Will Vote On Borrowing For Town Hall

Digby Town Council on Monday evening passed a motion to go before the ratepayers of Digby on Tuesday, October 18, 1977 for the borrowing of $75,000 for the purpose of erecting a new Town Hall within the Town at the corner of Sydney Street and First Avenue. The plebiscite is called for the same day that an election for three town councillors had been slated. The original estimate for building a new Town Hall in the location above had been $80,000 for a building 30x80. With addition of Regional Library space considered it was suggested the measurements would be enlarged to 40x70 and the costs would rise considerably. Correspondence was read from Charles Haliburton regarding the town purchasing for the purpose of a park properties at the Racquette belonging to the Digby Kiwanis Club, J.J. Brittain and Vincent Snow. Prices mentioned were Snow $1500, Brittain $2,000 and Kiwanis $4,500. Councillor Guy VanTassel moved that the Town write a letter to the Digby Kiwanis Club to see if they can come up with a better deal. The motion was seconded by Councillor Foster Journey and passed. VanTassel said he had hoped to have traded the Kiwanis Club Racquette property for the property where the Digby Swimming Pool now is. Another letter read from Mr. Haliburton dealt with the possibility of the town purchasing the MacMullen property situated immediately behind the present Town Hall. Because the utilization of such property would entail a lot of expenditure Council decided regular motion to not make the purchase. A resolution to make application to the Housing Commission for housing through the Neighborhood Employment Plan was passed. A bill of $42,000 comprising interest on charges from Kings Municipality for housing of law breakers in the Kings County Correctional Centre was placed before Council and a motion passed that the bill be paid. Renewal of loan resolutions with the bank to the amounts of $3,500 water; $16,500 water; $31,000 water and $36,800 electrical was passed. The report of the Finance Committee presented by VanTassel was approved with bills payable for September having been $16,652. The matter of trading or purchasing a back hoe for the town was discussed with the decision to contact Keith Dunn for prices before any action is taken.

No Election - Two Re-offer, One Newcomer

No election will be required in Digby this month. However, the three vacancies on Town Council have been filled.

Deputy-Mayor Philip Robertson and Councillor Guy VanTassel will again be involved in the town's political life. Both council members reversed earlier decisions not to re-offer for the posts.

Councillor Eileen Chipman is the only incumbent who decided not to re-involve herself this time around.

The new face on Digby Town Council will be that of 31-year-old teacher Michael Sweeney. Sweeney, born in Moncton, spent most of his life in Montreal. He resided in Digby for the past year teaching sciences at the high school.

One of Sweeney's main concerns in joining town government is the youth problem. He says there doesn't seem to be enough for the young people to do here and feels better use can be made of existing recreational facilities.

The condition of the town water is also on Sweeney's list of concerns.

The new councillor lives on Queen Street with his wife, Janet, and two sons, Todd, 6, and Mark, 4.

Councillor VanTassel, a three-year council veteran, says encouragement by town citizens was an important factor in his decision to re-offer.

One of VanTassel's main goals when he first offered for office was to see all the streets in the town paved. That objective has not yet been accomplished, but he is hopeful it can be reached within the next couple of years.

As a member of the Water Commission and Sewer Committee, VanTassel also wants to see improvements in the town water supply and completion of the sewerage project.

Mr. VanTassel also acts as chairman of the Fire Committee, member and acting chairman of the Finance Committee, and member of the Streets and Tideview Terrace committees.

The fact that not enough people had come forward to fill the three council vacancies by Monday night was also listed as a cause for VanTassel's decision to re-offer.

Philip Robertson has been a council member for about five years, three as deputy-mayor.

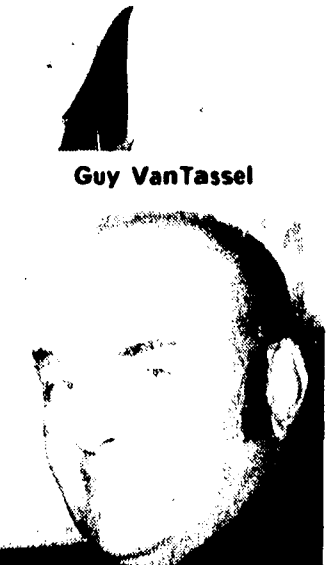

Robertson is owner and operator of E.B. Robertson & Son Ltd., the Canadian Tire franchise in Digby.

Afraid To Give Evidence - One Problem In Digby

A lack of people to witness and give evidence against the vandals and law breakers was cited by R. MacLeod Rogers at Town Council on Monday evening in discussion on the report submitted by Sgt. T.E. Barlow for the R.C.M.P.

Sgt. Barlow reported that during September there was an increase in vandalism with the main damage occurring on front street and at the cemetery on St. Mary's St. He reported that on September 30, a group of youths went on a window breaking spree with considerable damage. This is still a problem, the report revealed Liquor offences also rose during the month.

Councillor Robert MacNutt said he would like to see a crack down on illegal purchase of alcohol for minors. He claimed adults purchase the liquors and resell to minors. Councillor Guy VanTassel noted that the McBride Park had been vandalized and benches broken. The question arose on "where is it going to stop?" with the school, rink and park receiving so much damage. Mayor Stuart MacNaughton expressed concern and councillors around the table made comments and suggestions. Mr. Rogers' chief complaint was that witnesses won't appear in courts.

Sgt. Barlow's report gave 46 reported under criminal code, nine charges laid, 15 cleared. Two drug cases reported, two charged, two cleared; provincial statutes 13 reported, 13 charged, 13 cleared, liquor charges 13 with 15 reported 14 cleared. Under municipal by-laws four reported, nine charged, four cleared. Court convictions were three under criminal code, 14 under provincial statutes, 55 warnings. There were seven court convictions under municipal by-laws.

Ilitski Begins Sewer System Operation

On the suggestion made by W. H. Horner Associates, Digby Town Council on Monday evening decided to take over the operation of the pumping stations and treatment plant for Digby's new sewer system. Until Monday the operation had been carried out by the contractor but the taking over of the operation by the town in no way relieves the contractor of its obligations in the construction of the sewer which is presently in phase two.

Kenneth Ilitski, assistant superintendent streets and water, has been engaged to take over the plant operations. He looks towards the job requiring a full time operator, even to weekend duty. Councillor Guy VanTassel suggested that another person besides Mr. Ilitski should be trained to operate the stations and plant to relieve on weekends and other necessary times. Mr. Ilitski considered the operation as "quite a responsibility."

The building inspector's report showed a total value of all construction in September to be $20,050. Of this $8,300 was for alterations and $11,750 repairs.

The report of Webster Dunn for the parking meter showed amount collected in September to be $744.76, parking tickets issued 26 with two cancelled. Fines collected $50.00.

Arthur Thomas' report showed seven dogs caught in the two months of service and he has been successful in having owners tie the dogs.

K. Ilitski reported total cost of public works operations in Digby in September amounted to $15,834.69.

Councillor Guy VanTassel agreed with a suggestion on the R.C.M.P. report that a study be made to determine the feasibility of making First Avenue and Church Street one way streets.

A motion was passed giving authority to advertise that homeowners can now hook up with the town sewer. Metrically reading traffic signs were displayed at the meeting and will be erected throughout the town.

Councillor VanTassel reported six calls for the Digby Fire Department in the month of August. To date in 1977 there were 54 calls against 67 in 1976 to date. To date in September, 1977, calls numbered 60 and in 1976 they were 81. There was a loss of one life in the Municipality of Digby in 1977.

Electric Net Gain $11,474.00

The report of the Town of Digby Electric Light Utility was given at the Town Council on Monday evening which showed revenue from January to August 1977 of $415,138.21 and expenditures of $403,663.81 giving a net gain of $11,474.00. Revenue in 1976 from January to August was $353,888.40 and expenditure $336,429.92. Net gain $17,458.48.

In the capital expenditures for January to August 1977, the figures showed a total of $45,433.91. Over expenditure in that period of time was $27,204.60.

Breastwork Repairs Progressing Well

Breastwork reconstruction on the Racquette road was scheduled to end on September 30-expiry date of a $20,000 Canada Works program.

However, work is continuing at the site and project sponsor Ken Ilitski is hopeful the crew will be able to carry on until June of next year.

The project was given approval in April 1977 with the intention of repairing 100 feet of cribwork along the Racquette. That job was completed ahead of schedule and with additional man-hours remaining. The project was then extended to the end of October. By that time Ilitski expects another 20 feet of cribwork to be completed.

The project sponsor is still waiting word on an application for another extension which would take the 8-man crew into June of 1978. That could result in another 400 feet of breastwork reconstruction.

Ilitski says the full extension to next June will be decided by Canada Works after the current job is completed. He sees a very good possibility that the program will be extended since the Canada Works people are more than impressed with accomplishments to date.

The town has about 1300 feet of shoreline breastwork in need of repair. Immediate action was deemed necessary to save the Racquette from a possible washout.

Should the project be extended to June, the cost of wages and materials for the additional 400 feet of work would be about $65,000.

The job involves some adverse conditions for the project workers. However, Ilitski said, the only difficulty has resulted from banks which keep falling away.

Workers involved in the project finds themselves in a variety of duties. Aside from actual repair of the cribwork, they also cut, peel and transport logs from Lake VanTassel. Alvin Carty is project manager.

Ilitski expressed thanks to citizens living near the work-zone for their patience. The project, it seems, sometimes has the effect of "disturbing" their view.

Second Chance For Adults

For various reasons, numerous adults were unable either to undertake studies leading to a University degree or had to interrupt their University studies.

Enjoying more leisure time now, these adults feel the need to resume their studies.

To provide easier access to higher education for adults, Universite Sainte-Anne is offering a general Bachelor of Arts degree. Taking into account the specific needs of adult students as well as their professional, social and family experiences, this degree will not have the same requirements as a more specialized degree.

To be admitted, a student must be at least 22 years of age.

One may register either for regular courses offered at the University or for off-campus courses offered by the Extension Department.

In order to answer the general and fundamental needs of the adult population of Southwestern Nova Scotia, courses may be offered in French or in English. This program will require no specific formation in either of these languages.

Approve Recreation Coordinator

Digby Town Council on Monday evening passed a motion to form a joint committee with the Municipality of the District of Digby to hire a recreation coordinator on a 50-50 basis with the municipality. Costs for a coordinator are shared between the town, the municipality and the province.

Councillor Robert MacNutt in his report for the Digby Recreation Commission reported that Harold Hopkins had been hired as manager of the Digby Forum and it was planned to open the Forum Sunday, October 16. He reported that

Deer Gift Originates From Digby Kinsmen Club

Two stags and five dogs, gifts from Britain's Royal herd will be presented on behalf of Queen Elizabeth to the people of Nova Scotia at a special ceremony at Richmond Park, England, today.

The deer, which will eventually be placed in the provincial government's new wildlife park at Upper Clements, will be received by Lieutenant Governor Clarence Gosse, who left for the United Kingdom on Sunday for that purpose. Because of quarantine regulations and other restrictions, the animals will not be shipped to Nova Scotia until next spring.

The special gift, developed from the initiative of the president of the Digby Kinsmen's Club, Brian Coker of Smith's Cove, who personally explored the possibilities of obtaining the deer for the new park while on a visit to his native England earlier this year.

The arrangements for the donation were carried out with the co-operation of the Hon. Paul Martin, high commissioner for Canada in the U.K.; Rear Admiral Desmond Piers, (Ret'd) agent general; Finance Minister Peter Nicholson, MLA for Annapolis West; Digby MLA Joseph Casey and the Baroness Burke, parliamentary undersecretary of state for the department of the environment of the U.K. government.

In a letter to Mr. Martin concerning the gift, the baroness said "it is a happy idea that these deer should go to Canada in Jubilee Year and we are especially pleased to be able to donate them from Richmond Park, which in 1969 received a generous gift of maples from Canada."

Metric Conversion On Nova Scotia Roads

Motorists are asking "What do I do if my speedometer only registers miles per hour?"

The Consumers' Association of Canada (Nova Scotia Branch) strongly urges owners of cars and motorcycles with speedometers registering only miles per hour to make some alteration or addition to provide an indication of speed in kilometres per hour.

Though it is not compulsory to convert a speedometer, motorists are asked to make the changes for their own protection and the safety of others.

CAC(NS) recommends marking the metric speed limits with stickers or a painted mark as the most inexpensive and simplest method.

If stickers are purchased, CAC(NS) advises consumers to look for stickers with the speeds 50, 60, 80, 90 and 100 kilometres per hour (km-h) clearly indicated. Stickers should be purchased in a colour which is a contrast to the miles per hour figures; as well, the numbers should be clearly visible day and night.

If an inexpensive and suitable sticker is not available in your area, CAC(NS) suggests that the motorist mark the common metric speeds with a downward pointing triangle

Universite Sainte Anne Seeks President

Applications for the post of President of Universite Sainte Anne are being sought. The post, vacated by Louis R. Comeau earlier this year, is at present being occupied by Omer Blinn on an interim basis.

Applications for the post will be received on October 15, by Gerald C. Boudreau, secretary of the Selection Committee. The successful candidate will be expected to assume the post early in the new year.

L'Universite Sainte-Anne is a bilingual college offering various programs. These include the fields of arts, teaching commerce and secretarial science.

Its special goal is to respond to the cultural social and economic needs of the province's Acadians. However, its doors are open to all those interested in the two chief cultures of the nation.

of paint, nail polish or tape. The mark must point to the exact equivalent of the metric speed:

60 km-h at the 37 mph mark
80 km-h at the 50 mph mark
90 km-h at the 56 mph mark
100 km-h at the 62 mph mark

Considered not acceptable by the CAC are conversion stickers for the windshield and addition of a speedometer drive adapter which also changes the odometer.

The Forum had been broken into over the weekend and about $1000 damage done by vandals.

GOOD COMMON HUNTING SENSE

Along with the promotion of fire prevention, there is another promotion which calls for our support at this season of the year. The hunting season is upon us and a few reminders about the ills of hunting carelessness and what precautions can be taken against them are in order.

Hunting accidents, in many cases are avoidable. A few simple rules obeyed and good common sense used can prevent much tragedy, misery and sorrow.

The first thing to remember is that you are not the only hunter. Others are hunting, too. It is safer then to wear bright colors so each can be more readily seen.

Another precaution is to never mix hunting and drinking. Never keep a loaded gun in the house or camp nor carry a loaded gun in the car. Never stand up and shoot from a boat. Never lay a loaded gun on the ground but always carry a gun pointed downward.

Use good common hunting sense and you will avoid accidents.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

When the month of October comes newspaper people seem to automatically examine their efforts as journalists and rededicate themselves to the principles of freedom and liberty. For years the early October days were given over as National Newspaper Week making a special time to bring public attention to these marks of a good newspaper. Presently, too, we are commemorating the life of Joseph Howe in Nova Scotia. Joseph Howe was one of the greatest advocates of freedom of the press.

Freedom of the press is a much more important virtue than most people realize. Freedom of the press is the guardian of many, if not all of other freedoms. One can look back to war days when Adolph Hitler gained control of Germany because he had gained control of the press. Freedom of all kinds vanished there. Freedoms still vanish in countries where the press is not free. Without freedom of the press in Canada, our rights as citizens would crumble.

However, before we run away too far with the idea of freedom of the press let us note that freedom and responsibility go together, without responsibility there is no freedom. With freedom of the press there is also the grave responsibility to stand for right and to condemn the wrong.

News is news and should not be allowed to appear only if it pleases. Readers look to be informed and have a right to be informed. They, too, have the freedom to read what they want to read or hear, they have the freedom to agree or disagree with the editor anytime.

May the freedom of the press be preserved as we turn the years back past the century to honor the statesman and publisher, Joseph Howe. In the vast country, in the big city or in the small towns and villages freedom of the press is a valued commodity.

Hodge Podge

Many of us sometimes have the feeling that we are being left out, slighted, neglected or rejected by others. Often this is largely in our imaginations, and other people are waiting for us to make the first friendly move. Make yourself available, and make the first move yourself, more often.

Dear Editor:

This note is mainly for the younger generation of people in any town all over the world! This is the truth and I'm not afraid to admit it either!

These gangs or individuals, especially in Digby, who like to tease people, break windows, burn buildings, and beat up on individuals are in an awful state of mind! The leaders of the gang are usually bullies, who like attention and love to show off their big mouth and strength to people their own age; to make a big name for themselves as they are cowards. The rest of the gang is made up of cowards, who are scared to admit it in public, and when all the gang hang out together they take their frustrations out on property and people of whom they, individually, are scared to do it by themselves. The same thing goes for drinking, taking dope, etc., as it is one or two persons, who drink and take dope and pass it on to others and later on form a gang of whom are troublemakers.

Years ago, when I was young and in my teens, shy, and beaten up by bullies and

Municipal Leaders Confer With Minister

Elected and appointed municipal leaders from various regions of the province met at Liscombe Lodge Wednesday and Thursday with Municipal Affairs Minister Glen Bagnell to explore the road ahead for municipalities who have been warned the provincial budget can no longer be stretched to match large increases in the cost of municipal services.

Mr. Bagnell said the meeting focused on a host of priority problems including the increasing dependence of municipalities on provincial grants; present commitments to long term projects; the differing needs of cities, towns and rural areas, as well as, a different type of municipal government; and inequitable sharing proportions of municipal services and grants.

Mr. Bagnell and Sherman Zwicker, president of the union of Nova Scotia Municipalities, said in a joint statement that there was general agreement that a new method of distributing provincial funds to municipalities was required.

It was also agreed, they said, that there was a need for more autonomy in local government, the provincial revenues could not sustain any further large increases in grants, and municipalities should have more freedom in setting their own local priorities.

And it was felt, too, they said, that urbanized areas in rural municipalities should not be treated differently from the incorporated urban communities.

They said that user related or service charges seemed to prevent a desirable way of funding some municipal services.

Both Mr. Zwicker and Mr. Bagnell expressed satisfaction with the results of the conference, saying that everyone's special problems were aired and everyone contributed to the exploration for direction in the search for solutions.

The municipal affairs minister will take the conference thinking to the joint task force—representing the department of municipal affairs and the union of Nova Scotia municipalities—to help it in its job of finding acceptable answers.

Mr. Bagnell and Mr. Zwicker said that the task force proposals—which would require a lot of work, but hopefully would be ready reasonably soon—would then be presented in a discussion paper format for full input by all municipalities before being moved into the legislative process.

Judge Cardoza To Get Honorary Degree

Judge Victor G. Cardoza, Digby, is one of two Canadians who will be honored at the Fall Convocation of Acadia University, it has been announced. The Convocation is scheduled for 10 a.m. on October 15.

Judge Victor George Cardoza is a native of Waterdown, Ontario, but Digby, an area he moved to with his family at age seven is his home.

Throughout his years in Digby, he has been involved in community affairs at the local, municipal and provincial levels. In 1938 he was elected and served for 16 years on the Digby town council, 14 as deputy mayor. He entered provincial politics in 1953 as Liberal MLA for Digby; he was elected again in 1960. During the years 1959 through 1961, he also served as mayor of Digby.

He was secretary and president of Digby Board of Trade, member of Digby Board of school commissioners and the regional high school board, executive member of the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities, past-president of Digby County Mental Health Association and member of the board of directors of Mental Health Canada.

Judge Cardoza has been honored on many occasions for his work in community affairs. In 1974 he was appointed judge of the citizenship courts in Nova Scotia and in the same year he was presented the award of merit from the Nova Scotia division of the Canadian Mental Health Association. In 1975 Digby named him Citizen of the Year and the following year he was recipient of the national award of the Canadian Mental Health Association in recognition of his outstanding contribution in the field of mental health.

300 Attend Scallop Supper

A novel idea for a community supper was greeted with approval by the people of Annapolis Royal and surrounding communities as some 300 attended the dinner of fresh Nova Scotia scallops arranged by the Annapolis West Progressive Conservative Association last Thursday (Sept. 29) evening. Provincial party leader Hon. John Buchanan, on a swing through Western Nova Scotia, was a surprise guest and was presented to the diners by Greg Kerr, P.C.

candidate in Annapolis West. Mr. Kerr greeted all arriving at the Annapolis Royal Community Centre for the dinner and the harvest sale, which was held in an adjacent hall of the centre. Dr. Gerry Sheehy, M.L.A. for neighboring Annapolis East, and Mrs. Sheehy came to Annapolis Royal especially for the evening's activities.

Other prominent P.C. figures in attendance included A. J. McIntosh of Yarmouth, who is seeking the party nomination federally, and Mrs. McIntosh, and Charles Haliburton, well known Digby lawyer and political contestant.

John Turner, president of Annapolis West P.C. Association, was in general charge of the evening's activities. A committee of local women, organized by Jo Pineo, served the dinner, which included 70 pounds of scallops, two large hams, 50 apple pies and uncounted quantities of casseroles, vegetables and other contributions. Young Progressive Conservatives aided.

An outstanding feature of the evening was the contribution of fresh-caught scallops provided by fishermen of Parker's Cove, Hillsburn and the Bay of Fundy Shore.

To commemorate the unusual event, scallop shells, suitably inscribed in blue lettering, were presented to those attending as a souvenir.

Concept of a harvest sale was well received as purchasers took advantage of the offerings of fruits and vegetables, preserves and baked goods, paper-back books and other items on sale before and after dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Orlando and Mr. and Mrs. Tim Hennigar were co-ordinators of the Harvest Sale.

Milk In Litres For Nova Scotia

Dairies in Nova Scotia will be converting their packaging for fluid milk from the Imperial measure (quarts, pints) to Metric measure (litres) starting October 5th, completing the changeover by October 23rd. The conversion is part of the Government of Canada's program to have Canadians working in Metric measurements by the 1980's, and because of the size of the dairy industry the conversion must be done province by province.

The Metric sizes for milk in cartons are 200 millilitres, 500 millilitres, 1 litre and 3 litres. Observant consumers will notice that the Metric cartons are smaller and easier to handle and that they will become empty a little more quickly. Metric cartons hold about 12 per cent less product, but package costs, costs of labour, transportation, handling and processing will influence any price change.

Milk packed in plastic pouches will be available in a plastic bag holding four litres. The bag may contain either 4 pouches of 1 litre each, or 3 pouches, each holding 1 and one-third litres. The 4 litre package is 17 per cent bigger than the existing 3 quart package. In some areas consumers may be able to buy milk in 1 litre plastic pouches. A new plastic pitcher to hold the metric pouch will be available. All new packaging will have the open dating, list of ingredients and a description of the contents in both French and English as required by Consumer and Corporate Affairs.

During the conversion period, October 5th to October 23rd and for a short while afterwards both quarts and litres will be on store shelves and consumers are asked to carefully check which it is they are picking up. They should make certain that they're paying the correct price for their purchase whether it be in litres or quarts.

Nova Scotia is the third of the four Atlantic Provinces to convert milk to metric. In April of this year consumers on P.E.I. began buying milk in litres, Newfoundland converted in September and then New Brunswick have their turns. The Atlantic Dairy Council has scheduled the conversion to minimize confusion, including information letters to consumers, grocery stores and news coverage. Conversion has already been accomplished in the provinces of Quebec, Alberta, British Columbia.

WEDDING

COOK—GODDARD

Heather Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas W. Goddard, of 45 Madison Ave., Moncton, N.B., recently became the bride of Peter Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cook, of 136 Emmerson St., Moncton, N.B.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. E. B. Roberts, at Wesley Memorial United Church, Moncton. Nuptial music was played by Miss Shelley Barnes, with Mr. Harold Crawford as soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white silk-faced mira mist nylon, with an Empire waist, under a Victorian neckline, with a ruffle. The bodice had a sheer see-thru yoke with hand-clipped Guipure lace appliques. The waist was encircled with Chantilly lace. The long bishop sleeves also had appliques of Chantilly lace, and cuffed with ruffles. The A-line skirt fell into soft lines, with a wide flounce at the hemline, accented with Chantilly lace, and drifted into a long chapel train. The skirt also had appliques of matching lace, front and back. Her head dress was a shoulder length veil of tulle illusion, cascading from a crown of Chantilly lace, adorned with seed pearls. She carried a melanie bouquet of white roses, white poms, with a touch of blue, and baby's breath.

Church Conference At Bear River

The semi-annual session of the Nova Scotia Advent Christian Conference convened at the Advent Christian Church September 29, October 2, with Mr. Joe Currens, of A.C. Headquarters, North Carolina, as guest speaker. Mr. Currens is Director of Men's Week and Stewardship for the Advent Christian denomination.

He spoke each night at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday afternoon and evening. His messages centered around the theme "God Can Make It Happen" and he encouraged us to believe that with God's help Christians can change the World by sharing with everybody we meet the Good News of salvation through Jesus Christ, which brings about a changed life through the ministry of the Holy Ghost. Enough changed lives will change the world.

On Sunday afternoon he told about the various denominational ministries centered in Charlotte, North Carolina and how they are best supported by undesignated gifts to the United Outreach budget. In the evening he gave a multimedia presentation on Stewardship, using slides he, himself, had taken as a professional photographer and salesman of tapes and resorts. Now those talents are devoted to forwarding the work of Christ as a dedicated layman in full-time service for God.

Others taking part in the services were: Rev. Cushman Bryant, pastor of Bear Point Advent Christian Church, Shelburne Co. and Pastor Earl Waterman of Bear River. On Sunday we welcomed Rev. Raymond Brown and family, who had newly arrived from U.S.A. to take up the work at West Head, Shelburne Co.

Delegates from Halls Harbor, Kings Co., and Bear Point, Shelburne Co., N.S., were entertained in homes of church members and friends. On Sunday, noon and evening meals were served in the Dining Hall on Digby County Exhibition grounds. These fine facilities added much to the fellowship felt during the Conference as it closed on Sunday evening.

Forrestall In Annapolis

An exhibition of water-colours and pencil sketches by the now world famous Nova Scotian, Tom Forrestall, is being displayed by Artward for two weekends at the Legion Social Centre in Annapolis Royal beginning Saturday, October 15 from 2:00-5:00 p.m. This touring exhibition, arranged by the Art Gallery of Nova Scotia will visit various centres around the province and Annapolis Royal has been chosen to initiate the display which contains many painting subjects sketched in and about this area some done as artichoke, a member of the sunflower family which produces tubers high in carbohydrates. It can be eaten as a vegetable, processed into liquid sweeteners or even used to produce ethanol as a substitute for gasoline.

Researchers at Agriculture Canada's Morden, Man., Research Station have been studying the Jerusalem artichoke for several years in preparation for the time when commercial production of the crop may be feasible on a large scale.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU OF NOVA SCOTIA

DO'S AND DON'T'S OF SALES CONTRACTS

Not all contracts are as far-reaching as the marriage contract...nor should any other contract let you in for so many unknowns and unpredictable adventures. When you and the seller sign an agreement requiring him to perform a service or deliver a product and you to pay money, you are both entering into a contract. A contract is a legal document.

Sometimes it is very formalized and "official looking", but it can also be handwritten on a plain sheet of paper. A contract describes the exact obligations of the signers to one another.

ONCE SIGNED, A CONTRACT GENERALLY CANNOT BE CHANGED OR BROKEN UNLESS BOTH PARTIES AGREE.

If you break your side of the agreement, you may be subject to certain penalties including the loss of some or all of your deposit.

Also, you cannot get out of an obligation merely by refusing to accept things you had previously ordered in a signed contract. Even if your goods are repossessed, you may have to pay some cash amount.

In some provinces, certain types of sales contracts provide a short time period after signing when you may change your mind. In Nova Scotia there is a ten-day cooling off period for direct sales contracts. These are usually for products or services sold on a door to door basis. But for the most part, a contract does not terminate until both parties have done all the things the contract says they will.

Before you undertake such binding obligations, you should know everything you can about them.

Read Before You Sign

There is no better way to protect yourself than to read and thoroughly understand the agreement before you sign. Then is the time to change the agreement by adding or removing conditions that you are unwilling to agree to or which are not what you bargained for.

After signing, be sure to keep a copy of the agreement. Your copy of the contract is the only proof you have of the conditions of the agreement.

What to Watch Out For time promoting national unity.

Mr. Moir said unlike many other nations, Canada cannot function "on a single set of rules - rounding off, if not obliterating, cultural, linguistic, historical, regional, local, neighbourhood and individual differences in the name of the fatherland".

It is up to the Canadian Education Association, and its members, to set some priorities with regard to how it can best contribute to this "big, beautiful country whose people have a vague feeling they want to be together and they want to be dedicated to the principles" of a unified, yet a diversified, country, he said.

Mr. Moir paid tribute to the retiring executive director of the CEA, Dr. Freeman Stewart. A Pictou County native, Dr. Stewart has served the CEA for 30 years in executive capacities. A graduate of Dalhousie University, Dr. Stewart studies at Oxford as IOE scholar for Nova Scotia, and spent five years as teacher and principal in Nova Scotia's school system. He intends to retire to Tatamagouche.

Don't Be Pressured

Contracts are legal documents and should not be signed casually, says the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs.

If you're buying on credit or taking out a loan, don't be pressured into signing a contract until you are sure that you understand it completely, says the department's deputy minister, Kenneth M. Mounce.

"Don't accept the explanation that it's just a 'standard' contract and doesn't require your close attention," he says. "If necessary, take the contract to a lawyer and have him explain it to you. The cost of his fee may more than offset problems that could result from your ignorance of a clause in the contract."

The N.S. Consumer Protection Act requires that all credit contracts give full disclosure of all credit or loan charges. Make sure that the contract you are offered gives the full cost of the goods or services purchased, the trade-in or downpayment, and the interest charges in dollars and cents and as a percentage per annum. The cost of insurance or other fees and the total amount to be repaid must also be included, he says. The payment schedule should also be part of the contract, showing clearly the amount and number of payments, the date they are to begin and to end. The Act also entitles you to a true copy of the contract.

If buying goods, they should be fully described and identified by serial numbers if possible in the contract, as should the goods you brought in as a trade-in. Then, if you have to return the item for any reason and request your trade-in back, identification should be no problem and you should receive it in the condition in which it was brought in. If you're buying services such as home repairs, for instance, make sure the contract contains both the date the work is to begin and the date it is to be completed to ensure that the work is finished when you require it to be, Mr. Mounce warns. The contract should also describe completely the type and grade of materials to be used in performing the work.

When buying on credit or shopping for a loan, always shop around for the best interest rate and save money that way, he suggests. Also, check out the term or length of the contract. The shorter it is, the less interest you pay, although the instalment payments will be higher.

Check the payment date and ask that it be changed if you feel it is not consistent with your pay dates. Many firms charge a penalty for late payments and this amount can build up to a substantial sum over the length of the contract.

All guarantees and warranties offered verbally should be written into the contract for your protection.

If you're offering a substantial downpayment on the goods you are buying, check out the firm beforehand. Consumers should always be careful about entering into a lay-away or prepaid contract for goods or services, Mr. Mounce says. The Department gets many complaints of firms disappearing after receiving money and before delivering goods.

Finally, make sure that all blank spaces in the contract have been filled in before you sign on the dotted line. If blanks remain, scratch them out yourself. Don't leave anything for the seller to fill in afterwards. He may commit you to something you have not agreed to.

Urged To Accept Unity Responsibility

Nova Scotia Deputy Education Minister Carmen Moir has urged Canada's teachers to accept their responsibility in the promotion of national unity, and "unashamedly" portray through Canadian literature, art, geography and history, what it means to be a Canadian.

In his presidential address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Education Association in Calgary, Mr. Moir says teachers are in a prime position to illustrate and articulate what Canada is all about, and must make it a top priority to do so.

Describing Canada as a nation that "cannot be expressed in terms of one blood, one race or one tongue, or one creed or even one political or social philosophy", Mr. Moir told the delegates that as Canadians we must find our sense of identity through the things we associate and understand as the Canadian experience. This includes freedom, and in particular the freedom to be ourselves and to be different from one another - to find our unity in diversity.

Teachers have a responsibility to communicate to their students that diversity doesn't always mean dis-unity.

Mr. Moir said teachers, with all the teaching materials and tools of communication they possess, are some of the best equipped people in the country to promote "unity in diversity", and to promote it through many avenues, besides just language.

Dealing with other educational priorities, Mr. Moir said he feels provincial public education systems "must try to give some priority to providing better educational services to those with special needs". Every Canadian, regardless of ethnic or cultural background has the right to a fair and reasonable educational opportunity. This "opportunity" in itself presents a problem, however, because of limited physical teaching resources, and the difficulty in finding that delicate balance between nurturing ethnic diversity, while at the same

Types Of Construction

By Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation

What do you know about houses? Can you tell the difference between a masonry house and masonry veneer construction? The masonry house has walls built entirely of masonry units such as brick or stone, while masonry veneer consists of a single row of bricks over a frame of lumber. Open lumber framing is probably the most common type of construction in Canada. It is built of vertical studs with plates at top and bottom. One of its advantages is the open space between the studs which can be padded with insulating material. Plank frame construction with walls of solid wood is common in Quebec. Post and beam construction, one of the oldest and also one of the most attractive types of construction, is popular in the coastal sections of British Columbia.

Waterfowl Habitat

Minister of Lands and Forests Vincent MacLean announced recently the province will develop 1,300 acres of marshland north of Amherst, in phase I of a co-operative project with Ducks Unlimited Canada.

The Province will provide the 1,300 acres of Crown land's while complete development funds, design and construction supervision will be provided by Ducks Unlimited (Canada), the private conservation organization engaged in the preservation of waterfowl habitat.

"The Amherst Marshes contain some of the most potentially productive waterfowl habitat in the Province," Mr. MacLean said. "We believe it is important for the Government to acquire the land and make it available to Ducks Unlimited in order to preserve this irreplaceable wildlife area for present and future generations."

Work on the Amherst Marshes will begin this fall. Development plans call for the expenditure of $130,000 by Ducks Unlimited (Canada) on the construction of five miles of dike and water control structures to create two large water impoundment areas. In addition, level ditches will be created within the compartments to improve water flow; and soil from the ditches will be used to create waterfowl loafing bars and nesting island.

Ducks Unlimited Biologists indicate the Amherst Marshes will provide excellent breeding and nesting habitat for Black Ducks, Blue and Green Wing Teak, Pintail, Ringnecks and Wigeon. They point out the Marsh also has great potential for the introduction of Wood Ducks and Canada Geese.

CP Rail Receives Gold Spike Safety Award

The National Safety Council, Chicago, Ill., has awarded CP Rail the "Gold Spike", for outstanding public and employee safety programs conducted during 1976.

CP Rail was the only Canadian railway to receive the award.

Vincent L. Tofany, council president, said the award was presented in recognition of the railway's efforts to stimulate community safety.

Some national CP Rail safety programs which led to the award were:

SCHOOL SAFETY PROGRAM - A program in which rail officials visit schools and demonstrate hazards to the students, rail employees and the travelling public which could result from trespassing and acts of vandalism.

SNOWMOBILE SAFETY CAMPAIGN - A program in which CP Rail officials visit snowmobile clubs across the country demonstrating and discussing the hazards of the sport in relation to railway property and rights of way.

NEAR MISS PROGRAM - A program designed to encourage road and yard crews to report instances where a vehicle driver took an unnecessary risk at a road crossing.

On receiving a report, in which the vehicle is identified by license number or description, the CP Rail Divisional Superintendent sends a registered letter to the driver outlining the seriousness of the incident.

In some cases, the report is forwarded to local police authorities.

CAMPAIGN - A program designed to counteract the hazards to which children are exposed during the long fall and winter periods when daylight hours are progressively shorter.

CP Rail has used a wide variety of techniques to communicate its message to the public. These include audio visual productions, posters, pamphlets, lectures and displays.

C.P. Rail officials have taken these programs to schools, clubs, associations, the media and any other group concerned with public safety awareness.

COOKING BEEF

Whether you buy beef for the freezer or buy it weekly at the grocery store, the cooking of this meat affects several factors. How it is prepared influences the economic worth of the meat, the nutritional value, its tenderness and palatability, and overall, enjoyment.

In order to have deliciously tender, enjoyable beef with every cut, three basic pieces of information are essential:

1. Knowing the location of the beef cuts.
2. Determining whether to use dry or moist heat.
3. Deciding on the cooking method.

Firstly, there has been quite an effort in recent times to label beef more accurately according to its origin on the animal. Old meat charts showed some very fancy names which told the shopper nothing. Today, if the retail label mentions "rib" you know that is along the back of the carcass. It isn't as exercised as shoulders, therefore, it should be tender. Shank, chuck, rump, and round are terms that indicate cuts are from those heavily exercised areas. These cuts will be tougher.

Once you recognize whether a cut of beef is tough or tender, the decision can be made whether to use dry or moist heat.

Dry heat implies that no moisture or covering is used when cooking the meat. Roasting, frying, broiling, and barbecuing are methods of dry heat cookery. They are used on tender cuts of beef.

Moist heat means that both liquid and a cover are used.

When liquid is used, steam forms. The lid or cover keeps the steam from escaping and it penetrates the meat softening the connective tissue. It is the less tender cuts which have well developed connective tissue so the moist heat methods are best suited to those tougher cuts.

The moist heat methods include stewing, braising, and pot roasting. The slow cookers use liquid over a long slow cooking time which is very satisfactory. High heat tends to toughen protein as well as cause excessive shrinkage. So, whether the cut be tough or tender, medium to low heat is best for all meats.

If meat is toughened, it is not appreciated and often wasted. Excessive shrinkage due to high heat is a direct waste of money. There is less meat on the table for the money spent!

In addition to moist heat and low heat to produce tender meat, there are a few other methods to tenderize beef.

Soaking meats in marinades helps soften connective tissues. Marinades usually include an acid solution such as tomato juice, vinegar or other juices.

Pounding action will help soften tough tissues. Meat mallets, the edge of a heavy saucer, potato masher, etc., may be used.

Grinding is perhaps the most widely used method of tenderizing meat when we think of all the hamburgers that are consumed. Grinding literally cuts up the tough tissue making it easier to eat. The uses of ground meat are endless.

Knowing the beef cuts and cooking them according to their tenderness are very important. The value you get for the meat dollars you spend does not end at the cash register. It also depends on what you do in the kitchen!

Beef charts and recipes are available free by dropping a note to me at the Research Station, Kentville, N.S.

Digby Legionnaires Join Eight Team League

At a meeting on October 2, 1977 at the Digby Legion the upcoming season in the Atlantic Junior "C" Hockey League was discussed by the players and executive present. The Legionnaires are planning to have their first tryouts on the ice at the Digby Forum on October 16, 1977.

Anyone wishing to attend the tryouts for the team may do so by attending practices. The opening of the league is set for November 1, 1977.

with the following teams making up the league: Windsor Legionnaires, Sackville Blazers, Eastern Shore Junipers, Newport Jets, South Shore Flyers, Shannon Huskies, Fairview, Digby Legionnaires.

On Saturday September 24, 1977, members of the Digby Legionnaires participated in a very successful walk-a-thon to help raise money for the upcoming season. Through this walk-a-thon pledges to the amount of approximately $1200.00 were received. The Legionnaires would like to express their gratitude to Scott and Grace Datsun Ltd., for the use of a vehicle and also to the Duitiski family who provided sandwiches for the participants.

Somewhere in the province last season grouse hunters bagged a heck of a lot of birds to put the harvest up by 30 per cent. Van Nostrand believes that last year's harvest may have been a high and that a drop in the harvest is likely this year.

"Ruffed grouse have reached a peak in population," he told me recently, "and a decline in numbers is probable."

A glance at the tables published by the department of lands and forests in recent years shows a climb in the grouse harvest since 1965. While there were fluctuations from season to season, the trend generally has been upwards.

The estimated harvest in 1965, for example, was approximately 58,000 birds. While this dropped to about 47,000 in 1967, the harvest continued to climb and went to 100,000 in 1973.

In the three seasons from 1973 to 1975 the annual estimated harvest never dropped below 100,000 birds. What looked like a high was reached in 1974 when 133,964 grouse were bagged. This total looked even more like a high when the harvest dropped by about 25,000 birds in the '75 season. But as we know, the harvest rocketed up again in 1976.

In the eleven seasons from 1965 to 1975 the western district of the province showed the highest number of grouse bagged in any one season—an estimated 49,110 birds were harvested by western grouse hunters in 1975.

In the same period, the grouse harvest on the eastern mainland climbed steadily. In fact it more than doubled between 1965 and 1973. The harvest on Cape Breton has also trended to increase in the same period but it has been slow and mostly unspectacular.

These figures look good on

Sudden-Death Playoff Determines Classic Tournament Winner

Wet weather was an important factor in the Digby Pines Fall Classic golf tournament at the Digby Pines over the weekend.

All play on Sunday was cancelled due to the condition of the course. All that is, except for a sudden-death playoff to determine the tournament champion.

Those involved in the playoff were Lyndon Garron (The Pines) and Dave Bower (Paragon). After two holes of play (11th and 12th) on the soggy grounds, Dave Bower emerged as tournament champion.

In playoff action, both players, finished the 11th hole at par with three strokes. Garron, however, ran into problems on the 12th.

Garron's first stroke on the 12th hole left him off the fairway slightly into the woods—a situation which proved decisive. Bower won the hole with 5 strokes, beating Garron by one.

Bower and Garron had finished play Saturday in a tie for overall low gross (77), Wayne Comeau (Clare) had the overall low net score.

Major trophies and prizes were awarded after Sunday's playoff round by Pines Manager Victor Bradshaw and Clayton Tournament Chairman.

In the first division, low gross winner was L. Garron (The Pines). Low gross in Division 2 went to M. Craig (Truro); to R. Freeman (Paragon) in Division 3 and G. Brenton (Bridgewater) in Division 4.

Low Net scores went to L. Smith, Greenwood, Division 1; L. Kennedy, Hillsdale, Division 2; E. Brown, Paragon, Division 3; and N. Gaudet, Clare, Division 4.

Second low gross winners by division were: 1-D. Webber, Brightwood; 2-G. MacDonald, Paragon; 3-M. Lyons, Shelburne; 4-C. Outhouse, Pines.

Second low nets were: 1-E. Robinson, Pin Hi. 2-L. Power, Ken Wo. 3-F.

MacLean, Paragon. 4-P. Nickerson, Shelburne.

Third low gross were: 1-S. Saulnier, The Pines; 2-G. Shanks, Oakfield; 3-C.T. McKnight, Greenwood; 4-G. Cook, Ashburn.

Third low nets were: 1-K. Dugas, Clare; 2-C. Lowery, Lingan; 3-R. Tucker, Clare; 4-B. Thurber, The Pines.

Fourth low gross were: 1-G. Ritchie, Eden; 2-E. Patterson, Air Lanes; 3-M. Wilson, The Pines; 4-S. Grant, The Pines.

Fourth low net scores were: Div. 1- John Sullivan, Oakfield; 2-R. Outhouse, The Pines; 3-B. Steeves, Ashburn and S. Slaunwhite, Hartland.

Ruffed Grouse Outlook

Most dedicated ruffed grouse hunters have probably looked over their favourite woodland covers by now and have decided for themselves whether the birds are plentiful or scarce.

If the experts are right, hunters should find a plentitude of grouse in the covers this season. Upland game biologist Neil van Nostrand says grouse hunting prospects look good this year and hunters should find plenty of birds.

Van Nostrand bases this optimistic outlook on a series of spot checks throughout the province and from field reports. Taking the province as a whole, the grouse population appears to be high, although there likely will be some areas where the birds are scarce.

In the conservation quarterly published by the department of lands and forests, van Nostrand notes that the "last three years have produced bumper harvests of... grouse in Nova Scotia." In the 1976 season the harvest increased by slightly over 30 per cent—up to 157,730 birds from 108,831 in 1975. The average harvest per hunter increased to 5.3 birds in 1976, up from the 1975 average of 3.7 birds.

I'd be interested in seeing what the increase in harvest was region by region last year. At least one region, possibly Cape Breton, must have had a whopping increase in the grouse harvest since reports from contacts in western Nova Scotia and the eastern mainland con-

In the covers I hunted last year the grouse were extremely scarce. I talked with dedicated grouse hunters from Halifax to Yarmouth and they reported the same thing, a scarcity of birds. Some of my contacts spend a lot of days every season in the best grouse covers of western Nova Scotia and they were unanimous in reporting a lack of birds.

To be fair, I might've talked only with grouse hunters who had bad seasons. Even when grouse are at a high peak in population, there would still be areas where birds are few in number. If a hunter never gets outside the isolated low population areas he would Prevent Fires!

Fire will continue to bring an unacceptable number of deaths and injuries and an intolerable amount of property loss until everyone accepts his share of responsibility for prevention.

Fire Marshal Robert Kerr said today in his annual Fire Prevention Week message to Nova Scotians. He urged householders, particularly, to head off tragedy by following easy and obvious fire prevention practices - not just during Fire Prevention Week, celebrated this year October 9 to October 15, but every day throughout the year.

Last year alone, he said, fires in this province brought death to 33 men, women and children, injuries to 84 others, and untold heartache and suffering to relatives and friends of the victims.

In the same 12-month period, ending March 31, 1977, the monetary loss in the 2,127 reported fires in Nova Scotia totalled $13,162,436, the fire marshal said.

While some of these were deliberately set, he said, close to 90 per cent of them were preventable - they could have been avoided if someone had taken a little trouble to eliminate the causes.

He said he was referring to such things as carelessness, smoking, faulty wiring, defective chimney stacks and pipes, careless use of fat, grease and cooking oil, and other controllable causes.

"We all seem to have the unfortunate habit of dismissing most fires as unavoidable, as accidents, or visitations of bad luck," Mr. Kerr said. "We do not take the time in our daily routine to see what we are doing wrong or are neglecting to do that may cause a fire."

"Consider just a few points:

"Are the electrical fuses in your panel the right size? Do you use gang plugs in wall outlets? Are extension cords placed under rugs where they are subject to damage by being walked on and the insulation is being destroyed?"

"Is the heating equipment checked prior to the heating season? How close are the smoke pipes to combustible materials, are they deteriorated to the point where they need replacing?"

"How about flammable liquids, where do you keep unused paints and thinners, and the gasoline for the lawn mower? In far too many cases, gasoline is stored in glass or unapproved plastic containers in the basement. Did you know that gasoline properly mixed with air has the potential explosive force of dynamite, and that it can be ignited by an electric spark from a switch, furnace, motor or appliance, all found in our homes? Would you place dynamite in your home in such a way that it could be exploded by the act of turning on an electric light?"

"How many of us smoke in bed, or is smoking in bed strictly against the rule in your home? Are there plenty of large, deep and non-combustible ashtrays available for those who do smoke? Do you check upholstered chairs before you retire and is the content of ashtrays kept separate from other combustible waste?"

"Are you prepared for an emergency? Do you have an emergency evacuation plan worked out for the members of your family? Have you a second means of exit from every room in the home? Does your family rehearse this plan? Are you guilty of saying 'It can't happen to me'?"

The fire marshal urged Nova Scotians to accept their individual responsibility for fire safety and help eliminate avoidable fires and the tragic and unnecessary loss of life they cause.

Good preventive action now, he said, could pay handsome dividends tomorrow.

Know Your Fireman

V. Raye Newman, 45 First Avenue, Digby, clerk at the CNR Ferry Terminal, recently completed his term as president of the Digby Volunteer Fire Department. He has also in the past been vice-president and secretary.

A member of the Digby Volunteer Fire Department for more than three years, Mr. Newman has training in the Fire Fighting Course Part A, the Pumper Course, the Nova Scotia Fire Fighting School and the Ground Search and Rescue.

Fire Destroys Dream

What's in a dream? How much planning, toil and love can one put into a dream to see it grow and become a reality - only to see it destroyed by fire?

This is the tragedy a young couple faced after only two years in Canada. They arrived here from Chile in 1972 along with their dream. They started a furnituremaking business, specializing in the Spanish-styled product which is so popular.

The business grew and was about to expand when disaster struck.

The fire apparently started with a spark from a blowtorch. It spread throughout the building. By the time it ended, $23,000 damage had been done, and a dream had died.

Give A Little More Thought To Fire Prevention

Suddenly you discover a fire in your house. What do you do?

Nova Scotia Fire Marshal Robert Kerr isn't thinking of riddles when he asks that question - he's thinking of life and death.

"Your reaction in the first few seconds of a fire," he says, "can save or jeopardize lives and property."

"And if you haven't got an action plan ready for instant response, you're courting disaster," he says.

More and more, Mr. Kerr says, fire authorities around the world are placing increasing emphasis on the installation of early warning devices - smoke detectors - in the home, to give the occupants precious extra time to get out of the building and turn in an alarm.

More and more, too, they are emphasizing the importance of advance planning for an emergency, Mr. Kerr says.

A simple plan, the fire marshal says, can pay handsome dividends.

He suggests the following steps the moment you discover fire in your home:

- 1) Shout "Fire!" Alert everyone. Don't panic.
- 2) Get everyone out fast. Close doors. Don't take time to dress.
- 3) Stay close to children and the elderly. They may get excited or confused.
- 4) Make sure no one re-enters the building.
- 5) Call the fire department from an alarm box or from a neighbour's telephone.

If you live in an apartment and fire breaks out, he suggests:

- 1) Use stairways only. Do not use elevators, you may get trapped.
- 2) If fire or smoke prevent escape, keep doors closed, and if necessary place wet towels or blankets around openings. Get out on balcony or beside an open window.
- 3) Signal for help. Call fire department if you can.

Give full address, your floor number and apartment.

These are steps, Fire Marshal Kerr says, which should be memorized by everyone.

Mr. Kerr suggests, too, that everyone give a little more thought to fire prevention, not just during Fire Prevention Week - being observed this year Oct. 9-15 - but throughout the year.

A little prevention now, he says, could head off a good deal of tragedy later.

Fire Inspection Check List
For Junior Fire Inspectors
ASSIGNMENT: You are assigned to help your local fire department by stopping fire before it starts. Use this Official Sparky Inspection Blank to check your home for fire dangers. Then help correct any dangers you find.

STOVES - HEATERS

1. Do you make sure clothes or curtains or furniture are kept away from stove or heater in your house?
2. If you have an oil stove or oil heater, is it kept level and clean, and does a regular stove man inspect it for leaks and trouble at least once every year?
3. If you have a gas stove or gas heater, and you smell escaping gas, are you ready to call the gas company right away?
4. If you have a fireplace, do you keep a screen in front of fire?

ELECTRICITY

5. Worn out electric cords can start fires. Are all electric cords in your house in safe condition?
6. Have you checked around your house and removed extension cords from under rugs or hanging over nails?
7. Ask dad to go with you and inspect the fuse box. A 15-ampere fuse is right for most lighting circuits. Is the right size fuse in every fuse socket?

SMOKING - MATCHES

8. Are matches and lighters kept out of reach of small children?
9. You know playing with matches is very dangerous. Have you promised your parents never to use matches unless they say so?
10. Are plenty of ashtrays kept where people smoke in your house?

HOUSEKEEPING

11. Have old papers, boxes, clothes, paint cans and other old things been cleaned out of your basement, attic, closets, and garage?
12. Is rubbish thrown out regularly at your house?
13. Has everyone been warned never to use gasoline or similar flammable liquids for cleaning clothes and other things?
14. Are oily mops hung up, and are oily rags kept in a tightly closed metal can or thrown away safely after use?

GENERAL FIRE SAFETY

15. Be sure to ask your dad and mother what you should do in case of fire. If your home caught fire when you were asleep, do you know what you would do to save yourself?
16. Does your family have fire escape drills from bedrooms, so you will remember two ways to the outside from your room?
17. In case of fire, do you know how to call the fire department?
18. Clothing can catch fire easily. Do you keep a safe distance from bonfires, heaters, stoves, fireplaces, and anything hot enough to start your clothes burning?
19. If your clothes ever catch fire, you must never run. Do you know how to smother a clothes fire by rolling on the floor or ground, or covering fire with a coat or blanket?
20. Have you visited a fire station to learn how firemen protect you and your home?

Proclamation

To The Citizens Of Nova Scotia

WHEREAS statistics compiled by the Provincial Fire Marshal show that during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1977, thirty-three lives were lost in fires in this province and property damage exceeded $13,000,000;

And WHEREAS almost half of the 2,127 fire occurrences in Nova Scotia last year were dwelling fires in which twenty-two people died and property damage approached $5,000,000;

And WHEREAS most of those fires could have been avoided if simple precautions had been observed;

And WHEREAS the only way to prevent this economic waste and tragic loss of life is by the undertaking of improved fire prevention measures;

And WHEREAS one of the best means of focusing the attention of the public on the need for improved fire safety practices is by setting aside a specific period of the year, properly designated, to disseminate information on the causes of preventable loss of life and property by fire and the most practicable means of prevention.

NOW THEREFORE, I Gerald A. Regan, Premier of Nova Scotia, do hereby proclaim the week of October 9-15, 1977 as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in Nova Scotia.

Fire Detectors And Extinguishers Are A Good Investment

A good reliable fire detecting system is obviously a good investment. When shopping for such a unit, also shop around for a reliable company. Get competitive bids for installation of the system from at least two companies, so you can compare prices. Ask the firm selling the equipment for name of former customers you may contact. If they refuse, then you should refuse to do business with them.

Beware of door-to-door sales representatives who try to use scare tactics to induce you to buy their systems. They may tell horror stories calculated to arouse parents to put in an expensive system to protect children from fire. Beware also of someone who comes to your home offering to install a system free, in exchange for referrals. In such schemes, if other prospects you refer to the salesperson also purchase the system, you get yours free. But you may well find yourself with no referrals and having to pay the full price of an overpriced system. If you have any reason to doubt a firm's reputability, contact the Better Business Bureau.

There are two basic types of fire detection systems, heat sensing and smoke detecting types. Heat sensors will activate when a certain temperature is reached. Smoke detectors will work even if you can't smell the smoke, and their acute sensitivity makes them more dependable than the heat sensing units in detecting smoldering or remote fires.

Fire detectors may be located in all rooms of a house, including the attic or basement. Or they may be located in only a few key areas, such as outside of bedrooms or in the kitchen. A partial installation, however, gives you only partial protection. To be fully protected, a detection system should be operative throughout the home.

Proper maintenance also is necessary to be sure the system is in working order. It should be checked about four times a year by a professional, such as the installer.

It's a good idea to own at least one fire extinguisher, particularly if you live in a remote area. There are times when a small fire in early stages can be fought successfully. But if you don't completely familiarize yourself and the members of your family with how to use your particular extinguisher, and on what type of fire it can be used, it can be worthless. Be sure to read all the instructions when you buy an extinguisher and reread them from time to time.

There are four types of fire extinguishers, commonly designated A, B, C and D. Type A is for ordinary combustibles of cellulose material, such as wood. Type B is designed for use on flammable liquids, such as grease or paint. Type C can be used on electrical equipment, and type D for use on metal fires.

Fire extinguishers can be designed for use on one type of fire or on several. An extinguisher designated "BC" with a small "A" underneath will serve the purposes of an average home. This extinguisher will fight flammable liquid fires and electrical fires, and also can be used on wood, paper or clothing fires. A good location might be in the kitchen, with an extra extinguisher in some other handy spot. Look for an extinguisher tested by either Underwriters Laboratories or Factory Mutual Laboratories to be more sure of what you're getting. Both the type designation and the mark of laboratory testing should appear directly on the extinguisher.

If you don't know what type of fire detection system or extinguisher would be best for you, you can obtain general advice from the fire prevention unit of your local fire department.

Weather Real Handicap

Someone has said, "send news items from your community, even if it is only that someone's cow died". We have no such report here in North Range for which we are grateful, for truly such would be a great loss when one takes into consideration the continual rising prices of milk, cream and butter, be that as it may, our main concern in this village, as in hundreds of others, is the weather. Mist, drizzle and torrential rains are preventing the farmers as well as small garden owners from harvesting their potatoes; one such gardener was heard to remark that all she needs to do is put on her high rubber boots and rain coat, wade into the garden, pick the potatoes off the ground all washed and ready for the cellar; no back breaking digging there. This may be a somewhat exaggerated report, however the situation is fast becoming critical.

Weymouth Day Activity Centre Sponsored By Kiwanis

With the help of Government aid for "Young Canada Works" program, the Kiwanis Club of Weymouth sponsored Weymouth Day Activity Centre for the months of July and August.

Weymouth being a small place and somewhat lacking in facilities for summer activities, a need for such a project was felt by the members of the Club.

Weymouth Consolidated School was used as a centre for the project. One hundred and eight (108) children of various age level registered and an average of about 60 percent of these students attended the Camp.

Children were divided into different sections according to their age level, and each section was looked after by two workers.

Various educational activities right from learning letters of alphabets and numbers to projects like making replicas of the village of Weymouth, along with several physical and social activities kept the children busy from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. every day of the week. Organized trips were to the Church in St. Bernard; Leonard Boudreau's pig farm; Swimming at C.J.A. Camp in Concession; Jones Bottling and Atlantic Woodworking; Port Royal and Fort Anne and trips to several beaches for corn boils.

Films on different topics, borrowed from National Film Board of Canada and the Department of Education, were shown at least once a week.

The Centre was successful in accomplishing its goals. A number of pre-schoolers benefited by getting together with the people of their own age. This proved to be a good introduction for the coming school year. It was observed on the first day of school that these people could adjust to new situations in a much better way than others. Moreover these students knew their alphabets and numbers and it is hoped this will give them a good start for future years of schooling.

Those in charge of the Centre found that almost every year it is not the children but their parents who are not ready to send their children to school. This is mostly applicable to the families where the child in question is the first child or the only child. The project helped these parents to get used to sending their children away for a whole day. Moreover parents could occupy themselves in activities other than just babysitting for their children.

The students who worked on the project benefitted most. It gave them a good working experience and a sense of responsibility. It was a valuable experience for those who wanted to go in the teaching line. They could observe the individual differences and while working with them they learned how to handle different problems of the young people. Other than gaining from the experiences of the Centre, the financial help was greatly appreciated by the workers who needed money for future education.

The Kiwanis Club of Weymouth, sponsors, expressed thanks to Christine Cosman who acted as project manager and to Jacques Doucet, Edith LeBlanc, Becky Ruggles, Brenda Comeau, Kim Barr, Doris Sabine, and Joanne Burton who also worked on the project. Special thanks went to the members of the Digby Municipal School Board and James Hanscomb for the use of the school.

25th Wedding Anniversary

One hundred and twenty relatives and friends gathered at the Legion Hall in Weymouth on September 10th to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Sayward Ford of Weaver's Settlement on their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Arthur Journey and Mrs. Andy Doucet, sisters of Mrs. Ford, made, and decorated a lovely 4-tier anniversary cake. Miss Marlene Ford, their eldest daughter, was in charge of the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford have four children, Brian of Weymouth; Allan, Marlene and Tina all at home.

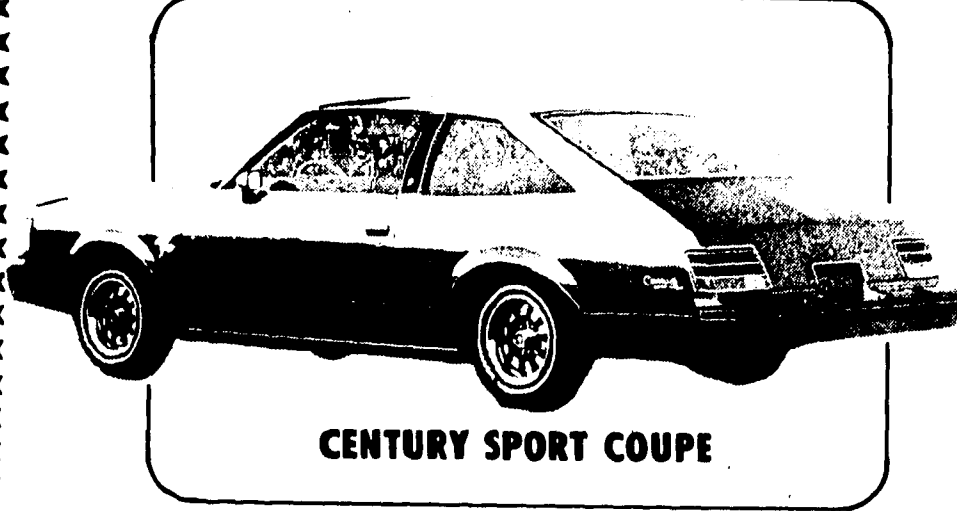

A buffet supper was served, and Mr. Linwood Ford of Barrington, proposed the toast to the happy couple. The guests enjoyed an evening of dancing, following the supper.

Steele and helped Puis LeBlanc celebrate his birthday. Patty Yates was an over night guest of her aunt.

Mrs. George Ayer and Mrs. Eva Berry, Elgin, N.B. called on Jessie Comeau Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Robicheau spent the weekend of September 23rd with Jessie Comeau. Mr. Robicheau returned Sunday, Mrs. Robicheau returned to Halifax on Wednesday accompanied by Jessie Comeau who will visit in Halifax for a few days.

N.D.P.s To Elect Candidates

The New Democratic Party will nominate candidates for the next provincial election in two Western Nova Scotia ridings this month.

On Wednesday, October 19, at Kingston, the Kings West N.D.P. Association will select its candidate. Kingston barrister Bill Dyer is expected to seek the nomination.

On Thursday, October 20, at Meteghan, the Clare N.D.P. Association will

The provincial N.D.P. has been conducting an organizational campaign throughout Western Nova Scotia over the summer months and further announcements concerning additional nominating conventions are expected soon. The N.D.P. has one candidate nominated so far in the Annapolis Valley area, Bill Shiers in Hants West, and aims to complete nominations in Western Nova Scotia by the end of the year, a party source stated.

Vandals Active

Vandals were again active in the Digby area over the weekend. Targets were the Digby Forum, A.J.'s Gallery, and Little River Trading Co.

At the forum, vandals broke a window, ransacked the office and stole a phone. The phone was later recovered.

A window was also broken at A.J.'s Gallery. About $45 in cash and some rolls of coins were stolen. Entrance was gained through a side window.

Apply For French Language Station

Hon. J. Fraser Mooney, Minister responsible for Communications in Nova Scotia, today filed a letter with the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC), supporting an application by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for a French language radio broadcasting station to be located in Halifax. The application will be considered at a CRTC public hearing scheduled for Moncton, N.B. on September 28, 1977.

The Minister, in his letter to the Chairman of the CRTC, points out that Nova Scotia has long been lacking adequate FM broadcast service in either of the official languages.

"Some of Nova Scotia's private broadcasters are supplying an excellent FM service", said Mr. Mooney, "however, we are anxious to see an expansion of FM facilities within the province."

Mr. Mooney expressed appreciation for the CBC's work in resolving this problem with the introduction two English FM Stations in Sydney and Halifax.

The Minister said that he supported any moves in the broadcasting field which will recognize and promote the unique cultural differences within Nova Scotia and which will contribute to the development of national unity through the recognition of particular Canadian, regional and provincial identities.

Aids Nova Scotia Museums

One of the last remaining steam auxiliary cranes in Canada and a railway snowplow are being donated to two Nova Scotia museums at a presentation to take place at the railway's Kentville Station on Thursday, October 13, 1977 at 11 a.m.

The donation, valued at over $13,000, is part of a continuing program of co-operation between the railway and museums across Canada to preserve vintage railway equipment.

"Because of the historical significance of the railway in Nova Scotia, scrapping this equipment would have been a disservice to the community," said E.W. Purcell, manager, Dominion Atlantic Railway.

Presentation of the 195,000 lbs. steam crane will be to officers of the Scottish Railroad Society, Halifax. Officials from the Musquodoboit Railway Museum, Musquodoboit will receive the snowplow. The crane, built in 1913 by Industrial Works, Bayshore, Mich., has a 100-ton lifting capacity. The only other steam crane still in operation on CP Rail is in Victoria, B.C.

The snowplow was constructed at the company's Angus Shops, Montreal in 1952. It was designed for main line single track and was recently retired from service.

Both pieces of equipment had been used almost exclusively on the Dominion Atlantic Railway which is owned and operated by CP Rail.

The railway will assist moving the equipment from Kentville to their preservation sites at the end of October.

The Poor Unfortunate Hottentot

A poor unfortunate Hottentot
He was not content with his lottentot;
Quoth he, "For my dinner,
As I am a sinner,
There's nothing to put in the pottentot!"

This poor unfortunate Hottentot
Said, "Yield to starvation I'll nontentot;
I'll see if I can't elope
With a young antelope,
One who'll enjoy being shottentot."

This poor unfortunate Hottentot
His bow and his arrows he gottentot;
And being stout hearted,
At once he departed,
And struck through the bush at a trottentot.

This poor unfortunate Hottentot
Was not many miles from his cottentot,
When he chanced to set eyes on
A snake that was poison,
A - tying itself in a knottentot.

This poor unfortunate Hottentot
Remarked, "This for me is no spottentot!
I'd better be going;
There's really no knowing;
I might on his view be a blottentot."

This poor unfortunate Hottentot,
Was running to fly to his grottentot,
When a lioness met him,
And suddenly ate him,
As penny's engulfed by the slottentot.

Moral

This poor unfortunate Hottentot,
Had better have borne with his lottentot.
A simple banana
Had starved off Nirvana;
But what had become of my plottentot?

1978 Buick Intermediates Emphasis On Efficiency

OSHAWA, Ont. - For 1978, Buick's all new intermediates continue a program initiated last year in its full-size line to design with the emphasis on efficiency.

Since the important usable space in any vehicle is the passenger compartment and trunk, Buick's Century and Regal were redesigned from the inside out.

In significant measurements like front and rear head room and leg room, substantial increases have been made. Even trunk capacity, aided by the use of a new compact, high-pressure spare tire, has been increased for 1978.

Such things as shell front seat construction, a 1.4 inch increase in front seat adjustment, and recessed rear door or quarter arm rests contribute to ample passenger room while allowing exterior dimensions to be decreased.

For 1978, Century sedans will continue a trend begun in intermediate coupes several years ago by featuring fixed rear side windows. To aid ventilation, on four-door vehicles only, flip-out rear quarter windows, which are available in a power assist option, have been added. Also, a new power ventilation system powered by the heater blower is standard on all non-air conditioned models.

A comparison of the base Century sedans for 1977 and 1978 reveals a wheelbase reduction of eight inches, a savings of 18 inches in overall length and nearly seven inches in width, and a weight savings of hundreds of pounds.

The 1978 Century and Regal also received increased usage of Zincrometal (R), galvanized and electro-galvanized steel, aluminum and improved sealers, primers and coatings to help protect against corrosion.

A Buick exclusive "shear wall" front sheet metal design similar to that introduced on 1977 full-size cars includes inner and outer fender panels with plastic inner wheelhouses for improved corrosion protection.

This design also offers structural integrity and reduced weight.

By combining the efficient use of materials and the redesign for maximum usable space, Buick is able to power its 1978 intermediate coupes and sedans with a new 3.2 litre (196 c.i.d.) V6 engine. This standard engine is complemented by a 3.8 litre (231 c.i.d.) V6 and 5.0 litre (305 c.i.d.) 2 bbl. and 4 bbl. V8 options.

The 3.8 litre (231 c.i.d.) V6 is standard on Century wagons with the 5.0 litre 2 bbl. and 4 bbl. V8 options available.

A dramatic addition to the Century line is a Sport Coupe. More dramatic in appearance than its Century Special and Custom relatives, the Century Sport Coupe features body colored bumpers, blacked-out grille and center pillars, and a two-tone paint design which features a hawk decal on the fender.

Sport wheels, oversize steel-belted radial tires, and a specific ride and handling package add to the sporty feel and appearance of the Century Sport Coupe.

Progress In Rebuilding Bay Of Fundy Herring Fishery

"The payoff in money and jobs from the federal government's bold changes to the Bay of Fundy herring fishery is outrunning our best projections", Romeo LeBlanc, Minister of Fisheries and the Environment, said today. "In two years we have more than tripled the fishery's value."

Mr. LeBlanc was commenting on the latest statistics for this year's fishing season. In the fishery's highest-volume sector, the purse-seine fishery for adult herring, earnings to fishermen this year will be three times the 1975 value. Plant employment in processing large herring and the value of plant output will be about five times the 1975 level.

"For an actual investment of about $5½ million, including DREE grants to processors for expansion of food-processing capacity, we have already got our money back many times in increased jobs and value of output," Mr. LeBlanc said. "At a bargain price, we have transformed the Bay of Fundy's biggest fishery. This is the kind of approach we want to employ in the rebuilding of other fisheries as well: not the expensive chasing of new miracle developments, but working first of all to build from an existing base, and working with the fishermen."

"We cannot build a fishery on futuristic abstractions. In our $41 million fisheries rebuilding program announced last April, bringing to about $170 million the special aid authorized over the last three years, we have relied on concrete, practical programs that the fishermen themselves want. We will continue to do so in future development of the fisheries."

Fish meal for animals was formerly the main product from the purse-seine herring fishery; now the percentage of the catch used for higher-value human food has risen from 20 per cent in 1975 to 97 per cent projected for 1977.

The two-year transformation of the Bay of Fundy herring fishery emerged from the cooperative effort by a federal team led by Fernand Doucet (personal adviser to the Minister of Fisheries) and the fishermen. The government encouraged the fishermen to organize to market their catch in an orderly manner, pacing their catches to match food processing capacity of the herring plants. The cooperative marketing by the fishermen, based on individual boat quotas worked out with government officials, was the key to increasing the fishery's value. The federal government also provided ice facilities, subsidies to improve boats for better quality-keeping of fish, DREE grants to some plants for expansion of food-processing capacity, and other steps to foster production of high-quality food from the purse-seine fishery. In other sectors of the Bay of Fundy herring fishery, measures undertaken include a program to provide fish-holding pounds and a possible catch-stabilization scheme for their weir fishery, and work on the development of a roe fishery, like the profitable herring roe fishery on the Pacific coast, for the gillnet fleet.

The higher world demand for Canadian food herring and the build-up in capacity of Canadian plants with government aid helped increase the use of large herring for human food. Even so, Canadian plant capacity this year remained insufficient for the 72,000 metric ton herring quota. The Minister of Fisheries and the Environment permitted the Atlantic Herring Fishermen's Marketing Co-operative, the fishermen's organization, to sell 15,000 metric tons of raw herring direct to Polish transport and processing vessels for food production. The current increase in fishing by gillnetters and weirs, with nearly 20,000 tons of herring left in the seine quota, has again produced a shortfall of Canadian capacity, and Mr. LeBlanc has now authorized an increase for this year in the short-term Polish contract of 3,000 metric tons, at a premium price of $143.00 per metric ton. "I expect further increases in Canadian processing capacity to make foreign sales of this sort unnecessary," Mr. LeBlanc said.

Patchwork Pieces

Hannah Dale

The weather has been cool with light rain most of the day. Just when it was time to wash the supper dishes, the clouds in the western sky cleared off and the soft warm glow of the sunset lit up the already colourful rain-drenched foliage all along the roadway. This was just too much for me, so I hung up the dish towel, leaving the job half done and went outside to see, smell and enjoy. It's a good thing I did, for the beauty lasted for only a few minutes and by 7:15 the lights had to be turned on and the dishes finished. I always take my pruning shears with me, for I cannot resist picking flowers and foliage. This time it was golden rod, and the bright red winter berry. After the golden rod has been in the house a few hours, I find it has a sweet delicate fragrance. It is now in a tall deep blue vase, and it looks so attractive. The winter berry is in a large dark green pottery bowl. I am already on the lookout for a bird's nest to place on our Christmas tree. Bird's nests begin to look old and shabby in a short time, and are not worth keeping. Just like old houses, that are not lived in, they begin to decay and fall apart. The mauve asters are along the roadside again, but the flowers soon wilt when they are brought into the house. By the way my first "Patchwork Pieces" was about the asters, so it was a year ago this column first appeared.

In the last few weeks it has been pointed out to us, that the Town of Digby is beginning to look neglected and untidy and I cannot help but agree. Perhaps the water, the wharves and the boats, help to take peoples eyes off the deterioration. The Tourist Bureau looks so clean and fresh looking with its glistening white paint, and the colourful flowers in the planters at the front window. The picnic tables and grass look well cared for as well. But the bandstand could do with a coat of paint, and the area to the left needs some attention. The bulletin board is a bit on the landscape, or should I say seascape? It is very seldom used, so couldn't it be taken away? This area could be made into a very attractive spot.

Bird Haven

The geese are heading South. Saw a beautiful flock of about two hundred one evening. Trailing behind were seven more. Likely they were old birds that were unable to keep up with the rest.

There are few birds passing through my yard. Saw one Hermit Thrush one day. The little black and white warblers seem very plentiful this fall.

Two white throated sparrows have joined my flock of English ones and they demand their supper around five, fly in front of windows to attract by attention.

It is time to gather the Black Alder or Canadian Holly berries now, if you put it in the grass and cover with burlap bags the leaves will all drop off and at Christmas time they make lovely decorations, also will be feed for stray robins.

I didn't get to Westport this fall for the bird count, so haven't heard whether there were any unusual birds sighted. The three Downy woodpeckers are coming regularly to the suet along with the Chickadees.

Have picked several quarts of blackberries to freeze for Joey the Cedar Waxwing must get a good supply of moss for the bird cages before the deer season opens. One experience being taken for a deer is enough and that happened on a Sunday morning, fortunately the hunter was a poor shot or you would not be reading notes from Bird Haven.

So long
The Bird Lady.

LIFE IS FREE

In this tell-it-like-it-is kind of age, there is something which should be considered. This is an experience which happens to everyone, but which no one wants to talk about out loud. All people think of it, either with foreboding or joy, depending upon their faith or lack of it. This is the event of death. The finality of it is well known to us, and causes a shudder.

Could we ask a personal question? Have you come to the place in your Spiritual situation where you know for certain that if you were to die today you would go to Heaven?

Those who have faced up to the Gospel know that Heaven is free, but that we don't deserve it because of personal sin. God is so merciful that He does not want to punish anyone, but He is so just that He must punish sin. Jesus came to pay the price of the penalty which evil would put on us. He was God in flesh, Who died and by His shed blood has satisfied God in the payment of our guilt by His sacrifice. Through our faith that Jesus stands ready to lift and cancel our burden of guilt, we come to the place of peace with God and deliverance from the power of Satan. This is not faith of the mind only, nor a temporary faith during emergencies, but faith of the heart toward Christ our only Saviour. Does this plan of escape from self and sin, make sense to you. If it does, do you want to receive eternal life now? This life is free for the asking, "The gift of God is

This year almost every car maker around will be trying to hand you this line.

Look familiar?

It's the Volkswagen Rabbit.

But without even looking too closely, it could be one of any number of cars that have recently appeared on the market. Or are about to.

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, we're very flattered.

However, it's not the outside line of the Rabbit that makes it so revolutionary, it's what goes on underneath the line.

In the five intensive years of planning and innovation that it took to create the Rabbit, it was continually designed from the inside out. Not vice-versa, like many cars. Looks for looks' sake was never our intention, and that's where we drew the line.

For instance, since our transverse engine was mounted sideways up front, it created a huge amount of room for people and luggage in back. (Far more room we might add than any other car its size.) And since the engine took up less room, that engineering fact plus extensive wind tunnel tests determined the dramatic slope of the hood.

The sleek hatchback rear end design and the sporty line of the Rabbit's front were no accidents either. Even though they were in part refined by hundreds of test collisions over several years.

Function followed safety. And form follows function. All along the line.

You also get front-wheel drive. 72 kilometers per gallon (45 mpg) on the highway, 47 km/gal (29 mpg) in the city.* You can accelerate from 0 to 80 km/h in a scant 9.3 seconds. (No one has been able to match those specs either.)

You get fuel injection, rack and pinion steering, front disc brakes, steel belted radials, independent 4-wheel suspension, and a whole list of advanced features that other car makers have not even caught on to yet, let alone caught up with.

Drop in at your nearest VW dealer and test drive the astonishing Rabbit.

Why settle for pale imitations when you can buy the original?

SURVIVAL AND SURPRISES IN THE UNDERWATER HABITAT OFF THE ISLAND OF ELBA IN THE MEDITERRANEAN SEA ON UNTAMED FRONTIER
The island of Elba, off the west coast of Italy and north of Corsica, is now part of Italy. This is where Napoleon spent his first exile in 1814. UNTAMED FRONTIER journeys to the underwater habitat of the Mediterranean Sea just off the coast of the island of Elba. This episode of UNTAMED FRONTIER: ELBA TELECASTS Sunday, October 9, 5:00-5:30 p.m. Eastern Time on the CTV

Television Network. Here, the ocean floor holds many surprises. It is an active habitat used by thousands of sea creatures, many of whom do not even swim. Among the inhabitants are the Flounder, a flatfish that swims on its side; the Scorpion fish, poisonous spines protruding as they glean food from plant surfaces of the kelp; and the Starfish. Remarkable predators, they wrap themselves around mussels and oysters and pull the victims' shell slowly apart with powerful sucking tube feet.
The Octopus, a cruel but beautiful animal, glides effortlessly through the depths but at the least disturbance, retreats to the kelp forest.

Representatives of both hard and soft coral are found around Elba. The elegantly into the current to filter food particles from the moving waters. They wave like sea-grass in the gentle current.
The polyps of living coral are minute close relatives of the primitive sea anemone.
A night time camera expedition explores the underwater world of coral. The artificial lights focus on points of brilliant colour on the ocean floor, the textured bodies of skeletal coral growing over the limestone rocks where crustaceans, molluscs and fish weave a pattern of survival in the ocean's depths.

As the divers continue their adventure, they seem to become at one with their new habitat, and appear as marauders of the sea, sending every creature in their path scurrying for safety. Even the flounder, immune through its remarkable camouflage, panics and flees.
Everywhere the beam of the light projector falls, it catches a flash of movement or a glowing colour.
The sea floor holds many surprises.

Murder On The Orient Express

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8 AT 9 PM

Murder on the Orient Express features a spectacular line-up of international stars in Agatha Christie Thriller.

Set in the pullman and wagon-lits of the legendary Orient Express, which was reproduced in all its mellowed splendor in the period of the early 1930's when Agatha Christie wrote the book, Murder on the Orient Express, stars the biggest line-up of international celebrities in principal roles ever assembled together for a film in Britain.

Heading the list of passengers bound together by the strange circumstances of a violent murder and its subsequent investigation during the three-day journey from Istanbul to Calais is Dame Agatha's favourite character, Hercule Poirot, portrayed by Albert Finney. The dapper, mustachioed, Belgian egghead detective lives up to his reputation for the imperturbable good humor with which he cracks a seemingly insoluble felony through his unerring insight into human nature.

The other stars of the film who fill the segregated Calais coach and therefore become suspects when the train is suspended, during its trans-Europe journey, by a giant snowdrift are: Lauren Bacall as a magnificently dressed American lady; Martin Balsam as the Italian director of the train company and old friend of Poirot; Ingrid Bergman as Pious, timid Swedish missionary; Jacqueline Bisset as the beautiful and exquisitely dressed young wife of a young Hungarian diplomat; French film star Jean-Pierre Cassel as the porter of the wagon-lit coach in which the murder takes place; Sean Connery as an English army officer returning from leave in India's north west frontier; Sir John Gielgud as a gentleman's gentleman serving as a valet to an American millionaire; Wendy Hiller as a Russian princess; Anthony Perkins as the secretary of an evil American millionaire; Vanessa Redgrave as a well-bred English woman; Rachel Roberts as a maid to Russian princess; Richard Widmark as an American millionaire with an aura of evil; Michael York as a suave, elegant Hungarian diplomat.

The late Dame Agatha Christie has written over 80 full-length detective stories and countless short stories as well as many box office successes in the theatre. She is the English language's second most translated writer - the first being Shakespeare, and undoubtedly the world's queen of mysteries.

Land And Sea Returns

Land and Sea returns to CBC television on Thursday, October 6th at 7:30 p.m. This season, well-known commentator Mike Gillis will be joined by Hal Andrews from CBC Newfoundland.

Land and Sea will be going even farther afield than in past years to bring you interesting information about issues in the forest industry: pollution of coastal shellfish; Canada's right to control the standard of foreign vessels operating within the 200-mile limit; and a first-hand look at the Norwegian fishery, pointing up differences and similarities with our own East Coast industry.

Coverage of the World Fishing Exhibition, held recently in Halifax, has been chosen as Land and Sea's seasonal premiere on October 6th. Viewers will see some of the new technology introduced at the exhibition and learn the views of exhibitors, fishermen, and international visitors.

Federal Minister of Fisheries, Romeo LeBlanc, talks with Hal Andrews in an exclusive interview for Land and Sea.

Watch for CBC's resource series, Land and Sea, produced in Halifax, and telecast Thursdays at 7:30, beginning October 6th.

Upsurge Of Interest

In March 1977, the Senate of Canada agreed unanimously to study the connection between learning disability and juvenile delinquency. Also this spring, Bill H.R. 1137 was introduced into the United States House of Congress, calling for a national conference on learning disabilities and juvenile delinquency, to be preceded by state and regional conferences.

These events reflect the startling statistics that indicate the large percentage of youth coming before the courts who are learning disabled. That is, there is a large number of youth (mostly boys) who are intelligent, but because of some neurological difficulty in learning reading, writing, spelling arithmetic - one or a combination.

Learning disabilities imply difficulty in social and or academic learning despite adequate intelligence, teaching, and environment. What is the correlation between reading problems and juvenile delinquency? Senior governments in both Canada and the United States would like to know.

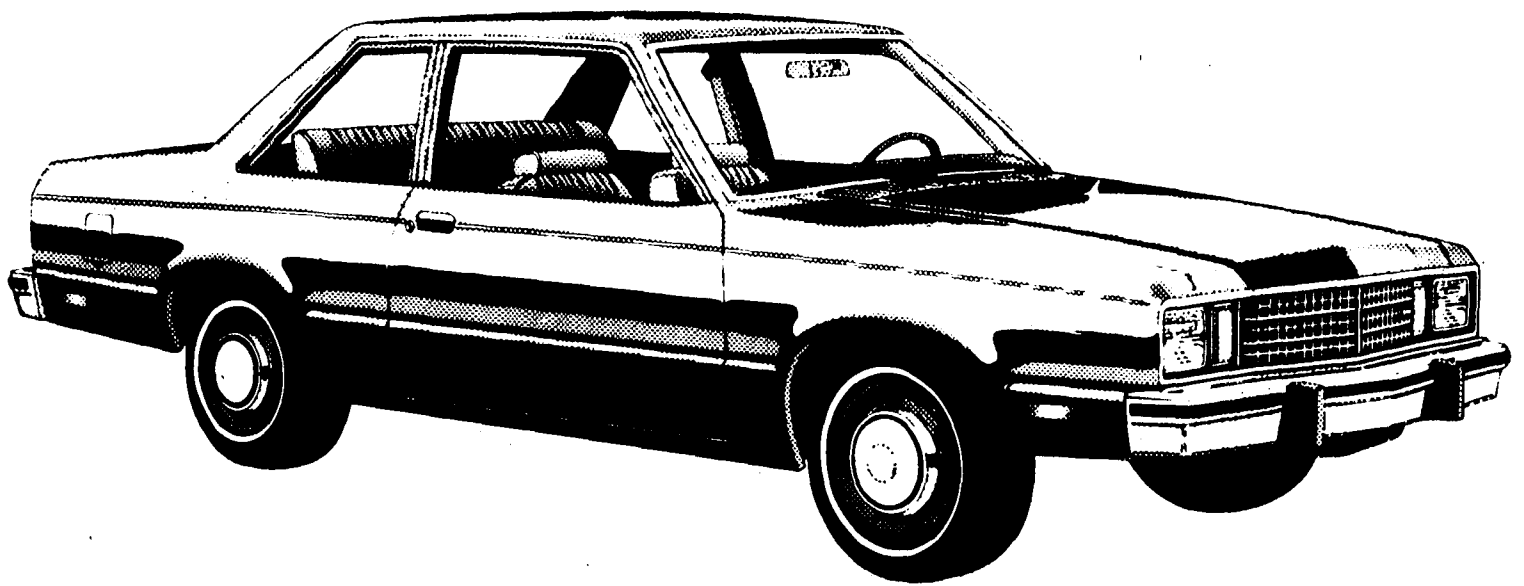

It is increasingly clear that the life chances of the learning disabled will depend to a large extent on the degree of information and responsibility shouldered by parents. Parents cannot expect the solution of the learning disabled youth's problems belongs to others. Parents need to know that they are not responsible for the child's learning disability. However, they will have to be concerned about the remediation.

Material relating to the educational, social, and health aspects of learning disabilities is coming forth in quantity as experiments and research and new ideas are explored. Journals, books, courses, workshops are available to meet a variety of interests.

The 7th Atlantic Conference on Learning Disabilities is being presented October 27, 28, 29 at the Hotel Nova Scotian, Halifax. The theme, "Working Together" recognizes the need for an interdisciplinary approach to learning disabilities - education, medicine, social services, corrections, manpower, recreation.

Reflecting To 1927

The Digby Courier took a big step in that early week of October 1927. That issue of the Courier was the first run off by hydro power supplied by the town's distribution service from Sissiboo Fall. Until then the presses were run by gasoline engines. The Courier says that Mr. Daley ran the loops from transformer at the Town Hall and Art Robinson and his assistant, MacNutt, did the inside wiring, connecting up a General Electric three h.p., three phase motor. "It works like a charm, silent almost with just enough purr to sound pleasant to the ear".

The Courier was expressing much interest in the decision of the C.P.R. coming to Halifax and editorialized that an important move for Digby would be to impress people from Halifax that the C.P.R. already has an entry port into Halifax over lines of its subsidiary D.A.R. It noted that from Halifax to Montreal via Digby is hours shorter than via CNR through Moncton. Because of this important advantage the editorial pressed for improved steamer service and fulfillment of the plan for a ferry for freight handling between Saint John and Digby. So that the people of Digby would not be lost sight of the editorial tried to awaken them to their opportunities and the prospects of port and rail development.

The Bear River Women's Institute annual report in the Courier read "Too much cannot be said of the untiring efforts of our Publicity Committee which has met weekly and prepared notes for the Digby Courier in which a page is carried on by the Institute. This is the only paper in the province in which a whole page is conducted by a woman's organization."

It was definitely decided to re-establish the life saving station at Bay View and the storm signal mast at Port Maitland was completed and placed in commission, it was reported. Mr. Chesley, after making a tour of the Bay View station said it was being re-opened because of increased activity in scallop fishing and other branches of fishing had increased fleets.

At Yerra's in October 1927 could be bought a five pound pail of Domestic Shortening for 95 cents; eight lbs onions 25 cents; five packages cornflakes 55 cents and a gallon molasses 65 cents.

Reflecting To 1947

A permit was granted by Town Council to Denis Comeau to erect a store on Victoria Street and to C.D.Snow to build a wharf and a building at the rear of his lobster packing plant near the head of the government pier. Town Council granted permission to sell a portion of the rink to the Digby Canadian Legion for a canteen. Freeman Barton was granted a continuance of license to sweep chimneys and Rufus Connors to clean chimneys by vacuum process.

J.B.Prince moved from Kentville to Digby where he opened a Men's Wear Store in the Keen building down town. A modern pressing and dry cleaning plant was also to be installed.

Fish and Game Associations and lovers of wild life were indignant and disgusted, according to the October 9, 1947 news which told of wanton slaughter of young fawn by visiting hunters. A party of four were seen returning to Massachusetts with ten deer tied on the roof and hood of their

Traces Progress
Of Fishing Industry

"The Finest Kind", a new 20-minute film on one of Nova Scotia's mainstay industries-fishing-is now available for public viewing. Fisheries Minister Daniel S.Reid announced today.

The film, the first to cover all aspects of the Nova Scotia fisheries, traces the development of the industry during the last four centuries but concentrates on present operations and future challenges and developments.

The film was first shown and used as an educational and promotional vehicle during the World Fishing Exhibition in Halifax earlier this month and received many favorable comments. "Production of the film at this time is most appropriate in light of Canada assuming jurisdiction of the 200-mile fisheries management zone and in particular the challenges and opportunities this presents to the Nova Scotia fishing industry," the minister said.

The film shows various segments of the fishing industry, including the inshore fishery, offshore operations and processing and related activities ashore. Changes in the methods of catching, processing and marketing fish are also depicted.

Through the department's seven fisheries representatives the film will be shown to fishermen and other segments of the industry, as well as to other interested groups and organizations.

"The Finest Kind" was produced by Kingsley Brown, Jr. under supervision of the Nova Scotia Communications and Information Centre.

Dominion Atlantic Line To Continue Excursion Fares

Continuation of special excursion rates on the Dominion Atlantic Railway in Nova Scotia was announced today by CP Rail.

Under the plan, special summer excursion rates which allow savings of one-third regular fare are being extended beyond the Sept. 26 deadline to Dec. 31.

The round-trip excursion rates are in effect between all stations along the DAR line connecting Halifax and Yarmouth via Digby, where ferry service crosses the Bay of Fundy to Saint John, N.B.

To qualify for the lower rate passengers must complete the return journey within 30 days of purchase of the round-trip ticket.

As examples of the fare savings, the round-trip excursion rate between Halifax and Digby is $21.10 instead of the regular $31.60, while the journey from Yarmouth to Digby and back costs $9.40 instead of $14.10.

The Dominion Atlantic Railway, serving the principle cities of Halifax, Windsor, Kentville, Annapolis Royal, Digby and Yarmouth, is owned and operated by CP Rail.

car. Three of these measured 26 inches front shoulder to tail, three twenty-eight inches and the other four very young. A.D. Daley commented to the Digby Courier that he and his father, Major John Daley, brought the first deer to Nova Scotia in 1894 and he felt it a crime to let hunters kill such young animals. He felt if this is allowed Nova Scotia would soon have no deer. Of the first deer brought to Nova Scotia eleven were brought to Digby and taken to Lake Joli to be released March 1894. One died. Twenty years later four more were brought by Sheriff Smith and Carmon O'Dell. Two were released in Annapolis County and two in Yarmouth County. From the fourteen has come the entire deer population of Nova Scotia. A front page editorial lamented the deer incident.

Missionary Tradition
To Reverse

"For too long the western churches have assumed that the educational task in mission was to export our church leadership abroad," says Lois Wilson, President of the Canadian Council of Churches.

Mrs. Wilson thinks it is time to reverse the long-standing tradition. "It is time to accustom members of Canadian churches to the presence of those who have been on the receiving end of western missionary enterprise and to be prepared to collaborate in work together."

In one effort to carry out this idea the Canadian Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches have arranged an international consultation on the Bible in our Work and Situations to take place in Naramata, B.C., October 17-23. (Naramata is a United Church lay training centre near Penticton, B.C.).

Forty-five delegates and observers will pay special attention to the role of the Bible in the economic, political and social issues of our time. Drawn from six continents, the delegates will tell of the work done by churches in the secular structures of various countries. Among the denominations represented are: Church of North India, Lutheran Church in Germany, Anglican Church in Nigeria, Presbyterian Church in Jamaica and the Christian Institute of South Africa.

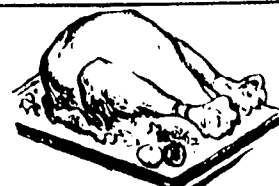

Apply For NIP Funds

It was reported by His Worship Mayor Stuart MacNaughton at the October meeting of the Digby Town Council on Monday evening that application for funds under the Neighborhood Improvement Program had been made. The program in Digby would employ five persons. Work will commence on October 14.

The NIP under the Nova Scotia Housing Commission gives an opportunity for upgrading streets, parks and community projects such as the rink and machine barn in Digby town.

It is understood the maximum amount available under the N.S.H.C. is $150,000 and under Central Mortgage and Housing $30,000 to a total of $180,000. Time will be given to planning the Digby projects before their implementation.

Nova Scotia Fisheries At Crossroads

Hon. Dan Reid, M.D., minister of fisheries for Nova Scotia presided at a meeting held at the Digby Fire Hall when approximately one hundred fishermen from Digby and Annapolis counties attended. Seated above left to right are

Hon. Daniel S. Reid, M.D., minister of fisheries for Nova Scotia and John Mullally, deputy minister of fisheries met with approximately one hundred fishermen of Digby and Annapolis area at the Digby Fire Hall on Tuesday evening. The meeting was one of a series of eight being held in the province to ascertain the fishermen's viewpoint on what is necessary to improve the industry in the area and to give fishermen an opportunity to learn what advantages are available from government resources to aid the fishermen. Another item on the agenda for the evening was the appointment of twenty delegates to attend a conference to be held in Dartmouth later in October. Also present at the meeting were Joseph Casey, M.L.A. and Richard MacDormand, Smith's Cove, local representative for the fisheries department.

Following the showing of a film dealing with all aspects of fishing, the fishermen were addressed by the deputy minister who said that the fisheries industry offers more potential for development than any other industry in Nova Scotia. The industry, he said, is at the crossroads in Nova Scotia and much depends on how it is developed from here on. He said that the 200 mile limit is the most significant event which has happened in the industry.

The film, the first to cover all aspects of the provincial fisheries, traced the development of the industry during the last four centuries, but also concentrated on present operations and future challenges and developments.

The film was first shown and used as an educational and promotional vehicle during the World Fishing Exhibition in Halifax and

The film showed various segments of the fishing industry, including the inshore fishery, offshore operations and processing and related activities ashore. Changes in the methods of catching, processing and marketing fish were also depicted.

The Digby-Annapolis area meeting on Tuesday represented handliners, gill netters, dragners, weir fishing, lobster fishing, seiners, all of who brought up problems confronting them and suggestions aimed to improve conditions. Lack of harbour facilities were considered a serious threat to the industry in Digby and Annapolis area with Digby Neck and Islands fishermen being vocal on the deteriorating condition of the wharves against the protection of the boats used being built bigger and bigger.

Processing facilities, marketing, licensing of boats all came in for discussion before the close of the evening's program.

Dr. Reid said the 200 mile limit will not produce miracles overnight but provides much opportunity for improvement in fish stocks and gives an opportunity to exploit other species we have not been exploring. He said he would rather see our fish go to Europe in Canadian wrappers than in factory ships.

Dr. Reid hopes to get all branches of the fishing industry together, including processors and look into the industrial development program, resource development, training schools and field services, including resource management, catching, processing and marketing. We should be replacing boats, he said, and he would like to see increased subsidy federally and provincially.

Fishermen Courses For Certification

The training division of the N.S. Department of Fisheries is arranging three, eight-week courses in south-west Nova Scotia for fishermen preparing to write Ministry of Transport examinations for certification.

The new program is the result of the introduction on Sept. 1 of the revised examinations and certification for fishing masters and mates, and is intended to meet the needs of fishermen preparing to take the MOT examinations.

Dates of the three courses are: Oct. 31 to Dec. 23; Jan. 3 to Feb. 24, and Feb. 27 to April 21. The exact course locations will be determined later.

The courses will prepare fishermen to write for the new watchkeeping mate certificate. Candidates will be examined in navigating instruments, chart work and pilotage, and general seamanship.

The program will also include the small craft master certificate (40-ton) and a radio-telephone course.

The new MOT regulations demand that before a fisherman can write for a full fishing master ticket, he must serve for one year on a vessel of 25 gross tons or over while holding a wat-chkeeping mate, or fishing mate ticket.

A spokesman for the Department of Fisheries said the introduction of the watchkeeping course to the fishing communities is of considerable importance and benefit to the fishermen, since successful completion of the course will enable them to prepare, and write for the full fishing master examinations in a shorter period of time.

It is anticipated that there will be a heavy demand for these courses, and an early booking is advisable since the number of candidates per course is restricted to 12. The local Canada Manpower Office will accept registration for these courses, and should any further information be required contact should be made with:

Local Department of Fisheries Representatives: Gerald Mossman, R.R. 1, Rose Bay, Lunenburg County; telephone 766-4749; Arnold Muise, P.O.Box 15, Middle West Pubnico, Yarmouth County, telephone 762-2846; Richard McDormand, Smith's Cove, Digby County, telephone 245-2672; Gerald Nickerson, Lower Clark's Harbour, Shelburne County, telephone 745-2224.

In addition information may be obtained from Fisheries Training Centre (Captain Ralph Hemphill), P.O.Box 700, Pictou, Industry For Handicapped May Be Twelve Months Away

Making Jams and Apple Butter is one possibility being looked at in the search for an industry to employ the mentally handicapped of this area.

The Adult Services Committee of the CMAR, Digby Branch, under the chairmanship of Doug Hapeman, had been thinking along the lines of paper recycling.

However, the recent visit by industrial consultant, Al Francis and his resulting discussion of industrial possibilities put a damper on that idea. Francis warned of an unstable market in the paper recycling industry.

The committee had been hoping for some type of industry by late Fall. Now, however, it looks like an industry might not be realized for another 10-12 months.

Francis was of the opinion that a high-quality jam or butter, well-packaged, could really make it in this area. He offered to search out the possibilities should the committee decide to have him return. The government pays 65 per cent of the approved budget for such projects.

In the meantime, the Adult Services Committee has recently hired Carla Keddy as Director of Adult Services. She is at present supervising an adult workshop program at the Adult Services Workshop (formerly the Activity Centre) in Conway.

Carla works with about six trainees fixing and refinishing furniture.

Part of Carla's role here is to find meaningful employment for the handicapped. She would be involved in any job-placement program instigated by the committee.

Public Support For Police On Upswing

The public is apparently changing its couldn't-care-less attitude toward crime and vandalism in the Digby area.

In recent days, the R.C.M.P. report, it has become somewhat easier to get people to testify in court cases. This has proven especially true in the recent downtown incident in which several R.C.M.P. constables were assaulted.

Fourteen charges were laid as a result of that incident. Several of the youths charged appeared before Judge K. L. Crowell as a result of the incident and were remanded in custody on bail ranging from $350 to $500. A hearing on the charges is scheduled for early November.

Several possible reasons for the public's willingness to come forward have been suggested. Among them are recent publicity on the problem and stiffer court sentences handed out to offenders.

In recent times, the Digby area has had a surge in vandalism, especially in the downtown district. One reason for this was believed to be that people were afraid to testify for fear of retribution.

FULL COUNCIL SLATE

Though for awhile it appeared that Digby Council nominations were going to run short last Tuesday, it was gratifying to see that the full complement was nominated before five o'clock. While election by acclamation is not the most desirable kind of election, the three councillors, Philip Robertson (re-elected), Guy VanTassell (re-elected) and newly elected Michael Sweeney will be welcomed and citizens will be happy, at least, that another nomination day is not necessary. As we know from experience nomination days can go on and on.

In welcoming the three councillors it is noted that a new source is being tapped for town service, the field of education. Since education is responsible for much of town finances it should be beneficial to the town to have education represented by someone who understands the needs in that particular field. However, there are many areas where the sharp eye and logical and intelligent considerations must be shown by all councillors so there is room for many other specialized and general servants. Finances, taxes, health, sewerage, social welfare, building, fire protection etc., all come under direction of town councillors.

