disengaging them at night with guards or splints.

When the tested patients learned of their tensional responses, they also learned self-control. They could be taught to relax their mouth muscles under stress.

The volunteer patients underwent a series of warning and electric shocks to increase anxiety and various forms of harassment to intensify frustration.- Canadian Dental Association.

JUST PEOPLE

People are all alike, and they are all different. Some are even indifferent to each other. Most are what we call socially inclined; that is, they don't like to be alone. Out of the billions who have lived, no two have ever been alike, yet each one tries to make the next person just like himself, and it can't be done.

When we speak of the world, we mean the world of people. The earth plus people make the world and sometimes they unmake it. People are a problem to themselves. In fact, all problems result from human interference with the design of God.

The only way to straighten things out is to get the human heart reconciled with its Maker. Pride and independence keep many from seeing this point. The Bible says, John 3:16, "God so loved the world." This is the world of human intellect and the human will. It should be enough to wake up any sleeping sinner to know that God loves even him.

The main problem God has with people is that they think they are bigger and stronger than they really are. Too often they don't think they need His love at all.

The prayer we must all utter first is this, "Lord show me what a weakling and a failure I am; help me cast myself on You."

People are fine; it is good that we have them, but they have some lessons to learn. The first is their need of coming to God through faith in His Son, and so to get life straightened out, now and for ever.

Sto. Anne Graduate Chosen Guide

Deborah Spurr, a graduate of College St. Anne, is one of the two guides which were chosen from Nova Scotia to work as tour guides in the House of Commons this summer. Dolfi Havlovic of Halifax is the other guide.

Fifteen University students from various parts of Canada were chosen to work as tour guides in the House of Commons this summer. After training session, the guides are required to give tours to the many people who visit the Parliament Buildings. These guides must be capable of working in both English and French. However, tours are also given in Spanish, German, Italian, Russian and Sign Language.

This is not the first time that someone from Nova Scotia has been chosen. Mariette Saulnier from Little Brook, Digby County, was a guide in the summer of '75. The students are allowed to work for one season only, so that others may be given the same opportunity.

Debbie Spurr has said, "The job has proven to be extremely interesting at times because we are able to meet people from all over the world, as well as many members of parliament, plus the Speakers of the House of Commons and the Senate. Also, it is not unusual to have the Prime Minister walk by during a tour. Various events have taken place on Parliament Hill this summer that we were able to attend. For example, the Salute to the American Bicentennial and the Lighting of the Olympic Torch."

Cadet Training Of Great Value

(Greenwood, N.S.) If cadets practise in future years what they have learned from the movement they will "never be afraid to hold their heads high or look in the mirror" says Colonel I.E. Creelman, Commanding Officer of Canadian Forces Base Greenwood, Nova Scotia.

"The qualities one gains as a cadet, self discipline, integrity, responsibility, pride in oneself and co-operation with fellows will help a person no matter what he does in future."

Col. Creelman said he has travelled extensively for the past 25 years and during that time he has become firmly convinced that the cadet movement is one of the best organizations in the world for young people.

"It's a tremendous value to the individual and to Canada," he said.

The base commander made the comments in an address to the cadets who graduated 30 July 1976 from training programs at Air Cadet Summer Camp, Greenwood.

About 400 completed two weeks of junior training which included leadership, general service knowledge, airmanship, drill and emergency first aid.

Fifty five cadets graduated from two weeks of training in survival, canoeing, small game hunting, fishing, camping and wilderness conservation.

Certificates and badges were presented to about 20 who successfully completed a four-week life guard course.

Col. Creelman was the reviewing officer for the graduation parade. Accompanying him on his inspection was Jim Russell, a member of the Newfoundland branch of the Air Cadet League of Canada.

Training at Camp Greenwood will continue until August 20, the date set for the final ceremonial parade.

Scheduled for the ceremonial is the presentation of licenses and wings to 47 cadets who have been training for powered aircraft pilots' licenses this summer at flying clubs in Sydney and Shearwater, Nova Scotia; Fredrickton and Moncton, New Brunswick; Summerside, Prince Edward Island.

Wings and licenses are also to be presented to 34 cadets who have been attending the gliding school at Waterville Airport, near CFB Greenwood.

The combined wings presentation will be the first of its kind in Canada. In the past, wings were presented to cadets on their return to home squadrons.

The August 20 ceremonial will also be the graduation parade for another 350 junior cadets who will have completed a two week training program.

Reviewing officer for the final parade is Colonel A. McLellan, the acting commander of the Maritime Air Group. Representing the Air Cadet League of Canada will be Kier Costain, chairman of Prince Edward Island Provincial Committee of the league.

Bill MacEachern, Minister of Social Services, looks on while blind craftsman, Murray Sellers, an employee of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind at Halifax, demonstrates the skill of chair caning. Mr. MacEachern recently toured CNIB facilities in Halifax after presenting its Maritime Division Director, John J. Rusk, with a cheque for $26,250 to help fund some institute activities in Nova Scotia. CNIB has 65 blind and 23 sighted personnel in the province.

Reflecting To 1946

What boy today would not be excited to find 12 porpoises in a weir. Charlie Theriault was then only 13 years of age but there is doubt that he ever forgot the Sunday that he went to the Joggins to dig a mess of clams but instead was greeted by much commotion at the Ganny Baxter weir. He ran home and roused his 15 year old brother, Robert, and Robert Denton, near by. They found two of the twelve porpoises dead so fastened ropes to pull them ashore with a dory. The other ten of the 500 lb. 8 ft. 8 in. long porpoises escaped by high tide.

V.G. Cardoza attended the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities held at Truro and urged more uniformity in assessment because without it there could not be uniform taxation. He urged a permanent chief assessor trained by the Department of Municipal Affairs who would give full time to his job.

Carloads of hardwood stoves were being shipped from Digby to Barbados by H.T. Warne Ltd., Potter Lumber Company Ltd. and by Captain B. N. Melanson. These stoves were used to make molasses puncheons. Preparation of stoves from birch, maple and beech trees felled in the winter provided employment.

Municipality Pays $36,118.05

The Digby Municipal Hydro Committee with Councillor L.E.R. Winchester, chairman, recommended to the Digby Municipal Council in monthly session on Monday that the municipality pay the Digby County Power Board an unpaid debt of $36,118.05. On motion of Councillor Richard Daley, seconded by Councillor Arthur Rice the recommendation of the committee was acted up with one dissenting vote. Others on the Hydro committee with Councillor Winchester are Councillors Parker Thurber, Daley, Eric VanTassell, Ervin Marshall and Warden Wilfred Swift. The same recommendation was made at the July meeting but it was defeated in Council.

The recommendation sparked lively discussion on the wisdom of selling the Digby County Power Board or retaining ownership. Once again it was explained to Councillors that the municipality of the District of Digby owns only part of the Digby County Power Board, and that other owners are the Town of Digby, the Village of Weymouth and the Municipality of Clare.

Several councillors spoke in favor of selling with Councillors Helen McNeil and Byard Marshall seemingly being more convinced of the stand. Councillor MacNeil felt the ratepayers of Digby municipality by owning the hydro utility have to pay their own debt as well as being taxed for the Nova Scotia Power Corporation finances.

Councillor Eric VanTassell said it was difficult to find out what the utility really does cost and he'd be happier to have the $36,118.05 in his pocket than to have the utility in the future. Councillor Marshall said that until Warden Omer Blinn expressed himself in the news media, the people in his district are wanting to sell. Councillor VanTassell also expressed a serious note of discouragement and wondered if the Council had confidence in the ability of the committee. Councillor Winchester again reminded council that operating costs and capital expenditures should not be confused and went into more detail on the hydro financial figures before Council.

Highest compliments were paid to Mr. Winchester and a vote of confidence was passed in the Digby Municipal Council Hydro Committee. This again sparked lively discussion when Councillor Rice suggested a sincere vote of confidence would expect backing-up by the councillors of the committee's future recommendations. Councillor Byard Marshall felt that his vote of confidence does not mean he has changed his mind about selling. Councillor Walter MacAlpine said he would still like to have a report of the study being done on the DCPB and still hoped to be able to ask questions and get the answers he desires.

On Councillor MacNeil's remark that she would not be blackmailed in casting her vote, the morning session dismissed for lunch, returning at 1:30 p.m. when the vote to pay the indebtedness of $36,118.05 was passed.

Scallop Shucking contests are a popular attraction annually at Digby Scallop Day. Here, two area residents are shown competing before hundreds of spectators.

Scallop Day

Digby Scallop Day went off successfully Saturday and proved to be a popular attraction for tourists and locals alike.

Hundreds of people crowded the Fishermen's Wharf area in the late morning and early afternoon hours for the official opening, a band concert, Digby Stage Band, and the crowd-pleasing scallop shucking and fish filleting contests.

Nearby, in the Admiral Digby Park, a scallop Shish-kebob and beer garden proved to be a popular Digby Scallop Day addition. Garden staff, consisting of Digby Pines personnel, found themselves much busier than had been expected.

The crowds had three activity centres to choose from this year. The Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club sponsored a variety of water sports and woodsmen's competitions while the Digby Legion held an open house, an 18-team invitational dart tournament and horseshoe pitching.

Joe Casey Digby M.L.A., declared the event officially open during a ceremony on the wharf. Mr. Casey outlined the history of commercial scallop fishing here, which began about 50 years ago. Other ceremony guests included Coline Campbell, M.P. Southwestern Nova; Dr. Gerry Sheehy, Annapolis East M.L.A. and Frank Bezanson, M.L.A. Kings West.

Digby Scallop Day organizers were more than satisfied with attendance at Saturday's various events. The events program was expanded from that of its 1975 debut.

Digby Scallop Day was blessed with sunny weather although some discomfort resulted from the day's temperatures which rose above the 30 degree range.

A number of Digby area residents participated in the shucking and filleting contests. Wendell Gregory shucked his pail of scallops in the shortest time.

Winner in the fish filleting contest was Ronnie Amoro, of Marshalltown.

Results of the woodsmen's competition were: Dorey races: Ward Thomas, Sr. and Victor Halliday, Digby. Bucksaw, Eddie Crouse, South Brookfield; Crosscut men's doubles, Jim MacLeod, Eureka and Les MacLean, Brookfield. Crosscut mixed doubles: Arnold and Norma Dunfee, Fredericton; Power saw: Arnold Dunfee, Fredericton; Axe throw: Todd Labrador, Molega; Kettle boil; Jim MacLeod, Eureka; Wood-chopping, Les MacLean, Brookfield; Two-man canoe; Stewart and John Francis, Milton; Four-man canoe: John Francis, Stewart Francis, Melvin Francis and Stephen MacLean; Mixed doubles: John Francis, Molega, Bev Thomas, Dartmouth.

In overall points towards the guide association Russ MacLean earned the most with 25; Eddie Crouse had 24; and Jim MacLeod and Winston Lohnes tied for third with 23 each.

Organizers in Bear River are busy putting final touches to plans for the annual Digby County Exhibition which will run from Wednesday, September 1 to Saturday, September 4.

The exhibition will be officially opened at 8 p.m., Wednesday by Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade President Bruce Mackenzie. Other officials, invited guests and the Bear River Cherry Carnival queen Julia Henshaw will also be on stage.

The first day of exhibition activities will include a regular ox-haul at 1:30 p.m. followed by a single horse haul. The morning will be given to judging of grade beef, etc. Music that evening will be provided by Uncle Penn.

Areas surrounding national parks in Atlantic Canada and Quebec may derive some benefit from a redirection of funds from the department of Indian and northern affairs, the department's minister, Judd Buchanan, indicated here Monday.

Speaking in this small Annapolis County community to a group of residents from the areas near Kejimikujik National Park, Mr. Buchanan said efforts are being made to re-arrange his department's budget to redirect the necessary funds to those areas where there are "very genuine concerns for the employment aspect."

The department, he said is "looking at this area (Kejimikujik National Park Park or Kedge) and I anticipate we'll have something solid to give you which should give some employment during the fall and winter."

The minister, fresh from a few days of camping at Kedge, made afternoon visits to Fort Anne, Annapolis Royal and the Habitation at Port Royal and briefly met with representatives of the Annapolis Royal and Annapolis County municipal councils.

Annapolis Royal town council has been communicating with government officials for some time seeking a grant in lieu of taxes for having Fort Anne within its town boundaries.

Mayor George Richardson pointed out to the minister that the town is in a unique position in that it is unable to derive much benefit from having the historic site.

By Larry Duschene

The town has a small population of 758 people, of which 80 per cent are retired, "so we don't have the services the tourists and travelling public want."

The mayor expressed concern that "there are 335 acres of property tied up in the town which we do not receive a bit of taxes for."

Mr. Buchanan said the request for a grant falls within the responsibility of the finance department. That department, he said, has indicated it will look at the situation again.

Mr. Buchanan's meeting with Annapolis County council members was the least informal of the day. It turned out to be a get acquainted affair between several councillors, Mr. Buchanan and his companions, Coline Campbell, Southwestern Nova MP, J.A. Hall, area superintendent of historic sights for western Nova Scotia and Doug Hall, assistant regional director of Parks Canada, Halifax.

At Maitland Bridge, Mr.

Buchanan was met with requests to have the park provide more employment opportunities for area residents, both permanent employment and that created by expansion of park facilities. Ideas such as expanding tenting facilities and reviving the fish hatchery were suggested.

Changes to Fisherman's Unemployment Insurance

Changes by the federal government to the fishermen's program of unemployment insurance, to take effect this fall, will provide more benefits, especially in regions of high unemployment.

There are two major changes to the fishermen's program, which is on a seasonal basis:

(1) Fishermen become eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits starting the week of November 1, rather than the week of December 1 as previously. The final week of eligibility for benefits remains that of May 15.

(2) In regions of high unemployment, "regionally extended benefits" will now apply for fishermen, as they do for persons under regular unemployment insurance coverage. Under this principle, a fisherman who has worked enough weeks to qualify (eight weeks at least) can draw benefits up till the calendar limit of fishermen's unemployment insurance, the week of May 15.

Formerly, fishermen received only five weeks of benefits for each six weeks worked. Although the system theoretically allowed payment of benefits for as much as 24 weeks during the off-season, the nature of the regulations meant that few fishermen could receive benefits more than 12 weeks. Payments generally lapsed in mid-winter. Other workers, for example the fish-plant workers who depend on the primary producers, could in areas of regionally extended benefits receive payments for much longer periods.

Advancing the opening date of eligibility for benefits to November 1 applies to fishermen in all parts of the country. It will be most help to those whose fishery ceases in late autumn; for example, many fishermen in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and Newfoundland regions.

Regionally extended benefits for fishermen, as for other occupations, will apply in areas where the unemployment rate is more than four per cent and exceeds the national average by more than one per cent. Based on the past few years' experience, major fishing areas likely to receive benefits would be most of the Atlantic provinces, the northern prairies, and northern British Columbia.

In a related program, the federal government will develop counselling programs to help fishermen manage their operations on a business-like basis.

The government will review the operation of the fishermen's unemployment insurance system after three years.

The unemployment insurance system for fishermen applies mainly to selfemployed fishermen: owner-operators and their crews. These number some 20,000. Most other fishermen receive regular unemployment insurance coverage. Some 5,000 who work mainly as fishermen qualify either by working on a boat that is designated as fishing year-round or by working under a contract of service rather than as a co-adventurer. Over 30,000 others who fish mostly as a minor part of their work get regular unemployment insurance coverage from other occupations at other times of year.

The changes to the fishermen's program of unemployment insurance follow extended consideration by government of means to give fishermen a more reliable income. In recent years especially, frequent depletion of fish stocks and the working of economic forces have caused difficulties to almost all parts of Canada's fishing industry. Adapting the unemployment insurance system, rather than building a new system, provides a workable way to compensate for some of the hardships at this time. The extension of Canada's fisheries jurisdiction to 200 miles, the already instituted limitation on the numbers of new entrants to the fishing industry in order to protect existing fleets, and other federal programs under the recently announced policy for Canada's commercial fisheries will solve many of the income problems of fishermen in future years.

October Town Elections

October 21 will be election day in the town of Digby. Nomination forms for the positions of mayor and town councillors will be received by the town clerk from 9 a.m. September 29 to 5 p.m. October 5.

Those interested in getting involved in town's decisionmaking process should be aware of the following qualifications for office:

Nomination papers must be signed by two voters in the town, and be presented to the town clerk. Certification from the town treasurer as to whether a candidate qualifies for office (is assessed for property in the town) must accompany the nomination; all monies owed to the town, (ie light, water, taxes, etc) must be paid before 10 days in advance of the last day for receipt of nominations. The nomination forms must also include written consent of the person being nominated.

To be eligible voters, residents must have lived in the town for eight months and have reached the age of 18. Those voters not included on the voters list this could particularly apply to young adults just coming of age - will be required to sign a certificate of eligibility before the town clerk or a polling clerk. These people should pay a visit to the town office to get on the list.

Three town council seats, and the position of Mayor will be up for grabs. The terms of Councillors Bill Reig, Gordon Ellis, Reginald Hazelton and Mayor Charles Haliburton are nearing completion.

RCMP Ask For More Parental Supervision

Digby RCMP are now intensifying their efforts in controlling loitering, vandalism and break and entries in the Town. As part of the campaign they are requesting more parent supervision to "keep the kids off the streets," and Water Street in particular.

They have attributed the continuing rash of break and entries as well as damage to public and private property this summer to the loitering, and are advising that they are now prosecuting offenders under the new Digby by-law.

"Loitering will now result

Dinner will be served daily during the exhibition's duration at noon. Supper is served at 5:00 p.m.

Light horse events will be held all through the fair in the upper ring.

Wednesday is 4-H day at the fair while Saturday is billed as 4-H horse-show day.

A midway will operate on the exhibition grounds daily, complemented by games,

Last Thursday, August 19, saw three break and entries in the Town of Digby.

Woolaver's Esso, The Harbour Bakery, and O'Neal's Fisheries, all located on Water Street received forced entry. Digby RCMP reported that "very little" was taken from the establishments, and they are still under investigation.

On Sunday night, August 22, Trans-Canada Credit, Water Street, was also broken into. Forced entry was made through the rear window. Nothing was found to be missing, although a small amount of vandalism was reported.

booths, and bingo. An Indian teepee will also be set up - selling, making and taking orders on baskets crafted by Indians from the Bear River Indian Reserve.

All music sessions will be held outdoors if weather permits.

Editorials

MUNICIPAL ELECTION TOO

After writing the editorial above, it suddenly occurred to us that the Municipality of the District of Digby also has an election on October 19, with a deadline for submission of candidates names being October 5. As far as we know, the slate there is wiped clean every three years and an election to fill the seats takes place. This appears to be the third year. In almost the same words as above we extend our Think Election to cover our voting readers throughout the entire County of Digby.

G. CECIL DAY

A short week before his death on Saturday G. Cecil Day of Liverpool, N.S., attended the Canadian Community Newspapers Association convention at Halifax. Cecil Day had actually retired from active newspaper work about seven years ago but his interest remained high and his skill, and unusual abilities remained so keen that his advice and services continued to be sought. It is safe to say that if the weekly press of Nova Scotia (yea, Canada) made any progress in the past 40 years, Cecil Day was one of those behind the moves.

Cecil was one who knew what it meant to do a really hard day's work even under his physical handicaps but he was never hesitant in going another mile to assist others in need or to lighten the burden of his contemporaries in the field. His loss will be keenly felt in the newspaper and printing fraternity as well as in many community organizations to which he lent his assistance.

The Digby Courier, the management and staff, have lost a true friend but one who shall be remembered for many years to come. Our deepest sympathy goes out to Cecil's wife, Betty, the former Elizabeth Harlow, who was his constant companion; his daughter Beverley, Mrs. Weldon Burlock and his son, Stephen.

Minor Hockey Up against It

Minor Hockey is again up against it. The last mention we made of Minor Hockey in Digby, the Minor Hockey Club executive was about to launch a financial program and was urging that efforts towards Digby Minor Hockey be continued throughout the summer in order to be in a position to start the Fall season.

The executive, however, now informs us that their worries have not lessened. They sent out requests to numerous businesses and organizations in the town and County and got two donations - one of $50 and one for five, a total of $55. There just wasn't even enough money to send the best midget player to the National Midget Leadership Camp and this was most discouraging for the executive.

In discussing the reason for the low-ebb Minor Hockey finances with the executive we were informed that the biggest problem is ice costs. Ice rental seems to be an open end proposition.

Ben Cullen, treasurer, said and it is, of course tied to power rates which seem to "go up by the minute." With so much of the funds going into ice costs for the winter, the executive said, there are no funds available to finance a fund raising project. Quoting Ben once more "the idea of spending money to make money is very true, however, it's rather rough when that initial money just isn't available."

However, the executive of the Digby Minor Hockey, though discouraged, will not say "die". They are considering approaching one or more service or community organizations to join with them in conducting a major fund raising blitz. They advise us that a dance for fund raising is planned for September 11, 1976, and they are preparing now for the sale of bumper stickers "I Support Minor Hockey."

The Digby Minor Hockey Club executive feels Minor Hockey is a community affair. The chairman of the Ways and Means committee, Bill MacMillan and others of the executive, are open for suggestions and or offers of assistance from organizations and individuals.

We need not here relate the benefits of Minor Hockey to our youth in a physical, mental or social capacity. Most adults have figured that out before this. The happy faces of the Minor Hockey kids is proof of the benefits. The Fall season is coming quickly. How about answering those letters you received. How about offering encouragement and help. How about writing to us at The Digby Courier and tell others how you feel about Minor Hockey for the Digby youngsters. Had Minor Hockey ever meant anything to you or your children?

Think Election

Our editorial last week on the importance of our people becoming aware that there is to be a town election on October 21, we find, was ready. Many have agreed with us that this is one of the most important issues facing our growing town at the present time. A home divided against itself is in danger of falling and few, if any of us, want to see the town's government ceiling collapse. It is most necessary that good strong leadership blanketed with congeniality be in the town's council chamber and it is up to the residents of the town to see that the Council Chamber seats are occupied by the best they can find.

Congeniality does not, for a minute, mean that the mayor and six councillors need to be of the same opinion about everything but it does mean that a healthy respect must be held by each for the other's views and their responsibility and a stable conduct of reasoning be used as the democratic process of transacting business is observed. Without this congeniality little can be accomplished by any of the councillors.

To entice anyone to enter town politics with the idea of it being a simple and easy job would be down-right false persuasion. Town business is a complicated business at the best and today it is more so than ever before. It can be over the heads of some people especially when reasoning in figures up to millions of dollars in taxpayers money.

While we run the risk of discouraging the very thing we are pushing for - more interested persons - we must confess that criticism from without can be expected and a town councillor must be able to meet this with broad shoulders. The job of a mayor or councillor can be thankless and anyone offering as a candidate had better seriously consider his or her devotion and dedication as being paramount to success.

Yes, the task of the Town Parents can be strenuous, time-consuming and thankless at its best but working together in mutual trust and respect a good town council can put Digby on a pedestal. Mistakes have been made and they will again be made but rarely are these intentional. A sharp lookout for errors, misjudgments and mismanagement is the duty of any councillor. There are other qualifications necessary too.

Without a doubt, we'll be writing again on Digby 1976 Election before the close of nominations on October 5. We want to impress that this election, 1976, is an important election. More important, we might say, than any past or future as we see it. In town politics Digby seems to be at a crisis stage and there really is no need of it. Think election. Talk election. Plan election. Do something about it at once.

Hodge Podge

- Don't be alarmed if you start a rash of sneezing. It probably isn't one of the mysterious diseases afflicting some other areas. This is the season of sneezing and runny eyes with ragweed being the most serious offender. Of course, there is hope. You could take your vacation. Evidence based on the ragweed pollen air-indexes shows that Newfoundland, Quebec's Gaspe Peninsula, northern Ontario south to North Bay, Riding Mountain National Park and the northern part of Manitoba, and nearly all of Saskatchewan and Alberta are relatively free of ragweed. To be totally safe, hay fever sufferers can take advantage of the almost non-existent pollen counts of British Columbia. Control and survey programs have been carried out in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island with a great deal of success. Ragweed is under control in the Maritimes and if present efforts continue, it may be eradicated in these provinces.

Travelling from Deer Island, N.B., to Campobello Island was by scow pushed by a motor boat. Remember when that was the mode of travel between East Ferry, Tiverton and Westport. Not so long ago, was it? We felt proud to think the Petite Passage and Grand Passage ferry had modernized.

- If some of the Canadian Community Newspapers Association visitors to Halifax use in their papers all the pictures they snapped of Digby Neck we should have some sizable increase in our tourists from Ontario in 1977. Excellent free advertising on our behalf.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Housing Board which controls the operation of the 95 units of senior citizens and low rental public housing in Digby, is appointed for a three year term and the last term expired in June 1976. The new board members are chosen (we are told), by a committee of three, (selected by town council, provincial government and federal government.) The town council chose Councillor Robertson, and many weeks and many questions later, the names of MacRogers (town solicitor), and Joe Hattie (former town councillor) appeared from the political hat to complete the selection committee.

June has come and gone, and questions in council, as late as August 2, have failed to bring any report on the selection of the new housing board beyond "we haven't had a meeting yet", from Councillor Robertson in August. In fact, since 1969 there appears to have been no change in the composition of the board, with the exception of one replacement due to a resignation in 1971. To date the board has consisted of four men - J.J. Brittain (chairman), Gerry Connelly, Audrey Frankland and Reg Turnbull.

In April I expressed concern through these columns that since the opening of public housing in Digby in 1969 the board had consisted entirely of men. This imbalance is not only discriminatory but may not be serving the best interests of the female tenants who occupy senior citizens apartments. It is interesting to note that the new four member senior citizens housing board in Annapolis includes two women, Mrs. Margaret Smith and Mrs. Maynard Fickes. Mrs. Maxine Shine is a member of the Clark's Harbour Board; the Kings County Board includes Mrs. Diane Thompson-Sheppard, and in 1972 Mrs. Faye Hall was appointed chairperson of the Bridgetown Board to name a few near our area.

"Perhaps they're not qualified," Chairman Brittain quipped, when the question of female housing board members came before town council last December. And why not tenant representation from the senior citizens units? This has been a proven asset to boards elsewhere.

Although I understand it is contrary to the regulations of the Nova Scotia Housing Commission, to which local boards are responsible, one of the four members of the Digby board, Reg Turnbull, has since it's beginning, been the paid manager of the housing units - his own employer. Is this not a conflict of interest? I am unable to find a comparable situation in any other housing board in the province, although when questioned on this before town council, a representative from the Nova Scotia Housing Commission hesitatingly suggested there may be one other. He didn't volunteer the location.

While it is the custom of housing boards across the province to advertise and call for applications for the manager's position, (some part time and some full time), I have not seen the Digby position advertised nor the opportunity for application afforded or made waited quietly and then said "Did you hear the band and see the official opening of Digby Scallop Day? "No" came the reply "I couldn't be in two places at once." "Neither could we" we responded. He tumbled.

-For a small province, Prince Edward Island seems to go in more for attracting and keeping tourists than any of the other Maritime Provinces. Such was our impression on a recent vacation tour. Of course, probably the Woodleigh Replicas and the Royal Atlantic Wax Museum are top on their list of attractions for they are not found in the other provinces as far as we know. Then, too, there are aquariums (fish and bird), historic farms and homes, native food suppers, beaches and other attractions similar to those in other provinces. All seem to be within so few miles of one another, well advertised and easily accessible. Of course, they are mostly in an admission fee category but vacationers usually put aside money for such purposes and especially with families there is need for time-fillers as well as educational sights. And why all this? Simply because our tourist bureaus are still getting inquiries about what there is to do in Digby for a few hours.

-The same story heard in all the Maritimes provinces. Tourist traffic 1976 has been down because of the United States Bicentennial celebrations and the Olympics in Montreal.

-It was thoughtful of Niels W. Jannasch, Curator, Marine History to write to The Digby Courier last week on the progress of the preservation of the dug-out canoe found at Westport following the Groundhog Day storm. Digby County people are quite confident that the canoe is in good hands but their general interest makes them appreciate the kind follow-up letter by Mr. Jannasch. We were especially happy to know plans are being made to exhibit the canoe in Westport for a few weeks when it has completed its preservation course. Thanks, Niels Jannasch. Our readers were interested in and appreciative of your letter.

-Slice the large boat in two. Board up the end. Make a window and a door. There you have a gift shop like Boutique Penouil in Carleton, Quebec.

-Money talks. Thirty-two dollars can say a lot, especially when it spells a subscription to The Digby Courier for four years. It shows appreciation without a doubt.

on Tuesday.

Mrs. Mattie Bright is visiting her son Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Bright and family at Mauderville, N.B.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cromwell and family and Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Cromwell and family spent the week end at Kedgie Park.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ayer spent a week visiting known to the Digby public.

While tender calls for liability insurance on public housing appear frequently in newspapers across the province, the system of public tender seems to have by-passed the Digby board, where it appears that all the liability insurance has, from the beginning, taken a direct route through the doors of the Brittain Insurance Company. Again, is this not a conflict of interest?

The town is required to share the cost of the public housing, (this month a cheque in the amount of $21,400 went to the N.S. Housing Commission) but very little information on the operation is available to council. Meetings are held in secret in the housing board manager's office, which a few years ago was moved from the housing location to the old fire hall owned by the town. For this office, including heat, light and water the housing board enjoys the very low rental of $ 40.00 per month. Unlike tenant rentals, the rate has never been increased.

And what else is new?

Eileen Chipman
Town Councillor Digby

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

On Monday, August 23 an incident happened in front of one of the down town's businesses. I was walking up the street to one of the stores to get a bottle of pop, when five young teenagers were standing in side of the store watching a woman feeding her child. One of the boys asked me to watch. At this time I took notice of how it was being done. She was feeding the child by pulling his hair and pouring something down his mouth. Then she would hold the child's head back and push a spoon in his mouth while he was crying. The boy would vomit on his bib and she would take a spoon and scrape it off, then feed it back to him. Then she hit him. She took the little girl for a walk up the street and strapped the little boy in the car with seat belts. Upon arriving back, she unstrapped the boy and picked him up by the throat and threw him to the other side of the car.

At this time, the Department of Social Services was notified of the incident. Two men came down from the Social Service Office and were told about this lady and the way the boy was being treated. One of the men talked with the lady. Then he returned to his car telling the boys that phoned, that this lady was a foster parent and that was the way the little boy had to be fed. In my opinion, this is no way for any child to be treated. If a foster child has to be treated like that, they are better off without foster parents.

Weigh Carefully Advertising Offers

The Nova Scotia Department of Consumer Affairs issued a warning to all owners of small businesses in the province to beware of certain advertisers now active in the province.

Harry M. McIlroy Chief Executive Officer of the N.S. Consumer Affairs Department says that many small business owners, corner grocery stores, variety stores and neighbourhood service establishments have been approached recently by persons representing out-of-province advertisers who appear to be selling advertising and promotion for the sale of small local businesses through brochures, catalogues, and other media.

The sales representatives of these companies usually paint a rosy picture of sales prospects, warns Mr. McIlroy.

The problem arises, he says, because the fee for the service is usually paid in advance and is usually determined as a percentage of the market value of the property or business as determined by the advertiser. Flat fees may also be quoted, usually in the area of $700.

But that is usually where the service stops. Investigations of similar operations has often shown that upon receipt of an order for advertising and the accompanying fee, such companies prepare a minimum number of brochures, a copy of which is forwarded to the client. Too often, the brochure does not receive any distribution whatsoever.

These so-called advertising companies maintain that they are advertisers only and not directly involved in any real estate sales or transactions and are therefore not subject to provincial real estate legislation.

The consumer affairs department is currently investigating the activities of such operations in co-operation with law enforcement agencies.

Religious Groups Unknowingly Violate Law

Article XI-1, the Peace, Order, Mischief and Nuisance By-law of the Municipality of the District of Digby will not apply to religious groups of the Municipality under direction of a church or group of churches. The old by-law reads: "No person shall without reasonable necessity, shout, sing, ring a bell, blow a horn, or make any disturbing noise in any public way or place or in the vicinity thereof, except between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and eight o'clock in the afternoon on any workday and not at all on Sunday, no loudspeaker, microphones, amplifiers or other transmitting apparatus connected with a radio, phonograph or other sound transmitting instrument or apparatus, shall be operated in the Municipality so that the sounds transmitted shall be projected beyond the distance of 300 ft." Besides making the by-law not applicable to the religious group, the motion made by Councillor L.E.R. Winchester at the Municipal council on Monday morning, extended the eight o'clock to 9 o'clock in the afternoon for the by-law to be effective.

Surviving is his second wife, the former Lily May Melanson; three daughters, Violet (Mrs. Wynn Smith), Sea Brook; Mildred (Mrs. Clifford Watchorn), Dartmouth; Freda (Mrs. Bert Tuff), Brighton; a sister, Sadie (Mrs. James Johns), Port Wade; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

He was predeceased by his first wife, the former Mary May Johns; five brothers and a sister.

The body was at Jayne's Funeral Home, Digby, where the Rosary was recited Friday 8 p.m. Funeral service was held Saturday at 11 a.m. in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Digby, Rev. Leo Maillet officiating. Interment was in Barton cemetery.

Councillor Winchester had given a notice of motion regarding the by-law at the July meeting. The motion on Monday was seconded by Councillor Walter MacAlpine and resulted in four for, four against. Warden Wilfred Swift cast his vote in favor of the motion that the by-law not apply to any religious group of the municipality under the direction of a church or group of churches.

In presenting the motion Councillor Winchester said he felt by-laws should be such that would benefit a community. He felt that this was a by-law difficult to enforce and made outlaws of religious groups holding outdoor services. Some councillors felt that so long as it posed no difficulty it should be left.

Monday's Digby Municipal Council meeting opened with prayer by Councillor Helen MacNeil.

Satisfaction with the garbage collection service was expressed. Councillor Helen MacNeil made a motion that a letter be sent to the Department of Social Services to find out officially the story of the Digby County Ambulance Service and just what is going to happen. The motion was seconded by Councillor Arthur Rice and passed with only one nay vote. According to information given at the meeting, the Municipality of the District of Digby had paid $11,029.98 to the ambulance service.

The next Council meeting is scheduled for October 4th.

Wedding Bells

HANKINSON—BLENKHORN

A lovely summer wedding was solemnized at Manning Memorial Chapel, of Acadia University, on July 24th, when Rev. Merle Zimmerman of Weymouth, united in marriage, Diane Mae, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Blenkhorn of Port Williams to Edward Wallis, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hankinson, of Weymouth. Professor Eugen Gmiener of Acadia University played the nuptial music.

The bride was radiant, as she entered the chapel on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of white silk-knit, fitted in an A-line style with sleeves gathered into wide lace cuffs. The neck and sleeves were trimmed with lace daisies, as was the train, which fell from the shoulders. She wore a long veil, which flowed from a white beaded coronet. This, too, was edged with lace daisies. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of red roses and baby's breath. Her only jewellery was a double strand necklace which had belonged to her grandmother.

Her sister, Sharon Blenkhorn, was maid of honour, and looked lovely in her gown of white batiste, patterned with miniature pink roses. Her picture hat was trimmed with matching pink ribbon, and she carried a nosegay of pink-tinted mums.

Linda Horseman of Fredericton, and Carolyn Rand of Port Williams, both friends of the bride, wore identical gowns as the maid of honour, in yellow and pale green batiste, respectively. Their picture hats were trimmed with matching ribbons, and they carried nosegays of tinted mums, to match their dresses.

Patrick VanBuskirk of Wolfville, looked gallant, in his formal suit, with sky-blue tuxedo and navy trousers. He carried the wedding rings on a white satin pillow.

The groom was attended by his brother, Owen Hankinson of Weymouth. Robert Robicheau of Doucetteville, and Mark Zimmerman of Weymouth were ushers. The gentlemen all wore formal attire of navy trousers and sky-blue tuxedos.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding, a gown of sheer yellow, over soft yellow satin, make in A-line style, with bell sleeves, and tiny stand-up collar. Her corsage was of yellow roses and white carnations.

The groom's mother chose a gown of floral sheer, in shaded green, with fitted bodice and full skirt. The neckline was round, and sleeves gathered at the wrist. Her corsage was also of yellow roses and white carnations.

The chapel was simply decorated with floral arrangements of chrysanthemums, tinted in green and yellow to match the dresses of the attendants. The guest pews were marked with tiny white bells and ribbon.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Wandlyn Motel at Coldbrook. Owen Hankinson was Master of Ceremonies for the occasion, and the toast to the bride was given by her brother, Wayne Blenkhorn, of Oromocto. Mrs. Jane Blenkhorn and Mrs. Patricia Teed were hostesses. On Thursday evening a rehearsal dinner was also

The Bible Baptist Church (Ind) of Greenwood Village was the scene of a lovely wedding on July 24th when Ruth Muriel Graves of Harmony and Dale Stephen Marshall of Toronto were united in marriage.

The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. William Moorehead. The bride's cousin, Mrs. Marie Wyatt, of Halifax was matron of honour. Best man was John R. Marshall of Toronto, brother of the groom. Mrs. Moorehead played the organ and Miss Janice Nichols was pianist. The solo, "Whither Thou Goest" was sung beautifully by Mr. Gerald Schofield. The ushers were Philip and Stephen, brothers of the bride and cousins, Lloyd Samson and Fred Keating.

Ruth was given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graves of Harmony.

held at the Wandlyn Motel.

For travelling, the bride wore a multi-colored striped cotton knit, and wore a corsage of yellow roses. The happy couple travelled in the Eastern States and Maritime Provinces.

They are residing in Gilbert's Cove. Mr. Hankinson graduated this spring from Acadia University, and is employed with Weymouth Motors Ltd. Mrs. Hankinson was formerly employed with Herbin's Jewellery Store in Wolfville. Prior to the wedding a shower was given in honour of the bride-elect by friends in Port Williams, and a tea was held for her in Weymouth, by the groom's mother.

MARSHALL GRAVES

The bride made her floor-length dress of polished crepe, trimmed with lace matching that of the veil. Her birthstone necklace was a gift of the groom.

The bride's bouquet of sweetheart roses and miniature pink carnations was later given to her grandmother, Mrs. Percy Graves.

The matron of honour's dress was beige polyester crepe with coral and brown flower print. Her matching bouquet was of bronze daisies.

A beautiful medium blue crimp dress was worn by the bride's mother. The mother of the groom wore a dress of misty green polyester with a delicate flower pattern.

The toast to the bride was given by the best man. In response the groom proposed a toast to the bride's parents.

The honeymoon trip was a ten day tour of Nova Scotia including Cape Breton Island.

The newly-weds are residing in Wilnot. The groom was an artist and draftsman while living in Toronto and will be seeking employment in this area. The bride having completed a four year course in Toronto will be practicing as a chiropractor in Middleton.

Reformed Church Began In Annapolis Basin

The reformed church can be said for us to have begun in the Annapolis Basin said Rev. M.G. Butler, Annapolis Royal, who was guest preacher on Sunday afternoon when the second annual Memorial Service was held at Smith's Cove United Church of Canada. The church is now used by the Smith's Cove Historical Society as a museum and the service was arranged under the auspices of the Society. He said that when the French came here in 1605 there were many Protestants among them. With this in mind, Rev. Mr. Butler entitled his sermon Sojourn of Hope and based his remarks on the passage he read from St. Luke's gospel "Foxes have holes and the birds of the air have nests but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head". Tracing life through from 1605, he noted the movements which were attempts of God's people to meet the needs of the times. He warned that to follow the Christian way is not a numbers game but the sojourn was through adventure, joy, darkness, sorrow, tears, death and life. There is glory and zest in being a Christian.

The call to worship was given by Rev. Foster Hall, Bear River, who also led in prayers of confession, thanksgiving and renewal and brought greetings for the special occasion.

Jan Simonds, a summer visitor, rendered two vocal selections "The Twenty-third Psalm" and "I Will Sing New Songs of Gladness," both being compositions by Dvorak. He was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Walter Lent, Bear River.

Principal, Teachers Appointed

Five new teachers have been given appointments on the Digby Regional High School staff for year 1976-77. It is understood the new principal succeeding Mr. Lister Hannah is Donald Ross. Donald Ross, B.A., has a History Professor Teaching Certificate (equivalent to B.Ed.) and M.Ed. granted by Sir George William University and Bishop University. He comes from Quebec with seventeen years teaching experience.

Mr. Ross went to university through the Royal Roads summer training program. He was employed by the Montreal School Board until 1966 when he was loaned to the federal government to become head of the Department of Education in Kenya, Africa, but in 1970 Montreal Board decided they wanted him back to reorganize and direct the Guidance Program. Mr. Ross was a Guidance Director up to the time he accepted the position with the Digby School Board.

Dissatisfaction with the conditions in Quebec education system, brought about by the political interference in the system caused the education system in Quebec to break down, according to Mr. Ross.

Among the innovations Mr. Ross will introduce to Digby School will be the fortnightly activity program; an afternoon of extracurricular activities every two weeks in which all students will be involved. The ECA afternoon will be planned for all types of activities to include sports of all kinds, chess, band practice, clubs, journalism, field trips, and any other activity in which students wish to take part.

Mr. Ross, his wife, the former Janith Gibbons, who was born in Halifax, and their two children, have settled in a home they have bought in Bear River. Previous to their marriage, Mrs. Ross was a Director of Mico-biology for the National Research Council.

Bill Diachun, B.A. Eng. PTC educated at the University of Montreal, will bring 15 years classroom experience to Digby. He recently taught with the Lakeshore School Board, Quebec, and has taught in Beaconsfield High School, Quebec.

Mr. Diachun will replace the retired Mrs. Carol Brown in the Senior English Department. With his wife and two children, he plans to settle in this area.

Mike Sweeney with a B.Sc. from McGill, a PTC, a B.Ed. who taught recently in Dorval High School, has come to Digby with seven years experience in the classroom. He is now completing a Masters degree in teaching of science in secondary schools. He was a Divisional Manager of Little League Baseball in the Montreal area and is very active in sports. Mr. Sweeney will replace Miss J. Gertridg, as a teacher of biology and science. At present he and his wife, who have two children, are looking for a home to buy in Digby.

Mrs. Marion Croft of Smith's Cove, with a B.A. and B.Ed. Mount Saint Vincent, has come to the Digby School from the Liverpool region where she taught for four years. She will take over as home room teacher of Grade 7.

Bill Redden has a B.A. and B.Ed. degree. From the ranks he earned a Commission and rank of Captain in the Army Cadet Corps. He was awarded the Strathcona medal and has represented Canada at Barbados advance leadership training.

Mr. Michael Langley has been promoted by the Digby School Board to become Vice-Principal to replace Tom Chmiel who has taken a position of increased responsibility in the Canso region.

Mr. Roy Landry, a Vocational teacher from Kings County, has had a wealth of experience since 1953; is a member of the alumnus of Saint Charles, upgraded to B.A. at the University of New Brunswick and is fluently bilingual. My Duties At The Olympics

By Bradford Barton Jr.

Resume of my Olympic experience in Montreal July 1976.

Finally, after all the preparations leading to the Olympics, I found myself in the heat of competition.

All the experiences I had through my travels to Europe, Mexico and across Canada, the Olympics definitely landed at the top as being the greatest satisfaction to me as an individual.

So on July 11th, I was on the plane enroute to Montreal. Upon arrival, I was greeted by a welcoming group who transported me to my residence the Sheraton Mount Royal for the next three weeks.

The first week all twenty six of the volleyball officials had to attend theoretical seminars and also participated in practical sessions while being observed and criticised. This was the beginning of the pressures because as this being my first olympics, naturally I wanted to be as impressive as the more experienced ones.

Upon completion of this portion of our program, I was pleased to have received good praise for my performance in the preliminary session. So on July 18, the first day of official competition, I was given my first assignment for the last match of the evening - Brazil - Egypt men. This was my first opportunity to perform so before the match, I was quite nervous, but confident. When the time came, I marched on the playing court with other officials and players and within five minutes, I forgot the crowd and concentrated only on officiating. The atmosphere amongst the players, coaches, and spectators was quite conducive, good sportsmanship and healthy environment. This made my stay in Montreal quite relaxed thus enjoyable.

The security at the playing sites was quite strict but as major officials we were allowed to venture around the area without any major problems. We were transported from our hotel to the playing site by V.I.P. vehicles. This made it very convenient for us to move back and forth. Each assignment became more and more important. My next one was 1st referee for the match with Cuba men playing Korea men. After completing that match, the special officiating committee, our observers, gave very positive criticisms. This really gave me more confidence when it came to the semi-finals and finals. Twelve referees out of twenty six were selected to officiate these matches. I was one of the twelve, so I was asked to officiate women's semi-finals - Soviet Union versus Hungary.

Then on the last day I officiated the Bronze medal game - Hungary women and Korean women. This was a very good and exciting match before a capacity crowd of over 20,000 spectators. If any calls were made against the team the spectators wanted to win a loud thunderous whistling seemed to surround the whole building.

While at the Olympics I had an opportunity to attend a luncheon sponsored by the Prime Minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Phillip at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel on July 25. My wife, Judy and myself were part of the 2,500 guests who attended. Through Coleen Campbell, M.L.A., I had the opportunity to talk to all the dignitaries present. This was an experience which will be long lasting.