Now that the election has taken place by acclamation it is up to the citizens of the town to give these men support. They have big undertakings before them. The sewer project is still with us. The Town Hall looms high in the agenda. In fact, the ratepayers meeting regarding the town hall is on for October 18. You do not have to vote in favor of borrowing for building of such (although we are desperately in need) or against. No one can tell you how to vote but you owe it to council to be there to discuss the issue.

To the entire slate of mayor and councillors we wish fair sailing and a productive year ahead.

F.C. PURDY DEATH ENDS DIGBY ERA

With the sudden death on Saturday of F.C. Purdy, the town of Digby and area ended another era in its history. During the years from 1931 to the present year, F.C. Purdy had given unstintingly of himself to educational advancements and health services of the town. He also participated and gave leadership in many community efforts, church activities and fraternal organizations. Capacities in which he served were many and varied and the town today enjoys a richer life because he lived in its midst.

The life of F.C. Purdy has left many monuments, visible and invisible to his memory. Many of his students can look back in appreciation to his guidance. Concrete evidence of projects he spear-headed, too, can be seen in both the Digby General Hospital and the Digby Regional High School, although to the lament of all the 1948 pilot project construction was destroyed in June of this year by arson. Following the fire, the Digby School Board entrusted to Mr. Purdy the rescued contents of the marred cornerstone to be transferred to the cornerstone of the proposed new building replacement.

While Digby community mourns the loss of a man dedicated to education, health and community promotion, sincere sympathy is expressed to his family in their great loss.

NOTICE NOMINATION CONVENTION

The Annual Meeting of the Digby Progressive Conservative Association will be held on October 27, 1977, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening at the Legion Hall in Digby, Nova Scotia.

This meeting will deal mainly with the nomination of a candidate to contest the next Provincial Election. A new slate of officers will also be elected.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

A few comments on Gary B. Smith's letter to the Editor, Oct. 6. In my opinion Mr. Smith has told an interesting story, that conveys a serious message, that has considerable value and it takes courage and concern to tell such a story. Appreciation and thanks to him.

It seems that some people will destroy even those things which are given to them for their benefit and enjoyment in other words, they will bite the hands that feed them. Especially is this so when they are under the influence of alcohol, and or other drugs.

Some how, some way, some time (the sooner the better) those people who have it in their minds and hearts to destroy property and hurt other people, must, and will, be converted or stopped in their senseless ways.

Vincent Snow.

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my opinion and feelings, along with many others, regarding the dropping off of a puppy between six and eight weeks old from a truck or car in the middle of a busy thoroughfare such as Victoria Street. The street that takes all traffic to the Digby Saint John boat. Yesterday, Oct. 6th a puppy was put out of a truck and left right in the middle of Victoria Street near the ball field. The puppy was frightened and for a minute just went from one side of the street to the other and finally crawled into one of the cement cylinders that are piled there, and that particular cylinder was just covered with broken glass. I took food to the puppy and got it from that cylinder to another which did not have broken glass in it. This was early in the morning.

The pup was still there at one thirty in the afternoon curled up along side of a piece of heavy machinery. I carried it to my car and took it to the Riverside Animal Hospital near Bridgetown rather than to leave it out in the storm that was predicted for that night. I live in the Senior Citizen's Home and could not care for it myself otherwise would have done so. The doctor found the dog to have been terribly neglected being alive with fleas and mites. The puppy was left there to be cleaned up and if possible to find a good home for it but if not it will be put to sleep. My phone number has been given over the radio. I paid $14.00 to have the little fellow taken care of.

Any person who will dispose of a small puppy in this fashion has no character, principle nor the brains of a weasel. The above, also, applies to people who will advertise puppies to be given away regardless of the home they might get into and then again taking them to the shopping mall on a Friday night to be given to any youngster who will take it and so very often the parents will not allow the child to have the dog or puppy and again its put out on its own left to wander around hungry and neglected. Digby seems to be noted for this.

If you have a puppy it is very easily trained by showing it a little affection, having patience and treating it as though it had some feelings as all animals do. There are animal hospitals for the care of animals.

Yours truly,
Helen Hesketh.

Hodge Podge

Having heard Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II enjoy a hearty laugh on her visit to Nova Scotia last year, we think she, too, would get a laugh from our news report last week that she had given the gifts of two stags and five dogs to the people of Nova Scotia to be placed in the wildlife park at Upper Clements. Everybody we hope, realized it should have read "two stags and five does".

THE OLD-FASHIONED SIDE-BOARD

C.R. Elliott

Where the dining-room is large enough homes still possess and use a buffet, cupboard, sideboard. It makes a convenient place to store as well as display some of the better china and silverware belonging to the home. In years gone by it had a better purpose.

Families ate meals together. It was the occasion three times a day when family-solidarity was renewed and when plans were discussed and decided. Food was seldom individually served from the kitchen. It was placed in large tureens, platters, cruet, samovars, salvers, and placed on the dining-room sideboard from which the head of the family served each member according to their needs or desires. The fact that quite elaborate rituals issued from all this in some cases is really incidental; the important thing is that the food was together just as the family was together, and a proper place was provided.

In the life of the parish church the same kind of practice also emerged. Besides the Altar there was placed a small table, or sideboard, or shelf, which is still used today. It holds the vessels and bread and wine to be used in the Church's Family Meal of Eucharist and Communion. It is traditionally known as the credence-table rather than sideboard but with an identical purpose. The origin of the word 'credence' in this respect is somewhat curious. Webster's Dictionary limits the meaning of 'credence' to the Latin Credo, referring to belief, creed, credibility, and so on, though it speaks of the ecclesiastical credence-table. But there is much more, and much more exotic, meaning to the origin of the table. It appears to originate in the Italian word Credenzare which means to taste beforehand. An ancient court practice was to have meats and drinks tasted beforehand by carvers and cup-bearers who were thus called Credenzers. When the food came from the kitchen it was tasted by a servant at the sideboard and if it did not measure up to required standards it was sent back for improvement. (One wonders if such a practice was not also a precaution on the part of the head of the house to protect himself from possible poisoning by enemies, willing to sacrifice a servant rather than his own life.)

We seem to have lost a precious aspect of family living by using so many foods now that are prepared and packaged and ready to eat when we buy them.

There is no need for a sideboard. It is good to see some of our old houses being restored, and suitable old-fashioned furnishings being restored as well, including the sideboard. It is to be hoped such families will also try to recover some of the rituals which enhanced and preserved family solidarity by means of these furnishings.

In parish churches we continue to use credence tables even though liturgical customs are becoming highly modernized, including the use of prepared breads and commercial wines. A few experiments, on special occasions, return to ancient practices of ac-

Youth Group Plans Hallowe'en Dance

A meeting of the Trinity Youth Group was held October 9 at the Anglican Church hall at 7:30 p.m. Several new members were welcomed.

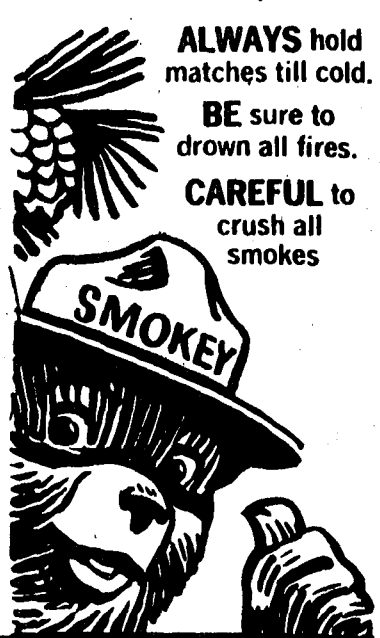

In old business, the possibility of building a shooting range in the basement was further discussed. Steven Dunphy reported that he had received notice confirming the shipment of six of Charlie Chaplin's all time hits to the group about the middle of November. The Hallowe'en dance date was fixed definitely for October 22 and price was agreed at 50 cents. Members and guests only.

cepting home-made breads from the congregation and wine made by some church member whose hobby with local fruits makes him a modern expert as a traditional Credenzers.

New business. It was decided tentatively to show the six Charlie Chaplin films at the Anglican Church hall on Friday, November 19, donate fifty cents. Refreshments to be sold.

Next meeting is to be October 17.

Three of the principal characters of CANADIAN PUPPET FESTIVALS production of "Aladdin" are shown in a scene from the popular puppet play. Aladdin and the beautiful princess discuss with the Sultan plans for Aladdin's forthcoming wedding to the princess.

"ALADDIN" will be presented on Wednesday, Oct. 19 at 8:00 p.m. at Universite St. Anne gymnasium.

Puppet Theatre Version Of "Aladdin" Coming To L'Universite Sainte-Anne

The ever-popular story of "Aladdin" will be brought to Church Point on Wednesday, October 19, and presented in the Universite Sainte-Anne gymnasium at eight o'clock by Canada's first puppet theatre company, Canadian Puppet Festivals.

This company, which has produced award-winning puppet theatre in its twenty-five year career, moved to the Maritimes two years ago to make its new home in Chester. The company headed by veteran puppeteers Leo and Dora Velleman, brings a brand new version of the well-known story of the young man who finds a magic lamp, only to lose it.

The story of "Aladdin" unfolds as we find an evil magician trying to get hold of the most powerful magic lamp in the world. To gain his ends, the magician poses as Aladdin's uncle, and offers to help Aladdin and his mother. The magician then persuades Aladdin to get the lamp for him from a cave. After an argument Aladdin is trapped in the cave but escapes to use the lamp. He becomes rich and famous as a result and ends up by marrying the beautiful princess, Badroulboudour. The princess gives the magic lamp away by mistake, and Aladdin is stripped of his wealth and power. How our hero succeeds in outwitting the evil magician is excitingly told by the world famous puppets of Canadian Puppet Festivals.

It is, indeed, an evening for the family. Colors, lighting effects, costumes, movements, everything is exciting in the show with a story everyone knows, a story everyone will be anxious to find out how it is handled by a puppet company.

Advent Congregation Entertained On Thanksgiving

On Thanksgiving morning, Rev. and Mrs. Earl Waterman entertained members and guests at a coffee hour in the Sunday School rooms of the Advent Christian Church. Folk gathered at 9:00 a.m. for a time of singing of Thanksgiving hymns, the responsive reading of Psalm 136 and a circle of prayer in which thanksgiving was expressed for God's blessings during the year. Coffee and doughnuts followed.

Special guests were Rev. and Mrs. David Snell and family of Sackville, N.B. who were spending the holiday with the Watermans. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. John Harris of Goodwins Mills, Me. who were visiting his aunt, Miss Helen Woodworth, over the holiday weekend.

On the prayer meeting evening preceding Thanksgiving, October 5th, the United Baptist Church combined services with the Advent Christian Church so that Rev. Doug Hapeman could bring a message on "Fasting", as taught by Jesus in the Scriptures. As He expected us to give and to pray, so He expected us to fast, as spiritual exercises which would draw us closer to Him and empower us for more effective Christian living. Yet He laid upon us no specific rules as to time and frequency of these fasts, for in Christ we live "not under law but under grace." The Advent Church expects to unite with the Baptist Church for prayermeeting sometime in the near future.

Speaks On Thanksgiving

On Monday evening October 11th the Women's Institute met at the Havelock Consolidated School for their monthly meeting.

Business was conducted as usual, and then Mrs. Ruby Mullen as guest speaker gave an interesting talk on Thanksgiving Day, from its very beginning when the Pilgrims came in the Mayflower to Massachusetts in 1620 and survived that first winter with all its hardships. They saw how good the earth and their new home had been to them so they prepared a feast and gave thanks to God for what they had received. The native Indians joined them in their celebration.

Mrs. Mullen was thanked, then games were played by the ladies of the W.I. and after a lunch departed, each with a gift from the Sunshine Sister.

Business weak this week?

Give it a boost by long distance.

People in business today are discovering the amazing, rejuvenating qualities of a little extra long distance calling. Especially when things are quieter than they should be. You can check on dealer inventories, solve problems in advance, pick up new orders. It's being done more and more. Every week of the year.

It's especially good on weak weeks. Within Nova Scotia, a daytime direct-dialled call costs less than a dollar a minute. Even if it takes a couple of minutes, at little more than a "dollar-a-holler", who's to complain — if it means business. And it does.

On September 20, 1977, the Gideon's and Auxiliary members met for a dinner party and fellowship at the "Hollow Spot", Deep Brook, along with Zone Leader, Denton Orde and Mrs. Orde from White Rock, Kings Co. After the dinner party they met at Barnes Lake at the cottage of Elmer and Carlene Porter for the monthly meeting.

The meeting opened with a Hymn Sing followed by prayer by Jesse Margarvey and Donald Trimper.

Zone Leader, Denton Orde, had the Devotional for the evening. The theme was, "Power that is within you." The Gideon Camp verse was repeated together.

The president, Ronald Morehouse, on behalf of the Gideons's and Auxiliary members presented Hugh and Alice Willett with a guest book and plaque. Both Hugh and Alice responded with thanks and well chosen words of appreciation. All members stressed their regret at Hugh and Alice moving to Nictaux. Their presence will be missed. Hugh has accepted the position as Vice-Principal of the Lawrencetown School.

The Ladies Auxiliary retired to another room for their meeting. Business was carried on as usual after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

The meeting closed with the joining of Hands and singing, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds" and prayer by Hugh Willett.

New Insect Series

Scientists at Agriculture Canada's Biosystematics Research Institute in Ottawa are working on a project that could take several generations to complete.

They are producing a series of identification manuals on all the insects and spiders of Canada. There are about 50,000 named insect and spider species in Canada but it is estimated that an equal number may still to be discovered. The first manual in the series has now been published and several others are in preparation. However, with such a large number of insects to be presented, the work will go on for many years.

Minor Hockeyists Get Ready For Season

Registration of Digby Minor Hockey players will take place on October 15th and 22nd at 12 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Digby Rink, it has been announced. The price will be $25.00 per player.

Minor Hockey is urging anyone with hockey equipment for sale, trade or give away to please bring it to the Rink on the registration days.

Minor hockey is asking everyone who buys at the local CTC and IGA stores to save their Canadian Tire money and IGA slips for redemption in merchandise by Minor Hockey. Collection boxes for tapes and money will be in several stores in the area for your convenience or they can be given to a minor hockey player, coach or executive.

equipment were removed from the Minor Hockey room. Some of this equipment was recovered by interested citizens in the area of the rink. If anyone else has found any hockey equipment recently or knows of its whereabouts kindly contact Ben Cullen at 245-2553 or the Digby R.C.M.P. Detachment. The cost of replacement of this equipment will be significant and co-operation in recovering the stolen items would be appreciated.

The Digby Minor Hockey Association has passed a motion this year that effective January 1, 1978 all minor hockey players will be required to wear full face protection either by full wire cage or plastic visor and jaw guard. This decision was taken in light of increasing reports of face and eye injuries in sports and a concern that it could result in a permanent injury to one of the players. Minor Hockey has negotiated a discounted price on this equipment from a supplier and anyone interested in ordering through Minor Hockey, is asked to indicate this at registration time.

Ackerman Calls For Rethinking The Economy

Nova Scotia NDP Leader, Jeremy Ackerman, called for a "first things first" restructuring of Economic Planning in Nova Scotia. He said that we should be rethinking our economic strategy to develop a planned economy which will operate with basic common sense, utilize our resources and harness our potential in a way which will protect us against the vagaries of the market place and help to establish long range economic stability. The NDP Leader stated that this would entail a twofold approach, the first being to reverse current government policy of restraint in bad times and undue spending in good times; the second to establish a proper sense of priorities.

Mr. Ackerman said the government could watch how families in Nova Scotia manage their money and act in a similar manner. When families are working and earning good money they attempt to save something to insure themselves in the event of possible hard times to come, "putting something away for a rainy day". So should government be acting with restraint when the economy is buoyant and revenues are high so it can spend and stimulate when the economy is depressed. "The government of Nova Scotia has done precisely the reverse. When times were better in the early 70's the Regan government spent prodigiously, kept taxes down, subsidized power rates and acted as if there were no tomorrow. When times got hard and more people were out of work, they renewed the wage control agreement, cut back and instituted restraints, raised taxes, increased license fees and allowed oil, gasoline and power prices to rise to intolerable levels," Mr. Ackerman stated.

The NDP Leader called for a clear cut policy to reverse this situation. "Nova Scotia needs a policy of balance, not every annual budget, but to balance the economy over the long haul and smooth out the ups and downs which create misery and uncertainty." Mr. Ackerman recommended a plan to base policy on the unemployment rate. If the provincial unemployment rate fell below 6 per cent, government should control expenditures and bank what financial resources it could so that when the unemployment rate went above 6 per cent it would be in a position to loosen the purse strings and stimulate the economy to put people to work and encourage business. "We are all tasting the bitter fruit of the Regan government's defiance of common sense," Mr. Ackerman said.

The second approach to turning the economy around, according to Mr. Ackerman, would be to establish a proper sense of priorities. The government, again, should observe how ordinary people govern their lives. People place a higher priority on the basic necessities of food, clothing and shelter than they do on luxuries and trivia. Government too should be directing its resources to the essentials rather than to incidentals. Mr. Ackerman pointed out that such an approach might require some discipline which might not be popular. "First things first," Mr. Ackerman said.

Mr. Ackerman pointed out that government spokesmen, the Premier, the Minister of Housing and Labour and the Minister of Finance had all been heard to blurt that "The government of Nova Scotia does not have the power to affect a turnaround in the economy". "What has become obvious," Mr. Ackerman said, "is that the government does have power to effect changes in the economy; this government just does not have the ability or the will to do what has to be done. This government's negative outlook has become a self-fulfilling prophecy."

Fall Film Programs Planned

Films of established value, some old, some very new, will be shown in the fall programs of "Thursdays One and Three", Annapolis' own film society. The Annapolis West Education Centre, starting October 20. Screenings will commence at 7:15 (a new time) in the evenings of the first and third Thursdays of each month from October through May.

The "Thursdays" film committee of area residents, led by C. Laughton Bird, has been building on the success of last season's series and that of the Annapolis Film Festival (held in conjunction with Natal Day festivities) and has drawn up a program of feature presentations and special subjects which have already received wide acceptance and critical acclaim.

"Rachel, Rachel", Paul Newman's award-winning vehicle, requested by the film society audience last winter and starring Newman's talented wife, Joanne Woodward, will be offered October 20. It will be accompanied by: "Exeter" - loving treatment of a living church today and a cathedral of ancient beauty. The 28-minute color film reveals the history, the architecture, the music and the ceremonies of this famous edifice in the south of England.

He said statistics show that the incidence of heart attack and related cardiovascular disease is very high in Nova Scotia and said that while people seem to agree that they must look after their health, "don't seem convinced that they must begin to actively involve themselves in upgrading their personal fitness standard."

Mr. Brown emphasized that the Participation Nova Scotia Program will be designed to take advantage of existing programs and facilities across the province and said "the participation Nova Scotia concept will be designed to create a greater awareness of the importance of utilizing existing facilities and programs at the community level."

In the question and answer session, Ms. Campagnola complimented Mr. Brown and the Government of Nova Scotia for taking a lead in the development of fitness upgrading in Canada.

"The Nova Scotia Department of Recreation, as well as other provincial agencies in Nova Scotia, are to be congratulated for the work they are doing in helping create the awareness necessary to

The October Crisis of 1970, with its pointed meaning for all Canadians today: a satire on the commercial world of television and an expose of the advertising which shapes our lives; new departures in education; and some zany shots at our social customs will make up the program sequence as requested by last winter's film-goers.

Plans for a film work-shop with the use of 16 mm. cameras and expert guidance by Lionel Simmons, a young film-maker from Halifax are in hand by the "Thursdays" committee.

Admission to each "Thursdays One and Three" showing is $1 per person. There will be a small society membership fee, as last year. A package deal will be available for the fall season's offerings. The film-making sessions will be open to members of the "Thursdays" film audience and the first workshop is scheduled for Saturday, October 22.

Films to be shown up to December include "The Paper Chase", "Angel", "OK... Camera", "Summerhill", "Have I Ever Lied to You Before?" and "Lady Fishbourne's Complete Guide to Better Table Manners", the last a spoof on the refinements of etiquette.

upgrade fitness standards", she said, "and I must note that the Province of Nova Scotia as well as the Province of Saskatchewan, certainly rank at the present time as leaders in the whole complete spectrum of recreational development."

She said Mr. Brown is by far the most respected leader in the field of recreational development across Canada and "I think it will be safe to say that 'yes', he is the Godfather of Recreation in Canada."

Storing Wet Grain

Prairie farmers faced with the problem of storing wet grain have three alternatives, says a researcher at Agriculture Canada's Winnipeg, Man., Research Station.

The most effective method, where commercial facilities exist, is to dry the grain. Low-temperature aeration is the second option and can be used as a stop-gap measure until grain can be commercially dried. The final option of preserving the grain with an acid treatment can be used only where the grain will be used for animal feed.

Participation Soon To Be Launched

Nova Scotia's province-wide Fitness Program "Participation Nova Scotia" will be officially launched on January 1, Recreation Minister A. Garnet Brown has announced.

Mr. Brown, attending the Recreation Association of Nova Scotia's Annual meetings in Bridgewater said the province-wide fitness campaign will be geared to touch every Nova Scotian noting, "a regional thrust is being planned by the Provincial Interdepartmental Committee on fitness in liaison with the National Fitness Agency Participation Canada."

Mr. Brown, who joined Minister of State responsible for fitness and amateur sport in Canada, Hon. Iona Campagnola, for an official question and answer session at the conference, pointed out to R.A.N.S. delegates that the upgrading of physical fitness standards of Nova Scotians will be a priority in the coming months.

He noted, however, that while government had a responsibility to make people aware of the necessity of staying physically fit and active, "governments cannot legislate people to stay fit, it must be a personal commitment."

Mr. Brown said that at the present time Nova Scotians do not stack up well in the fitness column when compared with the rest of the nation, and noted that unless the citizens of the province began to change their life styles, "we are going to be in

Mrs. Smith Addresses Horticultural Society On Bulbs

Mrs. H.M. Warne was hostess to the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society on Wednesday evening, October 5th, 1977. The President, Donald White, thanked Mrs. Warne for her hospitality and welcomed the twenty-five members who were in attendance, and three guests, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Doris Moles, Digby, and Mrs. Winna Smith of Champlain Garden Club, Annapolis.

Reports from various committees were given, the usual activities having been carried on. It was announced that the Annual Meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, November 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Louise Stephen.

It was with regret that the members learned that Mrs. Nettie Grimmer, who has given valuable service to the Club over several years, acting as Secretary, would be moving to Ontario. It was arranged that a house plant would be delivered to her upon arrival at her new place of residence.

A message had been received from V.N. Bradshaw, Manager, Digby

Pines Hotel, kindly offering the members the opportunity to cut flowers still remaining in the extensive gardens at the Pines, to distribute to Hospital patients, Tideview Terrace, The Children's Home and Shut-ins. This idea was much appreciated and several members were pleased to volunteer to take part in this timely project over Thanksgiving weekend.

After a brief business discussion the meeting was turned over to the Program Committee. Mrs. Warne introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Winna Smith, from Champlain Garden Club, Annapolis, whose topic was Bulbs. Mrs. Smith's suggestion was to plant bulbs in the fall, and in the spring, as a gardening project, the blooms could be given to hospital patients, nursing homes, shut-ins, etc. When buying forced bulbs in the greenhouses, there will be a special bin with a sign to tell you the bulbs are for forcing. Her favourite of these bulbs is Geranium Narcissus and Carlton Narcissus. The paper white narcissus also are good and Hyacinths force well without any problem. Also Crocuses are good to try. Some types of daffodils are better than others as not all types are good for forcing. Tulips should be planted with the flat side outside - these bloom well, but do not last long. They need twelve weeks of cold and darkness. Bulbs can only be used for forcing one year - the next year plant in the garden.

Regarding planting the bulbs, Mrs. Smith said they should be watered well before planting and allowed to drain overnight. She recommended using wide and shallow pans, no overcrowding of bulbs, or use a clay pot, good drainage is needed. No soil should be used that does not pack down. Use one part peat moss, one of sand and one of loam. Leave the tips of bulbs out one-half inch. Label the containers with the name of the bulb, and if desired, place in a plastic bag, leaving a good air space before tying. Then set in a cold place and do not allow them to dry out. The temperature should be around 40 degrees. After three months they should be grown sufficiently to bring out into the light. This should be done in gradual stages - first to a warmer place, sheltered from strong light, then on a windowsill in sunlight. The cooler they are kept, the longer they will last. It is best not to bring out all the plants at once - a few at a time will provide blooms all through the early spring months.

Mrs. Smith recommended two publications as having useful information re bulb planting, "Horticulture" and "Plants Alive". There is also a booklet issued by Canadian Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, entitled "Flowering Bulbs for Canadian Gardens", Pub. No. 996. There was a question and answer period, giving members a chance to speak about their own experiments with bulb raising.

Miss Mary Marshall thanked the guest speaker for her inspiring and informative talk on Bulbs.

During the social hour, Mrs. Warne served refreshments, assisted by co-hostesses, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, Mrs. Peggy Wentzel, and Mrs. Mae MacNaughton.

Doug Vantassell, Chairman of the Fire Prevention Committee, was the next speaker. He introduced his audience to a new task being undertaken by the committee this year - that of improving fire-safety conditions for tenants.

Vantassell said those living in quarters owned by others are being asked to come and tell the committee what fire-safety problems they may be facing. The committee would then go to the owner of the building and try to get something done to protect the occupants and perhaps the people next door.

Coline Campbell's address dealt principally with the need for - and motives behind - volunteers. She commended the department for the role it played in containing the fire which destroyed a portion of Digby Regional High School.

Miss Campbell noted that firemen differ from other community volunteers in that they are on call all the time, risking possible loss of life in pursuit of their tasks.

She said there should be more public awareness of this needed service and of the sacrifices the 28 firemen, many of whom don't live in town, have to make.

The M.P. then went on to tell of her current volunteer work with the United Nations and to discuss the value of being a volunteer in general.

Several presentations were made during the evening. These included a bouquet of roses to Coline Campbell by Sparky the fire dog (which she later presented to the Ladies' Auxiliary); an award to Vaughn Adams as best all-round fireman of the year; and to Don Jayne for 15 years' service.

The Digby Volunteer Fire Department held its annual banquet and dance at the fire hall on Saturday evening. About 55 people were present, consisting of the firemen and their guests.

Guest speakers for the banquet were MP Coline Campbell and Citizenship Court Judge Victor Cardoza.

Fire Chief Vaughn Vantassell was the first to address the group. He noted that although fire-calls were down by 21 this year, a school house and a life were lost and fire loss was way up.

He pointed out that there is a smaller group of firefighters in the department now and they have a big responsibility.

Vic Cardoza commended the department on the job being done. The department's record, he said, has been an enviable one over the years.

Mr. Cardoza also instigated a tribute to F. Courtney Purdy, who passed away Saturday afternoon. Mr. Purdy was guest speaker at last year's

Small Business Management Training Offered In Annapolis Royal

Small Business Management training is expanding in Nova Scotia. This year as many as 1,000 people, from across the province, are expected to enroll in courses on operating a small business, that's an increase of 200 people from last year.

The training, designed to improve and develop supervisory and management skills required to begin and maintain a small business, is made up of 25 courses ranging from such basics as "how to start a business" to the complicated organizational skill "effective supervision-human relations". The program offers information on how to "keep" your company's books, or the basics of Canadian business law.

The program, initiated some 15 years ago by the federal government, is made available by the Federal Business Development Bank to the continuing education divisions of provincial Departments of Education and to community colleges. The number of small business management courses offered in Nova Scotia has been growing steadily in the last four years. In 1975, 25 courses were offered in provincial centers, with a total enrolment of 519. This year, the number of courses being offered has more than doubled (57), and program co-ordinators are hopeful they'll attract 1,000 applicants.

But the applicant-rolls are not the only lists getting longer. Every year more and more provincial towns and counties are offering at least one small business management course as part of their continuing education program. This year alone, four centers; Shelburne, Annapolis Royal, Amherst and Oxford, will offer their first small business management courses, bringing the total number of Nova Scotia centers offering the courses to 25.

In many areas where the school board cannot see its way clear to provide one, or more, small business management course, the local board of trade may step in and offer the course. Like the school board, the board of trade would draw on business and/or academic talent that is close at hand to teach the course. In fact, more than half the small business management courses offered in Nova Scotia are sponsored by boards of trade.

The materials for the small business management courses are made available by the Federal Business Development Bank. In Nova Scotia the Department of Education, through the Continuing Education Division, buys whatever materials are required from FBDB, and sells them to students enrolling in the courses.

Continuing Education officials are pleased with the expansion of the small business management training program, and feel the program will continue to grow as long as the importance of small enterprise is recognized.

Registration for the small business management training courses began September 26 and continues until October 13.

Born in the Digby area, Everett attended school in Digby for some years but completed his schooling in Bridgetown. For two years he studied the surveying course at Lawrencetown.

He is married to the former Miss Elaine Gibson. They have three children, Trudy 13; Wendy 11 and Tony 2.

Last year, fires in Nova Scotia brought death to 33 men, women and children, injuries to 84 others, and untold heartache and suffering to relatives and friends of the victims.

Monetary loss in the 2,127 reported fires in the province totalled $13,162,436.

Who was responsible?

Thirteen per cent of the fires were believed to have been deliberately set.

The other 87 per cent were preventable.

That means 1,848 of the reported fires in Nova Scotia last year could have been avoided if someone had taken a little trouble to eliminate the causes - carelessness, smoking, faulty wiring, defective chimney stacks and pipes, careless use of fat, grease and cooking oil, and other controllable causes.

Last year, somebody else's safety measures could have reduced the fire toll in this province. This year, your action or inaction could spell the difference.

Not sure what to do?

Talk to the fire prevention experts. Visit your local fire department or contact the Fire Marshal's office. Find out how you can make your home or place of business a little safer. Make your emergency plans without delay.

Home And School Week Declared

Statement by Hon. George M. Mitchell, Minister of Education, in support of Home and School Week Oct. 16-22, 1977.

On behalf of the Nova Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations, I am pleased to declare the week of Oct. 16-22 as Home and School Week in Nova Scotia. The Home and School Federation will be making a special effort during this week to publicize its role in Nova Scotia education and to attract new members to its cause.

The home can and must play a vital role in the education of our children and there should be more and closer co-operation between home and school.

How else can parents and educators arrive at common educational aims and objectives? How are parents to become familiar with modern educational thought and practice? How can our schools combat the undesirable effects of TV and screen violence, of the so-called "sex industry", of the abuse of drugs, of racial and other prejudice - to name but a few of the controversial and disturbing issues which afflict society at the present time? How else can our teachers work to strengthen our students' belief in many of the basic virtues of truth, honesty and fair play?

Gone are the days (if indeed they ever existed) when a teacher's job was mainly to teach "subjects" from prescribed curriculum, with the parent being mostly responsible for the morals and manners of the young. Today it is imperative that parents and teachers take every opportunity to support and reinforce the "education" which goes on constantly at home as at school.

It is therefore to be hoped that parents will join with school administrators and teachers in making Home and School Week a success - either by participating in the special program offered by their local Home and School Association, or, if they are not already involved in "Home and School" by becoming active members of, or even setting up their own local association if necessary.

Additional information on Home and School Week may be obtained from your local Home and School Association or from the Nova Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations, P.O. Box 337, Truro, Nova Scotia.

THE ROYAL FAMILY OF APPLES - THE MCINTOSH

If Canada ever established a "royalty" honour to any one of our products, I'm sure the McIntosh apple would be a prime candidate. Its very name brings forth an image of what an apple should be: shiny, red, juicy and flavourful.

The McIntosh apple has an interesting history. In the late 1800's a Scottish immigrant, (John McIntosh), found a few wild apple trees on his land in Ontario. He planted seedlings from them and from one tree he got very striking results. He sold seedlings from that one tree. Through further work on grafting and budding, the true McIntosh apple was established.

Because of its consistent quality, red colour and fine texture, it has become one of the three top species of apples in Canada today.

Generally speaking, the McIntosh apple is an all purpose apple. However, it is perhaps best appreciated when eaten raw. Its flavour and texture makes it one of the best desserts anyone could have. When eaten raw the natural nutrients are there, as well as the mouth watering colour. To top it off - a lovely raw McIntosh apple for dessert leaves no dish to wash!

Due to improved storage conditions we are able to enjoy and buy firm McIntoshes for a much longer period of time.

Because of the excellent colour of this apple, I like to use it in recipes where the skin is left on. Not only is colour added, but the utmost nutrition is maintained.

Apple dishes that utilize unpeeled apples are Waldorf salads, cabbage-celery-apple slaw, jellied fruit salads, home-made fruit cocktail, and baked apples, to name a few. Here's a fresh relish that utilizes a lovely raw apple with its skin still on, as well as other fruit too.

FRESH APPLE - CRANBERRY RELISH

1 med. orange
1/2 med. lemon
1 large red-skinned apple
2 cups cranberries
1 1/2 cup white sugar
One-third cup chopped walnuts or almonds

Wash all fruit. Cut orange and lemon into quarters; remove seeds; chop finely in a food grinder (if possible).

Quarter and core the apple. Grind the apple and cranberries.

Combine the ground fruit with sugar and nuts. Pack into a sterilized jar, cover and store in refrigerator at least two days before using. It will keep 2-3 weeks in refrigerator.

First Canadian Christmas Carol Subject Of Yule Stamps

OTTAWA - Postmaster General Jean-Jacques Blais announced today that the Nativity story, with a truly Canadian flavour, will be the subject of this year's Christmas stamps.

The three new stamps, to be issued 26 October 1977 in 10-, 12-, and 25-cent denominations, are based on the first Canadian Christmas carol "Jesous Ahatonhia". Although the carol was originally written in the Huron language by Father Jean de Brebeuf, both English and French adaptations are well-known. All three languages will be used on the stamps, making them the first trilingual ones issued by the Canada Post Office.

Ronald G. White of Stroud, Ontario prepared the illustrations for the stamps and has depicted the hunter braves following the star, in awe of the angel choir and in adoration of the Child. White has used a combination of brilliant colours and traditional Indian designs to create a shining fantasy world.

More than 200 million stamps of this issue will be printed by the Canadian Bank Note Company, Ottawa.

"Christmas is a religious celebration to be enjoyed by all, but it is particularly a time for children, and I think the designs chosen this year evoke the wonder and excitement that children experience at this time of the year," said Mr. Blais in making his announcement.

Experimental

Foster Child Program

A one year experimental foster care program for children with serious behavioural problems has been established by the Department of Social Services.

Known as the Special Foster Care Program, it will provide intensive foster care to disturbed children 10 years of age and over who are amenable to treatment, where there are indications that special parenting in a foster home can be beneficial, Social Services Minister Bill MacEachern said today.

Initially, only a small number of children will be placed with foster parents in the province over the next year under the program.

The Department of Social Services' district office, in Dartmouth, and the Family and Children's Services of Lunenburg County, will participate in the project initially, said Mr. MacEachern.

Foster parents will be selected especially for the project and will work with social workers from both agencies in developing parenting skills which can help a foster child modify or overcome disruptive behaviour and acquire more acceptable social attitudes and means of self expression.

Children selected for the pilot project will have experienced numerous placements in foster home situations but still wish to live with a foster family, Mr. MacEachern added.

For the most part they will be children who for various reasons would not be returning to their natural parents. The program will be confined to emotionally disturbed children.

Foster parents will be selected on the basis of marriage stability, a genuine liking for children, and willingness to make a one-year commitment to the project. Couples who have raised children of their own will be given preference.

Foster parents will receive a payment of $125 a month over and above the regular average monthly payment of $130 for maintenance and clothing.

"Lots of other countries have Unemployment Insurance. What's so good about our system?"

Canada has one of the most comprehensive UI programs in the western world.

It has a relatively short entrance period and pays benefits longer. And almost all Canadians share in the cost and benefits of the program.

By reducing the financial shock of people's movements from one job to another, unemployment insurance has helped to keep our workforce adaptable to today's rapidly changing social and economic conditions.

"Sure. But what about the cost to Canadians?"

Certainly, the dollar figures are high. This year's UI payout to Canadians will approach four billion dollars.

But consider that figure in light of the ultimate benefits to the country.

The UI program gives temporary financial aid to hundreds of thousands of Canadians while they're between jobs.

"Isn't UI really just another kind of welfare?"

Far from it. Welfare money is paid only according to need.

Unemployment insurance money is paid according to eligibility.

It's like any other kind of insurance. If you've worked in insurable employment, and a situation arises which entitles you to make a claim, that claim will be settled as quickly and courteously as possible.

"Well, what do you do about cheaters and abuse?"

There are fewer cheaters and abusers than some would have you believe.

Remember, our job is to pay you all the benefits you are entitled to.

"OK, what do you have to do while you're receiving benefits?"

Your Unemployment Insurance office can ask you to carry out what we call a formal "Active Job Search". Your agent will want to know what you're doing to find suitable and gainful employment while you're getting your cheques.

But no matter what happens, you should keep looking seriously for a new job and follow any instructions your UI office or Canada Manpower Centre gives you. Your right to continuing benefits depends on it.

If you'll do your job, we'll do ours.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration have become the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission. For a time, you'll still see our local offices identified as Unemployment Insurance offices or Canada Manpower Centres. When they're together in one location, they'll be called Canada Employment Centres.

Working with people who want to work.

Church Conference At Bear River

The semi-annual session of the Nova Scotia Advent Christian Conference convened at the Advent Christian Church September 29, October 2, with Mr. Joe Currans, of A.C. Headquarters, North Carolina, as guest speaker. Mr. Currans is Director of Men's Week and Stewardship for the Advent Christian denomination.

He spoke each night at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday afternoon and evening. His messages centered around the theme "God Can Make It Happen" and he encouraged us to believe that with God's help Christians can change the world by sharing with everybody we meet the Good News of salvation through Jesus Christ, which brings about a changed life through the ministry of the Holy Ghost. Enough changed lives will change the world.

On Sunday afternoon he told about the various denominational ministries centered in Charlotte, North Carolina and how they are best supported by undesignated gifts to the United Outreach budget. In the evening he gave a multimedia presentation on Stewardship, using slides he, himself, had taken as a professional photographer and salesman of tapes and resorts. Now those talents are devoted to forwarding the work of Christ as a dedicated layman in full-time service for God.

Others taking part in the services were: Rev. Cushman Bryant, pastor of Bear Point Advent Christian Church, Shelburne Co. and Pastor Earl Waterman of Bear River. On Sunday we welcomed Rev. Raymond Brown and family, who had newly arrived from U.S.A. to take up the work at West Head, Shelburne Co.

Delegates from Halls Harbor, Kings Co., and Bear Point, Shelburne Co., N.S., were entertained in homes of church members and friends. On Sunday, noon and evening meals were served in the Dining Hall on Digby County Exhibition grounds. These fine facilities added much to the fellowship felt during the Conference as it closed on Sunday evening.

It's A Lo-o-o-ng Valley

The Annapolis Valley Ostomy Club will hold its regular meeting on October 16 at 3 p.m. at the Middleton Hospital. Anyone interested in colostomy, ileostomy or urostomy is invited to attend.

It is difficult to find a central location for the whole Valley. Digby to Windsor is over 100 miles. The usual meeting place for the Club has been Berwick Hospital which should be resoundingly thanked for supplying a place, leadership, and support. Mrs. Yvonne Nichols, Superintendent of Nurses, has been the mainspring of the Club, and has been strongly supported by the administrator and staff.

But a meeting that is held closer to one end of the Valley may be more convenient for some persons. Anyway we'll try it. Next Sunday at 3 p.m. at Middleton Hospital. We are expecting a special speaker on "The Heart."

Town Hall Resolution: 92 For - 77 Against

The long-standing Digby Town Hall debate may finally have come to an end. Residents of the town voted 92-77 Tuesday in favour of having a new town hall.

The 169 voters represent only 11 per cent of those eligible to vote on the town hall resolution. Residents are no longer required to be ratepayers to vote - or be active in town affairs.

The approved resolution calls for the borrowing of up to $75,000 for the purpose of erecting a new town hall. The current idea is to build the new structure on the present town hall site. The old building will be demolished.

The Town Hall question has been discussed in Digby for the past several years. Many different possibilities have been suggested and considered during that time.

Among previous considerations were use of the town tourist information bureau, the C.P.R. station, renting space in the court house, etc. But the idea of having a new building has apparently caught the interest of most councillors.

The new Town Hall building, aside from providing adequate space in which to carry out the town's business, is also expected to house the town's library service.

School Life Runs Smoothly Despite Fire Loss

Digby Regional High School is operating under some difficult conditions this year as a result of the summer fire which destroyed a portion of the structure. But school officials are quite pleased with the way things have been running.

"Everyone is co-operating well under very trying circumstances," principal Donald Ross said during the Digby Regional School Board's October meeting.

Mr. Ross said the school teachers are showing an "amazing degree of co-operation."

Supervisor of Schools, Clinton MacInnis said he didn't see any bad effects on education. He noted that some teachers are working under somewhat strained conditions but are bearing with it.

Some additional costs are being incurred, according to the superintendent, but a lot of co-operation is also being received and all the students are being provided for. He said no split-shift program has been required and only minor changes have occurred in programming.

The Board established a committee of two, consisting of Chairman George Barton and Helen McNeil, to check into the rate being charged for classroom space at the Fire Hall ($450 monthly). Helen McNeil felt the charge was "pretty high" and an effort should be made to have it lowered.

Mr. MacInnis reported that enrollment at the high school, as of September 30th, stood at 911. This figure is down from 946 last year but close to the average enrollment since 1972-73 of 917.8.

Judging from student populations in the elementary system, Mr. MacInnis predicted that enrollment would drop slightly for the next couple of years and then rise quickly. He said a fairly large group from this area is attending Vocational School at present.

Mr. MacInnis reported that the budget for substitute teachers has virtually been depleted and the school will probably run into the red on this budget item. He suggested salary increases as the probable cause of the problem.

The maintenance budget, according to the superintendent, is also under pressure as an indirect result of the summer fire. Considering the budget in total, however, he said this looks like a satisfactory budget year.

Tenders have been accepted for an amplifier from Music Stop Ltd., $987; a projector from Bell and Howell Ltd., $705; snow removal by Don K. Oickle, $16 per hour; and furnace oil from Imperial Oil at 45.20 cents per gallon.

Mr. MacInnis said it looks like the board has little to be worried about regarding recently announced cutbacks in the Driver Education program.

A motion was passed permitting the Christmas Daddies program to use school facilities if they prove adequate for this purpose.

Board members observed one minute's silence at the start of the meeting in memory of the late F. Courtney Purdy.

Court News

Four Digby area residents appeared in court in Annapolis Royal Tuesday on charges resulting from a September incident in downtown Digby in which several R.C.M.P. officers were assaulted.

Christopher Eden Miller, 18, of Acaciaville pleaded guilty to charges of causing a disturbance, obstructing a police officer, assaulting a police officer, common assault, resisting arrest and threatening. He was also found guilty of one charge of common assault.

Timothy Darnell Miller, 17, of Acaciaville, pleaded guilty to charges of causing a disturbance, obstructing a police officer and striking a police officer.

Brian Alexander Stark, 18, of Digby pleaded guilty to obstructing a police officer and common assault.

Ward Darnell Simms, 19, was found guilty of resisting arrest, assaulting a police officer and causing a disturbance. He was found not guilty of charges of assault and damage to public property.

All will be sentenced on October 31 in Digby. Bail was set for all. Stark and Simms were reportedly out on bail Wednesday.

David Harold Thomas, 27, of Weymouth was placed on probation for six months Monday on a charge of dangerous use of a firearm.

John Wade Morgan, 18, of Bear River was placed on four-months probation and received one day in jail on two charges of common assault. The charge resulted from a September 9 incident in Bear River.

Schools Today

Digby's - Schools Today, a special showcase focusing on the variety of programs available today in classrooms and schools throughout the local area, will be presented in the Evangeline Shopper's Mall, Digby, on October 21 and 22.

The official opening of the display will take place at seven p.m. Friday, with Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, Mrs. S.

ABTRC Jumps On Heritage Bandwagon

The Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council has given its stamp of approval to efforts toward Heritage conservation in the town of Annapolis Royal.

Meeting at CFB Cornwallis, the tourist council decided to send a letter outlining its position to the Heritage conservation committee.

The matter came up for discussion when John Taylor, of Annapolis Royal, suggested that hostility from the mayor and town council toward the tourist industry was putting the heritage conservation program in danger.

Taylor expressed concern that Heritage Canada officials, scheduled to visit the town, might be walking into the midst of a fiery situation.

Mayor Richardson at this month's town council session, had opposed heritage conservation representation on the Industrial Development Commission. Shortly thereafter, however, he recommended that a member of that committee be represented.

Several letters were read re ABTRC stand against any hour change in arrival time for the M.V. Bluenose in Yarmouth. M.P. Coline Campbell noted in her letter that an analysis is being conducted by the Department of Transport. She will take no firm stand until its completion.

All correspondence on the issue led to the conclusion that nothing is decided and ABTRC has to stay on its toes.

ABTRC is objecting to a possible later arrival time in Yarmouth for the ferry. Such a move, it is felt, would prevent tourists from travelling much beyond Yarmouth's boundaries before bunk-up time.

Herb Smale noted that the Bar Harbour Chamber of Commerce had contacted the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade asking for support in their efforts to prevent a change in current hours of the ferry.

Three members of ABTRC were named as representatives to implementation meetings which will be held to deal with planning at the Upper Clements Multicultural Centre. These were Penny Gott, Mark Blugerman and Dave Irvine.

"Trial" Dance Authorized

Dances may soon return as part of school life in Weymouth provided that proper control can be maintained.

A delegation from the Student's Council at Weymouth appeared before this month's meeting of the Digby Municipal School Board to suggest a solution to their no-dance problems.

The Board gave permission to be approved by the school's supervisor. The students will arrange for their own chaperones and better, police the dance themselves.

The Board agreed to provide some of its surplus seats (bus) to the Dragons Basketball team for a van the team bought for transportation to and from CFB Cornwallis.

The board is going to tender for a mechanic and bodyman, three 66-passenger school buses (delivery in 1978), and for snowtires for the small vehicles.

Two old buses were sold, one to Phil Robertson and another to Springwater Habitation.

David Cosman appeared with quotes on boiler and machine coverage (insurance). No decision was made.

A surplus oil drum will be removed from the Islands Consolidated School.

The directors of Digby County Inshore Fish Association met at the Digby Neck Fire Hall on Saturday, evening, October 15 when a decision was made and voted upon to affiliate with the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association. John Coulton of the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association was present and the meeting was presided over by the president.

Three Injured In Crash

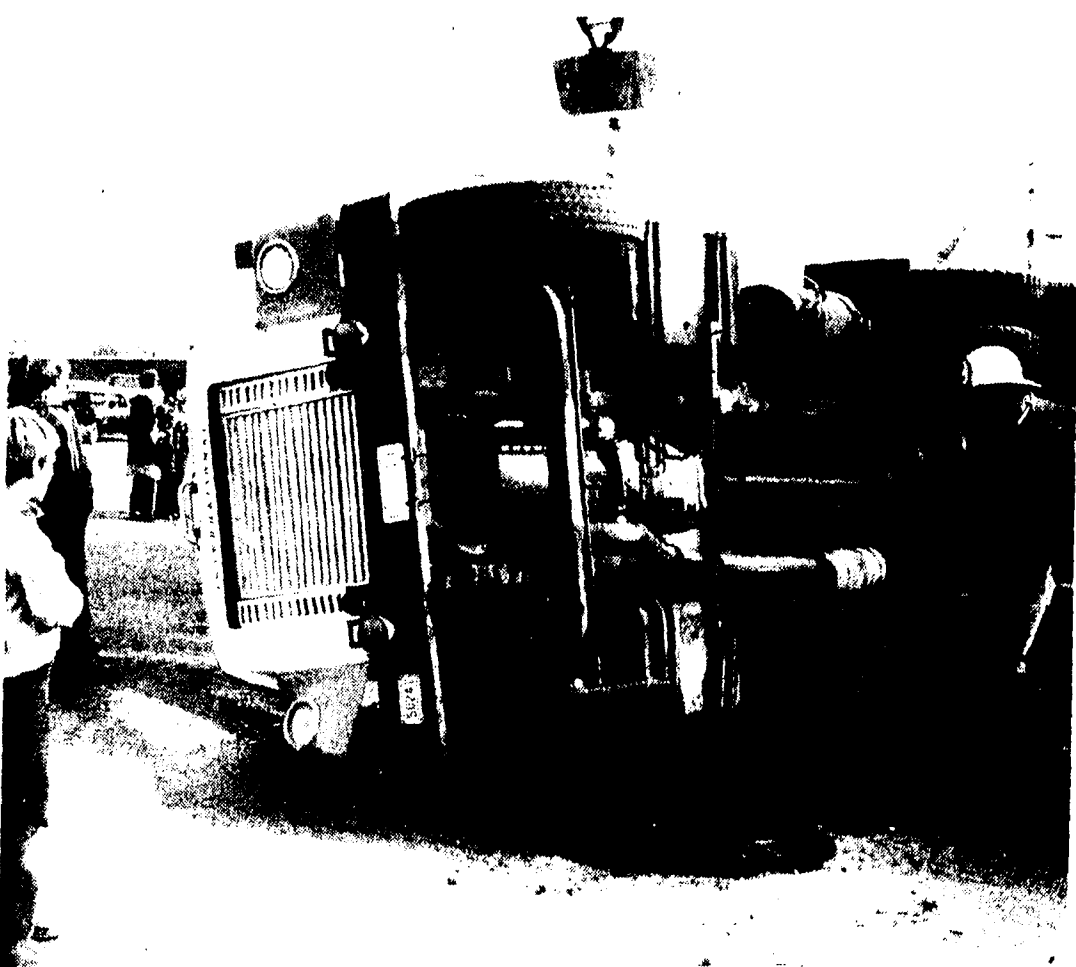

Three persons received minor injuries when a car overturned and struck two parked cars on Water Street, Saturday afternoon.

The incident occurred about 4:35 p.m. Vehicles belonging to Gerald Lee VanTassel and Hazen Redall Tidd were struck by a car driven by Gordon James Ryan of Mar-shalltown.

Heavy Load Hits The Dust

A large transport vehicle overturned at the Victoria St. - Warwick St. intersection Thursday afternoon. Traffic had to be routed around this section of Victoria St. for several hours after the mishap.

The truck, belonging to Misty Island Transport of Seal Cove, N.B., carried about 40,000 pounds of building material. Unloading was completed five hours after the mishap.

The vehicle suffered an estimated $5,000 damage. No injuries were involved. The truck was driven by Glendon George Brown of Seal Cove, Grand Manan, New Brunswick.

First Jeunesses Musicales Concert: Saxophone Quartet

On Wednesday, October 26, in the Universite Sainte-Anne Gymnasium will be presented the first Jeunesses Musicales Concert featuring the "Quatuor de Saxophone de l'Infonie" (Saxophone Quartet).

In comparing the saxophone to the other instruments of the orchestra, the brasses, the woodwinds and the strings, we notice that it was invented rather recently. It is at the end of the last century that a Belgian by the name of Albert Sax used for his invention the material of the brasses and the keys and reed of the woodwinds, mainly the clarinet. This instrument became very popular during the 30's, 40's and 50's in jazz music, but finds its place at every music level and modern composers have written music for the instrument.

The "Quatuor de Saxophones de l'Infonie" is composed of four musicians of great talent and experience, who trained in schools of music conservatories, and with outstanding saxophone teachers. They are Walter Boudreau, baritone saxophone, Michel Ethier, alto saxophone, David Clark, tenor saxophone, and Andre Pelchat, soprano saxophone. They will be accompanied at the piano by Bernard Buisson.

The concert will begin at eight o'clock in the Universite Sainte-Anne gymnasium, Wednesday, October 26. Entrance to the gymnasium is through the new library, La Bibliotheque Louis R.Comeau. Season tickets are on sale by those persons whose name are indicated in the published ad: Adult - $8.00; Student - $4.00; Family - $15.00. Season tickets may also be purchased at the door the night of the first concert.

Editorials

GOOD PUBLICITY FOR DIGBY COUNTY

The Wednesday, October 12, 1977 issue of The Halifax Herald brought some good publicity for Digby County by the pen of Lorna Inness. Certainly Digby cannot afford to ignore this boast to its tourist trade through the media of such a widely circulated newspaper. Writing about the success of the Joseph Howe Festival, Ms. Inness made the suggestion that there could be a W. D. Lawrence Festival, a Capt. Joshua Slocum Festival and a Donald McKay Festival in Nova Scotia.

Capt. Joshua Slocum is honored in New England where he is claimed by many Americans as their own. He was a naturalized citizen of the United States but he was born on North Mountain in 1844. His father was descended from a New England family and his mother was a daughter of a lighthousekeeper on Brier Island.

The young Slocum lived at Westport until he first went to sea in 1860.

When another man might have thought of retirement, Slocum rebuilt an old oyster boat which he subsequently sailed 46,000 miles, becoming the first man to sail alone around the world.

It is true that Westport usually comes up with an Old Home Week type of Festival in which the name of Joshua Slocum shares an important part but the suggestion by Lorna Inness could well be worthwhile adopting. At any rate the publicity Digby received through the column deserves our appreciation. We can't have too much good publicity. We can at times do with less of adverse publicity.

Another plug for Digby was also made in this month's issue of Canadian Aviation, a National aviation paper when the following began David Underwood's column "Avionics" Copa members flying into Digby, Nova Scotia in June for their association convention became some of the first Canadian pilots to try out a VHF system which could one day provide navigation guidance over a large part of Northern Canada and the Arctic. What's so great about that story? To us it is great because it brings the name of Digby before a lot of readers from afar and near and reveals the fact that there is plane landing facilities available for a visit to our town and country.

Hodge Podge

Went out through Bear River way to see the leaves recently. They were glorious and worth every kilometer checked up on the car calculator. We can't begin to describe the foliage to do it justice but it comes very near to this description of another area described in a personal letter "Took our traditional Sunday drive. The leaves are glorious, flamboyant, riotous. They glow over the hillsides, every bush, every tree of every height fusing in their brilliance so they are no longer individual but have become a flaming tapestry. Even the blueberry bushes are a brilliant red."

A little praise makes us feel good. Certainly everyone feels happy to be appreciated. This week it was our turn at The Digby Courier to share praise when Fire Chief, Vaughn Van-Tassell, passed us a letter he had received from the Fire Marshall, R.Kerr, Department of Labor. The letter expressed sincere appreciation for the splendid display of fire prevention material published in the October 6 issue of The Digby Courier, which he deemed, indeed, commendable. He wrote to Mr. VanTassell that the all-out effort is indicative of his own sincere efforts in the performance of his duties and obligations as Chief of the Digby Fire Department. He also said in his letter to the Chief that the fact that he was successful in obtaining newspaper coverage of such magnitude attests to the respect others have for him in the community. He asked Mr. VanTassell to contact the Courier on his behalf for a job well done.

Get your image before the public a recent representative of a provincial charitable organization recently advised a local group. Members of parliament, for instance scan the daily and especially the weekly papers to keep up with their constituency news, judging credibility and needs of local organizations. Judging from the letter referred to in this column by the Fire Marshall's office we're inclined to agree.

You And Your Prescription

By N. Halley MacPherson
Vice-President Atlantic Region
Shoppers Drug Mart stores

A prescription which you are given by your physician or dentist is a recipe of instructions concerning the preparation and use of a special medicine or remedy. Your pharmacist then prepares the medication according to the doctor's directions, and turns it over to you with clear label and verbal instructions.

The control and distribution of drugs is a major responsibility of the pharmacist, and it is a role frequently misunderstood. It is a professional commitment of every pharmacist to see that consumers know how to use prescription drugs correctly. Legislation, both federal and provincial, governs the distribution and use of drugs and guides pharmacists in their efforts to protect the consumer.

A prescription is not transferable, because it is created by the doctor for a specific patient to treat a specific symptom.

Often patients want to purchase additional supplies of the medication. This, too, is a physician's responsibility. In many cases, pharmacists require medical authority each time a prescription needs to be refilled. This allows the doctor to renew his knowledge of the patient's requirements, and perhaps adjust dosage or strength of the medication.

Regulations covering the use of drugs in Canada are very comprehensive. Your pharmacist plays an important role, as a member of the health services team in your community, to protect the well-being of consumers by following those regulations when dispensing your prescription. As a result, Canadians enjoy one of the highest standards of quality in drug products in the world.

William Shatner To Support Read-A-Thon

Actor William Shatner who is returning to television to star in the new "Star Trek II" is the national honorary chairman of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada's novel MS Read-A-Thon program.

"The educational program in which children read books to raise money for multiple sclerosis is being conducted in many schools in Atlantic Canada," said Mr. Shatner, who became widely known for his portrayal of Captain James Kirk of the star ship enterprise, is lending his support to MS Read-A-Thon because of its obvious educational value. Thousands of children know him because of the previous series and respect the kind of person Mr. Shatner portrayed on "Star Trek," Mr. Perry explained.

Mr. Shatner urges youngsters to participate in the program saying, "young people are always talking about the inability to get involved. Here is a chance for them to do something about a terrible disease by reading books."

Funds raised from the program will help the Atlantic division and its chapters support patient service programs and research into the cause and cure of the mysterious crippling of young adults which often strikes between ages 20 to 40.

The Canadian-born actor is best known for the Captain Kirk role, but has performed television drama in Canada and the United States, worked on the stage at Stratford and Broadway, and appeared in numerous movies.

In 1976 he toured the United States with his own one-man show organized around the theme of showing the growth of science fiction through the ages. Included in the show were bits from classics such as Cyrano de Bergerac talking about seven ways to get to the moon, some H.G. Wells selections, and questions and answers about "Star Trek". The tour was highly successful and resulted in a two-volume album based on the material from the show.

Regional Cross-Country Meet

On Saturday Oct. 15, a five member cross-country team from Digby traveled to Horton to participate in the Regional Cross-Country Meet.

Most of the members having only been training the past two weeks under the direction of Vernon Simms; even with this handicap there were some outstanding performances.

With only 3 days of training the only girl on the team, Carol Davey ran an excellent race placing 10th out of 27 junior girls. Carol was in 6th place with less than 100 yards but couldn't hold on. Carol ran the 1½ mile junior girls course in a time of 10 mins. and 11 seconds.

Carol has unlimited potential and should be a top contender in track and field and cross-country next year with more training.

The boys also did well with limited amount of training and strong competition. Vance Hazleton came through with the best performance placing 7th in the senior boys race, in the same race Randy Nesbitt experiencing trouble finished 17th on the 4 mile course. In the other races Harry Brittain finished 29th in the intermediate class and Michael Brooks finished 26th in the junior boys class.

Funds Aid Arthritis Research

The exact cause of arthritis still remains a mystery despite increased knowledge arising from research in recent years. In a new booklet "Victory Within Our Reach", published by the Canadian Arthritis Society; it states that significant breakthroughs will take place in the next five to ten years in finding the cause and a cure for arthritis through research.

The Arthritis Society (Nova Scotia Division) supports vital research projects at the provincial Rheumatic Disease Unit in Halifax. In an effort to support this worthwhile program the Arthritis Society in Nova Scotia initiated in June for the second year the Arthritis Research Lottery. The funds received from the lottery go directly to the Research Division of the Rheumatic Disease with no administration costs involved. Lottery ticket sales are on sale till October 26, 1977 in the town Digby, and are available at C.M. Levy Drugstore.

Addresses Lunenburg P.C. Meet

Another first in Nova Scotia politics may have been chalked up Friday night with the keynote address in a constituency of a sitting member being delivered by a first-time candidate from another riding right across the Province.

Ron Barkhouse, M.L.A. in the Lunenburg East seat, a Progressive Conservative stronghold for a score of years, was impressed at a recent meeting with Greg Kerr, P.C. candidate in Annapolis West. So he invited the Granville Centre teacher and farmer to Chester Basin to be guest speaker at the Fall general meeting of the South Shore constituency P.C. association.

David Hatt, president of the Lunenburg East P.C. association, chaired the meeting.

In a forthright, free-wheeling speech, Mr. Kerr area at this time, Mrs. Eva Cromwell, Conway, will canvass the business section for funds and households are requested to submit donations to Mrs. Cromwell.

Homemaker's Corner
By Kay Dean, Home Economist

BACK TO BASICS
This little phrase has recently become widely used, but for homemakers it can mean something more concrete. This is the name of a little recipe book that was developed with several ideas in mind: economy, convenience, food preservation, and information on some of those traditional skills we have forgotten.
With regard to economy and convenience, Back to Basics has a couple of master recipes (biscuit and spice cake) that are adaptable in making a few other products too.
A couple of forgotten skills such as making your own noodles, and butter are outlined. Curing pork and home-cured corned beef are also included.
There are several main dish recipes that are economical and easy to prepare.
Many recipes are probably found in every Nova Scotia kitchen. However, for those who are beginning their home making, these basic recipes may be missing. Back to Basics might be a very appropriate gift.
Here is one of the master mixes with a couple of its variations.
BASIC BISCUIT MIX
Sift together in large bowl: 10 cups all purpose flour One-third cup baking powder ¼ cup sugar 1 tsp. salt.
Cut in 2 cups shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Store this mix in a covered container in a cool place.
BASIC BISCUITS
Yield: 10 biscuits
In a bowl place 2 cups biscuit mix. Make a well in the mix and add ½ cup cold milk. Stir with a fork until dough comes freely from sides of the bowl. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and knead 10-12 times. Cut out biscuits. Bake on ungreased baking sheet 10-12 minutes in 450 degree F. oven.

APPLE PANCAKES
Yield: 10 four inch pancakes
Combine 1 beaten egg and 1 and one-third cup milk. Add and beat until smooth 2 cups basic biscuit mix. Fold into batter ¼ cup finely chopped apple. Bake on hot, lightly greased griddle.

Smith's Cove United Baptist Church Awaits New Pastor

The Fall season of activities at the Smith's Cove United Baptist Church are in full swing under the lay leadership of the church while awaiting the pastorelect's arrival next month. Guest speakers have been Rev. George Bell, Smith's Cove, Deacon Lic. Fred Bigelow and a Gospel Team from Acadia Divinity College, Wolfville, who conducted the Thanksgiving Sunday Service. Baptist Men's Sunday was observed on Sunday evening, October 17, with Deacon Bigelow, officiating and bringing the message; Deacon Eric Kinsman offered the evening prayer, and Deacon Robert Harrison read the Scripture message. Special music was presented by the Men's Choir under the direction of L.E.R. ("Bud") Winchester. The Port Maitland United Baptist Church Choir will present a program of Gospel music on Sunday evening, October 23.

Special events in late September were the music ministry presented by The Noah's Ark group- John and Martha Ramsey and son, John, Jr., and the Rally Day Service sponsored by the Sunday School Department.

The Sunday School Department, with classes for the kindergarten ages (4-5), primaries (1-3 grades), juniors (4-6 grades), teens and adults, Deacon Bigelow, superintendent, has been showing a steady increase weekly. Yet there is room for more as they strive to involve the families of the church and community to join in the study of God's Word.

The Women's Missionary

Society, Mrs. Wilfred Rice, president, has held two meetings during this time: 1) Mrs. Thurston Banks, hostess in September, presented an inspirational program on the Legend of the Sand Dollar which depicts the birth, death, burial and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ; 2) Mrs. R.M. Winchester was hostess for the October meeting. Mrs. Garnett Adams presented the program on "The Baptist of Latin America" which contained many interesting points on the work in that area.

As usual, the Ladies Auxiliary, Mrs. Neil Adams, president, have been active bi-weekly planning special projects to raise funds for their special ministries in the community, church and overseas. Among them are funds toward the support of a native Bolivian pastor and his family sent monthly, and support of a brother and sister in Haiti. Hostesses in September were Mrs. Douglas Francis, Mrs. Thomas Francis, with Mrs. Frank Crosby, Jr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison hostess-to-date this month.

Their recent project was a Harvest Supper held in the Vestry of the church on Saturday evening, October 15, directed by Mrs. Eric Kinsman, assisted by Mrs. Fred Wolwood and their committee. Receipts totaled approximately $300. Their next project now being finalized is the annual Christmas Tea and Bazaar scheduled for Saturday, November 26.

The Ministry of Music is under the leadership of Mrs.

Chester Brinton, chorister, and Ron Harrison, pianist. The Pioneer Girls program is led by Coordinator-Guide, Mrs. Raymond Brinton and Guides, Mrs. Clifford Robinson, Mrs. Bessie Height and Mrs. Ruth Balser. This group meets on Monday evenings at 8:30 p.m. in the vestry of the church. Pioneer Girls is an inter-denominational organization (for those in Grades 2 through teens) emphasizing Christ in every phase of a girl's life.

The Smith's Cove people, along with the Clementsport and Deep Brook Baptist Churches, are looking forward to the arrival on the Pastorate of their pastorelect, Rev. Hallett Foster, who will begin services on November 6.

Hill Grove (Mrs. D.A. Roope)

Get well wishes are extended to Mrs. Vernon Jones who is a patient in Digby General Hospital.

BPT is a blend of natural and synthetic tread rubbers that'll grip ice almost like studs—like the polar bear's rough textured foot-pads—look for it Big Paw Traction. That's why we call it BPT.

(3) Winter Express is the tire that came to the rescue when studs were banned in some areas. Its treadlugs of BPT rubber gave a super-tenacious grip on slippery surfaces — yet kept resilience at well below freezing. It's still a top performer. 2 + 2 bias-belt construction — two polyester belts atop two plies of tough Du Pont-66 nylon.
Five-year road hazard insured.

(4) Our finest radial with Big Paw Traction tread is a real winner. Two plies of polyester under two belts of Du Pont's mighty Kevlar fibre make this one of the toughest of radials. It has all the handling of the best of steel radials but none of their harshness. Yet, smooth-rolling Kevlar, pound for pound, is five times stronger than steel! The Kevlar radial can be used on the same car with any other radial construction, too! It's fully compatible.

Control Of Canada's New Fishing Zone Going Smoothly

OTTAWA—“A very smooth operation and remarkably effective” is how Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc summed up the first eight months of Canada's management of the 200-mile offshore fishing zone.

The extended zone, which came into effect on January 1, 1977, has given Canada an area of more than 600,000 square miles of high seas to patrol and manage.

“We are proving to the world that we have the know-how and the equipment to efficiently manage this vast new area” said Mr. LeBlanc.

“This isn't a miracle overnight cure for the fisheries, but a long-term plan to build up depleted stocks and develop a new era of prosperity for Canadian fishermen”. “As far as the East Coast stocks are concerned, we are applying strict conservation measures to make sure we do not replace foreign overfishing with Canadian overfishing. We see 1977 as the bottom of the trough for the groundfish catch. With good management it should be possible within ten years to restore groundfish stocks to their full potential with an annual yield of about 1.6 million metric tons, which is more than double the 1977 TAC (total allowable catch).”

Mr. LeBlanc said that foreign fishing fleets have been virtually eliminated from a number of fisheries from which they formerly harvested a substantial portion of the allowable catch. Examples are cod, haddock, pollock and herring on the Scotian shelf, American plaice and yellow tail flounder on the Grand Bank, and flounders generally on the Scotian shelf. There have also been substantial reductions in the foreign allocations of cod, redfish and flatfish off Newfoundland-Labrador and an associated increase in the Canadian shares for these species.

Foreign fleets off Canada's East Coast in 1977 will harvest the bulk of the allowable catches of capelin, roundnose grenadier, silver hake, argentine and squid. All of these are species for which so far it has been uneconomical for Canadians to develop a major fishery. By 1978, the foreign fleets will be largely out of the redfish fishery within the Canadian zone and will have smaller allocations of cod and flounder.

“Within the next five years, foreign fishing within our zone will likely be restricted to such species as capelin, grenadiers, argentine and silver hake, and perhaps some portion of the northern winter cod fishery off northeast Newfoundland-Labrador”, the Minister added. “Even for these species and stocks, the foreign share will be significantly decreased as the Canadian capacity to harvest and utilize these species is increased”.

In order to manage the fish stocks within the 200-mile zone, the Fisheries and Marine Service has taken steps to substantially bolster its research capability. During 1977, 102 man-years will be added to the marine fisheries research staff, and an additional $4 to $6 million will be spent on fisheries research. This represents a doubling of the Service's resource assessment activities in the offshore area. Plans are also in hand for the chartering and construction of new research vessels.

As a condition of licensing, foreign fishing vessels must supply the Canadian authorities with information on catch and fishing effort. In addition, Canada is placing scientific observers on selected foreign fishing vessels to collect biological data and to obtain more detailed information on by-catches and discards. A number of cooperative research survey experiments involving the use of foreign research vessels have also been initiated. Two of these involve mesh selection experiments with the USSR and Cuban research vessels on the Scotian shelf, which should provide better information on the effects of mesh size on by-catch of other species in the directed silver hake fishery.

Playing a vital role in the management of the 200-mile zone is the computerized database system known as FLASH (Foreign Fishing Vessels Licensing and Surveillance Hierarchical Information System). The system keeps track of the foreign vessels operating within the zone and provides up-to-the minute information on fish catches, quotas, etc.

Developed within the Fisheries and Marine Service, the FLASH system has generated considerable international interest. Visitors from Iceland, Australia, New Zealand, Japan and the USA have seen the system at work and the latter two countries have expressed strong interest in developing a similar system for their own extension of fisheries jurisdiction.

You're On The Team

by

N. Halley MacPherson
Vice-President Atlantic
Region Shoppers Drug Mart Stores

Did you know that you are one of the most important members of the drug protection team in your community? Let's look at all the team members and assess the roles they play — including yours.

First come the federal and provincial government departments and agencies which enforce laws and regulations related to the manufacture, distribution and use of drugs to ensure your safety. Then comes the manufacturer of drugs, whose efforts in research, development and quality control produce medications for the public.

Physicians and dentists who prescribe drugs for you and direct you on the importance of their proper use are also on the team, as well as the pharmacists who fill a prescription according to the doctor's instructions and counsel you on its use.

Then there is you — the most important member of the team in many ways, because you can undo everything other team members have done to provide you with health-giving and life-saving drugs. Only a careful user of drug products can make the efforts of other team members worthwhile.

Your direct contact with manufacturers and government agencies is limited, although you can write them for information and statistics. Your most useful assistance in using drugs safely and effectively comes from two professionals in your community — your doctor and your pharmacist. Your pharmacist has been thoroughly and extensively trained and educated as an expert on medications, a counsellor on both prescription and non-prescription drugs and a source of information on health-related subjects.

Expert advice is as near as your pharmacy. Get it and follow it; that is your important role in protecting yourself.

Outdoor enthusiast Watson Peck is shown here with the paddle he used in the 1964 Centennial Canoe race in B.C. Peck was skipper of the Nova Scotia team.

Gathers Sports Autographs

Watson Peck, Bear River, was able to have his menu signed by a number of professional and amateur athletes who attended the luncheon on Saturday at the Skyline Hotel, Ottawa, but there was no chance to have Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth sign autographs. Standing nearby the Queen, Watson remarked to someone that he supposed the Queen did not sign autographs. Acknowledging hearing the remark Her Majesty verified it to Mr. Peck. Mr. Peck's invitation to the luncheon in Ottawa attended by Her Majesty and Prince Philip was through the Physical Fitness Branch.

Among those present were Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and Iona Campagnolo, minister of state fitness and amateur sport. Included among the 300 in attendance were figure skater Toller Cranston; swimmer Elaine Tanner; football star, Tony Gabriel; Jockey Sandy Hawley; hockey great Bobby Hull; boxer George Chuvalo and broadcaster Foster Hewitt.

Present from Halifax were swimmers Nancy Garapick, Susan Mason and rower Anne Dodge.

Mrs. Campagnolo gave a short talk in which she gave a most optimistic note about the progress of sports in Canada. She expressed pleasure in the country's showing at last year's Olympic Games in Montreal and remarked that “sports is the bridge that brings people together.”

Watson travelled to Ottawa by Air Canada on Friday and returned on Sunday arriving at work at 8 o'clock a.m.

This is the second time this year in which Mr. Peck was honored by being present at a dinner in Ottawa. Late last winter Watson was honored by being presented with a Canada Medal by Governor General Jules Léger at a dinner held in Ottawa. At that time, according to Watson he challenged Prime Minister Trudeau to a canoe race and the P.M. accepted. Watson, however, isn't entirely convinced that the event will take place.

Autumn

The hills are ablaze with the colors of Autumn,
The air is so still like the touch of a Hand,
The Autumn's gay colors say summer is leaving,
And time it is passing through the hour glass sand.

The river's a mirror reflecting the tree tops,
Their gold and their scarlet, a bright rainbow hue,
I stand here beside it, paint words on my memory,
For Autumn is me and I know it is you.

The fields and the meadows are gilded in yellow,
The winds breathe a sigh as the song birds depart,
Though I cherish Autumn, My heart it is saddened,
The summer is leaving taking with it my heart.

Patchwork Pieces

Hannah Dale.
At this time of the year I am reminded of this little poem by George Cooper, that I learned over 60 years ago.

THE WIND AND THE LEAVES

“Come, little leaves,” said the wind one day;
“Come over the meadow with me and play,
Put on your dresses of red and gold,
Summer is gone and the days grow cold.”

As soon as the leaves heard the wind's loud call,
Down they came fluttering, one and all.
Over the fields they danced and flew Singing the soft little song they knew.

Dancing and flying, the little leaves went,
Winter had called them, and they were content.
Soon fast asleep on their earthly beds,
The snow made a blanket over their heads.

George Cooper.

The Bluejays and Canada Jays are again coming to the bird feeder. I would like to have the Chick-a-dees come. Last year only one appeared. Each day he came in the late afternoon. Such a cheery little bird. I hope he will invite some of his friends to join him this year. What we need is a tree close to the feeder, perhaps the birds would come in greater numbers then.

I found some bright pink yarrow in Digby one day last week. It is a deep rich colour. I brought the root home, so perhaps I will have pink yarrow in my garden next summer. I also have some lupin roots that some kind person gave me.

I'd like to help you Kids but...

When you're only six years old and it's your first Hallowe'en for UNICEF, those “buts” can really hurt. Like “I meant to get some change but...” Or “Sure I care about kids but...”

Those little spooks and goblins know that 30¢ collected in their orange and black boxes often means the difference between life and death to a small, friendless human somewhere in this world.

So at Hallowe'en, when the young voices call “Trick or Treat for UNICEF”, please don't give them any “buts.”

Help them to show their concern for the world's destitute children by putting a few coins in the UNICEF box. That kind of caring is desperately needed in our world today.

What Is A Cord Of Wood

The rising cost of fuel oil and the recent lifting of the sales tax on wood-burning stoves and furnaces, have combined to make firewood a very attractive heating alternative, says the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs.

However, because consumers have not had much experience in buying wood in quantities greater than those required to keep a fireplace glowing in the winter months, the department is getting complaints from consumers who feel they have been shortchanged. In many cases, says the Department's deputy minister Kenneth M. Mounce, consumers have a legitimate complaint.

The main complaint seems to be because of confusion over what constitutes a cord of wood. A cord is described as that amount of space occupied by a stack of wood four by four by eight feet long. On investigation, some consumers have indeed been getting less than that amount of wood in the 'cord' they have purchased, Mr. Mounce says, but the problems do not stop there. Consumers who build a crib of four by four by eight feet for their wood may think they have the problem of a cord licked, but they can still be short changed.

Although the stacked cord occupies 128 cubic feet of space, it does not contain 128 cubic feet of wood, Mr. Mounce says. The solid wood content of the stacked cord will vary because of a number of factors simply because wood is round and does not pack down firmly into a solid mass, he says. For instance, small crooked pieces cut from limbs will take up the same spaces as large, uniformly straight pieces, but will yield less in actual wood content. Therefore, consumers should check out the following factors before making their purchase.

1. The longer the sticks of wood, the less solid wood content there is because longer lengths do not pack as closely as shorter lengths do.

2. The thicker the wood, the greater the solid wood yield per cord because there are fewer pieces to stack. Therefore, there are fewer air spaces between the sticks which help fill out the cord.

3. A cord of peeled wood will contain more solid wood per stacked cord than wood with the bark left on.

4. The species of wood also affects the actual wood content. Hardwoods, for instance, yield less solid wood per cord than softwoods which are smoother and straighter. Hardwood, however, is better for burning because it gives off more heat.

5. The way in which the wood is stacked in the crib can have the greatest effect on the actual solid wood content, he says. Wood should be piled in orderly rows, with each log being packed in the spaces between the logs in the row below. This is known as hexagonal piling. Logs that are piled at angles to each other or one on top of the other, leave greater air spaces in the cord and decrease the actual amount of wood in the cord.

For the best value for his money, Mr. Mounce says, the consumer should check out his supplier to determine the kind of wood he offers and make sure that it is piled in the proper way. The cost will be reflected in the kind of wood being offered. Shorter peeled lengths of wood require more work on the part of the supplier and will necessarily cost more than crooked logs of random lengths and thicknesses. Consumers should be prepared to comparison shop on that basis.

Reflecting To 1947

In the October 23, 1947 issue of The Digby Courier, the news told of plans for provincial-municipal conferences. Editorially the paper noted 13 miles of streets should be paved, four miles of breastwork had to be maintained, there was a water system to be improved and at the time only one-third of the town was serviced by sewers. The bulk of the money came from direct taxation, the editorial said and it was hopeful that Digby would have an increased source of revenue for some of the work because of the conferences.

Vandalism and crime has mostly changed since 1947. Someone at that time had an overpowering desire for a chicken dinner and raided the henpen of William Thomas, taking seven of his pullets. To prove they didn't steal the pullets, they left twelve dollars tied to the door knob of Bill's house.

Scott Cosman of Brighton found violets and mayflowers fresh and bright looking as in early Spring. The Cosman's also picked ripe wild strawberries. The item states that the mayflowers were given to Mrs. J. M. Wallis. (Sorry, but the editor of today has a short memory).

Staff-sergeant Douglas MacKay (then of Germany with the American Army) wrote to the Digby Courier about enjoying a cruise on the Rhine in Adolph Hitler's pleasure yacht, together with other members of the Army Newspaper "Stars and Stripes."

Bird Haven

Lots of robins feeding on the barberry berries, a welcome sight as there have been so few around all summer.

The blue-jay discovered two small sunflower plants that had seeded themselves in the garden beneath last winter's feeding station. They were only partly matured but he picked them clean, he is also having a good time with the Acorns.

My family of white throats has grown to ten along with Song and English ones. Maybe they will stay all winter.

Had a fleeting visit Sunday from a Mocking bird. It arrived in the same tree as the one did last year. Do you suppose it could be the same one. Time will tell.

No sign of any Orioles yet, a little early, a few other strays passing through.

Drove in the yard the other day and feeding in a wet spot was a pretty grayish bird with long yellow legs, it seemed

Fritz Dakin, president of the Digby Board of Trade called a special meeting for the purpose of presenting to the Board an outline of the business program ahead. It consisted of the preparation of Digby's case for presentation before the Fisheries Commission; publicity for the next tourist season, holding of the championships events for the Maritime Rowing Association and to appoint an Advisory Committee on Civic Affairs. In discussion re. the Civic Affairs Committee, president, Mr. Dakin, said he did not intend to intrude politics into the business of the Board but felt strongly that a condition had arisen where it was necessary that the Town Council should be made to feel that the Board of Trade, as a representative body of ratepayers was prepared to support any measure for the advancement of Civic progress. Progress, he said meant the expenditure of money for civic improvement, it meant the educating of the ratepayers to see

Tideview Puts On Fund Raising Functions

The Friends of Tideview held a pantry sale on Thursday October 6th at "The Home" raising the sum of sixty dollars. Mrs. Edna Rice sold tickets on a cake bringing in twenty three dollars and twenty five cents to add to their sixty dollars. The lucky winner of the cake was Mrs. Sarah Barnes, Digby.

Mrs. Harold VanTassel put on a display of hand work done by patients which brought one hundred and forty four dollars.

During the afternoon Rev. Dale Schwartz played selections on the organ which were much appreciated. Flowers and pretty autumn leaves which decorated the Lounges were kindly brought and arranged by Mrs. Harold VanTassel.

It was a Lesser Yellowlegs a Spring and Fall transient. Saw five lovely loons in the basin a few days ago, rather unusual to see that many together in salt water. They nest in the lakes and return to salt water in the fall.

Their call is a weird laughing sound hence the expression, "Crazy as a Loon," it can be heard a great distance through the woodland.

Several accident victims have been brought in during the last week. Only one is surviving, a tailless White Throat. All cat victims.

Mr. Milbury (above) says the weather was rainy and cold but with the moose cut up in the freezer for winter's use the weather conditions are forgotten and he has memories of a most enjoyable trip.

NOTICE NOMINATION CONVENTION CORRECTION

The Annual Meeting of the Digby Progressive Conservative Association will be held on November 17, 1977, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening at the Legion Hall in Digby, Nova Scotia.

This meeting will deal mainly with the nomination of a candidate to contest the next Provincial Election. A new slate of officers will also be elected.

that money so spent was an investment and while it was a new venture for the Board of Trade to take direct action in this manner it was a wise move and one which should result in betterment of civic utilities and the advancement of general prosperity.

H. J. Ware had taken on the agency in Digby County for the new Defiance Heavy Duty Motor Trucks, adding another activity to the varied line of manufactures which the Warne interests turn their hand at for the benefit of Digby and mutual profit. A visit to the Warne mill makes for pride in Digby, the news column stated, for optimism in future and appreciation in what can be done in Nova Scotia. Men were busy filling a new vegetable warehouse at Warne. The two storey warehouse just completed 120 ft x 40 ft. had a frost proof cellar. Built of lumber manufactured in Digby, with the exception of cement and nails, the warehouse is entirely Digby's product. A Warne schooner was loading potatoes and turnips for Boston. Another new venture for the Warne's was the manufacture of a special size type barrel for scallop fishermen. Mr. Warne also secured a contract for hardwood barrel staves.

The Digby Branch Royal Canadian Legion moved into new quarters in the "Iron Duke" with a large turnout and much "revelry", according to the story in The Digby Weekly Courier. President was Dr. Victor Turnbull, Comrade Frank Robinson was quartermaster. Others participating in the fun-making and singing were Rufus Connors and William Barton.

A visiting American tried to impress on Digby that effort should not be made only to get the tourist here for the first time, but to get him back the second time. The tourist, the visitor said, should be made an advertisement for our hospitality, beauties of land and sea, good food, etc. Getting the tourist here is a problem of the government, the visitor argued, but getting him back again is a responsibility of the hotel keeper and every boarding house owner.

The Digby Weekly Courier was annoyed, judging from its editorial column, about the Halifax Herald being so jubilant over the entry of the CPR into Halifax by participation in the Lord Nelson Hotel project. The column said that the paper chooses to ignore the fact that CPR is already a competitor of the CNR for business originating in Halifax. The C.P.R. already had entry into Halifax over the lives of its subsidiary, the D.A.R. and the present service between Digby and Saint John is wholly inadequate to the needs of transportation. It was the feeling of the Courier that the Halifax Herald and Halifax Board of Trade could better serve if its influence was directed toward developing of the short haul service to Montreal via Digby and Saint John.

Council Notes

Red Tape Holding Up School Construction

Construction of the proposed new section of Digby Regional High School is being held up due to a "stalemate" resulting from red tape in Halifax, Councillor Richard Daley reported to Digby Municipal council Monday.

Councillor Daley said the stalemate centres on the formula of how the money is to be distributed. Meanwhile, nothing further can be done until approval is received from Halifax.

Councillor Helen McNeil also expressed dissatisfaction with the way things are going. She noted that the architects, although selected, cannot be hired yet.

Mention was made of a similar school in Halifax which had to proceed on its own because approval hadn't been received from the province three years after the school had burned.

The possible need for a split-shift schedule sometime in the future was discussed.

Councillor McNeil reported that things were going fairly well at the high school in spite of problems resulting from the summer fire which destroyed the 1948 wing of the school.

In other business, Councillor L.E.R. Winchester said it is costing the municipality over $34,000 for the 13 prisoners who have been sent to Kings County Correctional Centre.

Airline Service

Atlantic Central Airlines has expressed interest in serving the Municipal Airport on a twice daily basis. The interest was expressed via a letter read at Monday's session.

Little is known about the airline's operations. However, Councillor L.E.R. Winchester advised council he had notified the company that the municipality is still interested in a Digby-Saint John shuttle service. Airport improvements would have to be carried out before service begins.

The municipality had been hoping for E.P.A. service but according to Councillor Winchester, E.P.A. has no present plans to include Digby in its operations.

Councillor Winchester said he is a "bit alarmed" at the way the municipality's social services budget is increasing. He said the expenditure by the end of this month would probably equal the expenditures for all of 1976.

Councillor Ruben Mervin said items over which council has no control, such as Homes for the Aged and special care, are causing the largest part of the increase. He said the social services committee had brought down expenditures a great deal on the items it has control over.

Councillor Winchester advised that Tenders had been ordered for heating oil for the court house and the jail. He also advised that an additional telephone line is being installed at the municipal office.

Employment Program

Councillor Grant Sabine advised council that provincial money was available for municipalities to create employment.

The initial date limit for applications was late September. Councillor Sabine said he felt council is shirking its responsibility in not applying.

A little checking later in the meeting revealed that the time limit had been extended to the end of October. Council decided to try to obtain its share of the available funds.

Under the program, workers are paid at the rate of $2.75 per hour. The program is designed to be labour-incentive.

During discussion of the matter, Councillor Walter MacAlpine suggested these work programs are a waste of money because there is no production involved. The money, he said, should be used to start some type of productive business which can keep people employed.

Councillors Sabine and McNeil agreed with the need for production but Councillor McNeil allowed, however, that the grants are producing work, even at the $2.75 per hour rate.

Councillor MacAlpine suggested people should be hired under the program to come up with ideas which might be developed to create permanent employment.

A motion was passed giving the building inspector permission to attend a fall conference at joint municipal and town expense. Councillor McNeil voted against the motion.

On the recommendation of Councillor Winchester, funds for renovating the council chambers and the municipal office will be included in the 1978 estimates.

One of three applications received for the position of municipal dog control officer will be brought before the Finance Committee for consideration.

C.N. Marine H.Q.s

Council decided to write a letter asking that the headquarters of C.N. Marine be moved to Digby instead of to Halifax as has been suggested.

A representative of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation was brought before council to discuss possible sewerage system financing.

The town of Digby's treatment plant has been designed to handle sewage from immediate municipal areas around the town. Council still wants to obtain further information.

A complaint was received from the Islands, via letter, about poor service being received from the Digby County Power Board.

Concern was expressed that there might not be a qualified linesman posted there during the winter. Councillor Richard Daley felt it is the municipal utility's responsibility to see that such a person is maintained there.

Parker Thurber reported that the derelict vehicle clean-up is progressing well on the Islands. He said people seem to be co-operating well.

Digby County Woman Inducted Into Order

A total of 82 Canadians were made members during the investiture ceremonies into the Order of Canada by Governor General Jules Léger, chancellor of the order in Ottawa on Wednesday. Among the number was Mrs. Edith Tufts, Saunierville, Digby Co.

Mrs. Tufts, a daughter of Acadian parents, was born in 1919. She is the mother of 15 children, seven of whom graduated from College Ste. Anne in Pointe-de-l'Église.

A graduate of the Maritime Business College in Halifax, she has worked as a secretary for many volunteer and community organizations for 37 years. She is the founder of the Dames Patronesses de la Colonie de la Juenesse Acadienne Inc., a group of Acadian women from Clare who have been looking after the needs of this holiday camp for 16 years.

The aim of the movement is to help young Acadians and to keep the traditional language, culture and religion alive among them. The association is 17 years old and consists of more than 400 women from St. Mary's Bay who work for the welfare of young Acadians.

Through her continued interest, Mrs. Tufts shows her dedication to improving society as a whole and the status of women in particular. During International Women's Year, she was the motivating force behind the activities of a group of rural women in Clare. The benefits of the activities are still being reaped.

Because of her husband's poor health after the Second World War, she often had to play the role of breadwinner for her children. She is Digby Riteaway was one of several establishments vandalized Wednesday night, Oct. 19. An unsuccessful attempt was made to gain entry into the safe. Damage to the establishment, however, was considered quite extensive.

Vandals Appear In Court

Digby RCMP have made two arrests in connection with three break and enter incidents which occurred in Town, October 19th.

The breaks occurred at Jack's Warehousing and Forwarding Ltd., Digby Riteaway, and Bob's Fina.

Jack's Warehousing suffered the most extensive damage as vandals went on a rampage. Paint and Varsol were used extensively, resulting in the loss of much of the office equipment. The exact amount of the damage has not yet been determined but owner, Jack Gillespie gave an estimate of $20,000.

Damage was also fairly extensive at Digby Riteaway, however, no estimate was available. Bob's Fina suffered damage to a lesser degree.

Two Digby youths appeared in court Monday in connection with the breaks. Dale Germaine, 17, and Amos Germaine, 19, both pleaded not guilty and will appear for trial on November 14th. Bail was set at $500 each.

Two youths also appeared in court Monday in connection with the damage which occurred recently at the Baptist Cemetery. Paul LeBlanc, 17, and Peter William Turnbull, 16, were each fined $50 for their involvement. Other charges are pending in connection with the same incident.

Two juveniles were scheduled to appear in family court Tuesday in connection with a break into the Curling Club on October 2nd.

Seven youths have been charged in connection with a number of break and enters at Haines Lake over the past year. Several of those involved will appear in Family Court.

Two girls were charged Monday in connection with a window-breaking spree in September at Stedmans and a downtown office-apartment building. A juvenile has also been convicted and will be sentenced next month.

Ben Ringer of Digby was fined $75 on a charge of assault and $50 for damage to property in connection with a ruckus at the Gulf Station in Conway in August.

Arnold LeRoy Andrews was sentenced to three months in the Kings County Correctional Centre for Breach of Probation.

$180,000 Approved For Town

A 1977 Neighbourhood Improvement Program for Nova Scotia, committing $3,000,000 of federal money and $600,000 of provincial investment to NIP programs in 12 designated areas, has been approved by Urban Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet and Housing Minister Walter Fitzgerald.

Signing of the 1977 agreement brought to $12,924,000 the total governmental commitment to NIP projects in the province since the program was launched in 1974, and municipal investment could reach another $10,000,000 or more.

In announcing the signing of the agreement, Mr. Fitzgerald said the latest commitment of federal and provincial funds, the largest to date, would help provide jobs and stimulate local economies at a time when this was badly needed in the area.

The program aims at assisting in the improvement of amenities and living conditions in run-down neighbourhoods. Improvement plans are developed by municipalities in conjunction with local residents, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and Nova Scotia Housing Commission.

In general, neighbourhoods and municipalities are eligible to participate in the NIP program if they are predominantly residential, a significant proportion of their housing stock needs improvement and repairs to meet minimum health and safety standards, most of the housing is occupied by people of low to moderate incomes, and social and recreational amenities are inadequate.

The 12 NIP areas designated under the 1977 NIP agreement, and the total federal and provincial contribution committed to each, include:

Amherst, $576,000; Dartmouth, $684,000; Digby, $180,000; Dominion, $246,000; Glace Bay, $288,000; Halifax, $732,000; Louisbourg, $90,000; New Waterford, $204,000; Parrsboro, $180,000; Trenton, $180,000; Sydney Mines, $120,000; and Westville, $120,000.

Toxic Mussels Hospitalize Two

Two persons remain in serious condition at the V.G. Hospital as the result of consuming toxic mussels, taken from the Fundy Shore at Port George.

The toxic poison is deadly, attacking the respiratory system and paralyzing the victim. Both persons were placed on a respiratory machine and later on kidney machines. One had to be returned to the respiratory machine as the only means of breathing available.

A third person was affected, but only slightly, and was not hospitalized.

Dr. G. N. Smith, director of the Fundy Health Unit, strongly urges citizens not to eat shellfish at this time.

A year round check is kept on the shellfish by the Department of Fisheries. As the mussels tend to contain a higher level of toxin a year round ban was placed on their taking from the Fundy Shore some time ago.

Premier Regan Pays Tribute To The Late Mrs. Stanfield

Statement by the Honourable Gerald A. Regan, Q.C. Premier of Nova Scotia, made on behalf of the executive council, in paying tribute to the late Mary Stanfield, wife of the Honourable Robert L. Stanfield.

The executive council of Nova Scotia today extended their condolences to the Honourable Robert L. Stanfield and his family on the death of Mrs. Mary Stanfield, wife and mother.

Premier Gerald Regan, speaking on behalf of cabinet, paid tribute to Mrs. Stanfield for her many years of loyal public service at the side of her husband both as premier of Nova Scotia and later as leader of the National Progressive Conservative Party and official opposition leader.

"Mrs. Stanfield was a quiet source of strength to her husband throughout his years in political office as she very ably performed the double task of homemaker and wife of a political leader. Nova Scotians and indeed Canadians throughout this land feel a sense of loss at the death of Mrs. Stanfield."

On behalf of my cabinet colleagues and the people of Nova Scotia, I extend our sincerest sympathy and regrets to Mr. Stanfield and members of his family on their great loss. It is hoped they will find comfort in the admiration and affection that so many Canadians held for Mrs. Stanfield over the years," said Premier Regan.

Editorials

A WAY TO HELP OURSELVES

It is nothing exactly new. We have frequently within the past thirty or more years campaigned for "Buy at Home" or "Buy Nova Scotian" or some other effort with a similar slogan but we will take this opportunity to again support this idea of helping ourselves. Actually, we were prompted by the campaign "Buy Atlantic" being presently launched by the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce as seen in other columns in this issue of The Digby Courier.

But, let us get back to the focal point and that is you and that is me, the consumer. Producers are important but before the producer there must be the customer, the consumer to make the demand. Surely, if there is anytime to "buy local" there certainly is need for it now in order to counteract those ascending numbers in the ranks of unemployed and to protect the rising tax dollar from ascending to unwarranted heights. If the consumer buys "At Home" or "Nova Scotian" or Atlantic, that means the merchant is making more sales. The more sales made simply means the producer must supply more of the products to the merchant and more persons must be employed to make the production and once again there is more money earned by more people to circulate in that particular area.

It is with the consumer that a campaign of "buy local" often fails or succeeds. Too often the ordinary householder or buyer is not loyal to the home product or conscious it exists. Being concerned with the success of home production, the consumers here might ask themselves, for instance, "Do I support home product by eating and serving sea products whenever possible?" What about buying Annapolis Valley apples? A list of produce grown in Nova Scotia and products manufactured here can be obtained and what is bought locally in Digby County really is supporting Nova Scotia in general as well as Digby County. What is bought of a Nova Scotia product not only helps Nova Scotia but also the Atlantic provinces. Of course, we are not denying the fact that we can buy less expensively sometimes from other far away countries rather than from our own. Labor in those countries being in a lower range could cause this and our markets then become flooded with those things not of local production. And once again we are back on the lap of the wage and salary earner, the consumer.

We might sound a bit selfish in the idea of "buy local" when considering that we too want export markets in other countries as well as other countries wanting our trade but there can't be too much wrong in trying to find a way of helping ourselves out of a rather stagnant economy.

Open Letter To Nicholson

Dear Peter:

I noted with some interest that Dalhousie University has launched a campaign to complete the financing of its ten million dollar athletic complex now under construction. In the announcement of the campaign the University President, Senator Hicks, noted that the Province has earmarked $6,925,000 for this project.

I have perused the Provincial Estimates for 1976-77 and 1977-78 with some care, but can find no reference to any such expenditure. Perhaps this amount was included as a capital advance under the Universities Assistance Act. I would appreciate any information you might be able to give me as to how and when this amount was agreed upon and where it might be located in the Estimates, or was this to be done by Order-in-Council.

I am also led to believe that the Province has earmarked or spent up to $12,000,000 on the Halifax Metro Centre, which is noted in the Estimates under capital expenditure of the Department of Recreation. I would appreciate it if you could inform me as to whether there are any further commitments to sports facilities in the Halifax area of which I might also have not been aware or is $19,000,000 the final figure.

With best regards and thanks for your anticipated cooperation, I am,

Sincerely

Our limping Ferry is back on duty once more after being laid up for several days with water on the knee - or was it milk leg? - Something wet, anyway. (submitted from Westport).

— At least, The Digby Courier is there. A stranger from Maine requested of us information on daily or weekly newspapers in the Saint John, N.B., area. The Digby Courier, it was stated by the inquirers, was the only paper that could be found in the area. —

Many have been the compliments and much interest has been shown in our columns "Reflecting to 1927" and "Reflecting to 1947". Kenneth Van Tassel of Tiverton was interested and wrote to tell us of his experience with hen thieves but somewhat different from that of the man in 1947. In Mr. VanTassel's own words "In reply to your clipping of Reflecting to 1947 in the Digby Courier about the man who stole the pullets and left the money on the door knob of the house. I had about the same experience happen to me on Oct. 11, 1977. On Tuesday night I shut my hens up for the night, when I went to feed them the next day I found that my hen pen had been raided. Out of 30 hens and roosters I had only 2 hens and their 20 baby chickens left. So you see hen pen raiding is not a thing of the past. The only thing different in this situation is that the hen thieves left no money for the hens they stole."

Even Graham Allen of Neighbourly News might happen to find your story above, Mr. VanTassel. Not that we don't feel for you in the loss of the hens, nor for that matter we are not proud of the thieves but somewhere there should be feathers. Oh, by the way, we might have two mentions on Neighbourly News this issue. We have a sixtieth wedding anniversary. Are you over 95 years or married at least 55 years? You could hear your name on radio on Sunday morning.

Check For Full Value

The Consumers' Association of Canada (Nova Scotia Branch) warns consumers to check their firewood purchases to make sure they receive full value for their money. Consumers should ask sellers for a description of the volume of wood being sold.

Consumers are warned, they may not receive a full cord, even though a cord is advertised. A cord is defined under the Weights and Measures Act and Regulations as a quantity, 128 cubic feet in volume; a cord of wood usually measures 8 feet by 4 feet by 4 feet. The volume of wood frequently delivered as a cord ranges between 32 and 64 cubic feet and measures 8 feet by 4 feet by 1 to 2 feet depending on the length of the logs.

CAC(NS) advises consumers to check the amount of wood being sold when comparing prices. If a cord is advertised and the full measure of a cord is not received (128 cu.ft.) CAC(NS) suggests consumers contact the nearest office of Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada.

Harvey Webber President Atlantic Chamber Of Commerce

In 1964 the Kinsmen Club of Sydney inaugurated a "Citizen of the Year Award." As it was their first such presentation, the Kinsmen decided they would choose the citizen who had contributed most up to that time. The unanimous choice was Harvey Webber. His activities since that date prove the prestigious award was well deserved. To mention a few examples: In 1968 he was one of a six man group who built a half million dollar Sports Centre as a gift to the City of Sydney.