I was invited to referee in Mexico at the Junior North America - South America zone championship August 20 - August 30. However, due to other commitments, I was unable to go.

Before going to Montreal, I had heard so many negative comments about the Olympics. However, when I arrived there, the citizens of Montreal, tourists, and participants seemed to have the Olympic fever.

As officials, we were invited to attend the opening ceremonies and the closing ceremonies. The capacity crowd in the Stadium was a site that I will never forget. The feelings during these events were so moving and touching that all who attended expressed their satisfaction.

I attended other events, track and field, and swimming but most of all my time was at the volleyball site.

Editor's Note - Bradford Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Barton, Sr., Acaciaville, is a teacher in Halifax County and was the only person from the Digby area to participate in any way in the Olympics at Montreal. The Digby Courier is pleased to have Brad's account of his duties there to pass on to the readers.

Meteghan River Man Scores 97 Points

The lifeguard team from Melmerby Beach in Pictou County won the two top places in the fourth annual Nova Scotia Lifeguard Service Surfguard Competition at Melmerby Beach. The final event, the Team Swim, ended in a tie for first place between Melmerby A and B teams, Pointe Claire finishing in third position.

The winning Melmerby team was awarded the competition trophy by Al Goodwin, Director, Red Cross Water Safety.

Fatal Accident

An Annapolis County woman, Marguerite L. Hardwick, of Upper Clements, died as the result of a car-pedestrian accident near her home on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Hardwick had stepped from a car in a nearby parking lot and attempted to cross the highway to her home. She was in collision with a car, driven by Allan R. Carmean, New Jersey. Mr. Carmean was driving west, toward the Digby Ferry Terminal when the accident happened.

Mrs. Hardwick was immediately taken to Annapolis General Hospital, where she died about two hours later.

The accident was investigated by Bridgetown Detachment of the R.C.M.P.

Two Saved From Drowning

Quick action by those on shore in calling the Digby Volunteer Fire Department's resuscitating equipment saved the lives of two fishermen, Arnold Doucette of Conway and his son Daniel of Marshalltown, on Tuesday. The two men were fishing 300 feet off the Admiral Digby Inn shore when at 7 o'clock their small boat was seen apparently capsized and the two men hanging on.

It is understood that two guests from the Inn, R. M. Theriault of Sept Isles, Quebec, and Eric Allen of the Department of Development, N.S., had been among the first to see the predicament and make known the fact. Mr. Theriault having noticed an old punt on the shore, found a board which he used for rowing and attempted to go to the rescue. In the meantime the firemen were notified and Citizen Band radio calls were made which brought boats to the area.

Province Seeks To Retain Painted Room

The Nova Scotia government has reopened negotiations with Ottawa for retention of the "Painted Room" in the William Croscup home at Karsdale, Annapolis County.

The announcement was made Friday in a press release from the provincial department of recreation.

Murals in the Croscup home were sold to the National Gallery in Ottawa for restoration and display in the capital city as examples of early Maritime art. The walls on which the murals are painted are now being dismantled for shipment to Ottawa.

Recreation Minister A. Garnet Brown has written Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner to ask the federal government to reconsider its plans and permanently maintain the paintings in Nova Scotia, the release said. Delays have been announced in the construction plans of Ottawa's National Gallery and it is likely the Nova Scotia paintings would have to be stored for an indefinite period.

The Art Gallery of Nova Scotia and an existing historic house at Annapolis Royal have been offered by Mr. Brown as sites suitable for permanent housing of "Painted Room" if the federal government is unable to provide its own facilities in the province through the National Museums Corporation Exhibit Centres program.

The friends of the Painted Room committee, anxious to keep the art work in the province, has raised about $26,000. The recreation minister has met several times with the committee on the issue and the committee has indicated it would launch a major fund-raising campaign if the federal government will permit the room to stay in Nova Scotia.

House Of Roth Aquatic Program Wizard Of Oz

The public, relatives and friends are invited to attend the closing night of House Of Roth Camp for local children, on Friday, August 27. Guests will be treated to an original Aquatic version of the ever popular "Wizard Of Oz", complete with the Tin Woodsman, The cowardly Lion, and the Scarecrow.

All ages will be in the performance, which will take place at House Of Roth pool, around 8:00 p.m. Prior to the program, children who have been in Camp, any of the four weeks, may return around 6:30 p.m., to show their parents their progress on the Trampoline, the horses and at archery, as shoulder of the road.

The Fire Department was called out to stand by in case of explosion.

A small explosion did occur much later which caused the recall of the Digby Fire Department at 1 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Serious damage was prevented; there were no injuries.

The men were brought to shore, it is understood, by Ernest Doty, where resuscitation was commenced and the two taken to hospital.

At time of press on Wednesday the men were doing well after their harrowing experience although still hospitalized.

Mr. Brown in his letter to Mr. Faulkner said "if it is possible that these (paintings) could be returned to Nova Scotia once this (restoration) is done, we would indeed be delighted to do all within our power to retain them."

Mr. Brown wants the federal government to restore and maintain the paintings but to keep them in Nova Scotia instead of Ottawa.

Featured in the program will be two members of the original "Gloriettes" Synchronized Swimming team, Heather Robar, Clementsport, and Gwen Roth, Clementsport.

by Krystyna Pottier

British Columbia is beautiful. That's what "everybody" says and for once "everybody" is right. Canada's most westerly province provides visitors with a constantly changing geographic panorama. One of the best ways to experience its mountains, winding coastline and lush forest is by bus.

Start in Victoria, the provincial capital, on Vancouver Island, and perhaps the most British city in Canada. Whether or not you stop at the Empress Hotel, be sure to take tea there. It's served in the lobby every day from 3 to 5 p.m.

Then, board a bus to Kelsey Bay, so you can take the 20-hour ferry ride to the mainland, docking at Prince Rupert in northern B.C.

The drive to Kelsey Bay along Vancouver Island's eastern shore, through such communities as Malahat, Lake Cowichan, Qualicum Beach and Fanny Bay, is breathtaking.

Heavy forest alternates with rolling farmland. Views of wooded fjord-like inlets come out of hiding behind the island's mountainous terrain. The hills roll back to reveal tranquil, secluded valleys made green by small rivers and winding brooks. As you go further north, the landscape changes. The forest becomes thicker, the beaches more rugged. At Comox, you can see the mainland across the Strait of Georgia shrouded in mist, while on the island itself, the mountaintops are fuzzy with clouds.

At Kelsey Bay you board the Queen of Prince Rupert. Although not really a cruise, the trip to Prince Rupert is more than just a ferry ride.

The 10-year old, 58,000-ton ship can accommodate 430 passengers and 90 cars, with sleeping accommodations for 278.

Although there are no planned activities during the sailing, there's lots to keep you busy. The atmosphere is casual. During the daylight hours, watch the rugged coastlines slip past as the ship makes its way between it and the mainland.

In the evening, dine on British Columbia salmon or roast beef, served on gleaming dishes set on a white tablecloth in the ship's dining room.

There is also a cafeteria, serving full meals, and a cocktail lounge onboard.

When it's time to turn in, you will be lulled to sleep by the gentle rocking of the ship. Two and four-berth staterooms are available, either with private bathroom and shower, or adjacent to washrooms.

During the trip, the Queen of Prince Rupert passes the Indian Village of Alert Bay. In the distance, on a hill behind the settlement, passengers can see the world's tallest totem pole.

The ship often passes tugs towing barges loaded with freight, destined for the towns and cities of Alaska. If you're lucky, you may see killer whales or porpoises near the ship.

The northern terminus of the B.C. Ferry System is Prince Rupert, known as the Halibut Capital of the World. With a population of 18,000, it

Insulating Your Home

With the warm weather coming to an end and November's surly blast just around the corner, Nova Scotians should be taking steps to insulate their homes, says the Hon. William Gillis, Minister in Charge of the Nova Scotia Energy Council.

To assist homeowners in the task, the Energy Council has just published a 22-page booklet, "How To Save Money By Insulating Your Home."

It may be obtained free of charge from building supply dealers, offices of the Nova Scotia Power Corporation and the Nova Scotia Housing Commission or by writing to P.O. Box 637, Halifax, N.S.

University Education At Home For Young And Old

MOUNT ALLISON University's correspondence courses have been taken by thousands of people over the years. They provide by mail a number of the same courses taught on our campus, and each offers the same reward: a credit towards a Bachelor of Arts degree.

The people who take them are scattered over a wide area, from Labrador to the United States. On average, they are considerably older than the traditional undergraduate. Furthermore, some never finish high school. We accept such people, in their 20's and older, not because we are lowering our standards but because we now realize many of them are capable of meeting those standards. The day of the "mature student" has arrived.

One course should tell you, and us, whether this program is for you. If you are interested in further details, send this form to the Director of Extension, Mount Allison University, Sackville, New Brunswick. Courses are available in English, History, Latin, Mathematics, Philosophy, Political Science, Psychology and Religious Studies.

Please send me information on your correspondence program.

combines the culture of the west coast Indians with that of the whiteman who came west with the railway.

Indian and Eskimo carvings, as well as local art can be seen in the museum and art gallery.

In summer, fishing in the area is excellent, while in winter Mount Hays, 10 minutes from downtown, offers good skiing.

From Pince Rupert to Prince George, take a bus along the Yellowhead Highway 16, through the northern part of the province.

Here the terrain is quite different from that of Vancouver Island. As the Yellowhead winds along the Skeena River, the cold, clear water rushes by on one side. On the other, thickly wooded mountains rise steeply meeting a cushion of clouds half-way up.

Occasionally, you may see a lone fisherman amid the jagged rocks jutting out near the river.

A short side trip at Hazelton takes you to 'Ksan Historic Indian Village, located at the junction of the Skeena and Bulkley Rivers.

Here the traditions and culture of The Gitksan, the People of the 'Ksan, live on in the Today House of Arts, the Frog House of the Distant Past, the Wolf House of the Grandfathers, the Fireweed House of treasures, and the Carving House of All Times.

Prince George is located 235 miles east of Smithers. The Historical Museum located in Fort George Park on the banks of the Fraser River, houses pioneer effects, tools, and specimens of wildlife from the area. This was the site of fur trading post built by Simon Fraser in 1805.

Approximately 130 miles from Prince George, history greets the visitor at historic Barkerville, the gold rush capital of British Columbia. Much of the road from Quesnel to Barkerville follows the route of men who came in search of gold along the Cottonwood River and Lightning Creek through Devil's Canyon in the 1860's.

The town of Barkerville has been restored to the period of 1869-1885. It grew up around the spot, where, on August 22, 1862, Billy Barker hit gold. Today, you can see Kelly's Saloon, the Wake Up Jake Cafe, the store of the Chinese merchant Sing Kee, or take in a performance at the Theatre Royal. Try your luck at gold panning at the El Dorado Mine, or take a ride in the Barkerville Stagecoach.

From Barkerville, it's on through rolling countryside, to 108 Mile Ranch. Just before reaching the ranch, at the side of the road you can see original log buildings which served as stagecoach stops on the Cariboo-Barkerville road.

In this area, dry, sandy hills, covered with scrub bush, rise from the white water of the Thompson. In the distance, mountains covered with evergreens provide a striking contrast.

At Hell's Gate, approximately 100 miles from Cache Creek, you can make a breathtaking crossing of the Fraser River. The 28-passenger Airtram makes a descent of 500 feet over the turbulent waters of the Fraser which are 200 feet deep at this point. You also cross over the Hell's Gate Fishways which were built to permit as many as two million sockeye salmon to make their way to their spawning grounds each year.

Good service travels fast

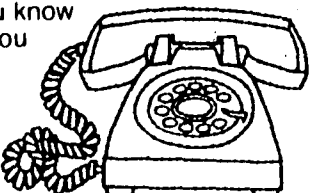

... by long distance.

Chances are you can't make every out-of-town service call immediately. It's not physically possible. But you can make a long distance call and tell your customer that you know about the problem; what you plan to do about it; and when.

You can create a lot of good will that way and maybe even some new business too. It's that old power of positive thinking that can turn a service call into a sales call. And the most you can pay is 60c a minute for direct-dialed, daytime calls within Nova Scotia.

Remember, service can be a good word and the good word travels fast by long distance.

September Days In Canada's Parks

by Tony Sloan

September is a quiet, almost magic time, in Canada's national parks. The July-August crowds have vanished with the passing of the Labour Day weekend and the hiking trails through wooded glades to sheltered lakes and valleys once again revert to game trails for the resident wildlife.

The leisurely appreciation of parkland scenery enhanced by early autumn colors, the more frequent sightings of wildlife and identification of seasonal flora are all known as "quiet time" activities to park visitors; a tour conducted by a staff nature interpreter is even more enjoyable.

The popular nature interpretive programs were normally discontinued after the Labour Day weekend in past years, but now efforts are being made to extend these services on a reduced scale where interest warrants.

A park's interpretive program is based on the identification and analysis of a park's ecological structure which is then conveyed to park visitors through a variety of methods including informative literature, slide presentations, self guiding trails and conducted tours. The program is an excellent aid to amateur naturalists and outdoors people to enlarge their range of knowledge and appreciation for the park's environment with the assistance of trained observers.

Late summer naturalists will find staff interpreters available on request at Fundy and Kouchibouguac Parks in New Brunswick as well as for the fascinating seashore nature tours on Prince Edward Island.

Quebec's La Mauricie, north of Trois Rivières and Forillon on the tip of the Gaspé, offer guided tours by staff naturalists by prearrangement in addition to their on-going school program.

Ontario and midwest national parks are primarily confined to school oriented programs and outings associated with winter activities. Elk Island Park, 30 miles north of Edmonton, Alberta, will accommodate groups of eight or more in September on a prearranged basis.

The mountain parks of British Columbia and Alberta continue a modified summer program past the Labour Day weekend but conducted tours are usually on a prearranged basis at the request of a group. Kootenay Park in British Columbia schedules an evening slide presentation at the Red Streak Campground every Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday until the end of September. Revelstoke and Glacier Parks have no scheduled program except for a roving naturalist on the summit of Mount Revelstoke.

Pacific Rim on the west coast of Vancouver Island schedules weekend tours throughout September. Late season visitors to Yoho in British Columbia and Waterton Lakes in southern Alberta are left to wander at will as the interpretive programs are discontinued after Labour Day.

Jasper Park remains active into the autumn months and features daily presentations at the Whistler or Wapiti Campgrounds until Thanksgiving (Oct. 11). Daily conducted walks, weather permitting, are advertised on park bulletin boards.

The gleaming light gold of trembling aspen in the valleys contrasts with the deep golds of mountainside alpine larch as the crisp September days descend on Banff. Guided tours are prearranged for groups of eight or more as the Banff program emphasizes wintertime tours on snowshoes or cross-country skis. No matter; who really needs a guide to enjoy hiking some of the most beautiful areas in Canada when even the flies have gone and the tranquility of September is all yours to enjoy.

Reflecting To 1946

Robbery with violence is not something new in 1976 but the grabs might get higher and higher. At Concession in 1946, a seventy-four year lady living alone was beaten and robbed of $300. Two youths, ages 19 and 12 years, were arrested. The robbers, masked with handkerchiefs over their faces, knocked at the back door of the lady's home at two o'clock a.m. and demanded admittance. Being refused, they broke a window and unhooked a door fastener to gain entrance. Being refused their demands for money, the robbers attacked the woman with clubs, breaking a hip. Later in the day a passer-by noticed the kitchen door standing open and found the victim of the attack with injuries. He called Dr. P.H. LeBlanc, Little Brook and the Meteghan River RCMP. Dr. LeBlanc described the fractures "the worst I had ever seen."

The House of Commons voted $300,000 for ferry improvements at East Ferry-Tiverton and Freeport, Westport. Eight miles of the Digby Neck Road were also to be paved. Porpoises, whales and sharks seemed to provide excitement in 1946. Porpoises had been found at the Little Joggins; whales were ashore at Flour Cove and man-eating sharks were on hand to feed on the whale. According to The Digby Courier, American tourists at Westport were really enjoying the sport of chasing sharks. The sharks followed the boats and ate the large pieces of whale being pulled by boats. The tables turned, however, and one boat load of fishermen was pursued by a particularly large shark. After several rushes he lashed out with his tail and then tried to bite the boat. Should the shark have succeeded in upsetting the boat, the occupants might not have lived to tell the tale.

Firemen Take First From Legion 12-6

In the opener of the quarter-finals in series "A" the Firemen behind the solid hitting and pitching of Brian Wong downed the Legion 12-6 to take a one game lead. Derrick Jordan pitching for the Legion allowed four hits while walking eleven and striking out fourteen, walks made the difference in the final score. Kim Wright produced a double in a losing cause. Players like Charles Vidito, Nevin Gaudet, David and Michael Small gave a good account of themselves.

Merchants Edge K of C 17-16
The Comeau coached Merchants took the lead in series "C" quarter-finals by edging the K of C 17-16 in a real thriller. Harold Haines handled the K of C in the absence of Carl Saulnier. Chuckie Woods went the distance for the Merchants while Brian Haynes did the pitching chores for the K of C. Walks played a big part in the game for it was not unusual to see the bases loaded by walks issued by both pitchers. Woods and Comeau lead the batting for the winners, Paul Gidney, with four singles and a walk in seven trips was the leading batter for the losers. Kiwanis Eliminate Lions By Score of 10-4

Coach Brown led his Kiwanians to a 10-4 victory over the Haines coached Lions thus knocking them out of further competition. The Lions forfeited the first game of this series when they could not field a team (insufficient players). This game was all tied up going into the bottom of the fourth at 1-1 when Mackintosh issued seven walks combined with a controversial call by the umpires. Mark Hersey with two hits and John Connelly with one lead the batting for the losers. Winning pitcher was Joey Hattie and losing pitcher Kirk Mackintosh. Burnell Burgoyne with a single, triple and two walks in four trips was the top batter for the winners. Legion Even Series "A" By Score of 20-5 on August 20th the Legion behind the three hit pitching of Derrick Jordan tied the quarter-final at a game a piece with the Firemen. The Firemen, playing without the services of Brian Wong were never in the game. McVeigh pulled off an unassisted double play when Ronnie Comeau hit a hard line drive to McVeigh, who was playing first, he jumped up snagging the ball and tagged out Trimmer who was on first base. It was probably the best fielding play of the season. Derrick Jordan led the Legion attack with a perfect day at bat, having a walk and four hits (single, two doubles, and a triple). Ronnie Comeau and Kevin Woods got the three hits for the Firemen. The third and deciding game of the series will be a dandy as coaches Murray Baxter and Arnold Jordan will have their teams up for this one. Merchants Oust K of C in Series "C"

The Merchants defeated a shorthanded K of C team by the score of 29-8 thus eliminating the K of C. Again, the coaches played without the necessary number of players, it is most unfortunate that the lads are not interested even to turn up for play-off games thus making it very difficult on the other players of their respective teams and more so on the coaches. Mention must be made that Chuckie Wood got three home runs in this game, one a grand slam.

Meteghan River Man Scores 97 Points

The lifeguard team from Melmerby Beach in Pictou County won the two top places in the fourth annual Nova Scotia Lifeguard Service Surfguard Competition at Melmerby Beach.

Greg MacPherson, Yarmouth, formerly of New Glasgow and Hugh MacDougall of New Glasgow placed first with a total of 130 points over the second place Melmerby team of Kevin Sangster and Roger Monette, both of New Glasgow with 120.5 points.

Guy Comeau, Meteghan River and Brian MacDonald, Kentville, representing Queensland Beach, Halifax County finished in third position with 97 points.

Fourteen teams participated in the competition; eleven representing supervised beaches of the Nova Scotia Lifeguard Service, two entries from Pointe Claire, Quebec and one team from Ingonish Beach, in Cape Breton.

The Nova Scotia Lifeguard Service is a joint project of the Nova Scotia Department of Recreation and the Red Cross Water Safety Service.

The competition comprised seven events designed to test lifesaving skills and fitness of the competitors. Queensland placed first in the Rescue and Resuscitation event followed by Caribou Beach, Pictou County and Melmerby A in third place. Graeme Swan of Caribou won the Beach Sprint, followed closely by Mike Vining of Heather Beach, Cumberland County for second and Roger Monette, Melmerby B for third place.

Pointe Claire captured first place honors in the Rescue Can event with Melmerby taking the second and third positions.

The Paddleboard Rescue event was won by Melmerby teams in first and second place with Ellenwood Lake, Yarmouth County, in third. Hugh MacDougall finished ahead of Roger Monette to take first and second places for Melmerby in the Paddleboard Race. Warner Comeau of Ellenwood Lake, Yarmouth County was third.

Greg MacPherson, Melmerby, placed first in the Iron Man race with Guy Comeau, Queensland second and Kevin Sangster, Melmerby, third.

The final event, the Team Swim, ended in a tie for first place between Melmerby A and B teams, Pointe Claire finishing in third position.

The winning Melmerby team was awarded the competition trophy by Al Goodwin, Director, Red Cross Water Safety.

Agriculture Minister Views Dike Land Project

Explore Possibility Multicultural Studies

The Western Nova Multicultural Association will consider the sponsoring of a series of public gatherings in the interests of promoting multicultural studies as part of the educational program in Nova Scotia, it was decided following a special meeting here.

The meeting, which was attended by members of the executive of the Western Nova Multicultural Association and others interested in the promotion of multiculturalism, was presided over by Mrs. Frieda Balser, Association President. Attending was Dr. P.A. Johnstone, Director of Ethnic Services for the provincial Education Department.

Purpose of the meeting was to hear from Dr. Johnstone and to discuss with him research presently underway in the province regarding the possible development of multicultural studies in Nova Scotia schools. Development of such a program would mark a "first" for the province. Already, Nova Scotia has a task force working on a program of cultural studies for senior high schools in the province, intended to replace the Social Studies program. During the discussion with Dr. Johnstone it was learned a number of priorities in connection with the possible multicultural education program are being studied. First of these involved development of adequate ethno-cultural descriptions.

A multicultural education approach must also be developed as the program will be new in Canada. The need for inclusion of a human rights content in the education program must also be studied as must a liaison between the Human Rights Commission and the Education Department. Such a liaison would mark another "first" in Canada. Any program developed must be of equal quality in all parts of the province, Dr. Johnstone noted.

One of the purposes of Dr. Johnstone's meeting with the Western Nova Multicultural Association executive and others in the area is to determine reaction to the proposed education program and to secure input into the development from people most closely associated at local levels with the problem.

It is understood from George Bell, co-ordinator of the Western Nova Multicultural Association, plans are being formulated for a series of meetings to further explore the matter.

..Expect $200,000 To Completion

The St. Mary's Dike Land was visited on Friday by Hon. John Hawkins, Minister of Agriculture for Nova Scotia with one of the main projects reviewed being that of an experimental field of Gary Oats by Chipman Chisholm.

Mr. Hawkins made a stop-through visit enroute from opening the Shelburne County Exhibition and was accompanied by Mrs. Hawkins. He was met at the dike lands by Mr. Chisholm, president of the Digby County Soil and Crop Improvement Association which sponsors the soil and grain experiments; Bruce Gilliat, Digby County Representative of Agriculture; Wayne Comeau, vice-president D.C.S.C.I.A.; Lester Mullen, secretary and Joe Casey, M.L.A.

The Gary Oats experiment done by Mr. Chisholm involves using gypsum soil conditioner. The experiment using gypsum on one field and not on the other across the road proved to be a successful application for marshy, salty soils. The oats on Friday was ready to be cut within another week. Mr. Chisholm had seeded the land, applied the limestone and fertilizer and rotated the soil in his preparation for cutting.

The Digby County Soil and Crop Improvement Association has approximately 20 experiments in the County and hope to have a herbicide trial as well as other grain trials in the future.

The dike in general was looked over by the visitors it having been one of the areas which suffered damage in the Groundhog Day storm. The government had supplied funds prior to the storm to reclaim the marshlands but the rock face was destroyed by the storm to the extent of sixty to seventy percent. The new face is built with clay soil trucked in from approximately four miles and is built higher by three feet. The reclaiming of the St. Mary's Marshlands dates back to about 1961 and government assistance repaired the dikes a few years ago. With the Emergency Measures Organization assistance from the federal government following the storm, the province was able to restore the dike lands once more.

Hon. Mr. Hawkins said the provincial government has spent $133,000 on restoration of the St. Mary's Marshland and it is anticipated that this figure will climb to $200,000 before completed. More than 15,000 tons of stone and material will be used in the project.

One area of the dike land at St. Mary's gave the delegation problems because there was no wave break in the area. Several came up with experimental ideas which might be tried but none could come up with a definite solution to provide the necessary protection for the area not protected by headland.

While discussing the yield of hay on the marshland, Wayne Comeau told the minister of one experience. Reginald and Lawrence Lambertson of Barton, he said, planted hay on an abandoned part of the marshland, planting the seed on top of the ground and using a disc and springtooth harrow. The yield was six tons of hay per acre while the average haying yields 2½ tons to the acre. Wayne felt this proves the productivity of the marshland. There are haycrops continuing to go strong since the dyke was built in 1961.

Mr. Hawkins in expressing satisfaction with the dikeland adventure, remarked on the heavy crop of hay, about 25,000 bales this year; the six acres of grain; the fact that the land supports 800 head of cattle and pasture is available for 250. He was pleased also that the trucking for the project was done locally.

After the tour of the dikeland the group left to visit other farm properties near Digby and Bear River.

On August 25 the Digby County Soil and Crop Improvement Association sponsored a farm tour when they visited farms of Otis Robins, Waldec; Perry Freeman, Waldec; Harvey Pulley, Lansdowne; Roland Weir, Lansdowne; Peter Balser, Shelburne Road; John Roope, Hill Grove and Digby Green Valley, Marshalltown. Accompanying the Association members were John Thompson, District Weed Specialist, Department of Agriculture and Marketing and Greg Cox, Soil and Crop specialist, Kentville.

Time And Location For "Hot Seat"

The September 14th public question and answer session with Digby RCMP, NOO Thomas Barlowe has been set for 8 p.m. at the Digby Court House.

The Digby Board of Trade, sponsoring body of the upcoming "confrontation" has invited the public to participate.

Area of concern to the Digby Board of Trade members include young people loitering on the streets, vandalism, and the recent rise in break and enter.

Questions on these and any other aspect of police protection provided by the RCMP are invited from the public.

Honor Retiring Staff Member

Mrs. Edna Stark was on Wednesday honored by other members of the Pines Hotel staff when they gathered at the staff dining room to make presentations and express best wishes for her retirement after 42 years of service at the hotel. On behalf of the staff Mrs. Dolly Melanson presented a silver tray and service and Mrs. Shirley Hutchins an engraved gold wrist watch. Mrs. Murray Baxter made the presentation of a corsage. Many expressed their extreme joy in being associated for many years with Mrs. Stark while employed at the Pines. Mrs. Stark responded and expressed thanks for the gifts and the get-together which was a complete surprise.

Mrs. Allan Stark was the former Miss Edna Van Tassel and worked for nine years in the Digby Post Office. She went to the Pines more than forty years ago under the management of R.M. Ellis and has remained continually in their employ during all the summers since. This is the first year in which Victor Bradshaw has been manager at the Pines, Mr. Bradshaw having succeeded Roy Forhan this year but Mrs. Stark can name most of the managers from the time of Ellis to this year, many from whom she hears at Christmastime.

Mrs. Stark started work at

Mrs. Murray Baxter pins a corsage on Mrs. Edna Stark at the Pines Hotel staff dining room on Wednesday. Mrs. Stark, who completes 42 years of service at the Pines retires at the close of the hotel season. She was honored by other members of the staff and was recipient of an engraved wrist watch and a silver tray set.

the hotel as maid at $20 a month. From there she moved up to assistant housekeeper and for 21 years has been head housekeeper. She now has two assistant housekeepers.

Mrs. Stark said the housekeeping work load has been much heavier of late years because the day of tourists coming to spend the summer is gone, and today's tourist is on a constant check-in and check-out. There was little or no bus travelling such as today when Mrs. Stark began working at the Pines, she said. Today there is no day without a bus tour and there are as many as six busses lined up some evenings.

The Pines of the earlier years Mrs. Stark said was much more "posh" than today. There were shoe shine stands, beauty salons, page boys and other services to accommodate the guest who at that time was required to dress for dinner in the dining room.

The Digby Pines closes on September 20. Like other years, as head housekeeper, Mrs. Stark will continue to be employed a couple of months to ready the place for winter and prepare for the next open season. And what will Mrs. Stark do to occupy her time after her retirement? Just what she has been doing when the hotel has been closed in the winters of all these past years - sewing for Red Cross. Mrs. Stark lends her talent to community and church activity in general but Red Cross is her first love. The Zelma Rebekah Lodge also claims her interest.

Vacation Bible School Closes

Daily Vacation Bible School held their closing program on Friday evening August 20, after five daily sessions in the North Range Church Hall. There was a good attendance at all sessions ranging from 43 to 53 children of 12 years and under from North Range and surrounding areas.

Instructors were the Misses Sara Fitch and Catherine Crawford of Moncton. Assisting from the Sunday School which sponsored the D.V.B.S. were Mrs. Adelia Haight, Mrs. Marilyn Carman and Mrs. Maxine Bain. Other helpers were Mrs. Mary O'Neill, Miss Janet McNeill, Dorna Haight, Joy Gilispie, Shelly Nicholes, Mrs. Alva Thibeau, and Miss Comeau.

The program activities included action songs, memory work, demonstration of crafts and the presentation of certificates. The benediction was given by Rev. Ron Cunningham.

Luncheon Guests At The Pines

Shown above are some of the 22 guests at Tideview Terrace who were invited to have luncheon on Thursday, guests of the management of Digby Pines Hotel. Conversing with the guests above is their host, Victor Bradshaw, manager. Joint host was assistant manager, David Martin. The hosts supplied transportation to the hotel for the Tideview guests. It was by conversation with Mrs. M.C. Gott, Smith's Cove, that the Pines management decided on issuing the invitation.

Marijuana Plants Seized

The above two marijuana plants were seized by the Digby detachment R.C.M.P. at the home of Steve Smith, Digby County. They were grown indoors. The leaves of marijuana can be light or dark green with three to five leaves on a stem. The leaves on the stem are in odd numbers and the plants grow to seven or eight feet high, indoors or out.

Marijuana plants are commonly grown in the woods with a thin stem and resembles a

SUPPORT YOUR POLICE

Sgt. Thomas Barlow, NCO, Digby RCMP Detachment has given his consent to the Digby and Area Board of Trade to be present for a question and answer period at their meeting at the Court House on Tuesday evening, September 14 at eight o'clock p.m. The first support our readers might give to Sgt. Barlow is to be there to hear his answers to questions posed or to hear what Sgt. Barlow has to say in general about combatting crime.

No one will deny the fact that crime in its various types has increased throughout much of the world. The small town of Digby and the County in which it is located has not escaped loitering, noise, vandalism and more serious offences occur more frequently. Alcohol and drug abuse is evident. Something needs to be done to curb this trend. It is quite possible that Sgt. Barlow might suggest ways in which you, as a citizen, can help to combat crime. If you are concerned, that is exactly what you will want to do, help combat crime.

We expect Sgt. Barlow will have many interesting experiences to relate, many bits of information and educational facts to pass along. It is the duty of a citizen to support the R.C.M.P. on other police in tracking down crime. One of the first actions in support of what the police are trying to do is to attend the meeting on September 14 and become informed. By the same action you will be lending your support to the Digby and Area Board of Trade in their program of crime reduction. They are concerned. Are you?

SCHOOL HAS BEGUN FOR PARENTS TOO

Although school on Thursday and Friday was probably not too taxing on the energy of the student, at least, the term 1976-77 got started and no doubt on Tuesday after Labor Day, the work will begin seriously.

Looking back over the past 25 or 30 years, or maybe more, parents can see that school has changed, ideas have advanced, habits have changed, methods become new and subjects and courses have become different or have changed in priorities. There have been changes from uniform style of dressing and regimented programs to that of wearing frayed and sloppy jeans and expressing ideas with few inhibitions. Some of these changes were probably good and in their time have probably been proven so but change for the sake of change, only, is hardly to be recommended.

We have by today discarded most of our grading systems and examination standards. We have cast our disciplines to the wind and thrown out the three r's emphasis, the phonetic reading and home work. But, change might come again. It was in Philadelphia, we believe, where their school experiment program is to include these very things we had discarded, yes even children from kindergarten to grade VI will be enrolled for experiment in the one room school.

Without a doubt some of our systems of earlier years had their merits and will continue to have them. However, while changes will continue to follow the school program, it should always be remembered that nothing is as important as the child itself, its happiness, its adjustment, its future life and preparation for meeting it. Bigness and factory like institutions are not for every child.

School has begun for the parent, too. Guard the child's safety, stimulate the child's interest by showing your own interest and understand the school and its system where your child attends. The teachers will welcome your interest.

FOUR WEEKS TO LOOK AROUND

So far there have been no firm commitments of candidates for the seats of a mayor and three councillors for the Digby Town Election nor for the ten who will be chosen to serve on the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby. There are rumors which we have not to date checked. We've heard that Ervin Marshall is willing to reoffer again in the municipality but that Byard Marshall representing Bear River is not planning to reoffer. Another district in the municipality is said to be naming two women candidates. It is presently represented by a gentleman. As for the Digby Town Council there have been no commitments and few speculations for candidates for the October 19 election.

Citizens of Digby have little more than four weeks to look around for suitable candidates to run for these positions. All names for candidates in each election must be submitted before the close of nominations on October 5. Both elections on October 19 will make for an interesting day throughout our entire County.

Again we claim that one elected by acclamation can be just as capable mayor or councillor as one voted to office by ballot but it seems much more democratic and satisfactory when there is a choice in voting. To make this possible begin now, organizations or interested individuals, to approach the person whom you think will make a suitable mayor, town councillor or municipal councillor. The slate chosen this year will have its impact on future years. You have little more than four weeks to work on it.

EXHIBITION 1976

Today is the second day of the Digby County Exhibition which lasts throughout Saturday. Here we gather to view the best fruits of the land, the finest skills of the hand and express our appreciation for so much that is good. Sports and fun and competitions are found here in the most friendly manner. It is, indeed, to feature a time of progress in every walk of life.

Exhibitions are educational. Few, there are who cannot learn from others by comparing notes and judging the best species. The meeting of people at the Digby County Exhibition is a recognized social benefit as well as a manner of education in the exchange of shop-talk.

It is too late to enter exhibits for the Digby County Exhibition at this stage of the 1976 fair. It is not too late, however, to enter you. A small admission fee unlocks the door to all the Exhibition benefits for you — to fun, to sociability, to education.

Exhibition 1976, Digby County, runs to Saturday evening.

SEPTEMBER ARTHRITIS MONTH

September is Arthritic Month. While there is still no cure for arthritis, medical advisors of the Arthritis Society agree that the conquest of arthritis in our time is a matter of scientific probability. What is needed is the support of the Society's program in research and education. September 1976 being Arthritis Month, is the ideal time to lend that support.

The Knights of Columbus are quite active in the arthritis program throughout Canada and here in our small town but there is also room for assistance from other organizations and individuals. We might ask whether it might be a good move to reorganize or reactivate the Digby Arthritis Society. Earl Bouchard, regional representative, has been looking toward this end and would welcome offers of service, we are sure.

Canada is on the threshold of the best arthritis control program in the world according to the Canadian Arthritis Society, CARS. Much rests with the public as to what progress can be made in research.

September is Arthritis Month.

Coline - A Woman On The Go

By Betty O'Brien
Staff Reporter

"The biggest thing I have accomplished during my two years as a member of Parliament is to bring communication from the area, an awareness of the problems of the people in southern Nova Scotia to Ottawa", says Coline Campbell, the Liberal member for South Western Nova.

Miss Campbell is an energetic and hard working member and is making sure that Ottawa is aware of the problems that face the people in her constituency.

"Problems such as

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I believe that any person who hires out to work for another person or company should have a whole hearted interest in the success of that person or company, because to agree to work for so many hours each day for a certain number of dollars means that we have entered a gentleman's agreement to live up to our word. To do otherwise is to deal dishonestly really no different from taking money, from the till.

If every employed person in all Canada was determined to do their part to insure the success of their employer we as a country would soon be the leading nation of the world.

During my more than 40 years in the work force I have noticed a terrible, couldn't care less, attitude among many working people. A common expression with many employed people is the Government has lots of money or this man who I am working for is loaded and use that as a right to break their word. This attitude is causing our country to buck along in low gear and the real result is yet to come.

Arthur W. Johnson

Dear Editor:

If and when the beverage alcohol question causes some people to speak falsely and, or act deceitfully, in trying to gain their way for sale of alcoholic beverages, then something of great value is lost and, all society stands the chance of losing in different important ways.

When consumption of alcoholic beverages causes some people to have costly accidents; do acts of vandalism; break the law in various ways and defy law enforcement officers, harass people in their homes, especially in the midnight hour and past, then, surely all right thinking people led by right thinking municipal authorities should take a stand against the current widespread use of alcoholic beverages. Does not the taking of any drug non-medically tend to corrupt, as well as cause sickness and disease?

transportation: Canadian Pacific has transferred its contract ferry at Digby to Canadian National Railways. I am glad to see the transfer as it means a continuation of the service but it will be interesting to see how this affects working conditions.

"The closing of the clam flats in Digby during the peak months: Clam diggers are unable to apply for unemployment insurance at this time but must wait until the winter months. They should have a choice. These problems existed for years. I keep hammering away, and yes "nagging" but Ottawa certainly hears about them", she continued.

"Politics is a fascinating challenge. Our society and the world is changing so fast we must have new ideas and new people in government. I like to keep learning and learning and every new experience is a learning experience", she continued.

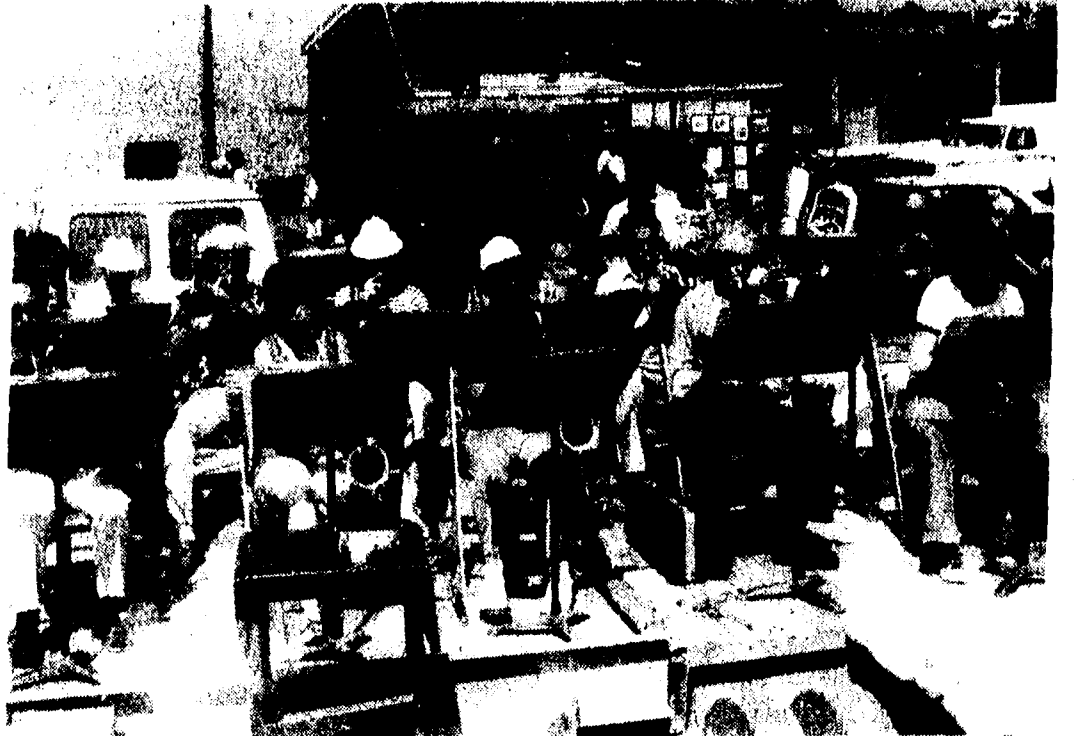

Miss Campbell the first female member of Parliament from Nova Scotia tries to know her subject.

She has had a number of ministers and members visit her constituency to help enlighten them on the situation in her area, including Prime Minister Trudeau, External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen and other prominent ministers.

Her constituency includes two armed forces bases, Barrington and Cornwallis; Kejimikujik National Park, Fort Anne, Port Royal Habitation, the Painter's

Mrs. Dolly Melanson left and Mrs. Shirley Hutchins made presentations of a silver service and of an engraved gold wrist watch to Mrs. Edna Stark on Wednesday at the Pines Hotel staff dining room. The Digby Stage Band under the direction of Don Scott provided entertainment for Digby Scallop Day patrons on the Fishermen's Wharf.

Room in Granville Ferry, and one of the largest fishing areas in Nova Scotia, so she touches on almost every federal department.

"I am very concerned with the unemployment situation in my area.

"We are envious for our lifestyle in Nova Scotia and we manage to live in a good atmosphere. We must find ways to get our unemployed employed and must create new jobs.

"I think a great deal about the energy problems. In the long run, will it be cheaper to develop oil off the shores of Nova Scotia, develop tidal power or make use of our coal.

"At the present time I am working with a group of people in the Maitland Bridge area who have problems with Kejimikujik National Park. They are worried about future job creation and the long term affect of the park on this area.

"I would like to see a replacement for the Ferry Bluenose. If the Lion ferry is going to be taken out of service in the winter months the Bluenose can't handle big trucks and this will have an adverse affect on the area. I have brought this to the attention of powers to be in Ottawa and it is now a matter of working for it.

"Representing an area where the fishing industry is of prime importance and where people have worked themselves to a level where their earnings are the highest in Nova Scotia in the fishing industry by owning their own boats and equipment, I am looking to see how the industry is going to be affected by the new 200 mile limit", she continued.

Miss Campbell has her own constituency office in Yarmouth and finds this very helpful.

She travels back and forth at least once a week when the House is in session and when it is recessed spends a busy week travelling her area which is one of the largest in Nova Scotia, starting just below Bridgetown and going right through to Clyde River.

On Sundays she attends picnics in the different areas making an appearance in two or three different places.

Monday morning may see her starting the day in her office in Yarmouth, then on to Annapolis to attend the exhibition, a visit to Digby to attend scallop day and then on to Maitland Bridge to a meeting at night and so her week continues.

Coline Campbell, a bilingual legal aid lawyer loves Nova Scotia and in particular this area.

A native of Digby she received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Saint Francis Xavier University and a Bachelor of Education degree from Laval University.

Miss Campbell taught school for five years in Halifax, CFB Cornwallis, Digby, Montreal and Alberta, before attending the University of Ottawa to receive a degree in law.

She is a member of the bar society of both Ontario and Nova Scotia.

Miss Campbell served two years as a parliamentary secretary, first to Health Minister Marc Lalonde and then Hugh Faulkner, the secretary of state.

She headed the Canadian delegation to the International Women's Year Conference in Mexico last year and this year greet Prince Andrew on behalf of the Canadian government on his arrival in Canada to attend the Olympics.

As to her future Coline Campbell is busy learning to be a good member and definitely will be running in the next election.

Commenting on the possibility of being appointed a cabinet minister she said "I can't help but hope to be made a cabinet minister. I would like to have the chance but that is in the future.

"At the moment I am too busy trying to be a good member and trying to do the best for my constituency. - The Halifax Chronicle Herald.

The happy fact that Young Key Min and his wife are likely to be united soon is perhaps a bit overshadowed by the fact that their baby will have to remain in Korea. It seems only those who are old enough to obtain a visa are allowed to leave the homeland.

Young Key Min has attended the Maritime Christian College for about one and a half years. Said Rev. Mr. MacNiel, himself a

Digby New Horizon Group Active

There were five attending whose birthdays occurred in August.

On Aug. 10th, sixteen members enjoyed a picnic on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Waters Comeau, Rossway.

On Aug. 24th, thirty-six members motored to Yarmouth, where they lunched at the Sea Food Restaurant, drove to Cape St. Mary's and Cape Forchu, before ending the afternoon at the Yarmouth Shopping Mall. All enjoyed a pleasant day.

One of our members, Mrs. N. Raymond, is enjoying a month's holiday visiting the United Kingdom, and several places in Europe.

The August birthday party concluded the month's activities for the Digby New Horizons' Club. Forty-five attended and enjoyed the afternoon with bridge, auction 45's, crokinole and scrabble. The Club was pleased to have two of their student-graduate of that college, "He is a devoted Christian and a sincere preacher, indeed worthy of our support."

Teachers and helpers for VBS were Rev. Charles MacNiel, Mrs. MacNiel, Mrs. Lindon Titus, Miss Kathy Cossaboom, Miss Donna Outhouse, Mrs. Fraser Outhouse, Miss Wendy Cann, Mrs. Farrell Munroe Jr. and Mrs. Arden Greenlaw.

Following the close of the program, a film, "The Big Splash" was shown by Rev. Mr. MacNiel.