As founder of a unique Centennial project, the Miners Museum in Glace Bay, he was Chairman in '72 and '73. His interests are varied. He has been Chairman of Community Concerts and President, Atlantic Symphony Orchestra, Cape Breton Branch from '74 to '77. He was also a Governor of the Dominion Drama Festival. Harvey Webber was twice Chairman of the Cape Breton County United Appeal. Under his leadership, it was the only time before or since - that the quota was reached.

Altho a graduate of Dalhousie Law School and remains a member of the bar, he chose retailing as a career and is President of Smart Shop Ltd., a junior department store of fashion. He is also President of Mid-Town Management, a land development company and is Vice-Chairman, Cape Breton Advisory Board, Central and Eastern Trust.

Prominent in Chamber of Commerce work, he is currently president of the Atlantic Region and a member of the National Small Business Committee.

Harvey is the originator and proponent of Atlantic Canada Plus, a self-help plan for job creation, currently the major project of the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce.

bilingual and held several positions during her secretarial career. The two most interesting jobs she had were at Clare Municipal Office and the records office at College Sainte-Anne.

Mrs. Tufts is now a member of the provincial board that determines the indemnity paid to owners when their property is expropriated. Editor of the publications Cuisine Acadienne d'Aujourd'hui, researcher for Marielle Boudreau's La Cuisine Traditionnelle en Acadie and author of several unpublished short stories, articles and poems, she holds the copyright to Acadienne de Clare. This book, which is now at press, was written to give Acadian women credit for their role in the past and contemporary history of Acadia.

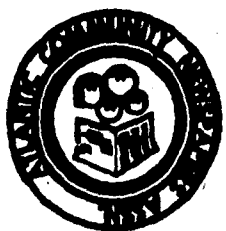

Another well known man in the Digby area to receive the Order of Canada was Dr. James M.R. Beveridge, president of Acadia University. It was in 1964 that he became president of Acadia after working as a research assistant at Banting Institute, University of Toronto, in Vancouver with the Pacific Fisheries Experimental Station and lecturer at the University of Western Ontario.

The Order of Canada was created in 1967 to recognize outstanding achievements and merit in every major field of endeavor.

Bad People Applauded

Crime seems to pay. Culprits are applauded and victims are soon forgotten. The element of punishment has been extracted from much of legal procedure. Murder charges are commonly reduced to manslaughter, sentences are shortened, and capital punishment has disappeared.

During trials, public sentiment often favors the suspect, while the suffering and loss to the victim or his loved ones is largely disregarded.

Radicals and revolutionaries will plunder, burn and kill, then wonder why they should be brought to justice. A large segment of society seems to make heroes of the felon, and consign the police and courts to a place of ridicule.

A skyjacker jumped the plane which he had piloted, and got away with thousands of dollars. A public poll showed that this criminal was being heralded, and many of those questioned hoped that he would not be caught.

Man in his raw state, unredeemed by the Grace of God, seems to secretly or otherwise support sin for himself and for others. Here is natural man at his worst. Long ago, Christ on trial stood before Pilate. Thinking to release Him, Pilate tried to get the mob to exchange the perfect Son of God, for Barabbas, the killer. They chose to set Barabbas free and to crucify Christ.

Things haven't changed. Evil warps the mind and destroys the righteous.

An interest in petroglyph attracted a recent visitor to Smith's Cove to visit Kejmkukuk National Park where several examples of this primitive art may be found. Petroglyphs are carvings on rock made by prehistoric or primitive people and Mrs. Donald Wolfe has long been interested in these carvings which are found throughout North America. Mrs. Wolfe, nee Joyce Payson, and her husband, Donald, came on a visit to

Mrs. Wolfe's aunt, Miss Catherine Weir, Smith's Cove. Mrs. Wolfe is no stranger to the Cove as she grew up there, the daughter of Mrs. E. J. Payson, now living in Vancouver, B.C., and the late E. J. Payson. When living here, the Paysons resided in the house now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Specht.

Control Of The Merchant Grain Beetles

One of the most common pests of processed cereal products in this country is a tiny beetle approximately 1/4 inch (3mm) long, called the merchant grain beetle. It is known to occur widely in commercial, retail and wholesale premises, and may occur in food warehouses and vehicles of transport, but not in unheated buildings, such as farm grain storages. A related species, the sawtoothed grain beetle, infests stored grain as well as processed cereal products, but occurs less commonly.

These beetles are flat, and so can easily get into packaged food through tiny cracks and folds. They can chew through waxed paper, thin plastic and thin metal foil. They feed on a wide variety of materials, including breakfast cereals, flour, meal, macaroni, rice, dried fruit and meat, chocolate, spices, and dry pet foods. When left undisturbed they increase rapidly in numbers.

The adults are small brown beetles approximately 1/4 inch (3mm) long and 1-2/4 inch (1mm) wide. They lay eggs in stored foods or in cracks in cupboards into which particles of food fall. From these eggs hatch tiny wormlike larvae less than 1/4 inch (3mm) long, very slim and grayish white. The larvae feed on fine articles of food and cannot eat pieces of whole grain.

Prevention
To help keep your kitchen from being infested by these pests, take the following precautions:

Buy only small amounts of foods that may become infested, or that you do not use regularly, especially in summer.

Carefully examine all foodstuffs and packages when you bring them home to make sure they are free of pests.

Keep storage areas clean and dry.

Store foods in as cool a place as possible; the beetles do not thrive at temperatures below 60 deg. F.

Store surplus foods in insect-proof containers such as tightly sealed glass jars. This keeps out insects, prevents them from spreading if the food is infested when stored, and makes it easy to inspect the contents. Many kitchen canisters do not keep out small insects.

Clean containers thoroughly before placing fresh food in them. Never add new food to old.

Examine all stored foods occasionally, never leaving any undisturbed for long periods. Common sources of infestation include neglected oatmeal, crackers and pet foods.

Control

When you find insects in food or cupboards, search for the source of the infestation. Carefully examine all materials on hand, especially any that have been stored for some time.

Destroy those that are heavily infested, preferably by burning or freezing them.

Do not place infested foods in garbage containers without first destroying the pests. Live insects may spread from the garbage and start new infestations; especially in apartment buildings.

To salvage food that is lightly infested, spread the material in pans so that it is not more than 2 inches deep.

Put the pans in the oven, stir the food frequently, and keep it at a temperature of 140 deg. F to 150 deg. F for at least 20 minutes. Expose larger quantities to this heat for proportionally longer periods, up to an hour or two.

A 48-hour exposure to a subzero temperature kills most insects that infest processed cereal foods. Put packages of infested materials into a food freezer for 48 hours, or, in winter, place outdoors in rodent-proof containers. If the outdoor temperature is between 32 deg. F and 0 deg. F, expose the food for two or three nights, bringing it in during the day.

Remove the contents of infested cupboards and apply a residual household insecticide, such as one of the following: 1 per cent propoxur (Baygon), or 2 per cent malathion (premium grade). If you cannot find sprays ready-prepared at these strengths, buy a concentrate and dilute it according to the directions on the label.

Search And Rescue Teams Attend Seminar

The volunteer members of ground search and rescue teams affiliated with the Emergency Measures Organization (Nova Scotia) were commended by the Deputy Minister of Environment J. S. Mactavish for the manner in which they give freely of their time in locating persons lost in the woods.

In an address to a ground search and rescue seminar arranged by EMO at Camp Debert, Mr. Mactavish said the provincial government has and will continue to place increasing emphasis on the program. During the last three years the teams have rescued more than 75 persons who have become lost in the woods. In many instances the persons rescued have been children or elderly persons.

Mr. Mactavish said the timing of the seminar was most appropriate in light of the fall hunting season and from past experience this is the time when search and rescue teams are most often called upon for assistance.

An important role of the search and rescue teams is a hunter training program aimed at reducing the risk of becoming lost in unfamiliar terrain. Many search and rescue teams have assisted the Department of Lands and Forests in training would-be hunters in map reading and compass use, which are requirements to obtain hunting licenses.

The Deputy Minister noted the close co-operation between EMO, RCMP and Department of Lands and Forests. The RCMP is the agency responsible for missing persons, while EMO co-ordinates the ground search and rescue teams, and the Department of Lands and Forests assists both in training and operations.

During the afternoon of the seminar the Musquodoboit Harbour team put on a demonstration of the various steps employed in a search, including the use of a Lands and Forests tracking dog.

Mr. Mactavish noted that the province has good coverage with ground search and rescue teams located at Sydney, Cheticamp, St. Peters, New Glasgow, Truro, Tatamagouche, Springhill, Windsor, West Dalhousie, Bridgewater, Digby, Waterville, Waverley, Musquodoboit Harbour, Sheet Harbour and Liverpool.

Requests Information On Sports Facilities

In a letter to the Honourable Peter Nicholson, Minister of Finance, NDP Leader, Jeremy Akerman, questioned the allocation of almost $7,000,000 for the Dalhousie University Sports Facility.

Mr. Akerman stated he had perused the Provincial Estimates but could find no reference to any such expenditure. He requested information from the Minister of Finance "as to how and when this amount was agreed upon".

Hangout Concerns Bear River Board Of Trade

Improvements to one of the village wharves, a dangerous hangout near the school, and loitering regulations were three of the issues brought before the Bear River Board of Trade's October meeting.

The Board is concerned about the condition of the building across from the Oakdene School which served briefly as a shingle mill. Youngsters are using the structure as a hangout in spite of its present state of disrepair. The Board is seeking a means of having the building closed up for the winter.

The condition of one of the village's wharves also came up for discussion. The Board has been waiting for fill from the proposed Bear River bridge intersection to fill in the centre of the wharf in question. Hopes are to obtain a Winter Works program grant to complete the necessary woodwork.

The department of highways will be approached regarding barring people from using the wharf in its present condition, or the erection of a sign indicating the danger involved.

In the loitering discussion, the Board was of the impression that the loitering by-law had not been ratified by Digby County, although the Annapolis Municipal council had done so.

The RCMP, therefore, can enforce the by-laws in the Annapolis section of the village but not in the Digby portion.

Where the by-law stands in Digby municipality will be determined through the local municipal councillor.

Akerman Calls For Protection Of The Unemployed

Nova Scotia NDP Leader, Jeremy Akerman, expressed great concern about the increasing financial plight of the unemployed and the threat to family lives that comes with continuing joblessness. Mr. Akerman pointed out that many sincere, honest and hard-working individuals are now faced with loss of their homes, bankruptcy and family disintegration because of the lack of jobs and stiffening of Unemployment Insurance requirements brought about by the Federal government. He called for "better protection for workers whose lives are being ruined due to continuing joblessness".

The NDP Leader said he is receiving more and more inquiries concerning personal bankruptcy and "the papers are full of mortgage foreclosure notices".

The NDP, in the Spring session of the Legislature, proposed a bill to offer protection to the unemployed which the government did not even call for debate. Mr. Akerman said, "We need an 'Unemployed Protection Act' to provide for the genuinely unemployed person whose unemployment benefits have expired and has been making an honest effort to meet his or her obligations". Such an act should protect the unemployed person from foreclosure and make available low-interest loans to help tide him or her over until prospects improve.

The social and economic costs of families losing their homes and breaking up are enormous and we must take some responsibility to insure that this does not happen. Mr. Akerman pointed out that the Orderly Payments of Debts provisions and the Personal Bankruptcy Act had helped some families but stated that "these did not meet the needs of the majority of the unemployed".

Mr. Akerman said that he commitment of this magnitude could have been agreed upon without the involvement of the Legislature or the public. He stated he was "certain that the jobless and the people trying to obtain decent housing would not be pleased by this further evidence of government distortion of priorities". "The government of Nova Scotia appears to be willing to spend on 'niceties' while continuing to ignore basics", Mr. Akerman concluded.

Watch For The Little Ones

was sure that the old line parties would say such protection could not be done due to the cost, but that this had been done in Canada before without severe dislocation of the provincial budget. In 1944 the Douglas government of Saskatchewan had acted in a similar manner to protect farmers from losing all they had worked for to the auction block. The farmers were helped through the bad times and when things improved were able to, once again, become contributors to the provincial tax coffers. The NDP Leader said the same can be done in Nova Scotia. "We are not suggesting grants or give-aways, but low interest loans, which will be repaid, to help protect our fellow citizens."

"Foreclosures and family break-up will be extremely costly in the long run. As the TV commercial says, 'you can pay me now or pay me later', but later will cost more. We can help our fellows, who are unemployed through no fault of their own, by protecting them against foreclosure and lending them money to get them through the hard times. It should be given immediate consideration", Mr. Akerman concluded.

Deanery Anglican Church Women Meet

The Annual meeting of Annapolis Deanery Anglican Church Women was held at Deep Brook, opening with service of Holy Eucharist at St. Matthews Church, conducted by newly appointed Regional Dean, the Reverend Frederic Tassinari, Parish of Bridgetown, assisted by the Reverend David Reid, Rector of Annapolis Royal and Granville. Other clergy in attendance were the Reverend R. N. Savary, Weymouth, recently appointed Protestant Chaplain for the College of St. Anne, the Reverend Michael Boyd, Digby, the Reverend Canon K. H. Tufts, Belleisle, and the Reverend Donald Sharp, Middleton. Miss Evelyn Purdy was organist.

Immediately following the service St. Clements and St. Matthews' Guild Members hosted a delicious casserole dinner at the Parish Hall. Following this the meeting was held with President Florence L. McNeil in the chair. Representatives from Weymouth, Digby, Annapolis Royal, Granville Ferry, Belleisle, Round Hill, and Bridgetown responding to roll call.

Offering for today was divided between St. Anne's Camp and Appeal to the North. Miss Kathleen Howe and Mrs. Tilley announced slate of officers for 1978-79 as follows:

President - Mrs. Robert Williams, Bear River; Vice-President - Miss Erna Campbell, Upper Granville; Secretary - Mrs. June Whitman, Round Hill;

Treasurer (re-elected) - Mrs. Maude Nichol, Lequille.

The Reverend David Reid introduced the guest speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Karin MacArthur, Education Chairperson for Mental Health Association for Annapolis County. She stressed the need for more volunteer help as individuals and as community workers, stating the need for helping the aged, the lonely and mentally handicapped. She emphasized the difficulty in getting people in Annapolis County to work on committees. Mrs. MacArthur recommended the reading of the report of the Mental Health Association noting much work had been done in the preparation and changes. She then gave some examples and experiences which were informative and enlightening. Mrs. MacArthur was thanked by Mrs. Kathleen Watson, Courtesy Committee, speaking on behalf of the group.

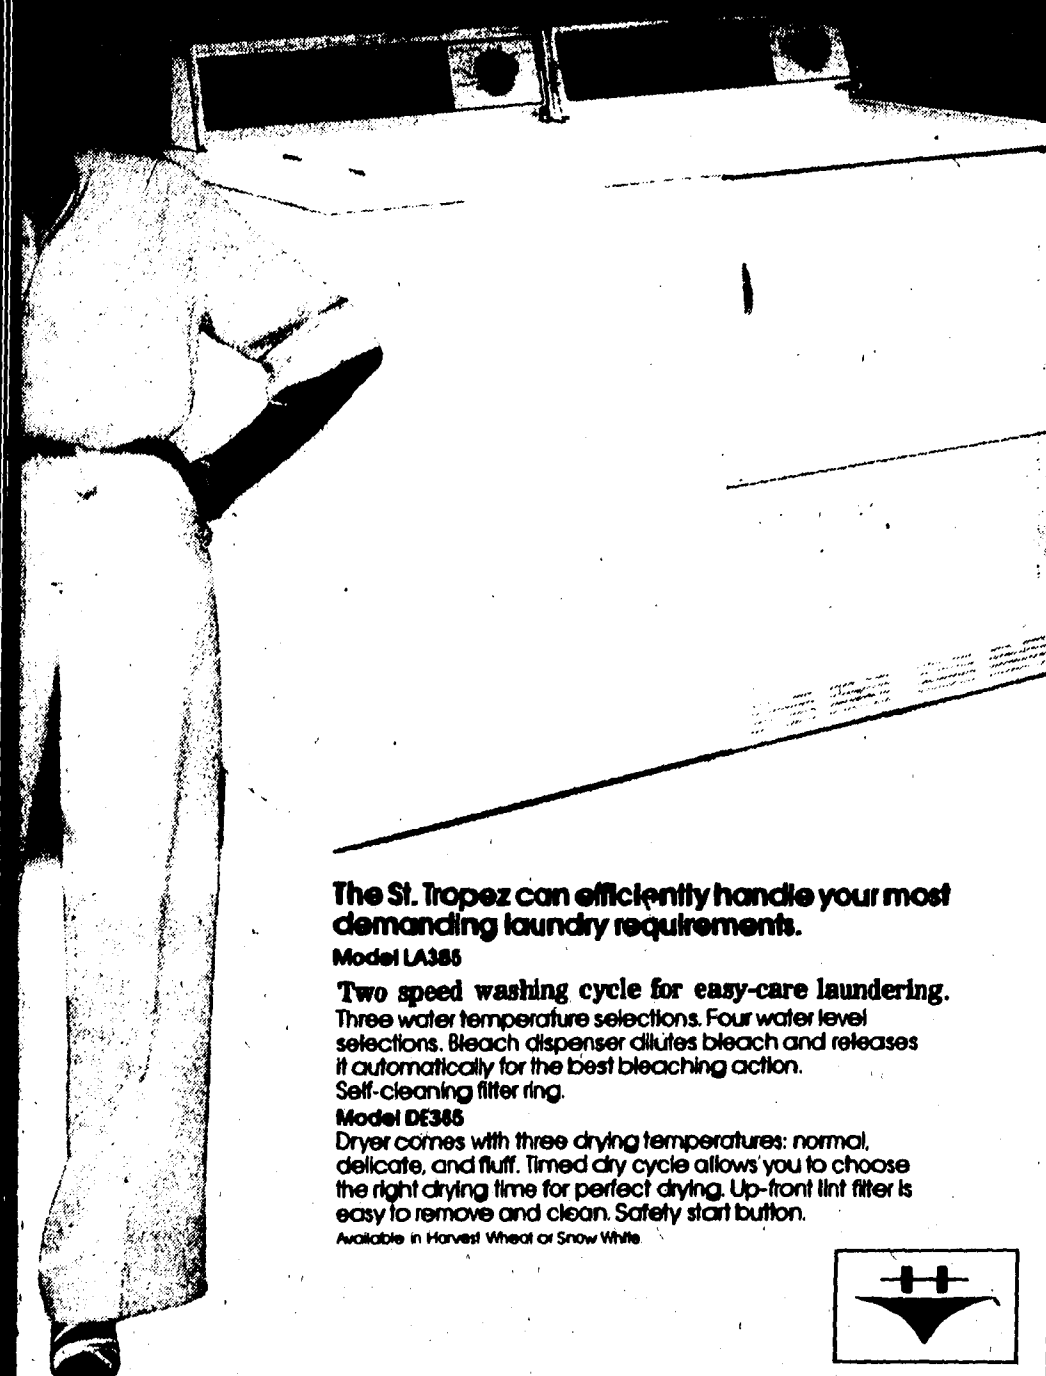

The A.C.W. sincerely appreciate the attendance of clergy to these meetings and hope that attendance will increase as it is a once a year opportunity to meet with our Anglican ladies throughout the Deanery in a day of fellowship. Please make sure your branch is represented.

Reports were presented from all branches represented including Kingston, which showed a busy and successful year for all.

Aid To Side Trawlers For Offshore Atlantic Fishing

The Atlantic coast fleet of side trawlers and limited-range stern trawlers, now running out of quotas in traditional fishing areas, will receive special incentives for the remaining months of 1977 to develop its fishery further offshore, Romeo LeBlanc, Minister of Fisheries and the Environment, said today.

The incentive program will help the fleet take advantage of available Canadian quotas offshore, particularly flounder and cod on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland and in the Flemish Cap area, which lies outside the 200-mile zone.

The new program modifies the 1977 Fishing Plan for the Atlantic Groundfish fleet.

This overall management scheme restricted the operation of large trawlers on the fish stocks of inshore and nearshore grounds, leaving most of these fish to the thousands of small boats. At the same time, the plan encouraged expansion in Canada's offshore fishery. Large stern trawlers, facing heavy restrictions in traditional fishing areas in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and on the Scotian Shelf, received incentives to fish in non-traditional areas, such as waters off northern Newfoundland and Labrador.

Intermediate trawlers (roughly 50 vessels under 1050 horse-power, mostly side trawlers) also faced restrictions in the Gulf, but at the mouth of the Gulf and on the Scotian Shelf had relatively good quotas. This fleet, based mainly in Nova Scotia and southwest Newfoundland, will use up most of its nearshore quotas (primarily redfish) by early November. These special incentives will help them move offshore. The program aims to enable this sector of the Atlantic fleet to demonstrate its capability to fish successfully in areas other than traditional fishing grounds.

Canadian catches have lagged in these waters because catch rates have been unprofitable. "The first step in developing a good fishery is to develop the fish," Mr. LeBlanc said. "We have set catch quotas offshore and inshore low enough to rebuild the stocks rapidly. Abundance of offshore stocks will increase within a few years, making fish easier to catch, and profitable enough for our fleet to go after without any urging. Meanwhile, the incentive program will help provide vessels and plants with work for the remainder of 1977, and will start our fleet building a profitable fishery for future years in this area."

In November and December, all trawlers under 1050 horsepower and based outside the Gulf of St. Lawrence will receive $300 per day in Fishing Areas 3LMNO of the attached chart. This should make up for the lower catch rate on offshore grounds, and make the trips profitable. If however on a poor trip the vessel still fails to make at least $1,100 per day (average earnings for this fleet in the January-September period), the program provides an extra allowance to bring the trip's returns to this minimum level. With reasonable catch rates, however, the vessels should exceed this level and make the extra allowance unnecessary.

The new program under the 1977 Groundfish Plan stemmed from proposals by industry groups, and was recommended by the Offshore Groundfish Advisory Committee. This group comprises federal and provincial government officials, processors and fishermen representative of both inshore and offshore fleets.

How The Tourist Traffic Fared

The number of visitors' autos entering Nova Scotia from June through September was up six per cent - making a four-month total of 356,034 cars - Hon. Maurice E. DeLory, Minister of Tourism, said today.

There were more Canadian and fewer American autos.

In September, total Canadian and American auto traffic into Nova Scotia increased by 34 per cent, or 21,198 autos. Canadian auto entries last month were up 42 per cent over the same month in 1976, or by 20,361 cars.

However, after allowing for usual increases in this traffic from New Brunswick in September, Canadian auto entries into Nova Scotia still showed an increase of 10 per cent or 1,593 cars.

American autos coming here were up by seven per cent, or 876 cars, said Dr. DeLory.

June through September, the number of Canadian cars entering Nova Scotia was up by 23,651, an increase of nine per cent over the same period in 1976.

In the same period, 77,349 American autos arrived here, a decline of five percent over a year ago.

More than 60,600 recreational vehicles came to the province during the four months, a six per cent gain over the like period in 1976, said Dr. DeLory.

In September, 8,030 recreational vehicles came here, a 14 per cent increase - 1,014 units - over September of 1976. There were 3,034 from the U.S., an increase of 24 per cent over the same month in 1976.

Tour bus traffic was up 39 per cent in September, an increase of 81 over the same month last year.

From June to September, 1,022 tour buses came to the province, an 11 per cent gain - or 102 buses - over such traffic for the similar period last year, concluded Dr. DeLory.

In June, July, August and September, there were 12 per cent fewer Canadian and 20 per cent fewer American auto entries through Yarmouth. This is a decrease of 4,006 vehicles as compared to the same period in 1976.

In September, Canadian auto traffic through Yarmouth was down four per cent, a decline of 270 cars. Digby records showed, during that time, a nine per cent increase with 14,651 automobiles entering the province at that point. This is 1,275 more cars than during the same months in 1976.

Amherst entry point was up one per cent over the same four months of 1976 with 271,890 autos recorded there. American auto entries through Amherst declined one per cent in that time.

Tidnish registered a minor increase in auto traffic from June through September, with 11,630 auto entries. Canadian traffic was a shade below that of last year.

Canadian auto traffic at Caribou was off one per cent; American volume was up by two per cent over a year ago.

The witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Haight. They have two sons, Daniel and Boyd.

About 100 relatives and friends gathered at Defaga Lodge to tender them a surprise celebration. Music for dancing was provided by Ed Melanson's group. The bride and groom of yesteryear were seated at a table over which a large white wedding bell was suspended with white streamers attached to the table corners. Sylvio Gagnon Chosen Clare NDP Candidate Sylvio Gagnon, 34, of Meteghan, was elected to represent the New Democratic Party in the next provincial election at a Nominating Convention held for the Clare constituency Thursday night.

Gagnon was one of two contestants seeking the nomination. He outpolled his opponent, Alzire Robicheau, also of Meteghan, by a count of 12-6. An estimated 52 people attended the convention.

Guest speaker for the evening was Paul MacEwan, M.L.A. for Cape Breton, Nova. Mr. MacEwan spent part of his time explaining the policy of the NDP.

Mr. MacEwan described the NDP as the people's party, the party working for the people and with the people. Speaking on what can be achieved in Clare, Mr. MacEwan urged the better use be made of the area's natural resources. For instance - why not a canning plant here instead of shipping the fish away; why not timber processing (ie: furniture plant) instead of shipping the raw product.

On the topic of agriculture, Mr. MacEwan said the agriculture industry in Clare should be restored to its past importance. He suggested government support will be necessary to bring the land back into production.

Mr. Gagnon spoke about the need to further take advantage of Clare's resources. He also spoke in support of having a medical centre and a children's day-care centre established in the district.

In an interview following his election, Gagnon predicted that the NDP vote in Clare would at least double from the 668 total collected by Jean Louis Belliveau in the last election. He expects the provincial vote to come this Spring, or, should a federal vote be called first, next Fall.

The NDP candidate is a paint contractor and sign-writer, and has lived in Meteghan for the past 10 years. He is married to Annette (Therault) Gagnon and the couple have four children Robert, 15; Ronald, 13; Lynne, 12; and Sylvie, 9.

Know Your Fireman

Serving the Digby Volunteer Fire Department for 20 years must come close to some sort of record and prove, without a doubt the diligence with which the Digby volunteer firemen serve the residents of the town. Such is the service of Godfrey Griffith, above.

Born in Freeport, N.S., son of Mr. and Mrs. Miledge Griffiths, Godfrey moved to Digby with his parents when he was ten years of age. He has been here 32 years.

Mr. Griffiths married the former Patricia Everett, Victoria Beach, daughter of the late Reginald Everett and Mrs. Donald Franklin. They have two children Allen, a graduate of Digby Regional High School and Pam, a student at DRHS.

During the twenty years in which Mr. Griffiths served the Digby Fire Department, he has done so in the position of captain and is now assistant to the chief. He has continually advanced in his service by taking courses as pumper, Emergency Measures and fire fighting of various kinds.

Mr. Griffiths' everyday occupation is a fire fighter at CFB Cornwallis and through this occupation he has attended many courses for mutual benefit.

furnished these dollars back into Central Canada!

Mr. MacLeod pointed out that our 2,057,000 people spend 8.5 billion dollars annually. If we redirect just 1 per cent to Atlantic products it means 8.5 million dollars - 2 per cent would total 170 million dollars. Nothing can create jobs equal to this self-help plan.

Mr. MacLeod concluded by inviting all members of the business community from Meteghan to East Hants to attend this briefing.

Hears Swimming Report

R. MacLeod Rogers Q.C., chairman of the Water Safety Committee of the Digby Branch Canadian Red Cross presented the report of the Director of the Swimming Pool, Eric Woods at the annual meeting of the Digby Branch Red Cross on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting presided over by the president, Harold Emerson, was held at the Baptist Church Hall.

Though beset with difficulties the summer was considered successful. From the middle of June to the middle of July was used to repair a tear in the liner which extended for approximately five feet. Because of this only two instructional sessions were run, but the level of instruction was high, according to the report, and the pass percentage was high. Highlight of the instruction program was the availability of a bus for young people from Digby Neck by the generosity of Rev. David Keith, Rossway. The public swimming attendance held its own in attendance.

Other activities during the year were a Swim Team, coached by Miss Linda Mackintosh, infant classes to acquaint infants with the water; novice awards; visit by David Little, representative of Royal Lifesaving Society, and Natal Day activities.

Mr. Woods' report suggested that no new equipment is needed to be purchased, but repairs to the diving board are needed. Obviously, the report stated, the pool cannot be left in its present condition. Water leaks through the patches and the water is lowering daily due to leakage. Mr. Woods' report concluded and recommended that a thicker liner be purchased.

Operational finances were receipts $2518.00, disbursements $2497.15, balance $18.05.

Mr. Rogers urged the support of the public if the swimming pool is to keep operating. The Digby Swimming Pool was sponsored by the Digby Kiwanis Club.

Allen Goodwin, provincial Red Cross representative for the Water Safety program especially mentioned the work of Mr. Rogers and his son in promoting the pool. He said that teaching how to use the skill of swimming for water safety is important. Fundamentals for safety must be taught with swimming but you do not have to know how to swim to teach water safety. By the thirty percent reduction in drownings by swimming and fifty per cent less in falling out of crafts, it would appear water safety programs are paying off.

Mr. Goodwin, onetime a resident of Digby, said people all over the province are aware that Digby Red Cross group is an aggressive group - a super organization.

Six Head Of Cattle C- Over Bank

On October 17, 1977, Kenneth VanTassel of Tiverton noticed that one of his heifers was missing from his herd of cattle. After he and his nephew searched for many hours they found her off the bank down on the beach at Judd Cove.

A rescue party was formed and tried to bring her up over the bank by ropes. After trying for many hours this method of trying to save her from being taken out by the tide became hopeless. They found that the only way they were going to get her was by killing her first and then getting her up from the beach and use her for meat.

This is the sixth time that they have lost cattle off the banking. In attempts to rescue his cattle he has saved four. Two of them had to be swum home by boat by some of the local fishermen and two were rescued by means of people getting them off the beach by ropes. One cow was lost due to a broken neck which she received when she fell off the bank into the water.

Receives Citation

The Digby Courier on Wednesday was presented with an award certificate and citation by the president of the Digby Branch Canadian Red Cross, Harold Emerson, at the annual meeting of the Branch held at the Digby Baptist Church Hall.

Accepted on behalf of The Digby Courier by the editor, Edith M. Wallis, the citation read by Mr. Emerson, was as follows: "To The Digby Courier for its promotion of Red Cross services in Digby County and area. The weekly Courier is awarded this citation as a recognition of its support of the Red Cross for more than thirty years. The Digby Branch and the Nova Scotia Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society gratefully acknowledges the substantial contribution which has been made to the success of Red Cross services by the Editor and staff of the newspaper." Publisher of the newspaper is Roy Mailman, Bridgetown, N.S.

The presentation was made following the report of the Awards Committee chairman Mrs. Louise Warne. Mrs. Warne reported two citations awarded for the year. A citation was presented at the Digby Municipal Council at a regular meeting, signifying the appreciation of Red Cross for having been granted free use of space at the Court House for meetings and storage.

The Digby Courier, Mrs. Warne said, has been of great assistance to the publicity committee in keeping the public advised regarding Red Cross activities for a lengthy period of time and the Branch wished to show its appreciation in a more tangible form.

A.V.A.B.T. Commences Action

The President of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade, Murdoch MacLeod, today announced that the AVABT is taking positive action to support the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce Atlantic Canada Plus Program.

Mr. MacLeod stated that since the announcement of the Atlantic Canada Plus Program, many enquiries have been received from Annapolis Valley firms asking how they could participate.

Thus, on November 2nd, the AVABT has invited all members of the business community of the Annapolis Valley region to attend a briefing to be given by Harvey Webber, President of the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce. The briefing is to take place at the Officers Mess, CFB Greenwood, commencing at 7:30 p.m.

Briefly, Mr. MacLeod explained that Atlantic Canada Plus is a simple but effective plan to create more jobs by promotion of products grown, processed, or manufactured in Atlantic Canada.

The requirement for such a project is easily recognizable. After many years of effort by government, the Atlantic Provinces have higher unemployment and lower income than national averages. Billions of dollars in equalization grants or other Federal initiatives like DREE have not had lasting effects. Why? Because Atlantic Provinces consumer spending has continuously

Hectanooga Born Woman Gets Appointment

Elsie (Charles) Basque of Abington, Mass., has been appointed director, Elderly Affairs, Boston Indian Council. Elsie Basque was the first Micmac Indian to graduate from Nova Scotia Teachers' College. She held several teaching positions in Nova Scotia, before moving to Roxbury, Mass., where she and her husband, Isaac, raised their family. Mrs. Basque received her early education in Hectanooga, and Sacred Heart Academy in Meteghan. She says, of the Indians in U.S.A., "we are a minority within a minority, and because we lack voting clout we are forgotten when they are handing out assistance and benefits to elderly groups." She is fighting for recognition of her people, and she, with others, are trying to obtain more benefits and improved services.

Recently, M. S. Basque, launched her first programme for the Boston Indian community, with a feast - native-American style, including venison, roast buffalo, rabbit stew, and roast porcupine. She said of the meal to which many dignitaries from the Boston city, state, and National areas were invited - the N.S. porcupine was the most talked about part of the menu, with the buffalo roast, a close second.

There are about 43 Indians participating in the program, which is doing a great deal nutritionwise for these people, who live in such disparate parts of Boston. Many are elderly Indians who often find themselves isolated and lonely.

The programme Council of Elders, Inc., has branched out beyond just providing hot meals at noon for these people - but they are also being able to share their talents and interests. Some are teaching the Micmac language and arts and crafts to students.

Mrs. Basque also teaches the elderly Indians, through Home and School, co-ordinators programmes and is also a school volunteer, whose job is to visit the schools to tell a "living history" of the Micmac Indians.

Mrs. Basque was recently one of the invited guests on the "U.S. Constitution", showing how impressive her work is becoming.

Weymouth Unit Hosts Regional Meeting

A Regional meeting for officers and executive members of Cancer Units in Annapolis County, Digby and Clare Municipality was held in the Ashmore Baptist Church Hall.

Miss Porter, representing the Divisional Headquarters in Halifax was the special speaker. The Unit Rules and regulations were outlined involving the Executive Structure and Duties of the Officers.

General discussion revolved around the development of Unit programs in order to reach out and include more people in the respective areas.

The Cancer Society has devised "7 Steps to Health" as an awareness program for the general public which is included in pamphlets, on the Cancer Calendar, carried in advertisements in papers and some coverage on T.V. screen and on radio. The Education program is an important part in the development of the Society.

The "Services to Patients" strives to do just what the title suggests, - Service to Patients by supplying all dressings if and when needed. Assists with cost of certain drugs which are prescribed by the doctor, assists with transportation to and from the Tumor Clinic and or other treatment centres. A Loan Cupboard helps with supplies needed in home care for a patient.

April is designated as Campaign month when hundreds of volunteers are involved in soliciting membership in the association and raising funds to carry on the three fold plan of Education, Services to Patients and Research.

During the past few years the public has become more aware of the benefits derived from cash donations as a living memorial to their friends and loved ones who have passed on. All money received as "In Memoriam Gift" is used exclusively for Research.

The Rev. Mr. Reid of Annapolis Royal gave a vote of thanks to Miss Porter and suggested a meeting similar to this could be held every year. Appreciation was expressed for use of the hall.

Refreshments were served by Weymouth & District Unit.

Accident Sends Two To Hospital

Mrs. James Comeau, Plympton and Mrs. Elsie Melanson, Gilbert Cove, were taken to the Blanchard Fraser Memorial Hospital in Kentville last week after the car in which they were

The two women were eastbound and were believed on a shopping trip in this area when the accident took place at about 10:30 a.m.

An eyewitness to the accident said the vehicle slipped off the road striking the soft shoulder near the site of construction at the Annapolis Valley Regional Industrial Park. The car apparently went out of control, shot across the road, struck a wooden construction barrier and a sign, flipped end over end, and came to rest on its roof in a deep ditch.

One of the occupants was trapped in the car for about 15 minutes, and was extricated by members of the Kentville Fire Department Rescue unit.

Kentville Town Police investigated the mishap.

Scroll Commemorates 60 Years Of Ordination

When the regular meeting of the Valley Presbytery of the United Church of Canada met at Grace United Church, Digby on Tuesday evening, one of the most pleasant duties of the chairman, Rev. Lloyd Archer, Wolfville, was to present to Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, Digby, a scroll commemorating sixty years of ordination in the ministry. The scroll and citation were presented by Mr. Archer on behalf of the Maritime Conference of the United Church of Canada.

The citation said "Whereas the Reverend Dr. T. W. Hodgson has served the church for a period of sixty years, a devoted minister and a faithful shepherd of the flock and whereas in the Providence of God he is still permitted to exercise an effective ministry in witnessing before men, he it resolved the Maritime Conference session assembled, records with gratitude to God its deep appreciation of his services and pray that he may long be abundantly blessed by God with health and strength and with the affection and esteem of a host of Christian friends, among whom are the United Church of Canada Maritime Conference.

Sharing in the ceremony of the scroll presentation was Rev. W. H. Thomas, Scott's Bay and Rev. Kenn Lowe, secretary of the Valley Presbytery of the United Church of Canada and minister of the host church.

In his usual witty manner, Dr. Hodgson responded to the bestowing of such an honor on him and gave an interesting synopsis of his life history since he began preaching as a boy of fourteen years in England. Dr. Hodgson knew the rigors of a miner's life for he, too, dug into the earth with pick and shovel to produce the much needed resource. Coming to Nova Scotia, Dr. Hodgson supplied pulpits at Springhill, Hantsport, Canning and Digby. He served the pastoral charge at Canning for 14 years after which he came to Digby. Here his term of active ministry was seventeen years and here he retired. He continues his involvement in Grace United in the position of minister emeritus.

Dr. Hodgson, besides being pastor of Grace United Church entered much into any effort of benefit to the community. The town recognized this by making Dr. Hodgson Citizen of the Year for one year.

Dr. Hodgson, who is in his late eighties, is making his home with his only child, his daughter, (Margaret) Mrs. A. L. Robinson, King St., Digby.

Another citation presented on Tuesday evening went to Fred Fields, Granville Ferry, a layman who has been a regular attendant of Presbytery for many years. This presentation was made on behalf of the Presbytery by Rev. Lloyd Archer.

Reports from the General Council which met in Calgary, Alberta, were presented by slides and recordings and presentations by W. F. Mulhall of Hantsport and Rev. Fred Archibald, Windsor.

Exciting, interesting, inspiring, explosive, frustrating and confusing were the words Mr. Mulhall used to describe his reaction to being one of the 436 commissioners to General Council held in August, 1977. Twenty-four special committee reports, five Division Reports and almost one hundred memorials from Presbyteries and conferences were dealt with. The recommendations of the Task Force on the ministry was referred to Presbyteries for the further study. Commercial advertising, Criminal Justice, the media misuse of Dehumanising Presentations, Tax Reform, National unity, Poverty, Right of Native Peoples were issues discussed.

The Presbytery which met in Digby on Tuesday, was presided over by Rev. Lloyd Archer, Wolfville and the worship was conducted by Rev. Mr. Thomas. Mr. Thomas explained the church as being men and women and boys and girls being "called out" of the world, being in the world but not of the world. We are, he said, called out by God to be a peculiar people. This, he continued, needs diligent examination by the church to see "if we are truly called out". The church, he concluded is acceptive of one another forgiving one another.

The Presbytery carried on

ABTRC Gets Voice In Multicultural Centre Planning

The Annapolis-Basin Tourist and Recreation Council has been given a direct voice in planning at the Upper Clements Multicultural Centre.

Rick Young, from the province's tourism department, attended this month's ABTRC meeting and asked that at least two members be chosen to attend the planning meetings.

Through this move, tourism officials will have access to local input into the project, and the ABTRC representatives will be kept up-to-date on plans at the Centre.

Three members of ABTRC were selected to attend the meetings—Penny Gott, Dave Irvine and Mark Blugerman.

In other business, ABTRC gave its stamp of approval to efforts toward Heritage conservation in the town of Annapolis Royal.

The Council decided to send a letter outlining its position to the Heritage conservation committee.

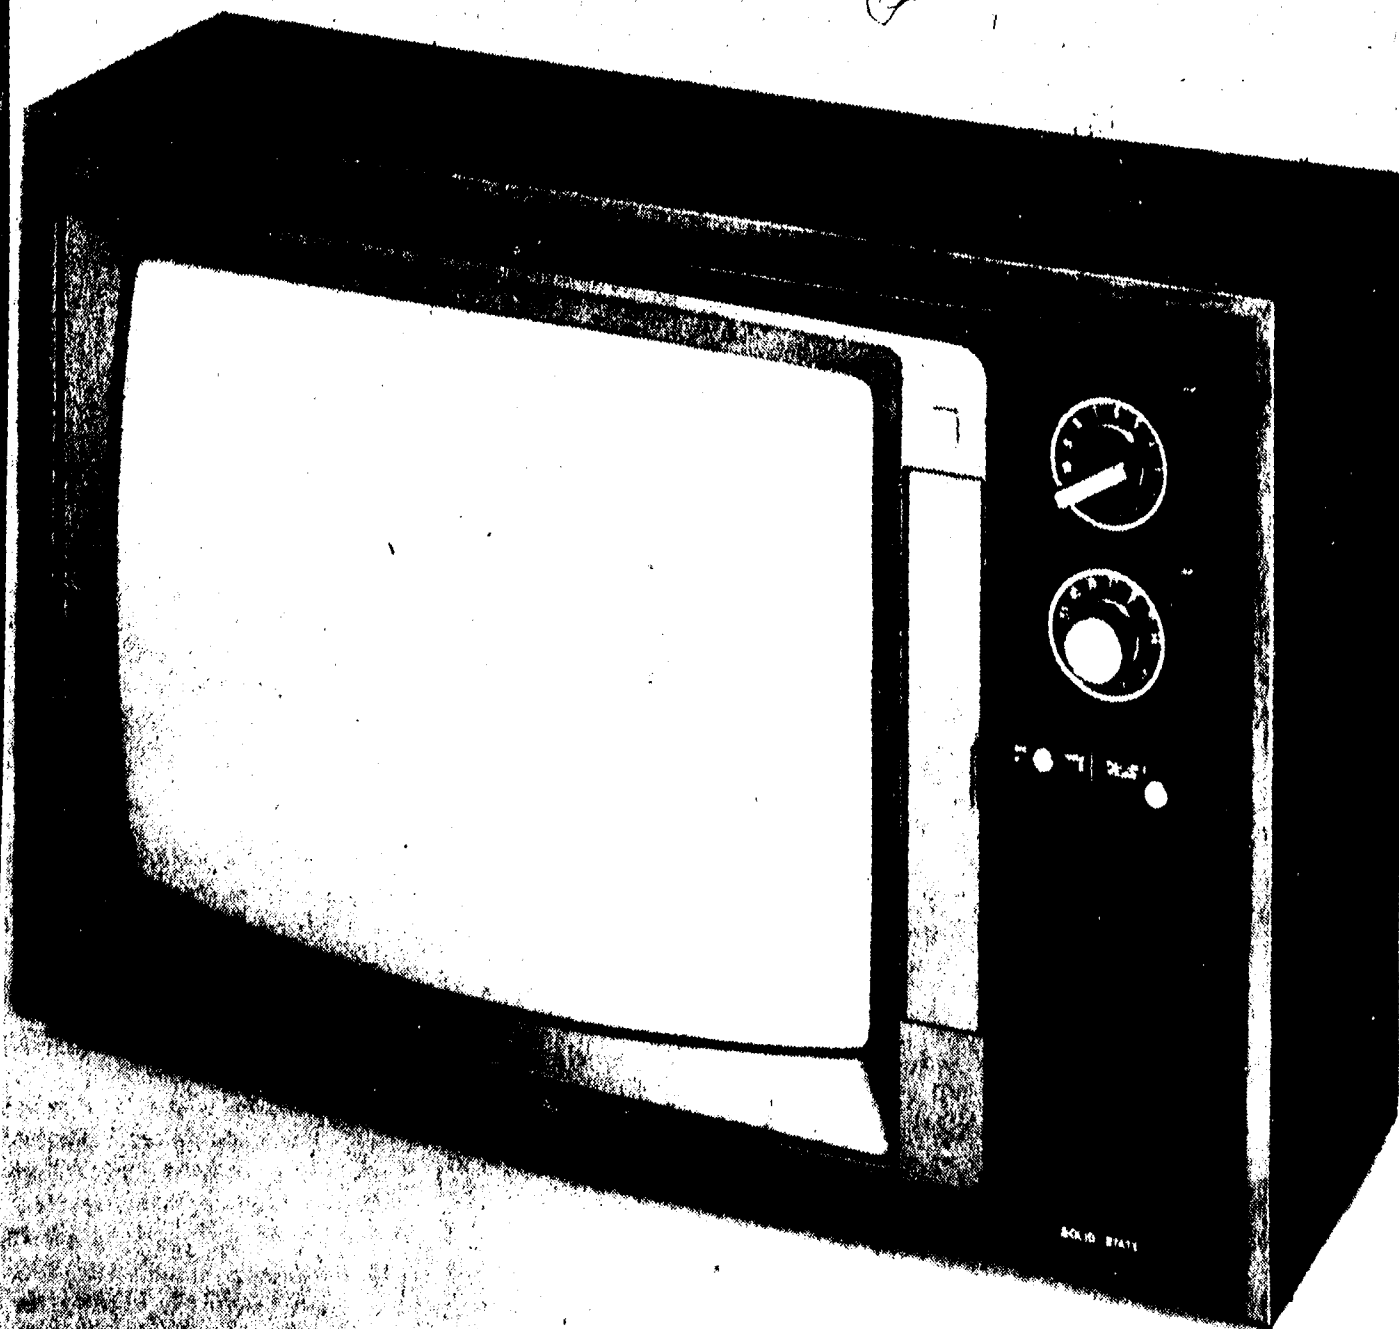

The matter came up for discussion when John Taylor, of Annapolis Royal, suggested the hostility of the mayor and town council toward the tourist industry was putting the heritage conservation program in danger.

Taylor expressed concern that Heritage Canada officials, scheduled to visit the town, might be walking into the midst of a fiery situation.

Year Round Service Assured

Coline Campbell is pleased to announce that further to suggestions she made to the Minister of Transport in June of this year, The Minister has informed her that he authorized Canadian National to find an appropriate vessel to ensure year-round ferry service between Yarmouth and New England.

This new service will be designed to improve transportation for commercial highway vehicles between

Nova Scotia and markets of the North Eastern U.S. The service will begin in early November with the M.V. Marine Cruiser until a more suitable roll-on-roll-off vessel can be found. South Western Nova Scotia has long needed a marine service oriented to the needs of the trucking industry and the minister hopes to see it established as soon as possible.

The start of the service will depend upon C.N.

Marine completing satisfactory berthing arrangements at a New England Port, as well as finding a suitable vessel.

The Member of Parliament has been assured by the Minister that the crew of the M.V. Bluenose will be used for the new service and that the existing Bluenose will serve as a summer operation between Yarmouth and Bar Harbour for the summer tourist trade.

500 Fires By May

If dry weather conditions had prevailed throughout the summer, Nova Scotia could have been headed into a record forest fire season, Lands and Forests Minister Vincent MacLean revealed today.

"By the end of May, under extremely dry conditions, some 500 fires occurred in the province's forests, twice the normal number usually experienced by that date," Mr. MacLean said.

"However, June produced a pattern of wide-spread precipitation that lasted the balance of the fire season with the result that the total number of forest fires reported to this date is just 587.

"Compared with an average season over the last 10 years, some 590 fires per season, this number of fires is normal, but the area burnt - a total of 2,700 acres - is about half the area burned in an average or normal season," the Minister said.

With most of the Lands and Forests Department subdivision offices having reported forest fire statistics, and most forest areas reporting a low probability of fire, officials feel that the average will stand this season.

In 1976, fire hazard conditions in the month of June were high and resulted in a disastrous fire in Eastern Nova Scotia around Trafalgar which resulted in the burning of over 30,000 acres. This fire alone gave an unrealistic boost to the average yearly burn over the 10 year period from 1967 to 1977. Although conditions in 1976 were extreme, the total number of fires was only 541.

Mr. MacLean pointed out that the favourable weather conditions in the Cape Breton area also minimized fire incidence in the spruce budworm killed forests.

During the peak hazard period, Department of Lands and Forests aircraft were supplemented with the lease of a Canso type airtanker from the Province of Newfoundland for two months at the beginning of the fire season.

Department officials were also pleased by the approval of the provincial Cabinet of a proposal for an integrated radio communications system for provincial government agencies. Forest Fire Protection Manager John Gass said that the new system, expected to be implemented by the 1979 season, will provide the fire control activity of the Department with an effective system of communications to replace the system now in service which is becoming rapidly obsolescent.

Among other fire control equipment developments in 1977, a number of 750-gallon tanks were manufactured for use on logging forwarders and are now becoming more readily available for fire suppression.

Mr. Gass pointed out the need, too, for more emphasis on a program of education and information for schools. "It is interesting to note that of the 587 fire reports in the 1977 season, 91 of these fires were attributable to children," Mr. Gass said.

Various causes for fires noted in the summary so far this season indicate that Fire control training was once again conducted by the Department prior to the fire season. A total of 450 employees of the Department and cooperating agencies took the two-day course at the Shubenacadie depot. An additional course in operation of the mobile communication centre was also given to selected employees from the Department's various districts.

Remember Germans Who Suffered

And Died

Heroic Germans of many faiths, who suffered and died rather than compromise with Nazism, should be among those honoured on Remembrance Day, The United Church Observer says editorially in its current issue.

"We seem to have forgotten that vast numbers of German Christians accepted imprisonment and death rather than give in to Hitler," The Observer points out. At least 4,000 Roman Catholic priests died by "hanging, starvation, lack of medical aid and as victims of medical experiments", it says.

A papal encyclical, to be read from every Catholic pulpit in Germany on Palm Sunday, 1937, called on the people to resist the idolatrous cult of "race and state". Hitler was infuriated by the church's defiance, The Observer says, and from then until 1945 "waged systematic war" on it.

We are very pleased to report that Mrs. John Bisson was well enough to undertake a long drive. She has taken her parents to New York to visit her daughter and husband, and at last report is really enjoying her holiday.

Several friends from Westport attended a party held in the Legion Hall, Freeport, on Friday night to help Jack Beatty celebrate his 75th birthday. This was given by his wife, Helena, and catered to by the Legion Auxiliary. There must be some point in a man's (or woman's) life where he starts getting younger - we have noticed it in several instances - it must be the salt sea air.

Several Westporters started to spend the evening at the Legion regular Social Evening on Saturday night. However, upon hearing that a popular band was playing at a dance in Digby, they decided to take that in instead, and took off for Digby.

Our Ferry must have been in too big a hurry to get back to work last week, as she had to take several more days off this week to give her leg a rest.

If anyone has visitors, or any other news for the Westport notes, your reporter would greatly appreciate being notified, otherwise she misses items that would be of interest to friends.

The floating of a $20,000 issue of debentures with interest at three percent for financing a new skating rink was finalized by the Digby Recreation Commission. Named to the committee were J.J. Brittain, E.H. Anderson and E.J. Theriault.

Hugh A. Noble, director of Physical Education for Nova Scotia recommended the Digby Recreation Commission secure services of a community recreation director to take charge of affairs at the rink and athletic field and to be generally in charge of planned recreation in Digby.

Vandals did considerable damage to the cemetery, overturning tombstones and breaking windows in the tool shed.

Police appealed to the public for a sane and sensible observance for Halloween and reminded that there was a definite dry spell bringing danger of fires. The Kiwanians were planning a masquerade ball and Boy Scouts, Wolf Cubs and Y's Men were having a party for younger persons.

Wind and fire were treacherous. A fire at the North end of town destroyed a barn on the property of Miss Edith Letteney and damaged other barns. Three fires in one day were fought at Mrs. Helen Anthony's, Mrs. Celenie Ward and Mrs. Charles Collins. The wind brought down an ornamental cross at the Trinity Parish Hall.

Mrs. Winston Mullen was elected president of the Ladies Hospital Aid.

NOTICE NOMINATION CONVENTION CORRECTION

The Annual Meeting of the Digby Progressive Conservative Association will be held on November 17, 1977, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening at the Legion Hall in Digby, Nova Scotia.

This meeting will deal mainly with the nomination of a candidate to contest the next Provincial Election. A new slate of officers will also be elected.

John D. Comeau, President
Digby P.C. Association

Reflecting To 1927

In 1927 A.J. Weather had been cutting up meat and tying up vegetables and groceries at his store in Digby. He claimed "In the good old days" the Digby Meat Market was a thriving business supplying provisions to vessels sailing out of Digby and "salt lunk" was an important item. Changed times had brought sales of choice cuts western beef and Spring lamb.

Town Council engaged an engineer to survey and determine costs to extend the water main from the reservoir dam up into the lake to overcome the objectionable discoloring.

Captain H.I. Phinney of Gloucester, Mass., was in Digby and was concerned that the beam trawlers were a menace to fisheries. Beam trawler dragging along the feeding bottoms break all the marine growth from roots, destroying feeding grounds and scooping up fish not of marketable size.

A.J. Dennison of Rhode Island wanted to see Digby Hockey Team on championship in the winter of 1927-28 so he offered a silver cup for play by Valley town teams.

Everybody using a radio had to pay a dollar a year license.

Price of The Digby Weekly Courier for one year was $2.00. Wrights were having a sale Flannelette blankets $2.20; men's caps 85 cents; overcoats 13.90 and yard wide grey cotton 12 1/2 cents a yard.

Miss Katherine Weir, operator at Western Union completed her term of duty and left for Wolfville as manager-operator at Western Union 1 Telegraph was an important part of the fish business and with business none too good, the telegraph office had to be ready to serve at all times. The Board of Trade tried to keep the staff on duty from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. without closing.

The Digby Weekly Courier editorial page debated on the advantage of the tourist business, or at least gave viewpoints of other for two sides. Some said the only advantage was to bring money to hotel keepers and a few merchants on Water St. They felt it would be better to leave the tourist business alone and attract other industry. But others felt taxi operators, boat skippers and those selling souvenirs, ice cream and other merchandise benefitted. Who should pay for publicity, they asked - hotel keepers, merchants, railways or town ratepayers. It is too important to leave to the uncertain generosity of a few public spirited men, the editorial went on. (And that was 50 years ago).

The "Activity Program" At Digby Elementary

Due to the success of last year's "Activity Program", the teachers of Digby Elementary School plan to offer a similar program this year.

The need to expose students to a variety of skills and crafts which not only help to develop the whole child but might act as a stimulus to foster the growth of hobbies was recognized.

The program was offered to students of grades four, five, and six on Friday afternoon for the last seventy minutes.

Activities offered included: crafts, art, bowling, cooking, chess, newspaper making.

sewing, drama, and film making.

Students responded with enthusiasm and looked forward to engaging in the activity of their choice on Fridays. To finance this program, the students sold "Animal candles" to the public.

The needed funds were raised thanks to a generous public, willing to support this initiative. Students and teachers would also like to express appreciation to the Metropolitan store which donated prizes awarded to outstanding salespersons and to the members of the public who involved themselves directly with this program.

Parents and members of the community aided with transporting students and came into the school to offer instruction.

Again this year, students are attempting to raise money to support their "Activity Program" by selling candles of the "nature collection." These candles are attractive and sell at a reasonable price.

The students of Digby Elementary hope for a successful campaign so they may again have an opportunity to take part in this enjoyable feature of their school program. Your interest and support is appreciated.

17 Year Old Receives Private Pilot's License

October 12th was a lucky day for the 17 year old Mathieu Erjavec. He received his private pilot license from the Ministry of Transportation.

Ever since he could remember, Mathieu was fascinated by airplanes. When he was three years old he travelled for the first time on a plane with his parents, brothers and sister to Yugoslavia. At the first stop at the airport in Paris, France, he was just looking for the occasion that his mother would let go of his little hand, as all he wanted was to run between the thousands of passengers to get close to the airstrip to see how and why those big birds fly. He never made it because he got lost and it was half-an-hour before his parents found him. After a few unpleasant words he decided that one day he would fly by himself.

When the Digby Flying club announced a winter class for ground school (basics about flying) he joined the club and subscribed himself in the flying class of 1976-77.

Besides him in the ground class there were nine others. The instructors were Harry Martin, George Piper, John Ogletree and Barrie Dragan, all from the base in Greenwood.

When spring came, the class was ready to go to Greenwood Royal Canadian Air Base where they wrote the Examination, the subject being air regulations. That test is necessary to move on to step two, the plane which is rented, to the club from Duane Kenley and the instructor was Arthur Quinn, an experienced air force pilot. In dual flights, just you and your instructor, you get first familiar with the plane itself, the procedure of inspecting a plane, keeping your log book, and always observing the weather and its changes; then comes the flying.

After about 10 to 15 hours you are ready to do your solo and I think everybody is a little worried about this. One day they were practising landings with a crosswind of 15 degrees. Mathieu thought to himself that he made very good landings. He was looking to go out for a drink of Pepsi when he suddenly heard his instructor: "Mathieu, take her up." He was so busy thinking about all those things you are supposed to do, that he did not have time to be scared. Only when he landed and everybody from the club house including his instructor ran to congratulate him and as is the custom cut one of his shirt sleeves, he did suddenly realize that he had done it, and this was when his knees started to shake and he could hardly make it to the club house.

After this the training was getting more and more intensified. He was leaving his home every day around 6 o'clock a.m. if the weather was announced fine to make their briefings until 11:00 a.m. while waiting for the fog to disappear or cross winds to die down.

He did his first cross-country on Sunday, 5th September. He was at the airport as usual a little after 6 o'clock. By seven he was ready with his log book, instructions where to fly, in which altitude and exactly what time he should arrive, he left Digby airport. Digby was shining in front of him in the morning sun and the Bay of Fundy looked very blue with the small fishing boats and pleasure yachts. His way to go was to Scott's Bay, up the valley, turn and cross the Bay of Fundy to Moncton at an altitude of 3,000 feet.

Approaching Moncton airport, which is very busy with the private planes, he called the tower which gave him the directions how to land and which airstrip to take. He came in exactly on time and called for the weather report before taking off for Halifax. Approaching Halifax the clouds were moving in fast and the fog was close to the ground. He was flying in extremely hazy conditions. As he approached Halifax all the big planes could be seen popping suddenly out of the clouds close to him and he was trying to listen to learn just how long to wait before he could start slowly to go down and between the big planes find his airstrip and then taxi to the airport building following the towers instructions. He did all right and he started to get ready for his trip back. The weather report was cloudy but clear in the valley and Digby. It was a big experience to take off from Halifax International Airport, in fog and fly over the clouds towards Digby, where he landed in the middle of afternoon with the sun still shining.

When asked Mathieu his commentary, he said:

"I would like to thank Mr. Arthur Quinn for the excellence of his ability as an instructor and his co-operation, also Duane Kenley, proprietor of the beautiful "White and Green Ceana" on which I learned to fly and to the dynamic president of the Digby Flying Club, Sonny Barr. I also appreciated the good fellowship and camaraderies of my fellow students."

Want Residents To Share Mental Health Concerns

Reverend Kenn Lowe, president of Mental Health Digby, is expecting many of the town and area residents as well as Digby Mental Health Association members to be present to share their mental health concerns at the Orientation-workshop being held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Saturday, November 5 at 1:30 p.m.

Mr. Lowe, who came to Digby Grace United Church pastorate from Middleton was recently elected president of Mental Health-Digby succeeding Vernon Wessell. Mr. Lowe comes to the Digby Mental Health Association Board with experience in Mental Health, having had association of pastoral and clinical nature in Nova Scotia and Ontario, his native province. His interest in the field of mental health led him into special courses and special service in dealing with alcohol and drug addiction and the mentally retarded.

Mr. Lowe in his position as president and the Board feels that the Digby branch of Mental Health should look into its future, see what direction it is going and where it already has been. While mental health problems are little different here than in most places, Mr. Lowe feels there might be things that are being overlooked which should be done. The Association in Digby has accepted the responsibility for providing on-going leadership for the community and intends to continue meeting this responsibility, he said, but he appeals to the residents to aid the Board of Directors to plan future programs by attending Saturday's workshop and expressing their concerns.

Digby Mental Health Association was first organized in 1955 and later reorganized in 1961. It was the first branch in Nova Scotia to receive the National Charter. Though not named in chronological order, some of the activities of Mental Health Digby through these years were sponsoring of the New Horizons and providing an activity centre; sponsoring Drug Dependency Group; multicultural conference (the first ever held); sponsoring the Willing Friends Society; Life Long Learning Course for senior citizens; provided scholarships for teachers to take courses to aid in teaching special children; became responsible for the Mental Health Centre and its maintenance until cost was taken over by other departments; took an active role in organizing the Valley Mental Health Planning Council; sponsored conference of parents and teachers on learning disabilities; carried on a confidential mail service through the local newspaper; sponsored films for Senior Citizens; distributed Mental Health literature through Digby County Exhibition booth and other methods; discussions on human development and cultural origin and sponsored Mental Health essay contests in Digby County. The Digby Mental Health Association acted as a catalyst in many of its activities and in that capacity also assisted in the revival of Alcoholic Anonymous in Digby area.

To meet its commitments, Mental Health Digby has engaged in various fund raising ventures. Efforts in 1976 and 1977 being in the form of a cyclathon.

It is to look into what has been done and what priorities should engage the Board's attention that the Orientation Workshop is planned for Saturday.

Mental illness still disables more Canadians than all other illnesses combined. Digby Mental Health Association is concerned and are looking for input from citizens on Saturday.

Hallowe'en Was "Fairly Quiet"

A "fairly quiet" Hallowe'en was observed in Digby town and municipality Monday night. No serious property damage was reported and no one got hurt.

That does not go to say, however, that the heavy RCMP patrols spent an eventless night. Even a "fairly quiet" Hallowe'en keeps the local peace officers on their toes.

Bear River was the centre of much activity. Six people were arrested for disturbances under the Liquor Control Act and the Drug Act. And another unsuccessful attempt was made to burn the bridge in that community.

Things were kept under control in the town of Digby. Egg and cucumber throwing were the most serious incidents reported.

Access To George's Bank Termed "Imperative"

Digby scallopers will not likely be permitted to fish on George's Bank this coming year, according to federal fisheries spokesman Perry Comeau.

According to Mr. Comeau, the Georges Bank scallop fishery is already in excess of the federal government's long-term yield expectancies.

Mr. Comeau allows that the Fundy Scallop Fishery is experiencing an excess of fishing effort but does not feel it would be right to allow our scallop fishermen on the Georges bank under existing circumstances.

Fundy scallopers were permitted to fish on Georges Bank this past summer to ease the pressure on the Fundy Fishery. Reg. Hazelton of Digby, is one person who takes exception to the federal position. He says it is imperative that the Fundy scallopers be allowed to fish on Georges Bank because of the growth of the fleet in the bay.

According to Mr. Hazelton, the Fundy Fishermen have a historical right to the banks as their boats were some of the first to fish there in 1946. He says he would like to see only one type of scallop licence issued allowing the vessels to fish either inshore or offshore.

Fisheries Minister Dr. Dan Reid said he would like to see the scallop fishery grow but he was unsure about the quality of the scallops landed by the Fundy boats from Georges because of their smaller size, meaning they would probably shuck the scallops when they reached shore.

"But we must have a compromise solution to the problem so perhaps the Digby scallopers could fish sometime on Georges," Dr. Reid said.

The fishery is a federal jurisdiction.

Youngster Lost And Found

Saturday turned out to be long and lonely for 4 1/2 year-old Tobey Nordeen, son of Peter and Lynn Nordeen of Barton.

Tobey, with nothing but a dog for companionship, wandered into woods near his home around 10:30 a.m. and failed to return.

A search team consisting of over 40 people was organized and Tobey was finally returned to civilization around 7:15 that night.

The search team consisted of RCMP officers, E.M.O. officials, neighbours and friends from the area, a Lands and Forests helicopter and an RCMP service dog. The lost youngster was found by Nelson Vidito in woods about a mile behind the Nordeen home.

John Comeau Seeks P.C. Nomination

A Digby Solicitor has become the first announced candidate for the Progressive Conservative Nominating Convention scheduled for Thursday, November 17th at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Digby.

John R. Comeau announced his intentions to seek the nomination early this week. Comeau is a partner in the Halliburton and Comeau Law Firm.

Comeau will resign his position as President of the local P.C. association to seek the nomination.

Mr. Comeau's reasons for offering for the nomination and his concerns for this area are outlined in announcement statement which follows:

There are a number of concerns that have prompted this decision:

1. Government Priorities
2. Government use of patronage
3. Failure of Government to foster employment in this area.

The Provincial Government has seen fit to reduce the support of local hospitals and local ambulance service. Are these things not important to the individual taxpayer? The health of the people of this province should be one of the prime concerns of any government.

Instead, the present Liberal Government, has through its Crown agency MAGI, squandered taxpayers' money on a cruise ship. The three million dollars used to purchase this ship could have been funnelled into better hospital equipment and facilities.

In 1970, the Liberal Government of Gerald Regan was elected on the slogan that they would do away with patronage. The result is this was a lie; the present Liberal Government survives on patronage. Every Provincial Magistrate Court appointment has been a lawyer who has either worked for the Liberal Party or been a defeated Liberal candidate. Very little regard was given to the qualification and specialization of the appointee.

Patronage is more visible in the Department of Highways, but is practiced to the same extent in other departments. Section 22 of the Civil Service Act is as follows: "S.22 Except where otherwise provided, all appointments to the Civil Service shall be upon examination pursuant to this Act and the regulations and shall be during pleasure."

Section 30 says: "The Commission shall hold examinations to establish lists of persons eligible for appointment to the Civil Service."

Section 1(a) defines Civil Service: "1(a) Civil Service means the positions in the public service of the Province to which appointments may be made by the Civil Service Commission and such other positions as may be designated as positions in the Civil Service by the Governor in Council."

I would challenge the government to provide a list of the appointments to the civil service for the past seven years

TRULY REMEMBRANCE DAY

Again the calendar soon rolls around to November 11, the day when residents of Canada pay tribute to the youth of the country who sacrificed their lives in one or the other of the two great wars of this world. Many there are in the youth of the day who have no recollection of those war years. They know nothing of the heartaches and sufferings of the time. How can they be expected to when their lives had not yet begun. There are, however, those still living who participated in these wars or they had husbands or sons or daughters who were actively engaged in those horrible wars.

The world has been troubled continually since the second world war closed and youth has borne some share of these problems or suffered effects from them somewhere in their lives, however, few of our present Canadian youth have seen the bloodshed that did their fathers and grandfathers.

It behooves both youth and age of today to honour those who fought and died in the two great wars. On November 11 all Canadians should bend their knees in the spirit of humble gratitude, pride and reverence. Canadians of all ages should make themselves aware of the privileges and obligations which are theirs and spend the day in such a way as to perpetuate the spirit of those who fought the wars. Canadians today have a responsibility to live in the world upholding those principles for which the best of the men had fought. Can we make it a truly Remembrance Day on November 11 and continue the way of life for which they fought so courageously.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

There must be some satisfactory solution to the social problem that occurs when some people are bent on destruction and hurting other people.

The way things are going these days, the lawful taxpayers are often more penalized than the sentenced criminal, and, people who are direct victims of crime suffer more than those who committed the crime.

If and when the offenders are known, surely they, or those responsible for them, should be made to pay in either financial terms or suffer some form of punishment that could really discourage any repeat of the crime. Imprisonment these days does not seem to really deter, why? Is it mostly or partly because the sentenced law-breakers have it too good there? There is a lot of recidivism for more than one reason of course.

It seems to me that, if and when, the lawbreaker is imprisoned, he or she should not be fed any more than bread and water up to a certain time of imprisonment, and, receive only the bare necessities for good health after that. It is suggested that he or she should not have anything to smoke, nor any entertainment by way of T.V. or radio. Maybe they should not have any games with which to play. Even a few days under such circumstances, would, I think, seem a very long time indeed.

Imprisonment for correction, and, as a deterrent, should not have to be long if properly sentenced and properly administered as to time and ways. Of course every case is not the same and should not be treated as such, and, of course, Court Judges should be wise and informed, and, have sufficient time to make wise judgments.

When it comes to juvenile offenders who roam the streets at night, someone should confine them to their own homes or, failing that, the law authorities should see to it that they are confined to some home, either private or public, and, the parents or guardian of the offenders should be charged in some reasonable way. Does anybody else have any more and better things to suggest?

However, after all is said and done, there is only one really satisfactory solution to the problem—conversion of the lawbreaker, and, in this, our real hope lies with those people who are truly spiritual, those who have the more abundant life.

Vincent Snow.

Dear Sir:

We recently had the opportunity to visit your lovely Digby. The town was a setting from a picture post card.

What a shame, we came home feeling so lost and depressed. We had heard how friendly and easy going these people were from "down east".

Our son had graduated from the Canadian Forces Base Cornwallia. We were so very proud to be there. We had a lovely motel, the Brydon. Our son and other service men were welcome there. In fact, I gave our local travel bureau the phone number to use for future parents to use when they go to see their sons graduate.

Due to a time schedule for the ferry, we were stranded at a new motel by the ferry. No need to mention its name as it was the only motel within walking distance to the Princess of Acadia.

Unfortunately, three young (very young) service men had also missed the ferry. This was their first weekend pass. Five very lonely weeks and they could finally leave base. Turned down thumbs up! No! This exclusive motel would not put the boys up for the night. All I could see was my seventeen year old son in the same spot. Away from home for the first time, unwise to the lay of the land, and oh, so very lonely. Turned down because of the few who gave them a bad name. Their money was taken for food but not a bed. What harm could they possibly have done, waiting for a four a.m. ferry. Can't a proprietor tell good from bad? If not they shouldn't be in the business. I'll tell you we shall never stay there again nor recommend to others.

Our hearts ached for those boys. They were a symbol of all those boys who have arrived, and left Digby, feeling at a loss and wanting to forget the place. How come they are accepted in Saint John and Halifax?

Digby seems dependent on the base for a large percent of their business. Try to remember, people, that God forbid, one day you may need the services of the base.

We tried to help the boys and gave them the name of the Brydon where, I pray, they went.

Wake up you people of Digby. Be a little kind. Think of your children, alone, in our province. Wouldn't it be nice to know they were being treated as you are treating other people's children. Perhaps children is the wrong word to use, but to a Mom and Dad, they shall always be children.

Thank you, kind editor, for being my release valve.

Truly concerned
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dawson

Dear Editor:

On behalf of all those who have benefitted from our ministry, directly and indirectly the Salvation Army would like to say THANK-YOU to the citizens of the Digby area for their generosity this past year.

Our Red Shield Campaign objective of $3000.00 was realized and a very special thanks goes to Mr. Chester Levy, our campaign chairman and all those who gave of their time to canvass for our appeal.

In working with 31 families so far this year over $800.00 has been spent on local emergency welfare. Last year a number of Christmas hampers were also given out.

This year we are again supporting the Christmas Daddies Fund. We are facing the prospects of a heavy caseload again, and the financial support for this help must come from public support of our Christmas Cheer Kettles. Last year $751.72 was donated through these kettles.

In thanking the public for their past support, we look forward to their future aid for the continuing needs of our community.

POPPY WEEK

To the Editor:

It has been nearly 60 years since the end of the Great War and over 30 years since the end of World War II. Both wars are beyond the memory and concern of the majority of people. This writing is addressed to that majority.

The Remembrance Day message and rituals have been generally unchanged since 1919. I would like to suggest ways we might use Remembrance Day to point out the staggering waste and futility of all wars up to and including Viet Nam and also ways to prevent further wars.

Canada, for example lost about 106,000 young men in both world wars. For each man killed, three were wounded. Many of these men are still in hospital, never to leave. Many more were scarred for life in mind and body. Multiply these figures by four to get an idea of the number affected by loss and grief.

Now apply those figures to the millions of servicemen of all nations who were killed or maimed; to the 6 million Jews who were exterminated by the Nazis. Consider, the bombing victims of London, Coventry, Liverpool, Warsaw, Rotterdam, Dresden, Hamburg, Nagasaki, Hiroshima, and others. The figures are astronomical. All for nothing. The losers are now the winners. The one tragedy is that both wars could have been stopped before they started and Viet Nam is really inexorable.

The younger generation are not so naive as their forefathers and it is up to them to keep the madmen, incompetents, misfits and assorted sycophants who got us into such messes as the Crimean War and all wars since with their attended horrors such as Balaklava, the Somme, Gallipoli, Passchendaele, Ypres, Dieppe and Arnhem.

Remember the forgotten, the merchant seamen, the people of Viet Nam and the thousands of Americans and Vietnamese who died there within the memory of most of us.

So wear a Poppy, the symbol of sacrifice, not only as a token of remembrance to those who died for what they thought was right, but to show your resolve not to let it happen again.

"We have very good evidence that the residents of Nova Scotia understand the need for a controlled spray program. Until now those who were not in favour of spraying hoped that forest management or natural causes might solve the budworm problem but it is now evident that this is not to be the case," he said.

In September the pulp and paper industry sponsored an independent public opinion survey to ask Nova Scotians about the industry and about aerial spraying to protect forest lands. 72.5 per cent of those questioned indicated approval for aerial spraying with chemicals authorized by the Department of Agriculture. The survey interviewed over 500 persons from Yarmouth to Sydney and from Halifax to Amherst.

"We have to make a decision now to save the forest and the jobs it represents by minimizing budworm feeding on tree foliage. Spraying will buy time for new solutions and allow woods workers to harvest infected trees," said Mr. Weary.

"At the present unchecked levels of budworm numbers, we are seeing the death of much of the Cape Breton Highlands forests where more than 600,000 cords of wood have been destroyed. Next year the Canadian Forestry Service is predicting the loss of over a million cords there."

"Because it is simply too costly to harvest Cape Breton wood and transport it to mills across the province and because vast amounts of budworm wood would create an oversupply destroying traditional markets for mainland producers, an all out salvage program is not the answer," said Mr. Weary.

"Unfortunately, Nova Scotia Forest Industries which is the province's largest pulp and paper operation is the one whose wood supply has been devastated. This, in turn, impacts on jobs and on the economy of the province," he said.

"The loss of much of Cape Breton wood supplies ultimately will put pressure on mainland forests to supply all the required raw materials and this will "Nova Scotians are aware that crops such as blueberries, potatoes and apples are sprayed from the air annually. What many of us do not realize is that the same or similar chemical agents are used for these crops as are used in budworm suppression in Canada and the United States," he said. "In fact, aerial spraying of forests requires less spray per acre and is not necessarily an annual event.

In New Brunswick spraying has been conducted every year for 25 years, but the maximum number of times any one acre has been sprayed is only six times.

And it has been estimated that without a spray program, New Brunswick's forest industry would be about one half as productive as it is today."

"In the meantime, research must be stepped up to find an acceptable long-term solution to the spruce budworm problem," he said.

"There is a large mass of independent research which confirms our position and it now appears that the general public too feel that spraying is the answer. It is up to the Department of Lands and Forests and government to deal with this crisis," he said.

indicating how many of these took the civil service exam and if they did, how many passed.

Although it is the tendency of each and every government to take care of their own, when a government makes a promise, it should be kept. The Liberal Government promised to do away with patronage.

The constituency of Digby is in desperate need of a stimulus for employment. Nothing has been done to help the economy of this area especially during the winter months when there is no tourist trade and the fishing industry comes to a halt.

As far as can be seen on the surface, Casey's Fish Plant got a government grant nearing $30,000.00. (A grant is money given by the government which does not have to be paid back). How many people are employed there?

Then, there was or is Campol Fisheries which was or is jointly funded by the Federal and Provincial Governments. This employed quite a few people, mostly all of which were from Poland.

Then there was the refusal to hire local students to work at the Digby Pines. That was reported in the newspapers and a letter was sent to the Minister of Tourism. Nothing was accomplished.

Can anyone think of any other big projects? The Airport was upgraded through government funds but the efforts to get these funds were primarily by the Municipal Council and Mr. Lou Wyles.

It is very easy for an opposition party to criticize but most people will ask what would you do?

My main aim would be to pressure government to rearrange priorities to use government funds to assist hospitals in every way possible for research and improved facilities, and to cut down high government spending, which is a direct result of government patronage. Why create a job just to pay off supporters? Was the creation of the position of Community Development Officer really necessary? What does he do? Does the Registrar of Probate really need an assistant when there may be only five wills a month to probate? Does Canada's first woman High Sheriff really need all those deputies?

I would make sure that the Premier and his cabinet were made aware of the problems in this area. I would pressure the government to provide funds for the creation of small industries which could be complementary both to the fishing industry and the tourist industry.

Why could there not be an industry which manufactured goods which could be sold to the tourists in the summer as well as exported to different countries and different parts of Canada? Such an industry would provide employment during the winter months.

Why not have an industry complementary to the fishing industry such as a twine manufacturing company?

Certainly, the giving of free money (the rest of us have to borrow it and pay it back at a high interest rate) to Casey's Fisheries is not the way to provide employment in the area.

In addition to the issues outlined in the enclosed it is my opinion that people in this area are concerned not with the plight of the Sydney Steel Plant but with local issues. Some of these local issues are:

The refusal of the Provincial and Federal governments to put more money in the Municipal Airport in order to complete it. As the Airport now stands, it is only useful to the private flying club. The C.T.C. saw fit to grant landing rights to a company based in Saint John, New Brunswick, which was bankrupt while they refused Eastern Provincial Airways.

Other issues are the concern the people have with the Assessment Act and the control of the Provincial Government over local assessments.

The reduction in power of the Municipal Council to take away from the people of the area the power to handle local matters.

TWO NEW CANADA SAVINGS BONDS

A GREAT CHOICE

This year, Canada Savings Bonds offer you a great choice. There's a new Regular Interest Bond that pays interest each year. And a new Compound Interest Bond that re-invests your interest automatically, earning interest on your interest.

SAFETY, INSTANT CASH AND A GOOD RETURN

Both new bonds retain the great features that have helped to make Canada Savings Bonds the favourite investment for millions of Canadians over the past 31 years. They're a safe, secure investment. They're instant cash anytime. And they earn good interest — year after year.

New Canada Savings Bonds are dated November 1, 1977 and yield an average annual interest of 8.06% when held to maturity in 1986. Each new bond begins with 7% interest the first year and earns 8.25% interest for each of the remaining 8 years.

REGULAR INTEREST BOND

If you want a regular annual income from your investment, you'll like the new Regular Interest Bond which pays interest automatically each Nov. 1st. You have the choice of receiving your interest either by cheque or by direct deposit into your chequing or savings account. This new direct deposit feature is an added convenience for you.

You can buy the Regular Interest Bond for cash wherever you bank or invest in denominations of $300, $500, $1,000 and $5,000.

COMPOUND INTEREST BOND

If you seek savings growth, or an investment for the future, or a retirement fund, you'll choose the new.

Compound Interest Bond. After the first year you will earn interest on your interest at the annual rate of 8.06%. Interest on this bond is left to accumulate and is payable only upon redemption or at maturity.

Here's how the value of a $100 bond grows:

Nov. 1 Value	Nov. 1 Value
1978 $107.00	1983 $158.78
1979 $115.81	1984 $171.77
1980 $125.34	1985 $185.81
1981 $135.63	1986 $200.97
1982 $146.76

The Compound Interest Bond may be purchased for cash or on the convenient Monthly Savings Plan wherever you bank or invest. It is available in denominations of $100, $300, $500, $1,000 and $5,000.

THE CHOICE IS YOURS

As you can see, new Canada Savings Bonds offer you a great choice — the Regular Interest Bond and the Compound Interest Bond. Both new bonds are on sale now up to a combined total purchase limit of $15,000. They have been specifically designed to meet your savings goals. Choose the one that's right for you.

Utilizing Wood For Energy

A comprehensive report on the "Utilization of Wood for Energy Purposes" written by N.A. Wiksten for the Nova Scotia Department of Lands and Forests was released today by Hon. Vincent MacLean, Minister.

The report strongly recommends greater utilization of wood in various forms for the generation of heat and energy. Basing his thesis on the fact that trees are a manageable and renewable energy source, unlike fossil fuels, Mr. Wiksten strongly urges consideration of his recommendations.

It is Mr. Wiksten's contention that "since wood is renewable, good forest management will produce a lasting supply of marginal wood for energy purposes within the land capability. Good forest management in Nova Scotia could double this supply."

The "marginal wood" Mr. Wiksten refers to is that which is not utilized for pulpwood or lumber. It includes tops, branches, bark and even stumps. In other words, those parts of the trees which are now wasted, but that can be transformed into energy through combustion, gasification, distillation and hydrolysis.

As part of his research, Mr. Wiksten spent some time abroad to study logistics and equipment used in Finland and Sweden for the recovery of marginal amounts of wood left after conventional logging operations. The study tour also provided an opportunity to him to update previously gained knowledge and experience of wood combustion and gasification.

"Use of wood instead of oil incurs initial operational costs of additional storage space, replacement parts, adjustments, increased maintenance and attention to the operation of stoves and furnaces," Mr. Wiksten's report states.

"Sawdust, bark and occasionally wood chips from small sawmill and wood-working industries can be used for heating and gasification with a high efficiency and usually at a low cost," the report says.

"The processing and transportation of these mill residues from the stump to the mill has already been paid for and the cost of this material to the consumers would be for pick-up, shredding and transportation from the mill in addition to the price paid to the sawmill owner."

"The residues of wood left after conventional logging operations, wood from cleaning, thinning and other sundry cutting operations, together with mill residues and used forest products have been liabilities which can now be turned into an asset of considerable value to the Province of Nova Scotia," the report states.

Mr. Wiksten points out that Scandinavian dual-fuel furnaces designed with double fire boxes for heating by means of wood or oil (mainly as a back-up) are already being sold in the province. A Swedish developed "preheater" for sawdust or wood chips is currently being tested in Halifax by the firm of Whitman and Benn. The "preheater" produces wood gas for combustion in a conventional oil furnace, converting two to three tons of sawdust or wood chips to heat equivalent to that produced by 225 gallons of oil.

A number of nomograms show the value of wood at various prices of oil for given efficiencies of stoves, furnaces and gas producers. Other graphs show the costs of processing wood from stumps, logging residues and small trees from cleaning and thinning into chips useful for generation of energy.

Mr. Wiksten's research went further than an investigation of the potential use of wood as an alternative energy source.

"A better integration of operation with forest based industries could lead to new opportunities in distillation and hydrolysis of wood, for example, for the manufacture of methanol and ethanol as additives to the conventional fuels for engines, heaters and furnaces as well as many other products such as medicines, dry yeast, cattle food and long-lasting fertilizers," the report says.

Mr. Wiksten says that since the pulp and paper industry is one of the biggest consumers of energy in the form of oil and electricity "it is mandatory to find ways and means of reducing its dependence on non-renewable sources of energy."

If wood were used as an energy source, "it is estimated that a pulp and paper mill consuming, say, 500,000 cords of wood for processing, would need another 350,000 cords of wood to fill its own energy requirements," the report states.

"Utilization of indigenous resources will reduce Nova Scotia's dependence on the resources of other provinces and countries, facilitating industrial development and alleviating regional disparity," Mr. Wiksten's report contends.

The report, which is currently being studied by the Department of Lands and Forests, is available to the public in a limited quantity at the Nova Scotia Government Bookstore on Hollis Street in Halifax.

The report, which is currently being studied by the Department of Lands and Forests, will soon be available to the public in a limited quantity at a cost of $1.25 at the Nova Scotia Government Bookstore, 1597 Hollis St., P.O. Box 637, Halifax, N.S., B3J 2T3.

DRHS Leafs Split Games During Weekend Tournament In P.E.I.

The D.R.H.S. Leafs Hockey Team left early Friday October 28 to participate in the Kensington High School Invitational Early Bird hockey tournament. Although the Digby squad did not win the Championship they were excellent ambassadors to school, town and community. The D.R.H.S. hockey team also had some time to tour parts of P.E.I. and to many it was an experience never witnessed before - especially the harvesting and storage of the islands potato crop. The tournament served as educational as well as being sports orientated. In the first game the Leafs defeated the host school of Kensington by a 6-5 score in sudden death. The winning goal by Kevin Locke was a picture play of the entire line Locke, Raymond and LeBlanc and it took only 8 seconds to execute D.R.H.S. led at one point 5-1 before the Torchmen tied the score with only 22 seconds remaining.

In the second game the Leafs played, which was the championship, the Leafs ran into some difficulties with penalties in the second period which proved to be too much. now 45 to 50 percent of unemployed Nova Scotians are under the age of 24.

Indicate to us that career counselling services now provided young people are inadequate," said Mr. Mor.

"Young people are not exposed to all career possibilities, and choose the area in which to spend their working lives from too limited a knowledge of career opportunities. Many young people appear to choose university as an option without proper guidance," he said.

The career counselling workshop will provide the background for Canada Employment and Immigration to introduce Nova Scotia to its new computerized career information system CHOICES (Computerized Heuristic Occupational Information and Career Exploration System).

This bilingual system contains a data bank of information on some 700 careers. A student can feed the CHOICES computer his interests, hobbies and abilities. The computer is able to match the student's capabilities with possible careers and potentials. It also stipulates the educational and training facilities available to train the student for that selected career. Pilot versions of the CHOICES computer are already operating in New Brunswick, British Columbia and Ontario.

A demonstration of the CHOICES computer will take place at the workshop.

D.R.H.S. Dragons Win 64-33

The Digby Dragons played their first game of the season on Sunday and came away with a convincing 64-33 win against St. Anne's college. The game saw a large number of fouls which distracted from the excellent plays of both teams. A total of six girls fouled out of the game. The potent offense of Digby was led by Kim Roy who scored 38 points. Kim also led in rebounds with 13. Karen Hattie set up a number of plays as she collected five assists. The coach of the Dragons was pleased with the improvement of the team and thought that the game was fairly well played for the first game. He was disappointed in the defense but felt it would improve for up coming games.

Concerning the trip to Sweden, the team has reached 1/4 of its objectives. However they need more support from the community. Any persons or groups interested in helping please contact Mr. Greg Jamieson 487-3730 or Mr. Don Sothe 245-4093.

Windsor Wallops Digby 8-2

The Windsor Legionnaires walloped the Digby Legionnaires 8-2 in their home opener at the Digby Forum on Sunday. The game was a rough contest with 107 minutes in penalties being handed out, 62 minutes going to the home team. Digby held a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period on goals by Hopkins and Clark while Trinacety scored for the visitors.

In the second period

Windsor scored two unanswered goals to take a 3-2 lead into the third period when Hase! and Gray tallied.

The third period saw the Digby Squad run into ten penalties and have five power play goals scored against them as the game ended 8-2 for the visitors. Scoring in the final period for Windsor were Ross with a pair while singles went to Burgess, Smiley and Sweet.

Weymouth Girl Helps In Victory

At least one local person was involved as the St. Mary's Belles upset the champion Dalhousie Tigerettes 1-0 Sunday to win the Atlantic Universities women's field hockey championship. The local participant was Bonnie Thurber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Thurber, of Weymouth. Bonnie is a valued member of the Belles.

A second half, penalty shot goal by forward Joan Selig, a member of Canada's national team, was the scoring margin against the Tigerettes who were last year's Canadian College champions. Sherry Conrad had the shutout.

St. Mary's will represent the conference in Montreal next weekend in the 1977 university championship tournament.

Career Counselling For Youth

A growing concern for the increasing number of young unemployed Nova Scotians has brought as many as 100 secondary school and Canada Employment and Immigration counsellors to Halifax this month for a two-day career counselling workshop. The workshop, slated for Citadel Inn October 28 and 29, was co-chaired by Nova

Funeral Home Service Expands To Weymouth

The services of a new, attractively-styled, funeral home are now available to residents of the Weymouth area.

The former Blackadar home, located on Victoria Avenue between Dr. Felix Doucette's and the United Church, was recently purchased by Jayne's Funeral Home (1976) Ltd. and turned into a "home-like" funeral home.

The doors officially opened on Friday when the public was invited to inspect the new facilities.

Users of the new funeral home will have access to the experienced staff of Jayne's Funeral Home which has been serving people of all denominations since 1955.

Jayne's Funeral Home, (1976) Ltd., Weymouth Branch, officially opened its doors in this village Friday.

Scenery Improved By Car Removal

The Fundy Auto Salvage of Digby area have been busy the past few weeks improving the scenery of the island area.

The back yards and fields of residents that featured dismantled, non-repairable, useless vehicles or their counterparts were all gotten rid of recently when the Fundy Auto Salvage Co. of Digby area transported them to an area at Freeport, the lower end of the island, to a location known as Charlie Young's gravel pit. Here they are awaiting the crusher that will demolish them entirely.

Adults as well as children found the "operation-vehicle remover" fascinating to observe. A fork lift was employed to loosen the vehicles from their moorings where they had reclined and settled for many years. They were picked up whole, grass tendrils and all, as easily as lifting a match, on the giant arms of the lift where they were balanced and carried many feet overhead and loaded easily on the waiting transport truck. When they were in place on the truck

Pastor Ordained

On Thursday evening, October 20, 1977, a service of ordination was held at North Range United Baptist Church, when Licentiate Barry Dale Dixon was ordained for the Christian Ministry.

Rev. Lloyd Baker, pastor of New Tusk-Ashmore Churches and Vice-Moderator of the Anna-Digby Association conducted the service and gave the address to the candidate and the inquiry of the congregation. Deacon Gerald Wagner read the acceptance message from the Convention Board of Examiners. Following the Invocation prayer by Deacon Raymond Dogget of Port Monton, the scripture, 1 Timothy 3: 1-15 was read by Dr. David Kennedy of Saint John, N.B. The Pastor's wife, Mrs. Marilyn Dixon, was then welcomed and recognition of her help in bringing about the happy occasion made when she was presented with a corsage by Mrs. Milton Bragg.

Rev. Ronald (Harmer) of First Baptist Church, Welland, Ontario, delivered the sermon. Members of the clergy participating in the Laying on of Hands Ceremony included: Rev. Lloyd Baker, Rev. Ronald Harmer, Dr. David Kennedy, Rev. Eugene Thompson, Rev. George Molens, Rev. Murray Shaw and Rev. R.R. Winchester. The ordination prayer was given by Rev. Eugene Thompson of Middleton. Welcome to the ordained Ministry was given by Rev. Lloyd Baker.

Music for the service was provided by the Association Quartette and the combined choirs of the North Range and Barton Churches with Mrs. Ivan Bain at the organ. The closing hymn was "Living For Jesus". Rev. Barry Dixon pronounced the benediction.

Following the church service a reception was held at the church hall. During the social hour, Rev. and Mrs. Dixon were presented with a silver tray by Deacon Wagner on behalf of the two churches. Their baby son, Johnathan, was presented a silver spoon by Mrs. George Carman.

Other guests from out of town included, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dixon of Port Mouton and Mrs. Dixon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Beak of Saint John and Rev. and Mrs. Spinney of Paradise.

Letters of congratulations were received and read by the moderator. At the close of the reception an old fashioned hymn sing was enjoyed with Rev. George Allen at the piano.

those powerful arms gave them another "gentle" pat which laid them low. When the truck was loaded a chain was wound around them to hold them securely in place until they reached their final resting place at the pit.

The scenery that was a few weeks ago unsightly and cluttered has been greatly improved thanks to the Municipality which sponsored the Fundy Auto Salvage in removing the obstructions.

Youths Get Jail Term

Two Digby youths have been sentenced to lengthy terms behind bars for their involvement in three break and enter incidents in this town of Oct. 19.

Amos Boyd Germaine, 19, and Dale Charles Germaine, 17, both of Digby, appeared in court Monday in connection with breaks into Digby Riteway, Jack's Warehousing and Bob's Fina. Both pleaded guilty.

Amos Germaine was sentenced to three years in a federal penitentiary. Dale Germaine was sentenced to two years and one day in the Kings County Correctional Centre.

As a result of the Oct. 19 incident, Jack's Warehousing suffered about $10,000 in damage, Digby Riteway about $1,500 and Bob's Fina $300.

Four other Digby area youths were sentenced to jail terms in connection with a ruckus which occurred in downtown Digby on Oct. 4. The accused persons pleaded guilty to a number of charges Monday.

Ward Darnell Simms, 19, of Acaciaville was sentenced to nine months in the Kings County Correctional Centre on charges of causing a disturbance, resisting arrest, and assaulting a police officer. He will also be on probation for six months after that sentence is served.

Christopher Eden Miller, 17, of Acaciaville, was sentenced to the Kings County Correctional Centre for a term of four months and 10 days followed by six months probation. He faced charges of causing a disturbance, obstructing a police officer, assaulting a police officer, resisting arrest and threatening.

Timothy Darnell Miller, 17, of Acaciaville was sentenced to three months at the same institution followed by six months on probation. He was charged with causing a disturbance, obstructing a police officer, and assaulting a police officer.

Brian Alexander Stark, 18, of Digby was sentenced to 30 days in jail (to be served on weekends) followed by six months on probation. He was charged with obstructing a police officer and common assault.

Successful Fisheries Seminar

Digby Neck and Islands, the Bay Shore, Meteghan and places between were well represented at the provincial fisheries seminar held in Dartmouth last weekend. Present were fishermen, processors and government persons. Capt. Joe Casey M.L.A. from Digby was among those present. Reports indicated a most successful seminar.

The two-day meeting was the first of what will become, because of its success, an annual event. Topics under discussion included fish resource, marketing, pricing, quality, types of gear and vessels and other concerns.

One of these concerns still unresolved and facing the minister of Fisheries, Hon. Dr. Dan Reid; Mr. Casey and the fishermen in the Digby area has to do with scallop fishing on George's Banks. Digby fishermen have in the past reaped bountiful harvests from George's Banks and should the 200 mile limit preclude Digby County fishermen, it will have serious effect on the fishing revenue. Mr. Casey said plans are for the provincial minister and other delegates to meet with the federal minister, Hon. Romeo LeBlanc, to discuss the situation. Capt. Casey expressed content with conservation but was worried about a full one hundred percent cutback.

The seminar included banquets; speakers, of whom special speaker was Premier Gerald Regan; workshop, question and answer period. Each village in the Digby has its own different problem. Mr. Casey said, but there was a good opportunity at the seminar to make them known. Fishermen were able to exchange ideas and to become acquainted.

Sponsored by both the provincial and federal government, many officials took part in the discussions.

Know Your Fireman

Dale Evans Halliday, Lighthouse Road, Digby, was born in Digby, son of Mrs. Victor Halliday and the late Mr. Halliday. He obtained his elementary education in Digby and graduated from the Digby Regional High School with Grade XI. He is now 27 years of age and is a certified nursing assistant at the Digby General Hospital.

Dale has served in the Digby Volunteer Fire Department for more than four years and is vice-president of the organization. He had been secretary and assistant secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Halliday is an active fire fighter and has improved his fire fighting skills by taking various special courses such as the Nova Scotia Fire Fighters Course at Waverley, N.S., the Emergency Measures Organization Ground Search and Rescue course. He is a Saint John Ambulance Instructor and was a former Sea Cadet officer.

Mrs. Halliday was the former Miss Barbara Titus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Titus, Centreville, Digby Co. They have one child, Shannon.

Dale indulges in hobbies as scuba diving, hunting and gun collecting.

Retirement Party

Retiring registrar of probate Clara Perry, 65, had her day-to-remember at the Digby Court House on Friday when fellow workers gathered to show appreciation for her many years of service and wish her a happy retirement.

Mrs. Perry served as registrar of probate for the past 20 years. She served in the probate office for 15 years before moving up to that position.

Following a few words of tribute from R. MacLeod Rogers, the lady-of-the-hour was presented with a service award from the Attorney General's department and a gift from court house employees.

Cameron's Florists donated a corsage to Mrs. Perry for the occasion.

We welcome Rev. and Mrs. Hallett M. Foster who arrived Tuesday, Nov. 1, at the Baptist Parsonage. The Fosters come to us from Margaree Valley Pastorate. Our Firemen were busy on Halloween patrolling the community and receiving visitors at the Fire Hall...during the early hours.

Little ghosties, witches, cats and other characters were calling on the community that same evening. One family of four, among others who used make-up instead of masks, were really sporting unusual markings and colors. It was a quiet evening due to the special activities now available to the youth of the community in the surrounding areas.

"Mopsie"

The Travelling Cat

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robicheau, Jr., of Weymouth North, recently returned from a trip to Lynn, Massachusetts. They took along with them their only pet - their cat, "Mopsie."

Taking their truck across on the Princess of Acadia they drove down the Maine coast to Lynn, staying with Joyceann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Lent. They visited many shopping malls, bought winter and hunting clothes, went out to eat several times for supper, and visited Joyceann's grandmother and great-grandmother, who is 91 years old and still going strong.

This is not Mopsie's first trip to Lynn. She was born there and has been Joyceann's pet since. She walked into her house in Lynn in 1973, only a kitten and starved to the point they didn't think she'd live. Her first trip to Weymouth when she was three months old was by plane. In June 1976, when Walter and Joyceann went on their honeymoon, Joyceann's parents brought Mopsie to Weymouth to stay for good and they drove all the way by truck.

On their way back to Weymouth, they saw a doe and fawn along the side of the road. At the Kittery, Maine Trading Post, there was the biggest selection of guns in Maine, which kept Walter occupied for over an hour. When they got to the Saint John boat it had left a half hour before. So, they had to drive the 400 miles around. It was a nice drive because the leaves on the trees were so pretty.

Self-Reliance Must Be Long Term Economic Goal

Nova Scotia NDP Leader, Jeremy Akerman, says that in order to achieve long term economic stability Nova Scotia must dramatically increase its own self-reliance. Mr. Akerman is calling upon individuals, organizations, and businesses to contact him with their ideas as to how increased self-reliance could be achieved in their particular fields.

The NDP Leader said that a continuing stable economy within the province cannot forever rely upon precarious dreams of large and risky projects, the attraction of foreign corporations, or on subsidies from the Federal Government. Rather, says Mr. Akerman, in every way possible Nova Scotia must maximize its own potential and increase its own self-reliance. This means, he says, that an inventory must be taken as soon as possible to find out what goods and services which are presently being made and provided to Nova Scotians from outside the province could be made and provided in Nova Scotia. He says he is firmly of the opinion that there must be many examples where with the right encouragement and assistance work which is currently being done outside the province could be done here employing Nova Scotians.

The New Democratic Party Leader said he is inviting all members of the public to write to him submitting ideas as to how they feel Nova Scotia could increase its self-reliance and perform more of its services from within the province and produce more of its goods at home. Adding that he has always received his best ideas as a result of communication with members of the public, Mr. Akerman said he anticipates an interesting and stimulating response. "I'm of the opinion that the people who are daily engaged in a variety of activities and businesses will have observed many instances where Nova Scotians' self-reliance would be possible but due to incorrect policies and inadequate assistance has not been brought about."