Preaches 100th Anniversary Sermon

Rev. R.R. and Mrs. Winchester have had an extended tour which included an attendance at the United Baptist Federation in Hamilton, Ontario. From there they visited Mrs. Winchester's sister-in-law at Terra Cotta for a few days and also a cousin in Mississauga. They then visited Niagara Falls and crossing over into the United States spent some time in North Easton from which area they visited friends and relatives in Needham and on the Cape.

Last week they returned from a visit to P.E. Island where Mr. Winchester had the privilege of being the special speaker at the 100th anniversary of his home church in Belmont Lot 16. While at the services he met schoolmates whom he had not seen for over 30 years.

Mr. Winchester received from the church a pen and pencil set mounted on a plaque of birds - eye maple. A map of P.E.I. was carved in a darker wood and also a bronze plate which had the following engraved on it. "Belmont United Baptist Church Centennial 1876-1976."

This product is a craft manufactured in Alberton where incidentally Mr. Winchester preached his very first sermon while a student in Horton Academy at Wolfville, N.S.

Atlantic Baha'i Summer School

The three books presented by Dr. Michael Rochester of St. John's, Newfoundland, member of the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of Canada, on behalf of the Summer School were:

former members for the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stedman, now of Sydney. Mr. Roy Comeau, Halifax Regional Director of The New Horizons' Programme for Nova Scotia and Mrs. Comeau were also guests of the afternoon. Mr. Comeau addressed the Group and commented on the Club's achievements and the sociability of its members.

Vacation Bible School Hears of Young Key Min

A program and display of arts and handcraft marked the closing of Vacation Bible School conducted by Rev. Charles MacNiel in the Tiverton Christian Church. Children from Freeport, Central Grove and Tiverton as well as children from Yarmouth, Halifax Co., and Magdalene Islands who are visiting in the area attended and participated in studying the Scripture through Bible stories and Visual Aids as presented by the teachers and helpers.

An average of 38 attended the week's sessions which began at 9 a.m. and concluded at 11:45 a.m.

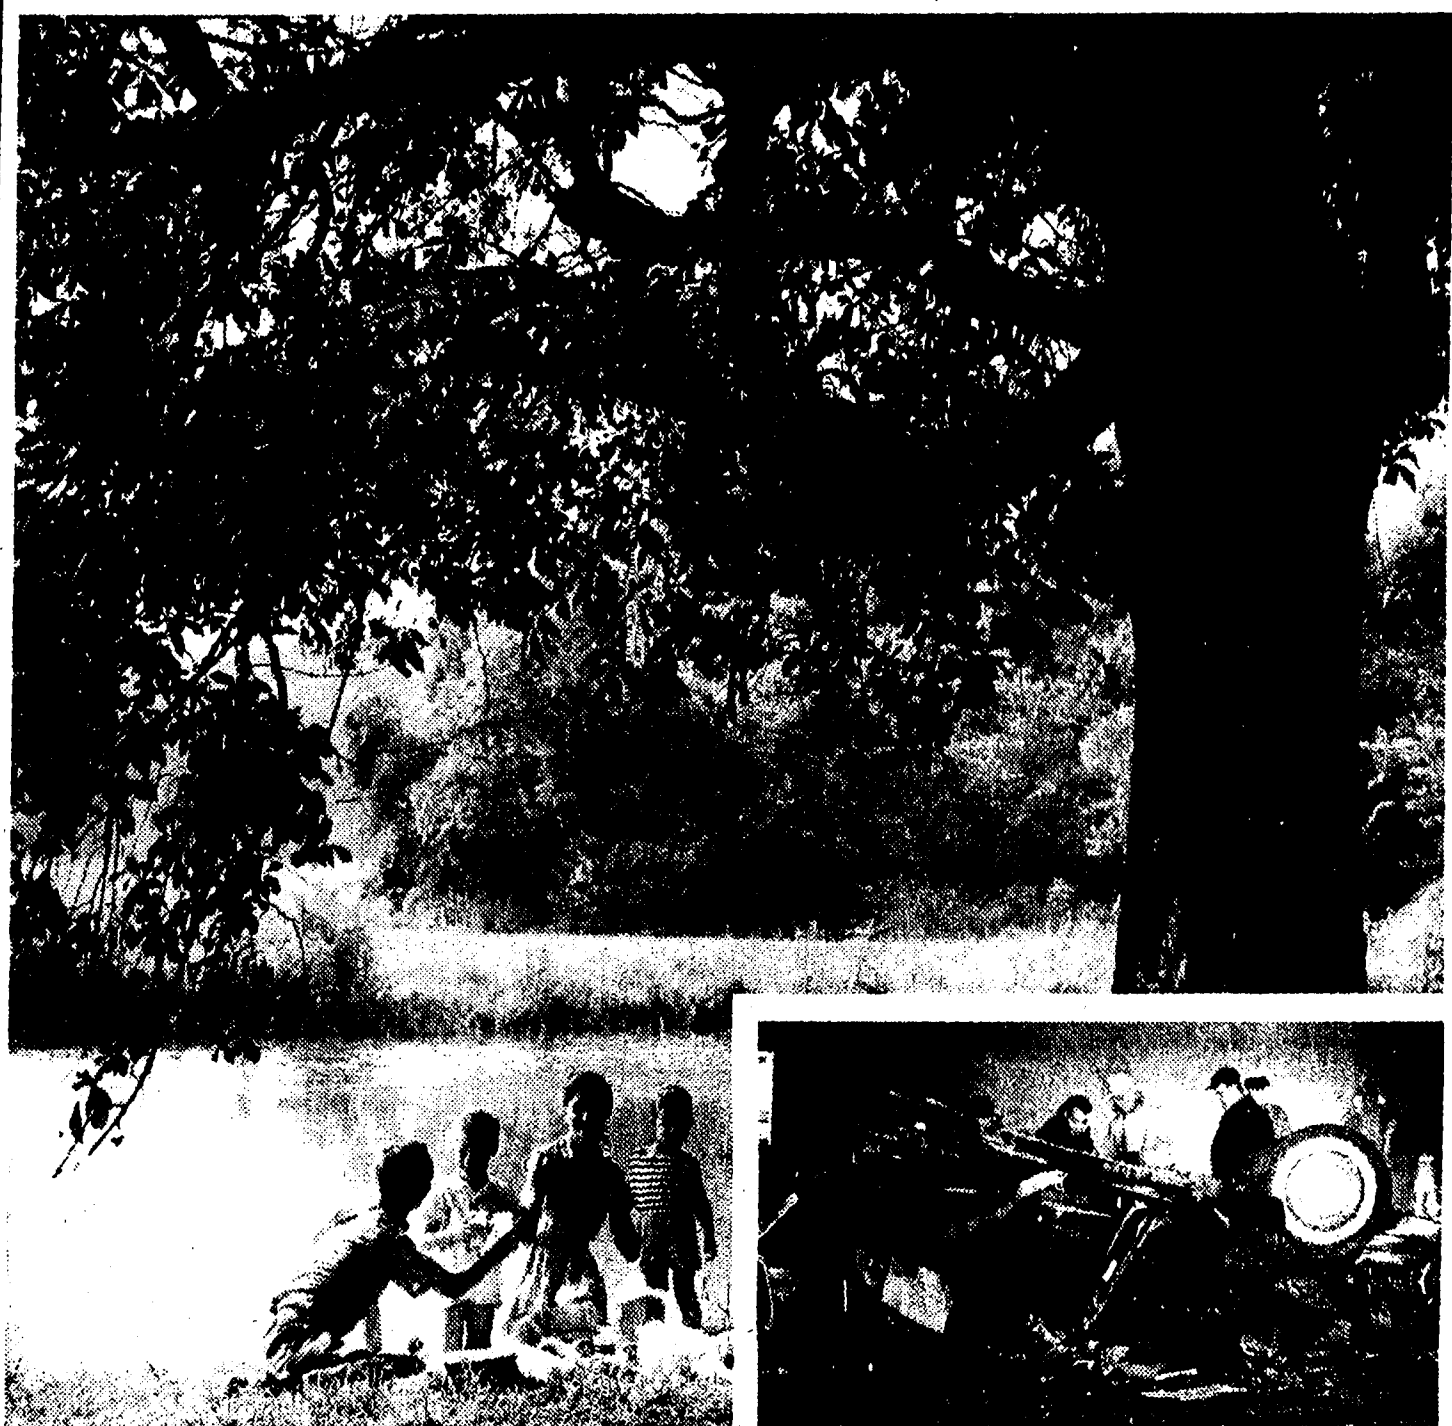

Theme of the week's activities held in the Christian Church "God's Love Is Jesus" was manifested in the exercises, songs and choruses presented by the children of the various classes. The crafts fashioned by the children with assistance from teachers and helpers also depicted God's love in the posters, pictures, crosses fashioned from match sticks and other creative objects.

Mrs. Robert Ruggles, organist, Mrs. Fraser Outhouse and Mrs. Arden Greenlaw assisted with songs and choruses. Each teacher distributed attendance certificates to her class.

Scripture reading was by Lorena Keating.

Theme of the missionary story told each day by Rev. MacNiel was Young Key Min. Further narrations were presented by Darron Sollows with illustrations by the use of a map, pictures, etc., by Eldred Guier, both of the Jr. Boys' class. These served to point out to the attendants at the closing program, some of the problems faced by Young Key Min.

This long weekend could be your last weekend.

During the long weekends last year, 13 people were killed on Nova Scotia roads. Who killed them?

The biggest single cause of traffic accidents is inattention on the part of the driver.

It's a fact that about 50% of all traffic fatalities involve drinking drivers.

Not wearing seatbelts is another factor. During 1975, 26 people in Nova Scotia died when they were thrown from their vehicles. They were not wearing seatbelts.

Think about it. And realize that you just can't afford to relax until you get where you're going.

Highway Safety — it all depends on you!

God knew I needed a friend dear.
So we met in the long ago.

Then the wonderful husband I knew.
He joined our hearts together
And led us by the hand.
Across the stepping stones of life
To be partners for life as planned.

Until the curtain falls for me.

No earthly power can ever change
What God hath planned to be.

Always loved and remembered by wife

Spirit Catching On

Brigadier-General O.W. Lockyer, Commander Militia Area Atlantic, said Saturday that the spirit of camp Aldershot is "Catching on and spreading across Canada."

He was speaking to all officers in the camp at the conclusion of Exercise Rapid Ranger II. The exercise saw approximately 1,000 militia personnel from the Atlantic provinces take part. It was held during the annual week of concentration for militia members from the region. The camp opened in mid June and closes August 27. During the summer, various rank and trade qualification courses were held at the camp.

Referring to Exercise Rapid Ranger II, the general said, "Its preparation and design were excellent." It was handled by a militia officer, Major George McGrath of the Kentville area, who is a member of the West Nova Scotia Regiment. Plans are now being formulated for next summer's exercise.

Upwards of 300 participants in the Student Summer Employment and Activities Program (SSEAP) were also involved in the exercise. This employment program for students is sponsored by Canada Manpower at centers throughout the region and is administered by the Dept. of National Defence. General Lockyer said "The SSEAP people did their jobs well; those kids came in pretty fit." He added, "It's obvious if we are going to continue to run the type of exercise we have at Aldershot, we will have to put more emphasis on SSEAP at the local headquarters level because we have shown we need to use them on an exercise"

Bass Competition

Bass fishing was excellent for the week ending August 27, it was possibly the best week this summer.

Donald Hamilton of Greenwood caught a bass which weighed in at 27 pounds, 12 ounces. He was closely contested by Mrs. Caroline Galley. Her bass weighed 27 pounds, 2 ounces.

Her husband caught four nice bass weighing from 12 to 21 pounds. Stephen Kehoe of Windsor, N.S. got one weighing 22 pounds, 8 ounces. Many people caught their limit of 5 bass per day. Some visitors not knowing about the limit got a few over. However Mr. Norman Nelson who is in charge of the competition had it announced on all the Valley Stations. We wish to bring to your attention that there is a limit of 5 BASS PER DAY PER PERSON.

Everything is O.K. in the Bass Fishing Competition with lots of bass biting.

LEGION ENTER SEMI-FINALS BY EDGING FIREMEN

In the deciding game of Series "A" quarter final the Legion trailing 6-5 scored two runs in the bottom of the fifth and blanked the Firemen in the top of the sixth to take the series 2-1 in games. It was probably the best game of the season and produced many fine fielding plays as well as good coaching by Baxter and Jordan. Randy Gidney with a home run, triple and double in three trips was the top batter for the winners. Brian Wong went the distance for the Firemen, he gave up six hits, walked five, struck out six and had a perfect day at bat with a triple, double, single and walk. Derrick Jordan gave up five hits, struck out sixteen and walked sixth to take the victory. Kim Wright, a girl, had a walk and single in three trips and scored two runs for the Legion. Thanks to Murray Baxter for his fine coaching and handling of the Firemen and to all the team better luck next time, "someone has to win" your efforts were indeed excellent.

Line-ups:
Legion- R. McVeigh 2b, C. Vidito rf, D. Jordan p, K. Wright 3b, F. Hebert ss, G. Saulnier 1b, R. Gidney c, J.

Smith cf, N. Gaudet lf, A. Pothier lf.
Firemen- Ricky Cullen rf, D. Small rf, K. MacKintosh 2b, B. Wong p, B. Baxter 3b, K. Woods ss, P. Hoare c, R. Comeau 1b, Robbie Cullen cf, D. Trimmer lf, M. Small lf.

MERCHANTS GET "BYE" INTO FINALS

The Comeau coached Merchants drew the "bye" into the finals and thus the Legion and Kiwanis meet each other in the semi-finals.

LEGION AND KIWANIS BATTLE TO DEADLOCK

In the first game of the semi finals the Brown coached Kiwanis and the Jordan coached Legion went seven innings and with the score tied 7-7 umpire Locke called it on account of darkness. This game will be replayed on Thursday, September 2, at 6:15 p.m. Pitchers Hattie for the Kiwanis and Jordan battled each other all the way, incidentally, Jordan had a perfect day at bat with a home run, triple, double and walk for the Legion. At one stage in the game the Legion lead 4-0, but the Kiwanis tied it up with three runs in the bottom of the fourth and one in the fifth. Legion got two in the first and two in the third. There is no doubt that this series will be a thriller.

The boys swam to 'The Land of Oz', while the older girls swam to 'Ding Dong the Witch Is Dead!

The youngest group in camp swam to the favorite "Somewhere Over the Rainbow, Bluebirds Fly" - they were bluebirds, complete with wings. Danny Robinson was the 'star' that Dorothy wished on, while the four Clouds were Angela Reid, Angela Sarty, Carolyn Grant, Sherri Spinny. Councillors Gwen Roth and Heather Robar swam a difficult Synchronized Swimming duet, representing the 'Cyclone' that lifted Dorothy's house from the Kansas farmland.

Editors Visit Halifax Historic Site

HALIFAX, N.S.: In all the world there's only one place where walls built to house the booty of Napoleonic Wars privateers vibrate to the sound of "le jazz hot". Historic Properties, Halifax. Ant that's just one of the Historic Properties' unique attributes.

It takes a place that specializes in the unusual to be the site of a party for 300 visitors even if it means closing off an entire mall, filling it with tables, a dory brimming with iced beer, and the bounce of Dixieland jazz. If that sounds like a tale taller than the masts of Bluenose II, ask the 300 members of the Canadian Community Newspaper Association who climaxed their 1976 convention with a lobster party in Historic Properties' Market Mall earlier this month.

And if your friendly weekly newspaper publisher isn't handy for comment, ask anyone who's been in Halifax this year or last. Historic Properties is the place where the early 19th Century is alive and well, pleasing Haligonians year round and delighting thousands of visitors this summer.

Officially, Historic Properties is an authentic restoration of a major part of Canada's colonial era sea heritage. The authenticity of the building exteriors is attested to by the experts of the federal Department of Indian and Northern Affairs.

Unofficially, Historic Properties is "Where it's at!" in Halifax. "It" includes six restaurants; 36 specialty shops; cruises on the replica of the racing schooner, Bluenose II; water tours on the motor cruiser Haligonian III and the start and finish of bus tours, walking tours, and shopping sprees aimed at one-of-a-kind handcrafted items or world famous boutique labels. From sunrise to sunset and later, the pageantry of the port -- tankers, cargo ships, sailing craft, pleasure yachts, and fishing fleets -- is on display to delight diners or strollers.

It is a fair assumption that the convening publishers, between them, sampled a little of everything -- from a quiet cruise under sail to a bit of old fashioned fudge "made while you watch".

All that and the biggest "scoop" of all -- throwing the first lobster party ever held in Market Mall.

There's more to Historic Properties, however, than the rugged ironstone walls of Privateers' Wharf, as the publishers discovered. There's elegant Granville Street and the shops of the Promenade. The block of Granville Street saved from the wrecking ball of John Fiske, president of Historic Properties, Ltd., is said by Architectural experts to be the finest streetscape extant in Canada. Originally constructed as a city block-long unit to house shops catering to turn-of-the-century carriage trade, the shops of Historic Properties "Phase I" match the elegance of their 19th Century predecessors. Antiques, handmade dolls, mod furniture, and elegantly hand-crafted household accessories are year-round attractions for Haligonians and visitors.

Best of all, perhaps, for visiting shoppers is the dual role Historic Properties plays as tourist magnet and as a regular part of the city's daily social and commercial life.

Year round, Haligonians, dine, celebrate, and shop this old-new part of their city. For visitors, this means what they see, what they buy, what they pay are the prices and the wares offered Haligonians throughout the year.

For the record, Historic Properties is also the home of the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design, now in its 90th year, and it is a business complex with modern 150-year-old offices for businessmen, professionals, and government officials. Best of all, perhaps Historic Properties preserves a time when cities and shops and buildings were designed in human proportions. The tallest structure in the area is the mainmast of Bluenose II which soars above the waterline at her berth at the foot of Privateers' Wharf.

Twenty-two from Tideview Terrace were on Thursday luncheon guests at the Pines Hotel, guests of management. Seated with the guests is Mrs. Ronald Stevens, Tideview staff member.

Luncheon At Digby Pines Hotel

Manager Victor Bradshaw and assistant manager, David Martin were hosts on Thursday at a luncheon at the Digby Pines for twenty-two guests of Tideview Terrace, Digby. Besides being hosts to the luncheon, they also supplied the bus service. Seated with some of the guests is Mrs. Ronald Stevens of Tideview staff and standing is Mrs. Eleanor Rice, superintendent of nursing at Tideview. Others standing are the assistant maitre'd, Betty Michael and waitresses Michelle Fiander, Louisburg and Linda Bethune, Halifax.

Tideview Terrace guests have had a busy summer with tours and suppers at various places and the Pines luncheon is one of the closing numbers for the summer. Mr. Bradshaw and Mr. Martin in conversation with Mrs. M.C. Gott were prompted to entertain the guests. Mr. Bradshaw felt that such an invitation was part of a community service.

Rev. James Derby, on behalf Tideview, thanked the managers of the Pines. Mrs. Oda Van Blarcom, Barton, a guest at Tideview who observed her 91st birthday on Wednesday, also spoke. It was her grandfather who had sold the Pines to the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Above can be seen guests from Tideview Terrace serving themselves at the buffet luncheon at the Digby Pines on Thursday. Twenty-two were guests of the management.

Scallop Day Legion Dart Tournament

"Best dart tournament I've ever been part of." "We'll be here on Scallop Day next year!" "Wow! That chowder the Ladies Auxiliary put together..." Such were some of the comments at Branch No. 20, Digby, Royal Canadian Legion on the occasion of a 19-team Dart Tournament held in conjunction with Scallop Day sponsored by the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council last Saturday at Digby. Arriving early in the morning, with some teams coming in the night before and planning to stay through the regular Legion Dance during the evening, the teams came from all through the Annapolis Valley and some from the South Shore.

The tournament began at 10 o'clock along with Open House at the Legion building, and was still going well on toward late afternoon, accompanied by cheers and groans as first one team then another forged ahead or dropped behind in the scoring. A break for lunch came at noon time when the Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion prepared many gallons of fine Sea-food chowder, rolls, hot-dogs and other food, much relished by the competitors, and done with the usual fine quality of the Ladies of the Legion.

Great credit was given to Dave Wood, first Vice-President of the Legion and moving force behind the big job of organizing the tournament and feeding the hungry participants. And when the smoke cleared away and the final scores were tabulated by official scorer Ernie Tufts, the winning teams looked like this:

First place: Berwick Team No. 2, captained ably by Bob Johnson who accepted the trophy donated by Canadian Distilleries Ltd., of Kentville.

Second place: Kentville Team No. 1, captained with enthusiasm by Bill Clements, who took home the trophy donated by K and G Dunn, Ltd., of Digby.

Third place: The team from Shelburne under the able guidance of Frank Hartley, winners of the trophy donated by Metropolitan Stores of Canada Ltd., Digby.

Among the almost two hundred people clustered in the hall there was unanimous enthusiasm for this first major event at the Legion as part of the Scallop Day Festivities, and plans are already in the works for an even bigger and better Open House and Dart Tournament for Scallop Day next year.

Muttarts

Roger Wright, above, is manager of the new Muttart's Men's Store which opened at the Evangeline Shopper's Mall on Thursday morning, August 26.

The new men's store is adjacent to the Muttart's ladies wear which has been in Digby at the Mall for the past three years. The men's store denotes a marked expansion in the business and gives an air of completeness situated side by side with the ladies refinery.

The new area with its dark brown floor covering, beige and brown woodwork and scroll effect wallpaper harmonizes with the other half. Baskets of flowers, gifts from businesses and friends added to the opening effect as Ned Henthorn, president, cut the ribbon accompanied by Mike Henthorn, vice-president.

Mr. Wright is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wright, Digby and Halifax and comes from a merchandising family. Norman Wright was proprietor of Wright's of Digby Ltd. in the down-town Digby for many years, having followed in the footsteps of his father, O. Wright.

Roger is married and lives with his wife and family in Digby. He is a graduate of Digby Regional High School and extended commercial courses and has served in various merchandising outlets in the town of Digby.

Above Ned Henthorn, president of Muttart's Men's Store rings in the first sale following the opening on Thursday morning of the new fashion store for men.

Charles McKinnon Wins Race

Light breeze on Scallop Day prevented a really exciting race sponsored by the Royal Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club. Three of the seven only finished the race with Charles McKinnon, Smith's Cove coming up first with the finishing line as the yachts sailed from the Bear Island bell buoy to the Yacht Club. Others who finished the course were Gary Moore of Deep Brook and Kelsey Raymond, Smith's Cove. The sloops were all under 24 feet.

Several boat races had been held by the R.W.N.-

S.Y.C. during the summer when winners included Charles Haliburton, Mr. Moore, Mr. McKinnon and James Outhouse.

Library And Historical Society Raises $325

A recent project for raising funds for the Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society was concluded on Saturday as planned. Tickets had been sold at week-ends at the Shopping Mall, and also by board members, on three articles.

Thanks to the generous support and interest of the public, the proceeds amounted to $325. This is to be used for the extra shelving recently added for the increasing book-stock in the Library, and for repairs and improvements to the building for both Library and intended Museum use.

The first draw was for a patch-work quilt made by Mrs. VanBuskirk, Bloomfield, and acquired for this fund-raising purpose. The lucky ticket was held by Mr. Fred Bates, Digby. The Coleman Stove, given by Canadian Tire Corporation, was won by Mrs. Avis Manzer, Weymouth. The Electric Kettle, given by Wilson's Hardware, was won by Mr. John Ritcey, Digby.

In charge of this successful effort was Barry Jennings, a member of the Board. The response was much appreciated.

50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bell celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary on July 28, 1976 at their home in Bear River.

The reception was hosted by their children and served approximately 70 guests during the afternoon and evening. Mrs. Alma Banks and Mrs. Leland Marshall poured for the occasion. The 3-tier anniversary cake was centered on a crocheted lace tablecloth. On each side of the cake were gold candle holders with white candles. The rooms were trimmed with yellow and white streamers, gold bells and flower arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell were married in Bear River Baptist Parsonage by Rev. E. J. Barrass. Telegrams were received from Labrador, Florida and Truro.

The couple were recipients of many lovely gifts and cards.

The little feller in the foreground got a good view of scallop shucking contests during Digby Scallop Day, thanks to the broad shoulders of the gentleman underneath.

Square Rigger

A small sailing boat in Digby harbour has been attracting the attention of residents of the town. The square rigger, following in similarity to the "Bounty" was crafted by the owner, Jean Belliveau, Belliveau's Cove, and sailed to Digby. He cruises both in Annapolis Basin and St. Mary's Bay.

Town Council 7th

When September 6, Labor Day, arrives it hails the last of the summer holidays for most people. Students and teachers have had to make it back to school in most places this year before Labor Day, but most people are going to make use of that last summer holiday. Town Councilors, too. They'll be meeting on Tuesday evening, September 7 instead of Monday, September 6.

Avoid Too Many Home Improvement Costs At Once

The impulse to do everything at once to a home is a common mistake home owners make. As a result they often discover they're in debt over their heads.

Harry McIlroy, Chief Executive Officer of the Nova Scotia Department of Consumer Affairs, advises anyone who has just purchased a home to proceed slowly with home-improvement schemes.

There is a temptation, particularly to first home owners, he says, to landscape, build a rec room, fix up the attic, have the driveway paved all at once. And that can mean disaster.

An increasing number of home owners are finding it difficult to pay mortgages and other costs of upkeep and as a result are forced to sell in favor of a return to rental accommodation.

Mr. McIlroy advises people who have just purchased a home, and who want to keep it to follow these suggestions.

(1) Plan home improvements carefully on a long-range basis. If you have a home-improvement scheme, decide whether it is a necessity or a luxury. If it is a luxury try to pay cash. Paving the driveway, landscaping, building a rec room can always wait an extra year or two.

(2) Plan your home budget as carefully as your personal budget. If you can't really afford that fireplace for five years, then wait five years.

(3) Prepare for emergencies like faulty plumbing, a leaking roof with a special savings plan that is to be used for that purpose only.

(4) Try to anticipate increasing fixed home upkeep costs, like taxes, water rates, fuel and electricity. These costs are bound to increase over the years, and homeowners are well advised to budget in advance.

(5) Check your home insulation carefully to ensure it complies with the levels recommended by the N.S. Energy Council. If you want some advice contact the Energy Council or your local builder. Although improving home insulation can be expensive initially, it soon pays for itself with increased savings in fuel costs.

Robert Bragg, who has been a patient at the Annapolis General Hospital, returned home on Wednesday. He will be confined to his home for some time.

Giant Caterpillars

This is the time of the year that people start finding some of the larger caterpillars as they crawl about in search of a suitable place to spin a cocoon. They may have gone unnoticed while feeding on the trees, but now they can be seen crossing roads, or crawling about on the lawn. These "giant caterpillars" often have brightly colored markings, red, blue and yellow. One of the most common is the Cecropia moth, our largest native silkworm moth. The caterpillar is about 4 inches in length.

A few others that may be seen include the Luna moth, Promethia moth and the Polyphemus moth. In general, there larvae are not present in large enough numbers in any one area to cause much damage to trees or shrubs. No control should be necessary now as the larvae are no longer feeding.

Help stamp out new business.

Overlook the selling potential of long distance.

It's easy to overlook opportunities—even when they're right on your own doorstep. And that includes the opportunities for new business that are right at your elbow—via long distance telephone.

Introductory calls to prospective customers and "keep-in-touch" calls to present customers are two great ways to generate new business.

And it doesn't cost much. For direct-dialed calls within Nova Scotia, for example, the most you can pay is 60¢ a minute. And that's during prime time business hours.

If your business needs a little new business, give it the long distance treatment. It works.

Labour Day Weekend Fatality Forecast

The Canada Safety Council says it would be predicting Labour Day Weekend traffic fatalities far in excess of the anticipated 71-76 were it not for the assistance given by the press and broadcast media in passing safety reminders to the public.

Phil Farmer, a spokesman for the Council, suggested that there are some drivers who will never heed warnings, never take extra care, and who seldom slow down for anything. They will not have read this far.

However, the better drivers among us appreciate a tip and use it to stay out of trouble, and being human we can all forget something we once knew about safe driving just as we forget what we knew about trigonometry, Augustus Caesar, and the agricultural products of Outer Mongolia.

Worst Labour Day on record was 1966, when 102 died in traffic. Over the past five years, deaths have averaged 82 - rather higher than last year's total of 73. The Council still feels that, although there will be many extra cars on the roads, mandatory buckle-up rulings in both Ontario and Quebec will hold deaths down even if accidents increase.

Growing numbers of self-serve gasoline stations mean that more drivers have to clean their own windshields. The Council suggests that this be done by hand, off the road, as squashed bugs can smear under wiper operation, reducing visibility.

Earlier darkness means that all lights and signals should be checked for proper operation, and the Safety Council reminds those towing trailers to make sure following vehicles have an opportunity to pass safely every few miles - even if it means pulling right off the road.

Accepts Teaching Post At Cornwallis

Mrs. Carolyn Brown has accepted a teaching position at the Clark Rutherford Memorial School at Cornwallis as a specialist in English at the junior high level. Mrs. Brown leaves the Digby Area school system after thirteen years of teaching under the Regional School Board.

Accepting a position at the Digby Regional High School in 1961, to teach English and remedial reading, she remained with the Regional Board until 1965 at which time she was requested to specialize in primary and elementary music for the Town of Digby and to teach a grade VI English class.

In September of 1967, she returned to DRHS to teach junior high French and English and a grade XII General English preparing for Provincial Examinations. That was her first introduction to preparing students for Provincials. She continued working with grade XII provincial students until the examinations were phased out. Mrs. Brown believes that if teachers are well qualified and know how to teach and keep orderly discipline when teaching, that Provincials should not be needed. A teacher should be able to do her own testing within the classroom. The examinations were a costly financial burden to the province.

However, she states, "Supervision in the classroom is needed in order to keep teachers on their toes. Supervisors should be able to take over a class once in awhile to let a teacher see, at a distance, how her class works. Such a happening can be a most rewarding experience for the students, the teacher and the supervisor. I have been in such a position on many occasions outside of Nova Scotia."

During 1970, Mrs. Brown transferred to the senior staff where she remained until her resignation in June of this year.

She has worked with grades X, XI, and XII and particularly enjoyed the grade eleven students. At that level, they have become acquainted with the high school program and have become settled; whereas, the grade twelves are soon leaving.

During 1973, one group of grade elevens during a discussion in her class about junk foods decided to carry out a survey of all the students concerning the conditions of the school cafeteria. As a result of their efforts, the cafeteria was renovated.

Mrs. Brown has presented many Firsts in Education while teaching in Nova Scotia. March 5, 1953, saw a FIRST, when an Oral Composition Festival was held at Oakdene School in Bear River with Inspector of Schools, Clifford Edwards as adjudicator.

In 1971, over 100 of her students in academic English were involved in a Writing Workshop at DRHS; a Mini Mirror tabloid size, as a regular part of the local newspaper was published during the month of July 1974 and a Citizenship Court for students in Digby, May 1976, with Judge Victor Cardoza presiding, resulting from a non-fiction study.

On May 22, 1975, despite the "bomb-call" interruptions saw the presentation of an afternoon and evening PROJECT.

ACADIA at DRHS. The project involved the largest number of students, as a classroom-based program, ever presented at the school. Assistance of many people from the community was given, and the original scripts of the glimpses and the three-act play given during the evening stage productions are now preserved in the Public Archives of Nova Scotia. Joe Casey, MLA for the Digby Area, cut the ribbon to open the afternoon project when students from X, XI, and XII portrayed a typical Acadian Village of the 16 and 1700's. Some children from the elementary schools acted as children of the village.

Mrs. Brown has been called upon many times to lecture at International Reading Meetings and institutes of the area. She has created new courses including a Guided Reading Course for General Class students which she presented in May 1962 under the approval of Mr. F.C. Purdy, Superintendent of Schools. She has planned and carried out new courses in English and Can Lit, a new course in Canadian Literature which she was teaching to her grade XII students two years before it appeared on the Nova Scotia course of studies.

For many years Mrs. Brown was chairperson for the school exhibits at the Digby County Exhibition. Under her direction, the school exhibit lists were updated.

She has reviewed and written reports for many texts for the teaching of English at the time the province phased out the text, "Using Our Language" at the junior high level.

During 1974, she was coordinator for an Institute for Teachers of junior and senior English in the Annapolis-Digby schools. The all-day institute involved educational specialists as well as the assistance of people in the community including Mrs. Ann Ruth Rogers, Miss Mary Marshall, Miss Louise Daley, Mrs. Louise Stephen, Judge John R. Nichols, Joe Casey, M.L.A., Donald Brown, Arcade Comeau, and the Maritime Tel. and Tel. Staff.

Mrs. Brown holds membership in the International

Reflecting To 1946

The preliminary hearing for two Clare youths who had stolen a sum of $340 from Mrs. Rose Comeau, Concession, was being held at Little Brook. The home of Mrs. Comeau had been broken into and the elderly lady beaten. Summing up the hearing account, it could be readily conceivable that imbibing from bottles of stolen beer influenced the youths' behaviour.

A famed "invasion ship" was in Digby port to load a cargo of pitprops for Hull, England. The Baron Elcho had taken part in the invasion of Europe. Her job was to unload heavy cargoes from other ships onto the beaches and with her heavy cranes unload the tanks and war materials.

W. Cleveland Dukeshire, Bear River, received an award from the Canadian Humane Association for heroic action and presence of mind in the rescue of Marlene Ash from drowning in the ferry dock, Halifax, on July 5, 1945.

A column "Around The Town" written by a visitor noted the closing for the season of the Hemlock Novelty Shop. He liked the idea of the typical Digby crafts. The writer claimed there was no place in the world where the blueberries tasted like they do in Nova Scotia. The old Manhattan Hotel was in the process of being torn down and the visitor felt sorry it could not have been preserved. The visitor, in his column, suggested that Digby should make a feature of some of its churches with their beautiful stained glass windows. In Los Angeles the show places advertised most were the Church of the Flowers, the Wee Kirk of the Heather and the Church of the Reconciliation in Forest Lawn, no nicer than the Trinity Church and the United Church of Canada in Digby.

Fred Completes Successful Art Show

Fred Trask, Halifax, formerly of Digby completed an art show Tuesday at Acadia University. He also recently completed a one man show at the Dartmouth Museum and was featured this month in Ban XI Gallery in Toronto on Dandlers St. West in a combined primitive art show with the works of the late Reading Association, the Canadian Council of Teachers of English and the Association of Teachers of English of Nova Scotia. She has served on committees with the Secretary of State to formulate plans for conferences of English and French speaking people in the Digby County area; as a representative for the Digby Area in senior English for the Department of Education, in discussion groups concerning the Graham Commission; on recreation forum; a technology seminar, a discussion groups on topics dealing with education for home and school.

Throughout her teaching career she has been active in various phases of drama, music, and arts and crafts. She has written and directed plays and pageants in school and in church.

Her musical abilities encompass voice, orchestra, glee clubs, choirs, recordings, and certification to teach Solfege. She has participated and trained students for the music festivals in Annapolis and Digby Counties. Singing Games and Choral reading were first introduced in the Digby Music Festival under her guidance.

Throughout the years she has helped immigrants who needed tutoring in learning English as a second language. Her teaching has included working with students from primary through grade XII levels with many classes involving remedial studies.

Mrs. Brown particularly enjoys teaching language and reading as she considers them the foundation for all subjects. She believes that flexibility must be used with caution, that the basics are essential but that there is always room for creativity in teaching. She states that she would like to have student teachers placed with experienced teachers for a year, to serve an apprenticeship. Not all teachers want or can deal with the additional workload of an apprentice teacher. The cooperating teacher needs courses for such a situation in order to give of her best to her students and to her apprentice.

Mrs. Brown wishes for the Digby school system a calm year with a suitable learning atmosphere.

Of the three town councillors and a mayor whose terms on the Digby Town Council are about to expire, one, Councillor Gordo Ellis, has advised this newspaper that he is again reoffering for nomination as councillor. Mr. Ellis has served on the Digby Town Council for eight years and has served on many committees including the finance committee. Nominations close October 5 and the election is set for October 19.

Councillor Captain Reginald Hazelton has a definite "no" for his answer when questioned on his candidacy intentions. "One term is enough. You butt your head against a stone." Councillor Hazelton lives outside of town, although he owns property in town but he feels there are other people to represent the town now that he is living outside. He would be interested in going back on the school board, he remarked. Councillor Hazelton is presently chairman of the Digby Regional High School Board and the Board of School Commissioners.

Councillor William Reid has concluded that his business does not allow him the time needed to serve on Town Council and has decided not to reoffer his services.

As of today, Mayor Charles Haliburton has no intention of reoffering as candidate for the mayorality of Digby. This was his reply to the question presented by The Digby Courier. Mayor Haliburton was elected mayor in 1975 after several nominations had been called to fill the unexpired term of Mayor Patrick Comeau.

To date nothing substantial has been picked from the hearsay-bag about candidates offering for election to serve the expired terms of Reid, Hazelton and Haliburton.

Councillor Erwin Marshall of South Range was definite on Tuesday when contacted by the Press that he is re-offering as a candidate in the October 19, 1976, election in the municipality of the district of Digby. Mr. Marshall has served for several terms on the council and has been chairman of a number of important committees.

The two councillors presently representing Weymouth on the Digby municipal council are Councillor Arthur Rice (Deputy Warden) and Councillor Walter MacAlpine. Neither Rice nor MacAlpine were in a position to commit themselves on Tuesday because of business interferences, but they had not given up the idea of re-offering. Mr. MacAlpine does not favor election by acclamation, but would rather see a choice of candidates presented to the voters. It was also noted that the place of election in Weymouth North this year is at the Weymouth Community Library. For the past years it has been held at the Charles Weaver store.

Nomination date is October 5, 1976, when candidates eligible must have verification through the municipal clerk. Taxes must be paid by September 24, 1976, to qualify as candidate.

Municipal Elections Loom On Horizon

Two Digby municipal districts to date appear to forecast October 19, 1976 elections for council seats. Although to the present time there is no surety of the intentions of Councillor L.E.R. Winchester and Councillor Byard Marshall to run again, these councillors have not taken a stand negatively either. Each district, however, appears at present to be assured of a candidate and the excitement of an election looks promising.

Rubin Mervin, Bear River, has made known his intention of offering as candidate in the district of Bear River. Mr. Mervin is well known in Bear River through the Bear River Agricultural Society and in the Digby County Exhibition Association of which he is president. While many were of the opinion that Councillor Byard Marshall was planning to retire from municipal politics, the decision to do so has not been reached, it is understood. Mr. Marshall was on vacation and could not be reached for confirmation one way or the other.

A former councillor in the Smith's Cove district, Mrs. M.C. (Penny) Gott has indicated her intention of running in that district. Mrs. Gott served on the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby for 12 years and lost the election to Mr. Winchester. Councillor Winchester, who has received high commendations for his work by his fellow councillors was not available to reveal his intentions.

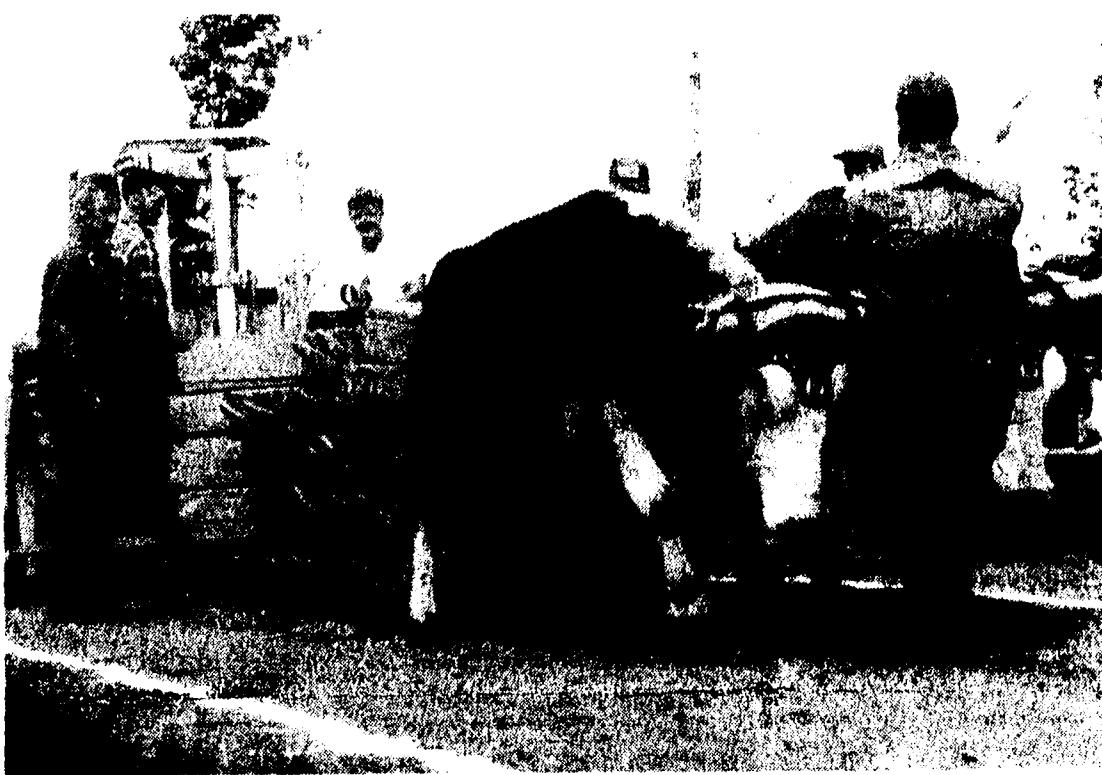

Mrs. Gott is president of the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council has a few definite ideas such as that the municipality cannot afford the Digby County Power Board or that it needs reorganizing; the occupancy tax should be eliminated and that there should be joint action from all Nova Scotia regarding the inadequate assessment and the fact that there is too much power given to the assessors.

The press was no further at its deadline on Tuesday whether or not a third candidate would be in the running for election in Smith's Cove. Rumors had it that another woman candidate was to run.

After giving six years to the service of her community, Councillor Helen MacNeil of the Marshalltown district will definitely let her name stand for nomination in the October 19 election for councillors in the Municipality of the District of Digby. Councillor MacNeil admits there is three times as much work involved in being a councillor today as compared with six years ago but she has decided to put in another term if elected.

Other areas definitely heard from were Westport, Freeport (Long Island), Culloden and Rossway. Warden Wilfred Swift, who has served twelve years as councillor and three years as councillor has decided to reoffer. So have Councillors Parker Thurber, Richard Daley and Eric Van-Tassell. Mr. Daley finished the unexpired term of the former warden, Ronald Morehouse. Mr. Van Tassell has served a three year term. Although it was rumored that Mr. Van Tassell was to have some opposition by a prospective candidate, Mrs. Olive Hazelton, Mrs. Hazelton has told The Digby Courier she has no intention of running.

Exhibition Entries Down

George Hall of Beaver River urges his oxen on to top spot in the tight free for all ox haul at the Digby County Exhibition Saturday. Mr. Hall's team hauled 8,700 pounds successfully.

The Digby County Exhibition got underway on Wednesday of last week under bright sunshine but with one disappointing feature—the entries were down in many of the categories. Most noticeable was in the art section. Paintings were few in number, cooking and flowers seemed to be down but quilts and fancy work seemed to hold their own and possibly even surpass the 1975 Exhibition in the quilt section. Vegetables and fruits were considered to be fewer but the cattle entries exceeded 1975 by a substantial number.

Among those sections which came up to previous years in exhibit content was the 4H section. Their display was in the old dining hall, a building which was generously passed over to the 4H Clubs of the County when the Digby County Exhibition Association completed the new dining hall, opened for the first time this year.

Results of the 4H competitions are as follows:

Garnet Adams, of Smith's Cove, had the grand champion working oxen, while Ernest Bent, of Granville Ferry, had the reserve grand champion.

In the heavy ox haul, Chester Watkins, of Wellington, Yarmouth County, had the winning team. It weighed 2,865 pounds and hauled 6,500 pounds for a percentage of 2.27. A team owned by Ernest Bent, and driven by Kenny Hebb, came second with a 2.23 percentage. Kenneth Grant's team from Bridgetown was third with 2.17.

Teams owned by Dave Law took first and second place in the heavy horse pull.

Rain hampered the Exhibition activities on Thursday, some of which had to be rescheduled. The visitors dropped in number that day but it is understood the opening day attendance on Wednesday was the largest opening day attendance in years.

Reopening Shellfish Area No. 18

The Fisheries Service, Department of Environment announced today the reopening of Nova Scotia Shellfish Area Number 18 for the taking of shellfish.

Nova Scotia Shellfish Area 18 comprises all the waters of Annapolis Basin and Annapolis River from Point Prim, Digby County, to the lighthouse at Victoria Beach, Robert Baden Powell, 75, of Plympton, a teacher, politician and writer died suddenly at his home on Thursday. Born at Freeport, Digby County, he was the son of the late Byard and Celestia (Gilliland) Powell.

Mr. Powell lived with his parents in other communities in Digby Co. and Yarmouth and completed his High School in Yarmouth. Following his teacher's training at the Nova Scotia Normal College, he went west where he taught school in Manitoba and did writing in Alberta. Returning to Nova Scotia he did poultry farming and taught school in Ashmore, Weymouth North and after overseas service in the second world war, he taught in the Digby Rural High School.

Retiring from teaching in 1963, Mr. Powell was elected and re-elected as M.L.A. for Digby as Progressive Conservative member. Because of poor health Mr. Powell did not offer for the 1970 election and devoted his time to writing Scrap Book No. 1 and Scrap Book II of Digby Town and Municipality, and a fictional story, Gaskill's Cove, based on local history released in 1975. Mr. Powell, until his death continued to gather material and prepare for another publication.

Besides his wife, the former Rae Hankinson, he is survived by two daughters, Dorothy (Mrs. W.P. Tedie), Oskask, Wis.; Janet (Mrs. George Mutch), Kentville; and nine grandchildren.

He was predeceased by three brothers and two sisters.

The body was in the Weymouth Funeral Home from where the funeral service was held Sunday at 2 p.m., Rev. W. Clayton officiating. Burial was in Barton Cemetery.

Musical Organizations Back To Work

With the opening of the schools and universities for a new academic year, the musical organizations up the shore of St. Mary's Bay are going back to work. The "Fanfare Regionale de Clare" and the "Chorale de la Baie Sainte-Marie" resume their regular rehearsals this week after four months of rest.

Mink Breeder's Association Affiliates With Agriculture Federation

The Nova Scotia Mink Breeders Association with Alphonse LeBlanc, Little Brook, Digby County as president, voted at a special meeting in Truro to affiliate with the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture. Present were about 25 mink breeders including operators from Digby County and Cape Breton.

The exact nature of the affiliation and details of the cost and means of collecting fees have not been finalized.

Dr. Gordon Finley, Truro, fur farming specialist with the department of agriculture, out-lined the Aleutian disease testing program to be undertaken this fall in an attempt to eliminate the disease.

Annapolis County. Nova Scotia Shellfish Area Number 18 was closed August 3, 1976 because of high toxicity. Recent tests have shown that the levels of toxin has been reduced to a level where it is safe for the taking of shellfish for all purposes.

As everyone knows, these two organizations group people from the French Shore interested in doing either vocal or instrumental music. Each year both groups give concerts at Christmas and in the Spring and the members get great pride and satisfaction in doing so after a year's work.

Both the "Chorale de la Baie Sainte-Marie" and the "Fanfare Regionale de Clare" invited at the beginning of their working season all those who are interested in music and offers the opportunity to develop their artistic talents and to relax from their daily occupations. Rehearsals are held at the College Sainte-Anne. The band holds its rehearsals every Tuesday evening from eight o'clock till ten in the college music room. The choir has its rehearsals every Thursday evening from seven thirty to nine thirty in the college chapel. In the choir more male voices would be most welcome, while the band is looking for a tuba player.

For further information contact Rev. Maurice LeBlanc, musical director (Tel. 769-2114) or Mrs. Yvette Valotaire (Meteghan: tel. 645-2357), president of the choir, or Mr. Pierre-Alphonse Belliveau, (Belliveau's Cove, tel. 837-4356), president of the band.

Multicultural Association Plan Fall Programs

In a continuing effort to increase cultural awareness in the area served by the Western Nova Multicultural Association, the organization will again "hit the road" this fall, it was revealed following a meeting of the executive and board members.

The first of a series of programs being planned for the area will be held in Yarmouth on October 2nd. The program will take the form of a "cultural Awareness Day" and a local committee, working under the auspices of the Multicultural Association, is in charge of the arrangements. The program, which is supported by the Department of the Secretary of State, will highlight the cultural heritage of many of the ethnic and cultural groups which make up the population of the Yarmouth area. Also featured will be displays of arts and crafts, presentations and discussion and a closing concert.

It is understood other similar programs are being planned by the multicultural group throughout the area of Western Nova Scotia served by the organization. This will be a continuation of a program begun several years ago and an effort will be made to provide these programs so that the whole area will become more thoroughly aware of the cultural and ethnic heritages that go to make up the population.

In addition, the association will spearhead a series of public gatherings in connection with research being undertaken with regard to the development of a program of multicultural studies in the senior high schools of the province.

Already some sessions in this connection have been held in the area.

The Multicultural Association is also working closely with other associations and agencies in the area in a number of projects. One of these is the development of a literacy program in which the multicultural group has an interest as it affects immigrants in the area. A training workshop for Volunteer Reading Assistants is scheduled for October 22nd and 23rd. It is understood the literacy program is being directly sponsored by the Digby Mental Health Association with co-operation from the Continuing Education Division of the Provincial Department of Education.

Among other projects under consideration by the Western Nova Multicultural Association is its on-going program of developing cultural awareness and understanding in the utilization of film programs for information and as discussion-starters. Other items include presentations to service clubs and other groups, pointing out the multicultural nature of the area population, the efforts underway to preserve cultural identities and the role of the Multicultural Association in these efforts.

Mrs. Frieda Balser of Digby heads the Western Nova Multicultural Association which has, since its inception received support and encouragement from the Department of the Secretary of State. Co-ordinator for the program is George Bell of Smith's Cove. Mr. Bell has been active in stimulating local groups within the area to carry out cultural programs and has assisted such groups as the Lequille Community Council in the organizing of projects to highlight the cultural heritage of their community.

EXHIBITION ENDS WELL

The walls and rafters in the Main Building at the Digby County Exhibition on the opening day looked bare. A shudder of disappointment seemed to take over. Where were all the exhibits? It was not until we arrived at the adjacent building, the old dining room, and discovered the fine 4H Club showing that we realized what had happened. The upstairs of the Main Building was missing this display that graced its walls for a number of years. This year the Digby County Exhibition Association gave the 4H Club the old dining room to use to their liking - a brilliant thought and a forward step in encouragement for youth. Hopefully another year interest and enthusiasm for the Digby County Exhibition will spread throughout the whole County that these vacant spots can be filled. Well filled walls and rafters can have a psychological effect, although quality, of course, is to be strived for.

One area where there seemed to be a definite let down was in art. Our artists neglected to put out their attractive displays in the 1976 exhibition for some reason. Entries were way down in this section and lessened the overall general appearance.

Some crafts might have shrunk from the 1975 exhibition but the quilt booth held its own plus both in numbers, quality and attractiveness.

An added feature we do not want to forget to mention about the 1976 exhibition was the new and attractive dining room 30 x 80 feet to accommodate about 180. Built for the sum of $9000 the new dining room has concrete floors throughout and stainless steel in the kitchen quarters. Besides the kitchen and dining areas there is a cooking room, a vegetable room, a serving room, and a canteen. The entire structure in its freshly painted white with red trimmings, completed in six weeks, was much admired by exhibition attendants. Fall flowers gracing the dining tables welcomed guests who remained to partake of the well cooked meals prepared in the new quarters.

Entries of horses and cattle were well up in this year's exhibition. This is an encouraging note but there seemed to be no sign of poultry anywhere in the Digby County Exhibition like in earlier years. We also noted that it took the sheep farm of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Long, Clementsvalle, to hold up honors for sheep.

Of course, the ox pulls and horse pulls, gymkhana games and other entertainment pretty well kept pace with former exhibitions here. A number of items on the program attracted the younger children, including the merry-go-round.

One stand which was most pleasing to see operated at the Digby County Exhibition was the MicMac Indian Teepee where demonstrations of basket crafts were put on. People are generally much interested in seeing demonstrations as well as looking at items exhibited.

The Digby County Exhibition is over for this year. One rainy day lessened the gate receipts but, according to the management, attendance in general was good and so we can say the 1976 exhibition ended well. Much credit is due those who have put their efforts into the Fair. A tremendous amount of work is attached to a successful event such as an exhibition. It is a case of beginning at once with plans for the exhibition of the following year. Congratulations to all the heads and helpers and hopefully a wider interest will assure a successful 1977 Digby County Exhibition. How about filling the walls and rafters and have the exhibition end well too.

HOW MANY KNOW?

Practically before our eyes, those of us who live so near to St. Mary's Bay and the marshlands, there is a possibly $200,000 project that goes without much notice. We refer to the dyke built at the Head of the Bay (St. Mary's) which turns the marshland into valuable property.

Last week we had occasion to visit the dykeland and were amazed to see the mounds of earth and rock fill which had been built up there in the past years. Our visit to that area had dated back to the days when a bridge could be seen in the distance but not used to drive on. While the road is rough and narrow, cars can travel the dyke through from one side of the Bay to the other at the present time. It is worthwhile for anyone to view the accomplishment, not so much because some of our tax dollars have gone into the project but more so to see what an asset to Digby County farming at the dyked marshland has become.

Farming will some day be the top industry. Why? Because the millions upon millions of population, increasing so tremendously each year will have to be fed. Such projects as at St. Mary's Bay need to be encouraged and land be conserved for food supply.

You need to see the dykeland to believe it. Why don't you.

Hodge Podge

- A dike or a dyke is a ditch; a channel for running water; an artificial embankment to prevent inundation of low lying ground as in Holland; a stone wall without mortar; igneous rock, once molten, which has filled up fissures of stratified rocks. So our Webster Worldwide Dictionary says. Whether there's a hole in the dike or a hole in the dyke it's all the same. It needs fixing like the dike or dyke at St. Mary's Bay Marshland.

- If word gets around that Allister Milner can cook up such excellent sweet and sour steak, that will be the only drawing card the Digby County Exhibition will need for next year.

- Two cents increase on eight cents for postage, making it ten cents per letter, works out to 25 per cent increase. Inflation justice!

91 Year Old Gets Highest Vegetable Points

The Digby County Exhibition completed a successful four-day run Saturday. Officials expressed satisfaction with the crowds which showed up to take in the various events.

The exhibition featured a number of new participants as well as the large number of fair-regulars such as Fred Woodworth of Bear River.

Mr. Woodworth, 91, has been entering vegetables in the fair for most of the past 60 years. His winnings this year included four first's for his potatoes and several other prizes for other vegetable entries. He also accumulated the highest number of points for his selection of vegetables.

Horse jumping competition and an Indian Teepee were among the additions to this year's exhibition.

In the jumping competition on Saturday Rhonda Best, on Peppy, earned first spot in a run-off with Carol Isles. The two girls had tied for first spot after their first run over the course.

Indian baskets were in great demand through the exhibition. Rain kept exhibition attendance low on Thursday but fine weather the other three days, at least partially made up for Thursday's losses. Exhibition president Ruben Mervin felt crowds this year exceeded those of last year.

Midway rides, tractor tilts, cattle judgments, gymkhana games, horse pulls, and the other exhibition activities combined to give visitors plenty to see and do. The exhibition's newly-constructed dining hall was open for business.

Showman of the year was Kenny Hebb of Granville Centre.

The official opening ceremony was performed by Bruce MacKenzie, president of the Annapolis Valley affiliated Boards of Trade.

Mr. MacKenzie complimented the quality of animals on exhibit at this year's fair and noted the AVABT was interested in doing everything it can to promote the interests of this area.

Digby MLA Joe Casey said there was a new spirit of life in Digby County agriculture. In spite of recent hardships such as the damage resulting from the February 2 wind-storm, the agriculture industry is healthier than ever, he said.

Mr. Casey paid tribute to this county's agricultural representative Bruce Gilliat who has played an important role in the agricultural revival here.

The exhibition continues until Saturday and features a wide variety of events.

Yesterday was billed officially as 4-H Day at the exhibition. Clubs participating in events were the St. Bernard 4-H Club, Bellevue's Cove, Bear River Trailblazers, 4-H Acadians from Meteghan, Trout Cove 4-H club, Centreville; 4-H Dudes from Brighton, Barton and Marshalltown.

In the regular ox haul the team owned by Dave Lowe of Kingston weighing 2,660 pounds pulled 6,100 pounds for a percentage of 2.29. In second place was Tim Taylor of Bridgetown with a percentage of 1.59. Jack Cornell of Granville Centre was third with a 1.28 percentage.

Other events and winners were: Ladies ox haul, Joy Robbins with a team owned by Otis Robbins; best team and teamster, by Glendon Robins of Smith's Cove; free-for-all horse pull (light class) first, Lorimer Daniels, Berwick; second, Paul McGinn, Chester; third, Brian Conrad, Bridgewater; (heavy class) first, Milford Marshall; second, Lorimer Daniels; third Maurice Reeves; old timers ox haul, Clifford Robbins, 76; steer class oxen judging, grand champion, Philip Herbert, Carlton, Yarmouth County; reserve champion, Glendon Robins, Smith's Cove; purebred Herefords, grand champion bull, Perry Freeman, Bear River; grand champion female, Perry Freeman.

Today is the final day of the four-day fair.

Among those receiving trophies were Brian Garnet, senior equitation; Jimmy Crawford, junior equitation; Heather Rushton, senior barrel racing; Jimmy Crawford, junior barrel racing; Don Bougie, senior reserve; Tina Jefferson, junior reserve; Stanley Wyles, pole-bending senior; Jolene Parker, pole-bending junior; Don Bougie, overall points, senior; Jimmy Crawford, overall points junior; Rhonda Best, jump off; Andree Humphrey, best sportsmanship.

Woodsmen's Competitions- Men's cross-cut Eddy Crouse and Curtis Spidel; Swede Saw, Eddy Crouse; Mixed cross-cut, Richard Thomas Jr. and Mrs. Thomas; Axe-throw, S. Spidel; kettle boil, Eddy Crouse; best target 22 shoot, Bentley Rice, Digby; Junior kettle boil, Peter Pierce, Bear River East; Junior Tractor Tilt, Peter Burrell, other than the M.V. Princess of Acadia on its way out the Gap to Saint N.B. Other pictures from Digby included His Worship Mayor Charles Haliburton, two local RCMP, small pictures of guests and staff at the Pines and the editor of The Digby Courier.

Six Gun Shots In The Night

Rabbie Kesner began his story on Digby with "A couple of restful days at Nova Scotia's Miniature Pinehurst, North Carolina, known as the Digby Pines, left us exhausted". That remark in itself should attract people from North Carolina to Digby and add numbers to another year's tourism in Digby. The Rabbi then went on to tell about Digby's scallop industry. More good publicity.

Mayor Haliburton (a distinguished Canadian name) was written up as one of Digby's three mayors in a year and bits of local town problems were mentioned. The paragraph which gave us a good look at ourselves follows "At first glance, one sees the physical beauty of Digby. At second glance we note the inner strengths and weaknesses. At third glance, the mug shot albums tell a tale of woeful parental neglect and of criminal activity - exceeding, percentage-wise, the average city." These words might well be read at Digby's coming up Board of Trade meeting on September 14. Rabbi Kesner, who is well versed in police matters, continued "There is no protection from the hours of 4 a.m. to 8 p.m. Those who are in the business of collecting other people's property and wealth go on duty for that four hour shift."

The Rabbi divided his copy into "Digby By Day" and "Digby By Night". It takes a Rabbi reporter to know about the six shots in the night.

Letters To The Editor

South Glamorgan, Great Britain

Dear Sir,

AVOICE FROM WALES
Your issue dated 12th August, 1976, contained an article concerning the visit to Digby of my wife and I.

May I, through the medium of your columns, express our sincere thanks to all those who made our visit such a wonderful occasion, especially to Mrs. Josephine Vantassel, her sons Gerald and Donald, and their wives Alda and Hazel.

The assistance and courtesy shown to us generally during our travels was most noticeable, and here again, we are most grateful.

Being some thirty-three years ago since I last saw Digby, I should like to say that the old town has not changed a great deal, and the surrounding country is still as beautiful as ever.

Whatever you do, don't spoil it - keep it just as it is - some day, in the not too distant future, we hope to make another visit; in fact, I am pretty certain we shall do so.

Many thanks Digby,

Yours sincerely
Mr. and Mrs. J. Rees.

Walk it to me!

Wedding Bells

COOK-COMO

On August 7, 1976, the Digby Baptist Church was the scene of a lovely summer wedding when Ann Marie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Como, became the bride of David Roy Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook.

Rev. Wallace Jordan, assisted by Rev. Charles Bain, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Joanne Frankland was the organist, and Phyllis Winchester the soloist.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a floor length gown of white brocade with scooped neckline. The bodice and train were also accented with white daisies. Her floor length veil was held by a head piece of white roses. She carried a bouquet of red sweet heart roses and baby breath.

Maid of honor was Susan Woodman, friend of the bride, who wore a floor length gown of pink crepe, and matching picture hat. She carried one single red rose.

Bridesmaid was Joyce Goucher, niece of the bride. She wore a floor length gown of yellow crepe and matching picture hat, carrying one single red rose.

Paul Morehouse, a friend of the groom was best man. Ushers were Jimmie Cook, brother of the groom and Vernon MacBride.

Flower girl was Holly McBride and she wore a floor length gown of pale blue cotton with pink and yellow flowers accenting it. She carried a basket of daisies. Ring bearer was Michael Cook.

Mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding, a floor length gown of pink flowered knit and corsage of carnations tinted pink and white.

Mother of the groom wore a floor length gown of coral polyester, and a corsage to match.

Reception was held at the Royal Canadian Legion when Darlene Winchester was in charge of the guest book.

Presiding at the silver tea service was Mrs. Mike Isaac and Mrs. Esther Marshall.

Paul Morehouse, best man, proposed the toast responded to by the groom.

For travelling the bride and groom chose matching pant suits. Her corsage was one single rose with baby breath. Later the bride and groom left on a honeymoon trip to Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick.

The couple will reside in Digby where they both are employed.

Out of town guests were from Burlington, Ontario; Water Mill, Long Island, New York and Saint John, N.B.

Atlantic's Voice Is Calling Me

Soil of New Brunswick nurtured me
My bare feet knew the feel of thee

Do brooks and trees remember me?
The City's din is not for me
I hear the deep voice of the sea.

Atlantic's voice is calling me.
Again I walk on Fundy's shore
Again I hear that mighty roar

Another life comes back to me
For my heart goes down to the sea
Atlantic's voice is calling me.

Moody Atlantic wild and free
Where fishermen go down to sea
As Jesus went on Gallilee.

Once fearless Bluenose sailed on thee,
Neptune's child; swan of the Sea
And I would be down by the Sea

Where seagulls soar
And the wind blows free
Your siren voice is calling me.

L. Deer
The above poem was written by a lady in Ontario who longs for the Atlantic provinces and hopes to live here in the future. E.M.W.

HYPOTHERMIA

Hypothermia is a strange-sounding word, but the condition it describes is very familiar. Some common terms are "over-exposure", "cold chill", "I'm frozen!" Hypothermia is caused by exposure to cold accompanied by wetness, wind chill and exhaustion.

There are two recognizable stages of this malady, exposure and gradual exhaustion. When chilling occurs, your body loses heat faster than it can be produced. You start shivering and exercising to keep warm. If exposure continues and your body continues to lose heat, you are in danger of gradually losing judgment and reasoning power. Victims are usually unaware that a critical moment has arrived. Internal body temperature is going downward and, without treatment, this can lead to stupor, collapse and death. Snowmobilers are well aware of the necessity to dress properly for their activity. But what of the unexpected. Like breaking down miles from help or getting dunked through the ice. Obviously the unfortunate traveler must take necessary steps against the cold.

Here are some precautions from the Mercury snowmobile people: When you can't stay dry, either from weather conditions or heavy sweating, can't avoid the wind or change clothes conveniently, then it's time to seek shelter. Remember, uncontrolled shivering leads to rapid exhaustion and to trouble. Watch out for slow, slurred speech, fumbling, stumbling and drowsiness. It is now imperative to get the victim out of the wind and rain, strip off wet clothes, and get into dry clothing or coverings. Build a fire if possible.

On long safaris, having a change of clothing, a waterproof shelter, portable heater or some means of starting a fire are reasonable safety precautions. Don't wait for an emergency to avoid or minimize exposure. Stay healthy, stay alive and keep on snowmobiling.

1976 Junior Olympics Draw Half Million Young Canadians

More than 500,000 Canadian youngsters from nine to 19 years of age have registered so far this year in the Junior Olympics Program, it was revealed here today.

The four-year-old program, designed by the Canadian Olympic Association and sponsored by The Royal Bank of Canada, enables and encourages as many young Canadians as possible to participate in amateur sports, especially those with emphasis on Olympic disciplines.

Through provision of incentive awards and certificates of participation, the program assists sports organizations at the national, provincial, regional and particularly at the community level to stage Olympic-related events.

"It is most heartening to see this response from Young Canada", said Harold Wright, of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Olympic Association. "The impact of the recently-closed Olympic Games at Montreal will certainly broaden the field of interest. The young athletes now have proof positive that there is a rewarding future in amateur sports across Canada. COA is highly appreciative of the Royal Bank's contribution to and the provincial government's role in making our Junior Olympics Program an outstanding success."

He noted that the bank's sponsorship will continue through 1977, adding that he expects participation to increase significantly through the next 18 months. Rowland C. Frazee, executive vice-president and chief general manager of the Royal Bank, also commented on the "half-million participants" milestone in the Junior Olympics Program, saying it is contributing to "Canada's growing pool of talent in amateur athletic competition, right from the local level up to international standard. If any of these boys and girls should win medals at some future Olympic Games, all well and good. More important to us, however, is the fact that so many young Canadians are participating actively in health-giving sports, rather than being idle spectators."

The real aim of the program, said Mr. Frazee, was to encourage participation in amateur sports by young people from all walks of life across Canada, "and the bank's target has been squarely hit. This makes the more than $1 million the Royal has spent on Junior Olympics one of our best-ever investments in the Canadian community," he added.

Of the 500,000 boys and girls registered to date this year across Canada, 113,500 are from the Atlantic Provinces, 116,000 from Quebec, 160,000 from Ontario, 52,000 from the Prairie Provinces and 59,000 from British Columbia, the Yukon and the Northwest Territories.

Since the program's start in 1973, organization of Junior Olympic events at the local community level has shown steady growth. Information is obtainable at all the local Royal Bank branches, and the overall program is administered by the COA's Junior Olympic office in Ottawa.

How Well Do You Know Canada?

by Jack N. Oldham

It looks like a library. Well, that's what it is. But do you know where it is?

Daily headlines make it clear: The Problem is Security

CHALLENGER System

People want security!

The newspaper reminds us every day how important it is to keep our homes and offices secure.

from intrusion

... people in every neighborhood, from the lowest income to the highest, from apartments to mansions, in offices and shops everywhere, know they are vulnerable ... and they want to do something about it.

... but what to do?

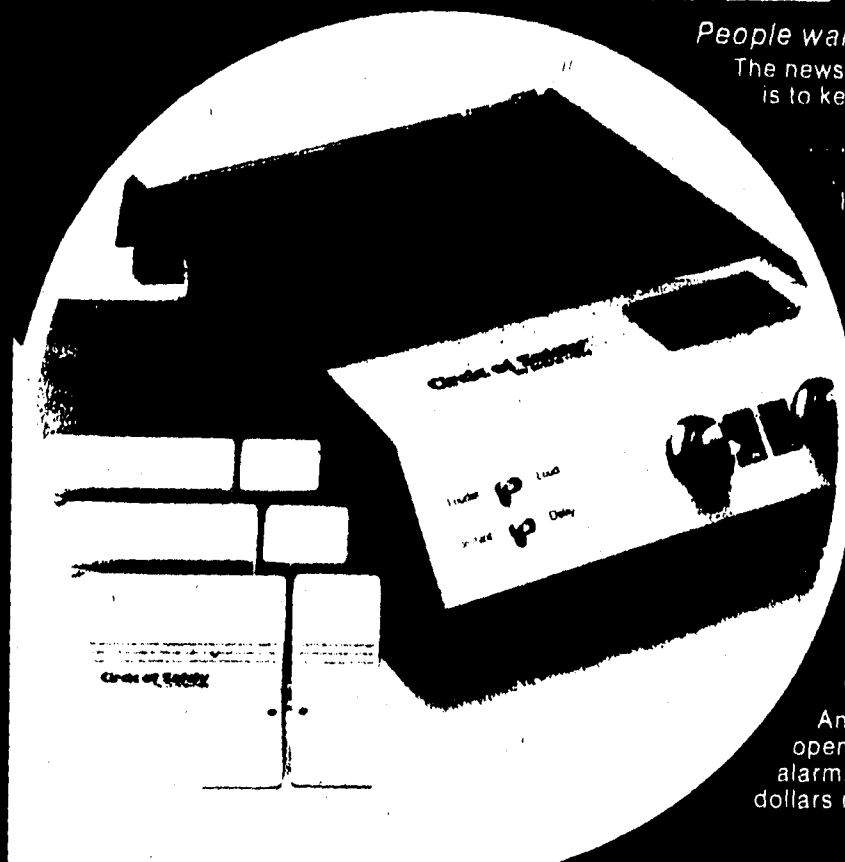

Even the strongest locks and meanest watchdogs have not stopped the professional burglars ... and people need help.

The answer: Challenger System

Challenger is a complete security system for home or office. It is reasonably priced and can be installed in minutes by anyone without tools, wires or special skills. From that instant your premises are surrounded by a circle of security.

Any intrusion through doors, windows or other openings which are protected will sound the siren alarm. Comparable systems cost hundreds of dollars more.

#656 6/75

NOW... COMPLETE PROTECTION FROM BURGLARY & FIRE WITHOUT WIRES

WIRELESS ALARM SYSTEM

IT'S VERSATILE... The Napcon Wireless Alarm System offers you all the options for complete security in case of fire, burglary and personal emergency. And you can choose only the protection features you need.

Here's how it works: Specialized sensors signal danger from fire, illegal entry through doors and windows, and personal emergencies. These sensors transmit a radio signal to the Central Alarm Unit (CAU4).

The Napcon is so versatile, you can add on security options easily and economically at any later date ... and take the whole system with you when you move.

IT'S WIRELESS... Napcon operates by radio waves, so there are no unsightly wires to spoil the decor of your home. Window sensors are hidden behind drapes or curtains. The Central Alarm Unit (CAU4) is handsomely designed to look like a Hi-Fi speaker unit and may be set on a shelf or table or hung on a wall.

IT'S FAILSAFE... Since Napcon is completely wireless, there are no wires a burglar can cut ... it's virtually impossible to enter undetected. Even a power failure won't interrupt your continuous protection. Standby batteries in the Central Alarm Unit take over instantly if there is a power failure.

A unique built-in safeguard is that the alarm can be activated only by electronically coded signals from the Napcon transmitters.

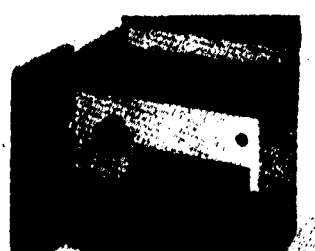

DOOR SENSOR-Detects any intruder entering through a door. Each door is independently controlled. To arm the door sensor when you leave your home or business, just turn it on with a key. Upon returning, there is a 15-second delay which allows you time to disarm the sensor with the same key. Free use of any door is obtained by turning the sensor off.

WINDOW SENSOR-Detects intruders attempting to raise or open a window.

HEAT SENSOR-Signals the CAU when the temperature reaches 131°F. A higher temperature sensor is available for attics, boiler rooms and kitchens where normal heat buildup is excessive.

Today's a school day

On streets, roads and highways, when you come up to a school bus, from any direction, and the bus is stopped showing flashing red lights, you must also stop. Flashing amber lights mean proceed with caution. Note: School buses carrying children are forbidden to go faster than 45 mph. And that is the law. Highway Safety - it all depends on you!

Today's a school day

Between home and school, the last thing the kids are thinking about is the traffic.

Last year, 286 pedestrian children were injured. And 14 were killed. Please drive with extra care.

Highway Safety - it all depends on you!

Today's a school day

You see this sign where children cross to and from school. Please remember, it is against the law to drive on when children are on any part of the crossing. Drive carefully. We don't want our children to learn the dangers of traffic, the hard way.

Highway Safety - it all depends on you!

Today's a school day

This sign indicates a school zone. Please take extra care. Regardless of any speed limit shown (30 mph is the maximum), it could be a violation under the Motor Vehicle Act to drive faster than 10 or even 5 mph, if conditions make it dangerous to do so. And that is the law.

Land And Water Accidents

Wayne Edwards of Granville Ferry was taken to the Digby Hospital and later transferred to Halifax by the Digby County Ambulance on Friday following a head injury received on the scallop boat, Sea Winds of Parker's Cove.

A radio message picked up by the Digby Fire Department on a C.B. set made available to the Department by Donald Jayne, called for ambulance assistance. The message was received between 12 and 12:30 noon and the accident happened just prior to the radio call for help.

The Sea Winds had been fishing in the Bay when the scallop drag struck Mr. Edwards causing a severe gash on the head. Four rescuers from the Fire Department and Ambulance were immediately despatched to the Sea Winds and the young man's injuries attended to as he was transported to shore.

The Digby County Ambulance on Wednesday transported Harry Ehler of Halifax from Digby to that city following an accident which happened to a Brink's truck at a curve near the Town and Country Motors in Marshelltown.

Mr. Ehler was a passenger on the Brink's truck loaded with coins, when the vehicle, it is understood, went out of control on pavement, slippery with tar. He suffered a compound fractured leg.

The accident happened at 1:30 p.m. as the truck was proceeding towards Weymouth. R.C.M.P. Digby Detachment were called.

Auction Raises $1400

The first annual auction of the Digby Neck Volunteer Fire Department was termed a financial success by the Chairman, Garfield Trask, Sr. According to Mrs. Susan O'Neil, the person in charge of checking the funds, the affair raised over $1400. This is to help in getting needed equipment. The auctioneer, Rodney O'Neil, did a terrific job in keeping the people interested in the merchandise and in watching the bids. It was his expertise that added to the enjoyment of the day.

The canteen, under the direction of Joan O'Neil and Judy Trask, added also to the festivities. Mrs. Carol Addington was in charge of ticket sales for the bedspread, donated by Mrs. Joyce McCullough.

Seminar At Digby New Horizon On Illiteracy Problem

Of the 44,000 known functional illiterates in Canada, 4,000 to 6,000 are in the Province of Nova Scotia according to recent estimates of Statistics Canada.

As it is believed that the ability to learn has a direct relationship on the ability to read, this is a cause of considerable concern to the Department of Education.

The Continuing Education Program in co-operation with the Digby County Mental Health Association, will be sponsoring a public seminar in the Digby New Horizons Club on Wednesday evening, September 22nd., to discuss illiteracy.

The seminar will take the form of a panel discussion with the theme of discussion to be on the question of illiteracy.

Resource persons from the field of education will relate experiences and developments on this question, which is expected to be of general interest.

A special feature of this one-evening seminar will be a presentation by Mrs. Thelma Blinn on behalf of the Literacy Education as it is presented through the Laubach process.

Mrs. Blinn will be representing the Halifax Literacy Council. She will direct her remarks to the question of literacy as it affects each and every one of us.

Mrs. Blinn plans to outline the procedures to be followed in becoming a volunteer reading aid working with a non-reading adult on a one-to-one basis.

In this training program, Mrs. Blinn recommends the series, New Streamlined English, which was first developed by a missionary, Dr. Frank Laubach.

By Pony Express

Claude Robicheau of New Orleans, U.S.A., mailed his mother, Mrs. Freda Robicheau Victoria Apartments, Digby, a cheque for Christmas on December 18, 1973. She did not get the cheque but thought no more about it. On Friday, September 3, 1976 the letter arrived clearly marked, stamped 1973 and clean. Mrs. Robicheau wonders if it truly came by pony-express.

stationed with the Amherst office as a mobile inspector for three years prior to his Digby appointment. Previous to that he spent three years in the Halifax office of the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

Digby is one of ten regional offices for mobile inspectors. The others include Yarmouth, Bridgewater, Halifax, Truro, Antigonish, Cape Breton, Amherst and Windsor.

His main responsibility is the enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Act, primarily concerning commercial traffic, as opposed to private automobiles.

Enforcement of the Motor Carriers Act is also part of his duties, involving for example weight restrictions on trucks and the cargo which they may be carrying. In addition there is also the Diesel Tax Act which involves such things as fuel permits.

One of his first duties, and an interesting change from patrolling the highways, involved maintaining traffic control on Highway 101, Conway, during the recent 1976 Truck Origin-Destination Survey. The week-long survey, which provided temporary employment for a number of local students was supervised by Mr. T. Mailman of the Traffic Division, Halifax.

Three Charged

Three were charged in court at Digby before Judge Philip Woolaver on Tuesday morning on break and enter, August 30, at Wilson's Home Hardware Ltd. and the Kentucky Fried Chicken, Harwick St., Digby.

Appearing on the Wilson Hardware break and enter were James Aaron Igoe, Harry Allen Milbury and Wendell Erwin Everett. One pleaded guilty. Other trials will be held later. Everett and Igoe are also charged on break and enter at the Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Two more, it is understood, will appear on the Wilson Home Hardware Ltd. break and enter.

New Inspector

The Registry of Motor Vehicles of the Department of Highways, has recently thanks to all those who assisted in any way to help make the day a success, including all the customers.

The auction was held at the new firehall-community center, Sandy Cove. The exterior of the building is now complete. All that remains is to finish the inside. It is reported that this will be completed in a few short months and the community can be proud of the efforts of all the volunteers.

appointed a new Mobile Motor Vehicle Inspector to serve the Digby area.

Mr. Aucoin, a native Nova Scotian, has been employed with the Registry of Motor Vehicles for the past six years. He had been

Horticultural Society Prepares For Winter Plant Care

The monthly meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Oliver, Smith's Cove, on the evening of September 1st. Twenty-two members were present.

Mrs. Bruce Hutchins, president, welcomed three guests, Mrs. L. Barnes, Bermuda; Miss Mary Roman, Halifax, and Rev. Isaac Butler, Marshelltown.

Reports were given on garden work carried on during the summer, requesting that at the October meeting, plans be made to have the geraniums removed from the street planters and stored for winter. A decision will be made concerning the future care of the Admiral Digby Park. At present the park is in good condition, with the grass mowed and the general appearance, neat.

It was learned that a window box at the library had been pulled down, the supports broken and the flowers destroyed, making it necessary to remove the box. It was also reported a gentleman was seen clipping geraniums with scissors, from the street planters.

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Ernest Tufts, for caring for the roses at the Town Information Bureau. The local firemen had taken over the watering of the geraniums in the street planters, resulting in many colorful blooms. Letters of thanks were sent to Mrs. Tufts and the firemen.

Miss Mary Marshall gave a report on the Activities Contest. Twenty-two Garden Clubs had entered the contest. The Digby Garden Club was in fourth position with 9839 points. The Year Book, prepared by Miss Mabel Marshall, displayed at the annual convention of the N.S. Association of Garden Clubs at Truro, in August, was awarded a prize and considered to be most outstanding.

Mrs. Hutchins spoke about the necessity of action being taken to control the spread of Dutch Elm disease and appointed a committee to inform the Town of Garden Club co-operation and endeavor to work out future plans to deal with the problem.

The business meeting adjourned and two Garden Club members, Mrs. Hutchins and Miss Marjorie LeBlanc, who presented the organization at the annual convention of NS. Association of Garden Clubs, at Truro, gave interesting reports of the event.

Two hundred members from various Garden Clubs had attended and as the theme suggested "There was Something for Everyone." Slides had been submitted, displays shown of gardening gadgets, a talk on how the metric system would be applied for weights and measures of grains and land and an interesting program by the Maritime Gardener, Gordon Warren.

Several business resolutions were submitted and discussions carried on concerning C.B.C. garden programs; spraying for Spruce Bud worm; a law to remove old cars from public view and a defeated motion to retain year round daylight saving time.

Miss LeBlanc reported on a program on the history and care of geraniums and how to give them winter storage.

A description was given of a gardening tool that was displayed, to help remove and keep weeds under control. It was suggested that the Garden Club consider purchasing one to help cut down on weeding at areas under the supervision of the Garden Club during the summers.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Hutchins and Miss LeBlanc for their splendid reports.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Oliver, assisted by co-hostesses, Mrs. J.D. McLearn and Miss Edith Wightman.

On behalf of the Garden Club members, Mrs. Hutchins thanked Mr. and Mrs. Oliver for their hospitality and pleasant evening.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Louise Stevens.

Rash Of Rescue Calls

A fire at what is known as the Surrutte house on Queen St. at 4:15 a.m. on September 22, called out the Digby Volunteer Fire Department. Fortunately there was no wind blowing at the time and the fire was confined to a certain area although it had worked its way under floor and partition to the attic.

Chief Vaughn VanTassel said they have been going through a rash of rescue calls and car fires of late but other fires have been few recently.

Town Council Tonight

Because of the Labor Day holiday on September 6, the Digby Town Council regular meeting will be held at 8 o'clock this evening, Thursday, September 9. The change of date was received last week too late to "stop the press."

Harry Rasky Looks For Clues To 'The Peking Man Mystery'

Does anyone know anything about The Peking Man Mystery?

Does anyone really know what happened to the missing bones of the Peking Man?

If so, contact Harry Rasky, CBC-TV's multi-award winning producer-director-writer, who is currently working on a television film about, naturally, The Peking Man Mystery. He considers it "a real-life adventure story, demanding to be told on film," and his resulting CBC-TV special, when completed, will be shown on the network in a future season.

The true-life story started 50 years ago, when Dr. Davidson Black of Toronto (not an anthropologist nor archaeologist, but an anatomist) was working at the Peking Medical College. A tooth is brought to him. He discovers that it is neither animal nor human—it could belong to the "missing link" in the metamorphosis of animal-to-man... An international "dig" at the site of the find, Dragon Bone Hill in China, reveals the remains of about 30 to 40 "individuals". Dr. Black and his associates believe the bones are at least a half-million years old.

Dr. Black, not only a scientist but an expert amateur film-maker, films the events of discovery and the colorful surroundings of Peking 1926; by a series of coincidences, Harry Rasky has that remarkable film (kept in a humidifier for some 50 years), and will incorporate it into The Peking Man Mystery. It will be the first time that exclusive film material will ever be seen. He has also located Dr. Black's son to commentate that portion of the TV special.

But to get back to the "bones" of the real-life mystery: It is December 7, 1941, the fatal "day of infamy" when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbour and the United States was at war. The bones of the Peking Man are being moved for safekeeping to the United States, under the custody of the U.S. Marines. A journey is begun, but never completed.

What happened? Are the bones still in existence somewhere? Harry Rasky has assembled a "real-life cast" of characters for his film—people who relive that day in Peking, 1941. They have a story to tell, but all have different interpretations of the same story. Shades of Rashomon.

Add to the "cast," Christopher Janus, millionaire Chicago businessman and adventurer—filmed at the Explorers Club and at the top of the Empire State Building in New York—who has re-awakened the long-dead search for the bones, with his offer of a $150,000 reward.

Rasky's film search for the missing bones will take viewers to the desert hills of Los Angeles, back through the modern history of China and its wartime agony, back further to the relics of the long history of Chinese civilization. It concerns an international "manhunt" which may involve the FBI, the CIA, possibly even the Howard Hughes organization, the Chinese Communists, the U.S. Marine intelligence. The Peking Man Mystery could have been written by Agatha Christie.

If you know any clues to this true-life mystery story of the Peking Man, call or write Harry Rasky at CBC, in Toronto.

Bartlett Pear Maturity Bulletin

Bartlett pears are approaching proper maturity for harvesting. Spot picking of pears for home use or roadside stand sales started September 4th.

Present indications are that general picking of Bartlett pears could begin September 7th. Growers intending to harvest and deliver Bartlett pears for processing should follow the instructions of the companies concerned. Bartlett pears should have reached an average firmness of 19 pounds if they are to be stored and ripened most successfully.

Growers are reminded that Bartlett pears should be placed in cold storage at 31 or 32 degrees F immediately after harvest.

Take a step in the right direction. Take a few.

Who says you can't buy a decent home under $20,000. These days? Come on in and have a look at some of these:

BRIGHTON - One or two bedroom nearly new bungalow with frontage on St. Mary's Bay. Ten minutes drive from Digby and fully modern. For limited time owner will consider offers as low as $16,500.

DEEP BROOK - Once one of the finest old homes in the area, this large family home needs a thorough face-lifting inside and out, but it is livable as is, has a large barn and 3 acres of dry, level land with a view of the water. Would make a good spot for antique or tourist related commercial use. Listed at $14,500, the owner is wide open for reasonable offers.

CLEMENTSPORT - Don't let the driveway bother you. A local contractor has estimated elimination of the problem at a cost of $500. This attractive older home has a fully modern kitchen with a large thermo-pane window taking full advantage of the view of the water. There is water frontage, over 3 acres of land containing a good orchard with a variety of fruit, and a substantial barn and-or garage-workshop. Less than a mile from Cornwallis, you really should see this one at less than $18,000.

CLEMENTSPORT - If one bedroom is enough for you, then move right into solid comfort and extremely low utility bills. If you need 3 bedrooms, then get out your hammer and saw - the upstairs is studded off ready for completion of two spacious, bright rooms. One mile from Cornwallis, excellent water supply all for just $15,900.

DIGBY - On town facilities, this two bedroom, nicely finished bungalow is within walking distance of schools, hospital, shopping and all amenities. On a large town lot (1/2 acre) this home is priced within easy reach of the shopper in the $20,000 bracket.

SMITH'S COVE - Here's a unique combination of a comfortable smaller home with a potential for commercial use. On a full acre lot with plenty of parking space it is finished now as a two bedroom bungalow but would readily convert to a variety of tourist oriented commercial uses. In this quiet resort area it is a real bargain at $8,500.

CLEMENTSPORT - Spacious, comfortable 3 bedroom apartment up and large commercial area down with display windows. Ready made for a combination home and business. One mile from Cornwallis. Listed at $17,000. Owner invites offers.

CONWAY - In this 2 bedroom bungalow you are on a dead end street away from noisy highway traffic. Situated near the water, this home affords a good view, has a large lot and real potential as a retirement or smaller family home. Priced at just $18,000.

COTTAGE LOTS - If you buy now, you have all the moderate fall season to prepare your lot for Spring Construction. We have a good selection available and now's the time to get best choice.

The Ugly-Nest Caterpillar

As last year, the ugly-nest caterpillar, Archips cerasivoranus, is especially numerous in the northern counties of Nova Scotia.

The ugly-nest caterpillar is generally distributed through the northern states and Canada, where its favorite hosts are roses, hawthorn and cherry, although they are found on other species. It seldom does any lasting damage to its host but its ugly nests are detrimental to the beauty of roadsides and ornamental plants of high value.

No chemical control measures are recommended as parasites and predators can be relied upon to reduce the severity of outbreaks which may last two or more years.

The Bird Watcher

A research project that will test the use of a falcon-shaped radio-controlled model aircraft to disperse birds damaging agricultural crops in the province is under way at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College in Truro. Co-ordinating the project is Don Palfrey, a supervisor in the provincial agriculture department's soils and crops branch, who will be conducting trials during September and October using the model as a bird deterrent in high bush blueberries and corn in Kings County.

The project is one of 50 research and demonstration programs, a selection of which were demonstrated to farmers and others associated with the agricultural industry at the first designated research day at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College.

Agriculture Minister Jack Hawkins said a study of agricultural losses due to vertebrate pests conducted in Nova Scotia last year showed that birds were the worst problem, second only to rodents. Damage at more localized levels were caused by deer, dogs, bears, raccoons and porcupines.

The minister noted that in 1973 red-winged blackbirds were responsible for a $42,000 feed loss in 300 acres of corn in the Amherst area. During 1975 the grower of a 60 acre block of high bush blueberries experienced a $20,000 crop loss even though $4,000 was spent on bird scare devices such as electronic squeakers, go-carts, automatic carbide guns, shot guns and chemical repellents, he added.

According to the project co-ordinator probably the most effective method of control is the live, trained falcon but the cost of training and maintenance is high.

Mr. Palfrey said the problem of bird-aircraft collisions was brought to the attention of the National Research Council of Canada who in turn were advised by ornithologists that most birds were alerted by the shape of the predator.

The project co-ordinator said that Captain Robert Randall, a DC-8 pilot with C.P. Air, undertook to build a radio controlled falcon-shaped model which was tested in November, 1974, by a private company for the National Research Council at Vancouver International Airport. Results showed that the model elicited the same response in gulls, dunlins, ducks and geese as a live falcon. During 1976 continuous flying trials were successful.

Mr. Palfrey said that with this in mind a similar plane was constructed for the Nova Scotia agriculture department.

Features of the radio-controlled model include dolly wheels which drop off as the plane becomes aloft and a transparent rubber. Both features are designed to ensure the in-flight shape of the plane is as near that of live falcon as possible. Landing becomes tricky as the aircraft must be stalled close to the ground to effect a belly landing, the project co-ordinator said.

Mr. Palfrey said the radio-controlled falcon-shaped model is an ongoing research project and offers other interesting possibilities such as infra-red filming at farm level and crop pollination.

Hunted especially by Eskimos in Igloolik for shipment to Toronto, two common Jar Seals will be used for more than dining. Visitors to The Native Heritage exhibit at the Ontario Science Centre may see the skinning of a seal. The skin will be used to make thong for dog harnesses, harpoons and lashings for kayaks and sleds. Before it thaws, the carcass will be put back in deep freeze to be used for meals for the Eskimo participants at the summer-long exhibition.