In addition, says Mr. Akerman, the Department of Development should communicate with all business operations in the province to ask them for specific proposals with respect to a goal of increased self-reliance and undertake an inventory of all the province's resources with a view to this end.

Cholesterol And Animal Fat Products

The Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture is pleased to learn through the September 23, 1977 issue of the New England Journal of Medicine (one of the world's most respected medical journals), that there is no scientific evidence of relationship between high cholesterol levels in humans and consumption of animal fats.

An article by Dr. George V. Mann of Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, refutes the notion promoted since 1950 that coronary heart disease is correlated with available food fat, especially from eggs and animal products.

The oil and butter substitute industry have promoted their products on an assumption which placed animal fat products in a harmful drug category. Diet-heart enthusiasts used polls etc. to influence national food policy away from animal fat and poultry products. A low animal fat, low cholesterol diet became the by-word of physicians advice.

Lester Settle, Secretary-Manager of the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture, which is supported in large measure by livestock producer organizations, says, "we are pleased to have this information verified by such a respected medical journal as The New England Journal of Medicine."

It now appears that evidence for the diet-heart hypothesis was and is wrong, according to Dr. Mann. Studies of 3000 people showed no relation between dietary habits and cholesteremia.

Mortality trends and dietary programs are not related in any meaningful way. No diet therapy has been shown effective for the prevention of coronary heart disease. Feeding studies show that the raising of cholesterol levels is not due to higher dietary intake of cholesterol. Rather, the explanation for higher cholesterol levels appear to lie in an impairment of the conversion of cholesterol to bile acid.

"This information on cholesterol and animal products has been coming to us from different commodity organizations", says Mr. Settle. "It is very helpful to have it verified by the Medical Journals and should remove the 'scare' some people have had in eating eggs, butter and meats. Agricultural products continue to offer good value and contribute to good health."

An Ounce Of Prevention

By N. Halley MacPherson

Vice President Atlantic Region

Shoppers Drug Mart Stores

Poison is not a pleasant word, and it is often misunderstood. To put it bluntly, if you can't eat it you should think of it - and treat it - as poison, especially where youngsters are concerned.

Many helpful and seemingly harmless household products become dangerous poisons when misused. Common headache pills, household bleaches and tranquilizers are the three most prevalent child-poisoners in Canada, and dozens of other readily available products are close behind. Anything which can be tasted, sprayed or poured by a curious child should be securely locked away. This includes medicines of all types, bleaches, deodorants, paints, nail polish, glue and even perfumes.

Children cannot read labels and many products look alike to their eyes. Imitation of adult behaviour is an important way children learn, but they are not able to distinguish between paste wax and peanut butter. This inability could have tragic results if products are left within their reach.

Children are encouraged to take medications to 'make you feel better' or 'grow up big and strong'. They cannot be expected to understand that medications should be used only as directed. A child wanting to 'feel better' or 'grow up strong' may take a medication, or something which looks like a medication, and this could be dangerous. Don't permit medicines and items which resemble them to be within reach of your children at any time. The risk is too great.

Antidotes and poison control centres are second best to a program of poison prevention in your home. Take a look in your bathroom, kitchen, workshop and laundry room; read the labels on the products you find there. If any is even remotely dangerous, remove it to a secure place. It may be inconvenient to reach to the top cupboard instead of under the sink each time you want detergent or oven cleaner or bleach - but think of the possible alternatives.

Marks Tenth Anniversary

The interdenominational Bible Study Class commemorated the tenth anniversary of its founding this Fall.

The members of the group enjoyed a Chinese dinner at the House of Wong. The table was attractively decorated with Fall Flowers provided by Mrs. Harry Adams.

Grace was offered by the group leader, Mrs. Carman Frankland. She was presented with a corsage of roses.

Following dinner the group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Frankland. The leader gave a brief history of the origin of the group. It is interesting to note that it was here that a group of ladies gathered for afternoon tea one September just a decade ago to discuss the possibility of forming a Bible Study Class. It was founded soon after and was open to ladies of all faiths.

Meetings are held twice monthly. When the group first began it was the only Bible Study Class in Digby, that wasn't conducted in a church.

Tribute was paid to Mrs. Carman Frankland, the group's first and only leader. The tribute was read by its author, Mrs. Boyd Haynes and presented to the leader for her devoted and faithful ten years of service.

Ste-Anne Professors Will Present Paper On Pollution

Raymond Van Coillie and Jean-Claude Dol, two professors of science at Université Sainte-Anne, have been chosen to present one of 12 papers to the second Canadian symposium on research into water pollution.

More than 70 researchers from across Canada submitted proposals for papers to be presented to the meeting to be held November 18 in Quebec City. Only 12 were chosen to be brought to the attention of the 3,400 scientists expected to attend the symposium.

The paper to be presented by the Université Sainte-Anne researchers deals with the potential for heavy metal pollution of clams and lobsters in the St. Mary's Bay region of Digby County, and attempts to show the potential methods for monitoring such contamination should it occur.

The study, Prof. Coillie said in an interview, showed no current problem with heavy metals such as lead, zinc and cadmium contaminating the bay's waters. However such pollution in the future is a potential problem because of the amount of heavy metals deposited in the water after being carried here by prevailing winds from industrial centres on the eastern seaboard of the United States.

"We believe that in the pollution field, it is time for a fundamental approach," Prof. Coillie said. "There is already, of course, much data, but it is very diverse data."

He said much more work needs to be done on water pollution at the biomolecular level, and such study requires sophisticated techniques and costly technical apparatus.

"In this report on St. Mary's Bay," he said, "we have tried to present preliminary work on the lobsters and clams, and as we just began this summer there is a lot more work to do. We are trying to begin to apply research to local problems or future local problems."

He said while he could not emphasize enough that there was no problem today with metal contamination of clams and lobsters in the St. Mary's Bay, research done at the college in finding accumulation of heavy metals in local specimens in test aquariums clearly indicated that if the metals were present in the water at some time in the future, the clams and lobsters would absorb them.

Tests on lobster indicated that if such dangerous metals were present, the animal would absorb lead by a factor of four in two days in its body tissue while the shell would accumulate by a factor of 10 Calcium, potassium and zinc normally in the shell would be replaced by the heavy metal. As the shell is not eaten this would reduce the danger to human consumption.

In tests on the clam it was discovered that the soft tissues, muscle and digestive system, of the clam accumulated up to a factor of 20 times, while the shell accumulated relatively little of the contaminant heavy metal. This would mean a much greater danger to humans who consumed it compared to the accumulation factor of lobster.

Food Prices Are High! Compared To What?

We, as Canadians, are spending a smaller percent of our income on food than in many previous years. Many will probably jump up and yell, "Yeah, but we are spending more money; prices are going up every day!"

Well, it is true, we are spending more money than ever before. In a recent article from agriculture Canada it is stated that we bought over $17 billion worth of food for HOME USE last year. This figure is up 11 percent over 1975.

In 1976 we spent 13.6 percent of our total disposable income on food. Disposable income is actually what we carry home after the deductions are made at the source. In 1975 we spent a slightly higher proportion on food: 13.9 percent. In 1965 it was 16.2 percent and in 1955 we spent 19 percent.

So, when we take a look at where ALL of our money is going, we are actually spending smaller and smaller proportions on food and larger amounts on other things: housing, transportation, clothing, entertainment, vacations, you-name it.

Perhaps why we complain so much about food prices is that we get the opportunity so often! We buy it every week or more frequently.

No one ever hears of the prices that went down in 1976: potatoes, spaghetti, beef for example, along with several others.

The time has arrived when we must ask ourselves how much value we place on our food. Which is worth more: money spent on food or money spent on dental bills and medicine? Food doesn't cure all ills, but good nutritious food can certainly prevent many ills.

Often when we choose snack foods the nutritious ones are more expensive than the high calorie low nutrient foods. And why shouldn't they be? They have more to offer! The total cost of the others include those dental bills, or the problems related to poor health.

When we consider the Nutrition Canada National Survey and the work of the (now past) Food Prices Review Board, it is obvious we ought to be spending more money on a few foods, particularly fruit and vegetables. However this

November is Immunization Month

DIPHTHERIA is a highly infectious disease beginning as a sore throat. Can go on to cause heart and nerve complications.

POLIO remains a serious, highly communicable disease among adults and children. Causes muscle paralysis and permanent crippling. No longer a major health threat because of immunization.

MUMPS is an infection of the salivary glands. Rarely leads to serious complications in children.

WHOPPING COUGH is most dangerous to babies. Frequently complicated by pneumonia which could lead to permanent lung damage.

GERMAN MEASLES (Rubella) is a mild, contagious disease. Women exposed to Rubella during first three months of pregnancy run high risk of giving birth to children with heart defects, deafness, cataracts. A pregnant woman should not receive rubella vaccine.

TETANUS (Lockjaw) may result from a penetration injury caused perhaps, by a rusty nail or cuts contaminated by street dust. Can be fatal.

RED MEASLES should not be treated lightly. Although a common childhood disease, if child is young or chronically ill it could lead to serious complications including brain damage, ear infections, pneumonia.

Vaccines to immunize against these diseases are being made available FREE at Public Health Clinics across the Province during November. Plan to attend a Clinic for information on the shots your child will need. (Age and sex are the criteria.) Adults are reminded that they too are not immune and require regular vaccination against polio and tetanus. The Clinic will also provide these free.

Contact your local Health Department office or the Health Unit for this area.

Digby Fiddler Captures Trophy

Tex Mattinson

A crowd of approximately three hundred and fifty people enjoyed the first Western Nova Scotia Fiddlers' Contest held at the Bridgetown Regional High School on Saturday night, sponsored by the B.R.H.S. Band. Members of the band had tastefully decorated the stage to resemble a barn yard, complete with the old red barn and rooster.

A total of ten contestants were introduced by the Master of Ceremonies, Doug Oldford. Contestants were Darrel MacGowan, Moschelle; Tex Mattinson, Digby; Dan McEwan, Bear River; Eddie Peck, Bear River; Robert Hall, Bridgetown; Harold Langille, Bridgetown; Clell Joudrey, Elmwood, Lun. Co.; Doran Spidle, Scar- scdale, Lun. Co.; Robert Joudrey, Northfield, Lun. Co.; and Donald Whynott, Bridgewater.

Judges for the contest were Father Sweeney and Jim Sanford, both from Annapolis Royal, and Charlie Saunders, West Paradise. Each contestant was limited to five minutes and was required to play a waltz, a jig and a hoedown. When all points were tallied, the results were as follows: first place - Tex Mattinson; second - Robert Joudrey; third - Clell Joudrey.

The members of the Band played for all those present before and after the contest and their music was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

In weeks prior to the contest, members of the Band sold tickets on a quilt with the butterfly wing design, with proceeds for the Band. Winner of the hand-made quilt was Mrs. Gerry Bowen.

On a lighter vein, a visit from two talented "chickens" kept everyone tapping their toes and laughing as a chicken song and a beautiful solo were rendered to the accompaniment of guitar. The two talented chickens were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dorey.

The annual trophy was presented by the B.R.H.S. Band and it is hoped that this will be a yearly event which will be much enjoyed to all who attend.

Presented $300 Travel Fund

Padre James MacIntosh, made the presentation of $300 to the Western Valley Shrine Club to benefit the Shriner's Crippled Children Travel Fund following the Church Parade and service held at CFB Cornwallis on Sunday.

Padre MacIntosh preached the sermon and Shriner Carl Niemeyer gave a talk on "What Shrine Is". A vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. Ira Wade.

Present at the church service was Miss Connie Cross of Nictaux who had received funds from the Western Valley Shrine Club to aid in her recovery from deformed limbs. The Shriners in the area have also assisted in transportation for children and their families to their Burns hospitals in Montreal or American cities. Presently they are aiding an eleven or twelve year old girl to have fingers restored.

Connie Cross, who has completely recovered from her trouble and attends many Shrine functions will attend the Shriners Dinner to be held at the W.O. and Sgt's Mess, CFB Cornwallis on Saturday, November 26. The dinner is open to all by advance sale of tickets, $10.00 per couple. Reception is at six-thirty p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m.

Slight Change

A projected increase in Sunday traffic has resulted in a slight change in CN Marine's proposed winter operating schedule for the Bay of Fundy service between Saint John, N.B., and Digby, N.S.

The heavier than normal traffic is expected on Sundays for the next seven weeks.

The winter operating schedule was to go into effect October 30 with the removal of one trip Sunday and another Saturday.

The Saturday evening return trip will not operate after October 29. And sailings for the other six days will remain the way they've been until further notice.

The Princess of Acadia departs Digby Sundays at 2:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., Mondays at 3:45 p.m. and Tuesdays through Saturdays at 5 a.m. and at 3:45 p.m.

She will depart Saint John Sundays at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., Mondays at 10:30 a.m. and Tuesdays through Saturdays at 0001 and again at 10:30 a.m.

The vessel makes the 40-mile crossing in approximately three hours.

This revised winter sailing schedule will be in effect until further notice.

The Welch brothers, Billy and Glen, are the proud owners of a new boat which they brought home on Saturday. With all their extra space we expect to see them rollerskating back and forth as they put to sea. You can recognize her by looking for the most brilliant boat in the fleet.

Councillors Sworn In

The three newly elected Councillors for the Town of Digby were sworn into office at the beginning of the Town Council regular meeting on Monday evening. Left to right are His Worship Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, who officiated at the swearing-in; Councillor Michael Sweeney (new-comer to town politics), a well known Digby Regional High School teacher; Councillor Philip Robertson and Councillor Guy VanTassell.

Councillor Philip Robertson was later elected Deputy Mayor. Mr. VanTassell declined his nomination as Deputy Mayor when it was found there would be two candidates, resulting in an election.

Miss Barbara Kincaide, Regional Librarian, was given permission to speak before Council. She expressed happiness in the fact that the proposed new Town Hall for Digby would contain space for the Digby Library and made a few suggestions which would more advantageously utilize space and accommodate all concerned.

The Town of Digby Electric Light Department report showed revenue amounting to $492,987.85 from January to September 1977. Expenditures amounted to $457,542.99 making a net gain of $35,444.86. Total capital expenditures for the Town of Digby Electric Light Utility were $22,263.54.

The report of Carl Niemeyer, building inspector gave value of new construction to be $65,000; alterations $129,200; repairs $18,750; total $212,950; fees $157.60. This represented 14 permits; two for new construction; one alterations and eleven repairs.

The report of Sgt. T.E. Barlow, RCMP showed a total of 65 complaints. Under Criminal Code there were 23, fifteen charged, 17 cleared. Drugs reported were three, one charged, one cleared. Seven were charged under liquor control. Businesses found open were four. Total vehicle accidents nine.

Two major break and enters occurred during the month, one at Digby Riteway Store and one at Jack's Warehouse, in both cases the safe was attacked unsuccessfully. At Jack's Warehouse approximately $10,000.00 damage resulted. Bob's Fina was also entered at the same time. Two persons were apprehended and were sentenced on 31 October 77. One received 3 years in a federal institution, the other received two years less a day in Kings County Correctional Center. As a result of a disturbance on 4 October 77, four persons were sentenced to jail time.

One to Kings County Correctional Center for 6 months, one for 3 months, one for 4 months and one person received an intermittent sentence in Digby County Jail. Halloween Night was relatively quiet with no major damage reported. Egg throwing and the like appeared to be the most popular activity. The report of Webster Dunn, Parking Meter attendant was presented and showed a take in October of $704.32. Seventy-four tickets were issued, four cancelled and tickets collected amounted to $91.00.

The report of Webster Dunn, Parking Meter attendant was presented and showed a take in October of $704.32. Seventy-four tickets were issued, four cancelled and tickets collected amounted to $91.00.

Arthur Thomas had six dog complaints. Seven dogs were picked up. One license sold.

The report of Kenneth Ilitski, assistant superintendent of streets revealed costs of $14,105.00 for the Public Works Department in Digby in October. The regular monthly report of the superintendent, Frank Robinson, was presented. W.N. Horner and Associates Ltd., Consulting Professional Engineers replied to a letter from James Wheelhouse, town clerk, re the Sanitary Sewerage System - Phase 3, Town of Digby, which confirmed instructions whereby the Town would accept the sewage treatment plant and the sewage pumping stations of the project for operational purposes only as of October 15, 1977. Horner and Associates said that while it is understood that this acceptance for operational purposes only does not constitute acceptance of any part of the works under the contract, the staff will be responsible for the operation, maintenance and power costs of these portions of the system as of October 15, 1977.

Resolutions for renewal of borrowing for the fire truck to the amount of $35,942 and the fire hall to $25,000 were passed.

A letter from the Digby Kiwanis Club revealed that the Kiwanis Club felt they could not sell their property at the Racquette for less than the stipulated $4,500 as their new swimming pool was under such great financial expense. Purchasing the property for parking facilities had been considered. The letter was tabled until it could be ascertained how the property would fit in with plans.

The Digby Pines was given permission for a renewal of the Trap Shooting License for 1978.

The operating budget of the Digby Housing Authority was accepted by Council. The town budget is $23,050. Taxes amount to about $35,000.

Bills payable for October of $74,209.39 were presented by Councillor VanTassell of the Finance Committee and passed.

Mr. VanTassell reported five calls for the Digby Volunteer Fire Department on October. There were sixty-nine calls to date in 1977.

The highway 101-217 intersection at Conway was the subject of heavy discussion during Tuesday night's meeting of the Digby Board of Trade.

Two resolutions on the issue were approved. Rene Richard initiated a motion that the speed limit on Highway 101 one half mile east and one half mile west of the intersection be reduced from 100 to 60 Kilometers per hour.

The second motion, introduced by Wellington Halliday, calls for the starting of a petition demanding the same standard of access-exit systems as exist in other parts of the Valley.

During discussion on the matter, Mr. Richard said there is too much unnecessary death and damage occurring at the intersection.

Mr. Halliday said, to his knowledge, there were three deaths on that corner. He urged the board to get behind a petition, which would be circulated in Digby and surrounding area.

Several Board members spoke on the motions, including Pat Comeau, who couldn't see how the speed limit could be left at 100 on such an intersection.

Board Chairman Charles Haliburton noted there could have been a natural overpass at the intersection if the highway had been put into the hollow.

In other Board business, annual membership fees were raised to $15 for companies and $10 for individuals, an increase of $5 in each category.

The Board went on record as favouring the designation of a park area in the town by Town Council.

This subject was brought up by Vincent Snow. Mr. Snow asked the Board to request that the town purchase three specific properties for development as a park area. However, a motion to this effect failed to attract a seconder.

Arthur Robinson brought members up to date on efforts to bring the C.N. Marine office to Digby.

He noted with satisfaction that the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade was supporting the Board in this effort. Numerous other clubs and organizations in the area are also lending their support.

Four Receive Flying Licenses

Ron Cooper, Calvin Rice, Gary MacKenzie, and Mathieu Erjavec recently received their private pilots' licenses after completing the course put on by the Hillgrove-Digby Flying Club.

(Flying Club Release) It may not go down in history as a thriving production industry, but up to a few years ago there were only two or three licensed pilots in this area.

However, after the completion of this year's pilot training program, the number of pilots licensed by the Department of Transport in this area has grown to over a dozen. Four have received licenses this year.

There have been many frustrating years of endeavour by many to have flying training here, but a milestone was reached this year with the training of four licensed pilots at the Digby Municipal Airport.

In somewhat of a reversal of what is expected of today's teen-agers Mathieu Erjavec has obtained a flying licence at the age of 17. He may very well be the youngest in Nova Scotia with a private pilot's licence at this time.

The Hillgrove-Digby Flying Club was newly organized last Fall and started flying training by instigating a ground school, the preliminary to pilot training, with the aid of adult education in night class at the Digby Regional High School last winter.

When actual flying took place on May 16, 1977 there were 7 students involved. Because of business encumbrances three were forced to withdraw; Wayne Henderson; only after he had soloed did his business become too involved for him. To continue and Donna Beatty of Weymouth discontinued also because of employment commitments. Also because of occupation and summer holidays Judge John Nichols has not as yet obtained his private license.

Gary MacKenzie, Dr. Calvin Rice, Ron Cooper, and Mathieu Erjavec continued on to their flight check rides on September 26, 1977 and shortly thereafter wrote their examinations in Moncton and received their licenses.

To these achievers we say Hurray for a job well done. It is the sincere hope and desire of the Flying Club that the interest in flying continue and be allowed to prosper and grow. To the many interested people, who have asked about flying training we can only say, "Watch for the Advertisements of ground school beginning soon". At the present time there are those of us in the flying club who are upgrading our license by taking advanced training in instrument flying, night flying and commercial ratings. We appreciate the support of all in the community and ask that you direct your inquiries to the flying club or the Airport Committee if you have questions about flying training, the airport facilities and operations.

Mrs. Bruce Hutchins' Girl Guide Book Launched

Mrs. Bruce (Nancy) Hutchins, Smith's Cove, Digby County, was honored in Halifax Thursday evening by the Provincial Commissioners and Nova Scotia Council Girl Guides of Canada when they held a reception and introduced her book "Guides, All Guides" a history of Guiding in Nova Scotia.

The project was one of a two-year duration and the book contains material relating to 60 years of Guiding, the years 1911 to 1977. Mrs. Hutchins has used the knowledge of others, such as archivists, researchers, etc. in obtaining the material for the 1345 page volume. One person especially mentioned was Mrs. E.L. Cummins, Fairview, Halifax, Co., who worked on research.

Mrs. Clarence Gosse, wife of the Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia and Honorary President of the Nova Scotia Association of Girl Guides was presented with the first copy of Guides, All Guides. In a Forward for Mrs. Hutchins Book, Mrs. Gosse had written "For those familiar with Guiding in Nova Scotia, the book is a fascinating recollection of the hopes, aspirations and subsequent accomplishments of those deeply involved with the Girl Guide Association.

The author, was never a Girl Guide herself but has given leadership in the Girl Guide movements since 1951. She served as Captain of First Truro Company of Girl Guides for eleven years, as Commissioner of Truro District and later of Colchester Division; she was also Provincial Chairman of Selections and Deputy Provincial Commissioner. Since her retirement from her teaching position at Nova Scotia Teachers College, Mrs. Hutchins lives with her husband, Bruce, at Smith's Cove.

The book Guides, All Guides is unique in that the titles of the Chapters in the book are lines taken from the Guide Marching Song. They include such topics as The Early Years; Provincial Headquarters; Guide Houses; Camp Sites; Highlight from District, Division and Areas; Rise and Decline of Lones; Guiding the Handicapped; Rangers and Cadets; Camping; Training, Awards; V.I.P.; The War Effort; Publication; Adult and Sponsor Organizations; Membership; Memorials and Gifts.

Breathed O'er Eden".

Out of town guests were from Ottawa; Georgetown, Ontario; Halifax; Dartmouth; Canning; Digby; Belliveau's Cove; Mink Cove; East Ferry; Freeport and Westport.

Patchwork Pieces

Hannah Dale

As I sit here looking eastward up the road, I can see the last of the golden maple leaves as they are falling one by one, or fluttering down like a group of children at play. It is sad in a way, yet beautiful. These are quiet, peaceful days. Soon the north wind will blow and we shall have snow, and Santa will come with his O'ho! ho! But before that we have the hunters with their bang! bang! The Hackmatack trees are changing to a light golden brown, and look so rich against a clear blue sky. I brought a fresh bouquet into the house a while ago, composed of weeds, leaves, and flowers that have gone to seed. I cut several branches from a low bush that had stems growing straight up, the leaves also pointed upward, not branching out. Most of the leaves are green, but some have turned a reddish brown. I picked a few pieces of meadow sweet.

The seeds are brownish red, or yellow. Then there is an aster type of flower, that at this time of the year, has powder puff fuzz in place of flowers. A few short branches of golden Hackmatack help to lighten up the whole bouquet. It is rich in colour and texture and more interesting to look at, than an expensive pot of mums, that all look exactly alike.

There are a few birds around, but not very many. One I saw was away up in the blue sky, making a plaintive cry as it flew. There are bluejays, Canada Jays, and juncos coming to the bird feeder. I haven't found a bird's nest yet. I'm beginning to think the birds take them with them, when they fly south! Why are they so hard to find? I had an interesting visit with the Bird Lady one day. I was so pleased when she gave me some sprays of Bittersweet. I have it on the bookcase in an old interesting brown bottle.

Special Employment Fund Needed - Akerman

NDP Leader, Jeremy Akerman, says he is encouraged by the announced Federal decentralization initiatives, but says they are only a start and that provincial initiatives are now needed.

The NDP chief says Nova Scotia should establish regional monitoring of unemployment and create a special "Employment Fund" to help the more depressed areas within the province. Mr. Akerman says that monitoring, and any region showing jobless levels above the provincial average would be eligible for monies to initiate or expand productive endeavors to put people to work. The Fund could be drawn upon by community organizations, municipalities and local businesses, Mr. Akerman says, that its establishment would go a long way towards preventing the internal disparity which is becoming more pronounced within the province.

Mr. Akerman said it should be a guiding principle of any provincial government, to give priority for government assistance to business and industry in slow-growth, high unemployment areas. He says the current policy of building up population in one area of the province (the "growth centre" principle) ultimately serves nobody's interests and, unless there are special problems or needs, assistance should not be readily forthcoming to help establish new enterprises in already well served areas if they can locate elsewhere. "Decentralization within the Province is an achievable goal if we use common sense and fairness."

Children's Book Festival November 13 to 19

To encourage Canadian youngsters to read for enjoyment and interest; and to encourage them to read Canadian children's books - that's the purpose behind the Children's Book Festival to be held across Canada from November 13 to 19.

Sponsored by the National Children's Book Center, the week-long festival will highlight children's books by Canadian authors and publishers, primarily 50 Canadian children's books selected by a panel of librarians and teachers.

Shirley Coulter with the Nova Scotia Provincial Library was a member of that panel, along with Bob Homme, CBC's "Friendly Giant".

During the week organizations, local libraries, community groups and individuals are being encouraged to assist in staging the Festival in their own way.

Tours by Canadian authors have been arranged as well. The Children's Book Center will also set up displays and give workshops and seminars on Canadian Children's books in libraries and schools.

It's hoped the week will promote "home-grown" children's books, often considered to be overshadowed by the numerous publications emanating outside Canada.

That's the Canadian Book Festival, November 13 to 19.

CKDY

Sunday morning Church service is from Clementsvalle Baptist Church.

and individuals are being encouraged to assist in staging the Festival in their own way.

Tours by Canadian authors have been arranged as well. The Children's Book Center will also set up displays and give workshops and seminars on Canadian Children's books in libraries and schools.

It's hoped the week will promote "home-grown" children's books, often considered to be overshadowed by the numerous publications emanating outside Canada.

That's the Canadian Book Festival, November 13 to 19.

In Memoriams

COOK - In loving memory of our dear little son and brother Kenny R. whose birthday is on Nov. 11 and lost his life June 4, 1970. With saddened hearts we remember this day. When our dear Kenny was called from his play. Away to a place from earthly care. Thankful we are for those five short years. His passing brought our people nearer, And our loved ones seem more dearer. May the lovelight continue to glow, Until we travel that road we all must go. Always deeply loved and sadly missed by MOMMY, DADDY, BROTHER KEVIN AND SISTER WENDY. 14-1ip.

In Memoriams

TRIMPER - In loving memory of a dear mom, Ethel G. Trimper, who passed away November 8, 1976. Mom we think of you in silence, And make no outward show, But what it meant to lose you, No one will ever know. If steps could be made from heartaches, By adding teardrops too, We would build a stairway to heaven And climb it every day with you. Always remembered by ALVIN, HELEN AND FAMILY. 14:1ip AMERO - In loving memory of a dear son Edward Amero who passed away March 9th, 1976. If teardrops formed a stairway And memories were a lane, I'd walk all the way to Heaven And bring you home again. Lovingly remembered by MOM. 14-1ip.

WALKER - In loving memory of a beloved husband, father and grandfather William (Billy) Walker who passed away November 11, 1976. We all miss you sadly In a home you kept free. We all wanted to keep you But God willed it not to be. You left us beautiful memories And Sorrow too great to be told But to us who loved and lost you Your memory will never grow old. Remembered always by WIFE AUDREY, CHILDREN RICHARD, CAROLYN AND FAMILY, KATHLEEN, BOBBY AND FAMILY, PHILIP, MARGARET AND FAMILY, EDWINA AND EVERETT. 14:1ip

Immunization Emphasized

Health Minister Maynard MacAskill has announced that November is "immunization month" in Nova Scotia.

Citing a growing apathy on the part of the public toward immunization against communicable diseases the minister said that "the once prevalent communicable diseases such as polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, red measles, german measles, and mumps have not disappeared" and "protection is still necessary."

"If immunization programs are not successful, there is no reason to think that just because we have escaped outbreaks this year, that this will continue," he warned.

Following is the text of the minister's statement at a news conference today:

We are here today because of the decision of the department of health to declare the month of November immunization month in Nova Scotia.

During the month we will be making a very special effort to inform, and perhaps more important, re-inform the public about the importance and necessity of immunization as a method of protecting health.

Before I go any further, I want to stress that immunization is not just something that concerns children. It is as important that all adults adhere to the programs of immunization as it is for an infant.

One of the major reasons that program is necessary is because of an apparent apathy among the public about the subject. Because the immunization programs have been so successful over the past number of years, many people have become convinced that immunization against what were once considered "dreaded diseases" is no longer necessary.

The once prevalent communicable diseases such as polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, red measles, german measles and mumps have not disappeared, we as Nova Scotians have not become immune to them, and protection is still necessary. If immunization programs are not successful, there is no reason to think that just because we have escaped outbreaks this year, that this will continue.

The program for immunization month has received enthusiastic support from several sources. The Nova Scotia Medical Society, the Association of Health Organizations, the Medical Staff at The I.W.K. Hospital, The Nova Scotia Federation of Labour, and many other of the local unions, and women's institutes all have expressed support, and these are only some of the agencies and organizations that have done so.

Our program is varied. Throughout the month the department of health will run a series of advertisements reminding the public of the necessity of immunization.

In addition, most Nova Scotians will receive in their telephone bill this month a copy of the schedule that should be adhered to in following a proper immunization program.

The other materials will be distributed through our local health unit offices in the manner which, over the years, they have found to be the most effective.

In addition, the directors of the eight health units across the province will step up their immunization programs, both in the schools and other places, in a concerted attempt to reach as large a segment of the population as possible.

The other matter that I would like to mention is the misconception that immunization programs are for the very young only.

Adults too, need to be immunized. At least every ten years adults need a booster shot for polio and tetanus.

Softball Banquet Held

Those involved in the Western Valley Softball League and the Annapolis and District Softball League officially ended the 1977 season with a joint banquet at the Clementsport Legion.

About 80 players and guests were in attendance. The head table consisted of Carl and Bernice Marshall of Moschelle; Alton Snow of Annapolis; guest speaker Howard Langille of Clementsport; M.C. Mac Bullerwell of Annapolis; Bobby and Sandra Wade; Murray Harris, Clementsport; and Bob Potts.

Bobby Potts is president of the Annapolis and District Softball League. Bobby Wade serves in the same capacity for the Western Valley Softball League.

Prior to the Langille address, Mr. Bullerwell asked those present to observe two minutes of silence for Marg Wetmore, former president of the women's league.

Howard Langille's address touched on several areas of interest to sport enthusiasts, including the proposed tennis court facility in Annapolis Royal.

Langille noted that the groundwork for the tennis courts had been laid through a job creation program and said he hopes to see two paved courts in operation next year.

He also noted that $25,000 has been promised for a swimming pool. He made note of local efforts to raise funds for this purpose. The local committee (SPLASH) has raised about $10,000.

This area has passed through the period when facilities were at a minimum, according to the speaker.

Mr. Langille also talked of experiences and efforts in other parts of the country.

Trophies presented for the Annapolis and District Softball League included one to Esther LeCain Strong, highest batting average; Brenda Shorey, pennant trophy on behalf of Granville Ferry; Esther Banks on behalf of the playoff champion Annapolis Angels; Wilma Francis, most valuable player and most sportsmanlike player; and Cheryl Fish on behalf of the Clementsville team which won the Annapolis Valley Girls' Tournament.

Trophies for the Western Valley Softball League went to Steve LeCain, most valuable player (accepted by Jerry Rice); Terry Riley, pitching trophy; and Steve Saulnier, most sportsmanlike player.

Middleton, Nictaux, Falls and other Nova Scotia points of interest.

Meteghan Man On Law Reform Advisory Commission

The appointment of 14 members to the Nova Scotia Law Reform Advisory Commission, to be chaired by Lillian M. Toward, QC, of Baddeck, was announced today by Attorney General Leonard L. Pace, QC.

The Law Reform Advisory Commission was established in 1972. Under its terms of reference and at the request of the Attorney General the commission will review any enactment and recommend the repeal, revision or amendment of an enactment or any part thereof.

In addition to Mrs. Toward the other members of the commission are Mr. Justice J. Doane Hallett, Halifax; Judge Peter J. T. O'Hearn, Halifax; Lorne O. Clark, Truro; William A. Tomblin, QC, Halifax; Hilroy S. Nathanson, QC, Sydney; Thomas B. Davis, QC, Dartmouth; Graham D. Walker, QC, Halifax; William H. Charles, Halifax; Larry J. Hayes, Halifax; R. Gordon Murray, New Glasgow; John A. Yogis, Halifax; J. Gerald Godsoe, Halifax; R. Alain Deveau, Meteghan; Harold A. MacIsaac, Port Hawkesbury.

Executive director of the commission is Graham D. Walker. As a result of the efforts of the Law Reform Commission, the Legislature has enacted a Public Trustee Act, a Regulations Act, a Reciprocal Enforcement of Judgments Act, amendments to the Intestate Succession Act whereby the surviving spouse may elect to take the family home as part of his or her share of the estate, and a new Change of Name Act which will greatly facilitate requests for changes of name.

In addition, the commission has conducted studies into grand juries, limitation of acts, dower and curtesy and mechanics' liens. At present, it has under study the matter of company law, probate legislation, the question of illegitimate children, support and maintenance legislation and matrimonial property law. The commission expects to file its report with the Attorney General in the near future on the whole question of the ownership of property during marriage and the distribution of the same on death or marriage break-up.

The new chairman of the commission, Mrs. Toward, was born in Sydney where she received her early education. After obtaining her BA from Dalhousie University she went to England to do post-graduate work in education in London and later at Edinburgh University, Scotland.

During the Second World War while living in England she was engaged on the planning side of civil defence for the Wiltshire County Council and for the Swindon Corporation. After returning to Canada Mrs. Toward became the first field secretary for the Atlantic Provinces of the Community Planning Association of Canada for three years before enrolling at the Dalhousie Law School.

After obtaining her L.L.B. she was awarded a Dunn Scholarship which enabled her to take her L.L.M. degree. For her masters thesis she prepared "A Case for the Family Court in Nova Scotia". This was later used as a guide in setting up the Family Court here. In 1974 Mrs. Toward was named a Queen's Counsel.

For the last nine years she has served as a judge of one of the regional assessment courts in Nova Scotia. She was the first woman to be appointed to the Nova Scotia Planning Appeal Board and to the Nova Scotia Law Reform Advisory Commission. Mrs. Toward is a member of the federal Advisory Council on the Status of Women and a consultant to the Interdepartmental Committee on the Status of Women established by the Province of Nova Scotia.

My Perfect Day

I've spent this lovely autumn day back home
Among the scenes and folks I knew in precious by-gone-days
O, in my mind, I've had a really perfect time Doing all the old familiar things in the old familiar ways.
Beneath a sky of blue with high white clouds,
I hung out a line of clothes to ripple in the breeze,
And in my joy I stood and laughed aloud
When an old crow scolded somewhere high up in the trees,
I knocked upon my neighbors' door and was invited in
To sit awhile and pass the time of day,
Then hustled down to the corner store to shop,
And greeted several smiling friends I met upon the way.

And now, as darkness falls,
The full moon rises over Eastern Head
The while, up there beside the church upon the hill,
I can see a soft reflection in the silvery light that's shed.
And in my reverie I pass within the gate,
And with hushed step I pause beside a mound,
And with my finger-tips upon the sentinel stone spell out
The name of one though now long gone, still near in memory found.

And there, in quiet, moonlit peace, I learn again
To yield my will to one who knows what's best. Amen.

Exciting Experience For New Glasgow Girl

Singing before Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth was only one of the exciting events 16-year-old Angela Cromwell experienced during the past week.

Angela was the only Nova Scotian invited by the Folk Arts Council of Toronto to perform in the multi-cultural concert held Monday evening in honor of the Queen and her jubilee celebrations.

Angela is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cromwell, Danvers, Digby Co.

The command folk song performance for Queen Elizabeth II was opened by the New Glasgow girl. She had a 35-piece orchestra accompanying her as she sang a specially composed selection to open the program and to close it with the singing of "O Canada" in English and French.

Angela and her mother, Mona Cromwell, flew to Ottawa October 13 and lived at the Beacon Arms in Ottawa for the next seven days.

"It was busy right from the beginning. Almost as soon as I got there we began rehearsals. There was a lot of work to put together such a large concert in such a short time. I met lots of people during rehearsals, though, and it was fun as well as work," commented Angela.

The first concert Angela performed in was on Monday. The performance was attended by Queen Elizabeth and her party and 8,000 school children.

"I was very nervous to sing in front of such an enormous crowd and then to have the Queen listening made it even more scary. Once you get started though, the nervousness just disappears," she said.

Following the concert all the entertainers had the opportunity to meet the royal party.

"The queen is very elegant, a very gracious person. She did not seem at all rushed and was interested in chatting with everyone. She asked me where I was from and where I got my talent. Then she said it must be very difficult to perform before such an audience," said Angela.

The performance before the queen was the first of three concerts the young gospel singer was featured in. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights she sang at public concerts attended by two and 3,000.

"I've never sung before such crowds and it got a little getting used to. It was an experience I enjoyed and one I will certainly never forget," she noted.

The high point of a week filled with intense activity and excitement came at its closing moments for Angela.

"The best part of all for me was to sing 'O Canada' at the end of the concert. There is no explaining how wonderful, how exciting, how joyful it was to sing the national anthem. I was thrilled and so proud to sing Canada's song," she said.

Angela is back to attending classes at New Glasgow High School today, but it will be a long time before she forgets the experiences she has had in the past week.

Save Oil, Clean Furnace

If you're like many Nova Scotians who have turned their thermostats down and switched off unnecessary lights in their homes, you probably think you've done a lot to cut down the cost of running your home and saving energy.

However, there's more that can be done with very little effort on your part, says the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs.

One of the most important ways of whittling down the cost of heating your home, says the director of the department's Consumer Services Bureau, is to arrange for a furnace tune-up.

A furnace loses efficiency as the by-products of combustion collect on the surfaces which transfer heat or when too little or too much air enters the combustion chamber to allow efficient burning of fuel, says Colin S. Campbell. A yearly tune-up will reduce your gas or oil consumption and save you money.

Only a certified serviceman can tell you whether your furnace is working efficiently, he says.
If you haven't already had your furnace serviced, do it

Grant Extension For 'Operation Friendship'

'Operation Friendship', a program designed to provide service to those isolated from the community through age, infirmity etc., has received a grant extension for a 12 month period.

The program's first grant came in January 1976 and was good for a period of 18 months. The extension will carry it at least into the summer of 1978. Through extensive use of volunteer services, the program directors have managed to spend only $3,606 of the original grant of $12,050.

Volunteers under the program are called on to perform a number of vital roles for those unable to actively participate in community life.

Functions include visiting shut-ins at home and hospital; regular contacts to shut-ins by phone, doing errands, driving shut-ins to work, doing handyman jobs, cooking meals, taking them for an afternoon drive, being a friend to a lonely child, reading and writing letters for the blind, taking someone shopping, inviting someone for dinner on special occasions, etc.

The program grew out of concern for isolated and lonely people by some members of the Digby Mental Health Association.

Following a study in the late summer of 1976, the group was joined by some other senior citizens in meeting the needs of the shut-in population. The group became known as the Willing Friends Society.

Operation Friendship became a reality after a grant was approved by the New Horizons Program of the department of Health and Welfare.

According to statistics compiled from church groups, the social services department, etc., it was discovered that some 500 people in the Digby area could benefit from such a service.

The program is run by a Board consisting of at least 10 directors made up mostly of senior citizens.

The phone number to call for assistance is 245-5182.

To date there are between 55-70 volunteers working through the program but Operation Friendship can use all it can get. As a spokesperson for the group notes - 'There's always people willing'.

Plans For Town Hall Progressing

A special session of Digby Town Council can be expected sometime this month to deal with revised plans for a new Town Hall.

Preliminary plans for the public building were brought before Digby Town Council Monday night, however architect C. G. Davison, has been authorized to revise the plans to incorporate several desired changes.

The proposed 30 x 70 ft. building will incorporate such features as a wheelchair ramp, space for the Library, Records, and a basement area vault for fire-safe storage of Town documents.

The Council Chambers will include a public gallery as well as special facilities for both the town staff and town councillors during Space will be available in front of the building for a driveway and parking for nine cars.

The new hall will be built at the rear of the existing building. The space is now occupied by the public works barn.

The existing Town Hall will be demolished. The site will be used as the parking area and green space.

In making the announcement, Mr. Justason, said that the Digby County Federation of Agriculture has continued to be a leader in bringing to the attention of county farmers the up-to-date topics which effect them on a daily basis.

This year's theme at the annual meeting is "ENERGY CONSERVATION AND FARMING THE FARM WOODLOT". Special speakers from the Nova Scotia Energy Council in Halifax will be on hand to discuss the program currently underway, entitled "ENER-SAVE".

The Nova Scotia and Federal governments have joined together in providing factories, institutions and businesses consuming large amounts of energy a free service to help them determine ways in which energy can be saved. Several large mobile vans have been purchased throughout Nova Scotia to do the energy conservation assessment on local industries and establishments.

Nova Scotia Energy Council representatives will be providing this service to Spectacle Lake Pork Farm Ltd., in Concession on November 14th, explaining to the Federation gathering in the evening their workings of this service and their findings on the Hubert LeBlanc hog farm. It is understood that the Energy van contains a small computer which actually does the energy finding on the farm.

A presentation will be made on the workings of the van and the service they can provide.

Mr. Justason said that the second part of the meeting will be chaired by Donald Brown, Chief Forest Ranger, from the Nova Scotia Department of Lands and Forests in Hillgrove, Digby County, who will be presenting a large variety of speakers who will be speaking on the theme "FARMING THE FARM WOODLOT". Mr. Justason went on to say that many of the Federation directors feel that the farm woodlot has become a very viable asset to the farmer to-day and requires a great deal of attention by the land owner.

Speakers will include Mr. Daniel Edit, Extension Forester, with the N.S. Department of Lands and Forests in Yarmouth, on the topic "WOODLOT MANAGEMENT". Mr. Charles Christie, Forest Research technician, with N.S. Department of Lands and Forests, Yarmouth, who will discuss the topic "CHRISTMAS TREES-Planting and Care". Mr. David Thomas, North Range, C.D.A. Technician, N.S. Department of Lands and Forests, Hillgrove, will be presenting a detailed report on "FOREST MANAGEMENT PROGRAM".

Registration for the annual meeting will begin at 7:00 p.m. sharp with 1978 memberships available at the door for $10.00. A short business session will start at 7:30 p.m. with the first part of the program being chaired by Bruce Gilliat, Agricultural Representative for Digby County, who will present the Energy Conservation Section.

It is hoped that a number of distinguished guests will be in attendance at the meeting which will include Lester Settle, Secretary-treasurer, Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture, Truro, Mr. Hank d'Boer, President, Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture, Lawrencetown, Mr. R. built by the association for sale to members are being financed under a federal-provincial agreement by which 75 per cent of the $312,000 capital cost is provided through CMHC and the remaining 25 per cent by the Nova Scotia Housing Commission.

Repayment is based upon the owner's income, with any deficit being shared on the same 75-25 basis.

Under the rural housing program, the cost of a house until recently could not exceed $26,000, but this has been raised by $500 because of new insulation standards which became effective October 15.

Mr. Stacey said the cost of the rehabilitation of the 17 existing houses is being financed through a CMHC loan of about $110,000.

However, about $60,000 need not be repaid, and this represents a federal contribution of that amount to the association's current rehabilitation program.

Black Business Association Constructing Houses

A construction company sponsored by the Black Business and Leadership Association of Western Nova Scotia turned over the keys Saturday to the first of six houses it is building at nearby Three Mile Plains.

Guests at a ceremony marking completion of the first of 12 units to be built in two communities by the company included Premier Gerald Regan, John Stacey, manager of the Halifax Branch of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, and O.G. Hubley of the Nova Scotia Housing Commission.

The ceremony was held in conjunction with the Association's annual meeting held at the Three Mile Plains Community Center.

"You are now in the process of building 12 new homes and rehabilitating 17 existing dwellings," said Mr. Stacey. "In simplest terms, you are operating an enterprise with a current volume of close to half-a-million dollars."

The other six houses are being built in the communities of Conway-Acaciaville near Digby.

Commenting on the association's housing program, Mr. Stacey said it was not only providing homes for people, but was part of an overall program to develop business knowledge and experience, improve communities, and equally important, to provide training opportunities in the construction trades.

Two members have undergone training and now are journeymen carpenters, and another three are currently taking apprenticeship training. The association's total housing work force is 21, with most of the remainder working as carpenters' helpers.

"It must be gratifying to you to know that you are developing skills as well as building homes."

He said the association is to be encouraged in its longer term goals which include the development of housing for sale on the open market, and to train member employees in other construction trades, such as plumbing, heating and electrical work.

November is Immunization Month

DIPHTHERIA is a highly infectious disease beginning as a sore throat. Can go on to cause heart and nerve complications.

POLIO remains a serious, highly communicable disease among adults and children. Causes muscle paralysis and permanent crippling. No longer a major health threat because of immunization.

MUMPS is an infection of the salivary glands. Rarely leads to serious complications in children.

WHOPPING COUGH is most dangerous to babies. Frequently complicated by pneumonia which could lead to permanent lung damage.

Vaccines to immunize against these diseases are being made available FREE at Public Health Clinics across the Province during November. Plan to attend a Clinic for information on the shots your child will need. (Age and sex are the criteria.) Adults are reminded that they too are not immune and require regular vaccination against polio and tetanus. The Clinic will also provide these free.

Bus Tours Up In 1977

A record number of bus tours came to Nova Scotia from June through September of this year.

Hon. M.E. DeLory, Minister of Tourism, said a total of 1,022 bus tours brought Canadian and American groups to the province from June through September of this year - 102 more than at the same time last year.

Dr. DeLory said that this increase resulted from increased marketing by the tourism department directed to tour wholesalers through the national Tour Brokers Association, travel trade consortia participation in 24 major markets and direct mailing of a travel trade guide to Nova Scotia to 27,000 American and Canadian travel agents. There were also intensified selling activities of the department's field sales forces in New York, Portland, Me., the U.S. mid-west, Toronto and Montreal.

Ontario led the provinces so far this year with 161 bus tours. New Jersey with 118 entries, led volume of such tours from 37 states.

"Because of the trend to more traffic of this type in the last few years, we commissioned a survey, conducted in the 1976 tourist season, which breaks down data about the tour bus market," said Dr. DeLory.

Last year, these travellers spent nearly $6.1 million here. Average expenditure in Nova Scotia was $179 per person per trip. Daily expenditure was $32 per person per day.

Canadian traffic increased over the same period in 1976, with a total of 365 bus tours travelling to Nova Scotia.

Seventy-four per cent of visitors last year were women. Four out of five were 55 years and over.

Eighty-five per cent of bus tour patrons had not visited Nova Scotia before.

The 1976 survey showed that 14 per cent of these visitors came from New York state; 13 per cent from Quebec; 11 per cent from Ontario, added Dr. DeLory.

Biggest spenders, $218 per person per trip - came from Tennessee, Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas, according to the 1976 survey.

June through September of 1977, bus tours arrived in Nova Scotia from nine provinces and 37 states. Each bus carried an average of 33 persons.

Among bus tour arrivals from other Canadian provinces this season, 67 came from Prince Edward Island, 56 more than in the same period last year.

Ontario led the Canadian visitors to Nova Scotia with 161 buses. Lowest number of bus tours was two, from British Columbia.

Though Ontario led the provinces this season with 161 arrivals, this was 37 fewer bus tours than at the same time last year. This decline was offset by 67 tour buses from Quebec, 55 more than a year ago.

In the four-month period of 1977 there were 118 bus tours from New Jersey - four more than last year - making the biggest volume coming to Nova Scotia from any American state.

Sixty-two bus tours came from New York state; 56 from Pennsylvania; 49 from Connecticut and 61 from Massachusetts.

Arrivals represented 37 states; a total of 657 U.S. bus tours or an eight per cent increase over June - September 1976, said Dr. DeLory.

Westport

(Mrs. Sidney Morehouse)

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bailey have been at his home here for the past week, having been called home because of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Mary Bailey, who was rushed to hospital by ambulance. We are sorry to report that she passed away on Friday, November 4. Our sincere sympathy goes to the bereaved family.

The funeral of Mrs. Bailey was held at the Church of Christ on Sunday. The Rebekahs marched to the church and held their service after the funeral sermon. After the funeral they lined the road for the funeral cortege to pass. In addition to her Westport friends and relatives several friends and relatives from out of town attended the funeral. The community was shocked and saddened at the sudden passing of Mrs. Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pugh have returned from their holiday, having motored to Ontario, to visit their son and his family.

Miss Jay Delsey went to Halifax to spend the weekend with her sister, Heather.

Sidney Morehouse spent his 39th birthday with his family. In the evening he attended the 45's night at Freeport High School - and failed to win a prize! He stopped at the Legion Hall on the way home, and was greeted by a lusty if not actually harmonious rendition of "Happy Birthday."

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Moore's cow, Crackers, produced an enormous stillborn calf of about 100 lbs. After some time and the attention of the vet she managed to get to her feet and stagger to the barn. She is still under the care of the Vet with Pat as an able assistant.

Several members of the Legion took flags to the cemetery on Sunday and placed one at each grave of the veterans who have passed on.

Mr. Kenneth P. Norris, president of Maritime Christian College, accompanied by his wife, was at the Church of Christ at Westport and Tiverton over the weekend. He gave a series of talks on the Holy Spirit, covering most of it at Tiverton and Westport on Saturday and Sunday. He completed the series at Tiverton on Sunday night, and a number from Westport attended.

Tiverton

(Mrs. John Outhouse)

For the past week the little village of Tiverton, has been in mourning because of the loss of one of her young sons, Chester Outhouse Jr., 19, whose life ended so abruptly in a tragic car accident which also claimed the life of several other passengers. Though Chester was a brilliant student at Islands Consolidated School, Freeport, Digby Co., music was the big attraction in his life. His talent was displayed at an early age when he and several young friends organized a band, "The Odd Monday" in which he was the drummer. One band followed another - all successful. Then Chester turned to guitar and became lead singer, giving up the drums. Though he had no professional training in the field of music at that time, his talent and style were accepted as professional. He continued with music during college years at Acadia University. His talent took him into radio where he accompanied a teen-age singer. It is understood he and his band were planning a tour of New Brunswick when the tragedy occurred.

His genial personality will be greatly missed in his home area. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family also to the families of the other victims of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coady of Sheet Harbor recently visited Mrs. Evelyn Wheeler shoeschool chum, Mrs. Francis Dugie also of Sheet Harbor made a four-day visit with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Outhouse and children spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cerezo MacCallough at Little River.

Mrs. Verona Munroe and children spent a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Outhouse and family.

Mrs. Gwen Outhouse spent a week at the home of her father, Mr. Walter Wood at Kentville. She was on hand to join in his birthday celebrations.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Elliott of Kentville, spent the weekend at their home here.

Wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Alvertus Outhouse who underwent surgery at Yarmouth hospital last week.

We are pleased to report Jack Pyne has returned from Digby Hospital where he has been a patient for several days.

Help stamp out new business.

Overlook the selling potential of long distance.

It's easy to overlook opportunities—even when they're right on your own doorstep. And that includes the opportunities for new business that are right at your elbow—via long distance telephone.

Introductory calls to prospective customers and "keep-in-touch" calls to present customers are two great ways to generate new business.

And it doesn't cost much. Direct-dialed calls within Nova Scotia, for example, cost less than a dollar a minute. And that's during prime time business hours. If your business needs a little new business, give it the long distance treatment. It works.

Banks And Nova Scotia Small Business-The Need For Change

By Jeremy Akerman, M.L.A.
Leader, N.S. New Democratic Party

In a national survey conducted by the Canadian Federation of Independent Business, small business owner-operators from across Canada were asked: "What is the most important problem your business is facing today?" Over 5,000 businessmen replied, and most identified "financing interest rates" as their most important problem. This is surprising since financing interest rates was rated more important than such "headline" items as inflation, government regulation, red tape, taxes, cost of labour, availability of competent help, and competition from big business and - or government. It is unfortunate that the response was not broken down by region because, from my contacts with Nova Scotia businessmen, it would appear that "financing interest rates" and availability of money would be a more severe problem in the Maritimes than in most of Canada.

Reasons for these circumstances are clearly pointed out in the Nova Scotia Department of Development's Nova Scotia Mid Year Economic Review (August 1977).

"Lending activity by the banks has also grown more rapidly for Canada as a whole than for Nova Scotia. Personal loans in Nova Scotia rose by 17.6 per cent in the 12 month period ending in March. The comparable growth rate for Canada was 21.5 per cent.

The difference is more dramatic where business loans are concerned. In Nova Scotia, the value of these loans showed an increase of 10.2 per cent from a year ago. By comparison business loans for the entire country climbed by 18 per cent.

Loans to small businesses (i.e. loans with authorized limits of less than $200,000) recorded an increase of 11.3 per cent to $187 million in the year-long period after March, 1976. In the nation as a whole, small business loans soared by 22.1 per cent, nearly double the provincial increase."

It is no wonder the small business person is so concerned about financing. It appears that the financial institutions are much more likely to extend loans to small business operations outside of Nova Scotia than to the owner-operator in Nova Scotia.

It is a known fact that more jobs are created in the small business sector than elsewhere and for the small, independent businessman to thrive and expand he must have access to funds and the cooperation of the financing institutions. This is not happening, and because of it our unemployment rate soars, new businesses do not start and established businesses go under. Neither DREE or IEL, nor any other government programs can totally fill the void created by the financial institutions.

There appear to be reasons for our current situation and possibilities for change. Canada has one central bank, the Bank of Canada, which sets monetary policy for the nation. Canada is the world's second largest country with very distinct regions, each with its own resources and needs and yet one central bank sets the monetary policy for the entire country.

This assumes that if a "tight money" policy is needed to cool down the economic situation in Ontario then this "tight money" policy would also be correct for Newfoundland, the Prairies, Cape Breton and the Yukon. This is not the case.

The United States, instead of one central bank, has twelve Federal Reserve Banks in the various regions of the country which can be responsive, to a greater extent, to regional requirements. It would certainly appear that some form of regionalization of the Canadian central banking system could be extremely helpful in providing reasonable responses to regional conditions. For example, if cooling down is correct for Ontario because of an inflationary trend, but stimulus is needed to get things moving in Nova Scotia, then the regional banks could adjust their monetary policy to provide the financial institutions with the necessary sanctions and-or stimuli to do what is necessary where it is necessary.

The other problem area, and possibly the most significant one, is the lending policies of the private financial institutions. As has been pointed out by the Department of Development statistics, the private lending institutions are more likely to provide loans for small business operators in other parts of the country than they are in Nova Scotia.

Most, if not all, of these banks and lending companies operate across the nation and, as in the case of all private enterprise, they are in business to make the greatest profit with the least risk. It is obvious that if there are greater profits to be made in Ontario or Alberta and there is less chance of losses there than that is where the money is going to go. Regionalizing the central bank could put the brakes on this trend by establishing policy to lessen risk and increase profitability in slow growth areas. There are also other possibilities that could be considered to make more funds available for small business in Nova Scotia. Consideration should be given to regionalizing the private banking sector through legislation or regulation. For example, allowing for provincially chartered or operated financial institutions or establishing regulations which would set requirements for savings to loan ratios by region. Amendments to bank reserve requirement regulations could be established which would require bank reserves to include a defined percentage or minimum requirement of provincial assets, related to deposits within the province, as a reserve requirement. Another possible consideration would be to expand and assist the provincially chartered Credit Union movement to allow for more Credit Union funds to be made available to small businesses.

Both the Department of Development and the independent business community have identified financing, interest rates, and accessibility to small business loans as a problem area. Foreign investment does not solve these problems, big money goes where big money can be made. We must make better use of our own financial and human resources and should be carefully studying ways and means of making our banking institutions more responsive to our needs. Canada is a country of regions and our banking system is not as responsible as it could be to the different regions. The provincial government must take action to make funds accessible to small business, not only for the aid of the small businessman but for the jobs and spin-off benefits that would be provided.

We need provincial small business legislation to ensure that more government purchasing and contracting goes to owner-operated Nova Scotia business. We need studies of methods of provincial input to provide easier access to funds for Nova Scotia businessmen and we need to lobby the Federal government to take a hard look at the centralized banking system which often sacrifices one part of the country for the good of another. There are no pat answers, but it is time we began to ask the right questions.

Correction

The Digby Regional School Board is being charged $400 for space occupied at the fire hall, not $450 as reported in this paper, according to town councillor Robert MacNutt.

Want Teachers On One-To-One Basis

A Canadian Workshop on Adult Education was held at Algonquin College, Ottawa, October 28-30. The Workshop was convened by the Canadian Project for Adult Basic and Literacy Education (CAPABLE), in conjunction with Algonquin College and WINTARIO.

More than 200 persons were in attendance, representing various organizations involved in Adult education, 12 of whom were from Nova Scotia.

It was learned that a variety of programs are available across Canada, both professional and volunteer. It was agreed that funding was a major problem facing those in the delivery system. School Board budgets have been cut, and the major decrease has been in adult education. For example, in Nova Scotia, the Continuing Education Budget has been cut by 32 per cent.

Manpower sponsored programs, for the most part, are ineffectual, since the maximum time allowed in these programs is 52 weeks. Many of the major urban centres are fortunate enough to have School Board programs, community colleges, etc., while the rural areas depend largely upon volunteers.

Another, most widely recognized handicap in coping with illiteracy is apathy. The general public are either unaware of, or are not concerned that there are 5 million functionally illiterate adults in Canada (1971 Census). The number is growing at an alarming rate, as more young adults are "dropping out" of the educational system. 39 per cent of Nova Scotians 15 - 19 years of age have less than grade 9. Statistics from an Adult Day School in Toronto show that 34 per cent of those entering with less than grade 5 are from Nova Scotia. In today's society, those figures are indeed distressing. Professor John Cairns, Director, Centre for International Programs, University of Guelph, speaking at the conference, stated, "there exists a conspiracy of silence; there is no co-ordinated effort at a Federal level, and the problem is ignored by the media." It is significant that, although all major media were aware of this conference well in advance, one reporter from a local newspaper attended some of the sessions.

Efforts to date to lower the degree of illiteracy in Canada have been sporadic, with no communication between the various groups and organizations. An effort is being made on the part of those at the conference to form a national organization, whereby information will flow freely, and an attempt at cohesion may bring positive results. It was felt this "umbrella" organization should not be governmental, but be of a "grass roots" nature, allowing input from those who will benefit, i.e., the student. A provisional committee was formed to draft the framework of such an organization. The committee was formed with representatives chosen by each province, with Anne Marie Burnie, Halifax, representing Nova Scotia. Ms. Burnie was felt to be the most suitable person, since she is a professional working in adult education and also works in the correctional system as a volunteer.

Young Pilot's Christmas Gift

One of the most original Christmas gifts we have heard of (premature because of our unpredictable winter weather) was that given by Matthew Erjavec, son of Dr. and Mrs. Erjavec of Weymouth, to his godmother, Miss Allison Killam. On October 12th Matthew received his private pilot's licence to fly a plane. His invitation read: "To my Godmother: I promise to bring you any day, any time, anywhere you wish. This will be your personal trip. Plus a lunch at Fundy Restaurant, Love Matjaz." It was a beautiful day last week when "Godmother" and Matthew's Mother were taken up in a small plane

The "Fanfare Régionale De Clare" At Work

The "Fanfare Régionale de Clare" which has a membership of fifty musicians got back to work last September and is getting ready for the two Christmas concerts to be presented jointly with three Acadian choirs, "La Chorale de la Baie Sainte-Marie", "Les Chanteurs de la Baronnie" and "La Musica de Wedgeport".

Recently, the "Fanfare Régionale de Clare" held its annual meeting at which the following board was elected for the year 1977-78: Pierre Belliveau, president; Bogden Erjavec, vice-president; Blanche Deveau, secretary; Janice LeBlanc, treasurer; Bernadette Blinn, Louise Doucet and Lucille LeBlanc, directors. Rev. Maurice LeBlanc, musical director, is a member de jure of the board.

In the upcoming concerts the "Fanfare Régionale de Clare", besides accompanying the three choirs in the performance of two numbers by Handel, the "Hallelujah Chorus" and

"Canticum Jubilo", will play the five following numbers: a march, "Military Escort", "Concert in the Park" and three Christmas selections, "Jingle Bells Rhapsody", "The Little Drummer Boy" and "Christmas Sing Along".

The dates for the Christmas concerts are now set and also the halls where they will be held. On Sunday, December 4, a first concert will be presented in the new gymnasium at the Wedgeport School and on Sunday, December 11 the second concert will be offered in the Université Sainte-Anne gymnasium.

FALLING LEAVES

The trees along our streets are bare. Waiting to be gathered and burned are heaps of dead leaves. Each home-owner is sure to get his share or more, as they are blown by shifting winds. These dry leaves bear little resemblance to the living leaves of summer, the very lungs of the tree.

Among the seasons, summer is my choice. Thrilled I am with the life and growth of the warm months, but the winter bleakness heralded by the disrobing of the trees, leaves me cold in more ways than one.

Mindful of time's swift passing was the ancient prophet, "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved." Jeremiah 8:20. The summer of opportunity flashes by. Because of changing circumstances, what could have been done yesterday often cannot be done today. "Too late, too late," will be the plaintive cry heard in eternity.

Would that a man or woman could go back to the Spring or Summer of life and try it over, but such is not to be. The obituary columns have not been eliminated by science, despite its skill. The too little harvest is being gathered by those who will stand before God having rejected the salvation, forgiveness and life, spoken of by the Prophet.

The Saviour is waiting but He never forces His Grace upon any one. For many, these are yet the summer days of life and growth, and of preparation for the Presence of God.

The finality of all things temporal is driven home to us by the dropping of the leaves.

Chamber Of Commerce President

Introduces Atlantic Canada Plus To AVABT

By Vera Goldston

Greenwood: "Since the beginning of time man has wanted to be master of his own destiny. With ATLANTIC CANADA PLUS we have the vehicle to strengthen our society and affect life around us," said Mr. Harvey Webber, L.L.B., president of the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce, in an address to members of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade at a meeting held at CFB Greenwood on Tuesday night.

Mr. Webber outlined the plan which came into being officially on October 24, at a Board of Directors meeting in Halifax. This marketing plan was originally unveiled last June at the annual meeting of the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce in Charlottetown. It is a self-help plan for job creation. Simply a consciousness raising campaign to awaken consumers about the power they have in their dollars. The Atlantic Provinces population of 2,210,000 has to redirect spending to increase sales of what is grown here, processed, assembled or manufactured here.

Forty people, manufacturers and businessmen attended the meeting at Greenwood. Mr. Webber is a lawyer, but he is also a merchant, and he can sell himself, his merchandise and also his ideas. This ability as a salesman makes him an ideal president for Atlantic Canada Plus Ltd., a non-profit company.

Three separate targets have been zeroed-in on since the first conception of this organization. 1. To compile a four provinces Directory of all Processors and Manufacturers. 2. To co-operate with the Department of Development to analyze marketing and financing and 3. To contact National Retailers to buy and feature Atlantic products. Today all these objectives are well in sight. The result of No. 3 was emphasized during the question and answer period when Mr. Clarence Coll of Wolfville told the meeting that he had just completed a sales trip to the major cities of Upper Canada and had found his reception there excellent and the buyers most receptive.

Mr. Webber reviewed briefly the necessity of forming Atlantic Canada Plus Ltd. He pointed out that directories for the Western Provinces, Ontario and Quebec have been published for many years now, but that the company who compiles these directories, Penstock Publications did not believe that a market existed in the Atlantic Region, therefore had not done one here. However, the company was persuaded to compile such a directory and it includes all processors and manufacturers and is the tool needed. Atlantic Canada Plus can now go to the National Retailers and show what is available. The nationals are asked to consider three reasons for their participation. They are taking hundreds of millions of dollars out of the region annually. Corporate morality demands they put some back, by purchasing in the area. More jobs would strengthen out democratic capitalist system. Consumer purchasing power would be increased through increased work. If all retailers buy here more, new jobs will be created and put extra dollars into the hands of their own customers.

This Directory is being purchased by all the National Retailers and they will be searching out the Atlantic suppliers. They have indicated that they will give orders the producers can cope with and to start with for a few of their regional stores with a view on increasing as performance allows. It is now up to the manufacturers. In the past many have felt that because they cannot handle big orders they should not approach the Nationals at all. But Harvey Webber stressed the fact that they will be encouraged to do just that, to contact the big retailers and persuade them to buy for their local stores. "The self help plan will only work if we make it work," said Mr. Webber. "We are getting the door open, we can't push the manufacturer in."

The president of Atlantic Canada Plus Ltd., pointed out that it is essential that all processors and manufacturers co-operate and play their part also. They should all have a Directory and use it as a "Buyers Bible". They too, must buy their supplies in the four Atlantic Provinces where possible, not only products but services as well. Many of the leading manufacturers look outside the region for packaging, advertising and marketing assistance. Creative people are available in the Atlantic region, artists, writers, musicians are amongst our people and should be used in order to make Atlantic Canada really Plus.

Jingles, display cards, identity stickers and advertising material is being prepared now and will be made available in packages for use when the merchandise actually hits the market. Until the shelves are well stocked with Atlantic Canada merchandise there is no point in starting a major sales campaign aimed at the consumer. First the work has to be done to get the goods to the retailers. Then the campaign to get these goods well displayed and aggressively promoted. And the advertising campaign through TV, radio and newspapers will then tie in with the program.

"Consumer spending is the key. Our 2,210,000 people spend about eight and a half billion dollars annually. Much is fixed spending... rent, lights, taxes... But the remainder, perhaps half of this is discretionary spending and that is the weapon we have in our hands — the discretionary dollar to strengthen our economy and make jobs!" said Mr. Webber in conclusion. "A mere 2 per cent of that four billion dollars is eighty million and that is a lot of new business."

Mr. Webber during the discussion period also pointed out that he is trying to persuade the buyers to go to the manufacturers. While this is not the traditional approach, he feels that by doing so the buyers can strengthen the economy of the area and this should be reason for them to make the initial approach. While many stores and dealers are selling goods not manufactured in Atlantic Canada, Mr. Webber stressed the fact that they should be persuaded to buy furnishings for their showrooms, rugs, paints and such locally. Often this is shipped out of the head office from Upper Canada with no thought given of purchasing it locally. However if properly approached he felt that most management would be willing to purchase locally whenever possible.

Following Mr. Webber's address Mr. Art Pope of Kentville, spoke briefly to the meeting about the proposed Annapolis Valley Product Fair which he is trying to organize. So far this is only in the planning stage with no definite date or location decided. Mr. Pope stressed the importance of co-

Two Candidates Seeking NDP Nomination

The Annapolis West New Democratic Party Association will select its candidate for the next provincial election at a nominating convention scheduled for Friday, Dec. 9 at the Legion Social Centre in Annapolis Royal.

Two candidates have already announced their intentions to seek the nomination. A third announcement is expected shortly. The declared candidates are John Taylor, 33, of Annapolis Royal, and Larry Duchesne, 28, of Waldec.

John Taylor, age 33, is a native Nova Scotian educated in Bridgewater and attended Acadia University. Though descended from a long line of seafarers and fishermen, he sought his experience in life from a number of varied occupations in Nova Scotia and Western Canada; shift operator at the sea trout and salmon farm at Clam Bay, east of Dartmouth; mechanic in the smelter and mines of Thompson, Manitoba; lineman for CN Telegraph in Northern B.C.; production worker at the aluminum smelter in Kitimat; elected treasurer, job evaluator and contract negotiator for the Canadian Association of Smelter and Allied Workers Union, Local 1; and most recently Noise Inspector for the Workers' Compensation Board in Vancouver.

Leaving the industrial fumes and noise of B.C., behind, John and his spouse Barbara have invested their savings into the old Owen house to create the Bread and Roses Tourist Home at 82 Victoria Street in Annapolis Royal.

Reflecting their interest in the restoration of the historic town, the house is being restored to assume its original appearance of the 1800's with plans to open for business in the coming spring.

Since arriving in Annapolis County last May, John and Barbara have been busy in their off-hours making new friends, visiting old ones and organizing for the new NDP Constituency association, of which John was elected president in September. He believes that these contacts have given him many insights into the needs and aspirations of local people.

With such excellent farmland, John asserts that we must expand our agricultural production to stave off the worldwide food crisis and replace the imports of food which claim most of our domestic market. Food processing plants can be built to handle the seasonal overflow of produce, and operation from all Valley manufacturers when the fair becomes reality.

Comments from the audience were very favourable to Atlantic Canada Plus Ltd. and the need for such an organization was appreciated. It was mentioned also that organizers of meetings, parties or any gatherings should insist that Atlantic Canada products were available, including beverages manufactured or bottled here and local food products. Too frequently it has been found that only Upper Canada products are available.

The need for more attractive packaging and promotion of local manufactured goods was discussed and also the need to persuade smaller enterprises who do not wish to work harder to expand somewhat in order to create more jobs and improve the overall economy. But this will have to be up to the individual manufacturers. Atlantic Canada Plus can only make the approach, the final sales pitch has to come from the individual manufacturers. They have also to realize that in order to sell to Nationals the approach has to go through channels and this may take time and be difficult at first but once it has been successful the additional new market is well worth the effort and the follow up not as difficult.

marketing boards need to be established to guarantee that our locally-produced food gets into the large wholesale and chain store operations.

John worries about priorities, claiming that people matter more. The new super highway, he says, must not take the north route through our rich agricultural land. "Such a route would divide and destroy the farms of our area, causing economic hardship for many people. It would devastate the plans for the restoration and development of Annapolis Royal by slicing through the centre of the town under St. George Street and removing most of the vacant land from possible commercial development. The route along the south mountain side would bypass the areas and that is the choice that needs to be made by government. However, it is ironic that while the government has the money to build super-highways it lacks the funds to complete the senior citizens' residence in Annapolis Royal. The seniors have worked hard to build this province, it is not asking too much of the younger generation to divert money from speedway construction to provide for the needs of their elders.

John insists that we must give greater priority to the social needs of women and young people. The high suicide rate indicates social isolation and unsolved problems. Transition houses with trained counsellors are needed for women to find help when trying to escape violent home situations. This social program, among others, could be included under government-funded "umbrella" community service organizations which would encourage maximum involvement and accountability at the local level.

The inshore fishermen are the backbone of coastal communities. We can do more to assure their yearly income by guaranteeing that their production costs will be covered by a government insurance program, that they receive a greater share of the final market price of the fish, and that more processing, cold storage and bait facilities will be constructed to fill the need, and also to provide greater employment in the area.

John sees many other positive areas for development, such as tidal power that is environmentally sound, the tourist industry, historic restoration and its many related service industries, and the advantages and effects of the new 200-mile fishing zone.

He is disturbed, however, by the way people have been neglected by the trend to centralize industries and government agencies since the post-war years. "The jobs provided in the past have moved to Halifax, Montreal and Ontario, forcing the new generations to move with them. It is certainly practical for the provincial government to move its numerous agencies out of Halifax to area office around the province where people would have greater access to services and jobs. It is also practical for industry to leave the crowded Halifax Metro area to set up shop in regional growth centres about the province, and the government can take steps to encourage this direction by making itself an example."

"In regard to Finance, the Minister gives conflicting statements that the debt of the province rose by $71 million last year while at the same time he claims a surplus of almost $6,000. Doesn't he trust us with the truth when it comes to money? A person with such responsibility must be more open and clear with the people he represents."

The second declared candidate for the NDP nomination is Larry Duchesne, 28, of Waldec. Larry is an employee of Mailman Publications Ltd. and a student at University Sainte Anne, Church Point.

Larry sees the New Democratic Party as "the only political party offering a much-needed change in direction for Nova Scotia - a change toward economic and social justice."

The centralization of government and industry is one issue of concern. "The de-centralization of industry as well as government must be encouraged to distribute jobs to where the people live. The current trend with most growth being concentrated in Halifax, must be ended. The only way to accomplish this is to bring jobs to the people, and not, as has been the case, people to the jobs. The Nova Scotia way of life rests, not in the large city, but in the small town and rural community."

The fight for job creation must be a major issue for any Annapolis West representative in Halifax. The survival and expansion of our basic industries, fishing, farming and, to a lesser but growing extent, tourism, must be the priority.

The NDP has long been doing battle for the fisherman, farmer, the aged and all those of unfortunate circumstances. I want to help continue that struggle, striving always toward the ultimate goal of social justice - in all aspects of our society. It's time for the poor to get richer and the rich to get poorer."

"The NDP has committed itself to the struggle to preserve agricultural land for agricultural production. It does my peace of mind no good to see economical farming units being divided by super highways such as our creeping monster Highway 101.

"I believe the NDP can win Annapolis West in the next provincial election. Our task is to make the people understand that the NDP is the only real alternative."

"Our only means of accomplishing this goal is through an aggressive door-to-door campaign to which I will devote much of my time."

Larry has lived in Annapolis West since 1974. He was initially a reporter for The Mirror, but later changed over to Mailman Publications, working principally with the Digby Courier.

Prior to his involvement in the newspaper business, he worked at a variety of jobs including farm hand, power-saw operator for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, warehouseman, driver, etc.

Reflecting To 1927

Ex-service men, members of the Canadian Legion, the Mayor and Council of the Town of Digby and Number One Troop Boy Scouts, Digby and hundreds of citizens on Friday morning paid homage to the Heroic Dead in commemoration of signing of Armistice.

Fishermen had many subjects ready for discussion when the Fishermen's Commission met in Digby. They included reduction of shipping charges; improved harbour facilities at Digby; fixing of the closed season on scallop fishing from June to September; reduction of duty on repair parts of marine engines; cheaper gasoline; extension of fish bounty; cold storage plant for Digby; licensing of boats rather than licensing fishermen.

A Digby Municipal T.B. Council was formed with Dr. E. DuVernet president. It was part of the Dominion wide organization to provide Sanatorium treatment for all suffering from the dread white plague.

The Digby Academy was wired for hydro and pupils were now able to see and study on dark days as well as on bright ones.

Retired Teacher Honoured

On Friday evening, November 4, the staff of the Digby Elementary School gathered at the home of Mrs. Doreen Robinson to pay tribute to Mrs. Ann Kaye, (above) who retired from the teaching profession this year after serving twenty-six years in the Digby School System. Mrs. Kaye excelled in and enjoyed encouraging students to participate in art and poetry. She, herself, is a well known poetess in the Digby area.

Mrs. Robinson, principal of the Digby Elementary School, presented Mrs. Kaye

Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Hong congratulated Mrs. Kaye on a job well done and wished her much happiness and fulfilment in her retirement years.

After a "pot luck" dinner, Mrs. Kaye and her friends spent several hours in happy fellowship.

Remembrance-Of-What Day?

November 11. One day out of 365. Why is it different from the rest?

This date holds, for those remaining few who experienced the pain, memories of a war that has been called the bloodiest in all recorded history. A war that involved the entire world, directly or indirectly. A war that should have served as a lesson for mankind - one we could never forget.

Yet, haven't we, the products of this space-age society, already forgotten? November 11 has become little more than a day of rest or an opportunity for a drive in the country. A day used to catch up on sleep or homework. A day when we remove the rather battered poppies from our coat lapels because, having served their undefined purposes, they are no longer fashionable. Do any of us bother to stand for those long seconds of silence at 11 A.M.? Are we awake by then? Do we attend the local memorial service? Perhaps, even more importantly, do we stop for a moment to reflect on what that war symbolized?

Because of considerable efforts by men and women who served in two major world conflicts, our generation has not had to experience war. But what have we become? We've grown up hearing of Vietnam, Cambodia, and Korea, but are cushioned from the impact. The reasons for these struggles are vague; the meaning of war, confused. We are so used to violence that we no longer feel any horror at the loss of human life. We are a shock-proof generation, and, in our complacency, we sense no grief at the passing of men who died more than half a century ago. They are no more than statistics in a history book. Human beings who were killed in a war nobody won.

So we wear our poppies, smiling at the thought of a holiday. And the men who perished lie like their Cause, silent and forgotten.

Students Get Medallions

Students in the province are to receive a commemorative medallion in honour of the Silver Jubilee of H.M. Queen Elizabeth II. In a joint announcement, Hon. Gerald Regan, Premier and Hon. George Mitchell, Minister of Education said that Members of the Legislature have been invited to make ceremonial presentations at selected schools within their constituencies.

In Digby, MLA Joe Casey is expected to be present for ceremonial presentations at Digby Regional High School. Special assemblies are expected for both the junior and senior sections. Students in all other schools in the county will also receive the commemorative medallions but presentations will be made either by the school principal or teachers.

Mr. Mitchell said schools are being encouraged to hold a special assembly in the week of November 7, with the presentations of the medallions as the highlight.

Suggestions for activities and lists of resource materials have also been sent out to the schools to help teachers and students to prepare classroom programs in honour of the occasion, either during the week or throughout the remainder of Jubilee Year.

Premier Regan noted that the presentation of the medallions is seen as a fitting gesture to Queen Elizabeth and to the young people of the Province, many of whom saw and heard Her Majesty when she visited Nova Scotia last year, and again when she spoke to the nation on Sunday, October 16 and opened the Parliament of Canada on October 18.

Digby County Remembers War Dead

Bear River Legion and Veterans Remembrance Day, Smith's Cove, November 11, 1977.

Remembrance Day In Westport

In spite of the downpour there was a good turnout for the Memorial Service in the Baptist Church on Friday, November 11. The Veterans were there in a body, and the wives and widows of Veterans also. The downpour was such that the Rebekahs had to come in cars, but they marched into the church in a body. At 10:00 a.m. the organist, Mrs. Richard Welch, played the Processional, and the Flag bearers, Comrades Sidney Morehouse, and James MacLaughlin, came slowly up the aisles, followed by the choir singing "Praise My Soul, The King of Glory", and their Chaplain Ed Donavaro, Rev. Mr. David Ray, and Rev. Charles MacNeill.

Comrade Donavaro conducted the service in his usual efficient manner. Rev. David Ray gave the well chosen and comprehensive address. After God Save the Queen and the President's Address by Comrade Raymond Robichau, the organist played the Recessional and the choir and those conducting the service, led by the color bearers, marched slowly out singing "Saviour Again to Thy Dear Name we Raise". It was an effective and well planned service. The Rebekahs lined up at one side, (the rain having mercifully stopped but not the wind) and the Veterans around the new Cenotaph Comrade Donavaro then conducted the Dedication Service of the Cenotaph, and at 11:00 announced the Silence in memory of the dead. He then broke the silence by repeating: They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old, Age shall not weary them nor the years condemn At the going down of the sun and in the morning We will remember them.

Then came the laying of the wreaths, contributed by the lodges, business men, and individuals, till the monument was banked with poppies. After another short silence the congregation broke up. The Veterans boarded cars and the bus (which had brought Tiverton and Freeport members) and left for Freeport, where there was a ceremony at the monument at 11:15 and to Tiverton for the ceremony there at 11:30.

In the meantime Auxiliary members went to the Legion Hall in Freeport to prepare the viands to be set forth for the returning veterans and guests, Rev. and Mrs. Roy and Rev. Charles MacNeill among them. There they enjoyed a bountiful repast, and a relaxed and sociable time after the tension of the morning.

The plaque to be put on the Cenotaph unfortunately did not arrive in time, but it will have the following inscription: "In memory of those who died while serving in the Canadian Armed Forces, 1914-1918 and 1939-1945."

Coline Campbell Guest Speaker At Legion Banquet

The Digby branch (20) Royal Canadian Legion held its annual banquet at the Legion Hall Friday with about 100 persons present.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Southwestern Nova M.P. Coline Campbell. In her address, Miss Campbell paid tribute to those who served in the nation's wars. They didn't have to go, she noted, but they went to fight for our freedom.

The majority of Canadians had no personal involvement in war, she said, but you (those who served) know the value of peace.

Miss Campbell said those who fought for Canada brought Canada a sense of unity and identity and preserved for us the freedom of thought, religion and the press. She said, however, that war must always be the last resort in settling differences.

The M.P. went on to explain her role in representing Canada at the United Nations in New York. The United Nations, she said, represents the determination of all peoples to settle their differences in a peaceful way.

Judge Victor Cardoza commended the members on making Branch 20 such a success. He also took this opportunity to thank the Legion for the Canadian flag the branch presented to the Citizenship Court some time ago. Judge Cardoza stressed the importance of such service groups as the Legion.

Digby Mayor Stewart MacNaughton was also called on to make a few remarks. He too, had kind words for the Legion and those who served.

Legion President Charlie Francis thanked all those who helped on the poppy campaign with special thanks going to Dennis Saulnier, Steve Gibson and Willy Dakin.

Thanks was also expressed to ladies of the Digby Neck

Fire Department for putting on the meal.

Head table guests for the banquet were President Charlie Francis and Mrs. Francis; Judge and Mrs. Victor Cardoza; Mayor and Mrs. Stewart MacNaughton; Legion Padre and Mrs. Eugene Dexter; M.P. Coline Campbell; Legion First vice-president Guy VanTassel; Ladies' Auxiliary president, Laura Winchester, and Legion second-vice-president, Ernest Tufts.

Ladies Auxiliary presentations included a service pin to President Laura Winchester and a service pin and a 20-year pin to Mrs. Bernie (Sis) O'Neal.

Remembrance Day At Smith's Cove

For the first time in several years, a delegation from the Bear River Legion Branch No. 20, presided at Remembrance Day observances in Smith's Cove. Prior to this time, the Women's Institute, now disbanded, made arrangements for this service. This year, interested persons of the Cove contacted the Bear River Branch through local veterans for this service.

President, Max Parker, acting Sergeant-at-Arms, Arthur Isles, Color Bearers, Reg Handspiker and J. Chute; Allister Harris of Bear River; Douglas Titus, Lloyd Durling and Douglas Francis of Smith's Cove and members of the Bear River Branch were present, along with Padre George Bell, and Irvine Brooks, (member of Clementsport Branch), veterans Arthur Berry, Mrs. Penny Gott, Harold Dunn and Irvine Brooks of Smith's Cove.

Padre Bell led in the singing of "O Canada," followed by a moment of silence. Arthur Berry placed the Nova Scotia Government wreath at the base of the Cenotaph. Lloyd Durling placed the Legion wreath. "The Queen" was then sung and the service closed with the benediction given by Padre Bell.

It was good to see several of the community participating in this service along with the members of the Bear River Legion and local veterans.

Learn Understanding And Tolerance

If we in Canada can learn understanding, tolerance and co-operation, we shall have taken a big step, said Judge Victor G. Cardoza, when he addressed the applicants for Canadian Citizenship and their guests at the Citizenship Court held in Digby on Thursday afternoon. In Canada, he said, there are twenty-two million people living under one common government. Ninety percent of the people, he ventured, were transplanted here from the European countries and all are so-called minority groups. All are Canadians with their own backgrounds contributing to the country in a united manner. If the country were all of one language, of one opinion or of one church, it would be uninteresting, he stated but as it is, life offers greater challenges in Canada.

Those receiving their Canadian Citizenship were Mrs. Margaret Howlett; Thomas Bryan Kenley, and Abdul Chaffar Sabir-Mian, all of Digby.

Before administering the oath, Judge Cardoza told the candidates that this was the highest honor which could be bestowed on them in Canada and that without Citizenship much else in life is meaningless. He also admonished the audience to think what their oath of allegiance and their Canadian Citizenship means to them. He urged all to become informed, work together in harmony and understanding. Understanding, he said, must be warm if it is to be effective the judge commented.

Following the ceremony welcomes, greetings and gifts were bestowed and the new citizens, Miss Miss Kelly Sweeney of the Digby Regional High School extended greetings on behalf of the class which accompanied her. Attending also was their teacher, Miss Regina Tate. Joe Casey, M.L.A. for Digby, extended greetings and presented pins on behalf of the Nova Scotia government. Mrs. Norman Tebo, Plympton, represented the Catholic Women's League in making presentations and Mrs. J. M. Wallis represented the Valley Presbyterian of the United Church Women of the United Church of Canada. Rev. George Bell spoke on behalf of the Western Nova Multicultural Association.

Constable D. R. Young declared Court opened and dismissed. Mrs. Madeline Blaxland, Manager and Registration Services of the Citizenship Court prompted the candidates and audience on Citizenship Court protocol.

Christmas Daddies Appeal

The Digby-Annapolis Christmas Daddies Fund Committee is well advanced in its preparation for the 7th consecutive year. Again many public minded citizens have put their shoulders to the wheel and are giving freely and generously of their time and expertise to insure that the less fortunate in our area can experience a Happy Christmas Season.

It is true that many of us in our present day society have obtained a high standard of living and are confronted with very few worries about having the proper finances to provide for a Happy Holiday Season. However, there are still a large number of people, particularly children, who would have very little to look forward to when Christmas Day 1977 arrives if it were not for the major contribution of the Christmas Daddies Committee and the generosity of the general public. These children can be specifically recognized as the children of the sick, disabled and those who suffer the anguish of a broken home.

It is very disappointing that some of the more fortunate in today's society make so little allowance for understanding or sharing, particularly when a neighbour is suffering misfortune. The desire to gain all the material wealth in the shortest possible time has led us further away from the stable society in which the "Help Your Neighbour" concept was one of the principles we all lived by.

THE POSITIVE APPROACH

According to a news release, this week in Nova Scotia has been proclaimed Youth Appreciation Week by Premier Gerald Regan. Using a special week for this purpose is fairly new, we believe, although the idea of more youth appreciation is not exactly a new thought.

Somehow, news being what it is, the misdeeds of youth seem to glare out from the media while not all of youth's positive and worthwhile contributions get into the limelight. The good seems, so often, to be taken for granted and the reverse is blown up to make headlines. It is well to have this week to emphasize Youth Appreciation, reminding citizens of the fine contributions made by youth to the betterment of society around us. We need to count and measure these contributions.

To be sure, there are those who find more pleasure in destroying than in building. This is a fact which cannot be overlooked. But, youth in general need not be tarred with the same brush. As the premier's press release said "In Nova Scotia the special week will honour the majority of youth who are "concerned, knowledgeable and responsible citizens" and recognize their accomplishments and achievements."

Such a positive approach should certainly bear some weight with the attitudes, aspirations and behaviour of the entire youth. May more adult citizens adopt this positive approach this week and throughout each youthful era. Be involved and watch the trend.

Hodge Podge

Slippery road conditions will be with us off and on for the next few months, and the smart driver is prepared for them. The Nova Scotia Safety Council reminds us that bridges, shady areas and large culverts can be slippery even when the rest of the road is bare.

Traffic Up On Princess

Traffic on the Princess of Acadia was up in October from the same periods last year.

According to CN Marine figures, use of the service by trucks was up 56.2 per cent to 639; tractor trailers up 21.8 per cent to 1,959; passenger related vehicles up 15.4 per cent to 3,671; and passengers up 4.3 per cent to 13,594.

CN Marine experienced a general increase of 5.3 per cent during the month over last year's figures.

Check Christmas Buying Policies And Terms

When you're buying for someone else this Christmas, take extra time to determine store policy on refunds, exchanges and layaways, says the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs.

Although many stores do exchange items or give refunds in the interests of maintaining good consumer relations, they are not obliged to do so, says the director of the Consumer Services Bureau, Colin S. Campbell. Therefore, it's a good idea to check with the store and find out under what circumstances it will take back merchandise. As well, check the item out carefully before you pay for it to make sure it is satisfactory.

Keep your sales receipt until you are sure that there will be no reason to take the item back, Mr. Campbell says. The receipt is your proof to the store of when you bought the item.

If you're planning on using a store's Christmas layaway plan, check out the terms, he says. Most stores require a minimum amount to be paid on a regular basis. Make sure that you will be able to pay off the item within the allotted time and as well, check out the refunds and exchange policy. If you change your mind about taking the item after you have put it on layaway, the store is not obliged to cancel the layaway and refund your money.

Make sure again that you keep all receipts of the money that you have paid on the layaway. They are the only way that you can be sure that full credit is applied to your purchase.

Nothing puts the damper on any gift quicker than knowing an unsatisfactory one cannot be exchanged for something more suitable, Mr. Campbell says. To avoid disappointing the people on your Christmas list, check before you buy.

1977 Herring Market Value Fifty Million

Herring landings in the Bay of Fundy during 1977 declined by approximately 15 percent from those of 1975 while the landed value increased by over 90 percent. Market value in 1977 is expected to approach 50 million dollars.

To further enhance the earnings of fishermen, The Department of Fisheries and the Environment has undertaken a series of studies encompassing all herring fishing operations in the Bay of Fundy.

The Department is currently reviewing gillnet operations through interviews with the fishermen. Information solicited in this manner will provide representations from all herring fishermen operating in the Bay of Fundy and it is expected this will provide a useful background in the formation of future management plans. The Department has requested the co-operation of fishermen in providing this data.

Persons Wishing to Apply For a Christmas Daddies Hamper Must Do So Before December 3, 1977

Applications forms are available in grocery stores throughout town and municipality and in Annapolis County.

Christmas Daddies show to be held on December 4 of this year is to obtain funds by voluntary public contributions and for the Committee to administer these funds in the most reasonable and sensible manner possible.

Let me suggest to each and every one of you that you take a few moments to consider the well being of your fellow man, the tremendous donation of time and energies by the people involved on the Committee and how fortunate you may be with little or no financial worries facing the up coming Holiday Season. This year, due to an ever increasing cost and more difficult economic times, it will be necessary to raise as much money as possible to continue the good work of the Christmas Daddies.

I know that when you make your donation it will give you tremendous personal satisfaction and suggest that you dig a little deeper, if possible, to make certain the less fortunate can experience the joy of the Christmas Season. I can assure each and everyone that donates of their time, energies or finances that your contribution is more than appreciated by the many needy individuals who are dependent upon all of us who really care for our fellow man.

Consumer Van To Visit Digby

The Consumer Van, will visit Digby from January 17 to February 4.

The idea behind the Consumer Van project is to bring consumer information to communities outside the cities in which most consumer offices are located.

For this purpose a van has been equipped with more than 70 binders of information on a variety of products and services.

Room is available inside the van for people to sit down, read and make notes. Personal assistance will be available and the van staff will also be willing to participate in consumer programs for groups.

This is part of an experiment being carried out this Fall and Winter by the Consumer's Association of Canada (Nova Scotia) and the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada.

The van will be set up at the Evangeline Shoppers Mall.

Children's Book Festival

This week why not dream up a crazy dessert called Garbage Delight... make papier-mache models of some of the animals in OWL magazine... have a book party where everyone dresses up as characters from Canadian children's books... read Jacob Two-Two meets the Hooded Fang, then make up a new name for yourself and write a story of your adventures as the new you... These are only a few of the many suggestions made by The Children's Book Centre for the celebration of Children's Book Festival 1977.

Children's Book Festival

1977 is being held November 14-19. Special displays of Canadian children's books are at Western Counties Regional Library branches in Digby, Clark's Harbour, Shelburne, Lockport and Yarmouth. Among the many attractive books featured in the displays and in book lists are The Incredible Journey by Sheila Burnford in which two dogs and a cat suffer the ordeal of a 250 - mile trek home through the wilderness; Jacob Two-Two meets the Hooded Fang by Mordcai Richler in which Jacob who has committed the serious crime of insulting a grown-up is saved by The Child Power Rescue Team; Nicholas Knock and Other People and Alligator Pie - two delightfully funny poetry books by Dennis Lee.

Children who visit the library during Children's Book Festival Week will receive FREE book jacket posters to colour. Displays of the coloured book jackets will be mounted in each library branch (and of course the Children can claim back their book jackets when the display is over).

Celebrate Children's Book Festival 1977 at your local library branch! We think you'll be impressed and delighted by the top-quality children's books being written by Canadian authors!

an eight week Navigation Course to prepare fishermen to write Ministry of Transport Examination for certification.

This Course will be held in Digby running from January 2, 1978 to February 24, 1978.

The new program is the result of the introduction on September 1 of the revised examination and certification for fishing masters and mates. It is intended to meet the needs of fishermen preparing to take MOT examinations.

The new MOT regulations demand that before a fisherman can write for a full fishing master ticket, he must serve for one year on a vessel of 25 gross tons or over while holding a watchkeeping mate or fishing mate ticket. This course will prepare fishermen to write for this watchkeeping mate certificate.

It is anticipated that there will be a heavy demand for this Course and an early booking advisable since the number of candidates is restricted to 12.

The local Manpower Office will accept registration for this Course, and should any further information be required contact Richard McDormand, Provincial Fisheries Representative, P.O. Box 25, Smith's Cove, N.S. Phone 245-5178.

given for the project which will cost the village about $2800 for materials not covered by the grant. It will mean employment for six people: a foreman, four workmen and a part-time bookkeeper.

The Councillors have submitted a letter to the Western Counties Regional Library Board asking that this library be considered in future plans for the Regional Library System. Should the library be included in the System, there would be fulltime employment for a librarian and a continuing supply of books. At present, there are about 5,000 books on hand which were donated to the Westport Library during a book drive last spring.

The Regular Monthly meeting of Clementsport Branch No. 122 Royal Canadian Legion was held on Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m. There were twenty-three members present. Com. President Charles Long in the Chair.

The following slate of officers for the year 1978 was submitted by Com. Farmers Want Bears

Removed From Protected List

The Digby County Federation of Agriculture passed two resolutions at its annual meeting in Weymouth Monday night.

In light of the nuisance and damage being caused by bears in this county, the federation is asking that bears be removed from the protected list.

The Federation is also asking that areas such as Digby County, where the earth has a high rock content, be considered separately in the province's Land Clearing Policy.

Some comment from farmers present favoured a situation where each one has a choice in who he hires to do the land clearing.

Another topic of interest during the business meeting concerned hunting on private property. Some concern was expressed for livestock lost to careless hunters. However, others expressed concern for the right of hunters not to be overly limited in their hunting space.

In other business, Murray Prime, Malcolm Justason and Louis Comeau were named directors for the next three years.

Stanley Boudreau, Wayne Comeau, Jean LeBlanc and David Cosman were named delegates to the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture's annual meeting in December. Membership fees were raised to $10 for both farmers and associate members.

Annie Dennison was named auditor for the coming year.

This Partridge May Have "Cooked His Own Goose"

A partridge in a pear tree? Not quite, but the Turnbull family of 139 Coverdale Road Moncton, N.B., may be singing that venerable Christmas song after their Monday afternoon run-in with a speeding partridge which smashed through their screen door window and onto their recreation room floor.

Kathy Turnbull said yesterday that her mother, Shirley, was alone in the house when she heard "a tremendous crash".

"She didn't have any idea of what it could be, so she went into the rec room and she saw all the glass scattered around."

"Then she saw the partridge."

That hapless bird, which Miss Turnbull described as "huge", was alive when Mrs. Turnbull first set eyes on it but by the time she called her husband, John, in from working behind the house to see it, it had died, probably from shock.

"We just can't believe it. I couldn't believe it when my father brought it into the office to show me, but I went to the house and there's a big whole in the screen door window. There's glass all the way down to the recreation television, and that's a long way," Miss Turnbull said.

The Turnbulls, who all work at Coffee Break and Vending Ltd. of Riverview, think that Monday's strong winds may have forced the bird through their window. However, they have no explanation why a partridge was found so far from a wooded area and near a settled area.

"Dad said 'I don't need to go hunting for partridge now.' I think he wants to have it for supper someday. I don't think Mom likes the idea, but that's what will happen," Miss Turnbull said.

She said her family has a collie named Lady, who was in the house at the time of the invasion, but being of a timid nature, probably ran the other way when she heard the crash.

Kathy is a granddaughter of Mrs. Lucy Turnbull, Digby.

"Deer Of Nova Scotia" Now Available

A comprehensive report and history of the "Deer of Nova Scotia" by Denis A. Benson and Donald G. Dodds has been published by the provincial Department of Lands and Forests.

The attractive 92-page soft-cover book containing some 40 photographs, tables, illustrations and graphs is an in-depth study of the deer family of moose, caribou and white-tailed deer in Nova Scotia.

The study traces the cyclical history of deer, moose and caribou in the province from the first settling of the area by the Europeans. It follows the decline and final elimination of the caribou through over-hunting and the intrusion of man on the animals' range.

In the foreword, Lands and Forests Minister Vincent MacLean writes:

"We had already lost our native caribou by the time the Department of Lands and Forests was established in 1926. But ever since, our Department has been actively involved with the welfare of the other two (white-tailed deer and moose).

"This book reflects that involvement. Begun in 1949 when Mr. Benson became our second Big Game Biologist, and mostly completed in the succeeding years, the lengthy manuscript was put in final form only recently, at our request, by Dr. Dodds - also a former Big Game Biologist for this Department.

"We feel confident that our publishing this in-depth study will do much to promote the future of both species."

The book examines the effects of climate change, population variations, disease, depredation and other elements on the members of the deer family through the years of recorded observations.

HONEY, Food of the gods or what?

Since time immemorial, honey has held a special place of its own in the minds of people. It has been given magical curative powers for certain diseases and conditions. But the overwhelming part about the story of honey is that in the face of modern-day analyses of food, we still want to believe strange things about honey!

The positive attributes of this food have been magnified regarding its nutrient value. It is true that white sugar which has been refined has no nutrient value except carbohydrate. Honey has more carbohydrate than sugar and tiny amounts of other nutrients: calcium, phosphorus, iron and the three main B-vitamins. But, many of those nutrients are only in trace amounts, measured in micrograms.

When comparing prices at a grocery store it's a high price to pay for these nutrients. However, if you're lucky enough to have your own beehives or are able to get honey cheaper than sugar then it becomes very desirable from an economic point of view.

Putting economics and nutrition aside, honey's value lies in its physical contribution to the taste buds and to baked products. Its flavour is unique and pleasing. Used in baked goods honey adds extra moistness which aids in the keeping quality.