Research Grants and Studentships Approved

Total allocation for the twelve new research grants and four research students is $568,942., the largest allocation the Multiple Sclerosis Society has made in its twenty-eight year history.

The new grants and studentships which will be paid out during 1976, 1977 and 1978, plus the grants and studentships that were already approved, bring the Society's commitment to medical research into Multiple Sclerosis to $555,230 for 1976, $485,934 for 1977 and $62,806 for 1978.

The Medical Advisory Board of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada meets twice a year to review and recommend support of research grants. The grants must be approved for funding by the Executive Council of the Society.

The research grants awarded in the Atlantic Division are: 1. Dr. Harold W. Cook, Faculty of Medicine, Dalhousie University. A grant of $18,262, to study normal fat metabolism in the brain and the deviations from normal that occur in diseases such as Multiple Sclerosis. The characteristic feature of Multiple Sclerosis is that the myelin sheath surrounding the spinal cord breaks down and is replaced by scar tissue, making it difficult for proper conduction of nerve impulses. More research needs to be done in normal fat metabolism so that deviations from the norm can be better understood, an undertaking in which Dr. Cook will be engaged.

2. Dr. R.M. Regan, Department of Psychology, Dalhousie University. Granted $36,000, to develop the diagnosis and study of M.S. through the use of sensory tests such as defining how colour vision defects in Multiple Sclerosis patients differ from the well understood congenital defects of colour vision. Dr. Regan hopes such tests might be sensitive enough to give advance warning of attacks or remissions of Multiple Sclerosis and to provide methods of monitoring the progress of demyelination in the nervous system.

Multiple Sclerosis is a disease of the central nervous system which may be characterized by disturbances of vision, muscle control, balance and speech. MS usually affects young adults between the ages of 20 to 40. As yet, there is no known cause or cure.

Fable of the Little Red Hen-or-Who Killed Incentive?

Once upon a time, there was a little red hen who scratched about and uncovered some grains of wheat. She called her barnyard neighbors and said, "If we work together and plant this wheat, we will have some bread to eat. Who will help me?" "Not I," said the cow. "Not I," said the duck, as did the goose. "Then I will plant it," the little hen said. And she did. Much later, when the wheat started to grow, the little red hen was again denied help. At length, the wheat was ready for harvesting. "Who will help me reap the wheat?" the little red hen asked. "Not I," said the cow. Same thing from the duck and the goose. "Out of my classification," said the pig. So the little red hen harvested the wheat herself. Then she ground the wheat into flour. Now, at last, she asked helped with the baking. "That's overtime for me," said the cow. "I'm a dropout and never learned how," said the duck. "I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the pig. "If I'm the only one helping, that would be discrimination," said the goose. "No thanks."

So the little red hen baked the bread and showed her neighbours the five loaves. "I want some," said the cow, as did the duck. "I want my share," said the goose, while the pig also demanded his share. "No soap," said the little red hen. "I'll just take it easy for a while and enjoy my bread." "Excess Profits!" cried the cow. "Company fink!" shouted the goose and the pig also demanded equal rights.

Pretty soon, the farmer came to investigate the commotion. "You must not be greedy," he told the hen. "Look at the oppressed cow, the disadvantaged duck and the under-privileged pig, the less fortunate goose. You are making second-class citizens out of them."

"But I earned the bread," the little red hen said. "Exactly!" the farmer said. "That is the free enterprise system. Anybody can earn as much as he wants. In other barnyards, you would have to give all the five loaves to the farmer. Here, you keep one and give four loaves to your suffering neighbours."

Salmon Development In Nova Scotia

Atlantic salmon runs this year into two of Nova Scotia's Atlantic coast rivers, the LaHave and East (Sheet Harbour), provide optimistic signs for the salmon enhancement programs being carried out by the federal Fisheries and Marine Service.

The 1976 salmon run to Morgan Falls on the LaHave River has exceeded 700 fish.

These fish resulted from a program started in 1970 with construction of a fishway at this 21-foot natural obstruction. Then the Fisheries and Marine Service initiated a hatchery stocking program in the river above Morgan Falls using a strain of Atlantic salmon from the nearby Medway River.

The Salmon spawners increased from 12 in 1972 to over 700 fish this year. These spawners have survived the many natural hazards at sea as well as the commercial and angling fisheries before reaching the fishway. Except for 40-50 salmon retained for broodstock, all grilse and salmon were fish this year. In the mid-released upstream for natural spawning. Juvenile salmon populations in the river upstream of Morgan Falls have increased steadily and within a few years should reach optimum levels. As soon as this occurs, a spokesman for the federal Fisheries Service indicated current restrictions on angling in the upper part of the river will be lifted. The spokesman also indicated that the lamprey control program at Morgan Falls removed approximately 14,000 lamprey eels from the river this year.

1960's a salmon restoration project was initiated at East River where salmon rehabilitation was needed following hydroelectric development. The project has been hampered since its beginning by a shortage of suitable salmon stock to establish a self-sustaining salmon population in the river. In order to protect limited valuable spawners both the angling and estuarial commercial fisheries have been restricted. This year, however, there is reason for optimism since the spawning run to East River has doubled over that reaching the river in 1975.

The salmon rehabilitation programs on the LaHave and East rivers demonstrate that Nova Scotia's waters can produce more salmon. Application of proven fisheries enhancement techniques and patience to permit the fish time to grow' can make more salmon available to both anglers and commercial fishermen.

Comforts Allowances Revised

Are The Kids To Blame?

We read in the papers, we hear on the air, Of killing and stealing, and crime everywhere, We sigh, and we say, as we notice the trend— This young generation, where will it end? But can we be sure its their fault alone: Too much money to spend, too much idle time Too many movies of passion and crime, Too many books, not fit to be read, Too much evil in what they heard and said, Too many kids encouraged to roam,

Too many parents who don't stay at home. Youth don't make the movies, they don't write the books, That paint gay pictures of gangsters and crooks. They don't make the liquor, they don't run the bars,

The Department of Social Services has withdrawn plans to curtail Comforts Allowances paid residents of the province's homes for the aged when accumulated allowances held by an individual would have exceeded $100.

Hon. Bill MacEachern, Minister of Social Services, rescinded the statement of August 11 and said that the matter has been referred to the Nova Scotia Social Services Council.

Mr. MacEachern cited "considerable concern and misunderstanding" among some segments of the public about the statement on Comforts Allowances. The withdrawn policy had said,

They don't make the laws and they don't make the cars, They don't make the drugs that addle the brain, It's all done by older folks, greedy, for shame

And in now many cases, we find that it's true, The label "Delinquency" fits older folks too.

in part, "where a recipient's accumulated Comfort Allowance exceeds $100 it shall be reduced to $100."

The Nova Scotia Social Services Council will receive submissions from the public and, after thorough study of all related aspects, will issue a report and recommendations.

In the meantime, all existing Comforts Allowances will continue as formerly, added Mr. MacEachern.

The payments enable people in homes for the aged to buy personal items such as newspapers and tobacco. The amount paid as monthly Comfort Allowance is set after consultation between municipal social service administrators and the home superintendent.

Amounts received may range up to $30 a month. Payments are available only to residents maintained, in whole or in part, by government funds.

The Minister said that the Comfort Allowance is solely intended to be spent each Premier Angus L. MacDonald opened the newly established Red Cross Lodge at Cornwallis. The lodge, he said, stands as a symbol and proof that the fine work of the Red Cross is ever continuing. The lodge of 14 bed capacity with lounge and dining room, he said, was a D.V.A. project much needed at Cornwallis. Other speakers were Thomas Fenton of the District Administration Department of Veterans Affairs and Rev. Dr. T.W. Hodgson, president of the Digby Branch Canadian Red Cross. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Berwick were appointed managers of the lodge.

Digby Academy opened with a total enrollment of 580. Senior High grades had 87 students; Junior High, 131, and grades I to VI 362. The school, operated under a consolidated program, had to refuse admission for outside students.

The Maple Leaf Agricultural Society Fair was in the process of being held at Conway.

More than 150 came to Digby to attend the Rexall Druggist Convention at the Pines Hotel. Also visiting in Digby was Hon. John Bracken, the Progressive Conservative Party Leader in Canada.

A letter received by Mrs. Fred Denton, Westport from Piszczala Valenty of Poland expressed thanks for a lady's coat received through UNRRA. The coat was greatly appreciated as all their clothes had been robbed by Germans 1939 to 1940.

The Atlantic Wholesalers Ltd., took over the Digby Wholesalers Ltd., according to the account in the September 12 edition of The Digby Courier.

A small five-ton yacht "Mahoe" returned to Port Wade after a successful voyage from Jamaica, British West Indies with its seventy year old skipper Captain Sinclair. The Mahoe had been tied up at Port Wade during the war years, arriving from Jamaica in 1939 and clearing for its home port in 1945. The return trip started from Port Royal in Jamaica on June 30, 1946 and the yacht landed at Port Wade on September 4.

An article written by someone in Westport tells about catching squid for bait. It says that one of the most unusual features about the squid is its bill which resembles a small bird and is used for crushing food. Another unusual feature is that the squid seldom swims frontwards and has an amazing method of protecting itself. When a large fish goes to attack a squid it gets almost upon its intended victim when suddenly the water about the squid becomes black. The squid has squirted a black liquid similar to ink, thus blinding its attacker and hiding itself by an ink screen. Squid are caught with a circular jig, made up of a dozen or more steel points directed toward the line. Inexperienced squid fishermen often find themselves blinded, bewildered and wet and soon learn the squid squirts its ink-like black liquid the moment it leaves the water.

month by recipients. "It is never meant to accumulate in their personal trust or bank accounts," he added. Mr. MacEachern stressed that elderly people who spend the allowance as received each month would not have been in any way affected by provisions of his department's withdrawn statement.

Haddock Fishing Restrictions Imposed

Canadian commercial fishermen will be restricted in their effort to land haddock from certain waters off the coast of Southwestern Nova Scotia. The federal Fisheries and Marine Service has stopped the directed haddock fishery in ICNAF sub-division 4X as of midnight, Friday, September 3, since statistics indicate that haddock landings from this area have reached 10,000 metric tons. In accordance with the department's Haddock Management Plan commercial fishermen will not be allowed to land haddock in quantities after midnight tonight but only as a by-catch while fishing for other species. They will be limited to 5,000 pounds of haddock or 10 per cent of total catch per trip with not more than one landing per day and a total of 80,000 pounds for any one calendar month. These restrictions are in force until further notice. The ICNAF sub-division 4X included Emerald, LaHave, Roseway, and Browns Banks and the waters of the Bay of Fundy.

TOWN TO PUBLISH LOITERING BY-LAW

The regular monthly meeting of the Digby Town Council on Thursday evening passed a motion to publish in the local newspapers the By-Law referring to loitering. The decision was made after Sgt. James Barlow presented his report before the meeting. Sgt. Barlow said that following one case of loitering under the Town By-Law which was dismissed, remarks were made which questioned the loitering by-law. It was Barlow's belief that there is nothing wrong with the loitering by-law and it is supported by the Town Act which is a provincial statute. Since the By-law has been questioned it is requested that the Town make a clear statement re-affirming their by-law and state the powers which the police have regarding the same.

Sgt. Barlow's report stated August was the busiest month of the year, the major crime being break and entering. There were 13 reported and seven persons were charged in connection with some of the breaks. There were eight damage to property complaints, nine thefts under $200, four assaults (five persons charged in connection with one assault) and three drug cases. There were five accidents with three persons injured.

Reporting on the year to date Sgt. Barlow noted that breaks are down by 13 of fences from the same time last year and damage to property and thefts are down. The work load, he said, had increased, there being 136 more complaints than in the same period last year.

According to the report of Sgt. Barlow, Fred Lee, provincial Traffic Authority had viewed the traffic situation in town and was in agreement with changes made. The Raquette Victoria St. intersection was discussed in depth. Mr. Lee is recommending a red blinking light be placed on the top of each stop sign on Victoria and a new larger "stop ahead" warning sign. One of the signs on Raquette Road at Victoria is being changed to afford better view of the intersection. A large construction company sign has been removed.

As to the request from the police committee to direct traffic at the Raquette and Victoria St. when the ferry traffic comes through, Sgt. Barlow said they had done this at times but due to the fact there is generally one man on duty during the day, it is not possible to direct traffic every day.

Fines collected amounted to $300 for the town and $130 federal government. Mileage was 2,625.

Webster Dunn reported $598.40 collected from the parking meters. Fifty one tickets were issued, 46 called and three cancelled.

The report of Carl Niemeyer, building inspector was read. Thirteen applications had been processed to a total amount of $259.50. Two were for demolition. Permit fees collected were $42. It was requested that people be made aware through the media of the necessary steps which must be taken by those wishing to build, make alterations and go into business.

Twelve dog complaints were received by phone. One dog was found dead, one destroyed and two claimed after having been caught by the dog catcher.

Two addressed the Council on Thursday evening. Mrs. Kaye Forest in connection with a youth sports group. She was referred to the Digby Recreation Committee. Another problem was addressed to Councillor Eileen Chipman who requested the matter be put into writing by Mrs. Forest. Mrs. James Webb requested that a hazardous tree at the corner of their driveway and on town property be removed. By regular motion the Council decided to have the tree removed by the town. Councillor Gordon Ellis voted against the motion and felt if one tree is removed others should be looked after.

Two More Election Candidates Will File Nominations

With Councillor L.E. R. Winchester finally deciding to reoffer as candidate in the October Municipal Election in Digby and with the new name of Mrs. Joyce Hazel added to the list, interest mounts in municipal council seats.

Councillor Winchester has served for one three-year term representing the Smith's Cove district. In that time he has carried a number of heavy committees, being chairman of the Finance Committee, the Municipal Hydro Committee and the Board of Health. He was a member of the Joint Expenditures committee and of the Digby Municipal Airport Committee. The airport, he felt, was of prime importance.

Councillor Winchester said he would make no promises but in reviewing some of the Council activities of the past few years he mentioned the airport, re-writing and upgrading the by-laws, adopting a building code, engaging a building inspector (to protect the builder and adhere to the Standard Building Code) and the upgrading of the hydro utility, to name but a few. Regarding the hydro utility, Councillor Winchester felt it is an asset to be retained.

Speaking of the accomplishments of the Council, Mr. Winchester said that municipal councils are busy today, almost to the point of requiring full time management.

Mrs. M.C. (Penny) Gott, a former municipal councillor has advised that she is offering as candidate in the 1976 election. This will be in the Smith's Cove district which is presently represented by Councillor Winchester.

Another who has expressed her intentions of offering for a candidate in the Digby Municipal election is Mrs. Joyce Hazel. She plans to run in the Culloden district where Councillor Eric VanTassel is the present representative. Mr. VanTassel previously announced his intention to re-offer. Mrs. Hazel told The Digby Courier that she had been approached by neighbors some six weeks ago to let her name be placed in nomination and she decided to give it a try. She said she is willing to listen to the people's grievances and do all she can to rectify them. She feels people should be aware of where their tax dollar goes.

Mrs. Hazel was the former Joyce Carter, who completed high school here and was employed by the Royal Bank of Canada. She married Brian Hazel and they have three children Ann Marie 10, Steven 9 and Kevin 7. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Hazel have opened Chris' Take Out and Bake Shop at Conway. Mrs. Hazel has been interested in figure skating, minor hockey and the Digby County Pleasure Horse Club.

Another district which appears to form up for election is Bear River where Ruben Mervin has announced his intention of running. The present representative is Councillor Byard Marshall. No definite word has come from Mr. Marshall on his intentions.

Other Digby Municipal councillors who will reoffer are Ervin Marshall, Mrs. Helen McNeil, Richard Daley, Parker Thurber and Warden Wilfred Swift. Yet to hear from are Arthur Rice and Walter MacAlpine, Weymouth.

Extend Sewer To Montague Row

Digby Town Council on Thursday evening voted to extend the sewer system now under construction in Digby to pick up sewers on Montague Row which ordinarily would not be in line of the sewer construction. Wayne McKinnon, engineer with the W.H. Warner Construction Co. placed the proposal before Council which he estimated would cost $29,000.

This additional cost, however, would not be over and above the amount voted on by the ratepayers for some deletions had also been made which amounted to $31,062.

The subject of repaving Digby streets came before

Council. Mr. MacKinnon explained that before repaving the sewer mains have to be pressure tested, then the laterals installed and after that the paving can take place. He expected the Racquette-Shore Road repaving would be done this fall.

Council, in view of the fact that Victoria St. is a hazardous street, will arrange to have the highway project engineer meet with the town streets committee to see what they have in mind for the Victoria St. project.

Reports were read on Thursday by Frank Robinson, street superintendent and Kenneth Ulinski assistant superintendent.

A letter was read from Max Corkum on behalf of the C.B.C. radio asking the town to sell a portion of land on the South end of town for constructing a transmitter station as it is necessary that they vacate their present premises. By motion a letter will be forwarded to C.B.C. requesting further information on services required.

New by-laws on town property, intruding and loitering, etc., were approved by the Department of Municipal Affairs, it was reported at Council.

Kenneth Eavis, town clerk; Mayor Charles Haliburton and Councillor Guy VanTassel were chosen as voting delegates to the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities Conference to be held in Sydney from September 26 to 29.

Bills to the amount of $45,417.88 were approved for payment. These included $25,550 for paving, $2000 school fencing, $3,650 school paving and $2405 for water meters.

Some 300 water meters are expected to be eventually installed.

Permission was given to the Water Street Deli to open an eating place on front street for the sale of sandwiches, light lunches and delicatessens with a license fee of $100.

Councillor Guy VanTassel reporting for the Digby Fire Committee said 14 calls were made in August with a loss of $2000. To date in 1976 the firemen answered 75 calls. A successful EMO exercise had been held and preparations made to protect property in case of storm Bella reaching here.

Councillor Eileen Chipman reported for the Digby General Hospital Board which revealed plans for integrating psychiatric and mental health services under the Nova Scotia hospitalization plan; painting of the old hospital and plans to purchase a $2000 cauterizing machine.

Digby Girl Lady-In-Waiting To Queen Of The Sea

JAQUELINE JOURNEY

Digby's Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival Princess, Miss Jaqueline Journeay, was honored on Friday when she was chosen as first lady-in-waiting to the 1976 Queen of the Sea, Miss Paula Kinley. The contest was held at the Nova Scotia Fisheries Exhibition in Lunenburg. Miss Journeay is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Journeay, Digby; the Queen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Kinley, Lunenburg and the second lady-in-waiting is Miss Sylvia Begin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugzes Begin of Greenwood. Twenty-five vied for the honors.

Miss Journeay who completed her high school in Digby in June, is presently at Mount Allison University where she is taking courses leading to a B.A. degree.

Miss Journeay has been the recipient of two scholarships for Mt. A. She was awarded the Sharp $500 scholarship, renewable and the Students Awards scholarship of $500.

Miss Journeay spoke in glowing terms of her enjoyable summer, her opportunities to see places and learn to know many people because of being chosen Digby's Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival princess. She especially enjoyed the Fisheries Exhibition and appreciated the gifts of $100 cheque, engraved silver scallop shell and set of earrings and necklace.

Digby Pines Has Edna Stark Room

The main lounge of the Digby Pines summer resort hotel here will now be known as the Edna Stark Room. On Tuesday evening at a dance held at the Pines, the lounge was dedicated in Mrs. Stark's honour with Mrs. Stark unveiling the scroll bearing the new name.

Mrs. Stark of Digby retires this season after giving 42 years of service at the hotel, having gone there to work as a maid under the management of R.M. Ellis. Since then she has been assistant housekeeper and for the past 21 years has been head housekeeper. The Pines belonging for many years to the Canadian Pacific Railway was purchased some years ago by the province of Nova Scotia. Present manager of the Pines is Victor Bradshaw who succeeded Roy Forhan whose service extended over 10 years. Mr. Forhan, who was present for the occasion on Tuesday, lauded Mrs. Stark for her 42 years continuous service.

Letters of appreciation were read from Premier Gerald Regan; Hon. Maurice DeLory, Minister of Tourism and William Ozart, Deputy Minister.

Miss Joan Campbell, Halifax, Supervisor of Accommodation and Development in tourism spoke briefly of Mrs. Stark's services and presented her with a framed picture of the Bluenose on behalf of the province.

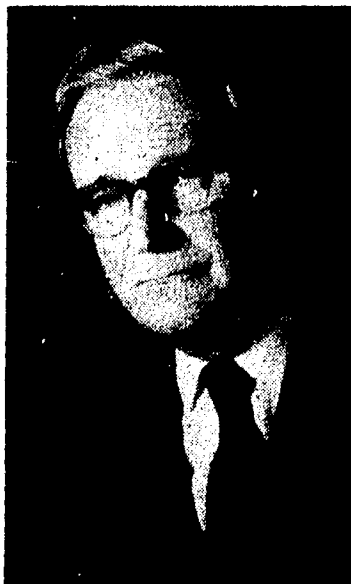

Talks On Citizenship Legislation

A comprehensive review of the history of citizenship legislation in Canada was presented to members of the Liverpool Kiwanis Club in an address by Citizenship Court Judge Victor Cardoza of Digby. Speaking at a noon luncheon session of the club at Lane's Motel on Monday, Judge Cardoza also outlined provisions of the recently passed Citizenship Act which is scheduled to be proclaimed early next year.

Introduced by Dr. John Wickwire, M.L.A., of Liverpool, Judge Cardoza said the new Act will replace the present Canadian Citizenship Act which came into effect on January 1st, 1947. The present Act has served well over the years, the speaker said, but changing conditions, changing times and concepts as well as changes in other legislation having a bearing on citizenship have rendered the Act, which became effective in 1947, in many ways out of date and out of keeping with present day needs.

In outlining the provisions of the new Act Judge Cardoza, stressed that the new legislation is not yet in effect. He said the new Act will come into effect early in the new year according to present plans.

Concluding his address, the Judge noted that service clubs such as Kiwanis could play a very vital role in making immigrants to Canada feel welcome here. He said such organizations could also help to ensure that those people who seek and secure citizenship in Canada are encouraged to play a full part in the life of their community. It is up to us, he said, to help make those who become citizens of Canada feel that they are truly "full partners in the fortunes and future of this nation."

THE THIEF'S DELIGHT

Are your car keys identified with your name and address? If so, it could be that you are playing right into the hands of a thief. Finding keys identified with name and address is a thief's delight. From a pamphlet published by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police we quote "The key to car theft is in your hands - it starts or stops both your car and the car thief." Don't lose your keys but in case it does happen don't make it easy for the thief. Don't play in his hands by offering identification of name and address with the lost keys.

The R.C.M.P. have other suggestions to protect your car from theft. Close the windows, lock the doors and pocket the keys. Put valuables in the trunk and credit cards in your wallet. Secure tape decks and radios and keep a record of their serial numbers. Park in well lighted areas. Report tampering and other suspicious activity to the police. The pamphlet suggests you might consider an anti-theft alarm but by practicing all the other precautions you will not be making it easy for the thief.

However, should your car be stolen, do notify the police immediately. It helps the police if you give a good description of your car, including the license number.

The local Detachment of RCMP has more information on this and other law enforcement topics. They are happy to give you such information if you desire it.

Don't play into the thief's hands. Don't be the thief's delight.

BETTER FOR PEOPLE TO KNOW EARLY

We make no apologies for bringing the October 19 elections before our readers so frequently for what is more important to the welfare of our communities than to have the best people possible in the place of community leadership. These doors of leadership are open to men or women and it is wise that both men and women take these responsibilities, each with his or her own peculiar talent. Decisions of council effect every family and every section of economic and social life in a community so it is wise for both men and women to share in the responsibilities.

As time passes interest in the municipal election seems to mount and is shaping up presently, it appears, to an election in two districts, at least, and there is the possibility of the third having a choice of candidate in voting. Of course, there have been speculations in other districts but nothing certain enough to repeat. There is still time to hear from these. However, let us not be fooled, time slips quickly by and a candidate who wants to do a painstaking job will require considerable time prior to the election. Those pre-voting conversations can be helpful in the voting booth and helpful to the successful candidate afterward. Besides, voters prefer to know their candidates early and they have a right to know. Granted there are cases where business or family positions might delay decisions but early declaration of intention is recommended. Certainly a worthy candidate is welcome to throw in his or her hat at the last moment.

If we had our way we would like to see elections in all the municipal districts. It would create interest and give a splendid opportunity to discuss general municipal affairs. However, while we advocate competition, competition for the sake of competition itself would be useless. Along with each candidate's decision should be every inch of responsibility and every degree of genuine community interest. Serving on Council can be strenuous work. It takes the experience of many Council sessions for the newcomer to become familiar with the work and many long tedious hours can go into serving properly.

So far no new names have come up for serving on the Digby Town Council. The terms of the mayor and three councillors expire. Only one councillor has expressed his intention of reoffering. Having no competition in the Digby Town election could be a possibility but worse still is the grave threat that not enough names will be submitted to fill the seats. Such would be a serious and deplorable situation. Town government is essential. Somebody must assume the responsibility. It is vitally important to the community that citizens with a sense of community responsibility come forward. The earlier the better. It is better for people to know early. It is better that people and organizations take up the challenge of finding candidates early.

To Digby Courier Date September 13, 1976 SUBJECT: EDITORIAL

Upon returning from summer vacation, I was greatly perturbed by an article carried in a recent issue of the Digby Courier.

The sum and substance of the article was centered around a comment made by Vincent Snow at a recent Town Council meeting. At that meeting, Mr. Snow criticized the beer gardens held by the Kinsmen Club on the last two Natal Days as being nothing but "drunken brawls".

I can't understand a man of Mr. Snow's stature and prominence in this community making such a statement when he admittedly based his information on "hearsay".

In the first place, the Kinsmen were only directly involved in one beer garden, that of Natal Day, 1975.

In the second place, I was present at both beer gardens from start to finish and saw absolutely no indication of anyone being "drunken" or even indicating intentions of starting a "brawl". In fact, I would go so far as to commend the Digby public for the way they supported and conducted themselves at these events.

I consider comments made by Mr. Snow at that Council meeting and subsequently published in the Digby Courier as a direct insult to the Kinsmen Club of Digby as well as to the National Association of Kinsmen Clubs.

I am sure Mr. Snow will agree, considering the fact he relied on "hearsay" information, a public apology to our Club would be in order.

Recalls Organist Of Childhood Years

Among the last visitors at Crowberry, the guest house of the Gordon Camerons in Weymouth, this summer of 1976, were the Reverend and Mrs. Vladimir Hartman of Delmar, New York, and Miss Lillian V. Salsman, Marblehead, Massachusetts. Miss Salsman surprised the Camerons by telling two interesting anecdotes: the first, that she had received her Ph.D. after 65 years of age! Secondly, that of having heard Mrs. Cameron's father, Arthur Depew, play the organ at the Wanamaker Auditorium in New York City when Dr. Salsman was a young girl. One of the chief delights of the owners of the Crowberry Guest House in Weymouth is in meeting those who, in more ways than one, bring nostalgic scenes and memories of earlier days.

Autumn Is Calling

Come with me to Autumn Land,
Let's not waste one precious second of this golden day, and through my eyes see this moment of lovely burnished gold, that quivers on the hill.

Take my hand and wander slowly, down this inviting pathway, to a land, where radiant rainbows touch our minds, with each gay color.
As leafy arms embrace each other, blending beauty, too lovely to behold.

Just stay here, close beside me,
Let enchantment grow and fill our waiting minds, to keep us warm when this day passes by.
for days like this are precious jewels, treasures from our Father-Time, who only lets us briefly gaze,
then takes it all away.

Come with me, I, now invite you, and we shall walk together to a place called ... Autumn Land.

Attend Safety Demonstrations

This summer, the Nova Scotia Division of the Canadian Red Cross completed a series of Workshops throughout the Province to create general public awareness of Small Craft Safety. The sessions, held in dozens of communities throughout the Province were the first of their type. Officials have estimated that well over 3,100 persons attended the workshops during the months of July and August.

The Programme was undertaken by the Nova Scotia Red Cross as one method of reducing the growing number of deaths related to the use of small craft, such as canoes, rowboats and power boats. Although the Programme has been active in other parts of Canada, it has never been attempted in Nova Scotia, due to lack of funding. Commissioner, Ken Bendelier, stated when announcing the programme, "It seems to us that it is incongruous of Canada Ocean Playground not to be involved in Small Craft Safety. We simply must go out on a limb and bear the financial risk of conducting the much needed programme".

The courses were presented by a team that travelled throughout the Province with canoes and a wide selection of equipment in swimming pools, on lake fronts, and on beaches. In many cases, the Safety Demonstrations were tied in with existing Water Safety Classes being conducted in the Community. Proper use and knowledge of Personal Flotation Devices and lifejackets, paddling, artificial respiration, rescue techniques, and boat stability, were among the topics covered. Those attending the classes were given an opportunity to participate in the sessions and gain first hand experience.

Our response from those taking part has been most encouraging", says Al Goodwin, Director Water Safety for the Nova Scotia Red Cross. "We do wish more adults had attended, but we were encouraged by the eagerness exhibited by the young people.

Your children have problems you never had.

The Information Explosion

There's a lot more to learn about these days than there was when you were a young student. For example, twenty-five years ago computers were in their infancy. The rotary engine hadn't yet been developed. Communication satellites were still ten years away. There were no such things as manned space flight, moon landing, or probes of other planets. Words like "ecology," "laser," "recycling," and "methadone" hadn't yet entered the popular language. Less evidence shows of man to be a more 3 million years old today's evidence points to nearly three times that age. In virtually every area of study there has been a rapid increase of information over the past 25 years.

Survival Tactics for Students

While your children have much more to learn than you did, classrooms today are more crowded than ever, and teachers have less time to spend with each individual child. The students who are best equipped to succeed under these conditions are those who know how to study on their own. Students who know how to get information, who have access to that home, and who enjoy the search for facts.

MEMORIALS

PULLEY - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Valentine Pulley, who passed away September 17, 1966. It's lonely, Dad, without you. We miss you more each day. For life is not the same with us. Since you were called away. No one knows when day is over. What our sorrowing hearts go through. While we wait to greet our loved ones, And they all come home but you. Always remembered, always loved, and never forgotten by HIS FAMILY. 6:11p

THOMPSON - In loving memory of dear husband and father, Richard (Dick) Thompson, who passed away September 19, 1975. There used to be a little poem, Upon our kitchen wall, And we would gather 'round you As you read it to us all. It was called "If Jesus Came To Your House". The words written there were true, Well, Jesus came to our house, And he left again with you. Always remembered and loved by WIFE CONNIE AND FAMILY. 6:11p

HANDSPIKER - In loving memory of our mother, Cynthia Handspiker, who died September 10, 1940. Time passes on it is true, But it seems so very long, Since we lost you. There are no words except to say, Still loved and missed in every way. Always remembered by DAUGHTERS, BESSIE AND DELLA. 6:11p

BAIN - In loving memory of a dear mother, Annie B. Bain, who "Entered Into Eternal Rest", September 5, 1970. 'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again, Where troubles are no more. And that the one we loved so well Has just gone on before. Shielded in the Rock of Ages Resting on the golden shore In the loving arms of Jesus To abide forever more. Loved and remembered by daughter SYLVIA AND FAMILY. 6:11p

ROBICHEAU - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, John Robichaud, who passed away September 15, 1955. Time goes on with many changes Joys and sorrows, smiles and tears. But your memory we shall cherish, With the passing of the years. Always remembered by DAUGHTER GRAYCE, SON-IN-LAW CLEVE, GRANDCHILDREN, LYNN AND TRENT. 6:11p

HALLOWELL - In sad and loving memory of Mary Bell Halliwell, who died so suddenly one year ago. Always so true, unselfish and kind, Few in this world her equal you'll find. A beautiful life that came to an end. She died as she lived, everyone's friend. And while she lies in Peaceful Sleep, Her memory we shall always keep. For memories are treasures no one can steal, Death leaves a wound no one can heal. Sadly missed by her son-in-law, FREDERICK GRANT, Boston, Mass. 6:11p

Weymouth Takes 2-0 Lead

Vince LeBlanc's grand slam homer in the bottom of the ninth inning enabled Weymouth Braves to rally for a 9-7 victory over the Maccan Royals and a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-five Nova Scotia intermediate B baseball championship series here Sunday afternoon.

Weymouth edged Maccan 4-2 here Saturday afternoon.

The third game of the series is scheduled for Maccan Saturday. The fourth game, if necessary, will follow, and the fifth game will be played Sunday.

Ross Hankinson, in relief of Weymouth starter Rod Leforte in the sixth inning, was the winning pitcher. The loss was charged to Jim Dwyer.

LeBlanc was the batting star with two home runs and a pair of singles while Buddy Thurber collected three singles and LeForte a double and single.

Vince LeBlanc was also the first game hero, hurling the victory and smashing a two-run homer for the margin of victory.

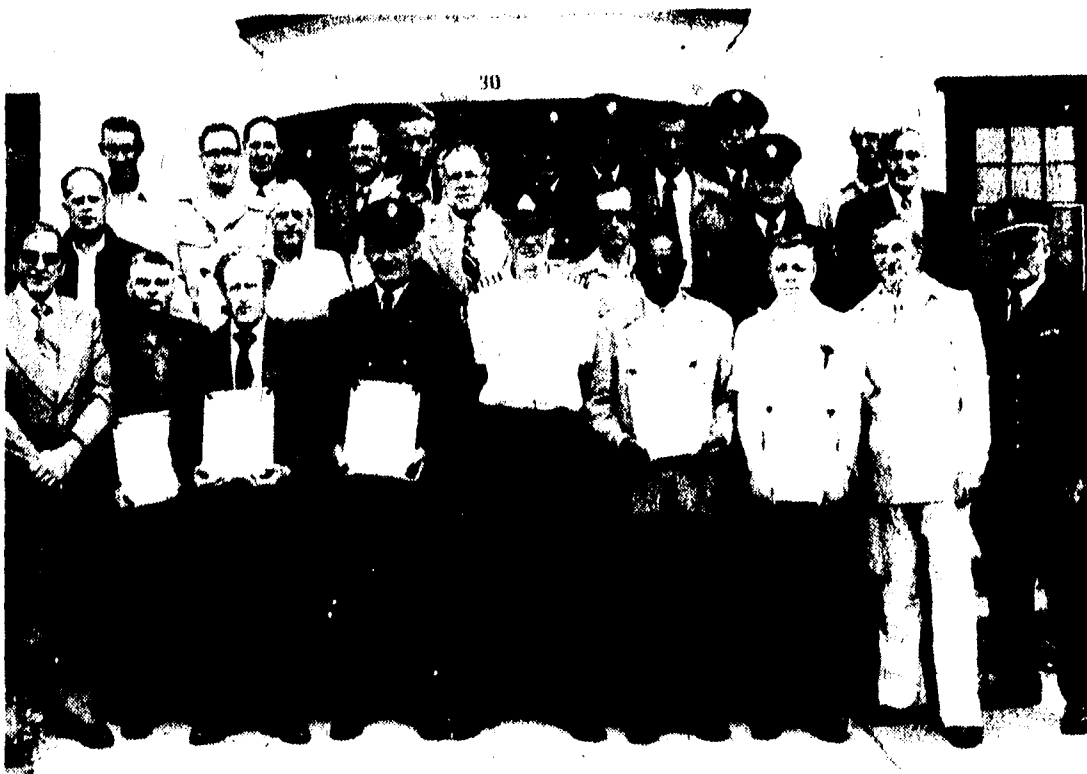

The losing pitcher was Rick Dwyer.

D. Marks tagged a two-run homer to give Maccan a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Weymouth notched a run in the bottom of the second and went out in front on LeBlanc's two-run homer in the third inning.

The 125th anniversary of "The Keith Lodge No. 16 R.N.S. Bear River took the form of a banquet, held at WO's and Sergeants mess at CFB Cornwallis on Monday evening, Sept. 13, 1976. Miller to read the history of the Keith, which during the years was compiled by WO Bros. W.E. Read, Jr. Langley, with Wor. Bros. Miller and Winchester bringing the history up to date. It was very interesting to learn of the growing pains suffered by the "Keith" at the time of their purchasing land back at the outset in 1951, also the small amount of dues collected at the beginning and change made during the intervening years. Following invocation by District Chap. Very Wor. Bro. J. Stokoe.

Tests were made to the Queen, the Craft by the D. Deputy Rt. Wor. Bro. Carl Niemeyer of K.S. Lodge, Digby.

by the G.M. of Mason's N. P. Most Wor. Bro. J. G. Vienot of Kentville.

A toast to the Ladies was given by Bro. W.L. Troupe, D.W. of "The Keith" No. 16 and responded to by Carolyn Wright the wife of Committee Chairman Bro. Tim Wright.

The principle speaker for the evening was G.Master, Most Wor. Bro. J.G. Veinot who gave an information talk on Masonry stressing the importance played by the Women and their help in carrying on the work of Masonry. Each brother seated at the head table was introduced by the W.M. which included G. Lodge officers and ruling masters of the jurisdiction.

Over 100 sat down to tables in a pleasant setting where the main course was roast beef and the gathering was fortunate in having a branch of the Digby Band, conducted by Band master Mr. Donald Scott, who provided music throughout the evening.

Two fifty year jewel members were present, Bros. J.E. Steadman of "The Keith" who now resides in Sydney, C.B. and Arthur Essensa, Mass., now residing in Annapolis Royal, N.S.

Election Staff Named

Herbert Warren, Digby, was appointed on Thursday evening by Digby Town Council to be presiding officer for the Town's election which is scheduled for October 19. Deputy presiding officer appointed was Pat Lyons and poll clerks Mrs. Alice Winfield and Frank Collins. The town clerk was given authority to appoint substitutes if any of those named could not accept.

A letter was read from the Digby Board of Trade suggesting that the town look into purchasing or leasing the D.A.R. station for a Town Hall. It was noted that a letter had been written before and a reply from the Marathon Realty had advised that the station was still in use and not surplus but they would advise if it becomes saleable. It was decided by motion that something on the subject be sought before the next monthly meeting.

A check of $625 had been received from the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade towards the town's tourist bureau but the other $625 is not available because the bureau did not stay open for the stipulated time.

A letter from Harold Riley, Digby, commenting favorably on the Town Tourist Bureau and its employee was read in which Mr. Riley also suggested extension of time. The letter arrived too late to use the suggestion but Council expressed appreciation for the interest and will seek suggestions on ways to finance such a move next year.

Digby Town Council voted $200 to be paid either in one installment or four to the Grace Maternity Hospital, Halifax, for extension of intensive natal care units.

The clerk was advised to make application to the Federal Government for $1000 grants made available through CMHC to municipal units for new housing units supplied with town sewer and water lines. The $1000 grants are paid to the town so that the town services can be supplied and more housing units continue.

College Ste. Anne Enrollment Up

By Larry Duchesne

It's back to the books time for 250 students who will attend College Ste. Anne this semester.

Situated in this small Acadian community of about 275 residents this college has been one of the province's lesser known colleges. That situation is changing, however, as evidenced by the 35 per cent increase in student enrolment this year.

The attendance figure was announced by college president Louis P. Comeau at a press conference here Wednesday.

Mr. Comeau termed the present student population a "sizeable increase" coming at a time when most institutions were merely maintaining their student numbers.

Three years ago, Mr. Comeau said, the college had 85 students ... "I think we've made some reasonable progress." Provinces from which more students are being attracted are Newfoundland, P.E.I. and Quebec.

Mr. Comeau outlined some of the development taking place on campus, including four new residences - two of which are used for on-campus seminar purposes - and the library which will eventually hold up to 120,000 books. A theatre is included in the next phase of development.

The college has recently expanded its extension services and Mr. Comeau is confident this field can be further increased this year.

College Ste. Anne now has a language school in Halifax (the Provincial Language Training Unit) and an office in Yarmouth. Consideration is also being given to expanding the college's language department mostly to include linguistic research.

Mr. Comeau said he is looking forward to an excellent year for College Ste. Anne.

The college's projected maximum enrolment has been set at 550. Mr. Comeau said he feels this objective can be reached within the next two years. With a full time person visiting high schools this year, the president anticipates an enrolment of more than 350 students next year.

5,964 Enjoyed Pool This Summer

DIGBY - The Digby Swimming Pool recently completed its second successful year of operation. A total of 5,966 Digby and area residents enjoyed the facilities which were open from June 28 to August 28.

This season's activities were highlighted by three separate instructional programs. Each program, which included classes for both novice and advanced swimmers, involved 15 lessons spread over a three week course.

A $5,000 grant from the Secretary of State, under the Student Community Service Program, enabled a regular bussing schedule to be instigated for Digby area youngsters who would otherwise not have been able to benefit from the pool. The bus, which was made available through the Digby School Board, was able to make two trips per day for about 100 youngsters in Jordantown, Conway, Acaciaville, Barton, Brighton, Seabrook and Rossway.

The grant also provided for the salary for three of the pool's staff members. The facilities employed seven people this season. They included John Rogers, director; Garnet Stacey, assistant director and five instructors, Judi Lefursey.

Eric Woods, Pattie Sutherland, Ann Rogers, and Linda MacIntosh.

In addition, a 2 leader corp of volunteers emerged to assist in the operation. The three were Michael Balser, Karen Hattie and Shelley Fletcher.

Another important feature of this year's operation was the "swimming for the disabled" program. The pilot program, which was geared to young retarded adults, operated in conjunction with the Hope Fellowship Centre, until the centre's closing in August.

Also in August, a Red Cross Boating Safety Team from Halifax stopped in Digby, while on their provincial tour. The team gave instruction in boating and canoe skills and safety measures. And at Digby's Natal Day at the Digby R.C.M.P. and Cornwallis MP staff took on the pool's lifeguards and instructors for some very wet water polo competition. The pool staff won the match and also performed a water safety demonstration involving lifesaving and boating safety.

The facilities took in approximately $3,700 this year which was able to cover a major portion of the operating and maintenance expenses.

Village Being Restored

Sherbrooke Village in Guysborough County is being restored to the brilliance of the 1860-1880 period when it was a major lumbering, shipbuilding and gold mining centre. Costumed guides escort visitors through the past, where today's citizens may try many of the tasks and occupations of their forebears. (N.S. CIC Photo)

Bird Haven

Now it is bird time again and there are all kinds to write

First of all there is our annual trip to my beloved Brier Island. We left home at 6 a.m. arriving at Rea-gee road at 8:05 a.m. but were very disappointed, the walk had started at 7:30 a.m., instead of 8, so along with a couple of groups who were waiting we were on our own. We covered the island pretty well and found lots of birds.

We were lucky to see a large flock of Eider Ducks. Believe they have nested on the island this year.

Now you need a tent or camper to get the full value of the three day event, however, we had a lovely day and came home to find our own gardens full of birds.

Monday morning we took our breakfasts down to what I still call Abramson's Pasture and were well rewarded. Kingfishers were having their breakfasts from the little pond and small birds were flying in all directions. Suddenly everything was quiet. A hawk had appeared over head and, believe it or not, two kingfishers dived, bombed it and drove it away.

I sat by my little pond Sunday afternoon and watched four kinds of warblers take their baths, then sit in the sun and fix their feathers.

One of the little ones was a Wikon's. This is a very bright yellow with a little black cap, very striking. Lots of American redstarts around. They look like butterflies flitting around, colour black and orange in males, females yellow and black.

There are lots of Black and White warblers. These little fellows go up and down the trunks of trees.

Have had lots of injured birds brought in during the summer and they are still arriving. A great many have been released after a few days rest.

The latest permanent boarders are a couple of Rosebreasted grosbeaks one which had struck a window in Bear River, one has a broken wing.

The lovely birds are a little smaller than a robin, black and white backs with the under wings lined with rosy red and the fully matured males have a rosy triangular bib. They have settled in a large cage and are eating sun flower seeds and round tree berries.

It is very rewarding to see how many of the young people are becoming interested in our feathered friends, and have such faith in the Bird Lady. Am afraid sometimes I let them down, I can't perform miracles.

A little Palm Warbler just arrived in a shoe box, brought by a very young man who was in a great hurry to get to school. It was placed in the hospital cage and was released soon after. A picture window victim, just suffering from shock.

All for now
The Bird Lady.

Miss Black writes, "Quite some years ago, I lived in Traverse City, Michigan, which is on a peninsula in Lake Michigan and as famous for its cherry production as we are for apples. All summer the air along the scenic drives was filled with the aroma of freshly baked cherry pies wafting from the "Cherry Pie Huts". It was impossible not to stop. The pies were hot, baked in aluminum plates about 4 to 6 inches wide. To eat one was nothing - you stopped at the next hut and bought another! I wonder if the same idea could not be worked out with the apple pies throughout the Valley. Today's pie maker would have decided advantage, because the pies could be made up ahead of time frozen and heated at the "hut" in small electric ovens. As I recall the girls made them right at the hut and cooked them in wood stoves. There was nothing else sold in the "huts" but the pies. A piece of Nova Scotia cheese and a glass of cold milk could be available, but no soft drinks. They would spoil it all! I am sending this idea along for what it's worth, but I can only add that I know of several girls in Traverse City who could not have had a college education had it not been for the cherry pies".