The general rule in using honey in a baked product is to reduce the liquid by ¼ cup for each cup of honey substituted for sugar.

To liquify honey that has crystallized set the jar in a pan of hand-hot water (not really hot). Let it set until the crystals are melted.

Measuring honey can be an inconvenience as it sticks to surfaces. Grease the cup or measuring spoon lightly with vegetable oil before measuring it. The honey should slide right out with the help of a rubber scraper.

Honey can be used in many recipes to give a unique flavour and moist quality. Recipe booklets on honey are available as well as a nutrient comparison note. Honey is a fine tasting product but it is a very expensive sweetener. Knowing both sides of the question can help you decide its true value for you.

Canfarm Records Used

The Canfarm records service is of value to more than just the practising farmer. The University of Manitoba is using Canfarm to teach farm record keeping to some of its agriculture diploma students.

Cal Gust, an instructor in the course, says the students use the Canfarm service to keep a full year's records and to do budgeting and analysis assignments.

The emphasis in the course is on good management. The Canfarm service is particularly useful because it supplies an automated records system that is standard across the prairies.

servantists and hunters alike would be interested in the publication.

The book is available for the sum of $2.50 at the Nova Scotia Government Bookstore, 1957 Hollis Street, for direct purchase, or by writing Box 637, Halifax, B3J 2T3.

Claude St. Denys At The Universite Ste-Anne

Contrary to what has been announced in this newspaper last week the dance group "Tournesol" which was to feature in the second Jeunesses Musicales cultural event was not available on Wednesday, November 16, as one of the dancers had an accident and had to cancel his engagement.

As a substitute, the Jeunesses Musicales of Canada is offering the Mime from Montreal of international renown, CLAUDE ST. DENYS. He will give a performance a week later, on Wednesday, November 23, in the Universite Sainte-Anne Auditorium at eight o'clock as usual.

This will not be Claude St. Denys' first appearance in Church Point. He gave a short performance in September of 1976, during a workshop on the promotion of cultural events. Whoever did attend his performance will remember the laughter he raised among the audience with his small sketches "The Bell Ringer", "The Banana", "The Shower", "The March", etc...

Claude St. Denys creates all kinds of characters in different situations with movements which go way beyond words. His face expression may tell stories which make every one laugh and also think. In brief, Claude St. Denys is a great entertainer. No one will be sorry to wait an extra week to attend his evening of laughter and entertainment, on Wednesday, November 23, in the university auditorium.

Those who hold a Jeunesses Musicales season ticket may attend the performance. Season tickets will still be available at the door at the regular price: Adult - $6.00; Student - $4.00; Family - $15.00.

Lectures Concluded

Minister Kenneth T. Norris, president and teacher of Maritime Christian College, Charlottetown, P.E.I. concluded a three-part series of Biblical studies in Tiverton Christian Church, Sunday afternoon.

Theme of the lectures was "Work of The Holy Spirit," and was divided into sections: "The Holy Spirit In The World" which began with God's activity in the creation of the world, the creation of man and the creation of body for the Christ-Child and "The Holy Spirit In The Church" which was born of the Apostles' Baptism In The Spirit which was given to them by the Lord Himself in the form of cloven tongues of fire. As a result of the Holy Spirit being imparted to the apostles, the Gospel was preached in all tongues, the church was established, nurtured and built up in the Lord through the Spirit and the Word; "The Holy Spirit In The Family." Mr. Norris pointed out that conversion can well be a family matter through the influence of the Holy Spirit. He referred to Cornelius and his household, the Phillipian jailer and his family also others recorded in the New Testament. He added, "proper children-parent relationship are fruits of the Spirit's filling and that the Christian family is one unit in the whole family of God."

Members expressed their appreciation to Mr. Norris for the time and effort he put into the preparation and delivering the messages.

Mrs. Norris accompanied her husband to the area.

Digby Mayor Stewart MacNaughton appeared in court Monday on charges of common assault and mischief to private property.

Two Men Fined

On November 9, 1977 two men were fined in court by Judge J. Perry at Barrington Passage, N.S. Robert G. Crowell of Barrington and Stanley Henry Townsend of Woods Harbour were each fined $100.00 and court costs after they pleaded guilty to a violation of the National Parks Act. Both men were apprehended on November 2, 1977 by a Park Warden in Kejimikujik National Park and were charged with having unsealed firearms in their possession. National Parks Regulations state that all firearms must be sealed before they are taken into a park.

Feds Will Not Change Bluenose Hours Without Provincial Request

It now appears that no changes will be made in the schedule of the M.V. Bluenose.

In a letter written to the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council, Transport Minister Otto Lang laid the issue to rest pending a request for changes from the Provincial Government.

The possible hour-change for the ferry running from Yarmouth to Maine, has been resulting in adverse reaction from tourist associations both here and on the South Shore. It is feared that a change from the current 3 p.m. arrival time to 11 p.m. in Yarmouth would have a detrimental effect on these areas.

In another decision reached at this month's ABTRC meeting at CFB Cornwallis, the Council decided to seek clarification on the status of a deputy minister for the Department of Tourism. There have been conflicting reports as to whether Art McDermaid is or is not still occupying the post.

Louis Stephens, Director of Cultural Affairs for the Nova Scotia Department of Recreation, expressed disappointment that the barns located at the Annapolis Basin Cultural Centre (Prescesky Property) had been removed.

Stephens felt these could have been used for such purposes as drama presentations, blacksmith shops, craft training centres, etc.

Stephens also spoke on the Happy Days program. He termed it a success from the point of view of talent, but noted that a great many administrative problems were encountered.

The speaker noted approval for the program was received only three days before it was scheduled to begin. This left very little time to mount and carry out the program.

The idea of the Happy Days program was to give local talent a chance to perform before audiences at various provincial centres. The program included artists, dancers, singers, craftspeople, etc.

Ken Eavis of Hillgrove has been named Chairman for the 1978 Scallop Day planning committee. A possibility exists that the traditional one-day celebration may be extended to several days permitting an expansion of activities available.

Educational Program High Priority

Seriously studying Mental Health - Digby needs at the recent Orientation Workshop are left Rev. Kenn Lowe, president of Mental Health-Digby and Andrew Crook of Halifax, executive secretary of Mental Health-Nova Scotia. Others attending the workshop were assembled in groups under similar discussions. They later reported their findings to Mr. Lowe and Mr. Crook.

The board of Mental Health Digby will continue to study the top ten priorities submitted at its regular meeting on Wednesday evening by the Orientation Workshop before making a decision to undertake any particular priority. Members of the board will deliberate on these and make a decision at the December meeting. The priorities as submitted originated from the Orientation Workshop held at the Canadian Legion Hall on Saturday, November 5.

Saturday's workshop was presided over by Rev. Mr. Lowe, who extended a welcome to the interested community people and emphasized that the purpose of the workshop was to get a feeling of the community's concerns in the field of Mental Health. Also present and bringing greetings was Andrew Crook, executive secretary of Mental Health Nova Scotia. He said it was important to him to find out what the community considered their particular Mental Health needs.

High on the list of the ten priorities was the need of a greater educational program. Considering the fact that Mental Health Digby was established more than 20 years ago there still is a lack of knowledge of the organization, its entire program and its available aid.

The Workshop was divided into groups chaired by Rev. George Bell, Judge Victor Cardoza and Mrs. Nola Jeffrey. Other suggestions which arose from the groups were the need of a program to assist young people in their emotional difficulties, greater in-patient care, facilities, better senior citizen transportation. It was felt that Mental Health Digby, could play a greater role in working with other groups and carry on greater preventive programs such as family living.

Students

Receive Commemorative Medallions

Students in the Digby School System have each been presented with a medallion to commemorate the Silver Jubilee of Queen Elizabeth II.

At Digby Regional High School, Digby M.L.A. Joe Casey was a guest during the student assemblies. He personally presented medallions to student Prime Ministers Kelly Sweeney (junior) and Kate Bersell

During a brief address to the students, Mr. Casey referred to the Queen as a most gracious and courageous lady. It took real courage, he said, to venture into troubled Ireland and to Quebec near the time of the F.L.Q. activity.

Mr. Casey compared the nations of the Commonwealth to a "family".

Noting Canada's contribution to the allied forces during the great World Wars, Mr. Casey said people were fighting for what they believed to be family ideals.... "and the price was high."

Mr. Casey said Canadians first began to think of themselves as a nation during World War I.

D.R.H.S. Principal

Donald Ross said the monarchy is a non-political entity trying to live up to a fine example of honesty, duty and fairness - trying to lead by example, not control. Ross said the monarch could be looked on as a babysitter looking after a family (commonwealth) while it was growing up.

Students across the country received the commemorative medallions.

Dragons Win Over Middleton

The DRHS Dragons defeated the Middleton Seniors in a hard fought contest on Saturday by a 45-33 score.

The game was poorly played with both teams taking foolish fouls. Both teams left defense at home as easy baskets were made at either end. Offense was also to a minimum as neither team could mount a consistent attack.

The game started at a slow pace with the Dragons jumping into an 8 to 2 lead, but then the total Dragon attack ground to a halt. By the half the Middleton Seniors had climbed into a 16-10 lead. The Middleton squad effectively used outside shooting throughout the game as the unaggressive Digby defense allowed shot after shot from the 15 to 18 foot range. In the first half the Digbys lost took 39 shots to Middleton 18.

The second half was an improvement especially for the Dragons. They came out with a full court press and forced bad pass after bad pass. Pam Locke led the press as she effectively turned the dribbler from side to side. Pam has been playing some of her best basketball in over a year. The Digby coach, Greg Jamieson, stated that Pam has been playing aggressively and this with her defensive skills has made her one of the team's premier defensive players. He also mentioned that she has improved her offensive skills this season. With Pam on the press, the team reversed the shooting statistics of the first half and using an inside attack outscored the Middleton team 35-17 in the second half.

Kim Roy again led the team with an impressive display of scoring hitting for 15 points. Kim along with Karen Hattie led in assists with 3 each. The boards belonged to Middleton as the Dragons had trouble pulling in rebounds. The Dragons were led by Kim Roy and Erin Gardener who each pulled in 4 rebounds.

The coach of the Dragons expressed concern over the fact that the forwards are not scoring the way they should. With the exception of Kim Roy, who is off to a better start than last year, most of the forwards are off last years pace. Citing the fact that last year the team had morning shooting practices, coach Jamieson feels that the loss of the gym is one of the major reasons for the shooting being off this year. However, DRHS is expecting portable basketball standards for the Multi-purpose Room and this should result in a return to the morning practices and a better shooting percentage.

Other problem areas center around rebounding, as demonstrated by the statistic of 59 rebounds for Middleton to 20 for Digby, and aggressive defensive play.

The team did show improvement in its zone press and its fast break. The press was a highlight as the team showed its only aggressive play during this period. The coach stated that "the press was impressive". He also felt that the fast break was only a hair line away from being devastating. The coach praised several players and stated that, "it was not individual play but team play that was hurting."

This week the team officially starts its 1977-78 season with New Glasgow's tip-off tournament on Friday and Saturday and then a Valley League game on Tuesday in Windsor.

The patients of Tideview enjoyed a Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken supper recently, through the kindness of "The Friends of Tideview Terrace." The same evening a youth group from the Anglican Church showed silent movies of "Charlie Chaplin." Many of the patients remembered these when they were young and silent films were "The Thing". A church service was also held that evening conducted by the Rev. Williams, Tidville.

A church service was held Sunday October 23 conducted by the Rev. J.W. Derby of Tideview Terrace. Mrs. Glene Sypher played the organ. This service was appreciated much by the patients.

Visitors of Rev. Derby recently were Mr. and Mrs. W. Derby and grandson, Arden; also his daughter, Mrs. Harold Swift and her husband.

Reflecting To 1927

The Winchester Poultry Farm at Victoria Bridge, Bear River, installed hydro fifty years ago replacing the small private generating plant. It was serviced from the Digby County Hydro line. Installed were a 6000 egg capacity Buckeye incubator and 9000 egg James Way incubator to be in operation by turning on lights two hours before daylight and two hours after dusk lengthening the hen's working day by two hours.

A commission to investigate the needs of fishermen was formed. One need was in the hours of telegraph service for fishermen by The Western Union Telegraph Company modern system of communication. Merchandising placed a great deal of reliance on the Telegraph communication. Competition, changing markets, perishable products combined to demand utmost despatch in fish movements.

The Board of Trade looked forward to seeing Nova Scotia becoming a first place vacation land according to indications of the 1926 summer.

Swine and Calf clubs were being organized at Acaciaville. W.H. Farnham M.P.P. for Digby offered share of prize money for Calf Club at the meeting addressed by Agricultural experts.

The Digby Weekly Courier had a column "Talk of the Town."

Reflecting To 1947

Cornwallis, the largest naval training base in the British Empire during World War II, was to become Canada's greatest summer resort, according to The Digby Courier and would probably be opened for that purpose in July 1948. Information was that William (Billy) Butler had just about completed the deal with the War Assets Corporation for the huge naval base. Also that Hon. Harold Connelly, Nova Scotia Minister of Industry and Publicity, had been a prominent figure in negotiations. Mr. Butler was internationally known as Great Britain outstanding promoter and owner of low-priced summer resorts. Prior to war, activities were extended to the European continent. The base was capable of housing 12,000 and had 11,000 personnel during the war. According to reports this would be the grand daddy of all big sales effected by War Assets. Mr. Connelly envisioned the base as becoming Canada's greatest convention centre. Mr. Butler planned to have the resort remodelled and operated along lines he had conducted other resort enterprises in overseas countries. Finest accommodation would be $30 to $40 a week and would open tremendous possibilities for the Annapolis Valley Tourist Trade.

Canvassers reported ready response in their efforts to sell Digby. Rink Commission bonds. Everybody was sympathetic. The only refusals came from those who were unable to purchase because of financial reasons. T.L. Deveau, contractor, who was erecting the huge structure, told of the progress on the building. Eleven trusses, two hundred bolts in each, were erected. It was a ticklish job to get trusses together accurately as each bolt hole had to meet and the entire truss fully aligned. After the trusses, the walls and roof had to go on.

The A.V.A. B.T. was calling on the federal government to provide adequate ferry service in Digby by improve wharfage facilities. Guest speaker was A.A. Dunphy, Maritime Board of Trade president and F.J. Burns, Kentville, who presided, was welcomed on behalf the Town by V.G. Cardozo and on behalf the Board of Trade by H.M. Warne.

Bradford Barton, Acaciaville, suffered loss on Saturday night of a pair of three year old steers. They were killed by the passing train.

Shoppers were not sure what they might find when taking home their purchases. One shopper bought a tin clearly marked clam chowder but it was just as clearly vegetable soup when eating. Another bought beans and found the can to be spaghetti.

Out-of-season flowers picked were daisies, sweet-peas and clover.

Shannon Richardson and friend visited Mrs. Freeman Saturday evening from Dartmouth. Shannon is a granddaughter of Mrs. Freeman.

A church service was held by Rev. Hapeman of the Baptist Church, Bear River, on October 30. Mrs. Hapeman played the new organ.

New Ferry On Grand Passage

A ferry, 85 feet in length and 37 feet in width, having capacity for twelve cars, will replace the one now plying the waters of Grand Passage from Freeport, Long Island to Westport, Brier Island. The announcement was made by Joe Casey MLA within the past week.

Contract for the ferry which is to be built of steel, was awarded to the Georgetown Shipyards, P.E.I., their bid of $431,150 being $111,000 lower than the next highest bidder. The new ferry will have accommodation for 27 passengers.

The replacing of the present Grand Passage ferry by the new ferry is a joint effort of Hon. Fraser Mooney, Minister of Highways and Mr. Casey. The Department expects delivery of the new ferry by May 30, 1978 and the ferry is expected to begin operation July 1, 1978. The old ferry will be put aside for auxiliary needs.

Governor Jack Chivers Visits Division Kiwanians At Weymouth

Kiwanians of Division 20, were visited on Saturday November 14 by Governor Jack W. Chivers of Montreal accompanied by Kiwanis International Field Service Representative, Robert L. Mason of Shelbyville Indiana. Mr. Chivers is the Governor of the Eastern Canada and Caribbean District of Kiwanis International, one of the largest, if not the largest, district in Kiwanis. Of the more than fifty countries currently with clubs in Kiwanis International, nine of these countries are in this district.

Lt. Governor of Division 20, Chuck Browning, welcomed Governor Jack to Weymouth where he met with the presidents and secretaries of the clubs for two hours to discuss various aspects of Kiwanis objectives and to offer advice and assistance.

Following the meeting with club executives, a banquet was held in the Weymouth Legion Hall. In attendance were Kiwanians and their ladies from Armadale, Liverpool, Lockeport, Digby and Weymouth.

Chairman Chet Levy of the Digby Club, called on Lt. Governor Chuck to introduce the guest speaker, Governor Jack. From this introduction it is obvious that as well as being a successful man in the insurance business Jack Chivers is active in community work and as a good Kiwanian most concerned about his fellow man.

Governor Jack spoke for approximately half an hour making his points at times in a serious manner, at other times in a humorous vein. From the standing ovation he received it was obvious that he was well received and could have spoken for several more minutes without losing any audience attention.

Joe Casey, in thanking Governor Jack, expressed the sincerest thanks of all present for the visit and a most inspiring address.

Buchanan Urges Permanent Crossing

A permanent crossing between Digby Neck and the Islands was one of the topics touched on during addresses to the Progressive Conservative Nominating Convention at the Digby Legion Hall. Opposition Leader John Buchanan termed the present transportation situation there "ridiculous" and "stupid". He spoke in favour of a permanent crossing; "That's what's needed."

Opposition leader John Buchanan noted that the Liberals will be entering their fifth year of office in April. This, he said, is almost unprecedented since "by tradition and custom" an election is held every four years. He charged that the by-election result in Pictou Centre was the reason an election has not been called.

The legacy of the Liberal government, says Buchanan has been acts of commission and omission. Unemployment, he charged, is now the highest it's been since the 1930's, with too many on welfare, not through their fault but because of conditions.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Buchanan said there are now 50,000 Nova Scotians unemployed and electrical rates are the highest in all the provinces of Canada. "Something's very wrong in Nova Scotia."

He pointed out that while 55 percent of Nova Scotian electricity is generated by foreign oil, compared with 100 percent in Prince Edward Island, electrical rates here are still equal or higher than rates on P.E.I. "I know families in this province who can't pay their light bills."

Mrs. Milner Elected President

The Hill-N-Dale Garden Club, Bear River, was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Darres for their November meeting. This was the 16th birthday of the club, and three members were present who were at the meeting when the club was formed.

Minutes were read and regular business taken care of. Plans were made for the Christmas work when it was voted to again donate to the Christmas Daddy Show; The Children's Home, Digby; and the Ladies Auxiliary Christmas Tree, Bear River. A vote to again make the usual Christmas arrangements for the shut-in's.

After much discussion it was voted to have a Rose Show in 1978 with adding other flowers also.

At this time there was a feeling that the dining hall at the exhibition grounds would be a good place for it. Good parking, lots of space and no stairs to climb.

As this was the annual meeting good reports were given by all chairmen. The Treasurer's report left no doubt that the club was in a healthy financial state.

Names brought forth for 1978 officers were; President, Mrs. Allister Milner; Vice-President, Mrs. Jack Harris; Secretary, Mrs. Rae Gilliat; Treasurer, J.D. Harris. There was a clear vote to accept these as officers. The president then appointed her working committee; next meeting on Tuesday, December 6th at the home of Mrs. Titus Darres. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Private Airport In Use At Weymouth

With the delivery of the 1978 Red and White Cessna 172 to its owners in Weymouth, private enterprise again reached a higher rung on the ladder of achievement.

Six months ago this area pictured was all wooded. Today Weymouth can boast of an 1850 ft. gravel runway, a hangar and a small trailer for office space (with coffee pot). These facilities are "home" to the Cessna 150 of Sherwood Barr and the new 172 purchased by H.M. Colwell and Sons Ltd.

Granted, this airport has not the facilities or grandiose scheming of government involvement but is a very usable, practical and most importantly - operable airport on a very small budget and lots of sweat and work of the people involved.

Snow removal is provided by 2 pieces of equipment already on site. As the wind sock on the hangar depicts, it is an unlicensed private airport so you are there at your own risk.

Sonny Barr says the place is open for all to visit.

Foster Parents Banquet

On Thursday evening, November 17, 1977 the Department of Social Services hosted the 5th annual Foster Parent Banquet. It was held at the Legion Hall in Weymouth, with approximately 40 foster parents from various parts of Digby County in attendance.

The chairman for the evening was Cyril Reddy, District Supervisor of the Digby Office. He expressed his thanks to all the foster parents for the services that they provide to the agency throughout the year. He also explained that during the spring of 1978, there would be a "Foster Parent Training Program" conducted by the staff of the Digby Office.

Harvey MacArthur, President of the Family and Children Welfare Association for the Province of Nova Scotia and Executive Director of Family and Children's Services of Colchester County, was guest speaker. He pointed out that foster

Sparks Local Interest

"Farming the farm woodlot" proved to be a popular discussion topic during the Digby County Federation of Agriculture's Annual Meeting in Weymouth.

A discussion on Christmas Trees, their care and management created much interest, so much so that a short course on Christmas Tree production may be offered in this area during the winter.

Charles Christie, Forestry Resource Technician, explained some provincial policies for production assistance. Christie said Christmas Trees have to be considered a "crop" in this day and age. "The day of the old wild tree is just about gone."

He said the buyer is looking for a certain type of tree and "if we're willing to grow it we can make a dollar at it."

The available market, according to Christie, is practically unlimited. He claimed the export market will always be larger than the home market (mainly in balsam fir).

Christie placed the value of this province's production at about $4 million - approximately the same as our annual apple crop.

Daniel Eldt, Extension Forestry, gave a talk on Woodlot management. Throughout his address, he stressed the importance of improving the woodlot. Well cared for woodlots, he said, are going to become more valuable as time passes.

David Thomas, G.D. A. Technician for Federal Provincial Forestry Development, explained some of the technicalities necessary to obtain aid for Christmas Tree production.

He said a legal agreement is necessary to get aid. The purpose of the program is to keep the land in forestry production for at least the next 10 years.

Under the provincial plan, only 40 percent of a private woodlot can be used for Christmas Tree production. The remaining land must be used to produce other natural wood products (firewood, pulpwood etc.)

John Comeau Will Carry P.C. Banner In Next Election

Digby Lawyer John Comeau, a native of Weymouth, will carry the Progressive Conservative banner into the next provincial election for the constituency of Digby.

Comeau was one of two candidates seeking the P.C. nomination. He outpolled rival Gifford Lewis of Weymouth by a count of 15-3.

Comeau, is a partner in the Haliburton and Comeau law firm. He has been serving as president of the P.C. Association.

Lewis was president of the Lewis Lumber Co. from 1948 to 1969 and is still employed with that company. He ran for the P.C.'s unsuccessfully against Joe Casey in 1970 and contested the party's nomination convention in 1974.

Immediately after the vote-count announcement, Lewis congratulated Mr. Comeau to make the party's decision unanimous.

In his nomination address, Comeau charged that the Liberals have done nothing for this area since they've been in power. He spoke of the need for an economic plan, an issue on which he plans to elaborate during the election campaign.

Comeau said unemployment in this area is now running at 15 per cent to 20 per cent or higher and the provincial government has shown absolutely no initiative to foster employment in this area.

Small business, according to Comeau, is the backbone of our economy. However, he said industry is required in addition to fishing and the tourist industry to support it.

Comeau said Digby County has the ingredients required to attract industry and felt area ports would regain their past level of activity.

He scored government for not putting additional funds into the Digby Municipal Airport so it could attract passenger and freight service.

Comeau proposed that to improve the local situation a committee should be established to report to government.

He also touched on government waste of money and patronage. He felt the party should look after its own but said jobs should not be created to pay off anyone. This, he charged, is being done by the provincial government. Lewis stressed the importance of local decision-making.

He said his main job as a candidate would be to get the P.C. party organized so that it would be in a position to unseat Joe Casey in the next election.

Lewis said more should be done to pressure the provincial government re. the concerns of fishermen.

Lewis said he can't point out anything Joe Casey has done wrong because "where a man has done nothing he has certainly done nothing wrong."

Lewis also scored the government for wasting money on the cruise ship Mercator. He charged that the government paid $5 million for it and it's still costing the taxpayers $2,000 per day.

Government strategy under a P.C. government, he said, would be well-advised to utilize successful businessmen. He also criticized the Regan government for the high power costs being faced in this province.

John Comeau's nomination was moved by Charles Haliburton and seconded by Warden Wilfred Swift. Lewis was nominated by Sherwood (Sonny) Barr and seconded by John Nichols.

EXECUTIVE

The new executive elected for the coming year will consist of Ken Eavis, president; Mary Lea Whitman, secretary, Clara Perry, treasurer and Gary Cook, first vice-president.

Third Candidate Seeks Nomination

A third man has declared his intentions to seek the NDP nomination which comes up for grabs at the Annapolis West New Democratic Party's Nominating Convention December 9 at the Legion Social Centre.

Howard Langille, founder of Langille Real Estate and active in various community organizations around Annapolis Royal is the latest nomination candidate. He joins John Taylor and Larry Duchesne in seeking the nomination.

Langille is currently President of the Annapolis Royal Recreation Commission and co-ordinator of the Annapolis Royal Community School. In recent years he has served as president of the Annapolis Royal Board of Trade and the Order of Good Cheer.

Langille is a native of Annapolis Royal but has worked in various parts of the country. His career included a stint with the YMCA in which he worked at various times in Montreal, Middleton, Ontario; London, Ontario; and Toronto. While with that organization he directed boys' camps in Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Ontario.

After leaving the Y.M.C.A., Langille built a conference centre and ski resort in Upper Canada and from there joined the staff of York University as director of recreation and athletics. He returned to Nova Scotia

10 years ago and has since been living in Clementsport since then.

Many of the issues of concern to Mr. Langille are related to the economy. Upon his return to Annapolis Royal from Ontario, Langille was shocked to see how his home town had depreciated during his absence.

Langille is concerned that industry, and we must find ways of making farm life less strenuous and more profitable!

Langille feels more emphasis should be placed on vocational training, adult education and community recreation, and schools should become centres for social, recreational and educational progress during off-hours. Stating that Valley people have needs which must be met, Langille said "involvement by all residents regardless of race, color or economic standing must be made possible in community activities."

He feels research into potential energy resources must be given a high priority.

Local production of consumer goods is also one of Langille's desires. "I believe any government in power should set up a commission which would examine each and every product the Maritime Import and then examine the possibilities of manufacturing the same product in the Maritimes."

CHRISTMAS SHOP AT HOME

Christmas 1977 is not far away. Thousands of dollars are going to be spent by people around here from the beginning of December until that day of days, December 25. Families and friends will go all out in shopping for the item which will bring the biggest smile, the most sparkling eyes and the highest expression of joy and delight from the recipient who opens the package from under the Christmas tree.

What will this mean for Digby and those who work here, live here and help to maintain the town and area in a state of progress? Not so much if these gifts are purchased in cities and towns or villages outside the Digby area. For instance, what does a company in Halifax contribute to the tax demands in Digby? How do they add to the upkeep of Digby's sewers, streets, schools, fire protection or police protection? What do they do toward building a new town hall? Instead, it is the town and municipality merchants and business men who must provide all these necessities through their tax dollars and who make Digby area a better place to live.

Purchasing in Digby automatically starts off a chain of economic activity. More are employed to serve the shopper or to produce the goods that makes the gift. Those paid through these channels spend their earnings here and so the circulation of your Christmas gift dollar helps to build up the economy of the place. It is the first link in the economy of the place. It is the first link in the economic chain which helps to bridge the gap to a better way of life, a better standard of living, a more prosperous look.

We have been urged to Buy Nova Scotia. We have been urged, especially recently to Buy Atlantic. Harvey Webber, president of the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce has been holding seminars regarding the Atlantic project. There is good theory behind their reasoning. Christmas Shop At Home has the same theory behind it, except that it is on a more grass roots level, a more localized level.

Shoppers, purchasers - it is a good policy to support those who are helping to maintain employment in your area. Your Christmas dollar spent here will add to the worth of your town and area. Christmas Shop At Home.

Next week, December 1 to December 7 is the Nova Scotia Safety Council sponsored Safe Driving Week. A few facts from the 1975 and 1976 statistical record might be well to note. (1977 statistics would not yet be available). The total number of reported accidents in 1976 reduced from 18,760 to 18,417; the number of those killed reduced from 242 in 1975 to 203 in 1976. Christmas Daddies Show

Things are in readiness for the 8th annual CKDY Christmas Daddies Show on Sunday, December 4. The marathon nine-hour broadcast, arranged by Digby Radio Station CKDY, will be joined for the first time by sister station CKAD in Middleton, and will be aimed at a Valley audience spanning 95 miles from Berwick to Weymouth. The show gets underway at noon at the Legion Hall in Digby. There will be a limited number of seats available to spectators free of charge. Children twelve years and under will not be admitted unless accompanied by an adult. Those attending are requested to use the front entrance. When all seats are filled, doors will be closed.

CKDY station manager, Leigh Everett, who co-ordinates and directs the show, had praise for Branch No. 20, Royal Canadian Legion in Digby, who have come to the aid of the Christmas Daddies in offering free use of both levels of their hall. For seven years the show used Digby Regional High School auditorium, and although the school board had again offered the use of the school, renovations necessitated by last summer's disastrous fire would have limited the production area.

Without a doubt, the CKDY Christmas Daddies Show is the largest annual stage production in western Nova Scotia. Over 200 behind-the-scenes volunteers are joined by another 300 entertainers to raise funds for the "Christmas Daddies Fund Committee", a volunteer group comprising both private and public care-giving agencies. Since 1970 the CKDY Christmas Daddies have raised more than $71-thousand, assisting hundreds of needy families at Christmas time, and to date all money pledged has been received. Following the show, another 200-or-more volunteers screen applications and spend the money on food, clothing and toys to be delivered by Christmas Day. The bulk of funds have been spent in the area between Lawrencetown and Weymouth, with all money returning to work in the county from which it was pledged. The addition of CKAD Middleton this year is expected to add additional funds from the central valley area between Lawrencetown and Berwick. In western Annapolis County and Kings County, funds will be administered by the Family and Children's Services. In eastern Annapolis County the Middleton and District Welfare Association will expend Christmas Daddies monies, and in Digby County details are completed by the Digby Christmas Daddies Fund Committee. Last year's total exceeded $14-thousand. Donations are tax deductible. Pledges may be honoured at any branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Telephone lines will be available to take pledges, with free dialing accessible to most areas west of Kingston. A gigantic array of Annapolis Valley talent is scheduled to perform. Included will be individual acts, dancers, school and church choruses, rhythm bands, cheerleaders and musical groups. Community spirited people from all walks of life have once again pledged support to CKDY in this exciting part of the Christmas season, fast becoming a tradition.

encouraging. The number injured increased from 3,956 in 1975 to 4,293 in 1976. All sorts of statistics are available, eg., how many accidents took place on a Sunday, Monday, Tuesday or other day of the week. As expected, Friday and Saturday led the list. Inattention of operator was high in the list of accident causes and the highest score for accidents went to operators or passengers in the age 25 years to 34 years bracket. It was encouraging to see the figures for this bracket dropped from 8,259 in 1975 to 7,740 in 1976. We can use Safe Driving Week and all the weeks until January 1, 1978 to help lower all the statistics for 1977.

FOSTER PARENTS GIVEN BANQUET

parents provide an important service to all agencies, in light of the fact that 85 per cent of the children that come into care are placed in foster homes. The budget allotted for these children makes up a small percentage of the overall budget for the Department of Social Services and therefore, the amount paid to foster parents for the maintenance of these children is far less than the actual cost. He also commended the foster parents on a job well done and said that without them, this important service to children would not be possible.

This year's banquet was a success and the staff of the Digby District Office thanked all of those who made the success possible.

Dougie Morgan Represents Digby County

4-H Dude, Dougie Morgan, of Brighton, recently returned home from representing Digby County, at the 4-H Annual Convention held in Halifax.

While there Dougie, along with 79 other 4-H'ers from the Atlantic Provinces, stayed at the Holiday Inn.

Dougie reported to the club that his five days were filled with both interesting and educational events. To name but a few, the group attended lectures on physical fitness and drug abuse. The physical fitness program was held at Dalhousie University. Doug reported that he found the drug abuse lecture most informative. The group visited the Atlantic Winter Fair and found the tour enjoyable, with many items of interest to please all tastes.

The club enjoyed Dougie's description of his trip.

Remembrance Day At Clementsport

Although the weather was a bit on the damp side in the morning the afternoon turned out fine and a large number turned out for the Remembrance Services at Clementsport and Clements.

Padre Tim Maindonald, CFB Cornwallis was in charge of the three services and Eugene Hay was trumpeter. Mrs. Jean Townsend was pianist at the Service held in the Legion Hall which was largely attended. Comrade Mason Wamboldt read the Honour Roll.

Wreaths were laid by the following: Com. Pres. Charles Long - Province of Nova Scotia; Coms. James Sanford and Walter Robar - Clementsport Branch No. 122; Kay Sanford - Ladies Auxiliary; Cpls. McNeil and Down - Cpls. Mess, CFB Cornwallis; Glenn Merritt in memory of Harry Wallis; Hilda Windsor in memory of Gus Windsor; Alice Bennett in memory of William Bennett; Bertha Haviland in memory of Willard Haviland. Flag bearers were Coms. Bob Wright and V.J.E. (Friday) Wright.

During the afternoon, graves were decorated in Clementsport and Clements. The Legion Hall was filled to capacity by Legion members and service personnel who enjoyed an afternoon of singing and good fellowship.

The banquet in the evening was attended by over one hundred Legion members, Ladies Auxiliary, service personnel and guests. A turkey dinner was much enjoyed and prepared by the Ladies of the Anglican Church Guild. Guests at the head table were Com. Pres.

Charles Long and Mrs. Long; Mr. Joe Casey, M.L.A. and Mrs. Casey; I.Col. and Mrs. McCarthy; Padre and Mrs. Tim Maindonald; Com. 1st Vice Pres. Mason Wamboldt and Mrs. Wamboldt; Com. 2nd Vice Pres. Walter Robar and Mrs. Robar.

Joe Casey, M.L.A. Digby, Deputy Speaker, Nova Scotia House of Assembly, was guest speaker for the evening. His talk began on the serious side of Remembrance Day and ended on a most humorous note with stories and events from his service with the RCNVR during World War 11. He was introduced by James Sanford, Branch secretary and was thanked by the President Com. Long.

I.Col. McCarthy brought greetings from CFB Cornwallis and presented pins for years of service to members of the Legion and Ladies Auxiliary. He also presented a Legion Centennial Medal for Merit to Com. Maurice Perkins.

Bertha Haviland on behalf of the Ladies Auxiliary presented a cheque in the amount of $1,000.00 to the Branch. This to be used as and where needed. Com. Pres. Long expressed thanks on behalf of the Branch and stated that the Ladies Auxiliary has been a constant source of help over the years and it would be hard to visualize the Branch without them. Bertha then presented the Ladies Auxiliary with a Branch No. 122 Ladies Auxiliary Flag in memory of her sister, Mrs. Blanche Rawding.

After the banquet an evening of dancing and good comradeship was enjoyed.

Government Assistance For Fish Chilling

As a result of a lack of ice to enable fishermen to ice their catch at sea to preserve quality, the Fish Chilling Assistance Program was reintroduced in April of this year by the Federal Department of Fisheries and Environment. The Fish Chilling Assistance Program provides financial assistance of 50 percent of the cost for the purchase and installation of equipment, up to a maximum grant of $50-thousand for facilities to preserve the quality of fish at sea. Such facilities include ice making equipment and ice storage buildings on land, as well as salt water ice makers installed on a vessel or refrigerated seawater or ice-water systems installed on vessels.

To date, thirty-eight separate applications have been approved in the Maritime Provinces. Many facilities have been completed and are providing the much needed ice to fishermen.

Additional funds are still available for this program and Fisheries Field Staff Personnel have the necessary application forms and are making contact with potential applicants in locations where ice is still required or in short supply. This program will continue into the next fiscal year. However, potential applicants are being encouraged to make application as early as possible in order to gain quick approval and thus allow sufficient lead time to enable such applicants to have the equipment ordered, delivered and installed prior to the 1978 fishing season.

Missionary Visits Tiverton

Robert Morse (Bob) Jr., missionary in Thailand and surrounding areas, visited the Christian churches at Westport and Tiverton.

At his visit to Tiverton he was introduced by the regular minister, Charles McNeill. He gave an exciting and challenging resumé of life, conditions and his Christian endeavors in Thailand and Burma where he works with children and adults strengthening their spiritual lives in what he terms an "outreach ministry."

"Children are the greatest blessing to mankind," the speaker said. "Their lives can be shaped, molded, while they are young and receptive so that their spiritual growth will be as normal, continuous, perceptive, and as assured as physical growth. Children are the keys to the parents' heart," he continued. "When they leave the school for the day and go home they tell their parents and others about the Lord and sometimes whole families come to us to teach them more about our great God."

The speaker said they do not have proper school facilities to accommodate the present attendance of about 250 children that range in ages 4-13 years. The missionary workers in their desire to erect a school whereby the youngsters might obtain spiritual tutoring, applied to the government for funds, but were refused. They went to the World Vision Interdenomination, an organization designed to assist denominations financially or otherwise who agreed to donate $500 toward the school. Their present problem is to obtain the approximate $75,000 to cover the cost of land to build the school on.

Several times throughout the discourse, Mr. Morse brought his listeners' attention to the fact we tend to overlook or minimize God's gifts to Canada. He emphasized the fact that Canadians are fortunate and should be thankful that they are living in such a great country where they are free to worship God in their own way, they are free to study His Word anytime, free to preach anywhere and that Bibles are not prohibited or supplies of them limited. He reminded his audience that Christians in some countries are forced to meet in secret to worship and study Bibles that have been smuggled in to them. Mr. Morse recalled missionaries travelling 43 days over rough terrain backpacking Bibles to spiritually starved people. If worshippers are caught, country officials have them punished by torture or killed.

The speaker continued that Baptism is the greatest step in the life of the natives of Thailand or other mission fields. By this act they have denounced the power of the idols they have worshipped for so long and have accepted God and His Word. He related that his missionary brother keeps his home open for those natives who are sick or in need. He stressed the fact that one must be able to reach out to those in need in order to reach them spiritually. He said all programs to be successful need Christian leadership.

Mr. Morse, native of his mission area, speaks six different languages fluently but the French dialect proved a problem to him at Quebec and Montreal during his first visit to Canada several years ago. He expressed pleasure in visiting the Maritimes again.

The speaker also witnessed through singing a number of hymns including several of his own compositions. He provided his own guitar accompaniment. Mr. Morse has been speaking at other churches across Canada including P.E.I., River John, Westport and others.

Wedding Bells

MITCHELL-HEWEY

On August 6, at 2 p.m. Bear River United Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding of Julia Mae, daughter of Mrs. Blanche Hewey, Deep Brook, to Reginald Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mitchell, Pugwash, N.S.

Rev. Douglas Hapeman, Bear River, assisted by Rev. Donald Switzer, Publico, performed the double ring ceremony. As well as assisting with the marriage ceremony, Rev. Switzer was also the soloist and Mrs. Allie Dukeshire of Bear River was the organist.

The church was decorated with baskets of assorted flowers. The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Maynard Wagner, wore a slipper length gown of sheer organza over nylon net and pure silk faille with re-em brodered lace, featuring a small stand-up collar with ruffles, long sleeves with deep felled cuffs with ruffles and a flounced hemline extending in a chapel train. The elbow-length veil matched the dress and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Judy McBride, friend of the bride, was Matron of Honour and wore a floorlength long sleeved gown of pastel pink polyester styled with a high neckline. Trimming the bottom of the sleeves as well as around the neckline, there was small white flowered trim. She carried a cascade of white mums with one pink rose in the centre and wore a floral spray of pink mums as her head-dress.

Bridesmaids were Miss Marsha LeBlanc and Miss Cathy Trimper, both friends of the bride. They wore similarly styled polyester floor length beige gowns with accenting pink flowers throughout. They carried floral bouquets of white mums, baby's breath with gold leaves scattered among the flowers. Miss Cindy Comeau, friend of the bride, was flower girl and wore a floor-length long sleeved dress of pastel pink polyester with white flowered trim which matched the matron of honour's gown. She carried a basket of pink tinted mums and baby's breath.

Best man was Mr. Russell Mitchell, brother of the groom, from Pugwash. Ushers were Mr. Brian Hewey, brother of the bride, and Mr. Brian Smith, cousin of the groom. Mr. Donald Hewey, brother of the bride, assisted them in passing out the wedding bulletins at the door of the church.

The bride's mother chose a long gown of mint satin polyester with sheer white flowered sleeves. She wore silver accessories and a corsage of green tinted carnations with a silver ribbon.

The groom's mother chose a long white polyester gown with brown, pink and red flowers throughout. She wore white accessories and a corsage of green tinted carnations with a white ribbon.

Following the ceremony, a beautiful buffet style reception, catered to by Mr. and Mrs. George Hannah, from the Hollow Spot Restaurant, Deep Brook, for 95 guests was held in the Deep Brook Parish Hall. Mrs. Viola Long made the lovely three-tiered bride's cake which had its place in the centre of the bride's table.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Gerry Connelly, Bayview, and responded to by the groom. Master of ceremonies was the best man, Mr. Russell Mitchell.

Mrs. Dorothea Stark, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Alice Read, aunt of the groom, poured tea and coffee for the bride's table.

The bridal party was graciously served by Mrs. Mabel Wagner, Mrs. Marie Milbury and Mrs. Betty Wagner, all aunts of the bride.

Miss Susan Haynes, friend of the bride, had charge of the guest book.

For travelling, the bride wore a orange polyester jacket and skirt set. She wore a corsage of orange tinted carnations.

Out-of-town guests were from Pugwash, Amherst, Halifax, Fenwick, Oxford, Truro, Hunt's Point, Bridgetown, Bridgewater, Publico, Saint John, Ontario and Quebec.

Bible Bowl Game

A Bible Bowl Game was held at the Digby Wesleyan Church recently when The Wesleyan Youth of Dartmouth numbering about 18 competed with the Digby Youth for an interesting Bible Quiz. The Dartmouth Team won, however the Digby Youth did score high.

Lunch was served to the youth before they returned to their home church.

The next Bible Bowl Game with these groups is expected to be held in Dartmouth.

Digby Kinsmen Have Varied Program

The first teenage Fall dance in aid of Cystic Fibrosis was held by the Kinsmen Club in their Centre in the month of November 1977. The Club reported the dance to be a success for the worthy cause and also reported that donations from members of the community were received for the benefit of C-F patients. The Club extended sincere thanks for the donations.

One of the coming events to be featured by the Digby Kinsmen Club is the official opening of the refurbished centre, funds for which have been obtained by a Canada Youth Project and financial pledges by Digby Kinsmen. The Kin Centre will be the site of the regular Kindergarten project for the Digby area which will be opening at the end of the month.

During the month of December the Kinsmen members will be providing staff for the delivery of the Christmas Daddies parcels in the Digby area and the Centre will be the toy station.

Other events planned for the immediate or near future are a Defensive Driving Course, Handicapped Persons' Dance, Consumer Education Course, Radio Programme and Heritage Canada. To finance these projects the club will be selling tickets for a draw on a television game and will be canvassing the public.

Behind The Scenes

In a few days - on December 4th - the Christmas Daddies' Show will be broadcast over radio stations CKDY and CKAD. This marks the eighth year the marathon appeal has gone over the airwaves in Digby and Annapolis Counties. Each year, the response of the public has been enormously gratifying. The organization and production of the Christmas Daddies' Show requires countless hours of work, all done by people whose generosity and dedication exemplify the goodwill of the Christmas season.

All the work is strictly voluntary - from the technicians who donate their expertise and time, to those who man the telephones and adding machines, to the stage managers and announcers, to those who decorate the hall and clean up after the show, to the women who provide sandwiches and coffee for the workers, to those who run errands and read pledges, to say nothing of the many entertainers who take part in the broadcast. A tremendous undertaking, to be sure.

But for the Christmas Daddies' Fund Committee, the staging of the Christmas Daddies' Show, is only the beginning of a great deal of effort which is culminated with the delivery, a few days before Christmas, of Christmas Daddy hampers to needy families in the Digby-Annapolis area.

Over the next few weeks, a series of articles will be appearing in this newspaper, with the hope that the public may thereby become better informed about the behind-the-scenes operation of the Christmas Daddies' Fund Committee. It is also hoped that the many hundreds of people who make the Christmas Daddies' a year-round project may receive some long-overdue recognition.

The Christmas Daddies' Committee is entirely dependent upon the generosity of the public. Ours is a step in faith, for if in one year, the public failed to respond to our appeal, the entire project would fail. Since this is, in effect, YOUR project, in which YOUR money is spent, the Christmas Daddies' Committee wants you to be aware of what happens to this money.

Perhaps all this can be best explained by following the Christmas Daddies volunteers through each phase of the work. But first, a word about finances in general.

Last year, the Christmas Daddies' appeal saw the honoring of $13,600 in pledges. All but $1400.00 of that amount was spent last Christmas, with this remaining $1400. kept on hand to begin again early in the fall for the 1977 project.

The Christmas Daddies are happy to report that 99 per cent of the funds go directly to needy families in the form of Christmas hampers, with the remaining 1 per cent, or $130.00 being spent for the necessities of the operation (telephone lines on the day of the Show, postage, labels for hampers).

All monies received are divided between Digby and Annapolis Counties, with each dollar pledged from each County going back to work in that County. Each County carries out its own separate program, although they are identical in method. The core workers in each County are members of the

The New Democratic Party of Nova Scotia launched a lottery today to underscore the fact that UNEMPLOYMENT is the most serious problem facing the people of Nova Scotia.

Jeremy Akerman said the lottery is designed to emphasize the differences in income that exist in the province.

"Thousands of people have lived on fixed incomes, many of whom receive the Old Age Allowance as the sole means of support", Mr. Akerman said.

"The present government will not approach the problems of living on fixed incomes and of unemployment honestly or with effective programs," he said.

"A growing number of Nova Scotians cannot find work under the present government that spends foolishly in times of prosperity and have no money for essentials when times get hard.

"The New Democratic Party believes in a Democratically planned economy that will give the opportunity to all Nova Scotians to have productive and useful jobs."

The Lottery offers a first prize of $600.77, one weeks salary for a Nova Scotian Cabinet Minister, second prize is one week Unemployment Insurance benefit, $147.00, and last prize is $59.06, one week Old Age Pension benefit.

The Drawing will take place on February 18, 1977.

People who are interested in purchasing tickets to support the N.D.P.'s program for Jobs should contact their local NDP Association or write to the NDP Lottery Coordinator, P.O. Box 2391, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

As she came to the main road, we noticed that she had learned well her parent's instructions to look both ways before crossing the highway. What's In A Number?

The number 68-108 represents the culmination of 10 years' work by an Agriculture Canada strawberry breeder at the federal department's research station at Kentville, N.S.

The new variety is the result of a cross between Tioga, a large, bright red, California strawberry, and Guardsman, a hardy and productive variety developed by Agriculture Canada researchers at Ottawa.

The new variety will be licensed by Agriculture Canada and should be available to growers next spring, probably with the name Micmac.

1977 DRHS Senior Dragons

The Digby Dragons is a girls basketball team having a solid yet ornate style and an uncanny ability for obtaining success. Composed of comradeship and co-operation the team functions as a unit constantly striving to better itself. This group originating from Digby Regional High School has emerged as one of Nova Scotia's most promising teams. The team has been honoured by receiving the opportunity to play in an international tournament. The Dragons have been asked to participate in an exchange of teams with a team from Sweden. This invitation is both an honour and a privilege as well as a credit to the teams' diligent and tenacious efforts. The team has a quick and energetic style which makes it very exciting to watch. This style combined with high spirit and excellent morale is responsible for the Dragons prowess on the court. Of course good discipline and strategic coaching also play a prominent role in building a strong team.

As a team is made up of individuals, it is important to look closely at the players in order to obtain a better understanding of the team. Here is an in-depth view of the individual players making up the Digby Dragons.

The first girl is Erin Gardiner the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carter. Erin is a grade 10 student who stands at 5' 6 1/2" and puts 100 per cent effort into everything she does on the court. An excellent defensive player, Erin is the Dragon's top rebounder for game with a 9.8 rebound average. Last year she hit the boards for 550 rebounds. Miss Gardiner is one of the best players on the team for doing things technically correct. In her first season, Erin scored 110 points with 112 assists. In her second season she scored 298 points and 350 assists. Being one of the Dragon's forwards, Erin also enjoys such activities as high jump and long jump in track and field and horses. A valuable asset to the team, this girl seems to never tire.

In alphabetical order, Pam Griffiths is the second girl to look at. A grade 9 student, this girl stands 5 feet 6 inches tall and utilizes extreme power while playing her positions of forward or guard. When moving defensively Pam is described as "tough". She is another player who puts out 100 per cent and who has the mystic ability to always find new strength. Considered a good rebounder for a guard, Pam was able to snatch 204 rebounds last year. In the same season, she scored 152 points and 642 assists. The previous year, 120 points and 200 assists marked her record. Supplementary to basketball, Pam throws javelin and shotput. A good team player, Pam Griffiths is considered the Dragon's best passing guard.

Standing 5 feet 6 inches tall is Dragon forward by the name of Darlene Haight. Daughter of Cecil and Bessie Haight this grade 10 student is described as "steady and dedicated." Miss Haight is an asset both defensively and offensively. A good rebounder, Darlene was able to grab 440 rebounds in last year's season. In her first season, Darlene sank 98 points and obtained 160 assists. Last year in her second season, she scored 194 points and totalled 522 assists. Darlene is the type of player who is both reliable and steady, and she always seems to be there when needed.

The daughter of Don and Irene Hattie is a big, strong girl, who plays forward for the Dragons and has a remarkable outside shot. Karen Hattie stands 5 feet 8 1/2 inches tall. A grade 10 student, Karen is valuable defensively as well as being a good forward. A fairly good rebounder, Karen was able to pull down 267 rebounds last year. Two years ago in the 1975-76 season, Karen scored 154 points and obtained 214 assists. Last year her scoring improved to 358 points and 450 assists. Karen is an active swimmer and track and field athlete. Perhaps the most interesting thing about Karen is the fact that she has a knack for playing extremely well in the important games.

Both an asset and an attribute to the Digby Dragons is Judy Kenley. Daughter of Duane and Dorothy Kenley, this grade 10 student has the best jump shot on the team. Standing 5 feet 8 1/2 inches, Judy is a strong and capable rebounder. As a matter of fact, she is the top total rebounder on the Dragons. In her second season, Judy scored 604 points and 364 assists. She brought in 573 rebounds. It is quite plain to see that this girl can score with the best. Her jump shot is one of fine precision and perhaps her greatest asset. Judy is quite able with the javelin and shotput.

One of the more aggressive defensive players is 5-2" grade 10 player Pam Locke. The daughter of Stan and Rosalie Locke, Pam is constantly working on her defensive moves. She is excellent with her defensive skills especially her aggressive footwork. Her ability to turn the dribbler is considered close to perfection. On offense Pam is one of the best at starting and completing the fast break. To find Pam in a game all one has to do is find the opponents best guard and one will clearly see Pam covering her. Pam also is interested in track and field with emphasis placed on discus throwing.

The Digby Dragons are fortunate to have one of the more promising large persons in the Province of Nova Scotia, in the person of Susan Marshall. Standing close to 6' 1" without her sneakers, Susan gives the team its equalizer. A grade 9 student and daughter of Ervin and Arlene Marshall, Susan finds herself where most tall people do, blocking shots. Susan is presently putting an accent on developing a good shot and her efforts show considerable improvement and great potential for the future. In her first season Miss Marshall picked up 46 points and 80 assists. Her second season saw her improve her record to 158 points and 214 assists. She also pulled down 288 rebounds.

All teams must have their coach's pet and the Digby Dragon's are no exception. Amanda Muise (Father being George Muise) stands a full 4 foot 11 inches. A hard worker, Amanda is also the Dragon's manager. Although small this girl is both fast and lithe, and has a deadly shot. Good technically, Amanda is considered an all round player.

In short, Amanda is a small player with a big heart. A new and developing player showing high potential is Kathy Naylor. A very steady player, Kathy is 5 foot 4 inches tall and plays guard for the Dragons. Kathy proved to be a major asset in the Bantam Provincials last year. She scored 70 points for the Dragons last year, and secured 230 assists and 102 rebounds. A very aggressive player, Kathy has greatly improved her defense and is still moulding it. Perhaps Miss Naylor's greatest attribute on the basketball court is her ability to anticipate the opposition's moves.

Another of the new comers to the Dragons is a grade 8 student named Debbie Pyne. Debbie is the daughter of June Pyne. Debbie stands 5 feet 5 inches tall and is a Dragon guard. She is considered a playmaker and a good passing guard. Eager yet steady, she puts out 100 per cent effort during both practices and games. In last year's season, she hit 80 points, 260 assists, and 148 rebounds marked her record. Debbie enjoys track and field highlighting in relay races and cross country running. Out of the fifteen girls, Debbie may well be the most aggressive.

The recipient of many most valuable player awards is Kim Roy. Daughter of Brenda Roy this 5 foot 7 inch, grade 9 student has a fantastic outside shot. The top scorer of the team, Kim owes this position to her brilliant ability to drive to the opposing teams basket. Kim has improved herself greatly in the 2 years she has played for the Dragons. Kim is involved in track and field as well as playing forward for the Dragons. Her main strength in track is in high jumping. In her first season Kim scored 188 points and secured 120 assists. In her second season she scored 1174 points and obtained 606 assists, as well as pulling down 394 rebounds. In the first game of the new season, Kim scored 38 points. What more can be said?

The hardest worker on the Dragons is Kathy Troupe. She is a grade 10 student and is 5 foot 4 inches tall. Kathy is an honest worker dedicated to doing things right. Her defensive skills have shown a tremendous build-up during the last year. Kathy is presently working on her defense and her shooting. In her first season, Kathy managed 16 points and 50 assists. Her second season showed improvement as she obtained 54 points and 208 assists.

Kathy's strengths lie in her scientific ability to block other players out (opposition) and her outside shot.

The team quarterback for the Digby Dragons is Cheryl Trask. The daughter of Ivan and Lorena Trask, Cheryl is a quick, aggressive player. Cheryl is a grade 10 student who stands 5 feet 5 inches and plays guard. Her score in points went from 210 points the first season, to 392 points in her second season. In the same order, her assists went from 188 to 668. Cheryl throws discus and is involved in long jump and high jump. The coach of the Dragons considers Cheryl a valuable playmaker.

Versatile is a correct description of Janet Wilson, standing 5 feet 5 inches and being a grade 10 student, Janet is what is called a smart team player. Janet plays both forward and guard and thinks well on the court no matter what is happening. She is a good ball handler and sets up plays well. Janet has an abundance of offensive moves and is considered to be the future strength of the team. Janet is another very improved player on the Dragons. In her first season, she scored 42 points and landed 50 assists. Her second season showed marked improvement with 358 points and 508 assists. Janet also picked up 410 rebounds in the latter season. If ever a basketball player had an asset, it would be Janet Wilson and her hookshot. Fast, effective, and precise, if Janet's hook shot misses the basket, it is a memorable event.

The Digby Dragons are often compared to a machine. In this comparison, the spark plug of that machine is Joanne Wilson. This 5 feet 3 inch grade 10 student, literally abounds with energy. Joanne seems to be everywhere at once, and her vibrant style appears to have an inexhaustible supply of vitality. A hard worker, Joanne is very fast and can anticipate well. She is a good rebounder for her size. She scored 104 points and 120 assists in her first season. In her second season she scored 230 points and 470 assists. Joanne makes good use of her size and is extremely aggressive. Joanne is there when she is needed and is afraid of absolutely nothing.

As a team can not function without a coach, a few words of due credit must be given to Mr. Jamison, the coach of the Dragons, who gives needed encouragement and drive to his players. A coach can organize a team into a mobilized functioning unit of synchronized co-operation, putting out its best effort, or he can simply make it a good team. In the case of the Dragons, the team effort reflects upon the coaches ability to create initiative. The Dragons' efforts and ability are competent and capable.

This in-depth view of the individuals making up the Dragons, has shown just what kind of individuals the Dragons Team is made up of. The Dragons only succeed, however, through the concentrated efforts of the individuals to unify their abilities and become a team - the Dragons. In short, The Digby Dragons is made up of correctly coached individuals who unify their talents and strive to become one. This structure, and the belief that there is no substitute for victory, has made the Dragons victorious.

With a little support and a lot of confidence, the Dragons will represent Canada hopefully as well as they have represented their school as a team, their efforts are unsurpassed.

Dragons

Win New Glasgow Tournament

The D.R.H.S. Senior Dragons travelled to New Glasgow this past weekend and came away with the Nova Scotia Oxygen Ltd. trophy emblematic of New Glasgow Tip-Off Tournament. The victory was not an easy one as the Dragons first had to dispose of the host school New Glasgow and then of the more powerful Amherst team. In the first game on Friday night the purple and white had to make a comeback in the final quarter in order to squeeze out a 45-36 win. With

KRVS Dump Leafs 10 - 2

In a regular scheduled Valley High School Hockey League game played at the Digby Forum, Kingstec defeated the D.R.H.S. Leafs 10-2. The first period saw some very exciting hockey with end to end rushes and excellent scoring opportunities missed at both ends. The only scoring in the first stanza was by Kingstec who led 1-0. The middle of the second period the Leafs completely went to sleep as Kingstec tallied six goals in ten minutes. Kingstec led 9-2 at the end of the second frame.

The third period saw both teams return to excellent hockey and the Leafs appeared to come alive and play the brand of hockey they are capable of playing and although they were kept off the score board Kingstec only tallied once.

T.V. GUIDE

It's a rare occasion to find the three hosts of CBC-TV's fifth estate in the same place at the same time. Except for Tuesdays, when Eric Malling, Adrienne Clarkson and Bob Johnston gather in the studio to prepare the program for telecast that night, all three journalists are busy travelling across Canada and abroad, investigating stories and filing their reports.

Dragons

just 5 minutes left the Dragons were behind by 9 points, however, the remaining minutes of the game saw the purple machine run a devastating zone press to surge ahead to win by 9. The game was not one of finesse but one of raw energy as both teams used aggressive tactics in order to out muscle their opponents. It is interesting to note that even with this style played in the New Glasgow area commented on the entertaining style of basketball that was produced by this game.

Top scorer was Kim Roy who caught fire in the latter part of the game to hit for 22 points. She also was the most aggressive rebounder for the Dragons as she pulled in 9 rebounds off the boards. Cheryl Trask led the team in assists as she set up 6 scoring plays.

Before this game was played the Amherst squad disposed of Breton Education Center by a 45-39 score. This set up the championship game between Digby and Amherst.

The championship game on Saturday brought together two young and up and coming teams in the Province, Amherst and Digby. What was thought to be a close contest did not turn out that way, at least in the first quarter, as the purple machine rolled over the Amherst green scoring almost at will. By the end of the first quarter Digby had forced the Amherst squad to give up their man-to-man defense and turn to a zone defense in order to turn the tide as the score had mounted to 22 to 4.

However, led by Kim Bird, the Amherst squad kept coming back and at one point had closed the gap to 4 points, but the Dragons, in the last few minutes, used their excellent press to wipe out any hopes Amherst had of a comeback. The final score was 45-36 for Digby. The game featured unbelievable rebounding by the Dragons as they pulled down a total of 47. The coach was very pleased with this effort as rebounding had worried him up to this point. In this, the championship game, they hit for 75 percent of the rebounds. Top scorer was Kim Roy with 20 points, while Erin Gardiner scored 15. Top rebounders were Cheryl Trask, Erin Gardiner and Karen Hattie with 10 each. Team assists were led by Cheryl Trask with 6. Kim Roy was named the tournament MVP while Erin Gardiner made the all-star team.

Organization To Preserve For Future Generations

Association of Outdoor Nova Scotians is an organization made up of people who are devoted to the improvement of the quality of life in Nova Scotia. These people have a common concern of preserving, conserving, studying and using the natural resources in a wise way.

A.O.N.S. views the "Outdoors" not as a place for destruction but "the land and its use, the lakes, streams, ocean and air and their purity, plant and animal life and their nature... and the relationship of all these to each other and to all Nova Scotians."

It is the purpose of Outdoor Nova Scotians to bring together individuals and groups in the Province who share this concern in a non-competitive way so that future generations may be able to enjoy the Outdoors.

The main objective of the Association is to improve the general appreciation of outdoor activities and values by providing materials, information, educational programs and activities to its members, to other outdoor oriented associations and to the general public.

The aims of A.O.N.S. are:

- 1) To develop more public awareness and concern on issues relating to the outdoors that affect the quality of life for all Nova Scotians.
- 2) To establish a united forum on issues relating to the out-of-doors.
- 3) To establish a service for the distribution of information on education, recreation, industry and research related to the out-of-doors.
- 4) To actively promote the conservation and wise use of material resources in Nova Scotia.
- 5) To promote liaison and exchange of information between Provincial, National and International organizations with similar aims.
- 6) To remain an autonomous body without control by government, save as through the statutes of Nova Scotia.

7) To raise and expend funds in order to further the aims of the society.

8) To be a non-profit and charitable society.

In the Valley Region the association has recently had two Canada Works Projects approved. The first is a Regional Trails Inventory. Four people will be hired in this region to search out, find and evaluate existing and potential trails, hiking, skiing, snowmobiling in their designated areas. The project worker will also be doing an evaluation of these trails which will include such items as type of trail, type of terrain, special features of interest, map references, demand and difficulty of maintenance.

The second project is an Outdoor Recreation Resource Inventory. The purpose of the project is to:

- 1) identify those people in the community who are already involved either as participants or leaders in outdoor recreation activities.
- 2) to identify where outdoor recreation equipment is located and to their condition for use.
- 3) To locate and evaluate outdoor recreation sites in the area.

If readers are interested in the Association of Outdoor Nova Scotians, or in either of the above projects, call your A.O.N.S. Valley Representative George Taylor, 542-5709 office, 542-9504 home.

There are two public meetings set up in the valley region in the near future. The first one is at the Annapolis High School on Wednesday November 30th, the second is in Middleton on Tuesday, December 6th. Check the local advertising for time and programs of the evening.

the three trumpet players were Forest MacArthur, Lee MacArthur and Lois MacAllum.

The Digby Church people provided the guests with overnight lodging and breakfast. Friday night supper

Previous to the dinner hour the visitors enjoyed a game of football.

They returned home following their dinner hour by chartered bus.

Reflecting To 1947

According to news in The Digby Courier, October 1947, the assessment in Digby town had just passed the one million mark. Actual figures were 1,009,000.

The Y's Men's Club hosted the Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs at a Hallowe'en party. The affair was in charge of Victor Cardozo. Hallowe'en was plagued with fires at Harold Parson's, Gerald Sanford's and the Fairview apartments. Winston Brooks, a seven year old boy in Weymouth, was taken to hospital with injuries suffered while playing with dynamite caps which exploded.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fickes and twin sons, Jack and Arnold, of Annapolis Royal, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Casey, Victoria Beach, put to sea in their craft "Bett" on a gypsy cruise to Florida. Bett was constructed of 25,000 feet of lumber. She was length 48 ft. 6 ins.; beam 13 ft. 6 ins.; tonnage 25.06; twin Chrysler Marine engine 110 h.p. Carried 180 gals gas. There were three double staterooms. Wheelhouse and main salon were in one measuring 10 x 5 ft. Weymouth organized a bowling league.

Weather? Must have been good for strawberries to be growing and flowers blooming.

The regular monthly meeting of the Maple Leaf Agricultural Society was held at the new Agriculture Building, Conway, this being the first meeting held since the completion of the building. Farmers were annoyed because of the grain exchange and milling companies being allowed to make large profits while farmers were forced to slaughter cattle to reduce feed costs. They took steps to contact the federal government to rectify the condition.

Anne Marie Comeau, teenaged Little Brook Station exhibitor stole the spotlight as the 13th annual Provincial Fox Show concluded at Little Brook. Miss Comeau had a total of seven championships (white and platinum foxes) including the Grand Champion and the Reserve Grand.

A letter was read at the Town Council from the Township of York stating they would accept Digby's offer of $1000 for their fire pumper.

Evidently not everybody approved of (CFB) Cornwallis being sold to W.E. Butlin for a tourist centre and some weekly papers editorialized on the subject. The resort which would be offering "managed holiday", it was thought would be detrimental to other resorts here.

The Digby County of the Nova Scotia Teachers Union met in Digby, it having been organized the previous year with Principal Fisher, Weymouth North as president. About 26 teachers attended. Visiting members were guests of the local teachers at the Winchester Hotel.

Miss Helen J. MacDougall, Provincial Superintendent of Women's Institutes addressed the Bear River Women's Institute on all phases of work. Miss MacDougall commended the Bear River Women's Institute for its varied activities, especially that of editing a page in The Digby Courier, the only woman's organization in Canada which had undertaken such work.

Christmas cooking ingredients were advertised, shelled walnuts 49 cents per pound; six packages seeded raisins 1.00 six packages currants $1.00; two pound dates .25 cents; 13 lbs. sugar $1.00 and molasses .85 cents per gallon.

Digby County Power Board plans were to extend their service down Digby Neck but were awaiting reply to their request on behalf of the residents for the government to lay and maintain cables necessary to link the islands with mainland service. A deadlock was imminent and the Power Board was helpless to move. H. H. Marshall said that the Power Board was meeting all expectations and the production for their first month operation, April, was 13,100 kilowatts.

There was Hallowe'en fifty years ago. The First Digby Scout Troop held a "Hallowe'en Feast" under the direction of Scoutmaster, O. Wright.

A School Parents Day was held. Class leaders were published in Miss Swallow's class (now Mrs. Fred May). They were grade I, Robert Weir, Mary Condon and Ronald Van Tassel; II, Elaine Theriault, Lucille Cormack and Claude Franklin.

Dr. H. L. Roberts left Digby December 6 and Dr. I. R. Sutherland took over the office, equipment and records.

(Who remembers the Old Town Clock? Where is the old town clock?) Following redecoration of the (then) Post Office, fisheries inspection offices and customs were moved. The Courier printed "The move was too much for the Town Clock and it refused to strike hours."

The Courier tried to show the importance to Western Nova Scotia of having C.P.R. round out its great system by linking up with the D.A.R. and for this purpose providing a Bay service between Saint John and Digby that would enable it to compete with its great rival, the Canadian National Railway which has port facilities at both Saint John and Halifax. Mr. Beatty, president of C.P.R. offered to contribute on behalf his company $300,000 to the hotel enterprise in Halifax and was thought because of it, he must have the interest of Nova Scotia at heart.

Gets $14,000 From Lottery

$14,000 has been added to the Research Fund of The Arthritis Society, Nova Scotia Division, as a result of a lottery which ended Friday with a drawing of the winning numbers by computer.

M. L. Pitman, President of the Society, stated that the money would be part of the more than $100,000 allocated for research carried out in Nova Scotia this year. The earnings from the lottery would be used to support studies not financed by governments or universities. "The main thrust of current research," he said, "is to study the effects of the disease in order to better understand it and hopefully develop a cure."

The Arthritis Research Lottery was a joint project of Society volunteers and members of the Knights of Columbus in Nova Scotia. Mr. Pitman stated that the Society was most grateful to all of those who had a part in this very successful undertaking.

Non-Prescription Drugs

By N. Halley MacPherson
Vice-President Atlantic Region

Shoppers Drug Mart stores

More and more Canadians are relying on a wide variety of non-prescription drugs to cure their ills. There are several important points to remember when deciding which over-the-counter medicine is right for you.

Never try simply to guess what is wrong with you or rely on the judgement of non-medical friends or relatives. Confide in your pharmacist for advice about any non-prescription drug you may wish to try. Follow the directions on the package just as carefully as you would for prescription drugs.

If a symptom does not respond promptly, or recurs frequently, consult your physician immediately. A special warning is necessary for users of pain relieving drugs. There is always a risk that unwanted side effects may result from their use. Consult your pharmacist for advice on what drugs and foods should not be mixed with pain killers, and always notify your physician if unusual side effects result.

Just because a medicine is available without a prescription does not mean it can be used indiscriminately or indefinitely. Some, in fact, notably pain relievers and cough medicines, can be habit forming and must always be used with extreme care. As well, remember that by simply treating a symptom you may be concealing a greater medical problem and delaying needed professional help.

Over-the-counter drugs are a valuable and useful tool to our modern health protection team. But they must be used with care and judgement at all times, lest the treatment prove worse than the disease.

Professional Engineers Fall Frolic

Lady From Switzerland Visits Digby

Ms. Margaret Pope of Switzerland has returned to her community in that country ready to tell the people that Nova Scotia is the ideal place to visit and exactly the kind of vacation land they like. She was impressed with Digby after spending an overnight vacation at the Daley rooming house on Prince William Street.

This was not Ms. Pope's first experience in Nova Scotia. Born in England, Ms. Pope grew up in Halifax after coming here at six years of age. She went to Tower Road School. Her father was in the Merchant Navy so Margaret lived also in Sydney, C.B. and also in Newfoundland. In later life she moved to Switzerland where she now makes her home. She had been a war correspondent for the Middle East.

Ms. Pope appeared for T.V. interviews before returning to Switzerland where she hopes to do some writing on her trip to Nova Scotia.

Sewerage System Being Considered

Sewerage system facilities for the municipal areas of Digby North and Digby South moved a step closer at Monday's session of Digby Municipal Council.

Council decided to apply to the department of municipal affairs to find out what cost sharing is available, and to seek a meeting with the towns sewage committee to discuss use of the towns treatment facilities.

The towns sewage treatment plant was designed to handle sewage from adjacent areas of the municipality. Digby North includes Mount Pleasant, the Lighthouse Road and a section of the Digby Neck Road. Digby South consists of a section of Conway.

Councillors agreed that the ratepayers should be consulted before a firm decision to go ahead with the project is taken.

The total estimated annual cost per connection to the system would be $100.47 in Digby North and $144.54 in Digby South.

Council decided to begin a search for a municipal crest. A contest is being held with first prize of $75, second of $50 and third of $25. All are welcome to submit a design.

No member of council was aware of any type of background crest existing. Anyone knowing of such should make the information known to the municipality.

This matter came up for discussion after a letter was read from Herb Smale, executive manager of the AVABT. Smale reported on the "most successful" tourist of the week program held last summer in conjunction with ABTRC. He asked Council to consider participating again next year.

Two representatives of Beasey Nicholl Engineers Ltd appeared before council to offer their services in the field of pollution control, etc.

Council officially ended its participation in the defunct Annapolis Basin and Digby Development Commission. Funds now held by that organization will be returned to the respective municipalities.

Council will write to the Board of Public Utilities opposing the establishment of a salvage yard adjacent to the Digby Municipal Airport.

Council tentatively approved the hiring of a dog control officer for the municipality. Details of the position are yet to be worked out, but it is expected the applicant will be hired on a full time basis.

Several councillors criticized the quality of garbage collection in various areas. The collector will be called before a committee of council to deal with the complaints.

Mayor Found 'Not Guilty'

Mayor Stewart MacNaughton was found "not guilty" on charges of assault and damage to property during a trial held in court at Digby Monday.

MacNaughton was charged after he had allegedly thrown a tape recorder belonging to former town councillor Eileen Chipman through a council chamber window.

MacNaughton was represented at Monday's hearing by Charles Haliburton. Mrs. Chipman represented herself.

On the charge of assault, the defence asserted that the Mayor did not touch Mrs. Chipman during the incident. The charge of damage to property failed due to legal technicalities.

Town councillors present at the time of the incident were called to testify.

Raise $2000 At Dinner Shriners Help Connie Cross

It was for the reason of helping children like Connie Cross that the Western Valley Shrine club made an all-out effort on Saturday evening to raise funds by a candlelight dinner, an auction and dance.

Connie is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Cross of Nictaux Falls, who two years ago could not walk. The Western Valley Shrine Club sponsored Connie at the Shriner's special hospital for children in Montreal and today, though wearing braces, Connie can walk with straight limbs and a normal gait. Above Connie leads the toy camel "Lita" made by Mrs. William Troupe Sr. and Mrs. C.M. Levy, Digby, to guests at the dinner who wished to contribute to the cause in that manner. Both Connie and her mother, Mrs. Cross, expressed deep appreciation to the Valley Shrine Club for the help they had given to Connie and her parents to make it possible for them to arrange eight trips to Montreal for Connie's benefit.

About 250 attended the dinner and other functions of the evening which brought in the total sum of two thousand dollars.

The president, Noble Ken Snowden, presided over the varied program which began after dinner with a film depicting care given at Shriner's Crippled Children's Hospitals.

Present was Chief Rabban, G.A. Marshall, Halifax, who also gave highlights on the work done by Shriners throughout Canada, U.S.A. and other countries in a short address. Although, because of the Manitoba government Medical plan, the Winnipeg Shriners' hospital is about to be closed, the Montreal hospital is attempting much more research work than previously.

Even though the second of two research laboratories at the Montreal Unit is still under construction, its work has already begun. Dr. Richard Poole, formerly of Cambridge University has started his investigations into children's arthritis. Dr. Poole did extensive studies of the methods by which cartilage in joints is broken down in periods of activity in arthritis. In order that Dr. Poole and his team are able to carry on their research their work will be facilitated by two advanced electron facilities by two advanced electron microscopes costing $300,000. Several rooms at the new lab are already being used and the microscopes were installed in June. The new lab will provide the means by which to study juvenile rheumatoid arthritis and hopefully prevent disability which results from the disease.

Noble Snowden recognized the presence of Joe Casey M.L.A. at the dinner and welcomed Hal Sproule of the Valley Radio Station, Middleton and Evelyn Mosher, reporter with the Mirror, Middleton. Special mention was made of the fact that Mrs. Edith Wallis of The Digby Courier had in 1967 received a certificate of Acknowledgement from the Imperial Council of Shriners for publicity on the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children. Noble Ken Eavis, on the publicity committee for Western Valley Shriner, felt special mention should be made of this for all too often certificates of appreciation are presented and the incident fades from view after only to be forgotten. They spoke highly of the value of publicity when welcoming Mrs. Wallis.

An interesting part of the program was the presentation by E.A. Lipton, Clementsport, on behalf of the Digby Knights of Columbus Council to Noble Ken Snowden, president of Western Valley Shrine Club and "Lady Nellie" (Mrs. Snowden) a Certificate of Merit in recognition of their faithful service and exceptional contribution.

Noble Hymie Webber was auctioneer for the auction which brought $1218. Five hundred dollars earned by the Shiner's ladies was presented to the treasurer of Western Valley Club, Noble Irvine Brooks.

On the Western Valley Shrine Club directorship are Mr. Snowden; Noble Austin Bentley, secretary; Noble Irvine Brooks, treasurer; Noble Ken Eavis, publicity; Noble Bill Troupe; Noble George Morgen and Noble Chet Levy, who helped in making the entire function a success.

Before the program closed, giving way to the call of dance music by Don Abbott Tapes, Noble Webber, Dave Pothier and Cecil Shaw entertained by vocal selections.

A rifle drawn for on tickets went to Stuart Haight, South Range, ticket number 4337.

Casey's Concern

Fishing On George's Bank

A pot luck supper and an address from Digby M.L.A. Joe Casey highlighted the annual meeting of the Digby County Exhibition Society at the Exhibition dining hall in Bear River Thursday night.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Ruben Mervin, President; Allister Milner, vice-president; Jack Harris, secretary-treasurer; and Steven Wright, exhibition grounds manager.

The Directors are Allister Milner, Otis Robbins, Bruce Ree, Garnet Adams, Bruce Gillatt and Charles Haliburton.

Fishing was the basis of Mr. Casey's address, and he expressed concern that scallopers from this area won't be able to fish off George's Bank after January 1.

Casey said close to $2 million worth of scallops were harvested there this past season. He said he hopes to meet with the Minister of Fisheries on the matter.

Presently, only fishermen with offshore licenses can fish on the Bank. The Digby fleet consists basically of inshore fishermen.

Digby fishermen, Casey said, traditionally started fishing in this area, went out to the Bay of Fundy and then on to George's Bank.

Mr. Casey also proposed that use should be made of underutilized species of fish such as rockcrab, conger eels, eacargot, etc.

He suggested the federal government could charter ships from Europe, put a Canadian crew on them, catch and distribute these unused species to small fish plants.

The M.L.A. said this would help ease unemployment in this area and could enable us to reach foreign markets.

Casey went briefly into the history of fishing in this area noting that line-trawl fishing, which has quitted a tradition in this area, actually started here.

On fishery conservation, Casey said efforts had to be made (200-mile limit) because stocks were being depleted by foreign fishermen. Now some fish have started to come back.

He said more fish were caught in the Bay this year than has been the case for years.

He noted, however, that we have a whole new generation of fishermen wanting to get out on their own. But they can't do so because of restricted licensing.

Casey said the first scallop fishermen here, sought their prey in a row boat.

Facilities For Drug Dependents

Adequate treatment facilities for alcohol and drug dependants in Western Nova Scotia is one of several goals to which the Digby Local Committee on Drug Dependency has been dedicating itself recently.

A petition is currently in circulation throughout Western Nova Scotia requesting the provincial government to consider drug treatment facilities and organization in this area of the province.

The petition will be forwarded to the Minister of Health and Welfare in early December. Commenting on the need for such a facility, George Bell, secretary-treasurer of the local committee, says it is probable that everyone in this area knows at least one person with an alcohol or drug problem.

The local committee's regular monthly meeting was held Tuesday night. Guest for the occasion was Carol Anaratunga, Co-ordinator of Human Resources for the Nova Scotia Commission on Drug Dependency.

Anaratunga described the developing program of Drug Dependency work in the field of education where emphasis is being placed on lifestyle and dialogue.

This is in line with the federal Department of Health's emphasis on treatment and meeting the needs of drug dependency.

The guest encouraged the local committees to develop small discussion groups to create community awareness on the drug dependency problem. It is hoped that the developing concern in the community will have benefit for those who now have a drug dependency problem and, in the long run, assist the rank and file to take more responsible action to avoid problems the overuse of drugs have been causing.

Breakwater For Culloden

Coline Campbell, Member of Parliament for South Western Nova announces on behalf of the Minister of Public Works, the Honourable Judd Buchanan, that the contract for breakwater reconstruction at Culloden has been awarded to Gerard and Bernard Lombard Ltd., in the amount of $50,000.00.

The breakwater reconstruction will consist of placing 6-10 tons of armour stone along the seaward side of the breakwater.

Don't Become A Statistic

A recent study of statistics for the period beginning 1 January 1977 and ending 15 November 1977 revealed the following points of interest. The study covered only the County areas policed by Digby Detachment and Highway Patrol. The Town of Digby was not included.

This year property damage was down to $235,397. During the same period last year there was a total of $328,023. These figures are misleading, due to the fact that last year there were two large truck accidents, one of which totaled $65,000.00. Also the volume of traffic during the summer months of 1977 appears to be lighter than the previous year.

Digby County had a total of three fatal motor vehicle accidents during 1977 in which a total of six lives were lost. There was a total of 165 accidents during this period in which 68 people received personal injury. These injuries ranged from broken bones to bruises. To date this year there have been 66 people charged with Criminal Code traffic offences, eg. Criminal Negligence, Impaired Driving, etc. There have been 471 Motor Vehicle Act prosecutions and 1731 written warnings issued by the members of the Digby Highway Patrol and Detachment. In spite of strict enforcement of the laws, accidents are still on the increase. It is becoming more and more obvious that the Law Enforcement Officer alone cannot prevent all accidents. We need the help and co-operation of all of you, the highway users. With your assistance these figures can be reduced. This week, 1st-7th December, is Canada Safety Week, please help us to keep the highway safe. Don't become a statistic.

Not Condemned As Have-Not Area

The head table at the Annual Meeting of the Annapolis East Progressive Conservative Association included: John Comeau, P.C. Candidate, Digby; Mrs. Jo. Pineo, President Women's Association, Dr. Gerry Sheehy, M.L.A. Annapolis East; John Turner, President Annapolis West P.C. Association; Roger Bacon, M.L.A., Cumberland, Greg Kerr, P.C. Candidate in Annapolis West; Brian Cummings, Treasurer, Annapolis West P.C. Association. (Duchess Photo)

Attacking cynicism and disillusion about the present state of affairs, Greg Kerr, Progressive Conservative candidate in Annapolis West, at his association's annual meeting Wednesday night (November 23) pointed out that the natural advantages of the Annapolis Valley area can and should make it "one of the proudest places in Canada." "We are not condemned to be a have-not area," he asserted to the large Tory gathering in Annapolis Royal fire hall.

"The founders of our country came right here first, they saw what they wanted, they took what they liked," he said of the French explorers who sighted Acadia in 1604. "We have energy in wood and water, rich land, a varied fishery and a reasonable climate. These are the very things on which this area was founded and which we should recognize and build on, not complain about what we lack or lay the blame on others," the sturdy teacher and farmer declared.

"But we all have to take part, to become involved in the political process. It is just plainly a question of taking a cop-out or the road of participation and hard work," he said.

"We can't get something for nothing," Kerr

BIBLE SUNDAY DECEMBER 4

One of Canada's oldest volunteer organizations, the Canadian Bible Society which has been at work in Canada for 170 years, reports that the demand for the Bible today both in Canada and the 150 other countries in which it works is the greatest in history. This year the Canadian Bible Society will distribute in Canada over six million Bibles, Testaments, single books of the Bible and Scripture Selections in 80 languages, which will be a record never before reached.

The greatest demand for the Bible is in Asia, Africa and Latin America and world Scripture distribution this year will be 350 million in 1600 languages. While the Bible Society provides more Scriptures every year the problem it confronts is that the demand still exceeds the supply. Many people are surprised by this demand for the Bible but the growth of the Christian Church is equally amazing. In many parts of Asia the Christian Church is growing faster than the population.

To provide Bibles in their own language for new Christians, for growing churches and for many in closed areas of the world the Canadian Bible Society has launched a program of advance. It plans to double its present volume of TRANSLATION, PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION of the Scriptures over the next five years. It hopes to increase contributions from $7,000 to $14,000 a day. If the funds are found the Bibles that are wanted can be supplied.

This Sunday is Bible Sunday.

APPRECIATE MERCHANTS EFFORTS

Tonight is the big down-town shopping party in Digby. It is a night when the shoppers in this area can show their appreciation to merchants for their efforts in trying to uplift the living standards of their town by pushing business on the home front. Only by the merchants and business people putting their own businesses in order and on a successful and productive plane can the town itself forge ahead and provide a high standard of living. It is our hope that, weather permitting, shoppers will turn out for the gala shopping night and thus show their appreciation.

The Digby Courier is happy to have had a hand in this progressive promotion and expresses deep appreciation to the merchants who aided in the promotion by placing their advertising in the home town newspaper. Some ten thousand fliers have been distributed this week in various ways and means besides being distributed through newspapers. Again, it was the merchants who made this possible. To these we say Thanks for co-operation. By co-operation Digby can realize the goals set by her leaders and residents.

LEBLANC OPENS NEW WHARF

Federal Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc officially opened the $1.2 million extension to the Meteghan wharf in Meteghan on Monday.

In his brief remarks to a large audience, despite the fact it was the opening day of District No. 4 lobster season, Mr. LeBlanc said "despite difficulties in the past, the future of the fisheries has never looked better."

The minister urged the fishermen to continue to be involved in their industry along with the help of the federal government.

Southwest Nova MP Coline Campbell said she was pleased to be in attendance to see the tremendous amount of work involved with the start of the lobster season which is so vital to the area's economy.

Miss Campbell said Mr. LeBlanc is "sensitive to the problems of Maritime fishermen."

The opening of the 308-by-30 foot concrete crib construction wharf marked the completion of the second phase of a three-phase project. This phase also included the dredging of a 370-by-150 foot entrance channel and the dredging of a 150-foot-wide mooring area 12 feet below water.

Enlarging and dredging of the mooring area, and construction of a 240-foot long marginal wharf adjacent to the stem of the existing wharf, are planned for phase three of the project.

MAKE CHRISTMAS DRIVING SAFE

Don't ask us. Look to Canada Safety Council for the figures and you will find that alcohol is involved in approximately fifty percent of the fatal automobile accidents that occur in Canada. If we do nothing but draw these facts to our readers in this our Safe Driving Week, December 1 to December 7, we will have done well. Not only in case of accidents but also in case of criminal offences it is found that the drinking of alcohol is so often behind the crime, destruction and vandalism. Misuse of alcohol happens in every walk of life. Canada Safety Council says that the social drinker is one of the leading causes of automobile accidents in Canada. With the round of social activities accompanying the coming holiday season, it is well that this fact be in the minds of all the partying holiday observers.

What causes this anxiety of the holiday season. To learn what alcohol does to the body is to better understand and easier refrain from its indulgence. Canada Safety Council reminds us that alcohol is not a stimulant. From the first drink it depresses the central nervous system and the feeling of stimulation that comes is the result of the impairment of the higher functions of the brain including social restraints and judgement.

After attacking the higher functioning areas it next attacks the simple motor functions, reaction time and vision. Balance, coordination and sensory perception are the next faculties to be impaired. Concentrated drinking will eventually lead to stupor, coma and even, if continued steadily, death.

The most important factors contributing to alcoholic impairment are the amount of alcohol absorbed into the blood and the amount of time allowed for the elimination of this alcohol.

A danger develops when the alcohol starts to "wear off." A person can easily convince himself that he no longer feels the effects and is perfectly sober. This state of mind is a delusion. The individual is comparing his peak feeling of impairment with the declining impairment that he feels as his body eliminates the alcohol from his blood. But he is not sober. He is only making a dangerous comparison.

Keep our highways safe this Christmas Season. This week, Safe Driving Week, Dec. 1-7, make a solemn pledge of conduct which will last through the Christmas Season and into the coming year.

Hodge Podge

This is Safe Driving Week. Safe Driving Week ends December 7. A driver's responsibility, however, never ends.

- Black coffee? Cold showers? Jog around the block? Nonsense. They are only old wives tales. Canada Safety Council says there is only one thing that can sober a person. That's time.

Getting out a newspaper is fun but it's no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we're silly, if we don't, they say we are too serious if we do print them, the page is filled with junk. Now, like as not, someone will say we swiped this from some other paper. We did.

- "Speaking of accidents, isn't it about time some one started to do something about that

Letter

Dear Editor:

I wish to express some concern to you about the game laws and the different seasons for hunting different type of game that are now in effect in the Province of Nova Scotia.

I believe that a general provision and study of these game laws should be instigated by the Government as soon as possible. The present game laws were written quite a few years ago and have not been revised. I recently had a chance to discuss this matter with a person in the constituency of Digby who is an avid hunter. He told me the story of how he went hunting on November 11, 1977. He was hunting deer and he was lucky and shot a 10-point buck that field dressed 185 pounds. The deer was tagged (and as you know, the hunter is only entitled to one tag) and taken to a deer-check station, operated by the Department of Lands and Forests, to be weighed and recorded. When the hunter got home and removed the hide from both front quarters of the deer, it had been shot with bird shot. From all indications this had been done prior to the opening of the deer season.

The result is that the deer was infected so badly that it had to be thrown away. That hunter now has a permit for 140 pounds of meat which he doesn't have. If both the bird and the deer season were open at the same time, this could possibly remedy the situation. In any event, a long hard look must be taken at these occurrences.

Another problem that arises is that the bear hunting season is open at the same time as the deer hunting season and I guess the same license applies to both. There have been incidents where a person has shot a deer the first day of continued, "money comes from nowhere but from the people, from you and me. There is no well of government funds out there where you just smile and they'll give you a drink. And furthermore, if we keep our heads hidden in the sand we'll continue to get just what we're getting."

Dr. Gerry Sheehy, M.L.A. Annapolis East, guest speaker of the evening, had words of praise for Mr. Kerr and for John Comeau, newly-chosen P.C. candidate in Digby, who was an honored guest. Speaking of Greg Kerr, Dr. Sheehy said he continued to be impressed by his "integrity, sincerity and maturity".

In the course of a detailed dissection of present government policy and advocacy of a program of reform, Dr. Sheehy advanced the necessity of extending credits to non full-time farmers to maintain social stability and keep up the agricultural base of the Valley. With the reported increase in truck traffic he predicted a disaster in one or other of the Valley towns with the explosion of a large tanker truck if the "present narrow unimproved No. 1 highway" is not soon replaced by the completion of Highway No. 101. "This highway is seven years behind schedule. It should be all the way to Bear River by now," Dr. Sheehy declared.

Tourism is suffering because of outmoded highway in the Annapolis East and West districts, the speaker said. He pointed to the attractions but undeveloped state of the Annapolis River, the mountains, lakes and sea-coast of the region with a good word for the Annapolis Basin Tourism and Recreation Council initiatives this past season.

He advocated industrial parks near Valley towns as a source of employment, but not large "smokestack industries."

"On the 4000 acres of Belleisle Marsh we could grow enough vegetables to feed the City the season and then he has gone back and shot a few more illegally because he is allowed to carry a rifle to hunt bears.

I am sure that some of your readers who are more knowledgeable of these matters will have something more to say.

I would appreciate hearing from them.

Why should the honest hunter suffer as a result of those who are continuously breaking the law.

Yours very truly,

Survey Indicates DRHS Doing OK Job

The results of a random sampling of parents of students attending Digby Regional High School indicate the school may not be such a bad place to get an education after all.

DRHS Principal Donald Ross says he is happy with the results which generally support the school in its endeavours.

For the study purposes, 100 questionnaires were sent to randomly selected parents on a geographically zoned basis. Ninety-two of the forms were returned.

Mr. Ross reports that only one in 10 parents actually do not like what's going on at the school.

The sample, he said, seems to confirm what was thought in advance. About 10 per cent of the student body can be classified as hostile, of which 5 per cent are "hostile active".

He feels the attitude of families opposed to the present system, adversely affect their youngsters' behavior at school.

Parents responding to the survey gave the school a "staggering" support in the use of suspension to control behavior problems at the school.

Sixty five per cent of the parents felt the school is doing an above-average or excellent job in this regard.

The school philosophy behind this policy is to remove the troublemakers in order to let the other students survive. Suspensions can range from a period of a few days to two weeks.

One of the few offences which can lead to immediate suspension is smoking in the school. Ross considers this a dangerous activity which must be eliminated. The survey indicates the school has the "overwhelming" support of parents in this regard with 67 per cent giving it an excellent rating.

Mr. Ross said the 10 per cent of problem youngsters death trap as you enter Digby. If people feel the way I do, I'm afraid to make the turns, highway 101, and I don't even drive. There must be some one who can come up with a better solution to that situation. As far as people going into Digby and tourists, those who want to go to Digby will go," the Gilbert Cove Digby Courier correspondent.

consist of about 50 who cause most of the problems. He feels these are the children of parents with problems.

The survey also indicates support for the school's efforts to have all students carry a full program with no free periods, and its policy to stop "jiggling" classes.

Mr. Ross said those students skipping classes fall behind and often hold other students back in their effort to catch up.

Mr. Ross was a little disappointed in parents' reactions to efforts to keep the school neat and tidy. Twenty-two per cent felt the school was doing a worse job than most.

He said the positive response to the school's fair treatment of students was "mind boggling". Thirty per cent felt all administrative personnel and teachers treat the students fairly; 52 per cent felt most are fair but some are not.

Mr. Ross said the 14 per cent who felt some are fair but most are not were mostly representative of a zone area just outside the town.

One area of concern seems to be the attitude of students to the school. Twenty-two per cent of parents indicated the existence of "boredom" among their children.

Mr. Ross said this figure is higher than he would like to see it. This, he said, poses a challenge the school will have to move to meet by altering programs or tightening the curriculum.

The survey indicates that 75 per cent of parents agree with the concept of examinations, though 19 per cent feel they should count for less. Twenty-five per cent said there should be no examinations.

With 20 per cent feeling exams should count for more and 19 per cent feeling they should count for less, Mr. Ross feels use of examinations is now at a "Tolerable level".

Forty-three per cent of parents felt the school is right in allowing the students parliament almost complete freedom to manage its own affairs. However, 27 per cent felt the school is not doing an adequate job in allowing students to realize and meet responsibilities as Canadian Citizens.

Commenting on the school's rating in the area of fairness, Mr. Ross said the school has opted to treat all students in the same manner regardless of their background. He said some parents may conceive the school to be unfair for this reason-since background is not accepted as an excuse for unacceptable behavior.

In a lot of cases, he said, youngsters get fairer treatment at school than they'll ever get at home.

Most parents think the school is making an adequate attempt to provide good quality education. Only four per cent felt the school is taking the wrong approach.

According to Mr. Ross this type of survey is a novelty for this area, one which other schools have indicated they may try.

To Canada My Home

Pat Comeau

O Canada, my home my cherished land, Fairest of the fair, endowed of God's great hand.

A land that blends so well, The fruits of earth, of tree and sea. A wondrous gift from You, O Lord, Help us praise and hold to You, For all we have and all we be. For the rocky shores and quiet bays, The forest glens and rushing streams, The verdant meadows, the fields of grain For all the flowers, the sun and rain For country lanes and forests green, The peaceful homes and family joys, For all we receive, and all we share.

For the little villages and the gentle folk, Where cradles rocked and, mothers dear Poured out their love and efforts too, Enriching sons and daughters fair,

In lives of virtue, love and care, To do their utmost and never cease, In all that you O Lord, have willed for them to be.

All these gifts O Lord, your blessings be, For our contemplation, Your will to see, That Mankind, would in peace abide. Not in sorrow, or fear of loss of earthly things, Nor unrest, born of hatred and distrust but, Better still in mingled cultures, Thy gift supreme, Embrace the treasures Your presence brings. Would that I could open the words to tell, Your greatness O Canada, the land I love. O world of literary might, permit me to dream Of majestic splendor that which only you can robe.

The land I call my home. Be not harsh in judgement of my intrusion, They are my prayers passing through.

Housewarming

A "housewarming" in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Thibodeau was held in the Church hall at North Range on Saturday evening. Many useful gifts of kitchen utensils, dishes, linen and other household articles as well as money were received.

Mrs. Thibodeau was assisted in opening the gifts by her daughter, Pat, Mrs. Eber Balsor and her granddaughter, Kim. In a few well chosen words she expressed their appreciation.

The Thibodeau's lost everything in a fire a few months ago which destroyed their home. The evening was spent in playing crokinole.

A buffet lunch was served including a candle light birthday cake presented to Mrs. Scott Haight whose birthday occurred on the same date. Best wishes were extended to Adelia as the group sang Happy Birthday.

Two Brushwork "Houswives" From Digby

Mrs. D.G. Garnhum, Halifax, formerly Miss Janet Louise Wallis of Digby and Mrs. Marion Bustin, the former, Miss Marion Denton, Westport, and Digby are members of an artists' club in the city known as Brushwork. On Saturday the club of seven artists held an art show at the Scotia Square Mall. The story by Dianne Martindale appeared in the Chronicle Herald on Saturday.

According to Ms. Martindale's story the Brushwork women are all mothers, six of them with three children and one of them has two. Domestic pressures consume for them a lot of time so their meetings are infrequent. Quoting from Marion Bustin in Ms. Martindale's story "We are serious about our work but right now our families come before our painting." They discipline themselves, however, with a little time for painting each day.

Each woman has her own style and her preferences in subject matter. Mrs. Garnhum likes to use pastels and water colors, usually on paper. Her colors are bright, and cheery and subjects are close to home. She uses objects from her own kitchen. One picture is children raking leaves in the yard and another shows two people hurrying along her street on a blustery day.

Mrs. Bustin likes to paint flowers. She has noticed that women will stop to look at flowers but men aren't the least bit interested. "Men buy paintings with houses in them for some reason," she said.

Her family has a summer home at Broad Cove in Lunenburg County. Mrs. Bustin likes to paint the village with its neat little white frame houses. She plans to open a small gallery from her place this summer.

Top price being asked for the paintings at the Scotia Square Mall exhibit on Saturday was $100. Generally the range was from $40 to $50. Mrs. Garnhum both with a pitch for sales as well as a spurt of humor remarked to her interviewer "It's a good time to buy from us — before we get famous".

Ambulance Staff Among Best

The Digby County Ambulance Service staff ranks with the best in the province as far as qualifications are concerned. Staff members shown here are Roger Wright, John Grey (operator), Harold McBurnie, Peter Surette and Bob Gore.

Grey says that with most results heard from in a recent course put on by the Ambulance Operators Association of Nova Scotia in conjunction with requirements by the province to standardize training for all ambulance personnel, the Digby group has the highest marks in the province.

All staff members are qualified to use all equipment in the service. Returns from ambulance service lottery and public donations are being used to keep the service above provincial standards.

Big Day In Tiverton

The 27th day of November, Sunday, was quite a "big" day in the lives of Tiverton folk this year.

On this day, the children of the Beginners and Primary also the Nursery classes under the direction of teachers, Mrs. Lindon (Roberta) Titus, Mrs. Gail Sollows and Miss Kathy Cossaboom held their first rehearsal for the upcoming Christmas concert. Singing is under the direction of Miss Cossaboom. For these talented youngsters, singing is no problem.

Also the first snow of the season made its first appearance today not a "really big" storm but enough to send the youngsters' imagination racing ahead to toboggans and sleds flying down the hill and skating over frozen ponds also to tracking rabbits through snow in the wooded areas.

For the lobster fishermen of the area, November 27, represented the day before their lobster pots and traps are anchored in St. Marys Bay and the Bay of Fundy. Traps are removed from back yards by truck loads and deposited on or near the fishermen's wharf for convenience to save time and energy in loading them onto the fishing craft in preparation for setting on the morrow.

Moms in the area realize there are only 27-28 more shopping and baking days until Christmas.

Christmas Daddies Show Ready To Go

Things are in readiness for the 8th annual CKDY Christmas Daddies show on Sunday, December 4. The marathon nine-hour broadcast, arranged by

Digby Radio Station CKDY, will be joined for the first time by sister station CKAD in Middleton, and will be aimed at a Valley audience spanning 95 miles from Berwick to Weymouth. The show gets underway at noon at the Legion Hall in Digby. There will be a limited number of seats available to spectators free of charge. Children twelve years and under will not be admitted unless accompanied by an adult. Those attending are requested to use the front entrance. When all seats are filled, doors will be closed. CKDY station manager, Leigh Everett, who coordinates and directs the show, had praise for Branch No. 20, Royal Canadian Legion in Digby, who have come to the aid of the Christmas Daddies in offering free use of both levels of their hall. For seven years the show used Digby Region-High School auditorium, and although the school board had again offered the use of the school, renovations necessitated by last summer's disastrous fire would have limited the production area. Without a doubt, the CKDY Christmas Daddies Show is the largest annual stage production in western Nova Scotia. Over 200 behind-the-scenes volunteers are joined by another 300 entertainers to raise funds for the "Christmas Daddies Fund Committee", a volunteer group comprising both private and public care-giving agencies. Since 1970 the CKDY Christmas Daddies have raised more than $71,000, assisting hundreds of needy families at Christmastime, and to date all money pledged has been received. Following the show, another 300-or-more volunteers screen applications and spend the money on food, clothing and toys to be delivered by Christmas Day. The bulk of funds have been spent in the area between Lawrencetown and Weymouth, with all money returning to work in the county from which it was pledged. The addition of CKAD Middleton this year is expected to add additional funds from the central Valley area between Lawrencetown and Berwick.