The idea is certainly worth pursuing, and hopefully next year we may see "Apple Pie Huts" along the beautiful Evangeline Trail. For those in Digby County the Cherry Pie Huts could become unique to that area.

THE NATURAL CRUNCH

Early varieties of apples have been available on the market for some time now, and soon apple picking will be well underway. There are many varieties of apples available, and through experience many of you know that some varieties are known for being good cooking apples. The chart below indicates which variety is most successful for particular purposes.

This chart is available in mae tac so you can put it in your cupboard for quick reference. If you would like a copy write to me at the N.S. Dept. of Agriculture and Marketing, Research Station, Kentville, N.S.

Submerged Equipment On Georges Bank

The United States Fisheries and Marine Service is asking commercial fishermen to be on the alert for submersed equipment after September 22 in areas on Georges Bank. It announced that on September 22, 1976, the Northeast Fisheries Center at Woods Hole, Mass., will begin a two-year experiment in the northeast section of Georges Bank with the deployment of three sub-surface moorings. Each mooring will consist of three current meters, an acoustic release and a sphere with light and radio with each component appropriately identified. The spheres will be 80 meters below the ocean surface with instrumentation below the sphere throughout the water column. Fishermen are advised that there will be no surface markers for the moorings. They are further requested to note that these moorings are set at approximately the following positions:

42 degrees 11.1' N: 66 degrees 02.1' W;
42 degrees 16.5' N: 65 degrees 57.5' W and
42 degrees 19.8' N: 65 degrees 54.7' W.

In the event that the moorings break free or are otherwise disturbed, please immediately contact National Marine Fisheries Service, North east Fisheries Center, Woods Hole, Massachusetts, 02543, by telephone 617-548-6123, H.C. Boyar, Scientific Vessel Coordinator, NMFS, Woods Hole.

Fishermen are further advised that the Bedford Institute of the federal Fisheries and Marine Service have placed submersible tide moorings in areas of Georges Bank and they are at approximately the following locations:
42 degrees 37' N 64 degrees 22' W DEPTH 232 m.;
42 degrees 07' N 65 degrees 30' W DEPTH 256 m.;
42 degrees 03' N 65 degrees 38' W DEPTH 242 m.;

Bass In The Annapolis
River Under Study

Striped bass in the 30-pound class are being angled from the Annapolis River. The average weight of the bass caught there is about 9 pounds.

This important sport fishery in the Annapolis River is attractive to local anglers and to increasing numbers of tourists.

Therefore, the federal Fisheries and Marine Service has begun to assemble information on the fishery and the biology of striped bass in the Annapolis River.

Creel surveys in 1975 and 1976 of the sport fishery at the Annapolis Royal causeway have provided information on factors such as angler residence, time spent fishing, catch, and the length and weight of fish caught.

The surveys were designed to provide accurate estimates of the hours of fishing effort and catch during the survey period.

B.M. Jessop, project biologist with the federal Fisheries Service, said that in 1975 anglers at the Annapolis Royal causeway contained almost twice as many non-residents as in 1972, with much of that increase consisting of Americans. The presence of this significant sport fishery adjacent to a major highway is an important tourist attraction. Tourists interested in striped bass fishing often remain several days and the average angler spends about 20 hours fishing for each fish caught.

Kings County residents and Americans were the most successful of the anglers during the 1975 survey.

A tagging program will provide information on the timing of striped bass movement and their distribution in the Annapolis River, as well as to show migratory movements along the Atlantic Coast. Bass up to 30 pounds have been angled, tagged and released.

Tags from recaptured fish should be sent in (P.O. Box 550, Halifax, N.S.) accompanied by information on the date and location of recapture and, if possible, the length and weight of the fish and a sample of fish scales. A tag reward of $5.00 will be paid.

Acadia University staff, under contract to the federal Fisheries and Marine Service, are investigating the timing, location and success of striped bass spawning and juvenile growth and movement in the Annapolis River. These and future studies of striped bass will permit more knowledgeable management of these valuable striped bass.

Reflecting To 1946

According to The Digby Courier, one of the best Digby County Exhibitions ever held was the one of year 1946. Weather was ideal and exhibits were far above average in quantity and quality. Although not for competition, D.V.A., Cornwallis had a most attractive display. (Might be worked on again). The Maple Leaf Agricultural Fair also appeared to have been successful.

Scallop Season was announced to open October 1 and boats were preparing with new engines, hoists, nets, cables and planking. New boats were coming in from Digby, Digby Neck and the South Shore and there were rumours of two from Sydney. There was a move to limit the length of drags to 15 feet. Small boats could not handle the 18 foot drags which gave the big boats the advantage.

The first ship launched in Digby after 60 years was recorded in the September 19 issue of The Digby Courier, 1946. The boat, a scalloper, 65 x 17 x 8 ft. deep was christened by Miss Grace Richardson and was named Dale Maxwell after the grandson of the boat owner, Captain B.D. Ritcey, Riverport.

Boyd Snow, Montreal purchased the Racquette wharf and lands of Floyd Snow for a fishing plant, fish curing and canning, and was to build an ice house and cold storage plant.

School facilities continued to bring problems. F.C. Purdy, superintendent, reported to the school board that old discarded desks had to be brought back into use to attempt to accommodate students. Even to build one or two extra rooms would be temporary measures only. A survey of mentally retarded was to be made with the possibility of forming an auxiliary class. Guidance and music were also to be added.

The Digby Courier was 73 years old. More than 2500 copies were being printed each week.

A combined meeting of Digby and Annapolis Boards of Trade were held in Annapolis when resolutions were drawn up in protest to a move afoot to have the Health and Occupational Centre which was slated for Cornwallis changed to another locality. The reason given, it seemed, was the excessive heating costs at Cornwallis. The Boards did not agree with this and were urging D.V.A. to give assistance to establishing the Centre at Cornwallis.

V.G. Cardoza, chairman of the Citizen's Re-establishing Committee of the Digby Branch Canadian Legion reported on a conference he attended in Kentville. He was accompanied by F.C. Purdy, president.

Two Nova Scotians Appointed

Mrs. Kathryn Logan, Coordinator Status of Women Nova Scotia has advised that The Hon. Marc LaLonde, in his capacity as Minister responsible for the Status of Women, has announced nine appointments from across Canada to the Federal Advisory Council on the Status of Women. They include two new representatives from Nova Scotia - to fill vacancies created when Sister Catherine Wallace and Mary Casey accepted positions elsewhere.

Joan Fraser, of Halifax, and Lilius Toward, of Baddeck, have both been appointed for three year terms ending May 31, 1979.

Lilius Toward will bring a wealth of legal expertise to council meetings, as she is currently a Commissioner of The Nova Scotia Law Advisory Committee, having recently written a historical perspective on matrimonial property laws in Nova Scotia and England. Ms. Toward has also been the author of a paper on Matrimonial Regime which covers everything from maintenance to adoption procedures. Formerly a lawyer in private practice in Baddeck, Nova Scotia, Ms. Toward also completed the research for a book on Landlord and Tenants which is still used in England. Currently she is working on the question of illegitimacy.

Joan Fraser, a fulltime homemaker, has been active in the community, playing a leadership role in such activities as the Joseph Howe Festival, the Halifax Landmarks Commission, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, parent teachers Association of Chebucto School, and the Canadian Cancer Society. As a member of the Board of Governors of Acadia University, and from her experiences last year travelling throughout Nova Scotia as the Federal Government's coordinator for International Women's year, Ms. Fraser is convinced that education "in the broadest sense" will be a major factor in any efforts designed to improve the Status of Women.

COURT LENIENCY SCORED

People Urged To Get Involved In Crime Prevention

Upwards of 100 citizens of Digby and area responded to the calling of a special Digby Board of Trade meeting at the Digby Court House on Tuesday in respect to curbing the amount of crime which occurs in the area. Many reasons for the situation were mentioned with the leniency of the courts apparently being blamed for much of the problem. The meeting, by applause and response strongly supported the suggestion that a petition be drawn up to have the local magistrate dismissed. No immediate action was taken. Another suggestion was to have the Digby Board of Trade hold another similar session to which the magistrate would be a special guest. Laws today are coddling the criminal, it was claimed.

The meeting on Tuesday evening was presided over by Ernest Ryan, Board of Trade president, who explained the purpose of the meeting and introduced the special guest, Sgt. T. E. Barlow, RCMP. Mr. Ryan said the idea behind the meeting was to see what the Board can do and what help might come from the citizens.

Sgt. Barlow told the audience he was pleased to be there to discuss crime problems in Digby and thanked the citizens for their interest.

The R.C.M.P. began policing Digby Town in July 1974 when there were three men assigned to the area and today there are four men. He said that some people feel that they should cover 24 hour days but this is impossible with a four man force. At least six men would be needed.

Referring to the break and enter problem which is causing a lot of concern, the sergeant said that there were 13 fewer of these than at the same date in the last year. Each category, he said, is down, but impaired driving is up. In Nova Scotia in general Sgt. Barlow said there has been eighteen percent increase in break and enter, in fact, 22 major categories of crime are up and 62 subcategories are up. Sgt. Barlow said even though figures on Digby were down there is still cause for concern.

When questioned on the contributing factors to the break and enter here, Sgt. Barlow named lowering of the drinking age and drug abuse. They steal to buy drugs and liquor. The age group involved in break and enter in Digby is 15 to 21 or 22 and some under 15. Last year, he said, there were 26 juveniles involved. These were too many.

To aid police on duty, Vincent Snow brought up the possibility of employing "watchmen" under the jurisdiction of police and thereby lessen the costs. Because policing has become such an expensive item, Joe Casey, Digby M.L.A., made a proposal to use volunteer para-police. Sgt. Barlow also reminded that businesses in general can be sure their doors are locked, that their car keys are secure and suggested they could even install burglar alarms.

Sgt. Barlow in being questioned on whether punishment is deterrent to crime, explained that although stronger court sentences might aid in decreasing crime, the old system of penalties as a deterrent to crime is not working as can be seen by crime being on the increase. Some citizens present felt that if courts would fine people what they should be fined, the crime would stop. Sgt. Barlow mentioned a few misconceptions by citizens of what the R.C.M.P. can do.

First, he explained that it is the job of the R.C.M.P. to bring the offender to court but the punishments are the duty of the courts. Then there are dog complaints, deed and line property disputes, etc. in which the R.C.M.P. are not involved.

Mrs. N. Birsell warned against grouping all the youth of the town the same but also reminded the citizens that there are 927 High School students with little or nothing for them to do but wander up and down the streets. She claimed the Keweenaw Swimming Pool was "worth its weight in gold" this summer. The majority of children, she said, were good and law abiding but some positive action should be put forth to get them off the streets. Other worthwhile activities which had been found for an outlet for youth were also cited.

Summing up the sergeant and the concerned citizens agreed that people must get more involved in crime prevention, not necessarily in punishment but in supplying means of recreation, counselling groups and voicing opinions on the justice system if they are concerned, by opening their eyes to the fact that more policing should be done in the kitchen of the home and by parents setting a good example.

There is a lot of merit in sitting down and talking and it is hoped that something might come out of it, was the general expression while Sgt. Barlow told the Board of Trade that he is willing to come to talk at anytime a group wishes him to do so.

The last topic discussed before the close of the meeting was on the unfamiliar "Citizen's Arrest" in which a citizen has a right to arrest and is protected by law.

More Names To Election Possibilities

The nomination of Henry Hubbard, age 54, as a candidate in the Digby Town election, is now ready to pass to the Town Clerk when September 25th comes along. So advised Mr. Hubbard, a Newcastle, N.B. born man who has spent ten to twelve years as an employee of the Digby Home Furnishings in Digby. He had also served for a number of years in the Canadian Armed Forces.

Mr. Hubbard feels that anyone who has an interest in the town should take some responsibility in helping to govern it. He prefers to be elected by vote of the people rather than by acclamation but does not believe in making promises to get elected. He favors waiting for results. He would like to see more people attend council sessions and declares the town would be well off if people attended the meetings as much as they talk.

Mr. Hubbard has been a member of the Digby Legion, Lions, Board of Trade and Warrant Officers Mess Association.

He is married to the former Gertrude Burton and they have one son residing in Saint John, N.B.

The terms of Mayor Charles Haliburton and Councillors Gordon Ellis, William Reid and Reginald Hazelton expire. Councillor Ellis has expressed his intention to offer for another term.

Grant Sabine, Riverdale, a successful mink rancher for 20 years and a direct distributor for Amway has announced to this newspaper that he is planning to let his name be placed for candidate nomination in District 9 of the Municipality of the District of Digby. This is the dual district presently represented by Deputy Warden Arthur Rice and Councillor Walter MacAlpine.

Mr. Sabine has been interested in following the activities of Council for some years as applied to the growth and economic prosperity of the municipality. He feels strongly that councillors should not take office by acclamation but that people should have a choice of candidates. Mr. Sabine said he would not run on any specific platform; he would just depend on his honesty and integrity and his ability to make the best decisions for the people he serves.

Mr. Sabine is much interested in Community Fire Protection and is working faithfully for his area's Volunteer Fire Department. He is active in church, being a member of the Board and a deacon.

Mr. Sabine is married to the former Miss Seretha Hurlburt R.N. of Carleton. They have two children, Twila, a grade nine student at Weymouth and Lowell in grade four.

Another newcomer to municipal politics could be Bernard Manzer, Weymouth North. Mr. Manzer has advised The Digby Courier of his intention to let his name stand for a candidate in the forthcoming election and like Mr. Hubbard in the story on the town nominations, his papers are all ready to file.

Bernard Manzer is a retired school teacher, having completed 30 years teaching last year, but he still substitutes when a teacher is needed. He also is owner and operator of a laundromat in Weymouth.

Born in Weymouth and completing his high school in the area, Mr. Manzer holds university degrees from Acadia, a B.A. and a diploma in education. He taught in Barton, Annapolis Royal, Freeport, Yarmouth Consolidated High School, was principal at Port Williams and at the old Weymouth Academy and spent four years teaching in the Weymouth Consolidated School.

Mr. Manzer is an ardent church work, has been campaign manager for the area Canadian Cancer Society and president of the Weymouth Area Bible Society. He feels that presently he has time to devote to Municipal Council, a commodity which he lacked before retirement.

Mrs. Manzer was the former Miss Avis Cosman of Weymouth who has also been a school teacher for 25 years. There are three children in the family, a teacher at Canning, a secretary in Weymouth and one school boy, age 11.

Mr. Manzer's nomination papers are expected to be filed for Weymouth district where Grant Sabine has announced his intention of running. Deputy Warden Arthur Rice and Councillor Walter MacAlpine, whose terms in the Weymouth district expire, have not to date committed themselves to reoffering as candidates.

Reliable sources over the weekend also advanced the name of Arthur Johnson, Mount Pleasant as offering as candidate in district number 7, Culloden, for the October election in the Municipality of the District of Digby. If these follow through there will be three contenders for the Culloden seat, the Incumbent Councillor Eric VanTassell who has signified his intention of reoffering, Mrs. Joyce Hazel who announced her intention last week and the newest report of Mr. Johnson's intentions.

Mr. Johnson was born in the Peggy's Cove area of Nova Scotia and came here in 1938 as a lad of 19 years. He went to work at cutting pulpwood for the Masons on what was known as the Henderson place. He was in war service for four years, worked at the H.T. Warne plant and at CFB Cornwallis. For the past 15 years he has been in the carpenter trade and house construction business.

Mr. Johnson is married and there are six children, the youngest in Grade 12 at Digby Regional High School.

Explosion Causes Injuries

Wayne Henderson, Hill Grove, was hospitalized on Wednesday, September 15, after he received cuts and burns when a liquid fertilizer drum, which he was cutting, exploded. The accident occurred at about five o'clock p.m. The Digby Volunteer Fire Department was immediately called to the scene. Mr. Henderson is proprietor of Henderson's Gulf Station, Conway.

Recreation Commission Sets Ice Prices

At a recent meeting of the Digby Recreation Commission prices for ice rental for the coming season were set at $22.00 per hour to all groups. This is a raise of $2.00 per hour over last year's rates. The Directors felt that this was the minimum rate on which they could operate, and although they did not wish to impose a hardship on ice users, they must be realistic and not operate with a huge deficit. Expenses will be reviewed after 60 days of operation and any adjustments will be made if necessary.

Public skating prices were set at $1.00 for under 18 years and $2.00 for adults, this is for two hours of skating. Public skating times were again set as, Friday evenings 6 p.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday afternoons 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., and Sunday afternoons from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Any one wishing to rent ice should apply by letter to the secretary of the Digby Recreation Commission, with their requests. Ice is booked on a first come, first served basis, and all hours are available EXCEPT the public skating hours.

Kenneth Initski reported a successful summer, with wrestling, teen dances and a circus at the Forum. The canteen was in operation for all these events, run for the Commission by Olive Hazelton, assisted by Sally Forest and Susan Gidney.

Digby Board Forms Civic Committee

The Digby Board of Trade met in a business session on Tuesday evening immediately following a general meeting held at the Digby Court House when Sgt. Thomas Barlow, R.C.M.P., gave a short talk and answered questions from the audience pertaining to policing in the Digby area. It was decided to pursue some of the suggestions which seemed to express the will of the people attending the general meeting. It is understood th. Board will look into the matter of contacting the Attorney General's Department regarding these.

Another matter of business was that of appointing a Civic Committee to act relative to finding candidates for the Digby Town Election. The terms of Mayor Charles Haliburton and three councillors expire. Named to the Civic Committee were Vincent Snow, chairman; Gordon Marshall and Harold Riley. Ernest Ryan is president of the Board.

Roy Joseph Deveau, 29, of Grosses Coques, was formally charged Wednesday with armed robbery in the $6,000 holdup of a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada at nearby Church Point.

Deveau, who appeared before a justice of the peace, was remanded in custody until Saturday.

A bank teller managed to call RCMP Tuesday while the robbery was in progress. Police arrested a man as he left the bank.

The holdup man was reported by police to have been armed with a handgun but no shots were fired and there were no injuries.

WORTHWHILE VENTURE

When the Digby Board of Trade took it upon themselves to call together citizens of the town and area to discuss, along with Sergeant Thomas Barlow R.C.M.P., the state of crime in the community, they happened on a worthwhile venture. Roughly figuring, there were about 100 persons showing their interest. Whether or not anything tangible will evolve from the meeting we do not know but it appears the Board of Trade is not closing its eyes to the complaints, grievances and suggestions made by these interested citizens. Even so, quoting from the meeting itself "There is a lot of merit in sitting down and talking" That is true, without a doubt, and it must have been encouraging to the R.C.M.P. to know they had the interest and apparent support of so many in their efforts to curb crime.

All one needs to do is to pick up the newspaper or listen to radio and T.V. and it can readily be seen that Digby is not the only place where vandalism, break and enter and other crimes are committed. We are happy that places such as Digby (under the Board of Trade) and others are taking steps to curb the problem before it becomes out of hand.

Curbing crime is not a simple process. More money spent on hiring more police seems to be the thinking behind some suggestions. This is similar however, to home-cooked eating or going out for the more expensive. A bit more parental policing could save the wages of another man on the force. Some of the crime can be traced to family breakdown, and neglect without a doubt.

One of the crimes discussed at the Board of Trade - R.C.M.P. meeting was break and enter. Being under the influence of drugs or alcohol or stealing to obtain drugs or alcohol seemed to be reasons for many of the break and enter cases. Here parental influence and parental advice are needed to keep young people from wavering in such a direction.

Supplying recreation suitable for young people is another way of keeping youth from drifting into the wayward path of crime. Recreation for the young people, however, should not be a substitute for parental care and oversight. Young people need to have the interest of the parents behind their work and play, at school or home. Young people do have to have a place where they can meet, can enjoy friends of their own ages in conversations of interest to their age and to engage in friendly competition. While we are not advocating using the Sabbath Day for sports and recreation to the neglect of moral and spiritual needs we cannot help but look back to the recent Junior Golf Tournament and admire the 125 boys and girls who had a jolly (not overly noisy) good time at the Pines Course.

Whether or not there is leniency in the Digby Courts for offenders, we note that like the trend to get back to basic three r's in school, many places near and far away are beginning to advocate stricter and more severe sentences for offenders. This, of course, is not a matter for the R.C.M.P. Their job is to find the offender and bring him or her to court. The courts hand out the punishment. Again, parents and interested persons can use their influence by voicing their opinions in this regard in Nova Scotia.

We consider that the Digby Board of Trade has taken a good step, a worthwhile venture into the matter of curbing crime. It is most satisfactory that so many turned out for their meeting but it is imperative that even more people become more involved in crime prevention, not only to see to it if more severe punishment is deemed necessary, but to provide ways and means of filling the lives of youth with that which will make it difficult for crime to take over.

An excellent beginning Digby Board of Trade.

SINGULAR HONOR TO EDNA

To receive a gift of appreciation is not unusual for most of us sometime in our lives. To have a room named in our honor is unusual. You generally have to be a big financial donor, come from Royalty, make a name in sports, become a noted political figure or have some outstanding prominence. The honor of having a room bear your name is one to be cherished.

Last week Mrs. Edna Stark was so honored when The Digby Pines Main Lounge was renamed the Edna Stark Room. It was not because of any financial donation given nor for any climb to fame achieved by Mrs. Stark. Her honor was earned in 42 years of diligent service in the employ of the Pines Hotel. The naming of the room, the Edna Stark Room, was a most thoughtful gesture and we congratulate Mrs. Stark as the recipient of the honor.

Many people for many years to come will use the name of Mrs. Stark as they refer to the Edna Stark Room at the Pines. May those who use the name be conscious of the fact that the honor was for service long and well performed. Today's generation can profit by such an example.

Congratulations, Edna, on your singular honor.

OTHERS' VICTORY OVER VANDALISM

The attached clipping from the Aberdeen Evening News in connection with a successful effort to curb vandalism on Bute Crescent in Dumfermline might give some clues with respect to a successful tackling of the problem here. The project in Scotland seems to be a positive approach to a serious problem, quite different from the punishment and vengeance after-the-fact approach so often advocated.

Residents in one of Fife's worst vandalised streets - Bute Crescent in Dumfermline - are holding an "open day" today to show off their new image.

As a tribute to their successful fight against vandals, the police will be backing them up along with a unit of the Fife fire brigade.

Four months ago tenants in the crescent, where 20,000 pounds worth of damage was caused by vandals, formed an association.

They washed graffiti off walls, repainting them, replanted rosebeds and kept a watchful eye on vandals.

"Anyone destroying property was immediately reported to the police," said association chairman, Mr. William Stuart of No. 32, and the youngsters were encouraged to join in the newly formed football league or the girls' netball team.

"Gradually vandalism died out and we can now claim a 100 per cent success rate.

"The secret of our success seems to be involving the whole community in activities and everyone being responsible for everyone else's property."

A Dumfermline police spokesman said "Those who are involved are trying to create an entirely new image in the crescent and their efforts so far have been highly commendable."

Mr. Stuart added: "We hope to raise over 100 pounds for our funds which will go towards sending our old age pensioners - who were once scared to go out in the street at night - on a day-trip."

No hope for this editor. Publisher Gerald A. Scott of Gananoque was the recipient of a Gold Quill Newspaper award for having completed 50 years in the newspaper and printing industry. Jehosaphat! There's no way we can do it. We might scare up 30 years and maybe we'd be allowed 13 years for being connected with a newspaper family as a devoted wife and good daughter-in-law. Even that would take seven more years to make 50. Just no hope. But congratulations Gerry and your helpmate, Ina. Great special issue on Gerry's 50 years put out by your staff. What a fine collection of "Gerry and Ina" pictures. Gerry surely must have been aiming for 50 years and built the collection during the last half century and more.

We hear there was a big gathering at the Nova Scotia Teacher College alumni week end in Truro. Special class was the 1926 graduation. Believe it or not, that was fifty years ago. Sorry to have missed the weekend convention in Truro because this editor was a 1926 graduate and also because our good friend and former newspaper editor, John Murphy, was guest speaker. We know the audience was kept in stitches especially when John related the story of Dr. David Soloman, principal, ordering the female students to wear their dresses quite below the knee. Well do we remember Chambers cartoon in the Halifax Herald depicting Dr. Soloman with a ruler measuring the length of dresses. The new style of short skirts above the knee had just been introduced into the Nova Scotia fashion world.

What do you know. Picked up the Mirimichi Press the other day and there was Bill Walls back with his Haggis column again. Just about three months since the last time but he might have something there. The copy was about three months long. However, it is not so much Bill's Haggis column, which is generally interesting, that causes these remarks. It is his fine tribute to Cecil Day, retired publisher and editor who had died in Liverpool a few days previous, which we admired so much. As Bill wrote "May the example of his integrity and dignity never be forgotten".

We were among the missing but International Press Journal claims that there were over 8000 accredited press at the 1976 Olympics. Press outnumbered the athletes.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR THE DIGBY COURIER

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I have expressed my delight with the 'Digby Courier' before, and I am doing so again because I want to speak especially about the lovely poems written by Mrs. Anne Kaye...

Digby, N.S.

In answer to comments made by Mr. G. R. Churchill, President of Digby Kinsmen Club regarding a comment I made before a recent Town Council meeting with reference to what was told to me about two beer gardens held in the name of the Kinsmen. I have since been told by Mr. Churchill that the first beer garden was run directly by the Kinsmen and the second one indirectly, and by "someone" outside the Kinsmen membership. The "someone" was the one who told me the Kinsmen beer gardens were "drunken brawls". It now appears that the words "nothing but" were added by me and, if so, for that I apologize.

If what was told to me, by my informer, was wrong, then I and the Kinsmen both deserve an apology from my informer who should have known the truth.

Nevertheless, let us consider some important truths about beer gardens. Our communities currently have much too much alcoholism and problem drinking without the encouragement of beer garden drinking. Some beer gardens or beer fests have in truth resulted in drunken brawls, vandalism, indecent language and behavior and aggravating noise pollution, accidents, and near accidents, defiance of law officers, etc.

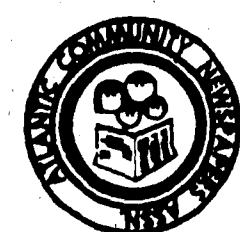

Legalizing the consumption of any alcoholic beverage does not lessen the adverse effects of alcohol on the human body and spirit. I submit that in our modern society and scientific age, alcoholic beverages should have little or no place, because clear heads and best judgment are needed at all times. Hopefully the more experienced and wiser of the Kinsmen will lead their clubs in all ways best for the community.

Some years ago I read the following "Four Way Test" of the things we think, say, or do, written on a bulletin board of a Service Club:

- (1) Is it the Truth?
- (2) Is it fair to all concerned?
- (3) Will it build good will and better friendship?
- (4) Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Wedding

HARTLIN-MOREHOUSE

On July 17th, 1976, a beautiful wedding was solemnized at Manning Memorial Chapel at Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., when Heather Helen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Morehouse of Sandy Cove, Digby Co., N.S., was united in marriage to Larry Wayne, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hartlin of Avonport, N.S.

Bouquets of red gladioli and yellow mums adorned the altar and white doilies centered with lily of the valley and ribbon marked the guest pews.

Rev. Ian MacDonald of Kentville performed the double ring ceremony. The nuptial music was played by Prof. E. F. Gmeiner of the University. Two talented soloists, Mrs. Mary Doucette and Mr. Fred MacIntosh, cousins of the groom, sang the "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony, and "This is Our Day" and "Follow Me" during the signing of the register.

The bride was attended by Miss Donna Wilson, Digby, as maid of honor, and Ann Lockhart, Kentville, Lorraine Morehouse, L.R. Sackville, and Gena Dickson, Halifax, as bridesmaids. Miss Cheryl Outhouse, niece of the bride was the winsome little flower girl. Master Gregory Enns, cousin of the groom, was the little ring bearer.

The groom was attended by Michael Hughes, Avonport, as best man. The ushers were Mr. Terry Murphy, Kentville, and brothers of the groom, Garth and Steve Hartlin, Windsor.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, entered the church on the arm of her father. The bride looked beautiful in a floor length gown of white voile over heavy taffeta, with long sleeves gathered at the wrist by fine wide lace. The empire waist and high neck were lace trimmed as was the skirt which featured a built in chapel length train. Her shoulder length veil of nylon tulle trimmed with lace, fell from a headdress trimmed with seed pearls. Her only jewellery was a gold locket. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white baby's breath.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore identical floor length dresses of burnished gold leaf design on satin polyester. They wore white picture hats trimmed with material to match their dresses, and carried bouquets of Shasta daisies. The best man and ushers wore tuxedos featuring white jackets and gold shirts. They wore gold carnations while the groom wore a red rose boutonniere.

The little flower girl wore a floor length yellow gingham gown, with a white eyelet pinafore and bonnet. She carried a basket of shasta daisies. The little ring bearer wore a tuxedo featuring a white jacket and gold shirt. He wore a gold carnation.

The bride's mother wore a sleeveless floor length gown of deep pink polyester with a short jacket of rose and white floral sheer. She carried a silver purse and wore a corsage of pale pink roses with silver ribbon. The groom's mother wore a floor length, long sleeved gown of pale pink polyester. She wore a corsage of deep pink rose buds.

The reception was held at the MacKenzie Room on the University campus for about one hundred and sixty guests. Mr. Clayton Snow, Digby, proposed the toast, which was responded to by the groom. Mrs. Linda Outhouse, sister of the bride, attended the guest book. The lovely three tier cake, trimmed with red roses, was made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Osborne Morehouse, Sandy Cove. It was served in the traditional manner by the bride and groom.

The happy couple left on their honeymoon for Prince Edward Island. For travelling, the bride wore a two piece outfit of beige Indian cotton, featuring a top with a square neck trimmed with wide lace and flared elbow length sleeves, the matching skirt featured a short flounce around the hem. She wore a corsage of red roses and beige accessories. The happy couple will reside in the Annapolis Valley.

Out of town guests were from Bridgetown, Saint John, N.B., Parrsboro, Springhill, Sandy Cove, L.R. Sackville, Halifax, Oromocto, N.B., Moschelle, Barrington, Windsor, Dartmouth and Belleisle.

W.M.S. Gets Convention Report

On September 2nd the Muriel Bent W.M.S. of the Bear River Baptist Church met in the church vestry with the president, Evelyn Winchester in charge.

Eva Belle Lewis led the devotional period which consisted of the hymn "Breathe On Me"; Scripture, Matt. 5:14-16 and a reading on "Hands". It asked the searching question, "What did you do with your hands to-day?" Evelyn Winchester presented Eva Belle with a wedding gift from the members of the society.

Prayers were offered by Idella Morine, Myrtle Selig, Carlene Porter and Laura Ruggles. Twelve members answered roll call with a Bible Verse containing the word "rejoice".

A $10.00 donation was made to the "Leprosy Mission Canada."

Marjorie Tibbetts had charge of the program and as guest speaker for the evening she had invited Mrs. Marshall Wheelhouse of Bear River East to give a report on the Atlantic Baptist Convention which was held in Sackville, N.B. this year. Mrs. Wheelhouse gave an interesting and informative talk on the various meetings she attended and the special speakers that were present. The theme of the convention

The village of Port Maitland was saddened early Monday August 30, 1976, to learn of the passing in the night of John Anthony Sollows at the Yarmouth Regional Hospital after a short illness.

He was 64 years of age and a lifelong resident of this village. He was the son of Nellie (Churchill) Sollows Nesbitt and the late Norman Sollows.

He operated N.C. Sollows and Sons Ltd. until it closed in 1972.

Besides his mother, he is survived by his wife, the former Mary Delaney; two daughters, Barbara (Mrs. William Carty), Yarmouth; Maxine (Mrs. Steward Ellis), Port Maitland; and two grandchildren; also two brothers, Warren (twin) and Norman both of Port Maitland.

The largely attended funeral was held Wednesday morning at 11 a.m. at Sweeney's Funeral Home. Rev. Bradford Durkee officiated, assisted by Rev. Perry Ingersoll.

Hymns sung by Mrs. Laurie Pierce and Mrs. James Rose were, "This Is My Father's World" and "Good Night and Good Morning". Mrs. Rose was organist. The Water St. Deli specializes and light lunches.

The Best of Luck to Claude and Donna.

The interior of the new Water St. Deli, a modern delicatessen shop which opened on Water St., Digby adjacent to Saunders Ltd., on Monday morning under the management of Claude and Donna Goulet.

A new delicatessen store, the Water St. Deli, opened on Monday morning in Digby with a favorable patronage and under the brightness of potted plants and flowers adding to the attractive decor of the interior.

The Water St. Deli, operating in the former Eaton's Order Office, is decorated in hues of orange, gold and brown throughout. Dark brown panelling is relieved by the brilliance of the orange and gold of the wallpaper and the gold floor covering. Three booths and two tables also blend in the decor in combinations of orange, gold and brown.

Snowy white curtains and white refrigeration equipment complete the area where customers are served at table or takeout.

The managers of Water St. Deli are Claude and Donna Goulet who are in partnership with James McNeil in the business. Mr. McNeil is also owner and operator of the Red Kettle in Bridgetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Goulet are from Ontario and were friends of the McNeils in Windsor, Ontario. On their first visit to Nova Scotia as friends of the McNeils, they became interested in living here, especially in Digby. At present Mr. and Mrs. Goulet along with Mrs. Goulet's mother, Mrs. Kay Demers, are operating the business. They have five children and hope as years go by to have the business a family affair. They are prepared to supply European meats and cheeses, sandwiches, submarines and light lunches with the hope of more extensive catering in the future.

Digby Little League News

BY BOB MCVEIGH

Kiwanis Down Merchants 10-4 To Win Championship

In the third and deciding game of the Digby Little League finals the Kiwanis lead by the steady pitching of Joey Hattie defeated the Merchants by the score of 10-4, thus taking the Championship. Joey Hattie allowed six hits, walked seven and struck-out seventeen to fashion the victory and championship. Chuckie Woods toiling on the mound for the Merchants gave up eight hits while striking out thirteen and walking fourteen batters (this proved to be his downfall as key hits produced runs with men on bases).

Brian Hazel filling in for Donnie Brown handled the coaching duties for the winners while Lawrence Comeau was the coach for the Merchants. Burrell Burgoyne with four for four (three singles and triple) was the leading batter for the winners while Chuckie Woods with a perfect day at bat (single, double, home run and walk) along with Jeff Vantassel (two for four, two doubles) were the top batters for the Merchants. Umpires (Series) - Stan Locke and Harold Haines. MERCHANTS 002002

Digby Junior Girls Basketball

The Digby Junior Girls Basketball team will play a couple of pre-season exhibition games this Saturday in the Digby gym against a team from Yarmouth. The games will be starting at 10:30 in the morning. The Digby team is considered one of the more powerful teams in the province. They are respected as a clean aggressive team that can, at any time, score points against any opposition in the province.

From a humble beginning last fall, they went from a team which lost their first 10 games to a team which won their last 25 games in a row. They play a style of defense which features hustle, skill, team work and determination. Their offense is based on fast breaks, good ballhandling and excellent shooting. The team is led by the hustle and never-say-die attitude of its captain Joanne Wilson. Other members include: Centre: Karen Hattie, Kim Roy, Guards: Cheryl Trask, Pam Locke, Joanne Wilson, Pam Griffiths, Kathy Naylor, Kathy O'Neil, Debbie Pyne, Kelly Sweeney, Forwards: Susan McClary, Susan Marshall, Erin Gardiner, Darlene Haight, Judy Kenley, Jill Sweeney, Janet Wilson, Colleen Winchester. Managers: Amanda Muise, Deena Balser, Coach: Greg Jamieson.

This year there will also be a grade 7 team, coached by Bobby Winchester. This will enable at least 30-40 junior promote the activities of the Digby Little League. Lastly, a sincere "thank you" to all the Clubs for their donations as well as the Digby Recreation Commission and to the Little Leaguers for their honest and hard working participation in the games over the season without this, there would be no league. Again, congratulations to Donnie Brown and his Kiwanians and to all teams and coaches "thanks" for making this a truly successful season.

Watch this paper for announcements of Little League Banquet.

CHILDREN ARE THE GREATEST

No crops, business nor achievements are as important as the prattling infants in the cribs of the nation.

This treasure of children is the natural resource upon which tomorrow depends. Future government, the future church and even future peace depends on those who follow after us.

But, remember these little buds of humanity depend on us right now. They will be the result of our teaching and example. They must learn right from wrong, sense from nonsense, the way up from the way down from us. Without certificate and salary, every parent is a teacher in his own home.

A father or mother may ask, "How can I bring up my child in the way he should go? Do it by going that way yourself. No one has to go to university to learn this teaching method, but it does put a parent on the spot.

Kind parents beget kind children. Home loving parents produce home-high girls the opportunity to play Varsity Basketball. It will also mean a good supply of talent in the future so that Digby Regional High School can remain competitive on a provincial level in girls basketball.

We hope for a good season for both teams. We feel it would be good for the teams, the school, and the community if people would get out and support their teams.

The Federal Business Development Bank announces the opening of an office at 655 King Street, Bridgewater, with Mr. F.D. Parsons as Manager.

FBDB, a Crown corporation which succeeded the Industrial Development Bank last October, assists the growth and creation of business enterprises across Canada, particularly those of smaller size. It provides financial assistance, management counselling, and information on government programs for business.

Mr. Parsons joined IDB in 1968 and prior to his present appointment he was Assistant Manager of the Halifax office of the bank.

The staff of the new office also includes Messrs. B.A. Conrad, K.G. Heisler, and L.R. Saunders who were previously at the Halifax office.

Honored On Retirement

Mrs. Henry (Ethel) Stark was on Friday presented with an engraved gold wrist watch by the staff of the Digby Pines Resort Hotel on her retirement after sixteen years of continuous service in the hotel's employ. The presentation was made on behalf of the staff by another retiring employee, Mrs. Edna Stark who has also received recognition of her services to the hotel. In the picture above are left to right, Mrs. Edna Stark, Mrs. Ethel Stark and Mrs. Lillian Gavel who presented a corsage.

Mrs. Ethel Stark was seamstress for the Pines for the past 16 years but had also been employed there for four or five years prior to 1935. Staff has practically doubled in that time, Mrs. Stark said and the mending is more voluminous. Mrs. Stark will do up the fall mending but will have assistance with that.

Mrs. Stark, the former Miss Ethel Bremner, said she has enjoyed the years working at the Pines but she now feels that she should have time to enjoy her grandchildren which she missed by working every summer.

some of the activities named in its program which would prove interesting to the members and others.

Desire d'Eon, president of the West Pubnico society, told the group that there main project is to establish a museum in West Pubnico. Their society has a number of conferences during the year and they discuss old Acadian words and Acadian folklore songs especially those that were imported from France.

Rev. Clarence d'Entremont who is a member of the New England Historical Society said that his group were endeavoring to have an island in the St. Croix River in Maine declared as an Acadian historical site, with a monument established on the island.

Rev. Nil Theriault former pastor of St. Bernard parish in the village of the same name, gave a report on the Acadian historical site at Major's point in Belliveau-Cove and Grosses Coques border. A problem has arisen regarding the land on which a chapel and cemetery has been established. The cemetery was selected by Rev. Bailly de Messeine in 1769 on his first visit to these shores, for the burial of Acadians. Rev. Theriault believes that it is

The first fall meeting of the Digby Curling Club was held on Wednesday evening at the Club rooms when tentative plans for the 1976 opening season were made for November 1.

Representatives from the Digby schools were present. "Rick" Olsen applied for Digby Regional High School curling time and it was estimated that 24 teachers of the school were wanting ice time.

The meeting on Wednesday evening was presided over by the president, Charles Haliburton. Clifford Durkee and Stewart MacNaughton were named representatives from Digby to the zone area. Memberships were accepted at the meeting and will continue to be accepted on behalf the Club by Hymie Webber and Mr. Durkee. George Nickerson is the Club's secretary.

The successful firm offered the lowest of eight bids received in answer to a public tender. The highest bid was $174,879.

The contract calls for reconstruction of the inner-360 feet of the wharf using timber piles. The work should be completed by January 1977.

Plans were prepared for Environment Canada in the Atlantic Region office of Public Works Canada, Halifax. Project manager is P.J. Dunsworth of that office.

Bridal Shower

Miss Cathy Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Adams, Smith's Cove, was honored by her friends and relatives on Saturday evening with a bridal shower. Hostess was Mrs. John Oikle, Smith's Cove, and guests were present from Halifax, Deep Brook, Digby and the Cove.

Miss Adams was assisted in opening her gifts, at a gaily decorated table, by the hostess who read the messages on the cards.

Centering the refreshment table was a beautiful cake in the form of a bride (made by the hostess. Mrs. Oikle was assisted in serving by Mrs. Roger Carty, Mrs. Neil Robbins, Mrs. Roy Wilson, and Miss Darlene Thompson.

Robert and Avis McGowan, proprietors of the Smith's Cove Tent and Trailer Park were host and hostess on Saturday evening to one hundred guests at a party. The Park will close on Sunday, June 26.

Guests indulged in steamed clams, barbecued beef, hot dogs and salads while they listened to music on tapes and chatted. Gifts were presented to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. McGowan are from New Jersey, U.S.A. and will be returning there for the winter. Mrs. McGowan was the former Avis Blackadar of Bear River. In New Jersey, the McGowans were in the bakery and construction employ and Mr. McGowan was in overseas service for six years. They purchased the Smith's Cove Tent and Trailer Park and are enjoying the summers greatly in Nova Scotia.

The McGowans were not unhappy with their summer's revenue but felt their greatest business came from Nova Scotians and not from tourists to Nova Scotia. In fact, Mr. McGowan felt that their "tourist" business might have been down while camping by Nova Scotians was greater.

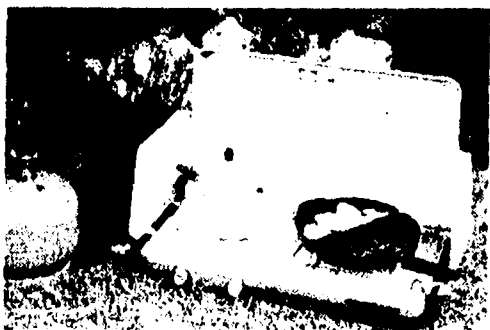

Ferry prices, gas prices and food prices are high here, Mr. McGowan felt which could have influenced tourist traffic in the summer of 1976.

There is lots of room for recreation at Smith's Cove Tent and Trailer Park and a great place for families to be together and get to know one another better by camping there, Mr. McGowan found in his conversations with guests.

To Offer Writing Course In Digby

During the 1976-77 school year, the extension department of College Sainte-Anne will offer a writing course in the Digby area. The course, "English 2006: Advanced Techniques in Writing", is open to those who possess an average knowledge of written English but have for some reason not kept their writing skills up-to-date. It will be given on Monday evenings beginning October 4 at 7:00 o'clock.

Much has been said recently about how modern students manifest a "growing inability to read and write the English language" (The Chronicle Herald, September 4, 1976, page 7). Statistics point to the existence of a contemporary literacy crisis. Electronic sound-and-picture media - especially the television set, the consumer of consumers - has helped to decrease the concern with precise writing. Many lack the patience as well as the opportunity to improve their writing ability.

The object of "English 2006" is to enable students to review rules of grammar, spelling, and punctuation and to provide them with practicable methods of composition.

Today, even more than in the past, students are required to express themselves on a wide range of topics. Despite low scores on national tests and the current neglect of writing skills in education, contemporary students are far from inferior to those of the past. Their comprehension of difficult life situations is higher and their awareness of vast amounts of information is greater than ever before.

"English 2006" will attempt to make basic writing techniques available to those who receive daily more facts and have more to say and comment on than previous students. With a moderate amount of practice, all students may become competent writers.

This is a writing course. Students are not expected to do extensive reading and research outside of class, but they are required to complete brief written assignments throughout the year. There will be minor tests and a mid-year examination on class material, but the most important factor in determining the course grade is each student's improvement as a writer.

Those who are interested in taking "English 2006" should obtain further information from Léger Comeau at 769-2114. Registration will take place at Digby High School on Monday, October 4, at 7:00 p.m.

Minister Opens Plant

John Hawkins, Nova Scotia Minister of Agriculture, officially opened the new two million dollar Shur-Gain feed plant at Port Williams.

In opening the new plant of Shur-Gain, a division of Canada Packers Limited, Mr. Hawkins said that it will provide ultra modern feed service facilities for producers throughout the valley and other sections of the province.

He said that it was a sign of the growth and development of the agricultural industry within Nova Scotia and an indication of the future of the area as a poultry and livestock growing centre.

Representing Canada Packers Limited at the opening was W.F. McLean, president of the company, who said the new plant is a further step in the extensive involvement of the company in the province. He said the feed service mill at Port Williams was bought by Canada Packers in 1947 and since that time the operations have continued to expand. Mr. McLean declared that this new two million dollar facility is an expression of faith by the company in the continued expansion of the Nova Scotia livestock industry.

Also in attendance at the opening was Senator Irvine Barrow who said the federal government was pleased to have participated in the development of the expanded operations, by way of a DREE grant.