In western Annapolis County and Kings County, funds will be administered by the Family & Children's Services. In eastern Annapolis County, the Middleton & District Welfare Association will expend Christmas Daddies monies, and in Digby County details are completed by the Digby Christmas Daddies Fund Committee. Last year's total exceeded $14,000. Donations are tax deductible. Pledges may be honoured at any branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Telephone lines will be available to take pledges, with free dialing accessible to most areas west of Kingston. A gigantic array of Annapolis Valley talent is scheduled to perform. Included will be individual acts, dancers, school and church choruses, rhythm bands, cheerleaders and musical groups. Community-spirited people from all walks of life have once again pledged support to CKDY in this exciting part of the Christmas season, fast becoming a tradition.

Friday Including Saturday

What do we preach? We preach the Gospel as did the early apostles and which has been proclaimed for over 1900 years, by Luther, Whitefield, Wesley, Spurgeon, Moody and a host of others. While humanity has many needs, and in these days of crisis the needs become more apparent, yet man's greatest need is spiritual -- Jesus said to a very religious and moral Jew -- John 3:7 "Ye must be born again".

A very warm welcome is extended to all, Catholic and Protestant alike. Plan to attend: The Bible has the answer!

SPEAKERS:

Mr. Jim Walmsley, missionary from Venezuela
Mr. Albert Hull, Nova Scotia.

Home Again

From December 5 to December 9, CBC-TV's 90 Minutes Live with host Peter Gzowski will broadcast live from Halifax. For the crew of 90 Minutes Live it's a nostalgic return to the show's birthplace where the initial pilots were created in February of 1976. Since then, we've grown and evolved into a unique combination of entertaining and informative programming. Our new special identity includes the addition of contributor John Harvard, along with regular guests Danny Finkelman, Rick Moranis, Alan Fotheringham, John Kastner, Michael McGee, James Barber, Arthur Valle and Flo and Eddy. Behind the scenes our team of journalists explore breaking news stories while our variety experts scout new talent across the country.

Even Gzowski wryly admits that he has changed from a once humble and witty personality to a deadly serious, egocentric TV host who is constantly pursued by a panoply of groupies. He comments, in a more serious tone, that this season 90 Minutes Live has returned to our original expectations enabling us to present guests who are outside the traditional structure of late night TV talk shows.

Executive Producer Alex Frame sees the transformation of 90 Minutes Live as a refusal to fall into the predictable big star format of TV talk shows. When you have known names, you know what they will deliver, but when you are combining unknown elements, you're taking a big chance. In focusing on Canadian talent, we have equally talented and humorous guests who are more relevant to the Canadian audience. In keeping with this premise, 90 Minutes Live returns to Halifax with a blend of international, national and regional guests who accurately reflect the interests and concerns of the Maritime coast. The sense of immediacy which can only be achieved through this kind of programming and the technical magic of live television offers the viewer exciting encounters with new faces every night from 11:35 p.m. - 1:00 a.m., AST, Monday through Friday on 90 Minutes Live. We originate from the Halifax CBC-TV studio in front of a live audience. Free tickets may be picked up at the CBC Switchboard on Bell Road in Halifax.

Lively Entertainment On CBC TV's "Who's New?"

"Red Island" describe themselves as a "traditional Newfoundland band with advanced rock influence". Travelling extensively throughout the Maritime provinces, the group was recently in Halifax and performed for CBC-TV's Who's New? variety series. The program will be telecast on Monday, December 5th at 7:30 p.m.

"Red Island's" fiddler Jamie Snider is featured in a number written especially for him, entitled Jamie's Jig."

Dependable deep snow traction to get you through the winter

Choose Nylon (A), or Polyester (B)

Select the Winter Express 4-ply nylon or polyester for tops in winter performance. Both are produced from the same molds. Nylon blackwall offers strength at low cost, while polyester whitewall eliminates cold-start thump.

Winter Express 2+2 Polyflex with BPT

C. Our polyester-belted nylon winter tire has Big Paw Traction (BPT) to make it a real snowbeater. BPT is a blend of natural and synthetic tread rubbers that grip ice almost like studs. Yet it still has a resilience at well below freezing. And it's a top-performing tire. Two plies of tough Du Pont-66 Nylon provide strength, and that's topped off with two polyester belts to ensure a solid open tread-face for peak performance.

Reflecting To 1927

Reverend Father Graham was all smiles when he went to the Royal Bank of Canada to make a deposit of $103.19 for credit to St. Patrick's Church account. It was the proceeds of the Annual Christmas Supper held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Trohon, Eureka Cottage.

Digby Legion held a clam bake at their club rooms at the Iron Duke. By courtesy of Mrs. Winchester of the Winchester Hotel there was a plentiful supply of steaming hot coffee.

Plans were being made with the Department of Marine and Fisheries to have each section of Digby County represented on the Royal Fisheries Commission.

A Card of Thanks appeared in that early December issue of The Digby Weekly Courier. It read: "I wish to publicly thank all those who voted for me at the recent municipal election. It is a great pleasure for me to know that I possess the confidence of so many of the people of that district. Of those who honestly exercise their right to vote against me, I have nothing to say. But for those, about thirty in number, who induced me to become a candidate by nominating me in writing over their own signatures and then deliberately broke their word and voted against me, I have the contempt that one naturally feels for liars and deceivers. F. Jones." (Life is always like that.)

Local Florists Attend Convention

Reflecting To 1947

The Digby Board of Trade was involved in the controversial subject of the future of Cornwallis at their business meeting. Another controversial subject was Digby water supply. A committee was formed consisting of F.I. Anderson, A.L. Robinson and W.S. Troop to place suggestions for improvements before Town Council.

Shore fishermen thirty years ago were learning modern fishing methods through the schools sponsored by the Department of industry and publicity. This was the second winter that schools aimed at helping development and modernization of the industry had been held.

Ditmars and McNeil opened a new radio and electric store in Deep Brook.

Two families, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth VanTassell and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Raymond, were left homeless when fire destroyed their cottage on Lour Lodge annex property.

Despite the unseasonable weather, downtown Digby was rapidly adopting a Christmas look.

Morse's coffee was selling for sixty-three cents a pound and tea ninety-eight cents a pound.

Price of The Digby Courier was $2.00 per yearly subscription with fifty cents extra for in the United States.

There was big excitement in Britain. The government announced an extra Christmas gift for them of ten cents worth of meat, a pound and a half of sugar and four ounces of chocolate.

The tale of a bike was told. Police Chief, F.J. Thibault recovered a bike stolen from one of the pupils at the Digby Academy. It was found in a clump of alders near the school by Bernard Isnor who sold it for five dollars to Jim Ryan, Marshalltown, a distance of five miles. Ryan traded with John Tebo of Ashmore, 20 miles from Digby, and received in return for the bicycle a nice pig. Bike was recovered in Ashmore.

3 Car Crash

A three vehicle accident in Digby, Tuesday, resulted in total damage amounting to nearly $5,000 but involved only one minor injury.

Bradford Delaney of Westport, driver of a small pick-up truck was sent to outpatients at Digby General Hospital and later released. The other drivers involved were Cathy Langdale of Barton and Dale VanTassell of Digby.

The Langdale vehicle suffered damage to the tune of $3,000, the Delaney to $1,800 and the VanTassell truck to about $130.

Digby R.C.M.P. have the incident under investigation.

Sewage Frontage Tax Reduced To $2

By motion of Councillor Guy VanTassell of the Sewer Committee, Digby Town Council on Monday evening in regular session reduced the five dollar frontage tax to two dollars. Councillor VanTassell had given Notice of Motion at the October regular meeting.

The decision was also made at Monday night's meeting to accept the sanitary sewer effective November 18 providing two items the committee considered deficiencies were resolved before that date by the contractors.

The report of the superintendent of streets, Frank Robinson, was read as was that of Kenneth Iniski, assistant superintendent. Total cost of operation of water, streets and sewers for November was $17,279.95.

The Town of Digby Electric Light Department from January to October 1977 showed a revenue of $520,082.51 as against $428,168.56 in 1976. Total operating expenses $501,066.75 as against $404,950.07 and gain of $11,275.62 against $15,208.63 in 1976. Total capital expenditures for the period in 1977 was $23,886.97.

From the parking meter report $870.12 had been collected in November 1977. The parking tickets issued were 64 with four cancelled. Fines collected $133.

According to the report of the Building Inspector there were seven building permits issued in November, two for new construction, three for alteration and two for repairs. Total value $38,500. Permits granted to date in the year 1977 were 15 new, 17 alterations and 37 repairs for a total of 69. Total value $705,628.

Council on Monday evening agreed to give the town staff holidays on December 26 and December 27. There is no by-law to cover holidays for the town in general.

Councillor Robert MacNutt made a motion, seconded by Foster Journey and carried that a move be made to amalgamate Scallop Day and Natal Day in Digby and that a committee from the town be formed to look into the proposition. Mr. MacNutt was named to the committee with power to add two from without the Council.

The assistant superintendent reported that to date the cribwork project North of the Band Stand has cost $25,143.94. It is expected that the 175 feet of cribwork will be completed on schedule. The work force consists of eight men doing logging, rocking and assembly. Work is being carried on in dangerous areas and every caution is taken that no injuries be sustained by a possible collapse by the present cribwork.

Approves Accounts Of $27,175.12

Digby Town Council on Monday evening in regular session approved accounts for the month of November to the amount of $27,175.12. The list of accounts as presented by Councillor Guy VanTassell of the finance committee totalled more than $30,000 but some accounts needed further study before passed for payment.

Digby V.O.N.

Concludes Involvement

After nearly five years, the VON Digby-Annapolis Branch will conclude its involvement with the Digby Demonstration Project at the end of this year. This Demonstration Project has been operated by the Department of Health staff with the staff nurse from the Branch attached to the pilot project during this period.

Now that the project is well established, the VON Digby-Annapolis Branch, beginning in 1978, will continue its normal activities and devote its attention to the provision of other services in the Annapolis County area served by the Branch.

The Digby Demonstration Project was established under the direction of the Western Health Unit to demonstrate a family-centered approach to the provision of community health services to some 10,000 people in Digby Town, Digby Municipality, Long Island and Briar Island. In addition to the usual Public Health Nursing activities this included nursing care in the home. Mrs. Monique Hiebert, the VON nurse currently assigned to the project, and others who have been associated with it since 1972 have worked closely with public health nurses from the Western Health Unit, medical staff from the McCleave Medical Centre, and other physicians and agencies in the area.

Although the project has not been formally evaluated, the concept of providing integrated service has been generally accepted and appears to have satisfied those receiving the service as well as those providing it. Nursing care in the home will continue to be delivered by Department of Health personnel.

The Digby area public support for the VON is greatly appreciated. Local members of the Board of Management will continue to hold positions in the Digby-Annapolis Branch.

Villa Acadienne Extension Officially Opened

Social Services Minister William MacEachern said Monday the provincial government will look carefully at establishing new homes for the aged and for special care because of increasing financial constraints, and will look instead to providing a wider range of services to Nova Scotia's senior citizens.

Speaking during the official opening of a 22-bed extension to the present 45-bed Villa Acadienne senior citizens Home in Meteghan, the minister said the federal government's switch to block-funding for the operation of these homes, rather than the previous cost-sharing arrangement, will decrease the amount of money the federal government is willing to pay toward operation of homes.

Mr. MacEachern said that as the federal portion of operating money continues to drop "the problems of financing will be very serious indeed."

"There will be some new homes built in a number of areas which do not have adequate access to beds," Mr. MacEachern said. "But our main thrust should be in providing a wider range of services which will be available to senior citizens."

These expanding range of services could include "putting more emphasis on services and programs which will enable older persons to remain in their own homes and communities, if this is the option they prefer."

The minister also indicated programs such as home nursing care, day care centres "where older persons can take part in useful and interesting activity," meals-on-wheels, and home-makers could help a senior citizen be more comfortable at home rather than in an institution.

Mr. MacEachern said such a range of services will "provide a choice - alternative modes of care which

Flying Club Holds Annual Dinner

Pilots should have done a weight and balance following the meal last Thursday evening as the C of G on a 172 would certainly have been aft of the lateral axis. The occasion was the Annual Meeting of the Hillgrove-Digby Flying Club held at the Fundy Restaurant. What was advertised to be a pot luck supper turned out to be a morceau de roi.

President Sonny Barr was Master of Ceremonies and introduced the head table which included CF1 Art Quinn, Cecile Belliveau, Gary MacKenzie, Kiki Nichols, John Nichols, Gloria Barr and Mattieu Erjavec. Eddie Paek asked the blessing.

During the evening the new directors were named: Sonny Barr, Coleen Cameron, Rex Colwell, Ron Cooper, Mattieu Erjavec, Owen Hankinson, Duane Kenley, Gary MacKenzie, Ervin Marshall, John Nichols, Kiki Nichols, Edgar Peck, Cal Rice, Bob Ringer.

Contract Awarded For Salmon River Bridge

Highway Minister Fraser Mooney announced Thursday the awarding of a contract for the construction of a bridge over the Salmon River in Digby County on will not be less costly but are much more likely to enhance the personal well-being of the individual, and of course, help ensure that the facilities we do have - the homes for special care - can meet the needs of an expanding population."

Deputy Warden Helen MacNeil brought greetings from the Municipality and Councillor Bud Winchester gave a report of the Municipal Airport Committee.

Chief Flying Instructor Art Quinn made presentations of framed photos of the pilots who received their licenses: Mattieu Erjavec, Ron Cooper, Cal Rice and Gary MacKenzie. President Sonny stated a new ground school would be started in the near future and advised anyone interested to contact him.

Ron Cooper won the lovely floral arrangement presented by Flowers by Gabrielle. Winner of the 2 hour plane ride for three people was Dr. Erjavec and Vince McCarlie won the 1 hour ride. These were donated by Duane Kenley and Kiki Nichols.

There was a very large turnout of people interested in flying which bodes well for the future of the club.

Standard Paving Maritime Limited of Halifax, was the lowest of eight bidders for the job and has been awarded the contract in the amount of $283,036. Standard will build the road approaches and the reinforced concrete river bridge.

The structure will be erected on spread footings with prestressed concrete girders and aluminum railings consisting of one span of 96 feet.

Loitering Habit Brought To Council

Peter MacLeod, one of the new proprietors of The Little Cinema down town appeared before Digby Town Council on Monday evening to find out how to deal effectively with loitering in the town. He complained that youngsters loiter around the theatre cursing, swearing and spitting on cars and cause unpleasantness and inconvenience to theatre patrons. RCMP Sgt. T.E. Barlow who was present noted that they had no complaints laid to them by the theatre and informed Mr. MacLeod that he has every right to get the loiterers off his property. Sgt. assured him that if complaints were made, charges would be laid. According to Sgt.

Barlow's report, November was a fairly quiet month. Minor thefts was the most common crime with seven cases investigated. Three youths were apprehended for the one and only break and enter during the month. Vandalism and disturbances in the town were down considerably.

A total of 59 vehicles complaints were laid, 16 charges were made under the criminal code; five under drugs; five liquor control and two under municipal by-laws. There were nine court convictions in the month re traffic and 50 warnings.

Correspondence from the Nova Scotia Safety Council regarding Safe Driving Week, December 1 - 7 was turned over to the police committee to look into the possibility of presenting Safe Driving Awards.

Council on Monday evening decided to honor the request of Grace Maternity Hospital for a donation of $200.

It was decided that the Model Tree Committee By-Law forwarded to the Town by the Department of Municipal Affairs be given to the town solicitor to pursue before any action be taken on it.

Digby Lawyer Named Member Of CRTC

R. MacLeod Rogers of Digby has been appointed as a part-time member of the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC), it was announced Tuesday.

Rogers, 51, is a lawyer. His appointment, effective December 1, is for the usual five-year term.

With Rogers' appointment, the CRTC now has eight full-time commissioners and nine part-time members. By law, the CRTC can have one more of each.

Concession Man President

Twenty six year old, Concession, Digby County hog producer, Hubert LeBlanc, was elected President of the N.S. Pork Producers Association, on December 2, 1977, at Keddy Motor Inn in Truro.

Hubert LeBlanc owns and operates Spectacle Lake Port Farm Ltd., which has 175 sows farrow to finish. He is the president of that company and is also dealer for "Ralco" farm equipment.

Tom Meredith, Great Village, Colchester County was elected Vice-President for the coming year. Mr. Meredith owns a 300 sow purebred hog farm in Truro area.

In other business at Friday last meeting, was "Pork Promotion". Due to increased pork production in the province, producers felt that pork consumption in N.S. should be increased through more promotion. The executive of the Association was given the green light to allocate more funds to promotion provided that "Check Off" generated enough additional funds.

In his remarks to the hog producers, Hon. Jack Hawkins, N.S. Minister of Agriculture and Marketing, congratulated the N.S. Pork Producers Association for their forward thinking in the

The respirator has been at the hospital since mid-summer. Three lives have already been attributed to its use.

The machine keeps a person breathing when he is unable to do so on his own. Those requiring its services may have been involved in a car accident, have chronic Bronchitis, pneumonia, etc.

Revert To Original Plans

On motion of Councillor Guy VanTassell and Deputy Mayor Philip Robertson, Digby Town Council will proceed to work on the new Town Hall project using the first set of plans. This decision was made at the regular meeting of Digby Town Council on Monday evening following the report of Mayor Stuart MacNaughton on a recently revised plan issued by the architect. The costs involved in the revised plan would be considerably higher than that originally proposed by Council and it was found that the concept of the building in the last plans were entirely different.

Mayor MacNaughton reported the old barn at the rear of the present town hall could be erected at anytime as the work of clearing the property for building of another building for equipment has been finished. It was, however, decided that the old "barn" would have to stay intact so long as no other suitable space can be found for the salt used on winter highways.

Councillor Michael Sweeney and Councillor Philip Robertson were on Monday evening added to the Town's New Town Hall committee.

Ronald Ward appeared before Council to see when the $400 per month rent from the School Board could be expected by the Digby Fire Department. Mayor Guy VanTassell said that he had been of the opinion that this rent was to go to the Fire Department to defray costs and to be set aside to purchase things the Fire Department needs. A motion that this $400 per month be paid directly to the Fire Department was made and carried.

Councillor VanTassell's report for the Digby Fire Committee showed six calls in November 1977 of which the town scored zero. In comparison with the calls made to date in 1976 there were 99 calls in 1976 and 75 calls in 1977.

Correspondence was read by Mr. VanTassell from Fire Chief Vaughn VanTassell and also from King Seagraves Ltd., Woodstock, Ont., announcing a servicing of fire vehicles and equipment available. Digby went on record by regular vote to make use of the services available on an annual basis. The company will be set up in Yarmouth.

Vehicle Clean-up Quota Raised

Nova Scotia Environment Minister Vincent J. MacLean has announced that the derelict vehicle clean-up campaign quota in Digby has been raised from 1,000 units to 2,000 units.

"The clean-up campaign has been progressing beyond our expectations, and we are pleased to be able to announce that we have found it necessary to raise the quota by 100 per cent," the Minister said.

"The Municipality has appointed Fundy Auto Salvage of Digby as their agents and the company removes the collected hulks to their property where they are crushed and then shipped out of the province for recycling."

"I have been told," the Minister said, "that the program is nearly completed on Digby Neck, and that the work in the rest of the District is about 50 per cent completed. So far 950 units have been collected."

Under the terms of the joint clean-up campaign between the Department of the Environment and the Municipality of the District of Digby, the Province subsidizes 80 per cent of the costs, with the Municipality administering the program.

"In every instance where we have undertaken this program we have set what we felt was a realistic goal," Mr. MacLean said.

"We continue to be pleasantly surprised to find the clean-up so well received that we have had to raise the quota substantially in every instance. To us, this reflects the need for such a program in Nova Scotia," he said

NDP Convention Friday

A fairly heavy turnout is expected Friday night when Annapolis West NDP members gather to select their candidate for the next provincial election.

Guest speakers for the occasion will be Cape Breton Nova M.L.A. Paul MacEwan and Halifax businessman Lloyd Shaw.

The three candidates are John Taylor of Annapolis Royal, Howard Langille of Clementsport, and Larry Duchesne of Waldec.

Only paid-up members of the New Democratic Party will be permitted to vote for the party's standard-bearer.

Those wishing to join the party will be permitted to do so before the meeting.

The Annapolis West NDP Association has experienced somewhat of a revival recently after a period of inactivity.

Guests from other NDP associations, possibly including several nominated candidates, are expected a provincial election to be called sometime before the summer of 1978. The Regan government will be entering its fifth year in office this Spring.

Activity gets underway at 8 p.m.

750 Christmas Gifts

Last week, we talked in general terms about the work of the Christmas Daddies' Fund Committee, and promised a closer look into a typical Christmas Daddies' hamper.

A single Christmas Daddies' hamper contains the following items: a Christmas dinner for the entire family; a new toy or gift for each child; as far as possible, a used-and-repaired toy for each child, or one large toy or game for the entire family; a pair of socks and mittens for each child.

Boxes containing a Christmas dinner are packed by participating grocery stores in each County. As far as possible, the participating store nearest each family prepares that particular dinner box, since this requires the minimum of transportation. In order to ensure the anonymity of families receiving hampers, all families are identified by a number rather than by name. The store personnel pack each box according to a list of items prepared by the Christmas Daddies' Committee, with quantities varying with the size of the family. Each box contains a chicken or turkey, vegetables, juice, bread, milk, fruit, candy, and dessert. The Committee attempts to distribute its orders for boxes as evenly as possible among the stores which participate.

On delivery day - usually two or three days before Christmas - Christmas Daddies volunteer drivers pick up the grocery boxes at the stores and deliver them together with the gift boxes. We know that many hours of extra work go into the packing of grocery boxes, and we are grateful to the store personnel who do this so well year after year.

The purchasing of gifts is, in itself, a phenomenal task. Last year over 750 gifts were purchased for Christmas Daddies boxes. When we consider that this is carried out by approximately ten volunteers, it makes one's own gift purchasing seem small, doesn't it? The job is complicated by the fact that different items must be purchased for each age group and sex. Toys are bought for the younger children, while the teens usually receive caps and scarves, school supplies, purses, or something of that nature. The purchasing and packing volunteers do not know the names or preferences of those for whom each gift is bought. However, in each case, every effort is made to choose the most useful and practical item possible.

Often, Christmas Daddies' applications are late in arriving, so that just when it appears that the purchasing has been completed, a volunteer receives a new list calling for gifts for two 15-year-old boys, three babies, and one 10 year old girl, for example. It can become complicated. The Christmas Daddies have also had occasion to telephone a store manager on Christmas Eve, and ask him to leave his busy family and open the store so that last minute gifts can be bought. The manager did so with a smile, and another obliging volunteer made the delivery to the family.

Another factor which makes the purchasing committee's job a difficult one is the fact that all purchasing must be kept within a strict budget. This year, the Committee has established $5.00 as the maximum amount to be spent for each gift. This figure was set on an estimate of a required 750 gifts again this year. Prices of toys have escalated tremendously. What the Christmas Daddies bought for $3.00 two years ago now costs $5.00. So you can see how that affects the overall total required to maintain our program on its present level.

Once the gifts are purchased, they must be wrapped. Enter another group of volunteers who spend several evenings wrapping and labelling (according to age and sex) all 750 gifts. This is an enormous task, but one which is done with such enthusiasm and willingness that for those who take part year after year, it becomes a pleasure.

Well, our Christmas Daddy boxes are about half prepared at this point. Next week, we'll talk about the other items that make up the hampers, and follow them to the homes of those who have applied to the Christmas Daddies for assistance.

Nostalgia Or New Life

Every year among the Christmas cards we receive are always a considerable number which not only depict the nativity scene itself but what I would call a traditional Christmas.

They have pictures of sleighs and horses in the yard of the old homestead. The snow lies crisp and white while the light of the lanterns twinkle and dance on the crust. Through the open window we see a blazing log in the stone fireplace; the garnished table with turkey, stuffing, cranberry sauce; and Christmas cake; the gathering of friends and relatives on the festive occasion.

Such a world, created by our imagination, knows nothing of the real life problems of inflation, or the fuel crises, or the energy crisis, or the food shortages with which we live. It stems from a desire we have to experience a golden age of peace and plenty.

It is indeed for many of us not a religious festival but a nostalgic escape. In the age of the bomber and the terrorist it seems to waken within us longings and emotions which have no hope of being fulfilled in this present life with its cold, harsh realities.

'Peace on earth and goodwill towards men' has a hollow ring to people living with the evidences of war and bitter hatred. Christmas apparently is no more than a beautiful myth, a thought provoking legend of what might have been if only this world were more pleasant and less evil.

The truth, however, is altogether different and when we base our understanding of Christmas on the New Testament record of events, rather than on the popular pictures of the Christmas card industry we are forced to alter our ideas. According to the story as told by Matthew and Luke, Christmas took place in a world every bit as real as ours.

Do we feel that the demands of government almost reduce us to numbers rather than people?

Just so, we find Mary and Joseph forced to travel some miles from Nazareth in order to be registered, in obedience to the decree of Caesar Augustus.

Do we live in a time when poverty and homelessness remain as raging social evils?

Just so, Mary had to give birth to her child in an shed and lay Him in a manger because of the overcrowding of a city.

Do we read with horror of the latest atrocities committed by terrorists who will stop at nothing to achieve their political ambitions?

Just so, in fear of losing his throne at the birth of one he believed to be a rival, the tyrant Herod ordered the murder of innocent children in attempt to eliminate any possible opposition.

Have we witnessed all too often the sad plights of refugees fleeing from threats to their very existence?

Just so, Mary and Joseph were forced to seek refuge in Egypt in order to save the life of their infant son.

Whatever else the Gospel writers believed, they believed that Christmas happened in the real world of oppression and injustice.

What then was their reason for recording the birth of a peasant girl's son in an obscure corner of the world? Why is it that we are still celebrating that birth 20 centuries later?

What is the significance of Christmas when it is stripped of all its nostalgic trimmings? On that first Christmas - God broke into history. The child born to Mary was none other than the Deliverer of all men. Matthew, referring to an old Jewish prophecy, asserts that their child is He who is called Emmanuel, a name meaning 'God is with us'.

Far from being an escape from the harsh reality of the world, Christmas is the answer to it! The world's problem is man's sin and Jesus came to be our Saviour.

The real significance of Christmas became apparent only in the later years when men had seen the forgiving work of Jesus and understood that this Man showed them the heart of God Himself.

It is only in the light of our experience of Jesus as Saviour that we appreciate the significance of Christmas. When we have experienced this forgiveness - Christmas becomes real for us. Far from being irrelevant to the world's problems, it emerges as the only answer to them.

The real spirit of Christmas is not the nostalgia conveyed by the commercial world - it is new life in the power and love of the eternal Saviour who was born into the world at Bethlehem. That is what Christmas is all about.

Summer Marketing Of Oysters Termed Successful

A very worthwhile project" is how federal Fisheries and Marine Service Maritimes Region Director-General, H. Douglas Johnston, summed up the Summer Marketing of Oysters during 1977.

The Summer Marketing of Oysters was undertaken this year on a trial basis under a "special policy". This arrangement was instituted at the request of the Maritime Oyster shippers to allow marketing on a year-round basis rather than during the traditional autumn months. Buyers of Maritime Oysters, particularly those in Ontario had requested a consistency in marketing procedures in order to meet competition from the U.S.A. Demands for local supplies were also met, particularly during the tourist season.

Six "Certified Dealers" in Nova Scotia and P.E.I. marketed over 70,000 pounds of oysters under a permit system devised to ensure adherence to strict sanitary and handling controls. The bulk of the shipments were made from P.E.I. where five shippers marketed 62,000 pounds.

Mr. Johnston said that, "The experience of the past year shows strong support for the feasibility of marketing Maritime Oysters on a year-round basis. Now we must explore the possibility of bridging the gap between December and May when oysters have not historically been available to the consumer".

It is expected that amendments will be made to the federal Fisheries Regulations to allow this summer marketing on a continuing basis.

The Maritime Oyster industry has been increasing its production in recent years with the 1977 production likely to exceed 3-million pounds, with an approximate value of one million dollars.

Celebrates 35th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Miller, Bear River, celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary on November 28th. They were married in London, England in 1942. Mrs. R.E. "Pat" Miller was born there and met her husband Reg whilst he was serving with the West Nova Scotia Regt. 1st Division. They arrived in Canada in 1945.

Their two daughters, Valerie Wilcox and Zena Rice arranged a party to honour their parents at this time, and many friends and relatives joined with them to make this the happiest of occasions.

A beautiful 2-tier cake topped with a real floral decoration of coral colour (35th year colour), their mother's corsage and father's boutonniere of matching coral colour was an added presentation by daughters, Valerie and Zena.

A real surprise was the "Money Tree" which had very interesting branches nestling congratulatory cards and dollar bills of varying denominations, given to Pat and Reg from one and all to buy a gift of remembrance to mark the occasion.

Refreshments served by Valerie and Zena, including the Lobster Chowder was delicious, and a far-cry from the food served in "wartorn" London 35 years ago, when rations had been saved for weeks in preparation.

With so many years, there are so many memories, and reminiscing over the coffee cups was enjoyed by all. At this time both Reg and Pat sincerely thanked the efforts put forth by their two daughters, son-in-law, relatives and friends in making this 35th wedding anniversary - the best ever.

Pat added the fact that as much as Canada is her home, and Bear River, Nova Scotia her favourite spot, it is the love of friends and family that made her acceptance of Canada so easy and rewarding.

Daughter Valerie, son-in-law Roger Wilcox and two grandchildren live in Liverpool, Nova Scotia, and Zena resides in Smith's Cove.

Bear River Report To AVABT Executive Council

by Joe T. Goldston

"If you are concerned about your community, you should belong to the Board of Trade," is the motto of the Bear River Board, said President Bill Cox, when he made a report of the activities of the Board at an Executive Council meeting of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade, in Lawrenceton, December 1.

Bear River is one of the four remaining Active Boards of Trade remaining of an original 16, in the Annapolis Valley region.

Delegates were impressed with the comprehensive scope of Bear River's Board of Trade work in its community.

Mr. Cox admitted, that like other Boards, his had experienced its ups and downs, "but for the past six years, change of emphasis was made from a business community organization to a community forum type."

Numbered among Bear River Board of Trade members are merchants, service station operators, teachers, county councillors, bank manager, housewives, fire commissioners, mill operators, retired persons, clergy and representatives of various community organizations.

The amazing scope of this board, according to its president's report has included, several local incentive Programs for churches, halls, dams and a community swimming pool, suggested access to Highway 101 and protest meetings on removal of students from local school.

On the political level the Board has acted almost as a government in the vacuum of that community by arranging meetings with Municipal Affairs Department to discuss village incorporation, including a two years study for this project; received and administered a department of environment grant for clean up and restoration of wharfs and a water grant; successfully petitioned the Department of Highways for resurfacing of roads; reviewed parking facilities; and successful petitioning the Department of Highways for survey and repair of the village bridge.

In co-operation with the Home and School, $900 was secured to finance sidewalk construction on the school hill.

Mr. Cox went on to list many other benefits which accrued to Bear River through the Board of Trade; a $7,000 grant for the New Horizons Project; reprinting and selling a newspaper, The Telephone circa 1890;

Sponsored a booth at Digby County Exhibition; Established a citizen of the year award; prepared a detailed map and boundaries in case of incorporation of the village; helped to establish a chair manufacturing firm, now closed though lack of skilled labour and formed and promoted the Bear River Planning and Development Society.

The Board of Trade was responsible for several community submissions to various authorities for improvements to many services to the village which Mr. Cox listed as: meetings with various county planning boards, school boards, police and county clerks about village incorporation; reviewed possibility of an industrial park; started discussions on merger of community of Bear River into one county; formed and promoted the Bear River Planning and Development Society, which has been responsible for administration of the Rural and Native Housing Program in the area and requested improvements, ultimately successful, for upgrading Landsdowne Road and Lake Jolly Road; Landsdowne Road was completely paved.

Going on through the long list of accomplishments, Mr. Cox told AVABT executives that his active Board held four joint meetings with citizens of Smith's Cove which resulted in winning over the Department of Highways to abandon its plans for the access to route 101 for a safer access to be phased in over the next three years.

Petitions from the Board have succeeded in obtaining a grant for the Digby Exhibition new dining hall; paving of Purdy road and even complained, successfully for improved milk delivery services.

According to President Cox, many items are pursued, this is a long list, too; petitioning of Department of

DRHS Coach Named Coach Of Regional Team

Greg Jamieson, the coach of the DRHS girls Basketball team, has been named to coach the Valley Regional Basketball team. This team is to represent the valley in Truro on December 22.

Mr. Jamieson brings both experience and success to the team. Over the past 2 years his Dragon team has won 95 games while losing only 34. This is more emphatic when one considers the fact the team started from scratch.

Mr. Jamieson's success includes championship teams in Newfoundland where his record was 145 wins-35 losses over a 4 year period. The Dragon team has won a number of invitational tournaments such as the New Glasgow Invitational this term and even a maritime championship.

His experience includes clinics in Canada and the United States and coaching at basketball camps such as the all Maine and the Acadia University Boys Camps.

DRHS Gets A Second Dragon Team

Greg Jamieson, the coach of the successful Dragon team over the past few years has started a second Dragon team. Over the past few weeks the girls of the Junior High have been trying out for the new Junior Dragon team.

When the team of the past two years moved up to play senior ball this year Mr. Jamieson started the second team. The girls are starting from scratch and not much is expected from the team in the first few games. Greg Jamieson has stated that all he really cares about in the early stages is that the girls learn to play it right and that wins will mean little during this period. He feels that the new team has as much potential as the first Dragon team. Right now DRHS has a first year senior team and a first year junior team and therefore it is a building year for both.

Members of the D.R.H.S. Junior Dragons who are trying for the 12 positions include:

1. Denise Cowan- grade 8 student
2. Christine LeBlanc- grade 8 student
3. Mary Lou Jayne- grade 8 student
4. Julie Pyne- grade 8 student
5. Vicky Kynock- grade 8 student

Information Of Unemployment Insurance

Question: Could you please clarify how many weeks of insurable employment are required prior to qualifying for Unemployment Insurance benefits?

Answer: At present, and up until 4th December, eight (8) insured weeks will be required to qualify for benefits. On the 4th December the entrance requirements will change.

In regions of high unemployment, claimants will need as little as 10 weeks to qualify.

In regions of low unemployment, claimants will need up to 14 weeks of insurable employment to get UI benefits.

Question: Last week I saw in the news that Unemployment Insurance benefits would be increased come 1st January 1978. Does this mean that those drawing benefits will get an increase?

Answer: NO. For those who have applied for benefits in 1977 their rate will not change. At present the weekly maximum insurable earnings are $220.00. On 1st January 1978 this will be increased to $240.00 per week. In order for a person to benefit from the increase in Unemployment Insurance benefits the person must first work in 1978 and make more than $220. to $240. per week.

Question: Last year I worked for 4 consecutive weeks and my claim was terminated by the Unemployment Insurance Commission. Since I'll be working for six weeks in January and February will this terminate my present existing claim?

Answer: There was a change in the Unemployment Insurance regulations in September 1977. With this change a person can now work any number of consecutive weeks and their claim for benefits will not terminate unless it becomes 52 weeks old or the claim terminates because all benefits have already been paid.

Question: I am a self-employed fisherman and I have been out of work for 2 weeks. When do I become eligible for benefits?

Answer: Fishermen may apply for benefits after 1st November. In your case you could apply immediately.

Question: Are sickness benefits payable for more than 15 weeks?

Answer: NO. Sickness benefits are still payable for a period of 15 weeks at the maximum. The change was that sickness benefits were only payable during the first 39 weeks of the claim. Now they are payable at any time during the entire benefit period.

Question: I am unable to apply for benefits as I haven't received my records of employment (separation certificates) from my last 2 employers, what should I do?

Answer: You should make your application as soon as you become unemployed even though you are missing your records of employment. On your application form for benefits you should complete Section C. This will give the Commission the required information which will enable us to help you obtain your records of employment. Once your records of employment arrive in our office a decision will be made on your entitlement to benefits and any back time owing will be paid.

Question: What would happen if I was fired or quit my job but waited 6 weeks before applying for benefits?

Answer: Your claim for benefits would become effective the Sunday of the week in which you make your application. There could possibly be a disqualification for up to 6 weeks to be served and this would only be served after you apply for benefits. The 6 weeks disqualification would depend upon the information we receive from you and your employer.

Question: Could you please explain how Unemployment Insurance benefits are paid out? We understand that this is one of the major changes affecting those who will become unemployed.

Answer: There have been changes in unemployment insurance. Effective September 11, 1977, UI benefits will be paid in three phases. 1. - In the first phase, claimants can collect one week of initial benefits for each week of their insurable employment, up to a 26-week maximum.

2. - In the next phase (we call it the labour extended phase), claimants get one week of benefits for each two weeks of their insurable employment, starting at their 27th and 28th insured weeks. Here, they may get up to 13 weeks of benefits.

3. - In the last phase (we call it the regional extended phase) claimants get up to 32 weeks of benefits. They get two weeks for each 0.5 percent that their regional unemployment rate is above 4 percent. For example, a claimant can get six weeks if his regional rate is 5.5 percent.

The regional unemployment rate we use is not the actual current rate but an average over the past 12 months. This prevents large changes in the number of weeks of benefit claimants can get from month to month in one area.

The second phase is payable at the end of the first if the claimant has enough insured weeks. Claimants with 26 or less insured weeks, may move into the third phase at the end of the first.

The maximum that any claimant may collect in any 52-week period is 50 weeks of benefits.

Question: I am a small employer who has just started in business. I was told that I would need an employer's number before I can have record of employment forms. (separation certificates) Please advise what action I should take.

Answer: What you should do is contact the Department of National Revenue and Taxation and apply for an Employer's Account Number. The address is: 1557 Hollis St. Halifax, N.S. B3J 1V4

Telephone Zenith 0-4000

With the number they provide you, you may request your supply of record of employment forms from your Unemployment Insurance office.

Question: The Unemployment Insurance Commission has mailed me a notice directing me to attend an interview, but I can't go. What should I do?

Answer: If you cannot appear for a scheduled interview be sure to contact your local Unemployment Insurance Office and explain your situation. Your appointment could possibly be rescheduled for a time which would be more convenient for you. If you do not notify the office, giving the reasons you are unable to attend the interview, your benefits could be suspended.

Question: Does being "cut off" Unemployment Insurance prevent me from drawing benefits in the future?

Answer: If you were disallowed for refusing to look for work the disallowment will stay in effect for as long as you continue to refuse to search for a new job. If you can prove that you are satisfying U.I. requirements by an adequate job search, you may re-apply. You will not get any of the benefits you missed, but you may be able to start up your old claim again. There are some cases though, where a previous disqualification may affect part of your claim. Check with your local Unemployment Insurance office to find out where you stand.

The B.B.B. Dedicated To The Public Interest

Public confidence is the one ingredient without which men cannot hope to build a thriving, prosperous and continuing business. To win and hold public trust in the integrity of any business enterprise starts, of course, with the individual company or organization. But in this highly competitive world, the effort of a single man or company to maintain public confidence and a climate where business can be conducted fairly, honestly and profitably is not enough.

The public, when faced with unfair business tactics, does not always dispose of the situation with: "I should have known better. I'll never go near that place again."

Instead, the entire business or industry is often judged by the actions of a few individuals. Confidence is easily undermined, and responsible organizations as well as the irresponsible feel the loss of income and decrease of profits. In the same manner, a few false ads can destroy trust and belief in all the advertising in newspaper or over a radio or television station.

Therefore, to offset and to prevent the harm which can be caused by the malpractice of even a single firm, it is necessary to employ collective action - action in which every businessman and organization has a vital stake.

This collective action, because of the complexity of our economic system, cannot be left only to those companies which deal face to face with the consumer. While public sentiment is first felt over-the-counter, it does not take long for the chain reaction to reach the service organization, the manufacturer, the producer of raw materials, and, in the long run, to all segments of business community.

When dealing with the public, self-protection requires group participation all the way down the line. It means building confidence with the bricks of honesty and truthfulness so that the business community will flourish in the atmosphere of public support and belief in "La Fanfare Regionale de Clare" in rehearsal.

Band Workshop: A Success

Saturday, November 26, fifty musicians assembled together in the Universite Sainte-Anne music room to take part in a band workshop from nine o'clock in the morning until four in the afternoon. Most of the participants were members of "La Fanfare Regionale de Clare", with a representation from the Yarmouth Citizens Band, covering a distance running from Wedgeport to Weymouth.

For the occasion, the instructor was the director of the Middleton Regional High School Band, Mr. Wilfred Harvey. Mr. Harvey has a wide experience in band music, having started to learn the trumpet when he was eight years old. He began to conduct a band at the age of seventeen and made a career in the military bands. For the past fifteen years he is involved in teaching music in the schools and conducts the Middleton Regional High School Band which won the International Band Competition in Vienna, Austria, last Summer. He was, therefore, the most suitable person to conduct the kind of workshop held at the university.

For six hours, the participants worked hard on the music which will be played in the upcoming Christmas concert. Mr. Harvey began with some warm-up technical exercises and then worked on the numbers the Fanfare Regionale de Clare had been practicing since September.

It was a rewarding experience for all the participants, thanks to the competence of the instructor, Mr. Harvey. The workshop was organized jointly by the Universite Sainte-Anne and "La Fanfare Regionale de Clare".

Poinsettias Are Not Poisonous

The poinsettia was found guilty without a trial. Old wives' tales - hearsay evidences - ignorance - plea bargaining - gave it a reputation of being poisonous.

Until recently, the symbol of Christmas was found in many lists of poisonous plants. But none of the references could be substantiated. Even the most serious citation was found to be based on hearsay evidence.

At last the poinsettia has been given a fair trial and found not guilty. Two researchers at Ohio State University fed poinsettias to rats. They prepared homogenates of leaves (upper and lower), red bracts and even the small yellow flowers. This homogenate was force fed to rats through a feeding tube since poinsettias taste terrible.

This diet was not just a taste to see what would happen. The rats were fed from one to five percent of their body weight. This is equivalent to a 140 lb. person choking down 7 lbs. of poinsettia. Most people couldn't eat half that much steak.

Nothing detrimental occurred. There were no signs of toxicity or apparent ill effects. All 160 rats were healthy.

The researchers went on to analyse the leaves, bracts, stem and even the latex in the milky sap. They found no chemicals commonly considered toxic. This research was published by Robert P. Stone and W.J. Collins in Toxicon 9:301-302 (1971). These gentlemen have conducted a fair trial for the poinsettia, at last, and found it not guilty.

The poinsettia is not completely lily white. A large percentage of human beings are allergic to something. A few people are sensitive to the milky sap of the poinsettia. This is a skin irritation. While less severe and far less common than poison ivy, it is similar in that no reaction occurs when eaten. The rash is principally a nuisance.

Disseminating information about business practices to the public so that consumers may be knowledgeable about their relationships with business and protect themselves the Canadian private enterprise system.

This is an era of inflation, of expanding consumer goods and services. Honest men in finance industry and merchandising find it increasingly important to fight for decency and fair play. More legislation is not the answer. This would inevitably lead to onerous restrictions on freedom of enterprise, the keystone of this country's economic system. Already the direct costs to consumers of unnecessary consumer legislation are reaching astronomical proportions and the costs of regulation to business, passed on to consumers, unnecessarily fuel inflation.

Public acceptance and belief in Nova Scotia business must be promoted and maintained by business itself - the responsible members of the community, working through the Better Business Bureau.

The Better Business Bureau of Nova Scotia is a voluntary, non-profit organization supported entirely by the membership of business companies. An integral part of business itself, the BBB works to enhance public confidence in business by promoting accuracy, honesty and reliability in the advertising and selling of all goods, securities and services. The Bureau accomplishes its objective by:

Service as the instrument and counselor for self-regulation of business.

Protecting legitimate enterprises and the public by exposing and curbing the small minority who deliberately cheat, defraud or deceive, and thus undermine confidence in all business.

Horsemen in the Bear River area were treated to some valuable help from the Nova Scotia Agricultural College of Truro during the past week. Ed Ogilvie, Instructor of Farrier Science and Ironwork, and six of his students visited Bear River on the first of five field trips. They were accompanied by

The growth of the Better Business Bureau of Nova Scotia through the years gives testimony to the foresight of its founders and the recognition of responsible businessmen of the need for promoting and preserving the confidence of the public.

The eight arrived in Bear River Wednesday evening and were dispersed to several of the homes of The Bear River 4-H Trail Blazers, who sponsored their visit.

Thursday morning started early for the farriers who were shoeing horses from the area free of charge. A preliminary examination was given to each horse before his shoes were put on. They checked the horse in the standing position to see if his legs were straight and then checked the horse as it moved to see if it had a balanced gait. "The angle of

WALKER-LAWLEY

Grace United Church, Digby, was the scene of the wedding of Judith Anne, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Allan MacDonald Lawley, Digby, to Stewart Charles Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil D. Walker, Sydney. Rev. Kenneth Lowe officiated at the ceremony. Margo Levy was soloist and Ruth Lawley, organist. Tom Lawley, brother of the bride and Neil Walker, father of the groom, read from the scriptures.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of sate peau featuring a semiempire waist and sweetheart neckline, Camelot sleeves with Juliet cuffs trimmed in pearl buttons, A-line skirt with ruffled hemline and chapel train. Her nylon tulle illusion veil, trimmed with chantilly lace, was held in place by a Juliet headpiece and she carried a bouquet of Mary Dover roses and fugi mums.

Maid of honor, Marianne McClafferty, wore a gown in yellow polyester silk. Bridesmaids, Heather Lawley, sister of the bride, Cathy Wood and Gail Goguen, wore identical gowns in autumn green polyester silk and all carried bouquets of shasta daisies and yellow mums.

Paul Talbot was best man and David Walker, brother of the groom, was groomsmen. Rick Oldsen and Peter Croft were ushers.

Mother of the bride chose a floor length two piece dress of beaded ivory knit with matching scarf and corsage of sonja roses. The groom's mother wore a gown of pink and burgandy polyester silk with corsage of pink and yellow roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Admiral Digby Inn.

PUT OUT THAT MATCH

Inflation isn't someone else's problem. Neither is fighting it.

The inflation rate in Canada has improved over the past couple of years, thanks to the efforts of Canadians who recognized the dangers of spiralling prices and wages. The moderation has helped and it's a good thing it happened, as we all know from the fears we were experiencing back in 1974-75. We're doing better, but we can't be satisfied. Inflation still exists and it hurts. Ask the poor, the pensioners, the Canadians who have worked hard for years to build up some retirement savings - they know better than anyone how truly critical this problem can be.

A serious part of the overall problem is the popular belief that the rate of inflation can't be influenced by individuals. That's just not true.

Inflation exists as a result of all our actions; it will be beaten by all our actions, including government, labour, business, and yes - individuals.

We have to work together in a co-operative effort to fight inflation. The more we know about it, the better we can handle it.

Learn more about inflation, why it happens, what it is, and what you can do to fight it, send for "Kick the Inflation Habit." You'll find out how inflation steals jobs in a section that helps us understand how employment suffers by inflation; that there's no free lunch because whatever we get, we pay for, whether it's government services or "free" samples; and it will tell you about the vital business of budgeting and living within one's means.

"Kick the Inflation Habit" also discusses smart shopping, wise use of credit, the importance of arming yourself with information - all things that not only fight inflation, they make it hurt a little less. "Kick the Inflation Habit" ... now.

Christmas Concerts To Feature Three Choirs and One Band

"La Chorale de la Baie Sainte-Marie" at the Multicultural Festival of Chors in Ottawa.

Sunday, December 11, in the Université Sainte-Anne gymnasium in Church Point will be presented a Christmas Concert with three choirs of the south-western Nova Scotia region, "La Chorale de la Baie Sainte-Marie", "Les Chanteurs de la Baronnie" and "La Musica de Wedgeport", plus "La Fanfare Régionale de Clare".

The selections in the program will be chosen from the Christmas Carols repertory. For the first part of the concert, each group will perform five numbers individually. The "Chorale de la Baie Sainte-Marie", under the direction of Rev. Maurice LeBlanc, will open the concert, followed by "Les Chanteurs de la Baronnie" conducted by Mr. Paul Saulnier. Then will be heard the choir from Wedgeport, "La Musica de Wedgeport" conducted by Rev. Guy Legere. The Fanfare Regionale de Clare" will conclude the first part of the concert.

After intermission, the four groups will join together to perform the five following selections: the "Halleluiah Chorus" by Handel, "Ode to Joy" by Beethoven, "C'est Noël tous les jours", "White Christmas" by Berlin and "Canticorum Jubilo" by Handel.

This evening Christmas concert is surely an occasion for an interesting outing for the family, something one must not miss. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m. to allow the young ones as well as the older ones to attend. Admission: $2.00 (adult); $1.00 (student).

The Corvette Navy

True stories from Canada's Atlantic War.

This is a fine book, with some truly magnificent moments, well worth its slightly painful $10.95. Or so it seems to an old salt like me, and inevitably I find myself wondering how it will appear to readers who know little or nothing of the sea and even less of war: just as, on Remembrance Day, I tried to imagine what was in the minds of the young who stood near me listening to the Last Post. But I believe they will enjoy it and be enriched by it too, for what lifts the book far above the spate of commonplace war chronicles is that it is not a record simply of historic and often exciting events, but of a sensitive man's rise to the challenge of those events and their ordeals: and that man a very good writer indeed.

The relevance of such a book after the lapse of more than thirty years will doubtless be questioned. People will wonder why it wasn't written before. But this is the book's strength. It couldn't have been written before. Books, like fetuses, know their time. Those lapsed years are essential to the book's perfect perspective, to the writer's ability to bring it forth whole and consummate. Earlier, it would have been a different, a lesser book. Certainly less opportune. There are men and women nearing middle age who have never known the comfortable certainties that inspired these men in their improbable little ships to their moments of heroism and their months of gruelling ordeal. These men and women have a staunch and slightly sour conviction that war is inadmissible as a vehicle of self-fulfilment for the mass of mankind, but they have nothing to put in its place. Their enemies are intangible (and addictive) and their ordeals are inglorious. The Holy Grail is not to be found in outer space.

This is largely a personal account, and as such it has the minor refractions implicit in such a view. It has its little overenthusiasms, its slightly self-righteous animosities, its sometimes turgid esprit de corps. But this is all part of the magic. This is how the crews of the corvettes in the Atlantic escort squadrons saw their world, and the reader is drawn completely into that world, which after a week of savaging by North-Atlantic gales and in the midst of a U-boat attack could be very circumscribed indeed. Without the slight parochialism that is the obverse of esprit de corps, the miracle could never have been accomplished.

Memory, too, plays tricks, even upon so careful a chronicler as James Lamb. He no doubt saw the Royal Navy's Home Fleet returning to its Icelandic lair after hunting Bismark to Her doom, but HMS King George V was certainly not, as he claims, among them. By steaming on the fuel carried for her diesel generators, she barely managed to make port on the west coast of Scotland.

Only at one point did the unity of the book appear to be compromised. In a chapter headed "Signals", which quotes and comments on some of the significant, verbally brilliant and downright funny messages from ship to ship and between ship and shore, the author was carried away by his subject to the extent of quoting messages that had nothing to do with "the corvette navy," or even with the war. Some of them are "chestnuts" from the earliest days of steam. But they make good reading, and readers unfamiliar with them will no doubt say "To hell with unity."

The next to last chapter, in which the author describes "The Graveyard of the Elephants," where all the escort vessels, having splendidly won their war against the U-boats, were assembled to wait their ignominious fate at the shipbreaker's hands, surely contains some of the most moving passages in the annals of Canada at war: "I took a last long look around those lifeless ships, haunted by so many ghosts, then closed the cover of the voice-pipe to the wheelhouse, severing the umbilical cord which had bound me to Camrose for so long. For Camrose, which had sunk U757 and shot down two bombers, which had screened the invasions of Sicily and Normandy, which had fought off U-boat packs in a dozen fierce encounters and had helped bring innumerable merchant ships safely to port, this great ship of ours, was dead now, and I must leave her here among the bones of her sisters."

In the hands of such a writer as James Lamb, truth can be as touching as fiction.

Bird Haven Notes

This has been a busy week at Bird Haven. Several cat victims have been brought in. One white throat has survived. Although he has a broken wing and will never fly again he has settled in with the rest of the family.

The first evening grosbeaks was in the garden a few days ago. Since I have seen several flocks eating the Maple seeds. They will be with us all winter and will expect a good supply of sunflower seeds to be put out for them.

Saw three fox sparrows in the yard on Sunday. It seems strange they always seem to appear on Sundays both spring and fall. They usually go South but one year a flock stayed in the garden and were being picked off by a Hawk, so I caught the remaining five and kept them until Spring. I was well rewarded for their care by their beautiful song.

I have been very distressed by the number of birds that fly in the pool at the Pines. In trying to get out they strike the glass and kill themselves.

I suggested to one of the gardeners that a few small trees tied to one end extending above the glass would enable them to clear the top of the glass. To my joy the next time I visited the pool there were the trees and not a dead bird in sight.

I say thanks so much for your thoughtfulness and so do the birds.

A nuthatch has joined the outdoor family along with the regular visitors.

A female Oriole has been seen in the South end of town, maybe she was on her way south or just looking for a boarding place for the winter.

A beautiful yellow breasted chat was picked up by a friend. No doubt it had struck a window and had broken its neck.

A Hermit thrush was brought in last night, cat victim, but am afraid it is not going to survive.

So long

The Star Of Bethlehem

by Barkat M. Khokhar

What is the best product of Nova Scotia?

Go anywhere in East or West, you are bound to hear the name of the world-famous Pugwash Thinker's Conference aimed at bringing together the thinkers, the scholars and the scientists to seek ways for mankind to exist in peace on this strife-torn planet.

The founder of this conference is Cyrus Eaton, a Baptist, and the head of $200-million industrial empire. He is rightly called the 20th century Prophet of Peace. Pugwash is a small seaport, about 150 miles from Halifax where this God-fearing man lives.

This Nova Scotia's ambassador of good will aims to demonstrate in his life the song of the heavenly choir sung at the First Christmas: Glory to God in the highest, And on earth peace, good will toward men.

What sort of problems the world faces as it celebrates the Christmas 1977? Are they different to the ones which the baby Jesus encountered on the First Christmas at Bethlehem and later on in life?

In the midst of Roman tyranny and Herod's hatred, Jewish bigotry and Pharisaic hypocrisy, he enjoined men that He is the truth that could make them 'free.'

In the face of food shortages famine and poverty.

Ellen Thorne returned to Kentville on Sunday after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Stark.

Mrs. Sydney Stark Mrs. Carl Stark, and Ellen Thorne all motored to Yarmouth, on Thursday for the day.

Ellen Thorne visited with Mrs. Vernon Mullen at Weymouth on Wednesday. Keith Hatt was successful in getting a deer last week.

He multiplied loaves and fishes, showing God to be the source of inexhaustible supply.

With boundless energy, He showed men how to overcome tensions and trials, sickness and sorrow, dangers and difficulties and all the forces that hobble mankind's quest for better life: 'Come unto me, all ye labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.' It is a free gift to all men, but a Transcendental Meditation four-day course costs $150 to a Canadian. Can phoney gurus now invading North America give peace to mankind when they do not have it themselves? Paul has warned us: 'Our fight is not against any physical enemy: it is against organizations and powers that are spiritual.' (Ephesians 6:12 (Phillips))

Trees glitter. Gifts are piled high. For a moment at least the cares of inflation and headaches of national and international conflicts are put aside; and families gather under the glow of candle lights to share the warmth radiated by 'the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes.'

How does the holy family address the nuclear family? It reminds us that the beauty of Christmas lies in family get together and showing courtesy to neighbours as well as strangers. It sets an example for the sanctity of marriage.

A Halifax lawyer told me: 'There are thirty divorces everyday in downtown courts.' Unless the society returns to traditional Christian marriage like that of Joseph and Mary, there will be no peace in homes. True and lasting happiness cannot come out of temporary relations like, trial marriages, wide open marriages, contract or renewable marriages, consecutive or serial monogamy.

The nuclear family is ripped off by discontent, mistrust, boredom and rivalry. Living with another man's wife or another woman's husband is not only tolerated but is considered as being up-to-date and fashionable. Big as well small have family squabbles. Princess Margaret is still estranged from her husband. The prime minister Trudeau is having marriage problems. On week ends he does baby sitting for his three sons when his wife tries to become society photographer. The 78-year-old Queen Mother has at last settled her differences with her 80-year-old sister-in-law, the Duchess of Windsor. Last year as part of reconciliation she sent her a bunch of yellow flowers and warm 'get well soon' message after forty years of rift.

In the midst of peace and joy of Christmas we see a very disturbing scene around us. Perhaps, no one of us can stop the proliferations of atomic weapons or piling of arms or conflicts raging or starvation. But each one can attempt to build up within himself a bit of peace, a sense of repose, a sense of real Christian joy. Only by multiplying the individual effort of peace and joy we can demonstrate the meaning of Christmas to our fellow-neighbors.

My first Christmas in Canada was spent partly in a Canadian home and partly on train from Halifax to Ottawa. A Christian family had invited me to turkey dinner and plum pudding. After sparkling conversation and delightful dinner, my host Rev. Skokoe came to the door and bid me: 'Merry Christmas! Happy journey to Ottawa.' Suddenly he looked up and pointed out to me golden stars in the sky.

I felt that I was standing under the star of Bethlehem for my journey to Ottawa.

Christmas Daddies Raises $15,385.50

The Christmas Daddies Program realized only $15,385.50 this year, not a great amount considering the extra coverage area, but program co-ordinator Leigh Everett says he is satisfied with the results.

The Valley radio station in Middleton joined the program this year, giving Christmas Daddies a listening audience reaching east to Berwick.

The aim of the expansion, according to Everett was to give complete coverage to Annapolis County. The new area (west of Bridgetown) netted the program $2,034 with the remainder coming from Digby County and Western Annapolis County.

Everett said the program got underway with no real goal in mind. Commenting on the total, he said "we can give a sizeable Christmas to people who need it with that amount of money."

The Christmas Daddies Show featured a variety of local talent ranging from vocal solos to school choirs. It also included the regular "foolishness" which serves to lighten the burden of those working the 12 hours of the show.

Several speakers were called upon during the day in an effort to keep the telephones ringing. These included M.P. Coline Campbell, M.L.A.'s Joe Casey and Gerry Sheehy and a number of representatives of towns and municipalities. Santa, himself, showed up to add color to the activities.

Opening and closing remarks for the show were given by Margo Levy. Margo also performed several vocal solos. Pony Express provided background music and also performed a number of country tunes.

Other performers included Karen Robertson, Tex Mattinson, Barbara and Heather Fickes, the South Range Junior Choir, Christine VanTassel, Seretha Sabean and Aileen Manzer, the Bear River Baptist Youth Group, Robert Levings, Linda Hand-spiker, Janet Durkee, Nevin and Neil Gaudet, the Chorus of Parkers Cove School, Susan Grant, the Chorus of Granville Consolidated School, Joy Fleet; Chorus, Habitation Baptist Church; Eva Messenger; Chorus, Clements Consolidated School; Christine VanTassel; Lori and Nichole Shaw; Chorus Oakdene School; Laura Dolron; Fran Hardy; Chorus, Grade 1, St. Patrick's School; Bob Dakin and Father Albenie D'Entremont.

This year's show was held at the Digby Legion Hall which was offered free of charge.

The CKDY Christmas Daddies Show is the largest annual stage production in western Nova Scotia. Over 200 behind-the-scenes volunteers are joined by another 300 entertainers to raise funds for the "Christmas Daddies Fund Committee", a volunteer group comprising both private and public caregiving agencies. Since 1970 the CKDY Christmas Daddies have raised more than $71,000, assisting hundreds of needy families at Christmas time, and to date all money pledged has been received. Following the show, another 200-or-more volunteers screen applications and spend the money on food, clothing and toys to be delivered by Christmas Day. The bulk of funds have been spent in the area between Lawrencetown and Weymouth, with all money returning to work in the county from which it was pledged. The addition of CKAD Middleton this year is expected to add additional funds from the central Valley area between Lawrencetown and Berwick.

In western Annapolis County and Kings County, funds will be administered by the Family and Children's Services. In eastern Annapolis County, the Middleton and District Welfare Association will expend Christmas Daddies monies, and in Digby County details are completed by the Digby Christmas Daddies Fund Committee. Last year's total exceeded $14,000. Donations are tax deductible. Pledges may be honoured at any branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

The Pines Resort Hotel of Digby and Keltic Lodge, Ingonish Beach, were presented with a Five Diamond Award Plaque by the Canadian Automobile Association. Accepting the plaques at Henry House, Halifax, on behalf of the Department of Tourism, which operates the Pines and Keltic, was Hon. Maurice E. DeLory. Left to right are C. Wilnot Dean, member of the CAA executive committee and president of the Maritime Automobile Association; Herman Falls, manager of Keltic Lodge; Dr. DeLory, and Victor Bradshaw, manager of the Pines Resort Hotel. The plaques are for "exceptional quality of service". Only 12 establishments in Canada have been presented with the CAA plaques. (N.S. CIC Photo)

Pines Rates Diamond Award Plaques

The Pines of Digby and Keltic Lodge, Ingonish Beach, have been awarded Five Diamond Award plaques of the Canadian Automobile Association.

The Maritime Automobile Association is a member club of CAA.

The Five Diamond rating "...for exceptional quality of service..." is the highest of the national non-profit federation of motor clubs which, with U.S. and European affiliates, has 4.5 million members.

Only 12 establishments have a Five Diamond rating in Canada.

Hon. Maurice E. DeLory, Minister of Tourism, said "it is a great honour" that Pines and Keltic - owned and operated by the province of Nova Scotia - will be listed as Five Diamond establishments in the 1978 CAA-MAA Atlantic Province's and Quebec tour book.

The federation has 1.4 million members across Canada.

MAA has 11,000 members in Nova Scotia.

Making the presentations today to Dr. DeLory at Henry House, Halifax, was Mr. C. Wilnot Dean, President of MAA.

Dr. DeLory said the CAA and MAA "have played an active role in development of the tourism and hospitality industry in Nova Scotia."

"Digby Pines and Keltic Lodge stand as examples of excellence in the accommodation industry...they consistently provide the finest guest facilities, service and overall atmosphere," said Mr. Dean.

CAA-MAA serves the interests of motoring members. It inspects and rates over 2,500 Canadian hotels, motels, restaurants and campgrounds each year. Establishments are listed in tour books published each Spring.

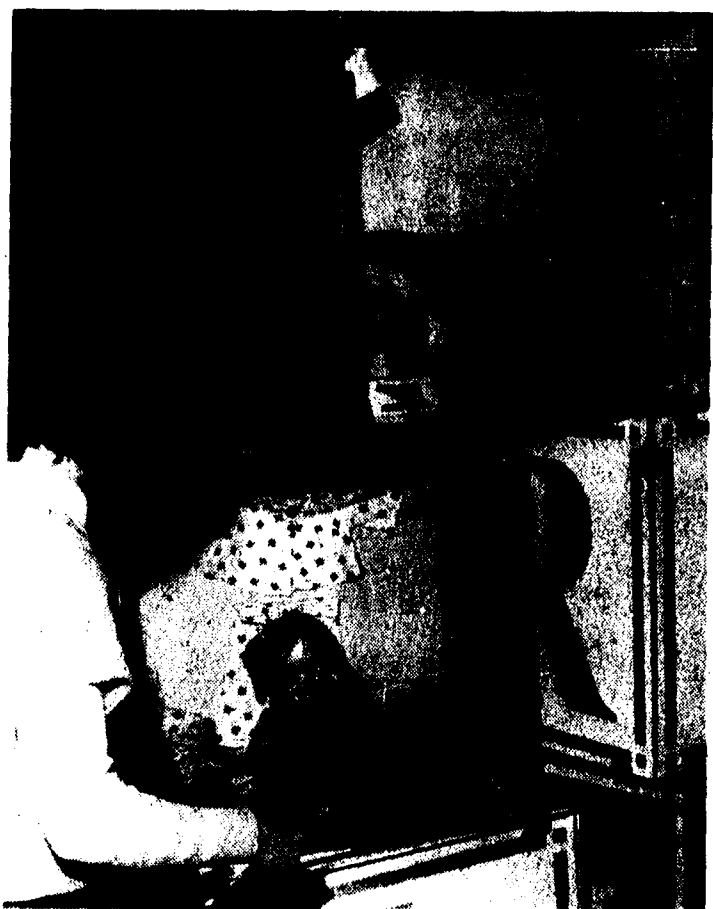

All types of lodging, from multi-storey downtown hotels to remote resorts and cottages, are inspected by CAA so that its Atlantic Provinces and Quebec members "can choose accommodations to suit their needs and budgets," added Mr. Dean.

Accident Under Investigation

A car operated by Robert Joseph Wood, Digby and a tractor-trailer operated by Charles Alfred Hersey, Weymouth, were in collision November 29, sending Dick Tarrimere, a passenger in the Wood vehicle and Robert to Hospital with minor injuries. The Wood car was a write-off R.C.M.P. are investigating.

A single car accident on Highway 1 at Upper Clements resulted in property damage but no injuries. A car operated by Wilbur Stevenson, Lequille, left the highway and struck a hydro pole causing a shut-off of power for a few hours.

Christmas Toy Exhibit

Children of all ages would spend an enjoyable afternoon at the Nova Scotia Museum in Halifax these days as it presents a Christmas Toy Exhibit until January 8. Dozens of childhood treasures, some more than a hundred years old, have been borrowed by the Museum from historical societies and private collectors around the province. Here, a young girl takes a long look at "Harry's" handmade wardrobe. Many of the exhibits are being shown in building-block display cases. (N.S. CIC Photo)

The young, and the young-at-heart, are in for a treat this Christmas season, compliments of the Nova Scotia Museum as it exhibits a major collection of toys, old and new, until January 8, 1978, at the museum on Summer Street in Halifax. Dozens of articles, some more than a hundred years old, have been gathered together for this exhibit on loan from historical societies, museums and individuals throughout Nova Scotia.

Historical toys include such treasures as dolls with wax, porcelain and wooden heads, hands and feet - the most impressive being a doll, 1840 vintage, dressed in original period garb - to dolls' clothing, furniture and several china tea-sets for dolls.

A collection of six dollhouses dating from 1900 to 1950 is being exhibited as a village, some fully furnished with hand-made miniature furniture.

For the toy train buff the museum's exhibit is sporting a five-foot long hand-made wooden train, which is so lengthy it overpowered the display cases and is being exhibited, suspended from the ceiling! As well, the museum has temporarily acquired rocking horses, tops, trucks and other childhood treasures.

Nova Scotia's designer craftsmen are also represented at the exhibit by recent hand-made toys of wood and weaving ranging from stuffed teddy bears and gongs to hand-carved cars. The Christmas Toy Exhibit is educational as well as fun, and will make an enjoyable afternoon's browse for a child of any age.

Deep Brook Pastor Inducted

The Induction Service for the Pastor-Elect of the Deep Brook United Baptist Pastorate, Rev. Hallett M. Foster, was held on Saturday evening, Dec. 3, at the Smith's Cove United Baptist Church. Rev. Ron Baxter, Nictaux, moderator of the Church of Christ be ambassadors and tell the Good News as the seventy did; to serve in His name among our neighbors - local and afar - and in the local church; and to set aside each day time to fellowship with the Lord, the source of our strength.

Participating in the service were Dr. Freeman Fenerty, pastor of the Lower Granville churches who conducted the Act of Induction, as the Deacons of the Pastorate performed the Laying of Hands; Rev. Barry Dixon, pastor, Barton-North Range, offered the Commitment prayer. The moderator led in the exchange of commitments between Pastor and People.

Welcomes were extended to Pastor Foster by Rev. Eugene Thompson, Middleton, Pastor-at-Large Area No. 2 who brought greetings from the Atlantic United Baptist Convention and from the Annapolis-Digby Association by Mr. Baxter.

Guest speaker, Dr. J.K. Zeman, Acadia Divinity College, challenged those present with a message from Luke, chapter 10...1) Jesus sent out the seventy, two-by-two, to tell the Good News; 2) the Good Samaritan's service to the wounded man; 3) Mary and Martha where Martha was busy serving, but Mary fellowshiped with Jesus. So must we as Christians and members of the Church of Christ be ambassadors and tell the Good News as the seventy did; to serve in His name among our neighbors - local and afar - and in the local church; and to set aside each day time to fellowship with the Lord, the source of our strength.

Special music was presented by Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Hapeman, Bear River, who sang, "Ho, Everyone that Thirsteth," and Rev. Murray Shaw, Digby, who sang, "Jesus is the Sweetest Name I Know".

Mrs. Alice Blacklock, Clementsport was organist. The Pastor's wife, George, his mother, Mrs. Lina Foster (known as "Nan" Foster) were welcomed by Mrs. R.M. Winchester, Smith's Cove, representing the ladies of the Pastorate and the Women's Missionary Society of the Annapolis-Digby Association.

A reception and fellowship hour in the church vestry followed the service and was served by the ladies of the Pastorate.

Maia Returns From Europe

Maia Erjavec, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bogdan Erjavec, returned from her seven month stay in Europe. During the summer she was working with the Mentally Handicapped people in the Little Ewell in Kent, England. Little Ewell is one of the communities which was founded by the son of the late Governor General of Canada, Mr. Vanier.

After three months in England, Maia moved to Yugoslavia where she observed and worked with individual retarded children. From Yugoslavia she went to Greece, where she visited all the historic places. In the Village of Kiparrissia she was asked to teach Greek children English. She found Greece extremely beautiful and Greek people, especially school children very attractive and pleasant and even with the language barrier her week teaching in the school was a most pleasant experience.

October she spent at the Community of Mentally Handicapped people, Trolos, France. Trolos is L'Arche self-supporting community of 175 Mentally Handicapped and 175 workers. The mentally handicapped are taught to work in vegetable gardens, some are trained to assemble small parts which are delivered to the big Citroen auto plant, and some are trained to make handicrafts such as candles, pottery, mosaics and to make figurines out of steel. The community is very religiously orientated without any televisions, radios and very modest surroundings. Absence of television increases the communication between the handicapped and the assistants and encourages the handicapped to verbalize. The basic idea of the community is for both the handicapped and non-handicapped to live and work together each doing the work they are capable of doing.

When in England Maia was approached by the members of Amnesty International is she would work for the cause and collect as many signatures from around this area.

Amnesty International is an organization which is trying to help people who are persecuted by their gov't because of their faith or their political opinion. It doesn't matter if the person suffers from Communist government or a military dictatorship like one in Chile, their organization tries to help them all.

This organization was founded in England and is spreading all over the free world.

At this special time the Amnesty International is working on behalf of one Catholic and one Orthodox priest who are in a concentration camp and the state of their health is very serious.

These petitions are now circulating from Digby to Meteghan and the response of the people is tremendous. These petitions are in the doctors offices in Weymouth and after Sunday services at the back of the Churches of all faiths, for the people to sign.

The only odds that are against this petition is the time because the International Amnesty is afraid if this petition is not sent before Christmas, it could be too late to save the lives of these two men. (Stories of the men to follow next week.)

Represented At The Royal Winter Fair

Five Digby County producers attended the 49th Royal Agricultural Fair in Toronto, during the past two weeks. On November 16th to 19th, Hubert LeBlanc, President of the Clare Co-op Shipping Ltd.; Delbert LeBlanc, Director of the same organization; both prominent Concession hog producers; Gerald Comeau, associated Concession Mink Rancher and Bruce Gillatt, Digby County Agricultural Representative attended the Royal in Toronto.

During the early days of the Royal, Stanley Boudreau, Director of the Digby County Federation of Agriculture and hog producer from the Concession area also attended the Royal Winter Fair.

The 9 days the fair saw 400,000 people go through their doors. Redford W. Gardhouse, President of the Royal, in his closing remarks on Saturday evening, November 19th termed the 49th Royal Agricultural Winter Fair as Canada's show window of Agriculture.

He said that the Royal was delighted to have the best livestock, fruit and vegetables in Canada on display at its show.

Nova Scotia agriculture was well represented at the Royal this year, with 22 individual farmers entering in the various competitions. N.S. exhibitors were found in swine, dairy, beef, sheep, field crops, vegetables and maple sugar.

In the Western N.S. area the exhibitors were as follows:

Annapolis County- Charles Saunders, West Paradise, Dairy Guernsey; Ronald Barrett, Clarence, Dairy Guernsey; Joseph Graves, Port Lorne, Vegetables; George Charlton and sons, Torbrook, Shorthorn.

Bruce Gillatt in his press release to Annapolis Valley Radio during the week from Toronto, said that the executive of the Royal was delighted with the Nova Scotia entries and were hopeful that more exhibitors from this County would take part next year as the Royal will be celebrating their 50th anniversary.

A very large group of Nova Scotians were on hand at the Royal Winter Fair this year, which shows that the N.S. Agriculture Community can compete with the rest of Canada.

Hubert LeBlanc, President, Clare Co-op Shipping Ltd., said that the Royal was very educational for both persons in Agriculture and those who were not associated with it directly. He was very much impressed with the number of school children and teachers who attended the Royal during the day. Hundreds of groups of school children could be seen throughout the fair.

For Your Home

Make a shadow box picture for your home from those extra special Christmas cards that you hate to throw away and left-over ties, stickers and labels. Combine them with snapshots of the family and glue onto cardboard. Pick up a shadow box frame at an art supply or frame shop, put your picture in, and it's ready to hang! A real conversation piece!

Thieves Make Way With Tools

Thieves or a thief has struck again in the New Tusket Community. When Eldon Ford went to use some tools, which have always been kept in his porch, he discovered several things missing. A ratchet and several sockets, (an old ratchet was in the case, left by the thief) ¼ inch socket set with the socket wrench, spark plug wrench, and another wrench, his pliers and a gauge just recently purchased, a loss of $40 to $50 in all. As his tools aren't marked, he has no way of claiming them. A small lantern of Mrs. Ford's was also stolen again. It had been stolen before, and returned.

Annual Missionary Convention

The Annual Missionary Convention at the Digby Wesleyan Church began on Wednesday evening.

The guest speaker was Rev. Dean Phillips, a Missionary home from Jamaica. He gave a talk to the younger generation. This was a youth service and a large number of young people were present. Rev. Phillips showed slides of Jamaica and told of the work of that country which is referred to as The Green Turtle. The map of Jamaica is the shape of a turtle. The land is green and fertile. The temperature is never lower than 65 degrees. The forty-nine Wesleyan Churches located here each have a native pastor.

Coconut trees grow here. A large amount of goat meat is eaten. Sugar is the only crop grown.

Mrs. Phillips offered prayer. Miss Williams, also a missionary from Jamaica, was present. She had served for over 20 years in Jamaica.

The convention continued on Thursday evening with Rev. Arnold Stairs, Pastor of the Yarmouth Wesleyan church, as the speaker. He showed slides of Barbadoes and told about his experiences when he visited the city of Bridgetown, Barbadoes. It was interesting to note that the women walked to the market place with their fruits or products to sell on their heads like the women of Jamaica do.

Rev. James Blinn a Missionary to the lumbermen was guest speaker on Friday and Saturday evenings. Solo numbers were rendered by Rev. Blinn who accompanied himself on his guitar and mouth organ, singing a number of favorites selections of the lumberjacks.

Rev. Blinn said he travelled 800 miles or more from Maine to Nfld., visiting Lumberjacks. He said, he was one of three pastors serving in a large area where many of the 3000 lumberjacks had never heard of Christ before.

The Missionary Convention for 1977 concluded on Sunday November 20th. The Pastor of the church spoke at both the morning and evening service.

The evening service opened with Robert Wilson conducting the musical portion and Mrs. Fernley, Mrs. Trimmer and Mrs. Potter rendered a trio.

The Pastor, Rev. Walter Fernley talked about the work at India Pakistan and slides were shown by the youth pastor, Miss Patti Myers.

party. Bonded Stock will furnish the music and the affair will be limited to 200 persons. This will be for firemen, auxiliary and their guests. Information on this party can be obtained from any member of the department.

The Recreation Chairman Lawrence O'Neil, has advised that a Christmas Party will be held, on Saturday-December 17th, for the children of the communities. This will be from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Firehall. It is expected that Santa will make an appearance and all look forward to a nice children's Christmas Party.

Mental Health Centres And General Hospital Mergers Discussed

The delegates from Digby and throughout Nova Scotia to the Mental Health N.S. annual meeting at the Abbie Lane Memorial Hospital in Halifax, directed the President and Board of Directors to convey to the Ministers of Health and Social Services the association's support for a better distribution of services throughout the entire province.

Dr. Bean commented that significant developments had taken place in the Halifax-Dartmouth Metropolitan area with the Abbie Lane Hospital approved for a broad range of services the past year, three group homes for post-mentally ill patients given approval and more attention given to aftercare and rehabilitation services. "While these developments fill an important role the association cannot ignore the many gaps in services elsewhere in the province.

Dr. Bean stated the conference and annual meeting came out strongly in support of a broader range of social services to support mental health treatment services with need for activity programs, sheltered workshops and group homes particularly evident.

Discussion groups as well as the President's report and that of the executive director, Andrew Crook, drew attention to the need to re-examine the policy of the Department of Health which directed the mergers to take place. While some Centres and General Hospitals have merged during the past year the issues still remain clouded; there is concern that community input has eroded in some areas. The most compelling reason for declaring the merger policy, that of securing federal funding, does not exist any longer and in light of all these factors the association is asking for a re-examination.

The need for new mental health legislation was brought forward and the association will be seeking information on the regulations prior to the Act, passed in February, being proclaimed.

Dr. Bean, in paying tribute to the many outstanding volunteer contributions in mental health and other community activities stressed so much more could be done if the association had more funds to provide support staff and direction.

He expressed concern that some United Appeals were unable to provide a proper level of support which could result in withdrawing membership and conducting a separate campaign. On the other hand, he commended the Government for their interest and commitment to a higher level of financial support.

Because of the association's critical financial position, the President Dr. Bean has called a special meeting of the executive, committee chairmen and branch presidents, for December 16, 1977 in Halifax.

Attending the meeting from the Digby branch were Rev. Kenn Lowe, president, and Rev. John Stokoe, Bear River.

Rural Route mail carrier Jack King was recently presented with an award for 25 years of service to the Post Office. The presentation was made by assistant postmaster Harold Franklin.

The Elderly Need To Be Especially Alert

Older Canadians are more vulnerable than other groups to crime. Not only are they major targets of street crime, but Better Business Bureaus note that they also are often victims of fast-buck schemes, swindles and shady sales gimmicks.

What are the most common frauds to which the elderly need to be especially alert? They range from health quackery to land sales. To avoid them requires knowledge and a steadfast refusal to be duped. Yet, for many lonely, disabled and, often, low-income older people, it is easier said than done when faced with a smooth talking con artist offering the answer to a life-long dream.

HEALTH GIMMICKS. In spite of our modern times, there are still self-styled "doctors" who prey upon the aches and pains of other people. Gone is their top hat and traveling medicine wagon of yesteryear. The modern medical charlatan is simply more sophisticated and at ease with medical terminology and psychology.

Many older people suffer chronic ailments for which there are not yet certain and legitimate cures. These include arthritis, obesity and baldness. And, cancer still ranks among the most mysterious of human conditions.

If you are near or beyond age 65, or love someone who is, be alert to the signs of health quackery. No doctor promises a miraculous cure, particularly for chronic ailments. Nor does a doctor go door-to-door looking for patients. Also, while not all aches and pains warrant major treatment, no doctor will make a broad condemnation of surgery x-rays or prescription drugs. Deciding on treatment without the consultation of a medical doctor can be fatal in some cases, or it may allow some conditions to advance beyond an effective treatment stage.

HAPPY HOME OF YOUR DREAMS. One scheme often inflicted upon the elderly is land sales. A fasttalking person or an attractive brochure describes the perfect little spot and it seems so easy.

But don't rush, says the B.B.B. There are land sale transaction laws in most Provinces. Learn about the seller by contacting the B.B.B. We will try to help or refer you to an agency which can help.

There are innumerable schemes made especially attractive to older persons. These include dance instruction, book publishing and correspondence schools of all types. Many of these businesses are legitimate, but the fields are a breeding ground for the unscrupulous operator looking for victims. But YOU do not HAVE to be one of those victims, says the B.B.B.

Bud McLeod

The highest prices for fish in the province are paid to Port Mouton fishermen. Why?? Being close to the new England market... and the fact that fish is exported fresh.

Over the last 30 years, Crosby McLeod of Port Mouton has created a sizable fish processing and export business. The company handles deep sea and inshore lobsters, scallops, and salt fish. On December 8th, at 7:30 p.m. watch "Crosby McLeod" on "Land and Sea".

Newfoundland Fisheries

Times are changing in the marlimes, noticeably in the Newfoundland fishing in-dusty. Newfoundlanders are debating the best ways to capitalize the resource with prospects of increased fish landing. Will the industry make a move to new multi-million dollar freezer trawlers or will traditional inshore methods remain?? These issues are examined on "Newfoundland Fisheries" December 15th at 7:30 p.m. on "Land and Sea".

C.B.C. Home Again

From December 5 to December 9, CBC-TV's 90 Minutes Live with host Peter Gzowski will broadcast live from Halifax. For the crew of 90 Minutes Live it's a nostalgic return to the show's birthplace where the initial pilots were created in February of 1976. Since then, we've grown and evolved into a unique combination of entertaining and informative programming. Our new special identity includes the addition of contributor John Harvard, along with regular guests Danny Finkelman, Rick Moranis, Alan Fotheringham, John Kastner, Michael McGee, James Barber, Arthur Valle and Flo and Eddy. Behind the scenes our team of journalists explored breaking news stories while our variety experts scout new talent across the country.

Even Gzowski wryly admits that he has changed from a once humble and witty personality to a deadly serious, egocentric TV host who is constantly pursued by a panoply of groupies. He comments, in a more serious tone, that this season 90 Minutes Live has returned to our original expectations enabling us to present guests who are outside the traditional structure of late night TV talk shows. Executive producer Alex Frame sees the transformation of 90 Minutes Live as a refusal to fall into the predictable big star format of TV talk shows. When you have known names, you know what they will deliver, but when you are combining unknown elements, you're taking a big chance. In focusing on Canadian talent, we have equally talented and humorous guests who are more relevant to the Canadian audience. In keeping with this premise, 90 Minutes Live returns to Halifax with a blend of international, national and regional guests who accurately reflect the interests and concerns of the Maritime coast.

The sense of immediacy which can only be achieved through this kind of programming and the technical magic of live television offers the viewer exciting encounters with new faces every night from 11:35 p.m. - 1:00 a.m., AST, Monday through Friday on 90 Minutes Live. We originate from the Halifax CBC-TV studio in front of a live audience. Free tickets may be picked up at the CBC Switchboard on Bell Road in Halifax.

"OK, December 4 is the day. Tell me again how Unemployment Insurance qualifications are changing."

New legislation has changed some of the ground rules of our UI program. Parliament has decided that people who live in areas of high unemployment will be given certain advantages over those who live where jobs are more plentiful. Which means that, as of December 4, you'll need more insurable work weeks to qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits.

"10 to 14 weeks, depending on where you live, right?"

Right again. In regions of low unemployment, claimants will need up to 14 weeks of insurable employment to get UI benefits. This will only happen in places where it's easier to get and keep a job. In regions of high unemployment, claimants will need as little as 10 weeks to qualify. But until December 4, the entrance requirement remains at eight weeks wherever you live.

"How about the two week waiting period?"

No change. The basic two week waiting period remains the same everywhere. And so do the rules on the waiting period when a claimant has left his or her job for no good reason or been fired for misconduct. In such cases, a claimant may have to wait up to eight weeks from when employment ends until benefits start.

"Has the amount of the benefits changed?"

Absolutely not. The UI benefit rate stays at two-thirds of your average weekly insurable earnings. The maximum is $147, less tax.

"Anything else I should know?"

The maximum time for which anyone may receive benefits has changed slightly. The old maximum was 51 weeks. Now it's 50 weeks. But since September 11, the total number of weeks for which a claimant qualifies has more closely reflected the unemployment rate in his or her region.

Right now, we measure unemployment by dividing Canada into 16 economic regions. Later, in 1978, we will fine-tune the program to 54 regions so that UI will be even more closely related to the local labour market conditions. Also, there's maternity, sickness and age 65 benefits.

Previously, sickness benefits were only payable during the first 39 weeks of the claim. Now they are payable at any time during the entire benefit period.

Maternity benefits of 15 weeks and the special one-time benefit (equal to three weeks' benefits) at age 65 remains the same.

The same people still pay for the program in the same proportions, and the types of employment insurable for UI remain the same, too.

And, as explained in the box below, you still go to the familiar locations for both UI offices and Canada Manpower Centres. Watch for changes in your area.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration have become the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission. For a time, you'll still see our local offices identified as Unemployment Insurance offices or Canada Manpower Centres. When they're together in one location, they'll be called Canada Employment Centres.

Use Caution When Using Drugs

by
N. Halley MacPherson
Vice-President Atlantic Region

Shoppers Drug Mart Stores

Drug dosages are always properly identified and it is important to follow the instructions on each label very carefully when taking medication. Remember that there is always a reason for the precise instructions specified by your physician. Sometimes a drug should be taken only before eating, or only after eating, or once every five hours, or once a day. Whatever the case, never in any way disregard the instructions for your medication. If you have any questions, consult your physician or pharmacist.

Proper dosages for children are a subject of special concern for parents. While all prescriptions for your children carry explicit instructions on the proper dosages, with over-the-counter "patent medicines" the parent must be especially attentive to the instructions on each package. In the case of some drugs, government regulations require the label to carry a statement such as: "Children - take as directed by physician."

Children's doses may also be specific or given as a proportion of the adult dose, such as: "For children 10 to 14 years, give one-half the normal adult dose." Some medicines, particularly headache tablets, are either not recommended for children or come in a special children's dosage. Read the label carefully before purchasing.

Extreme caution must always be exercised when giving medication to infants and small children. Your doctor should always be consulted before a baby is given any medication. Remember to keep all medicines in a safe place out of reach of children. You can never be too careful when it comes to drugs and your family - especially the young ones.

Planned

By Tiverton Women

A group of women, members of the Tiverton United Baptist and Christian Churches, felt they were not fulfilling their role as a Christian so decided to get together and do something about it.

"We come to the church services, listen to the sermon, go home and remain lax for the remainder of the week until the next service. We should be doing something - we should be putting forth some sort of Christian effort in the community," they felt.

The concluding decision was "visitation." To visit the sick, shut-ins, elderly, lonely, etc., folks in the community would be one means of extending the gospel messages heard each Sunday and bring a bit of happiness by sharing some time and fellowship with them.

Members were divided in groups of two. Names of those in the community who were to be visited were written down and each group drew the names of those whom they were to visit during a two-week period.

The following slate of officers was drawn up: President - Mrs. Janet Pyne; Vice President - Miss Cathy Cossaboom; Treasurer - Mrs. Kinglesley Leeman; Secretary - Mrs. Alger Sollows.

Devotional leader for this meeting was Mrs. Herbert Cossaboom. This office will be alternated each meeting.

Theme of the meetings will be the life and work of women of the Bible, Ruth, Dorcas, Esther, etc. Mrs. Malcolm Bates was asked to make the first presentation.

Devotional readings will be taken from the book, "A Woman Wants God."

"The Christian Service Class," the name given to the club, initiated the group's activities by calling on Mrs. Ilma Ossinger who observed her birthday that day. Mrs. Ossinger, in her late seventies is a shut-in.

The group expects to meet again December 14 at the church.

Poachers Pay The Penalty Under New Fisheries Act

OTTAWA- Three lobster poachers in the Maritimes have lost their vehicles under newly-strengthened provisions of the Fisheries Act to penalize illegal fishing.

Romeo LeBlanc, Minister of Fisheries and the Environment, ordered the forfeitures after the courts found the men guilty. Amendments to the Fisheries Act in force since September 1 allow the Minister of Fisheries to take away boats, gear, vehicles, or anything else a poacher uses in illegal fishing, following court conviction for an offence against the Fisheries Act.

"Poaching does serious harm to the legal commercial fishery," Mr. LeBlanc said. "Fishermen have rightly demanded more protection, and Parliament has given us the means. Those who take from the honest fishermen what is theirs will find that the law can reply in kind. I fully intend to use all the authority at my disposal to make sure that the law is respected."

In all three incidents, the poachers were moving illegally-caught lobsters (775 in all) by car or truck in northeastern New Brunswick. Two were unlicensed to fish lobster; the third, although licensed, was moving lobsters caught out of season. Poachers frequently move lobsters caught during the closed season into an open-season district, to mask their commercial sales as legal.

The government took possession of a 1974 Ford pickup truck (valued at $3,500), a 1973 Volkswagen car (valued at $2,000) and a 1977 G.M.C. pickup truck (valued at $6,000). The 1977 vehicle belonged to the licensed fisherman. "I could have taken away this man's fishing licence as well, costing him many thousands more dollars over the years," Mr. LeBlanc said. "Instead, he gets another chance in the lobster fishery, which with less poaching will become more profitable."

Poachers take an estimated two and one-half million lobsters in the Maritimes yearly, causing a loss to honest fishermen of more than $3 Million. The salmon fisheries on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts suffer even worse depredations.

Besides increasing the Fisheries Minister's powers of forfeiture against poachers, the amendments to the Fisheries Act passed

Winter Survival Of Alfalfa

Alfalfa grown in Atlantic Canada may winterkill while the same variety in northern Alberta will withstand temperatures seven degrees colder.

Scientists at Agriculture Canada research stations at Charlottetown, P.E.I., and Beaverlodge, Alta., have been studying this seeming paradox and now may have part of the answer.

An unusual type of protein fraction, called an isozyme, that is not present in the non-winterhardy varieties, has been isolated in one winterhardy alfalfa. This isozyme seems to behave differently under certain weather conditions.

by Parliament raise the ceiling on fines for summary convictions from $1,000 to $5,000.

Westport Minister Turns 91

One of Digby County's better known citizens celebrated his 91st birthday at Tideview Terrace Sunday.

Jim Derby served as minister of the Church of Christ in Westport and Tiverton for a number of years.

In recognition of his fifth birthday at Tideview (five birthdays in four years, he fondly recalls) a service-party was held in his honour. This featured an interesting variety of entertainment.

Rev. Derby attributes his long life to hard work and a good diet. He says he rarely ever overate and never drank or smoked.

Derby first arrived in Westport in 1914, before the first cars got there. People in those days, he recalls, were "pedestrians".

Bearing fond memories of Westport, Rev. Derby enthusiastically says "There's no place like it in the world I'd be there now if it had the convenience."

In spite of his love for Westport and the Islands, life there wasn't always easy for Rev. Derby. A trip to Digby in those days was usually accomplished via mail courier - by horse and wagon in the early days.

Even in the days of the horse and buggy, horses were scarce on the Island. Rev. Derby can recall only one there... maybe two, but I wasn't acquainted with the second one.

The ferries of the day, he recalls, were "little open boats with small engines," which wouldn't cross in storms. The ferries made a crossing anytime they had a passenger.

Rev. Derby's first stay on the Islands lasted six years. Then he headed out West where he stayed for a period of 15 years.

While in the treeless yonder, Rev. Derby lectured for the Social Credit party. He was, at one point, a candidate at a Social Credit nominating convention. However, he placed second.

At the end of his western adventures, Rev. Derby finally found his way back to Westport where he remained for the next 21 years.

Rev. Derby started out in life at White Sands, P.E.I. in 1886. His family life included two wives. The first, Florence Sencobough, died in 1950. The second, Pearl Ford Peters, passed away in 1969.

Rev. Derby was father to five children, three of whom are still alive. One son, Whitney, lives in Westport, as does a daughter, Mrs. Harold Swift. Another son, Lewis, lives out west.

Rev. Derby's life was one lived for purpose. He entered the ministry in 1914 answering "the call of the Lord". His life in the ministry brought much satisfaction if not a great financial reward.

When he first arrived in Digby County, Rev. Derby was paid an annual salary of $600. When he went out west he had to make his living as a carpenter and decorator. His church there was too far in debt to pay a salary.

Rev. Derby is fully retired, at Tideview now. Unless of course if no one else is available to handle a service. He first arrived here on December 3, 1973 and celebrated a birthday a day later (which accounts for the fact he has had five birthdays there in four years).

Rev. Derby has sixteen grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren.

More Than $100,000 To Sainte Anne

Secretary of State John Roberts today announced the quarterly formula payments to the province of Nova Scotia under the federal-provincial program for bilingualism in education. The program was implemented in 1970 on the basis of federal-provincial agreements and was renewed in March 1974 for a five-year period.

Under the formula payments arrangement, provinces receive federal contributions covering a portion of the costs of programs for the minority language as well as second language instruction. Federal contributions towards second language instruction apply to the primary and secondary levels, whereas payments for official language minorities cover all levels of the educational system including post-secondary education.

Based on the formula payments, the federal government has provided the government of Nova Scotia with $1,600,329 for 1976-77. During this fiscal year, the province has received three interim payments totalling $1,567,165 from the federal government.

Separate from the formula payments, but also supported by the Languages Programs Branch of the Department of the Secretary of State is the program of assistance for special projects which is designed to enable provincial and territorial governments to identify spheres of activity in which substantial progress may be possible in the development of bilingualism in education. Special projects are intended to assist provincial governments in developing innovative and experimental projects in minority language education and second language instruction at any level of the educational system. The projects are financed on a cost-sharing basis by the federal government and provincial sources including the provincial government, school boards and private institutions.

Among the special projects undertaken by the federal government and provincial sources in Nova Scotia are included the following: Université Sainte-Anne, $100,000.

A library is being developed over a period of six years at Université Sainte-Anne. In order to best serve the needs of both students and university personnel, it is felt that a library of 110,000 volumes will be needed. This is the second year the federal

Reflecting To 1927

When reading the news in The Digby Weekly Courier of December 16, 1927 one gets the impression that the year is 1977. A Fisheries Commission met in Digby with 47 delegates from the fishing districts of Digby, Annapolis and Kings counties. Every phase of the industry appeared to have been covered from the methods of catching fish, harborage, protection and disposal at market. Coupled with their desire for information, fishermen expressed their realization of dwindling supplies, particularly of lobsters and predicted the ultimate end of that industry if drastic measures were not taken to protect it.

Price Tags Do Not Measure Christmas Spirit

Although Christmas is a time for giving, the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs reminds consumers that the spirit of Christmas cannot be measured by the price tags of gifts.

"Tailor your Christmas expenses to fit your disposable income," says the director of the Department's Consumer Services Bureau. "You'll enjoy Christmas longer if you aren't paying for it in May or June."

Beware of advertisements designed to lure you into the world of easy credit where even the most exotic of fantasies is affordable, warns Colin S. Campbell.

Consider the full impact of each credit purchase on your family budget before you decide to buy. Use credit only when absolutely necessary.

Don't be misled by advertisements which promise no service charges or payments until January, Mr. Campbell says. In many cases, the service charge will still be calculated from the date of purchase and will appear with your first statement. Know the cost of credit and shop around for the lowest interest rates. Take this extra cost into consideration in the price of the gift.

To keep credit charges as small as possible, make the largest downpayment you can and then plan to pay the account off quickly, Mr. Campbell suggests. If your account is pre-computed, make sure that you are rebated interest charges if you repay your account before the contract is completed.

Last, but definitely not least, Mr. Campbell says, read the credit contract completely and understand it fully before you sign.

Visits Relatives

Mrs. Florence Peare, accompanied by her daughter, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ann Fredette of Dorchester, Mass., and Martha's Vineyard, Mass. Mrs. Doucette returned after visiting relatives and friends for a week.

On Thursday evenings on a radio station in Cambridge Mass., there is a program of Down East music. The theme at the ending is a recording by the late Alec Gillis accompanied by the late Betty Mallett, the latter was formerly from Gilbert Cove and Boston. She was the piano player for the late Alec Gillis and The Inverness Sernaders who played on the radio and made many records. She also made guest appearances with the late Don Messer. This program is run by Marsha Young (Pellitter) who has an interesting selection of music.

On the Thursday evening of Mrs. Peare's arrival at the end of the program, she dedicated the theme to Mrs. Florence Peare and Mrs. Ann Fredette who were sisters of the late and great Betty Mallett. This was quite a thrill for the the age of 49. She has been remaining sisters who are 81 and 79 years of age. Betty was married to the late Stuart McGowan of Weymouth and spent her last 15 years in N.S. and died following a short illness at Gilbert Cove.

Speaks On Energy Options For Nova Scotians

G.C. Baker, Kentville, was guest speaker on Wednesday evening at the Digby Board of Trade dinner held at Fundy Restaurant, taking as his subject "Energy Options".

The present energy situation will not go away like a bad dream. It will get worse, unless we do something about it. From Nova Scotia's point of view, two things need to be done, said Mr. Baker in introducing his subject. We must develop more secure sources of energy supply and we must put a stop to the frightful escalation of energy costs, he continued.

Most of the oil we use goes for transportation and heating. At present, it is not possible to use alternate energy sources for most transportation and coal is a dirty and inconvenient fuel for heating so electricity would have to be the energy carrier to a much greater extent than presently. Nova Scotia, he said, is not at a disadvantage, compared to the rest of the country in the matter of gasoline or fuel oil prices but we are at a disadvantage in the matter of electricity costs. For these reasons it is a matter of prime concern to switch the electricity supply from oil to something else, the speaker remarked.

Nuclear power, Mr. Baker, suggested as one option but, nuclear generating stations must be of large size to be economic. They have high capital costs, but once built they are relatively inflation-free over a life of about 30 years, but they do not produce cheap energy.

Coal, the speaker said, is another possibility. This option is attractive because it would create jobs for our own labor force. The disadvantages to coal, he said are the atmospheric pollution it produces and the possibility that within ten or twenty years it will be required for other purposes and will simply be too valuable to burn. Nevertheless, Mr. Baker commented, it is one of the few viable options and plans are being made to use it for electric generation. Provincial coal potential, while considerable, he said, is a limited resource when measured against our total energy requirements. In fact, he said, if present production could be expanded by two million tons, the total industry output would represent 42 per cent of the 1975 energy consumption.