The new facilities include a large feed mill with extensive equipment for bagged and bulk feed, as well as a new 100 by 72 foot warehouse. A concept of the size of the new mill is gained from the fact that it has a weekly capacity to produce 1,600 tons of various livestock feeds. Ingredient storage bins have a capacity of 450 tons, bulk feed storage bins of 150 tons, and grain storage tanks with a capacity of 2,400 tons.

The mill is also equipped with two pellet mills for the production of pelleted feeds and the most modern batching and mixing system.

The mill and warehouse area has been designed for maximum efficiency. A new longer covered truck scale with many additional overhead bulk loading bins is one of the many new features of the design.

A special design feature incorporated, is the establishment of grain processing facilities at grade level in a special room which allows for much better pollution control.

The new mill will provide complete feeds for poultry and livestock producers throughout the valley and has been designed to handle increased demand as livestock and poultry numbers continue to grow.

Following the official opening, more than 600 people including customers, suppliers and government officials toured the new mill and were guests of the company at a giant chicken bar-b-que.

Mrs. Sabine Speaks On Nutrition

Grace United Church Women, Unit 1, met in regular session at the residence of Mrs. Bryson Denton, on September 14th at eight p.m.

Mrs. Denton, Leader of the Unit, led the worship service using the theme, "Bread of Life: The Living Bread."

Mrs. Denton, in her devotional stressed the need for spiritual food which sustains at all times under all circumstances.

Prayer was offered by Mrs. Denton.

Mrs. Grant Sabine, R.N. of Riverdale addressed the meeting on the subject of nutrition. The speaker clearly pointed out the necessity of a balanced diet. She directed attention to food preparation. Much food value is lost if food is improperly stored and important vitamins and other elements are lost in over-cooking otherwise nourishing foods.

Mrs. Sabine was presented with a gift in appreciation of her splendid address.

Plans for future projects and meetings were discussed and letters of appreciation were read.

Collection amounting to $50.45 was received.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. Pearl Handspiker.

Scallop Survey

Mr. H. Douglas Johnston, Director-General, Fisheries Management, Maritimes Region, Environment Canada, announced today that a survey to determine regulatory requirements for the management of the Northumberland Strait scallop fishery was being immediately initiated.

Although the survey is mainly directed to holders of scallop licenses in the Maritimes who fish in the Strait, he stated that a large selected sample of lobster fishermen and dragger owners from the respective provinces would be canvassed for their views as well.

Recall Acting British Prime Minister In Digby

The arrival of James Callaghan, British Prime Minister, in Sydney on Friday, recalls that British Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald came to Digby on July 20, 1934 and stayed at a cottage at the Digby Pines Hotel. He was accompanied by his daughter, Isabel. Mr. MacDonald was badly in need of rest, having been in poor health for some time and stayed two weeks at the Pines.

A native of Scotland, MacDonald was given a hearty welcome by Angus L. MacDonald, then premier of Nova Scotia. It is said that Angus MacDonald enthusiastically greeted the British prime minister in Gaelic, to which the prime minister responded with stunned silence. During summer of 1943, Mussolini suffered his downfall in Italy and the Allied offensive grew in Sicily. It was also the year of one of the most important of the Allied leaders' meetings, the first Quebec Conference between Winston Churchill and United States president Franklin Roosevelt.

On his way to the Quebec Conference, Churchill, traveling with his wife and daughter on the Queen Mary, arrived in Halifax. They made their way to Quebec City by train and arrived there on August 11, 1943.

Following the first conference, Churchill and Roosevelt agreed that a second would be needed in one year.

Accordingly, on a sunny afternoon in Halifax, September 11, 1944, Churchill was again in port, this time disembarking with his wife from a giant transport ship.

The stopover in Halifax was only for an hour, but a large crowd turned out to meet him. Standing at the back of the train that would take him to Quebec, Churchill led the crowd in some singing, and puffed on one of his ever present cigars.

The only other British prime minister to visit Halifax was Harold Macmillan in November 1919, but he was not in office at the time.

Macmillan spent one year in Canada as aide-de-camp to the Duke of Devonshire, then governor-general of Canada.

Boudreau Appointed Extension Services Co-ordinator

"College Sainte-Anne is happy to appoint Peter Boudreau as Extension Services Coordinator in Yarmouth," states Mr. Louis R. Comeau, President.

Mr. Peter Boudreau born in Lower Wedgeport, Yarmouth Co., N.S., finished his high school education at Ste-Anne-du-Ruisseau Consolidated School in 1964. In 1968 Mr. Boudreau became a student at College Sainte Anne, Church Point, N.S., where he obtained a Bachelor of Arts from this institution in 1971. He furthered his studies in education at Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., where he received a Bachelor of Education in 1972.

His teaching experience began in 1967-68 as teacher at Ste-Anne-du-Ruisseau Consolidated School and continued the following year as teacher at Barrington Consolidated School. From 1973 to 1976 he taught at Argyle Consolidated School, where he became vice-principal in 1975.

Objects To "Free Parking" At Ferry

The Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council recently levelled strong criticism at two provincial government affiliated organizations.

The issues, which involve the CN operated Digby Ferry Terminal and Yarmouth's provincially operated tourist bureau, were raised at the Council's regular September meeting at the Pines.

Laird Banks addressed the Council to express his displeasure with the Digby Ferry Terminal "operating in effect a free trailer park". The Council was informed by Mr. Banks that employees working at the terminal have often told tourists with cardrawn trailers that they could spend the night on the wharf free of charge. The Council has subsequently prepared a letter to Mr. Rupert Tingley, Moncton, who supervised the ferry's operation, requesting that any such practice be stopped.

Local motel operator, Dave Irvine, informed the 14 members present for the meeting of a practice which is reported to have occurred at the provincially operated tourist bureau in Yarmouth.

The incident involves an information officer employed with the agency who was "overheard to recommend repeatedly that tourists travel through Nova Scotia by the South Shore Route, and not via the Annapolis Valley".

It was considered improper by the Council for any such employee "to couch travel advice" in these terms. A letter containing the details of the employee's conduct, supplied by Mr. Irvine, and signed by Executive Chairman Penny Gott, is being prepared for the Department of Tourism.

Digby Pines Manager, Vic Bradshaw spoke to the gathering. The main thrust of his remarks was to stress the need for a clarification of the A.B.T.R.C.'s purposes and programs. The outcome of the involved discussion was a general consensus to better organize the Council, to acquire new members, and to instigate new projects.

Praise was given to one of the Council's major annual projects, the tourist publication "The Basin". An increased distribution is again planned for next year.

The A.B.T.R.C.'s next meeting has been scheduled for the Wardroom, CFB Cornwallis, on October 13, 8 p.m.

Hunters Require License To Carry Guns

RE 1976 HUNTING SEASON

With the hunting season just around the corner many people are getting ready for the woods. Many of the hunters will be persons between the age of 14 and 16 years of age. We would like to remind parents and hunters alike that persons aged 14-16 years require a permit to carry firearms and ammunition which is in addition to any hunting licence. The young hunters must be accompanied by a parent, guardian or responsible adult while hunting. The permits are issued by any RCMP office and the person should be accompanied by a parent when applying for the permit.

Permits for shotguns can be issued from October 1st until February 15th of the following year. Permits to carry .22 calibre rifles can only be issued from December 1st until February 15th of the following year due to the big game and small game hunting regulations.

Violations respecting permits can result in cancellation of the permit or prosecution action under the Criminal Code. It is again pointed out that 14-16 year old hunters must comply with provincial hunting regulations in addition to the requirements of the Criminal Code.

The Criminal Code contains provisions for issuance of permits to persons under the age of 14 years in areas designated by the Governor in Council. Since no areas have been designated in Nova Scotia, no permits to persons under 14 years of age will be issued.

Wedding Bells

JEFFERSON-GILLIS

The United Baptist Church, Granville Ferry was the scene of a lovely summer wedding on August 7 at 4 p.m., when Marlene Eunice daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Gillis, Granville Ferry, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Darrell Wade Jefferson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jefferson, Bear River East. Rev. Robert Matthews performed the double ring ceremony. Organist was Mrs. Hazel Chisholm. During the signing of the register, Kathy Gillis, sister of the bride, and Trent Thompson, friend of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love".

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her father, and given in marriage by her parents, was a picture of radiance in an A-line gown of white organza sheer lined with taffeta, trimmed with chantilly lace, styled with sheer yoke bodice, high neckline, long tapered sleeves. The skirt was accented with narrow satin ribbon. Her shoulder length veil of three tier tulle was held in place by small velvet petals embedded in sequins, which attached her chapel length veil of organza sheer with matching lace. She carried a cascade of red roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Pamela Smith, friend of the bride, was matron of honour; Mrs. June Weare, Heather Gillis, sisters of the bride, and Miss Nancy Chenell, friend of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore identical styled gowns of floral sheer over polyester with short puffed sleeves, scooped necklines and flounced skirts of coral, yellow, blue and green. They wore matching picture hats and carried bouquets of white mums, tinted to match their gowns.

The flower girl, Miss Melanie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, was charming in her gown of coral floral sheer over polyester. She carried a basket of mixed flowers and wore a head piece to match. Gary Weare, friend of the Wages vs prices. What's happened in 1976.

The anti-inflation program is nearly one year old.

The program was announced last October 14 and the Anti-Inflation Act was passed by Parliament in December. The goal was to create a fair and stable economic climate for all of us. Guidelines were established for the control of prices, profits, incomes, dividends and professional fees. The federal government established a policy of spending restraint. The provinces are supporting the program and are applying guidelines in areas of provincial concern such as rents.

The target of the first year of the anti-inflation program was to bring inflation down from a rate of 10.8% to 8% or less. This goal is going to be reached. Still many Canadians are concerned about rising prices and may feel, in fact that prices are rising faster than their family incomes. For most of us, this is not the case. The facts prove that since the start of the program most of us are better off than we were before because salaries on average are keeping ahead of prices.

Prices

Last year sudden and frightening price increases were happening all too often. By October 1975 Canadians had experienced 20 months of inflation of 10% or more. No one could be sure how far the dollar earned one day would stretch the next. The anti-inflation program was brought in to control the rise in prices, giving Canadians a better chance to plan and live within their family budgets. Price increases have slowed down. By August the annual rate of increase in the Consumer Price Index had dropped to 6.2%. Although some price increases have to be expected this month and next, the 8% target will surely be met.

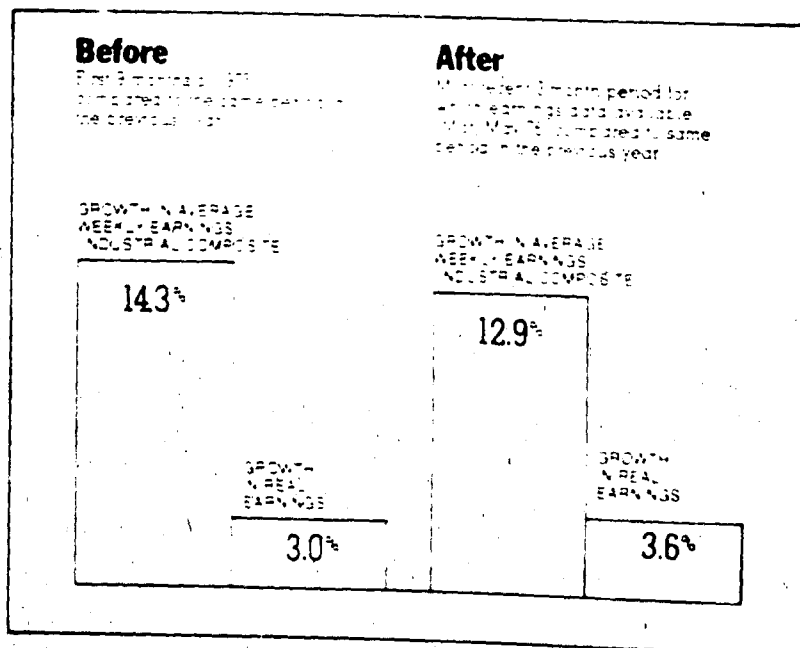

Wages

The anti-inflation program has also helped to restrain increases in wages, salaries and other incomes. The Guidelines on compensation allow for a basic increase of 8%, plus 2% as a share of national productivity growth. Another 2% can be added or subtracted depending on whether a group had kept up with or fallen behind cost of living increases before the program began. More than half of the agreements and settlements reported to the Anti-Inflation Board have been within these anti-inflation guidelines. A gradual downward trend in wage increases has started and it should continue as more Canadians realize that because of declining inflation, settling for less won't hurt them.

The real gains

Since the start of the anti-inflation program the average Canadian has actually improved his or her buying power. This is because lower wage increases along with lower price increases have resulted in a gain in real incomes. The real gain is worked out by taking the actual increase in earnings and subtracting from it the effects of higher consumer prices. Real incomes are probably the best measure of how we're doing, of how we can manage to pay our bills at home. By this spring, real incomes were up 3.6% over last year.

Controls on both prices and incomes are part of the reason why the inflation rate is dropping. The co-operation and hard work of most Canadians is the rest of the story. We will soon be moving into the second year of the program, with a goal of lowering the inflation rate to 6% or less. Working together we can reach this target too.

possible," Mr. Mitchell said.

The Minister added that his department is more than pleased with the details of the transition. He emphasized that ITF is a world-wide company with more than 60 years experience in organizing shows around the world ... from Peking to Moscow, Barcelona, Jakarta, Mexico City, to name but a few.

"The massive resources and depth of expertise ITF has at its disposal assure the complete success of the World Fishing Exhibition," he said.

This is the first time this biennial series of fishing exhibitions has been held in the Americas and, according to all indicators, it will undoubtedly be the most successful yet staged.

Deputy Managing Director of ITF, Mr. Leslie Smith, is expected in Halifax in the near future to meet with provincial, federal and municipal officials to co-ordinate further plans for the World Fishing Exhibition scheduled from August 31 to September 7, 1977.

In other words, the majority of plants operated by the largest U.S. firms would be classified as small businesses if they were independently owned.

Refuses To Support N.S.T.U.

The Provincial Government will not support the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union in any appeal of the Anti-Inflation Board ruling that the additional seven per cent salary increase for the period from January to May, 1977, must be deleted from the present contract between Government and the N.S.T.U.

The Minister of Education, Hon. Maynard MacCaskill explained: "I have reviewed recent decisions of the Administrator, and as a result of this survey I am concerned that a referral to the Administrator might possibly lead to an additional rollback.

"In most appeal cases the Administrator has confirmed the recommendation of the board, but in a substantial number of cases of noncompliance or appeal the Administrator has applied the guidelines more rigidly than the board.

"In no case of which I am aware has the Administrator on appeal allowed an increase greater than that recommended by the A.I.B. I am convinced that an appeal to the Administrator in the case of the teachers' agreement would be equally fruitless, and I am, I repeat, concerned that such a referral might possibly lead to a further reduction in the settlement.

"Accordingly I have stated to the N.S.T.U. executive that the province will not appeal the recommendation of the A.I.B. to the administrator. I have indictated to them also that, for the reasons given above, the province is not prepared to support or second an appeal if one is made by the N.S.T.U., and I have suggested to them that, for the same reasons, they consider the probabilities very carefully before coming to a decision whether to appeal.

"If we conform to the board's recommendation, or if it is confirmed by the administrator, the expectations of our teachers for the first five months of 1977 will be altered.

"The executive of the N.S.T.U. have asked that the Government negotiate with the union to cast about for some means of compensating the teachers for this change in their expectations. Their concern is understandable, for the original agreement was negotiated by both parties in good faith.

"My colleagues and I have felt that it would not be in the spirit of the anti-inflation agreement to take away with one hand and give back with the other. There are other wage earners in the province, other negotiations, other contracts, and there would be serious implications for all if it were apparent to the anti-inflation board that we were trying to circumvent their intent.

"The same recognition of our community of interest which led me to make representations to the board on behalf of the teachers now leads me to urge them to accept its recommendation.

"To take a course of action which will result in a referral to the administrator would not, in my view, be in the best interest of the teachers of this province."

New Furbearer Regulations

As of October 1, 1976, anyone hunting, trapping or snaring furbearers in Nova Scotia will be required to obtain a furbearers license. Cost of the license, according to department of lands and forests head ranger John Nauss, will be in the vicinity of $10.

The license will give the holder the right to hunt, trap or snare any legal furbearer except deer, bear and moose. Deer and bear are still covered with the big game license. To date no license is needed to hunt rabbits.

Animals covered with the new furbearers license are beaver, mink, otter, muskrat, fisher, fox, bobcat, weasel, squirrel, skunk, raccoon and cougar. Marten and lynx are protected and there is no open season. Cougar are included under the license just in case it's eventually proven they exist in the province. The department is taking no chances.

Raccoon hunters should note that while the furbearers license doesn't come into effect until October a special permit is required to hunt at night in September. This permit is valid from September 1 to December 31, 1976. The night hunting permit is all that's required in September. After October 1 both the night hunting permit and the license are required.

During night hunting of raccoons, use of a three cell flashlight (4 1/2 volts) is permitted. Shotguns only may be used with shot size no larger than number six.

A special period for the training of raccoon dogs at night is also something new this season. From October 1 to 15 you can obtain a special permit for night training.

The permit allows the use of a flashlight (three cell up to 4 1/2 volts) but firearms cannot be used and raccoons cannot be killed.

The regulations say that in addition to the night training permit, a valid furbearers license is also required. This seems confusing. Why have a night training permit, when all a person has to do is buy the furbearers license and train his dog with it?

number that will be theirs for life.

Persons under 16 years are not required to buy a furbearers license to hunt, trap or snare if they register as a partner of a license holder who is at least 19 years old.

Following are the 1976-77 seasons and bag limits for furbearers and other game: Beaver - November 1 to January 15. Bag limits vary from county to county. See your nearest ranger for details of your area.

Mink, otter, muskrat - November 1 to January 15. No bag limit.

Fisher - November 1 to March 15. One mistake per license but not more than one per household.

Fox - November 1 to February 15. No bag limit. Bobcat, weasel, squirrel, skunk - November 1 to March 15. No bag limit.

Raccoons - Details of seasons are covered in detail above. No bag limit.

Deer - November 1 to December 30. Bag limit of one, either sex. Buck law in Yarmouth and Shelburne still in effect.

Bear - Trapping season October 1 to December 15. Hunting season November 1 to November 30. No bag limit.

Seasons and bag limits for rabbits, pheasant, Hungarian partridge and ruffed grouse are the same as last year.

Seven-Tenths Of A Second

This is a split-second reconstruction of what happens to driver and a car when, travelling at only 55 miles an hour, the car crashes into a tree.

1-10th OF A SECOND: The front bumper and chrome "frosting" of the grillwork collapse - slivers of steel penetrate the tree to a depth of one and one half inches or more.

2-10th's OF A SECOND: The hood crumples as it rises, smashing into the windshield-spinning rear wheels leave the ground - the grillwork disintegrates - the fenders come into contact with the tree, forcing the rear parts to spray out over the front doors. In the same second tenth of a second, the heavy structural members of the car begin to act as a brake on the terrific forward momentum of the 2½ ton body; but the driver's body continues to move forward at the vehicle's original speed of 55 mph (this means a force of 20 times gravity; his body weighs 3200 pounds.) His legs, ram-rod straight, snap at the knee joints.

3-10th's OF A SECOND: The driver's body is now off the seat, torso upright, broken knees pressing against the dashboard - the plastic and steel frame of the steering wheel begins to bend under his terrible death grip - his head is now near the sun visor, his chest above the steering column.

4-10th's OF A SECOND: The car's front 24 inches have been completely demolished, but the rear end is still travelling at an estimated speed of 35 mph - the driver's body is still moving at 55 - the half-ton motor block crunches into the tree - the rear of the car, like a bucking horse, rises high enough to scrape bark off the lower branches.

5-10th's OF A SECOND: The driver's fear-frozen hands bend the steering column into an almost vertical position - the force of gravity impales him on the steering wheel shaft - jagged steel punctures his lung and intercostal arteries - blood spurts into his lungs.

6-10th's OF A SECOND: So great is the force of the impact that the driver's feet are ripped from his tightly laced shoes - the brake pedal shears off at the floor boards - the driver's head smashes into the windshield - the rear of the car begins its downward fall, spinning wheels digging into the ground.

7-10th's OF A SECOND: The entire writhing body of the car is forced out of shape - hinges tear - doors spring open - in one last convulsion the seat rams forward, pinning the driver against the cruel steel of the steering shaft; destruction of driver and vehicle is complete and final.

Time elapsed - SEVEN TENTHS OF A SECOND.

Volunteer RCMP Commended

Members of Nova Scotia's newly-formed volunteer RCMP auxiliary were commended by Environment Minister John Hawkins for the manner in which they have carried out their training.

The 68-member force was inspected by Mr. Hawkins, minister in charge of Emergency Measures Organization (N.S.), during its first concentration here during the weekend.

In a dinner address to the all-volunteer force, Mr. Hawkins said "it is of particular interest to note the participation (of auxiliary members) during the visit of Queen Elizabeth in July, and general assistance to RCMP detachments while on patrol duty during training periods."

Mr. Hawkins emphasized that the auxiliary members are a volunteer force "acting without pay who spend many hours of training with regular members. This is most commendable and demonstrates the dedication of members."

The basic concept for auxiliary police arises from the Government of Nova Scotia direction for civil emergency planning under the Emergency Measures Act and Regulations. Purpose of the auxiliary force is to provide law and order during a national emergency or peacetime disaster which is of such magnitude as to require reinforcement of the regular police forces.

It is anticipated by the end of 1976 the strength of the auxiliary force will be 100.

By agreement with the Attorney General of Nova Scotia, the recruiting, training, and operation of the auxiliary is carried out by the Commanding Officer "H" Division, RCMP.

Training commenced in April, 1975 at Sydney, with an enrolment of 10 members. This was followed by the establishment of a training centre in Halifax with an enrolment of 15 members, and a centre at Truro with 12 members. During 1976 an additional three new training centres were established at Amherst, Antigonish-New Glasgow and Yarmouth.

Within the next year every RCMP detachment in the province, with the exception of Inverness, Baddeck and Ingonish, will have auxiliary representation. RCMP detachments are located in 26 centres.

Nova Scotia is the fifth province in Canada to have an auxiliary RCMP.

During his inspection of auxiliary members Mr. Hawkins was accompanied by Chief Superintendent D.J. Wright, Commanding Officer of "H" Division RCMP, and other officials of EMO and RCMP.

A tour of the Regional Government Emergency Headquarters at Camp Debert preceded the inspection and was conducted by F.H. Blackwell, regional director, Emergency Planning Canada, and Allan J. Gray, acting director, EMO (N.S.)

IT'S ALL IN THE HEAD

Modern transportation, storage and handling techniques make it possible to have cabbage available all year around. Green cabbage is the most common to us, however frequently red or purple varieties are also available on the market.

Cabbage is grown in most climates and is quite adaptable to most areas. The plants require a fair amount of moisture. The heads have a tendency to split if they experience a dry spell followed by a heavy rain.

According to statistics we are not eating as much cabbage as we did at one time. Experts feel that because of improved storage of other vegetables, these vegetables are available all year around also, so cabbage is not being purchased. This is our loss. Cabbage is such an economical versatile and nutritious food choice that we should take advantage of its availability. Cabbage is a good source of vitamin C and other vitamins and minerals.

Cabbage makes an excellent salad combination with apples and raisins, or a cole slaw with some green pepper and carrots. The red variety makes a beautiful color contrast to a salad combination that will delight anybody's appetite.

Sauerkraut is a popular Lunenburg County brine cured form of cabbage.

When buying cabbage there are a few points to remember. Early varieties of cabbage will be somewhat softer than winter varieties. Look for firm heads that are heavy in relation to size.

Outer leaves should be a good green or red color (depending on the variety of course). It should be reasonably fresh, free from serious blemishes. The outer leaves called wrapper leaves fit loosely around the head and are usually discarded.

Avoid new cabbage with wilted or decayed outer leaves or leaves turning yellow. Worm eaten outer leaves is an indication that perhaps the worm penetration is into the head also. Storage cabbage with outer leaves badly discolored, dried or decayed is an indication of being stored too long.

There are two grades of cabbage sold in Canada. Canada no. 1 and Canada No. 2.

To store cabbage at home, cut a thin slice from the stalk, then place in a covered container, and use within one week. To cut down on the cabbage odor when cooking, drop a whole walnut into the water.

A different way to cook vegetables that some of you may not have tried is "panning". To pan cabbage, melt ¼ cup of butter in a large, heavy frypan, add shredded cabbage, 2 tablespoons of water and sprinkle with some salt. Cover the frypan, heat quickly to form a steam, then reduce heat and cook gently until vegetables are crisp-tender. Shake or stir frequently to avoid sticking. Try cabbage with other vegetables this way - you will be surprised with the flavor, color and crispness of the vegetables. Serve the vegetables in their own buttery sauce.

Try serving cabbage with your favorite sauce such as cheese, egg, green onion or sour cream.

For more information on different ideas for fresh vegetables write for the publication "Fresh Canadian Vegetables."

OTTAWA and SMALL BUSINESS

By KENNETH McDONALD

The present combination of big institutions, big cities and big welfare rests on a myth - that bigness provides economies of scale. On the contrary, except in special cases, bigness results from mergers and acquisitions - organizing small and medium-sized enterprises under common ownership.

A recent U.S. Senate study shows that, though large multi-plant U.S. corporations provide 73 per cent of all manufacturing employment, they constitute only 3 per cent of all corporations. The average work force in each of the plants is 203 people. Take out the obvious big auto, defence and electrical equipment plants, and the average drops to 100.

You know when someone tells you to take a walk? Maybe they've got the right idea.

"After insulating, I knocked $200 off the fuel bill. It's completely impractical not to insulate."

Adding insulation is one of the best investments you can make.

Keeping the heat in helps to conserve Canada's dwindling energy reserves. And cuts your fuel bills.

Add insulation, caulking, weather-stripping and storms. Have your furnace tuned for peak efficiency. Keep a light hand on the thermostat.

You'll save money for yourself, and help Canada to conserve energy and fight inflation. No wonder insulation is one of the best investments you can make. Remember, too, that many insulation products are now exempt from Federal sales tax.

What We Eat

OTTAWA -- Canadian families enjoy eating out as much as their American counterparts.

They spend an average of just over one-fifth of their weekly food budget to do just that, according to the Handbook of Food Expenditures, Prices and Consumption recently published by Agriculture Canada's Economics Branch.

In 1975, about 78.5 per cent of total food expenditures in Canada was for food consumed at home. We spent the remaining 21.5 per cent for meals away from home.

Our American counterparts spent just slightly less (76.5 per cent) for food eaten at home and somewhat more for food away from home (23.5 per cent).

Canadians spent less of their disposable incomes for food in 1975 than they did 15 years ago. Total food expenditures accounted for 21.6 per cent of disposable income in 1961, but only 18.2 per cent in 1975. By comparison, Americans spent 20 per cent and 17.1 per cent of their disposable incomes for food in 1961 and 1975 respectively.

Canadian consumers really enjoy fresh fruit. In 1975, we ate nearly 43 per cent more fresh fruit than the Americans; 113.4 pounds compared with 78.9 pounds in the U.S.

We have also outstripped Americans in coffee drinking, with the consumption average at 9.4 pounds each year, compared with 9.2 pounds in the U.S.

Our fondness for beef was evident in 1975. We consumed slightly more than 102 pounds per person compared with about 70 pounds in 1960.

Canadians consumed about the same amount of lamb and mutton -- 2.9 pounds per person -- as we did 15 years ago. Pork consumption was lower. The per capita consumption rate in 1973 was 58 pounds, while it was 48 pounds in 1975.

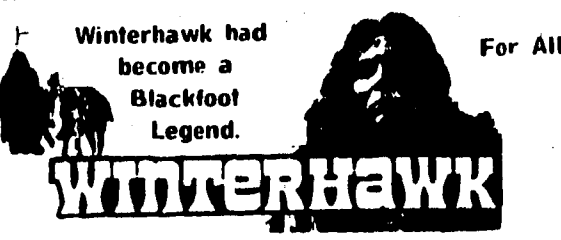

Canadians ate about the same amount of poultry (29 pounds) and cheese (about 18 pounds) in 1975 as they did a year earlier. Fish consumption has declined slightly to about 12 pounds per person. And we ate fewer eggs -- just under 19 dozen per person -- about a dozen less than in 1974.

We still like our catsup and, per capita, consume more than 12.5 pounds (fresh equivalent) of the product, not to mention over 52 pounds of canned tomatoes,

On Guard Against Snails

OTTAWA, September 10, 1976 -- To some people, snails are an epicurean delight. To Al Schmidt, they're a cause for concern.

Mr. Schmidt, an entomologist with Agriculture Canada's Plant Protection Division, is involved in keeping harmful foreign snails out of Canada.

Native Canadian land snails are usually too small to eat, so snail lovers here must import them, usually from Europe and North Africa. However, the large foreign snails have bigger appetites than their tiny Canadian counterparts. They can become serious pests for gardeners and small-fruit farmers if they become established here.

"Fortunately, most of the snails eaten in Canada come out of cans or have been frozen," Mr. Schmidt says. "But some live snails are imported -- legally and otherwise -- and that's where Agriculture Canada gets involved."

The only live snails for which permits currently are being issued come from Tunisia and Algeria. This species is adapted to a hot climate and would not survive long in Canada even if the snails managed to get loose into a backyard or field. These snails are airshipped in covered bushels or baskets and are inspected before release to buyers.

"The big problem, though, isn't with those who legally import snails in bulk," Mr. Schmidt explains. "It's people who transport a few snails in their airline baggage that present the greatest risk to Canadian agriculture."

"In the last three months, we have confiscated more than 330 pounds of live snails at the Montreal airports alone."

"And we have a snail infestation in one district of Montreal at the moment. It likely started with one resident smuggling a few snails into Canada and putting them into the backyard, with plans to raise and eat them. Now, the snails have multiplied and spread through the neighbourhood. They are causing considerable damage to gardens there."

The snails in Montreal are Helix pomatia, a European species which can survive

Curfew Works On Teens

From Toronto Star
By Pat Brennan Star Staff Writer

PENETANGUISHENE -- There is a curfew in this town, just as there is snow in the winter and rain in the spring. And all are considered part of everyday life.

Unlike the curfew in Detroit, used to force teenage rapists, murderers, prostitutes and muggers off the streets, the one here was imposed because young teenagers should be at home after 11 p.m. Police Chief John Geere said yesterday.

Earlier reports said it was brought in after complaints from residents about gangs of youngsters roaming the streets at night shouting and banging garbage cans.

"There has been no trouble here. There hasn't been a charge of drinking under age for months," said Geere, who leads an eightman force in this town of 5,200, about 90 miles north of Toronto.

"We started the 11 p.m. curfew three weeks ago for those 15 and under because we were getting some complaints about kids making noise late at night."

"There isn't much enforcement of it. I think we have had seven or eight warnings since it began and there have been no charges."

The curfew applied under the Child Welfare Act, does not bother most of the young teens because they know what Geere knows: It is aimed at only a handful of youths.

"There are probably less than a dozen teenagers who will be affected by the curfew. There are three or four families here in town who don't control their children properly. The kids don't go home at night because there is nobody at home," Geere said.

If charges are laid they will be against the parents, not the teenagers.

A group of youths watching girls on the main street last night said the curfew should include everyone up to the age of 21.

"If there is too much noise in town late at night you can bet it starts when the hotels close down," said one youngster. "Whenever I saw somebody being rowdy at night they were always older than 18 and usually had just come out of the hotel."

Geere said the youth is probably right.

"When we get reports of rowdiness late at night and go out to find 14-year olds on the street at 3 a.m., they might not be responsible for the noise."

"But they still shouldn't be on the street at that hour, and with the curfew we have the authority to take them home."

Reflecting To 1946

The Petite Passage ferry was purchased September 17, 1946, from the Blackford family by the Provincial Government. It was run at the time by "By" Blackford, who had been ferryman for 60 years and the service had been in the Blackford family for nearly 150 years. It was established in 1803 by Martin Blackford, a great grandfather of "By". Martin Blackford was a Scotsman who fought for Prince Charlie and was taken prisoner. He escaped and made his way to New Jersey, USA, where he married and later migrated to Canada. At first the Blackfords settled in Digby. Later they moved to Sandy Cove and still later to the East side of the Passage. In 1801 a Grant of Confirmation from George III, King of England, granted to Loyalists living in Digby County "lands and waterways of which they were in possession". Martin started the ferry in 1803 at a fare of one shilling sterling (25 cents).

In September 1946, the town workmen asked for five cents an hour increase in wages. They were granted the increase bringing them up to fifty cents per hour.

See where Pi Lines was objecting to paying ten cents per cup for tea, coffee and milk, calling it exorbitant. High time to get back to prewar when these beverages were served as part of a regular meal.

Haircut and shave prices jumped by five cents up to 50 cents for men; 35 cents for children and 25 cents for shave. Reason was because barber tools jumped 100 per cent and supplies 40 percent. Before depression haircuts were 40 cents but hard times had brought them down to 35 cents.

Wilbur Amoro of Saint John, N.B., took over duties of police constable in town. The town council made the decision to have help for Police Chief Fred Thibault in policing the town.

Town Council endorsed a resolution concerning the continuance of the Health and Occupational Centre at Cornwallis.

OPPOSITE THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA -- DIGBY

Carry Out Study On Digby County Power Board

A 22,000 study of the Digby County Power Board - including the feasibility of continuing local autonomy over electric utilities, and the price which should be obtained if the DCPB is sold to the Nova Scotia Power Board - has been sanctioned by members of the board.

The study expected to begin this coming week, will be carried out by Canadian - British Consultants Co., which has recently contacted by the board for a price estimate.

In announcing the study, power board chairman Ervin Marshall said the move resulted from pressure from the Municipality of Clare and suggestion to this effect from the Public Utilities Board in June.

The Digby County Power Board serves the municipalities of Digby district and Clare, the town of Digby, and the village of Weymouth. Each municipal unit is responsible for any debts incurred by its respective utility.

Clare, under Warden Omer Blinn, has been most adamant in pushing for sale of the power board. The municipality has been borrowing funds to cover debts incurred by its utility, rather than to use revenue from taxpayers, some of whom are serviced by the Nova Scotia Power Corporation.

Digby district, on the other hand, has used public funds for its utility's debts although some of its residents are also serviced by the NSPC.

The Clare position has received support from individual Digby district councillors although the official position in Digby district is still in favour of retaining control of the electric service locally.

The study is expected to take eight to 10 weeks to complete. The results are expected to be made public by Christmas.

Mr. Marshall is personally in favour of retaining control of the power board locally especially if the study shows it is viable. He looks on it as "something all the people in the country own" which should be held onto if at all possible.

There would be no local control over the utilities if the power board is sold to the power board, he pointed out. And he was not impressed with the success of government business ventures.

In order to sell the power board and the utilities under its control, agreement must be obtained from all the municipal units involved. And finally, province house must approve of the transaction.

Offers For Mayor Nomination

Stuart MacNaughton

Stuart A. MacNaughton, has assured the Digby Board of Trade civic committee that he will let his name be placed in nomination for the position of mayor for the Town of Digby in the forthcoming election.

Mr. MacNaughton was born in Stellarton, Pictou Co. in 1929 and completed his high school at Stellarton. He holds a Bachelor of Science (Chemistry) from Dalhousie University, a Diploma in Engineering from Dalhousie and a Bachelor of Engineering (Electrical).

from the Nova Scotia Technical College.

Mr. MacNaughton has held a number of important posts under his university training, having been employed as Lab Technician at the Kentville Research Station for six years; Project Engineer at Alcan, Arvida, Quebec Works for two years; Electrical Superintendent at Ocean Steel, Saint John, N.B. for two years and almost twelve years as Superintendent of the Digby County Power Board.

Mr. MacNaughton takes an active part in organization related to his profession, being a former zone representative and council member of the Association of Professional Engineers of Nova Scotia; member of the Illuminating Engineering Society; member of the Institute of Canada and a member of the Canadian Electrical Association.

Since in Digby Mr. MacNaughton had been a former Town Councillor and Deputy Mayor; had been secretary, treasurer and president of the Digby Kiwanis Club; member of the Digby Board of Trade; treasurer of the Digby Curling Club; member of the Royal William Yacht Club and Royal Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club; a member of the Greenwood Underwater Club and treasurer of the Digby Branch Victorian Order of Nurses.

He and his wife Mae, a native of Little Brook, Digby County, have one son, Douglas in Grade nine at the Digby Regional High School.

Another name has been added to those who are willing to offer as candidates for councillors in the Town of Digby election on October 19. Foster K. Journeay, a local barber has added his name along with those of Henry Hubbard and Councillor Gordon Ellis, who has decided to reoffer.

Mr. Journeay, a native of Weymouth, has been a resident of Digby for three years. Mr. Journeay served with the Canadian Armed Forces, Army Service Corps for five and a half years.

He has taken a keen interest in town affairs and is a member of the Digby Board of Trade. In 1960 he ran in Digby County on a C.C.F. ticket provincially.

Mrs. Journeay is a teacher at St. Patrick's School. They have two daughters, Jacqueline attending Mount Allison University and Coleen a Grade 12 student at the Digby Regional High School. Jacqueline is Digby's Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival princess.

Supply School Lockers

One of the chief items of business transacted at the Digby Regional High School Board on Monday evening was that of granting the request of Donald Ross, principal, to begin supplying the high school students with full length lockers to contain their outer clothing, books, etc. The clothing is frequently worn in classroom because there are no lockers in which to deposit them. Plans are made to purchase two hundred of these each year for five years.

Another item of business attended to was the matter of having bus transportation available for Co-curricula activity. The Digby Regional High School will take the matter up with the Digby Municipal School Board which owns the school buses used for the Digby school system. Mr. Ross felt that to get the full benefit from the Co-curricula program the students need full access to transportation.

The matter of a provincial grant available for repairs to the ball field will also be looked into.

On report of C.C. MacInnes it was learned that ninety per cent of the planned summer maintenance had been completed such as graveling roof, paving, painting, supplying linoleum and drapes.

Bills to the total amount of of benefits derived from the program by students she had tutored.

The speaker felt it was a duty to teach others, each one teach one, when people have the ability to do so. She used the quotation "If you give a man a fish you feed him, if you teach a man to fish you feed him and his family."

The workshop planned for October 22 and 23 will begin at 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Friday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday with a box lunch at noon. The attendees at the workshop will learn methods of teaching the Laubach Each One Teach One. The program is free, confidential, in own speed away from classroom situation and tutor and student can meet at any time. Already volunteers have signified their interest in being a tutor. Some extra training as a tutor for a person who cannot speak English is generally necessary.

Mrs. Blinn was thanked by Rev. George Bell of the Digby Mental Health Association, co-sponsor of the workshop in Digby with Continuing Education. Volunteer tutors can contact Mr. Bell for further information.

Donald Ross, principal of Digby Regional High School has started on progressive programs for the school, the first on the list being the supplying of lockers for students. The Digby Regional High School Board has passed a motion in favor of his request in purchasing 200 a year for the next five years.

$7,915.46 for August were passed for payment.

Date of the D.R.H.S. Board meeting has been changed to the second Monday of the month at 7:30 p.m. except on Oct. 11 this year which is a holiday.

Mrs. Patricia Kynock, vice-chairman, presided over the Board of School Commissioners meeting held prior to the D.R.H.S. Board. It was reported that enrollment in the elementary grades was 576 this year as against 590 in 1975, a decrease of 2.4 per cent. It had been expected according to birth rate, that the enrollment would decrease considerably more than 2.4 per cent so a problem is now created in that because of government cut backs there are two fewer teachers than previously. It was decided that the superintendent, C.C. MacInnes contact Inspector C.E. Edwards and the Education Assistance Commission requesting that one of the two cutbacks be reinstated.

Mr. Ross, principal of D.R.H.S. has verbally revealed a number of progressive plans for the school and its 55 separate activities such as having one entire afternoon in two weeks as Activity Afternoon when sports, photo clubs and many other activities will be in progress. Another innovation being carried on is what is known as the "Teacher Support Room". This is an attempt to find a solution to the double problem of needing teacher assistance and practical commercial training. It is operated by senior students of the Business Education Department and is a type of self-contained business office which co-ordinates and assists in many school functions.

Municipal Election Interest Accelerates

Municipal Election interest in the Municipality of the District of Digby has accelerated within the past week with one definite reoffer, a new entry announced for the candidacy and several speculations not yet checked out.

Councillor Arthur Rice, Weymouth who completes two terms in office, has announced that he is willing to reoffer for a third term. During the term coming to a close Mr. Rice was Deputy Warden for the Municipality and had served on most of the Council committees. Of these he felt the Welfare, Finance committee and School Board were indeed challenges, though rewarding. He particularly mentioned negotiating with CUPE as a member of the School Board.

If he is chosen to serve the third term, Mr. Rice wants to further pursue the "unfair assessment" on everyone's property, pursue a more democratic system for the Assessment Appeal Board with emphasis on the underprivileged and aged. Mr. Rice is an ex-firechief, village commissioner a post master of Tuscan Lodge and has been on Boards of Imperial Oil during his dealership of 25 years. Presently he is chairman of the Imperial Oil Advisory Board for Atlantic Province which position calls him away to chair a meeting in St. John's Newfoundland on election day. This did not worry Mr. Rice. He felt the citizens would vote for him if they wanted to or not.

Deputy Warden Rice welcomes the fact that so much interest has been created in the municipal election. He has he said, during the years striven to create interest.

The owner and operator of Riverside Motors, Mr. Rice is married. A married daughter, a daughter Cheryl in Grade XII and Stephen, Grade X and there are three grandchildren.

At time of writing candidates indicating intentions to run in Weymouth are Mr. Rice, Grant Sabine and Bernard Manzer for two seats. Nominations close October 5.

In Bear River, Councillor Byard Marshall has confirmed his reoffer as a candidate in the October 19 election. Mr. Marshall served for two terms or six years and is willing to try three more. During the six years Mr. Marshall served on a number of committees with Welfare being his most active committee. There have been certain projects started that he would like to see completed before he leaves municipal service.

A brick layer by trade, Mr. Marshall is retired and feels he has time to devote to municipal work. Mr. Marshall is active on the Bear River Board of Trade and the Digby Fire Commissioners. There is a son, Frank, principal of the Oakdence School, Bear River, and a daughter, Judith, is married and lives in Ontario.

Two candidates will vie for the Bear River seat. Rubin Mervin has also signified his intention of running. Added to the list of candidates for the Culloden seat is the name of Mrs. Olive Hazelton. Although Mrs. Hazelton had previously said she would not be running, she changed her mind and has decided to run in the race with Eric VanTassel, reoffering; Mrs. Joyce Hazel and Arthur Johnson.

Mrs. Hazelton is a native of England who has lived here for the past twenty-six years. Presently Mrs. Hazelton is working at the Admiral Digby Library but has also worked as a receptionist in a doctor's office and has done nursing. Interested in children, Mrs. Hazelton has been active in Brownies, minor Hockey and the Digby Recreation Commission.

Of a strong belief that women can make a contribution to Council and to their community Mrs. Hazelton is anxious that more women become interested in municipal affairs. She enjoys working with people and for people, she said, and now is the time to represent them.

Captain and Mrs. Reginald (Olive) Hazelton moved from Digby Town to the Lighthouse Road where they had built a new home about a year ago. Mr. Hazelton is a Town Councillor and chairman of the Digby Regional High School Board and the Board of School Commissioners. They have three children Wendy, with the R.C.M.P., Yarmouth; Vance and Derek at school. Competition for the Westport seat in the October 19 election in the Municipality of the District of Digby came to light over the weekend. Mrs. Raymond (Ricki) Robicheau will contest the seat presently held by Warden Wilfred Swift. The warden has already made known his intention to reoffer as candidate.

Mrs. Robicheau was born in Mymegen, Holland, was married in 1946 and came to Canada, just thirty years ago, in September 1946. Mr. and Mrs. Robicheau have a family of nine ranging from 14 years to 28 years, five of whom are at university or employed in satisfactory occupations. Four are at school or working in Westport where their father owns a general store and where Mrs. Robicheau has helped through the years.

Mrs. Robicheau, besides bringing up a large family, has been active in her adopted community, helping to reorganize the Westport Home and School and serving as its president. She has been involved in Continuing Education and has been interested in Mental Health and Multiculturalism. One ambition as a councillor, Mrs. Robicheau said, is to close the communication gap which seems to exist between the village and the Council.

Later it has been found that Weymouth will have another hat thrown in the election ring. Mrs. Peter (Judy) Melanson, a Certified Nursing Assistant at the Digby General Hospital has made known her intentions as a candidate for October 19.

Born in Weymouth, Mrs. Melanson completed her schooling in Weymouth and took her nursing course at the Annapolis Regional Vocational School. Urged by her husband and neighbours, Mrs. Melanson felt it was right to give it a try and do the best she can.

Plan "Each One Teach One" Workshop

Mrs. Thelma Blinn, Atlantic Regional Chairperson for the World Literacy of Canada organization was guest speaker on Wednesday evening when the local organization met at the New Horizons. In the picture above are left to right (front) John Comeau, regional continuing education officer, Church Point; Mrs. Blinn; (rear) Vernon Wessell, president of the Digby Mental Health Association, which sponsors the local organization and Rev. George Bell, co-ordinator for Multiculturalism in Western Nova.