Looking to hydro, Mr. Baker said that we do not have a great deal of hydro-electric potential in Nova Scotia, most of it has already been developed. There is nothing so nice for a utility, the speaker commented as an older hydro-electric plant because almost all the cost is represented by the cost of the capital involved. As the debt is paid off, the power becomes cheaper. Costs are not influenced much by inflation. The only trouble, he remarked, is that you cannot build old hydro plants, you have to build new. Construction costs and interest costs here are extremely high. Mr. Baker referred to two sites on the Sissiboo River, capable of development. These he noted the Nova Scotia Power Corporation has looked at and at other possibilities for additional hydro power. The average system cost of energy is expected to rise to equal the cost from one of these sites by the year 2005. A profit might start to show after 26 years in service in the one plant while the other would be a losing proposition for 332 years. Besides a few megawatts of hydro from a few remaining undeveloped sites would not make a dent in our energy needs in Nova Scotia.

Turning to tides as an energy source, Mr. Baker said a study has been completed and a report is being prepared on the Fundy tides in Nova Scotia. Catches here are that tidal plants could not be completed before 1988 or 1990. The energy, he said, would not be cheap. Produced in the most economical way, only a small part of it would be absorbable into electrical supply networks in Nova Scotia and the capital costs would be rather enormous.

The prospect of finding recoverable quantities of oil and gas on the continental shelf adjacent to Nova Scotia still exists, the speaker reminded his audience. If developed, they would add to the security of the energy situation.

As for wind power, Mr. Baker considered it an uneconomic option. Solar energy has some prospect of helping in a minor way but in our climate and at our latitude, he remarked, solar heating is at best going to provide a small supplement to our energy supplies.

Speaking of the possibility of wood as an option in producing energy, the speaker said it is not too attractive for the generation of electricity, by reason of the fact that largely it is not too attractive for the generation of electricity because large quantities would be required at a central point, making transportation costs important. Labor costs, too, would have to be considered in the light of inflationary increases. Wood might also be considered from the point of view of maintaining it for the paper industry and the employment that provides. In such case the non-productive portions of the forests would be used and supply up to three or four per cent of energy needs.

Conservation, also, should be recognized as a limited option simply because conservation will not turn the wheels of industry. Conservation, he said, involves more than turning off the basement light, it involves capital funds for efficient structures and machines.

Mr. Baker, in continuing his remarks, made the generalization that the answer to oil

Quick Thinking Averts Tragedy

Two-year-old Faron Elliott safe and sound with father Larry and sister Natalie. Faron was released from hospital Monday after a near-drowning incident Friday.

The Christmas season almost turned into a disaster for the Larry Elliott family in Tiverton. However, the family remains together, safe and, above all, grateful.

Two year old Faron almost lost his life after a cold ordeal in Bay of Fundy waters at Tiverton Friday.

Faron came about as close to death as any person is entitled to and is alive today only through the "good sense" of four year old sister Natalie and the quick work of his father in applying mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

The incident happened as the two youngsters were throwing snow into the water from a bank near their home. Faron slipped from the bank into the high-tide water. After a brief wait to see if her brother surfaced, Natalie rushed to get her father. Larry arrived on the scene but was unable to find his son. He went back to the house to get the exact location from Natalie and then returned to find Faron's top coat sticking up from the water.

When pulled from the water, Faron was "as purple as anything", stiff and not breathing. With almost all hope gone, Larry began to apply mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. About five minutes later Faron was breathing again.

Faron was taken to Digby General Hospital and was released on Monday.

Larry feels his son would not be alive today had it not been for the quick action of his daughter in reporting the incident. He figured Faron had to have been in the water for at least 10-15 minutes.

Mr. Elliott said he is also grateful for the emergency training he received in the army. Without it, he said, he might have panicked.

Larry Duchesne NDP Candidate

Larry Duchesne, 28 year-old community newspaper reporter, was elected to represent the Annapolis West New Democratic Party on Friday, December 9. Undaunted by foul weather, their nominating convention proceeded as scheduled at the Annapolis Royal Legion. In a hard-hitting speech which won him the nomination, Larry declared that NDP members can be proud to belong to a socialist party which stands for brotherhood and the struggle for equality. He asserted that the NDP is a "people party", attracting workers of all backgrounds as well as business and professional people, and added with a touch of humour, "Because we're right, we can expect the odd capitalist to get converted along the way." As candidate Larry proposed to present specific issues and policies in a clear manner and to bring the NDP platform to constituency homes on a door to door basis. His goal, he said, was nothing short of victory in forming a government which will consider the ef-

Fire At Conway Shell

The Digby Volunteer Fire Department reports only one fire of any consequence during the past week. This occurred at the Conway Shell on Saturday.

Firemen had to cut through a roof and wall of a petition in back of the garage to get at the blaze. The fire was put out before any extensive damage was caused.

Fire Chief Vaughn Vantassell reports a significant increase in chimney fires this year with "a lot more" expected.

This is attributed to an increase in wood-burning. Chief Vantassell reports people "don't know how to burn wood like they used to."

86 Years Young - Still Sings In Choir

Selections from the John Peterson arrangement of Joy To The World cantata and other Christmas numbers provided a delightful program at the Little River Baptist Church on Sunday evening under the direction of the organist Mrs. Bailey Gidney.

Following the presentation of the program, members of the choir and others from the congregation retired to the vestry when the oldest choir member, Shirley Tidd, was recognized on his 86th birthday. Mr. Tidd, well known throughout the years for his vocal talents contributes his voice to the choir each week and often renders special numbers. He was presented on Sunday evening with a cake by his daughter, Mrs. Gidney.

Mr. Tidd and Edgar Trask were heard on Sunday evening in the duet "His Love Is Wonderful To Me". Combined choirs, also the men's choir and the ladies' choir offered choruses in the spirit of Christmas. Solo numbers were presented by Royce Elderkin in "There Was No Room" and Cheryl Denton in "He's Still The King of Kings". Several trio numbers were heard.

USE COMMON SENSE IN BUYING TOYS

How many of us over the years have bought toys for Christmas-giving which barely saw the Christmas Day come to a close before the toy was broken or its various parts failing to function. Toys are expensive today in comparison with those of some twenty years ago and their unreliability (when this happens) makes them still more expensive. Furthermore, the child recipient doesn't understand the nature of things and his new object has become a deep-seated disappointment instead of a pleasure. Parents or adults should bear these things in mind before purchasing the Christmas toy and the Department of Consumer Services Bureau has a few suggestions to make.

Firstly, children are individuals. They do not all like the same things. They do not all mature at the same pace. What appeals to one child of an age group might be too sophisticated for another. Secondly, know what type of toy has given your child the most pleasure in the past. Use this experience. Carefully consider quality and durability, color and design if you want to get the best buy for your money. Most important is the safety factor involved in your 1977 Christmas purchase. Is it a size or has it parts small enough to cause suffocation by accidentally swallowing. Does the toy have any sharp points which will injure a child?

The Consumer's Bureau advises that the toy should amuse a child, stimulate his imagination and help his physical growth and development. Use common sense in purchasing toys for children to avoid problems when Christmas time has gone by.

DANGEROUS WATER AND ICE

The near tragic accident at Tiverton during the past week has made many Digby County people conscious of the dangers of water where little children are concerned. Prayers of thankfulness are lifted by family, relatives, friends and others to know that the worst that could have happened had been averted. Prayers of thankfulness for the knowledge of resuscitation also ascend (story in other columns).

Little tots are not the only victims of water hazards or ice dangers. School age children, youths and adults frequently run risks with the dangers of water and ice, crossing ponds and rivers to reduce the distance or playing in sports or other recreation or work. The Canadian Red Cross is mindful of this and has issued "ice safety" for 1977-78.

Canadian Red Cross says you should be practical even when you are having fun. They tell us that frozen water is deceptive. Unless the ice cover is more than 6 inches or 15 centimetres thick, don't even attempt to snowshoe, cross country ski or ice fish on it. And leave the snowmobiles on land. Weakened or broken ice means immersion in cold, cold water - one of the most profound shocks a body ever experiences. When this happens, even the Red Cross recommend positions - the Heat Escape Lessening Posture (H.E.L.P.) and the Huddle which increase by about 50 percent the estimated survival time - can't absolutely guarantee survival.

The best guarantee for a safe, accident and fatality free winter is the practice of preventative recreation. Learn all the do's and don'ts of your winter sport activity. Learn how to handle an emergency, save a life. It's your winter to use wisely.

Let us be thankful for tragedies averted and use every caution to prevent tragedies in the 1977-78 winter in whatever form they might happen.

MAKE CHRISTMAS FIRE-SAFE

Fire can be a dangerous enemy and this is a dangerous period of the year.

The Christmas season is a merry time in almost every home, but fire has no respect for happy occasions. It can strike with fury when least expected.

So be particularly careful with your Christmas tree and other decorations.

Here's what the Fire Chief has to say - "Store your tree in a cool place. Before erecting it, cut an inch or so off the bottom to help it absorb more water. Place it in a sturdy stand containing water, and tie it securely. Check the water level every day. A dry tree is doubly dangerous. Locate the tree away from heat radiators, fire places etc. and make certain it does not block any exit passages. Finally, take the tree down as soon after Christmas as you can. Remember it is always a fire hazard and all the family should be careful."

PEDESTRIANS FARE WORST

It may seem strange to focus attention on "pedestrians" in Safe Driving Week. Strange, that is, until it is realized that collisions involving vehicles and pedestrians result in the third largest group of Canadian traffic fatalities.

But that's not the whole problem.

Using the latest figures available, more than 64 per cent of all Canadian pedestrian fatalities are people either under the age of 15, or over the age of 55. In other words, people least able to watch out for themselves. People who lack traffic experience, who may be wrapped up in an imaginary game, or whose eyesight may be fading and whose reactions may be slowing down.

It is simplistic to simply tell drivers to take extra care around pedestrians, but on a more positive note drivers can be advised to pay special attention when they see either children or costs is investment, in generation from coal one pays for the plant and hydro, tidal, wind and solar power all entail large investments.

Returning to the subject of municipal utilities of which there are about a dozen in the province, Mr. Baker ventured that these small utilities can perform the distribution function just as well as the Nova Scotia Power Corporation providing they stay efficient. In fact, efficiency is the sole remaining justification he said for their existence. This involves a willingness to invest and this involves determination of managers and owners.

In closing, Mr. Baker said the optimum so far as electricity is concerned involves a mix of various kinds of generation and achieving this depends on system planners doing the system planning, overcoming, of the prejudice against nuclear power and a higher level of trust and co-operation between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Inflation, he said, is the biggest single obstacle to achieving hopes for modest improvement and inflation is not necessary. Our trouble, Mr. Baker said is that we have become a covetous nation, each with his hands in his neighbor's pockets grabbing all we can get. It is time, he declared to mend our ways, to set our sights on an objective, just as Canada did in 1939-45 and absorb whatever little sacrifice of personal luxury its attainment may require. In such a spirit, the speaker said, the energy problem could be overcome and so could many of the other problems we have created for ourselves by the abandonment of economic and moral principle.

Following his address Mr. Baker participated in questions and answers. Mr. Baker was introduced by President Charles Halliburton and thanked by Emanuel Adelaar, Weymouth of the Digby County Power Board. Mr. Baker has a diploma of Graduation from the Royal Military College of Canada and a B.Sc. in Electrical Engineering, University of Toronto. He gave service with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals. He is a member of the Association of Professional Engineers, the Engineering Institute of Canada and the Canadian Society for Electrical Engineering. Mr. Baker is an Engineering Consultant with both the Nova Scotia and Newfoundland Boards of Public Utilities as well as other utilities.

He is executive vice-president of Tidal Power Corporation, a member of the Management Committee Tidal Power Review Board and president of the Kentville Publishing Co. Ltd. He is past chairman, Acadia University Institute and a member of the Board of Governors, Acadia University.

facts of its policy not just on business and industry, but on people.

Howard Langille, widely known for his extensive work in community education, recreation and development and a long-standing NDPer, ran a close second and presented a comprehensive overview of issues important to Nova Scotians. Contrasting the area's pre-Confederation prosperity with the present economy, Howard challenged the claim of most politicians that they cannot influence the course of industry and development. He stressed the desirability of cottage industry in Nova Scotia, citing several examples existing in the province and referring to E.F. Schumacher's book Small is Beautiful.

Howard maintained that we should take a hard look at the products we import with an eye to developing many of them here. In particular, he mentioned strengthening our agricultural base and fish markets and properly utilizing our forestry, coal and gypsum resources. He also called for an intensive study of strikes, with labour representation on boards of management and emphasized the role of education in human development.

John Taylor, who formerly agreed to run, announced that he would refuse nomination at this time. "We let the people tell us what they want," he explained. "The NDP is a party that listens to the people and represents them. That makes the NDP different from other parties." He said that while he would be proud to represent the people of Annapolis West he did not feel that he had lived in the riding long enough to truly represent them.

Before nominations guest speaker Lloyd Shaw, a Halifax businessman formerly from Annapolis, called the convention an "important event in the political history of the province and the political life of the valley." He traced the progress of the NDP from its founding and the early days as the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Paul MacEwan, NDP MLA for Cape Breton Nova addressed the sizeable gathering on the NDP philosophy of economic planning. He attacked the laissez-faire or "free market" system, which the old-line parties uphold, on the basis that it allows the strong, powerful and rich to achieve what is important for them, frequently at the expense of the broader interest of the community as a whole. Opposing any notion that government should be

Dear Sir - Madam:

The Education Department at Dalhousie University is sponsoring the compilation of material for a book based on the experiences of Nova Scotian women from the 18th Century on. Our intention is to convey these experiences through writings by the women themselves. Having exhausted the available material in the Nova Scotia Archives, we are appealing to your readers who may have in their attics or basements; letters, diaries, stories, poetry, in short, any original material written by women themselves, that they would be willing to submit for potential publication.

Since we realize that this material is personally valuable, we guarantee its safe return. Materials should be sent to: Professor Toni Johnston, Department of Education, Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia B3H 3J5. Phone: 424-6433. Sincerely, Toni Johnston, Barbara James, Georgina Chambers

Dear Editor:

As an active student of D.R.H.S. I would like to comment on your article published on December 1, 1977 entitled "Survey Indicates D.R.H.S. doing O.K. Job."

I agree that the teaching staff at D.R.H.S. is doing a better job this year than in previous years. However, the survey indicated that twenty-two per cent of the parents said that their student (s) were "bored". I feel the existence of this "boredom" has a great deal to do with the fact that "all work and no play makes Johnny a dull boy."

Because I am familiar with "the activities at D.R.H.S., I can seek them out. However, if I was a new student I would not know much about the activities going on. There is very little communication among the students concerning the happenings at D.R.S.

I feel one of the major factors contributing to this is the fact that the P.A. system is not operating and no one seems to have the interest to have it repaired.

I feel that where there is no communication there is no unity. United we stand, divided we fall.

Never, in the past four years that I have attended D.R.H.S., have I seen school spirit and morale so low. Naturally, we expect to work but when it comes to the point that all you do is work you soon get bored.

The challenge is not one to rid boredom but to increase school spirit and unity with better means of communication and in effect boredom will dissolve.

We need to get behind our school teams and support them. Isn't that what counts? Or is it just a matter of making the System work?

A Spiritless Student

the elderly at the side of the road, and to expect just about anything!

Most frequently, regardless of age, pedestrian fatalities result more from pedestrian errors than from driver negligence. The Canada Safety Council has no panacea for pedestrian accidents, but reiterates time honoured maxims:

- Never emerge into traffic from between parked cars
- Cross only at intersections or controlled crossing areas
- If using a crossing, give on-coming drivers a chance to stop
- Walk facing traffic when there are no sidewalks
- At night, wear something white - or better still - reflective
- Use common sense. In pedestrian - vehicle accidents, the pedestrian always comes off worst.

Christmas Banquet

On Friday evening, December 2nd, a group of young adults from the Digby Wesleyan Church traveled by bus to Upper Granville. There were 27. The group enjoyed a Christmas banquet at the Continental Kitchen.

A report of Chinese food by candlelight and served buffet style was enjoyed. A number of the old familiar Christmas carols were sung and plans for the January meeting were made.

Book On Nova Scotians Published

A comprehensive new book, Nova Scotians at Home and Abroad has been twelve years in preparation. This book gives biographical sketches of over six hundred native born Nova Scotians.

It fulfills the author's two objectives - "Firstly, to provide a record of the achievements of native born Nova Scotians in all spheres of endeavor in society, and in all parts of the world. Secondly, to provide the people of Nova Scotia, of Canada, and of United States, with an appreciation for the role that Nova Scotians have played in the development of these countries."

The author carefully formulated a criterion of selection that is intended "to include all areas of involvement in which a person can contribute to the improvement in the quality of life of mankind."

The book ranges from earliest times to the present, and is illustrated with 76 photographs.

Author of Nova Scotians at Home and Abroad is Allan E. Marble.

Dr. Marble is a member of the faculty of Engineering at the Nova Scotia Technical College, and is also an assistant professor of surgery at Dalhousie. He has given scientific papers at Conferences in Copenhagen, Moscow, and Tokyo.

Selecting Safer Toys

Awareness on the part of holiday buyers can help eliminate needless accidents with flimsy or poorly constructed toys. These guidelines will help responsible Christmas shoppers make safe selections:

Be sure the toy is suitable to the child's age, and ability and that the instructions are easy to follow.

Toys that release small objects if broken are dangerous. Tiny toys or dolls with button eyes, or pieces that can come loose easily, should be avoided as gifts for younger children. A small child could choke on any of these.

Be on the alert for sharp edges and corners or pointed objects.

Small fingers could be trapped in small, tight spaces. Check for these.

Most toys, games and dolls are packaged by the time they reach the store. Examine the open sample carefully before making your selection. You'll be happy you did!

Second Class Mail Registration No. 0928 dismantled and public functions returned to the private sector, Paul MacEwan countered that government must be involved in co-ordinating and regulating economic affairs to maximize opportunities of individuals in society for self-realization.

Paul noted that the Liberals and Conservatives seem reconciled to unemployment and underachievement, sometimes even considering increased unemployment as an acceptable means to hold down inflation. Such policy, he contended, virtually amounts to governments waging war on their own people.

Paul outlined the NDP's six principles for economic planning: 1) economic production for use to meet human needs rather than for private profit; 2) every individual to be assured, in so far as it is in the power of the community to do so, a means to lead a full life (not merely eking out an existence on minimum wage or support); 3) all citizens are entitled to full and equal rights; 4) human potential to be liberated; 5) society to cherish and show respect for diversity; 6) brotherhood with other nations of the world.

These principles are more relevant today, Paul asserted, than when they were drawn up in the early sixties. Then, too, we had unemployment, stresses within the nation, and a rising cost of living, he remembers, but these problems were not yet as acute as they are now.

Despite a few gaffes in the legislature, the above principles can only be put into effect by the election of NDP government, Paul concluded, "the only way to bring sanity to the government of this province."

Film On Life In Quebec

Canadian feature films, based on quality, are now taking their rightful place of prominence on the screens of Canada's theatres. Acclaimed in New York and overseas, Canada's movies are the present talk of the industry and the critics. Themes with a universal appeal which assures their acceptance by discerning world audiences are, nevertheless, set in 'here and now' Canada or in the recent past, and Canadian audiences have the special thrill of immediate recognition of the scenes and characters - the small towns and wheatfields of the West, the schoolrooms and streets of our own cities, the darkness of winter in rural Quebec, and the harbors and forested slopes of our Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Such a Canadian film and one which contributed greatly to the new wave of success is "Mon Oncle Antoine", the feature presentation in Annapolis Royal, Thursday night (December 15) of the local film society, "Thursdays One and Three". The program starts at 7:15. Location is the modern theatre of the new Annapolis West Education Centre. Admission is $1.50. Set in an asbestos mining town in Quebec, not so many years ago, the film was shot by the now world-famous Claude Jutra. In it the general store is the nerve centre through which flows all the cross-currents of village life. Uncle Antoine is both proprietor and undertaker and his young nephew, Jacques, occasional helper.

Thus the young boy takes part in the happenings of the family and the community - learns first hand of deceit, of vanity, of kindness, of good humor, of death and the empty sadness and fear which it brings.

The excellent cast and fine camera work reveal a Quebec and a Canada of yesterday, which seems so long ago, and yet of which the ways and influence are still there both to haunt and to reassure us.

"Mon Oncle Antoine" was requested by audiences of the Annapolis Film Festival and the "Thursdays One and Three" film society. It has won 14 awards. Dialogue is in French with English subtitles.

Also on the Thursday program is an engaging Eskimo story. "The Owl Who Married a Goose", in animation and sounds, the former by Caroline Leaf, creator of "The Street" and the later by Inuit voices and instruments.

ASHIPWRECK AT REAGH'S COVE

Among the legends of our county is the story of the tragic death of three shipwrecked men at Reagh's Cove, the week of Christmas, 1797, and the alleged connection of one Peter Barnes, with the incident.

Calne relates in his History of Annapolis County; a melancholy occurrence took place at Reagh's Cove on the coast of the Bay of Fundy, in the week separating Christmas Day from the New Year... about 1796, a tract of land extending from Reagh's Cove some miles inland, had been granted to the Honourable Doctor John Haliburton. On this land, in a small clearing was a simple hut or cabin, the home of Peter Barnes. Other than this clearing, the whole region for miles in every direction, was one dense and unbroken wilderness. Barnes and the woman who lived with him were the only humans.

Just before Christmas 1797, a small schooner from Windsor was making passage down the Bay, when a sudden and violent north-east snowstorm swept along the coast, and soon the little vessel was in trouble. No help was available and the vessel stranded on the rocks, near the dwelling of Peter Barnes. Three drowned in their fruitless struggle to reach shore. The remaining three reached land, miraculously only to perish in the forest during that bitterly cold night. Their frozen bodies were found against the fir trees where they had sheltered. When the bodies of the three were found there was no trace of any possessions or valuables, if indeed they had any. There was evidence that 'even the finger rings worn by one, had been wrenched from his fingers'. Who could have done such a despicable thing? The unwritten code was to offer aid and comfort to men of the sea in mortal danger. No man lived near the scene of the tragedy, but Peter Barnes. Unjustly or not he was blamed for their untimely deaths.

Legend has it that their cries of distress were heard and at the urging of his wife, Barnes went out into the storm to investigate. After some time he returned saying he could hear nothing in the storm. Nothing was ever proven against Barnes, but for ever after he was despised as the one who left the three to perish in the blizzard.

Some twenty years later a similar fate overtook Peter Barnes, himself. In howling winds and blinding snow, he left the tavern of William Pierce, in what is now Middleton, for his home in Reagh's Cove. No one ever saw him again, alive. His frozen body was found the next morning, in the drifts of snow in a field beside the road.

Some thought that the manner of Barnes death was a just retribution, as indeed it may have been, if he were guilty of leaving the three to die in the cold, twenty years before.

Who were the six seamen who perished in the shipwreck and the blizzard? I have never met anyone who knew their names, but I can tell you, now. A few weeks ago when researching in the Archives in Halifax I found the following item in the Cornwallis Book. This old and treasured ledger contains records of the Township of Cornwallis; meetings, business transactions, Baptisms, Births, Deaths, and Marriages, all carefully recorded with dates. I relate the following items to the legend of Peter Barnes.

CORNWALLISTOWNSHIP BOOK K.

January 8, 1798 Mr. Patrick Mc Masters of Halifax, perished with two others by shipwreck in the Bay of Fundy the 23rd of December, 1797.

Mr. William Harris of Halifax who was shipwrecked at the same time but with two more who, having got on shore alive were on the 28th of December found dead in the woods, supposed to have perished with fatigue and extreme cold.

These 6 Patrick Mc Masters, Mr. Harris, Captain Haine — Clark, — Williams, and Sparks sailed from Windsor the 18th of December, and in a violent gale of wind, and extreme coldweather all perished in the above manner. Their bodies were all found and interred in a decent manner, Clark and Sparks at Wilmot, Haine and Williams at Aylesford.

Can there be any doubt that these 6 men were those who perished on the Bay of Fundy, at Reagh's Cove by shipwreck, in the week separating Christmas day from the New Year., in 1797, nearly 200 years ago?

Minimizing The Effects Of A Collision

In any collision situation, panic is always a threat.

In any situation where a collision is about to occur, a driver should:

1. Try to steer for something "soft" that would cause the least damage or injury. Instead of hitting a car or a telephone pole, the driver should try to run into a hedge or into an open field.
2. Above all, don't give up. Each action that lowers speed will help the driver maintain control of the car and work out the situation.
3. Alert passengers to protect themselves by bending forward and bracing themselves on the dash or on the back of the front seat, wear seat belts.

Poinsettia - Guilty Without Trial

The poinsettia was found guilty without a trial according to C.J.S. Fox, entomologist with the Department of Agriculture and Marketing in Kentville.

Old wives' tales, hearsay evidence, ignorance, or plea bargaining gave it a reputation of being poisonous.

Until recently, Mr. Fox says the symbol of Christmas was found in many lists of poisonous plants. But none of the references could be substantiated. Even the most serious citation was found to be based on hearsay evidence.

At last the poinsettia has been given a fair trial and found not guilty. Two researchers at Ohio State University fed poinsettias to rats. They prepared homogenates of leaves (upper and lower), red bracts and even the small yellow flowers. This homogenate was force fed to rats through a feeding tube since poinsettias taste terrible.

This diet was not just a taste to see what would happen. The rats were fed from one to five per cent of their body weight. This is equivalent to a 140 pound person choking down seven pounds of poinsettia. Most people couldn't eat half half that much steak.

Nothing detrimental occurred. There were no signs of toxicity or apparent ill effects. All 160 rats were healthy.

The researchers went on to analyse the leaves, bracts, stem and even the latex in the milky sap. They found no chemicals commonly considered toxic.

Mr. Fox says the poinsettia is not completely lily white. A large percentage of human beings are allergic to something. A few people are sensitive to the milky sap of the poinsettia. This is a skin irritation. While less severe and far less common than a reaction to poison ivy, it is similar in that no reaction occurs when accidentally eaten by children. The rash is principally a nuisance.

Processing Christmas Daddies Applications

During the past several weeks we have been discussing the packing and delivery of Christmas Daddies' hampers to needy families in the Digby-Annapolis area. But how are the families who receive a hamper selected?

During November and December, application forms are available in grocery stores throughout the area. A family wishing to apply needs only to complete and mail the form. The applications are then received and dealt with by the Christmas Daddies' Fund Committee.

The Constitution of the Christmas Daddies' Fund Committee states that families with children up to the age of sixteen years are eligible for assistance. Sixteen year olds are included if they are in school. This is one of the guidelines used by the Committee in dealing with the applications.

The other obvious guideline is the existence of need. When the applications come in, the Committee draws on the expertise and knowledge of various community leaders - ministers, social workers, priests - who know the families and can make an accurate assessment of the need in each case. Where questions or doubts exist, the matter is discussed with the family concerned. If an application is rejected, the family is notified; the reasons for the rejection are explained. Should the family feel that the judgement of the Committee has not been fair, or that the information on which the judgement was made was inaccurate, they can appeal the decision. If the committee is in doubt about the need, a hamper's provided.

Applications that are

Unilingual French School

A survey is being undertaken in the Halifax-Dartmouth and Halifax County area to determine the demand for enrolment in a new unilingual French School that the provincial government has promised to establish in the capital area next year.

Education Minister George Mitchell says the government feels there is a need for such a facility in the prime growth area of the province, so that francophone children may be educated in their mother tongue. There are an estimated 10,000 francophone families living in metro Halifax-Dartmouth and Halifax County at the present time.

The new French school is to be funded 100 per cent by the provincial government, but it is intended it will be operated by one of the local school boards, or a committee of all three.

A Spirited Tradition Home Made Wine Jelly

Wine jelly in handsomely decorated containers make really special and thoughtful holiday gifts. A graceful wine glass or shapely jar will be used and admired long after its contents are gone.

Multicolor yarn swirled round 'n' round and glued onto the lid makes a bright touch of decoration. Or try a sprig of holiday greenery tied with a bow and invisibly taped onto the front of the jar. You'll get many rewarding "oohs" and "aahs" from delighted recipients of these original gifts.

BASIC WINE JELLY

2 cups sauterne or rose wine
3 cups sugar
1/2 bottle liquid pectin

Pour wine into top of double boiler and add sugar. Mix well and place over rapidly boiling water for about 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from over water and stir pectin in at once. Pour into glasses and seal with paraffin. Yields about five 6 oz. glasses.

Midget Hockey

(By Dan Haight)

On Sunday December 4, the Digby Midget Hockey Team hosted Cornwallis. This was the third meeting between the two clubs with the two previous games having been played in Cornwallis. Cornwallis won the first game with a seven to nothing trouncing of the Digby team. The second game provided much better hockey by both squads. The Digby team fought back to tie the game at four all with twenty seconds left. The tying goal was scored by Mark Melanson with Dale Stewart and Barry Goguen assisting. The other marksmen for Digby were Darren Daley with two and Dale Stewart with a single.

Sunday's encounter proved successful for Digby as they came out on top of a five to three score. The goal scorers for Digby were Mark Melanson, Dale Stewart, Butch Wong, Paul Porter and Darren Daley. The marksmen for Cornwallis were K. Stark, D. Dexter and S. Tremper.

The next meeting between these two teams should prove to be very interesting. Come and support your Midget Hockey Team.

Thinking of tying one on?

Don't: that's the message from

Nova Scotia Department of Highways
Hon. J. Fraser Mooney, Minister

Address By Miss Coline Campbell M.P.

United Nations peacekeeping operations are of great importance to the United Nations in its primary task of maintaining international peace and security. Peacekeeping operations can make a critical contribution to reducing tensions in crises and helping provide the right climate for a negotiated settlement of the political problems involved.

Canada is proud of the role in the field which has been played, under greatly varying conditions, by members of its armed forces in United Nations peacekeeping operations. These Canadians, along with their comrades-in-arms from other nations, have proved indispensable in the Middle East, Cyprus and elsewhere.

Nevertheless there are a number of aspects of United Nations peacekeeping operations which could have been handled more effectively with the benefit of advance planning and agreed guidelines. Nor can we be confident that any new operation will run smoothly. This is difficult to justify, given the cumulative United Nations experience related to peacekeeping. Unless the United Nations can implement better the principles and purposes of the Charter, its prestige and authority cannot be sustained on a level commensurate with the hopes and aspirations of those who signed the Charter almost thirty-three years ago.

For many years Canada has attempted to use its experience in peacekeeping to assist in the development of United Nations peacekeeping theory and practice. We are very disappointed by the lack of substantive progress. Peacekeeping was an unforeseen response to emergency situations, after it became apparent that the collective security system originally envisaged in the United Nations Charter could not be implemented. Each peacekeeping operation has been set up on an ad hoc basis. The lack of agreed procedures or guidelines on the establishment and operation of peacekeeping missions has hampered the ability of the United Nations to respond quickly to crises, and to plan and service peacekeeping forces in the field. Troop contributors are especially aware of these problems, for we suffer the consequences directly.

As a result of its experience in a variety of United Nations peacekeeping situations, Canada has evolved a set of criteria for the effective functioning of any peacekeeping force, whether or not Canada is invited to participate. First, the establishment of a peacekeeping operation should be linked to an agreement by the parties to negotiate a settlement, preferably within a defined period of time. Without movement towards "peacemaking", a peacekeeping force may eventually contribute to a perpetuation of the problem, as the Canadian Secretary of State for External Affairs noted in his address to the General Assembly earlier this year.

A peacekeeping force should be responsible to a political authority, preferably the Security Council of the United Nations, and this authority should receive reports and have adequate powers to supervise the mandate of the force.

Canada's peacekeeping experience has extended beyond participation in missions of the United Nations - such as the International Commissions for Supervision and Control in Indochina - but we have found that United Nations operations stand a greater chance of success, and we prefer them accordingly.

The questions of command, control and supervision of peacekeeping forces within the United Nations are of vital importance. As a troop contributor, Canada considers it desirable that the Secretary-General should be in a position to direct peacekeeping operations under the broad authority of the Security Council and that he should appoint the Commander, after consulting the parties to the conflict and the Security Council. Such a system would combine the maximum of efficiency with flexibility.

A peacekeeping force should have a clear mandate, adequate to permit it to carry out its assigned functions, including provision for freedom of movement. The lack of a clear mandate, or an inadequate one, can seriously interfere in the continued effective operation of a force.

A crucial prerequisite for a peacekeeping mission is that all the parties to a conflict accept the presence of the force and agree to maintain a ceasefire. A United Nations group, whether an observer mission or a larger interpositional force, would not be able to operate effectively if one or more parties refused to accept the presence of a United Nations force or to honour a ceasefire. As far as Canada itself is concerned, we extend the concept of the acceptability of a force as a whole to the national contingents involved therein. Canadian participation in a force must be acceptable to all concerned, and this should be equally valid for other potential troop contributors. In return, host states must give all members of the force equal treatment and respect.

I would also like to draw attention to the financing of United Nations peacekeeping operations. If the contributors to peacekeeping operations are to be widely representative of the membership, as they should be, the membership should be prepared to accept the costs. A system of voluntary contributions is demoralizing because it leads to indifference and cynicism. Only certain countries can afford to contribute troops in these conditions. All states have a responsibility for the maintenance of peace and security and all must contribute financially to this end, taking into account their capacity to pay, just as they do to other activities of benefit to all.

Canada is equally concerned with the practical implementation of peacekeeping operations, especially those which are amenable to implementation in advance of agreed guidelines. A number of proposals, as outlined in Appendix II of the Special Committee's report, have been made to date without any in-depth examination. This examination should take place. Changes and improvements in a number of areas - such as the designation of stand-by forces for United Nations service, national training of troops for peacekeeping roles, the preparation of training manuals on peacekeeping operations, prior training for officers designated to senior command or staff positions under United Nations auspices and/or coordination and the convening of regional-international seminars on peacekeeping - would all have a positive effect on the implementation of any United Nations peacekeeping operation and increase the efficiency and effectiveness of such a force in the field. The Special Committee in the coming year might study other practical measures, such as logistic support arrangements and model status-of-forces agreements.

In evaluating the efforts of the Special Committee and its Working Group over the past year, it is right to acknowledge that some progress has been made. But if we are to make faster progress, modifications in the mandate and methods of work of the Committee and its Working Group appear to be necessary. We believe first that equal priority should be given to practical measures and guidelines in any revised mandate granted the Special Committee on Peacekeeping Operations and its Working Group. Secondly, the achievement of consensus should not be blocked indefinitely by one or a few delegations. I would therefore recommend that, in the future, one delegation should not be permitted to deny consensus unless that delegation is prepared to record its national reservations in the written reports of the Working Group and its parent Committee. With the adoption of such a procedural device, the areas of difficulty would then be clearly delineated.

Mr. Chairman, Canada has participated in the work of the Special Committee on Peacekeeping Operations since its inception. I repeat that we are dismayed by the lack of agreement on guidelines. On the other hand, we prefer no guidelines to inflexible and impractical guidelines. What Canada wants is concrete progress on both guidelines and practical measures. If a new mandate for the Committee is necessary to accomplish this, then we shall support such a proposal. We do not wish to see the Committee abandon its efforts however. The United Nations is faced with a number of conflicts which could well lead to new requirements for peacekeeping. Public opinion in my country would find it hard to understand in these circumstances of this Assembly were to abdicate its responsibilities in this field.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Little Cinema Changes Hands

Graham Saunders, Digby, has sold the Little Cinema in down-town Digby and the Drive-in, outside of town on Highway 101 to the MacLeod Cinema Group Ltd. of Kentville.

The present Little Cinema Building was originally built by the late Charles Ernest Walker, who prior to the new establishment had owned and operated the Bijou Theatre further South on Digby's main street. Others with interests in the motion picture business and the Capitol Theatre, as it was called, were the Fieldings from Saint John. It was from Ronald Fielding, Bridgewater, from whom Mr. Saunders purchased the Little Cinema. The change-over to the MacLeod Cinema Group Ltd. went into effect on November 1, 1977.

The Little Cinema, with a seating capacity for 440, was completely renovated by the Saunders' when they made the purchase in 1971. Both the exterior and interior was modernized to accommodate theatre patrons and decorated with lanterns and decor to retain an Old English appearance. Seats were upholstered in nylon and carpeting laid to add to comfort and attractiveness.

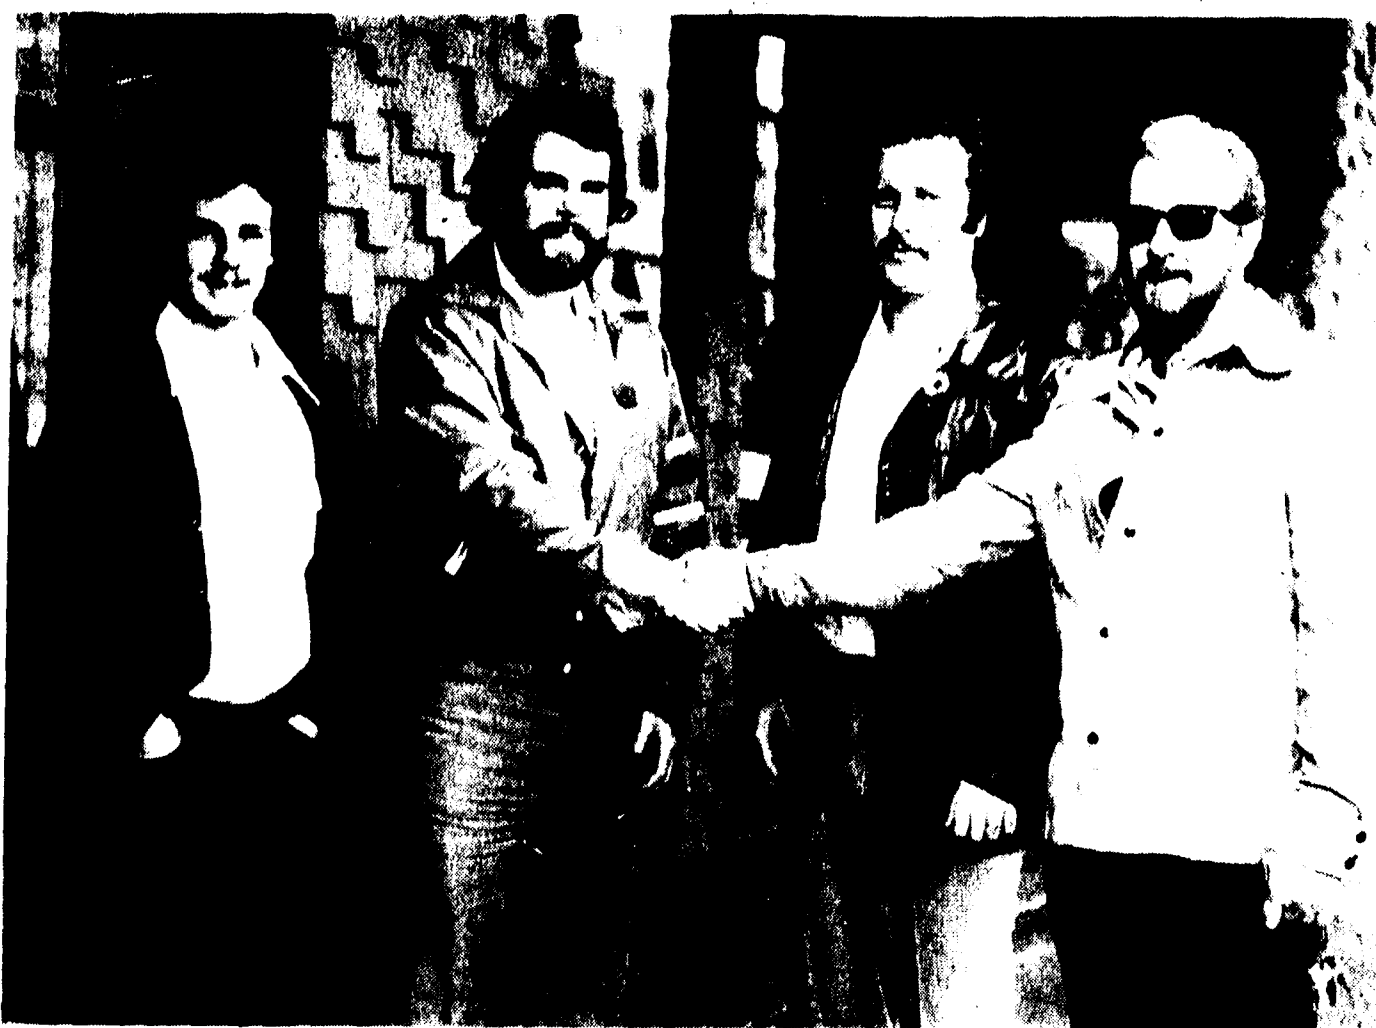

Mr. Saunders established the 500 car capacity drive-in two years ago. It is rated the newest and most modern drive-in in Nova Scotia.

In summer months the theatre business in Digby employed twenty persons. Mr. Saunders was engaged in the jewellery business, garbage collection, amusement and real estate.

The MacLeod Group was formed in 1969 with the purchase of a theatre in North Sydney. Since that initial purchase, the firm has acquired movie houses in Truro, Antigonish, and Kentville. With the Digby purchase, the firm now owns a total of four movie houses and three drive-ins. The firm maintains its head office in the Paramount building in Kentville.

The company indicated that they intend to maintain the solid reputation that has been built up by the theatre's former owner, Graham Saunders. They will endeavor to continue to offer top quality movies and will maintain the existing admission fee structure.

Company representative, Doug MacLeod, indicated that this is a young, fast growing firm that specializes in bringing quality movies to the smaller communities in the province. He noted that the international chains are not serving the smaller communities and consequently, smaller locally controlled firms are in a position to bring to the public movies that they demand.

Welcomes New Owners

MacLeod praised the past operations of the Digby theatres and their excellent staff. He said that it was refreshing to purchase a well run and maintained operation.

Peter MacLeod Now the present manager is also very pleased with the decor of the theatre and feels the Little Cinema will cater well to the people of Digby.

Sometimes, the worst part of a snowstorm is after we've cleared it up.

After the snow, come the complaints.

About plowing schedules; crumpled mail boxes; damage to abandoned vehicles; you name it. So let's clear up a few points, right now.

Main roads get first call

We have neither the men nor the equipment to plow all roads at the same time, so we establish priorities. Arterial highways in the 100 series (eg. Highway 103), and main trunk roads must be cleared before equipment can be directed to local roads.

We can't plow private driveways

The only private plowing authorized covers requests from hospitals, schools, churches and fire halls. But regular plowing schedules must be completed first. In an emergency, other driveways can be cleared on the request of a doctor, funeral director, or other responsible authority.

The case of the crumpled mail box

Our operators are highly skilled drivers, but they can't avoid what they can't see. And we regret that we cannot accept responsibility for damage to mail boxes that are placed on or near the shoulder of the road.

Abandon at your own risk

It isn't fair to expect operators (or the Department of Highways) to accept responsibility for damage to vehicles abandoned by the side of the road or highway. Only in extreme circumstances can we move abandoned vehicles, and then only for the shortest possible distance.

Salting and sanding

Most paved roads are salted, unpaved roads are sanded. Unlike salting, sanding is not on a continuing basis. (Again it's a question of men, machines and money.) And remember, salt takes time to work, so drive with care and watch for icy patches.

Bridges ice-up faster

Bridge surfaces often become slippery before the road surface. Cross bridges with caution.

Pulpwood and logs on shoulder of road

Besides being an offence under the Highway Act, the piling of pulpwood and logs on the shoulder of a road could be a hindrance and even a danger to our snowplow operators.

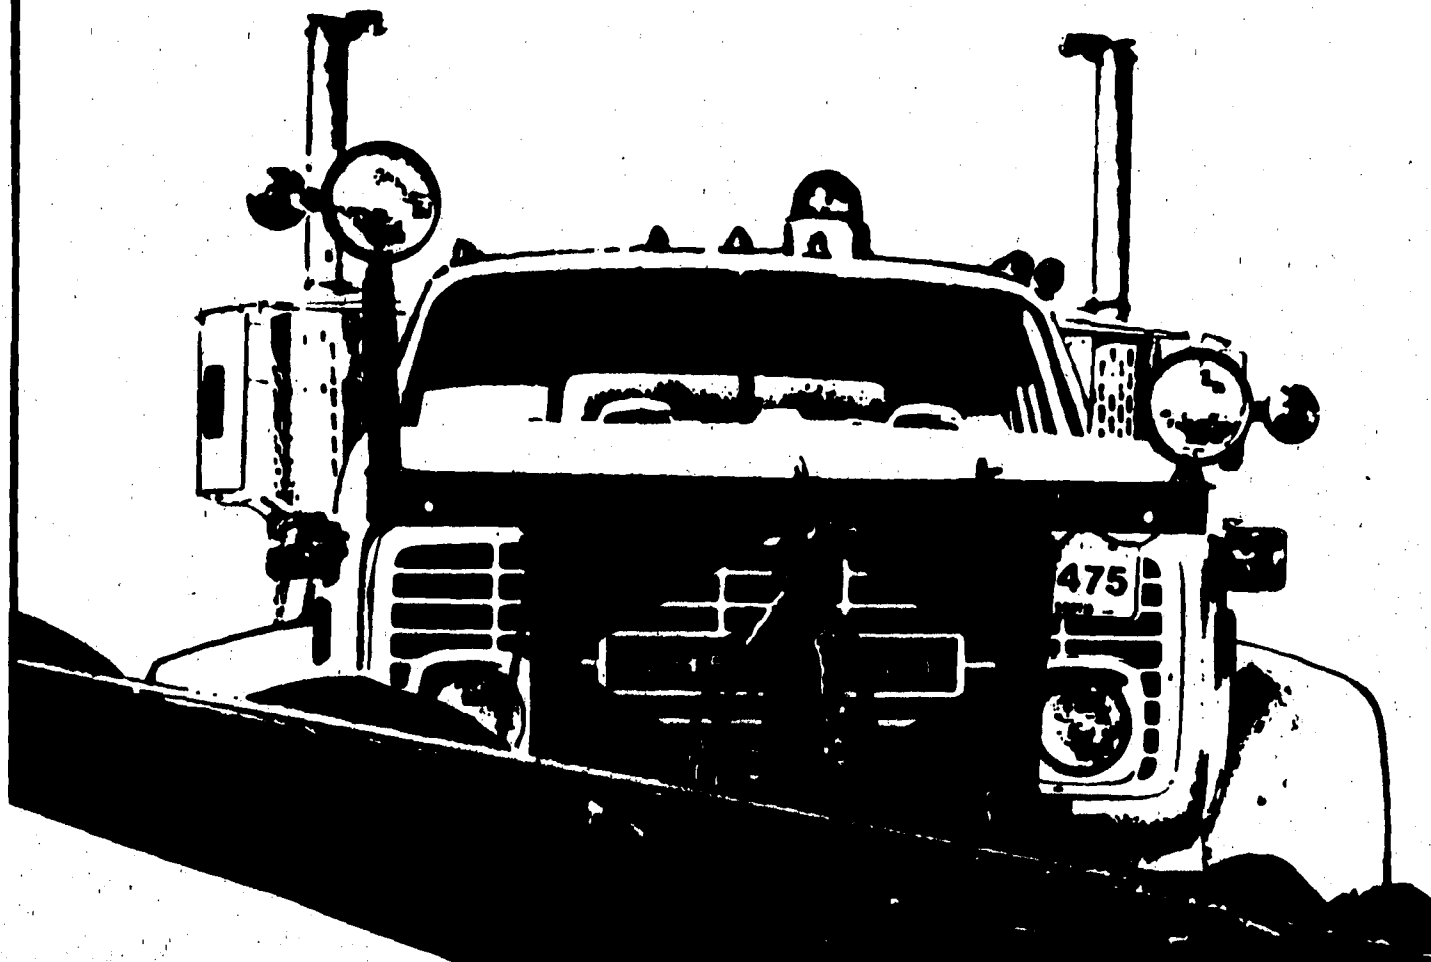

One final note

Accidents could result from your clearing snow off your property or driveway, and dumping it on a street or highway. But it is not only dangerous, it is illegal.

This winter, help us to help you. Equip your vehicle for winter driving. Reduce speed during times of poor road conditions. Postpone travel during snow storms when possible.

Band Gives Annual Concert

The Digby Regional High School Band, supported by the Digby Community Band and the Satin Serenade, are busy preparing for their annual Christmas Concert to be held on Monday evening, December 19, at the Digby Regional High School Multipurpose Room beginning at 8 o'clock p.m. About 90 musicians from the Digby and Bear River area are contained in the combined choirs.

An interesting feature will be the reed choirs and brass choirs rendering music arranged by and conducted by Grade XII students. Prominent in this feature have been Miss Colleen Scott and Miss Wanda Waterman. This is the first year that students of Grade XII had followed through the instrumental part of D.R.H.S. musical education.

Director of Music at D.R.H.S. said the students had been preparing for two and a half months for the Concert. Mr. Scott is also the director for the Digby Community Band and the Satin Serenade.

The pictures contain the total band personnel.

A Thought Starter

By Rev. R.C. MacCormack

A BOOK TO LOOK AT
Almost any home can boast of possessing a Bible. Expensive leather bound volumes of this ancient Book are prized and preserved.

But, what is the Scripture of Christianity doing for the average person? His only knowledge of it may be by hearsay or by dim recollection of early days in Sunday School.

It is common in these times for people to belittle the Word of God. Man is not known for intellectual humility, and has cast scorn and ridicule upon the Book of books. He has ignored, distorted, and dishonored the Word with his unbelief. He has accused God of producing a bookful of scientific inaccuracies and historical errors. He has rebelled against this authority and substituted his own puny observations of life in place of the truth of the Almighty God.

It is wise to live by faith in the Lord Who extends His grace to a lost human race, and who has put it all in writing that we might see and believe.

Long after the critics have gone out to be judged by its Author, this Book will be trusted and followed by people who are foolish enough to live by simple faith. This is the way to positive living and eternal hope.

Child Welfare Increase

An increase in allowances for children in foster homes has been approved by the Nova Scotia Government, it was announced today by Social Services Minister Bill MacEachern.

The new rate of $5.50 per day - up 50 cents daily - became effective December 1, 1977, and will benefit approximately 1,800 children in foster homes around the province.

Mr. MacEachern said requests for the extra assistance resulted from the continued rise in the cost of living. "In the best of times," the Minister said, "foster parents are difficult to find, yet good foster home care is the least expensive alternative in child protection."

"Group home care costs in the neighbourhood of $15 daily, while training school costs exceed $33 per day," he said.

Of the 1,800 children in foster homes throughout the province, 1,017 are provided for by the province under a 50-50 cost-sharing arrangement with the federal government. The remaining 833 are assisted jointly by provincial and municipal governments.

Net cost of the maintenance program to the province is $30,800.

Approval of the Social Services Department request for the higher rates also includes provision of a 50 cent daily increase in the amount provided for children under the Special Protection Program (Juvenile delinquents) and mentally handicapped children in foster homes. Net cost to the province will be approximately $4,500.

Energy Council--- Insulation Grants

Insulation grants available under the home insulation program (H.I.P.) in the province are expected to "significantly contribute towards a levelling off" in residential heating consumption, said Hon. William Gillis, Minister-in-charge of the Nova Scotia Energy Council.

In excess of 90,000 housing units, representing approximately 40 per cent of the Housing stock, have been undergoing energy related improvements as part of the C.M.H.C. Administered program.

Dr. Gillis said "Nova Scotians are fortunate to be offered a home insulation program which is generally more attractive to the homeowner than that which is being provided nationally under the Canadian Home Insulation Program (C.H.I.P.)."

The grants in Nova Scotia are a maximum of $350 for self-completed work, covering the total cost of materials. If the insulation job is completed by a contractor, the applicant qualifies for one-third of the total cost to a maximum of $500. Both single family dwellings and apartments located in buildings of three storeys or less qualify for the grants. The grants are not income taxable.

Dr. Gillis added that there has been considerable public misunderstanding concerning the insulation grant program in Nova Scotia. He emphasized that "recipients are not required to include the grant on their income tax returns".

Dr. Gillis said, "unlike C.H.I.P., The Nova Scotia grants cover the installation of storm windows and storm doors as well as related materials required to complete insulation improvements, such as gyproc, nails and studs. Low interest loans are also being provided by the Nova Scotia Housing Commission.

(Bertha Haviland)

On Monday evening at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in the "Haviland Room" a card game, auction 45's, was enjoyed. The number was small but the bidding was high and prizes were presented to Ladies High Mrs. Lillian Haight; Consolation, Mrs. Bertha Haviland; Mens High, Thane Long and consolation went to Irvine Brooks. The door prize which was a Loto ticket was won by Edna Wentzell. Coffee and sandwiches were served by Catering Committee.

Today is Little Glenda Boudreau's birthday. She is eight years old and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Boudreau, who entertained at a party for Glenda. Ten little friends came to play games and bringing birthday gifts. A pleasant afternoon was had and at the tea hour refreshments were served by the hostess including cake and ice-cream.

Reid Boudreau was in Halifax on Monday at the Victoria General Hospital, having a check up after undergoing open Heart surgery.

Congratulations to Mrs. Mowray, who won one of the jackpots at Bingo on Thursday night at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall.

A new challenge for Santa Claus this year will be sneaking into the average home without setting off the burglar alarm.

Joggin's Bridge

The sympathy of the community is expressed to the family of the late Mr. Clayton Woodman who passed away suddenly on Tuesday, November 29th.

Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gaul, Lawrencetown. Glad to report that Mrs. Valentine Kaulback has returned home after being a patient at the Digby General Hospital.

The Society of Friends Club held their annual Christmas party on Tuesday evening, December 6th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brenton and sons, Bruce and Trevor. The members and their families enjoyed a turkey dinner and this was followed by a visit from Santa which delighted both the young and the old.

He was assisted in distributing the gifts from under the prettily decorated tree by Mrs. Carol Banks. The President, Mrs. Ruth Coker, thanked the Brinton's for a delightful evening which was well attended despite the unfavorable weather conditions.

His Love To Guide Us Home

Think we that we stand alone
Amidst the trials of life
As pain of loss of ones held dear
Or seeing children blind with tears?
Think we that we stand alone
As we gaze o'er distant hills,
Eyes and heart uplifted on raptured being
By a Presence close, yet not seen?
Think we that we stand alone
As temptation sears our soul,
When holding fast for which we long
True joy and peace, a heart in song?
Oh No! Dear God, we do not stand alone.
Your love! Your love! will guide us home.

Digby Neck & Islands

Freeport

(Mrs. Virginia Crocker)

Mrs. Clara Perry and Mrs. Preston Thurber recently entertained a number of friends at Mrs. Perry's home, where everyone enjoyed an evening of 45's.

The Ladies Sewing Circle of the Baptist Church recently held an afternoon Tea and Sale. This raised a good sum of money which will be used for their various projects for the Church.

Two more afternoon Teas and Bazaars are in the offing. One sponsored by the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary is to be held this Friday afternoon and the 2nd one is sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Firemen and will be held next Saturday afternoon at the Community Hall. Donations of food, fancy work, etc., are being asked for both events.

The Western Light Recreation Society held a "Flea Market" in the Hall last Saturday. Many different items donated by the townspeople were sold to raise funds for this organization. They have also recently held a Pizza party in the Hall for the young people of the Community.

Mrs. Florence Tibert spent a couple of days in Halifax where she went for a medical check up.

Our sympathy to the family of the late Mrs. Vincent (Bessie) Howard who passed away a short while ago. Mrs. Howard was the former Bessie Nickerson and was born and raised at Freeport.

The I.C.S. senior girls and senior boys basketball teams travelled to Lawrencetown recently by bus to engage in games there. The scores will be shown at a later date.

Mrs. Marilyn Comeau and Mrs. Reta Tibert are both home again after their stay at the B.F.M. Hospital, Kentville.

Mrs. Luella Finigan is a patient at the Digby Hospital. We send her our "Get well" wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Finigan owners of the Freeport Riteway store have sold the store to new owners and have opened under new management. Mr. and Mrs. Finigan will be leaving the Island soon to live in the Digby area. We shall miss them, and also we would like to give them our best regards and hope that they will be happy in their new residence.

Hilburne Crocker, Niagara Falls, Ontario, has been visiting with his mother Mrs. Stella Crocker and family and his brother, Lloyd Crocker, Mrs. Crocker and family.

Mrs. Marguerite Chapman, Digby, visited with her sister, Mrs. Avery Finigan and Mr. Finigan for a few days last week.

We were all saddened last Sunday to learn of the deaths of Mr. Burton Welch and also Mr. Alton MacNeill. Mr. Welch died at home and Mr. MacNeill at the Digby Hospital after being ill there for a number of days.

Mr. Welch was engaged in the fishing industry for a number of years until ill health forced him to retire. He leaves besides his wife and family many relatives and friends who will long remember Burton. Mr. MacNeill for many years was the Village barber and Saturdays the men gathered at the old barber shop for hair cuts as well as to "Spin Yarns". He also was the Islands Undertaker for a good many years. He leaves besides his family many good friends, and he too will be sorely missed by all. We would like to take this opportunity to extend our sympathy to the families of both these men.

Lobstering is very spotty this year. When they get their traps in the right places the patch seems to be very good - other places draw almost a complete blank. On the average it is not as good as last year.

Another boat has arrived to be added to the fleet by Daniel Kenney. We understand that the former dragger is to be converted to a scalloper.

The Ladies Auxiliary held their Christmas Bazaar on Saturday. We hear that this was successful as usual.

The Ladies of the Christian Church met on Wednesday night to pack the Christmas boxes for the Senior Citizens and shut-ins. The Ladies divided these and will deliver them gradually as they get time to deliver a box and have a short visit.

rebounds. Kendal Ossinger played a good defensive game, as well as getting 14 points. Island Consolidated School thank the College for being interested in aiding their sports program by offering both their time and facilities.

Homemade Candies Are Sweet Christmas Gifts

Do you remember how Grandmother's homemade candies made your holiday season something special? This year, why not delight the entire family by making your own homemade candies.

When preparing these Christmas treats, make two batches of the recipe and give them as gifts to special friends or families. These delightfully rich morsels make attractive gifts when packaged in festive baskets, apothecary jars or delicate wine or brandy glasses.

Gaily trimmed with ribbons or brightly coloured decorations, these gifts are a delicious way of saying "Merry Christmas".

For a mouth-watering start, try our Quick Skippy Fudge. Are there caramel lovers in your family? If so, our Creamy Caramels are bound to be a favourite. And, what's Christmas evening.

Mrs. George Pellitier arrived on Thursday from Ontario to join her husband here where they will spend the winter in their newly purchased home, the Judge Crowell homestead here. We welcome them.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Morehouse and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Morehouse were visitors in Yarmouth and vicinity on Saturday.

Congratulations to the newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Milbury who were married in The United Church of Canada on Saturday.

Beautiful, Cold And Dangerous

What is an accident in summer becomes certain death in winter. It's a cold fact.

The Canadian winter is beautiful, cold and dangerous. Each year, more people die a cold death skating, ice fishing, snowmobiling, winter camping, or even while on an afternoon snowshoe hike.

The circumstances vary, but all the victims had one common enemy: the cold. The weather may be a relatively balmy 10 degrees Celsius, but cold can kill.

External cold all too often wins the terrifying battle between it and the retention of the delicate heat balance within the body. When it wins it is called hypothermia, the lowering of internal body temperatures. When the internal body temperature drops to less than 28 degrees Celsius, the result is death.

The Canadian Red Cross Society urges you to prepare yourself for this battle with the cold. Never fish, ski or skate on ice less than 6 inches or 15 centimetres thick or near obstacles such as rocks, stumps and wharves which weaken ice. Never snowmobile on ice. Even thick ice is deceptively unsafe for snowmobiles.

Investigate the wind chill factor and the temperature expected before going outdoors, then dress accordingly. Mittens are warmer than gloves and wool is still the best material of all because even when wet, it gives warmth. One third of all body heat is lost in the neck and head area, so cover up.

Fight frostbite by avoiding excessive use of alcohol, tobacco and drugs. And chew gum - it helps face muscles stay flexible.

In a Canadian winter, the cold is expected. Prepare for it. It's your winter to use wisely.

The Digby Wesleyan Church parsonage was the scene of a Birthday Supper on Monday evening

Mark off into 1/4 inch squares and cut with a large sharp knife. Wrap each caramel in waxed paper or plastic wrap. If candy is to be eaten right away, it may be dusted with icing sugar. Makes about 2 pounds of candy.

December 5th.

The Youth Pastor, Miss Patte Myers was guest of honor for the special occasion. She was presented with a gift of China.

Fifteen of the older young people were present to enjoy the traditional Birthday cake and an evening of friendship, fellowship and games.

"Is it true I'd now have to work longer to collect Unemployment Insurance?"

Yes. Parliament has decided that the qualification time should be longer everywhere, and that people who live in areas of high unemployment should be given certain advantages over those who live in areas where jobs are more plentiful.

Which means that you now need more insurable work weeks to qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits.

"I can see why. But just how long would I have to work to be eligible?"

From 10 to 14 weeks, depending on where you live.

In regions of low unemployment, claimants need up to 14 weeks of insurable employment to get UI benefits. This will only happen in places where it's easier to get and keep a job.

In regions of high unemployment, claimants now need as little as 10 weeks to qualify.

"Does this mean I'd get less or that the payments wouldn't last as long?"

No change in payment amounts. The UI benefit rate stays at two-thirds of your average weekly insurable earnings.

The maximum is $147, less tax. The maximum time for which anyone may receive benefits has changed slightly, however. The old maximum was 51 weeks. Now it's 50 weeks.

But since September 11, the total number of weeks for which a claimant qualifies has more closely reflected the unemployment rate in his or her region.

Right now, we measure unemployment by dividing Canada into 16 economic regions.

Later in 1978, we will fine-tune the program to 54 regions so that UI will be even more closely related to local labour market conditions.

"What else is changing about UI?"

Not much. The basic two week waiting period remains the same everywhere. And so do the rules on the waiting period when a claimant has left his or her job for no good reason or been fired for misconduct. In such cases, a claimant may have to wait up to eight weeks from when employment ends until benefits start.

Then there's maternity, sickness and age 65 benefits.

Previously, sickness benefits were only payable during the first 39 weeks of the claim. Now they're payable at any time during the entire benefit period.

Maternity benefits of 15 weeks and the special one-time benefit (equal to three weeks' benefits) at age 65 remain the same.

The same people still pay for the program in the same proportions, and the types of employment insurable for UI remain the same, too.

"Would I still go to the same UI office to claim?"

As explained in the box below, you still go to the familiar locations for both UI offices and Canada Manpower Centres. Watch for changes in your area.

Unemployment Insurance has changed for everyone's benefit, including yours. All we ask is that you remember your obligations as well as your rights.

If the need should ever arise for you to come to us, we'll make sure you get all the UI benefits to which you are entitled by law. But you must keep up the search for a new job all the time you're getting those benefits.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration have become the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission. For a time, you'll still see our local offices identified as Unemployment Insurance offices or Canada Manpower Centres. When they're together in one location, they'll be called Canada Employment Centres.

Reflecting To 1947

It was the night before Christmas
And all through the shop
Not a creature was stirring
Not even the cop
Who, while pounding his way up and down his long beat
Would try every lock on each door on the street
The lino was silent, the metal pot cold,
The slugs in the galleys were still standing bold
Like so many soldiers out on review
And the proofs were all pencilled
And marked up in blue
The presses were sleeping
The rollers washed clean
The work on the job hook looked rather quite lean,
When all of a sudden, like so many mice
From out of a form came so many type lice
They all made a bee-line to climb the case stand
And swiped the comp's stick, this bold little band,
They found the bold faces, the 60 point stuff
And dragged out the letters till they had enough,
And the smartest and biggest measured some rule.
(They let him be foreman, 'cause he went to school)
And they struggled and fretted to set up each line
And then pulled a proof that looked mighty fine;
Then as they scattered they left it behind
Where the compos, the result of their frolic, could find
The message they left for each friend of this sheet,
It's as old as the hills, but still mighty sweet -
Merry Christmas Everybody.

You

And Your Prescription

by
N. Halley MacPherson

Shoppers Drug Mart Stores

A prescription which you are given by your physician or dentist is a recipe of instructions concerning the preparation and use of a special medicine or remedy. Your pharmacist then prepares the medication according to the doctor's directions, and turns it over to you with clear label and verbal instructions.

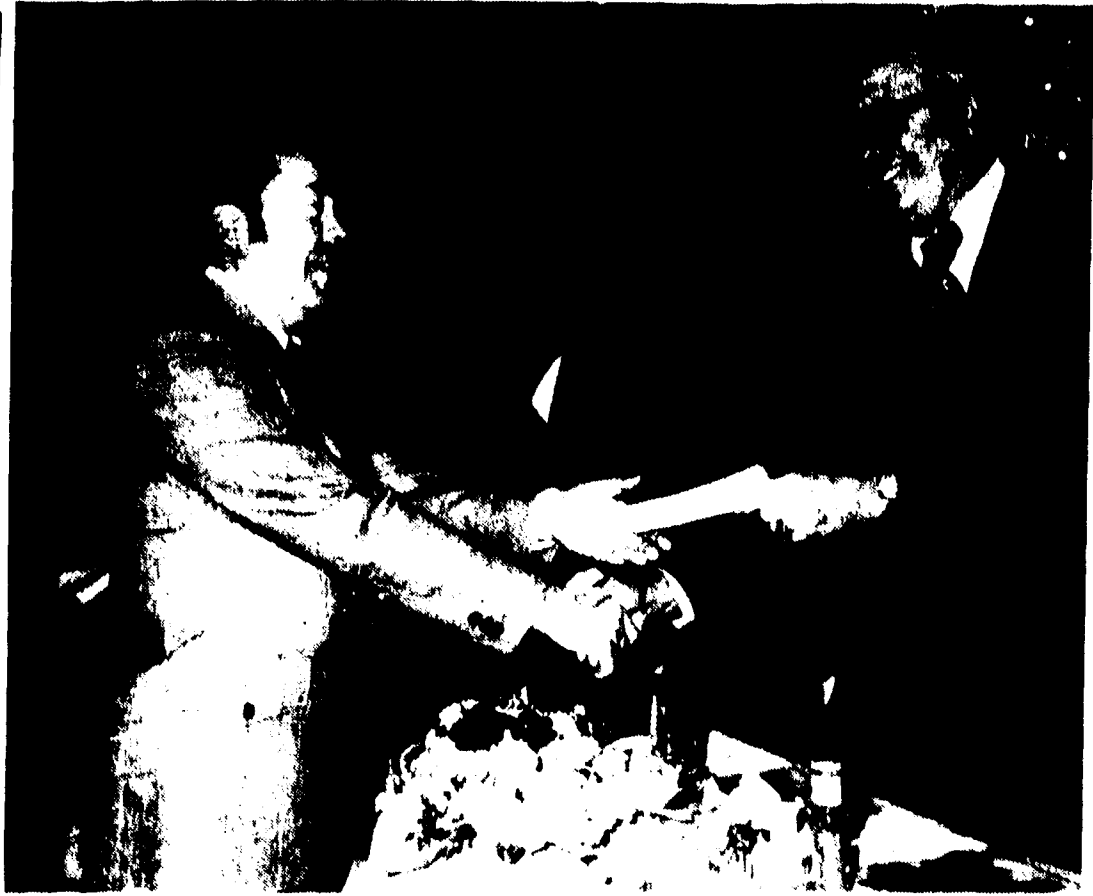

The control and distribution of drugs is a major responsibility of the pharmacist, and it is a role frequently misunderstood. It is a professional commitment of every pharmacist to see that consumers know how to use prescription drugs correctly. Legislation, both federal and provincial, governs the distribution and use of drugs and guides pharmacists in their efforts to protect the consumer.

A prescription is not transferable, because it is created by the doctor for a specific patient to treat a specific symptom.

Often patients want to purchase additional supplies of the medication. This, too, is a physician's responsibility. In many cases, pharmacists require medical authority each time a prescription needs to be refilled. This allows the doctor to renew his knowledge of the patient's requirements, and perhaps adjust dosage or strength of the medication.

Regulations covering the use of drugs in Canada are very comprehensive. Your pharmacist plays an important role, as a member of the health services team in your community, to protect the well-being of consumers by following those regulations when dispensing your prescription. As a result, Canadians enjoy one of the highest standards of quality in drug products in the world.

A Gift Of $38,572.00

The gift of $38,572.00 from the provincial government will do much to lower the Digby Town Tax Rate, said His Worship Mayor Stuart MacNaughton. The presentation to Mayor MacNaughton, on behalf the town, was made by Joe Casey, M.L.A. at the Digby Board of Trade dinner on Wednesday evening.

Mr. MacNaughton said that the story begins back to the time he and Mrs. MacNaughton were guests at the Garden Party last summer of the Lieutenant Governor, Dr. Clarence Gosse. He was at the time concerned about the tax rate and finding some way to reduce the tax rate burden. While in Halifax, Mayor MacNaughton went to the Municipal Affairs department and presented his case with a request of $76,000. The cheque of $38,572.00 presented on Wednesday was the result of the request made at the time of that visit.

Drinking And Driving Don't Mix

THE SOCIAL DRINKER IS ONE OF THE LEADING CAUSES OF TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS.

Remember: as a driver you have responsibility to yourself, to your passengers and to other people on the road!

"IMPAIRMENT AND THE COURTS"

You can be charged and convicted with less than 80 mg percent (formerly designated .08 - point zero eight) in your bloodstream if you show other symptoms of impairment. Even if one is well below the blood alcohol concentration of 80 mg per cent of alcohol in the blood, accepted as the statutory level by the Courts, one can still be impaired. The Courts recognize this.

Section 234 of the Criminal Code of Canada states that it is an offence to drive while impaired.

Section 234.1 of the Code states that a peace officer may demand a roadside screening test of a driver where he has reason to suspect the presence of alcohol in the driver's body. It is an offence to refuse to take the test.

Section 235 of the Code states that breath tests for blood alcohol concentration are compulsory. It is an offence to refuse to take such tests for blood alcohol concentration when a peace officer has reasonable and probable grounds to demand them.

Notable Christmas Birthdays

What do Clara Barton, Evangeline Booth, Maurice Utrillo and Sir Isaac Newton have in common? Something very special! These famous people all share the same festive birthday... December 25th!

Clara Barton, best known for helping found the American Red Cross, served as its president for many years. She was born on Christmas Day 1821, in Oxford, Massachusetts. In 1854 she became the first woman clerk in the U.S. Patent Office, a fact which does no doubt please feminists today. Soon after the outbreak of the Civil War, Clara Barton began the work of carrying supplies to soldiers and nursing wounded men on the battlefields. Her deeds attracted national attention and she was known as "The Angel of the Battlefield." It was Miss Barton who realized that the Red Cross could be helpful to civilians as well as to soldiers in times of calamity.

Evangeline Booth, born on Christmas Day 1823, was the seventh child of William Booth, founder of The Salvation Army. She gained recognition as a musician, composer and orator in her native England. Miss Booth became national commander of The Salvation Army in the United States in 1904 and served until 1934. During World War I she and her guidance, Christmas cards.

Maurice Utrillo the French painter, a Christmas child, had little cheer or happiness in his life. He was born December 25, 1883, son of an unknown father and a mother who was a model for many of the painters in the streets of Paris furnished much of the subject matter for his best paintings. Reproductions of many of his works, particularly the Montmartre Church of Sacre Coeur, are used by the thousands every year on Christmas cards.

Section 236 of the Code states that it is an offence to drive if blood alcohol concentration exceeds 80 mg per cent.

The penalties for each of these sections are the same.

First offence - a fine of not more than $2000.00 and not less than $50.00 or imprisonment for 6 months or both.

Second offence - imprisonment for not more than 1 year and not less than 14 days.

Subsequent offences - imprisonment for not more than 2 years and not less than 3 months.

In addition to these fines and imprisonment other penalties may include the loss of driver's licence, possible loss of insurance, higher annual insurance rates, loss of job, even social disgrace.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

"For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given . . . and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor...The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace."

We wish you and all you hold dear a very joyful holiday. May it be graced with health, happiness and peace. Our thanks for the kindness shown to us.

Editorials

"I'LL BE SO GLAD"

Ask any child and your answer will undoubtedly be "I'll be so glad when Christmas is here" as their eyes sparkle with anticipation of the great day. Not so with all grown ups. In fact, on several occasions we have heard this year (more than ever before) "I'll be so glad when Christmas is over." You've heard it too, we're sure. There are, of course, grown ups who look forward to the festive season celebrating the birthday of the King of Kings. And, there are legitimate reasons, we expect, why some people would be glad to have the season here and gone but the expression "I'll be so glad when Christmas is over" accompanied by anxiety and frenzy from weeks of shopping are the ones which concern us most.

Something seems to have been lost in the Christmas observance. Sure, there is something good about the rush and bustle and a bit of extravagance supported by love. We can't blame the parent for wanting to give the child the best he can afford and that in today's world needs some careful thinking. But does it not seem that the past couple of generations have gone overboard in the extra luxury and emphasis put on what will be found in the packages under the Christmas tree. There seems to be a wide separation in the true meaning of Christmas as of 2000 years ago and the enjoyment or none enjoyment of Christmas today. Have we not in the hustle and bustle and frenzy overlooked that Christ's birth was one of humbleness, one of quiet and calm. Somewhere, did we lose sight of the purpose of the manger Babe. Did we neglect to follow the star?

There will be those frustrated, tired, worn-out persons who will be entering the day, December 25, unless the glory and joyousness of the day can be captured. It is our wish that all may hear the song of the angels "Glory to God in the Highest and on Earth, Peace, Good-will Toward Men". It is our hope that every citizen will drop the frenzy and haste to welcome the Christ-child with humble thankfulness in the midst of family and friends. May His birth be given priority on that Blessed Day. May peace in hearts and minds abound so that all citizens will be reluctant to see the Christmas Day over.

A peaceful, joyous Christmas to all.

HOLIDAY-WINTER TRAVEL

The Canada Safety Council has some advice for people travelling to visit friends or relatives over the holidays, or at any other time during the winter.

Out-of-town trips, particularly on roads that are not well travelled, need not only special driving attention, but, the Council says "drivers should let people know what time they are leaving, when they expect to arrive, and especially, the route they are taking."

Phil Farmer, Executive Director of the Council says "In that way, if trouble is encountered, at least there is someone who can notify police or come and look for you."

If a car does get stuck on a little-travelled road - such as in a blizzard there are some things one can do to survive:

Stay in the car, (unless habitation is visible nearby)

- Check tailpipe to ensure it is not blocked by snow or ice;

- Fast idle the engine up to ten minutes per hour to conserve gasoline;

- Keep a window open a fraction

- Use a candle for warmth

Before leaving on any trip, the Canada Safety Council says a vehicle should be equipped with a

- Full tank of gas - never let it drop below half full.

- Blankets

- A bag of sand and pieces of carpet for traction

- Candles and matches

- Tire chains - and check the spare tire for pressure.

- Window scraper and a shovel.

DON'T SPOIL CHRISTMAS

Fire can be a dangerous enemy and this is a dangerous time of year. Christmas trees and decorations are extra fire hazards so be extra careful says Fire Chief, Vaughn VanTassel of Digby.

The Chief warns everyone to stand the tree in water. Cut an inch or so off the base so it will absorb more. Check the water level daily. (A dry tree is a double hazard.) Tie it securely and keep it away from heat. Check sets of electric lights for worn insulation, broken plugs, loose bulb sockets. Throw away old sets with dried out wiring. Remember fire can start very fast. Turn off all indoor tree and decorative lights before leaving the house or retiring for the night. Don't leave tree lights on for long periods of time.

Never use lighted candles on a tree or near any evergreen decorations and remember outdoor lights require special wiring. Pick up the wrappings on Christmas morning when opening the gifts. Never burn wrappings, cartons, etc. in the fireplace.

Keep matches away from the children and don't let them play too close to the tree.

"When cooking with grease or fats never leave it unattended. Always have a tight fitting lid handy for the pot or frying pan. If the grease catches fire - remove the source of heat - put the lid on and smother the fire. Don't throw water on a grease fire. If only spreads the flame. Don't attempt to carry the flaming pot or pan - smother that fire."

So be extra careful this Christmas season. Make certain it turns out to be a truly happy one for your family and friends. Fire can spoil it so quickly.

"Don't put candles on Christmas trees."

Somewhere, someone with interests in the safety field is going to ask the news media - among other things - to remind their readers not to put candles on Christmas trees. In 1977.

In these days of instant everything, a busy

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

Enclosed please find a copy of a short story a little boy in my class wrote today at school. I thought it was rather imaginative for an eight year old child. If you judge it acceptable, I would like to see it printed in the Courier.

JACK FROST

Jack Frost comes every winter and fogs up windows and glasses. He is a friend of the snow. He leaves his trade mark every where he goes. And he is very cold. He can help the snow make ice. He is a very artistic fellow. You could not do what he can.

Stephen Dickie, age 8,

Grade Two.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Jacqueline Amiraault

news editor is likely to laugh and consign the advice to the closest circular file on the floor - if he or she hits it!

Still, even old ideas have a habit of becoming new again, and chances are someone would think of doing just that... putting candles on Christmas trees... and probably wonder why nobody had thought of it before. That's why the admonition is still included in Christmas do's and don'ts... even in 1977.

The Canada Safety Council has some more tips that can help make Christmas not only happy, but safe too:

Lights: - check for broken or cracked sockets, frayed or bare wires, and loose connections. Replace or repair as necessary.

- never use indoor light sets outside.

- when buying new sets, look for CSA or UL labels of approval.

- do not place more than 3 sets on one extension cord.

- coloured spotlights above or beside a metallic tree is safe than strings of lights on the branches, and gives a good effect.

Trimings: - use non-combustible or flame retardant materials only.

- look for decorations that are unbreakable... especially if you have pets or small children.

- if using spun glass "angel hair", wear gloves.

Trees

- recut the bottom of a natural tree diagonally, and stand in water, refilling container as often as necessary.

- purchase a tree that does not have brittle, dried out needles. Keep it out of doors until ready for use.

- take it down as soon as you conveniently can after Christmas.

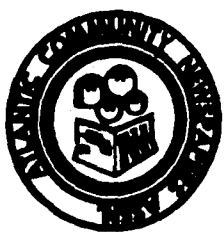

- place the tree where it will not block access to doors or windows in the event of fire. Keep it away from curtains and heat sources.

- Never leave illuminated decorations lit when out of the room.

- If you have pets or small children, secure the top of the tree to prevent tipping or falling.

- declare the Christmas tree area a "no smoking zone."

Have A Safe Christmas

Christmas is traditionally a season of joyful homecomings and happy times with family and friends. And so it should be. However, each year we hear of tragedies caused by accidents involving Christmas trees and tree-lights. So, to help keep your holiday season a safe and happy one, we have some safety suggestions for you.

- Keep the Christmas tree away from heat sources such as fireplaces, TV sets and radiators.
- Be sure tree-light wires do not have "bare" spots. Exposed wires can cause short circuits, sparks and fire.
- It is advisable to use a tree-stand having a base "pot" that holds water to help keep the tree from drying out.
- Reflectors help prevent hot tree-lights from touching the branches.
- Never have tree-lights on unless there is someone in the room who would notice a problem.
- If a tree catches fire, knock it flat and smother the flames with an extinguisher, water or floor mats. A gaily decorated bucket of sand or water could be a life saver.
- Gather up gift wrappings and put them in a safe place.
- Keep a bulb in every tree-light socket. Empty sockets are hazards for children's fingers.
- Use only CSA certified lighting sets.
- It is advisable to remove the tree from the house as soon as possible after the Christmas festivities.

Have a Merry Christmas.

Rent Increases Limited To Six Per Cent

For many Nova Scotians, January 1, will not only mark the beginning of the New Year, it will also mean a rent increase.
Rent increases are limited to six per cent for 1978, Kenneth M. Mounce, Chairman of the N.S. Rent Review Commission, reminds both tenants and landlords. Higher increases may be allowed upon application to local residential tenancy officers who will review each application fully as in past years and take into account all appropriate costs to determine the increase to be allowed.
...Mr. Mounce also points out that tenants must have received notice of rent increases before October 1, for the increase to be effective January 1. This notice must have been given the tenant on rental increases forms available from the Commission. Landlords must use the forms whether the proposed increase will amount to the six per cent allowed or less.
The rent restraint program was two years old this fall and has worked out successfully, Mr. Mounce said. Rent increases have been sought on only about one-third of all the residential rental units in the province registered with the Commission, and of that number, the majority have been well within the established guidelines.

Polybrominated Biphenyls To Be Banned In Canada

OTTAWA - Following release of an environmental report on polybrominated biphenyls (PBBs) Environment Minister Len Marchand is taking steps to ban the chemical in Canada.
"Because of the potential danger posed by this substance," said the minister, "we intend to prohibit the importation, manufacture, or use of PBBs and any products containing it."
Mr. Marchand said his department and the Department of National Health and Welfare were in agreement on the decision.
Provincial governments are being consulted about plans to ban the chemical. Preparation of the regulations to ban PBBs will therefore take about three months.
PBBs have been used as fire retardant additives in plastics production and have not been a problem in Canada. But in Michigan in 1973, PBBs contaminated livestock and farm produce through their accidental substitution for a farm feed supplement.
The accident occurred because the bags containing the feed supplement and PBBs, though correctly labelled, were similar in appearance. PBB contaminated feed was sent to farmers and fed to livestock.
The new report was prepared by the Environmental Protection Service and indicates that PBBs are toxic substances which persist in the environment and accumulate in organisms.
Between 1972 and 1975,

The regular monthly meeting of Clementsport Branch No. 122, Royal Canadian Legion was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday, 13 December, 1977 at 8:00 p.m. There were nineteen members present. Commander President Charles Long presided. The meeting opened in the usual manner according to the ritual.

An application for Ordinary Membership was read and approved for Donald Bougie. An application for transfer to the Branch was approved for George Labrador. Com. Past Pres. Walter Robar took the chair and installed Ordinary Member Don't Paul to the Branch.

It was agreed that the Cross Country Ski Group be allowed the use of the Hall on 11 February as a start and finish point for their first big outing. Conditions as to the use of the Hall are to be sent to their president. The L.A. have agreed to provide hot food at the termination of the run.

A cheque in the amount of $10.00 was received from Bertha Haviland to help out for the Children's Christmas party to be held in the Hall on Saturday, 17 December. Another cheque in the amount of $50.00 was presented by the Ladies Auxiliary for the same purpose. These presentations were greeted with loud applause by members of the Branch.

All committees gave good reports and the Branch is reported to be on a good financial footing. All functions are well attended and plans for the New Years Dance are going well.

Tickets are on sale for this dance at the Bar on a first come, first served basis. Music to be supplied by "The Journeymen". All seating is to be on a reserved basis. Members are urged to obtain their tickets early to avoid any last minute disappointments.

Shoppers Drug Mart Stores

"Yes, folks, it cures boils, indigestion, the flux, runny noses, lethargy, tuberculosis and whatever else ails you!" Have you ever wondered what became of the travelling medicine shows that are such an important feature of old cowboy movies?

They, and their products, disappeared with the passage of the Proprietary and Patent Medicine Act by the federal government in 1908. Since then, exotic mixtures with outlandish names and wild claims of healing properties have been banned.

Today's patent and proprietary medicines on drug store shelves, their contents, advertising and distribution, are all controlled by laws and regulations to protect the public. They can be helpful in the relief of many ailments when used according to directions with the package. A good source of additional information about non-prescription medications is your pharmacist, who has had extensive training and considerable experience in the identification of drug ingredients, their proper use and their possible effects when combined with other medications.

Have you ever wanted to discontinue use of a product because it hasn't worked within a specified period of time, or it causes some unexpected side effects, such as a rash?

Sometimes these products are ineffective or cause undesirable effects because of some characteristic of the user, say sensitive skin. If you are taking any medication, it is wise to consult your doctor or pharmacist before adding to your system's chemical intake with a variety of nonprescription drug items.

Christmas At Bear River Advent Church

The Advent Christian Sunday School presented its annual Christmas concert on the evening of December 18th, featuring a display of banners depicting the various facets of the Christmas story as recorded in the Bible. The banners, 60" x 50", were created by the various Sunday School classes and their teachers, and were made of cloth for the most part with 3 dimensional effects.

The concert began with recitations by the small children of the Beginner and Primary Departments. Then the children of the Primary-Junior Departments put on a Nativity play, and Bruce Brinton, of the Junior High class, gave a reading.

After the announcements and offering, the Children's choir sang "Crystal Rose" with background music supplied by the Ladies Trio-Jean Peck, Rachel Peck and Diane Brinton and Lenie Peck at the piano.

Then followed the presentation of the banners. As each was spotlighted, appropriate scripture was read and special music followed.

The first banner featured a single star glowing with mini-lights. Isaiah 9:2 was read, followed by a violin duet "Star of the East" by Watson and Eddie Peck.

A banner depicting "The Annunciation" then followed, with Luke 1:26-38 being read, and the congregation sang verses 1 and 4 of "Joy to the World" with the star giving forth the only light in the sanctuary. "No Room At The Inn" was spot lighted while Luke 2:1-7 was read, followed by an organ solo "Thou Didst Leave Thy Throne" by Lenie Peck.

The banner "Shepherds and Sheep" was accompanied by the reading of Luke 2:8, and the Ladies Trio sang "O Holy Night."

"Shepherds and Angels" were spot-lighted while Luke 2:9-15 was read. A piano solo, "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Mrs. Patricia Waterman, followed.

Then Ms. Karen Turple sang "What Child Is This" accompanied by her husband, Luke Geesligns on the lute.

"The Manger Scene with Shepherds," followed, with the reading of Luke 2:16 -20 and a solo by Maurice Darries "Good Christian Men Rejoice."

A dramatic banner "Wise Men and Herod" with a more than life size Herod, was then spot-lighted and Matthew 2:1-10 was read. The Men's Choir, joined by men from the audience, sang "We Three Kings of Orient Are."

"The Wise Men and Jesus" was the final banner shown, done very effectively with colored papers, while Matthew 2:11,12 was read. Then Fran Hardy sang "Comes the Wind", a song composed by Lee Wyle.

Mrs. Darlene Peck closed the presentation of the banners by repeating Isaiah 9:2 and Matthew 2:10. These banners will be on display in the church sanctuary during the Christmas season.

Following the benediction, refreshments were served in the Sunday School rooms in the basement.

Education Notes

"Our Canada"

The Nova Scotia Teachers Union is planning what it terms a "celebration in patriotism"—a project called "Our Canada"—at the time of Heritage Day 1978.

The Union has asked teachers throughout the province, community and church groups, branches of the Royal Canadian Legion, and other organizations to become involved from February 19 to 25 with discussing Canada, its past, its present and its future, and to plan activities to mark Heritage Day.

The teachers and students of Nova Scotia's schools will spearhead the project with such things as student assemblies, debating exchanges, library and bulletin board displays, but it's hoped a network of activities will take place in the community as well.

The idea behind "Our Canada" is to bring this country, with its pros and cons, into the forefront of the minds of Nova Scotians during these particular days.

A spokesman for the NSTU says initial response to the project is very encouraging, and the union is looking forward to a successful event.

Fundy Tidal Power - The Questions

BY
Jeremy Akerman, MLA Leader, N.S. New Democratic Party

There have been millions of dollars spent over the years on the study of the Fundy tides as a power source. With the price of oil increasing and dwindling sources of non-renewable fuels, Fundy power becomes more competitive from a financial point of view. With improvements in engineering techniques and mini-tidal stations in operation in Russia and France the technology for Fundy tidal power is fitting into place. These are not the only problems, however, that require solution.

One common misconception is that Fundy power will lessen our electrical bills and lower the cost of heating our homes and businesses. It has been repeated on numerous occasions by many experts, not the least of whom is L.F. Kirkpatrick, President of the Nova Scotia Power Corporation, that Fundy is an energy production scheme and would not replace base load plants. We would still require capital spending on oil fired, coal fired, nuclear or hydro electrical generation facilities. Tidal power is only available when the tides are right and this power can then be put into the system to replace expensive coal or oil. When the tides are not right on would go the coal and oil facilities to provide electricity until the tides are right again.

There is the possibility of energy storage, but this has not been discussed in relation to Tidal Power as the costs are probably astronomical considering the size of the proposed system and does not seem to have been given serious consideration by any of the consultants' reports to date. There would certainly be savings, if the costs of tidal power were lower than coal or oil, when this power would be used to displace the other, more expensive, types of power generation and money could be earned by selling surplus power. Tidal power, however, is not likely to solve our energy problems.

Some of the other serious questions that have to be answered are still being studied. A major one is where will the money come from. The amounts being discussed range from $4,000,000,000 upward. This is much more than the cost of the Tar Sands Project and enough to pay all the expenses of the Province of Nova Scotia, without having to collect a cent in taxes or transfer payments, for four years. Who is going to put up this money? Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island? The Federal Government? Private Enterprise? The answer at the moment is none of these. The Maritime Provinces just do not have this kind of money. Compared to Brickland and the Heavy Water Plant the Fundy Project is a Rolls Royce compared to a child's tricycle. The Federal Government, which already runs a $9,000,000,000 annual deficit, is committed to spending on pipelines and has not expressed any real commitment for funds at this point. Private enterprise is not likely to risk this amount of capital even if it were available unless there is an immediate return. This is a project that can not come into its own for another ten to twelve years, at the earliest, and has a considerable front end load of capital requirement without return. If private capital were to come into such a project it would only be with substantial government guarantees and subsidies. Without such subsidies and guarantees private capital will not take the risk on an untried venture of such enormous size. The reality of Fundy Tidal Power may continue to be a pipe dream unless there is actual money to build it.

It seems clear to me that the money to build the Fundy Project will not be seriously considered unless the potential providers of funds have answers to other questions. The first of these questions is: where are the consultants' reports and what do they recommend? I have not received a copy of the consultants' report nor to my knowledge has any of the material in the report been made available for public scrutiny and discussion. Neither government or private funding sources nor the taxpayers of Canada and Nova Scotia can be expected to agree to the expenditure of over $4,000,000,000 without carefully examining the details of the recommendations. The fact that some say the report of the consultants "is glowing with positiveness" is hardly sufficient reassurance to go ahead and spend $4,000,000,000 and put the people of this province into debt for the next five generations. If people are informed as to the advantages, the risks and the costs they can make the choices.

There are also unanswered questions regarding the impact this project would have on the environment. These questions are relevant and not to be dismissed, as the government did regarding Wreck Cove, as coming from "hippies in tar paper shacks". The lobster and scallop fisheries of the Bay of Fundy are extremely important to the provincial economy. Should we be satisfied with the assurances of a British consultant, who may never have seen a lobster trap, that he "believes" there will be no negative effect on the fishery. There is also the problem of silting, still seen as questionable area by the President of the Power Corporation and others, which could render the entire project unworkable.

Engineers have been questioning Canada's capacity to build the enormous caissons that will be required for the dams. At this time it does not appear that these can be built here and no one now knows whether or not Canadian yards can be remodelled to be able to produce the required components for the Fundy Tidal Power Project.

Of all the questions that must be answered the questions of cost loom largest. At the moment we have minimum estimates of $4,000,000,000 to produce about 4000 megawatts of non-baseload energy. This will not solve our energy problems, but could lessen our energy costs and allow us to sell exported surplus. These costs have been said to be competitive with the costs of nuclear power and with the costs of oil and coal, assuming the continuation of price increases. A distinct advantage of tidal power is that the tides are a renewable resource that can not be used up as compared with non-renewable resources such as coal, oil and uranium. Water power is also a renewable resource and Canada appears to have an abundance of this type of power, actual and potential, in James Bay and Labrador. James Bay will be producing, in the first phase, over 18,000 megawatts and the Upper Churchill in Labrador, which Newfoundland and Quebec are disputing, produces about 5200 megawatts. The Lower Churchill project, which Newfoundland has shelved because of its cost, less than $1,000,000,000, was to have produced about 1800 megawatts. The technology of hydro power is proven, the problem is how to get it from source to user. The Eastern Provinces do not have a grid system that would allow the transmission of the large amounts of power from source to user and the Federal Government has shown absolutely no initiative in establishing regional or national grids.

Hydro power is base load and could replace the need for coal, oil and uranium if it were to become available. What would be the comparative costs of building a grid system to bring in this power? What hydro potential, such as the Lower Churchill, could still be exploited and at what cost? How would these costs compare to those of Fundy Tidal Power? We don't know. If we are going to spend more than $4,000,000,000 to stabilize and/or lessen our energy costs by using our own renewable resources we should have the facts so we can do some comparison shopping. We know what we need. We need to know which alternative can give it to us at the best price.

There is no question that Fundy Tidal Power is worthy of the most serious consideration as a source of energy. There is a very distinct question as to whether or not we can go ahead with it until the relevant questions have been answered. To be demanding an immediate call for tenders and a "let's get on with it" approach is a bit premature. Wishful thinking about 10,000 jobs (for how long?) and misinformation that "the end result would mean for Nova Scotia an independence from external sources in the matter of energy" (as some have suggested) appears to be an attempt to influence public opinion through falsehood and "big promises" before the facts are on the table.

Consider Lengthening Bear Season

Lands and Forests Minister Vincent J. MacLean said that every effort is being taken to promote the hunting and trapping of the black bear and he is quite prepared to lengthen the season on them.

Mr. MacLean was answering demands of Nova Scotia sheep farmers who wish to be compensated for losses to their flocks caused by bear attacks.

"Compensation for such damage does not necessarily fall within the jurisdiction of the Department of Lands and Forests," the Minister said.

"Even if such a scheme were implemented, it would be very difficult to administer considering the varied and often complex ramifications associated with the wide spectrum of wildlife involved in depredation."

Mr. MacLean said that the Department has very definite responsibilities related to wildlife depredation control and is making a sincere effort to provide for technical assistance to sheep farmers and provide for flexible and lenient legislation to ease the problem. Twenty technicians from the Department are assigned to predator control through the Province.

"The depredation control program is aimed at alleviating the depredation problem through providing snares, live traps and offering advice to the property owner," the Minister said. "In many instances staff become fully involved with the stalking and capture of nuisance animals, sometimes keeping them on a particular project for several weeks."

The Minister pointed out that although the black bear is listed as a protected species, under present legislation there is ample provision for taking surplus animals and those that cause problems. The legislation provides an open hunting season of one month duration for black bear; a trapping season of two-and-a-half months; pursuit of nuisance animals with certified hounds, and a provision that any property owner, or his agent, may kill a black bear at any time if such animal is doing, or is about to do damage.

The black bear (Ursus americanus) is the smallest member of the bear family in North America and is the only bear in Nova Scotia. The greatest population of them is located in the southwestern part of the Province. Queens County, probably, has the densest population and the highest hunter kills.

"We realize that any livestock located near predator habitat is quite susceptible to predation, and perhaps this factor must be recognized when developing an agricultural program," Mr. MacLean said.

The Minister also suggested that farmers might investigate a type of insurance to cover their losses of animals to predators, or to explore detrimental devices which will protect their animals.

"The black bear, however, is regarded by the Department of Lands and Forests as an important component in Nova Scotia's wildlife scene and is recognized as such by hunters and non-hunters alike," he said.

"Protection of the black bear to give it recognized status is considered essential, otherwise we would be doing an injustice to the principles of wildlife management and the people of Nova Scotia."

"In recognition of the conflict that arises, the position of the Department of Lands and Forests will be to provide for technical assistance, maintain lenient regulations and promote the utilization of surplus animals through hunting and trapping," Mr. MacLean said.

Mr. MacLean said that the suggestion that a bounty be put on bear in the province is out of line with national trends. "Statistics prove that more bear have been killed since the bounty has been removed than when the bounty was on here in Nova Scotia," he said.

A Christmas Poem

"Christmas comes but once each year,
And when it comes, it brings good cheer."
This statement though old, has oft been heard,
And there could be real truth in every word;
But when we see the mad rush to buy,
Those things of time, soon broken to lie;
We lose the true meaning of Christmas day,
For Christ came to take all our sins away.

He did not mean that folk should curse,
Because prices have sky-rocketed on this earth,
Nor that any should buy beyond their means,
For His Day, to go into debt, to the extreme;
"Peace on earth, Good will to men"
Is a far cry from Mankind's present trend
For true peace is unknown to many a heart,
But Christ came from God, His peace to impart.

So may folk at this blessed Christmas time
Remember the Christ Child, God's Love gift divine,
Born to suffer, all things to subdue;
That God should be revealed to me and to you
For in God's Divine Salvation Plan
Christ's death and Resurrection bought Redemption to man, God's Gift, so freely given, sinful man must receive,
Eternal Life is promised to all who in Christ believe.

A Visit To The Farm

It was a pleasure a few days ago, to pay a visit to an elderly couple, who live on a farm not many miles from Digby. My wife, Doris and I, find a source of inspiration from these people, because of their every day devotion to their way of life. There is never a word of complaint about what could pose hardship for people of their age. They have endeared themselves to us by this attribute. The lady of the house easily absorbs one's interest, in relating past experiences and acquaintances in Annapolis County and, she can speak at length about earlier churches and the pastors who served them.

Perhaps at this stage, I might introduce our friends as Mr. and Mrs. Farmer. In my view, they represent a group of people that go about their work in a humble and matter-of-fact approach. I felt a desire to write about a few instances and the conversation which made my visit most enjoyable.

When we arrived at the farm, we were met by Mr. Farmer, who welcomed us to their house. After saying "Hello" to Mrs. Farmer who received us with obvious pleasure, I left my wife to share company with our host, while I accompanied Mr. Farmer who said "I'm in the midst of doing the chores; would you care to accompany me"? This to me was a real treat to see all the animals. I have always loved the sight of sheep. They stir a feeling of scriptural significance in me, reminding me of our Lord's words, "I am the good shepherd; I know mine and mine know me". St. John 10:11-15.

We walked among the sheep, one of which was a lamb, followed closely as if inviting petting. A gentle creature indeed: an example of utter gentleness. Seemingly content and comfortable in their barn, were the cattle, as well as the faithful old horse. After the matter of feeding and watering of the animals was taken care of, we returned to the cosy, homey comfort of the large kitchen, where the dependable wood-burning range radiated the warmth and cheer that brought memories of my childhood days, when I enjoyed the same.

Mr. Farmer, knowing I had limited knowledge of farm life, chose to speak on this subject. Telling of some of the "Uncertainties and labour incentive" aspects of his work, made for interesting conversation. In my turn to comment, I dwelt on the end results or peace of mind of people engaged in various occupations and, the trying conditions they meet. I spoke of the world of city traffic, of working in "Office Towers", of being subject to production targets as well as sometimes difficult supervision. In summing up the comparisons, it became evident that my friend and I appreciated much more, the hardships endured by the people engaged in the varied pursuits of livelihood.

I am prompted to make these observations mostly because I enjoyed my visit, as well as the subject of our conversation, which dealt with a most difficult condition, that of acceptance of responsibilities to ourselves and, to society in general. I read so much these days with emphasis on the negative, that I feel I must say: Surely, many things said or written, express a true opinion by someone. My observation would be, not to condemn so much but to simply give one's view. I'm not too sure that to continue expressing bitter denouncement of everything said or done, will give us any measure of solution to the problems facing us as a community or a nation.

Report On Sissaboo Hydro Potential

Murdoch MacLeod, President of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade, has reported that the AVABT's Energy Task Force met with Mr. Sandy Reeves, Chairman, Nova Scotia Power Corporation, and Dr. L.F. Kirkpatrick, President, Nova Scotia Power Corporation, on Wednesday, December 14th, and presented a brief on the development of the hydro potential of the Sissaboo River system.

The AVABT brief discussed the major advances that have been made in the construction of small bulb turbines and variations of the Kaplan turbine. These units can utilize low head sites of which there are several on the Sissaboo system. They are more efficient and smaller than conventional units and thus can be installed in smaller facilities along with significant savings in excavation and concrete work for the same output.

In accepting the brief, Mr. Reeves agreed that no opportunities for the development of economic hydro potential would be overlooked. Dr. Kirkpatrick advised that on December 1st, a contract had been awarded to the firm of Montreal Engineering Company to update and reassess the economic and technical feasibility studies previously conducted on the Sissaboo River, as well as expanding the investigation into sites of small potential, from one megawatt upwards.

The AVABT brief recommended that the hydro potential of the Meteghan River system and the Acacia Valley also be examined. Dr. Kirkpatrick agreed that this recommendation would also be considered.

Following the meeting with the Nova Scotia Power Corporation officials, the AVABT Task Force met briefly with Premier Regan and M.L.A. Joe Casey. The Premier indicated that the Government was very interested in the proposal that further hydro development be undertaken in this area and if the proposal was economically viable positive action would be taken.

Mr. MacLeod concluded that the AVABT was pleased with the result of their discussions with both the Nova Scotia Power Corporation officials and with the Premier.

Under the program, 3,901 man-months of work were approved for Defence facilities in the province for general labour, administration and minor maintenance.

Funds have been allocated as follows: CFB Halifax and area, $1,129,000 (1,341 man-months); CFS Sydney, $597,000 (715); CFB Greenwood, $550,000 (648); CFB Shearwater, $478,000 (661); CFB Cornwallis; $354,000 (404); CFS Barrington, $75,000 (96) and Defence Research Establishment Atlantic, $30,000 (36). In addition, contract funds totalling $458,000 have been allocated to several bases in Nova Scotia.

maintenance of buildings and equipment, and administration involves clerks, typists, draftsmen and general office help.

Hiring is being done through Canada Manpower Centres and the Public Service Commission.

New Bear River Fire Hall Being Considered

The Bear River Volunteer Fire Department is looking into the possibility of erecting a new fire hall to replace the depreciating structure now in use.

The department obtained permission from the Bear River Fire Protection Commission to use part of that body's property for a new building.

The fire department is now busy gathering pertinent information as to cost, available grants, etc. Fire Chief Allister Milner reports that any decision to start construction will depend on how much assistance can be obtained.

Mr. Milner is hopeful that, if a decision is made to build, building activity can get underway this coming Spring.

The new building would overlap properties owned by the fire department and fire protection commission.

A Christmas Message From The Premier

Following is a text of the Christmas Message by Hon. Gerald A. Regan, Q.C., Premier of Nova Scotia:

There are many things that are brought to mind when we think of this very special time of the year. For some the prime image is that of the Christmas tree, or a blazing fire, or perhaps the cards and decorations.

Gifts too, are a symbol of the season, gifts both given and received.

There are as well many gifts that we receive each year that perhaps we should give pause and think about, and make them a part of our Christmas celebration.

The gift of living in this great land of ours, the bounty that we share compared to many who live in this world with us, and the gift of our family and friends with whom we share this wonderful time of the year.

It is my hope that each of us can, while enjoying the quiet of some small moment, pause to realize just how blessed we all are.

May the peace and goodwill that was so evident in the songs of that first Christmas so long ago abide in our hearts all through the year.

On behalf of the government of Nova Scotia, I am most pleased again this year to wish you and yours a most Happy Christmas.

Commission Incensed By Seeming Accusation

The Commission was there, but no raters. This was the situation on Wednesday, December 14th. The storm apparently kept folks at home. The Digby Neck Fire Commission, while in a legal position to hold a meeting, felt that it had a moral obligation to the people to postpone the meeting and to reschedule same. The new date for the raters meeting will be Tuesday, January 3rd.

A regular meeting was held by the Commission when, the reports were discussed and future plans were given consideration. The main topic of conversation was the seeming accusation, by the Digby County Power Board, of wrongdoing by the Digby Neck Firehall in regard to an electric meter. The RCMP was sent down by the Power Board it is understood, to investigate. The Commission felt that the Firehall had been unjustly accused in this regard and felt that an apology is due from the County Power Board and also from the RCMP.

Bingo has been suspended for two weeks and will resume on Thursday, January 5, 1978. The New Year's Eve dance is next on the agenda and the Secretary, John Jago (834-2199), advises that tickets should be picked up before the dance, since none can be obtained at the door.

The Commission wishes everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. It looks forward to greeting a good bunch of raters on January 3rd.

Fishing Vessel Assistance To Build 20 Boats

Premier Gerald Regan announced a provincial fishing vessel assistance program to assist in the construction of boats in the 65-foot range.

In making the announcement, the premier said the new program is a major step on the part of the province towards assisting in the development of fishing capacity to take full advantage of potential benefits from the 200-mile fishing zone.

"The subsidy program is the beginning of a number of provincial initiatives in developing the potential of the fishery and is an opportunity for individual fishermen, groups of fishermen or companies to acquire modern fishing vessels," Premier Regan said.

In addition, the program will assist in reviving the sagging fortunes of the Province's shipbuilding industry.

Premier Regan said the government has approved an expenditure of $2.5 million which will provide a 25 per cent subsidy towards the construction of up to 20 vessels over the next three years.

"Preliminary cost estimates indicate that 20 vessels in the 65-foot size only - some wood and some steel - will cost $10 million," he said. "Such a cost cannot be financed by fishermen without some provincial assistance."

The Premier further stated that, "In light of the potential for the development of this key resource industry, the Department of Fisheries and the government of Nova Scotia feel the time is right to undertake such a program."

The Provincial Program is designed to supplement a limited assistance program announced earlier this year by Federal Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc.

The Premier said that construction of the 20 vessels will provide considerable employment in the provincial shipbuilding industry.

"Because this is totally new work for the shipyards, these jobs can be considered as completely new opportunities for em-

Preparing For Battle

Digby County Progressive Conservative nominee John Comeau is now busy getting his campaign on the road. Comeau was nominated in November to contest the next provincial election for the PC's.

Comeau is confident of his prospects which he terms "very good." In a recent interview for the Digby Courier, he said all poll chairman have been named and these are now actively organizing workers in the various areas.

The local organization is also participating in the PC Canada Fund through which those donating money can get 75 per cent of the donation back by deducting it from their 1977 taxable income.

Beginning in the new year, Comeau plans to start meeting his constituents on a door-to-door basis. This, he feels, will enable him and other campaign workers to hear what the main concerns of the people are. An attempt will be made to assemble these concerns - along with proposed PC solutions - before the next election.

Comeau says a series of social functions will also be used to promote the party. These functions, he said, will start very soon with a supper in Freeport at which John Buchanan will be in attendance.

Why get involved in politics? For Comeau, it's something he just felt he had to do. Born and raised in Weymouth, he says he was dismayed at the lack of available jobs and opportunities for people to advance themselves. He says he always felt nobody cared about communities such as Weymouth and Digby.

Comeau is now a partner in the Halliburton and Comeau Law firm and a member of the Canadian Bar Association. He is also a member of the Council, Nova Scotia Barristers Society and the Canadian Civil Liberties Association.

The PC candidate is married to the former Barbara Ann White, R.N. P.H.N., formerly of Sydney. They have one daughter, Heidi.

The biggest concern Comeau sees in the Digby constituency is unemployment. "The main problem I can see people have is trying to get welfare assistance or get increased welfare assistance." This, he says shows some thing is wrong, and government "hasn't done anything I can see to foster employment."

Comeau feels things can be improved somewhat if people can be encouraged to invest with the help of government assistance programs. But he also feels the province has to be better promoted to attract outside investors.

Comeau feels the Nova Scotia government should show outside potential investors that the attractiveness of this province for development, to let them know what benefits exist here for non-polluting secondary industry.

As Comeau points out, we have the work force - as shown by the unemployment level - the potential for a good transportation system, and accessible markets in New England, Quebec and Ontario. "We have to let people know we're good for it."

Mr. Comeau cited the twine industry as something which could possibly complement the fishing industry.

In the area of fishing, Comeau feels something should be done to keep the industry going all year round. He suggested the possibility of bringing in a European dragger with a European captain - but using a Digby County crew. According to Comeau the ship would land the fish here thus keeping the fish plants active and resulting in an overall boost to the economy.

Comeau also felt the local situation could be

McCleave Made Provincial Judge

Former Halifax-East Hants MP Robert McCleave was officially sworn in Monday as a Judge of the Provincial Magistrate's Court during a brief informal ceremony in the chambers of County Court Judge Peter O'Hearn at the Halifax Law Courts.

Judge McCleave will begin sitting on the bench of one of the two Halifax Magistrate's Court December 28, replacing Judge E.D. Murray who officially retired last month.

Attorney-General Leonard Pace announced the appointment of Judge McCleave as a provincial magistrate on December 8. The announcement came after a meeting of the provincial cabinet.

The 54-year-old Halifax lawyer and former journalist had been elected to the employment," he added. Premier Regan said the Government anticipates full-time employment for 100 fishermen to man the new boats to be constructed from the subsidy program.

Band Concert Successful

The big band sound proved to be a popular attraction Monday night as close to 300 fans filled the Digby Regional High School's multipurpose room to hear some of this area's best musicians.

The annual Digby Regional High School Concert Band's Christmas concert was again a success. The high school musicians were ably backed by the Digby Community Band and Satin Serenade.

The concert consisted of about 18 Christmas-oriented selections by the three bands and music by the reed choirs and brass choirs arranged and conducted by Grade 12 students.

Band director Don Scott comments that the evening activities went off very well and everyone appeared very appreciative. He said the concert was as good or better than previous ones.

A reception was held after the concert for band members and their relatives.

Thermization Of Milk

Dr. J.A. Elliott of Agriculture Canada's Food Research Institute in Ottawa says one recent development is the prestorage heat treatment of bulk milk, known as 'thermization'. This process enables milk processors to store bulk quantities of milk with no deterioration. Milk can be safely stored over a weekend.

For the system to be effective, processors must take care that all tanks and lines are regularly cleaned and sanitized.

New techniques developed in milk storing may help dairy processors operate on a five-day rather than a seven-day work week.

Construction of vessels will result in an extension of the fishing season, produce increased landings and result in more on shore employment for fish plant workers.

It is anticipated that in the processing segment of the fishery, 'additional' vessels could generate up to 400 jobs due to fuller utilization of existing plant capacity.

"By using the multiplier effect, we expect that between 350 and 700 jobs will result indirectly from this subsidy program," the Premier said.

Premier Regan said initial funding for the program will be contained in the budget for the next fiscal year. However, the program is being announced now to permit an early start on construction of some vessels for possible use in next year's fishing season.

Fishermen wanting to undertake immediate construction of vessels can arrange some additional financing until the funds are approved by the legislature in the 1978-79 budget this spring.

Premier Regan said fleet development must be recognized as the key to successful utilization of the 200-mile limit. "With a comprehensive fleet development program, we will be in a position to take advantage of the extremely valuable resource contained in the fishery," the Premier concluded.

Enquiries about the program and applications for assistance should be directed to the Nova Scotia

Department of Fisheries which will be administering the program.

Fisheries Minister Dr. Dan Reid said the subsidy program is in part a response to requests from the province's fishermen for assistance in boat construction.

Dr. Reid said the vessels to be assisted by the provincial program will be dual purpose in nature to permit use in various types of fishing during the 12 months of the year.

Hopefully, the program will encourage more fishermen to invest in their own vessels although the assistance is available to companies as well, he said.

Dr. Reid said his department, in close co-operation with the industry, has designed a standard type of vessel to be funded by the program. Any vessel to be constructed with the program funds must be approved by the department, he said.

The fisheries Minister said he anticipated shipyards across the province would benefit from the provincial subsidy program.

Yards building steel ships in Port Hawkesbury, Pictou, Shelburne and possibly the Halifax shipyards could be utilized to construct the vessels while wooded vessels could be constructed in yards in the counties of Yarmouth, Digby, Shelburne and Lunenburg.

Rural Beautification Awards Presented

The Church of England Cemetery at Hassetts, was the community service winner in the Digby County Rural Beautification contest held in 1977. Coming second place was the Lakeside Cemetery at Havelock. The awards were presented at a meeting held recently for the purpose when Marion Inglis, member at large to the Provincial Rural Beautification Committee, was present.

Other Digby County winners in the contest were Elize Saulnier, Saulnierville, first in the resource home group; Jack Hill, Hassetts and Firman Jedery, St. Martins were runners up.

The new homes competition was led by Charles MacAlpine, Marshalltown, with James Dzatt, Eastern, coming second and Bruce Gilliat, Hillgrove, third.

Alsten MacAlpine, Conway, won the Home Improvement classification with Walter MacAlpine, Weymouth North and Helen Ford, New Tuskat.

The first in the flower garden group was taken by Jean Mullen, followed by Isabel Sabean.

One of the important features of the contest, Mrs. Inglis said, was the influence which participants have on others in the community. They follow the example of the leaders in Rural Beautification.

Digby County Mink Rearing

Progressive Industry

Digby County mink ranchers by the dozens are "up and away" in the 1977 Hudson's Bay Company Mink Auction in Montreal, Quebec this past week.

The Mink auction of mink was held on Monday, December 19th, with the Dark mink coming under the hammer on Tuesday, December 20th, 1977.

Alma LeBlond, President of the Nova Scotia Mink Breeders Association, said mink rearing in Digby County is big business with 80 per cent of the 10,000 pairs produced in Nova Scotia being reared in this area. Of the 80 ranchers licensed in Nova Scotia, 66 of them are within Digby County's boundaries.

All mink reared in this area have been successfully sold for a good price this year. According to the 1977 auction, 44 per cent of the mink were sold for $1,000 or more. The Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and Marketing are very happy with the "high quality" mink raised by Nova Scotia ranchers. Nova Scotia mink are world renowned for their quality, particularly the colour and fur texture.

In Digby County, returns to ranchers run close to two million dollars annually, according to the Digby County Agricultural office. The mink industry in Digby County has grown and expanded greatly in the past few years. Mink ranches in this county are some of the most modern in Canada today.

Licensed mink ranchers in 1977 for the Canadian provinces included: Ontario—177, the highest number; Nova Scotia 84 and New Brunswick 1, lowest.

If the data produced in 1977, 100,000 pairs was the total Canadian production. In these 100,000 pairs were sold through Canadian auction houses, 30,000 through New York, U.S.A. markets sales, and the balance in miscellaneous sales.

PETER THERIAULT

Courier Newsboy

Peter Theriault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Theriault, has been the Digby Courier newsboy for three years. Age 13, he is a grade seven Digby Regional High School student whose home room teacher is David Banks.

Favorite subjects named by Peter were gym, recreation, and French. When asked by this reporter if his particular interest in French was a result of the Quebec separation, Peter expressed little concern except to be bilingual to be able to get a better job and earn more money. In fact, ever Peter's hobbies contain "making money" although he likes base ball, has 41 to 50 electric train models and collects patches, cars, tanks and ships.

Peter was born in Kingston, Jamaica and has been living here for the past few years. His father is Digby Deputy Town Clerk and his mother, Carol, teaches Social Studies at U.E.S.S. He has a sister, Margaret, and a brother, John.

Caution Around Silos

Farmers should exercise extreme caution while working around tower silos, warns Don Gunn, Supervisor of Agricultural Engineering for the Department of Agriculture and Marketing in Truro.

Mr. Gunn says once corn plants are chopped and blown into a silo the fermentation process begins. Nitrogen oxide, a deadly poisonous gas forms when corn silage ferments. It is a colourless, odourless gas and a person doesn't realize he is breathing it until he gets sleepy.

The Agricultural Engineering supervisor says that when mixed with air, nitrogen oxide forms nitrogen dioxide, another lethal gas. It has a brownish colour and has an odour similar to burning compound.

Mr. Gunn emphasizes that it is absolutely safe farmers should stay away from silos for at least two weeks after filling.

The engineering supervisor says that if it is necessary to enter a silo during the filling operation, farmers should take a number of precautions. First, ventilate the silo by running the blower and removing all stale air from the silo. Silo gases are heavier than air so it takes a lot of blowing to get them out. Second, no one should go into a silo unless he has a life line tied around him and has a person posted on the outside to haul him out if anything goes wrong.

Mr. Gunn says that exposed somewhat by letting more contracts out to local companies.

He mentioned J.W.L. Crushing Ltd. as an example. He said this company was not invited to bid on a number of paving projects in the district. He said the company could employ 27 men with increased business. Comeau charges that when business is viable and can provide what is wanted "they don't give it a chance." The local company, he says, has less work this year than last while paving projects have almost doubled.

Comeau also expressed concern about the Digby Municipal Airport. Noting that an excess of $180,000 has been put into the airport to date, federal and provincial money, he said it is still only good for landing small planes because government has refused to give any more money.

He feels that if the airport is upgraded now for passenger and commercial flights, the tourism and fishing industries would benefit.

Comeau says he got involved with the Progressive Conservative Party because it is more to the "right" in that it is mainly concerned with helping small industry and business and with creating employment.

A policy of the party, he says is "honesty is the best policy" and probably the party has had problems in past provincial and federal elections because party leaders have been "too honest with the people." Regardless, he said, the party would press on with its honest beliefs.

Comeau says he is also concerned that the present MLA for this area has always been a resident of Annapolis County. He says an MLA should reside in the district he represents.

Comeau says the PCs have a lot of supporters who, while not actively involved, represent different areas of the constituency and different groups of people. "We're always listening to them and taking into consideration their advice."

Comeau also favours changes in the hunting regulations. As examples he suggests the bird and deer seasons be held simultaneously and that property owners be better protected against property damage by hunters.

Comeau says he requests information, under the freedom of information Act, on the policy toward Pines employees involved in theft. The reply he received was to the effect that there is no policy since such cases rarely arise. Comeau is not satisfied with the reply. As taxpayers, he says, and shareholders, "you want to know if some one is stealing from you."

Back to the economic problem of Digby County, Comeau charges that "what's going on here now is absolutely nothing" efforts to stimulate so any suggestions to get something moving are worthwhile.

Bird Haven

Winter has really set in since my last report and all kinds of winter birds have arrived.

Bluejays, Chickadees, pine and evening grosbeaks, and red breasted nuthatch, a white breasted nut hatch, two downy wood-peckers and two highly educated crows.

The suet is hanging about two feet from branches, the crows take the string in their beaks pull up the string a bit, put their claw on it then give a couple more pulls, then eat the suet from the bag.

Two robins are here along with mocky, they were all drinking water together the other morning.

A male cardinal is feeding at a tray in Bear River, he will make it through the winter as long as he has lots of food to keep up his body heat.

Guess the orioles made it all the way South this year, none here. A female was picked up in Kentville half frozen, it was taken to a home in Wolfville where it is doing well.

"GUESTS"

My little guests come winging near and seem to know they need not fear. They flit across the wintry sky To perch and, with expectant eye, They glance at me as if to say, "What do we have to eat today?" The Starlings argue as they eat The sparrows skip on dainty feet, Each little junco, sleek and fat, Wears a dark hood and neat cravat, Sometimes a friendly chick-a-dee Will tilt his head to speak to me The finch in rosy-purple vest The Cardinal with his blazing crest And, swooping in his blue array, Comes, lord of all, the shrieking joy Small feathered guests, your welcome here So sing your little notes of cheer Accept my food, go on your way To make more bright each winter day.

Special Holiday Child's Play ..

The Magic Of Growing Things

Christmas vacation is a long time to keep youngsters occupied and happy. There will be holiday parties, ice-skating and outdoor activities to suit whatever climate you live in. It might be practical to have one or two surprises set aside for bad weather, as a welcome change from TV. Most of the "supplies" are things you already have in your kitchen.

Starting and growing an unusual plant or bit of greenery can be exciting for young people. Some of these growing things will sprout very quickly, and they do get youngsters involved. The younger the child, the more impatient she or he will be to see something "happen." Try little ones on carrot tops or lentils to introduce them to the magic of growing.

Spread a layer of dried lentils in a saucer of water and set on a window sill. Green shoots will appear before the week is out!

Slice the top off a carrot, beet or white turnip (leaving about 1" of the vegetable). Stand it in a saucer containing about one-half inch of water. Wipy greens will shoot up from the carrots, green and red shoots from the beets and fatter greens from the turnip... in less than a week!

Soak a brick or sponge and sprinkle with grass seeds and a little soil. Keep wet and watch a mini-lawn develop!

Seeds of land cress (not water cress) sprout very quickly. Wet an old terry towel, spread it on a cookie sheet and scatter the seeds on it. Keep warm and moist in the sun.

Save some grapefruit and orange seeds for this project ... even date pits respond to the following treatment. Soak seeds overnight in water and plant in soil about one-half inch deep. Keep in semi-shade and water daily till they sprout. Sturdy little green plants will be the happy result!

A sweet potato vine makes an attractive plant and is easy to start and grow. Stick toothpicks into the sides of a plump sweet potato so you can suspend it in a jar, discarded gravy boat or old sugar bowl, with the lower tip about one-half inch or so into the water it contains. Keep in darkened place for about ten days so roots will start. The vines hang down gracefully so find a bright shelf to show the plant off.

CBC Highlights

INSTITUTE OF MAN AND RESOURCES

The search for renewable energy sources and their practical application to domestic and public use are main reasons for the existence of Prince Edward Island's two year old Institute of Man and Resources. Cynics call it one more way to spend public dollars, and question the Institute's mandate and necessity; especially at a time when the national, let alone maritime, economy is bleaker than it's been since the 30's. Andrew Wells, the Institute's director, and Premier Alex Campbell claim it represents money being spent and brains being used to save the future. CBC's agriculture and resource series 'land and Sea' watches and listens to the men and women who got the Institute off the ground and who hope its discoveries can be used across this country. Watch "Man and his Resources" Thursday, December 22nd at 7:30 pm on Land and Sea.

The Christmas Daddies Need You

This is the concluding article in the series on the work of the Christmas Daddies Fund Committee. We hope that they have been interesting and informative. No doubt some of you still have unanswered questions in your minds, and if this is the case, the Christmas Daddies Committee invites and encourages you to contact any committee member with your concerns.

We are well aware that any program such as this is only as good as the people behind it. The Christmas Daddies need dedicated, interested volunteers who are willing to give of themselves and of their time for what they believe is a worthwhile cause. Perhaps you can sew or knit, dress a doll or wrap gifts. Perhaps you or your group could collect and repair toys. If you would like to help the Christmas Daddies in some way, we'd like to talk to you about it.

Perhaps you have some constructive criticisms to make. Let us hear from you. After all, it is YOUR money which makes this program possible, and we are anxious to have YOUR input.

Perhaps you feel the program is being abused in some way. The only way the Christmas Daddies will know of such cases of abuse is if YOU are willing to discuss it with us. You have a responsibility to us, just as we have a responsibility to you.

One last thing needs to be said. With the beginning of the Christmas Daddies' program some eight years ago, many churches and fraternal organizations were, no doubt, relieved of providing Christmas packages to needy families on such a large scale. But since the Christmas Daddies can assist only those families with children up to age sixteen, there remain many other opportunities for churches and clubs to spread happiness at Christmas.

The purchase of a house usually involves the preparation of at least three legal documents. They include an offer to purchase, a transfer of title to the land, and acceptance of the mortgage debt by the purchaser.

The offer to purchase is a written contract which states that the owner agrees to sell and the buyer to buy, and binds both parties to the agreed terms and conditions.

It usually includes all necessary descriptions, the purchase price and terms of payment, the dates on which the deal is to be closed, and when the buyer will obtain possession of the house. In all this your lawyer will see that your interests are protected.

Your lawyer or notary will also search the title and is personally responsible to see that you have clear title to the land.

When closing the deal the purchaser is required to agree in writing to accept the mortgage debt unless, of course, he can pay for the property in cash.

Christmas Dream

There's a spirit of love throughout the world,
It is found in the Christmas dream,
And peace pervades in the heart of man,
As friend greets friend with a smile.
Then church bells chime their song of joy,
In the cool of a silent night
And wonder glows on the face of a child,
At the lights on a Christmas tree.
There are gifts and tinsel and snow-clad hills,
As stars glimmer bright above,
There are shepherds and wisemen and angel songs,
In our memory of Christmas past.
But best of all is the Gift of Love,
A Babe in a cradle stall,
Who came to earth so long ago,
To help and bless us all.
All this is Christmas we know today,
So sacred and so divine,
Our cup of joy to over flow,
With these thoughts of the Christmas dream.

Christmas Memories

Mrs. Mac Ryan

When Christmas comes around each year in crisp and cold December
Although I love these festive days, its the old ones I remember My artificial tree is grand so modern as it were
But what I'd give to sniff once more the tangy smell of fragrant fir.
With gentle hands I hang each ball as my gay tree I adorn
Then remember all the fun we had while stringing pink popcorn
The rope and tinsel are so gay as through the limbs they caper
To think how patiently we glued long ropes of tissue paper
Then as I place beneath the tree the toys of this new age
The spacemen, talking dolls and games for which our children rage.
I recall how patiently Dad worked to carve out sled and cradle
Of how we loved these simple gifts and the feast upon our table
Then as I turn on T.V. on to pageants old and new
I let my mind go wandering back to a little country school
How each small child so proudly stood to lip a verse or two Cause mom and dad were always there to clap when they were through
As I rush on through hectic days, from one job to another While wrapping gifts and baking cakes, I think of my own mother.
Of how she promised Santa'd come, for our very best behaviour
But ne'er forget that Christmas Day was the birth of our dear Saviour.
How different now our modern world from the quaint old fashioned days
How we rush to find our Christmas Cheer in so many different ways
But one thing that will never change is a greeting that's sincere
So Merry Christmas everyone and a Happy Bright New Year.

At Christmas

"A star hung low o'er Bethlehem
When Christ the Lord was born
And angels from the Glory sang
That first glad Christmas morn
But no one heard their message sweet
Nor saw the glittering star,
Except a few poor shepherd folk
And wise men from afar,
And so today, at Christmas time
The world is merry all,
Yet few there be to worship Him,
The Christ of Bethlehem's stall."

"IF" YOU ARE TIRED OF PAYING TAXES TO THE GOVERNMENT OF PIERRE E. TRUDEAU

Perhaps you are just plain tired of Mr. Trudeau, high unemployment, continuing inflation, the declining dollar, the threat of separatism, regional disparity and his wasting of your hard earned Tax dollars - the list is endless. If you are, we have an idea for you:

CONTRIBUTE TO THE P.C. CANADA FUND of the Progressive Conservative Party and deduct the contribution from your Income Taxes.

This is how it works:

YOU GIVE US	INCOME TAX SAVED	ACTUAL COST TO YOU AS CONTRIBUTOR
$	$	$
10.00	7.50	2.50
20.00	15.00	5.00
25.00	18.75	6.25

1,000.00	450.00	550.00

For every contribution over $1150.00 you receive a maximum tax benefit of $500.00. To put it another way, if you contribute $100.00, you can think of it not as $100.00 you are giving us but as $75.00 you are not giving the Government.

To take advantage of this for the 1977 Taxation year, contributions must be made before December 31, 1977.

Nova Scotia Department Of Public Works

By Hon. Benoit Comeau
Minister of Public Works

Two major projects completed in the past year, both in the Truro area, were the Centennial Swimming Pool constructed jointly with the Truro Centennial Commission, and the new athletic centre on the campus of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College.

The highlight of contracts in Cumberland County was the completion of the provincial-municipal building in Springhill replacing the town hall destroyed by fire in 1975.

Renovations to the Cape Breton Vocational School in Sydney were completed during the year and an adult vocational training centre was brought to completion there.

A new tourist interpretation centre was completed at the Halifax International Airport while a new lands and forests depot was built at Churchover, Shelburne County.

An addition was made to the Pictou County Vocational School at Stellarton and renovations were finished at the Colchester County Correctional Centre at Truro.

A new rehabilitation centre, regarded as one of the most modern of its type, was completed in Halifax and a new children's treatment unit was built on the grounds of the Nova Scotia Hospital in Dartmouth.

Renovations were completed to the kitchen of the Halifax Vocational School in Halifax while both renovations and alterations were made at Liscombe Lodge at Liscombe Mills, Guysborough County. Work at Liscombe Lodge included the construction of five new cottages and the installation of a sewer and water system.

Kitchen modernization is being done and additional meeting rooms were provided to accommodate conventions at the Pines in Digby.

In various planning stages are a new archives building in Halifax and a resource centre at the Nova Scotia Teachers College in Truro.

Design has been completed and construction is to commence early in the New Year on a new highways building at Miller Lake while a new highways garage is under construction at Antigonish.

A cold storage building for the Department of Lands and Forests is being built at Paradise, Annapolis County.

Various alterations are being carried out at the Victoria General Hospital in Halifax, the Miller Hospital (Nova Scotia Sanatorium) in Kentville and a central laundry addition is being provided at the Nova Scotia Hospital in Dartmouth.

The department is installing a new sound recording system at the House of Assembly (Province House) in Halifax.

A dietary addition is under construction at the Halifax Infirmary while a forest environment centre is being built at Shubenacadie.

Under construction is an addition to the mechanics building at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College in Truro.

Additional renovations are planned for Cumming Hall on the campus of the college. Plans are being prepared for a new liquor store at Guysborough.

A number of modifications are being made to provincial buildings in Halifax in keeping with energy conservation objectives.

Several additional sections of the water and sewerage systems at Debert Air Industrial Park are being rehabilitated bringing the entire project near completion.

Nova Scotia Department Of Agriculture & Marketing

By Hon. Jack Hawkins
Minister of Agriculture & Marketing

The value of agriculture at the farm gate is now approaching $130 million and, with the value of processing farm products added, the industry is worth nearly $200 million to the economy of the province.

There are over 5,000 farmer-owner managers in the province and every city, town and village is affected by agricultural production and trade.

The provincial government has made good its commitment to assist the industry with the budget for the department in 1976-77 being in the $25 million range compared with $7 million in 1971-72.

In the past year there were 35 young farmers who purchased farms and received $326,174 in assistance through the department's interest forgiveness program.

The Nova Scotia Farm Loan Board advanced $10 million in loans to farmers and the board now has some $43 million outstanding in long term loans to farmers in the province.

Farmers in the province received grants totalling $750,000 for new dairy buildings, beef and sheep barns, generators and poultry houses. There were 56 farmers who received $300,000 in capital grants for new hog buildings.

Some 155 of the province's farmers received $404,000 in capital grants for on-farm feed storages and 115 new manure storages were constructed with $175,000 in capital grants being made available for them.

There were 13,730 new bulk bins for the fruit and vegetable industry constructed and a total grant of $137,730 was paid under this program.

Under terms of the department's land purchase and leasing policy, there were 5,886 acres of land purchased for $1.07 million. Farmers received $1 million in assistance for fertilizer purchased under the department's fertilizer assistance program.

There were 6,000 new acres of land improved and 610,000 feet of underdrainage installed as part of a land improvement program for which $1.8 million was expended on the total program.

A total of 4,000 acres of grain were planted under the department's feed grain incentive policy and grants amounting to $298,000 were made under this program.

A contract was finalized for the construction of a $1 million grain handling facility at Steam Mill, Kings County, and assistance amounting to $350,711 for the purchase of 20 refrigerated containers by apple and blueberry producers was provided.

On a commodity basis, milk deliveries during the first eight months of the year were up 1.2 per cent. Fluid sales increased at a similar rate and utilization was 63 per cent fluid and 37 per cent industrial, identical to the same period in 1976. Prices for both fluid and industrial milk have averaged slightly higher than in 1976.

Chicken slaughter to the latter part of November totalled 22.3 million pounds, an eight per cent decrease compared with 1976. Prices and producer margins have also been below year before levels reflecting pressure from U.S. imports, particularly on the Central Canadian market. Birds currently on feed will produce a three to four per cent increase in production during the first quarter.

Turkey production this year will be approximately 3.75 million pounds, a 20 per cent increase.

Egg production during the first three quarters was up three per cent over last year at 12.4 million dozen. Prices for the year have averaged the same as in 1976 with a weighted average price to producers for all grades of approximately 71 to 72 cents per dozen. Lower feed prices during the fourth quarter have resulted in current prices being below 1976 levels.

Hog marketings have been up 12 per cent and will total approximately 117,000 for the year. The average base price in 1977 is approximately $60 per hundredweight compared to $63.35 in 1976. Price strength has been good during the Fall period, especially as contrasted to the weakness experienced during the last months of 1976.

Beef prices during the last half of the year have showed some significant improvement. Lower forage supplies, however, have hampered the local recovery of prices for feeder cattle. Poor pollination conditions during the Spring resulted in an 11 per cent smaller apple crop at two million bushels. Stronger fresh and weaker processing prices are expected to produce an average grower price similar to 1976. A good export market has been experienced with approximately five per cent or 100,000 bushels of the crop going to foreign sales.

Blueberry production in 1977 was 8.5 million pounds, 21 per cent larger than the 1976 crop. Small harvests in the United States resulted in a strong market with prices averaging 62 cents a pound compared to 32 cents a pound the season before. The value of the 1977 blueberry crop was consequently $5.3 million, an all-time high for the province.

The 1977 strawberry harvest was 2.4 million quarts, the same as in 1976. The popularity of U-Pick marketing continues to grow. Prices in the wholesale trade began to strengthen this year reflecting the decreased offerings on this market.

Greenhouse production for the import florist trade remained heavy in 1977. The Nova Scotia industry is the major supplier of cut flowers and potted plants in Atlantic Canada. Bedding plant sales were brisk during the Spring. Greenhouse vegetables during Spring and early Summer experienced soft markets. However, the Fall market for tomatoes was fairly good with prices averaging 70 cents a pound wholesale. Tobacco production was up slightly in 1976 with expected sales of 860,000 pounds. The Sale Day average price was $104.21 per hundredweight with final settlement pending on the average price received in Ontario. To date the Ontario average has been $107.21 a hundredweight.

It is estimated that potato acreage increased by a 100 in 1977 to a 3,800 total acreage. Higher yields were also experienced resulting in a harvest of approximately 636,000 hundredweight.

Vegetable growers experienced difficult planting conditions and also poor harvest weather during late September and October. Commercial storage holdings are down for carrots and cabbage but up for rutabagas.

My department's commitment to support producers in every possible way in the New Year remains and we will be developing, in concert with them, some innovative marketing programs.

1977 Year-End Review

Nova Scotia Department Of Recreation

By Hon. A. Garnet Brown
Minister of Recreation

For the Nova Scotia Department of Recreation 1977 was another landmark. In the midst of an environment of financial restraints the Department successfully spearheaded the broadening of all forms of recreation services for Nova Scotians.

In 1977 the department created a Cultural Affairs Division to centralize government cultural services and make them more efficient and accessible to the public.

This new division has already reached the stage of policy development, as witnessed just a few months ago by the announcement of the establishment of an art bank in Nova Scotia.

Today eight cultural federations which provide the public voice for the arts are receiving leadership aid from the Cultural Affairs Division of the Department.

In other cultural areas the Department of Recreation financially subsidized the Atlantic Symphony Orchestra and the Neptune and Mermaid Theatres to tour 26 centers throughout Nova Scotia this summer; thereby bringing the opportunity for top-notch theatre and orchestra to some areas of the province where it was experienced and enjoyed for the first time.

The "Happy Days" program co-ordinated by Cultural Affairs resulted in more than 1,000 performances around the province by professional and amateur musical and theatre groups throughout July and August.

The "Artist in the School" project that brought local artists into schools, proved an opportunity for young people to get involved with art and the Contact East Workshop, hosted in 1977 by Nova Scotia, broadened the potential for Nova Scotia's professional and performing artists.

The Art Gallery of Nova Scotia made major in-roads towards consolidating and developing collections in 1977, and while expanding in size on its present site, also carried its touring exhibits to 13 centers in the province.

One of the major tasks of the Department of Recreation in 1977 was to co-ordinate the efforts of 10 government departments in establishing a new campsite, and hosting 3,000 Girl Guides from around the world at the International Girl Guide Jamboree in midsummer.

This campsite in Twin Rivers, Cape Breton is now being developed into a provincial park and will survive as a legacy of enjoyment for Nova Scotians. Limited financial dollars were stretched to the limit to assist a growing number of communities and organizations complete a multitude of new recreation facilities. New federal funding programs provided added incentive in make-work dollars that were bolstered by provincial funds for the purchase of material to accelerate facility development in many locations.

In 1978 the program will be re-organized using a recently completed Facility Inventory Study. This study documents where recreational facilities exist in Nova Scotia, and will aid the department to distribute efficiently available funds.

Young Nova Scotians, financially and morally supported and encouraged by the Department of Recreation, made their mark in the national and international sporting worlds in 1977.

Our more than 200 Canada Summer Games athletes that competed in Newfoundland, and the 35 handicapped Nova Scotians who travelled to Edmonton for the Games for the Disabled, brought distinction to themselves and their province in national competition.

A crew of young Nova Scotians sailed to success in the World Sailing Championship in 1977.

The Middleton High School Band captured a world title at the International Band Festival in Vienna, marking the first international cultural award ever received by a Nova Scotia group.

The quality of competition, and the expertise of coaches and sporting officials in Nova Scotia is improving progressively. In 1978 the Department of Recreation will continue its program of upgrading and leadership for these people so integral to the development of sport in this province.

Nova Scotia made significant advances in the world of outdoor recreation in 1977. The department obtained DREE money that will see new snowmaking equipment introduced on a number of popular Nova Scotia ski hills within the next couple of years.

The Department of Recreation became actively involved in trail development plans, and provided incentive money and technical expertise toward the development of four new fitness trails in the province.

As well, the Nova Scotia Lifeguard Service, in co-

Medicines do not last forever—nor were they intended to. Most have an expiry date after which they may lose effectiveness or change properties.

Your pharmacist will always give medications at their peak of effectiveness. For some medications, such as antibiotics, effectiveness deteriorates comparatively quickly, and your pharmacist will mark the expiry date right on the prescription label. This also helps explain why patients are sometimes required to have prescriptions refilled frequently.

Remember that your prescription is personal and was given to you as treatment for a specific problem operation with the Red Cross, effectively patrolled the province's 13 supervised beaches, and for the fourth straight year can boast a fatality-free summer on supervised shores.

What's in store for 1978?

Introduction of a province-wide fitness campaign will be our major target in the next 12 months. Co-operatively with four other government Departments we hope to create greater awareness of the high cost being paid by Nova Scotia for poor fitness—and to show that keeping fit can be fun through wise use of recreation and leisure time.

As Minister responsible for our interdepartmental committee on fitness, I am pleased to introduce Fit-N.S. as a major provincial program for 1978, and look forward to co-operative efforts from all sectors of the public.

This support has already been forthcoming in 150 submissions from interested individuals and groups, and their input is forming the basis of a fitness campaign that will be the first provincewide effort ever introduced in Canada.

Federal law requires certain drugs, such as vitamins to have the expiry date clearly printed on the label.

Remember also that some medications are sensitive to sudden changes in climate; if frozen, or exposed to too much sunlight or moisture, they may lose effectiveness. Always check with your pharmacist if you have any questions about the safety or effectiveness of your medications.

One last tip—If you are contemplating a holiday or trip, be sure to take sufficient supplies of your medication to last until your return. Or, if this is not possible, ask your physician for a prescription that can be filled during your travels.

The wise use of electricity

by Mary Smith

Home Economist

THIS COLUMN IS ONE OF SEVERAL BY MARY SMITH, HOME ECONOMIST, NOVA SCOTIA POWER CORPORATION, WHICH IS BEING PRESENTED BY THIS NEWSPAPER AS A PUBLIC SERVICE TO OUR READERS. IT IS OUR HOPE THAT THE INFORMATION WILL PROVE VALUABLE TO OUR READERS WHO ARE SEEKING WAYS TO REDUCE THE IMPACT OF RISING PRICES ON FAMILY INCOMES. WE SUGGEST YOU CLIP AND SAVE THE SERIES FOR HANDY REFERENCE.

Christmas Lighting:

It's Christmas, and there's no place like home for the holidays. Everyone looks forward to the get-togethers, the special decorations and, of course, the festive foods. However, consumers today are very conscious that "extra" electricity used for the festive season can substantially increase their electricity bill.

For most families, electricity consumption is generally higher during the winter than the summer. The electricity bill received early in the new year generally reflects this fact, as well as the electricity used especially for the festive season.

What is the cost to operate decorative lights? A check through the tree trimming department of a local store revealed that many manufacturers are now rating their sets of lights, as well as bulbs, to indicate the energy consumption. Information on the package backs of sets of miniature indoor lights stated the complete set would use less electricity than would a 40-watt bulb per hour (indeed most indicated that the complete set would use 18 or 20 watts; check your packages). Replacement bulbs for standard size indoor Christmas tree lights were rated at either 5 or 7 watts.

How does this translate to cents? Let us presume you have one set of miniature indoor Christmas tree lights which would use 40 watts of electricity per hour and which is lit 4 hours each day for 2 weeks. This one set of lights would use approximately 2 1/4 kilowatt hours of electricity for the 2 weeks and would cost approximately 9¢ ($0.09) to operate.

Now, let's presume you have one set (12 bulbs, 5-watts each) of standard size Christmas tree lights which are lit 4 hours each day for 2 weeks. This one set of lights would use approximately 3.4 kilowatt hours of electricity for the 2 weeks and cost, on the average, 14¢ (cents).

To determine the approximate cost of operating the set(s) of lights on your indoor tree this year, use this guide: number of bulbs multiplied by the wattage of each bulb (or the wattage for a set of lights) multiplied by the number of hours per day the lights are lit, multiplied by the number of days the lights are lit. This will give you the watts used; divide this figure by 1000 (one-thousand) to determine the kilowatt hours; then, multiply the kilowatt hours by 4.04¢ (cents) to determine an approximate cost of operating the lights.

When using Christmas lighting, proper planning not only enhances safety, but also will help you get the best from your display:

- Special effects and contrasts in colour can be achieved with the use of spotlights or flood-lights.
- Arranging Christmas lights in front of a glass mirror doubles the decorative value.

Seasons Greetings to all!

Auto Traffic Up Six Per Cent

The total number of visitors' autos entering Nova Scotia through June-October this year was up six per cent - making a five-month total of 420,005 cars. According to the Hon. Maurice E. DeLory, Minister of Tourism, U.S. auto traffic declined four per cent in that period - by more than 3,700.

June through October, the number of Canadian cars entering Nova Scotia was up by 29,937 an increase of nine per cent over the same five months in 1976, said Dr. DeLory.

MISTY, THE POIGNANT STORY OF TWO CHILDREN AND THEIR LOVE FOR A WILD PONY
MISTY is a heartwarming tale based on the best-selling children's classic, MISTY OF CHINCOTEAGUE by Marguerite Henry—the story of the famous wild ponies of Chincoteague Bay. Misty the rebel colt and the two orphans who would do anything to own the colt.
MISTY TELECASTS
Saturday, December 24, 8:00-10:00 p.m. Eastern Time on the CTV Television Network.

This is the warm, wonderful story of two orphans; twelve-year-old Paul Bebee (DAVID LADD) and his younger sister Maureen (PAM SMITH) who come to live with their grandparents (ARTHUR O'CONNELL and ANNE SEYMOUR) on a pony ranch on the tiny island of Chincoteague, Virginia. Grandpa Bebee raises and sells the famous ponies which run wild on the nearby island of Assateague. Once a year these fleet and beautiful animals, descendants of the survivors of a 16th century Spanish shipwreck, are rounded up and swum across the channel for a community auction. Paul and Maureen are determined to save their money so that they may buy a tiny, new brown pony named 'Misty' at the auction.

The children work and strive to achieve their dream but lose their beloved 'Misty' at the auction to another bidder. But to their surprise, they win 'Misty' back. 'Misty' takes to the youngsters at once but 'Phantom', Misty's mother, longs to run free back on the

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS, A CTV HOLIDAY SPECIAL NARRATED BY ACADEMY AWARD WINNING PERFORMER, JOEL GREY
A kindly clockmaker, a friendly family of mice and a sensitive Santa Claus join together to add holiday cheer to the Yuletide season when The Night Before Christmas, half-hour musical special narrated by JOEL GREY and adapted from Clement Moore's famous Christmas poem, telecasts on the CTV Network, Thursday, December 22, 8:30-9:00 p.m. ET.

island. Paul and Maureen decide to release 'Phantom' and 'Misty' and let them go back into the wilderness. But, to their joy and amazement, Misty would rather live with them than with the wild herd on the island.

Featured in the special are the voices of TAMMY GRIMES as Albert Mouse, JOHN MCGIVER as the Mayor of Junctionville, and GEORGE GOBEL as Father Mouse.

The Town of Junctionville is troubled that Santa Claus will pass over their village when they find that his feelings have been hurt by an unsigned letter to the editor of the local paper denouncing him as a myth. Sensitive Santa has returned the town children's letters marked 'Not Accepted by Addressee'. Only the scholarly Albert Mouse, who resides in the walls of Trundle House, seems to ignore the situation. Could he have written the letter to the editor?

Christmas At Tiverton

"Its beginning to look a lot like Christmas" even the Tiverton area. Santa Claus has made several visits already, much to the delight of children. Saturday evening he was at the IOOF hall at a party prepared especially for youngsters sponsored by the Tiverton Volunteer Fire Department. Santa distributed candy and jig-saw puzzles to the happy, excited little persons.

On Sunday that bewhiskered gentleman visited the Sunday Schools of the United Baptist and Christian Churches and distributed gifts and candy to young and old.

Lee was former guitarist and bass soloist in the gospel singing group, "The We and Him."

Rehearsal for the upcoming Christmas concert and meeting of the women's group, "The Christian Service Class" were cancelled because of bad weather conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Jones and baby Tiffany are spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cossaboom.

Brian Walker, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen (Zora) Walker of Waterford, N.S., is too young to attend school. However, he does not consider himself to be too young to visit his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Outhouse, Tiverton, all by himself. Brian also attended Sunday School at the Tiverton Christian Church with his grand-mother, Mrs. Lindsay Outhouse and his great-grandmother, Mrs. Charles (Esther) Howard. He also got to meet Santa Claus who gave him a gift and a bag of candy. It was a pleasure to welcome you, Brian and do come again!

We extend Merry Christmas wishes to Mrs. Wallis and staff of the Digby Courier and their families, also to Mr. Buchanan, MLA to whom also we extend a thank you for "being on our side" in our desire for a causeway and permanent link between Tiverton and the main land. Merry Christmas and "God bless us everyone."

(or night) is a week away gaily decorated trees and Christmas lights are heralding the festive season. Concerts are being prepared and perfected to be presented in the churches and Islands Consolidated School at Freeport, N.S. during the week previous to Christmas.

On Friday night the Legion and Auxiliary at Westport, elected their new officers. In the Legion Raymond Robicheau was re-elected President; 1st, 2nd and 3rd vice presidents were respectively Frank Thomas, Baden Outhouse and Bill MacKenzie; Treasurer Ed Donavars, re-elected; Secretary, Jack Tinker with Assistant Jack Beaty; Sgt. - at-Arms Lee Melanson. The Auxiliary; President Theresa Nickerson; 1st and second Vice-presidents, Carol Porter and Viola Thurber; Treasurer Gwen Huston; Secretary Norma Morehouse and Sgt. Arms Marlene Thurber. With the various well chosen Committees it is felt that both Legion and Auxiliary are headed for another successful season.

Congratulations are extended to the Legion this last season for getting out of the red and still making improvements on their Hall. They already have the room in the old movie Hall section for enough along that they used it for their dance on Saturday night. The dance was so well attended that the floor would have been too crowded if they had not been able to put the tables in the other room and so left the whole floor free.

PORK MYTHS ARE A LOT OF HOGWASH!

A recent discussion on food brought to light a few negative attitudes about pork. I thought these myths were long buried but it seems that they still need explaining from time to time. Here are a few of those myths that I shall try to re-bury!

"Pigs are such dirty animals!"

The old-style scenario of a hog wallowing in mud is rare indeed, especially for market hogs. In fact, modern clean units have played an important part in the reduction of parasites and disease.

"Pork should be eaten only in the pig-months of September through April."

Back in the days of poor refrigeration in stores and homes this may have been the case. Also, the threat of parasite infection was more prevalent way back then. Now with optimum refrigeration all along the line and controls on sanitary conditions of hog operations, pork is an all year-round meat.

"Pork has worms or something, hasn't it?"

Not likely! The controls on parasites are very strict these days from the barn to the processor. Operations that feed waste food to hogs must cook it. The majority feed grains which reduces the problem. Checks are made of tissue samples in the processing plant for any possible infestation.

"I still like to have my pork very well done."

Well, if you like burned, dry meat, O.K.; but, it's not necessary. As stated before, the parasitic risk has practically been eliminated. Old meat charts said to cook the pork to 185 degrees F internal temperature. Now it is completely safe to cook fresh pork to an internal temperature of 170 degrees F. There is less shrinkage, therefore, more meat for your money! The meat is juicier and very tender. Cured pork products need only be cooked to 160 degrees F; the fully cooked ones to 140 degrees F.

"I can't eat pork; I'm on a diet."

Pork has labored under the shadow of being fat for a long time. With improved breeding and feeding programs the fat level has been reduced greatly. Fresh pork now compares favourably with other red meats. Up to date procedures see hogs going to market earlier than in the olden days. This gives consumers younger, leaner and more tender pork.

Pork is a complete protein food that contributes minerals and vitamins to the diet. It is especially rich in thiamine, one of the B-vitamins.

So, enjoy pork by putting some of those old wives tales to rest.

For free recipes and information on pork, write me in care of the Research Station, Kentville, N.S.

Winds

Hinder Lobster Catch

The price of lobsters has soared and the gales have successfully competed with it. All last week they kept the Westport boats at their moorings while the fishermen gnashed their teeth. The Ferry also took a beating, having to "lay off" and make a dash for Freeport slip for a car to scramble aboard. All got a special sea bath in transit - never a dull moment.

Santa Parade At Westport

On Sunday the Westport Legion gave their annual Christmas party for the children, Santa crossed on the Ferry and with his return was escorted down to Freeport by the RCMP with Siren warning all to clear the way. There was the usual large attendance by the children with their parents. The children up to 9 years of age all had treats and gifts and then all were regaled at the tables with delicious "eats". A good time was had by all.

Christmas Party At Stark's

In keeping with the Holiday season, a Christmas party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stark in Bay View.

This was the first time in 12 years that all members of the family had been together.

Those present were their daughters, and husbands, Louise, Mrs. Roland Beld; Linda, Mrs. Gerry Connelly; Debbie, Mrs. Alvin Carty; Faye, Mrs. Randy Van-Tassel; Darlene and their sons, Rodney and Bobby and their wives.

The evening was spent dancing and singing. A buffet lunch was served during the evening and old Santa himself made an appearance and distributed gifts to all.

Education Week

Nova Scotia schools will observe Education Week 1978 from March 5 to 11, and the committee working to make sure this yet is well into its planning.

"Education: Resources and Reality" will be the theme for the week of activities next year, a theme intended to draw attention to our natural, human and material resources.

Although energy, and conservation of it, will be a prime topic for discussion, come early March, it's hoped our schools will take an opportunity during Education Week to broaden the theme into a discussion of such things as the fishery and agriculture, or maybe the contributions of ethnic, cultural and linguistic groups to Canadian society.

The possibilities that can be explored under this theme are endless and could prove very challenging and rewarding for enthusiastic classes.

Second Time Around

An elaborate turkey dinner at Christmas time yields untold dividends in second day lunches and dinners. You'll enjoy these delicious menus ... and so will your family. The best part is that they're so tempting you'll never think of them as "leftovers."

This is a great dish for youngsters since it is easy to manage and doesn't need any cutting up. Try a little grated cheese over the top of each boat before putting in the oven, for extra zip.

TURKEY FILLED POTATO BOATS

Scoop out baked Idaho potatoes leaving 1/2 inch shell, using half a large potato per portion. Mash and season scooped potato pulp and set aside. Heat diced turkey in cream sauce. (Use your judgement as to amount of sauce according to quantity of turkey you are using.) Fill scooped potato shells with turkey mixture. Fill pastry tube with mashed potato mix and squeeze to form a border around each potato boat. Bake in 400 degree oven until brown.

EASY TURKEY LOAF

6 cups turkey finely chopped

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 Cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup chili sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients, mix well. Turn into greased loaf pan - 9" x 5" x 3". Bake at 350 degrees for half hour or until lightly browned. Serve plain or with your favorite tomato sauce. 8 portions.

SPREAD IT AROUND

The holiday season is almost past. Some, doubtless, will be glad to see it go.

A season of love, sharing and merriment, a time to be with loved ones. A great season—but let's not forget those the joy has missed.

Let's not forget those who have no family... and those who are separated from loved ones... those for whom this season brings little but loneliness and depression.

We urge you not to miss a golden opportunity this year. Spread your love just a little bit farther. Let it touch someone who doesn't really expect it... someone desperately in need of it.

All of us know at least one lonely person. Take a little time to think. Then take a little time to care.

Hatchery Supervision

Agriculture Canada poultry division inspectors regularly check Canada's registered hatcheries to ensure healthy chicks are being produced to stock commercial egg, chicken and turkey farms.

The hatchery inspection service also helps hatcherymen improve hatch-ability of eggs and collects statistics on production.

Down samples taken from the hatchery chicks are analysed for bacteria and moulds. If the samples aren't good enough, Agriculture Canada recommends ways the hatchery owner can improve sanitation.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I would like to clarify what was reported I had said concerning European fishing draggers in an article in the December 22, 1977, issue of your paper.

It was reported that I suggested the use of European fish draggers landing fish in the area. This statement on its face would appear to sound uninformed and rather stupid.

My concern, which I told your reporter, was with the practice now going on of banking fish dragger licenses. Licenses for fish draggers over 75 feet can be banked or set aside by the holder until he decides to build and use such a dragger. At the present time, I understand that National Sea Products have banked 35 dragger (75') licenses which readily ties up the number that the Federal Government issues. This size dragger can fish the year round and keep fish plants going the year round. The procedure of banking should be stopped or more licenses issued. If the Government feels they would be wasting their time issuing licenses to those who could not afford to build such draggers, there is another solution. With the implementation of the 200 mile limit many European fishing draggers in the 75 foot range will be out of business. Why not give them a license to land fish at Digby and use a Digby County crew. In other words, Canadian fish companies could lease these European draggers and the problem of banking could be eliminated.

Yours very truly,
John D. Comeau
P.C. Candidate, Digby

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

Among the obituaries in the "Halifax Chronicle Herald" of December 22nd I saw that of Mrs. Frank Hayden of Digby.

No mention was made of the very great contribution Bessie made, with her music, over the years. Nobody who lived in Digby or visited the Pines Hotel will forget the pleasure she gave especially to the older people as she played well remembered songs of the past. She will be missed by her many friends.

Yours truly,
Edith G. McCleam

Petitions Circulated

To Save Lives Of Two Russian Priests

Petitions are being circulated in the area from Digby to Meteghan in an effort to save the lives of two Russian Priests, Miss Maia Erjavac, Weymouth, has returned after spending seven months visiting and working in Europe and where she is aiding the Amnesty International in trying to save Father Boris Zalivako and Vladimir Osirov. She is asking assistance in the project by seeking signatures for a petition to that effect.

FATHER BORIS ZALIVAKO

Born in 1940, Father Boris Zalivako is a Leningrader of Polish origin. He was deprived of the right to exercise his ministry in 1968, apparently for refusing to comply with the limitations placed on priests by the Soviet government. With a friend, Father Boris Zalivako decided to leave the Soviet Union. They managed to cross the border into Czechoslovakia but were captured and returned to Russia. His companion (Anatoly Chinnov) was confined to a psychiatric hospital from which he has recently been released. Father Boris Zalivako was sentenced to eight years of strict regime (the most arduous) followed by five years of exile.

Those who have shared imprisonment with him were profoundly impressed with his saintly life and character. Andrei Sinyavsky was one of them, who said "He was the very incarnation of a priest, he lived only for his faith and for his prayer. After coming to our camp Father Boris became the camp priest in the fullest sense of the word. I have not met such a man before: he fulfilled all the obligations and ritual duties of a priest with complete devotion amid the highly oppressive and sometimes unbearable camp conditions. He would hold services beneath the open sky at night, in rain or snow, and for our entire camp he soon became an outstanding example of Christian service to God and his fellow men."

"Father Boris scarcely ever discussed trivial or worldly matters and he spoke about himself even less frequently. Every free minute after the exhausting work-day was given over to his mission as camp priest."

In Soviet labour camps even the Gospels are prohibited and hand-written copies of prayers are periodically confiscated during individual and mass searches. Father Boris's life and work quickly aroused the displeasure of the camp authorities. His influence over the other prisoners was entirely undesirable from their point of view.

In 1971 he was sent to the closed prison of Vladimir for three years. The Vladimir prison has reduced Father Boris Zalivako, a physically healthy and rather young man to such a state of physical debility that there is now every reason to fear for his life. After an operation for appendicitis which he underwent in prison, the wound did not heal: such was the extent to which the tissues of his body had been sapped of their vitality. The latest information is that his situation is extremely grave and that he has asked recently released prisoners to arrange for a priest to be permitted to visit him. So far complaints to this end have remained unanswered.

VLADIMIR OSIPOV

Osirov was arrested on 28th November 1974, and was detained before trial for longer than the nine months stipulated by Soviet law. At first he was held in the notorious Vladimir prison. On 31st March 1975 it was reported that he had been transferred to the also notorious Serbsky Institute for forensic psychiatry in Moscow for pre-trial investigation.

Until recently Osirov, a Russian Orthodox layman, was the editor of Veche, the word means a popular assembly in Russian medieval towns, a journal with a nationalist and religious line. At the age of 20 he was expelled from the History department of Moscow University for publicly defending a friend who had been expelled. In 1961 he was imprisoned for "anti-Soviet activity" following his involvement with a journal which published the work of young writers and poets. After serving a sentence of seven years he was exiled from Moscow and only with difficulty was able to find work and accommodation. He commented that life in prison camp was easier than dealing with the cynicism and indifference of the authorities. He and his wife settled in Alexandrov, "in a muddy, roadless waste, without school, hospital, transport or telephone."

Despite the continued persecution by the Soviet Government, Osirov remains intemperately loyal to the government and this he has repeatedly stressed in his publications. Those who have been working for his release frequently point out that neither the journal which Osirov formerly edited, nor the articles which he has written, could be regarded, even by Soviet law, as criminal. The case of the Osirovs and their loyal opposition clearly cannot be ignored by any discussion of the realities behind detente negotiations.

The final word about the effectiveness of the Soviet policy of repression of free thought should be given to Vladimir Osirov himself: "Not without reason is a concentration camp officially called a corrective colony. They come in atheists and go out Christians. They have been corrected....The camp made me a man believing in God, in Russia and in the legacy of my forefathers."

Use Of Large Trawlers

Will Increase

Northern and offshore fishing by large trawlers will increase under the federal government's Fishing Plan for the Atlantic Groundfish Fleet in 1978.

"Last year's fishing plan began the northward and eastward shift by Canadian trawlers that is displacing foreign effort," Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc said today. "For the important cod, redfish flounder, and halibut fisheries in Grand Banks and northern Newfoundland waters, the 1978 fishing quotas are rising by 49,000 metric tons, an increase of 35 per cent."

Inshore fishermen will benefit particularly from cod allocations 40 per cent higher than in 1977. An additional 36,700 metric tons are set aside for fixed gear and vessels less than 65 feet in length. The most marked increases are in the northeast Newfoundland and Labrador inshore fisheries.

In the Gulf of St. Lawrence fishery for all groundfish species, vessels less than 100 feet in length and the fixed gear fisheries will receive allocations 27 per cent higher than in 1977.

Most of the increases this year come in northern and offshore waters. For the traditional groundfish fisheries in total, Canadian quotas this year are up 13.2 per cent from 431,800 metric tons to 489,000.

Introduced in 1977, the Fishing Plan controls fleet employment and resource exploitation in Atlantic Canada's most important fishery. The 1977 plan restricted large trawler efforts in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and on the Scotian Shelf. Incentives helped these vessels open up fisheries on the Grand Banks and in northern waters. The built-in timing of the plan avoided the early taking of quotas that in previous years caused plant shutdowns. The 1977 plan succeeded in keeping groundfish plants working all year long.

Objectives this year remain the same: to share the fish stocks among fleet sectors in the fairest way, taking account of scarcities inshore and opportunities offshore, and to stretch out the available resources to keep the groundfish industry working all year long. The main change is the increased amount of offshore fish available. Otherwise the plan remains basically the same.

Besides the increased quotas, the chief adjustments to the 1978 plan are:

- More inshore cod in northern Newfoundland. Last year, from a Canadian quota of 70,000 metric tons, the Fisheries Department set aside 50,000 for the inshore fishery. In 1978, from a total Canadian quota of 100,000 metric tons, the Fishing Plan allows 80,000 metric tons for the inshore fishery.

- More protection for the inshore cod fishery of eastern Nova Scotia. To ease pressure on the inshore fishery by small boats, there will be no cod fishery by the mobile fleet, larger vessels using otter trawls or Danish or Scottish seining gear, in area 4VSW on the attached map.

Cod quotas up in the southern and western Gulf of St. Lawrence. Because of the effect of recent conservation regulations, it is now possible to raise the total catch in Areas 4T4Vh on the map from 15,000 to 27,000 metric tons. This year as last, the bulk of these fish will go to vessels under 100 feet in length.

- Redivision of quotas in the northern Gulf of St. Lawrence. Last year's plan made no distinction between the larger vessels based in the Gulf and those from outside. Because those from outside are generally more powerful, they got in earlier through the ice and took most of the quota before the Gulf boats had a chance. This year, vessels from inside and outside each get a quota.

- Haddock fishery to get closer planning. Vessels will need a special licence to fish haddock in Areas 4VWX and S, and must abide by trip quotas. Accidental over-catches are provided for, the first time; repeated over-catches bring penalties.

The Newfoundland, Maritimes, and Quebec regional officer of the Fisheries and Marine Service are today releasing to fishermen and processors detailed information on the 1978 Fishing Plan. The intensive consultations in preparing the Fishing Plan came largely through the Offshore Groundfish Advisory Committee. This group comprises federal and provincial government officials, processors, and fishermen representatives of the small, intermediate, and large-vessel fleets.

A Fishermen's Information leaflet to appear in January will give further information on the Fishing Plan, and on Quotas for all Atlantic fisheries. Write for copies to the address below.

1977 Year-End Review Nova Scotia Commission On Drug Dependency

By Marvin M. Burke
Executive Director

In 1977 the Nova Scotia Commission on Drug Dependency will have served more persons than ever before in its history. By the time the year ends, nearly 5,000 people will have been treated in Commission Detox Units, in Out-Patient Clinics, in the Halfway Programs, in the Short Term Treatment Programs and in the Long Term Sheltered Workshop. In addition, Commission personnel will have given thousands of hours in the pursuit of increased community awareness, general public education and over-all prevention. This effort directed toward prevention received increased impetus and support from the work and efforts of Regional Boards and their Sub-Committees on Human Resources and Education. In effect, volunteers and staff joined together to attempt to have some positive impact on the increasing problems of drug dependency.

The drug problem, however, continues to increase fed by the continued easy access to beverage alcohol, increased leisure time unfilled by meaningful activity, increased boredom and increased misuse of licit drugs such as tranquilizers and barbiturates all reinforced by the continuing bombardment by the purveyors of "Instant Gratification" and "Constant Comfort".

In the field of treatment, the Commission has learned to be effective and is actively beginning to look for ways to deal with the more severe chronic problems. Furthermore, the Commission is continually looking for ways to evaluate its work and such a process is soon to be begun in key selected areas.

But how about prevention - the Commission has this as one of its goals and responsibilities - and although treatment is perceived as a form of prevention, it is tertiary prevention only. Efforts, therefore, have been directed at ways to initiate primary preventive programs. As part of this approach Commission staff have been working with teachers and school inspectors in presenting up-to-date information about drug dependency and effective techniques for dealing with its manifestations.

Other information programs have been directed at the over-all population as part of the Federal-Provincial "Dialogue on Drinking" Campaign. "Dialogue on Drinking" attempts to reach the "Moderate" person and to reinforce such behaviour. That the Campaign has been successful is underlined by the many letters received from Nova Scotians and by the decision to continue the program in 1978.

Such co-operation as is evidenced by Federal-Provincial activities also exists at the Provincial-Regional level as well. In this area many local committees expend thousands of man-hours of energy on behalf of Commission programs - activities of these committees include review of Commission programs, workshops on education, planning strategies for prevention and planning and implementing public awareness programs. To the many hundreds of volunteers must go our continuing appreciation and thanks.

As the Commission on Drug Dependency looks to the future, be it 1978 or beyond, one thing stands out as a priority. First and foremost is the need to find a better way to prevent substance abuse. It is probably very true that the problem will never be totally eradicated, but we certainly must be able to arrest its growth and to diminish the incidence.

To this end we must join with other Government Agencies and with Private Organizations to seek ways to reinforce a positive lifestyle - one which enables people to cope with stress and to overcome excessive use of mood modifying drugs - or that matter, excessive use of any substance.

The task is not a simple one. It will require individual commitment to new values, group support of new approaches to achievement of goals and Government Leadership through legislation and programs to reinforce new standards for living in a very speeded society.

in the Department's headquarters in Halifax.

The new officers are responsible for helping to control the financial operating procedures, and to audit the capital expenditures of the school boards in their jurisdictions. Officials are confident these responsibilities will be carried out more efficiently on the local level than the present system of control from Halifax.

The information collected by the officers will be transmitted to the central Halifax office so that an up-to-date province-wide picture of the spending of Nova Scotia school boards on a province-wide basis will be more readily available than at present.

It is also hoped their work will eventually lead to a more uniform accounting system for the province's 70 school boards.

Super Health For All?

By Watson Peck

Brain: Christmas coming again!
Stomach: I'll never be ready, that last party was both belly ache and hangover.
Liver: You said it, I'm half clogged, some lumps starting.
Bowels: Burp! Excuse me, I'm so slow, I'll never manage Christmas dinner and all that.
Lungs: (cough, cough) (pant, pant) Listen to me! Sounds like T.B.
Kidneys: I'm overtaxed with caffeine and alcoholic beverages.
Legs: I'm still lame from that hunting trip, and if you turkeys up there don't get smart, I won't carry you much longer.
Skeleton: You said it, I've been creaking for a long while.

Leg veins: I ache all over, and the pressure kills me.
Arteries: I'm doing my best, with problems at the joints as the cholesterol and triglycerides build up.
Heart: I'm pounding like all get out.
Stomach: My ulcer is acting up—those junk foods—ucky! Smell and taste buds: Oh stop your grumbling and go to work, you know very well you like all the goodies I enjoy.
Stomach: Yeah, you are the only one that gets the fun out of eatin' those so-called goodies and only for a jiffy.
Smell and taste buds: Yummy, I like sweets, but I must cut down.

Fatty tissue: Yeah, and you want to get rid of about fifty pounds of me, and then what will I do?
Several organs (loudly): Who cares?
Aching back: That would be some relief.
Pot Belly and Bulges: Oh, to be slim and trim again.
Smell and Taste buds: Things aren't like they used to be.
Stomach: How did all this come about?

Liver: Ask the brain.
Brain: Ask the taste buds.
Smell and Taste buds: Ask the stomach.
Stomach: Burp! Excuse me, Bad combination makes that acid gas again, and I feel like a dumping ground, but, what's the fuss all about? Aren't we as well off as the next guy?

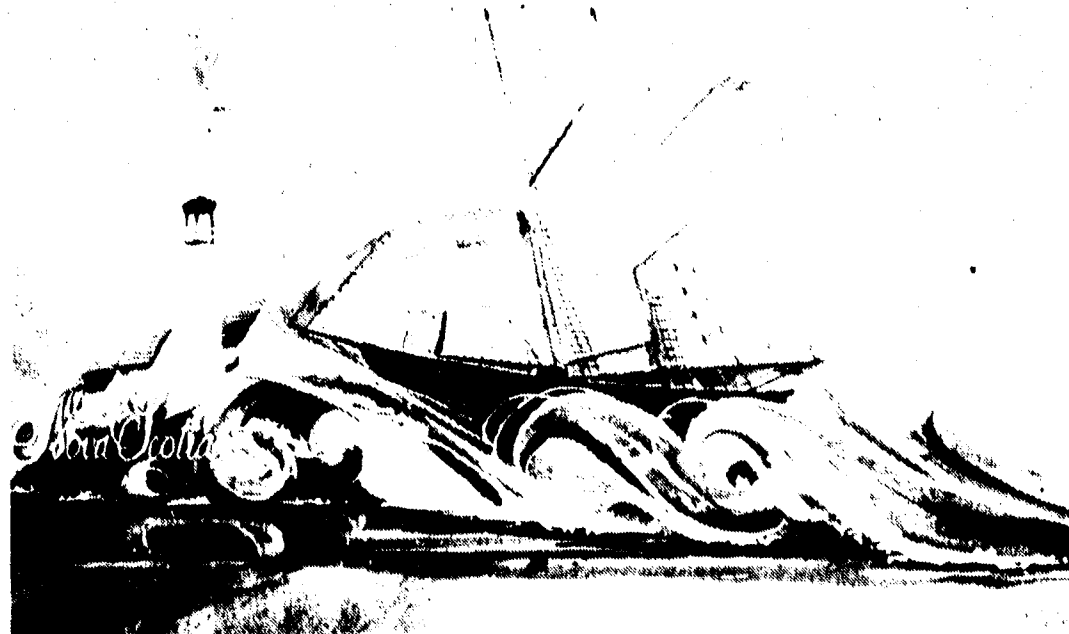

Muscles: Let's get out of here and have a warm-up for Participation.
Skeleton: Wish I could help—creak, creak.
Feet: I'm itching, my sore toe hurts, so does my corn.

What can I do?
Brain: Guess you need a rest.
Feet: That's all you do up there. I've heard 'to rest is to rust'.

Brain: Guess I'll have to take the blame, and I'm the one who needs a rest.
Smell and Taste buds: I'm willing. How long?
Brain: How about a seven day fast?
Stomach: I'm willing to try anything, if my ulcer will let me.

Liver: I need time to clean house real good.
Bowels: Boy, I'll take a nap. Burp!
Cells: Oh, for a vacation.
Kidneys: I want nothing but pure water.
Brain: That's all you'll get for seven days.
Kidneys: Then what?
Brain: Vegetable juice, raw vegetable juices for rejuvenation.

Kidneys: What kind? Anything to put me in shape?
Brain: A good variety. Carrot, cabbage, cucumber, turnip, beet, comfrey, dandelion and others.
Kidneys: Then what?
Brain: Freshly squeezed fruit juices—apples, grapes, oranges, each by itself.
Kidneys: Why fresh?
Brain: Enzymes! the sparks of life.
Stomach: When will I get solids?
Liver: No hurry, stomach. Keep quiet and take care of your ulcer. We'll have raw salads, sprouts, herbs, seeds and nuts later.
Fatty Tissue: Looks like curtains for me!

Rosebowl Float

VOYAGE HOME is the theme of the 1978 float to appear on January 1 in the Tournament of Roses Parade at Pasadena, California. Over-all theme of the parade is 'On The Road To Happiness'; the province's float will convey the message that 'Nova Scotia's road is the ocean'. Cost of the 45-foot float is $29,000. This will be the eighth year that the province has been represented at the Pasadena rose bowl parade. Over 150 million people saw the Nova Scotia entry on international television last New Year's Day.

Bowels: I'll help you down the drain.
Smell and Taste buds: Goodbye junk foods forever! Eight days later.
Brain: Wake up, organs, we made it. We made it.
Liver: Never felt better in my life.
Stomach: How come I feel so good, all shrunk up?
Feet: Guess you needed the rest, having been stuffed for too long.
Muscles: But I feel great, where did I get my energy?
Fatty Tissue (saying goodbye) From me, you nut. It was reverse metabolism. The body fed on itself works fine. Bye!

Brain: This early morning air is good for all hands. Meet Drs Sunshine and Freshaire.

Legs: I feel like sprinting—here we go.
Heart: I don't pound like I used to. I'm saving energy.
Blood stream: You were about ready for a coronary, but now I can feel a difference when I pass thru. No more high blood pressure.
Lungs: Here comes the oxygen, let's clean every cell. Out with the mucous.

Liver: My iron reserve is limited, but here it is.
Lungs: I'll soon have my second wind and good for a mile or two. Shake a leg, bones.

Brain: Nothing like the great outdoors. We'll make it a habit.
Muscles: Twenty pounds of fat moved out—hurrah! room to live.

Stomach: My ulcer is about gone, I feel I could digest nails with genuine hunger. Must have been the cabbage juice.

Nose: I don't run any more.
Brain: Let's keep it that way, and no more alarms up here. Nothing like a clear head.

Blood: I need liquid.
Smell and Taste buds: Nothing but cool and pure water.
Stomach: 'Come on down'—take it away, blood.

Legs: I feel like playing games, with high school energy.
Brain: We'll keep it that way.
Stomach: How about Christmas?
Brain: Will power, will power.
Smell and Taste buds: Curtains for me, from now on it's eat to live, not live to eat. Why make the whole body suffer for a few moments of pleasure?

Diamond Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle J. Stevens of Bayswater, Kings Co., N.B., were at home to their friends and relatives on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stevens, of Wellesley Avenue.

The celebration also included a family dinner at Keddy's Motor Inn. Out of town guests were from Bear River, Digby, Bear River East, Clementsvalle and Margaretsville, N.S. Winchester, Va. and Saugus, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens were married by Rev. J. O'Brien in Bear River at the home of the bride's parents, the late David and Cossie Dukeshire. Mr. Stevens is the son of the late Samuel and Cora Stevens of Bear River. They have three children, Mrs. Allister Harris (Irene) of Bear River, N.S. Weldon of Edmonton, Alta. and Clyde of Saint John. One son Elwood was killed in action during the Second World War. They have fourteen grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Many cards, gifts and well wishes have been received by the honored guests.

Christmas Party Was Big Success

The Christmas party for the children on Saturday afternoon at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in the Auditorium upstairs was the best party yet. Some 150 children aged from nine weeks to 80 years with their parents attended.

Bobbie Potts and James Sanford were on hand to entertain the little folks with music and songs and puppet show until Santa arrived.

A lovely tree had been trimmed and the Hall decorated for the occasion with Christmas motives and greenery.

The children were treated to ice-cream and pop as well as bags of goodies from Santa including oranges and chips. All left singing we will be back again next year.

Fitness Facts

Physical fitness is the ability to carry out daily tasks with vigor and alertness, without undue fatigue, and with ample energy to enjoy leisure-time pursuits, and to meet unusual situations and unforeseen emergencies.

Thus, physical fitness is the ability to last, to bear up, to withstand stress, and to persevere under difficult circumstances where an unfit person would be ineffective or would quit. It is the opposite to becoming fatigued from ordinary efforts, and to becoming exhausted from unexpected, demanding physical exertion.

Perhaps, as individuals, we are all guilty, at one time or another, of not paying enough attention to our health. Each of us must learn to accept responsibility for our own lives, and that includes recognizing those parts of our lives where our own actions seem less than ideal.

But more importantly, we must come to terms with the impact which these individual lapses may have for the well-being of an entire community.

In Canada, for example, the following facts are now apparent:

- Only 20 percent of Canada's population is active in any form of physical activity - one person out of five;
- Cardiovascular diseases (those affecting the heart) account for more than half of all deaths - half;
- 40 per cent of all Canadians watch more than 15 hours of television every week, and 13 per cent watch more than 30 hours;
- 67 per cent of the adults examined by Nutrition Canada in a recent study were overweight, and 14 percent were seriously overweight;

- Less than 15 per cent of Canada's adult population meet internationally accepted standards of physical fitness;
- Women between the ages of 20 and 29 have the lowest fitness rating of all age groups relative to accepted fitness standards;

- While a person's absolute level of fitness should peak at around 25, the fitness of most Canadians begins to decline at the ripe old age of 13, with some starting their downfall when they first enter school - at age 6;

- And somewhat as a corollary to all of the above, Canada's medical budget has risen from $2 billion in 1960 to more than $7 billion today - a growth rate of 350 per cent.

You And Your Prescription

Medic-Alert Is A Life Saver

Do you have an allergy to some medications, or have a rare blood type, or wear contact lenses, or have diabetes, or some specific medication requirements? You can protect yourself by wearing a Medic-Alert bracelet or pendant, and by having a Medic-Alert card in your purse or wallet.

Medic-Alert bracelets, pendants and cards are available to alert medical personnel to some unusual characteristic which may affect the effectiveness of treatment you receive in event of an emergency. If you are allergic to penicillin, for example, and unconscious from an accident, you could be given this drug and have a serious reaction to it. In some cases, the seriousness of an allergic reaction to medication could be greater than the original injury.

How To Handle Some Driving Emergencies

Emergency situations develop suddenly. Drivers may have only a fraction of a second to make the correct move. Some drivers freeze at the wheel because they don't know what to do. In these tight situations, special driving skills are needed. Know them and practise them.

Brake Failure - should this happen, a driver should immediately follow this procedure:

1. Pump the brake pedal as fast and hard as you can. This may activate the brakes enough to slow or stop the car. In a power brake failure, brakes will last about 3 pumps. Use both feet on brake pedal.

2. Shift the car to a lower gear to use the braking power of the engine.

3. Apply the parking brake. To make sure you remain in control, hold the parking brake release lever in the "Off" position so the parking brake can be released if the car starts to skid.

4. If none of these steps slow the car fast enough, reduce speed by rubbing the tires along the curb or against a dense hedge. Continue to look for a way out.

Stuck Accelerator - if this happens while the car is moving, the driver should do three things:

1. Turn off ignition switch.
2. Shift to neutral or just press in the clutch in a stickshift vehicle.

3. Steer to a safe spot off the road. If the car has power steering, extra effort will be needed to steer the vehicle.

Loss of forward vision - at night if the headlights start to flicker or go out, a driver should take the following action:

1. Slow down while following from memory the image of the road just before the headlights went out.

2. At the same time, the driver should hit the dimmer switch several times. If the lights do not come on, use the turn signals, parking lights, or emergency flashers for added light. These lights may work since they are on a different circuit.

3. When the car has slowed down, the driver can pull off the road to a safe spot. Use passenger for guidance on edge of road.

Threat of head-on collision - if you find yourself threatened with a head-on crash and have some time, you should:

1. Slow down as much as possible.
2. Start moving to the right and onto the shoulder. Don't go left.

3. Flash headlights and blow horn to alert the oncoming driver in case the driver fell asleep at the wheel.

4. If your lane is blocked at the last second, you should make a quick lane change to left or right in the shortest possible distance.

5. Decide which direction provides the best escape route.

6. Grip the steering wheel firmly. Keep eyes open and go in desired direction. Do not hesitate. Running into a ditch generally has less impact than a head-on collision.

Avoid Holiday Fires

Fire can be your enemy and Christmas decorations add an extra danger, so be extra careful during this festive season. Don't give fire a chance to start.

Here's what the Fire Chief says:

"Keep your Christmas tree in a sturdy container with water and check the level every day. Tie the tree securely. Check all sets of Christmas lights for worn insulation, loose sockets, etc. Turn off all indoor tree and decorative lights before you leave the house or retire for the night. Never use lighted candles on a tree or near any evergreen decorations and remember outdoor lights require special wiring. Pick up the wrappings on Christmas morning when opening the gifts. Never burn wrappings, cartons, etc. in the fireplace."

Finally, keep matches away from the children and don't let them play too close to the tree.

Don't give fire a chance to start. Be especially careful all through this Holiday season.

Information On Unemployment Insurance

QUESTION: Last week I had a disagreement with my employer and he fired me. I do not agree with his reasons for letting me go, what should I do?

ANSWER: When you fill out your application for benefits please provide full particulars as to what brought about your termination of employment. The lack of information could possibly hinder your chances of qualifying for benefits. Please do not be brief in your explanation. After all the facts are gathered from both you and your employer, a decision will be made and you shall be notified of the results. If you feel you have not been treated fairly by your employer you could also contact the Human Rights Commission and - or the Department of Labour.

QUESTION: My son was drawing Unemployment Insurance benefits this summer. Will he be able to renew his application and draw benefits during the Christmas holidays?

ANSWER: Normally students are not entitled to draw benefits when they have one week off from school, such as Christmas and March breaks. If he doesn't have a job when he finishes his school term he may then apply and his claim will then be considered for benefits.

QUESTION: My husband has started fishing a few weeks ago however he is holding some of his lobsters for a higher price. How does he complete his report form?

ANSWER: Please note that question No. 2 on your report form reads as follows: "Did you, or will you, receive any money?" All earnings, must be reported for the week in which they are earned, whether he has been paid or not. If he is to receive earnings later, but does not know the exact amount, report the amount he estimates his earnings will be. By using this policy his report form should show that he has worked and will receive earnings for the fish he has caught.

QUESTION: I am presently working for 6 weeks, should I close my claim and renew it later or should I continue to send in my report forms?

ANSWER: You may do either one. If you wish to close your claim and renew it later, you should re-apply as soon as you become unemployed. If you choose to continue sending in your bi-weekly report forms you should report the dates worked, the name and address of your employer and your gross earnings.

QUESTION: My employment will terminate at the end of this week and my employer will pay me 2 weeks vacation pay. When should I apply and when will my claim become effective?

ANSWER: It is important that you file your application for benefits as soon as you have stopped working. If your vacation pay is equal to two weeks salary, it will be treated by the U.I.O. as earnings and your earnings will be considered to be interrupted two weeks after your last day of work. In these cases the Unemployment Insurance Office will adjust the effective date of your claim.

Insurance Protects Interests Of Homeowner

By Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation

Insurance, of one form or another, must be a major consideration for anyone thinking of buying or building a house.

There are many different kinds of insurance available to protect a home-owner's investment. The type that first comes to mind is fire insurance. If you own an NHA-financed house, it must be protected by fire insurance for an amount at least equal to the loan. For example, if you obtain a $35,000 loan you will need a $35,000 fire insurance policy on your property.

In case of fire damage, the holder of the first mortgage has first claim to the insurance money followed by the holders of other liens against the property. It is strongly advisable therefore, to have fire insurance coverage to the extent needed to protect your own investment in the house, as well as the lenders.

Fire insurance policies are usually renewable every year. Your mortgage budgeting account should include savings towards payment of the fire insurance premiums.

Fire insurance provides you with one kind of protection, but there are also other kinds of insurance available to the home owner.

If a fire should occur you should notify the lender as well as the insurance company. Of course, the thought of fire is never a pleasant one and the best means of avoiding fire in your home is to follow the elementary rules of fire prevention. Your insurance company or your local fire department will be glad to supply you with literature on fire prevention.

In case of death, for example, it is possible to have the balance of the mortgage debt paid off through reducing term insurance. This type of protection is especially valuable for the family with growing children should the head of the household die before the loan on the house is repaid the remaining members of the family need not worry about losing their home because of their inability to meet the monthly mortgage payments. This special type of policy assures the home owner that in the event of his or her death, the family will not only be able to keep the house, but the mortgage will be completely paid off.

This type of coverage is becoming increasingly popular with Canadian home owners, many of whom find it less expensive to carry than other forms of life insurance.

A third type of insurance, liability insurance, is also available to the home owner. This provides compensation to strangers as well as to members of your family and friends, for damages or lawsuit expenses you might incur if one of them sustained an injury, or if their property were damaged, at your home. This kind of insurance may cover personal or property damage caused anywhere by you or other members of your family except automobile accident liability.

Both fire insurance and personal liability protection are available in a "package-type" policy. In addition to these two types of insurance, the package can also include theft and fire insurance on household furnishings and several other coverages such as wind and water damage.

Serious consideration should be given by the home owner to all of the previously-mentioned types of insurance. The best method of planning your insurance needs would be to discuss them with a qualified insurance agent who can recommend a program suited to your individual requirements.

The Insulation Story

THE INSULATION STORY with Allen Penny December 30th 6:30 p.m. on CBC television, is the answer to keeping warm in winter. Insulation and house maintenance will lower your heat loss and fuel bill. Narrated by Reid Dexter, THE INSULATION STORY explains how heat escapes; from the basement, attic, fireplaces, storm windows, and doors.

Specialists in home design illustrate by convection-conduction-radiation and evaporation how we further lose heat.

The consumer is advised of effective insulators, government construction standards, and proper fire resistance materials.

New homes are obviously a lot easier to insulate than old. For some homes, if a major undertaking is necessary, the savings may be small in relation to cost.

THE INSULATION STORY is produced by the Nova Scotia Energy Council in cooperation with the National Film Board of Canada.

Peter Katadotis is executive producer.

Conservation makes sense and makes for a comfortable winter.

To our loyal friends
Both old and new
Our best wishes
For a HAPPY NEW YEAR!

This television retrospective visits Olduvai Gorge in Tanzania, the area Leakey and his wife Mary studied for 30 years, and where they uncovered fossil remains of Zinjanthropus, a prehistoric hominid dating back 1.75 million years. National Geographic cameras follow Leakey down through the rocks of Olduvai Gorge. Because of what Leakey unearthed there, the gorge has been called the "Grand Canyon of Evolution".

At the gorge's bottom he stands on black lava which was the old land surface where lake beds formed. Behind him are rock and mineral deposits that were formed nearly two million years ago. In the strata he finds embedded water-worn pebbles with jagged cutting edges, simple tools used by an early man. Who this man was and how and where he lived were questions that intrigued Leakey for the rest of his life.

The camera captures Leakey testing the theories he formulated about how early man lived; chipping tools from rock and diving snares of cord made of tree bark, the way early man might have. Narrated and hosted by E.G. Marshall, the special is produced by the National Geographic Society.

Cranberries

These red, tart berries are commonly linked with festive occasions. Just saying the word cranberry and we tend to think of the traditional way of serving a beautiful turkey dinner, enhanced with the bright red cranberry sauce.

Cranberries are being grown commercially in Nova Scotia, so it is not an uncommon sight to see Nova Scotia Cranberries featured at local retail outlets.

Long before white man discovered cranberries, they were already playing an important part in everyday life here. For instance, Indians often used the tangy cranberries to "perk up" their foods. They served dishes such as "pemmican cakes" which were made of dried deer meat and meal.

Indians also adopted the versatile cranberry for other uses. They used cranberry dressings for treating wounds, and used cranberries as a dye for their blankets and rugs.

When the Pilgrims came to America, they soon began to create their own ways of fixing cranberries for the trade. They made them into sauces, bubbling tarts and cranberry nogs.

Early American sailors found the cranberries good for their health. The berries were stored in barrels of cold water and served regularly to crews at sea in order to provide Vitamin C and ward off scurvy.

Fresh cranberries are available on the market during the fall and winter months. Cranberries vary in size, shape and color, according to the variety. They may be bell shaped, round or oval, large or small, and vary in color from bright red to dark crimson.

When buying fresh cranberries look for those that are plump, and dry to ensure freshness, and firm with high lustre to indicate ripeness. One pound of fresh cranberries makes approximately 3-3½ cups of sauce.

To store cranberries at home, first remove any decayed or poor quality berries and store in a plastic bag in the refrigerator. Freezing can be a quick way of preserving cranberries. Remove stems and leaves. Pack in plastic freezer bags and pop them into the freezer.

If you prefer jellied cranberry sauce to whole cranberry sauce, this can be made quite easily.

Jellied Cranberry Sauce
2 cups water
4 cups fresh cranberries
2 cups sugar

Cook cranberries in water until the skins pop, strain; add the sugar; boil 10-15 minutes. Pour into your favourite mold. Chill until set. Unmold to serve, or for future use store in moisture, vapor-proof containers in the freezer.

Try this family favourite square recipe.

Cranberry Squares
½ cup soft butter
1 cup sifted all purpose flour
2 tablespoons icing sugar
2 eggs
1 cup white sugar
1-3 cup all purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon almond flavoring
1-3 cup chopped raisins
½ cup desiccated coconut
½ cup chopped almonds, or Brazil nuts
2-3 cup whole cranberry sauce

Mix the first three ingredients together and spread in the bottom of a greased 8-inch square pan. Beat eggs thoroughly and add sugar, sifted dry ingredients and flavoring. Stir in remaining ingredients and spread mixture evenly over the crust. Bake at 350 degrees F for 40 minutes. Cool and top with lemon flavored butter icing.

Increase In Destination Areas

The development of travel destination areas in Nova Scotia will be accelerated as a result of the signing of an agreement between the Department of Regional Economic Expansion (DREE) and the Department of Tourism. The agreement provides for the payment of salaries and expenses to co-ordinators who will work with local groups to promote travel destination areas. This project comes under the terms of the federal-provincial subsidiary agreement for development of the provinces tourist industry.

The six destination areas are in the Annapolis Basin, Lunenburg County, Louisbourg, Pictou County, the Eastern Shore and Bras d'Or Lakes area. Grants to pay salaries and expenses of co-ordinators will be provided to regional tourist associations and - or destination areas committees and municipalities.

Some committees have already been established while others are in the formative stages.

Honorable Maurice E. DeLory, Minister of Tourism, said the destination areas are "of prime importance in reaching tourism objectives of the subsidiary agreement".

A successful co-ordination program was conducted as a pilot project earlier this year in the Annapolis Basin destination area.

It employed services of a local person working with a group from the area.

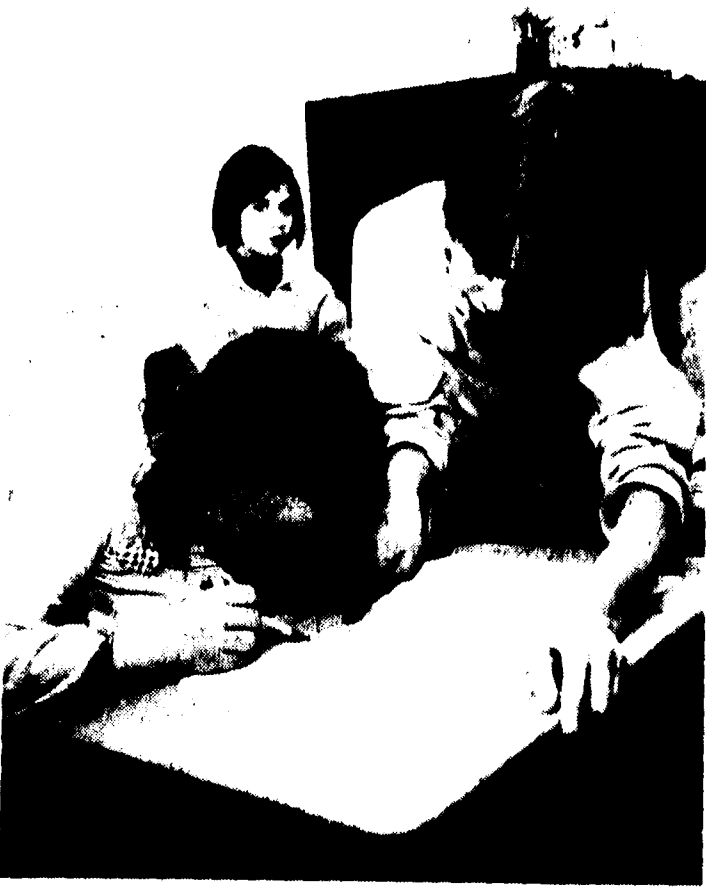

Co-ordinators will work with local and municipal groups on projects of federal and/or provincial governments and the private sector. They will also provide expertise and manpower to help develop tourism in the six province-wide destination areas.

A major goal in the use of destination area co-ordinators "is that of creating employment opportunities and increasing incomes from further development of the travel industry," he said.

"As the travel industry in Nova Scotia evolves in the next few years, there will be potential for development of about 25 destination areas," said Dr. DeLory.

The New Year dawns bringing peace, contentment and the bright promise of things to come.

Blind Students Being Integrated

The integration of blind and visually-impaired children into the life of a sighted elementary school has proved rewarding for 15 grade fives and sixes from the Sir Frederick Fraser School for the Blind in Halifax. Under the supervision of patient teachers, and with the aid of new found friends these handicapped youngsters are making their way in a sight-oriented world. Travelling Pets

If you plan on taking your dog or cat along on a vacation outside Canada, be prepared. Without the right certificates, you could run into delays at the border.

Dogs taken into the United States require a rabies vaccination certificate stating that the animal was vaccinated at least 30 days and not more than 36 months prior to entry. Cats going into the U.S. do not require a certificate.

Dogs and cats returning to Canada from the U.S. must have been vaccinated against rabies within the previous 36 months.

Regulations for pets travelling to other countries vary and pet owners should check with the embassy of the country they plan to visit or with Agriculture Canada's Health of Animals Branch.

Mail Order Chain Letter Illegal

B.B.B. ALERT

Nova Scotia residents are being solicited to participate in a mail order offering which claims to be an opportunity to "earn up to $813,800 in the next 50 days."

The opportunity is described in "Millionaire's Newsletter," currently being mailed from Montreal. An outlay of approximately $100.00 is required to achieve the great wealth promised in the letter.

The Better Business Bureau of Nova Scotia in consultation with the R.C.M.P. Commercial Crime Section warns Nova Scotians that this chain letter is illegal under the Criminal Code of Canada. Those persons participating in this letter may be guilty of an offence under section 189 (e) of the Code.

Safer Winter Sports
Aim Of CP Rail Drive

CP Rail policemen are in snowmobile and cross-country ski territory this winter, explaining why railway tracks are a dangerous playground.

Constables are visiting snowmobile and sports clubs to discuss and demonstrate the potential dangers of snowmobiling and cross-country skiing on or near the railway's right of way.

"Last winter two people died in accidents involving snowmobiles and CP Rail trains," said J.C. Machan, chief of investigation for CP Rail. "Another person was injured and as far as we are concerned that is three accidents too many."

Both fatalities occurred in Quebec, while 10 other train-snowmobile collisions without injury were reported in New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario.

In their visits to snowmobiling enthusiasts, railway police officers emphasize that snowmobiles are dangerous machines when used by anyone with insufficient training or experience.

Statistically the snowmobiler most likely to die in a rail related accident is between 16 and 19 years of age, according to the Canada Safety Council. The Council also reports that 20 per cent of all accidents occur on private property.

In addition to the dangers of running a snowmobile on the tracks, there are other less obvious hazards. A snowmobile moving parallel to the tracks can hit a bump and throw the operator beneath the train wheels. The protruding steps of cabooses have killed more than one snowmobiler who came too close.

Stiff Fines For Deer-jacking Proposed

Fines of up to $2,500 for deer-jacking will be among proposals for changes in the Game section of the Lands and Forests Act by Lands and Forests Minister Vincent MacLean when the Nova Scotia Legislature sits again.

"In an effort to deter deer-jacking, I will be pushing very strongly for this substantial fine and I will also be making further proposals for stiffer penalties for all offenses under the Game section of the Act," Mr. MacLean said.

Present fines for deer-jacking range from $300 to $500 and up to a month's imprisonment for a second offense.

All other serious offenses such as flashing deer with a light and having uncased guns in a vehicle are also proposed for fine increases.

"We will, in addition, be looking at the possibility of seizing vehicles as well as firearms when an arrest is made for such offenses," the Minister said.

In addition to these legislative changes, Mr. MacLean said that he is authorizing a Special Mobile Team to fight deer-jacking in the province.

Although the mobile special group will concentrate on areas known to be heavily hunted by deer-jackers, the regular warden staff will be upgrading vigilance in all areas of the province.

"I will be authorizing more year-round concerted use of the Department's aircraft fleet in organizing air-to-ground surveillance co-ordinated with the use of unmarked vehicles located at strategic locations in various sectors under observation," he said.

"We also anticipate that our new province-wide radio contact system will be in effect, hopefully, sometime in 1979. The system will be tied into a ZENITH toll-free telephone number to a centrally located broadcast point.

"With the number of calls by citizens increasing every year regarding illegal hunters and deer-jackers, we anticipate great public response when we announce the ZENITH number," Mr. MacLean said.

A central dispatcher receiving calls relating to illicit hunting will be able to establish pin-point contact with the nearest depot or station in the immediate area and send out either the special mobile group or other personnel to handle a given situation.

Impact Of Tidal Project Will Be Studied

A Federal-Provincial environmental assessment panel has been formed to review the environmental and related social and community impacts of the proposed Bay of Fundy Tidal Power Generation project.

The joint announcement was made by Hon. Vincent J. MacLean, Nova Scotia Minister of the Environment; Hon. Fernand G. Dube, Q.C., New Brunswick Minister of the Environment; and Hon. Len Marchand, Federal Minister of State for the Environment.

The project is currently at the feasibility planning stage and the Fundy Tidal Power review board is nearing completion on its phase one study. Three alternative sites in the Upper Bay of Fundy are being assessed for the construction and operation of a barrage and transmission lines.

Should phase two of the study program proceed, the environmental assessment panel, chaired by F.G. Hurlbut of the Federal Environmental Assessment Review Office, will review the environmental impact statement to be prepared by the proponent. Draft guidelines for the preparation of that statement are now being formulated and will be issued for public review by the panel prior to being finalized.

The other members of the panel are: R.H. Bailey, Nova Scotia Department of the Environment (panel vice-chairman); O.V. Washburn, environment New Brunswick (Panel vice-chairman); L.V. Brandon, Fisheries and Environment Canada; and A.E. Collin, Bay of Fundy Tidal Power review board. The Ministers expect to announce the appointment of two non-government persons to the panel in the near future.

The panel has been formed to study the potential environmental and related social and community consequences of the project and to evaluate the significance of the impact that might result from its implementation. Upon completion of the public review of the impact statement, the panel will report its recommendations to the federal and provincial ministers of the environment. A project submitted for panel review may not be implemented until decisions have been reached by the ministers of the panel's recommendations.