Mrs. Thelma Blinn, Halifax, Regional Chairperson for World Literacy Canada, who addressed a local group of Life Long Learning held in Digby on Wednesday evening will return again on October 22-23 to attend a workshop of the Each One Teach One program. The Each One Teach One program was first designed by Frank Laubach, a missionary, who found that volunteer teachers, when trained and supplied with carefully structured materials, could provide sensitive and successful learning environments built upon the personal, student-tutor relationship. The Literacy Education following this method is sponsored in Nova Scotia by the Continuing Education Program of the Nova Scotia Department of Education. Mrs. Blinn was introduced on Wednesday evening by John Comeau, Regional Representative Continuing Education.

At one time a person was illiterate if he or she could not read or write; today a person is functionally illiterate if they have a Grade VIII level education or less, the speaker said. In Canada there are 13,168,020 persons 15 years or over and 4,899,350 with less than a Grade IX education or 37.2 per cent. In Nova Scotia there are 470,080 total of which 166,985 or 35.5 per cent are considered functionally illiterate with less than Grade IX education. Digby County has about 6000 with less than Grade VIII education. It is considered that more than eight years of educational attainment is necessary for functional literacy in this technological society. Incredible as it may seem, many adults in local communities cannot read or write so that often they cannot read want ads for jobs, work contracts or labor laws, Mrs. Blinn said. The functionally illiterate cannot read housing or other legal agreements; they cannot read labels on food items, let alone the cooking directions; they cannot read the directions—or the warnings—on medicine bottles and other danger-laden containers; they cannot read road signs or maps or street addresses; they cannot 'read-up' on a particular farming or housing or health problem; they cannot participate effectively in political and judicial processes for they cannot read voting ballots or laws or printed information on the machinery of government and they cannot obtain information from books, magazines, and newspapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Melanson have four children; Theresa, 18 years; Stuart, 13; Patti, 11 and Joey 9.

Literacy, she remarked, is not just a process of learning skills of reading, writing and arithmetic, but is a contribution to the liberation of man and to his full development. It should open the way to a mastery of techniques and human relations. While the primary operation field for Literacy work is in the Third World, she said, it has a universal dimension. On the Canadian scene, thirty-seven per cent of the out-of-school adult population (over 15 years) have no more than elementary schooling. Seven percent have no more than grade 4 schooling.

Mrs. Blinn said that the Literacy program not only teaches the person to read but makes the person feel more a part of the community, to be able to communicate, to be adequate. She gave personal examples

Editorials

NOTHING TO SEE!

Mr. and Mrs. "Mac" McConnell of The Tilbury Times, Tilbury, Ontario, were told while in Yarmouth "It is only 60 miles to Digby. It will take you an hour to get there as there is nothing to see in between". "Nothing to see! It took us all day to get to Digby" wrote Val in the Times when they arrived home in Tilbury. That just goes to show you how little us Nova Scotians know about our own country.

Any way Val has fixed up that one misnomer for us and has done a remarkable job besides on advertising our province, particularly Digby area, for us. A full page spread of copy and pictures, no less!

Val described the churches, Ste Anne's College, the bays and inlets, the shipbuilding, the Acadia oxen, etc., until they eventually got to Digby and found a cottage at Mountain Gap, Smith's Cove, right on the bank of "Digby Gut". "Imagine," writes Val "no telephone, no television, just relaxation. We relaxed so much we stayed there the second night."

The next move the McConnell's made was to Bear River, our Switzerland of Nova Scotia, and a brief description of it went into The Tilbury Times columns. Other places mentioned were visits to CFB Cornwallis, Fort Anne at Annapolis Royal, the Habitation and St. Edwards-on-the-Hill. These they visited while enroute to see publisher Roy Mailman at Bridgetown, near where "they ate as never before" at a farm house called Continental Kitchen.

Back to Digby, Val described that little Spanish galleon in our harbour. It was as pretty as a picture, she commented. The McConnells visited Digby Neck, saw where the February 2, 1976 storm did damage and enjoyed the spectacular scenery and viewing fishing weirs around Sandy Cove.

Reluctantly the McConnells left Nova Scotia after their Digby Neck visit, taking the Princess of Acadia to Saint John, N.B. that evening. They had come through from Halifax where they attended a Canadian Community

Reluctantly the McConnells left Nova Scotia after their Digby Neck visit taking the Princess of Acadia to Saint John, N.B. that evening. They had come through from Halifax where they attended a Canadian Community Newspaper Association meeting.

Despite the fact of a few confusions in identifications such as Sable Island and Cape Sable Island, Val's description of Digby area and other areas of Nova Scotia will certainly bring a certain percentage of The Tilbury Times readers here to spend vacations. As for Mac and Val, we have it in black and white, page 3, in The Tilbury Times that it was "a wonderful holiday trip." They'll be back again. Never let anybody fool you. Nothing to See!

WHY THE TAX

One of our tax payers in the Digby Municipality has received his bill with the new municipal fire tax rate included. He is keenly interested in fire prevention and fire departments and knows why the tax is levied. His concern is that little publicity has been given to the reason for the tax and there may be those who might not understand the tax. He wants to make it clear that this tax has nothing to do with local fund raising for new equipment and facilities but covers only operating expenses. It is intended to make up the difference between the Provincial allowance towards operation and one hundred per cent of the operation expenses. In other words the tax makes up the difference between what is the actual operating cost and what the province pays.

Have we made ourselves clear on behalf our resident municipal taxpayers. Should we not we are sure Bill MacMillan, municipal clerk, can make it clear like crystal.

AMBULANCE SERVICE NECESSARY

Being without ambulance service is unthinkable. Car accidents, fires, heart attacks and many types of incidents have shown us the necessity of such a service to our communities. The availability of such a vehicle has saved the lives of many persons and proved its worth. In Digby County we have two such services. We know the ambulance vehicle and operator on the Island is a comfort to those people and the service on the main land in the skilful hands of John Gray and his staff is greatly appreciated.

It is because of the importance of having the ambulance service available that it is unfortunate an ambulance operator has to be continually plagued by insufficient revenue. Most operators get by economically only through having some other income besides ambulance fees.

There is no secret to the fact that the Digby County Ambulance supported by patient fees and direct subsidy from the government is finding the sledding hard going. Mr. Gray was endeavouring to hand over his problems to a new buyer. Despite his capability and fine service a man must be able to make a livelihood.

The first thought is to look to municipality and or to the provincial government for more subsidy but subsidizing one ambulance more than another isn't fair game either. Already we believe that the provincial government budgets for 1.6 million dollars.

The suggestion has been advanced for the municipality to take over the ambulance service and have Mr. Gray and his staff manage the service. We do not know what reaction the municipal council or the operator has to such a suggestion. We do know, that to be deprived of ambulance service is a serious matter. Fortunately nobody has been neglected so far by lack of service and we have heard that someone has offered plane service if necessary. Nevertheless, the subject is one for our people to think about and a problem for our new councillors to solve.

Hodge Podge

The Granville area lost its "Painted Room" to Ottawa but, at least, they are going to keep that "Pony Express" in Victoria Beach. Remember that first year of the Joseph Howe Festival how the riders began their journey from Digby, and, from The Digby Courier office at that. Being true to the facts of history, we wouldn't think of wrangling for the honor.

The swallows, it is said, returned in due season but the usual barn shelter had disappeared. The shed with the workbench, however, made a good substitute. All went well until the workmen began to scratch. Investigation pointed to the swallows as culprits. They had spread the tiny little insects, lice. Getting ready to be married can be frustrating enough but getting rid of bird lice in a limited time can make it moreso. Maybe, the Bird Lady would have had a cure.

In serious concentration the ten year old, or less, sat viewing the antics of the feathered flock. Suddenly up he pipes "How long is it since you've been interested in these?" Oh, maybe since I was 16 was the gist of the reply. "That's a h... of a long time" came the quick retort.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

You may be interested in a bit of humor resulting from an incident that occurred with me while my family and I visited North Range in late August and early September of this year.

On Thursday the 25th August I telephoned the Federal Department of Fisheries in Digby and enquired where one would find clams that were fit for consumption. They directed me to go to the head of St. Mary's Bay. Low tide was scheduled for late afternoon and early evening. I dressed for the trip to the beach equipped with pitch fork and bucket but lacking high rubber boots.

My wife and sister went along in the car half expecting to go clam digging themselves. However, when we arrived at the Head of the Bay and parked on the newly built dyke road we noticed that the beach was muddy and not very suitable for the women to walk on.

I proceeded to join the several other diggers already on the beach. I rolled up my pant legs and entered the sea of mud that went half way to my knees every step I took in my bare feet.

I noticed that each of the diggers had staked out his own patch and was earnestly digging away filling his bucket. As I passed I queried how it was going and were they having success? Everyone replied that they were having a good night.

I eventually set my pail down where I felt the picking would be good and proceeded to turn over the globs of heavy dark mud. I struggled away for maybe an hour and all I had to show for it was a half-dozen small clams.

I straightened up and looked around me. Since I was later arriving, many of the diggers that preceded me had already gone back to shore with buckets filled. I gingerly picked up my gear and plodded through the mud over to the workings of a departed digger. I began digging where he had left off and fully expected high returns for my efforts. The night grew darker, my back began to pain and my arms were fatigued from the lifting and tugging of that heavy silt. Even my eyes began to fail me for I couldn't distinguish what was rock and what was clam shell. Time was fleeting by, I was panicking, for how could I get up enough face to go back to the car and admit to my family that I had been away from clam digging too long.

As a last ditch effort I got down and studied carefully the diggings of one of the last departed diggers to see how deeply he had thrust his fork into the mud and I repeated exactly what he did. The tide began to come in, it was nearly dusk and I made a weary trek back to shore.

As I arrived back to the car with mud from head to toe, my wife smiling and cynical, asked me how well I did. I struggled to get the courage to admit my failure and I replied in a low tone "Oh I got about a dozen, I guess." She began to laugh and she said to me "do you know what those fellows were digging out there? Well, you will be surprised when you learn that they were digging worms."

Yours truly,
John E. Andrews

Dear Madam:

As you are all aware, On October 12, 1976, a vote will be taken at Tiverton and Freeport to establish if the people want liquor outlets in their communities. This decision has been forced upon the people by the determination of the Royal Canadian Legion so as to have bar privileges.

The Legion of today is not the one we once knew and respected as veterans, but is mostly managed and operated by outsiders, who grew up in areas where bars and beer halls were common on any street corner. Many of them preferred areas such as ours to settle to rid themselves of this sort of environment, only to find that they cannot reconcile themselves to our modest way of living, but instead of moving back to that environment they choose to bring it into our communities.

My major concern is not the Legion but to vote for liquor outlets in our community will open the door for beer halls on every corner providing you have political pull enough to obtain a licence.

You have been forced to decide whether this Island is prepared to make such a major step. Taking into consideration that our police protection is next to none and being partially isolated, an ideal rendezvous for a night on the town.

You will be confronted with such statements as to have open bars you eliminate the bootleggers. I wonder if they realize how ridiculous that may sound; by selling liquor you do not stop bootleggers, you only go in competition with them.

You may hear that by having bars you are inside drinking and not out driving cars, but these same people have to go out into our communities and drive later. Can you see any difference?

You are going to be told that the money from the sale of liquor is needed for recreational purposes for our youth. I can only say that if this can only be done through the sale of liquor, we are living in a pretty sick society.

I would advise you to talk with your neighbours in Digby and let them tell you the problems they are having. I think they would tell you that if they had another chance they would never allow liquor to be so readily available in their town.

I say again this is your decision, and give it very careful consideration. If you are in favour, say yes; if you are not, don't stay at home, get out and be counted.

Painted Room Gone To Ottawa

Nova Scotia's now famous historic and artistic landmark, the painted room at Granville Ferry, has been moved in its entirety from a private dwelling in the tiny hamlet to the National Gallery of Canada, Ottawa.

The 130-year-old unique folk-art treasure left Granville Ferry August 28.

"The arrival in Ottawa of the painted room completed phase one of the project." Stage two, involves its restoration.

Present projections put the completion date on restoration work at September or October of 1977.

IN MEMORIAM

GERMAINE - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mary Kathleen, who passed away September 29th, 1971. I seem to see in the soft dim light A face I loved the best; And I think of her when the sun's last rays Go down in the far off west. I miss you no less as the time passes on Than I did on the day of your going. For absence can never close the door of my heart, And the lamp of my love is still glowing. Your heart was the truest in all the wide world, Your love the best to recall, And no one on earth could take your place; You are still the dearest of all. Sadly missed and forever loved by HUSBAND BILL. 8:lip

SPORTS

Digby Junior High School Girls Basketball

On Saturday, September 25, the Digby Junior girls basketball team met the Yarmouth All Stars for two games in the Digby gym.

In the first game both teams started extremely slow, neither team being able to mount much of an attack. In fact, Yarmouth held the high scoring Digby team to just 4 points while scoring 8 themselves in the first half. Digby was only able to hit on 2 of 24 shots. Yarmouth also dominated the rebounds as Shelley Smith brought down 6 rebounds.

In the second half Digby got untraced and scored 23 points to Yarmouth's 7 points to take a 27-15 win from the visitors. Top scorer in the game was Allison Mooney of Yarmouth with 9 points. Digby was led by its captain Joanne Wilson with 6 points. Top rebounder in the game was Darlene Haight of Digby with 7.

The second game demonstrated the high scoring attack of the Digby team. Led by Kim Roy, who scored 18 points, Digby jumped to a 16-1 lead at the end of the 1st quarter and never looked back as they coasted to a 59-23 win. Top scorer for Digby was Kim Roy while Yarmouth was led by the 6 point output of Shelley Smith. Digby dominated the rebounds with Judy Kenley, Darlene Haight, and Susan Marshall each pulling in 5 rebounds.

Digby's next game will be at 1:00 p.m. this Saturday against Lockeport. Lockeport is considered the best Junior team in the province and the Maritimes. They have been undefeated the past 3 years and are considered 30 points better than Digby. It must be remembered that Digby was 30 points behind Lawrenceville at this time last year but caught them at the end of the year. It is for this reason the coach of the Digby team, Greg Jamieson has arranged this exhibition game against the Maritimes best. He feels the game will be a gauge for future improvement on the Digby team.

Digby Lions Host Regional Council

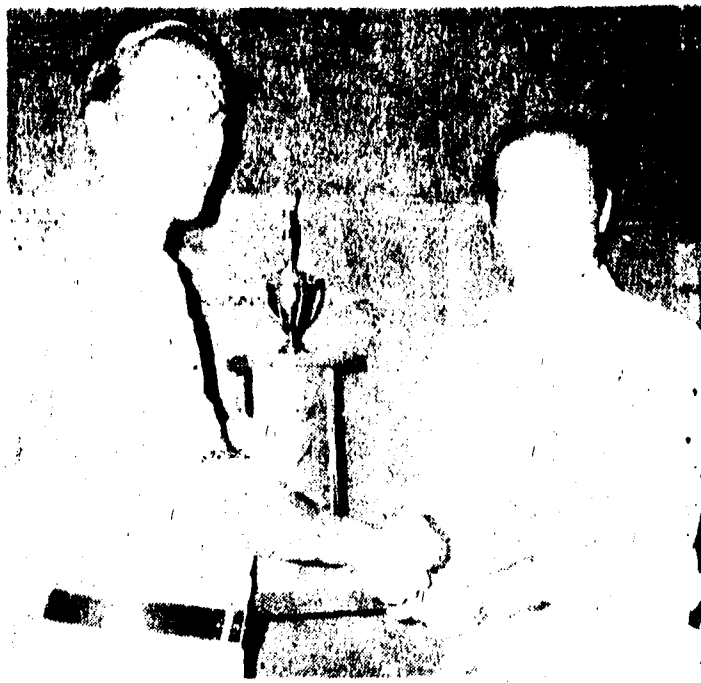

Forty Lions of Region 5 District 41N2 advisory Council met in Digby, September 22nd., under the chairmanship of Zone Chairman, Lion Roy T. Smith, Middleton, N.S. Representatives from Kingston, Middleton, Bridgetown, Annapolis Royal and Digby were present.

Special guests were Deputy District Governor, Al Mills, Kingston; Lion David Martin, Halifax and Victor

Bradshaw, Manager, Digby Pines Resort Hotel.

The council discussed projects to be carried out during the year by each club and it was felt that better understanding between the clubs and their communities could be achieved during the coming year.

At the regular supper meeting, chaired by Digby Lion Claude Westcott, the invocation was given by Lion Roy Mailman of the Bridgetown Club.

It is with regret that an error has appeared in recent Rossway news stating that

Teachers Needed In Church School

Sunday School teachers and leaders of Tiverton Christian Church met recently to discuss ways and means of increasing Sunday School attendance.

To create interest for the young members of the Sunday School, Visual Aids are provided. These are usually bright lithographed pictures pertaining to the current lesson. They are used in projecting the message of the lesson, making the meaning more clearly understood, by means of a flannelgraph board or "show and tell" method. Crafts are a popular "attention holder."

One of the greatest needs in the Sunday School is teachers and substitute teachers. It was noted that in the event a teacher was unable to attend a session, the class would be without a teacher. Chances of picking one out from attendants was very unlikely because of the small number of adults attending.

It was felt that some folks need the incentive of "something to do". In keeping with this idea, members felt that if former members were offered a teacher's or substitute teacher's office their interest would be aroused and they would return to Sunday School.

Telephone calls and visitations to former members, children and parents are expected to be put in action in the near future in an effort to draw more people into the church and build up the Sunday School.

Teachers at present are, Miss Kathy Cossaboom, teacher of the Beginners class (boys and girls) for which there is no substitute; Mrs. Lindon Titus with assistant, Mrs. Fraser Outhouse who teaches the Primary class; Mrs. John Outhouse who teaches the Junior boys and girls for which there is no substitute teacher; Mrs. Herbert Cossaboom teaches the Women's class and Mr. Alger Sollows teaches the mens' Bible Class. There are no assistants for these classes. Mrs. Robert Ruggles is organist and assists with singing, and Mr. John Outhouse is superintendent. There are no assistants for these offices.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Langley and three children are occupying the Earl Smeltzer house. It should have read Mr. and Mrs. Roy Landry and three children are occupying the Earl Smeltzer house. The Landry's are from Woodstock, N.B.

Mr. and Mrs. Loran Shaw of Digby, were afternoon and supper guests on Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Waters Comeau.

Mr. Roy Gidney of Wallingford, Conn., U.S.A., has returned home after spending the past seven weeks with his sisters Misses Vera and Elizabeth Gidney.

Superior Propane Ltd. today opens a new 28 x 70 ft. building on their three acre property at Marshalltown. Previously, Superior Propane while having their storage plant at Marshalltown for the past few years, had their offices located in the H.G. Webber property at Conway.

The floors are covered with a gold shade tiling with brilliant orange indoor - outdoor trackers. Heating is by propane furnace. A spacious lawn is being cultivated for the front from building to highway.

Digby Legion Plans "Operation Service"

Between October 2, 1976 and January 1, 1977, every veteran, veteran's survivor, widow, or dependent living in the area bounded by Joggin Bridge, Barton, Digby Town and Digby Neck will receive a visitor, man or woman. The visitor will be wearing an identification tag with the words: "OPERATION SERVICE-VOLUNTEER- 1976" appearing below the crest of the Royal Canadian Legion.

National surveys show there are many veteran-associated people who do not realize that they may qualify for benefits. The job of OPERATION SERVICE is to find them and advise them and help them. A number of various groups come under the heading of being entitled to some type of benefits, along with the obvious veterans and survivors and dependents.

There are, for example, "Allied veterans of any of the wars in which Canada was engaged, who meet the basic eligibility requirements for War Veterans Allowance and have lived in Canada for ten years ..." Also, there are others who "are not veterans of the Armed Forces but are nevertheless entitled to benefits - as are their widows ... Civilian War Allowance is available to persons who served in wartime under certain specific circumstances - in the Merchant Navy, Deep Sea Rescue Tugs, Corps of Canadian Fire Fighters Overseas, the Canadian Red Cross, or VADs of the British Red Cross in a case of W.W.I, former RAF Ferry Command Aircrews (Civilian) and Newfoundland Overseas Forestry Units of W.W.II..."

OPERATION Service directly for information or to volunteer some of your time to help, you may call Ernest Tufts at his home: 245-2259 or the phone at the Digby Legion : 245-4070.

With the help of everyone in the community, the Royal Canadian Legion's OPERATION SERVICE can make sure that no one who has had to make any kind of sacrifice for the good of the country will be neglected.

Doucetteville

Floyd Doucette and Lillian Smith of Waterville, Maine, returned home after spending a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Doucette and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thibault.

Garry Thibault, Heather MacCloud and Tanya of Halifax, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elisee Thibault. Visitors at the same residence were: Mrs. Sarah Eustace of Ipswich, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Reg White of Gilbert's Cove and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dugas of Plympton.

It's All In The Head

Phyllis Gray and Joe Trefry of Sooke, B.C., formerly of Digby demonstrate "the way it was done" back in the days when oxen were teamed up to help men log and farm - only this time they use a pair of six-week-old bull calves born a day apart on the Gray farm.

Trefry, who is 87, says with a grin that he is "preparing for future logging." He made the voke that couples the two animals.

Mr. and Mrs. Dugas have just returned home after touring Canada and United States. Glad to hear that Mrs.

Sooke is located on Vancouver Island about 25 miles west of Victoria. Logging is a prime industry. (The Mirror, Sooke, B.C.)

TASTY WAYS WITH APPLES

Not only are they tasty, but eating raw apples are nature's toothbrush! What could be better than biting into a crunchy apple and at the same time cleansing your teeth.

Apples may be prepared either raw or cooked in many delicious and economical ways. Apples have a wider variety of uses than any other fruit. They may be served at breakfast, dinner, supper, or at snacktime in entrees, salads, relishes, jams, jellies, in quick breads, casseroles, stuffings, garnishes, cakes and in any number of desserts including the perennial favourite - apple pie.

Apples make an important contribution to the diet when they are eaten in generous amounts. Apples are a quick "pick me up" food, because the sugar in the fruit is ready for immediate absorption to supply the body with energy. Apples provide stimulating acids, juices, and bulk which aid in good digestion and intestinal activity. Apples contain some vitamins and minerals. The vitamin content varies with the variety, storage conditions and method of serving.

The climate of Nova Scotia is ideally suited to grow apples which have an exceptional fine flavor. Scientific development has improved the quality of the popular varieties on the market, and has presented newer varieties which has extended the season for many months.

SELECTION

Buy apples by the grade whenever possible. Each package of any grade contains apples of specified range, one variety, mature, hand picked, clean and sound. Graded apples must be properly packed and have the specified minimum color for variety and grade. In general, the lower the grade the lower the color requirements. Grades are based also on freedom from various defects such as bruises, insect injury, stem puncture, russeting or other blemishes. Grades of apples in order of quality are Canada Extra Fancy, Canada F2 y, Canada Commercial or

When buying apples, select the variety that is best suited to your particular needs.

Apples used for making pie should hold the shape of the slice when the pie is cooked, and also be juicy. The tart and natural flavour of apples should remain. Too much sugar can destroy this natural flavour. Tart juicy apples that mush easily when cooked are best for sauce. Apples which hold their shape until thoroughly cooked are best for baking.

Apples vary in the amount of pectin and acid they contain - important considerations when making jelly; crab apples and sour apples high in both pectin and acid, while sweet apples are high in pectin, but low in acid. Tart juicy cooking apples which are barely ripe should be selected for making jelly.

For a copy of the booklet "Apples" write to me at the N.S. Dept. of Agriculture and Marketing, Research Station, Kentville, N.S.

Educators Meet

Desire Boudreau, Yarmouth; Maurice Belliveau, Metaghav River; William Hamilton, A.I.E., Halifax; and Douglas Craig, Liverpool were part of the group of educators from South Western Nova Scotia who met recently with staff members of the Atlantic Institute of Education. The purpose of the meeting was not only to establish contact with those working directly in the schools, but also to discuss matters of concern to both teachers and administrators in the region.

50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bob) Marshall, Shore Road, Digby celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home on Wednesday, September 22. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall were married in Weymouth on September 22, 1926 by the Rev. A. Whitman. The bride was Miss Marjory Louise Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marshall, Digby and the groom was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marshall, North Range. Many phone calls and visits were made to the happy couple by relatives and friends on the fiftieth anniversary on Wednesday.

For most of his life Mr. Marshall was in the grocery business but had been employed for a short time at the Digby Post Office. At the age of 16 he became a clerk at what was known as Shortliffe's Grocery. Later he became a partner in the business with Miss Bessie Hooper and on her demise he became owner of the business and continued there until the building was destroyed by fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, who both worked at the store, are enjoying their retirement by reading, watching TV and many pleasures which they had to forego in their busy years in the grocery business.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall have one daughter, Eileen, Mrs. Vincent MacCarlie, Digby. There are five grandchildren, Robert in Montreal, who telephoned his grandparents on Wednesday; Michael and Charles, Digby; Marlene at Dalhousie University and Mary Ann, a grade eleven student at the Digby Regional High School.

Legion Member Receives Gold Medal

Douglas Thompson of the Lighthouse Road was the recent recipient of a Fifty Year Gold Medal in recognition of his 50 years as a member of the Royal Canadian Legion. This special award was mailed to Mr. Thompson from Saint John and it is interesting to note that Mr. Thompson received this 50 year gold medal award in the same year that over four million golden yellow tulips bloomed from coast to coast in commemoration of the Royal Canadian Legion's fifty years of service to veterans and their dependents.

Mr. Thompson, who celebrated his 84th birthday during the first part of September, was born in Westport, Brier Island. He is a veteran of the First World War, having served 3½ years, and was twice wounded.

Later Mr. Thompson was employed in the Customs Office in Saint John, N.B. for 41 years. He is now retired and lives in Bay View.

It is understood that it was a Saint John Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion that Mr. Thompson served.

Move House Plants From Garden To House Now

Now is the time to move those house plants, that have been summering in the garden, back into the house, according to horticultural experts in the lawn and garden section of Canadian Industries Limited agricultural chemicals division.

Since these plants will not withstand freezing weather it is important to bring them into the house before the first frost. However, it is wise to bring poinsettias in a little earlier since they dislike the cool, fall weather. Christmas cactus and azaleas need the cooler temperatures to help set buds.

Even some normal outdoor bedding plants can give extra months of bloom indoors. Fibrous begonias, geraniums and impatiens can be pinched back severely, potted up and brought in before frost touches them. Fed every two weeks on "CIL Geranium Food" and set in a sunny window, they can go on blooming all winter.

If they are still in the pot, moving is a relatively simple task. However, it they have been planted in the garden greater care is required in moving them.

The first step actually, is to prepare the pot. The following pertains primarily to the common, earthen, planting pot, but all pots should be cleaned. Clean thoroughly and remove any salt or lime encrustations. As a final step sterilize the pot to kill any insect eggs or disease germs. You can use boiling water or a dilute solution of household chlorine bleach.

Pot size is also important. The root system of a plant has roughly the same spread as the foliage, so it is important that the pot be large enough, as wide across as the foliage spread. If the plant was in a pot all summer it may have outgrown that pot size and require repotting.

Soil is also important. You can purchase a potting plant mixture, or make up your own. A good soil mixture consists of one part coarse sand, one part sterilized soil, and one part well decayed plant material (compost), or peat moss.

Good drainage in the pot is essential, but many home gardeners make the error of blocking the bottom of the pot. Put a good layer of broken crockery or coarse gravel on the bottom.

"Turface" a porous calcined clay, has many uses for the home gardener. It can make up one third of the soil mix, and a one inch layer on the bottom of the pot will aid in "drown proofing" the plant.

Dig up the plant carefully so the roots remain in a ball of soil and plant at the appropriate height in the pot. Place the plant in the pot so the surface of the soil will be an inch below the rim of the pot to allow for watering. Firm down the soil around the root ball.

With the plant potted, now is the time to cut off all discoloured or dead blossoms and leaves. Destroy these as they may carry disease spores or insect eggs.

Water the plant well. Since feeding is necessary as well as watering, for a healthy plant, it is recommended that a solution of one teaspoon of "Green Elf" per quart of water be prepared and used. This will help the plant recover from the shock of transplanting. By using this solution every two or three weeks in lieu of a normal watering you are assured of meeting the continuing feeding requirements.

Incidentally, most house plants require about four hours of sunshine per day, or the equivalent in artificial light. This should be taken into consideration when deciding where to place plants in the house.

How To Prevent Rats

Rats start to migrate in the fall from open fields into barns, houses and other shelters where they seek a ready supply of food and protection from the oncoming winter weather. For each rat you see, there is probably ten or more around that you know nothing about.

Rats are filthy and are a potential health menace. They're expensive boarders too. Each one eats about forty pounds of food each year and contaminates over twice that amount. In addition, they destroy property. Very little can be said in favor of the rat. When rats are destroyed, everyone gains.

Clean up trash piles, stone piles, and junk. This will help prevent rats from moving into their favourite shelters. Also, prevent rats from getting into any food or feed by ratproofing buildings. It's just another way to help avoid a rat problem. In short, rats are expensive pests to have around. Discourage them by cleaning up and ratproofing.

Teachers Accept Ruling

Nova Scotia teachers agreed to their recommendation of their NSTU Provincial Executive and voted acceptance Monday of the Anti-Inflation Board ruling on teachers' salaries. Joseph Maidment, Nova Scotia Teachers Union President, in a prepared statement released this morning, said, "the vote was somewhat closer than we expected but as we had urged, the teachers' good judgement prevailed and they accepted the AIB ruling."

The decision, he said, means teachers will lose a seven per cent increase scheduled for January 1, 1977.

The decision of the teachers will be forwarded to the Provincial Government and the AIB in Ottawa in the near future, Mr. Maidment said. Deadline for an answer to the board was set for October 1st.

295 Donate Blood At Digby

Attendance at last week's Blood Donor Clinic held in Digby was good, with a total of 295 donors registered. Red Cross District Chairman, E.B. Tufts, expressed his thanks, on behalf of the Blood Donor Committee, to all those who helped make the Clinic a success, especially to the donors, and also to the large staff of local workers involved in arrangements and in assisting the Red Cross Team from Halifax during the three sessions of the Clinic.

Although almost all areas included in the Digby District were represented by donors, with the usual good support from Digby Neck and the Islands, attendance from some of the larger communities was disappointing. Special thanks are due C.F.B. "Cornwallis" for their wholehearted support, and also to the Digby Rural High School for making time available for many of the senior students to attend as donors or as helpers, their services in unloading the Red Cross equipment in preparation for the Clinic being particularly appreciated. Miss Linda Mackintosh of the Red Cross Youth Group also assisted in other work of the Clinic.

The Clinic was held in the Fire Hall, with the able support of the Digby Firemen, as well as of their Ladies Auxiliary, who staffed the kitchen, under the convensorship of Mrs. Vaughan VanTassell in providing tea and coffee. Nursing services for the Clinic were under the Red Cross Nursing Committee, convened by Mrs. C.D. Snow, R.N., assisted by the following registered nurses: Mrs. Robert Wallace, Mrs.

Desmond Woods, Mrs. A.L. Robinson, Mrs. Sidney Smith, Mrs. Frieda Balser, and Miss Ann Comeau. Two guests of Miss Comeau, Miss Marlene Spencer and Miss Ruth Clem, all recent graduates of the Victoria General Hospital, also volunteered their services and assisted in this capacity.

Registration of the donors, ushering and the serving of refreshments were convened by Mrs. Allan Harris, Vice President of the Digby Red Cross Branch, those assisting being: Mrs. Hilda Bremner, Mrs. Frank Mackintosh, Mrs. Paul Vantassell, Mrs. Victor Comeau, Mrs. Andrew Thibodeau, Mrs. Allen Stark, Mrs. Elliott VanTassell, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs.

Loran Hayden, Mrs. Helen Anderson, Mrs. Raymond Everett, Mrs. Evelyn Kennedy, Mrs. Frank Larche, Mrs. Bernard O'Neil, Mrs. George Winfield, Mrs. Burton Ellis, Mrs. Wilfred Comeau, Mrs. Carrie Clark and Mrs. Avery Crowell. In attendance at all three sessions of the Clinic was Mr. Layton Hinxman, whose support is always greatly appreciated.

At the conclusion of the evening session the equipment of the Mobile Unit was reloaded into the Red Cross vans by members of the Fire Department and another successful Digby Clinic came to a conclusion, with gratitude to the many who had contributed their blood or their services to make this possible.

Edith Butler To Appear At College Sainte-Anne

EDITH BUTLER, Acadian at the College Sainte-Anne

The Artistic Season at the College Sainte-Anne for the Singer, opens artistic season

Fall will open with the internationally renowned Acadian Singer, EDITH BUTLER, who will give in the college gymnasium-auditorium a recital on Wednesday, October 6.

Edith Butler was born in the Acadian village of Paquetteville in New Brunswick. She began to sing and play the guitar while at college. A professor heard her and was so impressed that she was asked to perform on stage. This was the starting point of her career. She did not neglect her studies but completed her college and went to the university where she got a degree in French literature.

At the University she had the opportunity to make some research on the Acadian and French Canadian folklore. In the meantime she continues to sing and to study different musical instruments such as the guitar, the piano, the saxophone, the clarinette, the string bass. All this gives a rich background for her singing career. Ten years later she has a rich repertoire of songs taken from the Acadian folklore and of her own composition.

Edith Butler has travelled extensively. Besides giving recitals throughout Canada, from coast to coast, she has been to the United States, to France and Belgium, and was sent to represent Canada at Expo '70 in Osaka, Japan. Everywhere she was warmly received.

It is with great pleasure that the College Sainte-Anne is greeting her for its first artistic event. Other events for the fall are the first Jeunesses-Musicales Concert on Wednesday, October 27, with Eric Goodman, harpist, and Robert Bick, flautist, the second Jeunesses Musicales Concert on Wednesday, December 8, with Ken

Auxiliary Donates $1,200 To Clementsport Legion

At the call of the president a special general meeting was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening, 21 September. There were twenty-six ordinary members and two associate members present. Com. Pres. A. James Smyth was in the Chair. Three applications for ordinary membership read and approved. One application for transfer was read and approved.

A donation of $1,200.00 was received from the Ladies Auxiliary for the purchase of furniture for the new lounge. This will be used for corner seats and club chairs manufactured by Crown Upholstery, custom made expressly for this room. It was agreed that an electronic game of "Pong" be installed in the games room by the manufacturing company at no expense to the Branch.

The proceeds from one Bingo is to be turned over to the Central Charities at CFB Cornwallis. It was felt that this was a fair way to donate to all the worthwhile organizations canvassing the Branch for funds.

Help is needed for the canvass of all homes in the area with regard to "Operation Service". This is to determine if any Veteran is in need of assistance with regard to Disability pension, War Veterans Allowance and

Good Samaritans

Port Hastings -- "The biblical tale of the good Samaritan still lives and some kind residents of Clementsport, N.S., have proved it."

This was the commendation in a letter received recently at the provincial tourist bureau in Port Hastings from Frances M. Wall of Charlotte, North Carolina.

She had been one of 41 visiting Americans whose tour bus broke down near Clementsport, as they were heading for Yarmouth on August 15.

"Long after we have forgotten the beautiful sights of Nova Scotia, our hearts will warm to the memory of our evening in Clementsport and the gracious hospitality we received there," wrote Miss Wall. "Nova Scotians have found at least 41 permanent friends."

Miss Wall was tour escort on last month's Moore Tours Inc. trip by bus from North Carolina to Nova Scotia.

Following is the text of what Miss Wall writes about the trip: The Biblical tale of the good samaritan still lives, and some kind residents of Clementsport have proved it.

On August 15th I was escorting a tour which had the "good" fortune to break down in that town. Having just visited Port Royal habitation and Fort Anne, we were enroute to Yarmouth when our bus stopped.

With embankments on our right and left, so that we could not pull off the road, and sitting on a curve, with blind curves both behind us and on the incline ahead of us, you can imagine our distress. But not for long! A local fireman, passing by, stopped and helped direct traffic around us for several hours, as did some of the residents in front of whose home we were stalled. They helped us try to get the bus going and took us to get a local mechanic, who, because he could not fix our bus, would not accept any pay for his Sunday afternoon work.

The home of Captain Roger LeFrank became our headquarters, and his assistance and knowledge were invaluable to us. He and his two sons welcomed us into their home, which we used as our dispatching office as if it were our own.

All of their fine assistance was graciously accepted, but we were simply astounded when two nice gentlemen introduced themselves to us and invited us into their homes for dinner, and to stay as long as we wished while waiting for another bus to pick us up.

My first impulse was to decline; after all, to have forty-one people suddenly descend on you on a Sunday afternoon is quite a shock! But Mr. Lowe, and Mr. Elliott were so hospitable that I could not have refused without my being rude. And what a treat it was for us all! Our meal consisted of sandwiches, garden vegetables, cookies, cake, coffee, and tea. Neither lobster nor steak would have tasted any better to our palates, nor would it have been eaten with more gusto!

We were having such a good time visiting in their homes that we were almost disappointed when a bus arrived to pick us up and take us on to Yarmouth. Long after we may have forgotten the beautiful sights of Nova Scotia, our hearts will warm to the memory of our evening in Clementsport and the gracious hospitality we received there. To Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Elliott; their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe; and his mother, Mrs. Lillian Lowe; and to all those whose names we did not get, we wish to express our heartfelt thanks for a wonderful evening, which, if not for you, could have been a very trying one.

If our story ended there, it would still be a very beautiful one, but it does not.

While we were having a good time socializing with the Lowes and the Elliotts, our bus was towed to Cornwallis Military Base, where it stayed until the next day. The hospitality and assistance of the military police was beyond belief, and I should hope they receive every bit of the praise they so richly deserve.

The next morning we were again stranded when we learned that no bus was coming to pick us up and take us to our ferry. Again, a native Nova Scotian came to our rescue, and after dropping his own group off at the ferry terminal, came back and got us and took us to the terminal in his bus.

Indeed, we have found everyone we have had any association with in Nova Scotia to be most pleasant to work with. As a province, you can pride yourself on your fine hospitality and cordiality to visitors. Not only because of all the pleasant and friendly people we encountered during our travels throughout Nova Scotia. By their charitable and gracious manner, the people of Nova Scotia have at least forty-one permanent friends, who by word-of-mouth will do more public relations work for you than any amount of paid advertisements.

Members of the Community School Council along with Co-ordinator, Jean C. Marshall, held a meeting on Monday, Sept. 13, at which time plans were made for the coming year. Some programs of last year which proved successful will be repeated as well as several new courses.

The St. John Ambulance Home Nursing Course is one of these successful courses to be repeated. Mrs. L. Milbury will be instructing this course beginning on Thursday, Sept. 30th, 7-9 p.m. This is a twelve-week course.

The Defensive Driving Course will be taught by the Dept. of Highways Safety Division and will be held on Wednesday nights beginning

Oct. 6-7-9 p.m. Registration for this course will be held Sept. 29th and a minimum of fifteen persons are required.

The Dept. of Lands and Forests will be instructing a Hunters' Safety Course on Thursdays, 7-9 p.m. beginning on Oct. 7. Everyone age 14 years and up are urged to take advantage of this four-week course.

Another course to be offered will be Chair-Caning. This course will be instructed by Mrs. R. Harris. Due to several factors, classes will be held during the morning at Mrs. C. Rices home. In order to take full advantage of this class, it is suggested you call Mrs. Harris to register and obtain information regarding material and equipment required.

A Snowmobile Course is being arranged but there is nothing definite to report at this time. For information on any of these Community School Activities please feel free to call Jean C. Marshall, Bear River, 467-3752.

arrived with a large box and crouched in one corner looking a bit the worse for wear, was a little bird.

I will let the little Oven bird tell his own story as he told it to me.

"I had flown in to the Admiral Digby Inn for a weekend rest enroute South but unfortunately I missed the door and hit a window. There I laid with a dizzy head and wondering if I would be put in the oven.

I was picked up by a kindly person and rushed by ambulance to the Bird Lady's home. There I was put in a cozy cage for the night. In the morning I was as fit as a fiddle and anxious to get on with my long flight South.

Just as the sun was coming up I was released with a kiss on my striped head and best wishes for a safe journey. My thanks to the gentleman and Bird Lady who rescued me."

This little bird is a bit larger than an English sparrow, two distinct brownish black stripes on head with center mark of dull orange, striped breast and olive green back.

The Oven Bird builds its nest on the ground, covered over at the top with the entrance on the side, resembles a Dutch oven, hence its name.

Its song is a repeated Teacher-Teacher-Teacher. I was lucky enough to have found a nest years ago.

Have had numbers of small birds brought in lately, all window victims, and am happy to say all were released within a short time.

So long

HMCS Algonquin Rescues Fishing Vessel

At 1407 18th August, 1976 the Communications Control Room intercepted a report on the international distress frequency 2182 KHZ. The fishing vessel Peggy's Cove reported that she was taking on water approximately thirty miles south of Peggy's Cove and that she had been in an apparent collision. When the officer of the watch plotted the fishing vessels position it was discovered that HMCS Algonquin was ten miles south west of the distressed vessel.

At 1418, HMCS Algonquin called the coast guard and asked if they required our assistance. The coast guard replied and HMCS Algonquin took action proceeding to the aid of the Peggy's Cove. Radio conversations determined that she had been struck by a merchant freighter named "Arosia" and that she had lost all power.

At 1445 the Algonquin arrived in the immediate vicinity and launched a rescue boat with the engineering officer Lieutenant Commander Baxter, Chief Hull technician Chief Petty Officer 1st class Caldwell and three boatswains, Petty Officer 2nd class McNeil, Master Seaman Nowen and Leading Seaman Langevin to assist the situation and help to determine a course of action.

After a few minutes the boarding team determined the fishing vessel had been struck on the starboard bow causing it to be stove in, the stem and keel line cracked and the breast plate and foredeck lifted. The force of the collision had caused the vessel to lose power. Although the fishing vessel was not taking on water, the structural damage did not permit towing in the normal fashion - instead the vessel would have to be towed by the stern. At 1520, Algonquin passed a towing line and by 1531 the tow had commenced. She then proceeded with the fishing vessel in tow towards the Halifax Harbour approaches.

A coast guard rescue vessel lifeboat 117 met the ship to take over the tow and take the fishing vessel into Halifax. The response by everyone concerned with the evolution from start to finish was excellent - done truly in a professional manner and with a spirit of teamwork.

Reflecting To 1946

According to copy in the Digby Courier of October 3, 1946, it adds up to about 75 scallop draggers fishing out of Digby. The season opened on Tuesday, October 1. Price was 50 cents per pound. Several new boats were completed and added to the fleet. There was the Buddy and Bob built in Meteghan for Captain Victor Halliday. Crew members were Nelson Porter, Calvin VanTassel and Wiley Halliday. Captain Oswald Banks of Centreville had a new 45 1/2 ft. boat with Frank Titus and Arnold Banks as crew and there was the Donald Eugene manned by Captain Chute and sons of Phinney's Cove.

A police chase was reported in 1946 but not a car chase. This was a juvenile on foot but the story did not state his disdemeanour. Police Chief Fred Thibault spied the youngster by the D.A.R. Station and gave chase. Seeing his chances slim, the youngster took to the water and swam out to the Maritime Fish Company's wharf and climbed under the piling. The Chief gave chase until he found the water too deep for comfort. The chase started in the afternoon and in the evening the youngster was still under the wharf as police waited for the tide to go out in order to make his arrest. A Flash addition to the story says the youth arrived home shortly after four o'clock a.m.

In another story it was reported that the Digby jail was full to overflowing. Police Chief Thibault said if anymore arrests were made they would have to find emergency quarters. Digby was in the midst of sort of juvenile crime wave.

While Trinity Anglican Parish had no special event for the occasion, the 161st anniversary was recognized in the rector's sermon. Previous to 1875 Digby had been administered from the ancient parish of Annapolis Royal. The first sermon preached in Digby was in 1783 by Rev. William Buedenell, Chaplain of His Majesty's Ship "Atlanta" which under command of Admiral Digby, brought the first settlers from the State of New York. The rector of Annapolis was Rev. Jacob Bailey who made his trips to Digby by horse or across the Annapolis Basin by canoe. Services were held in the building later known as the Waverley Hotel. The first rector of the new parish of Digby was Rev. Roger Viets who did the planning and work for the erection of a church and rectory. Many of the settlers has previously been parishioners of Trinity Church, New York, whose rector, Rev. Charles Inglis became the first Bishop of Nova Scotia. The Digby Church was named "Trinity," in memory of the former church. The corner stone was laid July 30, 1788 and the church was consecrated 1791. This building was replaced in 1878.

A decision was made to incorporate the Digby Kiwanis Club. It was necessary to incorporate in order that the club could purchase a tract of land near the Racquette Bridge for construction of a swimming pool.

The Digby Tourist Information Booth which had opened June 15 closed its doors for the season after having supplying 4533 persons with information and attended to 200 cars which stopped for maps etc. In charge were Miss Louise Daley and Mrs. Annie Lent.

The meeting was advised that the 1976 Festival budget ended with a small surplus.
